

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Yesterday afternoon the local High school held its annual Memorial assembly in honor of the Civil War veterans...

Revolutionary Period: "Yankee Doodle." Civil War Period: "Marching Through Georgia."

Spanish American War Period: "When Dewey Comes Marching Home." Great War Period: "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

Then Robert Carter of the Sophomore class spoke briefly on the origin and history of Memorial Day...

Superintendent of Schools Fred Verplanck then spoke to the assemblage. His topic was "Memorial Day, Its Significance Now and in the Future."

He said that the boys in blue were boys in every sense of the word. They had gone as volunteers, he said, and not because they were forced to. Many of them had made the supreme sacrifice; they had given up all that is dear to youth in the service of the nation...

After the customary salute to the flag and Scripture reading, the boys' Glee Club sang a patriotic number, "When the Flag Goes By."

Then Marian Purinton spoke on the history of the G. A. R. and its political significance...

Following this a quintet composed of singers from the Freshman class, Fred Tilden, Edward Dziadosz, John Johnston, William Johnson and Collins Driggs sang a number of songs characteristic of the periods of time at each of America's wars...

He said that the great works and sacrifices of the many hundreds of thousands who have at one time or another made the supreme sacrifice for America, should never be forgotten...

ABOUT TOWN

Gibbons Assembly Catholic Ladies of Columbus will hold its regular business meeting this evening in K. of C. hall at eight o'clock.

A goodly number enjoyed the annual May dinner given in the vestry of the North Methodist church last evening by the Ladies' A. I. society...

Mrs. Sidney Cushman of Parkers street was surprised last night when a party of friends and relatives from Hartford, East Hartford and this town called at her home in honor of her birthday...

The Luther League of the Swedish Lutheran church will hold a short business meeting at eight o'clock this evening...

SAGGING SPRINGS SPOIL EMPTY TRUCK EFFECT Stamford, May 28.—James W. Murphy, Providence and Harold A. Howe of Boston, are held by police here as rum runners.

At the South Methodist church this evening at eight o'clock members of the Willimantic Dramatic club will present a three-act play entitled "Take My Advice."

THIS ISN'T A LIE AT ALL THESE MEN ASSERT

These three men, Winfred White, Robert Ellis and Sherman Buck, employees of L. T. Wood say it's the truth so what can one mere reporter say against the word of three?

They were putting up a fence in Andover. They found a woodchuck and chased him. In his efforts to hide, he dug a hole. He was pulled out and then he ran a few yards again and dug himself in again...

As a reward the men allowed the animal to live and one of the men gave him a chew of tobacco. Well they said that, anyway.

A son was born last evening to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davidson, of 16 Laurel street, at the Manchester Memorial hospital.

The Federated Workers of Wapping will serve a strawberry supper in the school hall there from 7:30 to 7:30 this evening. Evergreen Lodge of Masons will be in charge of the entertainment to follow.

At a special session of the members of the Manchester Memorial hospital visiting staff held Wednesday evening resolutions were drawn up in respect for the death of their colleague, Dr. Joseph A. Higgins.

The memorial service for the soldier and sailor dead will be held at Gould's bridge Monday morning at 9:30 under auspices of the ladies' auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans. This beautiful service which was instituted six years ago is open to all who desire to attend.

SAGGING SPRINGS SPOIL EMPTY TRUCK EFFECT

Stamford, May 28.—James W. Murphy, Providence and Harold A. Howe of Boston, are held by police here as rum runners.

An apparently empty small motor truck had a concealed compartment containing 125 gallons of alcohol which caused sagging springs. Murphy took all the blame, saying Howe was merely an accidental passenger, but police held both for trial.

PATH OF GERMANY TO LEAGUE FREED

Brazil Yields Claim to Permanent Seat—Nine Non-Permanent Seats.

Geneva, May 28.—Brazil has backed down in her insistence to a permanent seat on the League of Nations Council, it was reported today.

Senor Mellofranco, the Brazilian delegate, is understood to have informed Count Bernstorff today that Brazil will not block Germany's entry into the League in September, but will accept a non-permanent seat, providing she is considered eligible for a seat on the council at some future election.

Direct negotiations are now in progress with the Spanish government in an effort to secure Spain's acceptance of a non-permanent seat and withdrawal of her threat to leave the League.

It appeared possible today that the solution of the council reorganization would be found in Germany alone being elected to a permanent seat on the council, while nine non-permanent seats would be allotted, three of these to go to Spain, Brazil and Poland. Two of the other six seats would go to South American members.

The Get-Together club of Cheney Brothers has lost three esteemed members during the present week. Charles A. Day died early Tuesday morning and Albert L. White and Heinrich Sander died on Wednesday.

Yesterday the club's officers, Thomas McGill, president and William McKinney, secretary, drew up a set of resolutions and wrote them into the club's records. Copies of them are being sent to the nearest relatives of the deceased.

HAD THREE HUSBANDS AND FOUR DIVORCES

Fairfield County Decree Establishes Unique Record for Former Danbury Woman.

Bridgeport May 28.—George W. Brush, an employee of the city of Danbury, was granted a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Cora Belle Maxfield Brush by Judge John R. Booth in Superior court here today.

Today's decree establishes for Mrs. Booth a unique record in that she has had three husbands and four divorces.

She first married one, Maxfield in Iowa, divorced him and married Brush. She later divorced Brush and married a third time. She subsequently divorced the third husband on October 6, 1922, and re-married Brush in Canton, N. Y. Brush, in his suit today, alleged that Mrs. Brush disappeared on January 4, 1923 in the company of another man.

Mrs. Brush resides at 129 State street, New Haven.

PLAYED BALL IN STREET. KILLER HELD BLAMELESS Greenwich, May 28.—Francis O'Reilly of Rye, N. Y., was today exonerated by Coroner John J. Phelan of blame for the death of John Condoros, aged 11, killed while playing ball Tuesday night on the street near his home. The boy ran in front of O'Reilly's automobile.

Chicago Makes Plans for Million Visiting Catholics

(This is the first of a series of articles by Eugene Weare dealing with the Eucharistic Congress which is to be convened at Chicago, June 20-24 and which is expected to gather more than a million Catholics from all parts of the world.)

By EUGENE WEARE.
Noted War Correspondent, Journalist and Author.

(Copyright 1926, I. N. S.)
Chicago—At Chicago the Roman Catholics of the world will foregather for a religious demonstration which bids fair to result in the most remarkable gathering of its kind in a century.

An International Eucharistic Congress, the first of such assemblies to be held in the United States, will get under way on Sunday, June 20 and carry on through Thursday, June 24. It is believed that never before in the history of this nation will there have been assembled so significant or impressive a religious demonstration.

From all parts of the nation, and from the corners of the earth, Catholic priests and laity will journey to Chicago to participate in this congress. Representative groups of pilgrims will be present from both the Near East and the Far East, from Poland and from Patagonia, from India and Japan. Headed by their ecclesiastical leaders they will be present from almost every country in the world, while every Catholic diocese in the United States, Canada and Mexico will be represented by pilgrim groups of men and women.

A Million Visitors.
It is estimated that upwards of one million persons will assemble at Chicago for this remarkable demonstration.

For almost two years the Catholic world has been engaged in the task of making ready for this great congress. At Chicago, various groups of clergy and laity, organized to anticipate every possible phase of the undertaking, have been hard at it.

It is estimated that the expense involved in staging this five-day demonstration will exceed $2,000,000, every penny of which has been gathered by voluntary contribution from among Chicago Catholics.

Herein you have one of the many striking phases of the whole enterprise. Because the congress is a purely religious undertaking, nothing that might suggest, even remotely, an unworthy purpose has been tolerated. No commercialism of any kind has been allowed.

There has been no barter and sale, no public solicitation of funds, no "advertising" space sold in souvenir booklet or guide. Cardinal Mundelein who stands as the sponsor of the congress, has insisted from the start that all suggestion of money-making be promptly squelched.

No appeal has been made to Chicago merchants on the grounds of civic pride and hospitality, for money to help meet the enormous expenses. And no tickets are to be sold for any of the congress ceremonies and deliberations. On all sides it has been emphasized that a Eucharistic congress is solely a religious demonstration and, as such, to be financed by the great mass of Chicago Catholics, who now number more than a million and a half.

And yet, there is a practical or material side to the undertaking which is, perforce, inseparable from so gigantic a gathering. This involves the expenditure of millions of dollars by way of railway and steamship travel, hotel accommodations, food and entertainment. An official of the Chicago Association of Commerce characterized the gathering recently as a "Fifty Million Dollar Congress," because, it is estimated, a sum equal to that amount will be spent in Chicago during the five days of the congress sessions.

To cope with the situation brought about by the influx, over night, of 1,000,000 and more visitors, all Chicago, Catholic and Protestant, Jew and Gentile have joined hands. Each of the city's 3,000,000 inhabitants seems to have constituted himself or herself a sort of "committee of one" to welcome the pilgrims and to make pleasant and comfortable their sojourn in the city.

An enormous amount of detail work has been accomplished with reference to the safety and comfort of the pilgrims, their health, sanitation, housing, food and drink. Nothing, seemingly, has been left undone that may, later on, add to the pleasure of the visitors. The task is a stupendous one which challenges the resources of this second city of the nation but Chicago is ready and eager and expectant.

As an indication of the complexity of this job of looking after a million visitors it is pointed out that near to 100,000 foreigners are expected to come down upon the city along about June 15, speaking strange tongues in a strange country and surrounded by strange people.

4,000 Interpreters.
To adequately meet with the difficulty brought about by the problem of language alone, it has been necessary to build up a corps of interpreters numbering more than 4,000 men and women, speaking in all 27 different languages or dialects.

Add to this the task of doubling the food supply of the city, its housing, health, safety and sanitary arrangements and accommodations. And then, because the ceremonies of the closing day of the congress are to be held at Mundelein, Ill., a little village on the outskirts of the city, it will be necessary to transport about a million people within five hours, over four high-speed railways. This undertaking is said to be the most gigantic railroad task ever attempted in this country.

HOFF IS BARRED U. S. ATHLETICS

Norwegian Goes Under Ban of A. A. U. on Petition of Coast Association.

Boston, May 27.—Charles Hoff, the Norwegian pole vaulter and sprinter, today was barred from future competition in amateur athletics in this country.

W. C. Prout, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the A. A. U., announced that the committee had voted not to grant Hoff any further permit to engage in athletic events under the supervision of the A. A. U.

The Pacific Coast Association of the A. A. U., in resolutions, demanded that Hoff be barred on the ground that he had signed the entry list. Hoff claimed he had not been given sufficient notice of the meet.

OVER 600 HEAR BEETHOVEN CLUB

Affair at High School Hall Under Auspices of Glee Club, Proves Popular.

Six hundred people attended the debut of the Beethoven Glee club at the High School hall last night. And the six hundred were well pleased as the concert was one of the best that has been heard in Manchester this season.

As a special attraction in conjunction with the regular program the world famous Gloria Trumpeters of New York drew heavy applause with several classical and popular numbers. They accompanied the chorus in the first three numbers. Theodore Larson, tenor soloist, of Providence, was best in his recitative, "The Betrayal of Christ," which was the last number on the program. He also sang with the chorus and with a male quartet and the trumpeters.

The club as a whole, showed the effect of intensive training and much rehearsal. It was organized only a year ago by Helge Pearson, organist of the Swedish Lutheran church, and has been rehearsing for this concert for many weeks. That it was no easy job for the director is seen from the fact that hardly any of the members had any previous musical training. Director Pearson showed last night what could be accomplished through hard work.

Probably the best number on the program was the Anvil Chorus which brought out the basses to good effect. Another popular selection was the "Winter Song" by Bullard, which gave the chorus an opportunity to bring out the volume it possesses. Included in the program were three Swedish songs, "Hor Oas, Svea," "Engelbrektsmarsch," and "Mor, Lilla Mor."

SEE MODEL KITCHEN

Over a hundred women attended the "Better Homes Field Trip" held at Columbia yesterday under the auspices of the Tolland County Farm Bureau, Mrs. Dimlock, Home Demonstration agent leader, after visiting and inspecting the model kitchens of a number of Columbia homes. The party enjoyed a basket lunch served at Moxid, the home of Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch.

The party, held on the lawn of Moxid, took on the aspect of a picnic rather than a Better Homes meeting and everyone enjoyed the novelty.

Among the demonstrations which took place were two by Watkins Brothers, William Thumth, Watkins washer machine representative, gave a demonstration of the machine.

DOCTORS BELIEVE MUSKE WILL LIVE

Even Though Badly Injured Local Motorcyclist May Pull Through.

Although Herman A. Muske, of 159 School street, will be confined to the Manchester Memorial hospital for a long time as the result of the injuries he sustained in a motorcycle accident at Woodland at midnight Tuesday, it was stated today his injuries are not expected to prove fatal. His condition was reported as "very satisfactory" considering his numerous injuries.

TAYLOR IS CHOSEN BASEBALL MANAGER

According to a dispatch sent out from Boston University, Allan S. Taylor, of 56 Henry street, this town, has been elected manager of the university baseball team for the 1926 season.

Allan, who graduated from South Manchester High school with the class of '23, has been more than making good at Boston University according to reports arriving here at various times. He has been prominent in athletics at the college, especially in football. His election as manager of the baseball team is further acknowledgment of his successful work at the university.

Mr. Taylor is expected home tonight for a week's vacation following which he will go to Kennebunk Beach, Maine to spend the summer months. This will be his second summer at the resort.

COURT END

Following an investigation of the accident, the details of which were told in yesterday's Herald, the East Hartford police ordered John Madwin, of Woodland, to appear in court. Madwin was the owner of the stalled Maxwell touring car which was being pushed into the yard in front of Madwin's home without lights. It was this car into which Muske and his companion, Miss Filda Gagliardone, crashed, the girl escaping injury.

In court in East Hartford yesterday, Madwin's case was continued until June 17 pending the outcome of Muske's injuries.

Another hard luck incident in connection with the accident was that Muske and a companion, Victor Johnson, of Clinton street, had planned to leave on a motorcycle trip to California Tuesday morning. They were to make the trip in a car which was to be gone to Manchester at least a year. They had purchased tents and other supplies which they expected to use for camping. Muske had just bought a new Indian motorcycle with side car attached for his trip two weeks ago. It was this motorcycle that was wrecked in the accident.

RUTH HAS RIVALS FOR RUN-SCORING HONORS.

AUSTRIANS SUE TO COLLECT ON ROYAL PENSIONS

Servants of Old Emperor Starving on Small Pay in Valueless Money

Vienna.—The Hapsburg fortune left by the Emperor Francis Joseph has been attacked by the army of his pensioned retainers, who have brought suit to force the trustees to pay the pensions in gold instead of the almost worthless paper kronen they now receive. The loyal pensioners mostly depend on the estates of the Hapsburgs for their livelihood and are now poverty stricken.

PYTHIAN SISTERS HONOR THEIR CHIEF IN PARTY

Memorial Temple, Pythian Sisters, following the regular meeting in Orange hall last evening, gave a party in honor of the most excellent chief, Miss Gladys Peckham, whose marriage to William Clarke of Buckland will take place on June 19.

Guests from Damon Temple of Rockville were present and contributed to the program, the leading attraction of which was a mock marriage staged by the sisters of Memorial Temple.

The procession created no end of amusement as it passed around the hall and stopped for the mock ceremony. Mrs. Mark Holmes in the role of minister had a long and marvelous speech. The blushing bride was Mrs. Myrtle Armstrong, the groom Mrs. Devarney. Mrs. Herbert Alley was flower girl and Miss Madeline Spies, ring-bearer.

Mrs. H. H. Bears of Burnside was maid of honor. The four bridesmaids were: Mrs. Frances Chambers, Mrs. Minnie Wheeler, Mrs. Clara Lincoln and Mrs. Caverly. Mrs. Harriet Hughes and Mrs. John Zimmerman were train-bearers. Mrs. Winfield Chase and Mrs. Joseph Rollason were the sorrowful parents of the groom and Mrs. Mamie Dickinson and Mrs. Mary Graziano the bride's parents. Mrs. Frank Ingraham was the best man.

Following the ceremony a large basket filled with all sorts of comic novelties, bearing appropriate messages, was given by Mrs. Alley to the bride-to-be. After these had been inspected a handsome floor lamp, the gift of the members, was presented to Miss Peckham.

Mrs. Carrie Cone of Rockville composed an impromptu poem and sang it amid bursts of laughter. Mrs. Esther Webber gave a singing and acting number. Mrs. Hattie Nutland a vocal solo and Fred Siegried also of Rockville, had monica and piano selections, playing both at the same time. Refreshments and a social time followed.

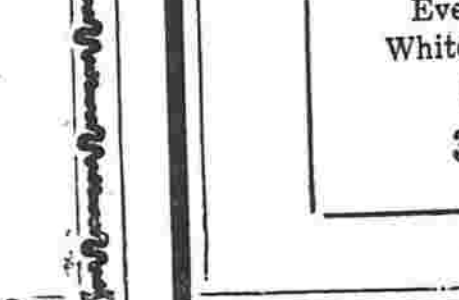

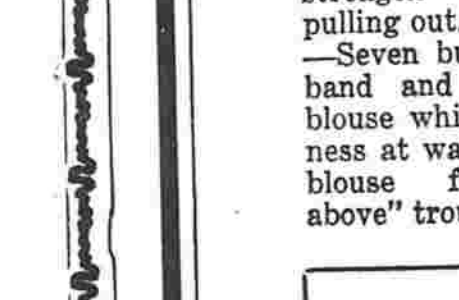

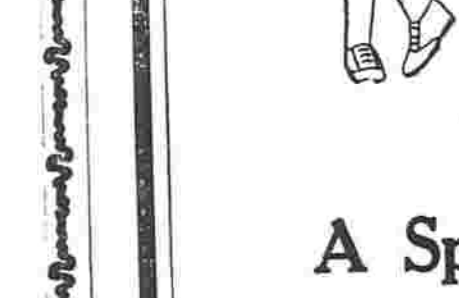

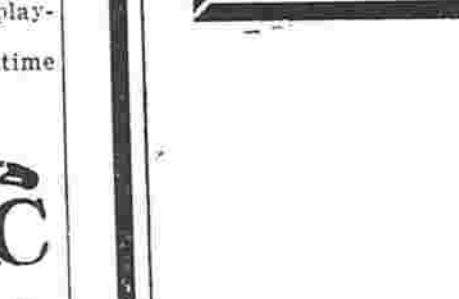

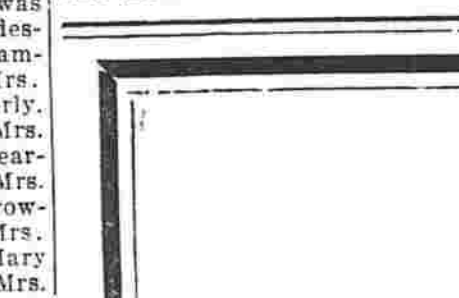

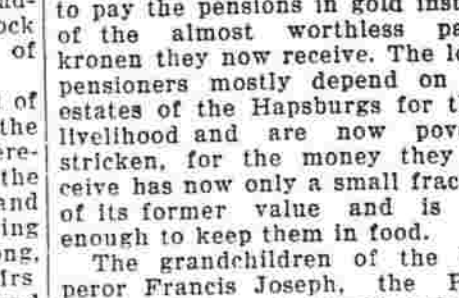

Today is feast day of St. Germanus, French bishop of the sixth century, said to have gifts of miracles and prophecy.

CITY CLUB ENJOYS INFORMAL BANQUET

Large Gathering of Members Eats Osano's Spaghetti and Roast Turkey.

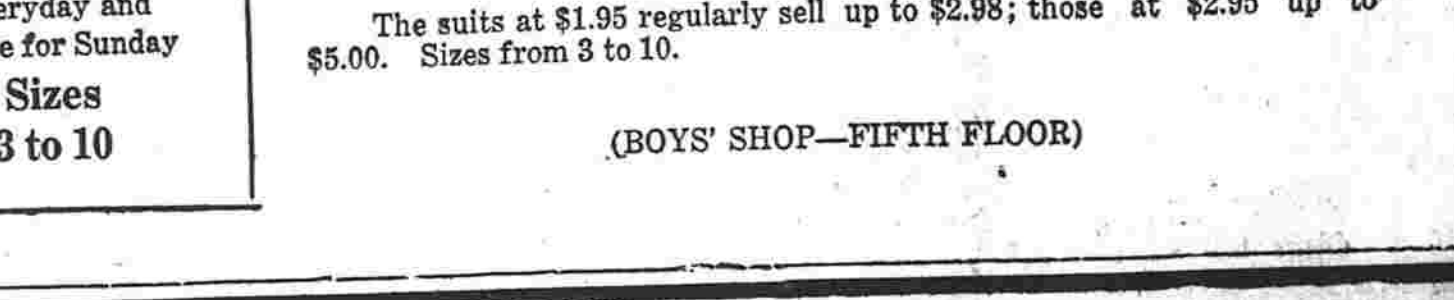

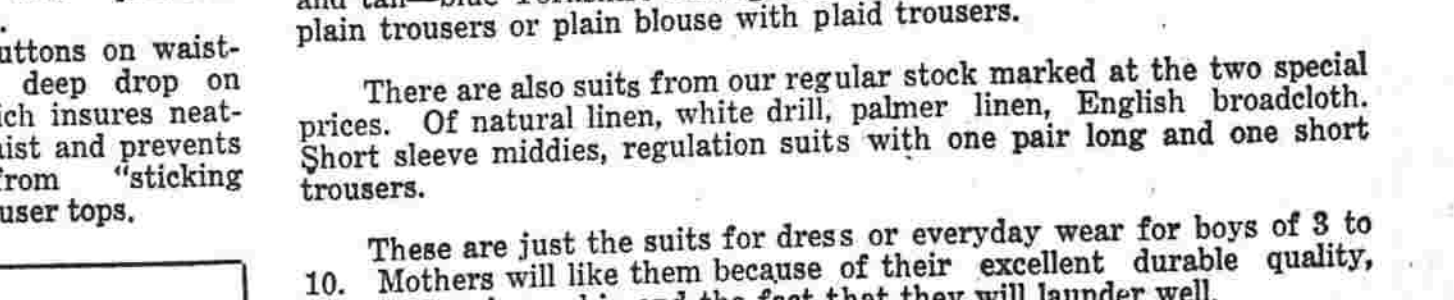

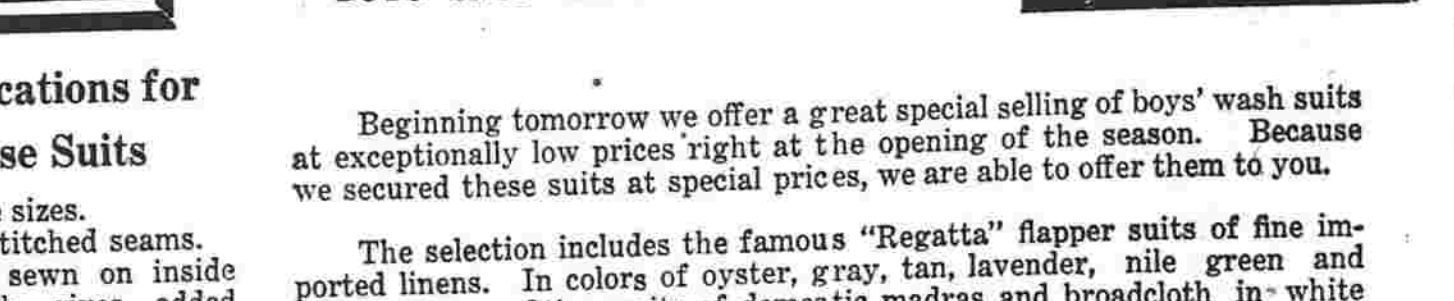

An informal banquet, something unusual for the Manchester City Club, was enjoyed last night by about 80 of the members of the organization. There were no formal speakers and there were no guests outside the club membership.

The principal feature of the affair was the fine dinner prepared by Chef Urbano Osano. The principal courses of the big dinner were spaghetti and roast turkey.

The Manchester Male quartet entertained with several selections and two piano accordion players kept the gathering in good humor with their lively tunes.

"CAT BURGLARS"

London.—Several daring burglaries in the West End suggests the work of a steepjack or agile chimney sweep. In one invasion, the burglars scaled a high wall and climbed a drain pipe along the side of the building. In another, a burglar climbed the side of a brick building, after the style of a "human fly."

Boys' Wash Suits
BOYS' SHOP—FIFTH FLOOR.
Beginning tomorrow we offer a great special selling of boys' wash suits at exceptionally low prices right at the opening of the season. Because we secured these suits at special prices, we are able to offer them to you.

- Accurate sizes.
- Double stitched seams.
- Buttons sewn on inside tape which gives added strength and prevents pulling out.
- Seven buttons on waist-band and deep drop on blouse which insures neatness at waist and prevents blouse from "sticking above" trouser tops.

The selection includes the famous "Regatta" flapper suits of fine imported linens. In colors of oyster, gray, tan, lavender, Nile green and combinations. Other suits of domestic madras and broadcloth in white and tan—blue Yorkshire suiting and combinations—plaid blouse with plain trousers or plain blouse with plaid trousers.

There are also suits from our regular stock marked at the two special prices. Of natural linen, white drill, palmer linen, English broadcloth. Short sleeve middies, regulation suits with one pair long and one short trousers.

These are just the suits for dress or everyday wear for boys of 3 to 10. Mothers will like them because of their excellent durable quality, superior workmanship and the fact that they will launder well.

The suits at $1.95 regularly sell up to $2.98; those at $2.95 up to $5.00. Sizes from 3 to 10.

FINE NEW BAKERY IS OPENED HERE

Johnson and Viertel Have Latest Equipment in Bakeshop on Cottage Street.

A. W. Johnson and O. F. Viertel, proprietors of the Blue Ribbon Bakery have opened a splendid new bakeshop at 55-58 Cottage street. It is one of the finest bakeshops in this part of Connecticut and was inspected by the state board of health officials who commended the owners very highly for the neatness and cleanliness of the plant and the equipment.

The shop is located in the former home of the Manchester News. The building is practically new and in fine shape. The new tenants have cleaned it thoroughly from end to end and given it an entire new coat of paint. The walls are painted white with walnut brown trim. This enhances the large volume of daylight which floods the building from a large number of windows and from a large skylight over the bake oven.

A new bake oven of the Johnson type built in Boston has been installed. It is thoroughly modern and is equipped with all the modern appliances. It is thoroughly insulated and no heat comes through to the exterior of the oven. Another new and fine feature of this oven is that it is fired from the back. The flame has to travel over 40 feet through various flues before it reaches the chimney. In this way every bit of heat is secured from the fuel burned. As an illustration of the heat holding qualities of this oven the fires were started for the try-out and three days after they were out the temperature in the oven stood at 425 degrees.

All dough mixing equipment is of the mechanical power operated type. The bakery is fully equipped with other appliances. One of the especially modern pieces of equipment is the new doughnut machine. It has a large copper tank which is heated by gas. There are portable wire racks in the tank. A layer of doughnuts is put on one rack. The rack is then put in the fat and another hinged wire rack is put down over the top of the doughnuts. In this way they are cooked on both sides at the same time thereby saving time and labor. Then while this rack of doughnuts is draining the other can be filled and cooked.

The former office will be given over to an office and salesroom. As one enters there will be two five foot glass display cases with glass shelving and a marble top counter between them. These cases will be used for the display of bread, cake and pastry.

Mr. Viertel who will be in charge at the bakeshop is a practical baker with 28 years' experience and a graduate of the Siebel Institute of Baking in Chicago. He has had charge of three large bakeries in New York and before coming to Manchester was connected with a large bakery in Holyoke, Mass. Mr. Viertel says that the baking business is constantly changing and that one has to be in constant touch with the business to be able to meet the demands of the public. He said that of all the various varieties of bread baked a few years ago there is not a one of them now being baked. Public taste has changed and bread baking has been greatly improved.

Arthur Johnson who will have charge of the wholesale and retail end of the business and the delivery service is a popular local young man. Mr. Johnson has a wide circle of friends in town and has built up a large bakery route in this town. It is increasing very rapidly as more and more people are depending upon the Blue Ribbon Bakery. This route has been built up through courteous and conscientious service and a reputation for selling high grade bakery products. With the opening of the new bakeshop he will be able to expand the business rapidly.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

The "Trade" Rat Has Some Odd Traits

"Trade" Rat

BY ARTHUR N. PACK
 President, The American Nature Association
 One of the oddest little animals in existence is the California wood rat, better known as the "trade" rat. It gets its last name from the fact that, though it is a great thief, it never steals anything without putting something else in its place. The story is told of a paste pot which had been left in the assay office of the Silver Queen Mine and filled with found in the morning with the oddest collection of rubbish. At one time when a trade rat's nest was found in an unoccupied house, the outside of the nest was composed entirely of iron spikes laid in perfect order, with the points outward. Interlaced with the spikes were about two dozen forks and spoons and three large butcher knives. There were also a large carving fork, knife and steel, several plugs of tobacco, an old purse, a quantity of small carpenter tools, including several augers, and a watch of which the outside casing, the glass, and the works, were all distributed separately to make the best showing possible. None of these things was of any earthly use to the rats. They must have collected them for the same reason that a child hoards up odds and ends with which to play, saving them with no regard for usefulness. Send a stamped addressed envelope and questions of fact having to do with Nature will be answered by the consulting staff of Nature Magazine of Washington, D. C., through arrangements made by this paper. Promissory notes were in existence in Egypt in 400 B. C.

S. M. H. S. TENNIS TEAM DEFEATS NEW BRITAIN

First Time in Three Years Feat Has Been Performed; Silver Sands Trip Tomorrow.

Before a crowd estimated at 300, the South Manchester High school tennis team defeated New Britain High yesterday afternoon at the West Side court in two straight matches in the doubles. It was the first time in three years Manchester has trimmed New Britain. It was also the first of a three-game series between the two schools. The next game will be played next Thursday in New Britain. The third if necessary will also be played in New Britain, June 5 as the latter has better courts.

Visitors Arrive Late

No singles were played in yesterday's match with New Britain due to the fact that the visitors failed to arrive until five o'clock. The courts had been signed for from five until six by two young girls but owing to their courtesy, the High schools were allowed to play the two double matches.

Win With Ease

Captain Gotberg and Frank McCann trimmed Captain B. Le Witt and Swain, of New Britain in two straight sets with apparent ease. The scores were 6-0 and 6-1. The visitors used the cut-ball style of play but this did not prove any puzzle to the local net artists who depended on a topping and lofting game.

In the other double match, Boyle and Cole triumphed over Young and Carlson by scores of 6-4 and 6-0. The local pair seemed somewhat nervous owing to the large gallery and had difficulty in winning the first set but found themselves in the second set. In the second set Boyle's fine serving proved the undoing of the New Britain pair.

Fine Trip Planned

The S. M. H. S. team will leave here on the last train Saturday night for New Haven where they will be guests at Arnold's college over the holiday week-end. Monday morning, the team will meet "Izzy" Wexler's team at Silver Sands.

SONS OF ITALY WIN 5TH STRAIGHT

Hewitt Misses No Hit, No Run Game by Hair as Windsor Locks Team is Beaten—Score 6-0.

While Hewitt held his own in the box the Sons of Italy banged out eight hits and blanked the Windsor Locks team by 6 to 0 at the West Side arena last night. It was the Sons' fifth win in a row.

Windsor Locks made only one hit, that in the sixth inning and for the better part of the game the visitors were held completely in check by Hewitt who was pitching unbeatable ball. Although he struck out only two men, he kept the Windsor Locks efforts in the infield most of the time and the visiting batters gave him little or no trouble.

The Sons scored right away in the first inning, following this up with another in the third. In the fifth they brought over four more and the game was called in the sixth because of darkness.

St. John was good in the field, making a circus catch in which he fell to the ground but retired the batter. He did not figure in the hitting. Mantell and Ballepser were the stars with the stick, each batting out two bingles.

Windsor Locks was caught unaware by the hunting game which the Sons employed and men were advanced time and again through this method. Palmer, the visiting pitcher, was touched for a total of eight hits.

TRIPLE PLAY MADE AS S. M. H. S. LOSES

East Hartford Romps to 10-5 Victory in League Game Here Yesterday.

South Manchester High was defeated by East Hartford here yesterday afternoon at the Stadium in a league game by a score of 10 to 5. Manchester used three pitchers in a fruitless attempt to check the offensive attack of the visitors.

Farr, who went hitless for the first time this season, started a triple play in the third inning that nipped an East Hartford rally in the bud. The bases were full when Farr grabbed Pitkien's liner, touched third and then threw to Foley at second for the third out.

Manchester was able to collect but five hits off the delivery of Brewer. The visitors took the lead in the third scoring three runs and then put the game on ice in the fifth adding five more tallies. The summary:

Two base hit: Strong.
Three base hit: Pitkien.

The Pirates raised their world series pennant and then lowered their percentage by losing to the Cubs, five to two. Tony Kaufmann turned in a neat pitching performance and drove in three runs in the bargain.

Not even Walter Johnson fazed the Athletics, who advanced to second place by bowling over the Senators again, three to two. Pate won his own game with a double.

Returning home after the most disastrous tour since the prodigious son made his famous road trip, the pennant St. Louis Browns pounded out an 8 to 5 victory over the Indians. The defeat cost Cleveland second place.

The White Sox nosed out the Tigers in the twelfth, five to four, in a loosely played game featured by Falk's hitting. The victory enabled the Sox to take fourth place away from Washington.

The dizzy heights of the first division proved to be too much for the Cardinals, who dropped both ends of a double-header to the Reds, four to three and two to one. Pete Donohue and Carl Mays provided the pitching for the winners and plenty of it.

Brooklyn regained fourth place by breaking even with the Phillies, losing the first game three to one and romping away with the nightcap to the tune of five to one.

Cheney Brothers baseball nine will make a desperate attempt to hop into the win column tomorrow afternoon when the J. B. Martin Company of Norwich sends its crack ball club here to oppose the locals at the stadium. Play will start at three o'clock. Georgetti will pitch for Manchester.

The first two games played by Cheney Brothers ended in victories for the Meriden Indians but tomorrow the silk workers hope to get started on the victory march. The Norwich nine, like Cheney Brothers is the output of an industrial concern. It has been having a successful season to date. Among its list of victories are such clubs as Norwich State hospital nine, and Ashland A. C. two of the leading teams in that sector of the state.

Last year the Norwich nine bowled over the Crompton and Knowles Company team from Worcester on two occasions. This feat alone is enough to warrant local fans a fast, snappy game of ball for tomorrow afternoon. No lineup of a team from Eastern Connecticut would be intact unless it here the name of some of the famous Murphy brothers. And tomorrow the J. B. Martin Company is bringing three members of this conspicuous family. They are players of well known ability.

Cheney Brothers have been showing a vast improvement in their practice sessions throughout the week end and expect to present a decided contrast of form tomorrow when they take the field. Several changes have been made. Hanna has been shifted from third to second. PHIT has gone to short from second and Stratton has changed from short to a third baseman. These alterations are expected to reap harvests.

WEST WILL ENTERTAIN EAST IN 2-DAY INTERCOLLEGIATES

East Furnishes the Playgrounds While West Furnishes the Champ—U. S. C's Chances Seem Best.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Cambridge, Mass., May 28.—In the repressed, well-bred atmosphere of the Harvard stadium the annual two-day track and field championships of the collegiate east got under way this afternoon and the funny thing about it, provided one's sense of humor is sufficiently acute, is that two and possibly three California teams will make the fight for the title. It, therefore, seems to be ordained that California must furnish the east with a champion, although this is nothing to get animated about.

It has been so, almost without interruption since 1920. This state of affairs might savor of an absolute monopoly of honors, if it wasn't for one thing. California permits the east to hold the meet. It merely insists on holding the title.

Almost Unbroken

The dynasty began in 1921 when the California bear uncovered the first of three consecutive championship teams. Yale broke through service, so to speak, and partly re-affirmed eastern prestige by winning in 1924 but Southern California resumed the coast's domination last year and, now, some say it will be Stanford's turn.

If not, Southern California seems certain to repeat. The latter in fact, was a general pre-empt favorite until it lost the coast title to Stanford, yet no one can laugh off U. S. C's four-man combination of Houser, Dye, Grumbles and Barnes, which virtually may be staked to 25 points before they open the stadium doors. The team is figuring on 25 points at together, which probably would be a great plenty.

would be closer than a pair of novices. The writer likes U. S. C's chances, largely because it is depending less upon the running events and coast runners seldom hold their form through the long over-land trip.

California will be a dangerous contender also but probably will be hard pressed to hold third place against Yale and Harvard, the only real title contenders the east can claim. Neither is a prospective champion but Harvard, very strong in the running event, looks the part of a likely third while Yale has one sprinter, a couple of quarter milers and may upset calculations in the pole vault with Sabin Carr. If Barnes is not vaulting to form.

As for Cornell, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, George Washington, the rest of the eastern field, each has a few good men and none has enough. It is probably the weakest representation the east ever has had at its own games.

CHILDREN OR CAREERS?

Would Quit Career for Child, Says Billie Burke

Billie Burke and Patricia, 9.

Views of some of America's best known women about children and careers are given in a series of articles written for this newspaper, of which this is one.

By Billie Burke.

I believe that women are entitled to both children and careers. Their husbands have both.

I have backed up my theory by practice.

My little daughter is now nine years old and I know I have enjoyed her exactly twice as much as I would have done if she had been my sole interest in life.

People get tired of thinking all the time about one thing. More important than that, the thing, if it happens to be a child, gets tired of its too-attentive parent.

Because Patricia did not see me every minute of the day in her early childhood, she still finds me a refreshing and exciting novelty and we have lovely times together.

If I had to choose between my child and my career, I should, without question, have chosen the child.

But I do not think that it is ever necessary for a woman to make this painful choice.

I am more and more of the opinion that a woman with a talent, or even an aptitude for any given line of work, is cheating herself, the world and her own children if she ties herself down completely to the nursery, ignoring the opportunity to express herself fully.

CONSTIPATION CAUSES INDIGESTION—

Get prompt and permanent relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Constipation sends the backwash from the intestine into your body to torment you with deadly poisons. Headaches, pimples, fatigue and sleeplessness can be traced to it. Rid yourself of this body-torturing disease. Begin today. As Mr. Lolly writes:

"Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the best remedy for constipation I ever used, and does all that you claim. Before I started using it, being constipated kept me sick with indigestion, but I find that ALL-BRAN stops constipation and relieves indigestion."

425 W. Peace Street, Raleigh, N. C.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed on a money-back basis to relieve constipation permanently if eaten regularly; two tablespoons daily—with every meal, in chronic cases. Ready to serve. Delicious in cooking. With milk, fruit or other cereals. Doctors recommend Kellogg's because it is 100% bran.

Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Sold by grocers everywhere. Served at leading hotels and restaurants.

SELLS-FLOTO CIRCUS COMING TO HARTFORD

Friday, June 4th the Date: Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show on Program.

More than 400 arena stars are required to round out the program of the Sells-Floto circus, which is billed to appear in Hartford on Friday, June 4th. This big show long considered as the "crown" of the circus world, will doubtless attract hundreds from this place.

An added attraction this year is Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show with a large number of full-blooded Sioux Indians.

Noted this year as among the performers is the famous "Pauline" Hannaford and his comedy riders. Hannaford is known far and wide as the greatest circus performer in his special line in the world. Others whose fame is widespread are the "Ying Wards," the Sells-Floto clown army, the three herds of performing elephants, and a number of performing lions, tigers, leopards, polar bears and others, the programs given by each and by the mixed groups being thrilling and exciting in the extreme.

Practically two hours is given over to the performance in the main tent, and the three rings, steel arena and stages are filled with action every minute of the 120. The opening spectacle is a pageant of color and beauty and serves to introduce the 1,600 people to the audience.

Sells-Floto is the exception among circuses, being absolutely clean, and being at the same time exclusively a circus that has retained the features that make performances of this kind enjoyable to every person who attends. Two performances will be given, the first at 2 and the second at 8 P. M. Sells-Floto has not raised the price of admission from its always popular figures, another thing that has made it popular with the masses.

HEBRON

Miss Della Porter who has been spending a week at her former home here was the leader of the Christian Endeavor Society Sunday evening. Her topic was "How to read the Bible," and the meeting was an unusually enthusiastic one. Miss Eunice Seymis and Miss Helen Hough gave a report of the recent Christian Endeavor convention held at Hartford to which they were delegates.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Eugene Smith and little son of Norwich, also Mr. and Mrs. Webster Eldridge and daughter of Naanak, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Smith on Sunday.

John Horton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Horton has just been taken down with the measles, and being at the same time have gone to their cottage at Atlantic Beach, Weekapaug. R. I. for a stay of several weeks.

Raymond Jones and family have recently moved into the Townbridge house on the Burroughs

Hill road. They have just had a telephone installed. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Alphons Wright were recent visitors at the Middlesex hospital in Middletown to see Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright, both of whom are under treatment there. There is a slight improvement reported in their condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilcox of Meriden, were callers on Sunday at the home of Post Hill friends.

The Rev. T. D. Martin was present at the Rotary club meet in Willimantic on Tuesday. He took part in the program of entertainment by singing two solos, "My Ain Folk" and "The Two Grenadiers" by Schumann.

Enoch Crandall, who has for some time been a boarder at the home of Sherwood Miner, was taken to Lawrence hospital in New London Tuesday morning for treatment. It is feared that the amputation of one foot will be necessary.

U. S. WILL PROTEST CHINA OUTRAGES

Seizure of Missions by Radical Officials Arouses Government to Action.

Peking, May 28.—The American government is preparing to file a protest with the government at Canton regarding outrages perpetrated by the Chinese on American individuals, property and missions. It was intimated here today.

Acting under orders from Washington, P. L. Mayer, counselor of the American legation here, has left for Canton to consult with regular officers there concerning the outrages. Particular attention will be paid, it is understood, to the attacks on missions, several having actually been confiscated by the radical authorities.

Simpson and Sweetser will battle it out tomorrow over thirty-six holes.

Senator Birmingham (R., Conn.), has recommended one for his state. Bruce continued while "wet tickets" can't be kept out of the November elections in Massachusetts, New Jersey and Maryland.

Bill For Massachusetts

Boston, May 28.—A bill calling for a state-wide referendum on the question of the Volstead Act so as to permit the manufacture, sale and distribution of beverage liquors to contain more than one half of one per cent alcohol yet to be non-intoxicating, was filed in the House today by Rep. Roland D. Sawyer, of Ware. Voters would also give their opinion on the question of whether state legislatures should be allowed to regulate and control liquors for medicinal purposes. Rep. Sawyer's bill follows prohibition referendum plans in New York and other states.

MISS CHENEY "DRY"

Cannot See Reason for Referendum at This Time But Has Not Definitely Decided Stand.

When asked this morning what her stand would be if returned to the legislature this fall Miss Marjorie Cheney, Manchester representative, said that she is, for the present, "dry." She made it clear, however, that she had not definitely decided her stand on the question of a referendum in this state. She said she did not think the Republican party in Connecticut would be justified in seeking a referendum on the liquor question since it had thrown down the Democratic party's plea for a referendum on the League of Nations some years ago.

N. E. Foreign Traders Told of Pools Abroad to Boost Prices of Things Sold Here

Boston, May 27.—The 1926 foreign trade situation of the United States has been marked by a thoroughly satisfactory growth, Julius Klein, of the United States Department of Commerce, declared today at the New England Foreign Trade Conference.

Overseas sales of manufactured goods this year are 14 per cent greater than in 1925. Klein pointed out that this class of exports made up 23 per cent of the country's total.

"This is the best record made by any commercial nation," he said. "It is all the more gratifying because it represents a bona fide volume expansion and not simply a monetary inflation of prices."

In general, there is nothing to fear thus far from European competition," Klein said.

Obstacles To Trade

Among the obstacles to American trade abroad, Klein cited the following:

Wide-spread development of European combines for purposes of price-fixing, patent pooling and exchange of economic information, aimed at copying American mass production methods.

Suddenly imposed taxes, import restrictions and other limitations to defeat American competition.

Instability of exchange in certain countries, contributing to shrinkage of purchasing power.

Governmental price-fixing on raw materials consumed in this country.

WILL FORGER GETS 15 YEAR SENTENCE

Yonkers Architect Drew Paper on Blank Printed After Uncle Died.

White Plains, N. Y., May 28.—George Starin Cowles, 51, prominent architect of Yonkers, N. Y., today was sentenced to eight to sixteen years in Sing Sing prison for forgery in the first degree. He was convicted by a jury of having falsified a will giving him the entire estate of the late Edwin A. Oliver, well-known humorist. A previous will had divided the estate among 13 heirs.

William Weeks, formerly chauffeur for Oliver, a witness to the spurious will, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary, but the sentence was suspended for good behavior. Miss Nellie Drummond, another witness, and said to have been Cowles' fiancée, pleaded guilty to a charge of first degree forgery. She will be sentenced on June 14.

Form Printed After Death

The arrests followed an investigation begun after Scruggs Geo. A. Slater, of Westchester county, had refused to probate the second will. Weeks confessed that Cowles had plotted to forge the will, and thereby inherit the entire estate. Cowles surrendered last Saturday, and confessed his part in the conspiracy. The will disposed of an estate valued at $63,000.

During the investigation it was revealed that the will blank, on which the spurious will was drawn, had been printed a month later than the date of Oliver's death.

WOULD INDICT BERMAN EX-PRINCESS FOR THEFT.

Berlin, May 28.—A petition asking that the former Crown Princess Cecily be indicted for embezzlement was addressed to the state prosecutor today by the "Republican Redress Committee."

The petition alleges that the Princess removed from the former imperial castle several costly Sevres vases, claiming them to be private property, and refused to return them despite remonstrations from the Prussian government.

The vases, the petition added, are now housed in the castle.

TRY TO ORGANIZE KIWANIS IN ROCKVILLE

Steps were taken last night toward the institution of a Kiwanis club in Rockville. A party of Kiwanians from Hartford, Bristol and Manchester was present to interest Rockville men in the new organization. The meeting was held at the Rockville House. Those attending from this place were President Charles Ray, ex-President Dr. D. C. Y. Moore and George H. Waddell. The temporary officers at Rockville were Mayor John P. Cameron, president; Frank B. Congdon, secretary; Parley B. Leonard, treasurer. Another meeting is to be held Thursday evening when a larger group of men will gather for the permanent organization. It is expected a delegation from Manchester will attend the meeting.

SCOUTS SHRINKAGE OF STOKES ESTATE

Window's Lawyer Says 'Gift' to Son Will Prove to Be a House of Cards.

New York, May 28.—Alleging trickery and subterfuge," Samuel Entenmyer, attorney for Mrs. Helen Entwood Stokes in her contest of the will of the late W. E. D. Stokes, today made a rebuttal to the declarations by Albert H. Gleason, Stokes' counsel and an executor of his will.

Gleason had, it was said, reported the Stokes estate as possessing an estimated value of $352,000.

"I gather from Mr. Gleason's assertion," said Entenmyer, in part, "that he has fallen heir to the same old tricks and subterfuges that were practiced by his erratic client throughout his lifetime. The equity in the Hotel Ansonia alone is worth over $5,000,000. There from 34 to 40 other valuable properties, besides which there was the famous Patchen farm and millions in securities which Mr. Gleason will, I suppose, claim were given to Stokes, Jr."

"That, apparently, is the transparent game by which it will be sought to reduce the estate from about eight to ten million dollars to less than one million."

"This same 'gift story' was tried out in the Dover suit but it did not work there and I do not think it

This announcement of the change in name from Ajax Six to Nash Light Six also marks the greatest five month period of business in Nash history.

The upward soaring demand during January, February, March, April and May drove total sales and production to a figure approximating 70% of the total sales for the whole of last year.

The phenomenal success of the Ajax Six and the great size the business has attained in less than a year, with well over $27,000,000 worth of cars already shipped, has made advisable a closer consolidation of Nash and Ajax manufacturing operations.

With this in view the Ajax Motors Company, till now a subsidiary of The Nash Motors Company, has been entirely absorbed by the parent Company. And in accordance with this procedure the name of the product, Ajax Six, is herewith changed to Nash Light Six. So that Nash models are now available in 3 Series—differing as to wheelbase but identical in their high standards of workmanship—

—the NEW Light Six series (formerly the Ajax Six); the Special Six series; and Advanced Six series;—embracing 16 different models with a price range from $865 to $2090 f. o. b. factory.

LOCAL GIRL'S FIANCE DIES SUDDENLY.

Manchester friends of Byrd Standish of Andover were grieved to hear of his sudden and untimely death which occurred yesterday afternoon at the Hartford hospital. Mr. Standish had been a frequent visitor here and only a few months ago the Herald announced his engagement to Miss Christine McMenemy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McMenemy of Marble street. The wedding was to have taken place this summer.

Mr. Standish was twenty-four years old and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Standish of Andover. He also leaves one brother, Leslie. He was graduated from Connecticut Agricultural college in 1923 and for a year held a position in Pittsburg. Later he returned to his home town and was associated with his father in conducting the general store at Andover.

The young man had not been feeling in the best of health for some time but was able to attend to his duties at the store. He was taken severely ill and was removed to the Hartford hospital only yesterday in an unconscious condition.

Funeral services will be held from his late home Sunday afternoon at two o'clock daylight time.

THESE WOMEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HARRY MORTON, wealthy, unmarried, middle-aged, immensely attractive to women, has a problem in his adopted daughter, AUDREY. She is maily in love with him. To divert her attention from himself, he throws her into the company of his secretary, JOHN PARRISH, whose ideas are prim. He also lets her see him in company with NONA, New York stage girl, who also is in love with him.

Audrey makes preparations to dance in cabaret revues, so she can learn how stage girls manage to attract Morton. Parrish disapproves. She hires a young man to be her dancing partner. Morton goes to Nona, to ask her to drop her own engagement and herself be Audrey's stage partner. Nona, consenting, sends for another girl, who had tried to blackmail Morton earlier in the story.

Morton has lived for 15 years in Rochester, without gossip there ever learning his past or the source of his wealth. He maintains also an expensive apartment in New York.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

(The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XXVI

"Come on in, you little fool!" called Nona, and reaching out the door, seized her visitor by the arm.

The girl, at sight of Morton, had started to retreat. Now, yielding to Nona's steady pull upon her arm, she entered, reluctantly, her eyes fixed in fright upon Morton. He watched as Nona propelled her to a chair, shutting the door behind her.

With a touch of irony he asked: "Back from London so soon? I don't remember about you, I sent you the money to take you and that dancing partner of yours abroad."

She hung her head.

"She's not a bad kid," interposed Nona. "I got her into that mess when she played the 'badger game' on you. She never did anything like that before."

Morton looked understandingly at the newcomer's face. Her eyes were hollow, and her neck sank in tiny hollows behind her jaws. Blue veins showed in her temples.

"Been hungry lately, haven't you?" he asked. "About you, I don't know. I don't know if you've moved to that partner of yours borrowed your last piece of jewelry and pawned it, and didn't give you any of the money?"

The girl looked up in surprise. "How did you know?"

Nona patted the girl on the shoulder. "He knows things like that without being told," she explained.

"I've seen you, and I've seen your dancing partner," Morton supplemented. "What did he do with that money I sent you?"

"Least it all shooting craps," she said, dropping her head again. "But it wasn't his fault—they trimmed him."

Morton leaned back with his arm upon the piano keys and waited for her to go on. She did so, after a moment. "He just has hard luck. He's nice to me, though—he bought my dinner yesterday, and he had hardly any money himself."

"And," asked Morton, easily, "what did he borrow from you when he bought your dinner?"

"He borrowed my ring—the only one she had left," she choked it, snorted Nona indignantly.

The girl began to cry.

"Did you call me down here just to raze me," she sobbed.

Repentantly Nona patted her shoulder again. "Don't cry, babe," she soothed. "Listen, do you want a job?"

"Yes," said the girl, dabbing at her nose with a handkerchief, weeping "of course I do."

"Well, maybe we've got you one."

have on my hands, you know, Nona," he said.

Her face fell. "Are you going to see some other girl?"

"Audrey," he explained. "She's making life miserable for that secretary of mine. I think she's waiting up for me, at home, and it's getting late. I sent Parrish to the theater last night, and she was waiting for me. He laughed at the other day."

Nona thrust her forehead through the loop of his coat button.

"Harry," she said, thoughtfully, "you want to watch out that you're marrying that fellow, yet."

"She could do a good deal worse," he said. "He's honest, and industrious, and intelligent. But the way she treats him is terrible."

Nona's eyes said an absent look, as if behind them an idea was dawning.

"There are ways to cure her of that," she said, slowly.

The task of placing Nona's substitute proved a difficult one. It was the following afternoon that Nona called Morton on the telephone.

"I've been talking to the producer, and he just gave me—he raised the roof," she said. "He said I couldn't get another engagement in this town. And besides, he said he wouldn't take that other girl on a bet. He says she's too skinny. What will I do?"

"Guess I'll have to come and see him," Morton said. "When does the show open?"

"It's less than a week now," she told him.

He whistled. "I'll have to hurry," he told her, as he hung up the receiver.

Parrish was away from the office, and Morton set a clerk to calling the various haunts of the theatrical producer, in an effort to locate him. The effort was a tedious one. The afternoon passed, and Morton went home to dinner. Audrey was gone—"out with young Mr. Parrish," the butler explained—and Morton settled himself for an evening with his books.

It was almost bedtime when the clerk called, and said he had located his man. Morton took the telephone batch of business, and Morton contacted with Nona's employer.

"Yes, I'll be here," the manager told him, shortly, in answer to his query.

"I'll come right away," Morton promised.

It was a warm spring night, and Morton wore no overcoat as he left the building and hailed a taxi. As he rode, he glanced over a little batch of business and personal cards that he had taken from his desk in the apartment.

The manager, sitting in a small, smoky office of the lobby of one of the theaters, granted when Morton introduced himself.

"Here," said Morton. He held his collection of cards one by one before the manager. Each had a brief inscription on it, in ink or pencil.

"These are the friends of yours they're friends of mine, too. I brought these to introduce myself."

"In the profession?" asked the man, glancing over the postcard.

"Yes, just kind of a broker," Morton said.

"Back some girl?" pursued the other.

"Morton chuckled. "Yes—in a way."

"No use for that sort of thing," growled the manager, shoving the cards back to Morton. "I don't need any angels in my game."

"Wait a minute," Morton said. "You talk in today and told you she wanted to quit."

Instant wrath showed in the producer's face. Half rising in his chair, he thundered: "Yes, she did. She had some secretary girl she wanted to take her place. Do you know what happened?"

He glared an instant. "That girl's partner came in and and took her home with her for a hundred bucks advance money."

HER OWN WAY

A GIRL OF TODAY
A CLAUDESTEINE ESCAPEE.

I knew the girl I was waiting upon was very rich, for this was the second dozen handkerchiefs she had purchased that day at sixty per. She had bought and paid for them with no fuss whatever and I saw the large roll of bills in the gold mesh bag, which was even more beautiful than the one that Jerry had given me.

I was quite sure also that she belonged to one of those Chicago families that were often referred to as living on "Chicago's 'gold coast' and by this they meant Lakeshore Drive and its environs.

The girl, however, was very simple and sweet and I could see that she had reached the point in her romance where she had to talk to someone.

In the few moments she was getting her handkerchiefs together she kept still, but there was a lovely smile on her sensitive mouth. As I turned toward her she asked abruptly: "Have you ever danced at The Circle?"

I looked at her curiously. The Circle I remembered was quite notorious as a place where the most Bohemian people in the city congregated. Nona had told me that there one might meet most any night some of the most imposing society women as well as the aristocracy of the underworld.

"No," I answered, smiling. "I have never been there. I am afraid if I had I would have lost my reputation. I am only a 'poor workin' girl,' you know."

After the words were out of my mouth I trembled.

Instinctively, I knew the girl before me belonged to the exclusive set and it rather looked as if I were contemptuously slurring those young women. "Would she understand?" I asked myself.

I looked up quickly. The girl had giggled.

"Well, I may as well tell you that although I am supposed to belong to 'the rich and great' I would be glad to go to the Circle and get away with it. I think my father would probably imprison me for life if he knew I had been at that notorious place."

"If you only knew," she continued, "how the stony dinners and conventional teas he allows me to go to bore me I am sure that you wouldn't mind me for trying to get a little fun out of life."

"It's immaterial to tell you how I first became acquainted with The Circle. It is sufficient that I was introduced to the happy-go-lucky people who congregate there. For the last few months I have been stealing away as often as I could."

"She stopped and blushed, and then explained, "I am buying these handkerchiefs for Bud because because I gave the others to Harry."

THE BRIDAL GOWN!

IT MUST BE PERFECT!
Modern Wedding Ceremony Staged Carefully as a Play

Here comes the bride—in a Lanvin gown of satin encrusted with pearls and crystals, and her matron of honor in a lace creation.

By HENRI BENDEL
Noted Fashion Designer.

New York.—For the fashionable modern wedding the costume and staging must be as thoroughly worked out as for a modern play.

The bride must be a vision of loveliness—satin clad, misty and veiled. She must satisfy the eye and reflect our traditional image of a blushing, beautiful maid.

She may miss her cues, stumble her lines, and otherwise show her inexperience in the important role that is given her, but she must see that the lines of her frock are perfect and that she has not missed one sartorial lead.

In addition to the faultless picture she herself makes, she must surround herself with attendants, lovely and exquisitely frocked, who supply color and feminine interest without detracting.

Here is indeed a problem for her costumeur.

I am showing today what I consider a perfect outfit for the bride, her maid of honor, and her matrons.

The bridal gown is from Lanvin, and shows her genius for creating a

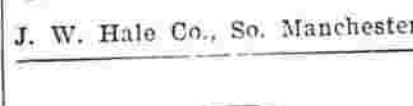

With this she wears a large leghorn ribbon in orchid tones. Also, of a very-lacy bridesmaid's frock in shell pink tulle, orn over a deeper pink satin slip. Godets of tulle flounce the skirt and give the lightness and ethereal quality such a gown should have. The hat is of fine horsehair braid in ecru shade rimmed with vel et ribbon of gold and rose.

I believe the perfect bridal costume carries out the idea of something old as well as something new, and no costume is complete without some rare old lace or embroidery that has graced some other bride, and has been handed down from mother to daughter.

feeling as well as a gown. With its long skirt and long sleeves, it will surprise the eye accustomed to the abbreviated skirts of the hour, yet it is absolutely picturesque and appropriate.

It is trimmed with pearls and crystals which outline a very lovely design of faintest shell pink, giving the ensemble a flush like that of the early dawn, and relieving the hardness of pure white satin.

The sleeves are full at the wrists, and the skirt is uneven, lifting at the sides and hanging in graceful scallops in the front and in the back. The tulle veil is bound with silver thread and made in three graceful points. A head band of orange blossoms keeps the veil in place, and the bride is carrying a bouquet of white madonna lilies.

Her costume has dignity, picturesqueness, and yet maintains a youthfulness and a suggestion of casualness that is most charming.

For the matron of honor, Chanel has designed the frock of cream lace with tiers of lace ruffles and a scarf caught at the shoulder with a very conceivably shade of blue, that bound and trimmed with velvet,

The Story Of Plague

By DR. HUGH S. CUMMING.

The earliest records of the human race contain reference to plague.

It is mentioned in the ancient Sanskrit and Egyptian writings and the fifth and sixth chapters of the First Samuel, in the Bible.

In this, it is well to remember that in the text is an untranslated Greek word — emerrhod — which means hoar or swelling. The word mouse in this text should have been translated rat.

The Philistines of that day recognized the role of the rat in the production of the disease in man for they made golden images of the rat (or mice as the text reads) in the hope of appeasing the anger of the God of Israel, whom they thought had sent this plague upon them because they had stolen the Ark of the Covenant.

Forty-one epidemics of plague are recorded as having occurred before the Christian era. During the 1,500 years after the birth of Christ, there are records of 109 epidemics and from 1500 to 1720 there are recorded 45 pandemics of plague. (Pandemic means spread all over the world.)

It is impossible to estimate the number of people who have died of plague in these past; certainly hundreds of millions. More than ten billions have died of plague in the last 25 or 30 years.

The present pandemic of plague apparently began in China in 1894. In 1896, India, Japan, Assiatic Turkey and European Russia were involved.

In 1898 the disease spread to Madagascar and Mauritius, and in 1899 it appeared in Arabia, Persia, the Straits Settlements, Austria, Portugal, British South Africa, Egypt, the French Ivory Coast and Portuguese Africa.

About the same time the disease appeared in Argentina, Brazil, Paraguay and the Hawaiian Islands.

In United States. In 1900, the disease appeared for the first time in the United States—in San Francisco.

In addition to its having appeared in other South American and European countries since 1900, it may be said that the disease reached Seattle in 1907—and although there were only seven human cases in that city, plague-infected rats were found off and on for 10 years. In San Francisco, the disease appeared several times in epidemic form.

In 1914 it appeared in New Orleans; in 1929 in Beaumont and Galveston, Texas. In 1906 it was discovered that plague infection had spread from the rats to the ground squirrels in California and it has been among these ground squirrels ever since.

The WOMAN'S EDAY

By Allene Sumner

O Beautiful Lady!

Some pushing traveler in our midst opines that never, never have American women been so beautiful as now. What strikes my listening ears as a copious and unadmitted measure of applause. Women may look more comfortable, healthier, than ever before. But if you come right down to those aesthetic qualities known as feminine beauty which knock one for a loop, they're not in it at all compared with the girls who once made personal beauty their life-time's interest and full working day job!

Fourteen long-tressed maidens in Millis, Mass., have joined together in amicable fellowship in a club yelet Gotta Longa Haira, for the laudable purpose of furthering and abetting long hair. Which is what ails this country, most, the spirit of carrying out of everybody in your own ways and opinions. If gals want long hair, let 'em have it, but for goodness sake why need they insist that everybody else have it? A bad spirit for humans so young!

They Want to Work

The housewives of America want to drudgery. They don't know what to do with their time if they don't. They must be educated out of drudgery, pulled out. All this from Mrs. Mary Kling Sherman, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs. Which is a very smart observation and only what every woman knows who has ever tried to foist a new labor-saving method upon a woman who has been accustomed all her life to do it the hard way.

With so much cellulite, it's no wonder why the straggling dieting for reduction, something else had to be done! Now they tell us that sitting and standing just so, achieving a certain line, will take away 20 pounds, or add as many. If your arms are short, sit, they say, with body inclined a bit forward, hand upon knee. If you would look taller, stand relaxed with knee and foot extended towards the onlooker, rather than away from him. If you are tall, sit with

WHAT WILL GOV. PINCHOT DO NOW? PROBLEM WORRIES PARTY LEADERS

Defeat of Pennsylvania Executive in Race for Senatorial Nomination May Eliminate Him as Presidential Possibility, But Washington Politicians Are Still Pondering on What May Happen—Post-Mortems on Keystone Primaries Are Favorite Topic.

Washington—The politicians of the Capital are holding many post-mortems these days on the Pennsylvania primary, which in many respects, was the most spectacular of the current season affairs.

One of the questions most frequently asked is: "What is Gifford Pinchot going to do now?"

Opinion is about evenly divided between those who believe that the crushing defeat of the Pennsylvania Governor means his retirement from politics, in which he has been a prominent figure for two decades, and those who believe that he has as many political lives as a cat.

For twenty years Gifford Pinchot has been "in" politics, and during all of that time he has been a stormy petrel. Some controversy has always been raging about his head, and like the elder Roosevelt, at whose shrine he worships, he has made countless enemies and countless friends. Few have been neutral where Pinchot was concerned.

For President

Since Roosevelt's death, he has been a potential candidate for the Presidency. The Governorship of Pennsylvania, which he is soon to relinquish, was intended as a step in that direction. His election to the Senate, now made impossible by his defeat for the regular Republican nomination, was to have been another stepping stone. Always he has sought an issue, and never have conditions and circumstances favored his candidacy. The organization in Pennsylvania was always against him. Four years ago he whipped the organization and seized the Governorship. This time the organization whipped him, and did it so thoroughly that his enemies have already ordered wreaths to lay on his political grave.

What else, they ask, is ahead of him in national politics? They answer their own question by saying "nothing."

The beginning of Pinchot's picturesque political career was in controversy. He was baptised politically in the storm that shook the nation in the famous row with Richard Ballinger, then Secretary of the Interior, over the principle of forestry conservation. Pinchot was chief forrester under Ballinger.

In Roosevelt's Steps

In the great Republican schism of 1912 Pinchot followed Roosevelt out of the party. He was, in fact, one of those who helped push the Colonel off the reservation for he had no love for the Taft Administration. For the fourteen years that have elapsed since that memorable political struggle, Governor Pinchot has worn the mantle of Progressivism, and there have been few of the countless speeches he has made in that time that have not included somewhere within them the name of Theodore Roosevelt.

As Governor of the commonwealth—the largest elective office he ever held—Pinchot continued to be a stormy figure. He was a most persistent critic of the national administration. He disagreed with President Coolidge's policies in two coal strikes; he espoused the cause of the miners; he disagreed with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's prohibition enforcement policies, and said so publicly and most emphatically.

Washington Wonders

His activities were attributed by his opponents to his assiduity in hunting an issue on which he could run for the Presidency. Irrespective of whether the issue was true or false, he was always vigorous and usually on the front pages.

Now he is in political eclipse again—and Washington is wondering for how long.

Independently wealthy, highly educated, and with fame for politics and public service, Gifford Pinchot still has a large future behind him, and ahead of him, at 61, is a question mark.

Organization leaders in Washington and in Harrisburg hope he is through and say so frankly, but they won't believe it yet awhile.

COVENTRY

Franklin Orcutt has gone to Essex County, N. Y. to pick up a carload of tested dairy cows. He expects to have them shipped into Bolton soon.

WELL, IT'S NO WONDER THAT WORLD IS WET!

Washington. — About a billion and a half years ago rain began to fall upon the earth. Since then we've had 750,000 miles of rain. The figures are offered by Dr. William Bowie, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey. This is the sedimentary age in which we are living. Dr. Bowie said, and it started with the beginning of rainfall. An average of 30 inches of rain a year falls on the whole world, which is the equivalent of a mile of rainfall every 2000 years.

CIRCLE THEATER CLOSES SUNDAY FOR NEW ORGAN

Brand New Wurlitzer to Be Installed—Will Also Be Redeclared and Made More Home-like.

The Circle is owned by the Hoffmann Brothers, proprietors of the Hoffmann State Theater, for a short time to give the management time to install a new organ and redecorate the interior. An opening announcement will follow soon.

The Circle is owned by the Hoffmann Brothers, proprietors of the Hoffmann State Theater, for a short time to give the management time to install a new organ and redecorate the interior. An opening announcement will follow soon.

state. The entire interior will be refurnished. A new Wurlitzer organ, one of the sweetest toned instruments obtainable will add greatly to the attractions of the Circle. The picture program for tomorrow and Sunday will be a thrilling melodrama with an all-star cast, "Hell's Four Hundred" and a co-feature "Desperate Moments."

FIDDLES ON KEG

Portland, Ore.—A fiddle made from a beer keg is being used by John Schreiner, an old-time fiddler here, to provide music for square dances. There are two slots in the hoops and strings are stretched across these, making the instrument somewhat larger than a violin-cello.

"COHEN-KELLY" ACTORS WROTE FUNNY TITLES

Players in Coming State Feature Have Contest in Thinking up Gag Lines.

For titling "The Cohens and Kellys," the Universal-Jewell which opens at the State Theatre on Sunday, Harry Pollard, director, did away with the services of title writers.

Instead each of the actors in the all-star cast of this comedy-drama wrote his own titles and as a result, Pollard believes he has some of the most unusual and funniest subtitles ever contained in a picture.

Charlie Murray, George Sidney, Vernon Gordon and Kat Price, playing the four leading roles are all natural "gag-men." The lines they spoke to carry on the business of acting contained many comic wallops, so the script girl on the set was instructed to pick up as many good subtitles as possible.

FINAL SECTION of LAKEVIEW

Next to Country Club, South Manchester, (twelve lots)

Ready for Sale Saturday, May 29th

WITH the exception of three lots which are reserved, the first section of this desirable property has all been sold. There remains only the North portion which was not ready last fall. This is beautifully situated on rolling ground facing the hills to the East and North. At the rear are the pine woods and water and the Manchester Country Club. On the map the lots are 31 to 40.

Every desirable feature that one seeking an ideal building site could wish is here. No other section of Manchester has all of these features. In fact, all of these are rarely to be found together anywhere.

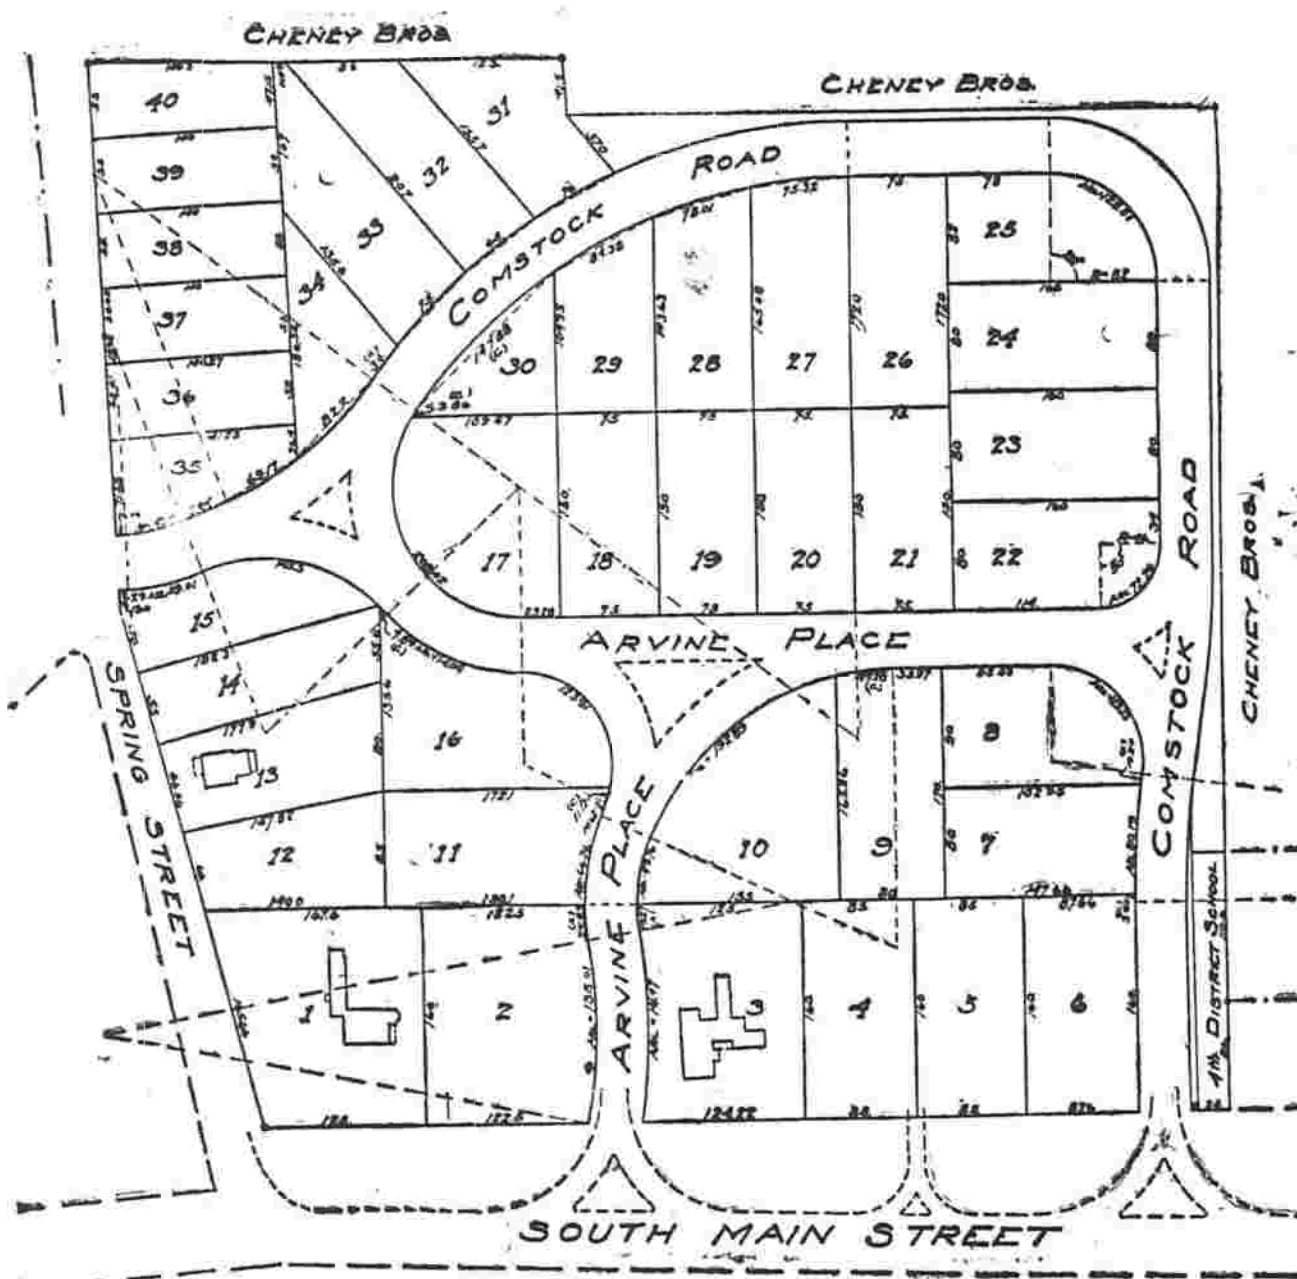

These lots which average 55x160 are priced from $1000 to $1500, including everything. There will be no extra assessment of any kind for benefits. One year's time to pay if wanted.

Lunch will be served at the Harriet Brown Tea Room on the tract.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The Twins took the little Rag-bag Whiffet by the hand and led him away. They could still hear the Balloon Man crying his wares, and the green parrot chattering away on his post. "Yes, my dear, I'll have three lumps in my tea, well, if you insist."

"Don't worry, Whiffet, we'll find your lost shadow somewhere. It can't have gone so very far," said Nancy. "Low many buttons have you left out of your fortune?"

The Whiffet reached into his pocket and pulled out all his buttons. "Two pearl ones, four bone ones, three shoe-buttons, one off the old alpaca duster, a collar button and a snapper," he counted. "Well, you're rich yet," said Nick.

"What are you asking for?" said the Whiffet, putting his fortune away again.

"Because there's a sign over there that says 'Side-Show,'" said Nick. "Will you pay up, way in?"

"Sure," said the little rag-bag creature, who was kind-hearted even if his clothes had shrunk and he hadn't such a thing as a shadow about him.

So they went to the side-show tent and paid a shoe-button and three pins apiece to get in.

The side-show man, who wore three sets of spectacles on his nose, four neckties and two suits of clothes, looked at them closely. "You look honest," he remarked. "Pass in."

The first thing they saw was a sign. The sign said, "Ask the Dingbat. He'll tell you Under the sign sat a queer looking person at a table. The queer looking person who sat at the table was green and he could wiggle his ears."

"What are we to ask you?" said Nick.

"Ask me how old Anne is," said the Dingbat.

"Well, how old is Anne?" said Nancy.

"It's none of your business," said the Dingbat wiggling his ears. "The very idea!" cried Nancy. "Such manners! I never in all my life heard such a thing."

"I'm not paid to have manners," said the Dingbat. "That costs extra."

"How much?" said the little Rag-bag Whiffet hurriedly reaching into his pocket. All he heard was "costs extra" so he supposed he'd have to pay.

"How much have you?" said the Dingbat.

"Two pearl ones, four bone ones, one off the old gray duster, a collar button, and a snapper," said the Whiffet. "He didn't say anything about the shoe buttons because it had taken all his shoe-buttons to get in."

"Well, that's what it will cost you exactly if you wish me to be polite," said the Dingbat. "All but the snapper. I've got one. He's a beagle and snaps at all the cats and the postman. Now then, ask me all over again. How old is Anne?"

"Say," said the little Whiffet, "if it's all the same to everybody, and I've paid for everything, I'd like to ask a question myself."

"At your service, sir," said the green Dingbat, wiggling his ears most politely.

"Where is my shadow?" said the Whiffet. "I lost it coming over the stile."

The green Dingbat turned blue, then red, and then to a beautiful dark raspberry. "Ask Mr. Snoopy," he said. "The pirate, who lives in a cave between Hidy Go Land and the sea."

(To Be Continued)

More bad news for the men's eyes. It is announced the feminine outfit for next summer will consist of two garments—one for the outside. Women may be able to keep cool in such an outfit, but it certainly listens like a hot costume.

"Johnnie," said his mother, "hurry down and get some salad dressing."

"At the grocery store?" he inquired.

"Goodness, no! Go to the drug store; it always has it and I never know whether the grocery will or not. And while you are there get me a hair net, an electric light bulb and a couple of towels like those they have in the window."

Spring

Spring trips down the lane
And spills all her flowers,
Again and again,
Spring trips down the lane
In shimmering rain.
And after the showers
Spring trips down the lane
And spills all her flowers.

"Safety first," remarked the detective's son, as he donned rubber gloves to raid the jan's closet.

"Betty," asked teacher, "what goes about mooring?"

"A cow," answered the little girl. Then came quite a new question: "Betty, what goes about buttoning?"

"Hum," said Betty: "A button-hole, I s'pose."

A Thought For the Day
Backward, turn backward, oh Time
In your flight,
Give me a crystal set, just for tonight;
Smooth my reception from whistles and growls,
Over my tube set a watch I must keep—
It gives me the creeps, mother;
I am so weary it causes me pain,
I am so weary of wave traps and loops,
Round or rectangular, wound upon hoops;
Springs for indoors, stranded far out,
Every kind touted with many a tout.
Still, o'er my tube set a watch I must keep—
It gives me the creeps, mother;
I am so weary it causes me pain,
I am so weary of wave traps and loops.

"Yes, I have two brothers."

"What! Do you call brothers distant relatives?"

"These brothers are rich, you know," sadly explained Nelson.

A PUZZLE A DAY

Hidden in this puzzle are two well-known names. Each is five letters in length. Each pictured object may also be described by a word of five letters. When these objects are rightly guessed and written one below the other in the proper order, their initials reading downward will spell the last name of a famous senator and in the same fashion the third letter of each word will spell the name of the state which elected him.

What are the hidden names?

Last puzzle answer:
I am the words "before you," composed of nine letters. Let me prove it. Numbering my letters from left to right 1—h, 2—c, 3—t, 4—o, 5—r, 6—e, 7—y, 8—o, 9—n. My 3, 4, 2—foe, an enemy; my 5, 9, 6—rue, to regret; my 4, 5, 2—ore, a substance dug out of the earth; my 7, 6—ye, a pronoun; my 5, 8, 1, 2—robe, a garment; my 5, 4, 8, 2—roof that which is over your head; my 1, 2, 6—bee, a honey gatherer; my 4, 3—or, a preposition.

GIVE OUT PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY

William A. Willard to Be Cheney Hall Speaker; Four Veterans Dead.

William A. Willard of Hartford who will deliver the Memorial Day address at Cheney hall served for ten years in Co. K, First Regiment, C. N. G. He has been elected for five consecutive years president of the Willard Family association, whose history on this continent began with the arrival from England of Major Simon Willard in 1624. His grandfather, Rev. Samuel Willard was the central figure in the painting "The Spirit of '76".

Another ancestor, Solomon Willard had more to do with the completion of the historic Bunker Hill monument than any other person. Mr. Willard was not only the architect, planned and oversaw the work, but assisted in raising funds, giving not only his services but $1,000 as well. From the same illustrious family came Frances E. Willard, founder of the W. C. T. U. and famous temperance worker.

Mr. Willard's services as a patriotic speaker have been in demand by many of the towns in Hartford county. Last year he spoke in Wethersfield for the third time and has delivered the Memorial Day address as often in other places. The local committee is to be congratulated on securing him.

Following is the complete program of the exercises which will take place Memorial Day, Monday, May 31, at 2 P. M., at Cheney hall and at the Soldiers' monument at the Center later in the afternoon: Singing—"Battle Hymn of the Republic," audience and chorus.

Prayer—Rev. William P. Reidy.
Reading—General Orders for Memorial Day, May 5, 1868, from Commander in Chief John A. Logan, G. A. R.—Carl Cubberly Singing—"Onward Christian Soldiers," audience and chorus.

Reading—General Orders for Memorial Day, April 5, 1926 from Commander in Chief John B. Inman, G. A. R.—Carl Cubberly Service—Drake Post, No. 4, G. A.

Beth Crockett

Miss Beth Crockett, 16, of Little Rock, Ark., is the sole surviving member of the family of the famous Davy Crockett, frontiersman. She owns the rifle which he used in his fights half a century ago, and three states—Arkansas, Tennessee and Texas—are trying to get it for their museums.

R—Chaplain William Ferguson Singing—"Tenting Tonight"—Pupils of Manchester Green School Address—William A. Willard. Singing—"Tramp, Tramp, Tramp,"—pupils of Green School. "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address"—Robert Dickson. Singing—"America," audience and chorus. Benediction—Rev. P. J. O. Cornell. Miss Mabel Lauphear, principal of the Manchester Green school will be musical director and Miss Marlon Forward of the High school, organist.

Program of Exercises at Monument. Music—Salvation Army Band. Prayer—Rev. Watson Woodruff. Decoration Service—Drake Post, No. 4, G. A. R. Chaplain William Ferguson. Decoration Service—Ward Cheney

Camp, U. S. W. V., Commander George Johnson. Singing—"Star Spangled Banner," audience and band. Reading Names of Deceased Comrades and Benediction—Rev. Joseph Cooper. Gun Salute—Company G, 169th Inf., firing squad. Taps. The reading of the names of the deceased comrades since the previous Memorial Day is new to Manchester. It is the custom in Hartford, and will be followed here from now on. During the past year four Civil War veterans have died. They are: John Burd, Sanford Risley, Warren W. Bidwell and Charles A. Day. From among the Spanish War Veterans—T. Roy Carpenter. World War—Frank Civiello, Joseph A. Higgins, M. D.

YOUNG DEFEAT OLD IN ART OF LAYING EGGS

Washington—The younger of the hen species is more prolific than her older sister, according to records of an egg-laying contest just received by the Department of Commerce from Buenos Aires.

A young White Leghorn pullet won the Argentine contest. During eight months she laid 162 eggs.

The best record achieved by hens was by a White Wyandotte, which laid 121 eggs during the eight months.

LOCAL TRACK TEAM PLAYS NEW BRITAIN

Minus Services of Billy Hall, S. M. H. S. Faces Tough Foe Tomorrow Morning in New Britain.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, in New Britain, "Pete" Wigen's undefeated S. M. H. S. track team will meet the Hardware City team.

In the dashes the locals have "Red" Sheridan, who has already stepped the hundred in under eleven seconds, and who has made good time in the 220-yard dash.

In the mile run New Britain and Manchester will be about even. Joe McCluskey of Manchester and Sochinsky of New Britain seem to be both able to run it in about the same time.

YOUNG DEFEAT OLD IN ART OF LAYING EGGS

Washington—The younger of the hen species is more prolific than her older sister, according to records of an egg-laying contest just received by the Department of Commerce from Buenos Aires.

A young White Leghorn pullet won the Argentine contest. During eight months she laid 162 eggs.

The best record achieved by hens was by a White Wyandotte, which laid 121 eggs during the eight months.

The Guard Report

Weekly News Items from Manchester's N. G. Companies.

The drill period on Monday evening was devoted entirely to moving the clothing lockers from the supply cages down-stairs in the armory to the equipment room in the head-house which has just been completed. With the aid of a Ford truck and hearty co-operation of the men, the job of moving the hundred and odd lockers was soon accomplished.

The Company has been invited to march as escort in the Memorial Day parade and Capt. Bissell has issued the following orders:

First call, 1:40 daylight saving time.

Assembly, 1:45 daylight saving time.

Bill of dress: Wool uniform, service cap, sidearms.

After the Memorial Day parade there will be a joint smoker of the Howitzer Company and Company

G. Lieut. Tedford is chairman for the Howitzer Company and Lieut. Thompson for G. Company. Sergt. Duke, Corporal Jobert and Cook Downing have been named as a committee from G. Company. There will be a meeting of the smoker committee Friday evening at 7:15 daylight saving time.

Lieut. Quiah is expected home from Fort Benning about the second of June. He is coming home by boat which will take a little longer than the all-rail trip.

Company G furnished a firing squad for Dr. Higgins' funeral, the following men acting on the same:

Sergt. Hagedorn, Sergt. Milligan, First Private Kearns, Pats Bissell, Pat McCavanaugh, Downing, Tom Morgan, George Morgan, Wolfram and Musician Rubin. The squad was under the command of Capt. Bissell.

Every scout in Manchester is expected to be on hand for the Memorial Day parade, in uniform, if possible. If a scout is without a uniform he should be on hand just the same. A full attendance is anticipated.

All the scouts will assemble at 2:30 promptly on Hartford road in front of Cheney hall. Each troop will appoint a color guard to carry the flag of United States as well as their troop flag.

Scout masters who have any questions regarding the parade will please telephone Commissioner Irvine.

Complete details regarding the Memorial Day services and parade will appear in Saturday's issue of The Manchester Herald.

STRONG LIVESTOCK SHOW AT CONNECTICUT STATE FAIR

The Connecticut State Fair will reap the benefit this year through a rearrangement of dates of members of the Eastern Fair Circuit. The New York State Fair at Syracuse will come the week before Hartford allowing the Hartford institution to take its place between Syracuse and the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield.

This arrangement will result in the biggest livestock show that Connecticut has ever known due to the many prominent exhibitors who move over the eastern circuit and will give Connecticut breeders an opportunity to compete against and to study the best types.

Connecticut will be further benefited this year because of the beef cattle show at the Sesqui Centennial following the Connecticut State Fair as many exhibitors throughout New England will stop at Hartford on their way to the centennial.

To make the State Fair more interesting and instructive to both exhibitors and the people in attendance new classes have been added, old classifications have been revised and more money is being offered for premiums in every class.

DR. GOFF GETS LETTER FROM ROBERT LINCOLN

Had Invited Son of Abraham Lincoln to Speak Here on Memorial Day.

Dr. C. W. Goff, chairman of the Memorial Day committee has in his possession a letter which he prizes so much that he has had it photographed. It is from Robert Lincoln, only surviving son of the great emancipator, who is now 83 years old.

Dr. Goff after he was appointed chairman of arrangements for the approaching Memorial Day, conceived the idea of inviting Mr. Lincoln to give the address at Cheney hall next Monday. Following is the copy of Mr. Lincoln's reply:

C. W. Goff, Esquire, Chairman Memorial Day Committee, South Manchester, Connecticut. My dear Sir: Your telegram of the 22nd came duly to hand, and while I greatly appreciate the honor conferred upon me by the Memorial Day Committee of South Manchester in requesting my presence as speaker on the occasion of your Memorial Day service, I beg to advise you that the condition of my health in recent years has precluded any possibility of my participating in public functions of this nature. Furthermore, the trip necessarily incident to my presence at the meeting would be, I fear, impracticable.

May I, however, express to you and through you to those who attend the service my appreciation of your request and my best wishes for a successful meeting?

Believe me, Very truly yours, ROBERT LINCOLN.

Robert Todd Lincoln graduated from Harvard in 1864 and served under General Grant until the end of the Civil War. He was admitted to the bar and built up a large professional business in Chicago. He was appointed secretary of war under President Garfield. From 1889 to 1893 he was United States ambassador to Great Britain. Later he became president of the Pullman Company and was a director in many large corporations. He was present at the dedication of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington in 1922.
