PROPOSE PAYING TAX BILLS HERE EVERY 6 MONTHS

Selections Believe Two Payment Plan Would Lighten Burden of Taxpayers; Is Popular in Other Cities.

The Board of Selections at its regular March meeting held last night in the Hall of Records named a committee of four to consider the advisability of adopting the two-payment plan in Manchester.

The suggestion that the plan be adopted came from Senator Robert J. Smith and it was received with favor by every member of the board.

Other Cities Do It. It is the plan to bill taxpayers twice a year, on April 1 and on October 1. The taxes at present fall due on April 1 and it was brought out last night that this bill comes due when many other heavy household items must be met.

Such cities and towns as Milford, New Haven, Waterbury and Middletown have adopted the plan and it is reported that the taxpayers all approve of the system in those places.

Chairman Treat last night named a committee consisting of John H. Hyde, Thomas J. Rogers, R. H. Smith and G. H. Waddell to investigate and make recommendations. In the meantime the board is anxious to learn how the taxpayers themselves feel on the proposal and will welcome any opinions that may be offered.

Consolidation Committee A committee of fourteen was named by the board last night to consider the building of a town high school and to investigate the report on the Board of Selections' committee was chosen after careful thought to the problems that would be involved and an attempt was made to have every taxpayer's opinion as follows: Mrs. Josephine Wetherell (Dist. 1), R. J. Smith (Dist. 2), Mrs. G. H. Waddell (Dist. 3), C. Elmore Watkins (Dist. 4), Mrs. A. E. Loomis (Dist. 5), Andrew Healey (Dist. 6), H. C. Bowers (Dist. 7), H. H. Verplanck (Dist. 8), Mrs. Alexander Shearer, E. A. Lydall, James M. Burke (Joint School Board), Robert V. Treat, Thomas Rogers (Board of Selections).

The Board of Relief Bill asking for overtime pay was rejected at last night's board meeting. It was the opinion of the board that it was serving on the Board of Relief work entitled to day pay only and inasmuch as a clerk was furnished this year it was felt that the extra work was offset in that way. The Board of Relief will be paid for 29 days at $5 per day.

The Board of Assessors' bill for extra work was tabled for further consideration. Birch Street Widening. Town Engineer J. Frank Brown presented the proposed Birch street widening map to the board last night for tentative approval. The proposed map shows that the layout provides a 40-foot highway instead of the present 32-foot road. The street line will begin at the south corner of Main and Birch streets as it is at present and run to a point 5 feet south of the present south corner of Birch and Spruce streets. The width side street will start at a point 7 feet north of the present north corner of Birch and Main streets and run to a point 2 feet north of the present north corner of Birch and Spruce streets.

An information hearing will be held next Monday night March 22 on the widening question. All property owners on the street are asked to be present and all interested taxpayers in this vicinity are invited to the discussion.

Gas Station at Center. Messrs. Howard and Robinson, representing the Atlantic Refining Company, appeared before the board last night and asked for an opinion on the location of a gasoline filling station on the government proposed postoffice site at the Center. They said that they had secured a 5-year lease of the property for use as a filling station but would not sign that part of the lease unless they found that a station there would be approved by the town authorities and townspeople.

Mayor Treast told Mr. Howard and Mr. Robinson that he felt that if a filling station on the site were approved by the selectmen a storm of disapproval would be heard from the townspeople. Mr. Treast said he believed the people wanted a postoffice building on the site and many taxpayers had gone so far as to urge the board to do all in its power to get the building on the site at the Center.

The representatives of the gas company said that they did not want to take any action that would meet with the disapproval of the

TO SELL TROLLEY LINE FOR $648 TAX BILL

Highland, N. Y., March 16.—The street railway system, comprising eight miles of rails, street cars, power house and all, in the town of Lloyd, N. Y., will be sold today by Tax Collector George Canfield of Lloyd to satisfy a tax bill of $843.

WHOLE LEAGUE SQUABBLE MAY BE POSTPONED

Brund, Stresemann Confer on Delay Till September, Brazil Holds Gun to Head of League.

Geneva, March 16.—Hopelessly deadlocked, the Council of the League of Nations this evening decided to postpone Germany's admission to the League until September.

Geneva, March 16.—Germany's entrance into the League of Nations may be deferred until September.

Premier Briand and Herr Stresemann today held a lengthy conference when the possibilities of adjourning all questions relative to Germany's admission to the League until September, was discussed.

To Save Locarno France and Germany are both anxious to preserve the Locarno treaties and would prefer a postponement of Germany's entry into the League to the chance of an open fight in the League Assembly against Germany's admission.

The prospects of a compromise were less bright this afternoon when Brazil was still threatening to veto Germany's admission to the League unless Brazil gets a seat in the League Council, and it was reported that Italy was supporting Brazil's position.

Rumors were widespread about that the United States approves Brazil's stand.

Orders for Chamberlain London, March 16.—Premier Baldwin took a hand in the League of Nations dispute today, when he sent personal instructions to Sir Austen Chamberlain not to leave Geneva until every possible avenue of compromise had been explored and every human hope of settlement exhausted.

The Premier is reported to be convinced that Sir Austen can not return and report failure at Geneva without handing in his resignation at the same time. The resignation of Sir Austen might create a cabinet crisis, which the British Government can ill afford at this time.

The foreign office was optimistic today that Brazil might eventually back down from her position, now obstructing settlement.

Brund to Quit Geneva Paris, March 16.—Premier Briand will leave the troubles of Geneva behind and return to Paris to face possible domestic political difficulties before the Senate will be announced today.

The Premier has already sent to Paris the draft of his ministerial declaration. He will submit this to the cabinet Thursday morning and go before the Senate with it on Thursday afternoon.

TO READ WAR POEM AT ORGAN RECITAL Cammaert's Famous Drama in Verse to Be Presented by Rev. Neill at South Methodist Church. A poem of beauty and dramatic intensity, "A Voice in the Desert" by Emil Cammaert, a story of the country along the Yser in France during the Great War, will be read at Archibald Sessions' next Organ Recital on Friday night by Rev. James Stuart Neill, Rector of St. Mary's church.

The poem has been given a musical setting by Sir Edward Elgar, a piece which the voice of a young girl is heard singing of her faith in God and deliverance by His Power of her land and people from the enemy.

Miss Eleanor Willard of Hartford will interpret this part of the work, while the musical background will be provided by the organ. The remainder of the program will be announced later.

MAKE REAL TRY TO BREAK ROAD FOR PRESIDENT

Colonel Coolidge Sees Old Friends as Vitality Ebbs; Is Comfortable But Continues to Weaken.

Plymouth, Vt., March 16.—Col. John C. Coolidge continues to grow weaker and his remarkable vitality is fast giving away.

Although greeting several of his old friends and neighbors who were permitted to visit him today, the effort severely taxed his strength. Dr. Albert M. Cram stayed with the colonel about an hour on his noon visit and then issued his daily bulletin.

"Col. Coolidge remains about the same as yesterday, greeting several of his neighbors this morning, but appears slightly weaker and more quiet than yesterday morning.

His heart condition remains fairly good. He is very comfortable and there are no developments to cause alarm."

"Dr. Albert M. Cram." Neighbor Tiptone Out. Among the visitors who were permitted to enter the sick room today was Dick Brown, a near neighbor and an old friend of the colonel. At the time the old man was sleeping quietly, according to Brown. Not desiring to disturb his slumbers, he withdrew without greeting him.

Awaking this morning much brighter Colonel Coolidge called for a little nourishment. Mrs. May Johnson, his nurse, gave him a little liquid food which he sipped slowly.

The colonel rests well tonight, getting plenty of sleep. He is, however, under the influence of sedative medicines.

Road Breakers Out. At the first streak of dawn today great forces of men started out from Woodstock to make a determined effort to break through the snowdrifts between there and this mountain hamlet to make way for the President if he comes to see his stricken parent.

Shortly after these men started their labor, word came from the sick room that Colonel Coolidge had spent a comfortable night and awakened this morning hungry.

This is the second day he has requested food, following a long period when he was able to hold very little on his stomach.

Working From Ludlow Also working to open the road in another direction, is a five-ton tractor and rotary, pushing its way from Ludlow toward the Coolidge homestead.

Each group of workers must cover nearly ten miles through mountainous drifts and hard-packed snow before they can meet.

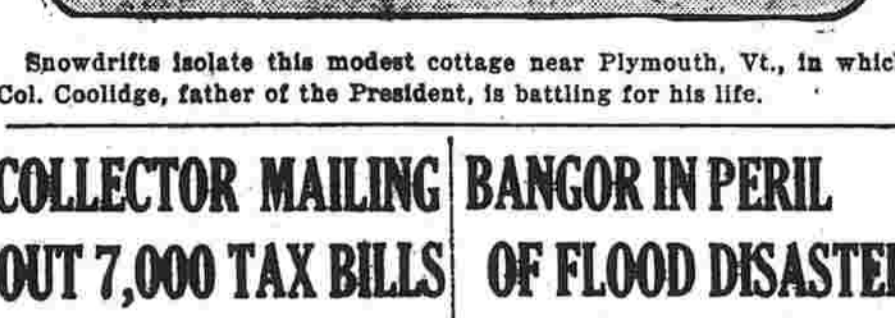

SAYS HE ALONE WAS MATTEOTTI'S SLAYER American - Italian, Dumini, Shoulders Blame for Murder of Deputy.

Chieti, Italy, March 16.—Amerigo Dumini, former Fascist leader, today shouldered alone the responsibility for the death of Deputy Matteotti, for whose murder he is now on trial here with four others.

Dumini, who claims he was born in St. Louis, took the witness stand in his own defense shortly after the long deferred trial opened and immediately absolved the others charged with him blame in the death of Matteotti.

WHERE PRESIDENT'S DAD BATTLES FOR LIFE

Snowdrifts isolate this modest cottage near Plymouth, Vt., in which Col. Coolidge, father of the President, is battling for his life.

COLLECTOR MAILING OUT 7,000 TAX BILLS Many More Women Than Men on Personal Tax List; Tax Now Due.

Tax Collector George H. Howe is busy these days mailing the personal tax bills. Every personal taxpayer in the town will receive one of these bills. It is estimated that more than 7000 will be sent out.

The number of women who are called upon to pay the personal tax is nearly twice as great as the men. This is accounted for by the numerous exemptions for military and fire duty which reduces materially the number of men liable to pay personal taxes.

The mailing of these bills is an innovation in Manchester. Heretofore taxpayers were warned by advertisements in the papers and posters. Mr. Howe has two or three assistants, addressing envelopes. The personal tax was due February 1 and it is the aim of the collector to get this work out of the way before the first of April when the property tax becomes due.

The mailing out of these personal tax bills is a big job and an expensive one and is being done at the suggestion of the board of selectmen.

Pet Store Blaze Made Record for Casualties

More Than 5,000 Little Victims Lost Their Lives in Short Lived Fire—Love Birds Died Huddled Close Together.

New York, March 16.—The heaviest loss of bird life in the annals of New York's Fire Department occurred when about 5,000 canaries, 600 parakeets, a few bullfinches, together with several monkeys, were suffocated in yesterday's fire on the third and fourth floors of William Bartel's "House of Pets," at 45 Cortlandt street.

Two baboons, a South American wildcat and two spider monkeys survived the fire on the fourth floor, where it was believed to have started. According to Battalion Chief Michael O'Donohue, who was the first to arrive in answer to the alarm, the spider monkeys displayed almost human traits in their efforts to resuscitate a younger monkey in their cage which had succumbed to the smoke.

Gold and bullfinches, stored on the second floor, were revived by draughts of fresh air, as were a dozen box constrictors, some ring-tail monkeys, including a mother monkey and her four offspring, and hundreds of small cats and dogs.

It was a little fire but about the noisiest on record, due to the squeaking and screeching of the helpless creatures. A thousand chicks and rabbits, for the Easter trade, stored in the cellar with chickens and roosters, suffered more from fright than from smoke. The roosters kept crowing all through the bird holocaust.

About 3,000 of the canaries had arrived last Thursday from the Harz Mountains and most of them were singers. They were intended for the Eastern trade at the department stores.

All suffocated. None of the birds or animals was burned to death. They met death by suffocation in their cages, without a chance of escape. In the little cages, after the smoke had cleared away, lay the dead canaries, some with their heads pressed through the wooden bars. They were valued at from $7.50 to $20 each.

The fire was discovered by Patrolman Monroe of the Old Slip station. He saw smoke issuing from a window on the third floor and sent in an alarm.

SEEKING JURY SCANDAL AS A CHAPMAN HOPE

Counsel Eager to Obtain Evidence of Drinking at Hotel—Unable to Find Support for Gossip.

Hartford, March 16.—Emphatic denial was made at the state attorney's office here today of any basis for public reports that liquor was served to some of the Chapman jurors after they had retired to their floor at a local hotel to consider evidence they had received.

For many months rumors have been heard here about alleged irregularities at the hotel where the jury ate and slept under guard during the three weeks the Chapman trial lasted.

Eager for Evidence. Chapman's attorneys have questioned several people and have been eager to uncover evidence of jury irregularities but so far as known their efforts have met with no success.

One of the twelve jurors has since died—Arthur E. Bowers of Manchester.

Walter E. Sheen, Chapman's pal and accuser, was informed at the county jail last night by E. J. Hickey, county detective, that Chapman had lost the decision in the supreme court and probably his last legal battle. Sheen displayed interest but made no comment.

Mrs. Skelly, widow of Policeman James Skelly, at her home today, said "I wish it were all over; I wish everything were over."

Everything at the state prison at Waterbury connected with the automatic hanging machine is in readiness to be used on Chapman three big dummy being used to take the slack out of the rope, which has been stretched out for days.

New York, March 16.—Gerald Chapman's staff of attorneys plan to make one more desperate attempt to save the notorious bandit from the gallows.

U. S. JOINS IN A DEMAND ON CHINA

Fighting at Tien-Tsin Must Stop Tomorrow Is Ultimatum—Destroyers Go.

Peking, March 16.—The United States has joined with other powers in delivering an ultimatum to the Chinese government demanding that hostilities at Tien Tsin cease before noon Thursday, it was announced today.

The ultimatum insists that all fighting between Taku and Tien Tsin, about 38 miles, be halted at once, and that mines and other obstructions be removed.

DRYS FALLING AWAY BEHIND WETS IN POLL

Total Vote Climbs Steadily Toward the Two Million Mark—Wets Get Over Ten Times Dry Vote.

Cleveland, March 16.—Newspaper voters throughout the country who wish the Volstead act either modified or repealed have not allowed the appeals of dry leaders for Prohibition ballots in the present newspaper referendum to pass unchallenged.

A counter-offensive staged today allowed the Prohibitionists only 9,078 of the day's total of 111,639 votes.

Those who favor repeal have sold a light wind to the largest gain today.

Readers who wish the Volstead act repealed outvoted Prohibitionists three to one, their gains being 20,539.

As the referendum conducted by the Newspaper Enterprise Association Inc., in conjunction with The Herald and 375 other newspapers, is completing its first week, the total number of ballots cast is beginning to climb steadily toward the 1,000,000 mark. The grand total of votes today, the sixth day, was 1,213,274.

Forty-four States Report. These returns were from forty-four States and the District of Columbia. Two hundred and thirty-four cities and towns voted. Eight States, Arkansas, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina and South Virginia, alone voted for a continuance of the dry laws.

However, if the votes cast for repeal and for modification of the Volstead act in these States were combined, only Kansas and South Carolina would show a majority in favor of Prohibition. Three States, Idaho, Maryland and Missouri, were the only ones in which a majority of newspaper voters favored repeal of the dry law.

Newspaper editors are daily reporting increasing numbers that this vote very closely reflects the sentiment of their communities. In Paso, Tex., the editor of the Star has asserted the Prohibition referendum, with one exception, more votes than any ever held in El Paso.

Only One Poll Higher. Only once in history was the country's vote higher than the vote received by the Post. El Paso's majority for modification should therefore be a fair representation of what city opinion is.

Similarly in Santa Ana, Cal., which went heavily dry, the vote was almost an exact parallel to an official ballot taken prior to the enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment, declares the editorial of the Santa Ana Register.

In Nogales, Ariz., the Daily Herald polled about 80 per cent of the city's registered vote.

The editor of the Sioux Falls, S. D., Press says that three days after the poll the Ministerial Association here condemned it as an attack on the Constitution and urged "high-minded" citizens not to vote. The following day, adds the editor, "1,000 votes were received in a single mail."

In Sonoma County, Cal., of which Santa Rosa is the county seat, the referendum has resolved itself into a battle between the Ministerial Association and the grape growers, the city being the centre of the grape growing industry. The ministers started the battle by canvassing for votes and then the grape growers started their own offensive.

From present indications interest in the poll, especially in rural communities, will continue unabated throughout Saturday, the last day on which the NEA Service will receive votes in the poll. Much of the totals have already been reported.

TUESDAY, MARCH 16, 1926.

Up in the little village of Plymouth, Vt., there is passing—may have passed by the time this is printed—an old man for whom nobody is in a position to feel sorry. He is probably dying the happiest old man in the world—riding away into eternity on the crest of realization of the absolutely supreme ambition of every American of his stamp and of his generation.

To have his boy become President of the United States—what back country farmer in New England who was born along in the 1845 period could conceive of any happiness more complete than that?

To have his Cal travel so far and so fast up the line as to sit eventually, while yet he himself was alive and could know about it, in the seat of Abe Lincoln! Probably not wild horses could have torn from John Coolidge the admission that he held any such hope for his boy—but if sometimes, secretly, he did not entertain that vision for a fleeting moment, then John was pretty well all alone by himself among hill Vermonters with smart, good boys for sons.

And he had merely made a couple of hundred million dollars, or if he had only turned out to be the greatest American in the world of letters, or if he had attained just to premier celebrity in the field of art, his father would have been proud of him, beyond a doubt. But fame in any of these directions would have fallen a million miles short of meaning to this father who it meant to have his own lad enter upon that unspeakably glorious estate, the American presidency, to become the greatest man in all the world.

There is not, in this day, precisely the same halo about the head of a President of the United States as there was in the day when John Coolidge was having his dreams about the future of his boy. We are too close to the playing board, nowadays. But at that period and the hill Vermont, Washington was a long way off, and the man in the White House, whoever he might be, shone with the lustre almost of another world.

Let Chapman hang on April 6 if he lacks the nerve to batter out his brains against his cell bars in the meantime. The state, the country and the world have had enough of him, and too much.

Never has red tape been more lavishly employed to prevent a criminal from paying the price of his crime than in this Chapman case. The whole state of Connecticut will applaud its governor if he cuts the tape by the simple process of withholding his signature from any further reprieves.

The Republican party will lose nothing by the exchange, for the Iowa junior senator is a masquerader in the party ranks.

Whether the Democrats will gain anything appreciable in the elevation of Steck is another matter. He is much the same sort, as a Democrat, that Brookhart is, as a Republican.

Throughout the country the reaction to the change, if it takes place, will by no means be wild excitement. Outside of Iowa and the national leaders of the two great parties, no one is greatly concerned.

There may be this advantage, however. Steck may at least look more like a senator and talk more like a senator and less like an I. W. W. corner spouter than the Hon. Smith W. Brookhart.

Today is the feast day of Sts. Abraham and Mary. Abraham, a rich nobleman, chose an austere life in a cell, and rescued his niece, Mary, from a life of sin.

ber so constituted that they would be ready to start a wall and a panic the moment there appeared to be the slightest danger that their speculations might go badly.

Whether we regard Florida as a bank threatened with a run or as a theatre with smoke appearing from behind scenes, the situation cannot possibly be improved, and may easily be made infinitely worse, by the interested crowd allowing themselves to be stampeded by fear.

The bank may be solvent, or it may be insolvent. In either case it is extremely liable to be smashed by a sudden and panicky run. The theatre may be on fire or it may not.

In either event a number of people are pretty sure to lose their lives if there is a wild scramble for the exits.

Unquestionably there are any number of perfectly valid enterprises being carried on in Florida that will win to success unless swept under by a tidal wave of fear.

If there are—and there undoubtedly are—a good many enterprises of no stability and in some cases of no honesty, not one dollar of investment in them is going to be recovered by any attempt at hasty grabs.

Beyond doubt there has been money invested in Florida which is already lost—was lost the moment the papers were drawn and the checks signed.

Raucous yowls over such losses will get the loser nothing, in any event, and may only help to lower the chances of success in other ventures of good potentiality though perhaps of still problematical status.

If ever there was an excellent time for Florida speculators to sit tight and say nothing it is right now.

It is doubtful if a single one of the persons concerned had the remotest expectation that the United States supreme court's disposition of the Chapman appeal would be any different from what it was.

It is still more doubtful that any one of them would have any hope of a different outcome if the case were permitted to again start on the way to the Supreme Court by a different route.

And it is just about inconceivable that Governor Trumbull will lend himself to any further pettifoggery attempts to delay the operation of justice in the case of this particularly contemptible killer.

When the governor granted the existing reprieve he was quoted as saying that it was the last time he would sign such a paper for Chapman. It is very sincerely to be hoped that he will stick to this resolution, even if Chapman's high priced lawyers do invent another device for juggling the case into the federal courts.

Never has red tape been more lavishly employed to prevent a criminal from paying the price of his crime than in this Chapman case.

The whole state of Connecticut will applaud its governor if he cuts the tape by the simple process of withholding his signature from any further reprieves.

Let Chapman hang on April 6 if he lacks the nerve to batter out his brains against his cell bars in the meantime. The state, the country and the world have had enough of him, and too much.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, March 16.—About the cheapest, easiest, surest way senator representatives has of clinching a vote for himself is by getting a constituent into the White House to see the president.

He can do it without the least bother to himself, too.

Arranging an interview of any considerable length with the chief executive calls for a good reason and quite a lot of fixing, unless the applicant is pretty important, but just getting into the room with him, shaking his hand—he doesn't do any of the shaking—and hearing him say "Howdy do?" is difficult.

But the average senator or representative makes a big thing of it. He professes that he couldn't do it for everybody, but on account of his exceedingly high regard for Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So he'll strain a point. He'll write a note to Private Secretary Sanders, who'll manage it somehow.

In reality the senator or representative is tickled pink at the opportunity.

He isn't out anything except a sheet of paper. If a no trouble beyond scribbling his name at the bottom of a letter written by his stenographer. All the wear-and-tear is on somebody else—the president.

The visitor—this duck is from out of town, remember—Washingtonians are more sophisticated—goes up to the White House about 11.30 to noon, with his precious letter.

He could get in just as well without one, but what he doesn't know can't hurt him.

He's allowed to poke around for a while in that part of the establishment, not specially reserved for the presidential family and by the time it's about 12.30, and he's had an eyeful, on an average there are a couple of hundred of him on hand.

Then he's herded, in procession, through the presidential office. The president stands up at his desk and shakes hands a couple of hundred times, on an average, in succession.

As previously remarked, he says, "Howdy do?" or "Pleased to meet you," if he's feeling very original, and maybe mutters the caller's name, if he catches it.

This isn't an ordinary reception, such as anybody can attend, mind you. It is something special.

You have to have a letter from a senator or representative to get away with it. At least you think you do.

It's something to go home and brag about. You're under obligations to the senator or representative who gave you the letter. The next time you get a chance, you vote for him, if you've got any gratitude in your make-up.

The constituent's senator and representative also give him tickets to the reserve gallery in their respective chambers—reserved for "distinguished visitors," by gray!

These cards are elegantly engraved. They look swell.

If that, on top of access to the White House, doesn't do the business as to said constituent's particular vote, you can count that constituent a regular monster of thanklessness.

DAILY POEM

AN EXAMPLE. Ol' Peety Pat was a queer sort of guy, who ploughed through each day without batting an eye.

His job wasn't sweet, but he never went lame, 'cause he knew there was fun in his toil, jes' the same.

It made little difference whatever his work as long as his spirit knew not how to shirk. He'd turn into good all the sides that were bad through making the best of whatever he had. He never sat down just to worry and fret, but he tackled his task so he'd always be set to shove off the trail in the way of your reachin' the top.

And why do I mention this guy, Peety Pat? It's likely you'll wonder about it, at that. It's just in the thought that you'll all get the hang of the tip that he gives to the rest of the sans.

The water in artificial pools should be kept in as pure a state as possible by filtration, sterilization and change or a combination of these processes.

Every person should refrain from entering the water when he is not well. A common cold, a skin eruption, inflammation of the eye, ear, nose or throat or fever should be sufficient to deter a person from entering a swimming place.

When swimmers come to a realization that disease prevention is a matter of mutual concern just that soon will pink eye, sinus infection and other disagreeable and painful infections be greatly reduced in number.

The practice of many of splitting into the water is reprehensible.

Care should also be taken not to pass water in and out of the mouth or swallow the fluid, lest intestinal infection occur. It is well for both men and women to wear rubber caps which will prevent the entrance of water into the ears.

This simple precaution may prevent inflammation of the middle ear.

It is best not to enter the water when overheated. Failure to observe this rule may cause cramps. Then, too, it is unwise to swim until two hours after eating.

Thoughtlessness - Recklessness The Cause of Most Accidents

Pedestrians are involved in two-thirds of all traffic accidents resulting in personal injury or death, according to the committee on causes of accidents, whose report to the Second National Conference on Street and Highway Safety has just been submitted to Secretary Hoover. Fatal collisions of automobiles with pedestrians seem to be increasing more rapidly than the total number of fatal automobile accidents. This according to the committee indicates that drivers have been making progress in learning what to expect from other drivers and how to keep out of collisions, but that no such improvement has been made in meeting the dangers when drivers and pedestrians confront each other. The committee asks whether the education and regulation of pedestrians as well as of drivers should not be given greater attention than at present.

Incompetence as a cause of automobile fatalities could be greatly reduced by development of more thorough and rigid examinations for drivers' licenses. "Incompetence to operate an automobile safely may consist of: ignorance of the laws and customs; insufficient strength, quickness or skill in controlling a motor vehicle; serious defect of sight or hearing; defective intelligence; temperamental or emotional inability to do the right thing in a sudden emergency.

"For the detection of some of these forms of incompetence we already have adequate means, but for others there are no examination methods simple and reliable enough to be of wide practical application. Methods could be devised which would be highly dependable and at the same time not difficult to administer. A really adequate and practicable procedure for examining applicants would be a powerful means to guard the public interest, and would amply justify the research necessary for its development."

In the meantime the committee makes no recommendations as to the best forms of examination, except that they should include a practical standardized road test, as well as an examination to find out how well the applicant knows the rules and regulations. Examination of operators. The committee is of the opinion that the great majority of operators are safe and competent drivers and that most accidents are due to a small proportion of all motorists. It therefore recommends that those who repeatedly become involved in accidents should be given special examinations. "Such a study would go to the root of much of the evil we have been considering and would probably be the most rewarding of all the ways in which we are endeavoring to understand the underlying causes of accidents. It should lead directly to the means of reducing accidents most effectively."

With reference to drivers of taxicabs, buses and trucks, professional chauffeurs and drivers of emergency vehicles such as ambulances, police wagons and fire patrols, the committee insists that there is a special public responsibility for seeing that their qualifications are exceptionally high and urges special investigations to determine what these qualifications should be. Should professional drivers be required to pass special physical and psychological examinations, not only of sight and hearing and of aptness to sudden disability, but also of mental alertness, quickness and accuracy of muscular control and presence of mind when confronted with unexpected difficulty? "Public safety and the responsibility assumed by the state in granting licenses to them would make it desirable to have the fullest knowledge of the defects as well as the competence of all who seek to be professional drivers."

According to the report drinking as well as drunkenness leads to accidents. "The universal condemnation of the intoxicated driver is fully warranted by the facts. It is less generally recognized that even small amounts of alcohol, quite insufficient to intoxicate, tend to decrease the higher forms of skill and perhaps also to lessen the sense of responsibility. It is highly probable that alcohol has contributed to many accidents which have been ascribed to inattention, confusion, recklessness, loose steering gear, or some other cause."

Fatigue of drivers is suggested as a possible cause of accidents in view of the disproportionate number of accidents occurring at the peak hour of traffic in the late afternoon as contrasted with the number at the peak hour in the morning. Conflicting habits frequently cause accidents. The confusion may be due to conflict of the driver's old and new habits, or to different habits, or to different habits of different drivers. In either event these accidents can be reduced by the adoption of uniform laws, uniform regulations and rules of the road, uniform signs and signals, and uniform mechanisms of car control.

The committee calls attention to some great gaps in available information regarding automobile accidents. "Many current assertions about certain classes of drivers, such as women or taxicab operators, are unwarranted and often misleading because no data are at hand as to the relative number of accidents faced by such groups. Data on hazards met by representative samplings of the driver population are needed in order to draw reliable conclusions from our present statistics of drivers involved in accidents."

The report pleads not only for general and uniform reporting of all accidents, but also for the establishing of a special center of investigation to cooperate with State and local bureaus in carrying forward intensive studies. The investigation should be made a regular item of the work of the Bureau of Motor Vehicle Regulation.

study of the best methods of collecting, classifying and interpreting data about accidents; regional studies and intensive reports made by trained investigators; surveys of hazards; studies of the effects of lack of uniformity in laws and regulations and of the effectiveness of all the various measures which are now being used to reduce accidents. Such a research center should also undertake the development of improved examinations for use with professional drivers, handicapped drivers, and particularly with drivers repeatedly involved in accidents.

In conclusion the report gives a striking illustration of the differences between communities in accident elimination. From statistics of the Census Bureau for 1923 the following cities listed in Group A had only one-seventh as many highway fatalities as the cities in Group B, although the total population of one group is about the same as that of the other:

Group A—Jersey City, N. J., New Bedford, Mass., Hamtramck, Mich., Olvera, Ill., Medford, Mass., Kenosha, Wis., Cranston, R. I., Marion, Ind., East Providence, R. I., Duquesne, Penn., Cleveland Heights, Ohio, Bath, Me., Harrison, N. J.

Group B—Louisville, Ky., Erie, Pa., Sacramento, Calif., Atlantic City, N. J., Pontiac, Mich., Joliet, Ill., Cumberland, Md., Kingston, N. Y., Sharon, Penn., Pottsville, Penn., Santa Monica, Calif., Casper, Wyo., Santa Ana, Calif.

Sir Ponsobny, who is the keeper of the English king's private purse, has issued orders to all castle employees that the king's money must be conserved as much as possible.

The last puzzle answer. The Texas farmer planted 20x20 (20) 400 guayule or rubber plants in a square field last year.

It begins at the beginning and goes up to the making of "The Birth of a Nation." Beyond that, perhaps Mrs. Griffith feels, there is nothing else to tell. In every written line is her love for the man whom fame has taken from her and between the lines is her story of remembering the long ago—back in 1903 in San Francisco when he was "Lawrence Griffith, a struggling actor in a stock company and she was Linda Arvidson, the leading woman of the same troupe."

VERNON CENTER

A capacity audience greeted the presentation of the musical comedy, "The Old District School" in the Assembly hall of the Mother church on Friday evening. The orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Frank Ziebarth and Mr. Richards delighted everyone. From the entrance of Ezekiel Simpkins to the latest scholar, the uproarious laughter showed the appreciation of the audience. The oratory and dignity of Deacon Fild and Mrs. Quackenbush, showed the requisite of a capable "skule" committee.

TALCOTTVILLE

The audience has shown its appreciation by requesting the cast to repeat it in a larger auditorium at some near date. Morning service: 10:30. Sunday school pastor, Rev. Edward Ellis will preach. Subject—"The Central Figure."

IT HAS LASTED

Manchester People Must Believe Such Convincing Testimony as Mrs. Hayden's. No one in Manchester who suffers backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains or distressing urinary ailments can afford to ignore this twice-told story of a Manchester resident. It is confirmed testimony, telling of lasting benefit from Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. It's evidence that no man or woman in Manchester can doubt.

HOOLYWOOD

Hollywood—There is pathos behind the successful lives of D. W. Griffith, the master, and his wife, Linda. Though they have been married for more than 20 years, few who follow the secrets of movieland know it. They have not lived together for many years but why, they seem to figure, destroy the spell that once was theirs when love was young? Thus, they have never become divorced. Regularly, Linda receives an allotment from D. W. and on the side, more to kill the time than anything else, she writes a little. Her best and sincerest literary work has just been published by E. P. Dutton & Co. It is a book of reminiscences, "When the Movies Were Young."

Recipe for success in movies:

Become successful in any other line of endeavor on earth first and then stardom will beckon. As it is, Hollywood is full of failures aching to become successful. He used to be just plain Charlie Mack, a gawky, good-looking "property" boy around the D. W. Griffith studio in New York. Then one day the gods smiled and D. W. "discovered" Charlie—cast him in the leading role of "Dream Street," a pretty cinema tale but an awful commercial flop. Overnight he became Charles Emmett Mack, dignified in name but unspotted despite the sudden recognition. And to this day Charlie has been the same sort of guy even though he does knock off a thousand or so a week for permitting his lanky frame to decorate the silver screen.

WOMBATS WORK HAYOO

Melbourne, Australia—Wombats burrowing under an aqueduct near Warburton recently, caused a landslide which cut off 20,000,000 gallons of Melbourne's water supply. The wombat is a marsupial a little larger than the American woodchuck.

WOMBATS WORK HAYOO

Like Gloria Swanson once upon a time, Kathleen Key was told she would bob her nose she would be given a job in the films. But not like Gloria, Kathleen, who comes from New York City, did not make the grade—as an actress. She is now a designer in one of the studios here. Marie Campbell came from Clinton, Mo., to woo tickle fame. She was taken on a long trip up the cinema ladder—became a leading woman—and now she is script girl for Henry King, the director.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Weather forecast: Bridal showers are always followed by a storm and a rain of tears.

Marry a cheer leader if you can, girls. Think how he could amuse the baby!

GUESS WHO'S SPEAKING
"What, a daffy dozen and no sweets, doctor! I thought you'd tell me something simple, like an operation."

Somebody is saying that the short skirt is sensible. It won't be long now before the girls start wearing the long ones again.

The marriage in Springfield, Mass., of Miss Agnes Pepper to Mr. Carl Salter might be called a seasonable wedding.

A fellow made a terrible blunder the other day. He asked a friend how her mother was standing the heat, and he didn't know that the lady's mother had recently died.

Just because the girls laugh at your remarks is no proof that you're witty. Perhaps they have pretty teeth.

Characteristic American sayings: "Blah"; "Sit down in front"; "Not guilty."

Violin playing is to be taught in the public schools. Which is all right unless it becomes an entering wedge for saxophone instruction.

Noticing the rush for partners at a dance, we recalled the speech proved, "The more waltz, the less taste."

RENG TRUE
Don't be what you ain't, Jes' be what you is. If you is not what you am, Then you am not what you is. If you're just a little tadpole, Don't try to be a frog. If you're just the tail, Don't try to wag the dog. You can always pass the plate. Don't be what you ain't, Jes' be what you is.

Some men are born pessimists, some assume pessimism—and some marry literary women.

Hard—What did you get out of the services this morning?
Guy—Not a thing. I was sleeping when the offering was lifted.

Select your words carefully and you won't suffer so much if you have to eat them.

LET ME YOUR EAR

"Lead me your ear," said Mother, picking up a bar of soap and the washrag.

A man in Kansas City can lay 26,000 bricks a day. But, how many does he lay?

As far West as the Mississippi

WE have obtained business by telephone as far West as the Mississippi River," states Mr. W. B. Marvin, Treasurer of the Birmingham Iron Foundry, in Derby. "We frequently call up Boston or New York and obtain orders amounting to $20,000 or thereabouts. Recently we telephoned to a customer in Chicago, at a nominal cost, and received an order for $10,500 without further effort on our part."

Unusual instances? Scarcely! Mr. Marvin expresses his attitude toward toll telephone service when he says that they depend upon it "to get into personal touch with our customers when it is impossible or unnecessary to make a trip to see them."

In fact, it is becoming more and more usual for firms all over the country to use toll telephone service to get business. Here in Connecticut a great many of them, in a variety of lines, are doing it—and their number increases right along. Their sales managers and other executives have learned that toll telephone calls can oftentimes eliminate expensive selling trips, and that many calls can be made for the cost of even a short journey. They cover more territory and make more sales at markedly decreased selling cost. And this, they know, means greater profits.

One of the functions of our Commercial Service Department is the creation of Telephone Sales Plans to meet individual requirements. Its services are available, without charge, upon request.

THE YELLOW STUB

Copyright, 1932, by M.E.A. Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the yellow stub of a theater ticket.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIX

"SURE. Who knows?" agreed O'Day. "But," he added hastily, "you're jumping at conclusions, Rand. I agree with you that there was a handkerchief and sanding that was used on your father—God rest his soul—you're a little hasty in trying to put the two together."

"Mary," he continued impetuously, "I can give you all that and more."
"Is it so masculine and Mr. Lowell went to be so fond of them—but please sit down. Shall I tell Mary to hurry?"

"These wise mothers," he exclaimed softly. "It must have been her as call it intuition—that led you to discover that. I haven't had the opportunity to observe the young man very much, but the first time I saw him he was standing on the street with a notorious woman in his arms. Right in front of the Mayfair Hotel, with dozens of people passing."

"I love her. I want to marry her. Now just a minute, please. May I finish?" He waved away her interruption. "I can offer her and you, too—a wonderful home. While I am not exactly a millionaire, still most people would call me wealthy."

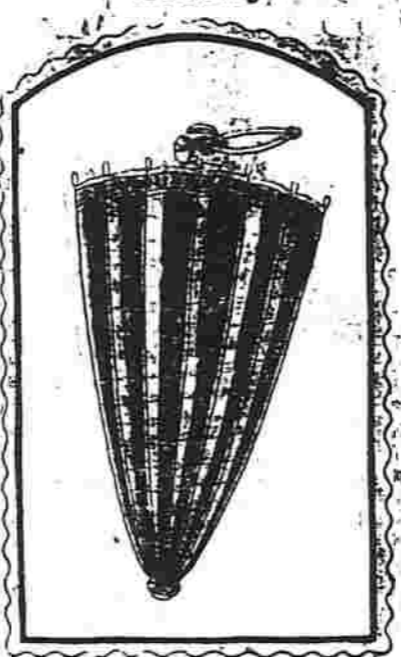

The long, low sport-model roadster belonging to Samuel Church came silently to a stop in front of the modest looking apartment building and Mr. Church stepped out. In the vestibule of the apartment he rang the bell opposite the name Lowell.

"Yes," Mrs. Lowell was all eager attention. "I love her. I want to marry her. Now just a minute, please. May I finish?"

"I love her. I want to marry her. Now just a minute, please. May I finish?"

The WOMAN'S DAY by Allene Sumner

Word Or So
"We soon will hear of mothers promising their daughters diamond bracelets and wrist watches if they refrain from smoking until they are 21, just as in the old days sons were given gold watches if they attained the age of majority without puffing the briar."

The aim of Parisian designers is at least one new hat design for every week of the year. As a commercialism explains the H. C. I. Under the spray of Niagara Falls this spring an Indian girl who was baptized in the waters of the falls 16 years ago and named An-pw-choo-kaw-paw-gua.

Chats With the Girls
"Until women can march into a public place and check her hat and coat with the same frankness that a man does, she has not obtained equal rights. You see women all huddled up in their coats everywhere. They are not only they are shy and self-conscious when they are checked by women who would rid them of a complex of reserve and shyness."

About Women
The post-flapper girls are making a dent in the writing world this spring. I have spoken before of Sylvia Thompson, aged 24. Now comes Elswyth Thane with her "Riders of the Wind." She is 28.

HER OWN WAY A GIRL OF TODAY EXPLANATIONS

"Of course," said Mamie. "Sterns will keep me here just as long as he can tonight. Julie, for he knows that you are rooming at our apartment. I bet you'll hardly get out the door when he'll come here to pump me, but don't you worry, Julie. I'm enough for that man and he knows it. I've never come off second best when he's tried to bowl me out yet."

"You've said something," I answered. "Mamie Riley is the best friend I've had in all the world. I never dreamed a girl could be so sweet and sincere and honest. Why, Jimmie, when I see her smiling at all those sly boys who think that she is flattering her, I can only think of a lily in a muck bed. Yes, Mamie is my best friend."

"No, Judy, not your best friend, if you'll consent to count me in. No one on earth will be a better friend to you than I if you'll let me be so."
"Who's that?" she asked. "Mamie! I've tried always to economize in every way possible, not only in dollars and cents but in time."

"I have always tried to be prompt for an engagement, and never to break a promise. "Women who tell most learn the great lessons of honesty, self-sacrifice, and hard work. They must keep close to God and ask Him to guide and direct them."
"I have never at any time engaged in the more frivolous things of life, or in idle gossip. I have not had time."

"I don't want to lose a friend as good as you are. What do you want to go into the first eating place we come to?"
"Judy, how long have you been here?"

"About two months."
"Have you had to stand the insolence of those men all that time?"
"Sure. I don't have to all the time, but if I were not listening to their insolence, I would have been listening to their compliments which was worse. I've come to the conclusion that a man is indignantly proud of his supposed power to please for he's always trying to add to his little box of tricks."

This And That In Feminine Lore

Through the courtesy of the J. W. Hale Company and the Pictorial Pattern Co., for whom they are agents, a very large number of Manchester women received by mail yesterday a very neat dress pattern which ordinarily would cost 45 cents. The size was 38 and those desiring another size may change it at the Hale store. It is one of their new simplified patterns and suitable for any material, plain or bordered.

Try cooked flman haddie for the fish salad. It shreds well and looks well after being shredded. You can use it without anything but dressing or extend it with potato cut fine, with pimento to garnish, or instead of pimento as much boiled beet as potato, cut small.

Mrs. Emma Guy Cromwell is Kentucky's most distinguished woman citizen, whose friends are urging her to try for the governorship of that state. She taught school when very young, paid her way through normal school and college, served as state librarian, enrolling clerk in the legislature, secretary of state and served on various boards and women's clubs. She has this to say of herself:

"I am merely a plain, matter-of-fact woman, doing the best I can, always. "As voters, we women are just as responsible for good government as are the men. "I have tried always to economize in every way possible, not only in dollars and cents but in time."

Perhaps this spring you would like to redecorate a north room to give the effect of sunshine. Paper in yellow tones is always good with window draperies to harmonize. One of the new painted sets, or the old one done over in some of the lovely shades that come for the purpose will work a transformation. You must be sure to get the right candies for your St. Patrick's day parties. There are always the gum squares or leaf-shaped candies, green mint and green crosses, shamrocks or special mixtures of a variety of suitable honeys for the favorite time to entertain. For the salad or the ice cream serving there are cute little stickers or cardboard cut-outs in the shamrock design, and, of course, no end of appropriate tally cards and favors.

A version of the old-time hanging lamp has been revived. This is for use over the radio outfit.

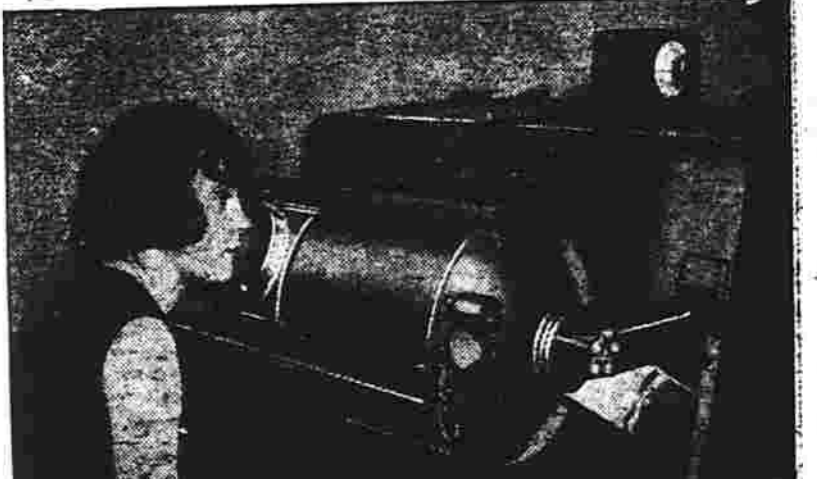

Mrs. William Lalmber who is in charge of the woman's department of the National City Bank turned from society to the task of earning a living after the death of her husband in an automobile accident. Now she is said to be the highest paid woman banker in the world.

Has the jam supply run low in your preserve closet? We usually think of August or September as the time to preserve but very delicious marmalades may be made of the winter fruits. We have written before of orange marmalade. Kumquats make another delicious conserve, prunes oranges and lemons still another. Before long we will have rhubarb, which with oranges and lemons is fine. Everybody loves apricots and a very delicious apricot conserve is made as follows:

Pricot Conserve. 1 pound dried apricots 2 cups shredded pineapple Juice of half lemon Sugar. Wash the apricots. Cover with water and let soak at least 2 hours. Cook very slowly in the water in which they were soaked. When almost done, add the pineapple. Cook until soft and measure. Add an equal amount of hot sugar. Cook to the jelly test. Add the lemon juice just before it is done. Pour into sterilized glasses. When cold, pour over hot paraffin. This amount will make 8 glasses.

"Nothing But a Ray of Light Touches You."

The Safe, Scientific Way of Removing Superfluous Hair

That area of the face or body under treatment for superfluous hair removal is exposed to the harmless and painless light ray of the wonderful Tricho instrument just three to five minutes every ten days or two weeks. THIS PROCESS, which acts only on the hair roots, causing them to dry up, is repeated from eight to ten times, at the end of which period the hairs drop out without sensation—NEVER TO RETURN, AS THE HAIR ROOTS ARE DEAD. To demonstrate the character of the treatment and to show how simple and absolutely without sensation it is, we will give a treatment free and without obligation of any kind to any person calling at our office.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

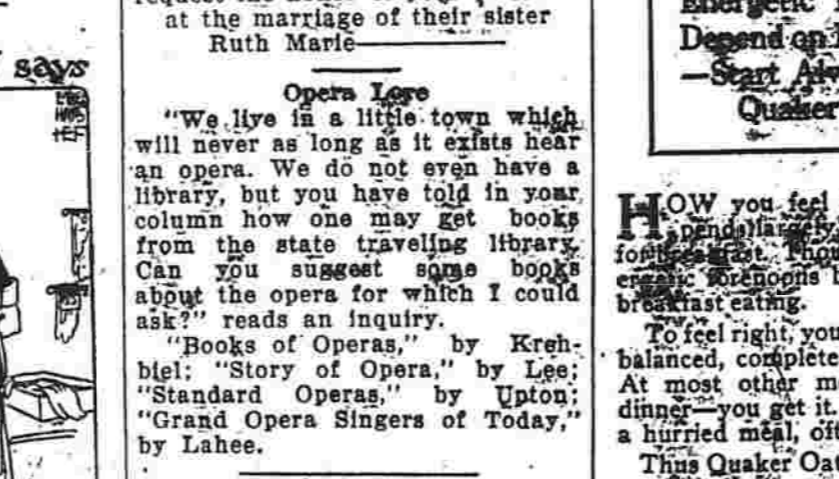

Suddenly they were set down gently before a big gate. "Hello! Hello! Is that the house where the Twins live?" "Yes—this is Nancy," replied the little girl, for it was she who had answered the telephone. "Oh, hello, Nancy," said the voice. "This is Mister Rubadub, the fairyman who runs Scrub-Up Land. Are you busy?"

She banged back the lid and started to fish around and in about three and three-quarter seconds she held up the two pairs of queer little shoes that were famous for their adventures. "Hurry!" was all she said, popping down on the floor the other ones on. And not until Nick had done likewise and felt himself being whisked right out through the closed front door and down the road like a lightning express, did he know what it was all about. Indeed, even then he didn't know exactly where they were going, but suddenly they were set down gently before a big gate, over which spanned the words, "Scrub-Up Land."

ing tub and all around on hooks hung brushes and scissors and combs of all kinds and sizes. On a shelf within easy reach stood a row of cans and bottles. It looked sort of like a barber shop and sort of like a laundry and sort of like a dentist office, for there was the big chair and everything. "I'm getting the wood people and meadow people all cleaned up so they can go to the 'Land-Where Spring-Is-Coming,'" said Mister Rubadub.

Energetic Mornings Depend on Breakfast Start Always with Quaker Oats

HOW you feel all morning depends on the breakfast you eat. It is because of wrong breakfast eating.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen. This Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder; 38% carbohydrate, its great energy source; plus all important vitamins and the "bulb" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietary urge of the world today.

DELANEY K. O'S MCTIGUE IN THE FOURTH Bridgeport Mauler Finds It Easy Task to Win Over Former Champion.

New York, March 16—Jack Delaney, most sensational of present day fighters, added color to his championship claims and shackles to his bankroll, by handing Mike McTigue the first knockout of his career at Madison Square Garden last night.

Unfortunately, the bell rang almost simultaneously with Referee Hagly's intervention, yet it was a timely and justifiable act. Delaney was all set to apply the crusher and, if it had landed, the consequences might have been more serious than the mere loss of a bout.

Twelve Round Bout The pair was scheduled to go twelve rounds to a decision that was to determine the title challenger for Paul Berlenbach's title. Delaney really rated this chance, without having to prove his right to it, and he held no tip in indicating he held the balance of speed and power.

Starting with the opening bell, he piled McTigue with lefts and rights. Mike, in better condition than he has shown in some time, managed to evade a really damaging blow, although it was apparent that his old-time speed was no more.

The Fourth Round For three rounds, the sharp-shooting Delaney was unable to break through the veteran's defense. But in the fourth he hooked a left to the jaw, followed by a right to the same spot and McTigue went down. He stayed down for a count of eight and came up game but groggy.

Delaney stabbed his man with straight lefts waiting for an opening. When it came, he hooked another left to the jaw, pinning Mike on the ropes, and then brought over a sharp right. McTigue crumpled and went down, his body a sprawl over the middle strand of the ropes.

After the bout, Tex Rickard announced that Delaney and Berlenbach would meet in an outdoor ring for the title on June 1. McTigue's most disastrous defeat came three years after he won the championship from Battling Siki in Dublin on St. Patrick's Day.

TOMORROW'S GAME DELAYED A WEEK Town Series Contest Postponed Until Next Wednesday.

It was announced last night that the next game of the town basketball championship series between St. Mary's and Cheney Brothers has been postponed from tomorrow night until a week from tomorrow.

The reason for the change in schedule, it appears, is because the date fell on St. Patrick's Day on which two dances will be held in Manchester. Several players will also be unable to play Wednesday ergo the game has been set ahead another week.

Tampa, Fla., March 16—The Tampa team, triumphing over its American League rivals for the past two seasons, will be Washington's entry in the big league campaign opening next month. Won Lightweight Championship of World at Daly City in 16 Rounds in 1912.

Willie Ritchie won the lightweight championship of the world by defeating Wolgast in 16 rounds Nov. 28, 1912, at Daly City just beyond the municipal confines of San Francisco.

It is written in the books of pugilistic history that Ritchie was awarded the championship on a foul by Referee Griffin. Theoretically this is true, but actually Wolgast was as thoroughly "out" as was any battler who ever relinquished his honors via the knockout.

The outcome of the struggle was a stupendous surprise. Ritchie was a little known fighter at the time. Indeed, when the story of his triumph came singing over the wires from the west his name did not even appear in the record books.

NEW READING COURSE
AT SO. END LIBRARY

According to the announcement made today by Miss Jessamine M. Smith, librarian at the South Manchester Free Library, another reading course in the series "Reading with a purpose" has just been received at the local library. It gives an interesting survey of Sociology and social problems and recommends several books to cover the subject.

"The practical aspect of sociology," says the author, "is of great importance in the study of social problems and in social work and social adjustment. The one social problem is, of course, that of people living well and happily together."

"With this interpretation of the new subject, scarcely anyone can deny an interest in it," contends Miss Smith. "Those in our community who covet a better understanding of this fascinating science and who want to know how to become what they want to be, will profit from reading this course which the library has provided," concluded the librarian.
