

PICK OFFICERS AT METHODIST MEETING TODAY

Rev. L. G. Horton, of Mansfield, Mass., Elected Secretary—Memorial Services Held—Banquet Tonight.

The entire conference of the New England Southern area of the Methodist Episcopal church which is being held at the new South Methodist church here went into executive session this afternoon to consider the case of Rev. Guy Willis Holmes of New Bedford, Mass. who is fighting to hold his position in the conference.

Details of the Holmes question were not made public. It was learned late this afternoon that the conference in executive session named a committee of 15 to investigate charges against Rev. Holmes and decide whether or not they should be pressed. This committee will report to an executive session of the conference Friday afternoon.

The first business of the Southern New England conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church was transacted this morning when officers of the conference were elected. Holy Communion preceded the conference session with an address by Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, presiding officer. The Rev. L. G. Horton of Mansfield, Mass., was elected secretary and stood on his duties immediately. He chose his own corps of assistants.

Officers Chosen.
The Rev. J. S. Bridgeford of Providence was chosen treasurer, and the Rev. G. W. Bruce of North Attleboro, Mass., statistician. Mr. Horton chose as his assistants the Revs. William E. Hardy, J. B. Claypool, G. A. Grant, R. J. Christie and C. J. Stewart.

Rev. Robert L. Roberts, district superintendent of the New Bedford district, read his annual report.

Various resolutions of sympathy and condolence were passed and several minutes were welcomed into this conference.

More Time Needed.
An important part of the morning's business was the change in the start of the sessions. They have been beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning but on motion of the Rev. Joseph Cooper the hour was changed to 8:30 so that more time may be had to transact the business on hand.

Following the report from Supt. Roberts of New Bedford, the conference adjourned to the memorial service for members of the conference who have died during the year. This was presided over by the Rev. J. Francis Cooper. The Rev. E. A. Legg spoke.

More than ninety members answered the first roll call of the conference at its opening session. More will come today and it is expected that 300 will be in attendance at the banquet this evening.

Tonight's Conference.
At 6 o'clock tonight the conference and those outside of it, its membership who attend will listen to two speakers who have never before been heard here. One is the Rev. Daniel L. Marsh, recently elected president of Boston University, pastor of the historic Smith street Methodist Episcopal church of Pittsburgh, and for many years head of the Pittsburgh Federation of Churches. The other is Dr. Albert C. Knudson, recently elected dean of the School of Theology at Boston University.

Dr. Marsh, on his arrival in Boston to take over the presidency of the university, was welcomed by Governor Alvin T. Fuller of Massachusetts to his own home recently. He is a forceful speaker and one new to this section.

Dr. Knudson succeeds Dr. James A. Beebe as head of the school. Dr. Beebe recently resigned to become president of Allegheny college. He began his work in the Colorado conference and was professor of the Bible and theology in Denver University, Baker University in Kansas. He has for nineteen years been professor of systematic theology and Old Testament exegesis and was chosen from that position as dean of the school. He is a bright and able speaker and will represent the school of theology at this conference.

Dr. J. I. Bartholomew, former pastor of the South Methodist church, will act as toastmaster at the banquet. It is expected that Bishop William Anderson of the Boston area will be present also.

The committee in charge of the dinner outside of the church, will consist of Mrs. William Horton, Mrs. J. C. Winkler, Mrs. J. H. Goslee, Mrs. Jennie Ferris, Mrs. Albert Holman, Mrs. Thomas Curran, Mrs. Brainard, Mrs. Albert Chapin, Mrs. M. Fryer, Mrs. E. Ingraham.

The banquet this evening will be served by the following committee: Mrs. Jennie Ferris, Mrs. J. W. Goslee, Mrs. John Winterbottom, Mrs. Paul Ferris, Mrs. Ralph Judd, Mrs. (Continued on Page 2.)

BILLY SUNDAY MAY RUN FOR PRESIDENCY OF U. S.

Cincinnati, April 7.—Billy Sunday, world-famous evangelist, today was on record as harboring presidential aspirations.

Speaking before an audience of more than 4,000 persons in Music Hall here, the fiery evangelist announced that in the event that both leading political parties nominate vet candidates in the 1928 presidential race he would run for the presidency on an independent ticket.

AWARD BOND ISSUE TO HARTFORD FIRM

G. L. Austin Company Gives Town Highest Return on Its $356,000.

The G. L. Austin Company of Hartford was the highest bidder for Manchester's $356,000 bond issue when bids were opened yesterday afternoon at the Manchester Trust Company's office. Accordingly the issue was placed with the Hartford company.

Good Premium.
The Austin Company offered the town a bond bid of par plus 2.91 giving Manchester a premium of $10,648.00. This means that the town's issue will actually bring in $357,064.80. Since the issue is for 4 1/2 per cent it was expected that a lower bid and premium would have to be accepted. However, under this arrangement with the Austin Company Manchester is getting its $356,000 at about 4.23 per cent. The lowest bid of five offered was $356,142.40.

GREATEST OIL BLAZE IS ON IN CALIFORNIA

Lightning Starts Series of Blasts in World's Biggest Tank Plant—Four Gone.

San Luis Obispo, Cal., April 7.—The largest oil tank plant in the world, the property of the Union Oil company of California, was in flames today, following the almost simultaneous explosion of four huge tanks of oil each containing 750,000 barrels of oil.

Lightning struck one of the tanks, causing it to explode, and the three others immediately exploded.

Fire followed the explosion and fifteen tanks containing 1,200,000 barrels of oil are endangered. Further explosions are feared.

The fires are only two miles from this city. Fears for its safety are felt if other explosions occur or the flames cannot be checked.

The explosion shattered windows in San Luis Obispo and the neighboring town of Edna, damaged six farm houses adjacent to the tank farm and destroyed four small buildings at the tank farm.

So far as had been ascertained but one person is injured. Theodore Mimimie, a farm hand, aged 15, was badly burned.

All available members of the American Legion in San Luis Obispo county have been called out to assist in fighting the flames.

The Southern Pacific Railroad company is rushing assistance from Los Angeles and San Francisco and other points.

All roads have been closed in the vicinity of the farm and members of the American Legion are guarding them.

N. Y. DRYS DROP OWN PLAN FOR REFERENDUM

Wets Confident of Defeating State Enforcement Bill on Monday Night.

Albany, N. Y., April 7.—Prohibition advocates at the capitol today abandoned their plans for a "dry" referendum.

Assemblyman Boyle, Republican of Suffolk, who yesterday agreed to offer an amendment to the Jenks state-wide dry enforcement bill, to provide that the measure should not take effect unless approved by the voters in a referendum this fall, announced today he would not press his proposal.

After studying the proposal, Boyle said today he was convinced that it would be unconstitutional and for that reason would not attempt to amend the Jenks bill.

Next Monday night is expected to see a long drawn out fight between the wets and the drys in the Assembly, and possibly in the Senate. The Jenks enforcement bill is expected to come up for final action at that time, and the wets are confident they will be able to defeat it.

Manilla, P. I., April 7.—Ten Moros were reported today to have been killed and ten members of the Philippine Constabulary wounded when a Constabulary force stormed and captured a Moro fortress in Lanao province. Few details of the fight have been received but it is believed to have been with a fugitive band of Moro insurgents on whose trail the Constabulary has been for some time.

BUCKNER TELLS AMAZING TALE OF ALCOHOL

So Much of It Loose in U. S., He Says, It Hurts Smuggling and Is Exported Into Wet Canada.

Washington, April 7.—A monster underworld industry, flaunting the American prohibition law, has grown so powerful it now exports "bootleg alcohol" into the dry provinces of Canada, Emory R. Buckner, United States attorney for the southern district of New York, testified today before the Senate "wet and dry" committee.

Buckner painted an amazing picture of the bootleg underworld thriving on diversions of industrial alcohol from legitimate business. His supply to a dry but ever-thirsty America, he said, has even cut down the smuggling of foreign liquors into the United States, "because it is easier to get."

3 Billions Worth
The illegal alcohol diversions last year alone, he declared, supplied the bootleg trade with $3,600,000,000 worth of illicit drinks.

"The inefficiency of the industrial alcohol which lets stay millions of gallons of alcohol slip into the bootleg trade annually has done as much as the Coast Guard Service to halt smuggling of foreign liquors into the United States," Buckner told an amazed audience which jammed the Senate Judiciary committee public hearings.

"There is so much industrial alcohol diverted to bootleggers that a dry United States is exporting bootleg alcohol into wet Canada to help Canadian bootleggers beat the Canadian government out of its alcohol tax."

One Car Seized
Buckner said one carload of bootleg alcohol already has been seized at the Canadian border. It was sent by American bootleggers to Canadian bootleggers to defraud the Canadian government of its tax.

Painting a graphic picture of the tremendous confusion, misdirected justice and widespread corruption in the handling of liquor cases under so much confusion, Buckner declared it was "impossible to enforce the law."

"Juries were even bribed in the toils of the federal building," he said.

Substitute Criminals
"Men arrested for violating the dry law hired substitutes to appear for them in court."

When he first went into office, Buckner said, he found dry agents being protected "for the number of arrests they made and for convictions or for the amount of liquor they captured."

"Who ordered that system of promotion?" asked Senator Reed, Democrat of Missouri.

"Mr. Andrews' predecessor," Buckner replied. "Mr. Andrews immediately corrected it."

The padlock system of closing bars, he said, was a "disgrace."

HINDENBURG GRIEVES FOR HIS "OLD ARMY"

But Is "Confident the New One Will Prove Worthy of the Traditions of Past."

Berlin, April 7.—"Only by unity can Germany become powerful again," declared President Hindenburg today in a speech, occasioned by ceremonies to commemorate the sixtieth anniversary of his entering the German army.

The president, after having reviewed his old regiments, while standing before the presidential mansion dressed as a field marshal, was undoubtedly moved by a speech of congratulations made by Minister of Defense Gessler.

"You won't mind an old soldier like me, recalling the proud old army with sadness," said Hindenburg, obviously moved as the tattered standards of the regiments he had led in victory and defeat were paraded before him.

"I recall the past with grief, but I am confident the new army will prove worthy of the traditions of our forefathers," said the president.

SISTER GRIEVED AT CHAPMAN'S GRAVE COURT VINDICATES MENCKEN POLICY

Was One of the Two "Mystery Women" at Burial; the Other Her Friend.

Hartford, April 7.—When Gerald Chapman was buried in unconsecrated ground attached to Mount St. Benedict Catholic cemetery here yesterday morning, one of the two women who stood at the grave was a sister of the dead murderer. The other was a younger woman, a friend who had accompanied her here.

The women came here on Monday evening, presumably from New York, and the sister, who has given her name to nobody here and whose identity has been covered up by any friend who had accompanied her here.

The women came here on Monday evening, presumably from New York, and the sister, who has given her name to nobody here and whose identity has been covered up by any friend who had accompanied her here.

Nothing Offensive.
"I saw nothing offensive in them," he declared. "As for 'Hatrack' it proves to be a frank expression and somewhat intellectual description of a small town woman of the streets. I found nothing to arouse any lewd impulse such as might be referred to in the statutes."

Referring to the magazine itself, he declared it purports to be a high class magazine selling for fifty cents and intended apparently for persons at least nineteen years of age, the price itself being indicative of that idea.

Mencken hurried to Boston to defy the police after his publication had been ordered off newstands in several New England states because of the Watch and Ward society and the W. C. T. A. claims that it was indecent.

Test Case.
Solely for the purpose of making a test case, Mencken secured a city peddler's and hawk's license from City hall and armed with this went to "Brimstone Corner" in one of the busiest spots in the city, under the shadow of several ancient churches and offered the magazine for sale.

Agent Chase, accompanied by policemen, bought a copy of the magazine and then ordered the editor's arrest.

After the decision in his favor, Mencken was given permission by the court to make a transcript of it for dissemination among other magazine publishers.

The Misses Marlon Burr, Marlon Robertson and Emily House, local girls who are students at Abbot Academy, Andover, Mass., have returned to school after spending the Easter vacation at their homes here.

TWO GOOD BEATS!

The Herald is proud of the way in which its reporters and news service covered Chapman's last plea for his life and his execution.

Readers of The Herald were given an exclusive story Monday afternoon about the hearing given the condemned man by the Board of Pardons. James Kilgallen made use of the only telephone available at the State Prison and dictated the complete story to the International News Service. Neither of the Hartford papers carried one quarter of the dramatic story The Herald gave its readers.

The reports of the execution carried by other papers circulating in Manchester could not compare with the two detailed accounts appearing in The Herald. Gilbert Frankau's dramatic account was a distinct news beat. James Kilgallen's vivid description was one of the best ever written about a hanging.

BOTH WERE REAL HERALD BEATS!

LEAGUE WILL REJECT U. S. RESERVATIONS

Doesn't Want Us in the World Court on Such Terms as Were Laid Down by Senate.

Washington, April 7.—America's actual entry into the World Court receded still further into the dim and misty future as a result of semi-official advices which have reached Washington to the effect that the League of Nations is not going to accept the reservations which the Senate made a condition of American adherence.

If these advices are confirmed by subsequent developments—and the feeling prevails here that they will be—it means that the Senate's voting American adherence on Jan. 27 last is reduced to an empty gesture, without practical effect. It is a situation that has the irreconcilable in the Senate literally chortling.

Balk at Section 5.
The reservation at which the League is balked is the latter section of the fifth, which prohibits the court from ever rendering an advisory opinion concerning a question in which "the United States claims an interest" without the consent of that government.

Inasmuch as the rendering of advisory opinions is one of the chief functions of the court as it is now constituted, this provision is reported to be considered by the Geneva statesmen as tantamount to hamstringing the league's relationship with the tribunal. Strictly applied, it might conceivably operate to prevent the court's rendering any advisory opinion whatsoever, for the "interests" of the United States have become worldwide since the war.

Always Disliked It.
The governing heads of the League viewed this reservation with suspicion and misgiving from the first. Their dislike of it was intensified upon examination of the language of the section, and resulted in the dispatch of instructions to league members to "indicate their opposition to it."

At the same time, the league sent a special invitation to Washington to come to Geneva and talk it over.

The league's instructions to its members to "indicate their opposition" to the reservation, and the collateral invitation to the United States to come to Geneva to discuss the matter, aroused keen resentment in Washington.

U. S. Rejects.
A note was in the final stages of preparation at the State Department today rejecting the invitation. It will go forward this week.

The frank expectation in Washington is that the refusal of the United States to send a delegation to Geneva will intensify the league's opposition to the Senate's reservations.

WILKINS DIPS INTO UNKNOWN REGIONS

Back from Flight, Reports No Land in Sight Fifty Miles North of Point Barrow.

New York, April 7.—The first dip into the unexplored polar seas has been made by Captain George H. Wilkins and his polar expedition. The North American Newspaper Alliance issued the following statement today.

"Captain George H. Wilkins, arriving at Circle City, Alaska, last night announced that on March 31 he and his pilot, Carl B. Eielson, flew in their monoplane due north from Point Barrow to 73 degrees 30 minutes and returned without sighting land."

The flight was approximately fifty miles north of Point Barrow.

SCHOLAR, ONCE FRIEND OF EMPEROR, DIES PAUPER

New York, April 7.—The late Prof. L. G. Coiin, who a few years ago was the owner of vast estates in Austria and France, a friend of Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria and a scholar of international repute, was buried in a pauper's grave in Potter's field today. He died at the age of 68, leaving his widow and son penniless.

Stamford, April 7.—A day in jail at least will be the lot of anyone who is convicted before Judge James R. Brinkerhoff of a charge of driving a vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Alex Novack received that sentence from Judge Brinkerhoff today besides being fined $100 and costs.

CHURCH FOLK ALIBISTS FOR WHITTEMORE

Two M. E. Trustees to Swear He Was 600 Miles Away at Time of the Buffalo Murder.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 7.—A motion for a change of venue is likely to be the first move of counsel for Richard Reese Whittemore, whose trial is to be begun here in a few days on a charge of murder in the killing of two Buffalo bank messengers, last fall.

Eight reputable witnesses, two of them trustees of a Methodist church, will testify that neither Whittemore nor Leon Kraemer was in Buffalo the day of the robbery, according to W. Bartlett Sumner, defense attorney, who has been to New York City to prove an alibi for the prisoner.

600 Miles Away.
Whittemore's witnesses, it is understood, will testify that Whittemore and Kraemer were not within 600 miles of Buffalo on the date of the local bank robbery and double murder.

Probably anticipating that application for a change of venue would be denied, Whittemore through his attorney, sent the following message to the people of Buffalo:

"I may not be an angel, but I wish the people of Buffalo to know that neither myself nor my pals had anything to do with the bank of Buffalo hold-up. I ask that Buffalo retain its reputation for fair play and justice and see that my trial, if it is held in this city, is impartial and free from prejudice. If an attempt is made to convict me I will be acquitted."

DR. BUTLER MAY RUN FOR GOVERNORSHIP

President of Columbia Picked by Some as Best Wet to Beat the Democrats.

New York, April 7.—A movement to nominate Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, as the Republican candidate for Governor has been started here in the hope that the selection of an advocate of a repeal or modification of the Volstead act may hold down the Democratic plurality in New York City, which local Republican leaders fear may be very large unless a candidate of Dr. Butler's type is named.

The movement to name Dr. Butler has gained impetus since it became known that the upstate Republican leaders, despite the protestations of an advocate of the prohibition referendum at the general election in November instead of at a special election in June, as favored by Samuel S. Koenig, New York County Chairman, and other local Republican leaders.

United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., who arrived here last night to attend a dinner given for him at the National Republican Club by the New York County Republican organization, confirmed the report that it had been practically decided to hold the referendum in the fall.

ERNEST VIctor GIBSON, BROTHER OF THE WOMAN NOW HELD IN ROME FOR THE ATTEMPT ON MUSSOLINI, MARRIED CAROLINE DE BILLIER OF NEW YORK.

Lord Ashbourne, brother of Miss Gibson, is a resident of France and has written many articles and books that have attracted attention, one of these concerning the liberal Catholic movement in France.

Bored Through Nose.
While the premier's injury is said not to be serious it is most painful and embarrassing. The bullet pierced both nostrils and grazed the cheek.

Despite the personal orders of Mussolini for no reprisals and the strenuous efforts of the authorities, crowds of demonstrators gathered in the streets and threatened riots on anti-Fascists. One group of demonstrators marched into the offices of Il Mondo and made threats against opposition leaders and did some damage to the printing plant of the newspaper.

Dublin, April 7.—Lord Ashbourne, upon being advised here

Hon. Violet Albina Gibson, Sister of Lord Ashbourne, Sends Bullet Into Face of Italian Premier, Then Frantically Fights Police; Is Known as Religious Enthusiast—Wound of Il Duce Said Not Serious.

Rome, Italy, April 7.—Premier Mussolini had a narrow escape from death today when he was shot and slightly wounded by a woman, as he left the International Congress of Surgeons, where he had delivered an address.

Mussolini was about to step into his automobile and depart for Chigi palace when the woman fired at him. The bullet hit Mussolini in the nose, wounding him slightly.

The premier's assailant, after having been lodged in prison, gave her name as Violet Gibson, and her age as sixty. She stated that she is a British subject and was born in Dalkey, near Dublin.

Planned Embarking Today.
Mussolini had planned to embark today on the battleship Cavour for Tripoli, and upon the occasion of his departure planned to make an important speech outlining the Fascist colonial policy.

Prior to embarking he was scheduled to address the International Congress of Surgeons and also to appear before the Fascist Grand Council.

Yesterday Mussolini embarked upon a venture aimed to check profiteering landlords and also designed to speed up home building in Italy.

After shooting Mussolini the woman backed into the crowd still holding the revolver in her hands. While some members of the crowd rushed to the assistance of Mussolini over a hundred persons attacked the woman.

Fights to Escape.
The carabinieri rushed into the melee and found the woman making a frantic fight to escape. Even after the carabinieri had taken her into custody she made a fierce fight.

Although the wound of Premier Mussolini is described as being slight, no announcement has yet been made as to whether he will carry out his plans for embarking on the Cavour tonight, to sail for Tripoli tomorrow.

An enthusiastic celebration of Fascists had been planned for tonight, prior to Mussolini's departure, and the supporters of the celebration are turning this celebration into a demonstration of their loyalty to the premier, as the result of the attempt at assassination.

Religious Enthusiast.
London, April 7.—The woman who today attempted to assassinate Premier Mussolini of Italy was today identified here as the Hon. Violet Albina Gibson, sister of Lord Ashbourne.

Miss Gibson is aged fifty, and she is known in England as Ireland as a religious enthusiast. A year ago Miss Gibson attempted suicide in Rome, by shooting herself while in ecstasies of religious fervor.

Miss Gibson, who is the second daughter of the first Baron Ashbourne, has been a resident in Italy at various times.

Once Tried Suicide.
King George interested himself in her case last year when she attempted suicide, and sent his personal physician to attend her.

Because of her religious fervor, friends of Miss Gibson here are inclined to believe that indignation over Mussolini's attitude towards the Vatican, and the recent differences between Fascism and Cardinal Gasparri, may have prompted her act.

Ernest Victor Gibson, brother of the woman now held in Rome for the attempt on Mussolini, married Caroline De Billier of New York.

Lord Ashbourne, brother of Miss Gibson, is a resident of France and has written many articles and books that have attracted attention, one of these concerning the liberal Catholic movement in France.

D. A. R. MEMBERS

HEAR STATE REPORT

At the meeting of Orford Parish Chapter D. A. R. at Center church parlors Monday afternoon Mrs. Charles H. Blissell of Southington, state regent, gave an annual report which showed encouraging work done by the various chapters throughout the state.

She said that there are now fifty-two chapters in Connecticut, one chapter having disbanded during the year, the few remaining members being absorbed by the neighboring chapters.

The largest present D. A. R. undertaking is the building of the new auditorium to seat 4000 persons, at Washington, D. C. The cost will be $1,325,000.

During the social hour Mrs. Dorothea Waite of Rockville, vocalist at the church of the Redeemer in Hartford, sang in a most charming manner, the following selections: April, My April; A Brown Bird Singing; Coming Home and My Love is a Muleteer.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. J. G. Falcott, Mrs. John L. Brown and Mrs. A. J. Straw.

MANCHESTER MAN

ADOPTS 2 ORPHANS

For the second time this year a resident of Manchester has subscribed $100 for the orphans of the Near East. A pledge first made to the fund now being raised here makes $200 given by this local man.

The general fund is growing very slowly, it was said yesterday by members of the committee who desire that the final amount raised in Manchester will care for at least thirty orphans for one year if not more. Many who last year have not yet renewed their contributions, which, if received, will help to swell the amount considerably.

In view of the fact that so much personal solicitation has to be done throughout the year for local affairs, it has been hoped by the committee that responses to the letters will be sufficient to raise an amount the present rate with that obtained in other cities of the size. The special effort made to get a large number of sponsorships even beyond the ordinary quota is in order, that the care of as many children as possible be under their wings, so that the money raising efforts of the Near East Relief may be discontinued as soon as possible.

The following appeal has come to W. W. Robertson, chairman of the local committee from the State Committee of the Near East Relief, whose chairman is Hon. Marcus H. Holcomb and whose treasurer is Mrs. W. W. Appleton.

"Connecticut must provide for at least 500 more orphan children between now and June 1st if it is to meet the quota assigned to it. Unless contributions come in at much over the present rate, this will not be possible. We should like to impress upon every local committee and the people of every town and city the importance of continuing their share in this work for children, in order that every child in the orphanages of the Near East Relief may have the opportunity we would wish our children to have—training for self support.

A special Easter letter, sent out from the Hartford office of the Near East Relief is bringing in funds to help meet the state quota, but this letter was not sent to residents of Manchester in order that they might have an opportunity to contribute through the local committee.

All contributions, it is said by Harold C. Alford, local treasurer, may be credited to the various churches if the donors will so indicate.

Women Rave Over New French Powder

A new kind of face powder is here. Made by a new French Process—stays on until you take it off. Forces and lines do not show. Not affected by perspiration. Gives life and beauty to your complexion. Most unbelievable. It is called HELLO-GLO. You will love it. HELLO-GLO. So, Manchester, Adv.

FORMER LOCAL MAN

ENJOYING SUCCESS

Friends of W. H. Whiting, former Recreation director here will be glad to know that he is enjoying success.

During the years 1918-1920, William H. Whiting held the directorship of the Recreation Center here in town. He was held in high esteem by the local people who came to know him through his splendid directorship and pleasing personality. He has had unusual success in his chosen life work, and friends in town may be interested to hear of his progress since leaving Manchester.

After his departure in 1920, he located in Medford, Mass., where he had charge of the High school physical training, and here he developed a very fine track team. After a successful period here, he secured the position of Director of Physical Education in the Huntington school for Boys, located in Boston, Mass. Here his duties called for particular attention to track work among the students, although in other phases of physical training were under his supervision also. Unusually good showing was made by the track team which Huntington produced under Mr. Whiting's direction, and when any competitions were held with other high schools Huntington always won a good position. When the annual trip was taken to Philadelphia for participation in the Penn relay contests, very fine work was done considering the enormous competition which confronted the boys.

Frank Craven, the noted actor and playwright, having to his credit the authorship of the plays: "The First Year" and "New Brooms" was a boyhood chum of Mr. Whiting's. So whenever his itinerary took him to Boston, Mr. Craven made it a point to renew old acquaintance with Mr. Whiting and on one occasion gave a talk before the Huntington track team.

This past year Mr. Whiting assumed greater responsibility in a new position as Director of Physical Education in the schools of Quincy, Mass. This position involves the care of 12,000 pupils under his directorship. Recently, the Quincy schools observed "Posture Weeks," and every boy, girl, and teacher had their attention focused on good posture. The State Supervisor of Physical Education addressed all of the 450 teachers on the subject of "Posture" during one afternoon.

Mr. Whiting is considered an authority on physical education, having made it his life work. Being graduated from both Williston Seminary and Springfield College, he has had taught in private and public schools prior to his coming to Manchester. He is a believer in building health and character, in boys and girls, and in physical education. He has managed summer camps for many years and at present operates a boys' camp each summer on Lake Kezar, Maine.

For the past few years, Mr. Whiting has resided in Abington, Mass., and recently in an Abington town election, he was voted in as a member of the school committee, receiving the highest number of votes of any of the persons elected to that committee. His nearest competitor received 109 votes less.

"SEA BEAST" TAKEN

FROM "MOBY DICK"

"In 'The Sea Beast,' an adaptation of the novel 'Moby Dick,' I hope to make live again before the eyes of America and the world, one of the most adventurous, colorful, and characteristically American industries, that of whaling, now defunct and living only in all its glory and glamor in the traditions of New Bedford and of such novels as 'Moby Dick.'"

"Season after season the great winged ships braved the perils of arctic seas, bearing on their decks the best and the worst of America's manhood. Whaling ships and whaling men pushed into the far unknown corners of the earth, braving all weather and all danger to follow wherever the whale might lead. Here was engendered that dogged determination, ready ingenuity and unflinching sportsmanship which is the foundation of modern America.

"It was a rugged, eventful life, full of sudden death and ever-present danger. Crew killing captains ruled with the closest fist and the belaying pin. Ships fought each other for disputed quarry. Some took pirate or smuggler, but in the main the officers and men of the whaling fleet were upright and God-fearing.

"It is the mighty spirit of the New England whalers that we have attempted to capture for the silver screen in the production of 'The Sea Beast.'"

Bess Meredith adapted this stirring Herman Melville story to the screen, and Millard Webb directed. In the cast are Dolores Costello, George O'Hara, Little Donlin, Sam Baker, George Burrell, Sam Allen, Frank Nelson, Mathilde Comont, James Barrows, Vadia Uranoff, Sojin and Frank Hagney.

HARTFORD AGAIN

ELECTS STEVENS

Republican Mayor of the Capitol City Is Returned to Office.

Hartford, April 7.—Mayor Norman C. Stevens was re-elected mayor of Hartford yesterday, defeating ex-Senator Edward W. Broder, 17,561 to 16,148.

The Republicans elected aldermen in 11 of the 15 wards, making the council 23 Republicans and 7 Democrats, the same proportion as during the past year. Other members of the Republican ticket went into office with the mayor so that for the next two years the city will have a Republican city marshal and Republican majorities in the board of selectmen, high school committee and board of education.

Voters approved appropriations for $362,000, including $30,000 for a new municipal golf course. Mayor Stevens is the first mayor of Hartford since 1906 to be elected to succeed himself.

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL

AT CIRCLE TOMORROW

Can love reform a crooked young girl whose desire for excitement has made her the leader of a band of confidence men? Such is the problem that forms the theme of "The Little Irish Girl," the Warner picture which is coming to the Circle Theatre tomorrow and Friday with Dolores Costello as the star.

Miss Costello plays a hard-boiled girl who has served as a decoy for a group of grafters, but who finds herself falling in love with one of their best victims, an honest, hard-some country boy, played by John Harron. The ruthless brains of the band, played by Matthew Betz, threatens to kill her if she confesses and she is powerless to help the boy she loves and his old grandmother. They stay at the country hotel owned by Granny and plot to obtain her property which is valuable because of the mineral springs on the grounds.

Although the backbone of the plot is melodramatic, the treatment is comedic. There is a resemblance to the O. Henry stories in the surprising, snap-the-whip finish.

The second feature Elaine Hammerstein is the star of "S-O-S Perils of the Sea," which comes to the Circle Theatre tomorrow and Friday. This Columbia feature is a thrilling drama of the sea and the men and women who live upon it. It is said to be one of the most elaborate productions Columbia has ever released. Supporting Miss Hammerstein in the lovely star's latest role for the screen is Robert Ellis heading a cast of well-known character actors. It includes William Franey, Pat Harmon, Jean O'Rourke, Frank Alexander and J. C. Fowler.

Today the Circle presents for the last showing, matinee and evening House Peters in "Combat" and Lou Tellegen in "Borrowed Finery."

A PUZZLE A DAY

C, D, A, E, I, F, G, B

X H, C

B, B, B, B, B, B, B

Thursday Miss Brown considered a total waste for her pupils, who had disrupted the day's program with tricky April Fool jokes. So Friday she was determined to lead them to peace and quiet. The first thing in the morning she gave the class the puzzling problem shown here. Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 are represented by one of the following letters: A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J. No single letter represents two different digits. The clue is to discover which letters represent the various digits. They are then required to substitute the figures for the letters, so that the multiplication will prove to be correct. One child discovered the correct answer.

If H equals 8, what is the correct answer? Last puzzle answer: I am "darn," a four-letter word used in mending, transposed I am "hard," another name for matgrass. My senior partner is "well," a four-letter word the opposite of sick. My junior partner is "omen," a four-letter word meaning "foretoken."

When you join us we form "well-garmonen." When you transpose us we form "Andrew Mellon," the name of the secretary of the United States treasury.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

PAUL PACKARD CHOSEN CONSTITUTION SPEAKER

To Represent S. M. H. S. in County Oratorical Contest in Hartford.

Paul Packard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Packard of Wells street has been selected to represent South Manchester High school in the Constitutional Oratorical Essay Contest for Hartford county to be held soon in Hartford. Paul Packard has selected for his topic "Abraham Lincoln and the Constitution."

Last year Sherwood R. Mercer was the local representative and was accorded second best speaker and received honorable mention. He chose as his topic "John Marshall and the Constitution." This Constitutional Oratorical Essay contest is held each year now in different sections all over the United States. The purpose is to promote a greater understanding of the constitution and what various American men of state did for it. If a contestant wins first prize in his respective county he is eligible to enter the state finals. If he wins this contest he enters the sectional finals to be held in Louisville, Kentucky.

The sectional winners of this contest enter the semi-finals, and the winners then selected are eligible to compete in the national final to be held in June in Washington. All these national finalists will get a free trip to Europe this summer, and in addition, the national champion will receive a grand prize of $1,000. County, state and sectional first prizes are $25, $100 and $250 respectively.

Paul Packard has been a member of the local high school debating team for the past two years and so has had considerable experience in public speaking. His topic is a tribute to the immortal work Lincoln did in preserving for America the constitution and its democratic union, the United States, from seemingly certain disaster during the Constitutional Union's supreme test of strength, the American Civil War.

Regular track practice is now being held on the first four days of each week. Most of the veterans are out again, while a large number of new men are working vigorously to get into condition, hoping to out some of the "regulars."

Managers John Hutchinson has arranged the following very attractive schedule: May 15—Lewis High, here. May 22—Springfield Commercial High, here. May 24—Chapman Tech of New London, New London. May 29—Crosby High, There. June 5—Triangular Track Meet, Manchester, Bristol and Meriden, here.

HEBRON

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Payne and child of East Hartford, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lord of Wetherfield were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett G. Lord.

Mrs. Frederick Wyman had as week-end guests her brother, Edward Sparks and her sister, Mrs. Cohen, both of New York. Mr. Cohen will remain for a longer visit. Sherwood Miner is prostrated with an attack of grip. He is under the care of a physician.

Ames W. Sisson of Hopevale lost a valuable cow recently of pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. John F. Woods of Wethersfield and a party of friends visited St. Peter's church Sunday afternoon.

An Easter cantata in which choir singers from this town were to have assisted and which was to have been given in Colchester Sunday evening, has been postponed owing to the death of Mrs. Janet Craig, mother of Mrs. C. E. Fendle. One of the leading sopranos of Colchester. It had been planned to give the cantata here later.

Miss Louisa Lord has returned to The Connecticut College for Women. Robert E. Foote, chairman of the town school board, attended the recent hearing in Willimantic on special state aid for schools of the smaller towns.

Two days before her marriage to Randall Tisher, which took place on Sunday, Miss Dorothy Whitehouse was given a kitchen shower by the "Jolly Doers," a society of the young people of the Gilead church.

The highest attendance average for any of the schools of the town for the month of March was attained by that in the Jexer district, taught by Miss Tillie Friedrich of Columbia. The average was 98.5 per cent.

Those children having a perfect attendance at the White school in Gilead during March are: Isolda Riva, Edward Foote, Aldo Ansaldo, Andrew Hooker and Johnnie Hooker.

DEATH OF INFANT

Faith, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert F. Andrews of Fairfield street died today after several weeks' illness. The little girl was taken ill with measles four weeks ago. She had barely recovered when pneumonia developed and this was the cause of her death. Everything that medical skill and trained nursing could do was done for the baby but her strength was not sufficient to combat the dread disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their bereavement. They lost another child some time ago who would have been four years old today had he lived. Two other children, Emily and Betty survive. Funeral arrangements are incomplete at this writing.

SMUGGLING

Though the Senate hearing on the prohibition laws started off with promise of little but oratory, its developments yesterday, when General Andrews testified before the sub-committee, became important.

Andrews, besides making known the discouraging fact that no less than $75 dry agents have been dismissed for cause—that is, for being found out—admitted that with the best efforts of the enforcement forces it was possible to prevent only five per cent of the liquor smuggling; and he further confessed that the decision of the federal court upsetting treasury department rules which created 200 denaturing plants had struck enforcement a vital blow.

It had not been anticipated that Andrews' testimony would disclose any such condition as this with relation to smuggling. We have heard so much about the growing effectiveness of the blockade of Rum Row, of seizures of ships and cargoes of booze, that even the most obstinate wet must have been convinced that a very considerable proportion of contraband was falling into government hands.

If even the chief enforcement officer of the country confesses that, even with the tremendous expenditure being made, only an inconsequential fraction of liquor smuggling can be prevented; and if the federal courts will not uphold the only processes by which enforcers can stop the flooding of the country with redistilled alcohol, then all argument that the country is gradually being dried up falls to pieces.

If Andrews had said in so many words that it was a fact that prohibition had utterly and completely failed, his testimony would have been very little different in effect.

SPELLACY.

The Hartford election yesterday was, of course, a vindication of the administration of Mayor Norman C. Stevens, than whom the Capitol City has never had a more conscientious and enterprising executive and very seldom such a capable one—and in returning him to office Hartford people displayed just ordinary horse sense.

But the election has another significance. Thomas J. Spellacy, who of recent years has adopted the Hartford Democracy as his own special numerous family and has put it to work for him, has new and loftier political ambitions. It was highly important to Mr. Spellacy that he demonstrate his claims to party leadership in Connecticut in this congressional year by trotting out his adopted family in Hartford on election day and showing what a numerous body it was, and how industrious under his paternal authority.

Unfortunately for Mr. Spellacy a considerable part of the family played hooky or walked out on him, for in spite of his almost tearful pleadings for the Democrats to get out and support Candidate Broder, about one out of every four failed to do anything of the kind. The result of the election was a victory for Mayor Stevens and the decent, responsible sort of city government he represents, to be sure. But it is not altogether certain that it was not even more of a defeat for the ubiquitous and ambitious Thomas J. Hartford Democrats, along with some in other parts of the state, are becoming a bit weary of quite so much Spellacy.

ARSON.

Charles W. Frost, a young man living at Larchmont, N. Y., and occupying a position of some responsibility as an accountant attached to government income tax units in New York and Washington, has been convicted on a second trial in the Fairfield county court of the crime of arson, the act being the employment of certain notorious New York gangsters to set fire to a Bethel factory in which he was interested, so that he might collect $70,000 in insurance.

The crime was peculiarly atrocious, according to the evidence, which was to the effect that Frost told the gangsters they would have to "get rid" of the night watchman, which they did by tying him to a chair and leaving him to die in the fire. Fortunately he was rescued.

The testimony in the case was conclusive, consisting of the confessions of the gangsters who did the job and who are now awaiting trial. Nevertheless it seems incredible, merely on the balance of probabilities.

That a man of social and business standing, comparatively well-to-do and in no financial straits as far as shown by the trial, with a fond wife and three young sons to think of, should commit himself into the hands of a band of the most notorious crooks in the metropolis, for whatever of gain the enterprise promised, is one of those things which are only to be accounted for by sheer abnormality in the person committing such an enormous folly.

Cut out of the prolem all considerations of right and wrong, admit that such a person is made up lacking the element of humanity that would prevent him from participating in a very dreadful murder, the most ordinary dictates of self preservation would seem to be sufficient to keep him from putting himself in a position where he would be practically certain to be blackmailed for the rest of his life. Unless he were a sheer dolt fool—and Frost is not that.

Conceivably a man in Frost's position might be guilty of arson. He might set fire to his factory for the insurance. He might even take the chance of his watchman being burned. Men of education and apparent culture have done such things before. But that he should consort with known criminals in this utterly ruinous way, putting himself forever at their mercy, is beyond understanding.

But for one thing it would be well nigh impossible to believe that his arrest and trial had not been a terrific miscarriage of justice.

That one thing is the thought—why on earth should the "Kid Dropper" gang go to Bethel from their city haunts and set fire to that factory, lacking just the motive they describe? And why on earth should they swear that Frost hired them if he did not? It gained them nothing to say so.

Though a jury has passed on the Frost case there will be plenty to believe that there is still some unexplained mystery in it.

BIRD "WAR."

Elsewhere is printed a letter from a Manchester citizen who has kindly come to the support of the Herald in its suspicion that there is something of slander in this everlasting attribution of malevolence and evil doing to the starlings and grackles. This observer finds, starlings and robins living in amity in the same tree, if you please, and not only that but he notes that yellowhammers abide within a few yards, with no disturbance at all unless a cat comes around, and even then all the animosity displayed is toward the quadruped.

We like to believe that there is, among the birds, if not precisely a fellowship at least a disposition on the part of all of them who are not actually creatures of prey to let each other alone and play the game of existence with some fairness; and it is always encouraging to receive evidence backing up this theory.

Thirty years ago, for some obscure reason, it became a generally accepted belief that the English sparrows were driving all the native birds away from the neighborhood of every settled community. We know now that this was all a mistake. When the dusty little Britishers fight, as they frequently do, to be sure, it is almost always among themselves. Certainly they haven't driven off the natives. Time has vindicated them.

A CHOICE.

There is an ancient and bedraggled tale of a disgruntled pioneer dame of log cabin days watching from the security of her hovel a fish fight, hand-to-hand, between her husband and a grizzly bear, summed up the situation thus: "Jedgin' by what I know of John and what I know of bears, and bein' a believer in strict justice, I dunno as I give a darn which licks."

If, on the other hand, Mencken succeeds in making a monkey out of that unspeakable busybody, mischief maker and burlesquer of all real morality, Chase, we know we should feel just as exuberant as we would in the other event.

But it happens that Mencken, in a way, represents in this controversy the right of free speech and a free press. With considerable reluctance we are compelled, by the underneath gravity of the matter, to take the Mencken side. Would that the champion were more appealing.

Publicity is very valuable to a congressman. He likes it, if he's onto his job. Most of them are, at least to the extent of knowing that it pays a politician to figure, good and plenty, in print.

But there's publicity and publicity. There's praise, and there's also its reverse.

It's in their attitude toward the second of these two brands of publicity that congressmen differ. Doubtless all congressmen prefer praise, but as to the other 'ging

One type enjoys praise but resents adverse criticism. The other type welcomes anything it can get. If it gets praise good. If not, it extends the glad hand to vilification, ridicule, anything, as far better than nothing at all.

Senator Guy D. Goff of West Virginia falls in classification No. 1.

Goff has brains. He makes a dandy speech, but he's sensitive, and evidently a thoroughly serious-minded chap. In contrast with this mental slant, physically he's a roly-poly guy who makes you laugh when you look at him—not a disagreeable laugh, a good natured one.

Well, Goff made a speech one day, which I had occasion to refer to in one of these letters I write, and so help me John Rogers, it was a complimentary reference but I did remark that Goff looked like a kewpie, as he got his oratory off his chest.

Who'd he thought that a harmless little crack at a grown-up he-senator's personal looks, in an otherwise flattering yarn about him, would have disturbed his ego?

Believe it or not, in less than no time I'd had half a dozen representations made to me, by Guy D. Goff's friends, that that was a damned mean thing I'd said. I'd say an "an'werry" and formally find out why I hated the senator so.

Goff and Blanton are extremes of the two opposing schools. Goff is a little extra-thinkskinned. Blanton is super-imperious. But they're both highly characterized.

My guess is that the former will develop automatically, a thicker coating of armor plate by the time he's been in Washington as long as Blanton has. He must, if he isn't to be very miserable. Politics is rough stuff.

NEW YORK

New York, April 7.—See-sawing up and down the Easter parade on Fifth Avenue I beheld a most flashy pair of striped pants approaching. To say nothing of spotless white spats. . . . And who should it be but Al Jolson, who seemed the very symbol of Broadway on parade. . . .

And Texe Guinan, "America's most sophisticated woman," to whom it must have been great effort to arise so early since her night club closes with the dawn, and my feminine aid informed me she was clad in a rose beige ensemble with a bluish hat, whatever that may be. . . .

And there was the exotic and gorgeous Lya de Putli, imported from Europe to be another of those "wicked women" of the films. . . . Yet there she was, most solemn of men, going up the steps of St. Patrick's cathedral. They tell me this terribly "wicked gal" of the screen attends church most regularly. . . .

Four midgets from the circus side show, dressed absolutely "to kill," and being all but stepped on by the crowd that gathered to see them. . . . And Chauncey Depew, who never seems to grow old, particularly when he wears his silk topper and swallowtails. . . . The circus giant, wearing yellow spats, and formal morning clothes towering above the parade like one of the avenue's traffic signal stations. . . .

Ina Claire, net actress of most critics than perhaps any other in all Manhattan. . . . Onlookers lining the streets representing the entire collection of states. . . . Scores of "ahs" and "oohs."

Wandered in on the annual revel of the Green Room Club, started some 25 years ago by Edward Forrest Lodge and of the charter members but two remain on this earth. . . . William Brady and Charles Dickson. . . . Which reminds me, the newest theaters to be built are without the good old green rooms of old, and the very newest has no boxes.

Motoring over to that section of Long Island which is the Hollywood of the East Coast, I beheld this wistful drama in the Paramount lunch room. . . . An extra girl wandered in and walked up to the counter. She looked at the bill-of-fare where morsels were advertised at 65 cents and thereabouts, sighed and ordered a sandwich which cost 15 cents. "No, just a cup and saucer." Whereupon she drew forth from under her coat a thermos bottle and poured out her own, thus saving a dime.

All is not glitter in this movie life, I fear. —GILBERT SWAN.

Thinking of a Vacation?

BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service

In a world that is so arranged that most of us are compelled to work during the greater portion of the year, a change, a rest, a vacation goes far to make that work possible. Every man and woman employed is entitled to a vacation.

It is not necessary to go long distances but it is necessary to get out in the open. Forget your business, forget your job, forget your cares. You will be better off for a vacation and your business will not suffer.

Wherever you go you should make careful inquiries concerning the sanitary conditions of the place. Sanitary conditions are more important than folk links, tennis courts, ball rooms and beautiful scenery.

Not these questions down and when you are casting about for a vacation spot check the place up with this list. Is the water supply safe? What is the source of the water supply? Is there a sewage system? Where do the sewers empty? If there is no sewage system is there safe disposal of wastes? Are the kitchen, pantry and dining room clean and are they protected against flies? Is the milk pasteurized? From where does the milk supply come? Is the dairy clean? Also, are there swamps, ponds, or other mosquito breeding places near by?

After you have found a suitable place in which to spend your vacation you should make sure that you spend your vacation time sensibly. Keep good hours. Don't waste your vacation hours indoors at the car table. Improve your health and strength by getting plenty of exercise in the open air. Keep happy. Worry is the foe of health.

OPEN FORUM

ROBINS AND STARLINGS. Editor, The Herald, Dear Sir: In relation to your article in Saturday's issue concerning starlings and their being combative—I should like to relate an experience.

On my place are some apple trees, among them one with a hollow limb in which a pair of starlings have nested for several years and brought forth their young. In the same tree a pair of robins nest in a nest they build among the branches. Last year they were on a branch scarcely ten feet away.

In a hollow tree on my neighbor's place, less than 25 feet off, live a pair of yellow wickups, known to some as yellow hammers. They all live in peace and harmony as far as I can judge. The only time they make any disturbance is when a cat is discovered by some one of them. Then they all mingle their cries in a general alarm.

I hope this will be of some help to you. L. B. ASHLAND.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Jack Dempsey, it is said, wore a monocle in New York. This may be interpreted as a declaration that he still likes fighting.

Life is tough in a small newspaper office about the time the linotype breaks down and the makeup man discovers the only boiler plate left is some food saving propaganda left over from the war.

Modern Woman Is Just Herself, Says Frankau

Eminent Novelist, Herald's Chapman Hanging Reporter, Insists Freedom of Femines in Old Days Had to Be "Bootlegged."

Gilbert Frankau's dramatic description of the execution of Gerald Chapman which was carried exclusively in The Herald yesterday caused so much favorable comment here that an interview was obtained today with the eminent British novelist. Mr. Frankau in his new novels "Masterson" and "Life and Erica" has created unusual modern woman types. His interview today was on the "modern woman."

New York, April 7.—The "modern woman"? She is only a phrase. This is the opinion of Gilbert Frankau, English novelist, critic, and political writer, whose creation of feminine characters has made him internationally famous.

Gilbert Frankau

"For many generations," explains Frankau, who is making his first visit to America, "there was a prohibition act on woman. Her freedom had to be 'bootlegged,' as you say here in America. Then one day the prohibition law was repealed—and out stepped your so-called modern woman."

"She is not a modern woman—she is just a woman. The point is that as long as the prohibition law was enforced, the woman was not entirely herself—like the liquor one gets in America, or so I am told."

A Word of Caution
"Not that I think any author is capable of saying that he knows all about women, or that about them," Frankau cautioned me. "I think a writer, or anyone else for that matter, is extremely fortunate if he comes to really know two women—his wife and his mother. Few authors even that."

And a word from Frankau about some of the women of his own country here.

"I refer to Lady Moseley and the Socialist crowd, who have been busying themselves about the United States," he said smilingly. "One would think England was going to pot, that we were on the verge of socialistic upheaval, eh?"

"Such is not the case, though from many recent British visitors to America you easily might divine as much. I feel it is time the impression was being corrected. England is doing very nicely, thank you. But she less I say about our so-called representatives, the better."

Frankau, thus far in his observations, finds the American woman appearing to take far greater advantage of her liberation than does her English sister. But then, he explains, the English girl is instinctively repressed.

A Fellowship of Slang
"I find you have a type of slang quite similar to our own," Frankau comments. "Your sugar daddy is known to us as a flapper chaser, and your cake eater is a poodle faker. All generations and all times have had the old man seeking the young girl. It was the basis of one of Bacon's wisest sayings—and it goes farther back than Bacon."

Several years ago Frankau created a stir through an article that dealt with the subject of the worst woman being able to capture the best type of men.

"I have not changed my views," he says. "They were true then, and they still are. The best type of man is a busy man. He doesn't have time to go about poodle faking. He doesn't know much about women. He becomes easy prey for the so-called vampire type. Of course, in time he finds out. But that doesn't disprove the contention."

WAPPING

Raymond Geer took his tobacco to Raymond Burgham's warehouse last Monday, where it is to be assorted. The regular monthly meeting of the South Windsor School Board was held in the Wapping school hall, Monday evening at 8 o'clock. At this meeting it was voted to reappoint all the teachers in the schools with the approval of the school supervisor.

Mrs. Wade Snow's condition remains just about the same. She has been confined to her home all winter with sickness following the grip.

George Buckland's new house on Foster street, is nearing completion. It is being painted today.

John Bartlett of South Windsor was fined twenty dollars and costs for drunkenness in the Hartford police court, last week.

Mrs. Mary J. Griffin, widow of the late D. W. Griffin of Middletown but formerly from this place and lived with her daughter Mrs. Chas. Kellerhouse, died at her home at the age of 90. She also leaves four sons, Robert Griffin and Lewis Griffin of Southwick, Mass. and Frank Griffin and George Griffin of South Windsor. The burial was in South Windsor.

79 Years of serving Connecticut

ABOVE you see Mr. Gershon Fox, the founder of this business, making change for a clerk, who has tendered the sale slip in Mr. Fox's office. This was the method of control back in the 1850's, when each clerk had a spindle upon which was impaled the slip. At the day's end the slips were audited by Mr. Fox, who kept the records. From this very humble beginning has developed G. Fox & Co., Inc., the dominant Department Store Business in Connecticut and the largest in New England outside of Boston. SHORT TERM FOR SHEAN PROBABLE Believed Chapman Pal Will Plead Guilty of Break or Gun Carrying.

Hartford, April 7.—The business of meeting out justice to Gerald Chapman over with, state authorities today resumed their routine duties after the hectic events of the last few days.

State Attorney Alcorn plans no immediate action in the case of Walter Shean, son of a wealthy Springfield, Mass., family, who has been so closely identified with the Chapman case.

Trial in June.
Shean, who is in the Hartford county jail, a prisoner, has been under arrest since he was seized by police of New Britain during the robbery of Davison and Levenson's store on the morning when the Policeman James Skelly was shot and killed. Shean, who turned state's evidence, said Chapman did the shooting.

Shean, according to the present plan, will be brought before the Superior Court at its June term. He is expected to be allowed to plead guilty to breaking and entering, or carrying concealed weapons. He was arrested while he was standing beside an automobile outside the New Britain store at the time of the shooting of Skelly. Sentence for such charges would be, in all probability, something like three to five years. Shean already has served more than a year in jail. The general feeling here is that he will not serve a long prison term, it being realized that without Shean's aid the state might never have sent Chapman to the gallows.

OIL COMPANY MERGES MARKETING GROUP

The Beacon Oil Company of Boston, the largest independent oil refiners in New England, announce that the name of the Colonial Filling Stations of Connecticut, Inc., which has been owned and operated by the Beacon Oil Company ever since its organization, will be changed to the Colonial Filling Stations Division, Beacon Oil Company. There is no change in ownership, operation or management, the change being one of name only.

Made primarily in the interests of more simplified accounting, the change will it is believed, be a distinct merchandising asset to both the company and the motoring public. For while the Colonial Filling Stations was organized by Beacon as the distributing branch of the business, the name in no way indicated to the public that Colonial Stations were direct branches of the producing refinery—and that the quality of the gasoline and oils was insured by a single ownership, operation and responsibility direct from the refinery to the user. With the change in name, it at once becomes apparent to the public that the producer and the seller are one and the same; and it is a very human and very logical trait for one to seek direct association in everything.

Not only is the Beacon Oil Company the largest independent refiners and marketers in New England—but it also brought out the only extra-quality "no-knock" gasoline at no extra price. Prior to the announcement of New Colonial Gas, it was customary to pay several cents per gallon extra for this extra high-grade gas. By improved methods controlled by the Beacon Oil Company, it was impossible to produce this knock-less gasoline and make it available to motorists at no advance over the price of ordinary gasoline. And because Beacon Oil Company concentrated entirely on this high-grade gasoline, the growth of the Colonial Filling Stations Division was such that the change in name became imperative.

A policy of far-reaching expansion and improvement of facilities is contemplated, whereby Beacon products will be made more easily available to every motorist in the New England territory.

SIX LOSE LICENSES FOR DRUNK DRIVING

The weekly list of operators whose licenses to drive automobiles in Connecticut have been suspended for one year for driving while under the influence of liquor was given out today at the state motor vehicle department as a part of the effort to reduce the highway menace. There are six names on the list. The case of one was appealed. The department statement advised people to notify the department or police in case they should see any of the following persons operating motor vehicles. The following is the list:

- Charles O. Deschene, Willmantic.
- Anthony DeMattis, Southport.
- Lawrence M. Holcomb, Philadelphia, Pa.
- Joseph Miskewich, Bridgeport.
- Joseph Opanowich, Silver Lane.
- Gale Shedd, New Haven.

The Ideal Home Garden—No. 8

Here's a List of Things to Plant and When to Plant Them

This is the third of a series of 10 articles explaining planting, cultivation and care of the backyard garden. The question of what and when to plant always are hard ones for the person who has never planted a garden. And even the experienced gardeners occasionally are fooled by a late frost. There are general rules for the time of planting, which, of course, must be governed also by local conditions. The earliest dates for planting in the United States vary from March 1 to May 15. Generally in the south planting goes on from March 1 to April 1. In the great middle section of the country gardens are planted from April 1 to May 1. It is better to plant late than to crowd the April 1 date too much. From May 1 to May 15 is the time to plant in the northern part of the country. But the best guide, after all, is spring. Be sure that the frosts are past before putting anything into the ground. It is better to be just a little late than too early. A List to Plant. If you have a small plot of ground, here is a very good list of vegetables to plant; beets, onions, lettuce, carrots, radishes, parsnips, turnips, asparagus and, in mild climates, artichokes. It would be foolish to attempt to grow in a small garden such vegetables as corn, squash, pumpkins, melons and such, because these take up too much space. About the easiest things to grow are beets, onions and radishes. Lettuce also should give you little trouble. In planting beets, place from 3 to an inch deep. The rows should be 12 to 18 inches apart. Place your plants 3 to 4 inches apart. For a 50-foot row you will need about an ounce of seed. Plant onions 3/4 inch deep, with rows 12 to 14 inches apart. The plants should be about 2 inches apart. Use an ordinary package of seeds. Lettuce should be planted 3/4 inch deep; the rows 12 to 18 inches apart, and plants 8 to 10 inches apart for heading. One packet of seed will be about all needed for a small garden. Guard your lettuce from birds, slugs and peats. Turnip carrots 3/4 inch deep, with rows 12 to 18 inches apart, and plants 2 inches apart. Parsnips should be planted 3/4 inch deep, the rows about 18 inches apart, the plants 2 inches apart. Radishes should be planted an inch or more apart, the rows 12 to 18 inches apart, the depth about 1/2 inch. For asparagus be sure to thoroughly fertilize the allotted space. Spade deeply and fertilize again. Continue to spade until the soil becomes deep, rich and fine. The bed should be raised slightly above the paths. Place the young plants about 4 inches below the surface, 18 inches apart. Do not cut the stalks first season and you will have good results for 50 years. TOMORROW: Transplanting. SLIGHT DELAY. "Frank proposed to Ethel in his racing car." "Did she accept?" "Yes, just after they left the hospital."—Melbourne Punch. KEEP LOOKING YOUNG It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Animals Never Before Seen In America to be Brought Alive to Washington. Rare Birds and Reptiles Also Sought in Quest Which Penetrates the Heart of African Wilds.

UNDER the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution of Washington, preparations have just been completed for the greatest expedition for the capture of wild animals known in the zoological history of this country. The Smithsonian expedition of 1909, headed by former President Theodore Roosevelt, was devoted to collecting specimens of wild animals for museum purposes. The object of the new quest is to collect only living animals, birds and reptiles for zoo exhibition and scientific purposes.

The Smithsonian-Chrysler Expedition, as this scientific adventure is known, is being financed by Walter P. Chrysler, prominent automobile manufacturer. It will be headed by Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Zoological Park at Washington, who brought the urgent need of the Park for new specimens to Mr. Chrysler's attention, and induced him to provide the necessary funds.

Dr. Mann's story was emphasized by the disappointment of the thousands of children, visitors to the park, who were not able to find a single giraffe there. Upon the return of Dr. Mann's party there will be several giraffes quartered in the park together with hundreds of specimens of the largest and smallest of African wild animal life, including fully one hundred specimens never before seen alive in this country.

Cooperating with the Smithsonian Institution are the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard University, the Museum of Zoology of the University of Michigan, the Zoological Society of London, and the Pathe News, which will make a pictorial record of the activities of the expedition and its ark-full of living animals.

Tanganyika—Land of Wild Animals
Dr. Mann and his party of scientists and animal men are heading for Dar-es-Salaam, the seaport for the Tanganyika territory of British East Africa.

At Dar-es-Salaam, the Smithsonian-Chrysler Expedition will be met by hundreds of the best native animal hunters of the Wasalamu tribe —descendants of the full-blooded Africans who prospered and grew rich in the old African slave trade—Morogoros, Wakamis, Wagogos, and other tribes that know this vast territory of Tanganyika, its animals, and how to capture them.

Near Dar-es-Salaam, a permanent camp will be established not too remote from the railroad, where the model cages, already built by the National Zoo at Washington, will be set up and duplicated by the native carpenters and the automobiles and the army of porters made ready for the expedition, which will start for the interior of this wild country made famous by the early explorations of Livingstone and Sir Henry Stanley.

Many subsidiary expeditions will be sent out, each commanded by members of the Smithsonian-Chrysler Expedition, and manned with the necessary number of practical animal men from the Washington Zoo, and groups of the best hunting natives from the particular wildernesses to be penetrated.

By means of these parties, each part of the Tanganyika territory will be thoroughly combed for the particular kind of animals this expedition expects to bring back to the National Zoo.

Personnel of the Expedition

In addition to Dr. Mann and the National Zoological Park animal men and the native chiefs and their hunters this Smithsonian-Chrysler Expedition numbers among its members Albert J. Loveridge, of the Museum of Comparative Zoology of Harvard University, who for eight years was assistant game warden in the Tanganyika territory, and who personally knows the chiefs of the various tribes to be employed as hunters. Dr. Loveridge is already at Dar-es-Salaam, making the necessary advance preparations.

Stephen Haws, naturalist, artist and author, Charles Charlton, Pathe Moving Picture man, and other well known scientific men are also members of the expedition.

Dr. Mann, the director, is one of the best qualified individuals in the country for such an expedition. Not only is he a scientist of recognized standing, but he has had nearly every kind of field experience in almost every part of the world on similar scientific expeditions.

He is a graduate of Stanford University and has the degree of Doctor of Science from Harvard. He was given the Sheldon Traveling Fellowship at Harvard and visited the Solomon and Fiji Islands, Australia and New Zealand, collecting specimens and data. Another of his expeditions was to Brazil for Stanford University.

Dr. Mann has been on scientific expeditions to Cuba, Haiti, Mexico, Colombia and other parts of Central and South America. In 1914 he went to Egypt and the Sudan, the Sinai Peninsula, Palestine and Arabia with Dr. John C. Phillips, collecting specimens of animals and birds. Later he was in charge of the Mulford Expedition to the Amazon Valley in South America to collect and study plants. His most recent work in the field has been for the Department of Agriculture, which sent him during the last five or six years into many countries, including Mexico, Colombia and Spain, on entomological expeditions. Dr. Mann is an accomplished linguist, speaking besides the European languages, Arabic, Swahili, and the dialects of the Fiji tribes.

Various Species Protected

In discussing the object of the Smithsonian-Chrysler Expedition, Dr. Mann said: "We intend to gather a representative collection of live African animals, birds, and reptiles for the National Zoological Park. The African fauna is meagerly represented in the Zoo, and Tanganyika has been selected as the most attractive region of all Africa for the securing of quantities of special species of the more important game animals."

"There are about forty species of protected game in Tanganyika Territory and of course a host of other animals that are not protected. Among the most desirable species to collect are the giraffe, no specimens of which have ever been exhibited in the National Zoo, the black two-horned rhinoceros (only one poor specimen of which has ever been in our collection) and the white rhinoceros. A quantity of antelope, including the sable antelope, the fringe-eared oryx, the topi, the hartebeest, the bushbuck, the kudu, various reedbucks, duikers, pygmy antelope, impalis, oribi, as well as other antelopes and gazelles. The zebra is common in that country, but there is at present no specimen of zebra in the National Zoo.

Rare Monkey Sought

"Among the monkeys the Colobus or Guereza, which exist in the colony and are protected by the game authorities, has never been exhibited in the Zoo, and it is expected to collect specimens of this as well as the rarer Sykes monkey.

"In addition to these protected animals, the expedition will attempt to capture lions, new blood of which is badly needed in the Park; leopards, hunting dogs (seldom seen in captivity), various forms of wild hogs; the curious sardvark, aard wolves, hyaenas, and numerous species of the cats including the rarer caracul, the hunting leopard, and the cerval.

"Returning to antelope, the eland, the finest of African game animals, is represented in the Zoo only by an aged cow, remaining from a pair presented to the Park by the Duke of Bedford. This species of animal has been successfully propagated in England, and it is hoped to establish a breeding herd in the Park.

"Birds to be sought will include varieties of parrots and parakeets, the giant ground hornbill, the fish eagle, the secretary bird (snake killer), and the brilliant plainland catter, sun birds, and a selection of the various species of vultures. It is hoped that a large collection of the smaller brilliant colored finches and tailor-birds can be secured, including the paradise whydah, whose body is scarcely larger than a canary, but whose tail is eight or ten inches long.

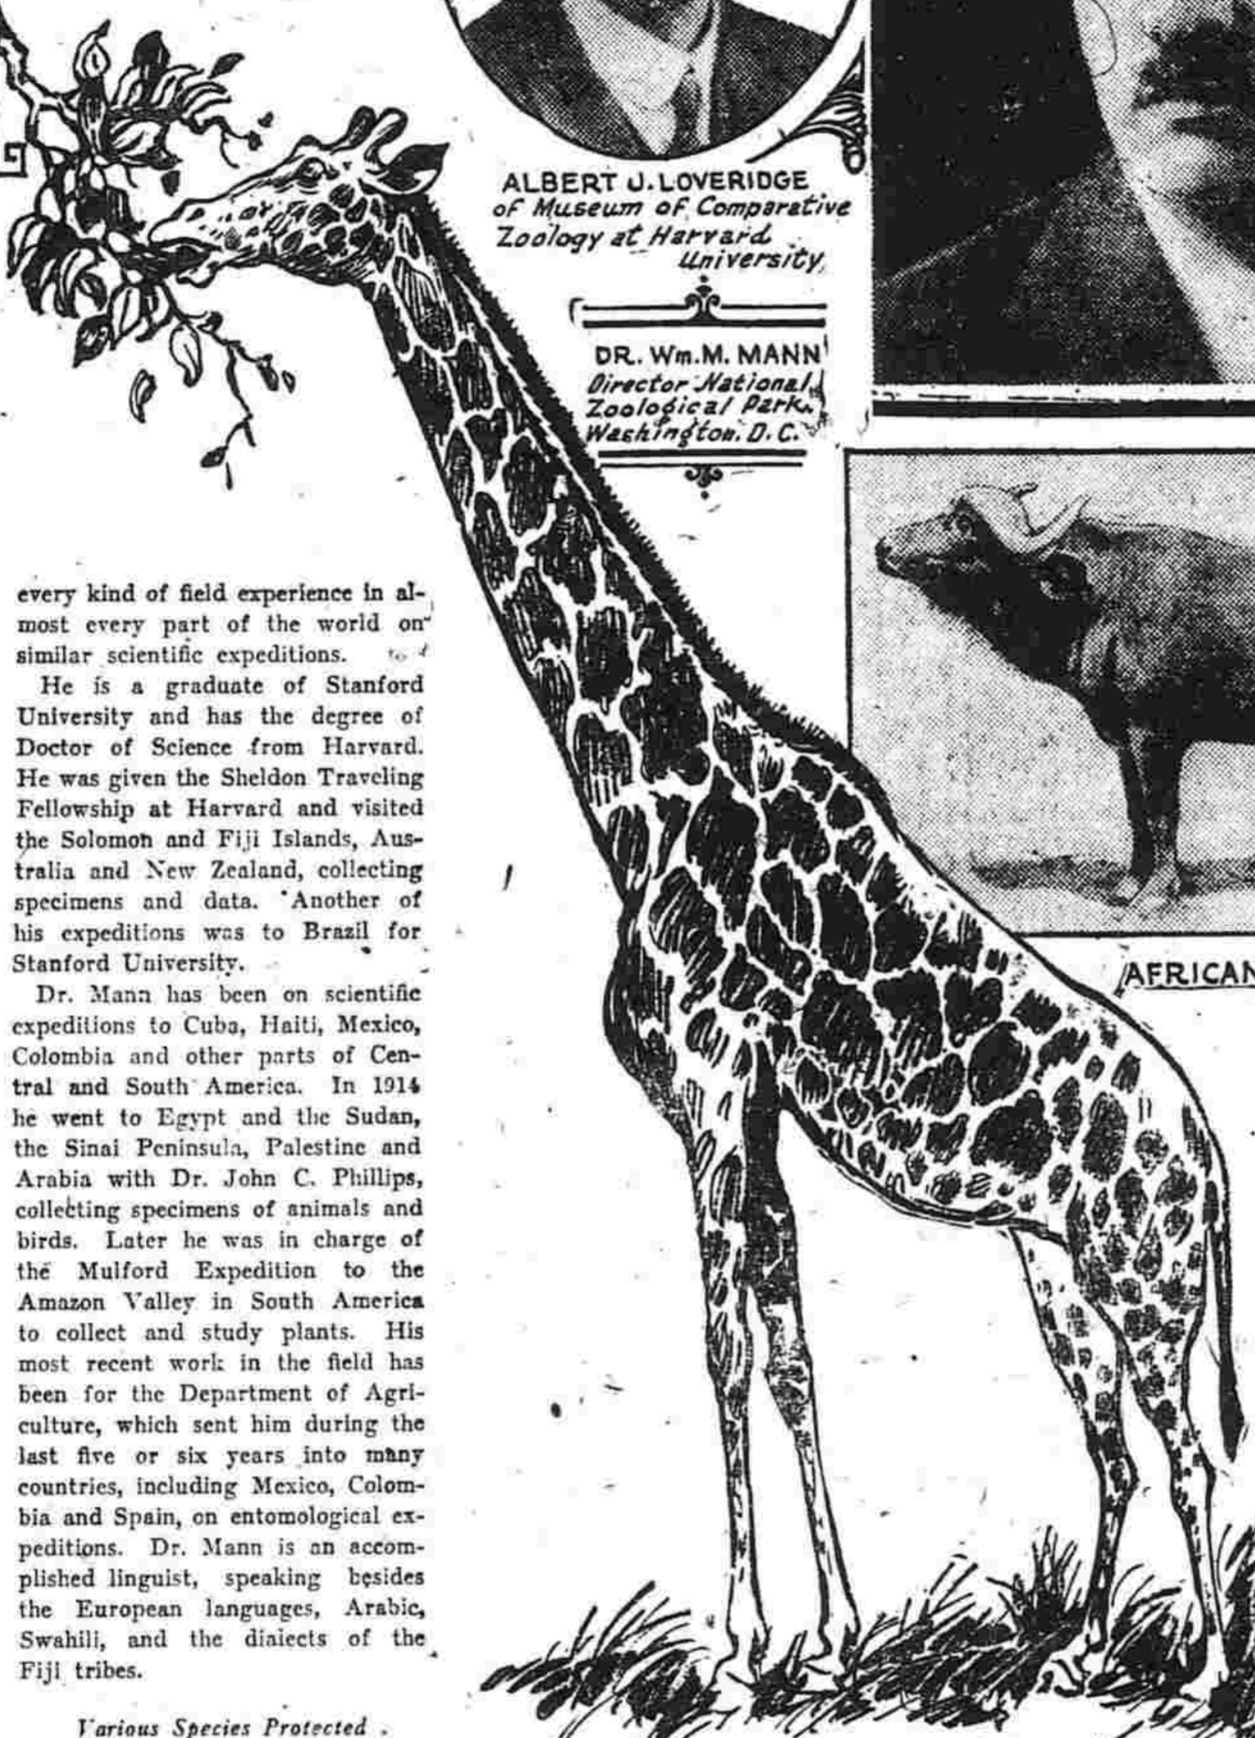

"There is almost no limit as to what may be found. There is the curious armor plated pangolin, the little pottu lemur, various squirrels, the hyrax (the coney of the Bible), smaller than a rabbit, yet the closest relation to the elephant; flying mice, elephant shrews, many kinds of monkeys and the civet cat.

"Among the reptiles are half a dozen species of tortoises including the giant leopard tortoise, which grows to a weight of nearly one hundred pounds, giant pythons, spitting cobras, puff adders, black mambas, boomslangs, the monitor lizard (which ravages the nests of crocodiles and eats their eggs) and various common forms of chameleons.

To Make Box Traps

"Box traps will be made. A drive will be undertaken where hundreds of natives will herd young animals in a stockade. To collect the savage rhinoceros, it may be necessary to locate a mother with young. Wherever possible, we shall avoid killing, as this is distinctly a live animal expedition and not a big game hunting one. Such animals as it may be necessary to kill on a trip of this kind will be preserved. When the commoner game, especially antelopes, are shot, the meat will be used as food for the expedition and food for the carnivorous animals which have been captured.

AMERICAN BUFFALO

WARTHOG

HARTEBEEST

In all cases the skins and skulls of these will be preserved as scientific specimens.

"The expedition must guard against malaria (jungle fever), amoebic dysentery, typhoid, the dreaded sleeping sickness, as well as the various sores and ulcers and the terrible flies which are so prevalent in the tropics. The lions and the leopards in some parts are so abundant that the Government office gives a reward for each one killed. There are a dozen reptiles whose bite is almost certain death. There are also scorpions six inches long, and centipedes up to a foot. Tsetse flies, ticks by the billions, and germ-carrying mosquitoes, abound.

"Our expedition will go in more for quality than quantity, and we hope to bring back the finest specimens possible of the species.

"As all members of the party are field naturalists, it is expected that great quantities of scientific material will be brought out, including, of course, many hitherto unknown species, especially among the smaller animals."

It is an interesting fact that the National Zoo was founded by Professor Samuel Pierpont Langley, third Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, who is chiefly known today for his fundamental researches and experiments in aviation—experiments which pointed the way to modern world-wide flying. In the late eighties Professor Langley realized the educational advantages that would result from having a collection of living animals accessible to the student and as an incentive to study for the younger generation. He, therefore, created in the Smithsonian Institution a Department of Living Animals. These animals were housed in small enclosures erected in the rear of the present Smithsonian building on The Mall. The collection grew rapidly in numbers both by donations and purchase. The care of these animals became such a burden upon the limited funds of the Institution, which depends upon a meager income of $65,000 a year from private endowments, that Professor Langley appealed to Congress to take over the embryo zoo. It is curious that a few members of Congress opposed the plan on the ground that if the Federal Government was going into the "show business" in competition with the "greatest show on earth," it should make it a traveling show.

FEATURE ARTICLES ABOUT INTERESTING WOMEN

THE YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Cleveland, where the theater is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness causes her to break their engagement. Olga tells Jimmy that Church, because she had refused to have anything to do with him, had caused her to lose several jobs.

Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police picture as IKE JENSEN.

Mary writes Jimmy a letter, explaining that she had broken with Church. The office boy sticks the letter in his pocket and forgets it. That evening Barry tells Jimmy he met a smart lawyer that day. "His name," said Barry, "was Church."

Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police picture as IKE JENSEN.

You're even more stubborn than—than Janet. "And, by the way, I might as well tell you now that you're the only thing that's standing between me and Janet right now."

"Just this. She compromised with me. She's so worried about you and wants you to come home so badly that she agreed to marry me if I could persuade you to come back with me. Of course, I wouldn't do it—I wouldn't take advantage of her, under the circumstances. I'll wait until she's ready. But I still think you might listen to reason and pull out before someone bumps you off."

"Janet still insists on working in that orchestra, and I've insisted on taking her home every night, especially since the night some fresh cake-eater tried to pick her up—" "Good night, Barry! You—" "I know; it doesn't sound very nice, does it? But it's true. One of the men in the orchestra is acting as escort while I'm away, and she doesn't like it—thinks she's putting herself under obligations."

"And another thing, I didn't mean to worry you with this, but I'm going to tell you while I'm about it. Janet got one of those letters, too. It was meant for her. Told her she needed to think she wasn't being watched."

The WOMAN'S DAY

For A' That and A' That! The old bachelor is a total loss when it comes to holding the job, and the old maid is the prize gum-drop of the toiling masses.

Want to know why you put up the window to the bracing airs of ye night before ye slumber fast o'ertakes you? Fellow ye olde Doctor Tronchin of the middle 18th century is the reason.

And Make Faire Ladies— George Brummel, the Beau Brummel of England, once ordered a dress to be made in a hairroom walking backwards because he was ugly, skinny, yellow back displeased him. Gentlemen aren't doing so this year.

Think It Over! A woman portrait painter is the provocative heroine of a short story read last evening. She explains her rule for a good portrait. She puts three questions to the sitter before she begins. They are: What do you think you look like? What do you wish you looked like? What do you fear you look like?

Six Famous Cooks Write for The Herald's Home Page

Every woman will be interested in this new and unusual cooking series which starts next week in this paper.

THESE six famous cooks, nationally known, are contributing to this paper one of the most interesting series of cooking articles ever written. "In the Kitchen with 6 Famous Cooks." Each contributes unusual recipes, menus, and other cooking hints to this series.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

"Bow, wow, wow! Woof! Woof! Bow, wow, wow!" went Tatters as he poked his nose around the little secret bush that hid the path to Scrub-Up Land.

"Bow, wow! Howdy-do, folks," he said, smiling so he showed all his white teeth. "What place is this? Are there any bones buried hereabouts?"

"I'm afraid not, sir," said Mister Rubadub. But suddenly to the amazement of everybody, there stood a large shiny tin pan right in front of Tatters' nose. And on the pan was a large helping of juicy roast beef, cut up into nice sized pieces for eating.

"I had never known that Madame had had a daughter and even then I did not dare ask about her."

"I saw her immediately and he certainly put me through my paces. As I was singing, mostly, he would look toward a screen everywhere in a while that stood in a corner of the room, with a triumphant air. Once or twice I had a feeling that someone was behind it, but I asked no questions, for I was too taken up with the realization that at last my dream was going to come true. I was going to sing."

HER OWN WAY

"Madame Serie pulled me still closer toward her as she said: "Don't you worry, Mamie. Lola Lawrence will not have so much money to spend in the future. In a very short time she will find that she has not open sesame to Mr. Tremaine's bank account or even pocketbook."

The TRICHO METHOD

Removes Superfluous Hair Painlessly, Permanently, Harmlessly. That area of the face or body under treatment for superfluous hair removal is exposed to the harmless and painless light ray of the wonderful Tricho Instrument just three to five minutes every ten days or two weeks.

So Nancy and Nick ran and opened the gate and in walked Tatters.

"I heard Mrs. Greenway say she would like another dog," said Nick.

"I wish my daughter had been like you," she said.

SHAWLS FOR DAY. An unusual note in this spring's style is that of a frock accompanied by a matching shawl of plain crepe, very lavishly fringed. This incidentally is a day costume.

better in the morale of the Athletics. As a matter of fact, it is already apparent.

Gleason is one of baseball's most colorful characters. He understands men. He caters to a player's disposition and temperament. He gets the most out of him.

"Kid" Gleason is making the Mackmen believe in their greatness. On each individual he is impressing the fact that there isn't a better ball club in the league than the Athletics. Likewise, he is stressing the importance of the work of each player in bringing about a desired result—the winning of the pennant.

Any ball player who has ever worked under "Kid" Gleason is strong for him. The "Kid" has no greater admirer than Eddie Collins, who played under him as a White Sox—was his captain.

"Gleason will work wonders with the Athletics," remarked Collins to me when I looked over his team at Shreveport. "Gleason is the greatest single influence for good I ever saw on any ball club."

I have in mind that youthful rookie, William "Kid" Gleason, age 22, as spry as any man on the field and, as Al Simmons remarked to me:

"He can trim anybody on the ball club." Al had reference to physical prowess.

"Kid's" Work Already Apparent.

I look for "Kid" Gleason to work a marvelous change for the

LAURELS CLAIM STATE HONORS

Defeat New Haven Contenders 41-34—Faulkner and Neil Instrumental in the Victory.

Aided by Faulkner's spectacular shooting and wonderful defense work the Laurels were returned a winner at New Haven last evening in their battle with the St. Stanislaus team. The score was 41 to 34. The St. Stanislaus are the champions of New Haven and as a result of their victory the Laurels claim the state title. Faulkner broke the ice in the opening moments of play when he sunk a neat double decker from the side court. The score saw-sawed back and forth during the first half. Faulkner continually brought the crowd to its feet by sensational shots. The Laurels led at half time 19-15.

The St. Stanislaus team came back strong in the second half and at the end of the third quarter were leading 32-29.

In the closing minutes of play, Faulkner and Neil contributed baskets from the playing surface winning the game. Faulkner and Neil starred for the Laurels while the shooting of Kandefer featured for the losers.

HORNSBY FEARS GIANTS' OUTFIT

Cards' Manager Sees McGraw's Team as His Biggest Rival.

By BILLY EVANS.

"I fear New York more than any club in the National League," is the way Rogers Hornsby speaks of the Giants.

"It is a much better ball club than it showed last year. It isn't going to have the same run of injuries and illness."

"I'm not, with all due respect to Hugh Jennings as a leader. I do hope the Giants are at least 20 per cent stronger with McGraw directing the ball club."

"I regretted very much when I learned that illness might keep Hugh Jennings out of the game for the year. If it will bring McGraw actively back into the game, I deplore it all the more."

"The Giants with John McGraw sitting in the grandstand or down in Florida looking after some of his real estate deals is a very, very good ball club. The Giants with John McGraw sitting on the bench or out on the coaching lines is a first ball club."

"McGraw directs the ball game and his team as does no other manager in baseball. He seems able to get just a little bit more out of every player than the ordinary leader. He never overlooks a bet."

"Dumb baseball with McGraw sitting on the bench is practically unheard of. He knows what he wants done and he sees to it that his players follow his dictates."

A year ago McGraw announced that he hoped to shortly retire from active work. Last season he put the "old man" of the club up to Jennings. He sat on the bench only a certain part of the time and never appeared on the coaching lines.

The illness that will probably keep McGraw's assistant out of the game all summer has apparently changed his intentions about retiring.

In spring training McGraw has been out in uniform and has personally directed the routine of same as well as the handling of the spring games.

McGraw felt that he had the best ball club last year. He wanted to win a fifth pennant. Failure to do so was a keen disappointment.

Forced to change his plans at the very last moment on account of the sudden and unexpected illness of Hugh Jennings, McGraw has decided to take another whirl at directing play, even to the calling of every ball pitched.

The club that beats the Giants this year will beat the team at its best, plus the advantage of McGraw's personal direction.

CARDS BOAST LEAGUE'S TWO 'BIG BERTHAS'

ROGERS HORNSBY AND (INSET) JIM BOTTOMLEY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 7.—As a rule, a major league ball club is proud to boast having the leading swat artist on its roster. For to top the parade in batting is the height of ambition of every player. But to have the two best hitters in the league on the same club is a circumstance quite a bit out of the ordinary.

That's just what the St. Louis Cardinals had in 1925. Their manager and second baseman, Rogers Hornsby, was the batting king; their first baseman, Jim Bottomley, was the runnerup. (Stuffy McInnis of the Pirates finished second but was only in a comparatively few games.)

Hornsby, as you doubtless know, has led the National League in hitting six straight seasons. He hit .403 last year. Bottomley, for a good portion of the chase, gave his boss a tough battle, finally wiping up with a mark of .367. With Hornsby and Bottomley in the same battlefield, opposing hurlers have their work cut out for them when facing the Cardinals. These two "Big Berthas" are apt to break up the old ball game at any moment.

HELPFUL HINTS by GOLFING STARS

CECIL LEITCH—GREATEST FAULT IN PUTTING.

In the event there are any players who, like myself, experience times on the green when they are hitting the ball here, there and everywhere, I must point out what I have in my own case found to be the cause. This temporary paralysis is caused by the tightening of the muscles of the wrists and forearms, with the result that the ball is stricken by means of a stiff jerk of the arms. The wrists must be allowed freedom and the club must not be gripped too firmly for putting, but those who are suffering from an attack of putting paralysis should exaggerate the looseness of the grip and wrists.

There is one other common fault in putting to which I must refer, and that is the tendency to turn the right hand over at the moment of impact. This action is to be avoided at all costs on the green, as it applies a slight pull to the ball at the end of its journey.

When suffering from disappointing results of this nature it is well to see what position the head of the putter is in at the end of the stroke. The toe of the club will generally be found to be pointing in the direction of the hole instead of being at right angles to it.

FRISCH LEARNS PROPER SLIDE

Frankie Frisch, one of baseball's greatest stars, has a glaring weakness, inability to develop a deceptive feet-first slide.

Frisch, a very fast runner, invariably slides head first into a base. That method of sliding gives the fielder all the best of it for he has no spikes to fear. The base-runner is at a decided disadvantage.

Hardly a year passes but that the Giants are deprived of Frisch's services for a week or more because of an injury suffered in a head-first slide. One year a badly broken finger by Frisch because of a head-first collision greatly handicapped McGraw's club.

This spring Manager McGraw has made every effort to perfect Frisch in the art of sliding feet first. Hitting the dirt was Frisch's favorite pastime. Sliding feet first isn't natural for Frisch and it bothers him, yet he has greatly improved his style in the spring training at Sarasota, Fla.

CONSTANT WAVING AND CURLING RUINS HAIR

Girls just must curl and wave bobbed hair to appear their prettiest. But constant curling and waving burn and dry the luster, vitality and very life from the hair. To offset these bad effects, just get a 35-cent bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug store or toilet counter and just see for yourself how quickly it revives dry, brittle, lifeless, and fading hair. "Danderine" is a dependable tonic and will do wonders for any girl's hair. It nourishes, stimulates and strengthens each single hair, bringing back that youthful gleam, flint and vigorous luxuriance. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears. "Danderine" is pleasant and easy to use.—Adv.

On every week-end John E. Jones just hung about his place. From Saturday till Monday discontent was on his face. But then he saw one of these (There was not much to pay) Each week-end, now he's out-of-doors And in his car away!

John bought a snappy-looking, reliable, used car from us for less than he had ever before thought possible. He bought it on the easiest terms he had ever heard of—the GMAC Plan, which is the lowest of time payment plans. And what a car he got, too. Clean, reconditioned, dependable—all that the salesman said it was and not one whit less. We don't know when John's car will wear out but we do know that he'll come back to the same place when he wants to replace it. That's proof of satisfaction for you!

MARTY DUPREE RETURNS TO STATE TOMORROW

Marty Dupree and Her Musical Folies will be the attraction at the State Theatre for three days—beginning tomorrow in all new musical shows, with a strong cast of singers and dancers including Benjie Drohan, Frank Murra, Wally Melvin, Frances McCarthy, Millie Leo, Steve Hughes, Lou Caron and Marty's hand-picked chorus of wonderful girls. It is your show. Let's go. With Marty Dupree's musical folies the State theatre will present for the feature picture Da. W. Griffith's super-special "Sally of the Sawdust" with Carol Dempster and W. C. Fields. For entertainment, for tears tossed away by laughter, for lovable characters and the quick tread of exciting action, never has D. W. Griffith done anything finer than in his newest picture "Sally of the Sawdust," a United Artists Corporation release, playing at the State Theatre tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. This hearty comedy is one of the truly master productions of this or any other, interesting from rim to core with the most winning drolleries, the gayest laughter, sudden sighs and the drift of a tear stopped by outbursts of mirth woven throughout with a suspense of urgent action that becomes as exciting at the close as anything this great producer has ever done. The gay will find this picture a Young and old, the serious and treat, a brilliant piece of picture-making as that wise old artist Griffith, has ever done. It measures "D. W. G." once more as being the first in his craft, a national genius who can tickle America's funny bone and dampen its eyes almost in the same moment.

Tonight, the State presents another one of the famous country store night with loads of new presents and loads of fun. Don't miss it, you may get more presents than you can carry home, also a double feature bill, Priscilla Dean in "The Danger Girl" and Virginia Valli with Eugene O'Brien in "Siege."

ABOUT TOWN

A special meeting will be held tomorrow evening at 7.45 at the Gospel hall, 415 Center street. James McCullough, formerly of Belfast, Ireland, will be the speaker. A hearty invitation is extended to all to come and hear him.

The Women of Mooseheart Legion will hold their regular meeting tonight and as important business will come up for action a large attendance is desired. The meeting tonight and those in future will be at the Lincoln school instead of at Orange hall and members should note the change.

Ahern Brothers who have secured the contract to build concrete sidewalks in Manchester this summer, as they have for the past two years, expect to begin active work about the fifteenth of the present month. It is probable that the work will start on the East side. Several streets at the North end have been promised sidewalks, including Washington street. Property owners on that street have been trying to get permanent walks for three years and stand a good chance of getting them this year.

The town authorities have begun their annual spring cleanup. Every Wednesday from now on the town trucks will call at homes in certain sections of the town. Property owners in each section will be given due notice of the collection of rubbish in their particular neighborhood and the town officials desire to make it plain to householders that it is not necessary to place barrels and other receptacles on the sidewalks until they receive notification of such collection.

The F. T. Blish Hardware Company invite all the trout fishermen to enter their trout prize contest, particulars of which are given in the advertisement today. For the biggest trout they offer a steel fly rod and for the best single catch of five trout they will give a fine reel.

Misses Marion Tinker and Priscilla Crosby left yesterday noon on an automobile trip to Philadelphia. They will be gone several days.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Concordia Lutheran church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson of 61 Strickland street celebrated their silver wedding yesterday quietly at their home. Relatives and friends called to felicitate with them on the event and presented them with a sum of money all in silver. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married in Brooklyn, N. Y. Later they lived on a farm in Coventry and for a number of years have lived in Manchester. They have three children.

The Italian-American Ladies' Aid society of which Mrs. Carmelo Aloisio is president, will give their fourth annual dance in Tinker hall Saturday evening, April 10. Bill Waddell's orchestra will furnish music and there will be a prize Charleston contest. Mrs. Joseph A. Farr heads the committee of arrangements. The proceeds will be used for charitable work in the community.

C. Elmore Watkins has been in New York for the past few days on business for Watkins Brothers.

The Good Will Club of the Fifth School district will hold a whist Friday evening, April 9 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLaughlin of Kenney street. Members and friends are invited.

That considerable local interest was taken in the Hartford election was demonstrated by the large number of telephone calls sent into the Herald office last evening.

CENTER CHURCH WORKERS TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

Center church workers who comprise Group 7, of which Miss Ruth Porter is leader, will give a pleasing entertainment in the chapel tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. POPULAR LOCAL GIRL DIES IN FLORIDA

Miss Cecilia Johnson Passes Away Following a Lingering Illness.

Miss Cecilia Johnson, 19, formerly a resident of Manchester and exceedingly popular among the younger set, passed away at her home in Titusville, Florida last Thursday evening at ten o'clock, according to information received today. Death was due to chronic anemia. She had been ill for nearly two years. Burial was in Florida. Born in Bristol, August 31, 1906, Miss Johnson came to Manchester in 1919. She lived on Cottage street and attended the grade school in the Ninth District. Later she entered the employ of Cheney Brothers where she worked in the Spinning and Throwing departments for a period of four years. During this time Miss Johnson made a host of friends because of her magnetic personality.

When illness forced her to leave the employ of Cheney Brothers, Miss Johnson removed to Bristol to recuperate and later, when her condition failed to improve, she went to Florida in search of health. With her father, she lived in Titusville. For a time she seemed to improve but early last week was stricken with another serious spell that brought about her death. Miss Johnson is survived by her father, her grandmother, Mrs. B. Beaucar, of Meriden, her sister, Mrs. Raymond (Lillian), Carlson, of Trotter street and other relatives. Mrs. Carlson recently returned from a three week visit with her sister and reported that she was improving. Mrs. Carlson's visit followed a report that her sister's condition was grave. Miss Johnson, however, seemed to rally but when Mrs. Carlson had been home a few days she was shocked to receive a telegram saying her sister had died.

POLICE COURT

John Morella, who for some time was employed on the outside force of Cheney Brothers, was before the local police court this morning on the charge of breach of the peace. He was arrested on complaint of two girls who testified that he had chased them in the Center Park. The police had received other complaints about this man. Judge Johnson believed that Morella should be examined and ordered a continuation of his case until Saturday for that purpose.

COUNTESS OF CATHCART WILL TRY U. S. AGAIN.

London, April 7.—Vera, Countess Cathcart, is not discouraged over the failure of her play "Ashes of Love" in the United States. The countess announced on her arrival here on the Berengaria that she will return to the United States within a month to produce a new comedy, "The Strange Set." The countess was loud in her praise of American women. "The American women will not see another woman downed," she said.

Ice 60 Cents And Housewives Are to Blame

Ice will be 60 cents a hundred pounds this summer in Manchester. Dealers in convention yesterday in New Haven decided on this, according to L. T. Wood, local dealer. Those at the convention yesterday discussed many angles which enter into the fixing of the price of ice. For instance the housewife would be surprised to learn that her habit of placing most of her food in the ice chamber instead of in the apartments below keeps the price of ice up. It is figured that the ice man spends almost half of his time removing this food. Again placing food in the ice chamber lowers the temperature and when one opens the lid to take out the food 75 per cent of the cold escapes. "Ice would be much cheaper," said one who knows this morning. "If the woman of the house would place her food in the lower apartments. The ice chamber is for the ice and for the ice alone. The ice box is so arranged that there should be a circulation of cold air. This is interfered with by piling food around the ice. The habit of wrapping newspapers around ice is a bad one. It may save the ice but it will spoil the food in warm weather. You might as well put your food out in the sun."

ELECTRIC CURRENT IS DIMMED WHEN CHAPMAN IS HANGED
Probably the best Chapman story told here was unearthed last night. At least it is original. Two men were walking along Main street on the night of the hanging. It was midnight. As usual the street lights went out at that hour. It was a solemn moment as far as the couple was concerned. "Chapman's life is being snuffed out at this moment," said one. "Yes," whispered the other in awed tones. "His body is taking all the juice from the wires." They stood a moment with bowed heads. Then they walked on. This story would be perfect except for this—Chapman was hanged, not electrocuted.

MASONIC BALL WILL BE LARGELY ATTENDED.
"All indications point to an attendance of upwards of 350 persons," said Millard Park today, general chairman of arrangements for the fifteenth annual concert and ball to be given tomorrow evening in Cheney hall by Manchester Lodge No. 73, A. F. and A. M. The annual Masonic ball in Manchester is always one of the leading events of the social season and the general committee of eighteen is bending every effort to make the event tomorrow night the equal at least of former like affairs given by the Masons. The proceeds of the concert and ball will be applied to the local Widows and Orphans' Fund. The concert will begin at 8:30 p. m. and the grand march promptly at nine o'clock. This committee has engaged the same orchestra as last season, Al Baird's, which will be enlarged to eight pieces.
