

LINK J. T. KING AND DAUGHERTY IN INDICTMENT

Conn. Man Charged With Fraud Plot Against U. S. in Return of Seized Property to Germans.

New York, May 7.—Harry M. Daugherty, attorney-general of the United States in President Harding's cabinet, was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury today on charges of illegally receiving fees in connection with the return of stock in the American Metals company, seized by the alien property custodian's office during the war, to Swiss and German owners.

The same indictment also charges Thomas W. Miller, formerly alien property custodian, and John T. King, formerly Republican national committeeman from Connecticut, with conspiracy. The three are alleged to have received a total of $291,000 for their part in the alleged transfer.

Today's indictment is the latest of a series of startling revelations that have followed the transfer of $7,000,000 in Liberty bonds, representing the forty per cent. of stock in the American Metals company owned by alien corporations, to a group of Swiss bankers representing German interests. The first concrete action by the Grand Jury was the indictment of Miller, returned in October, 1925, which also charged him with conspiracy to defraud.

Daugherty followed A. Mitchell Palmer, then attorney-general, in the cabinet post in 1921, as an appointee of Warren G. Harding. After the President's death, Daugherty served a short time in the cabinet of President Coolidge, but was soon succeeded by Harlan P. Stone. Early last year, President Coolidge appointed John G. Sargent to the post.

Daugherty first figured in the investigation some time after the Miller indictment. He was called before the Grand Jury as a witness, as was his brother, Mal Daugherty, president of the Manhattan National Bank of Washington Court House, O. C. the place of the former attorney-general's birth. Mal Daugherty, on one of his visits to the Grand Jury room, testified that he had turned over to his brother a certain ledger sheets from his bank, and that he understood his brother had burned them. When the former attorney-general was summoned before the Grand Jury, he was questioned to some extent relative to the ledger sheets from his bank, but he refused to answer, so Federal Judge Thomas D. Thacher threatened to cite him for contempt of court unless he furnished the information desired forthwith.

Secret Reply.
The questions read in open court, concerned Daugherty's possession and alleged failure to produce original ledger sheets of his account in his brother's bank. They also dealt with the account of Jessie Smith in the same institution. Smith, who figured prominently in the Teapot Dome oil investigation, had committed suicide.

Following Judge Thacher's threat to present him for contempt of court, Daugherty wrote out answers to certain of the questions, which were returned to the federal authorities without being made public. He protested at the time that to answer verbally might tend to incriminate him, and divulge certain private affairs of the late President Harding and his family, for which, he, as attorney-general, was legal adviser.

Only Named At First.
In the first indictment, which charged Miller with conspiracy to defraud, King was mentioned as a co-conspirator, but was not indicted. On April 2, however, this same Grand Jury indicted King for perjury, claiming he swore falsely to his federal income tax return for the year 1921, the year of the American Metals company stock transfer.

It was alleged he swore to a gross income of $34,529.15 in that year, and to a net income of only $266.15, thus figuring he owed the government money. The government, however, alleged his gross income was more than $196,529.15, and his net more than $127,626.15 making his tax more than $49,000.

Statute of Limitations.
King pleaded not guilty, and two weeks later, his attorney, William J. Leahy, filed a motion to quash the indictment under the terms of the statute of limitations, which requires prosecution within three years of an alleged crime. The grand jury's indictment was thrown out under these conditions, the Grand Jury a second time indicted King, charging him with evasion of the revenue act, a prosecution of which comes under a six-year statute of limitations.

Rich European Involved.
When the first indictment in the alleged gigantic conspiracy was handed down, Richard Merton, (continued on page 19)

COMES FROM BOASTING ASSERTS LADY ASTOR

London, May 7.—Great Britain's general strike is "like all the wars—a conflict of ideas," declared Lady Astor in an interview today.

"First the miners and owners were both stubborn and wrong and then the trade union marchers had to be used," said Lady Astor.

"The unions have boasted of their strength for so long that a trial of strength was necessary."

TOWN PLAN DRAFT UP TO SELECTMEN

Board and C. of C. Directors
Discuss Matter at a Joint Meeting.

At the joint meeting of the Board of Selectmen and directors of the Chamber of Commerce held last evening at the home of Austin Cheney, president of the Chamber of Commerce, a draft of a proposed Town Plan for Manchester was submitted for the consideration of the Selectmen, by Horace B. Cheney, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee on Town Plan.

Mr. Cheney stated quite frankly that he did not consider the draft submitted by him as a finished product, but merely as a starting point and a basis for discussion. He said that he hoped and expected there would be the fullest and frankest discussion, criticism and correction. It developed that Mr. Cheney was not to be disappointed in his hope and expectation. For two hours following the serving of dinner, the twenty-three men present indulged in the frankest possible discussion of the various clauses of the plan submitted.

Result of Discussion.
The discussion disclosed that practically without exception, every member of the two boards was ready to accept the proposed plan in principle, believing in the soundness of the principle of town planning and recognizing the need for the same.

Some of the questions which were brought up during the discussion were:

The advisability of having the members of the Town Plan Commission elected on the basis of the population of the town.

The possibility of conflict of authority with the Selectmen and with the Parks Commission.

The exact function of the Town Plan Commission and its authority.

Whether the Town Plan Commission should hold hearings on proposed street and sidewalk lines and grades, or whether this should be left to the Selectmen.

Board of Appeals.
Who would be the final Board of Appeals for objecting property owners.

It was concluded that all these questions were purely matters of (Continued on page 10)

P. P. IVES OF GUILFORD N. E. POULTRY HEAD

Elected Director of American Association as Four Other Candidates Withdraw.

New Haven, May 7.—Paul P. Ives, of Guilford, was today elected New England director of the American Poultry Association, and as such will represent New England at the World Poultry Congress at Ottawa in 1927.

Mr. Ives' election was unanimous after the withdrawal of Dr. Buchanan Burr, of Newburyport, Mass.; C. D. Snow, of Providence; Harold F. Barber, of Dover, Mass., and W. B. Atherton, of Boston, nominated for the place with Mr. Ives.

POLICE GUNS BALK NEW YORK HOLDUPS

One Policeman, Shooting at Bandit in Action, Hits Him
Five Times.

New York, May 7.—Police bullets today frustrated two attempted hold-ups with the result that one bandit was killed and another is dying in the hospital.

MANUFACTURER PAYS FINE FOR SPEEDING

Greenwich, May 7.—George Reichel, vice-president of the Haskell Corporation of America, contributed ten dollars and costs to the city court treasury today shortly after he had been arrested for driving forty miles an hour through the town.

ADIRONDACKS 'WHITE HOUSE' A PROBABILITY

President, Not Inclined to Come to New England
This Summer, Favors the New York Mountains.

Washington, May 7.—Final decision as to the location of this year's summer White House is expected within a week. That President and Mrs. Coolidge will spend their vacation in the Adirondacks in northern New York State, near the Canadian border, is considered almost certain.

This was made known today when it developed that either Frank W. Stearns, of Boston, close personal friend of the Coolidges, or a secret service agent will, within the next few days, journey north to inspect the three or four places offered to the president.

New England "Out"
Out of the numerous offers, selection will be made from several places in the Adirondacks, one in Vermont and one in Maine. So far as the latter two are concerned, however, the president has let it be known he does not desire to visit New England this year, so if those in New York are all that is claimed for them, the choice will lie there.

MRS. H. E. DODGE TO WED ACTOR DILLMAN

Widow of Motor Magnate, One of World's Richest Women,
Announces Pact.

Detroit, May 7.—Mrs. Horace E. Dodge announced today that she will marry Hugh Dillman, an actor of New York and Palm Beach on Saturday at the home of her son, Horace E. Dodge, Jr., in Detroit.

The wedding will be a very quiet one, with only a few intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties present.

Future plans of the couple are uncertain. Mrs. Dodge is not only one of the richest widows in America, but in the world. She was one of the principal heirs of the Dodge estates, largely composed of Dodge Brothers, Inc., which the heirs disposed of last year for $146,000.

Shortly after the death of Horace E. Dodge, the widow received from the probate court an allowance of $500,000 a year. One of the gifts bestowed on his wife by the automobile manufacturer was a string of pearls costing $325,000.

Dillman has been on the stage hand of the Lyric theatre in New York for years. He is the divorced husband of Marjorie Rambau, the actress, who charged Dillman with cruelty.

After Miss Rambau had divorced him, Dillman dropped out of sight as an actor, but began being seen in Fall Beach society.

NORGE AT BERGEN AFTER 14 HOUR HOP

Just Possible That Amundsen
May Try Flight Over
Pole Next Week.

London, May 7.—The Amundsen-Ellsworth polar dirigible Norge arrived at Spitzbergen at 6:30 today according to advices received here.

The Norge left Vadsø, Norway, yesterday at approximately 3:56, and thus its journey to Spitzbergen took approximately fourteen hours.

No difficulty was experienced in mooring the Norge at Kings Bay. It was reported, and Commander Noble and his crew were given a warm welcome by Captain Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth, who had made all preparations for the reception of the dirigible.

LOWELL FIRE SCENE OF THRILLING ESCAPE OF MANY TRAPPED ON THIRD STORY SILLS

Lowell, May 7.—Firemen and volunteers rescued fifteen persons today when a two alarm fire caused $20,000 damage to a four-story brick building at Middlesex and Thordike streets.

The persons saved were taken from window sills three stories above the ground as flames and smoke swirled about them and cut off retreat down stairways of fire escapes.

MILLION FOR GOWNS FOR COURTS GONE THROUGH CANCELLATION

London, May 7.—Someone stands to lose $1,000,000 or thereabouts by the cancellation of the courts, due to the strike.

Conservative estimates are that more than $1,000,000 worth of gowns have been ordered for the courts and are in the progress of making.

GLASGOW RIOTERS QUICKLY JAILED

Sixty Go to Prison After Rioting, Petty Looting and Raids on Pubs.

Glasgow, May 7.—Nearly a hundred arrests have been made and a number are reported injured in rioting which has been sporadic here since early last evening.

Strikers, mobilizing in the East End, which is a hotbed of extremists, have made frequent sallies into the business sections of the town and there have been frequent clashes with the police.

Students, who are volunteering to operate the street car services, have been repeatedly attacked.

SHERMAN MAN WHOSE NAGGING LED TO OLD OFFICIAL'S SUICIDE MUST PAY BACK MONEY

Bridgeport, May 7.—Irwin C. Atchison, treasurer of the town of Sherman, must pay the sum of $2,432.23 to the estate of the late William H. Hawley, former treasurer, and in addition, must pay the costs of extended litigation.

The trouble grew out of the town deposit funds. Mr. Hawley, after long years in office, turned the place over to Atchison, who found a technical error. Mr. Hawley had failed to keep the town deposit fund in a separate account.

PLASTERERS STRIKE FOR $1.75 AN HOUR

Chicago Union Men Tie Up
Nearly a Thousand Building
Jobs in City.

Chicago, May 7.—More than 2,000 of the 3,500 union plasterers in Chicago went on strike today after their demands for $1.75 an hour, an increase of 25 cents an hour, was refused definitely by the Contracting Plasterers' Association.

STRIKERS STILL LOYAL TO KING AND MONARCHY

No Evidence of Republican
Leanings Except in the Clydeside Element in the Labor Party.

London, May 7.—No evidence of a republican movement or malice toward the British royal family exists despite the declaration of Premier Baldwin that the general strike now in its fourth day, is aimed at the destruction of the government.

Such bitterness as exists among the more radical of the laborites is directed against the cabinet ministers and the industrial and financial leaders, rather than against the king.

Clydeside Republican
The first open admission that republican ideas were fermenting in some minds came, however, when George Buchanan, a Clydeside extremist, addressing the House of Commons while the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York were in the city, said:

"I am a republican. I would abolish the monarchy tomorrow. My constituency knows I hold these views."

The entire Clydeside declaration in the House of Commons is radical in its views and had heretofore given the responsible leaders of the Labor party a little trouble.

PURSUER OF AGED TREASURER BEATEN

Atchison, who was pursuing the aged treasurer, was beaten.

The government is understood to be apprehensive of what may happen tomorrow, which may be the crucial day of the strike—when strike benefits are due to be paid.

Food Problem Menaces.
The food situation in London is becoming menacing. Despite the efforts of the government to transport foodstuffs there are grave dangers of a shortage if the strike extends over the week-end, due largely to the tie-up on the docks.

The situation was aggravated today when 1,000 transport workers of the Lyons restaurants, engaged in moving supplies to 800 restaurants, went on strike.

The Lyons company is endeavoring to continue the transportation of its food by the use of 800 volunteers.

A statement issued by the company states that its 800 restaurants will remain open.

The Lyons company is the biggest restaurant system in England and it is relied upon largely by clerks and business office workers for Monday meals.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, May 7.—United States treasury balance as of May 6: $336,724,178.68.

LONDON'S FOOD PROBLEM IS BECOMING A MENACE

British Government Forecasts Change in Policy in Orders to Army and Navy—May Take "Any Action Necessary"; Demands Made for Jailing of Leaders—Shortage of Food Feared If Strike Runs Over Week-End—800
Restaurants Cut Off from Supplies—Trains Gain, Less
Violence—Glasgow Scene of Rioting—Peace Efforts
All Futile—Many Disturbers Imprisoned.

London, May 7.—The government tonight intimated that it may resort to armed forces, for it issued assurances to the army and the navy that any action they may take to aid the civil power will secure full support of the government.

All ranks of the armed forces of the crown are hereby notified that any action they may find it necessary to take in an honest endeavor to aid the civil power will receive both new and afterwards the full support of his majesty's government," declares an announcement issued by the government.

Five hundred Coldstream Guards arrived at Poplar tonight to take over the work of guarding the East India docks.

The House of Commons, adjourning over the week-end, has left the situation in the hands of the cabinet, which is standing firm in its position tonight despite pressure being brought to bear by some factions for more drastic repressive measures against the strikers and pressure by another faction urging the premier to reopen negotiations with the strikers even though the general strike is not called off.

Demand Jailing of Leaders
Demands have been made from influential quarters that the government proceed against the strike leaders, imprisoning them and confiscating the property of the unions. The cabinet has shown no indications of yielding to such demands.

The government is understood to be apprehensive of what may happen tomorrow, which may be the crucial day of the strike—when strike benefits are due to be paid.

To Close Public Houses
As a precautionary measure the police have been authorized to close the public houses and stop the sales of intoxicants in districts where outbreaks may be likely.

The situation was aggravated today when 1,000 transport workers of the Lyons restaurants, engaged in moving supplies to 800 restaurants, went on strike.

The Lyons company is endeavoring to continue the transportation of its food by the use of 800 volunteers.

A statement issued by the company states that its 800 restaurants will remain open.

The Lyons company is the biggest restaurant system in England and it is relied upon largely by clerks and business office workers for Monday meals.

Private dispatches, however, indicate that disorders continue throughout the country, although there has been some slackening of rioting in the London area. Serious troubles are reported from Edinburgh, Glasgow and Ipswich, Middlesbrough and Cardiff also report untoward events.

The Trades Union Congress declares that the strikers are standing firm and that the national industry is still paralyzed.

Futile Peace Efforts.
There are still many rumors of efforts for peace, but as yet there has been no indication of any of these giving any promise of success.

Lloyd George and Sir John Simon are understood to be still willing to act as mediators, but thus far overtures they have made have fallen upon barren ground.

GUST OF FOURTH DAY STRIKE SITUATION

To all appearances the deadlock is still complete. J. Ramsay MacDonald, labor leader, says the Trades Unionists are continually seeking a "way to peace and accommodation."

The government communique announces that 75,000 volunteers are now on duty. The government declares that train service is greatly improved.

Five electric power stations for London boroughs are partially tied up by the strike. Disorders were less in London today, but serious disorders were reported from Glasgow, Edinburgh and other provincial centers.

Electrical workers in the government shell factory at Bramley struck. Newport electrical workers struck.

Transport workers supplying food to 800 London chain restaurants went out on strike. Fears are being expressed that the food situation will become more serious if the strike continues over the week-end.

that he is suffering from a painful illness. "We are not letting a moment pass, which is not used for some attempt to devise ways of peace and accommodation," MacDonald said.

No Weakening.
MacDonald did not indicate, however, that there is any weakening on the part of the strikers, nor did he indicate any willingness to accept the government's ultimatum that the strike must be called off before negotiations can be resumed.

The deadlock appeared complete and gives promise to last at least over the week-end, unless some break comes which now is unforeseen.

Both sides claim successes. The government mid-day communique, declared that the railroads are giving improved service and there have been "no serious disorders."

Less Violence in London.
Private dispatches, however, indicate that disorders continue throughout the country, although there has been some slackening of rioting in the London area. Serious troubles are reported from Edinburgh, Glasgow and Ipswich, Middlesbrough and Cardiff also report untoward events.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

At the weekly assembly of the local high school yesterday afternoon, solid gold medals, given for presentation by a donor whose name was not revealed, were presented to those members of the S. M. H. S. debating teams who spoke in the triangular league debate. Marjorie Smith, Emma Strickland, John Dwyer, George Krause, Erna Kanehl, and Marjorie H. Smith were those who received these awards. In presenting the medals Mr. Quimby said that a person, who for the time wished not to make his name known, desired to show his interest in the local school by making some kind of a lasting donation. He believed that there was no worthier way of doing this than by presenting these tokens of appreciation to those who had represented the school in debating.

Although not successful in winning permanent possession of the John A. Daraker debating trophy this year, the local affirmative team crushed Meriden High here by a three to nothing decision. The S. M. H. S. negative team did not fare so well in Meriden, and were beaten after a hard fight.

The Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs sang the numbers they will render at the interscholastic glee club contest to be held today at Windsor. The singing by both clubs has improved wonderfully since the beginning of the school year. The shading and phrasing is exceptionally good.

The seniors presented Mr. Quimby with a solid gold medal in appreciation of his very capable handling of the Washington trip. They greatly enjoyed their trip and wished to show their gratitude to the one who had so well attended to the many details connected with making the undertaking very enjoyable to all who went. For a moment Mr. Quimby was without words, but after the thunderous applause had ceased, he thanked the seniors for their kind appreciation and for the beautiful gift they had presented him. Subsequently he told the students another of his now renowned stories.

PIMPLES GO SKIN CLEARS—EASY WAY

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings quick, permanent relief from constipation

Constipation leaves its marks upon the face. Its terrible poisons, which lead to over forty serious diseases, cause pimples, hollow cheeks, sallow skin, circles under the eyes, poor circulation, cold hands and feet. It causes unpleasant breath too.

Rid your body of this frightful disease. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has brought health to thousands when all else has failed. The reason—it is ALL-BRAN—100% bran! That is why doctors recommend it. It takes ALL-BRAN to be wholly effective.

Try it! If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve the most stubborn cases or your grocer returns the purchase price.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will like its nut-like flavor. Try the recipes on every package. Sprinkle it over other cereals.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan, and served by leading restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

MONSTER FAN ON ROOF VENTILATES THEATER

Carpenters and other mechanics have been working atop the State theatre all this week and there was much wondering what was being built until the news leaked out last night.

The management is having constructed a gigantic ventilator, or as it is called "a typhoon fan." This fan will be 24 feet in circumference.

It will be similar to an electric fan except that it will lie flat on the roof. The fresh air will be forced into the building and then drawn out on the ground floor. This is the last word in theatre ventilation. There will be a complete change of air every minute when the fan starts to operate.

IVANHOE—Sir Walter Scott's Classic in Pictorial Form

THE STORY THUS FAR—The story is laid in the England of Richard I. Gurth, a swineherd, and Wamba, a jester, are accosted by a party of knights seeking the castle of Cedric, the Saxon. The knights are coldly received, and their leader, Brian the Templar, incurs Cedric's ire by his admiration of Cedric's daughter, Rowena. A

Jewish stranger enters the hall. With a Jew disguised in the outfit of palmer or wandering friar, the Jew flees the castle as Brian plans to seize him. As they part the Jew tells the palmer where he can find armor for the big tournament. As the tournament opens Prince John, brother of King Richard, is attracted by the beauty of Rebecca, the Jew's daughter. Wishing to borrow from the Jew later, John orders that room be made for the money lender and Rebecca in the section reserved for Cedric. A fight is prevented by Wamba, Cedric's jester, as the tournament begins.

SUPER-FILM COMING TO STATE THEATER

Photodrama of Rare Entertainment Shows Life of a Girl in Love with Love.

After weeks of dickering with United Artists Corporation by letter, telegram and in person, the management of the State theater definitely announces that Samuel Goldwyn's romantic epic "Stella Dallas," adapted from the famous novel by Mrs. Olive Higgins Prouty will open Sunday for three days engagement.

The management also recommends "Stella Dallas" as one film that will live in the memory after it is seen. It is great in story, cast and superb in its heart-wringing appeal.

"Stella Dallas" has had an amazing vogue as a popular story, then as a novel, and later as a stage play in which Mrs. Leslie Carter starred. The theme is already known to millions for its distinction and power.

The screen version of this mighty book was directed by Henry King whose record of achievement is marked by his production of "The White Sister," "23 1/2 Hours Leave" and the gold medal photograph "The Sign of the Cross."

Striking the keynote of romance, "Stella Dallas" on the screen, bares the love life of the central character played by Belle Bennett. It pictures a girl in love with love. It unfolds her amorous nature, her marriage, her peccadillo, and vividly visualizes the heights to which Stella rose and the depths to which she fell.

There is no moral in the story. It is entertainment—a high order of romance, realistic with laughter and pathos, leaving Stella as puzzled as life is itself. The climax of "Stella Dallas" is as tender, and as glorious as any big thrill heretofore projected from celluloid.

BABY ACROBAT GETS APPLAUSE BUT NO HELP

Seattle, Wash.—You never can tell about these Oriental customs anyway. When Mr. and Mrs. H. Ogata of Seattle parked their silver sedan downtown they left their baby inside and locked the doors. Another car nudged the silver. The baby, who had been climbing over the seats, slipped and fell, hanging by its heels, head downward. With true Oriental stoicism, the baby said nothing with great rapidity. Persons looked in, figured it was a Japanese custom to hang babies that way and passed along. Finally a policeman from the Oriental beat said he'd never seen 'em do that down in his territory. Then every body had a council of war. Finally the cop broke the glass and rescued the baby. The policeman wound it up by accusing the baby of parking too close to a fire hydrant.

FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1926.

IF

It would appear as though Congress actually intended to pass, almost at once, the public building bill upon which rests Manchester's more or less bright hope of a new post office building.

The Senate yesterday sent the measure to conference for the ironing out of some differences between its action and that of the House.

What on earth the area of a state should have to do with the number of federal buildings to be erected within its limits is beyond the comprehension of anybody but a senator, and it is much to be hoped that the House conferees will insist on the exclusion of that ridiculous feature of the bill.

HALF A JOKE?

That so apparently desperate an industrial conflict as the British general strike could have continued for even three days with so little real violence, anywhere in the world, would scarcely have been credited until this demonstration.

With actually millions of persons, directly concerned, gathered together in idleness, all of them presumably animated by a long smoldering spirit of resentment, the stage would have seemed to be set, from the very outset of the strike, for deeds of bloodshed.

Imagine Chicago, or the Pittsburgh region, in similar circumstances! Certainly the British people are not lacking in courage—let their conduct in the World war give testimony in that respect.

It is possible that, after all, the British workers are only half in earnest in this affair—that they have embarked on it as a sort of sporting adventure, a new experience? Has the twentieth century yearning for a thrill brought about this thing, more than any deep-rooted purpose of economic revolution?

The British people can riot, when they set themselves to it, though it is a long time since they went about it in earnest—not since the Lord George Gordon "no-popey" troubles, if our memory of history serves, and that was almost a century and a half ago.

It would seem that every such case as this, where the postoffice authorities are put to considerable trouble to justify a mail fraud order, the fraud order ought to be followed automatically by the presentation of this evidence to a federal grand jury in the district where the swindler operates, and then by prosecution in a federal court.

Perhaps if the government ever is freed from the all absorbing and time wasting business of enforcing prohibition, it will find it possible to attend, now and then, to the most contemptible class of swindlers on earth.

SCOOTING.

It is about as easy to throw a stone onto a lawn without hitting a blade of grass as to have a war, an epidemic or a general strike start in Europe without catching a lot of Americans in its bow wave.

Press cables tell us of hundreds of citizens of the United States falling over one another in their haste to get out of England before, perhaps, it may no longer be possible for them to leave.

These people, of course, are tourists, purely and simply. Persons having business in England, are sticking by, whether they are English, American or whatever.

And why foreign tourists, unless animated by a sheerly impish curiosity and love of excitement, should have hung around London and the rest of Great Britain, for a week or ten days after it had become perfectly clear that what has happened was going to happen, it isn't easy to understand.

If one has the misfortune to be a guest in a house where a family row pertends he is either rarely stupid or rarely courageous if he does not haste his departure so as to beat the open rupture to it, if he possibly can.

The Americans who at this time are scurrying out of London in airplanes and charabancs need feel no particular surprise if their compatriots at home give them the hoot.

MILLSTONES.

Root Fitch of Dowagiac, Mich., "farmed it" all his life until he came to the point where he felt justified in quitting the "money crops" and settled down to take things easy on the same simple scale to which he and his wife had always been accustomed.

He is the kind of a man who, a good part of the time, wears overalls and old clothes, doing chores about the place, making garden, etc. His wife is the kind of woman who is proud of a speckless kitchen and loves to cook and bake. Regular people, substantial, respected, A1 citizens.

Now, when Fitch is 65, a little known relative has died and Fitch comes in for a million and a half of money.

"I'm not going to lose my head over it," he says. "I won't hire Japanese valets and French maids. I won't put on airs and turn up my nose at the friends I've known and loved all these years. I'll keep on living as I have been living. Money doesn't amount to much. It's what you have in your head and heart that counts. Mrs. Fitch and I will keep on living here in the same way, I guess, as if nothing had happened."

Wise Root Fitch! There is to be, for him and his good wife, no wide dislocation of the life in which they have found contentment and happiness—no heedless wrecking of the fine and admirable structure builded through sixty-five years; no reckless adventure into unexplored fields of exotic existence.

Just the same it is very doubtful indeed that the Fitches will find it possible, with a million and a half of possessions, to go on in just the same old way. Even if they turn over the handling of their property to a trust company, there will still be the disposition of fifty or sixty thousand dollars a year, or more, to direct—unless they decide to let the trust company keep on piling up their principle, aimlessly. And they are not likely to do that, with friends needing help here and worthy charities coming to their attention. Why, their mail alone will require the services of a secretary.

No person alive can have as much money as a million and a half, let alone fifty or a hundred or five hundred millions, without in some degree being the loser, in freedom, in privacy, in the sure knowledge that if one is valued it is for himself and not for his goods. The Fitches may fancy, just now, that their unexpected wealth will make no difference. But it will make a difference, no matter how well fortified they may be in common sense, in their love of the simple life, in their detestation of parade and ostentation. No one can travel the journey as easily carrying a millstone as unburdened—not even though he care nothing for millstones as chattels.

FRAUD ORDERS.

A post office fraud order has been issued against a concern doing business under the name of the Counsel Manufacturing Co. of Chicago, which has been advertising throughout the country—aiming particularly at women—offering permanent home employment, addressing envelopes, at $48 per week. Instead of actually giving such employment at any such pay, what the concern did was to sell the inquirer a coat at $7.95 which had cost the fakirs $3.60, managing to convince the would-be envelope addresser that the ownership of the coat was essential to qualifying for the job.

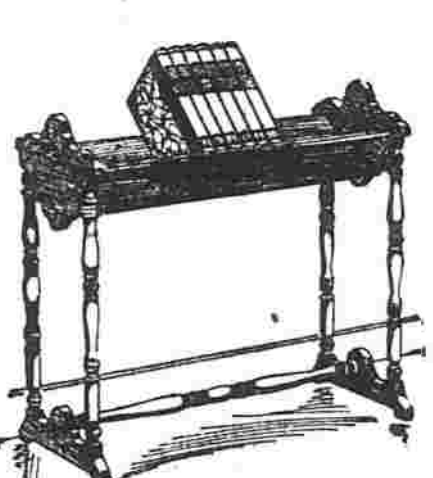

That there should be folk simple enough to believe such buncombe may seem incredible, but it is nevertheless a fact that the world, or at least the United States, is full of them; for the concern was doing a thriving business until Postmaster New put a crimp in it by excluding it from the mails.

Unfortunately, exclusion from the mails ends the interest of the government in such cases, nine times in ten. There will probably be nothing in the world to prevent the persons who have been operating this particular swindle from thinking up a new one unless the state of Illinois should interest itself in their activities sufficiently to slap them into jail—which its probably will not trouble to do.

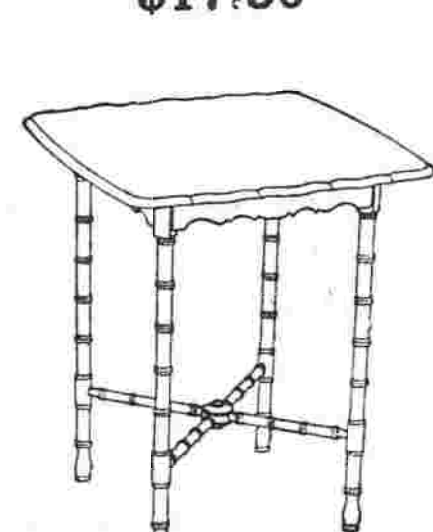

It would seem that every such case as this, where the postoffice authorities are put to considerable trouble to justify a mail fraud order, the fraud order ought to be followed automatically by the presentation of this evidence to a federal grand jury in the district where the swindler operates, and then by prosecution in a federal court.

Perhaps if the government ever is freed from the all absorbing and

WATKINS BROTHERS, Inc.

FLORIDA BRANCH — THE WATKINS-LIMBACHER CO. — ST. PETERSBURG.

IN NEW YORK

New York, May 7.—Scattered notes from an afternoon's ramble about Manhattan. The pushcart and hand organ men in the old East Side haunts in despair now that radio loud speakers shout, sing and orchestrate from every third window. What chance has a street musician's hand organ against the endless sounds obtained by a mere twirling of a couple of knobs. I met an old organ man and his wife wending their way westward where competition is less keen. The rising generation of street gamins will stand in no awe of wealth and aristocracy. A generation ago, the sight of millionaires and society folk stepping in all their splendor, in the hotels and theaters would have been something to record in a Horatio Alger tale. Today impudent and incredibly nifty youngsters rush up to any taxi stopping at any public spot and open the door in hopes of beating the doorman to the punch. Perhaps this is the beginning of a new democracy. Going! Going! Gone. The world famous Vanderbilt mansion is now but an irregular sequence of brick-piles. A sandwich man rides past on a cunningly in and out among the taxis and chummy roadsters. He attracts crowds who would not look skyward at the purring of an airplane. The new is old; the old is new, and if it's old the army of hatless boys and girls comes marching down the street. If this hatless movement keeps up it will be tough on hatters but fine for barbers. East Side streets are so much more alive than any others when warm weather comes. Broadway crowds seem to drift without rhyme or reason. In the pushcart belts, crowds of neighbors gather. They laugh and chatter and gossip. The streets pack solidly. The people move slowly. More laughter and chatter in a single block than you will see uptown in half a mile. Everyone seems at home. There are few hats and many shawls. The sunbather draws them out. Two by two. Four by four. Perhaps it is the dreariness of the tenements. Surely they spend little time there in pleasant weather. And the uptowners seem so cooped up, even when out of doors. In pleasant weather give me any street east of Third Avenue.

DAILY POEM

FATHER'S HELP Wee Dick came home from school one day — I sulked around the house. He didn't usually act that way — as quiet as a mouse. Got a mother couldn't understand and when it got her goat she asked him what the matter was, and Dick produced a note. "Twas just a 'no' from teacher, scoring marks were way down low, and Dicky wasn't les-nin' all the things I oughta know. The young ster's mind, so 'eacker said, was m-m-m inclined to roam — he'd better start in 'catchin' up by takin' se' network home. That night mom called on father: 'You have got to help your son. He needs someone to jack him up, to get his problems done.' So dad — Dick got busy, and they sal-l-l into the mass of problems Dick had worked before, but simply failed to pass. Ten problems soon were tackled and the answers jotted down. Dad made Dick think them easy — but they really made him frown. It's fun to make your youngster think that, in his work, you're bright, Dick took them off to school next day — and two of them were right.

TROLLEY CO.'S OFFICE A PRETTY BUILDING

Remodeled to Resemble a Colonial Dwelling—In Keeping With New City Hall.

Improvements to the Connecticut company office on Center street next to the Town Hall have made it one of the best looking small buildings in town. It has been reduced in size and shaped to resemble a colonial dwelling. The work is being done by Holger Bach.

The entire outside of the building has been repainted and the interior completely remodeled. The roof has been laid with a new patented copper-sheathed shingle which is fire-resisting. The copper sheathing will tarnish in time and give the roof the appearance of age. The second floor of the building will be given over entirely to the dispatchers. This room is lighted by six large windows on three sides of the building. Downstairs are the motormen's and conductors' quarters and the office of Supt. H. A. Nettleton. The building was remodeled in order to harmonize with the new city hall. A strip of land was given by the Connecticut Company to the town and the front of the old office stood on this land. In a short time grass will be sown in front of the office and shrubbery planted.

Big Y. M. C. A. Annual Track Meet Here Tomorrow

STRONG COMPETITION EXPECTED IN WEST SIDE FIELD DAY EVENTS

Large Crowd to Watch Athletes from All Over Country in Contests—Manchester Well Represented

BROWNS GET OFF TO WRETTCHED START.
George Siser and his St. Louis Browns are having a tough time getting started. Most experts had counted the Missouri entry as a dangerous contender right from the opening gong. But the club got away poorly, dropping its first five games.

Everything is in readiness for the Hartford County Annual Y. M. C. A. track and field meet at the West Side Playgrounds tomorrow afternoon. Athletes from all over the country will flock here to wage the Y. M. C. A.'s biggest sporting class: from which the winners will go to compete in the State Y. M. C. A. track and field meet to be held later at Wesleyan College. The meet will start promptly at one o'clock with the examinations by doctors and the registration for the various events. The first event on the program which was printed in The Herald yesterday will be the 220 yard dash in the open class. This will be at 1:20. Local officials will handle the meet.
Manchester will be strongly represented in the meet tomorrow as will be Lewis High of Southington, Windsor Locks, last year's winners. New Britain, Walling, Granby, Hartford, East Glastonbury, and East Granby.

With Harry Anderson, Jimmy McKay, "Lefty" Bray, Harardura, Mantell, La Coss, O'Connell, and others whose names have not yet been announced, entered for Manchester, this town should stand a good chance of winning the meet and gaining two legs on the handsome trophy. Manchester won two years ago.
The big meet tomorrow should draw a large crowd from other towns and cities nearby in addition to Manchester.

CHANGE OF RULES FOR FOREIGNERS

Hereafter They Will Have to Obey A. A. U. While Here; Ask Too Big Expense Money.

New York, May 7.—There will be no more of this business of seeing America on a Cinderella path to be able to jump higher, run faster or explain quicker than the next.
This, the writer has been given to understand, was to be the Amateur Athletic Union's decision today, regardless of whether Charley Hoff, or Norway, obeys or ignores its mandate to compete at San Francisco tomorrow under pain of having the remainder of his exhibition tour cancelled. The A. A. U. almost learned its lesson from Favro Nurmi's series of controversies here last year; almost but not quite. It required Hoff's difficulties, past and present, to convince the boys that a rolling athlete saunders no more and even less prestige for the official body that sponsors him.
The New Rule.
From now on, according to official opinion, American invitations will be extended to foreign athletes with the distinct understanding that the bid will be good for not more than one or two meets.
The official expectation today was that Hoff would accept the A. A. U.'s demand in good part. This would be a mitigating circumstance of course, but it will not alter the fact that hereafter and forever henceforth, the itinerant athlete is out like a latch string. At least, that is the official attitude at this time and there has been nothing in the respective tours of Nurmi and Hoff that is calculated to change it.
Too Big Expense.
Both were charged with demanding excessive expenses. Nurmi by the manager of a relay carnival and Hoff by a Chicago newspaper which claimed to be on the inside of what transpired during the Norwegian's tour of that section. Neither charge was sustained but those sort of things create an unfavorable impression, whether true or false.
Both passed up successive relay carnivals at the University of Pennsylvania, although the writer happens to know that each received an urgent invitation from Philadelphia. Where a man chooses to spend his nobody's business, of course, it being merely a noteworthy coincidence that neither foreigner was at all intrigued by the Pennsylvania meet, although it is famous the world over.
It may have been noted that a number of Europeans have been asked to appear at the national championships at Philadelphia in July. The invitations are good for these games only.

TENNIS TEAM SWAMPS WEST HARTFORD HIGH

Local Boys Take Two Out of Three Singles and Both Doubles Matches—Visitors Fight Hard.

The Manchester High school tennis team walked roughshod over the West Hartford racquet wielders yesterday afternoon and won by four matches to one. The local boys won the two doubles matches and two of the singles. Cole was the only Manchester player to lose his match.
Following is the summary:
Johnson defeated Cole, 6-3, 6-4.
Gotberg defeated Holleck, 7-5, 6-1.
Boyle defeated Roster, 6-4, 6-2.
McCann defeated Barto, 6-0, 6-4.
Boyle and Cole defeated Johnson and Roster, 6-0, 7-5.
Gotberg and McCann defeated Hamilton and Holleck, 6-1, 6-0.

SHAKE UP OF CREW.

New York, May 7.—On the eve of the triangular race with the crews of Yale and Pennsylvania on the Housatonic, Columbia university's varsity eights were given a thorough shaking-up today by Dick Glendon, Jr., former coach at the Naval Academy. Three varsity men were demoted and the junior varsity almost completely altered. The most notable change was the dropping of Captain Kaleb Wibers, veteran of three years, to the junior boat.

ELIGIBILITY QUESTION DELAYS TWILIGHT LEAGUE FORMATION

Question Raised That Only Local Players Be Used and Matter is Rabled Until Next Meeting.

At the first meeting of the four managers of the proposed Herald Community baseball league held last evening at the Sports Department of The Herald arrangements were discussed regarding the formation of a four-team circuit to play a three-round schedule on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.
The meeting was attended by Managers Coleman, Bulla, Vendrillo and Jenney of the Shamrocks, St. Mary's, Sons of Italy and Cheney Brothers respectively. The meeting resulted in the failure of the four managers to agree on two questions—eligibility and amateurism. These two questions were tabled for further action and will be reported on at the next meeting which will be held next Wednesday evening at the Herald office on Oak street.
The eligibility point concerned the question of whether out of town players were to be used in the league or whether it was to be a purely local affair. Coleman and Jenney favored a local rule while Bulla and Vendrillo asked for "continual" of the case" until they could consult further with their players.
The point was also raised that a rule be established to the effect no players be paid for their services. This was also tabled for consideration at the next meeting.

McGUIRE'S BOYS TRIM OPPONENTS WITH EASE

Miss Kane's room hit off more than it could chew yesterday when it tackled Miss McGuire's room on the baseball diamond. The latter team won by the score of 16 to 3 in a contest that was not close at any time. Miss Kane's team, the only man on his hit, failed to get any hitting. He had out three. McHale and Graff of the winners did the same thing.

TOURNEY CALLED OFF BECAUSE OF STRIKE

Aboard S. S. Aquitania, May 7.—W. C. Fownes, president of the United States Golf Association, wireless English golf officials today that it would be satisfactory to the Walker cup team, which left the United States to compete in the British amateur championships, to call off the competition, because of strike conditions in England. Fownes suggested that the matches be played in France.
The American golfers took advantage of the smooth sea today to practise driving into nets on the ship's deck. Some seventy dozen balls were driven overboard during practice.

SUMMER BOXING.

New York, May 7.—Summer boxing at Madison Square garden will have its inaugural tonight when Jack Renault and Jack De Mave, local heavyweight, will meet in a ten-round feature, supported by another ten-round between Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, and George Levine, of Brooklyn.

MOST OF BIG HITTERS GET AWAY POORLY

Rogers Hornsby seems to be the only one of the big hitters to have started strongly. Hornsby has been hitting them safely ever since the opening of the season. Speaker, Collins, Ruth, Siser and the others haven't done so well, however.

GEHRIG OUT TO GRAB RUN-SCORING TITLE.

Lou Gehrig of the Yankees appears bent on leading the American League in scoring runs this season. In his first 11 games the hefty first sacker caught 17 markers across. They put him in front by a wide margin.

DIAMOND DUST

Hits were scarcer than bankrupt bootleggers when the Dodgers lost to St. Louis, 2 to 1. The Cards got all their runs off Vance in the first inning on three hits, being held hitless by McWeeny and Ehrhardt thereafter. Milt Rhem held Brooklyn to five hits and won his fourth game of the season.
For once Virgil Barnes won a pitchers' battle, getting the decision over Charley Root as the Giants took three place away from the Cubs by a two to one victory. Kelly's homer featured.
Wertz, Boston's star rookie, turned back the Pirates three to one in the first game of the crucial series for seventh place in the National League.
The Reds picked the Phils clean, massaging four pitchers thoroughly and pounding out a fourteen to four victory.
Washington beat the Yanks five to three and advanced to within striking distance of first place. Goslin and Peck hit homers.
The Athletics nosed out the Browns, five to four, by a ninth inning rally. Hershel Bennett, St. Louis outfielder, butted into a concrete wall and was seriously injured.
Hal Willis pitched the Red Sox to a one to nothing decision over Sherry Smith of the Indians.

"DING" FARR SHINES BRIGHTLY AS LOCALS WHIP W. HARTFORD

Third Baseman Whales Out Three Singles Scoring Six Runs—Five-Run Rally in Sixth Wins Game—Score is 13 to 8—Locals at Winsted Tomorrow.

Three smoking-hot singles off the bat of "Ding" Farr, local third baseman, drove in a total of six runs and the batting star added another tally himself as South Manchester High baseball nine rode to its second straight victory in the Central Connecticut interscholastic league yesterday afternoon at the Stadium scoring a 13 to 8 victory over West Hartford High school. Farr's hitting in the pinches was the outstanding feature of the game. "Ab" Lupien and "Ty" Holland also hit home runs. The victory marked the second win for Eddie Boyce, Manchester's pitching ace.

Five Run Rally
A five-run rally made by the home team in the sixth inning put the locals on "easy street" for the remainder of the game despite the fact that West Hartford staged a rally in the eighth in which, for a time, seemed to spell disaster for Manchester. Prior to the fatal sixth inning, both teams were playing on an even keel, with hits being deadlocked at five and "S. S. H. S. boys were in the van by a 5 to 4 tally.
The Fatal Sixth
Jimmy Foley, who played a fine game around the midway sack all afternoon, started the fireworks in the sixth inning for Manchester when he worked Gengras for a free tick. Boyce advanced him to second with a neat sacrifice. "Ab" Lupien inserted his second double of the day, a sizzling liner to right field which scored F. Ley. Holland was safe when Gray fumbled his carpet roller, and Lupien scored. Holland stole second. F. Lupien lifted a high fly near the catcher's box and that went for an out. Bogginni struck out but Johnson, first and going to third, Bogginni stole second and scored in the wake of Holland when Farr slapped out another single.
Jimmy Quish then added another run by scoring. Farr, who had stolen second, with another single, Dahlquist ended the inning with a fly to center.
Locals Hit Hard
Al Gengras, who served them over the platter for the visitors, was found for hits when hits meant runs. He was touched up for eleven hits while West Hartford found nine of Boyce's deliveries suitable for hits, three of which were collected by Murray, who whaled out a triple on one occasion. The triple was an ordinary single that took a bad hop and leaped over A. Lupien's head in right field.
Eddie Boyce sent twelve of the visiting batsmen back to the bench via the strike out route. He issued but four passes and had much better control than he flashed in the opening game.
The next game for the locals will be at Winsted Saturday afternoon when the locals oppose Gilbert High. Gauditis, Hand and Charter will do the twirling.
Sideline Headlights
Coach Breckenridge crossed up the dope when he started Eddie Boyce instead of Gauditis. Hand or Charter as he had announced yesterday's game was a league game and Saturday's is not.
"Ab" Lupien made a beautiful throw from right field to third base in the opening inning when "killed" a runner who was attempting to go from first to third on a single.
Boyce worked himself out of a bad hole in the second frame when he forced Gerard to pop up to Foley with the bases loaded. It was a tense moment.
"Yump" Dahlquist made a pretty catch of a fly back of third base in the first inning.
In the third inning Boyce retired the side on strikes. Hattie, Gengras and Gray were the victims.
Ty Holand's single which glanced off shortstop Gray's glove in the third inning tied the score at one all after the visitors had taken the lead. Holland was up to the plate five times. He got on bases every time and four times hit in the shortstop, three of which were fumbled.
Farr hit three singles, flied out to center and ground out to first. On each of his singles, two men cantered home.
West Hartford took the lead in the fifth inning. Murray hit a double over Holland's head in center and scored when Boyce threw wild to second in attempting to pick him off, Holland allowing the ball to get by him.
Manchester took the lead back in the same inning when Farr smothered one of his trio of singles bringing two runs.
"Ding" Farr umpired the game. His work was satisfactory to both teams.
Take Pepton's this spring. It will pep you up and give you renewed vigor. Quinn's.—Adv.

"Ding" Farr collected three hits accounting for six runs and scored another.

THESE WOMEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

All that Rochester gossip has learned about HARRY MORTON, in the fifteen years that he has lived there, is that he is rich, attractive, middle aged and unmarried, and that he lives with his adopted daughter, AUDREY, in an expensive apartment in New York, which he visits nearly every week. They never have learned what his business is.

A man, whom Morton calls SMITH, appears after an absence of eighteen years. Spight claims to be Audrey's stepfather. Morton hurries him off to a job in South America.

NONA, a beautiful girl in New York, in love with Morton, and mad with jealousy of LOIS, another girl acquaintance, tries to trap him in a "hedge" game with the aid of a stranger girl and man. She breaks down, confesses her part in it, and comes to his apartment to plead for forgiveness. She encounters Audrey, who tells her she loves Morton, and Audrey then confesses that she herself loves Morton, and she wants to marry him. Morton stops the resulting quarrel abruptly, and makes Audrey take breakfast with Nonna and him. They take Nonna home, and he goes to his office, where he is informed that a man is availing him on important business.

seem, to talk to much. That isn't good for her. She's nineteen, and ought to have some of the ordinary, innocent pleasures of youth. To tell the truth, I've been so busy buying her things, and taking her places, and thinking about her, that it never occurred to me that she ought to have a young man friend."

Parrish's face was red. "Probably I wouldn't do at all," he protested.

"Nonsense," Morton said. "You are young, and clean living, and healthy—you might even be interested in having a few of the ordinary pleasures of life yourself." He shot a quick look at Parrish. "Are you interested in any particular girl?"

"I've never had time to really get acquainted with any young ladies," Parrish said, embarrassed. "I'm afraid I'm not a ladies' man. I think Miss Morton probably would not like me."

"She won't dislike you," Morton's tone was positive.

"You trot along, now, and arrange for those dancing lessons, at least twice a week. While you're out, go to a good music store and get the guitar, and find out from them a competent teacher. Make arrangements with him for lessons, as fast as he can give them to you. Audrey likes music."

The young man, much discomposed, arose to his feet. Despite his confusion, however, there was a little humorous quirk at the corner of his mouth, as he addressed his employer.

"I can swim, and skate—when I find any ice—box a little bit, and play some baseball," he ventured.

Morton laughed loudly. "The swimming and skating may come in handy, on occasions. But I doubt very much if Miss Morton will want to box, she might play a little baseball, though. Well, find out. Get such here before I leave this evening, and I'll take you out to dinner with me at my home."

Parrish cleared his throat, hesitated, and said, "Well, you see, Mr. Morton, I've been sending all my money to my father, and I've only got this one suit of clothes."

"Darn the clothes," said Morton briefly. "Come with the ones you have on Miss Morton will be glad to judge a man by what he wears. However, I have an idea you'd better have some other things made to wear when you go out with her. She won't care, but I imagine you will."

Turning to his desk, Morton wrote a few lines rapidly on a sheet of his letterhead. "Take that down to my tailor, he said, and tell them to make you up an evening suit, a dinner suit, and a suit with knickerbockers. You play golf, don't you?" Parrish said he didn't.

"You'll have to learn that, then too," Morton told him. "Miss Morton can give you enough lessons so you will know what you're doing. You don't have to play golf well to enjoy it. When you learn to play it well, you don't enjoy it any more. You only worry about it."

Parrish took the paper, but entered a word of protest. "Mr. Morton, I really can't afford to buy those clothes."

"Fair enough," Morton said. "What you expect when you come here?"

"They told me you would pay me fifty five dollars a week," Parrish said.

"Well, I'll pay you forty-five," proposed Morton. "That's a raise of five hundred and twenty dollars a year. The clothes will cost you about five hundred and fifty dollars. It'll be worth the extra thirty dollars to you to have them on hand. They won't wear out, right away."

"He considered a moment, and then went on: "I'll pay for the dancing lessons, and the music lessons myself. It'll be worth it, when I first hear you strumming on that guitar. It ought to be worth a laugh, any way."

He smiled with some satisfaction.

Morton took the guitar, glanced over it with the eye of an expert, examined the sign of the maker, brought the strings quickly into tune and plucked a chord or two.

"Do you play it, sir?" Parrish asked, with deep interest.

Morton nodded. "I've taken a random shot at almost every musical instrument there is."

He replaced the guitar in its case, and handed it to Parrish. "We'll take it with us over to the house," he said. "You will like to look at it, anyway."

Obediently, the young man nudged the case under his arm, and followed his employer down the elevator, and out to the waiting town car. Morton saw that he had been freshly shaved, and shampooed, and that he had changed his shirt, collar and necktie.

"You're a sight," said Morton.

"Sir?"

"I said: 'You're a sight.'"

"Gorge, no further explanation, but talked of travel, and business, and sports, until they reached his apartment."

"Audrey," he said, "here is a young man who is probably going to be lonesome while he is in New York. He is my new secretary, Mr. Parrish. John, this is Miss Morton."

The young man's face was red as the girl greeted him. His hat and guitar case were held in one arm, as he reached out his other hand to shake the fingers that she extended in greeting.

The butler relieved him of his burden and Morton waved him to a chair. He sat down. Then, observing that Audrey was still standing, he asked her to sit down. She took a chair, and was subsided once more, with a sigh of relief.

Audrey was dressed in a little black silk frock, of elbow length, and rather high about the neck. Morton caught her eye, and nodded approval toward the dress.

"Parrish came here, with almost none of his baggage at all," he said. "He had to come on short notice because my other secretary got discouraged yesterday, and quit."

Parrish shifted uneasily. "That isn't the real reason why I'm wearing this suit," he blurted. "It's the only suit I have."

Audrey's face wore a puzzled look, and she made a little gesture of inquiry toward Morton. Morton answered, as if actual words had passed between them.

"Miss Morton wants to know," he told Parrish, "if she ought to sympathize with you about your clothes. I just lifted my eyebrow at her to tell her that she need not worry."

"I don't want her to think that I was used to going around any other way than this."

"Go ahead and tell her about the rest of it, Parrish," he ordered. "Tell her about the dancing lessons, and all the rest of it. No—I'll tell her."

His face was serious when he resumed. "Parrish will be telling about it, if I don't. You see, Audrey, I think you'll not had enough company, aside from me. Parrish is going to be with me, practically every day. I told him that he ought to be equipped to take you to the theater, and to places like that, and I suggested that he learn to dance, and to play the guitar, because you like both of them. That's why I asked him out here tonight, and kept him busy all afternoon shopping."

Audrey's lips were tightly compressed, and she arose quickly to her feet.

"May I speak to you a moment, Lady?" she said, and led him to the far end of the room.

"Are you offering him as a candidate for my hand?" she demanded. "In a sense he is." (To Be Continued.)

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER VIII

AT Morton's order, a tall, sturdy young man was ushered into his office. Morton arose and said cordially:

"Hello Parrish. Your first name is John, isn't it?"

The young man assented, as they shook hands. "I was told to come here and reported to your morning," he explained. "Your secretary in Rochester quit yesterday. Some body telephoned me, told me about it, and said I'd better come right on here."

Morton sat down, and motioned Parrish to a chair. "Just as well," he said. "I expected you to go to work in a few days. I had another place for that chap, but possibly he couldn't have filled it anyway."

He swung around to a closed desk behind him, opened it, and took from a pigeonhole a typewritten paper. Glancing over it rapidly, he read some of the sentences aloud.

"John Parrish, twenty four years of age—had to quit college to support his ailing father—worked days and studied shorthand and bookkeeping nights—smokes a pipe. Morton raised his eyes questioningly. "What kind of tobacco do you smoke?" he asked.

Parrish colored, and told him "But if you object to my smoking, I'm willing to quit," he said.

"I don't care if you smoke," Morton said, smiling slightly. He explained: "I merely wanted to know if I would be able to borrow the right kind of tobacco from you, from time to time. But I can't. I don't smoke that stuff."

The young man drew from his pocket a tobacco pouch, and studied it interestedly. "I always thought this was pretty good," he said.

"Every man thinks his tobacco is pretty good," commented Morton. "But tastes in tobacco, and women, and climate, vary."

He went on reading the report, without quoting from the rest of it. The young man watched him attentively. When Morton was done, he folded the paper and put it back in his desk.

"Parrish," he said, "that report describes pretty much the sort of

The WOMAN'S DAY

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

By ARTHUR N. PACK, President, The American Nature Association.

On the great island of New Zealand has long lived a parrot called from its cry the Kea. Naturally it is a vegetarian and as its abiding place is among the rocks high on the crazy summits, it was long known only as a harmless species, and was even regarded with a sort of affection by the settlers.

But like many a creature of the wilds it has fallen under the spell of civilization, which has proved

Is He Home?

All the strivings of modern woman to be something that she is not, to be a person rather than a stupid, clanking creature, are vain. This blow comes from a scholar of the Greek who, delving into dusty Greek homes of ages ago, finds that the female chatter of them is so like the female chatter of the present that women might as well make up their minds that basically they are but what they are. He especially points to the Fifteenth Idyl of the classic poet Theocritus in which two wives, Gorge and Praxinoe, chatter in this wise:

"Praxinoe: 'This wretched hovel is all the fault of that mad man of mine. Here he came to the ends of the earth and took—a hole, not a house—always the same, anything for spite!'"

"Gorge: 'Don't talk of your husband like that, my dear girl, before the little boy.' Never mind, sweet child, she is not speaking of papa, nice papa!"

"Praxinoe: 'That papa of his the other day went to get soap and rouge at the shop, and back he came to me with salt—the great big, useless fellow!'"

The Sheep-Killing Parrot

Club Talk.

If you club women prefer to talk of next year's club program rather than of the past, buy salt instead of soap, consider a "Racial Background" program. General books might include Bercovici's "Around the World in New York," Abbot's "Immigrant and the Community," Ross' "The Old World in the New," and books on various races such as Grant's "Peasantry of Palestine," Villari's "Italian Life in Town and Country," Garnett's "Balkan Home Life," Ball's "Things Chinese," Hough's "Dutch Life."

Checked Hose.

The mode's vogue for check fabrics in suit waltzers into the home realm, leaving its mark upon small vaguely checked beige and taupe silk and little sports hose.

Car Sleepers.

Women never lose their sense of propriety even when sleeping on street cars. This is the latest finding of science, which also has discovered that many of the prettiest exhibit themselves in public slumber. They nod and yawn, and with a childish cherubic expression sink to rest upon the soft shoulders of a woman passenger to right or left. But the street car woman sleeper purses her lips, clutches her purse, and nods jerkily up and down.

Emotions And Health

BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING, Surgeon General, United States Public Health Service

The action of emotion seems to be largely through certain glands known as ductless glands, or better, glands of internal secretion. The glands of internal secretion are the thyroid and parathyroids in the front of the neck, certain parts of the pancreas from which insulin was recently obtained, the pituitary gland at the base of the brain, the adrenals above the kidney and parts of certain other important organs.

Possibly many other organs and tissues are involved, but be this as it may, the fact remains that the organs of internal secretion play a large part in rearranging and regulating the chemical changes in the body.

The story of the so-called ductless glands and their relation to our activities, personalities, etc., is an interesting one but it is in the main aside from our discussion tonight.

Upon the activity of one set of these glands, however, we must dwell since a great deal of work has been done to show that they are active in our defense and are active in emotional states. These glands are the adrenals.

Each adrenal gland is composed of an external portion and a central portion. From the central portion can be extracted a chemical compound called adrenalin. Adrenalin by the way, has been made by the chemist and is used in surgery to stop bleeding. If adrenalin is injected into the blood it will cause the pupils of the eyes to dilate, hairs to stand erect, the blood vessels to be tightened, and the activities of the alimentary canal to be stopped and sugar to be liberated by the liver.

A number of investigators have shown that the secretion of adrenalin by the adrenal glands is increased in great emotion. That pain excites the glands in question to pour into the blood stream an increased amount of adrenalin and that fear and rage do the same.

It makes the blood more rapidly circulate; in short, it prevents faint or flight, such as may be necessary in times of danger, fear, rage, or pain.

Bodily Harmony.

The lesson we can draw from these facts is that in these activities and rearranging the ingredients of our diet, the body works with a precise and admirable harmony in which all the organs and cells interplay; that good nature, especially at meal time, and that preceding it, or better than good nature, a cheerful courageous pose, gives digestion and assimilation a boost and allows the inner harmony of the system to go on pleasantly and efficiently.

On the contrary, starting the day or the meal with cross, fretful, angry feelings tends to check digestion in the ordinary individual and to throw a great stress on the inner harmony than is necessary for our customary vocations.

Strong emotions of fear, anger or peevishness at meal time will retard digestion and increase the tendency to sluggish elimination and the production of poisonous substances. Chemical states and emotions are linked together. Let us maintain them at their best, for our pleasure, for the pleasure of our friends and for the greater joy of living all round.

Mothers who wonder if much, or any, of the effort put on "those little extras" in their child's life, "really pays," may enjoy the story of Jeffrey Farnol, author of "The High Adventure." Not "Little Black Sambo," either, but "Count of Monte Carlo," and "David Copperfield."

"Where have you come from?" asked a policeman.

"In there," I answered, stupidly.

"Look here," he ordered. "Don't you know the park is closed after nine at night? What have you been doing in there?"

"Being choked nearly to death."

"What is that? What is that?" Be yourself. Let me tell you that I am the law, and the law, miss does not stand for any ill-fitted joking. I have a good mind to run you in."

CLEVER SKETCH HIT OF STATE PROGRAM

The American Venus, Beautiful Film Story of the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant

The rapid-fire sketch of which Ernest Pollock is the leading man is the hit of the State vaudeville show for the last three days of the week. Mr. Pollock is an actor of the legitimate stage and is on a short-time vaudeville contract. He is an able actor and is well supported by a cast of two girls and another man. The sketch is laid in the office of "Bulldog Sampson" and affords plenty of humor in Mr. Pollock's treatment of his son and his stenographer.

The whole State bill is an unusually good one and the American Venus, the feature picture which is founded on the Atlantic City pageant is a film worth seeing. Miss Fay Lannpher, who won the Atlantic City pageant, takes a prominent part in the film. Miss Manchester appears in the fourth reel. The leading lady is Miss Esther Ralston. The vaudeville program opens with Boudina & Bernard, musical wizards. They give the best presentation of piano-acordeon numbers the town has ever heard. Their final number, a medley of national airs brought the house down with rounds of applause.

The next number is Raymond & Clark in a clever presentation of songs; then comes Creighton & Lynn, featuring Miss Lynn in exceptional dancing. The last number on the program is Joseph Rich & Pals—Three cleverly trained dogs. Mr. Rich performs the unusual stunt of balancing one of the dogs on one finger. The old-fashioned dance contest held last night was won by the Manchester set. This gives Manchester a leg on the championship and the final contest will no doubt be held in the State theater here. DRY COMMITTEE TO CUT ANDREWS PLANS

Will Clip Recommendations for Border Patrol and Sea and Home Search.

Washington, May 7.—The Senate prohibition committee will reject a number of the recommendations of General Lincoln C. Andrews, for the writing of "new teeth" into the national prohibition law, it was learned this afternoon, while rejecting all wet proposals.

The committee, after conferring with Andrews for two days, adjourned until next Tuesday with the understanding that a report on both wet and dry bills will be drafted Wednesday. This report is expected to reject Andrews' plan for a new United States border patrol, and modify his recommendation for greater powers to search private homes.

The committee also indicated it will revise his recommendations on seizing American vessels within the twelve mile zone.

BABY GUY TO LIVE IN STILLMAN HOME

"Of Course," Says the Mother, "I Wouldn't Live Here Without Him."

New York, May 7.—The reunion of the Stillmans has assured for baby Guy Stillman a home and future with his parents. Mrs. Fin Stillman said today: "Of course, Guy will make his home with us," said the mother, "I would not live here without him." The child, who was the innocent cause of the sensational litigation between James Stillman and his wife, is at present at the Stillman lodge at Grand Anse, Quebec.

U. S. ARM GRABS LEADER OF GANG CHEATING VETS

Crew of Impostors Who Victimized Old Soldiers of Pensions Taken.

Washington—The long arm of the government has reached out and nabbed Stephen A. Pruitt, of Indianapolis, Ind., who is said to be the head of a gang of impostors who have been defrauding veterans on the pension rolls of the government. A Federal Grand Jury at Cincinnati indicted him, much to the relief of officials of the Pension Bureau here.

For many months complaints have been received from several Middle-Western States that old soldiers have been victimized by persons posing as agents of the Pension Bureau through a scheme of selling them eye glasses worth from 5 to 10 cents for sums ranging from $17 to $22. Investigations conducted by Government inspectors resulted in the discovery that these impostors traveled by automobile and whenever they were trailed immediately took flight.

Had Confederates

The arrest of Pruitt was brought about when he was found operating in Brown County, Ohio, last February. Inquiry in the neighborhood by inspectors developed information that the alleged impostor was traveling in a car with an Indiana license, the number of which had been recorded by an interested bystander. Developments then were rapid.

Other agent of the bureau has any authority to promise favorable action in pending claims for pensions. Gets Big Penalty.

Pensioners were further advised to promptly notify the sheriff or local police authorities upon hearing of any such man in their vicinity.

Whether Pruitt is identical with the versatile Canadian, Dr. Evans, alias Roberts, who is alleged to have victimized many veterans in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois in the past, has not yet been definitely determined by government officials. The latter worked the same kind of a game.

Pruitt, according to advices from Cincinnati, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to ninety days in jail and to pay a fine of $500. The court announced he should remain in jail until the fine was paid and the full amounts refunded to the veterans from whom he collected.

UNCLE JOE CANNON REACHES 90 TODAY

Insists He Isn't Old, Just Matured—Leaves Politics to Young Men.

Today our hat is off to "Uncle Joe" Cannon, former congressman from Illinois, because—

He has just finished the 80th year of a long and active life.

He served ably and well in the Congress of the United States from 1873 to 1921, with one or two short interruptions.

He led the House of Representatives about by the nose while he was its speaker.

Since his retirement he has basked in the admiration of both his friends and his foes.

The people of Danville, Ill., his home town people, who know him best like him best.

Supper for three, a black cigar, the Danville Commercial Times, then a game of poker until 10:30—that is how Uncle Joe planned to celebrate his ninetieth birthday.

No longer the sturdy speaker of the house of representatives, where for almost half a century he made

"Cannonism" famous, Uncle Joe, with his fringe of white whiskers circling his face from ear to ear, his sparse white hair, and his frail straight figure is more in character as the great-grandfather of two husky great-grandchildren than as ex-leader of the Republicans in Congress.

Reads Without Glasses

The passing years have been kind to Uncle Joe, however. He reads without glasses, walks almost steadily without a cane, and almost never has had need of a doctor.

Uncle Joe is not old, only matured, he insists. And some day he will go back to Washington when an important conference arises where his advice is imperative. But before that day arrives Uncle Joe declines conversation on matters political.

"No," he said slowly, sadly, "I'm out of politics. No one cares to know what I think." And then, a bit wistfully, "Or do they, do you think?"

"Prohibition, the world court, these are for younger men to decide. I am only anxious to see the wished-for results of my labors come to pass," he observed.

Could Make Stump Speech

"I guess I still could make a stump speech," he said earnestly. "I quit politics, but I'm more interested in politics right now than in anything else."

He firmly intends to take the stump for Senator Smith at election time, he said.

Uncle Joe was glad to relinquish political life when he did, he said. With the "inexorable march of generations," his time came to leave. He's proud of the fact, too, that he went home of his own volition; he wasn't ousted.

An omnivorous reader, Uncle Joe delights in his library. History—Guizot and Macaulay—and poetry, and a flock of newspapers, and Uncle Joe is happy.

The Dixie highway, as it passes through Danville, boasts no finer house and no more famous resident than Joseph Gurney Cannon, who came back home four years ago after nearly half a century of service in the national legislature where he served under eleven Presidents.

"Almost every Sunday" Uncle Joe listens to the Rev. Dr. Ewing preach in the Ivy covered Methodist church in Danville. Mrs. Cannon, before she died several years ago, planted the ivy herself.

Religion Hasn't Changed

"Religion hasn't been much improved on and hasn't lost much in spite of modern thought," said Uncle Joe, who declared he had never heard of the theory of evolution.

Every day for about two hours he attends to business the same as ever down at the Second National bank on Main street, which he established with his brother in 1873.

"It saves so much time for other things"—thus he expressed his liking for his auto.

"Flapper? What's a flapper?" asked Uncle Joe, who declared mischievously he never had heard of bobbed hair.

Pictures there are in Uncle Joe's study that remind him of the good old days: Mark A. Hanna, Ellihu Root, Cardinal Gibbons, Mabel Boardman, Sunny Jim Sherman, once vice president; Collis P. Huntington, John W. Weeks, John T. McCutcheon, all autographed to Mr. Cannon. In a big bay window is a life sized bronze bust of Uncle Joe himself, a replica of the one now standing in the house office building in Washington.

With Uncle Joe at home are his two daughters, Miss Helen Cannon and Mrs. Ernest Le Fevre of Washington, D. C., whose husband's tragic death occurred last year.

Plans for the future? There is a long trip down east coming Uncle Joe's way if all goes well this summer. And perhaps a longer trip out to San Francisco to see his great-grandchildren, a new baby great-grandson whom he never has seen, Joseph Gurney Cannon Houghteling.

FRADIN OBSERVES 3RD ANNIVERSARY

In Three Years Here, Owner
Has Built Up a Wonderful
Business Institution.

This week marks for Fradin's the completion of three years in business in Manchester. Mr. Fradin came to Manchester purchasing the interests of Elman's located in the Johnson Block. On a basis of hearty, quality and peerless value Mr. Fradin rapidly built up a reputation for the store. The business expanded rapidly resulting in the necessity of building the present spacious building in which the store is now located. The new building was completed last October. It has twice the floor space of the old location and is better in every way. It is a well lighted store and very conveniently laid out.

Much Experience
Mr. Fradin has had many years' experience in the manufacturing and retailing of the various lines that are sold in his store. Close personal attention to business, connections with large buying syndicates in New York and frequent trips to the market has enabled Mr. Fradin to get the newest merchandise.

Fradin's coat and dress department offers the smartest and most varied fashions ever assembled in town at substantial reductions. The millinery department will attract your attention because of the splendid assortment of new hats very moderately priced for the anniversary.

The remarkable display of children's hats, coats and dresses will appeal to every mother, whether it is a new born infant, a little girl of 3 to 10 or a growing girl of 14. They can now be outfitted. All other departments are participating in this big event with special values.

CAN'T GET HIT

There are now more than 69,000 insured persons in Croydon. Some complain that motorists deliberately drive around them—London Opinion.

MANY "FOREIGN" CARS USE OUR HIGHWAYS

About One Tenth of All Motor Vehicles Are Registered from Other States.

It is estimated by the state motor vehicle department that approximately one-tenth of all the motor vehicles on Connecticut highways are cars registered by other states. This is largely due to the fact that Connecticut furnishes the direct arteries for motor vehicle travel between New York and Boston. All but an inconsiderable number (perhaps 1 per cent of the whole) of the so-called "foreign" cars on the highways of this state are New York and Massachusetts vehicles. A large proportion of them are heavy trucks engaged in interstate freight and passenger transportation, a type whose rapid increase is complicating the traffic problem throughout the country. Because of its position between the two great metropolitan centers and its many "feeder" roads running into Boston and New York, the proportion of foreign cars to domestic vehicles, in Connecticut, is probably considerably larger than that for any other state of the Union. At least 7 per cent of the cars involved in accidents in Connecticut last year were machines registered in other states and 38 per cent were cars from towns other than those in which the accidents occurred. The figures for out-of-state cars were not kept in a separate classification during the first quarter of 1925, but were included in the list of "out-of-town" cars in accidents, so it is likely that the percentage of out-of-state cars in accidents would be a little larger and that for "out-of-town" cars a little smaller if the same classification were to have been taken during the first three months of the year. Data as to the registration of 3 per cent of the cars involved in Connecticut accidents for 1925 is lacking. "Local" cars constituted 52 per cent of the machines in accidents. In other words, that proportion of all the cars in accidents in this state met with mishaps in the towns from which they were registered.

KEEP THE RED TAIL LIGHT BURNING.

The red tail light of automobiles, in use from the beginning of auto travel, as a warning light to car drivers and now used on 20,000,000 or more cars, is an institution and a tradition, and the proposed change to a yellow light for the same purpose is to step in the wrong direction, believes the A. L. A.

It would require changing the laws of 48 states, entail an unwarranted expense upon motorists and produce no greater safety in the end but undoubtedly dire consequences in the beginning. Some accidents have been caused by red lights placed where streets are undergoing repairs. Some have been caused by motorists mistaking rear red lights for lights on other objects and some have mistaken red warning lights at grade crossings for auto lights; but there is no more reason for changing 20,000,000 such lights to yellow than changing air-filled tires to solid rubber because an air tire blows out and results in an accident. Yellow lights will not prevent accidents and nothing will prevent an incautious or reckless driver from having accidents. A yellow light is not more easily seen at night than a red light.

Nearly every automobile club in the United States, says the A. L. A. approves of the red tail light and the officials of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce support it.

Keep the red light burning—it warns of danger.

ONLY THREE ABSENT FROM YALE'S CREW

Reports Denied That Sickness Laid Up a Large Number of Oarsmen.

New Haven, May 7.—Yale rowing authorities today announced that reports of a large number of crew men being laid up with measles are incorrect. One varsity oarsman, one junior varsity man, and one freshman rower are the only men who will be absent from the crews during the triangular regatta tomorrow, according to announcement today.

Reports early in the week had it that J. H. Whitney, A. L. Francis, M. H. Eddy and Benjamin Brewster were laid up because of illness. 'This has been denied,' said the formal statement today. B. C. Durant, rowing No. 3 in the varsity boat, is sick, Ralph D. Paine Jr., of the freshmen, and W. R. Clark, of the junior varsity, are the other victims of measles.

The triangular regatta will start at 4 p. m. tomorrow, with the junior varsity crews of Yale, Penn and Columbia in line. Their freshmen pull away from the starting point at 4:30 and the varsities at five.
