MASONS WILL BUILD TEMPLE IMMEDIATELY

Decide to Go Ahead With Plans—Contract Not Yet Awarded—To Make Few Changes Before Starting.

Manchester Lodge of Masons last night decided definitely to start building operations, on a new temple immediately. Architect's drawings and contractors' figures have been before the building committee for some time and the local fraternity has been conducting a drive among its members for funds to finance the project. Last night's action gives the committee authority to go ahead, and, although the building contract has not yet been awarded, it probably will be within ten days.

According to the present plans the building will be two stories high and will be of red brick with cast stone trimmings. The temple will face on East Center street and when completed and furnished it is estimated that it will cost approximately $130,000.

Two Bidders.

There were but two bidders, the Manchester Construction company, and the Industrial Construction company of Hartford. The local concern was the lower bidder and in all probability will be awarded the contract. However, no papers have yet been signed and will not be for possibly a week or ten days. The building committee proposes to make some slight changes in the present plans and the architect, Walter Arnold of Meriden, has promised to put his whole force on the new plans and have them ready within a week. They will be submitted to the building committee and if accepted the contract will be awarded.

First Floor.

The first floor will be devoted to a banquet hall and social rooms and on this floor a small lodge room will be provided for. The main lodge hall will be on the second floor. Its dimensions will be about 70 by 50 feet. This will give ample room for the more formal occasions.

William Knotha, president of the Manchester Construction company, stated this morning that while he was informed his company was the lower bidder, no papers had been signed. However, he felt confident he would receive the contract, and if so will be ready to go ahead with the work just as soon as the papers are signed.

100 Years Old.

Manchester Lodge will be one hundred years old next October. It is planned to observe this anniversary in a fitting manner and an effort will be made to have the ceremony of laying the cornerstone at that time. This will in no way hinder the progress of the building, however.

Manchester Lodge has grown rapidly and today is the largest fraternal organization in town. It has been without a home since 1913 when the Masonic hall building was partially destroyed by fire. Since that time the Masons have met in Odd Fellows hall.

FLAPPER FANNY COMES OUT

RADIO BURGLAR IN NET OF BASEBALL

Ex-Convict, Caught at Polo Grounds, Confesses to Killing of Police Officer.

New York, April 14.—Paul Emanuel Hilton, "radio burglar," and confessed "coop killer," today faces a quick trip to the electric chair for a six dollar job.

He was captured yesterday afternoon as he was about to enter the Polo grounds to witness the first game of the baseball season there.

Hilton admitted he received only six or eight dollars each for stolen expensive radio sets he disposed of, according to police. He told how he shot and killed Police Officer Arthur Kenny, who interrupted his "business." He confessed to shooting Detective Frank Donnelly and Charles McCarthy, police said.

Fiction Alias

The "radio burglar," who favored the alias of Frank Merriwell, fictional hero, has a passion for baseball and prides himself on "being quick on the trigger." Hilton pulled a gun on the detectives who discovered him at the Polo grounds and was subdued only after a battle. He came from Providence to see the game.

Guarded Entrances

Every entrance to the Polo grounds was covered, with Pyke and Jackson select—the entrance near the third base position, Hilton's old job on his prison outfit.

BROAD GOODS WEAVERS GO ON FIVE DAYS

Austin Cheney Expects That It Will Not Last Longer Than Two Months—About 800 Men Affected.

The Broad Goods Weaving Department of Cheney Brothers will operate on a five-day a week basis commencing this week, it was given out officially by Austin Cheney, head of the department today. In his statement to The Herald, Mr. Cheney said his expectations were that the slack period would not exceed two months.

Nothing Serious

There is nothing serious about the curtailment of working time at the department. It is simply the slack time of the year for silk goods. The Broad Goods Weaving Department has been operating five days and a half a week.

Affects 800 Workers

The curtailment order will affect eight hundred employees in the fourteen departments which come under the head of the Broad Goods Weaving. Some of these are located in the Ribbon mill and the Yarn Tye in addition to those in the Broad Good Weaving department proper.

Not Worrying

The majority of the employees affected are not worrying much over losing the half-day's pay. It will afford the men extra time to work in their gardens which have come an important item in cutting down living expenses in Manchester.

NORGE MAKES 600 MILE HOP TO OSLO

Amundsen Dirigible Flies from London in Night at Fifty Mile Speed.

Oslo, Norway, April 14.—The Norge, Captain Amundsen's polar dirigible, arrived here from Pultenham, England at 1:15 this afternoon.

The Norge left Pultenham at 11:40 last night and made the trip of approximately 600 miles by air in twelve and a half hours, although with a difference in time between England and Norway. The ship averaged a speed of fifty miles an hour during the trip.

Commander Noble of the Norge expressed complete satisfaction with the way the craft behaved on her voyage, and it was explained that the dirigible could have made much better time if she had not encountered fogs and hazy weather.

Weather Urges Flight

Copenhagen, April 14.—The meteorological institute forecasts unfavorable weather approaching Scandinavia. In view of this forecast it is believed that the Norge may only remain on to Leningrad to find better weather.

Sherwood McCreery Wins Herald's Baseball Contest

Sherwood McCreery, 14 years old, a bright, freckle-faced, sandy haired lad, wins the Herald's trip to a big league ball game. Sherwood lives at 30 High street and he picked Ty Cobb as his favorite ball player. His father, George McCreery, is a silk worker.

Billy Evans, famous American League umpire, informed the Herald that his choice for winner among the 77 local entrants was the 200 word story about Ty Cobb written by Sherwood. Ty Cobb was the Manchester boys' favorite ball player and Sherwood wrote the best story about Ty.

Walter Johnson in the American League and Rogers Hornsby in the National League were the boys' favorites in the nation-wide contest, and so a Manchester boy had little chance of winning the big contest simply because the local winners had to be chosen from the boys who wrote about Ty Cobb, in accordance with the rules of the contest.

Edwin Marshall, a 10 year old boy, living in Springfield, Ill., won the contest among the Walter Johnson writers and Alfred Dornhelm, 14 years old, of Scranton, Pa., won the Rogers Hornsby contest. Both these boys were present yesterday at the respective games in which Johnson and Hornsby played and presented them with silver cups.

May Meet Him

Sherwood McCreery has not yet informed the Herald what big league game in either New York or Boston he wants to see, but if he wants to see his favorite American leaguer, Ty Cobb, arrangements will be made in New York to have him meet the George Peach personally. A Herald representative will be in New York next week and will try to complete arrangements then.

TY COBB.

"My favorite American league ball player is Ty Cobb, the triumphant. Nothing can ever shake his marvelous confidence.

"Far beyond all the rest Ty Cobb has made more hits, scored more runs, and stolen more bases than any other ball player ever boasted of. His record for the season of 1925 will be just that much more for some struggling rival of the future to shoot against.

"On Cobb's physical side his strong, wiry body keeps his speed and stamina—his body built up by long, hard years of almost constant training. His brain and muscles work together with most perfect team play upon any field.

"The passing of twenty-one years has never checked his ambition to win. He has led the American league nine years in succession.

"Ty Cobb practiced the famous hook slide hour after hour for days at a time. He practiced batting after the other players had left the park. He has a batting average of over .400.

"Cobb has the natural stuff to start with, but it was long, hard, intelligent practice which developed his ability. This is Ty Cobb—determination, concentration on the job, clean living, the capacity to win.

ANDREWS FOR BEER SOLD BY GOVERNMENT

Dry Chieftain Frankly States Belief It Would Aid Temperance and Help Enforcement.

Washington, April 14.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, who for a year has wrestled with the job of enforcing prohibition, created a sensation at the capitol today when he frankly told the Senate prohibition committee that he favored a system of governmental control and sale of beer as an aid in enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

The dry chieftain said he favored sale of beer as an aid to temperance as well as to prohibition enforcement.

"Do you believe it would be an aid to enforcement if a non-intoxicating beverage like beer could be sold and distributed by the government without allowing a return of the saloons?" asked Senator Reed.

Noncommittal On Wine

"It probably would be an aid to law enforcement," Andrews replied, "but the means of the government controlling distribution would be vital."

Pressed for an answer on the sale of wine, Andrews declined to commit himself.

The American people are overwhelmingly in favor of modifying the Volstead law, Col. Bryan told the Senate today. The committee in summing up the "wet" side of the controversy.

MCKINLEY BEATEN FOR SENATORSHIP

Loses G. O. P. Nomination to Smith in Illinois Primary; Democrats Name Brennan

Chicago, Ill., April 14.—With returns little more than half tabulated, aides of Col. Frank L. Smith today proclaimed his victory for the Republican nomination for United States Senator over Senator William B. McKinley in yesterday's primaries by upwards of 100,000 majority.

McKinley late last night conceded defeat and sent his congratulations to Col. Smith.

George E. Brennan won the Democratic senatorial nomination by an overwhelming majority.

After the first few precincts in Chicago had reported it became apparent that Smith would carry the city by a huge figure. His friends place his majority in Cook county at 65,000.

Smith also developed unusual strength downstate. Even in districts where McKinley was thought invincible, Smith not only held his own but polled slight majorities.

The nomination of Brennan, a leader, by the Democrats, to oppose Smith at the November general election, assures a wet and dry referendum in Illinois this fall. Smith is a dry and has been endorsed by the anti-saloon league.

May Reach 100,000
Smith's lead continued to increase as returns came in during the day and indicated that his majority will exceed 100,000 when all votes are reported.

Northern Illinois went almost solidly for Smith with large majorities, while southern Illinois counties were divided, with Smith more than holding his own.

ANDREWS FOR BEER SOLD BY GOVERNMENT

Manufacture home brew liquor. A big copper still, loaned to the committee by Andrews, was pointed to in his explanation.

Hotels and Restaurants
General Andrews endorsed as a part of his plan the sale of beer in restaurants and hotels in connection with the serving of meals. He did not approve sale of beer in any other places, except direct to the consumers in their homes.

The plan outlined by Andrews closely followed the Quebec system, so far as it relates to beer. In Quebec, however, hard liquors are sold a bottle at a time at government retail stores.

The premier showing of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association's film feature "The League in Motion Pictures" will be given in the Aylum Hill Congregational church parish house, Hartford, Wednesday, April 21 at 8:15.

An introductory address will be made by Miss M. T. Blauvelt.

The League of Nations is in itself one of the greatest dramas of all time. Its motivation is the conflict of human passions. It came into being as the result of the worst war in history. Its present striving is for a "happy ending" through world cooperation.

This film combines poignant war episodes with dramatized fact of the League's growth and achievements. It is powerful, absorbing and illuminating and no one should miss seeing it.

WILLIAMS TRIAL NEARING ITS END

Col. Williams "staggered" about the hotel ball room and "was about to fall over."

That General Butler was suffering from great nervous and physical exhaustion at the time he claimed to have seen Colonel Williams "drunk and staggering" in the ballroom of the hotel was testified at the trial today.

Butler Based Statements.
Yesterday afternoon Capt. George F. Stokes, who said that he saw nothing in the conduct of Col. Williams at the hotel to indicate that the latter was intoxicated, was called on to explain certain apparent discrepancies between his statements and a statement filed with General Butler at the latter's orders.

He explained that General Butler had rejected his first statement and required him to make another. He also said that when officers submitted their first statements, to the events of the night in question, to General Butler they were handed back with the remark:

"Sober, Says Surgeon.
"You boys know what is wanted. Now go back and write new statements."

Lieut. Commander Harold Willett, a navy surgeon, testified that in his opinion Col. Williams was not drunk, but appeared to be in a normal condition. He denied that the colonel staggered.

"PACIFIED" STRIKERS ARE AGAIN VIOLENT

Lodi, N. J., April 14.—The textile workers' strike, believed to have been shorn of violence by the wholesale arrest of leaders and imposition of martial law, broke out afresh here today when strikers picketing negro workers' homes engaged in a prolonged fistio battle with the loyal workers. One man was slashed with a razor. Eight were arrested.

BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS.

New Haven, April 14.—Frederick O. Bent, a Hartford carpenter, and Max Jacobs, a Bridgeport butcher, today filed voluntary petitions in bankruptcy in United States district court here. Bent has liabilities of $4,026 and assets of $579 while Jacobs' liabilities are $1,818 and his assets are $446.

EXPORTS FALL OFF.

Washington, April 14.—For the second consecutive month, the United States had an unfavorable trade balance in March, the Department of Commerce declared today. Imports of $445,000,000 exceeded exports by $70,000,000. Exports were $78,000,000 less than March last year.

NEW MAYFLOWER SKIPPER.

Washington, April 14.—Captain Wilson Brown, Jr., of New Jersey, today was appointed commander of the presidential yacht Mayflower, and naval aide to the President.

He succeeds Captain Adolphus Andrews, who is a member of the American Legion to the League of Nations preliminary disarmament conference.

FRENCH DIVORCE FOR SLEEP TALK GIVE-AWAY.

Paris, April 14.—There are worried folk in France today. A magistrate in southern France has granted a divorce to a husband who charged that while his wife talked in her sleep she mentioned the name of another man. "Even though the wife did not actually commit misconduct," said the court's judgment, "she rendered herself guilty of moral misconduct by pronouncing in her sleep the name of a man other than her husband."

CHAUFFEUR AFTER FATAL CRASH TAKES OWN LIFE.

New Castle, Pa., April 14.—Overcome by grief because his truck ran down and killed Mrs. M. Harris and critically injured her husband, Frank Robel, 60, committed suicide near here today, according to the coroner's report.

DR. GOFF TO HEAD MEMORIAL DAY COMMITTEE

Dr. C. W. Goff of Cheney Brothers Medical department was chosen chairman of the Memorial Day committee, at a meeting of representatives from the various patriotic organizations. Mrs. James Shearer was elected secretary. Another meeting of the committee will be held Monday evening at the School street Recreation Center at seven o'clock, when it is expected George H. Wadell, representing the town, and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis club will be present, the object being to establish a permanent Memorial Day committee and secure an accurate register of graves of veterans of the different wars.

HIGHLAND PARK

An unusually interesting program is being arranged by the music committee of the Highland Park Community club to be given Saturday evening at eight o'clock at the club house. Miss Hazel Trotter with her Junior Orchestra from Center Congregational church will be present. Miss Marion Jacobson will play several piano solos accompanied by violin. There will also be violin numbers.

The usual Saturday evening dance will be held at the clubhouse Saturday evening following the musicals. The Victorian orchestra will play for dancing and Cornelius Foley will prompt for the old-fashioned dances.

Mrs. Robert Dougan invites all young people in the community who would like to take part in a minstrel to meet at the clubhouse Friday evening at 7:45.

On Capital of 65 Cents Local Boy Tours Nation

A 19-year-old Manchester boy who left this town on Labor Day last year with only 65 cents in his possession, returned yesterday afternoon after having been in 41 states and in Mexico. He is Walter Gleason, son of Thomas Gleason of 68 Maple street. He came home with Frank D'Amico, life-guard at Ormond Beach, where he has been employed as a bell-boy in the Ormond hotel, the same place in which John Burke, also of this town, was working.

Gleason went directly west from New Haven and did not stop until he had reached the Rocky Mountains. He did not go over the range, but worked back and forth through the western states, making his way by means of freight trains and rides from passing motorists. Then he went south and entered Mexico. In that country he encountered tough luck, fracturing his wrist when jumping off a freight train. Then he went over to New Orleans and from there to Ormond Beach. He met Frank D'Amico who landed him a job in the hotel and he stayed there for the balance of the winter.

HOLMES, INDICTED, WELCOMES TRIAL

New Bedford Pastor Says Courts Will Clear Him; Is Ill With Neuritis.

North Kingston, R. I., April 14.—Rev. Guy Willis Holmes, deposed New Bedford Methodist Episcopal pastor was reported ill today at the home of his father-in-law, E. H. Jenkins, on the Post Road. Physicians said he would not be able to go out for a week. Holmes has been indicted by the Suffolk County Grand Jury in Massachusetts in connection with charges made by Antoinette Fortin, a New Bedford waitress.

Told of action against him in Boston, the ex-pastor said: "I am pleased, for this will be the first step toward bringing about my complete vindication, and will enable me to act against sinister influences that are hounding me."

Mr. Holmes said he was the victim of a conspiracy inspired by powerful influences and that it would only be through the means of a criminal court trial at Boston, where witnesses could be summoned and compelled to testify and tell the truth, that he could obtain vindication and press charges against his persecutors in federal and state courts.

"I and my friends feel," he said, "that while the church trial at Manchester, was very sincere in its desire to protect the reputation of the church, and of which I am just as jealous, the committee failed to produce any direct evidence of wrongdoing on my part. All the evidence was hearsay."

"All my trouble is the result of an elaborate conspiracy which is aimed to destroy my influence in and about New Bedford and the church trial was for the purpose of ascertaining the strength of my hand, but they did not accomplish this."

Has Neuritis
The former pastor, who is suffering from neuritis, declined to name his enemies but declared that he did not propose to start a new church in New Bedford, resting on his appeal to the trial body of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. Holmes was quoted in this morning paper as saying he would surrender to the Boston police today. His illness, of course, prevents his doing so.

When the Rain Double-Crossed the Paraders

Great Falls, Mont., is proud of its balmy weather in winter-time. So the other day the Great Falls citizens decided on a big parade to boost their climate. They prepared banners and floats comparing their warm winter sunshine with that of Florida and California. But unfortunately it rained, hard and long, all through the parade, the bathing girls shivered and the marchers had to hoist umbrellas.

capacity for hard work, intelligence and daring, all blended into a marvelous confidence which nothing can shake. He has this confidence because he has built up a human machine which he can always trust. That is why Ty Cobb is my favorite American league ball player."

THE HORNSBY STORY.

Alfred Dornheim's winning story, about Rogers Hornsby as follows: "My favorite ball player is Rogers Hornsby. Clean living has created a well-trained mind, eyes and muscles, making him alert and energetic. The sure of the game takes possession of him. His enthusiasm is contagious. He becomes the team's inspiration, hope, ideal and example. His devotion and personality are acknowledged by friend and foe alike. His good judgment, perfect control, harmony among teammates, union in action in trying periods, never underestimating the ability of his opponents, makes him what he is, an ideal manager, an active player, a leader in a class by himself, and an example for all young American boys to follow. The game for the game's sake, the sport of all sports—baseball—receives his undivided attention. These are the reasons why I pick Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, as my favorite baseball player."

NEW HAVEN OFFICER CHAMBER SPEAKER

Vice President of Railroad to Address Local Organization — Theater Party Afterwards.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce are assured of an unusually interesting meeting on Thursday, April 22. This will be a combination meeting and theatre party.

Robert L. Newcomb, assistant to the vice-president of the New York New Haven and Hartford R. R., in charge of motor bus transport service, is to be the speaker in Tinker Hall, after which the members will adjourn to the State theatre where Manager Sanson will have reserved a section for the Chamber members.

Wives and friends will meet the Chamber delegation in the lobby of the theatre at 8:45 P. M. Mr. Newcomb is an unusually pleasing speaker. He has been in public life as a Washington newspaper correspondent and publicity director of various public service organizations for many years, and he has a fund of experience and a saving sense of humor which takes his anecdotes out of the cold, statistical class. Motor bus transportation is coming more and more to be a factor in business and private life, and Mr. Newcomb will tell the policies and plans of the New Haven Road for the development of this service in Connecticut and New England.

A PUZZLE A DAY

A 90-year-old resident of California determined that he would meet President Coolidge before he died. So he ran away from home and shipped as a sailor. Because of his age he could only do light work and he became cook's assistant. Every morning it was his duty to weigh the luge cakes of soap used in scrubbing the decks. The first day he was so clumsy that he dropped all the weights except the 3-4 pound oneboard. So he took a bar of soap and put it on the scale. This he balanced with the weight and 2-3 of a bar of soap. The poor old man became excited and did not know what to do next. He asked the cook but the cook could not help him.

Can you?
Last puzzle answer:
I am "automobile," a ten-letter word. My letters are numbered from left to right. A equals 1; U equals 2; T equals 3; O equals 4; M equals 5; Q equals 6; B equals 7; I equals 8; L equals 9; E equals 10. 7 plus 1 plus 3 equals "bat," a wooden club; 3 plus 4 plus 5 plus 10 "tome," a heavy volume; 9 plus 1 plus 3 plus 10 equals "late," or tardy; 7 plus 4 plus 8 plus 9 equals "ball," a put tumor; 9 plus 4 plus 6 plus 5 equals "loom," a weaver's frame; 9 plus 2 plus 3 plus 10 equals "lute," a pear-shaped instrument; 5 plus 6 plus 7 equals "mob," or a crowd; 5 plus 2 plus 9 plus 10 equals "mule," a hybrid beast of burden.

BASEBALL.
 From now on until the brown October days come America will carry her politics, her foreign relations, her social problems, even her rapidly swelling wet-and-dry controversy in her pockets, because the arms of her attention will be full of bats, balls, box scores, pitchers and nicknames. The baseball season is on and the sporting blood of the nation simmers vicariously with the first lighting of the match—it will boil steadily during the summer and foam over in September.

In every back country cross-roads grocery, men and boys who have never in their lives seen a game of organized baseball, will be of the bushiest variety, will be able to tell you at any given moment precisely wherein McGraw erred when he did not take out Barnes after the second strike on Wheat the day before, and precisely why the Boston Braves are bound to finish the season in third place. In every major league city unnumbered thousands of individuals with biceps like soft boiled spaghetti will risk their jobs and borrow the admission price to yowl madly from the bleachers in deprecation of a Texas leaguer. On every street corner forum the niceties of inside baseball will be heatedly discussed by fans who never have felt the heft of a baseball bat or the ping of a thrown ball on the palm.

Students of psychology who have no fear of tackling the problem of a Leeb or Leopold will run to cover if you ask for an explanation of the workings of the mind touched by baseballitis and will tell you that all science knows about the manifestation is that it is the most practically universal in the United States.

Baseball is a great game—the greatest athletic game that has ever been developed. This we are compelled to say, of course. It happens that we say it happily, joyously, in complete conviction and enthusiasm—and would say it over and over again even if to say otherwise or to admit of any qualification were not a sin, in America, a thousand times more egregious than damning a President or inviting an officer of marines to take a drink. And we say it in the hope that some misguided Britisher may rally to the comparative defense of cricket—which is, to baseball, what a race between glaciers is to the Kentucky Derby.

And yet we must confess to a haunting shadow of apprehension that a nation cannot live by baseball alone. Perhaps it would be just as well for the country and its people, not at all to restrain baseball by so much as a hattrade, but to cut down the amount of thought and talk and consideration given to it from its present seasonal figure of 95 per cent. of the total of all thought and talk and consideration to, say, ninety-four and a half per cent.

McKINLEY'S DEFEAT.
 Senator William B. McKinley, defeated in the Illinois primaries yesterday on the apparent issue of the World court, has been one of the bone dries of Congress, an active worker for the Anti-Saloon League and a substantial contributor to its treasury. It is possible that in Illinois the World court came before the liquor question in the thought of the people, but it is to be doubted.

Col. Frank L. Smith, the man who defeated Senator McKinley for renomination, is no insignificant person. He is an important political figure in his state, a man of affairs, and real leader. If it were merely a question of swapping McKinley for Smith, the result of the primary would not be one to give much concern to the Republican party.

But that isn't the only question. If McKinley, an active and enthusiastic dry of record and in fact, can be defeated in the councils of his own party by a candidate who received only the perfunctory half-hearted approval of the Anti-Saloon league, as against its enthusiasm for McKinley, it would seem to indicate that the Republican party in Illinois is not as dry as has been claimed; that, in fact, dryness offers no great attraction, any more, to the Illinois Republican voter.

And yet Smith isn't moist enough, in his declared principles, to have any such appeal to the sopping voter as Big George Brennan, Democratic political boss of Chicago, who will be his opponent in the November election. Brennan is wet to the bone, and will make his campaign on that issue. Where is the World court going to get off, in Illinois, in the senatorial election, with the all absorbing topic of rum to the fore?

The danger in Illinois is not in trading McKinley for Smith but in swapping McKinley for Brennan, something that the G. O. P. can by no means afford.

REFORMED.
 There is one woman, at least, who does not follow the leadership of Mrs. Peabody of Boston, in the matter of sticking by the existing prohibition situation. She is Mrs. Viola Anglin and she is deputy chief probation officer in the New York City Family Court. It will be acknowledged that her occupation gives her opportunities of observing the operation of the Volstead law at least equal to that of the lady from the Hub.

"The wives and children are suffering more than they ever did before," Mrs. Anglin told the Senate committee yesterday. "Each one of the 14 probation officers under me report that in his or her district there are from one hundred to two hundred stills. These stills are in cigar stores and delicatessen shops and in the old saloons, and they are even in the tenements where the children live. Any child can tell you where there is a speakeasy, can point out the stills. "Yes," she said in answer to a question, "there are some poor people who have better clothes, better shoes and better food under prohibition. They are those who have gone into the small bootlegging business and sell liquor to the others."

And this raises a point that has been over neglected. In every community and in almost every neighborhood there is some individual who, in the days of the saloon used to spend his money over bars and leave his family in want, who now sticks pretty steadily to his job, maintains his family not only in comfort but with a dash of style, owns a pretty fair car and banks money.

Find out if you can how much he banks. Grant that it is sometimes only the margin between his wages and the cost of living. Oftener it will be more than that—often it will be more than all his wages. Prohibition has indeed sobered him. It has given him opportunity and aroused ambition. He is getting rich, quietly, unsuspectingly, by poisoning his neighbors with rotgut booz.

There are thousands upon thousands of such, not only in the big cities, but in the ken of people like Mrs. Anglin, but in the small towns and within the ken of nobody but their select list of victims—and the suspicion, frequently, of the town banker, whose lips of course are sealed.

Too often these are the people to whom the dry advocates point with pride and exclaim triumphantly: "See what prohibition has done for him!"

SEA BEAST.
 The extraordinary success of the Barrymore film "The Sea Beast," from the box office point of view, proves well enough that Manchester, like other communities, has no more lost its appetite for the movies than it has lost its sidewalk. And it ought to help in demonstrating to the people high up in the movie game that the road to the popular pocketbook does not, after all, lie in the portrayal of neurotic purple passion, but in true romance, capably directed and well acted.

We are under no delusion that a "Sea Beast" can be produced every week or every month, for there are no more Barrymores. But there are many fine players of both sexes and there are a thousand tales almost as good as "Moby Dick." It is one of the strangest things in the world that the picture producers, as a class, will not accept the verdict of their own successes. Almost every one of the fortune-winning films has been made from a simple, truly human story, clean and utterly free from suggestiveness or offense against the proprieties. Yet the evidence of these has not been sufficient to disabuse the minds of many men high in the motion picture world of the mistaken belief that the people want their movies high-speed and lurid. Some do, yes. But many more want them convincing and thrilling and humanly alive. And when they get them that way they crowd the theaters.

ITALY'S DEBT.
 There was no great amount of political sagacity in the arrangement of the Italian settlement, and those senators who seem to feel themselves obligated to support it are not acting in a very sagacious matter, either.

It should not be a partisan matter at all, and yet the Republicans are allowing such shrewd publicity grabbing Democrats as McKellar of Tennessee to make capital out of it.

We have said before and we say again that there is no necessity for the Republican party to father this settlement. It was the merest incident, and if it happened to be handled badly that constitutes no reflection on the President, and wouldn't reflect against anybody else in the administration if the plan of settlement were merely handed to the Senate to approval or rejection without fuss. To treat it as a bona fide administration measure, a vital thing which must be fought for, is a serious mistake, because the idea of coddling Mussolini's government is about as unpopular a thing as anybody could think up, just at this time.

When McKellar pointed out that in its estimates of Italy's ability to pay, the commission clean omitted all consideration of the payment of reparations by Germany to Italy under the Dawes plan, he hit the project a wallop that hurt. With $50,000,000 a year coming in from Germany, Italy will pay us about $20,000,000 under the arrangement, and laugh at us thirty millions worth.

If the administration senators would lay off and let the settlement go to the rejection it ought to meet they would be playing better politics and better economics at the same time.

PAPERING
 The wall paper man's been ahangin' around, an' changin' the looks of the place. A swish and a swash his musical sound, and a waste brush is settin' the pace. He's littered the dining room, kitchen and hall, but that's part of his business, I guess. The paper scraps linger wherever they fall, and add to the terrible mess. When father comes home—say, it isn't so nice. He just has to climb his way through. A place to sit down? Well, he has to look twice. There's nothing, in comfort, to do. And mother—she's makin' the best of the scene. She knew that it had to be done, if ever the household would really be clean. She's glad that the task is begun.

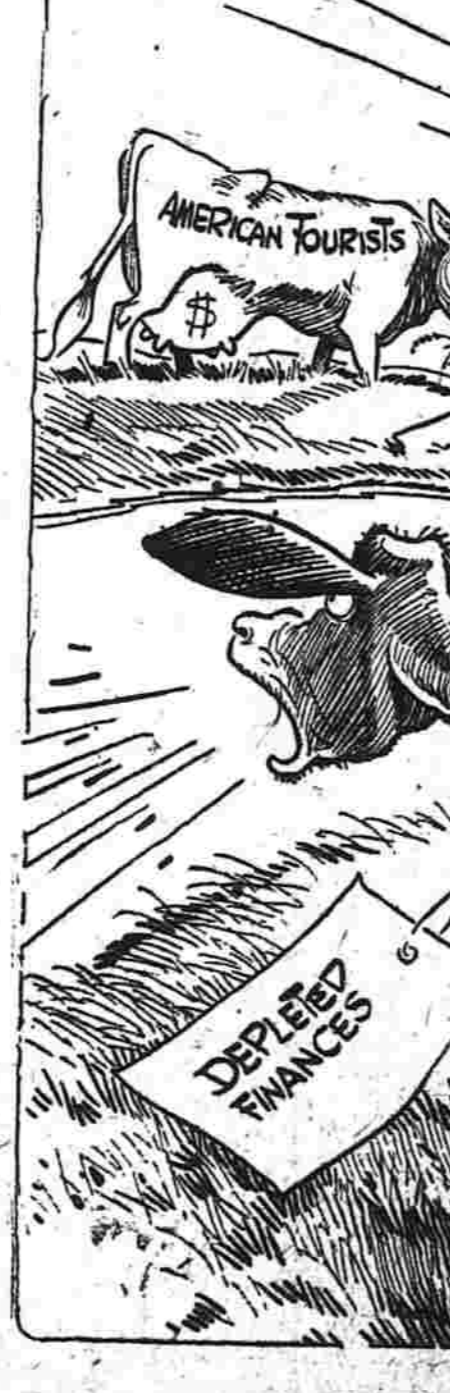

The only real thrill that the papering brings is one that the little kids get. They're messin' around in the paper man's things, and oh, do they like it! You bet!

FEEDING TIME AGAIN

IN NEW YORK

New York, April 14.—See-sawing up and down Broadway, I passed the Henry Miller Theater, its doors closed, its lobby bare and empty of people. . . . A lone and taciturn doorman kept vigil. . . . "Yesir," he said, "Mr. Miller kept coming down and he was a mighty sick man. Pluck—you said it, and then some. . . . Pluck, indeed, and the fine old stage tradition that the play must go on, come what may. . . . His fever mounted and the ravages of pneumonia clutched at his lungs. . . . Then he fell in a swoon in his dressing room as he sat over his makeup box. . . . There are a few such left.

One night that Miller's new play was to open the first night critics arrived, read the notice that an opening would be impossible and fled in taxis to the next most important production. . . . "But what did the rest of the cast do?" We asked the doorman. . . . "Oh, most of 'em ran right out to take in a show. . . . Broadway is interested in life and not in death. . . . Feverish life calls. . . . The lights must burn until morning. . . . It will not be long before they blaze out again before Miller's theater, the doors will be open and the crowds will rush in. They will already have forgotten that a man risked his life for their entertainment—and lost it. . . .

There is a vast amount of curiosity among actors to see what happens to their fellow actors in new productions. . . . And because most of the better actors are employed in other productions, some amusing sights may be seen at many an opening night performance. . . . Thus it is quite common to see an actor come rushing into a theater, still in makeup and costume, stay for 15 minutes and then rush back to his own theater to take up his part. . . . Toward the end of a performance half a dozen mimics whose particular roles are finished in other shows will come dashing up to "catch" what they can of a rival play.

The other night I saw March Connelly leave and enter a theater no less than six times, each time with grease paint and costume untouched. . . . I was told he had a special car outside that got him back to his own show just in time to go on stage. . . .

Saw Louis Caton, "the steel mill tonor," escorted by a small crowd of proud Pennsylvanians headed for Town Hall for his New York debut. . . . There's another Horatio Alger story for you. . . . Caton, from Braddock, Pa., a mill town, where he had been a steel worker. . . . His foreman, George MacEwan, heard him singing at work and encouraged him. . . . I am told that his grandfather, not long out of Ireland, was the first to "blow" Bessemer steel at Carnegie's famous Edgar Thomas works. . . . Twelve members of his mother's family still work in the mills. . . . Now he is heralded by Manhattan and may be headed for the grand opera stage.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS

Washington, April 14.—The Philippines think Governor General Leonard Wood has too much power. Wood thinks he hasn't enough. Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis announced he was going over to the Philippines to find out which was right. . . . The White House announced that, oh, no, he wasn't; he couldn't be spared from the War Department for so long a trip; that Carmel Thompson of Ohio was going instead.

If Davis had said he wanted to go and President Coolidge had replied that he couldn't spare him but would send somebody else, that would have been all right—rather flattering to Davis than otherwise. . . . But what wasn't the way it happened. It happened as outlined above. . . . It sounds as if Davis had spoken a little too previously and the president had given him a crack on the knuckles and told him to take a back seat. Yet it's odd that Davis should have been too previous. He isn't much addicted to that kind of mistakes.

Much emphasis is laid here on the fact that Carmel Thompson is General Wood's best friend. . . . Such being the case, it doesn't necessarily follow that Thompson was picked to decide in Wood's favor and against the Philippines. If the president expected the Philippines to win, it's conceivable that he might have been extra careful to choose a special commissioner who couldn't possibly be suspected of any prejudice against Wood.

There have been a good many complaints of the general's administration. He's described as aging and no longer his old self. He's spoken of as having been much under the influence of his son, former Lieutenant Wood, whose career since leaving the islands hasn't marked him as a very discreet young man. . . . If an unpleasant situation really does prevail it will be far pleasanter to have it discovered by a friend of Wood than by a special commissioner with a disposition to find all the fault he can.

However, the betting in Washington is that Commissioner Thompson's conclusions will be Governor General Wood's—that he'll find the only thing the matter with Wood's administration has been that he hasn't had power enough. . . . This is Washington's hunch on general principles, and for the more specific reason that it's a finding large American rubber consumers will like.

The rubber interests, as everybody knows, want an American source of supply. The Philippines are good islands for that purpose, but are they American—and can they be depended on to stay so? The rubber folk hesitate to invest money there until they're certain the answers to both these questions are safely affirmative.

Far be it from Washington to surmise that this investigation won't be entirely impartial. . . . Experience has shown, however, how often impartial investigations lead to just such results as large interests, rubber and otherwise, were hoping they would. And American rubber interests certainly are hoping that Carmel Thompson's Philippine survey will convince him of the desirability of strengthening Governor General Wood's hand.

 ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. BRANCH—THE WATKINS-LIMBACHER CO.

WALTON'S PLANS GIVE OKLAHOMA SOME ANXIETY

Impeached Governor Has Opened Headquarters for New Brisk Campaign.

Oklahoma City—Quite undismayed by his impeachment and removal from the governorship of Oklahoma in 1923 or his overwhelming defeat for the United States Senate the following year, J. C. Walton is back from his Louisiana oil wells, determined to be the life of the party in his third successive campaign. . . . Whether he will become a candidate for governor, senator or the State Corporation Commission he refuses to say, but his headquarters in an Oklahoma City hotel is the center of ceaseless political activity and the leaders of both parties confess that until plans are known it will be useless to lay out the strategical framework of the campaign. . . . Undying Ambitions. Observers believe Walton is actuated partly by an undying political ambition for his own state, and partly by a desire to win vindication akin to that sought by former governor "Jim" Ferguson of Texas who, like Walton, was removed from office. Walton, however, is not barred by his impeachment, as was Ferguson, from holding further state office. . . . Formal filings for State and Congressional office open in Oklahoma April 28. As this is written there are thirteen likely candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, including Walton and M. E. Trapp, who was automatically elevated from the lieutenant-governorship at Walton's removal. Six have announced on the Republican side. . . . Trapp's eligibility is questioned under the constitutional provision that the governor may not immediately succeed himself. . . . Is Acting Governor. He contends that he is merely "acting" governor and therefore not barred. He advisedly failed to take an oath of office as governor when he stepped into Walton's place and the State Supreme Court has held that his promotion did not create a vacancy in the lieutenant-governorship. . . . Two other ex-governors are listed among the probable Democratic candidates—J. B. A. Robertson, already announced, and Leo Cruse, who has said he would file as a "harmony" candidate if an elimination process had not reduced the field by June 1. . . . Another candidate is Mayor O. A. Cargill of Oklahoma City whose spectacular rise to political prominence from a traffic cop's post rivaled the early career of Walton. Cargill succeeded Walton as mayor here and like his predecessor, seeks to make his office the stepping stone to the governorship. He, like Walton, espouses the Farmer-Laborite cause and is credited with being the probable heir to Walton's support should the latter decide to seek another office. . . . Other Candidates. Senator John W. Hareld, Republican, seems likely to be renominated without opposition. Congressman Elmer Thomas, thought until a few weeks ago, to have the Democratic nomination sewed up, now faces probable opposition from Walter A. Ledbetter, Oklahoma City lawyer, and Charles J. Wrightman, millionaire Tulsa oil man. . . . Wrightman, former contestant and ardent supporter of Walton, turned against the governor just prior to his impeachment and ran against him in the senatorial pri-

WHERE OUR HISTORY IS
 Editor, The Herald:— In answer to Daniel D. Bidwell's inquiry about the history of Manchester, which appeared in your issue of April 13, I wish to say that the historical committee has completed its work about a year ago when it handed the manuscript over to Frank Cheney Jr. with the understanding that he would have the book printed. . . . Hundreds have inquired about it from time to time, until I feel as if I am haunted by those who have given orders for copies of the book, and who have paid deposits. . . . It would indeed be appreciated by all if Frank Cheney Jr. would advise through the Herald, regarding this matter. . . . Yours truly, MATHIAS SPIESS, South Manchester, Conn. April 13, 1926.

Honolulu.—Officials of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel, now being constructed at Waikiki Beach, plan to revive the games and sports of the ancient Hawaiians when the hotel is opened next year. . . . The site of the hotel is the one-time royal playground of native kings and chieftains. Many contests of skill and strength were held in the coconut grove in which the hotel stands. The finding of one of the stone discs with which the game of "maika" was played led the hotel men to develop the idea of restoring the games. . . . David Malo, noted Hawaiian historian, says that the object of the game was not only to roll the disc, or "ulu" between certain stakes, but to outdo other contestants in the distance the stone could be rolled.

MEAT FREE TONIGHT AT STATE THEATER

Whole Side of Beef to Be Cut Up and Given Away—Two Film Features.

A whole side of beef will be cut up tonight at the State theater and parcelled out to holders of lucky tickets. This will introduce to Manchester theater patrons the first "Butcher Shop Night." As numbers are called those holding them will go to the stage. The persons holding lucky tickets will be asked whether they want steaks, roasts, soup bones, chops, liver and as long as the beef lasts their wishes will be granted.

The meat will be cut up right on the stage. Robert Kittle will be the butcher in charge. He will be assisted by two others. There will be nothing embarrassing for anyone who holds a lucky number. The State management wants its patrons to enjoy this first "Butcher Shop Night" and it wants the lucky ticket holders to get the kind of meat they want. The best beef obtainable will be given away. There will be plenty of fun tonight, and there will be plenty of lucky ticket holders.

The feature pictures tonight are shown in themselves and worthy of the price of admission if the "Butcher Shop" were not included. Lou Tellegen will be on the screen in the first feature in one of his best and latest screen dramas—"With This Ring." Mr. Tellegen is famed as an actor on the legitimate stage does his finest work in "With This Ring." The title is hint enough of the substance of the story.

The second feature is "Rocking the Moon." It is played by an all star cast and has a delightful romantic theme. It is sure to please the most critical motion picture fan.

With the chances of a good steak free and two excellent pictures for entertainment there is every reason to believe that the State theater will be crowded tonight.

Tomorrow night the State's vaudeville program will be presented. Five acts of select vaudeville will be shown and Ann Pennington, famous stage dancer will be featured in her latest motion picture "Madame Behave."

BARBARA LA MARR IN LAST PICTURE

"The Girl from Montmartre" Finished Just Before Star's Death.

Those who remember Barbara La Marr will have a chance to see her in the last picture that was made with her starring in it, supported by Lewis Stone, at the Circle tomorrow and Friday. The picture, "The Girl from Montmartre," was finished just before she was taken ill.

Studded with dramatic situations is "The Girl from Montmartre" latest First National offering to reach the Circle theater tomorrow and Friday.

Rustic and maritime Spain is the scene of the new photoplay, a background peculiarly suitable to the personality of the exotic Barbara La Marr, who is said to achieve her greatest triumph as Emilia Farnes in the production.

The co-feature will be "The Cave Man" with Matt Moore and Marie Prevost, a laugh picture that tickles you all to wild shrieks and hysterical tears. Girls meet an 18 karat genuine coal fireman, an authentic apollo! a sure fire sheik! he'll burn you up in "The Cave Man."

Tonight the Circle presents the last showing of Hoot Gibson in "Ship of the Flying U" and James Buchanan and Hope Hampton in "Lover's Island."

LESSONS WHICH MARBLE TOURNAMENT WILL TEACH

Manchester Marble Contest Committee Issues Letter to Parents—Urges All Boys to Enter.

The following letter was issued to parents today by the Manchester Marble Tournament Committee:

If your boy enters the Manchester Marble Tournament these are some of the lessons that he will learn:

To attempt large achievements because winning this tournament is an achievement.

To be sportsmanlike because these games are played under rigid rules.

To mix with this fellow on the field of play as he later will have to mix with them in business.

To struggle on even though the odds may be against him.

To be not afraid of competition.

To play the game to the end.

To be courageous because it does take courage to enter such games with dozens of his playmates looking on.

To be not bitter in defeat.

To be generous to the vanquished.

To be skillful with the tools at hand.

These games are not merely games of marbles. They are real tests of skill gained by practice.

You will probably have much to say whether your boy enters the tournament.

It is certain if you encourage your son he will become a contestant if he is in the 6th, 7th and 8th grade.

If he never shot a marble in his life—and all boys have played marbles—he has nothing to lose by entering these games. He has much to win.

GUARD A CEMETERY FROM GOLD DIGGERS

Unfounded Rumor of Buried Fortune at Burlington Started by Visitor's Death.

Burlington, April 14.—Armed guards are posted at the Lamson Corner cemetery to keep treasure hunters from digging for $200,000 reported to have been buried there last summer by a Kansas City man named Marks who came here at that time in search of records of his ancestors.

Marks was found dead in his garage last week and because for a time it was thought a lot of his money was missing and because he left a map with a point in the cemetery indicated on it, the rumor of buried treasure spread.

It has since been stated that Marks' possessions have been all accounted for. Nevertheless the spectators here deemed it advisable to see that the cemetery was not all dug up by sanguine searchers.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE. New York, April 14.—With the echo of the big league inaugurations still ringing up and down the land, the International League will open its 1926 season this afternoon in the usual flourish. One of the four home teams, Newark, was almost left on the mark, however, its owners failing to complete their new field in time for the opening game with Buffalo and only were saved from a faux pas by city officials who donated the municipal field for the occasion.

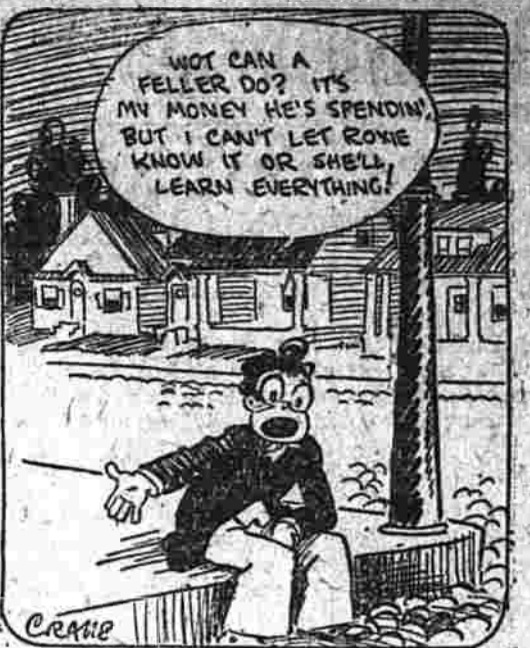

The other inaugurations will feature Syracuse at Jersey City, Rochester at Baltimore and Toronto at Reading.

PICTORIAL IVANHOE TO RUN IN HERALD

Sir Walter Scott's Classic to Be Printed Daily—Educational Feature.

An educational feature of the greatest value was today secured by The Herald for publication daily in its columns. Sir Walter Scott's classic "Ivanhoe" in a pictorial strip form will be printed in The Herald beginning Friday, April 23. The illustrations will be made by Lawrence Redner.

"Ivanhoe" is a story of dashing adventure and deathless romance. Every high school student has read the famous Scott novel. Every high school student will follow this pictorial "Ivanhoe" to refresh his or her memory. And, the grown-ups, too, will enjoy this epic in pictorial form.

This will be a feature—educational, entertaining, historical and romantic. It will have universal appeal and will be one of the most talked of story features The Herald has as yet run.

Redner's stories will harmonize wonderfully with the favor of this undying romance—"Ivanhoe." Redner has breathed again the spirit of the genius Scott. The first installment of the pictorial "Ivanhoe" starts Friday, April 23. It will appear in no other paper circulating in Manchester.

TOWN PLAYERS PICK OUT A NEW PLAY

At the business meeting of the Town Players last night in the School street Rec. building, trials were held for the play to be given at the final meeting of the club on Friday evening, May 14. A one-act play of unusual interest, which was first produced by the 47 workshops of Harvard University, has been chosen. Its title, "Two Crooks and a Lady" suggests that it is full of action and dramatic episodes.

The cast chosen will be: Mrs. Simms-Vane, a paralytic old lady, Coral Webster.

Lucille, her maid (one crook), Ethel Robb.

Miller the Hawk, (the other crook), Franklin Richmond.

Miss Jones, Mrs. Simms-Vane's companion, Charlotte Myers.

Other organizations in town interested in dramatic work will be the invited guests of the Town Players at this performance. The program will be followed by a dance. The chairmen of committees to take charge of the affair were appointed as follows: Refreshments, Bertha Dietz; properties, Florence Johnson; stage manager, Albert Addy. Mr. Crombie Donaldson was elected treasurer to fill a vacancy.

TO SELL ZOO ANIMALS.

New York, April 13.—Because of the increasing birth rate at the Bronx Zoo here, the general public will be allowed to buy several members of the newest generation, including a zebra, a wallaby, fauns, kangaroos, pigmy buffaloes, tahrns, and deer. The prices range from $75 to $1,500, the last being for the zebra.

Thirty Egyptian mummies of princesses of Amun have been found in a tomb by British archaeologists working in Thebes.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL.

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of your teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "gulliness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brains and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 50c.

SUNDAYS IN AUGUST PROVE MOST DANGEROUS

Sunday in August is the most dangerous day upon which to venture forth on the highways of Connecticut, if last year's experience is representative. A Saturday in October, generally speaking, is the next most hazardous time to go for a drive in this state.

The state motor vehicle department has completed a chart showing the accident record for each day of 1925. Taking them individually, Labor Day is the worst offender, for 158 accidents are chalked up against that day, but the other Mondays in the year brought down the average to a point where that day took fourth place when the days were arranged according to the number of accidents reported.

Out of the year, Friday standing next to Saturday and Saturday next to Sunday, Thursday stands next to Monday, followed by Wednesday and lastly Tuesday, taking the year's record for each day as a whole.

Holidays invariably send up the accident totals. Next to Labor Day, in the 1925 record, came the Fourth of July, Saturday for which day 129 accidents were reported in the state. Memorial Day Saturday had 108 accidents marked against it.

Sunday started out favorably in 1925, having less accidents in January and February than any of the other days. In March, however, it took the lead and held it until October, when Saturday advanced to first place, from the standpoint of most accidents, and Friday moved up to second place. This rearrangement probably was an indirect result of the big football games which bring out unusually heavy week-end traffic in that month. Sunday recovered first place in November, followed by Saturday but surrendered it to Thursday in December. Monday, April 27, had the record for most motor vehicle fatalities, six people being killed by automobiles on that day.

The months in which Sunday accidents fell off were those of the winter season when there is little driving for pleasure on Sundays.

REPORT ON GILPATRIC'S BOOKS IS DUE SOON

21 DRIVERS LISTED AS LOSING LICENSES

The weekly list of operators whose licenses to drive automobiles in Connecticut have been suspended for one year for driving while under the influence of liquor was given out today at the state motor vehicle department as a part of the effort to reduce the highway menace. There are twenty-one names on the list. Three cases were appealed. The department statement advised people to notify the department or police in case they should see any of the following persons operating motor vehicles.

The following is the list: Geo. F. Brewin, Meriden. Geo. A. Currier, Meriden. Tilton Daniels, New London. Adolph F. Dickau, Glastonbury. William H. Doty, New Haven. James Doyle, Jewett City. Geo. N. Finlay, Hartford. Laverne Gevey, Waterbury. Charles Hoffman, Bethel. Frederick B. Ingraham, East Hartford.

Make Cooking Easy

Watkins Brothers, Inc., So. Manchester

NATIONAL GLENWOOD WEEK . . . . . APRIL 10 to 17

EVERY woman who keeps house appreciates the comfort of having a coal range for warmth in winter and a gas range to use in summer. But few can spare the kitchen space required by two complete ranges.

How much more convenient it is to have all the facilities of two ranges combined in one! Although the new Gold Medal Glenwood is only a little more than a yard wide, it has a gas oven, gas broiler, coal oven, five gas burners and four large coal covers. Nothing is skimmed; every part is full-sized, to give you as much cooking space as you will ever need all the year round.

EQUIPPED WITH GLENWOOD ROBERTSHAW OVEN HEAT CONTROL

You have wanted a skin food and beautifier that keeps the face young. There is a new French Process Cream that will do this. It is so pure and different one application brings a change. It is called MELLO-GLO and everybody says it is wonderful. Get MELLO-GLO Cream now and increase your beauty. The J. W. Hale Co., South Manchester.—Adv.

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of your teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "gulliness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brains and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 50c.

Don't worry about Eczema or other skin troubles. You can have a clear, healthy skin by using Zemo. Zemo generally removes Pimples, Blackheads, Blisters, Eczema and Ringworm and makes the skin clear and healthy. Zemo is a clean, penetrating, antiseptic liquid that does not show and may be applied day or night. Ask your druggist for a small size 60c or large bottle $1.00.

Spring surely arrived here today. A balloon hovers over the South End of the town.

Music is in the air. Vying with the song of the robins in the Center Spring Park, an electric Callopo is discoursing sweet music through the various streets of the town.

In an open lot on Oak street this morning an auction sale was in progress. From the prices at which the various articles were sold, there should be no obstacle in the way of any young couple who are contemplating marriage this spring.

The honeymooners could furnish a home for about three dollars.

Very few overcoats were seen on men and children on the streets. And the surest sign of all was—

A group of young men basking in the sun on the Center Park stone wall opposite the Salvation Army building.

She had just been kissed.

Roses, Pansies and Honeysuckle Would Add Beauty to Surroundings

This is the ninth of a series of ten articles explaining seedling, cultivation and care of the backyard garden.

If you have a little place in your garden where the soil is rich and deep, or in your front yard, put in a setting of that characteristically American flower, the rose. Clay seems to suit these flowers best. Give the soil especial cultivation as you want your roses to remain permanently where they are first set out. In the autumn they may be taken up and rooted in a box in the cellar in moist sand.

Many Varieties

There are many varieties of roses, of which the crimson American Beauty is perhaps the best known. The flowers are grown either as shrubs or climbers. Plants grown from cuttings, that is on their own roots are to be preferred over budded stock. It is wise to avoid budded stock because the others are hardest and even if killed by cold will throw up strong shoots. In the early spring roses should be sprayed with lime-sulphur solution and water, 20 parts of cold water to one of lime and sulphur. Paris green is efficient but more dangerous.

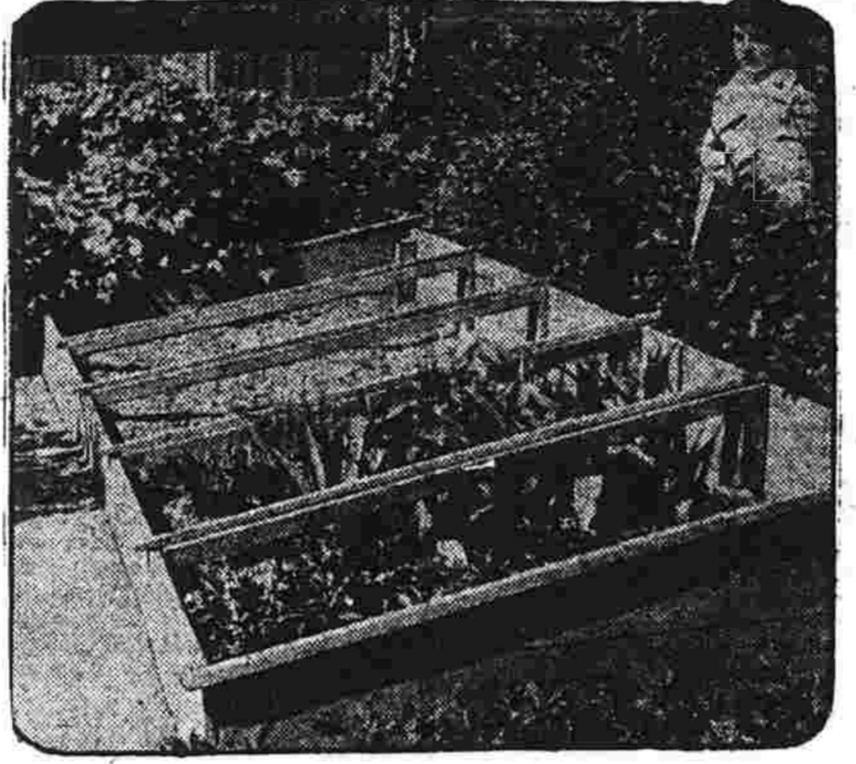

Among the hybrid tea roses are some of the most beautiful plants you could set out. They bloom at short intervals throughout the season.

Buy the Plants

Buy two-year-old plants and set out about two feet apart. The soil should have been spaded deep beforehand and enriched. The bed should be mulched plentifully with manure. Lots of water should be used, but do not let the soil become soggy.

The pansy is a hardy biennial of a pleasing range of colors that is pleasing to the eye. The flowers are grown from seed and should be sown very early in the spring in rich soil in a shallow box. The flowers may be transplanted to the garden about the last of April or even a little earlier. Partial shade is desirable, but do not place them where they will be under trees.

If you have a little porch and want to make it the prettiest porch in your neighborhood, put in some honeysuckle. This hardy perennial trailing vine will climb walls or anything offering the slightest hold. The honeysuckle is grown easily in almost any kind of soil. Evergreen scented is a good variety, the flowers being yellow and white. Buy rooted plants and set them out early in spring. These flowers are free from insect pests.

Safety demands clear vision

In the Hupmobile Six, with its narrow pillars—the result of its new composite, steel-and-wood body construction—vision ahead is improved 40 per cent over less modern construction.

A thick, broad front pillar can completely hide an object even as bulky as another motor car, as the left hand diagram shows.

And, as the right hand diagram shows, the slender Hupmobile pillar permits the driver to see the same car, at the same distance, in plenty of time.

That is safety vision—and it is but one of the superior features which you always associate with Hupmobile history and reputation.

Outstanding by reason of these definite superiorities—summed up in its wonderful performance, its beauty, its demonstrated economy—the Hupmobile Six is winning thousands away from the higher priced, as well as the lower priced, sixes.

FEATURE ARTICLES ABOUT INTERESTING WOMEN

THE YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

BEGIN HERE TODAY HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Cleveland, where the theater is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing she is wanted for murder. Barry, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Cleveland and later is attacked by two men but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assassins. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police photo as IKE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartless neglect causes her to break their engagement. Mary writes a letter, explaining, but the office boy forgets to mail it.

Jimmy gets a phone call from Olga, saying she has found the Jensen. Her voice ends in a gasping cry and he rushes to her apartment to find she is gone. He thinks she has been kidnaped or murdered—which he doesn't know. While he and police are in the apartment a mysterious phone call comes for him, threatening his life.

Despairingly, he asks, "My God, have they killed her?" NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLV

THE newspapers were still in full bloom and cry over the mysterious disappearance of Olga Maynard. Unlike most "stories" that are allowed to die out after a few days of sensational pay, there was an element of the sinister, a touch of the mysterious, in this one that kept the city keyed up to a pitch of high excitement.

It struck at a time when local news was dead, and for that reason the city editors welcomed it. And sensation followed sensation. O'Day had hinted vaguely to Jimmy of having something else up his sleeve to "give to the papers." And Jimmy was not kept long in ignorance.

When it did break, it swept him off his feet and sent him down to see O'Day with blood in his eye, raging and full of fight. O'Day had told the reporters about the yellow stub and the handkerchief that had been found in the room with Henry Rand's body. Furthermore, he had told them that they had been traced to Olga Maynard and that, although her explanation had been satisfactory enough, still she had figured therefor as an important cog in the chain of evidence that had strengthened since Henry Rand's murder.

He felt sure, he told them, that Olga Maynard's strange disappearance was somehow linked up with the murder. And the whole city buzzed and gossiped over the strange mystery of the yellow stub. The murder of Henry Rand, although it had happened in a distant town, was suddenly brought home to Cleveland. Street corner idlers hazarded strange guesses as to the motive that prompted Henry Rand's murder.

The thought of the picture they had found in Olga's room rose to torture him.

Jimmy thought of the picture they had found in Olga's room. He was conscious of stares as he walked through the streets and he overheard people point him out as he passed. . . He even began to get mad notes, on scented paper varied hues.

But O'Day apparently had been right about one thing. There was no further attempt to molest him, and there were no more mysterious telephone calls or warning letters. "I told you so," O'Day said. "The publicity's driven them to cover."

At least, that's the way I remember him. "Where—where did you get this?" Jimmy asked feebly. "I'll tell you where I got it. I found it the other night in Olga Maynard's apartment." He paused to watch the effect of his words.

Jimmy was shocked speechless. He managed to gulp, "In Olga Maynard's apartment?" Feebly, he pointed at it with his finger. "That's what I said. I was browned through the place and I found this on the mantel piece. I didn't recognize it at first, but something was familiar about it and I stood there and studied it and suddenly it came to me like a flash. It's Henry Rand's picture."

"But I don't understand." "No, nor do I. But here it is. What do you make of it?" He lifted his head from a study of the picture. "You recognize your dad?" "I do now. Perhaps without you I wouldn't, but there are his features. Forty years make a lot of changes, but—"

"It's him without a doubt. It seems just like yesterday that I saw him, after seeing this." "But what in the world do you make of it?" And O'Day said slowly, "Just this, and he seemed to measure each word as he uttered it. "That girl, Jim, has been holdin' back something from us. She knew a lot more about this business than she cared to let on. She was in on it, and you can't make me believe any different."

"You think she had anything to do with the murder?" Jimmy asked in weary discouragement. He seemed to have shrunk, a despairing look came into his eyes. "I'm not sayin' she did. But she's in on it, Rand. There was evidently a plot to get your father, and she knew about it. She knows who did it, and she knows why it was done. "Now you've just given me the devil for shootin' off my mouth to the newspapers. All right, but I'm holdin' this back. I'm givin' her an even break, isn't it?" "I suppose you are, but my God, Lieutenant, I can't conceive of that girl having a hand in this awful thing. It's beyond me. If it's true I never have a bit of faith left in human nature."

"What do you think now of my theory—the theory I explained the other night, about that kidnapin' stunt bein' nothing but a frame-up? Do you still think I'm crazy?" And Jimmy, utterly weary, and feeling friendless and alone in a mad world, answered, "No."

He had learned from O'Day that the effort to check back on the phone call to Olga's apartment had led them to a booth in a busy drug store. "Just as I expected," commented O'Day when he told Jimmy about it.

Jimmy thought of the attempt of calling up Mary Lowell and explaining the whole mad business to her. But a certain stiff-backed attitude about making what might be construed as a confession restrained him.

Besides, he told himself, he had put all such ideas out of his head. He was here for a purpose. . . But he wondered if Mary would give him her sympathy. He felt very much in need of sympathy. It seemed that no one understood him.

His time could hardly be called his own. Reporters were in almost constant attendance and Mrs. King, his landlady, had taken them to her roomer, Mr. Rand, and gentleman if ever there was one, had been shot at one night. "Right in his room, mind you."

This made him something of a hero. He was conscious of stares as he walked through the streets and he overheard people point him out as he passed. . . He even began to get mad notes, on scented paper varied hues.

But O'Day apparently had been right about one thing. There was no further attempt to molest him, and there were no more mysterious telephone calls or warning letters. "I told you so," O'Day said. "The publicity's driven them to cover."

Barry Colvin arrived the next day, resolved, he told Jimmy, to stick the thing out with him. "And what's this about Olga Maynard being kidnaped?"

"The papers back home have been full of it. My boy, you're famous. Your mug has been splashed all over papers, and your face is better known than Rudy Valentino's."

He grinned. "If I had all that publicity I'd certainly make the law business pay and pay heavy."

He told Jimmy, "Mooney's in New York. He's found out this much, at least—that Marie Rellane's stage name was Marie Rellane. Of course, everybody's heard of Marie Rellane. I'd no idea the lady was such a star."

"Lord! She was the toast of the country when I was a little kid," said Jimmy. "But Mooney says she's dropped out of sight, at least temporarily. He's hopeful, though, of locating her soon."

"God, Barry, if this thing isn't cleared up soon I'll go mad." "Buck up, Jim. I'm going to be with you. Maybe I can help. Tell me, what do you think they've done to Olga Maynard?"

"Oh, I don't know. O'Day's got a crazy idea." He told Barry about the finding of Henry Rand's picture and what O'Day thought of it.

"You were a fool, Jim, for trusting that woman." He turned savagely on Barry, but the words that were in his mind never escaped his lips. Instead he bowed his head. "Maybe I am. It would have been better for her at least, had they kept her in jail. She'd have been safe, if not comfortable."

"They sat and talked, of Grafton and Janet and Jimmy's mother, until Barry yawned sleepily and went to bed. But there was no sleep for Jimmy. He sat and gazed enviously at Barry's comfortable, resting figure, heard with irritation his slight snore. . . And the thought of the picture they had found in Olga's room rose to torture him through half the night.

HER OWN WAY by A GIRL OF TODAY

RETRIBUTION.

"Although Buddy Tremaine had never spoken a word of love to me I had known for some time that I was in love with him. If a day passed when I did not see him the world turned gray."

"His attentions to me had been such lately that I was sure he was in love with me and I fully expected he would soon tell me this and ask me to be his wife."

"It did not seem possible to me that, if he had any other interest in me, he would take me into his mother's box at the opera and other most public places."

"I respect his wife, but I have seen me many times with him and probably thought I was just like all the rest. I was just so humiliated and hurt, Julie, that I thought I could never face any of Madame Seria's patrons again."

"At the thought of Madame, I blazed up with anger, for of course she must have known it all. She must have known that Mr. Tremaine was married, and I didn't doubt for an instant that she had only done this because she was being paid for all the gorgeous gowns and hats that she said she had given me for advertising purposes."

"Then and there I made up my mind that I would not stay with her another day!"

"I went to the models' dressing room and got into my own little suit frock and I left a note with one of the girls for Madame saying that I thought she had treated me very badly in not telling me that Mr. Tremaine was married and letting me publicly accompany him to all the restaurants and public places in town when she knew that even with her as chaperon, my reputation in town was being blasted."

"I told her I could not understand her conduct as that of a woman who respected herself and me. Consequently I was leaving her employ."

"As I knew that Buddy Tremaine had bought all my fine clothes, I sent them all back to him with a note saying that I had just found out that he instead of Madame Seria had given me all the beautiful clothes that I had been wearing lately and so I was sending them back to him, and, although I appreciated his kindness, I was sure he could not expect me to take such valuable presents from any man not my husband."

"I felt so utterly broken about Toronto that I could not go to see him. It seemed to me that I have discovered Circe's recipe which made a man forget all his Circe and her vilds. The recipe runs, 'red wine, and in it barley-meal and cheese and honey, and mighty drugs withal, of which if a man drank he forgot all that he loved.'"

Modern Circes might try cheese soup. One-third pound cheese; 1 quart milk; salt and pepper; 1 teaspoon onion juice; 1 tablespoon flour; 1 tablespoon butter; yolk of 2 eggs. Milk, grated cheese, onion juice, salt and pepper in double boiler. Butter and flour rubbed together with little cold milk, added. Beaten yolks put in just before serving. Beat in well.

She tells of singing a tragic aria with Caruso, fighting to suppress her giggles as the great tenor squeaked a rubber rabbit in her ear. Tells of the boy in the orchestra pit trying to make the singers laugh by donning white kerchiefs as flowing goatees.

Curling and Waving Dries Life from Hair

The constant curling and waving demanded by present styles in bobbed hair slowly burns the color, lustre and very life from the hair, leaving it dry, faded, brittle, and full of dandruff; then the hair roots shrink and the hair falls out fast.

Since girls just must curl and wave the hair to appear their prettiest, try "Danderine" to offset any bad effects. After the first application your hair will take on new life and that healthy, youthful lustre, become incomparably soft, wavy and appear twice as thick and abundant. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears.

A 35-cent bottle of refreshing "Danderine" from any drug store or toilet counter will do wonders for any girl's hair. It goes right to the roots, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.—Adv.

The WOMAN'S DAY by Allene Sumner

Well, Why Don't They? Why don't they, somebody, anybody, ever stage a "delicate, genteel, refined lobster eating contest?" Here's a chance for a Beau Brummel or Lord Chesterfield to show the stuff that's in him! Laurels await her or she who can emerge from a gustatory bout with a lobster, still clean of fowl and yet with plenty of the lobster safely interred. Meanwhile, until someone shows us how, we look not upon the lobster when it is red!

Now they say that roller skating's wicked and the work of Satan! Poor young man trying to do right is canned from his church because he runs an amusement hall wherein the sinful roller skate is permitted to roll. They think, to do the church elders, that the basketball suits are not altogether respectable. Next thing we know it will be sinful to ride the derby racer or shoot-the-chutes, go in swimming, play tag, or chew gum. Wotta world!

Her Beauty. Frauleins and matrons of Germany must wear their skirts at least two inches longer, according to a ukase of German men who complain that the knees and nether limbs of the nation's womenfolk are too plump for such succinct skirts. It is evident that the nation's womenfolk do not stand on the tips of their toes, stretching upward, then down, about 100 times a day. Guaranteed, they say, to make shapely extremities.

Her Gown! The follies of fair ladies' dress have long been a favorite topic of the male. But man's dress today is a fearful and wonderful collection of meaningless odds and ends. For instance, buttons and slits up the backs of their coats are simply a reminder of the day when knights rode horses and the garment was cut to fit over horse, and to be buttoned when man was afoot.

Ladies' gowns of this season are apt to be utterly untrimmed, depending on odd geometrical lines for their effect.

Her Table! The famous enchantress, Circe, than whom there never lived greater luser, got her man via the stomach route, it seems. Scientists have discovered Circe's recipe which made a man forget all his Circe and her vilds. The recipe runs, 'red wine, and in it barley-meal and cheese and honey, and mighty drugs withal, of which if a man drank he forgot all that he loved.'"

Woman Prophesies Coming Styles by Her Gift of "Color Sense"

Deeper Tones This Summer; Short Vogue of Black Is Predicted.

"Firecracker," "Florida Gold" Are New Shades She Invented.

Mrs. Margaret Hayden Horke.

New York.—In addition to the ordinary five senses granted the individual, Mrs. Margaret Hayden Horke has another—a color sense. This does not mean that she merely knows when to wear a red hat and when to stick to black, or that she is able to take two perfectly antagonistic shades of green and orange and make them do the lion and the lamb act. No, her's is a prophetic sense. She can feel colors coming on. She can feel them a season ahead. She knows whether the tendency will be toward bright or somber shades, whether pastels or brilliant shades will rule.

Devised Color Chart. It was she who organized shades into a color chart which standardizes them for the season so colors on the Atlantic and Pacific coast are identical.

"And if you buy a pair of parchment colored shoes in San Antonio," she laughed, "you can buy parchment colored hose in Minneapolis to match them."

Mrs. Horke added 88 new colors to the card this spring. "And if you buy highly interesting names such as 'Firecracker,' 'Love-Bird,' 'Old Wine,' 'Flora-dor,' 'Wild honey,' 'Florida gold' and the like. Right now she is figuring out the colors we will wear next winter and spring. She is finished with our summer problems.

"Sophistication is the keynote of colors for summer," she declared. "The delicate pastels have given way to deeper tones. The French exposition of textiles had a remarkable effect in bringing more subtle colorings to our attention."

"It is perfectly logical that black should again have an inning after so much color, but it will reach nothing like the popularity it had immediately after the war."

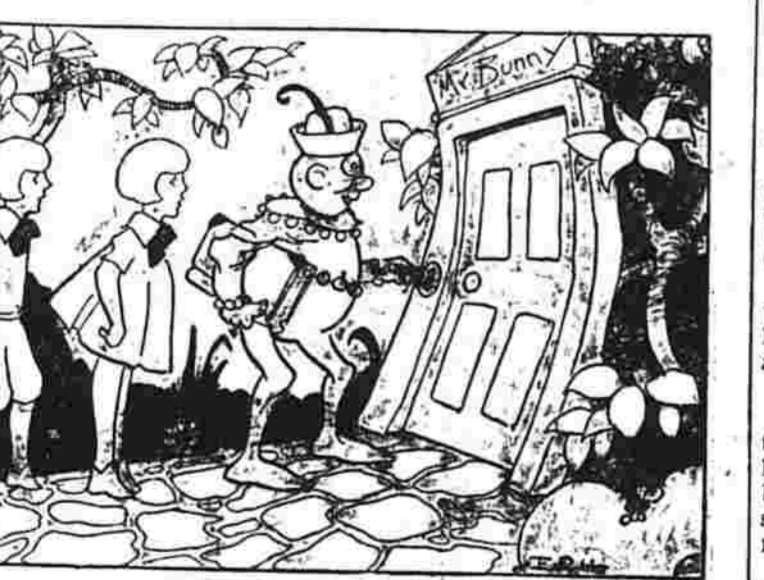

Certain events naturally affect the colors that will be worn, she finds. When Gertrude Hoffman's dancing girls came over from Paris wearing the delicate pastel shades, they immediately ushered in the vogue of crayon colors that influenced textiles for a whole season.

The excavations in Egypt a few seasons ago not only brought in King Tut printed fabrics, but ushered in a vogue of black and white.

Pretty they came to the house and rang the bell. "Are you all ready to go?" asked Mister Tingaling, the fairy landlord. "Yes, sir! Any time you are," said Nick politely. "Me? I'm ready all rightee," laughed Mister Tingaling. "My pocketbook here is as empty as a balloon, and I want to fill it up as soon as ever I can. Are the magic shoes all right, my dears? I hope they are working well, for in this business one must go all sorts of queer places."

cy and Nick following close at his heels. "The Bunny family have moved into one of my new houses," he said. "It's in the stump of a pine tree. I fixed it all up in fine shape and the Bunnes are going to spend the spring and summer there."

Pretty soon they came to the house and rang the bell. "Who's there?" a sign," said Nick pointing to a little card tacked above the door-knob.

"Well, I declare! So there is," said Mister Tingaling. "What sharp eyes you have! It says, 'No-body home. Key is under the mat! Come in!'"

"Well, I declare! Such trusting people!" exclaimed Mister Tingaling. "I never in all my life! Look and see if the key's here, Nancy."

"Yes, here it is," said Nancy. She picked the key up and Mister Tingaling put it into the key-hole and turned it. And lo and behold, there they were right inside the stump house of the Bunnes.

"There's another sign!" cried Nick pointing to the parlor door. He was right. There it was, tacked neatly on. It said, "Make yourself at home."

Out in the dining room the table was set for three. On the plate of cookies it said, "Take one." On the dish of fruit it said, "We're here to eat."

On the chocolate cake it said, "Cut me—the thicker the better!" "Well, well, well!" said Mister Tingaling in a pleased voice. "They must like their new house very much indeed to be so cordial while we're waiting children." And Mister Tingaling was just about to cut the cake when there was a sound of wheels and up rode Mister and Mrs. Bunny, and Mrs.

Cottontail in Mister Bunny's new car. Mrs. Bunny was so surprised to see people in her house that she shrieked with fright. "I never put a single sign up," she declared when she found out all about it. "It'll be better for her to have you stay," she added. "But Ben and I just went to the station to meet my sister-in-law. I got lunch before I went out. Who do you suppose could have done it?" "Snitcher Snatch," said Tingaling solemnly.

'Rabbit Ball' in the Discard

Opening Games Show That It Has Been Quietly Dropped by Pitchers in the Big Leagues.

(BY DAVIS J. WALSH)

New York, April 14.—It may be a bit early to start using one's mouth for a megaphone but quite a lot of able citizens have gone on record as declaring that the "rabbit ball" has been quietly dropped by organized baseball from seasons and yesterday's major league openings seemed to support this contention. This, if true, means the unlamented end of the home run era.

Except in one or two instances, there wasn't a great plenty of hitting anywhere and in Washington the ultimate was achieved when Walter Johnson breezed fifteen innings and Eddie Rommel fourteen without allowing a run. These performances, added to Jess Petty's one-hit effort at the Polo Grounds, haven't been duplicated on an inaugural day during recent years. As a matter of fact, the fact would have turned in a no-hit game, if Fournier had kept away from the play and permitted Cox to handle Frisch's fly un molested.

Even in several of the free-scoring games, the hitting was held in check by the pitchers. The Cardinals, for example, got seven runs but only ten hits and the Pirates replied by getting six runs from nine hits. The same ratio held true for the Reds' seven to six decision over the Cubs.

Further evidence, Lyons stopped the slugger Browns with one run and Uhlé and Whitehill pitched excellent ball during the Indians' two to one verdict over the Tigers, hard hitting cuttings both. The Tigers got eight hits off Uhlé and the Indians nine off Whitehill and the man who relieved him for one inning, Carlson also turned in an adequate performance against the Browns, who got nine hits and three runs.

The only notable exception was furnished by the Yankees and Red Sox, the latter losing by 12 to 11. However, this sort of thing bobs up every now and then, even with the best of pitching and the Sox-Yankees variety was the absolute worst.

Conviction that the "rabbit" was no more was borne in upon the writer, not as a preconceived notion, but by degrees. In the several games he has watched this spring, the ball failed to leave the bat with the old scream and this prompted me to believe, at first, that the pitchers were using a great deal of stuff.

Close observation, however, failed to prove that they had any more on the ball than is usually the case. It seemed to be the ball itself. The hitter met it fairly often enough but it seldom traveled on a line to distant fields. After watching the runaway rabbit for years, the effect was distinctly that of an indoor baseball being hit with a fungo bat.

Spring being reputedly the season of the year for young pitchers, Walter Johnson had to go fifteen innings before he could defeat the Athletics, one to nothing. They got just six hits off Walter and twelve fanned the air. Rommel also turned in quite a performance but hits by S. Harris, Goslin and J. Harris in the final inning decided the issue.

TIGER TRACK OUTLOOK

Last year Princeton finished second to a great Southern California team in the eastern intercollegiate. The Tigers counted 29 1-2 points placing nine men to 13 for the Trojans. This season prospects are not so rosy. Hills, shot-putting monarch, has graduated. And Blake, high jumper, is reported ineligible. Other point-winners are missing, too. Caleb Gamp, captain and hammer-tossing champ; Steinmetz, high jumper, and Bradley, by the pole vault, stand out above the other Princetonian aspirants. In a word, Keene Fitzpatrick, vet coach, appears to have a tough task ahead.

With "Red" Grange on the Illinois Trench eleven in 1922 was Paul Cook. In his prep days Cook starred at Muskegon, Mich. high. He was a much-sought griddler. At Illinois he came in for more publicity than Grange. But Cook left Chicago in the following year, enrolling at Michigan. Shortly thereafter Cook quit Michigan, returning last year. Now he's eligible for the 1926-Michigan machine. I suggest you jot down the name of Paul Cook. He may prove a fair successor to the Zappke Zephyr.

Columbia seems to be following up a pretty fair football team and a title-winning basketball quintet with a strong baseball nine. The other day the Blue and White whipped Yale, not only whipped the Bulldogs but shut them out. It was an impressive triumph, Yale having previously trounced George town, Navy, Maryland and several others. In four starts on the home field Columbia has won them all.

Eric Wilson, former Iowa star and Ardien Paulen, Dutch champion, are to meet in a special quarter-mile race at the Kansas relays April 17. Oddly enough, both competed in the 1924 Olympics. Each won his first heat. Wilson fell in the second, however, and Paulen was eliminated in the semi-final after he had whipped Liddell, ultimate winner, in his second trial. Paulen copped the special "440" event at the Texas relays recently. Wilson is in rare form too. A close struggle should result with chances even.

"I certainly agree with you on your size-up of the Washington crew," writes "Far Westerner" Seattle. "The Huskies will make 'em all hustle at Poughkeepsie again this year. 'Rusty' Callow is bent on avenging last season's defeat. And unless your eastern shells are surprisingly strong, I think he'll do it." And there you are!

Cheney Brothers' Athletic Association to Hold Annual Election of Officers and Smoker.

THE PROGRAM
"Nick" Angelo vs. "Kid" McConnell. (At 140 Pounds)
"Kid" Nevus vs. Young Dowd (At 120 Pounds)
D. Eccellent vs. Danny Murphy. (At 118 Pounds)
"Bobby" Burns vs. Battling Haun. (At 145 Pounds)

Although there will be no "grudge" fight on the card it is, nevertheless, expected that approximately three hundred persons will attend tonight's smoker and annual election of officers of Cheney Brothers' Athletic Association which will be held at Cheney hall commencing at eight o'clock with the business routine first.

At the last smoker held under the auspices of the Athletic Association two young men from the Ribbon mill engaged in a grudge fight that produced unlimited fireworks. Although these two chaps will be among the spectators tonight instead of in the squared arena, the four bouts which John L. Jenney, of the association, has arranged indicate plenty of action to satisfy even the most rabid fan.

The four bouts as announced in the card above, will be of four round duration, each round being two minutes. Walter Vennart will be the third man in the ring with Dr. McCarthy holding the megaphone.

There is a possibility that Dominic Eccellent will not be able to fight tonight owing to an injured thumb but if he isn't Jenney will have a first class man here to replace him in the bout against Danny Murphy of Rockville.

If the reports among the members of the association can be taken as a criterion, Tom Weir, of the Machine Shop, will be elected to the presidency at the business meeting prior to the smoker. There has been a strong effort launched on the part of his admirers to put him in office to fill the vacancy left by Arthur Lashinske, whose term of office expires at this time. Weir is exceptionally popular among the members of the association and if elected, should prove a most competent leader.

Other officers including secretary and treasurer and vice-presidents of the various sports will also be named at this session. The annual report of the treasurer and secretary will also be read.

FORMER LOCAL PITCHER NOW A STAR AT EXETER

Reports from Exeter, New Hampshire, are to the effect that Jimmy Healey, former local pitcher and now ace of Exeter Academy, is showing a wealth of form in early season practice sessions. Healey pitched several games for the local St. Mary's baseball nine last year and performed in a creditable manner. He is also completely at home at the shortstop berth and in addition to this, the versatile athlete, who hails from Hartford, is a dangerous man with the willow. His batting featured several St. Mary's victories last season.

Healey will not pitch the opening game for Exeter according to dispatches, but will ascend the mound Saturday against St. John's Preparatory school. Healey is also a star track man and this will interfere with his baseball playing inasmuch as he will be with the track team on several of the dates the baseball team is slated to play. Healey is one of the most

COLUMBIA FACES HARD TRACK SKED THIS YEAR.

Columbia's track team faces one of the hardest schedules it has had in seasons. The Blue and White thinclads will compete in the Penn relays and the eastern intercollegiate at Cambridge, Syracuse, Brown and the Army will be encountered in dual meets. Prospects for a winner are not exceptionally bright, the most promising man being Capt. Joe Campbell in the half mile.

Famous Veteran Should Develop Winning Team; First Game Comes May 1.

Principal Clarence P. Quimby, of the South Manchester High school announced today that Louis Breckenridge, former coach of the Manchester baseball team, has been engaged to coach the high school baseball team during the coming season. "Breck" as he is most commonly known, will take charge of the squad at once. Practice sessions will be held each afternoon. They will be of two hour duration. The team will play its first game Saturday, May 1 against Middletown High at the local ball park. Baseball fans of Manchester need little if any words of introduction in regard to "Breck." The famous old timer who put Manchester on the map in the days of the Rockville-Manchester series knows the ins and outs of the baseball game from A to Z and should develop a winning team for the high school if there is sufficient material and it is understood there is.

LACROSSE SPORTS STARTS AT BROWN

Providence University to Inaugurate Sport With Match Against Harvard May 1.

Providence, April 14.—A Brown varsity lacrosse squad assembled for the first time in the history of the institution yesterday. Thirty-five men worked out for an hour under the direction of Coach B. H. Beck on Lincoln Field in preparation for the spring meets.

Lacrosse has been played during one season on an informal basis, and sufficient interest has been created to warrant the establishing of the sport on a varsity basis. A schedule is being arranged but only one game has been announced—that with Harvard on May 1. That date will mark the inauguration of the sport in Brown. Several former preparatory school players form the nucleus of the squad, but a number of varsity men from other sports are candidates for the team. Varsity minor sport insignia will probably be awarded the team in the event of a successful season. Valuable men Exeter has had in many years.

DON'T I know? Didn't I cross the burning sands in search of pipe-contentment? And then you loomed up, like an oasis in the Desert of Doubt. Cool and refreshing, you were, Prince Albert. I'll never forget that first meeting.

Why, you just had everything I wanted in a pipe tobacco. You came zooming up the stem like a breeze through the date palms. You were fragrant as frankincense. You were friendly to my tongue and throat, refusing to mistreat them.

You're still sheik of the smoke-tribe, Prince Albert. I'm FOR you a hundred per cent. You and my trusty jimmy-pipe go with me everywhere, smoothing out the wrinkles in the roadway of life. The tongue you've been so kind to will always speak a good word in return.

Maybe there are some other chaps roaming the hot-pipe desert, at the mercy of the bedouins of bite and the pirates of parch. I hope they are listening in. I'm putting on all the power I've got to tell them what a lot of comfort is waiting for them in the tidy red tins marked "Prince Albert."

Holgar Bach and his men are remodeling the office of the Connecticut Co. which adjoins the new City Hall. It will be changed to fit in with the Colonial scheme followed by the architect in designing the municipal building.

The committee from Second Congregational church in charge of the "church night" events scheduled for Thursday evening, April 22 at the School street Recreation Center, will meet this evening at eight o'clock with Director Walter Olson.

Harry Shewry, of the town engineer's office, has resigned his position here to accept a similar position with the State Highway Department.

The heating apparatus in the new City Hall is in working order and is drying out the interior in preparation for the plasterers. The outside work is practically complete. The copper cupola will not be painted as many expected. It will be left to tarnish to give it the appearance of age which is the scheme of the whole building's exterior.

Stepping Out

LONG the avenue, footing it gaily through highway and byway goes the miss in the Grover Foot Arch shoe. She knows neither foot ache nor weariness because her shoes are right. Every muscle and ligament functions just as it should, and the specially shaped Grover shank of highly tempered steel provides just the bit of spring necessary to make walking a real pleasure.

Max Kabrick and his Princess Ballroom orchestra who have made a big hit with the Manchester people, will be on hand again, furnishing all the latest Broadway hits.

In connection with Glenwood Range Week, which is being featured by Glenwood dealers throughout the country this week, Watkins Brothers have an interesting window display. Shown in the window are five of the newest Glenwood coal, gas and combination ranges in the attractive gray porcelain finish. The back of the window has been draped with a black cloth and a black and white checked grass rug has been laid out on the floor. This black background and black and white floor makes the gray porcelain stoves on display stand out prominently.

Watkins Brothers report that the gray porcelain stoves are becoming very popular in town. While other stove makers were placing gray stoves on the market, the Glenwood Range company continued experimenting with this new finish and not until they had perfected a finish that would stand up after long and hard usage did they offer the gray porcelain stoves to their dealers. This is one reason why the gray finish has proven so popular on the Glenwood ranges. Time has shown that it will last.

The feature of the gray stoves that appeals to women most is the cleanliness of this type of range. A damp cloth is all the equipment needed to keep the stove looking as clean as a china dish.

FLAGS FOR PERFECT ATTENDANCE PUPILS

Eighteen in Americanization Classes—Seventy-five to Be Graduated Tonight.

Graduation exercises of the Americanization classes of the local night school will be held this evening in the high school assembly hall commencing at 8 o'clock. Nearly seventy-five students will be given their diplomas by Principal A. N. Potter.

The names of the eighteen students who will receive silk flags for perfect attendance were given out today by Principal Potter. They are: Susie Neubauer, John Nelson, Sylvia Vlandowski, Joseph Antonio, Rafael De Simone, Antione Pavlovick, Barbara Falkowski, Anna Hewitt, Minnie Hadden, Delina Hadden, Susan Klein, Katherine Zwick, Ednah Finley, Lucy Farr, George Proctor, John Zwick and Amelia Dian.

The presentation of the flags, which are gifts from Cheney Brothers, will be made by Superintendent F. J. Verplanck. Mr. Verplanck will also give a short talk as will E. L. G. Hohenthal. The latter will present the set of books to the winners of the five best essays in the contest which has been conducted among the night school students.

The graduation program tonight promised to be exceptionally good. The South Manchester high school orchestra under its capable leader, Miss E. Marion Doward, will favor with selections. There will also be community singing of patriotic songs by night school students. Alfred Olsson and Joseph Sues will deliver instrumental selections and there will be Russian songs and dances by a Hartford troupe of children. Admission will be by ticket only.

SPRING GYM EXHIBIT PLANNED FOR FRIDAY

Program Given Out Today by Rec—Practices Being Held This Week.

The spring exhibition of the gymnastic and dancing classes which have been held at the Recreation Center this winter will be given in the gymnasium at the East Side Center on Friday evening, April 30 at 8 o'clock.

The program will be as follows: Flag Drill by members of the two women's gymnastic classes. Saibara, a Japanese Fan Dance by members of the girls' beginning dancing class. Miniature Polka by members of the women's dancing class. Highland Fling by members of the girls' advanced dancing class. Slovak and Tancul, two Slovak folk dances by members of the women's gym classes. Irish Jig by members of the women's dancing class. Poppies, a classical dance by members of the girls' advanced dancing class. Children's Polka and Blesking by members of the children's rhythmic class. May Pole Dance by members of the girls' dancing classes. Volley ball game.

Members of the various classes are practicing for the exhibition and the costume committee is at work. All the dances will be costumed appropriately and it is expected that this exhibition will outclass the winter exhibition which was received so favorably by a large audience.

Special practices to be held this week are as follows: tonight at 7 the flag drill, tomorrow at 7 p. m. Irish Jig and Miniature Polka, Friday at 3:45 p. m. May Pole Dance and Saturday at 7 p. m. the Irish Jig at 7:30 the Flag Drill and at 8 o'clock Slovak dances, Saturday morning at 9:45 the May Pole Dance and the Highland Fling. Members of the classes who were not present last week are urged to attend the next practice to be held for their respective classes that they may be assigned a place in the exhibition.

The old windmills of Holland are gradually disappearing.

INVITES LOCAL BOYS TO REUNION OF CAMP

Ray C. Pillsbury Announces Program of Get Together at Center Church Tomorrow Evening.

Ray C. Pillsbury, one of the promoters of the Camp Woodstock supper and re-union scheduled for tomorrow evening in the Center Congregational church, announced today that any boy in Manchester, regardless of whether he had ever been to Camp Woodstock before or not, is invited to attend the get together. The idea is to promote interest in the good times which are enjoyed annually at the camp by Manchester youths as well as other boys from all over the state. Tomorrow night's affair is being held under the auspices of the South Manchester H-Y club and it is hoped that at least seventy-five boys will make reservations with either John Wright, 29 Pearl street or with Mr. Pillsbury. Supper will be served at six o'clock.

AUTOISTS ALREADY OBEY MAIN ST. PARKING RULE

Although Not Yet in Force, Car Owners Last Night Used Side Streets.

Although the parking rule on Main street has not yet gone into effect, last night's autoists began practice in keeping it. The theatergoers and others who planned to remain more than an hour, parked either on the west side of the street or on side streets and the shoppers used the east side. As soon as the rule goes into effect, the policemen on the Main street beats will use the chalking system now enforced by the Hartford police. The patrolmen go along the restricted areas and mark with a piece of chalk the tire at the curb. They return in an hour and if the car is still there, it is tagged.

NORTH VS. SOUTH ON CHURCH NIGHT

St. James's to Play St. Bridget's in Several Different Games.

"Catholic Church Night" which will be observed tomorrow at the School street Recreation Center has taken on a decided "north versus south" tinge. Teams have been organized in almost every sport in each of the two Catholic churches here to vie with each other for honors. Each church will be represented by two teams in each sport—one women's team and one men's.

The sports in which the church people will take part are basketball, bowling, pocket billiards swimming and setback. In addition to these there will be contests in old fashioned jigs. Leo Cleary has been named master of ceremonies and will conduct the different games and contests.

Following the games there will be modern and old fashioned dancing. Both an orchestra and a band will be on hand to keep the crowd happy. A large number from both churches will be on hand and a most successful church night is expected.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle will meet tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock at the Concordia Lutheran church.
