ANOTHER MAN MAY HAVE DIED IN PIT, BELIEF

Although Herald Finds Wilcox, Bones Found Will Be Analyzed—State Police at Work on Case.

Despite the information obtained by The Herald late yesterday afternoon that Howard Wilcox, Marlborough's missing charcoal pit tender, had not been burned to death as reported, state police and others who saw the bones which were excavated from the pit in the search for Wilcox, are of the belief they are the charred remains of a human.

Excitement, however, among the residents of Marlborough, Gilead and Hebron has ended now that Wilcox is found. They had believed him dead. Although this end of the mystery has been solved, The Herald, another has loomed. The fact that the bones found in the pit so strongly resemble a man's has caused all kinds of rumors.

In speaking about the mystery yesterday one of the prominent residents of Marlborough said he had burned more than 100 charcoal pits and had never seen anything that resembled the bones taken from the Cassella pit. He was certain they were bones of a man.

Wilcox is 65 years old. He has been working as a charcoal pit burner for 35 years. At one time he worked in Manchester.

OUSTED SHERIFF WINS IN MAINE PRIMARY

Augusta, Me., June 22.—Vindication at the hands of Kennebec county voters was claimed by Henry P. Cummings, ousted sheriff, today. Cummings had 6,252 votes against 4,356 for Ira A. Witham, I. the count in the Republican primaries.

Governor Ralph O. Brewster, who cast the deciding vote against Cummings in the ouster proceedings and who has opposed state aid of sectarian institutions, led his opponent, Major Arthur L. Thayer, by more than 3,000.

Ira Hawley, the only congressional candidate in the Republican primaries with opposition, was far in the lead.

Democratic primary candidates had no opposition.

NINA WILCOX PUTNAM ASSAULT WITNESS

Before Grand Jury in Case of Girl Who Accuses Men of Beating Her.

White Plains, N. Y., June 22.—The Westchester grand jury today was investigating charges made by Miss Violet Anderson, model and moon pianist, against two young men who she asserts, beat her when they took her for an automobile ride three weeks ago. She says all her clothes were torn from her and that the men beat her with their belts.

It was reported this morning that the grand jury would indict the two men, who are reported to have fled to Canada.

Nina Wilcox Putnam, author, was a witness before the grand jury. The nature of her testimony could not be learned.

Miss Anderson is 20 years old.

SHOOTS LITTLE GIRL AS CHILDREN LAUGH

Worcester, June 22.—Rose Marchese, 10, died early today from a rifle bullet in the head. Rose was with a group of children who were laughing in the street when Nicola Fustuaci, 35, irritated at their merriment, it is alleged, seized a rifle and fired into the group. Fustuaci is under arrest.

POPE PLANS WAR ON PRESENT-DAY STYLES.

Rome, June 22.—Pope Pius is planning a world-wide war against the present female fashions, according to the Radio Nazionale.

The Pope, this agency says, has not only issued instruction to Vatican chamberlains to bar women wearing short dresses and low-necked gowns from papal audiences, but has appealed to the delegates to the young women's Catholic associations to fight against the extreme modes. Italian priests are refusing admission to the church to women wearing what they believe to be immodest dresses.

A papal encyclical, calling on the faithful throughout the world to fight immodest garb for women, may be issued shortly, the Radio Nazionale says.

CROSSING FIGURES IN ANOTHER CRASH

Trolley Hits Truck at Stockhouse Road—Scene of Bad Smash.

The Stockhouse Road crossing on North Main street which recently was the scene of a serious accident when a trolley car smashed an automobile, today figured in a like accident. Although today's crash did not result seriously, it nevertheless points to the need of more careful driving on the part of both the motormen of trolleys and automobile drivers at this crossing.

This morning's accident occurred at 8:15. A trolley car loaded with passengers was west-bound. It was in charge of Motorman John Cavanaro and Conductor Edgar Meek. The truck, a Mack, operated by Herman J. Sloane of 45 Robins Drive, Wethersfield, belonged to the Standard Oil Company. Sloane was proceeding east on North Main street and was turning into Stockhouse Road when the truck was hit by the trolley car.

The rear end of the truck and the vestibule of the trolley were demolished. Motorman Cavanaro sustained a leg injury. No one else was hurt although the passengers in the trolley were shaken up considerably. The passengers were transferred to another trolley and the damaged car went to the barn at the Center under its own power.

Sergeant William Barron and Policeman R. H. Wittalla investigated the accident.

YALE HAS ITS FIRST SPLIT COMMENCEMENT

600 College and Sheff Men Get Degrees Today, Graduate School Men Tomorrow.

New Haven, June 22.—Under a cloudy sky six hundred men of the Senior classes of Yale College and Sheffield Scientific School walked into Woolsey Hall here this morning to receive their degrees in course from James Rowland Angell, president of Yale University. The event formed the first senior day at Yale's double-barreled commencement, made necessary for the first time in Yale's 225 years of life by the large number of graduates.

Woolsey Hall, seating 3,000 persons, was jammed with relatives and friends of the graduates. The exercises marking the presentation of diplomas were simple, the ceremonious part of commencement being reserved for tomorrow, when the degrees of graduates schools are awarded and a number of honorary degrees are bestowed.

Alumni re-union dinners will be held at a score of places about the town tonight. Following the main commencement exercises tomorrow the annual alumni luncheon, marked by important announcements, will be held in Yale Commons, and a reception by President and Mrs. Angell, lasting throughout the afternoon, closes the commencement season.

YACHT, FOUR PERSONS IN PERIL ON MICHIGAN

Great Lakes Visited by a Storm That Wrecks U. S. Sub-Chaser.

Detroit, June 22.—A storm brought danger to one boat and perhaps to a second on one of the Great Lakes within the last 24 hours, endangering more than two score lives.

Fear for a small yacht carrying four passengers which was reported disabled in the middle of Lake Michigan became general today when it was learned Coast Guards had not sighted her.

A United States Navy sub-chaser with 40 naval reserve cadets aboard, was driven on the rocks in the harbor at Mackinac Island and partly wrecked. The cadets were taken off the craft during the night.

MAJOR, CADET DIE IN FALL OF ARMY PLANE

Moose, Once Commander of Mitchell Field and a West Point Senior Victims of Tail Spin.

LANZANO IS GIVEN 60 DAYS, $300 FINE

Stiff Sentence for Thrice Convicted Hooch Seller; Carlotta Discharged.

Raphael Lanzano of Bissell street was given a sixty-day jail sentence by Judge Johnson in the Manchester police court this morning for keeping liquor with intent to sell and actual sale. Lanzano was represented by Attorney William S. Hyde who entered a plea of guilty to both counts. It was his third offense.

The only witness for the state was Chief Samuel G. Gordon. He told the court the story of the visit he and Sergeant Barron made last Sunday morning. The chief and sergeant found Lanzano actually serving liquor to a customer and the man admitted his guilt.

Heavy Fine Too. Besides the jail sentence a fine of $150 on each count was imposed. Through his attorney Lanzano gave notice of an appeal and a bond of $500 was furnished for his appearance at the September term of the Superior Court.

Orazio Carlotta who was charged yesterday with assault on his brother-in-law, John Desimone, and whose case was continued from yesterday was allowed to go as the evidence was insufficient to prove the man's guilt.

WINS PRIZE FOR NAMING OMAHA MODEL HOME.

Mrs. Maude Tryon Hickson of Omaha, Nebraska, formerly of this place, has been selected as a prize-winner for one of the best names submitted for the model home, recently planned and built by the Slater company of Omaha. The judges consisted of newspaper representatives from the Omaha World-Herald, the Omaha Daily News and the Omaha Bee. The winners were chosen from thousands of sealed answers received. Mrs. Hickson's name for the model home was "Kom-fe-hilt."

KENTUCKIAN SLAIN ON PELHAM LINKS

Body of Joseph Veal of Lexington, With $600 in Shoes, Found Riddled.

New Rochelle, June 22.—Police today identified the body of a man found on the Pelham golf course as that of Joseph Veal of Lexington, Ky.

Veal had been shot through the heart, and there were three other bullet holes in the body, all surrounded by powder burns, indicating that the gun was held close when the trigger was pulled.

No identifying papers were found yesterday when the body was discovered but today friends of the dead man appeared. In his socks police found two rolls of bills totaling $600.

They doubt that robbery was the motive, and state that they will be able to clear up the murder soon.

TAFT, STILL ILL, HAS TO POSTPONE TRIP

Chief Justice May Leave for Canada After Another Week's Rest.

Washington, June 22.—The condition of Chief Justice William Howard Taft, who has been confined to his home for several weeks, was reported somewhat improved today.

The Tafts were to have left today for their summer home at Murray Bay, Canada, but the continuing illness of the chief justice has forced the postponement of the departure for another week.

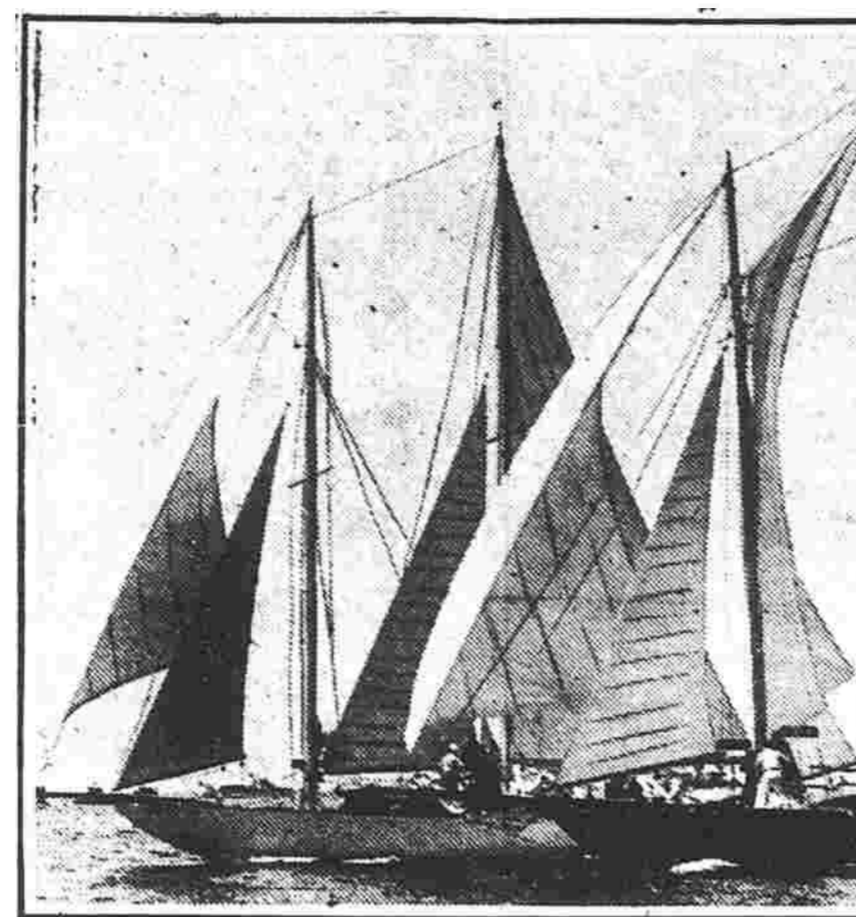

FIVE YEARS FOR HAVING MAIL ROBBERY LOOT

Chicago, June 22.—Joseph R. Thaw, in a statement today, commented on a story published in New York in which she was quoted as saying that Thaw killed Stanford White, the famous architect, over a prominent actress—and not over her.

Ever since the sensational shooting—White's attentions to Evelyn Nesbit had been generally accepted as the motive for the murder. Recalling the tragedy and events preceding it, Miss Nesbit said today:

"Harry was paying attention to an actress. She was a very good friend of mine. In 1901, before

ONLY JEWELS IN OLGA'S FORTUNE

But Greek Queen Left Over Two Million Dollars' Worth of Them to Family.

Rome, June 22.—Olga, formerly dowager queen of Greece, who died here on Saturday, left only her jewels as a heritage, it was disclosed today.

Much of the queen's property was expropriated when she was forced to leave Greece with the royal entourage. It is estimated that she left 12,000,000 lira (worth $2,000,000 worth) of jewels.

"As I loved you all equally, I beg of you to divide my jewels in equal parts among you," said the will of Queen Olga. The will also asked that her children care for two aged servants, one of whom is ill, suggesting that some of her jewels be sold for this purpose if necessary.

Undaunted by the rejection of his proposal that the queen be buried in Athens, General Pansalos, Greek dictator, has sent a wreath and ordered all members of the Greek legation here to attend the funeral services today.

The coffin was wrapped in the Greek flag, emblem of the nation which had sent Queen Olga and her royal sons into exile.

REFUSED FOOD, HE STABS WAITRESSES

Boston Man, Drink Crazed, Knives Cafe Employees Then Walks Away.

Boston, June 22.—Two women were stabbed in the Florence cafe early today when a drink-crazed man, known as "Tony" went mad when the management refused to serve him food.

The man plunged a dirk into the arm of Mrs. Ponsi Sobol, 22, a waitress, and into the side of Miss Lillian Green, 36, who sought to interfere. The dirk struck a corset steel and this saved Miss Green's life.

With both women lying helpless and bleeding on the floor and with other patrons cowering in corners, the stabber easily made his escape.

Evelyn Nesbit Not Real Woman in Case, Asserts

Declares That Thaw Killed Stanford White Over Another Woman, An Actress Who Had Turned from Him in Anger at a Cut in Public.

Atlantic City, June 22.—Evelyn Nesbit, former wife of Harry K. Thaw, in a statement today, commented on a story published in New York in which she was quoted as saying that Thaw killed Stanford White, the famous architect, over a prominent actress—and not over her.

Ever since the sensational shooting—White's attentions to Evelyn Nesbit had been generally accepted as the motive for the murder. Recalling the tragedy and events preceding it, Miss Nesbit said today:

MINNESOTA G. O. P. WETS BEAT DRYS.

Candidate Backed by Anti-Saloon League Swamped in St. Paul District.

St. Paul, June 22.—The wets won an overwhelming victory over their dry opponents in the race for congressional offices in the Minnesota primary election, returns from 1,850 of the state's 3,589 precincts indicated today.

Modification of the dry law was an outstanding issue in the Congressional race in both the fourth and eighth districts, and in each of these the Republican "wet" candidates emerged victorious by commanding margins.

Majority Over Two. Melvin J. Maas, young St. Paul bond salesman, campaigning on a dry law modification platform, received 15,746 votes against 8,588 for Fred B. Snyder, dry candidate who had received endorsement of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league, with 80 per cent of the returns for the Fourth Minnesota congressional district reported.

Representative Oscar E. Keller, veteran member of Congress from the Fourth district which includes the city of St. Paul, was trailing with 5,240.

Magnus Seems Winner. Attempting a political comeback following his defeat in 1924 for reelection to the United States Senate, Ex-Senator Magnus Johnson apparently has won the Farmer-Labor nomination for governor over Tom Davis, Minneapolis attorney, by a close margin.

Gov. Theodore Christianson is leading Mayor George E. Leach of Minneapolis by 45,000 in the race for the Republican nomination for governor.

20,000 IN DETROIT WELCOME ROYALTY

Prince and Princess See Marvels of American Motor Metropolis Today.

Detroit, Mich., June 22.—Gustav Adolphus, crown prince of Sweden and Henry Ford, automobile king, are to meet today in Highland park where the crown prince and his consort, the Princess Louise, will be shown the industrial marvels of the Ford plant.

Their journey will take them into half a dozen of the city's largest motor-car factories and is an interlude between two impressive social functions, the dinner which their host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beecher Warren, gave in their honor last night and a second to take place tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren were waiting on the train platform to greet the prince and princess when they arrived. Outside the station, 20,000 persons were massed in readiness for the welcome the citizens of Swedish descent had arranged to tender.

A group of 300 children were waiting on the steps directly opposite the station entrance, nearly hidden behind flowers and flags of the United States and Sweden.

ESME HOWARD ILL, BETTER.

Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass., June 22.—Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, ill with a severe cold, was so much improved this afternoon that he was able to leave his bed.

Sir Esme was so ill yesterday that he was obliged to cancel an engagement in Boston and to go to bed.

WEATHER BUREAU GLUM AS "SUMMER" ARRIVES

New York, June 22.—Summer made its official entrance today, according to meteorological experts.

But citizens greeted the advent of this season garbed in light overcoats, made necessary by the unreasonable gyrations of the thermometer.

The weather bureau indicated that the rest of June, and July, August and September, may be the coolest, similar period in many years.

New York's coolest summer, according to statistics, was in 1816. A century later another cool summer was in order.

BAD WEATHER AGAIN DELAYS SUB'S RAISING

Salvage Ships at Very Point of Lifting S-51 Once More Compelled by the Weather to Await Calm.

New London, June 22.—The sea was in an angry mood today as mankind prepared to retrieve its dead entombed within the sunken submarine, the S-51.

With the signal for the attempted raising of the submarine from its eight-months-old grave off Block Island expected momentarily, a sharp wind whip-lashed the waves into a small fury under a leaden sky.

More than a score of bodies of the submarine's crew of 37 are believed to be in the hull. Three men were rescued and nine bodies recovered after the fatal collision with the steamer City of Rome last fall.

Despite the unfavorable weather the navy set its jaws to complete the task which has baffled it since the disaster. A communication received today from Rear Admiral Plunkett, commanding the Third Naval District, read:

"Let nothing delay the successful termination of your mission." Admiral Plunkett wired Captain E. S. King, commander of the submarine base, as follows:

"Proceed with raising of the S-51 as soon as weather permits and otherwise ready." Four judgments in all matters has been correct.

The S-50 and S-51 arrived at the scene of operations this morning with air tanks filled. The submarines will aid in pumping the compressed air into the eight pontoons girded to the S-51. When the pontoons are filled, the S-51 is expected to rise.

The fretting of the paraffinella by the choppy sea caused a slight mechanical accident which was hoped to be adjusted shortly. Otherwise the 300 men in the salvage fleet are ready to take their post for the great experiment, the first engineering feat of its kind in the history of the navy.

A flotilla of coast-guard vessels were dispatched to keep curious craft from interfering with the operation.

Raising Impracticable. A message sent by Captain E. J. King, base commander, who is directing operations, and received at the base about 11 o'clock, read: "Diving will be difficult and raising impracticable unless weather moderates."

Captain King asked that all information regarding weather be sent to him at four-hour intervals. He recorded the southwest breeze and reported that the Falcon, one of the salvage vessels, was filling the pontoons with compressed air to maintain them in a condition of readiness.

A possible storm was brewing, indicating that actual raising operations might be delayed until calm again came.

Captain King's message was sent to the base, and copies were sent to the commandant at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and the chief of naval operations at Washington.

COOLIDGE SEES NEW TAX CUTS AS DOUBTFUL

Excess of $390,000,000 in 1926 Is No Guarantee Against a Deficit in 1928. He Tells Business Meeting.

Washington, June 22.—Reviewing the results of his constructive economy policy and five years under the budget system, President Coolidge declared last night that the prospect for a further tax reduction in the near future could not be foretold until the government knew definitely the revenue-producing ability of the present revenue act.

He spoke before the eleventh regular meeting of the Business Organization of the Government, which was attended by Cabinet officials.

Surprising Surplus. He surprised his listeners by giving the estimated surplus of this fiscal year as about $390,000,000 and the grand gross debt reduction of $836,193,888, but painted a dark picture as to conditions in 1928, and the increasing expenditures of local Governments.

Stressing the decreased expenditures of the Federal Government and its reduced taxation, the President said the State and local Governments had increased their expenditures from 1921 to 1925 by more than $1,000,000,000 during which period the Federal Government had reduced its expenditures by $2,000,000,000. In 1925, when the cost of all Governments was more than $11,500,000,000 the Federal Government's expenditure represented 27 per cent of the total, as against 60 per cent of the total in 1921. The increase in local Government expenditures, he asserted, was a liability against the Federal Government.

Anxiety Regarding 1928. While the surplus this year exceeded the original estimates, and the surplus in 1927 was estimated by the President at $135,000,000, if the expenditures then do not exceed $3,500,000,000 this excellent financial condition could not be considered as a safe indication of the revenue that would be produced next year, he said.

Until this time he had been predicting a probable deficit in 1927, but the surplus this year apparently had wiped out this possibility. The President now foresees a deficit developing in 1928 unless extreme economy is applied.

SOCIALISTS MAKING TROUBLE FOR BRIAND

Warn Him They Will Oppose Doumer, Whom He Has Picked for Finance.

Paris, June 22.—Further troubles arose for M. Briand when socialist and radical Socialist leaders called on him this afternoon and told him they were opposed to the proposed financial program of M. Doumer, who is slated as possible minister of Finance. The Socialists said they would prefer the program of M. Poincare.

During the afternoon M. Briand will make a final effort to induce M. Poincare to accept the ministry of finance, and if he persists in his refusal he may be omitted from the cabinet altogether. In this event, M. Briand will probably make another attempt to induce M. Caillaux to enter the cabinet.

AROUND-WORLD SPEED ARTISTS MEET DELAY

Paris, June 22.—Edward Evans and Linton Wells, Americans who are seeking to break the world-circumnavigation record, left Cherbourg in a racing auto for Le Bourget today. The airplane which they had engaged to pick them up after disembarking from the Aquitania was disabled when it broke a propeller blade in landing at Cherbourg.

A special plane has been ordered to convey the pair from Le Bourget to Berlin.

The world circulators arrived at Cherbourg several hours behind their schedule owing to foggy weather encountered in crossing.

PRINCIPAL WARNS STUDENTS OF H. S.

Tells Them Last Week's Doings Disgraced Institution; Both Factions to Blame.

"Remember, Seniors, you are not yet graduated and will not be until you get your diplomas."

This solemn warning by Principal Quimby at a special assembly of the High school probably was responsible for the orderly conduct of the 700 odd students of the local High school yesterday after the disturbances that excited the lower section of the town during the latter part of last week.

Assembly Called.—It was shortly after 11 o'clock when orders came to all of the rooms for the students to assemble. As soon as they had been seated, Principal Quimby began.

"I regard the events of the past week as undesirable, to put it mildly. The actions of some of our students and the attending publicity has brought disgrace to our High school."

Students Disgraced.—"It is up to you, Seniors, and you undergraduates, to live this disgrace down and not the members of the faculty. Seniors, I told you you were excused on Friday and warned you not to congregate around the school nor on school property. I advised all of you to go to your homes and had you done so these things would not have happened."

Disregarded Warning.—"Despite this advice and despite these warnings you came down here. Some of the Seniors even came into the school to molest students on Friday as they passed from room to room."

"It is needless to go into details. The harm has been done. Both the Seniors and the undergraduates are equally to blame."

"Let me warn you to never again attempt anything like this." Superintendent Verplank next spoke a few words stating that he endorsed all what Principal Quimby had said and the assembly was dismissed.

DANCING IN SCHOOL STARTS DISCUSSION

May Have to Use Room for Pupils in Buckland, It Is Reported.

There was practically no opposition shown last evening at the annual meeting of the Seventh school district voters held in the Buckland school. Between fifty and sixty voters were present and everything went through in the scheduled manner.

Andrew J. Healey was chosen moderator. The reports of the district officers were read and accepted. The same set of officers was re-elected for the ensuing year.

It was unanimously voted to lay a tax of 2 1/2 mills to meet the district obligations payable September 1. No opposition was offered.

One of the problems discussed was the question of abolishing dances in the school. It was stated that the congestion in the grades was such that the room now used for dancing will have to be changed into a school room. However, it will be so arranged that the desks and chairs will be movable. The matter of whether dancing will be allowed was left optional. It will be decided by the district committee.

The officers elected for the ensuing year follows: Committee—Andrew J. Healey, David Armstrong, Edward P. Stein, clerk and treasurer. Charles I. Baker, tax collector. Walter Keeney, auditors. Frank E. Smith and Joseph McElarnid.

COMMUNITY CLUB NINE BEAT PLANTATION BOYS

Second Twilight Game on Playgrounds Develops Brilliant Plays and Comedy.

In a closely contested game the Community club defeated the colored Plantation Boys on the North End playground last night. In the first inning, Hamaker, first baseman for the dusky team started hostilities by making the circuit for a home run on a low hit and an error by Kerbert of the Community club. At the beginning of the second inning the Plantation team was leading by two runs. The Community team however took a brace while at the bat and after the smoke had cleared away in that frame the Community team was in the clear and leading by three runs. Not much damage was done by either team in the next two frames. In the fifth inning the Plantation Boys started to solve Hamaker's curves and touched him three times. This inning proved almost disastrous for the Community team with Varick being pounded hard. The final results being as follows: Community club.....051 00-6 Plantation Boys.....200 03-5

BUTLER GETS HIS HARBOR.

Washington, June 22.—The Senate committee today approved plans for a survey of the harbor at New Bedford, Mass. Offered as an amendment to the rivers and harbors bill by Senator Butler, Republican, of Massachusetts, the survey would be made with a view to deepening the harbor.

ST. MARY'S OUTING.

Further plans for their annual outing were discussed by the members of St. Mary's young men's club at their monthly meeting last night. The meeting was presided over by Rev. J. Stuart Neill, president of the club.

The outing will be held at Columbia lake on Saturday and automobiles will leave the club at 1 o'clock. A chicken dinner will be served at 5 o'clock.

Fred Knoffa, chairman of the committee on arrangements, has asked that all who are going notify him before Wednesday night.

Summer school opens Tuesday, July 6 at 8.45. Students are enrolling now. Conn. Business College, Odd Fellows Building.—adv.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

At yesterday afternoon's High school assembly, Principal C. P. Quimby presented letters to members of the various school organizations that had been recommended by the student council. The school this year has been most successful in practically all its endeavors in the field of sports as well as in other activities in which it has been represented. Mr. Quimby said that it gave him much pleasure to present, in the name of the student council, these various awards.

The debating team, although not successful in winning permanent possession of the John A. Danaher debating trophy this year, did good work. Those who took part in the Triangular Debate were awarded literary insignias. The following received them: Marjorie Smith, George Krause, Erna Kanehl, Marjorie H. Smith, John Dwyer, Emma Strickland, Geraldine Dodwell, and Paul Packard.

The school orchestra, which has done creditable work throughout the year in playing for the school assemblies and for various school activities, received emblems of musical appreciation. The following were those who received them: Eleanor Dwyer, Miriam Silcox, Hazel Robinson, Raink, Krieski, Goodstein, Keith, Dzidus, Warnock, Campbell, Olive Smith, F. Schultz, Tomlinson, Marcella Welch, Wilson, Hickling, Lyons, McKinney, Coleman, Briggs, Donahue and Lucille Clarke.

Various awards, consisting of medals, pins, etc., were made in the commercial department for excellence in typewriting. Those who received awards were the following: Anna Cervini, Viola Smith, Walter Anderson, Belleoda Nelson, Geraldine Dodwell, Alice Steinberg, E. McKinney, F. McCollum, Eva Fantom, Ruth Ferris, L. Gates, Elizabeth Moriarty, Marjorie H. Smith, George Smith, Tina Gallagher, and Sturgeon.

The Harvard Prize, for highest excellence in scholarship and character among the college preparatory students in the Junior class, was awarded to Stephen Williams.

Miss Alice Modin, on behalf of the Argonaut Club, presented to the junior high school two pictures, which had been purchased with the money received from that club's presentation of the one act play, "Three Pills in a Bottle." These pictures will be hung in the Franklin school, the junior high school building.

The names of those who received letters on athletics will be found on another page.

CHENEYS' AUXILIARY DEPTS. PLAN OUTING

Next Saturday, June 26 at East Hampton, the Auxiliary Departments of Cheney Brothers will have their annual outing. This includes the following subdivisions: Machine Shop, Electrical Department, Outside Labor, Carpenter Shop, Paper Box Shop, Paint Shop Power and Heat.

Lunch will be served at one o'clock. The menu is clam chowder and crackers. From one to five will be sports as follows: 100 yard dash (open), 50 yard dash (15 years and over), Volley ball (by department), Boat race (by department), 50 yard dash (fat men), Baseball (by department), 2 legged race (by department), Tug of war (by department), Horse shoe pitching (doubles). The big chicken dinner will be served at five o'clock. The menu will be half broiled chicken, mashed potatoes, string beans, spaghetti, rolls and coffee, ice cream and cookies.

If the weather is as pleasant as last week-end, this outing will probably be the biggest one ever held at this place. The enthusiastic athletes of all the departments

MASS MEETING TONIGHT AT THE STATE ARMORY

Noted Speakers and Refreshments—Young Men Asked to Join Up.

There will be a mass meeting tonight in the clubroom of the Howitzer company in the new head house of the Armory. All young men of military age are cordially invited to attend. Refreshments and smokes will be furnished.

The advantages of National Guard training as organized under the federal government will be explained. Speakers will include Col. D. Gordon Hunter of the 159th Infantry, Col. Harry Bissell, U. S. P. and D. O. of Connecticut, Col. William C. Cheney, and Col. Clifford D. Cheney.

Never before in the history of the National Guard in Manchester have the advantages of membership been so great. The pay for service in the guard, the ideal camp site for summer training, with its facilities for recreation, the leisure time for athletics during camp, and the use of the new armory for the winter months, all combine to make membership in the guard a thing which no young man can afford to pass by.

Automobiles bearing a placard marked "Armory" will patrol Main street from the terminus to Depot Square from 7.15 to 8 p. m. and give free transportation to all young men desiring to attend the mass meeting.

Automobiles bearing a placard marked "Armory" will patrol Main street from the terminus to Depot Square from 7.15 to 8 p. m. and give free transportation to all young men desiring to attend the mass meeting.

After brief talks by the various speakers, any questions regarding the National Guard will be gladly answered. The young men of Manchester are counted upon to back up the military standing of the town by turning out in large numbers to the meeting. You owe it to yourselves and to the town to find out what the National Guard has to offer you in return for your service. Hail one of the automobiles and come along.

FARMERS' 'FLIGHT.'

In the course of a set argument for the protective tariff policy—a rather unnecessary argument, it seems to us—and seeking to explain why the American farmer "is more or less behind his fellow countrymen in prosperity," the New York Tribune, like almost every other newspaper and individual who discusses this subject, misses entirely what seems to us to be the real substance of the whole business.

Take the average country boy and the average city boy, neither of whom has any capital with which to start life except his two hands and the quality of industry. The city boy gets a job which pays him more money than the job of the country boy. He spends most of it. Where the country boy takes his fun with a rod or a gun the city boy buys theatre tickets. The latter's clothes cost him two or three times as much as the farmer youth's. So, by the same token, does his food.

The country boy lives a plainer life than his town cousin, but very seldom without a more definite objective. He aspires in most cases to become his own boss, to have his own farm as well as his own home. The time and the money which the city youth spends on merely living, the farm lad devotes to capitalizing his future. Instead of moving into an installment apartment on his wedding day he is very apt to move into his own farm house, probably with a mortgage on it but his, in title. And from that time on he is an accumulator.

He buys rakes and spades and harrows and tractors and separators and other tangible property instead of theater tickets and synthetic gin. He pays something, when he can, on the mortgage. He is often short of money; a dollar looks big to him; but from the time he is sixteen years old until he dies he is very apt indeed to be adding something, year by year, to the value of his farm and its equipment, even if he never gets into the bond buying or investing class. His money goes to the creation of an estate. The scale of his living depends largely on the accumulation of a bank of capital, not often in cash but in tangible effects, and because of this he goes without many of the temporarily pleasing things that the town man has.

On however small a scale, the farmer is usually a true capitalist, though he may have to supplement the earnings of his capital by his own toil. The city worker, on the average, is a true proletarian, has nothing in the world but a few sticks of furniture and a job. He has spent his earnings to live on. The farmer, of necessity, saves much of his earnings in the form of land, stock and equipment.

It is not only true that you cannot eat your cake and have it too, it is equally certain that you cannot have it and eat it. The farmer is the fellow who has it.

If the agriculturalist should be able to live on exactly the same scale as the town man, on an average, and in addition thereto be able to build up his farm as he is always trying to build it, he would be so infinitely better off than the city man that there would be no comparison.

Before so much thought is given to solving the problem of the farmer, it might be a good idea to find out something of what that problem is, if any, as compared to the lot of the industrialist.

POUNDRING DYNAMITE.

The whippersnapper senator from Missouri is having a wonderful time these days. No danger of any error as to who is meant, for there is only one whippersnapper senator from Missouri, but lest there be any who haven't noticed, his name is Reed—Jim Reed.

Possessing all the attributes of a confirmed police court lawyer together with the worrying instincts of a terrier, Reed has arrived at a seventh heaven of bliss by being put at the head of the committee investigating the Pennsylvania primary expenditures. There he can bully and insult witnesses to his heart's content without—for some inexplicable reason—any fear of a comeback; for of all the sheep ever led unreluctantly to the slaughter, the politicians who have been testifying before that committee are the easiest marks.

"If Mr. Vare said he had endorsed a note of $100,000 and that it was cashed at the Corn Exchange Bank, would that be wrong," demanded Reed of Witness Greenfield. Greenfield had explained that there were three notes totaling $100,000, while Vare himself had said that he endorsed "a note" of $100,000—in all human probability a mere inadvertence and one certainly not affecting the situation in any way.

"How would he know?" said Greenfield. "He wouldn't know where I got the money?" Which would appear to be a perfectly proper reply to a very unwise and unimproperly constructed question.

"Stop arguing and answer the question," thundered Reed. And the witness did stop arguing and answered the question, precisely like any intimidated witness in an assault case.

Some of these days some witness with a temper and a sense of his citizen's rights, when he is roughed by this chap Reed is going to reply differently. Suppose Greenfield had said: "Look here, you little muddill, don't you take that kind of a tone to me or I'll reach over there and stick you on a pin. Where do you get your backing to bully witnesses before this committee? Suppose I tell you to keep a civil tongue in your head and ask questions that can be answered or else shut up, what will you do about it—eh?"

What would little Jimmie have done about it? If he had had the witness haled to the bar of the Senate he would have been laughed out of public life. And as neither he nor his whole committee has any other recourse in such a case—being far from in the position of the police court, which can impose penalties for contempt, it behooves him, and all other congressional bullies to avoid the kind of crises which, instead, he is daily courting.

Somebody's going to fly off the handle, some day, and either put Jimmie Reed in a cuspidor or call his bluff so hard that he will suffer from shell shock for the rest of his senatorial existence. Jimmie is pounding dynamite.

JUMPY.

Those omnivorous readers of the day's news who take three or four or half a dozen newspapers may have noticed, within the last few days, what must have seemed to them a remarkable paucity of editorial comment concerning the French cabinet situation, and may have been a bit puzzled thereat, since the French crisis is liable to prove the starting point of almost anything—may have an important bearing on the course of history throughout the world.

Practically every newspaper, big and little, "sends away" its editorial page several hours before the later pages are closed and the paper goes to press. Ordinarily the lapse of time is not sufficient to endanger the timeliness of the editorial comment. But in the case of France!—when? Burned fingers!

It would be a daring editor indeed who would print an editorial for perusal this afternoon, based on the news from Paris at say ten o'clock this morning. There may be two changes of premiers in the meantime, a cabinet-framer may have come into being and may have selected his government and be deeply engaged in the business of arranging a program, in the interval between "freezing" an editorial page and starting the press. Which would make ancient history of matter treated in the current issue as fresh news. When France sneezes long enough so that she looks like she were going to stay a whole day, the commentators may have a chance.

Until then the public will have to get its French facts from the late afternoon cables and draw its own conclusions from them.

REVOLT.

One more bit of evidence was added yesterday to the chain of indications that the western wing of the Republican party is not to be longer considered as subject to the orders of the eastern wing. It had been decided in administration quarters to adjourn Congress June

30. The program had been confidentially announced. Yet that plan was summarily cast into the dustbin through a coalition of Western Republicans and Southern Democrats against the Republicans and Democrats of the East. And the significant thing is that more Republicans voted to scrap the adjournment program than voted to support it.

Whether anything will really be accomplished in the way of farm legislation or not by this session of Congress remains to be seen. It is doubtful indeed if it will be, because there is no genuine agreement as to plan among the forces which unite in agreeing that "something" must be done and who refuse to go home, just now, without attempting to find out what that something is.

But it would seem as if the time had arrived for some other policy on the part of the administration than the policy of "you shall and you shan't." This "agricultural relief" business is taking on a pretty serious aspect. It is no longer the mere slogan of a crowd of Congressional cranks. When more than half the members of the party in the House, on an average day, are willing to flout the administration's program for adjournment on the head of it, the thing has arrived at a point where it is a major matter, and must be treated so.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, June 22.—Washington is very much obliged to Philadelphia for having a Sesqui-Centennial Exposition.

Washington expects to get about as much of it as Philadelphia does and the beauty of it is—Washington's part will be clear profit, while Philadelphia will have to pay all the bills.

The theory is that most people who come any distance to see the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition will figure, while they're about it and so near, they'd better see the capital, too.

This Washington is laying her plans for the best tourist year she's ever had. In summer Washington generally is rather flat. Except under abnormal conditions, like those of the year in which it is celebrated, it is a kind of advertisement. The president's away. "Society" adjourns to other parts. The embassies and legations are run by underlings. But this season looks promising. Philadelphia has some and Washington reckons it can reap handsomely.

There are, for instance, several national conventions of various sorts which Philadelphia had expected to get but which Washington hopes to entertain instead.

Philadelphia's weakness is that she isn't geared to accommodate a violently fluctuating transient population. She's made extra preparations to take care of the Sesqui-Centennial, but she isn't geared to take care of the number of out-of-town visitors is about a stationery quantity, from year's end to year's end.

Washington is accustomed to a heavy seasonal variation. Now, in her off season, she sees a prospect of a big crop of tourists. But as to the national conventions—They'd chosen Philadelphia for the reason that it seemed easy to combine business and pleasure there—to convene and debate and resolve, and to see the exposition at the same time. At the last minute, however, it appears Philadelphia will have such a crowd that the delegates may have trouble in finding anything but bathtubs in which to lay their weary heads at night.

"We'll have lots of room," chorus the Washington hotel men. They may not have, if they get the crowds they hope they will, but it sounds good, anyway, to a bunch who are having troubles in arranging reservations in Philly.

It may fairly be surmised that Philadelphia isn't going to be overjoyed if, after doing the laborious work of milking, she had to look on and watch Washington skim off the cream.

Maybe, however, she can't help it. Washington business organizations, at any rate, are in the job. They have their representatives in the City of Brotherly Love in droves, to round up voters from the "provinces" and steer 'em this way.

Yes, Philly will be good and sore if the scheme works. In a less civilized neck of the woods than Philadelphia I wouldn't like to be one of those boosters for Washington. I'd be afraid of being ridden out of town on a rail.

Today is feast day of St. Paulinus of Nola of a family that boasted a long line of senators, prefects and consuls. The American army, under Gen. William R. Shafter, disembarked on Cuban soil June 22, 1898. Williams College was incorporated June 22, 1793. Today is birthday anniversary of Rider Haggard.

IN NEW YORK

New York, June 22.—History pops up romantically from the most unexpected places in New York.

Landmarks are most numerous in the waterfront belt where the early Dutch settlers and the revolution figures foregrounded. As time passed, the Greenwich Village zone took on gradual historic interest, becoming the residential center of the celebrated ones.

For a leisurely ramble, one can reach the Battery by elevated or subway. Walking to the Aquarium and turning due east, Pearl street is reached. On this corner stood the first Dutch church. Captain Kidd, of pirate fame, lived at No. 119.

A few blocks away, at Pearl and Broad streets, is the historic Franca's Tavern. From the second floor Washington delivered his memorable farewell to his officers. Many are the tales associated with this place. Originally it was the residence of one DeLancey.

Sold to the picturesquely named "Black Sam" Franca, a West Indian. He called it "The Queen's Head." Here gathered the "old boys" of revolutionary days and drank long and merrily of their grog. Many were the hilarious parties staged in celebration of a victory. Now it is a cafe where one can absorb much fine old atmosphere. And for a modest price.

Still on Pearl street, No. 73 was the first New York city hall. A wee bit above is the India House, famous old club.

Many relics associated with shipping, here. Turn on Broad street, you come in eschert of the oldest park. It fronts the City of the Custom's House, on the site of Ft. Amsterdam. Used by the Dutch as a parade ground. Later scene of demonstrations in revolutionary times. Still later a playground.

Follow the waterfront to Broadway. Site of the old Washington Hotel at No. 1. Robert Fulton passed his last days there. A few doors away lived Daniel Webster.

Suddenly the new clashes contrastively with the old. On one hand the Standard Oil Building towering to the sky. And the Equitable building. And the Chase National Bank. On the other, old Trinity church and St. Paul's. At No. 50, the Tower Building, often pointed out as the first steel skyscraper.

Wall street, heart of the nation's trading. The Morgan firm at No. 23. The Stock Exchange at Broad. It started in Tompkins's coffee house where a handful of merchants gathered. The vestibule enshrines a sign of Washington talking the oath of office. Once, the space where steel giants rise was occupied by pillories and stocks.

Back to Broadway and on to City Hall Square. Newspaper building. Let's sit down and rest. A nice morning's walk. What?—GILBERT SWAN.

DAILY POEM

SCHOOL IS OUT

Everything is up-side-down, in every house in every town that make things look that way are kids, of course, are runnin' loose, and mother figures, what's the use to fret and fuss when things go wrong. They'd keep her at it all day long.

Childish voices loudly ring, "cause youth, ya know, must have its fling. Doin' this, an' doin' that, till neighbors don't know where they're at. Playin' tag, an' jumpin' rope. It ain't no use to ever hope ta quiet down a peppy 'child, when kids just date on runnin' wild.

"Please be quiet," mom implores. Racin', tearin', slamm'n' doors. In the house a while, an' then, like a flash, outdoors again. Nothin' fer the tots ta do but run around an' ballyhoo. Can ya guess ta hear them shout? Here's the answer—school—is out!

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

By ARTHUR N. PACK
President, The American Nature Association.

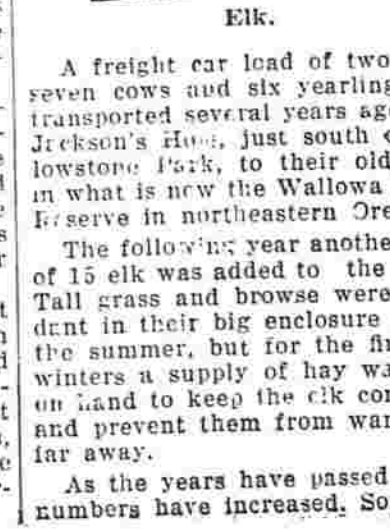

Our forefathers would have scoffed in indignation if anyone had told them that our nation might ever become so scarce that we would have to be transported by freight from one section of the country to another, and yet that is just what has happened.

The correct name of our elk is the Indian ox. Experts for the red elk of Europe is quite a different animal, corresponding to our moose.

Think of all the Elk Ridges, Mountains, counties and creeks whose names would have to be changed: No the wapiti will allude to be known as just plain elk.

This big game animal once pastured in the woods of central Massachusetts, roamed south into the Carolinas, west to the Pacific and north far into Canada, so that the original range of the wapiti was wider than most of the bison or buffalo.

Old records tell us that the last elk was killed in Pennsylvania in the fifties, and in Michigan and Minnesota some time in the seventies. Fortunately their greatest numbers survived in the Rockies, with small scattered bands in the Cascade and coast ranges bordering the Pacific.

The young animals have already been taken out to stock other forests of the state.

Today one may travel through the pine forests of the Willows and find elk roaming the mountains just as when the Nez Percé Indians hunted them many years ago.

Send a stamped addressed envelope and questions of fact having to do with nature will be answered by the consulting staff of Nature Magazine of Washington through arrangements made by this paper.

MOOSE WINS RACE. Banff, Alberta, Canada.—Straying along at 35 miles an hour, a huge moose recently won a half-mile race with an automobile driven by Byron Harmon, of Banff. The moose darted into the path of the machine, and plastered the windshield with mud from its flying hoofs. After a half-mile run, the animal turned into the thick forests skirting the highway.

CAMP PIONEER.

The first two weeks of camp starting Wednesday, June 30th, will be known as Camp Pioneer as Manchester weeks. All scouts who are planning to attend at this time must send in their applications to Hartford Council B. S. A., 55 Albany street, Hartford, not later than the coming Wednesday.

What to Bring.

Required—two or three heavy blankets, toilet articles, Scout uniform or a substitute (shorts are preferred), bathing suit, two pairs of shoes, Scout handbook, bible, Desirable—raincoat or poncho, Scout hat, Scout knife, Scout ax, fountain pen, mess kit, compass, camera, musical instruments, baseball glove, signal flag, haversack, spending money. Mark articles for identification. Use duffel bag or suit case. Wear Scout uniform to camp, if possible.

Location.

Camp Pioneer is located at West Hill pond, four miles from Westfield, four miles from New Hartford and twenty-five miles from Hartford. Good country roads are well marked by camp signs from main highways into camp.

Transportation.

This year each scout master is looking out for the transportation of the scouts of his own troop. Parents owning cars and having some going to camp are urged to take other scouts if arrangements are made with them. A jitney leaves Scout Headquarters, Hartford, at 7.30 a. m. going directly to camp, fare $1.50.

The Cost.

$7.50 a week for Hartford Council Scouts, and $9.50 for other scouts. Must be paid in advance. Bring receipt for money paid for camp or registration fee. $1.00 must accompany application as registration fee and as part camp fee. No rebate of registration fee. Campers leaving before expiration date for cause other than illness forfeit fee paid.

Who May Go.

Any registered Boy Scout or Scout Leader. Scouts who are planning to go later in the season should send in their applications at once in order to obtain reservation. Many other weeks are nearly full and especially the last week at camp. The camp is bigger and even better this year than last, which means more fun for everybody.

Outing at Pioneer.

Last Saturday and Sunday a group of Manchester scout officials and their wives and friends enjoyed an outing at Camp Pioneer while the chief attractions were boating, canoeing and swimming. The short hikes to the various interest points of the camp also furnished considerable pleasure to the visitors.

Bill, the Navy Chef located at the camp, showed his proficiency in the art of satisfying the hungry members of the party. The menu for Sunday morning breakfast included scrambled eggs served on corn bread which was very much enjoyed by each member. A chicken dinner was served that noon. The party left for home about 5 o'clock.

CARRIES COLT OUT OF A BURNING BARN.

New Haven, June 22.—Fire today swept through barns of the Collins Brothers Trucking Co., Leonard street, doing damage of approximately $50,000, destroying three huge motor moving vans and other vehicles. Firemen removed fourteen horses and a pony from the building at an early stage of the fire, the pony being carried out in the arms of Captain Jack Sweeney when it was too terrorized to walk out.

ADAMS COTTON MILL CLOSED BY A STRIKE.

Adams, Mass., June 22.—The Berkshire Cotton Company's plant, employing about 2,000, is closed down today by a strike of the Polish Weavers' Union. About ninety per cent of the employees refused to go to work. The strike followed action of the company in refusing to take back 40 speeder tenders who quit work last week when told they were to run three frames instead of two.

"Liberty's" Model Homes

All being built with an Amazing Lumber!

The history of these four houses is interesting. Last Fall, Liberty published an article describing one woman's experience in building a home. Thousands of letters were received asking for more articles on this fascinating subject—and so Liberty decided to "adopt" four homes-in-the-making. From the hundreds of homes offered for "adoption," four were selected, varying in cost and type of construction. They are widely separated geographically. For six weeks, beginning June 12th, Liberty is following the building of these homes in a series of articles which contain practical, helpful suggestions on the subject nearest the heart of every American family—a home of enduring comfort.

If you have not read these articles, be sure to see the current issue of Liberty—on the newsstands now.

offers advantages found in no other building material. Unlike ordinary insulation, Celotex is not an extra item in building. Wherever used, in the walls, roof and ceiling of a house, it replaces one or more other materials, and actually saves money.

Smaller, less expensive plants keep Celotex houses warm. And year after year, their owners will save from 25% to 35% of their fuel bills!

These great advantages are available right now for every home, new or old. No one can afford to build or buy a house today without full knowledge of Celotex. Let us tell you more about it.

Each is a thoroughly typical American home, built in accordance with American standards of taste and comfort.

The owners of every one of these houses are building with an amazing heat-stopping lumber! For they realize that wood, brick, plaster, concrete, etc., do not effectively keep sun heat from beating in or furnace heat from leaking out.

This lumber is Celotex. It is not cut from trees, but is manufactured from the long, tough fibres of cane into broad, strong boards. Celotex resists the passage of heat and cold many times as effectively as wood lumber, masonry and other wall and roof materials. It shuts out wind and moisture... quiets sound.

WHY THEY CHOSE THIS INSULATION. Celotex was selected by these progressive home owners because it

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA

General Custer (5)

—By Redner

Only a small portion of the great Indian gathering was visible to Custer as he approached, and he far underestimated the number of warriors. In the meantime, scouts stationed by Sitting Bull high on the bluffs, warned the village of the coming of the white soldiers. Immediately the Indians rushed to get set for battle, which Custer misinterpreted as a move to retreat.

He saw herds of ponies in excited movement, horsemen scurrying, turmoil and confusion. Lodges were being hastily taken down and their occupants apparently fleeing.

Quickly Custer determined his course. Word was sent to Reno to attack the southern end of the village, while Custer was pitching in from the east.

In the meantime Benteen's advance took him far south of the village—out of touch with Custer and Reno. Reno, however, forded the Little Big Horn and saw the full size of the great Indian gathering. His attack was spiritless, as he realized the folly of battle with a valley full of Indians, when he had but two hundred soldiers. His outfit was driven back across the river. CONTINUED

INTERESTING HOUSE PLAN

Here is a home that achieves fully the effect that the small house builder always seeks—the effect of greater size and spaciousness than it actually possesses. The graceful lines of roof and side walls are largely responsible. Also, they provide a uniqueness and a charm that do not wear off with familiarity. The living room is large and well lighted, its spaciousness increased by the broad bay. Its fireplace is flanked on one side by a built-in bookcase, on the other by an arch to the dining room. Convenient and practical is the hallway leading direct from the entrance to the kitchen. The kitchen, incidentally, has an attached dining nook that will save the housewife many steps. BLUE AND GRAY OF KENESAW MT. IN BIG REUNION

Thin Line of Survivors of 150,000 Who Fought There Will Gather.

Marietta, Ga.—Shadowy lines of blue and gray—Lee's men and Grant's men—a mere handful of the 150,000 musketeers who engaged in mortal combat sixty-two years ago under the rugged silhouette of Kenesaw Mountain—this month will rub shoulders on the same battlefield in commemorative reunion.

From all corners of the nation they will come on June 25 to this little Georgia hamlet, an annual picnic for Memorial Day pilgrims from all parts of the country. For at the foot of Kenesaw Mountain is the national cemetery where 71,000 Union soldiers who fell on the famous battlefield are buried.

President Coolidge, Vice-President Dawes and other government officials have been invited to attend the celebration. Governor Clifford Walker of Georgia will send official invitations to every governor in the United States, and it is expected that many of them will attend.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, " czar of American baseball," is expected to be guest of honor on the ephemeral occasion. The arbiter of big league ball, who was born while his father, a Union officer, was fighting at Kenesaw Mountain, was christened for the encounter.

The reunion of survivors of the battle is a forerunner. It is believed, of the creation of a national military memorial park which will include Kenesaw and its environs, National Memorial.

By vote of both houses, Congress has authorized an official survey looking to the creation of the first national memorial to heroes of both sides who fought in the Civil War—a government reservation and park similar to those at Gettysburg and Chickamauga.

The commission appointed by Secretary of War Dosis to survey the project is composed of Major General John L. Clem, of Washington, known as "the Drummer Boy of Shiloh;" ex-Governor Nat E. Harris, of Georgia, and Col. William P. Sikes, of the U. S. Army engineer Corps, now stationed at Atlanta. The commission will make its report to the Secretary of War before November 1.

OUR TOWN INCLUDED IN HIGHWAY PROPOSALS

The construction of two new bridges and about thirteen miles of new road surfacing is projected in proposals which the state highway department yesterday submitted to contractors for sealed bids. Eleven separate improvements are involved in the work and the bids will be received up until 2:00 P. M., eastern standard time, Monday, June 28th, 1926. The new bridges will be located in New Hartford and Canton. The highway re-surfacing projects are in several counties.

- 1. Manchester. About 8,232 linear feet of 9-inch concrete pavement and three-inch asphalt, or 2 1-2 inches amiesite over 7-inch re-inforced concrete base, on Center street.
2. Westport and Wilton. About 19,277 linear feet of 2 1-2 inch bituminous macadam over 7-inch broken stone base on the Westport Wilton road.
3. Columbia and Windham. About 4,415 linear feet of re-inforced concrete pavement on the Hartford-Willimantic road.
4. Preston. About 5,400 linear feet of 7-inch native stone macadam on the Poquetanock-Hallville road.
5. Waterford and Montville. About 13,150 linear feet of 8-inch reinforced concrete pavement on the Norwich-New London highway.
6. Westport and Fairfield. About 10,248 linear feet of grading and drainage and 4,134 feet of 3-inch asphalt over 8-inch concrete base on the Boston Post road.
7. Farmington. About 1,773 linear feet of grading and about 1,000 linear feet of 7-inch water-bound macadam in connection with the elimination of grade crossing on the Scott Swamp road.
8. Farmington. About 13,245 linear feet of 7-inch trap rock macadam on the Scott Swamp road exclusive of work done on crossing elimination.
9. Naugatuck. About 3,568 linear feet of six-inch gravel surface on Rubber avenue.
10. New Hartford. A twin 14-foot span concrete slab bridge over Cotter Brook.
11. Canton. A concrete girder bridge of two 28 foot spans over Cherry Brook.

Anyone may compete in this contest, except those connected directly or indirectly with the Standard Oil Company of New York.

The answers to the five questions may be typewritten or written with pen and ink—one side of the paper only—one answer to each question. No single answer may be longer than 150 words, and each answer must be numbered to match the number of the question. All answers must be written in the English language and are the property of the Standard Oil Co. of New York.

All five answers should be sent in together and the contestant's name and address should be plainly written on the first page of answers.

No answers will be considered which are received later than Saturday, July 17, 1926. The awards will be made to those who write the BEST answers to the five questions. That is, to those whose answers, in the opinion of the judges, indicate that they have given most thought to the subjects covered by the questions and have learned most from The Veteran Motorist's instructions in the Standard Oil Company of New York's advertisement.

Address all answers to "The Veteran Motorist," Standard Oil Company of New York, Room 411, 26 Broadway, New York City.

Question Four Why is periodical draining of the crankcase so important?

CLEANLINESS is the greatest promoter of economy in the operation and upkeep of any type of machinery. But the automobile is used in the open, often in dusty air, and in all kinds of weather. This makes more difficult the maintenance of a clean motor unless you

DRAIN CRANKCASE PERIODICALLY

In Socony Motor Oils you are sure of oils that Lubricat and cushion every moving part, increase compression and power, and resist high motor temperatures. But no matter how good the original oil may be, it is constantly subject to contamination that reduces its lubricating qualities.

One part of gasoline requires sixteen parts of air to make a burning mixture. Air contains a slight percentage of water, and also dust or grit, some of which finds its way to the crankcase, particularly on dusty roads. When starting cold, some gasoline vapor may be condensed on the cylinder walls and drains to the crankcase. Dirty spark plugs will fail to fire all the mixture, and this unburned gas also drains to the crankcase.

DILUTION Thus, the oil is diluted and eventually becomes too thin for an efficient lubricant. When thin, dirty oil is used, specks of the bearing metal will pound out. Thinned oil also increases carbon formation under the pistons, and these specks of metal and carbon promptly join the crankcase oil. In time it inevitably becomes too contaminated for use.

The safe plan is to drain out your crankcase every 500 or 600 miles, or as frequently as the manufacturer of your car recommends, and, after flushing with Socony Flushing Oil, refill with the grade of Socony Motor Oil that is recommended for your car by the Socony Chart.

Table with columns for years (1915, 1916, 1926) and lists of games won by various teams like the Giants, White Sox, and Yankees.

Long winning streaks in major league baseball seem to come in 10-year periods. For instance, back in 1906 when Fielder Jones had charge of his famous "hitless wonders," the Chicago White Sox established an American League record by winning 19 games in a row. It still stands. A decade later, or in 1916, the New York Giants under the crafty John McGraw turned in the greatest winning streak of modern times, bagging 26 tilts without suffering defeat. This season the Yankees, piloted by Miller Huggins, chalked up 16 victories in succession for the third highest mark, equalling a Washington achievement of 1912.

SECRETS OF STARS INSIDE BASEBALL

as told to BILLY EVANS

By RAY SCHALK. To my way of thinking, the most difficult play for a catcher to make, at least it is for me, is thwarting the double steal. I have in mind a double steal with a runner on first and another on third. In most cases the thought of this play is to score the runner from third, regardless of what happens to the man going down to second. The inning, the score and various other conditions often enter into the proper execution of this play. If with two out a run is needed to even the count and the man on third is a clever runner, while the batsman is rated just an ordinary hitter, often the runner from first is permitted to reach second unmolested. It is considered good baseball to gamble with the batter rather than attempt to get the runner at second. This doesn't always hold true, but, as I have said before, the score and the status of the batter is always given serious consideration. Certain runners do so with their heads down, as we say in baseball. On such runners a bluff throw to second usually causes them to break for the plate and the rest is easy. Sometimes a slight hesitation will drive the runner back to third and remove temporarily that threat and still give the catcher a gambling chance to get the man at second. In reality the method of handling the double steal with runners on first and third is largely molded by the reputation of the man on third as a base-runner and the ability of the batter. So many things must be figured in this play that I regard it by far the hardest one for a catcher to properly pull.

By EDDIE COLLINS. For a second baseman to properly cover his position, play smart baseball, he must know the style of every ball that is to be pitched. Therefore the brainy second baseman is always familiar with every sign in the catcher's category. This gives him a working knowledge of whether the pitch is to be a fast one, a curve, a slow ball, a knuckler, a splitter or a waste ball. Knowing these things is most essential to the proper play of the second baseman, for he can position himself accordingly. When a second baseman covers an attempted double steal he should always arrive in ample time to take the throw. It is far easier handling a thrown ball from a stationary position than catching it on the run. Incidentally, the second baseman who receives the ball while in a stationary position has a decided advantage in touching a runner over the player who gets it on the

ALEXANDER SIGNED IN KOTSCH'S PLACE

Will Make First Appearance Against Bristol Thursday; Sipples Acts as Coach.

Jimmy Alexander of the Elmwood Endees has been signed by the Sons of Italy to take the place in right field of Sam Kotsch who broke his ankle in a game with a Middletown team on Sunday. The coaching burden of the team has been shifted to Tom Sipples, also a member of the Endees. These two men will be on hand on Thursday night in the Elmwood game against the Bristol New Departures at the West Side. Both are considered aces in the Elmwood team and it is their work that has brought that aggregation up to near first place in the league. Another Elmwood player, Woody Walleit, of this town, will catch for the Sons. Bristol will appear on Thursday night with the famous Eddie Goodridge and his running mate, Lester Lanning. The rest of the team will be essentially that which has defeated the Manchester big team for the past several years.

TRADE SCHOOL'S GAME CHANGED TO THURSDAY

Final Game on Slate is Advanced a Day Owing to Various Reasons—Pospisil Will Pitch for Mechanics.

It was announced today that date of the game scheduled between the local Trade school and Bridgeport has been changed. It was formerly planned to play Friday afternoon but owing to graduation exercises in the local high school and various other reasons, it has been decided to play Thursday afternoon. Rudy Pospisil, ace of the local team will be on the firing line with Dick Ball behind the bat. The remainder of the local lineup will be the same as last week. A large delegation of students are planning to make the trip to Bridgeport to see the crucial battle which will be waged at Seaside Park. If Manchester wins, it means they will have completed an undefeated season in baseball, something that has seldom, if ever, been accomplished in schoolboy sports here.

NO GAME TONIGHT.

There will be no game for the St. Mary's tonight at the West Side playgrounds. Manager Bulla announced last night. Instead the locals will play a twilight game on Friday evening with an opponent to be selected later.

Rare Turkish tobacco give distinction to Chesterfield's blend. Drawing from a photograph by our Mr. Gary, showing the loading of Turkish tobacco aboard lighters to be transferred to the ocean liner in midstream.

For Chesterfields, the best Turkish tobacco — and nothing but the best!

Where does Chesterfield get its spicy tang, its delicate piquancy of taste and aroma? From costly Turkish tobacco, world-famous for their distinctive character, their sheer excellence of quality. And how does Chesterfield get its mellow fullness and its satin-smoothness? From the way this fine Turkish is blended with the choicest Domestic leaf; carefully, shrewdly, in that can't-be-copied Chesterfield way that brings out the hidden flavors in each type of leaf. It took no end of skill and patient experiment to get this blend right. Was it worth it? Just smoke a Chesterfield and let the good tobacco speak for themselves!

37 H. S. ATHLETES ARE AWARDED THEIR LETTERS

Among Them Seven Girls Who Made Good During the Past Season.

Letters were awarded in sports yesterday afternoon to various members of the local high school athletic teams. Principal C. P. Quimby awarded the letters in behalf of the student council.

The tennis team, which this year has won the state championship, was praised by Mr. Quimby. It is a fact that the tennis team received the least support of any of the high school's athletic teams. The four members of the team who received letters were Captain Gotberg, Francis McCann, Ephraim Cole and John Boyle.

The local H. S. track team won the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League championship, and all its other meets but one. It had a good record, in fact the best in many years. In presenting track letters and medals, Mr. Quimby said that a large amount of credit was due the club path athletes for their excellent work the past season. Those who received letters were the following: Bray, Allen, Krause, Madden, Sheridan, Hall, LaCoss, Mantell, Kittle, Cheney, T. Shannon, Joe McCluskey, and Hutchison.

Several members of the Girls' Leaders' Class, upon the recommendation of Miss Wooster, received letters. They are Beatrice Couchlin, Mary Wilcox, Mae Clune, Eileen Donahue, Louise Phelps, Kathryn Giblin and Marie Richmond. Mr. Quimby, in awarding letters to the baseball team, said that although the team this year had not figured very highly with regard to the number of games won and lost, still the team had fought hard, and had won their letters. He expressed the wish that next year at this time he would have the privilege of presenting letters to the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League champion baseball team—Manchester. Those who received letters in baseball yesterday were the following: F. Lupien, Dahlquist, A. Lupien, Wiley, Wright, N. Bogcini, Quish, Foley, Chartier, Farr, Holland, Winkler, Johnson and Guldatis.

HELPFUL HINTS TO GOLFING STARS

GEORGE DUNCAN—IRON CLUB PLAY.

In iron-club play the transference of the weight is not quite the same as with wood-club play. What we all wish to do when using an iron is to hit the type of shot that starts low, gradually rises and until it reaches the end of its flight, and then comes nearly straight down. In other words, we want to hit the ball a descending blow beneath its center.

WALTER HAGEN—DON'T TAKE GAME TOO SERIOUSLY

Golf was invented for the fun and amusement it afforded its devotees. This idea of winning a tournament or deciding who was the most proficient player is of recent origin. We know from the history of the game that it is some 400 years old but the first British open was played in 1860. Undoubtedly, during the many years previous to this, if a golfer played fairly well, he was satisfied with himself because he was getting his outdoor exercise and a lot of amusement. Beating an opponent was good fun and the game was considered worth while.

JOYCE WETHERER—MASTERY OF SWING.

It is the commonest thing to see the greatest players playing shots from the fairway up to the hole with monotonous precision and yet to find them at times strangely crooked from the tee. Probably two chief reasons exist for this rather perplexing fact. It is quite possible that the ball, when it is teed up, free from direct contact with the ground, is peculiarly sensitive to various spins which arise from any divergence from a perfectly true swing; and to support this theory, it is a noticeable fact that some

TEX TO TELL COMMISH TODAY GENE'S THE MAN

New York, June 22.—Promoter Tex Rickard is expected to inform the New York State boxing commission today that Jack Dempsey will fight Gene Tunney, with or without the approval of the solons. Although Rickard would prefer the approval of the commissioners to a Dempsey-Tunney bout, for then he would be able to stage it here at the Yankee Stadium, he indicated following a conference with Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, that he would take a defiant attitude today to the commission's edict that Dempsey fight Harry Wills.

Rickard announced that Dempsey will arrive in New York on or about July 1 and that he is then to depart for White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., to begin training for the next heavyweight championship fight. Rickard said that Jerry the Greek, Dempsey's cook, and Gun Wilson, Dempsey's trainer, are already at White Springs, building a special camp for Dempsey.

Is it possible to make a double play when two runners pull up on the same base, there being no force play?

A double play is possible, only through dumb baserunning. When two players are on the same bag, and there is no force, the bag always belongs to the original occupant.

By touching the player who advanced to the bag, with the ball, it is possible to retire him. If the player entitled to the bag holds his base, as he should, it is impossible to get more than one man on the play.

Often the original occupant, believing he is forced, walks off the base after the other player has been properly retired. It is then possible to complete a double play by touching said player with the ball while off the base.

This play is unusual, yet only a few weeks ago it happened in a major league game.

DIAMOND DUST

It took the Reds sixteen innings to subdue the Cubs, six to five, and retain their lead in the National League scramble. The Reds twice tied the score with a two-run rally in the ninth and twelfth innings.

Pittsburgh took a strangle hold on second place by outgunning the Cardinals in a ding-dong game, 13 to 1. Ten pitchers got into the fray but none of them were heard bragging about it.

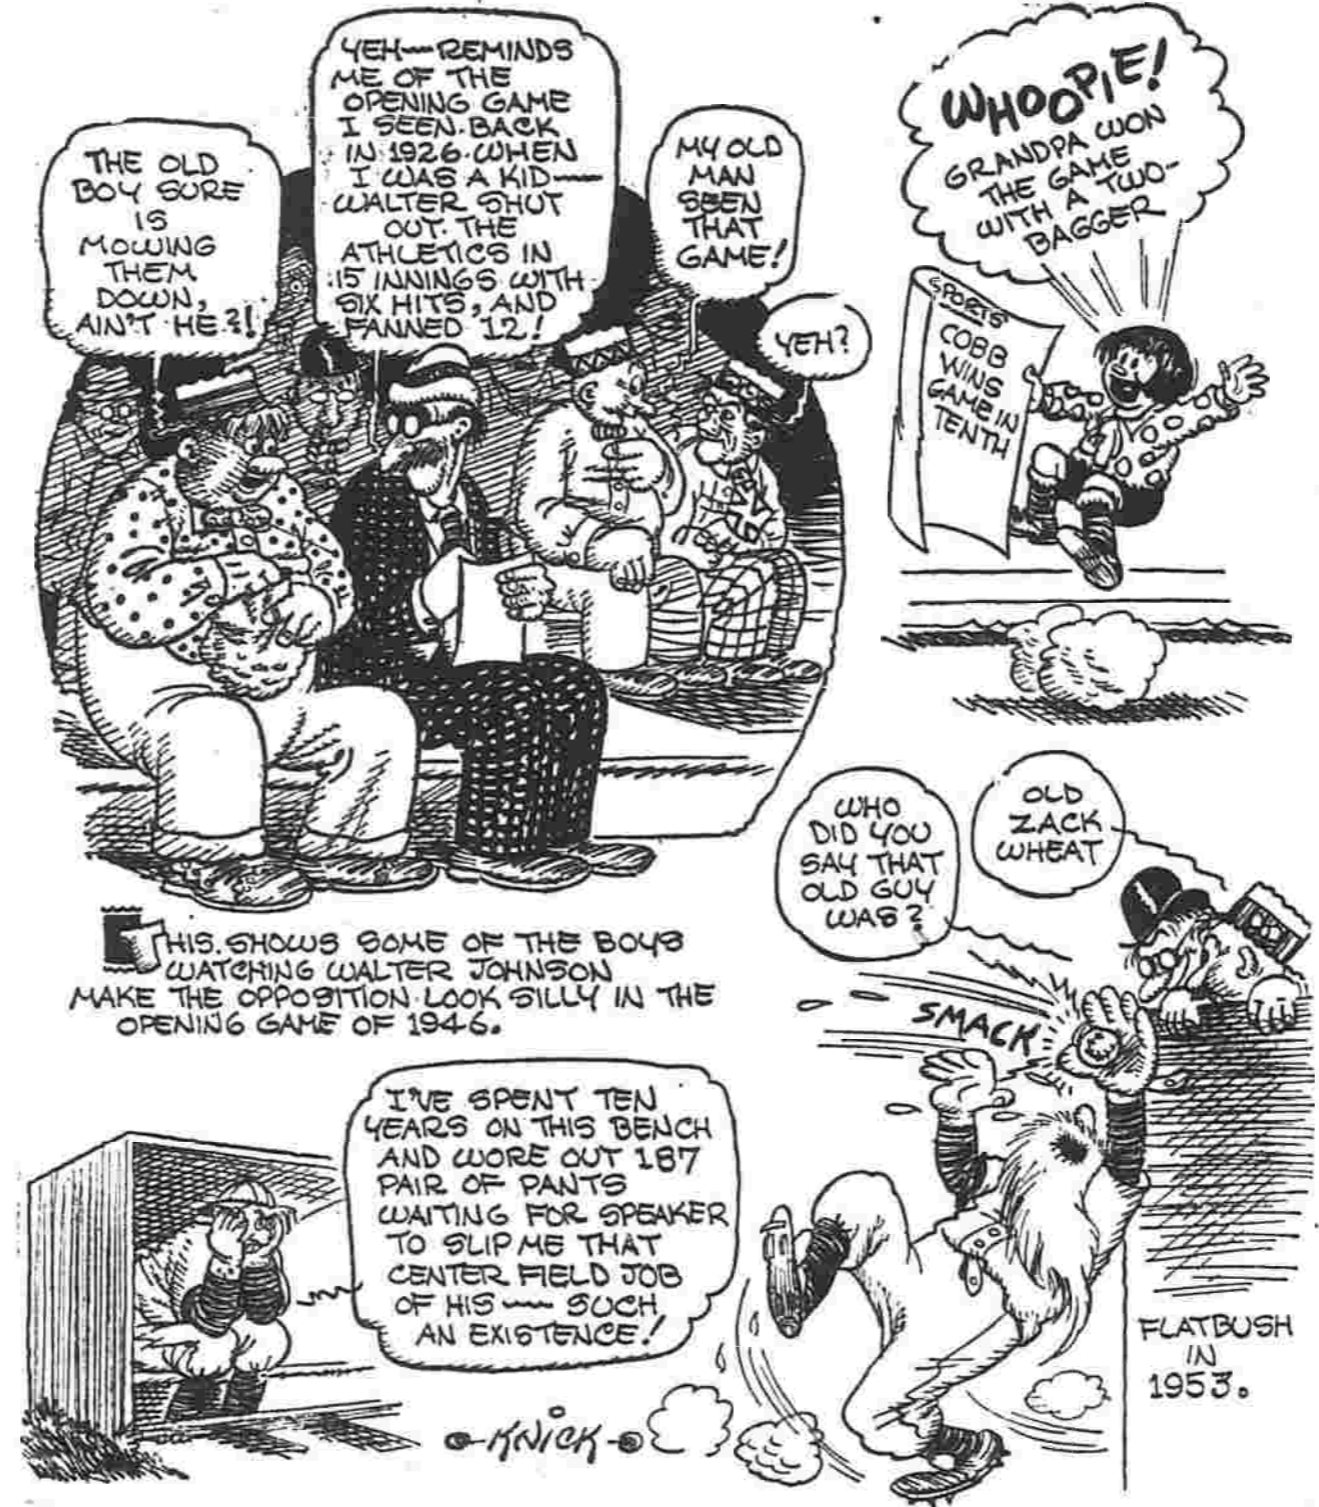

The Giants smothered the Phillies, ten to three, making Clarence Mitchell for eighteen hits. Terry and Fiech got homers.

Boston won from Brooklyn, eight to five.

to seven, in eleven innings, but lost the second game six to four. Dazy Vance was hit freely in the first game, but was not charged with the defeat.

The Athletics nosed out the Red Sox in the eleventh, seven to six, on Riney's error. The Sox gave Ehmeke, their former ace, a thorough lacing while Baby Doll Jacobson, who came to Boston in the Ehmeke deal, starred at bat with four hits, including a homer.

Warner's third hit of the day enabled the Tigers to down the Browns in the tenth, five to four, Wells getting the decision over Zachary.

SHOWDOWN IN THE NATIONAL AS CARDS MEET THE PIRATES

Hornsby's Team Must Prove It's the Goods—Walsh Thinks St. Louis is Real Contender.

By Davis J. Walsh. New York, June 22.—After weeks of indecisive jockeying, the inevitable expose of strength and weakness among the National League contenders is due for an airing in St. Louis, starting today, when the Cardinals and Pirates will meet in the first of a three-game series. The next two weeks will have an abiding effect on the pennant race.

They will show, for example, whether the Cards' recent pace, the sensation of all baseball, was built on a foundation of concrete or cream puffs. The writer inclines to the former theory. The club, of course, can't hope to sustain the .917 pace it carried through the stunned East. But, otherwise, everything points to the Cardinals being a permanent contender. Never a good road club in the past, they now eleven out of twelve in this section. That's a favorable sign. Another is the fact pitching has brought the club along, not hitting.

Two Below Average. When Hornsby rises above .340, as he must, and Bottomley climbs back in the .300 class, which is almost as certain, that same pitching will be supplemented by something it obviously lacked when the outfit ran riot through the Eastern field. Hornsby is sixty points and Bottomley a hundred points below normal and, while one or the other may be in for an off year, it is highly unlikely that both will suffer a simultaneous reaction.

If one or both improve as they should, the Cards and, perforce, the pitching of Sherdel, Rhem, Keen and Haines will benefit accordingly. However, the proposition will be taken out of the field of theory by the developments of the ensuing series. Following the present series between the Champion Pirates and Cardinals, who impressed New York equally as the most plausible of the contenders, the St. Louis entry may get a "breather" in five games with the Cubs, after which it will move to Pittsburgh for another showdown series.

Another to Come. It will be a five-game affair, starting June 30, and when it is over, the Cards must take on the league-leading Reds in five games. There should be no doubt of where the strength lies by July 7. The Cards' rather light staff of pitchers will be tried to the limit in double headers with the Pirates and Reds on July 3 and 5, and if it survives, there will be nothing for it but to admit that Hornsby has a one-two ball club.

Anyhow, it is about time that some club stepped out and made a definite bid for the pennant. The Pirates twice were in the lead during their Eastern trip, yet couldn't stay there. The Giants' recent record is something like seventeen lost out of twenty-seven played, yet they are only six games out of first place.

In consequence, there still are six clubs in the race. By all the laws of averages, this is about three too many.

WORTH IN SPORT KNOWING

- It is seldom a major league club has two new hurlers come through the way Ray Kremer and Emil Yde did in 1924. Between them they won 34 games and lost 13.
- Yde was the bigger winner, coping 16 frays against but three defeats. Kremer had an 18-10 mark. Yde tied the National League high average of .842, established by Tom Hughes of Boston in 1916.
- Kremer worked in 41 frays in his first season, while Yde was in 33.

That was a red-letter day for me!

THE day I discovered the tidy red tin was a red-letter day for me. Up until that time, I was fairly well satisfied with my smoking tobacco. At the suggestion of a friend, I tried a pipe-load of his Prince Albert. More to please him than for any other reason.

Little did I realize then what a big favor he was doing me. I'll never forget that experience. Here I was, a seasoned smoker (as I thought), learning something new about tobacco. Why, that very first taste won me. Still, I wasn't hasty. I tried another load to be certain.

That settled it. I bought a tidy red tin of P. A. right then and there. That was a good many years ago, but P. A. is still ministering to my smoke-taste, repeating my early experience many times a day. P. A. is so cool and sweet and fragrant, you just never tire of it.

No matter how hard you hit it up, P. A. never backfires. It is uniformly mild and mellow. Never bothers your throat or tongue. It is so genuinely friendly that you just go to it from morning to midnight. Cool contentment in every perfect puff. Get some P. A. today.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"We forgot to ask those queer creatures if they had seen anything of Inco and Flop," said Nancy when she and Nick had gotten their breath.

"Oh, well!" said Nick. "I'm sure they were not there anyway. Inco never, never would make up with rubber bathtub toys or Christmas-tree ducks."

At this both the pink tickets stretched up out of the pockets and said, "They weren't there anyway. We told you not to go there."

"But the goats butted us over the wall and we couldn't help it," said Nancy. "Were you going to take us?"

But before either of the pink tickets had time to say a word, Nick grabbed Nancy's arm. "Look!" he cried. "Somebody has lost a lot of pennies."

"And nickels and dimes," declared Nancy dropping on her knees and starting to pick them up as fast as she could.

"And quarters!" shouted Nick. "And half dollars! And here's a whole dollar! This must be Captain Kidd's treasure."

"I can't hold any more," said Nancy. "My pockets are full and both my hands. I wish I had a basket."

She began to look around for something to hold her money, and what should she spy but a tree full of ten-cent baskets.

Without a word she walked over and picked two, then she came back and handed one to Nick.

"Hurrah!" shouted Nick. "Won't we be rich, Nancy! I'm going to buy the candy store, and the toy store an automobile piece for everybody in the family. How should you like that?"

"If you're going to buy everything I won't have anything left to buy," said Nancy. "I'll get that blue parasol, though, and about ninety picture books and a cute little tennis racket like Anna Jane Snow's. And maybe I'll buy a canoe and go fishing in the creek, and maybe I'll buy an aeroplane."

"You don't need to talk about me being greedy," said Nick crossly picking up pins and money and dropping them into his basket like blackberries, or apples, or plums. Indeed his basket was almost full, and the money wasn't half gone yet.

"You know I've been wanting a tennis racket and a canoe for a long time. And an aeroplane too, when I'm big enough. And now you've gone and taken everything!"

"I have not," said Nancy. "You gobbled up the toy store and the candy store and the mov and even asking me. And automobiles too. You might have let me buy my own!"

"Children! Children!" said one of the pink tickets sternly, stretching up out of Nancy's pocket and looking at her accusingly with its round pink eyes. "Remember you are in Drowsy Land on the moon. Quarreling is not allowed here. Besides you came to look for your lost friends and not to gather money which only leads to selfishness and trouble. See! It isn't a real joy anyhow. It does not last."

It was true! The money, baskets and everything had disappeared.

MISSION
W. 3RD. ST.

The Chinese Mission was built on the corner of West Third street and Fourth Avenue. It owned a rectangular strip of ground three times as long as it was wide. As the mission was overcrowded and needed more space wealthy Chang Fu donated a strip of land containing 77 square yards. This increased the plot three feet in each direction.

From these facts can you discover the new dimensions of the mission's plot?

A daughter, Lucile, was born yesterday at the Hartford hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Agard of Elmwood. Mrs. Agard before her marriage was Miss Grace Pascoe of this town.

Miss Beatrice Shaw of North Elm street is ill at her home on North Elm street with quinsy sore throat.

Tomorrow evening at eight o'clock a concert will be given at the Swedish Congregational church, the proceeds of which will be used for the coal bill. Each member of the church is asked to attend and to contribute toward this object.

Mrs. Arthur Seymour and son Herbert of Woodbridge street and Mrs. Melville Chapman and little daughter are visiting Mrs. Chapman's mother in Leominster, Mass.

Harold W. Garrity, son of D. L. Garrity of 9 Ridgewood street has returned home from Williston academy for the summer vacation. During the past school year he has won two scholarships for excellence in studies. He plans to enter Tufts college, Medford, Mass., in the fall.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the South Methodist church will hold their final meeting of the season tomorrow afternoon at 2.30. Every member should make an effort to be present and stay through for the strawberry festival in the evening.

Miss Jane Scramton of William street is under a course of treatment at the Memorial hospital.

Manchester Lodge of Masons will observe St. John's Day next Sunday by attending divine service at the South Methodist church. The Masons will meet at the lodge hall in Odd Fellows' building at ten o'clock and march to the church in a body.

Mystic Review, W. B. A., held a largely attended meeting last evening in Tinker hall. The business was followed by a short program which included an excellent exhibition of the Charleston dance by little Marie Noonan, vocal solos by Mrs. Griswold Chappell and Corwin Grant and impersonations by Griswold Chappell. Mrs. Ethel Cowles was in charge and her committee served all to sandwiches, cake and coffee. The next meeting which would fall on the fifth of July will be held Thursday, July 8, instead.

The condition of Patrolman Joseph Wall who was operated on for appendicitis Sunday night, was reported as favorable last evening at the Memorial hospital.

Lovers of the beautiful in nature are admiring three locust trees in full bloom in the Center Park.

Alexander A. Warren, director of the Manchester Trade school has purchased one of the building lots in the last section of Lakeview just recently opened.

Dr. A. B. Moran was discharged last evening from the Memorial hospital where he has been under treatment for the past four days.

The final whist party of the season will be held in the ladies' room at the School street Recreation Center on Thursday afternoon. These whists were started in the fall and have been well attended principally by housewives residing on the east side of the town. The parties will be resumed in the fall. Following the whist same on Thursday afternoon a social time will be enjoyed and light refreshments will be served. The whist will be public and all women are invited.

The funeral of David Woodhouse was held yesterday afternoon from his late home at 131 Pine street. It was largely attended. A big delegation from the Odd Fellows' lodge was present. Rev. J. S. Neil officiated. The bearers were Thomas Maxwell and Harry Schieldze from Hose Company No. 1; William McCormick and Burton Applebee, from the Odd Fellows' lodge; Harry McCormick and Ernest Morse from the Machine Shop. Burial was in the East cemetery.

Mrs. Carl Bolen, of 326 Spruce street, was taken to the Manchester Memorial hospital yesterday afternoon. She is ill with typhoid fever.

Dr. Fred F. Bushnell, local board of health inspector, reported today that the town is in a sanitary condition. This week he made a special tour in the rear of restaurants and bakeries and in the kitchens where food is prepared.

Two children, a boy and girl, were born Saturday evening to Mr. and Mrs. James Esano of 170 Oak street. The combined weight of the twins was fifteen pounds. Mrs. Esano is only seventeen years old.

Members of the Dorcas society of the Swedish Lutheran church who plan to take in the house party, Saturday, June 26 at Lake Pocotopaug, will please notify Miss Florence L. Johnson or Miss Eva Johnson tonight.

The Good Will club of the Fifth district will give a public whist at the Keeney street schoolhouse Thursday evening. The committee in charge includes Miss Isabel Kjellson, Miss Leona Palmer, Mrs. Irving Wickham and Mrs. John Fisher.

A marriage license was issued at the town clerk's office yesterday to Charles F. Yurkshof of Woodbridge street and Miss Violet Irene Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rogers of Salem, Conn.

Miss Lillian G. Grant of Cambridge street will take part in the Irish peasant play, "A Twig of Thorn" to be presented tomorrow evening by advanced pupils of Mrs. Clara Coe Byrne's school of oratory. The play will be given in the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. building, corner Church and Ann streets.

Manchester Camp No. 2540 Royal Neighbors has been invited to attend "Deputies' Night" by Capitol City Camp of Hartford, at I. O. B. Hall, Trumbull street, Saturday evening.

Combination concrete curbs and gutters and walks are being laid on both sides of Pitkin street from East Center to Porter street. The curbing on Washington street has been completed.

The marble stairway in the new City hall has been set and iron workers are today putting up the iron grillwork.

TWO LOCAL RED MEN HONORED BY COUNCIL

Two members of Mianonoh Tribe of Red Men, Joseph Ferguson, Jr., and William Schieldze have been honored by the Great Council to act as Deputy Grand Sachemes. The former will take charge of Arrowhead lodge, of Hartford and the latter over Tankerosan lodge of Rockville and the Oneco lodge, of Stafford Springs. On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at Tinker hall, the local lodge will confer the chief's degree on a class of five candidates. The annual election of officers will also take place at this meeting.

AUTOS COLLIDE

A collision between two autos occurred last evening on Main street, near Cambridge street between cars owned and driven by Edward Jilson, of 42 Cambridge street and Joseph Bush, of Rockville. Jilson was driving north and was turning into Cambridge street when Bush who was behind him smashed into him. Jilson's car was damaged but not badly. Sergeant Crockett investigated.

REV. NEILL TO SPEND VACATION IN EUROPE

To Leave With Family on July 15 for a Month's Stay—To Visit Ireland.

Rev. and Mrs. James Stuart Neill of St. Mary's Episcopal church with their children will leave on the S. S. Metagama of the Canadian Pacific Railway line from Quebec on July 15 for a stay of more than a month in Europe. The Manchester party will visit principally the British Isles, from which a large number of Mr. Neill's parishioners have come.

Mr. Neill will arrive in Belfast, Ireland, and will go to Portadown, the home of many Manchester people. He will then go to England and will work up through Wales to Liverpool. He hopes to be able to visit some of the countries on the continent and will try to enter Germany for a short stay.

He will return to Manchester about the middle of September. During Mr. Neill's absence his pulpit will be occupied by Rev. Edward G. Reynolds of Glastonbury and Rev. T. J. Shannon of Ansonia. Rev. Reynolds will conduct the services for the last two weeks in July and Rev. Shannon will continue until the rector's return.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our sincere appreciation to all those who have been kind to Mr. Woodhouse during his long illness and to all who contributed flowers at his funeral. We wish to especially thank the Odd Fellows, Hose Company, No. 1 and the employees of the Machine Shop.
