ROW POUGHKEEPSIE REGATTA THIS P. M.

Washington and the Navy Are Prime Favorites to Take Honors.

By Davis J. Walsh

New York, June 23.—Headed toward the championship of a domain where the oarsman is king and the blade his trusted servant, the varsity crew of eight universities will turn Krum's Elbow in to a writer of eddies and spume late this afternoon as they start on the first of four, fearsome miles to the goal of their heart's desire. It will be a spectacle such as the field of college rowing has not known before in all the years that men have punished themselves beyond endurance that a great sport might thrive.

Never before have as many as eight varsities appeared in a single race. Never in the past has Poughkeepsie summoned a representation from so many sections, Far West, Northwest, Middle West North, East and Near South. Never has this up-river town seen so many people at one and the same time. Probably 75,000 will see the big race.

The weather was almost made to order, the sun being warm and the atmosphere almost windless. However, there was a prospect of late winds to kick up the Hudson's surface and give the crews, favoring smooth water, something to think about.

10 In All
The record field in the varsity event has served to make of the entire regatta an occasion without parallel or precedent. Nineteen crews in all, will start in the three races on the program and, before it is completed, they will have had a liquid field day.

According to the popular impression, only two of the eight varsities, Washington and the Navy, will have other than a nominal interest in the proceedings at the finish. The others, with the possible exception of Wisconsin and Pennsylvania, probably will be rowing for the exercise only. They include Cornell, California, Syracuse and Columbia and, barring minor upsets, are likely to finish in that order.

The choice between Washington and the Navy will be a more difficult one, however. Neither has lost a race this season. Neither has been worse than second at Poughkeepsie since 1921, the Navy's local record including three victories and one second and that of Washington two victories and two seconds. They were one-two last year, the Navy getting the decision in the last half-mile.

A slight edge in the odds said the Middies would do it again today but that "Skyscraper Crew" of Washington, averaging six feet three inches in height, happened to be an ideal four-mite combination and even the hardest of forecasters hesitated about reading the Huskies out of the race before it started.

Navy and Penn First
As matters stood today, the Navy and Pennsylvania figured to go to the pace at the outset, with Washington forced to play a waiting game owing to its low stroke and long "lay-back." Pennsylvania's light eight was expected to crack along about the third mile, at which point the real race between Washington and the Navy was due for a decision. It will remain, then, for the Huskies to prove whether they can catch the Navy.

Whether they do or not, the race was expected to be a triumph for the Washington system, with Bob Butler at the Navy; Fred Spohn at Pennsylvania and Ruc Colow in charge of the Huskies.

Only two crews were supposed to have a chance to break through service against this combination. One of them was Cornell, which was not regarded as likely, in spite of its victory over California. The other was Wisconsin, one of the best looking crews on the river.

LAURELS LOSE

The Laurels were defeated by the fast All-Collinsville team in that town Sunday afternoon by the score of 6-1.

The Laurels played an uphill game trying to overcome the lead which the home team secured in the second and third innings. They seemed to be able to hit Schinkel but only six of the wallpots went for safe hits.

The pitching of Faulkner and the hitting of Dowd were the features of the Laurels while the fielding of Fahr was the sensation of the afternoon. This lanky outfielder made four wonderful catches which seemed to be marked extra base hits.

SAINTS LOSE 5-3; ISLIEB A PUZZLE

Veteran Allows Locals But Four Hits as Simsbury Nine is Victorious in Fast and Exciting Battle.

Isleip proved a puzzle to the St. Mary's batters in Plainville yesterday afternoon and the home team scored a 5 to 3 victory after a hard fought battle. The game was a pitcher's battle between "Dodger" Dowd and Isleip. Dowd fanned seven and his rival six. Dowd did not issue a single pass while Isleip passed four batsmen. The Manchester boxman, however, was touched up for nine hits while Isleip allowed but four hits.

Jack Dixon, the Saint's hard hitting second baseman, made two of the Saint's four hits. One was a double and the other a triple. The batting of Goeb featured for Plainville. He laced out a trio of hits.

The game was one of the best of the season in Plainville and a large crowd witnessed the two teams in action. The Saints made a ninth inning rally that, for a time, looked as though it would turn the tide in favor of the Manchesterites.

A Most Unusual Proposition!

THE announcement which we herewith make, we regard as of wide-spread importance to the men and women of Connecticut. Whether they are householders, housekeepers, apartment dwellers, newly married couples or staid homekeepers of years' standing.

BECAUSE of contemplated expansions and changes of importance, we desire a quick reduction of our large and fine stock of Furniture.

OUR establishment is known statewide as the leader in the Furniture field, both as to quality of the Furniture we carry, and as Hartford representatives of many of the leading Furniture producers, and because of the fine and comprehensive range of Quality Furniture always to be found here.

IN order to bring about the desired reduction in the size of our stocks, we know of no better method, that will please our old friends and bring us many new ones, and also have the intended result, than a decisive and unprecedented reduction in the price of all our Furniture.

WITH that end in view, we have decided that

we will permit
A 20 per cent Reduction From The Marked Price

On Our Entire Stock of Furniture

Which includes three floors in our main building and two floors in the annex, we believe the most complete and comprehensive stock of Furniture in Connecticut.

NO reserve to this offer which holds good from nine o'clock on the morning of Monday, June 23th, until six o'clock on the evening of Saturday, July 3rd.

IT means that you can choose anything and everything in Furniture and pay therefor just 20 per cent. less than the regular price.

AND we hold to the declaration we have so often made and now again emphasize, that our prices for Furniture, grade for grade, quality for quality, are on the average positively less than those of any other establishment carrying like qualities in this state.

Former Manchester Pitcher Blanks Shamrocks 2-0

LEFTY PAGE CONSPICUOUS AS BAY STATERS TRIUMPH

Locals Taste Defeat After Gruelling Struggle—Errors Prove Costly—400 Fans Well Pleased With Exhibition—Massey Brothers in Limelight—McLaughlin Pitches Well—Return Game Saturday.

The Braves of Florence, Mass. scored their second consecutive victory over a Manchester ball team by a shutout score when they triumphed over the Shamrocks at Hickey's Grove yesterday afternoon. The score was 2 to 0. A week ago the Bay Staters took a fall out of the Sons of Italy after a red hot tussle 1 to 0.

Another Pitcher's Battle Yesterday's game was another pitcher's battle. And the fans who watched the torrid tilt went home well pleased with the exhibition even though Manchester did not win. Perhaps if the visitors had not used the invincible "Lefty" Page on the firing line, the locals would have won. But with the former member of the now defunct Manchester ball club, pitching in the height of his form, the Shamrocks were unable to send a single run across the platter. This was not because they did not have chances; they had nine men left on bases to put it briefly, Page was the master of the wily over throughout the contest, especially in the pinches.

Page Fans Side The first inning bears out this statement. With Sam Massey on second and "Dutch" Keller on first, Page struck out the next three batters. The heavy artillery of the Shamrocks batting order—Foster, Jim McLaughlin and Graf. In all Page struck out ten batters.

Errors Prove Costly The Shamrocks made but three errors, but they were critical ones. Everyone figured in the scoring of the visitors' two runs. In the second frame Ryan got a life on Brownell's error. King advanced him a peg on a sacrifice. At this point Bill McLaughlin contributed his faux pas. In an attempt to snipe Ryan off second, the local pitcher threw wildly over Keller's head to center field. The ball also went past Graf. Ryan in the meantime rounded third and dashed toward the plate. The ball was relayed, Cliff Massey to Sam Massey to Kelly, and the play at home was close, but the umpire, Lehrmitt, ruled Ryan safe.

The Other Tally For the next five innings there was no scoring. In the eighth, however, the Bay State nine scored the second and final tally of the game. Lyons singled and was sacrificed to second. Mulqueens singled to left field and when Foster allowed the ball to get past him, Lyons raced across the pan.

Chance Fades Away Manchester had a chance in the ninth after two were out. Bill Brennan, pinch-hitting for Bill McLaughlin, drew a free ticket. Sammy Massey was also presented with an Anna Oakley. Page succeeded in staving off the attack when he stopped a vicious line drive from Keller's bat, getting his man at first for the final out.

A Moral Victory The defeat was a moral victory for the Shamrocks inasmuch as the Massachusetts team is considered one of the foremost ball clubs in the Bay State. Bill McLaughlin, even though he was the losing pitcher, deserves credit. He pitched a splendid game. His control was excellent. Despite their three errors, the Shamrocks turned in a nifty fielding exhibition as their seventeen assists will testify. McLaughlin allowed but five scattered hits and walked but one batter.

Although the whole local team performed commendably against the strong opposition, the play of the Massey brothers stood out a trifle more conspicuously than that of any of the others. Sam handled six chances at short cleanly. Cliff made two of Manchester's three hits, one of which was a double.

Return Game Saturday Next Saturday afternoon, Manager Coleman's team will get a chance for revenge, as the Shamrocks are slated to play in Florence on that day.

WORTH KNOWING

Pete Sarmiento, Filipino bantam, was a busy fighter last year. Pete engaged in 21 bouts, most of them being 10-round, no-decision affairs.

He was credited with four knockout victories, his victims being Connie Curry, Joe Rivers, Patsy Flanagan and Billy Bonellas. A bout with Jack Sharkey was declared "no contest" in the third round.

Sarmiento lost two battles, one on a foul to Earl McArthur in the sixth, and the other to the flashy Bud Taylor, often referred to as the "unrowned bantam king," on points in 10.

SONS ARE SWAMPED BY SIMSBURY TEAM

Locals Have Only Four Regular Men in Lineup—Both Teams Hit Hard.

Playing with a makeshift team the Sons of Italy were swamped in Simsbury yesterday by the score of 17 to 7. The locals used four pitchers and a Simsbury was forced to put in three men.

It was a free-for-all hitting affair with the home team knocking only three more hits than the Sons. St. John and Ballese were the stars with the stick in this game, each doubling four hits. St. John hit two doubles, a triple and a single while Ballese knocked out a double, a triple and two singles.

PAIR OF TWO-HIT TILTS ON SAME DAY.

Two two-hit games in the American League on the same afternoon aren't so very common these days. A pair of such achievements cropped out the other day at Cleveland and Chicago. The Indians with this pitching, whipped the hard-hitting Athletics, Mack's boys getting a single and a double, good for one run. The White Sox tripped the Nationals, Alphonse Thomas letting the Griffs down with a pair of singles and no runs.

RAIN AIDS PUTNAM BEAT CHENEY BROS.

Mill Nine Trailing 2-0 When Rain Intervenes in Sixth; Locals Get But Two Men on Bases.

Stunted crops were not the only beneficiaries of a downpour of rain which fell in Putnam Saturday afternoon. It was also instrumental in a baseball victory which the Belding-Hemmingway team of that city scored over Cheney Brothers. Rain intervened in the last of the fifth inning with the home club leading 2-0. It was the third successive defeat for the Manchester team.

Johnson, the Putnam moundsman, is a complete puzzle to the silk workers. Cheney Brothers made but two hits and both runners were left stranded on first. They were the only players on the Manchester team to reach first during the five innings. In the second, fourth and fifth innings, Johnson retired the side one, two, three. He struck out but one batter but was given airtight support. Carey, his centerfielder, made six putouts.

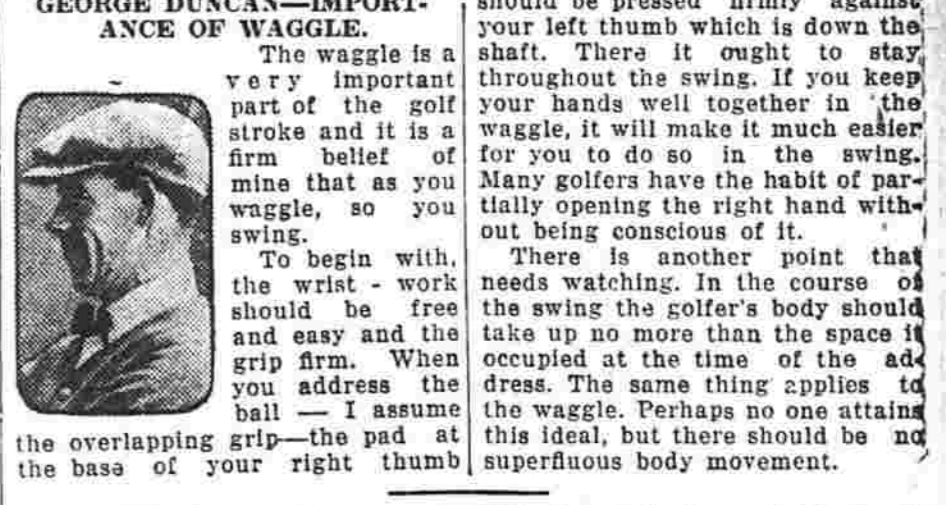

Putnam scored its two runs in the second, chipping in three of its six hits. With one away, Chase singled to right and scored when Carey doubled to center a moment later. S. Dupre flew out to right but Johnson poled a hit into the same territory scoring Carey.

Georgetti was not in trouble at any other stage. He struck out four batsmen.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR GOLFING STARS

GEORGE DUNCAN—IMPORTANCE OF WAGGLE.

The waggle is a very important part of the golf stroke and it is a firm belief of mine that as you waggle, so you swing.

To begin with, the wrist—work should be free and easy and the grip firm. When you address the ball—I assume the overlapping grip—the pad at the base of your right thumb should be pressed firmly against your left thumb which is down the shaft. There it ought to stay throughout the swing. If you keep your hands well together in the waggle, it will make it much easier for you to do so in the swing. Many golfers have the habit of partially opening the right hand without being conscious of it.

There is another point that needs watching. In the course of the swing the golfer's body should take up no more than the space it occupied at the time of the address. The same thing applies to the waggle. Perhaps no one attains this ideal, but there should be no superfluous body movement.

golf, unless it be hard work. If you can think it is not hard work and get some enjoyment out of practicing then you will improve that much faster.

Therefore, in practicing your short game, try to make it as interesting as possible. If you can practice a 150-yard approach over a ravine onto a putting-green, make a game of seeing how many balls you can make stop on the green. Above all, don't get discouraged.

It pays to be natural. Recapitulate your faults after you have cured them and see that you have not overcorrected them.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"So you want me to help to find your china elephant and toy town?" said the Dream-Maker Man to the Twins. "Are you sure they came to the moon?"

"Yes, sir," said Nancy. "They came on a moonbeam. The Fairy Queen saw them and told us."

"How did you find my house on Misty Hill?" asked the Dream-Maker Man thoughtfully.

"Someone in Shut-Eye Town gave us two pink tickets," said Nick. "And they have been awfully nice about taking us places."

"How?" asked the Dream-Maker Man curiously.

"They made themselves into tracks," answered Nick. "Then we rode along in a cute little car."

"At this the two pink tickets stretched themselves out of the Twins' pockets and looked around with their pink eyes. "It says on us that we have to return," said the tickets. "If you don't need us any more we'll be going now. The date stamped on us says we are no good after tomorrow."

"You may go then," said the Dream-Maker Man. "I'll look after these two young people now."

"Good-bye," said the tickets. And jumping out of their pockets the pink tickets rolled themselves into hoops and started down the hill. That was the last the twins saw of them.

"Now, then," said the Dream-Maker Man, "tell me what your china elephant was like. Did he come from China or was he made of china, or what?"

"He was made of china," said Nancy quickly. "He was a door-stop in our room and he had pink roses painted all over him. The other boys all made fun of him, all except the clown, and when he ran off the clown went with him. I guess he was lonesome. That's why he ran off."

"An elephant with pink roses all over him!" exclaimed the Dream-Maker Man. "That certainly is odd! I have seen many kinds of dreams to people on the earth about fishes that walked and cows that flew and monkeys on wheels and butterflies that could sing, but never, never, never did I hear of elephants with roses on them. Poor things! No wonder he ran away!"

"At this the Dream-Maker Man clasped his hands three times and a queer servant appeared. This person had a bill like a bird, ears like a rabbit, a buttoned shoe on one foot, a laced shoe on the other foot, and he kept his hands in a muff."

"Ah, wist grouch, a tor check," said the Dream-Maker Man. "Nip sut rant a boo chon," said the queer servant, making a bow and disappearing.

"That's moon language," explained the Dream-Maker Man. "And that's Blink, one of the moon people. He's a very good cook and makes fudge to suit the queen's taste. He keeps his hands in a muff so they will stay clean. He's gone now to bring us something to eat. You must be hungry after so long a journey, and as we have another long journey ahead, I thought it would be better to have some sandwiches and cakes and lemonade."

"I'm hungry, thank you," said Nick politely.

"So am I," said Nancy. At that the door opened and in came Blink with the lunch. (To be continued)
