

WITNESS ADMITS LYING TO COURT; CASE DISMISSED

Carl Tyler Swears Driver Whose Car Hit His Was Drunk After Saying He Was Not; Defendant Freed

Carl Tyler, the principal witness in the case against George Greenough for driving while under the influence of liquor, flatly contradicted his testimony before Judge Johnson in the police court this morning. Tyler was in collision with Greenough last Sunday night near Bridge street on the West side. As a result Greenough was brought into court on the charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. The car that was driven by Greenough did some damage to that of Tyler. Yesterday Greenough settled with Tyler for the bill which amounted to $35.

Two Stories. Tyler on the witness stand this morning testified that Greenough drove the car and that he was drunk. Yesterday he told Attorney Hyde that Greenough was not drunk, and when confronted with this statement by Attorney Hyde he admitted he had told him so yesterday. Just why he should make such a statement was not clear to the court.

At the conclusion of the case Judge Raymond A. Johnson took occasion to say that he was tired of hearing witnesses who appeared in his court deliberately falsify their statements. He said he would put a stop to this practice even if he had to have a stenographer present to take down the testimony in order to do so.

Not Guilty. Because of Tyler's testimony Greenough was found not guilty. The only evidence that was of any value was that of Sergeant John Crockett who said he saw Greenough walk away from the scene of the accident and that he staggered, but even the sergeant's testimony was unimpaired.

Attorney Hyde introduced three witnesses, Frank Egan and Ignatz Frey of Hackmatack street and Mrs. Kendall of Hartford road. The latter testified that Greenough was at her house Sunday evening and while he had had a drink he was certainly not intoxicated. Both Egan and Frey met Greenough on the street and had a talk with him and each of the men said Greenough was not intoxicated. This testimony could not be refuted.

Difficult to Judge. Judge Johnson said it was difficult for him in such a position to determine whom to believe. It was clearly a case of evidence, and when the state's witness admitted that he had lied within twenty-four hours, there was nothing for him to do but to find the man not guilty.

On the additional charge of driving without a license to which Greenough pleaded guilty, a fine of $20 and costs was imposed. Case Adjourned. Matthew Ripose who was charged with keeping liquor with intent to sell was before the court this morning. He was represented by Attorney William S. Hyde, and as case only this morning he asked for an adjournment for one week which was granted by Judge Johnson. A bond of $200 was furnished for Ripose's appearance at that time.

WARD FOOD COMBINE MUST BE DISSOLVED

Consent Decree Entered in Federal Court Today Ends Merger in 30 Days.

Washington, April 3.—The government won another round today in its fight to smash gigantic food monopolies. A consent decree dissolving the Ward Food Products Corporation was entered in the Federal court in Baltimore this morning, the Department of Justice announced.

The $2,000,000,000 Ward Corporation must be dissolved within thirty days, under the decree. It must forfeit all its corporate privileges and surrender its charter to Maryland.

Had the merger been consummated it would have violated both the Clayton and Sherman anti-trust laws, the decree said.

DOOLITTLE ESTATE AT MERIDEN HALF MILLION.

Waterbury, April 3.—Mrs. Frederick W. Holcomb, of Waterbury, was given $250,000 outright and was made residuary legatee of the estate of her father, Edgar J. Doolittle, former Meriden banker, by the terms of the latter's will admitted to probate in Meriden today. The Doolittle estate totals upward of $500,000 according to the inventory.

FENG PLANS 7 YEARS AS A WORKMAN IN RUSSIA.

Moscow, April 3.—Gen. Feng Yuh Siang, until lately the "Christian General" of China, commanding large military forces, will soon be an ordinary workman in a Russian factory, according to advices received here from Urga. Dispatches state that Feng has arrived at Urga and announced his intention of taking up the role of a workman in Russia, so that he may study new political conditions. After seven years of study in Russia, Feng plans to return to China to enter political life, the dispatches state.

MAYBE TOO COLD FOR EASTER SHOW

Housewives Stock Up on Ham for Dinner While Daughters Dream of Dress

Glancing over the advertisements of local grocers and marketmen it is noticed that good things to eat for the Easter Sunday dinner are abundant and reasonably cheap. The price of eggs has dropped as also the prices on fowl. However, the real Easter meal is ham and eggs and all of the local stores are stocked up on ham for tomorrow and report thus far a big sale.

It is feared that tomorrow will be somewhat cold. The prediction says "clearing" but that may mean anything as far as temperature is concerned. If it is chilly, coats will cover the Easter frocks and the annual parade on Main street in the South End to show the new styles will not be impressive.

To Attend Church. In the morning Mr. and Mrs. Manchester and the children will attend church services tomorrow. Later in the day the girls of the flapper age will show off their finery and the younger folks will go to the woods and hunt the first spring flowers, if there are any. At any rate they will bring home some pussy willows as these are already out.

Origin of Easter. For those who are interested in the origin of our customs, here is the origin of Easter: The Saxon goddess named Ostara or Eostre, the goddess of the east, the morning of spring, gave her name to our Easter.

In olden days the entire month of April was dedicated to Eostre. Spring festivals with dancing and singing and feasting were held in her honor. Legend has it that the sun danced on Easter morning and that if one rose early enough to see this sight, ever after lucky would be his.

The "Big Parade" of Easter Day originates from the old superstition that it is unlucky not to wear something new on Easter Day. The original Christian Easter was really a thanksgiving festival lasting for eight days. Later, it became three days, then two, and now on one Easter Sunday, commemorating the resurrection of Christ.

The clergy of early Christian days in all ways sought to stress the joy of the spring. Feast tables were set within the churches. The Rabbit. The rabbit or hare as Easter symbol arises from the fact that the Easter date is dependent upon the moon, and the hare, in olden mythology, was supposed to come out and play, produce its young, and carry on most of its activities by the light of the moon.

The egg as a symbol of Easter-tide symbolizes birth, new life, a reawakening, about to come forth from the egg and seed.

HARKNESS WILL GAVE VAST SUMS TO PUBLIC

Standard Oil Widow's Gifts to Philanthropic Agencies Total Over $7 Millions.

New York, April 3.—The will of Mrs. Anna M. Richardson Harkness who died at her home at 820 Fifth avenue on Monday at the age of 88 years, disposes of $37,650,000 in charitable and public bequests. She anticipated the will, made in 1920, however, by giving away $29,925,000 of the gifts enumerated before her death.

The largest gift, included among those already paid, is $20,000,000 to the Commonwealth Fund, organized in 1918 for general charitable purposes. Some of the great Harkness gifts to Yale are also provided for in the document.

Mrs. Harkness was the widow of Stephen V. Harkness, a partner of John D. Rockefeller in the development of the Standard Oil Company. BOY, 18, ROBS MOTHER TO WED CHORUS GIRL, 30. New York, April 3.—Robert Stewart, 18, is held charged by his mother, Mrs. Lillian Anderson, with stealing $4,000 in jewelry to finance his courtship, marriage and start in housekeeping with Edna Marsh, a chorus girl, 12 years his senior.

HOME SEARCH PLAN STIRS UP WETS' ANGER

Declare Andrews Measure to Put Teeth in Law Is in Violation of the Constitution.

Washington, April 3.—A tempest was let loose on Capitol Hill when, almost on the eve of the public hearings before a subcommittee on modification bills, General Lincoln C. Andrews, head of the Federal prohibition forces, caused to be introduced in the Senate a bill amending the Volstead act which wet leaders declared would infringe upon the constitutional rights of the people by permitting prohibition agents to break into their homes and also by imposing penalties entirely out of proportion to the crimes alleged.

General Andrews denied that such was the intent of his proposal, but the wets seized upon his suggestions to put more teeth in the Volstead act and made most of their opportunity to arouse opposition to it.

Demands by Andrews. The principal amendments to the Volstead act sought by General Andrews follow: 1.—Provision compelling all manufacturers of cereal beverages to take out Federal permit, give bond and subject their plants to inspection, with penalty for violation of law, a fine of from $500 to $5,000, or imprisonment for one year, or both.

2.—Making denatured alcohol intended for beverage purposes subject to forfeiture, and making mandatory upon the Court the imposing of a prison sentence of two years, and a fine of not more than $25,000 on any person who removes denaturant from denatured alcohol or redistills it for beverage purposes or transports beverage liquors made from such alcohol.

3.—Apply penalties up to ten years to any one forging permits or having in possession for illegal purposes, any permit or physician's prescription form for release of liquor.

4.—Provision for seizure of vehicles used in transporting of liquor, specifying that such vehicle shall not be released under bond a second time, pending trial of owner, within one year.

5.—Provision permitting issuance of warrants to search private dwellings if any distilling apparatus is used or set up for use in such dwellings for unlawful manufacture of intoxicating liquor. Refuse to Subpoena. Fuel was added to the flames when the Senate subcommittee refused, by a vote of 4 to 1, to issue subpoenas for twenty-one witnesses the wets wanted called.

Herald To Have Two Men At Chapman Hanging

The Herald received notice this morning from Warden Scott of the State Prison at Wethersfield that it was entitled to two representatives at the hanging of Gerald Chapman early Tuesday morning.

In order to give its readers the best story of the hanging possible these two privileges will be turned over to experts. The International News Service, to which The Herald subscribes, will send one of its trained newspaper writers to the prison on one of the privileges. It is expected that either David P. Senter, who reported the trial for The Herald, Frank Henry, feature writer of the New York Evening Journal, or William Sheehan, the I. N. S. Hartford representative, will cover the assignment.

The second privilege has not yet been granted to anyone. The Herald, through the I. N. S., is attempting to get a renowned writer, one with great dramatic ability, to be present and give its readers the impression the hanging will make on a trained writer's mind. Rev. John Roach Stratton, of the Baptist Memorial church, New York City, has been approached and has not yet made reply. The Herald will announce Monday the names of its representatives at the execution.

"PEACHES" KNOWS WHO THREW ACID

Jealous Girl, She Declares; Oh, Yes, Intends to Wed Browning When 16.

New York, April 3.—Frances "Peaches" Heenan, 15 year old high school girl, although suffering great pain from the acid burns on her face, neck and arms, sat up in bed today at her mother's home and joyfully told of her romance with Edward W. Browning, wealthy middle aged real estate dealer.

"Yes, indeed, we are going to be married," she declared. "It won't be before I am sixteen but it will be soon after my sixteenth birthday. I hope. Daddy Browning is building a beautiful home on a 135 acre estate at Bellmore, Long Island, for me."

Sure of Identity. Miss Heenan is sure she knows the identity of the person who threw the acid over her while she was sleeping. "I think it was a girl who had been treated kindly by Mr. Browning and who misunderstood his kindness and is now violently jealous of me," she declared.

Following a long talk with Browning, Police Lieutenant Edwin F. England, in charge of the investigation into the acid attack on the girl, declared a great many doubtful points had been cleared up. Browning called on the police lieutenant voluntarily in an effort to help clear up the case.

Only "About 50." Browning was indignant over printed reports concerning his age. He denied he is sixty or close to it. "I am about fifty," he stated.

CHAPMAN DOOMED AS LAST GESTURE OF LAWYERS FAILS

DYNAMITE IN MIDDLETOWN'S LABOR FEUD

Blast Wrecks Workers' Cottage; Three Men Flee After Outrage as Negro Opens Fire.

Middletown, April 3.—Dynamiters today terrorized the workmen's colony at the Tuttle Brick company's plant in Newfield. One cottage was badly damaged when a charge of explosive was set off, but occupants escaped without injury. Three men fled after the explosion and are believed to have driven away in a machine waiting for them on the Newfield road.

The explosive was planted in the northeast corner of a cottage occupied by Emilio Amatolago and James Colletto, a slight trench having been dug to a porch corner. Every window in the house was blown out, sash as well as glass, the porch was wrecked, and an automobile in the yard demolished. In spite of the shock the occupants did not suffer except from fright.

Harvey Morgan, colored, who lives in the colony, jumped to a window, revolver in hand, when the blast occurred. He told authorities he saw three men dash across the fields and fired four shots without hitting them.

Morgan previously had suffered when unknown persons recently bombarded his dwelling house with rifle bullets without hurting the occupants. A short time before that episode a steam shovel owned by the Tuttle company was burned, apparently in an incendiary fire.

The entire trouble is due to a strike that was instituted among brick making concerns in Connecticut nearly a year ago, according to authorities who have been investigating the explosion today.

MEXICO LIABLE FOR DAMAGES UNDER HUERTA

Washington, April 3.—The Mexican government is liable for damages for injury to American persons and property during the Huerta regime, the Mexican-American General Claims Commission decided today.

In recounting principles on which it is deciding claims, the commission said also that Mexico is responsible for losses to Americans under the Huerta administration, which was not recognized by the United States.

STRAIGHT NARROW PATH ONLY ROAD FROM PRISON

Los Angeles, April 3.—Edward Carlyon, granted probation on a prison sentence when he pleaded guilty to driving a car "after taking a couple of drinks for a cold" and striking a pedestrian, prepared today to lead a quiet life for the next three years. He was released by Judge Carlos Hardy with these provisions:

To break no law; to assist in no violation of law, with special reference to buying bootleg whiskey; to take out final naturalization papers as soon as possible; to attend church every Sunday with his wife.

TWO DYING FROM QUEER R. R. CRASH

Loading Derrick Arm Sidewalks Express on Long Island Railroad.

New York, April 3.—Two persons are dying and ten others are suffering from lesser injuries, as a result of the sideswiping of an express train from Long Beach to New York, on the Long Island railroad, today near Springfield, Queens, by a railroading boom on a flat car.

The projecting arm caved in the front vestibule of the train and scraped all the cars, shattering windows.

Panic Follows. The train was packed with hundreds on their way to business or shopping in Manhattan, and panic followed the crash. Women screamed and fainted and there was a rush for the doors and windows. Most of the injured were cut by fragments of glass and bruised.

One of the victims reported to be "a dying condition" suffered a fractured skull, the other a broken back.

HINDOOS AND MOSLEMS RIOTING IN CALCUTTA

Temple and Mosque Burned, More Than Score Killed in Clash With Police.

London, April 3.—More than a score of persons are reported to have been killed in a new outbreak of rioting by the Hindu-Moslem population of Calcutta, a dispatch from Calcutta said today. Many others were injured.

Police reported they had rounded up all the ringleaders responsible for the new outbreak. The casualties occurred when police sought to disperse the rioters. Stones and other objects were thrown at the police who replied with pistol fire.

Troops armed with machine guns were patrolling the streets today. Fanatical mobs were still roving the city, burning and looting shops. A band of Moslems destroyed a Hindu temple, while a Hindu mob retaliated by burning a large mosque.

The list of dead and injured is increasing hourly. AMERICANS TRAPPED AS PEKING IS BOMBED. Peking, April 3.—Enemy aviators dropped four bombs into Peking today. Several houses were destroyed. No one was injured. This is the second time an attempt to bomb Peking has been made. Several of the explosions occurred dangerously close to the residences of Americans. Foreigners are practically bottled up in Peking. No train has left in any direction for ten days.

BOSTON WATER FALLS DOWN FLAT AS CROOK. New York, April 3.—David English Dick, Mitchell, Boston lawyer, was held in $15,000 bail on arraignment today on charges of forgery. Further examination was set for Monday. According to detectives, Mitchell's arrest followed his attempt to pass a money order from a book of orders belonging to Joseph Gluckstein, Chicago merchant. It is said that the book was stolen from Gluckstein in a taxicab and that Mitchell offered one of the incriminating orders in payment of a hotel bill. Detectives are endeavoring to find out how Mitchell got the money orders.

Plea for New Trial Is Denied by Judges Jennings and Marvin Who Refuse to See Witnesses—Decision Given This Afternoon After Long Consideration; Alcorn Says New Trial Witnesses in Danger of Being Slain.

Hartford, April 3.—Gerald Chapman's last hope of escaping the gallows next Tuesday morning was blasted today when Judge Newell S. Jennings denied a new trial to the convicted murderer of Policeman Skelly after reading affidavits of so-called new witnesses by F. H. Groehl, chief counsel for Chapman, and hearing arguments by Groehl and State Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn, who opposed the new trial motion.

The decision, which was given some time after the close of the informal hearing, ends the battle in the courts to save Chapman's life. There is no further possible move that the murderer's lawyers can make in that direction.

If there is any spark of hope for Chapman remaining, it must lie in the chance of obtaining a further reprieve from Governor Trumbull or a commutation of sentence from the Board of Pardons.

Attitude Known. In this connection Judge Jennings acceded to a request of Groehl that he "confer with the governor" before night, but in view of the latter's well known position as to the granting of further reprieves there would seem to be nothing to this but a matter of form.

Judge Jennings had an associate in the hearing in the person of Judge Marvin. The official denial of new trial came from Judge Jennings, with Judge Marvin seated nearby, when County Detective E. J. Hickey passed into the witness' office with about twenty vouchered newspapermen.

"We have examined the petition for a new trial and the affidavits attached to it," dictated Judge Jennings with Judge Marvin nodding approval. "And we have decided that we will not hear the witnesses who made the affidavits. We cannot pass on the petition because it is not in court and the return day would be the first Tuesday in May."

10 Give Information. "I have agreed to confer with Gov. Trumbull some time before night and to give such information as he wishes along these lines. It does not seem to us that testimony along the lines of the affidavits would change the result reached at the first trial. I am through. No request was made in my presence of the state to waive the technicality of the return day and Mr. Murphy said he would not ask to have the return day waived."

George H. Cohen, acting U. S. district attorney, who was present, corroborated Judge Jennings' statement by burning a large mosque. The list of dead and injured is increasing hourly.

Bar Out Witnesses. At the outset the two judges of the state court refused to permit the alibi witnesses to appear before them. Judge Groehl wanted the judges to see the calibre of the men. The judges decided, however, that the situation must depend upon what the Chapman lawyers and the state's attorney said.

When the conference ended, the two judges announced they would give the case thorough consideration at once, and would submit their answer in detail, perhaps in written form.

While the conference was in session four witnesses who are said to desire to aid Chapman's alibi claim were waiting in the crowded corridor of the courthouse. They were R. Nelson Hickman, of 55 East, 59th street, New York; John Callahan, of Jamaica, Long Island; Samuel Cutler, a Hartford automobile dealer; and Edward Higginson, an elderly Meriden resident.

Defense Lawyers Late. Promptly at ten o'clock Judge Jennings was in his courthouse office.

"To permit this man a fourth re-... to let him out of state prison with a gun in each hand to pillage up and down this state," said State's Attorney Alcorn during the hearing, according to statements after-... Mr. Alcorn pointed out that Ben Hanco, a witness at the Chapman trial, had been murdered and that witnesses at another trial might be murdered too. "Chapman's defense will last as long as Chapman's million hangs out," the state's attorney insisted. At this point, Attorney Murphy interjected the remark: "Well, I have seen none of that million; my expenses even haven't been paid yet."

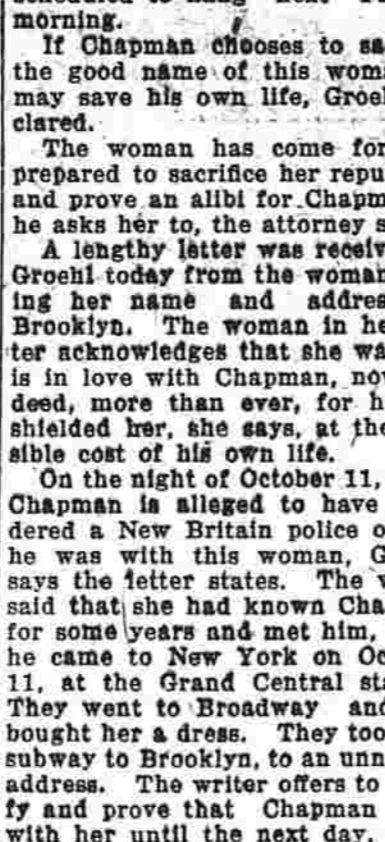

CHAPMAN IS DOOMED AS NEW TRIAL IS DENIED

(Continued from page 1.) He had promised the state attorney was there on time. At 10:15 Attorney Charles M. Friedman entered the office. Five minutes later Attorney Charles W. Murphy, of Danbury, appeared, looked at the crowded corridors and ran from the building. Outside he met Judge Groehl, who was leaning against a fence, and the two had a whispered conference there. Spectators, attracted by Mr. Murphy's hurried departure, began to gather and the two lawyers walked down the street to stop again beneath an awning. It was 10:30 by the time Judge Groehl had entered Judge Jennings' office. Fifteen minutes later Judge Marvin appeared at the courthouse and disappeared into

GREENWICH COP GETS CONSTABLE, ENEMY

Greenwich, April 3.—Hostilities exist between Charles W. Carvette, Greenwich town constable, and William Burke, village policeman. The situation was aired in Town court today when Burke presented Carvette on a charge of disobeying his traffic signal on Greenwich avenue. "Burke has been trying to 'get' me for some time," Carvette told the court. Fined $25 and costs for his traffic rule violation, Carvette promptly appealed, declaring he would carry the case to the highest courts.

FOUNDATION GETS HALF OF SCHEPP'S MILLIONS.

New York, April 3.—The late Leopold Schepp, millionaire philanthropist, bequeathed one-half of his estate to the Leopold Schepp Foundation, which he organized, the filing of his will today disclosed. The other half of the estate was willed to his daughter, Miss Florence L. Schepp of this city. The estate will total somewhere between $10,000,000 and $50,000,000. The Leopold Schepp Foundation, devoted to the interests of all deserving boys, was founded by Mr. Schepp and endowed by him with $2,500,000.

Where Annual Conference Will Be Held

The new South Methodist Episcopal church here will be the scene of the annual conference of the Southern New England Methodist Episcopal churches this year. The conference opens on Tuesday and will close the following Monday.

METHODISTS HERE READY FOR CONFERENCE WHICH OPENS TUESDAY MORNING

New Church Temple to Be Scene of Annual Gathering of Officials, Ministers and Wives—Local Committee Completes Preparations.

Local arrangements for the reception and entertainment of two hundred ministers and their wives and prominent men from all parts of the country who are to appear on the program of the annual Methodist Episcopal church conference here next week have been completed and nothing will be needed but a week of fine spring weather to make their visit to Manchester most delightful in every way.

Excellent features of modern church architecture in actual operation and use in what is considered by many one of the finest modern church temples not only in New England but in the country—the church where they are to be in session for a whole week. With the possible exception of those ministers in the conference who have had the previous privilege, every member of the conference is looking forward with unusual interest and pleasure to viewing in detail the magnificent new edifice with its wonderful ensemble of cathedral and modern church architecture in the presence of which they are to work and worship together for a week.

COOLIDGE FROWNS ON COURT PARLEY

Rejects Idea of League Interference in Our Dealings With Separate Nations.

Washington, April 3.—President Coolidge is opposed to sending an American representative to Geneva to explain to the signatories of the World Court protocol the Senate reservations of adherence to membership in that tribunal. While he regards the invitation as a courteous attention, his position, as explained today, is that it is not necessary, since the reservations are clear, and it rests entirely with the forty-eight nation-members of the Court to accept or reject them.

Best Dressed

The difference between a marriage and a lottery is the fact that you can tear up a lottery ticket and that's the end of it. Nothing is harder on a woman's new hat than one of her enemies.

ROBINS.

The spirit of partisanship is strong in most of us. If we do not respond to the clan call in politics we are likely to do so in some matter of creed. If neither religion nor affairs of state keenly interest, often we can take sides, violently, in alignments on the problem of whether a man should or should not be permitted to take a drink. If all these things fail to stir the partisan urge we can dispute with our neighbor on the robin issue. Somebody has discovered that the robins are disappearing. Then somebody else has explained that it is no wonder, what with all these murderous grackles and starlings about, living, seemingly, for the sole and exclusive purpose of killing off native songsters. And so, of course, a lineup, with disputation raging between those who hate starlings and grackles and would like to do something about them, and those who like starlings and grackles and refuse to believe that they are chasing the robins. Having a good healthy dose of the partisan spirit ourselves we would like to get into this rumpus on one side or the other. But, lacking sufficient first-hand knowledge of the subject to supply a reasonable amount of self confidence, we are still skipping about the edge of the fray, awaiting an inspiration to tell us which kind of a head to hit, a robin head or a starling-grackle head. To tell the truth, in spite of considerable, though more or less casual, observation of all these elements—the robins, the starlings and the grackles—it had not occurred to us that there was any such problem as that now under dispute. The starlings have seemed to be going about their own business, the robins about theirs and the grackles, disregarding both, to be pursuing their own special way. We have never happened to see a starling interfere with a robin or a grackle with either. Neither has it occurred to us that there was any real diminution in the number of robins about. We have heard no complaint on that score from growers of strawberries or cherries. It is perhaps fortunate that the birds do not use our language. Otherwise, it is entirely possible that by now—what with all this talk going on about troubles between them—the robins, starlings and grackles might have become convinced that they really did have mutual grievances and the backyards and fields might be strewn with dead robins and wounded starlings and grackles. Luckily, mischief making among the birds through the agency of human slanders is impossible. Would it were equally impossible among our own kind.

Perhaps, however, we are quite mistaken in our suspicion that the extermination of robins by starlings and grackles is an entirely imaginary danger. Some of the Herald's readers may be able to give us some first hand information on the subject. We sure do want to know which head to hit, if any.

ANDREWS' PROGRAM.

Perhaps it may be competent, without registering as a dissenter from the prohibition enforcement program submitted to Congress yesterday by General Andrews, assistant-secretary of the Treasury in charge of dry enforcement, to express the view that the Andrews program does not deal with all departments of its subject in quite a comprehensive way. For instance, the penalty for re-distilling industrial alcohol for beverage purposes, or its use, sale or transportation after such redistillation, is fixed at two years in the penitentiary and a fine not exceeding $25,000; while the counterfeiting of permits whereby liquor may be withdrawn from warehouses, or of physician's prescriptions, is made subject to a maximum fine of $1,000 or ten years in prison. The latter of these offenses conceivably may be, as compared to the running of a big redistillation plant, a rather minor matter. Yet it would appear to be possible for a little job printer to earn five times as long a term of imprisonment, by faking a warehouse permit, as the owner of a great denaturing outfit would receive if convicted of turning industrial alcohol back into cocktail material on a gigantic scale. Just why there should be this penalty for this offense and that penalty for that offense and still another penalty for another offense, all of them against the prohibitory law, it isn't easy to see. If the idea is to put teeth in the law—and of course it is—why shouldn't it be put up to this dry congress to go all the way to the limit and fill the dry law's mouth with regular tusks? Why not make it ten years flat for everybody who makes for sale, offers for sale, transports for sale or sells any beverage liquid containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol—and let it go at that?

Ten years, no more, no less, whether the offense have to do with an ounce or a thousand gallons.

Let Congress give General Andrews a law like that if it wants enforcement—and it should, being a heavily dry congress. It might even be fair to suggest that General Andrews, if he in turn, wanted absolute reinforcement of prohibition, might have asked for that kind of a law, instead of one that makes codfish of one offender and hake of another and unopened oysters of a third.

What Congress would do about such a request, is, of course, problematical. Ten years is a long time to get along without the services of your own private bootlegger—a thought which might possibly give pause to a good many congressmen who vote dry.

INCOMPREHENSIBLE.

A year ago today Gerald Chapman, a vicious parasite upon society, a predatory creature determined to live in luxury upon the products of his fellow man without useful effort of his own, was convicted in this state of the ruthlessly cold blooded killing of an officer of the law engaged in the discharge of his duty. Chapman was a known criminal who habitually went armed for just such contingencies as that in which he found himself in New Britain—a contingency of his own making. He was fairly tried and fairly convicted. He has had every benefit of appeal and review. He has had ten times the consideration in Connecticut and the United States that he could possibly have received in any other first-class country in the world.

Yet there are a great many people in this state who persist in making of this deadly enemy to society a sort of martyr—who would be delighted if the course of justice should stop abruptly and Chapman be permitted to walk out of jail, free to resume the existence of robbery and violence that he has always led. It is rather amazing to find among these partisans of this thief and murderer an organization of women, devoted to the betterment of social conditions and the uplift of the race. Why should such people attack the very safeguards erected by the inherited wisdom of the race for the protection of honest and innocent citizenship against human wild beasts? Yet that is precisely what they are doing.

Certainly not less than a score of American police officers have been murdered by crooks since Chapman set the fashion for his kind at New Britain. Do these women want the practice of police murders to grow till there shall be no more policemen to protect their own persons and homes? They are going the right way about it if they do.

APRIL.

Always we New England people look for balmy spring weather with the incoming of April. Always we are disappointed. Early April brings us, at best, not the sunny, languorous days for which a drearily long winter has prepared our longing souls, but a sort of blustery near-spring, carrying in its chapped hand the fragments of winter's windy club and touching us up, viciously, with them every now and then. We fail to realize that what we are due to get and practically always do get for at least a fortnight in April is not the dancing fairy soldiery of real spring, but the dust of the rear guard of winter's army, in sullen retreat before the advancing forces of warmth and gaiety and blossoming things—that for a little while we stand in a sort of seasonal No-Man's-land, betwixt and between that which has gone and that which is yet to come. It's a wonderful time to clean up and get ready for spring. But, outside of the astronomy books and the almanacs it isn't spring, right now, any more than it's winter. We always know this. And we always forget it. And we're always sore because we don't walk straight into vernal delights on April Fool's day, like walking through the gate of a baseball park. Moreover, we always would be, though we should live through a thousand Aprils each.

BOOTLEG MILK.

Whatever may be the divergence of individual opinions in the matter of bootleg intoxicants it is obvious that New York is just about unanimous in its opinion of the ring that has been flooding the city with bootleg milk—skimmed and watered and otherwise illegal and unfitted—and of the crooked bribed officials who have made the fine fraud possible.

Here is a cause upon which public opinion will not split.

The milk supply of a great city like New York is a sacred thing. Upon its inviolability depends the health of hundreds of thousands of babies. Those who bedevil it are criminals too mean for ordinary contempt. They deserve no atom of consideration; and it is an excellent bet that in the New York instance they will get none from any source.

The Burial of All Hope

Read Jn. 19:31-42. Text 19:41-42. In the garden a new tomb wherein was never man yet laid. There... they laid Jesus. Meditation—They had thrilled with the hope "that it should be He who should redeem Israel," but He was dead, there was nothing left but the lifeless body of the leader of the lost cause. Abject hopelessness possessed them. He had declared that He must suffer and die but they thought it only one of His baffling parables. The accompanying prophecy of triumph over death they completely forgot. No vigil was burning in the heart of Mary Magdalene, the roadway was wet with her tears. No one was waiting for the third day. There was no dawn in their souls. Death reigned and wildness and hopelessness, and no one was looking for the morning. There was nothing left but to comfort their breaking hearts by the last offices of burial.

Prayer—All merciful Father, Father of Our Lord Jesus Christ, help us that our faith fall not in the hour of loss or sorrow. By the hopelessness of those who mourned the buried Christ thou has taught us that we pass through the valley only to gain the loftier heights beyond. Therefore in our homes of darkness keep Thy our steps firm and our eyes clear. Amen.

HOUSERY TO BE DARKER.
There is a tendency to introduce darker housery, and gun metal and taupe shades are exceedingly smart particularly with the dark outfit.

IN NEW YORK Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS

New York, April 3.—Certain night clubs, it seems, try to keep tabs on fat-pursed "butter and eggs" who come to town. Wires are then pulled to get the visitor to bring a slice of his bank-roll to the place for a night's spending.

The other day the proprietor of one place heard through his private sources of information that such a prospect had arrived. He had an agent call the hotel, bid the man welcome and announce that a case of fine sherry was coming over. Shortly afterward an automobile was carrying the gift to the prospective spender. The proprietor was highly pleased at his bright idea. That night he waited. The "victim" didn't come.

The next day he started an inquiry. The voice of the visitor came on the phone: "Say, did you send over that wine?"
"Yes," returned the salved voice at the cafe.
"Is that the brand of liquor you serve?"
"It certainly is," said the cafe man, highly pleased.
"Well, it's the worst stuff I ever drank and I'm mighty glad to find out where it comes from so that I won't go there."

Opening of a new bar—of which there are still plenty in Manhattan—creates quite as much stir as an opera debut or a big theatrical first night. The "boys" grow weary of the same old haunts and began to suspect the brand of liquor of being on the decline. It is the theory that a new place will always have good stuff—at least for the first couple of months.

But a small sized panic was created the other day when a place opened on Fifty-fourth street and the word buzzed round that pre-war prices prevailed, while there could be had on hand a free lunch counter such as had not been seen since the good old days.

The free lunch part of the gossip proved correct.

Speaking of gossip, don't think for a moment that the small towns have any strangle hold on it. The brightest and gayest parts of the white lights belt will chase a morsel of gossip back to the first mouth that breathed it. For example: the other day newspapers told of a $250,000 alienation of affection suit in which Harry Richmond, night club king, figured.

Every night since then Richmond's cafe has been jammed with gossips trying to get all the details and ready to pay fat cover and incidental charges to get "in on it."

Prepare to welcome a first class new word to the language. It is "thob"—jot it down, for soon you will hear it again, and then again. It's inventor, Henshaw Ward, who has written popular books on scientific subjects, defines it something like this: "When a person thinks without curiosity, has an opinion because he likes it and believes what is handy to believe—then he thobs."

Thus, thobbing becomes what might be termed "wishful thinking," which of course, is also but doesn't mean anything. The word, you will note, is made up of the first two letters of "think," to which is added the "O" of Opinion and the "B" of Believe.

The mental life of the human race, it is believed, "has been a chaos of thobs. A large part of mankind has been going on thobbing about the most serious businesses of life. The reasoning of even the so-called great intellects on the questions of religion, science, war, law and pathology is little more than thobbing."

So Ward sat down and wrote a book about it. He called the book "Thobbing" (Bobbs-Merrill). It will create no end of discussion and will jar complacency and "intellectual circles" to their core.

For it whangs vifally at pretensions, intellectual and otherwise; it punctures some of our most dignified windbags; it bowls over idols and particularly does it swart right and left at the academic circles.

Ward goes to bat with the minds not only of today, but many generations, showing how true scientific method is ignored and usage made of mere speculation which leads to "thobbery."

Perhaps you can remember when you read something like this appeared in newspapers: "Wanted—A good chance to become first class bartender." It is of this period—the nifty nineties—that Mark Sullivan, veteran observer and political writer, writes in "Our Times," the first volume of a quite different history which will deal with changes that have come about between 1900 and the present day.

What to Do For Case of Poison Ivy

By DR. HUGH S. CUMMING
 Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service.

The symptoms of ivy poisoning are comparatively easy to recognize. A more or less mild attack may be ushered in by burning or itching skin. Within a day or two after the skin is exposed to the plant a red rash appears. Small blisters filled with serum make their appearance. Sometimes the blisters become quite large. However, they may be very tiny. At first they may be tense but very soon they become soft and are easily ruptured. The parts of the body affected may swell to enormous proportions. The face when it is affected, may become distorted in shape beyond recognition. It is not uncommon for the eyelids and eyes to become involved. The suffering from the itching and burning is almost intolerable. Scratching and puncturing the blisters brings temporary relief but only serves to increase the size of the poisoned area. This condition occurs in sharply defined patches, in elongated streaks, and other irregular shapes corresponding with the original area of contact. It does not follow the nerve trunk. The poison seldom attacks the scalp or the inside of the hands. If the inflammation is very severe there may be some incidental disturbances such as fever, headache, coated tongue and loss of appetite.

The first printing press in America was established in Mexico, about 1549.

Enter Cinderella No. 2

Frances Heenan, another blonde, is the newest protegee—and may be bride—of Edward W. Browning, who attempted to adopt Mary Louise Spas last fall as a "modern Cinderella." Wedding bells may sound in June, when Frances turns 16. Meanwhile police are hunting the person who threw acid on her while she slept recently.

The attack may subside in from four to six days depending upon the amount of irritant and the sensitiveness of the skin.

The treatment of ivy poisoning is simple and easily administered. One of the best treatments for this condition is bathing with salt water. Sea water is best if it is available.

Another good application consists of one teaspoonful of boric acid in a quart of hot water. The large blisters may be punctured and the contents allowed to run out, but must not be allowed to touch other parts of the body. The affected parts should be bathed with pure water every day or two days and carefully dried, without rubbing. Bathing should be followed by another application of boric acid.

The best advice I can give you is study the poison oak and the poison ivy and the poison sumach that you may recognize these plants and avoid them.

"Muggsy" McGraw's Outfit Nationals' Best Threat

Billy Evans Reports Giants Most Feared Club In Old League—Says Rival Managers Have Great Respect For "Big John."

By BILLY EVANS.

Sarasota, Fla., April 3.—"You must figure McGraw's club," was a remark every National League manager made to me when I asked his opinion of the coming race.

As I watched the team go through its training sprouts and closely observed it in several exhibition games, it was apparent to me that the New York Giants of this year must be figured strongly in the running as pennant contenders.

In my tour of the training camps last year I named the Giants as the best ball club in the club, predicted that it would win its fifth consecutive National League pennant.

CHENEY SMOKER IS POSTPONED

Because many members wished to attend the Berlenbach-Neuman fight in Hartford Monday evening, Secretary John L. Jenney, of Cheney Brothers Athletic Association stated last night that the annual meeting and smoker of the organization has been indefinitely postponed.

ATLAS A. C. WILL STAGE STAR BOUTS

Berlenbach, Neumann, Garcia and Drew Are in Best Condition Possible and Ready for Opening Bell.

Matchmaker Hugh Rorty says everything is all set for the big show of the Atlas A. C. at the Hartford State Armory Monday night.

Hugh Rorty figures that he can be of better service to the club by seeing that everything runs smoothly at the ticket offices and in the seating of the patrons so he has engaged Jack Stafford to make all the announcements from the ring.

The Broad street entrance of the armory will be for admission seats only, which tickets go on sale at noon Monday. The southwest entrance will admit holders of reserved seats and the southeast entrance will be for the admittance of military men.

Paul Berlenbach has taken no chances of not being in the best of condition, for the underestimation of Risko cost him prestige which he expects to regain by his showing Monday night.

SCHAEFER MAY WIN.

New York, April 3.—Jake Schaefer, who lost his 18.2 balk line billiard championship to Erich Hagenlacher, of Germany, a few weeks ago, was on the threshold of new honors today. He needed only 600 points to lift the 18.1 title from Willie Hoppe while the champion needed 1,233 points to retain his only remaining championship, which he won for the first time twenty years ago.

With only two more blocks remaining of the 3,600 point match, Schaefer had scored 3,000 points to Hoppe's 2,367. After beating Willie yesterday afternoon, 300 to 262, Schaefer ran out the night game in four innings, to win, 300 to 35. Schaefer averaged 75 in the night block.

FT. MYERS, Fla., April 3.—Breaking into the majors at 33 years of age, when most pitchers are slipping or through as big leaguers, is the unique experience of Southpaw Joe Pate.

Joe Pate hails from Ft. Worth, Tex. For years his chief business has been helping Jackie Atz win pennants. Atz has six to his credit. While wishing Joe the best of luck, Jackie will welcome Pate back should Connie Mack decide that he can't use him.

JOE PATE.

In the Texas League Joe Pate, as a southpaw pitcher of parts, is as famous as Rube Waddell ever was in the big show. He's the big noise of baseball in the Lone Star State.

Several years ago Ty Cobb bought Pate but for some reason he never reported. It is understood that Pate let it be known that he would rather play with Ft. Worth.

Cy Perkins, veteran catcher of the Athletics, is enthusiastic about Pate.

"Joe hasn't the speed of Groves but he sure has a variety of stuff," says Perkins. "He has a knuckle ball that he appears to control at will. That style delivery looks very funny thrown by a left-hander."

"I am of the opinion that he is going to help us. If he is able to win 10 ball games, and I think he can, it means considerable."

Pate is a six-footer, weighs about 190 pounds and knows how to pitch. Jake Atz, who has managed him for years, says he has the stuff to win in the majors, particularly brains.

The addition of Pate gives Connie Mack five southpaws, Groves, Walberg, Baumgartner and Heimach being the others.

Any local fight fan wishing to see the best fight card ever staged in Hartford may secure seats at Jack Dwyer's filling station. The first bout will be staged promptly at 8:30 p. m.

RICKARD HOLDS WHIP HAND NOW

Can Force New York Commission to Lift Suspension on Dempsey.

New York, April 3.—Although he probably wouldn't admit the fact if one asked for it over the muzzle of a six-inch gun, it was understood today from quite reliable sources that Tex Rickard holds Jack Dempsey's signature to the elusive Wills contract in his safe at Madison Square Garden right at this moment. The document, they say, has reposed there for upward of six months. At the proper time, it will be used but not for the purpose for which its provisions call.

It will be used, the writer is informed, to take the ball and chain off Dempsey's suspension in this state, after which the boys will be foot loose to proceed with the actual business at hand; in brief, a Clear Mystery.

This is supposed to be the answer to the mystery by which Rickard is progressing serenely with the matter of arranging a Dempsey match with Gepe Tunney this summer while the state commission issues mandates to the effect that the champion will fight Harry Wills or not at all.

Rickard, they say, will go before the commission in due season and inform its members he has assurances from Dempsey that he will sign for the Wills fight if the board will take its official foot off the champion's windpipe. Would the commission so oblige? Of a surety, Will Dempsey's signature be forthcoming? Why not, when it is supposed to be in existence already?

This would bring the Dempsey-Wills match into being and it might last all of 24 hours.

Anyhow, they say Rickard expects someone to step forward and bid the proposition without loss of time. Whereupon, the thing having been proved impracticable, he will suggest Tunney as the next surviving candidate and the stampeado will be on.

FIRPO FIGHTS TONIGHT.

Buenos Ayres, Argentine, April 3.—Both Luis Firpo and Erminio Spalla, principals in tonight's fifteen-round bout, were said to be in good condition by their handlers today. Firpo weighs 22 pounds to Spalla's 193. It will be Firpo's first appearance in the ring since he was outpointed by Charley Weinert late in 1924 at Newark, N. J. In a previous meeting with Spalla the same year, he knocked out the Italian in the fourteenth round. The bout will begin at 10 p. m., New York time.

Haymakers That Made History In the Squared Arena By JOE WILLIAMS.

Veteran Jeffries Proved Easy For Jack Johnson in Reno Ring

By Joe Williams. The old ring adage, that "they don't come back," was never more ruthlessly applied than to the case of old Jim Jeffries when he tried to bring the heavyweight title back to the white race at Reno Nev., July 4, 1910.

Jeff had been out of the ring since he voluntarily relinquished his title to Marvin Hart seven years before. Friends persuaded him to come back when Jack Johnson brought the negro race its only heavyweight title by knocking out Tommy Burns, who had previously taken the title from Hart.

Boxing men rarely believed big Jeff could put the negro batter down. The halo of the white man's great ring career, during which he had won 22 championship fights without once going to his knees, still hung over him. Jeffries' strength was prodigious. Few fighters had been able to resist his wrestling tactics and his great left hand pushed out like a battering ram.

But it didn't take many rounds for ring experts to see Jeff was only a shell of the fighter of seven years before. He used none of his short, bull-like rushes; none of his trip-hammer blows to the body.

Johnson entered the ring expecting a wholesome fear of Jeffries' famed left. He had worked out his own system of defense for it. He laid his right glove on Jeff's left forearm and kept it there virtually throughout the fight.

Johnson never hesitated. He beat down Jeffries' pitiful defense and planted a right smash and two left hooks to the jaw. Jeff went down for the third time. He was trying to get up when Tex raised Johnson's arm, stopping the fight.

bloody. Johnson broke from the clinch as Jeff backed toward the ropes, and, at the same instant, drove his right to Jeff's body and his left to the chin.

Jeff's hands dropped to his sides; he slowly collapsed to a sitting position. He tried to rise and fell over backward, half in and half out of the ring.

The arena was in an uproar. Jim Corbett, his face ashen, sat speechless in Jeffries' corner. John L. Sullivan jumped to his feet on the opposite side of the ring. These old fighters have "taken it" themselves. They could see the end.

Jeffries was pushed back into the ring. Johnson stepped in deliberately and smashed him on the jaw with a right and left. Jeff went down again.

The crowd began to yell to Referee Tex Rickard: "Stop it! Stop it!" Tex himself was yelling, but Johnson was too engrossed in the business before him to pay attention. He waited for Jeff to lumber to his feet, then began mauling him across the ring. Corbett came running beside the ring with outstretched arms, shouting, "Go back! Don't hit him! Don't put the old fellow out!"

Johnson never hesitated. He beat down Jeffries' pitiful defense and planted a right smash and two left hooks to the jaw. Jeff went down for the third time. He was trying to get up when Tex raised Johnson's arm, stopping the fight.

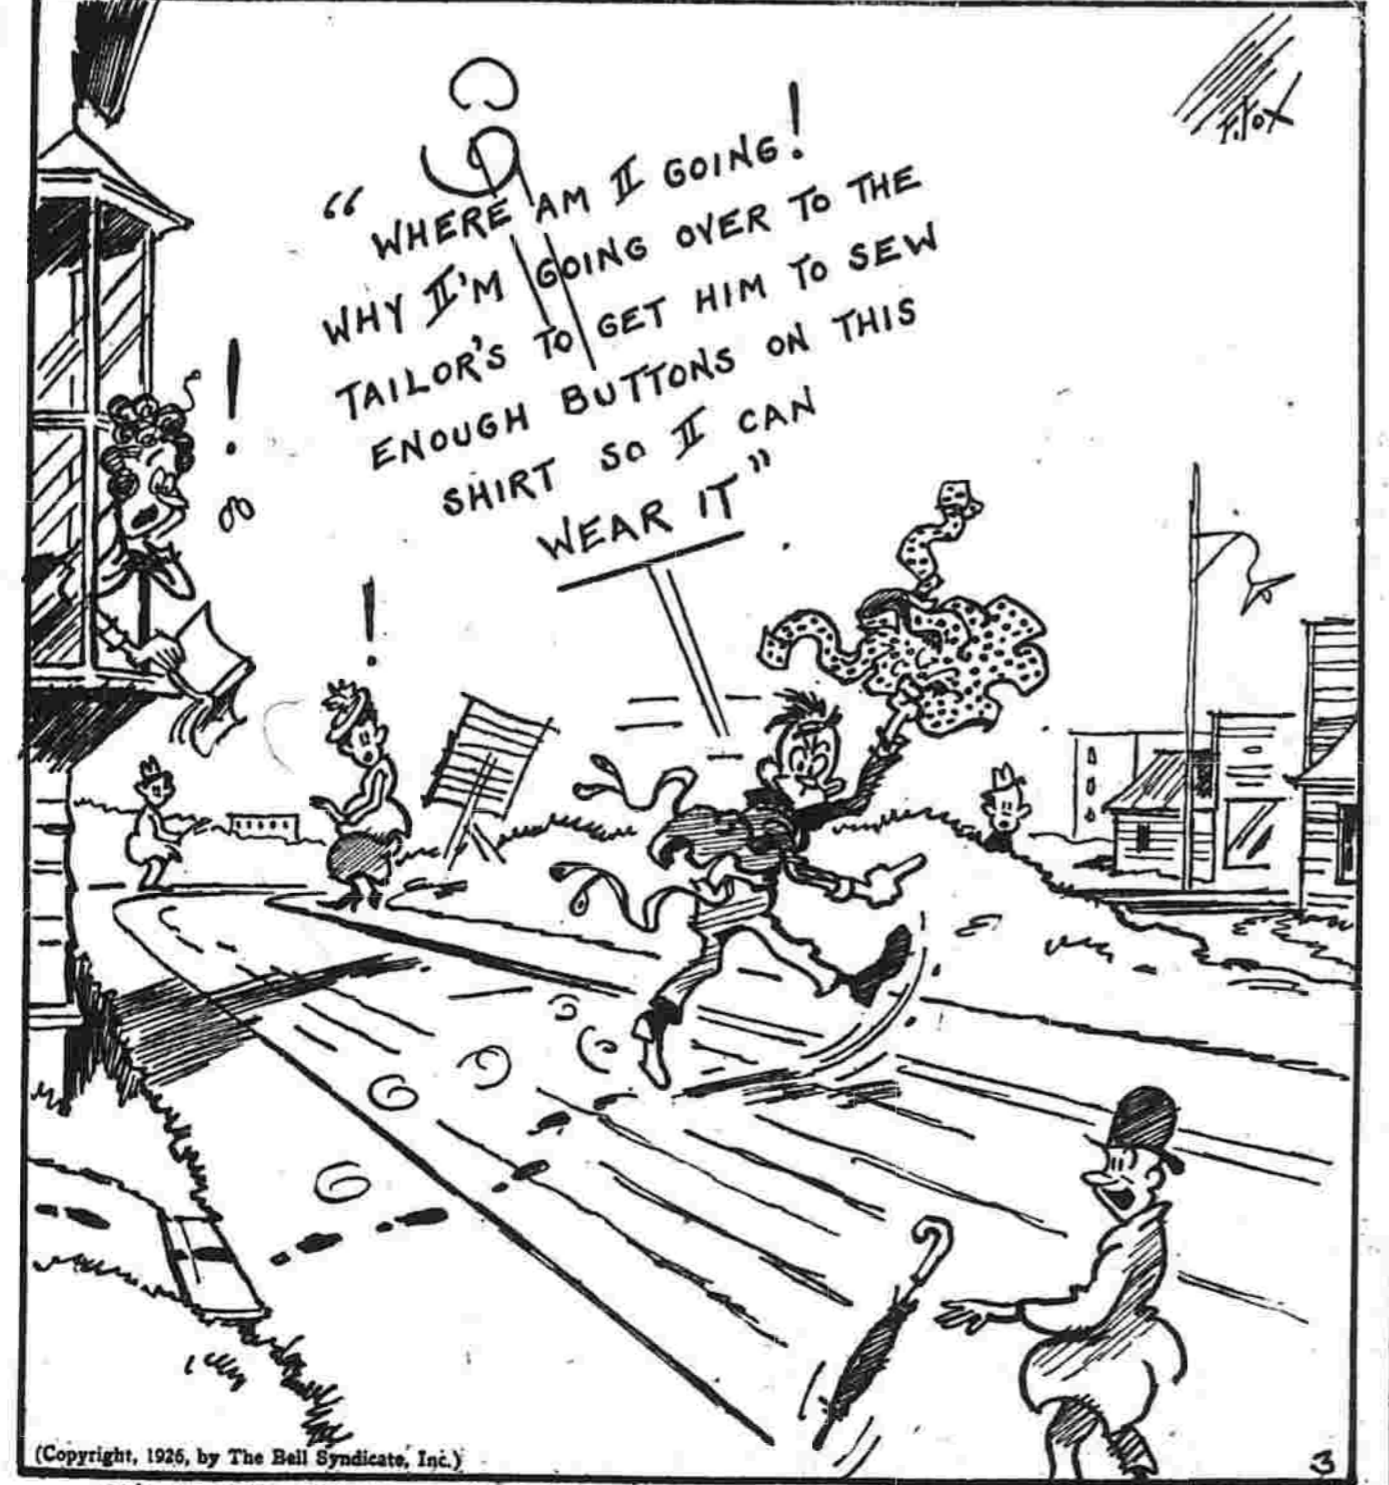

AMATEUR BOXING TOURNEY.

Boston, Mass., April 3.—Eleven southern California boxers, under the watchful eyes of De Witt Van Court of Los Angeles, were here today for the opening on Monday evening of the national amateur boxing tournament.

Mr. Van Court is enthusiastic about Harry Baum and Armand Emanuel, the heavyweights of the coast team. Also Austin Curcio, and Billy Zukle, welterweights.

Tomorrow delegations will arrive from St. Louis, Grand Rapids, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Cleveland, Philadelphia, New York, New Orleans, and other cities. There will be at least 100 bouts decided.

JOYCE WETHERED—DIFFERENCE IN PUTTING STYLES.

The shrewd observer can detect the subtle differences of putting style at a glance in the way the ball runs after it has been struck, and even in the way it leaves the putter's face. The distinctions between the putting of individuals is as unmistakable as the differences of their handwritings. All players have some basic characteristics which hold them powerless in their grasp, try how they may to get away from them. To the born putter this part of the game is easy. He never seems to labor over the matter. It is second nature for him to strike the ball in a beautiful manner.

Putting indeed may be learned but it is not needful for him to learn it. Already it lies in his bones, or rather in the tips of his fingers. The ball runs up to the hole with an ideally smooth motion as if it hung on a thread. The straight face of the club sweeps it evenly away from the place where it was resting.

There has been no slackness in the stroke, yet the ball leaves the club slowly, almost reluctantly. The movement of the club is purely natural. It travels low to the ground, both in the back swing and on to the finish.

Local Sport Chatter

There will be a large number of local boxing fans at the ringside Monday night in Hartford when Paul Berlenbach and Ray Neuman swap punches. The rest of the Atlas card is well balanced and a record crowd may trickle through the gates. It will have to be large and then some to equal the crowd which witnessed the recent Kaplan-Petrolle fight.

Members of the local High school basketball team and the followers who witnessed the games at Tufts tournament are watching with eager interest, the result of the games at the National tournament in Chicago. The center of attraction as far as the local persons are concerned is the Fitchburg, Mass., quintet. Fitchburg High school was eliminated in the semifinals at Tufts in a big upset. At present they have battled their way into the semi-finals at Chicago and the whole East is pulling for them to come through. Myllykangas, their crack forward, is making a great hit with the basketball experts at Chicago, according to devices reaching here.

Bert Keene, former sports writer on the Springfield Union, is now filling a similar position on the Hartford Courant. Johnny Greene, formerly sports editor on the Courant, has relinquished his duties with that paper. It is said that the reason is because he attempted to freeze the Connecticut A. C. out of publicity prior to the Kaplan-Petrolle fight. Although this last statement is not official, it is, nevertheless, from reliable authority.

Johnny Greene was well known to many Manchester sportsmen. He had been on the Courant for many years.

The Manchester soccer eleven will battle the Hartford Thistles in Hartford tomorrow afternoon. A large delegation of local fans will doubtless follow their pride.

With the High school baseball squad going through its regular pre-season practice sessions, the announcement of a coach is still forthcoming. It is understood that Herman Bronkile has been mentioned for the work. Jack Kelleher, of East Hartford has been in communication with school authorities but final arrangements have not yet been completed. It is also understood that Breckenridge was approached in regard to the coaching work but declined on account of excessive business. At present Director Clarke is in charge of the squad.

Many local fishermen are planning to make use of this afternoon and tomorrow in fishing the various streams for trout.

The population of Egypt has doubled in the last 40 years.

Only a Buick Could Stand this Test!

Buick has the only chassis built today that can take a "shower bath" while the engine is running and driving the wheels.

Only Buick provides the design which can undergo such punishment. Of all cars built today, Buick alone has the complete protection of the "Sealed Chassis" and "Triple-Sealed Engine."

Every Buick operating part is "sealed" inside a dirt-tight, oil-tight, water-tight iron or steel housing. The "Triple Seal" (air cleaner, gasoline filter, oil-filter) keeps dirt, grit and moisture out of the engine.

Road slush and grit cannot reach Buick vital parts. Rain and moisture cannot cause short circuits in the Buick electrical system. Even the spark plugs are protected!

Come in and see, with your own eyes, why Buick motor cars are more dependable. Only a Buick could stand the "shower bath" test!

PARSONS' THEATER

'THE STUDENT PRINCE'

Beginning Monday night "The Student Prince" will commence a week's return engagement at Parsons' theater, Hartford.

This will be the final visit of this famous entertainment in this city. On the occasion of its former engagement here "The Student Prince" broke all records for attendance and receipts, and thousands were unable to secure admission due to the tremendous demand for seats.

The same excellent male chorus of picked voices will again make the rafters ring with their wholesome and rollicking and tender songs. Without this chorus "The Student Prince" would be a satisfying musical entertainment in itself; with this chorus it becomes a sensational novelty that music lovers can attend time and time again with an ever fresh pleasure.

The reason for bringing "The Student Prince" back at this time is a very generous one on the part of its producers, the Messrs. Shubert. They are not at all sure that this all-around singing and acting organization can be held together for another season. Therefore, it is being sent for return engagements immediately to those cities where the public demand to see it was too great to be appraised.

The touching love story between the little bar maid at the Inn at Heidelberg and the handsome prince who comes to school there; the picturesque settings in the garden of the Three Golden Apples, the interior of the college, and the magnificent palace at Karisbad; the splendor of the costumes; the numerous singing numbers by both principals and chorus; and the beauty of the musical score, all combine to make "The Student Prince" the most pleasing stage entertainment now before the public. Not to have seen it is to have missed the finest theatrical offering of the era.

Vivacious Mitzl Coming

Oscar Straus music, a lively Parisian story, adapted by Harry B. Smith, the most successful of librettists; an interpreting company presenting many well-known entertainers; an ensemble that has established itself as among the prettiest and most intriguing of the year; a big and attractive scenic production, and, withal, the perennially popular Mitzl—this is the combination that will be offered in "Naughty Riquette," the Shubert's musical comedy, which will be made known at Parsons, Monday, April 19, for one week, and, as though these attractions were not sufficient, the management announces the local introduction of the London comedian, Stanley Lupino, who, according to reports, has been something of a sensation wherever he has appeared. In London, Lupino is quite the vogue, and he is now duplicating his popularity in the United States, which he is visiting for the first time. This is the Messrs. Shubert's first production for Mitzl since the popular comedienne came under their management, and it is said to be notably adequate. There are, it is announced, many song hits, and some of Straus' liveliest and loveliest music is offered in the score.

One writer, Alma Whittaker, quoted correctly of Pola in this manner: "Luff ees a great thing." . . . Now Pola won't have a thing to do with Alma. Now isn't that just too horrid for anything. Alma has hung a yellow ribbon of mourning on her Underwood. . . . Eric von Stroheim remains "artistic" in all things. Lasky studio asked him to film a "trailer"—a few hundred feet of film which introduces the highlights of a coming picture. He consented and drew up his plans. Studio heads thought it was a "knockout" until—they estimated the cost and learned it would run about $25,000. No trailer in Hollywood has ever cost more than $1,500. But, of course, Eric von Stroheim hasn't ever made any and probably never will now. . . . As a step toward keeping the motion picture industry in its infancy, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio has placed Horace Wade, 12-year-old novelist, under contract to write scenarios.

ABOUT TOWN

Dr. J. A. Higgins and Mrs. Higgins of East Center street who have been spending the past two weeks at Atlantic City returned home last evening. The doctor went to the latter place to recuperate from a severe illness and returns very much improved in health. Attorney and Mrs. George W. Rogers and children have returned to their home in Philadelphia after visiting Mr. Rogers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rogers of Lilly street, both of whom are ill at the present time. Attorney Rogers is an inspector of the Federal court in Philadelphia. Mark Holmes of North Main and North School streets today received notice from the State Board of Examiners that he had passed his examinations as an embalmer in this state successfully. His license was enclosed. Miss Ellen Johnson of Clinton street, accompanied by Miss Anna Johnson of Willimantic, left yesterday to spend Easter with friends in New York City. Mr. and Mrs. George Brennan and Miss Anna Proctor of Ridge street are spending Easter with friends in Paterson, N. J. Mystic Review W. B. A. of the Maccabees will have its regular meeting in Tinker hall Monday evening. Miss Marlon Packard of Henry street in company with a party of friends from Turners Falls, Mass., where she teaches, is spending the week in Washington, D. C. Sunset Rebekah Lodge will hold its regular meeting in Odd Fellows' hall Monday evening. At the close of the business session there will be a social. Mrs. Frank Novak of Cooper street is spending the week-end and Easter with relatives in New York. Mrs. Arthur Renaud of Strong street was agreeably surprised on her return from Hartford last evening, to find that friends and neighbors had arranged a party in honor of her birthday. The home was tastefully decorated in colors of orchid and yellow. Yellow candles and daffodils in a lavender basket adorned the table at which fourteen gathered for a bountiful supper. A large birthday cake beautifully lettered and decorated was donated by Mrs. Frank Ingersham. Mrs. Renaud also received many pretty gifts as a reminder of the occasion. The Good Will club of the Fifth district will have an old fashioned dance for the members and friends in the Keeney street schoolhouse this evening. Herbert Custer of 41 Hamlin street was fined $15 in the Hartford police court yesterday on a charge of violating one of the motor vehicle laws. Lawns on all of the streets are getting their spring manure today. With most of the mill employees at home the front and back yards are being tidied up. Miss Elsie Cole is spending the Easter week-end with friends in New York. A long line of taxpayers was on hand early this morning at the Hall of Records to pay the annual town tax. Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Glenney who recently moved from Summit street to their new home at 58 Brookfield street, were tendered a surprise housewarming by about fifty of their friends Thursday evening. They brought with them not only a generous supply of eatables but a handsome electric floor lamp for the new home. A general good time was had by all who were there. Mrs. Adaline Derrick of Clarenceville, Canada, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. John A. Derrick of Buckland. The Lakeview Parent Teachers association will hold its regular business meeting Monday evening in the South school. Children of the school have planned a splendid program for the evening. Mrs. Carl Suprenante, supervisor of music, will render solos. Henry Devlin, who lives in the Johnson block on Main street, was removed to the local hospital yesterday morning. He is ill with pneumonia. After six o'clock last evening with the exception of a half hour before the start and finish of the performances at the local theaters, the streets of the town were deserted. The regular April meeting of the Manchester City club will be held Thursday night. The meeting could not be held last Thursday because of the small number of members present. Twenty-five friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Hewitt gathered at their home at 22 Florence street last night and gave them a surprise party. It was Mrs. Hewitt's birthday. She was presented with a dinner set. During the evening Frank McCaughey sang solos and Wesley Shorts and Joseph Hadden entertained with comedy bits.

WITH THE LOCAL AUTO DEALERS

The first of April brought with it the release of several car orders which dealers had been holding for delivery this time. It has been impossible for The Herald man to get a complete list of all the cars delivered this week but such as we have been able to gather are given below: The Manchester Hudson Essex Co., has delivered Essex coaches to Frank Passacco of Oak street, C. Ely Rogers of Lewis street and Walter Hall of Strickland street and a Hudson Brougham to Supt. F. A. Verplank of the Ninth District school. The Pickett Motors Sales has made the following new car deliveries during the past week: Overland four sedan to James A. Irving of 9 Boulder road. Overland four sedan to Anna M. Risley of 481 Parker street. Willys-Knight six sedan to Thos. V. Holden of 14 Williams street. Overland six sedan to John Covenky of Barbour Hill road. Overland six sedan to Fred M. Remer of 612 E. Middle Turnpike. Overland four sedan to Catane Lupacichine of 102 Clinton street. Madden Brothers, local Nash and Ajax dealers, have delivered an Ajax sedan to Rev. John E. Duxbury, of North Main street. Henry Schaller of the South Manchester garage reports deliveries of new Paige sedans to Joe Russell of Huntington street and Jules Filiere of Griswold street; also Jewett Standard sedans to Maria Marchisotti of Oak street, Louis Chagnon of Bank street and Walter Mahoney of Cedar street. George S. Smith has delivered new Chrysler sedans to Victor Valchen of Govey street, Joseph McCarton of Oak street, Raymond Robinson of East Center street and Bernard Schubert of Cooper street. William Webber of East Center street has a Chrysler coach. James M. Shearer of the Capitol Buick Co. has delivered Buick Master-Six Sedans to Carl Benes of Park street and Miss Finis Grant of Wapping. Master Six Coupe to Mrs. May Sharpe of Main street, Standard Six Sedan to Charles Donze of Spruce street, Chevrolet Landeau to Anna Coleman of Lyndalville, Chevrolet Sedan to Edgar Thompson of Highland Park, Chevrolet Coupes to Clara H. Wells of Chestnut street and Frank Dowd of South Coventry, Chevrolet touring to Samuel Calvert of Ridgewood street.

BEGIN DENTAL WORK ON MAIN ST. TODAY

A force of workmen in charge of the Connecticut company were busy with the annual dental repair work on the cross-town trolley line in the vicinity of Middle Turnpike this morning. Just why they started in that spot is not quite clear as the track is in very bad shape all the way from beyond Bigelow street to the railroad crossing. The rails have dropped below the concrete in many places. It seems futile for the trolley company to attempt to patch up the line in this way, especially as the state department stands ready to surface this thoroughfare with asphalt if busses are substituted for the trolleys. Automobile drivers are always obliged to exercise the greatest caution in crossing the tracks in many places on the street. It would not be surprising if the Connecticut company is the defendant in lawsuit some of these days as a result of the condition of the highway along the tracks.

BUCKLAND PARENTS TO HEAR MISS FRYER

Kindergarten Supervisor to Speak at Monday Night's Meeting. The Buckland Parent-Teacher association is planning an unusual and interesting program for its monthly meeting to be held Monday evening in the assembly hall of the school. After the business session, Miss Myrtle Fryer, supervisor of kindergarten work in the Eighth district schools will give a talk on kindergarten methods that will surely prove interesting to the parents as well as teachers. All parents in the Seventh district are invited to the meeting and entertainment Monday evening whether or not they are members of the association. Other numbers on the program will be vocal solos by Mrs. Raymond Charter and fancy dances by Buckland pupils of the Wirtalla district. Misses Suzanne Batson and Beatrice Scholowsky will appear in the dance entitled "Girls from Holland;" Mervin Thresher and Sherwood Babington in the "Sailors' Hornpipe;" Doris Cole and Virginia Armstrong in both the Cupid and Nursery Rhymes dances; Dorothy Brown and Dorothy Ludwig will execute a Spanish dance. Another entertainer will be Marie Moon, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Moonan, who will give an exhibition of the Charleston. Refreshments will be served and general dancing will follow. Miss Edith Leggett of Dudley street and Miss Annie Smith of Charter Oak street are spending the Easter holidays in New Haven and Bridgeport.

Center Park Pool Again To the Fore

With the coming of warmer weather talk has started about having the lake in the Center Spring park made into a bathing pool. There is no doubt in the minds of any who have studied the question, that the lake is an ideal one for bathing purposes. The only other place in town is at Globe Hollow, out of the way for three-quarters of Manchesterites who wish to enjoy a swim during the summer months. It is conceded that where one would visit Globe Hollow, a dozen would use the pool in the Center Spring park during the summer months. Of course there is a fly in the ointment. The water that flows from the Green is not pure enough for bathing purposes by the time it reaches the park. Because of state law this condition cannot be remedied. The same condition prevails in the North End at Union Pond, a body of water that could be converted into a popular summer resort with bathing, boating and fishing, were it not for manufacturers using the stream that empties into it for power and for getting rid of waste products.

THREE ESCAPE DEATH AS CAR RUNS AMUCK

Local Youth Loses Control of Auto When Wheel Suddenly Breaks. Three local persons had a narrow escape from serious injury shortly before noon today when the automobile in which they were riding suddenly went off the road near Main and Lilly streets just missing a telephone pole. The cause of the car suddenly "jumping" off the road, was due to a broken wheel. The automobile, a Gray touring car, was operated by Rocco Macri, of Homestead Park. Macri had been up to Manchester Green and was returning with two girls. While driving down the hill near the Center, the left front wheel suddenly collapsed causing the driver to lose control of the car. Before the car could be halted, it ran into an open lot. During its course, the machine grazed a telephone pole damaging the fender. None of the persons in the car were injured beyond minor cuts and bruises. The machine was damaged. Macri had just purchased the car, a second-hand one, from a local automobile dealer.

WAPPING FARMHAND COMMITS SUICIDE

Frank Daly, of Rye Street, Had Been Despondent, His Friends Say. Authorities investigating the suicide of Frank Daly, a Wapping farmhand, which took place in a small shack in which the man had lived alone, have been unable, as yet, to locate any relatives of the man although it is understood that he has a brother living in Maine. Daly, who was 40 years old, was employed as a helper on a farm belonging to William Dunn, of Rye street. He has been despondent for a considerable time, according to those who knew him. It is also understood that the farmhand had been drinking excessively previous to his death. Wednesday morning, Dunn was talking to Daly about six o'clock and the morning and the farmhand apparently was in his usual state of mind. Two hours later, however, Daly was missing. When the employer went in search of him, he found the man dead in his small shack. He had taken his life by shooting himself through the head with a revolver.

REPORT UNFOUNDED

Manchester shoppers did not go to Hartford in great numbers on Good Friday, despite the assertion of a morning paper today to that effect. Traffic on the local trolley lines was no heavier than usual. This morning, however, it was necessary to run extra cars on regular trips to Hartford, for traffic was unusually heavy on both the Manchester and Rockville lines.

ADVERTISING TOWN.

Secretary Rix of the local Chamber of Commerce is getting letters daily from Chambers of Commerce all over New England, praising his plan of protecting Manchester business men from house to house canvassers from out of town. Eight of the secretaries from Gloucester, New Bedford, Boston and Springfield, Mass., Portland, N. H., and from Greenwich, Middle town and Stamford, this state, stated that they would use clippings from the Evening Herald in their local newspapers. This means an excellent advertisement for the town.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for kindness shown us, at the time of the death of our husband, son, and brother; we would also thank those who contributed flowers. We wish to especially thank the telephone operators for their kind assistance during his illness. MRS. MAGNUS SKOOG AND RELATIVES.

AN AUTO ACCIDENT NEARLY EVERY DAY DURING YEAR

One would not imagine that nearly every day in the year there is an auto accident reported in Manchester but such is a fact. Advance information gleaned last evening shows that over 300 accidents have already been reported and the year is not yet up. Sometimes two or three come to light in a day during the summer months and that even up the score for the two or three winter months when most of the autos are kept in garages.

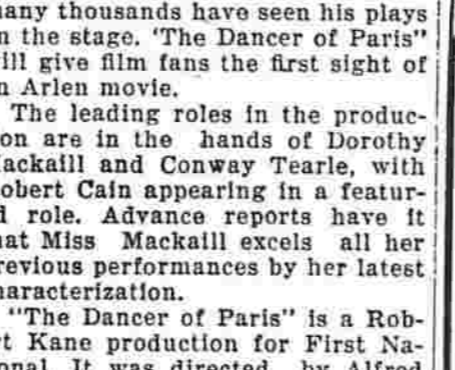

TWO BIG FEATURES COMING TO STATE

"The New Klondike" and "The Dancer of Paris" Open Here Tomorrow.

"The New Klondike," Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount production at the State Sunday, Monday and Tuesday is a story which brings in the atmosphere of the Florida real estate boom, with that of a baseball training camp. Scenes are laid in a small Florida town where the team's park and the hectic excitement of the boom resorts. Meighan is a baseball player who, on reporting for training, is told that he has outlived his usefulness so far as baseball is concerned. He quickly recovers from the shock and stumbles into a real estate deal. Turning several pieces of property over, he skyrockets to prosperity. The other players hear of his good fortune and get him to invest for them. This sudden wealth wrecks the team; they all want to become realtors.

What Happens if--- an executor dies before an estate is finally settled? If you name an individual as executor of your estate and he should become incapacitated or die before your estate is finally settled, the court would appoint an administrator to carry out the instructions of your will. The administrator might be entirely unfamiliar with your affairs—possibly a complete stranger to your family—someone you might not have selected. This would probably prolong the final distribution of your estate, causing inconvenience to your heirs. If you name this company as your executor the possibility of an administrator being appointed would not arise. Unlike an individual, its existence is continuous. It has the experience and equipment necessary for competent estate management. With your affairs in its care, you can be certain that it will always be vigilant in the interests of your heirs, always available, never ill or incapacitated. There are many points about wills and estates, and methods of safeguarding your family's future, with which you may not be familiar. Send for a copy of "Safeguarding Your Family's Future." You will find it interesting reading. The Manchester Trust Company Member of American Bankers Association
