

NOT MORE THAN 15 DEAD MEN IN S-51, BELIEF

Submarine in Dry Dock at Brooklyn — Hauled Off Reef After 11 Hour Strug- gle Last Night.

New York, July 8.—The submarine S-51 with its freight of dead men, which grounded on Man of War rock in the East River yesterday when within sight of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was hauled off into deep water, late last night, after an eleven hour struggle, and towed to the navy yard. Navy tugs succeeded in getting the wreck free from its trap and half an hour later it's long and perilous journey from Block Island waters ended. The S-51 was lashed to a sister sub over night and this morning was successfully dry docked in preparation for the grim business of exploring her hull for the bodies of the dead.

Probably 15 Bodies

Precursory examination of the submarine indicated that not more than fifteen bodies may be recovered from the craft, Lieutenant-Commander Ellsberg, in charge of operations, said today.

It was believed that 12 bodies would be found in the torpedo room and 3 in the engine and radio rooms.

Ellsberg said that the examination showed conclusively that the men had died at their posts and that the S-51 had made every effort to avoid a collision with the City of Rome, which was at the bottom of Block Island last autumn.

Bodies sighted proved that the men died on duty, Ellsberg said.

The body seen in the radio room and believed to be that of the radio operator, showed that the man had died at his key.

Three Proofs

Three factors indicated that the S-51 had tried to avoid the crash, according to Ellsberg. These were:
The position of the ship's rudder, showing that the submarine was endeavoring to steer clear of the City of Rome. It was hard at starboard.

The position of the periscopes lenses, showing that the course of the City of Rome was being care- fully noted.

The position of the main engine clutches, showing that "full speed astern" was the last order.

The position of bodies seen in- side the submarine by divers indi- cating that every man died at his post, said Ellsberg. "Many were seen standing with hands on valves showing that at the last moment they stuck to their posts.

Periscopes Due Aft

"The wireless operator was still at the switch, he was seen by a diver through a hole. The diver found it impossible to get into the radio room. Similar conditions were found in the engine room where bodies were seen at the posts. Two men were seen lying near the valves, indicating that they were trying to shut the water off.

The periscopes were turned aft, showing that a close watch was being kept. The rudder was hard right and the clutches on the main engines indicated to me that the S-51 was trying to back up and set out of the way of the City of Rome."

Memorial Service

An impressive memorial service was held at the navy yard shortly after the S-51 was put into dry-dock. The ceremony was attended by naval officers and men and hundreds of civilians.

Four members of the salvage forces, who were mentioned for their conspicuous bravery during the raising of the submarine, form- ed the guard of honor. They were: Chief torpedo man, James Fran- zer and Francis Smith; gunner's mate, John Wickwire and seaman Solomon Schless.

The flag on the S-51 was raised to the masthead and then lowered slowly to half-mast. Buglers sounded "colors" and "taps."

During the night the S-51 was lashed to her sister submarine the S-52. This morning, the stricken craft was drydocked, supported on pontons.

The first work done was to clear the S-51 of debris. The breach will then be closed, the water drawn out, air pumped through the vessel and the search started for bodies. During the search the S-51 will be in the hands of the medical department.

New Setback

The salvage operators met with another setback today when it was discovered that the submarine was not resting on an even keel in the drydock. Pumping operations were immediately abandoned and six divers sent down to readjust the apparatus.

Among those watching the op- erations were Earl Farwell, repre- senting the owners of the subma- rine City of Rome, which rammed the steamer, and Admiral Plunkett, commandant at the navy yard.

Admiral Plunkett commended the divers and salvage crew, char-

2 OUT OF 3 GUILTY OF BOOZE SELLING

Reizer and Tony Gustiani Fined—Mary Gustiani Is Not Guilty.

Two of the three offenders who faced Judge Johnson in the Manchester police court this morning for keeping liquor with intent to sell were found guilty.

Egnatz Reizer, a small grocer on School street, whose place was visit- ed by the police last Saturday and from whom Joseph Rubalino swore he bought a pint of liquor, was rep- resented by Attorney Francis Pal- lottti of Hartford.

Found No Liquor.

Sergeant John Crockett with Patrolmen McGinn and Martin visited the place for the purpose of search but were unable to find any liquor. Rubalino volunteered to go to the Reizer place and buy the liquor. The officers made sure there was no liquor on his person
when he went into Reizer's store.
When he came out he handed it to the officers who were on the street waiting for him.

Reizer had once before been con- victed of selling liquor. Complains had reached the police that he was at the business again.

Reizer flatly denied that he had ever sold any liquor to Rubalino.
He maintained he was not in the store all afternoon last Saturday but was working in his garage.
Witnesses were introduced to hear out this evidence. Reizer said he knew Rubalino. He had called at his store repeatedly. Rubalino once kept his motorcycle in Reizer's garage. He said he did not come to his place last Saturday.

Rowland Prosecutor.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney
James E. Rowland who represented the state said he was confident that the case had been proved. He said the testimony was clear cut. Rubalino had gone into the store for the purpose of buying the liquor.
He had none on his person when he went in and when he left the store he brought with him a pint of whiskey for which he claimed he paid $1.50.

Attorney Pallottti said the court should not believe Rubalino. He had contradicted his own story and Reizer should be given the benefit of the doubt.

In finding Reizer guilty Judge Johnson said he had to take the word of the three officers. He believed their testimony and the tes- timony of Rubalino, therefore he found Reizer guilty and imposed a fine of $200 and costs and a jail sentence of ten days.

Reizer gave notice of appeal and furnished a bond of $500 for his appearance in the September term of the Superior court.

Tony Gustiani who conducts a boot and shoe repair shop on Oak- street was found guilty of keeping liquor with intent to sell and paid a fine of $150 and costs. He was represented by Attorney William S. Hyde.

Sergeant William Barron testi- fied he saw men go in and out of the place repeatedly. He went to the store Saturday, July 3, and found a bottle containing a small quantity of liquor.

Names Habitués.

Officer Medina testified that he saw men gather there and get drunk. He named in open court several men who are in the habit

HEBRON MAN IS SHOT ACCIDENTALLY BY BOY

William Swan, a middle-aged Hebron man, is at the Manchester hospital with a .22 caliber bullet lodged in his chest as the result of an accident at his home yesterday morning.

Mr. Swan and a neighbor's son, Ernest Richards, 15 years old, went out for target practice. The boy believed the gun was empty and accidentally discharged it within three feet of Mr. Swan, who was immediately removed to the hospital. His condition, however, is not considered serious.

X-ray pictures reveal the loca- tion of the bullet to be near the lungs. It was at first believed by the doctors that the bullet was just beneath the skin and a slight operation would remove it. This morning other X-ray pictures show it to be imbedded three or four inches, and that it moves freely as the patient moves. Mr. Swan is conscious and suffers little pain and no attempt will be made to re- move the bullet until it becomes stationary.

READING ROAD PLANS A COAL ROUTE TO N. E.

Asks Power to Take Over the Lehigh and New Eng- land, Opening Outlet from This Territory.

Washington, July 8.—The Reading railroad applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission today for authority to acquire and control, by lease, the Lehigh and New England railroad, for a period of 999 years.

The application said that this ac- quisition would enable the Reading to open new and shorter routes for transportation of anthracite coal from the Schuylkill region to points in eastern and northern New York and New England.

Outlet to West.

It would also permit improvement of through routes now existing and the opening of additional through routes for the handling of traffic between the New England states and southern, western, southwestern and southeastern states. The road proposes to pay an annual cash rental of $1,069,000.
The Lehigh and New England is 155 miles in length and covers points in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

SOLD GIRL WIFE AND BABY FOR OLD HORSE

Now Vermont Authorities Seek Woman as Witness in a Mur- der Mystery.

East Calais, Vt., July 8.—A strange tale of the bartering of a 16-year-old girl and her baby for an old horse came to light here today when authorities began a search for her in the belief that she could aid materially in solving the mystery of the murder of Ryan
R. Egan at his nearby farm.

The girl, according to the au- thorities, lived with her husband and a brother in the hills. She had a two-year-old baby. The husband accepted an offer from the boarder of an old horse for his wife and baby.

The baby since has died, the husband has left this section and the girl and the boarder recently separated. Their present where- abouts is unknown.

SUSPECT, 19, ARRESTED IN BIG GEM ATTEMPT

Youth Held for Washington Job Where Million in Jewels Did Not Materialize.

New York, July 8.—Harry Baum, 19, was arrested here today charged with being one of the bandits who participated in an attempted jewel robbery in the home of Caroline Williamson in Washington, last March. Baum, who was arrested as a result of an underworld tip, denied he had ever been in Washington.

The bandits bound all the ser- vants in the Williamson home and expected to get $1,000,000 worth of jewels. The jewels however, had been placed in a safe deposit vault before the robbery.

CRIME SYMPATHIZERS COOK FOR MURDERERS

Boston Women Supply Food for Whist to Build Defense Fund for Slayers.

Boston, July 8.—One of the strangest cooking bees in the history of New England was under way today to save three youths from the electric chair.

A group of housewives in All- ston and Brighton volunteered to furnish refreshments for an elab- orate whist party to be held to- night to further a drive to have commuted the death sentences of John Devereaux, John McLaughlin and Edward Heinelein, convicted of the murder of a Waltham car barn watchman.

The proceeds of the party will go to the fund created to seek to save the trio from the death pen- alty.

FRENCH PASSENGER SHIP HEADS BACK TO PORT

New York, July 8.—The French liner DeGrasse, which sailed for Havre yesterday, has developed engine trouble 350 miles out and is returning to New York, according to a wireless message received at the company's offices.

The DeGrasse is carrying 538 first-class cabin passengers and 300 tourist class passengers.

BUILDING REACHES THE SUMMER PEAK

22 Dwellings Under Con- struction in Manchester; Several Fine Homes.

House building in Manchester is at the peak now.

Twenty two homes are being built here. Their total estimated value is $180,000. Seven of the new homes are to cost over $10,000 when completed.

The building slump which was predicted for Manchester during the present summer gave way to the June rush. During that month building to the amount of $310,000 was contracted for here.

Biggest Contracts

The biggest construction job in Manchester at present is the Masonic Temple contract which is being handled by the Manchester Construction Company. Among the houses under construction are those of Harold Alvord, valued at $24,000, another dwelling in Pine Forest, $13,000, two homes for E.
J. Holl in Holl wood at $12,000 each, E. H. Crosby, $11,000, and a combination store and dwelling at East Center St. Parker streets cor-
Charles Woodhouse, valued at $8,000.

Sixteen garages are now under construction here, and a dance hall on Kenney street is being built by Wilmer Keeney at a cost of $1- 800. Among the alterations and ad- ditions being made here is an addi- tion to the C. R. Burr & Co. build- ing on Oakland street at a cost of $7,500. The St. Mary's church alterations now being done will cost $5,200.

DURKIN MURDER TRIAL IN ARGUMENT STAGE.

Chicago, July 8.—Arguments are proceeding today in the trial of Martin Durkin, bandit, for the murder of Edward J. Shanley, U. S. government agent. It is not expected that they will be concluded before tomorrow noon.

ASYLUM STREET STORE IN HARTFORD ROBBED.

Hartford, July 8.—Thieves entered the Gustave Fischer store on Asylum street during the night and stole furniture valued at more than $2,000. Police have no clues.
Entrance is believed to have been obtained after the front door lock had been tampered with during the day.

EARLY MORNING THIEVES GET $1,000 IN SILVER.

Greenwich, July 8.—The residence of L. E. Packner, New York insurance broker, on Field Point road, was burglarized today and silverware valued at over $1,000 stolen. Mr. and Mrs. Packner, spending the day in New York yesterday returned to their home at two o'clock this morning and police believe the burglary occurred after that hour.

When the Packners rose this morning they found a back door and a French window open, and their dining room sideboard pulled to a point near the open window.

Do You Know How Your Taxes Are Spent On Schools?

Every year, if you are a property owner in Manchester, you are paying to Manchester a certain sum in taxes.

Half of the amount you pay is consumed by school expenses—that is, town school expenses.

DO YOU KNOW HOW THAT SCHOOL MONEY IS SPENT?

The Herald will publish at frequent intervals articles outlining School Costs showing just how every dollar is used.

An introductory article appears on Page One of The

ANDREWS' TRIP ABROAD JUST A DISGUST CURE

Aide Says Dry Director Is Sick of Whole Affair and Was Dragooned Into Sticking Along.

Washington, July 8.—After two days of "diplomatic denials" treasury officials confirmed the fact today that General Lincoln C. Andrews has submitted his resignation as director of prohibition.

No explanation was given as to why the "denials" were considered necessary on Tuesday, but they were ascribed to political and other reasons.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 8.—Prohi- bition administration Eugene Rob- erts of the third enforcement area will step out of office coincident- ly with the announced resigna- tion in September of Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibi- tion enforcement, he announced on his return from Washington where he held a conference with his chief, "Disgusted Man"

"My boss," said Major Roberts, referring to General Andrews, "seemed a very disgusted man. He is all through with the service and would have resigned last week if he could have had his way but ex- treme pressure was brought to bear from the White House and he was forced to promise to remain on the job at least until he returns from England."

Major Roberts said Andrews is "so sick with the whole affair that he took the ocean trip to recuper- ate his shattered nerves."

NEW YORK TRAFFIC IS FAST GROWING NORMAL

Little Crowding of Subway Trains and L Is Unaffected by Strikers' Efforts.

New York, July 8.—The traffic situation resulting from the strike of subway motormen and switchmen is gradually getting back to normal, despite efforts of the strikers to induce elevated operators to join in the walk-out.

Subway trains on the east side line ran through to Brooklyn today for the first time since the strike started Tuesday morning, and offi- cials of the Interborough claimed that the elevated lines were running on a 100 per cent schedule.

Underground trains were not overcrowded and emergency meas- ures of transportation were working effectively.

Few disturbances were reported during the morning rush hour when subway traffic was 77 per cent of normal, according to the I. R. T.

PENNSYLVANIA PRIMARY TOTAL COST $2,793,583

Pepper Ticket Expenditures Over a Million, Quaker City Body Paying $480,000.

Washington, July 8.—The expenditures in Pennsylvania's recent senatorial primary totaled $2, 793,583.02 for the three rival candidates and their supporters, according to a summary made public today by the Senate slush fund committee.

The heaviest spender was Senator George Wharton Pepper, who head- ed the Pepper-Fisher-Smith-Wood- ward ticket. This ticket spent $1, 804,979.05, of which $480,000 was paid out by the Republican Cit- izens' campaign committee of Phila- delphia.

MAKES MOVE TO EXPEL REMUS FROM COUNTRY

U. S. Officer to Ask for Depor- tation of Bootlegger King Now in Ohio Jail.

Atlanta, Ga., July 8.—A deportation warrant calling for the expulsion of George Remus, millionaire bootlegger, of Cincinnati, from the United States as an "undesirable alien" will be asked in the next few days by M. A. Coy-kendall, federal immigration officer for the Atlanta district.

Remus is now in jail at Troy, O., serving a one-year term in a li- quor case.

The deportation move, which is believed to have been inaugurated as a result of information furnished by Remus' estranged wife, will be based on the allegation that he is a German citizen, and has never become naturalized.

C. N. G. PROMOTION.

Hartford, July 8.—The promotion of Captain Joseph P. Nolan, service company 168th Infantry, to major of infantry, was announced by the adjutant general's department here today.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE N-O-T ON WAY TO U. S.

Berlin, July 8.—The former crown prince of Germany is not on the liner President Roosevelt, bound for the United States.

This is established definitely today after wild rumors had spread throughout Germany that the former crown prince had sailed for the United States.
The rumor, it was learned,
arose from the fact that Capt.
Von Bauer, who is almost a double for the former crown prince, is on board the Roosevelt in charge of fourteen yearlings from the famous stud farm at Bad Harzburg, formerly owned by the kaiser's son-in-law,
the duke of Brunswick.

HAD $750,000 RUM BURIED IN COAL

Coastwise Steamer Seized at Boston, Captain and Crew of 22 Arrested.

Boston, July 8.—Customs officers today continued a search of the steamship Cretan following the discovery of 30,000 gallons of alcohol and assorted choice liquors valued at $750,000 in the hold and niches of the vessel which was seized at Battery Wharf here and held by the service and crew of 22 arrested.

Ostensibly carrying a cargo of waste paper, mesh wire and soft coal, the ship, after sailing a week ago from Portland for Philadel- phia, unexpectedly arrived here today. Customs officials, tipped that the vessel was loaded with liquors, boarded her.

Buried Under Coal

After working eight hours removing huge bales of paper and rolls of mesh wire, and when the search seemed hopeless a drum of alcohol was brought out from under a pile of soft coal. Others soon followed until a total of three hundred drums came to light.

The ship was recently sold by the Merchants and Miners Trans- portation company to the Atlas Chartering Corporation of Balti- more and in turn was disposed of to the Consolidated Navigation Co., according to records here.

The Cretan, it was stated, prob- ably will be forfeited to the Uni- ted States government under the law governing smuggling craft.

TAKE MOTOR VICTIM 200 MILES TO DIE

Nearby Hospitals Ignored as Woman With Cut Throat Is Sent to Boston.

Boston, July 8.—An official investigation was under way today into the death of Mrs. Gertrude Berry Moulton, of Cliftondale, in Massachusetts General Hospital.

She had been brought by train more than 200 miles after her throat had been severed in an automobile accident at Machias, Me.

Officials sought to bring out the reason for bringing the woman to Boston when there were a number of hospitals available much nearer the scene of the accident.

MYSTERIOUSLY DEAD ON PILOT OF ENGINE

Boston Chauffeur's Body Found on Cowcatcher in Bronx; Burned But Not Mangled.

New York, July 8.—The district attorney's office of the Bronx is investigating the death of a man believed, from cards in his pockets, to be Francis X. Artridge, 29, of Brighton, Mass., whose body was found on the cow catcher of the electric engine that hauls the Boston express from New Haven to New York.

The motorman of the express saw the body when the train passed at Woodlawn station in the Bronx. Police took the body to Fordham hospital. A physician pronounced the man dead from burns. He had a chauffeur's li- cense in his pocket. The body was not mangled in any way.

MRS. BUDLONG AGAIN CROSS-EXAMINES HUBBY

Newport, R. I., July 8.—Mrs.
Margaret Budlong, acting as her own attorney in the legal separation suit brought against her millionaire husband, Milton J.
Budlong, put him through another grilling cross-examination when the case was resumed in Superior court here today.

She directed her efforts at first to getting the name of a woman referred to as "Mrs. Y." but failed despite her statement that she was familiar with the woman's name but wanted to bring it out because it had a bearing on the case.

SCHOOL COSTS LITTLE KNOWN TO TAXPAYERS

Intelligent Understanding of Expenses to Be Made Pos- sible by Series of Articles in The Herald.

The burden of taxation has reached the hurting point. Manchester property owners are rebelling.
Whenever groups of them gather, the subject is generally taxes. It is agreed—even by town officials and those most closely connected with the departments that spend the money—something must be done.
What can be done? What departments of Manchester's government must curtail spending? Naturally, the biggest item in the budget is the first to suffer the attacks of taxpayers.

A Series of Articles

In order that the people of Manchester may thoroughly understand how the $370,000 appropriated for schools here is spent The Herald will publish a specially prepared series of articles on School Costs.
The Ninth district school committee, through Howell Cheney, its chairman, is furnishing this information. The Herald is publishing these articles for the information of its readers, the big majority of whom are citizens and taxpayers in Manchester.

The series will run intermittently. An introduction to the group of articles follows.

Ninth District School Reports

There is no more important activity among those which the town has assumed responsibility for than its schools. It intimately concerns 3900 children and families numbering over 15000 individuals. The total cost of schools for the last school year was about $370,000.00 in town money, not including what the districts spent out of the proceeds of their own taxes to build, repair and maintain their school buildings and grounds.
An activity which is of first importance to over two-thirds of the town's population, and which spends over one-half of the town's money, is obviously one as to which there should be an exact, intimate, and intelligent understanding by the public.

Go To Proper Officials

If this understanding had to be secured solely through the reports of the school committee published annually in the town report, such an understanding would be quite inadequate, because very few read the town reports. The people of the town do know more about their schools than of any other town interest because of 180 days in the year over 3900 pupils daily bring back over 700,000 possible points of contact with the schools.

Joseph Stevenson, aged 86, of 39 Wadsworth street, died at the Manchester Memorial hospital at 10:30 o'clock this morning after a four months' illness with a complication of troubles.

Approximately fifty close relatives survive Mr. Stevenson. Born in Portadown, Ireland, on September 26, 1839. He came to this country about 1855.

Mr. Stevenson is also survived by thirty-five grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren. He was a member of the St. Mary's Episcopal church.

Funeral arrangements will not be complete until tomorrow.

MANCHESTER BASS CLUB HAS 33 MEMBERS

To stimulate interest in bass fishing and to create a healthy rivalry among Manchester bass fishermen, the Manchester Bass Club was started a month ago with the backing of the officers of the Manchester Fish and Game Club.

The conditions of the contest are simple. The purchase price must be a small mouth variety and must have been caught in Connecticut waters and be weighed and displayed at the store of Barrett & Robbins.

The largest bass entered so far is one of 3 1/4 pounds by W. E. Dunster. A man brought a three pounder into the store a few days ago and wanted to weigh and enter it.

of drinking liquor and who frequently visit the place.

Gustiani said in his own behalf that he had been here six years and had conducted the shoe repair shop for four years. He claimed he had the liquor for his own use and never sold it to anybody.

Attorney Hyde believed the evidence was not sufficient to convict beyond a reasonable doubt. There was nothing to show that the man was guilty of actual sale and there had been no complaints.

Mary Giustiani Not Guilty

Sergeant Barron had seen drinking men go in there but he could not consider them drunkards. The woman denied that she had ever sold liquor to anybody.

With Sergeant Barron at the time of the search Friday evening, July 2 were Officers McGilgan and Wirtalla. The officers found the liquor in the pantry. They also said there was wine in the cellar.

The case of Raymond Finn who was before the court for throwing firecrackers at Officer Radding was again continued until Saturday morning.

She Walked Home From Airplane

At last it has happened—a girl has had to walk home from an airplane ride! Emily de Voe, of San Francisco, went up with Harold L. Pellymounter and had to kick his ignition off to force him to land because he swore he'd carry her to Los Angeles and make her marry him.

But after having him arrested she felt sorry for him—and here the two are, planning on the marriage that she says will occur shortly.

LOCAL UNIT LEADS RECRUITING RALLY

Howitzer Company Makes Good Recovery from Slump—Co. G Drills
Tonight.

When the Connecticut National Guard entrains for Niantic early Sunday morning, the Howitzer company of this town, will carry along with it the record of having obtained the largest number of enlistments in the recent drive conducted throughout the 169th Infantry, it was learned today from the Hartford headquarters.

28 Enlistments. Up to the present time, the Howitzer company has secured seventeen new recruits and has induced eleven soldiers to reenlist. All have been made during the past month and the seven days of July. A list of the enlistments follows:

Credits to Company. It is a credit to Captain Allen L. Dexter, his officers and all those who aided him in staging the recruiting rally in the Manchester unit. Its ranks reduced to almost one-half peace time strength by the expiration of enlistments, the company has made a wonderful recovery. For a time things looked dark and gloomy and the prospects of going to camp this summer appeared somewhat doubtful. Wild rumors had gone around that the company would be forced to disband but the "recuperation act" staged by the company has proved a life saver. There are at present three officers and fifty-two men in the Howitzer company and more are expected before encampment. The last opportunity to enlist will be tonight and tomorrow night. The unit will hold its last drill prior to encampment tomorrow evening at the armory and a full attendance is expected. It is necessary as arrangements will be made for the distribution of field equipment.

Co. G Above Quota. Company G under Captain Herbert H. Bissell will hold its final drill tonight at the armory. He states that all men must report. A special drill will be held which will include the pitching of shelter tents and the laying of other equipment. Company G is well over the quota required for camp and it is possible that a few of the men will be transferred to the Howitzer company. Company G has also secured new recruits, among whom is Elmo Mantelli, popular local athlete.

Official Information. Official information from Captain Irving E. Partridge, Jr., regimental adjutant, states that the special train bearing the companies will depart from Hartford at 7.30, standard time, and will leave Manchester where Company G and the Howitzer company will entrain at 7.55, standard time. Advance preparations at the state military rendezvous at Camp Trumbull for 1,200 men.

A list of promotions given out from headquarters follows: First Battalion Headquarters company—Corporal Leonard Jackson to be sergeant, Corporal Gottlieb Schmeiter to be sergeant, and private first class, William E. Trusky to be corporal; Third Battalion Headquarters company—Private Chris B. Jennings to be corporal; Company A—Private Andrew Kochanowski to be corporal and Private Harold T. Dainton to be corporal; Company B—Private Edwin D. Daniels to be corporal and Private Raymond Stebbins to be corporal; Company D—Corporal Frank T. Sieracki to be sergeant and Private Charles J. Capaccio to be corporal; Company K—Sergeant Joseph P. Tracy to be first sergeant, Corporal Jean L. Marcel to be sergeant, and Private, first class, John S. Virelle to be sergeant; Company M—Corporal Frank V. Nelson to be sergeant, Corporal Julius W. Wopachall to be sergeant, Private John E. Egan to be corporal, Private, first class, Harold C. Griggs to be corporal and Private, first class, Vincent A. Kenedick to be corporal.

Corporal Arthur M. Daniels, Medical Detachment, is reduced to grade of private upon his own request that he be granted a furlough for the camp period.

WAPPING

Johnnie, the eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Daley, who recently bought the William Clark place on the Buckland road, was taken to the Manchester Memorial hospital on Monday, suffering from a deep wound on his right hand caused by a blank cartridge which was discharged prematurely. The wound was two inches long and was in the palm of his hand.

Marjorie Felt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Felt spent the holidays at Woodmont with her aunt, Miss Winnifred Smith. Mr. and Mrs. William Barber and daughter, Angle from Brooklyn, N. Y., motored to their summer home on Avery street for the holidays, which was the home of the late Henry Loomis.

Miss Evelyn Geer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Geer spent a few days at a cottage at Crystal Lake over the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Spencer from Armonk, New York, spent the Fourth with Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Spencer.

Mrs. George Hills is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Pauline Lehman of Steel Road, West Hartford.

Wesley Smith and two young men, one from North Carolina and the other from Wisconsin, spent the Fourth at Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith's. They are stationed at present on the U. S. S. Bushnell at New London.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Collins and Miss Fannie Collins and Leslie Collins and Miss Francis Stoddard motored to Niantic and New London last Sunday and spent the day.

A party of seven boys, Harold Collins, Will Rose, Harry Piles, Guy Smith, Robert Sharp, Dwight Soughton and Raymond Magnuson, motored to Marlborough Lake last Saturday and spent the Fourth.

There was a picnic held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Collins on Monday when seventeen gathered, coming from Somersville, Manchester and Wapping. Games and a regular picnic dinner and supper were served out on the lawn. All enjoyed the day very much.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Collins, there was a family picnic. Mrs. Rose Elmer and her three daughters with their families were all present, and enjoyed a clam bake.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Collins and family motored to Massachusetts, coming home by the way of Jacob's Ladder.

According to recent cables received from Johannesburg, South Africa, American motorcycles in competition with numerous foreign makes are winning much recognition and popularity in various competitive trials, asserts A. Stavinsky, of 24 Birch street, local Indian Motorcycle dealer.

Most remarkable of all, stated Mr. Stavinsky, which leaves no doubt for the popularity of the American machine, is the tremendous economy record made by Alf Long, of Johannesburg. Riding a single cylinder Indian Prince motorcycle, Long traveled 388.2 miles on two imperial gallons of gasoline on a total running time of 22 hours from Johannesburg to Maritzburg. Figuring in terms of the standard gallon used in this country which contains 231 cubic inches against the imperial gallon of 277.2 cubic inches we find that Long traveled exactly 161.75 miles on a standard gallon of gasoline and 323.5 on two gallons.

Then to prove the consistency of the American machine in supremacy not only in economy but also in speed, power and ruggedness, Long entered an Indian Scout motorcycle (two cylinders) in a 110 mile handicap road race at Zwartkops near Johannesburg and finished first in the time of 2 hours, 10 minutes and 54 seconds. What was most remarkable about this trial, added Mr. Stavinsky, was that Long averaged 49 miles an hour over the course which was boulder strewn and broken with ruts. Over 5,000 people witnessed this event which was considered the most spectacular that ever took place in that section of the country. When Long crossed the finish line a great ovation was heard for the American machine and rider.

Such performance is a big boost for the American motorcycle industry considering that twenty-five years ago it was in its infancy here and the only known motorcycles were of foreign manufacture.

THOUSANDS ATTEND

"ROCKVILLE NIGHT"
Largest Crowd in Years at West Side Last Night;
Locals Lose at Baseball.

Several thousand people, the biggest crowd in years at the West Side, attended the festivities on Rockville night there last evening. The crowd was even bigger than that at the Rockville night last year and the band concert and the athletic events were bigger and better than ever.

Manchester about broke even in the contests for a local team lost the baseball game while the horseshoe pitching and tennis tournaments went to Manchester by wide margins. The affair wound up with a largely attended dance in the Recreation Center auditorium.

Rushing Business. The sixteen daily rushing business and at the end of the evening practically everything was sold out. The record of 1,000 hot dogs sold, shattered for a great many more than that number were sold last night.

Band Concert. An excellent concert was given by the Rockville City band under the leadership of Oscar Badstuber. The concert was continuous and included both popular and classical numbers. Some of the classical selections were "Our Country First," the overture "Home Circle," "Heart Throbs," "Blushing Roses," and the "Golden Blonde."

The Summaries. Manchester won the horseshoe pitching tournament with Furphy and Thompson who won the finals against Moseley and Stevenson by the score of 21 to 9. Other results in the tournament are the following:

McCormick and Roth, Manchester, lost to Ryan and Usher, Rockville, 21 to 13.
Keene and Read, Rockville, lost to Moseley and Stevenson, 21 to 19.
Feeney and Leeburg lost to Lang and Shields, 21 to 7.
Nelson and Hubbs lost to Furphy and Thompson, 21 to 17.
Semi-final: Ryan and Usher lost to Moseley and Stevenson, 21 to 17.
Lang and Shields lost to Furphy and Thompson, 15 to 10.

Finals: Furphy and Thompson defeated Moseley and Stevenson, 21 to 9.

Tennis. Singles: Holland defeated Pigeon, Rockville, 6-2, 6-1; Bissell defeated Johnson, Rockville, 6-2, 5-7, 6-0.
Doubles: Holland and Bissell defeated Pigeon and Johnson, Rockville, 6-2, 6-1.
Metcalf and Hand defeated Wilson and Fogarty, Rockville, 6-2, 6-1.

Manchester and Rockville split even in first places in the Charles-ton contest. Miss Elizabeth Ellis of Rockville was best among the girls and Eric Crawshaw of this town won the men's contest. Second prizes went to Miss Marion Hunniford of Rockville, Charles Genevest of Rockville and Albert Bauer of Hartford. A clever exhibition was given by Miss Catherine Trapp, 5, of Rockville. The judges were Sam Stone and Wallace Prella of Rockville and Miss Laura Gidden of Manchester.

THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1926.

BEHIND THE TIMES.

Whoever says that Manchester is not an up-to-date town just simply does not know Manchester. But the doesn't act like one in the matter of the firecracker and gunpowder Fourth of July. In that one respect we are trailing the procession and a long way in the rear.

It is many years since the first American community—we have forgotten which one it was—decided that the traditional practice of celebrating Independence day by an indiscriminate burning of homes, blinding and maiming of children, development of lockjaw cases and killing off of sick people, to the accompaniment of a large amount of explosive noise, was not worth the price.

But that pioneer community of the safe-and-sane Fourth of July, whichever it was, has had so many followers that nowadays it is the very exceptional city or town that permits, as Manchester does, the unrestricted discharge of explosives on the Fourth, to say nothing of letting the infernal racket dribble along over the better part of a week.

And those other towns and cities that do permit this uncouth kind of celebration are a long way from being among the leaders in worth-whiteness. It would probably be safe to say that there is not another town or city of Manchester's grade in other respects that has not either put an absolute end to the crack-bang variety of holiday observance or else closely restricted the employment of fireworks so as to minimize the nuisance.

Last spring the selectmen presented to the adjourned town meeting a proposed by-law that was extremely liberal but which, nevertheless, would have abated many of the objectionable features now permitted to exist. Unfortunately that meeting was in a cross-grained mood over the always irksome question of taxation, and without the slightest thought as to what it was doing it promptly killed the ordinance when somebody made the entirely specious declaration that "We had our good times when we were kids; why deny the same privilege to the children now?"

There is no real worth to that argument because nobody wants to curtail the enjoyment of the children on the Fourth of July. It is true that explosives, firecrackers and such things, do exercise a fascination upon youngsters. But so do edged tools, deep wells, wild turnips and about everything conceivable that is dangerous and bad for them. It is just human inquisitiveness about what is perilous and risky. And it is no more a hardship for the ten year old boy or girl to be deprived of the means of shooting out his or her eyes than it is for the baby of 18 months to have his father's razor taken away from him when he gets hold of it—as he will inevitably if given opportunity.

There are a hundred better ways of giving the kids a good time than permitting themselves to burn the garage or their own clothes and fingers. Manchester's Fourth this year was not, after all, a very enjoyable holiday for the majority of its people. There was a great deal of sheer rowdiness of the giant cracker and six shooter variety, a distressing loss of sleep in the aggregate, the band concert and dancing at the North End were ruined, and everybody was glad when the turmoil was over.

Why should we continue to countenance this outdoor, utterly silly and meaningless inheritance from a time when people had no other way of expressing exuberance than to get full of hard cider and fire off the old gun? There are infinite ways, nowadays, of having a celebration without resort to such primitive methods. Let's either stop the thing altogether or at least keep it within bounds, by the adoption of an adequate town by-law. The police, we are sure, would be only too glad to enforce it. The easiest thing to do is to prohibit the use of firecrackers, pistols, guns and cannon, or their substitutes, altogether. In two years no one would miss them except to bless their absence.

S-51 GAMBLE.

No one who has the slightest familiarity with the swirling currents and shifting tidal conditions of the East river could have felt any surprise at the accident which, in the last mile of the S-51's hazardous trip from Block Island waters to Brooklyn Navy Yard, threatened to ruin the dramatic salvage of the submarine. The passage of Hell Gate and the lower East river by such an unwieldy procession as was made up of tugs, pontoons, submerged ship and escorting vessels was an undertaking so shot through with risk that its negotiation without some sort of mishap would have been little short of miraculous. Only the complete landman, and at that a landman lacking in imagination, would be ready to blame pilot or officer of the strange expedition for the grounding of the S-51 within sight of the Navy Yard.

But it is this very fact of the extraordinary hazard of the voyage that makes it impossible, in default of special information, to understand why the trip was taken at all. It would have seemed that the natural course for the Navy Department to take, once the sunken sub had been brought to the surface, would have been to play safe and order her towed to the very nearest port where the task of opening her and taking out the bodies of her dead would be possible, whether or not that port provided ideal facilities. That this could have been done either at Newport or at New London is unquestionably true.

Oddly enough, up to this writing, there has never been any explanation given of the department's order to take the wreck to Brooklyn, in the face of the almost insuperable obstacles and perils of such a voyage. They need to be good reasons that impelled this gamble with the bodies of more than twenty men. It is very much to be hoped that they have nothing to do with the saving of dollars.

WET TESTOTALER.

It may be of interest to those many sincere dries, who misconceive the anti-prohibition movement to be a device of godden, alcoholically thirsty souls to increase the ease of getting their booze, to learn that the originator, founder and chief executive of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, William Henry Station, is a total abstainer.

This former United States naval officer takes no more strong drinks than does Wayne B. Wheeler. But there his practice in its resemblance to the practice of Mr. Wheeler, comes to an end. He does not advocate the principle of personal liberty for pay. He takes no salary, makes no profit from his activities in opposition to prohibition. Mr. Wheeler, having recently been put on oath in the matter, has admitted that his interest in dryness is professional. He gets eight thousand dollars a year and expenses for his part in the works.

A very great deal of the support of Volsteadism comes from people who are deliberately deceived, by their professional, paid leaders, as to the character of the opposition. They are told that it is the "liquor interests" that are fighting prohibition and that all the wets who are not peculiarly interested in "restoring the saloon" are either souses or creatures of that "interests."

When the dries come to understand, as they sooner or later will, that the energy in the anti-Volstead fight is supplied by intelligent, orderly citizens like Station, many of them total abstainers of long standing, they will have a truer outlook on the situation.

MCPHERSON CASE.

Highly to be commended is the action of the Church Federation of Los Angeles, an organization of most of the Protestant ministers of the city, in the Almoa Semple McPherson matter. The Federation has issued a statement declaring its neutrality and urging a complete investigation of the curious tale of kidnapping told by the evangelist.

This is in contrast to the too frequent tendency of such bodies to run to the support of persons of Mrs. McPherson's calling without taking the time to ascertain whether or not they are deserving of it.

If Mrs. McPherson has been mixed up in some dubious transaction it will be she, not her critics, who will have shown herself to be a real enemy of the cause of religion; and for the church organization precipitately to have backed her up would only have made a bad matter worse. If the grand jury inquiry vindicates her, then will be ample time for the Federation to rejoice.

There is no call for the thousands of hard working, earnest, little advertised clergymen of the country to rally to the standard of a sensationalist merely because the latter waves the banner of Christianity higher than most and shouts his exhortations a good deal louder—pot, at all events, until all question of sincerity is quite definitely settled.

LOST.

We have lost the names and addresses of those several scientists who predicted, a few months ago, that there would be no summer in 1925. Anyone in possession thereof will kindly preserve them as we might want to borrow them, later on, for the purpose of communicating our felicitations. But, on second thought, perhaps they have moved. We would, if we had predicted thus and had this kind of luck with it.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, July 8.—The Bryan or Brookhart West-Senate William Cabell Bruce coined this expression a few days ago in discussing proposed farm relief legislation.

It was all over the Capitol inside half an hour. The phrase's catchiness gave it a currency which, in the judgment of numerous lawmakers, promises that it will be much heard in the course of the coming campaign.

A good many of them wish Bruce had not used it. There has been considerable worry in Congress of late over the increasing cleavage between East and West. Comparisons have been drawn between this cleavage and the cleavage between the North and South which led to the Civil War. Nobody predicts that the apparently growing antagonism of the West toward the East and the seeming indifference of the East toward the West will lead to war. Still, there are legislators who say it threatens something serious.

A catch phrase like "the Bryan or Brookhart West" can be so used they add, as to make matters worse.

"Ever since my boyhood," said Bruce, "that part of the West which I will call the Bryan or Brookhart West has been hatching out, at one time or another, economic fallacies."

Then he proceeded to enumerate: 1.—The greenback agitation—the proposed substitution of "printing press money" for "real money."

2.—The populist movement—with a reference to Senator Peffer's whiskers and Senator Jerry Simpson's reputed socklessness. "In defiance of every natural law."

3.—The demand for a protective tariff on farm products—a demand which Congress acceded to, and what good has it done?"

Now farm relief by artificial means—by means, according to Bruce, unconstitutional, economically unsound and sure, if attempted, to make a bad situation worse.

From start to finish the senator harped on "the Bryan or Brookhart West."

"The Bryan or Brookhart West," he insisted, is in process of liquidation, following the war period of inflation, and will presently get back to normal if left to itself, but if "quick remedies" are applied, nobody can tell what graver troubles may ensue.

As to the essentials of his argument, Bruce and farm relief's proponents simply are on different sites and doubtless could disagree peaceably, but no section of the country likes to be referred to as an incubator, throughout all modern historical times, of "economic fallacies," or to be designated as a "Bryan or Brookhart West" in a fashion that left no doubt its originator meant it as a term of contempt.

A western man might have done it without arousing so much obvious resentment, but not a senator from the extreme east. At least, one gathers as much from farm bloc members in both lobbies at the Capitol.

Bruce probably has provided westerners with a first-class slogan, however, for the campaign of 1926.

Brookhart-ites, by the way, are delighted. They believe the linking of Brookhart's name with Bryan's and the application of the twin to the geographical region whence both sprang insure to the Iowan thousands of votes which might otherwise have gone to his opposition candidate.

IN NEW YORK

New York, July 8.—The business of turning night-time into daytime has overlapped the bounds of the joy palaces. Just across the street from Grand Central station there now blazes an electric sign on a shoe store reading: "Open all night."

A brisk "all-night trade" is enjoyed, the manager informs me. Many of the customers are new arrivals in Manhattan, who, brushing from their shoes, decide to change to eastern styles. They notice the sign, glance in the window and go to their hotels with shoes in the "New York manner."

Among other customers, I was told, are men who decide at a late hour to "step out." They decide to get a pair of dance pumps or other dress shoes, rather than

JITNEY PLAYERS COMING TO TOWN

Will Be Here on July 16 in Kiwanis Play for Kiddies' Benefit— Will Give Three Sketches.

In order that 80 under-privileged Manchester children may enjoy two weeks at the Kiwanis camp in Hebron this summer, the Kiwanians will bring to Manchester on July 16 the famous Jitney Players who will present three plays. All proceeds will go toward defraying the expenses of keeping the children at the camp.

The Jitney Players are a group of young and gifted professional actors and actresses who have toured New England and Long Island during the past three summers.

Their stage is a canvas covered automobile truck which can be quickly extended and set up in any field or garden. Their elaborate theatrical equipment is carried in still another truck and the players themselves travel along by automobile. Many and various have seen their adventures, playing as they have for many social and charitable affairs.

The cast will again include Alice Keating, charming leading woman, and Bushnell Cheney, of this town. Yale '21, originator of the project, and Richard Skinner, Harvard '22, who has been associated with them in distinguished roles for three years. Ise Bloede, one of the original pioneers, is back again this season. Also the Jitney Players have a charming ingenue in the person of Frances Simpson, well known to Jitney Player audiences. Other members of this distinguished and unusual organization are Joaquin Souther, Harvard '12, Edgar Barrier, Columbia '24, George Macready, Brown '21, Constance Smith, president of the Vassar Dramatic club, Henry Bradson, of the Harvard Dramatic club, and John Everts of Exeter Academy.

The plays this year have been produced at Madison, the headquarters of the Jitney Players, under the direction of David Belbridge, a distinguished member of Walker Whiteside's company, who came to America by way of the Orient, after he had acted in India, China, Japan and Honolulu. He will appear with the Jitney Players in several important roles.

There are two programs for the year this season. On one evening "The Dragon" an ancient comedy by Lady Gregory, will be given, interspersed with charming songs and dances. On another evening there will be a delightful program of one-act plays, together with variations in songs and dance of a picturesque nature. The pieces chosen are: "Love is the Best Doctor," by Moliere; "Paola and Francesca," by Stephen Phillips, and "The Gentleman in Black," by W. S. Gilbert.

END BUNION PAIN FOREVER

No Need to Suffer Another Day
Those Agonizing Torturing Pains.

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflamed, swollen toe joints and get them down to normal and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning and people who suffer from such enlargements would be wise to reduce them before they reach a more or less chronic stage. Ask North End Pharmacy, South Manchester agents Magnell Drug Co.—or any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded. Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. Applied night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.—Adv.

COUNTRY STORE NIGHT AT STATE TONIGHT

Tonight extra presents will be given away at the State theatre Country Store so be on hand. Don't miss it. With the Country Store there will also be a double feature bill. For the first feature Pat O'Malley and May McAvoy are seen in "My Old Dutch."

A prize fight staged after the fashion of fifty years ago, when the battlers used bare fists and fought to a finish, is one of the remarkable thrills in "My Old Dutch." Universal's thrilling Jewel production of London coster life. Pat O'Malley and Edgar Kennedy stage the battle. Among the players in the new feature are May McAvoy, Pat O'Malley, Cullen Landis, Jean Hersholt, George Siegmann, Edgar Kennedy, and other noted artists. Lawrence Trimble scenarized and directed the new picture.

For the second feature the screen's big boy in his latest riotous melodrama. Lefty Flynn in "Mulhall's Great Catch."

A novel theme, that of the rivalry between the fire and police departments of a city, has been utilized in FBO's latest starring vehicle for Lefty Flynn, "Mulhall's Great Catch," now playing at the State theatre here. Gerald Beaumont, the noted magazine writer and author of the story, has cleverly brought out the humorous as well as the dramatic elements of the subject and the picture is an entertaining mixture of screaming comedy and thrilling realism. A firemen's and policemen's ball, which Lefty attends after his dress suit is somewhat shot up while putting out a fire, is one of the big riots of the film, and a gripping rescue from a blazing building and a battle with two husky burglars form some of the striking serious moments. Harry Garson's direction is excellent and Jefferson Moffitt has made a splendid continuity from the Beaumont story.

Tomorrow and Saturday the State theatre presents another double feature bill. W. C. Fields in "It's the Old Army Game" (meaning never give a sucker an even break). Putting "reverse English" on the real estate boom-seling New York lots in Florida, "the old army game" with modern touches, a new type of screen comedy with W. C. Fields of "Follies" fame as chief laugh-maker.

The companion feature is Rod La Rocque and Marguerite De La Motte in "Red Dice." A swinging melodramatic comedy with a plot exposing the greatest criminal industry in the world—organized bootlegging, and the story of a brave man's sacrifice, with a never to be forgotten climax.

The added attraction for tomorrow and Saturday, the famous KO Song reel "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp." Don't miss it. Come and let us hear you sing. It's going to be good.

"Blinkin' Gorgeous" Mrs Simpson's Verdict On, Pastel Shaded Court

London, July 8.—Mrs. Joseph Simpson attended the third royal court at Buckingham Palace from a first-class standing point on a curb in the Mall, the same place she has held at every court for the past decade. It was a decidedly silver affair according to Mrs. Simpson, who having stood many a long hour to see the debutantes parading into many courts is as much an authority on court gowns as any society editor in London.

"Gorgeous, I call it," was the final verdict of Mrs. Simpson. Her verdict was confirmed by those who were more privileged and who entered the palace and saw the fairy-like scene.

Many Pastel Gowns. The queen's early spring edict that colored gowns might be worn was taken full advantage of last night, and there were many in pastel shades, commingled with much silver, which is now regarded as the chic thing for evening wear.

Lady Louis Mountbatten wore a marvelous gown composed entirely of silver sequins, yet, with its train, it weighed but sixteen ounces. Miss Catherine Crear of Chicago wore a creation of fine silver lace, cut en princesse, delicately embroidered in pearls and silver and mounted over an underdress of cloth of silver.

Coloration Limits. The sensation of the evening, however, caused by a rumor that came trickling down along the lines of hundreds of uninvited guests along the Mall, that the queen's permission for the wearing of colors had limits.

The report spread that a Lord Chamberlain had invited one debutante, in most delicate and diplomatic terms, to visit the dressing rooms and perhaps tone down her facial coloring before being presented.

"The brasen cat!" was the comment of Mrs. Simpson, when the report reached her at an early hour in the "Bag of Nails," where she was remedying a slight thirst and announcing that she will be "on and blinkin' early for the show tonight," when another court will be held.

Americans Presented. Another group of Americans was presented. They included Commander and Mrs. Beardall of Florida and Virginia, Miss Catherine Crear of Chicago, Miss Josephine Grant of San Francisco, Miss Florence Clark of New York, Mrs. Robert Macatee of Baltimore, Miss Thalia Millett of New York, Miss Alice Preston of New York, Miss Marvin Breckenridge of New York.

CHILE SUFFERING FROM TORRENTIAL RAINFALLS

Santiago, Chile, July 8.—Serious damage to crops is threatened by continual rains in southern Chile. The rains are the heaviest experienced since 1875, 60 centimeters having fallen to date. Train service between Valparaiso and Santiago was paralyzed today. Heavy snowstorms in the Andes have halted all train communication between Argentina and Chile.

"COPPER HEIRESS" WEDS

New York, July 8.—Miss Katherine Nash Kelley, the "copper heiress," daughter of Cornelius Kelley, president of the Anaconda Copper Mining Co., eloped and was married last evening at Port Chester to Nils Florman, a real estate operator about forty. She is about twenty-two, a reputed beauty and popular in society since her debut in 1922.

The couple first motored to Greenwich, but learned there that the Connecticut law stood in the way of an immediate marriage.

HARTFORD BOY DROWNS IN SHOAL PARK POOL

Hartford, July 8.—Victor Zimmerman, 16, a graduate this year of the Hartford Public High school was drowned yesterday afternoon while bathing in three and a half feet of water in the pool in Capitol Park.

It is believed he was swimming under water and struck his head against some object, being rendered unconscious. He was to have entered Columbia University this fall and to have studied medicine.

The Greatest Year of the Generation

This country, from ocean to ocean, is thrilled with the patriotic sentiment which the Susqui-centennial celebration at Philadelphia has stimulated. In the life of the human race one hundred and fifty years is hardly a day, and yet in the life of the average individual, one hundred and fifty years ago, or 1776, seems a long way back in history. As we travel over this country today, and visualize what one hundred and fifty years of development have accomplished, we feel a very justifiable pride in our forefathers who so carefully planned the foundations for a democracy, which in a few generations has grown from thirteen small colonies to the greatest creditor nation in the world.

It is over half a century since J. W. Hale started his little store in Manchester. Think of it—one-third of the entire life of our nation! It was just twenty-nine years ago that he opened Manchester's first dry goods store, on the corner of Oak Street. His first year's business represents less than one month's business today. As we 9th ANNIVERSARY SALE!

DAY JULY 9, LASTS TEN DAYS, JULY 20

Anniversary Present

Look back over the last quarter of a century, our pride in the development of the business is equaled only by our pride in having been able to keep pace with the development of the town.
The business which Mr. Hale established on a basis of "a dollar's worth of merchandise for a dollar," and "a square deal for everybody," has been successfully maintained with increased recognition of the fact that the people who are running our store are in reality our customers. To be able to maintain the largest retail business in town calls for constantly increased vigilance to see that every customer is fully satisfied.
To our old friends and regular customers, this Anniversary Sale will be a welcome merchandising event, and to our new friends, we suggest a visit as a mutually helpful introduction.
This is a Great Anniversary Year.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICAN — Barbara Fritchie (3)

It was just before sunrise on Sept. 5, 1862, that the advance guard of Lee's army, under Stonewall Jackson, came down the Bentztown road. Far quite a distance before the vast lines of gray reached the bridge, the army was visible from an attic window on the west side of Barbara's home. Barbara was wide awake.

As General Jackson clattered across the bridge, and passed Barbara's home, she thrust her flag from the window.

A few shots spattered against the side of Barbara's house, bullets sent by soldiers in the overzealousness of the advance.

It was then that Jackson issued the gallant order which Whittier immortalized as "Who touches a hair on you gray head dies like a dog, march on," he said. Two days later Lee's army moved west, and the Union-advance under General Reno entered the streets of Frederick. Reno hailed her as "the spirit of '76." Barbara died Dec. 18, 1862, aged 96 years. (Next: Robert Fulton) (Text: Robert Fulton)

HEBRON

Strike Chiefs

President Frank Hedley, above, of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., which operates half of New York's subways, and E. P. Lavin, below, head of the brotherhood of skitchmen and motemen. A strike impends between the two forces which may interfere with the transportation of millions of New Yorkers daily, and may result in violence. Having defied the men's demand for increased pay, Hedley announced he would operate the trains with substitute workmen.

State police visited the town on Wednesday to investigate complaints regarding breaches of the peace on the Fourth of July. There was an uproar practically all the time for three days from Saturday to Monday night. Bella were rung on Saturday at midnight and again on Sunday night the three bells of the Center, church and schoolhouse were rung all night at intervals of about fifteen minutes. Explosives were fired steadily, the noise only subsiding at about 3 p. m. In the daytime the racket was kept up two small boys threw cannon firecrackers into the library while St. Peter's school was in session, on Monday. The noisiest Fourth for many years, was the common verdict.

DRUGGED, CUBAN GOES TO DEATH BY GARROTING

Santiago, Cuba, July 8.—Under the stimulus of opiates, Salvador Aguilera went to his death on the garroza here today for the murder of his aunt, whom he tortured to death, and robbed of $12. It was the first garroting here in twenty years. The executioners were two prisoners, one a negro from Savannah, Ga. Both were serving life terms in the Santiago prison. Aguilera was pronounced dead eleven minutes after the screw on the collar, which is so arranged as to dislocate the vertebrae at the base of the brain, had been turned. The first turn proved to be insufficient pressure and a second was required.

ALIEN PROPERTY CASE TO BE TRIED SEPT. 7

New York, July 8.—Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, appeared with counsel today before Federal Judge Mack and pleaded not guilty to indictments charging him with conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the transfer of $7,000,000 worth of assets of the American Metals Company from the alien property custodian's office to supposed German owners of stock and assets.

Prevention Of Disease

By DR. HUGH S. CUMMING
 Such diseases as plague, cholera, smallpox and yellow fever, are still very potential dangers, and without the safeguards thrown round us by our health departments, the experiences of the past might be repeated easily at any time.

These dangers are close to home. We all drink water and milk, more now than ever before, perhaps, but millions of human beings have lost their lives in times past from drinking water and milk.

How, you ask, have they been killed by drinking these two substances? The pollution of water and milk by the living discharges of human beings cause such diseases as typhoid fever, dysentery, so-called summer complaint in babies and young children, and other intestinal disturbances.

The contamination need be very little. One typhoid fever patient can infect an entire water shed. Milk has often been infected by washing cans in contaminated water.

Milk may also become infected when cows are milked by a disease carrier, notably a typhoid or a diphtheria carrier.

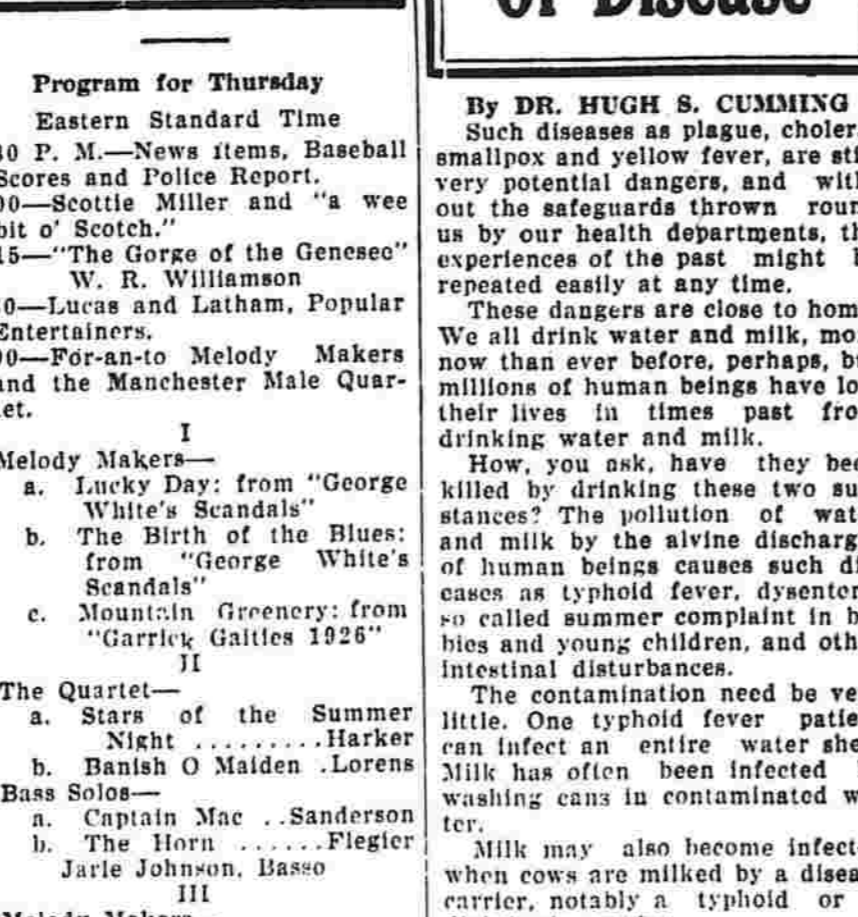

Here the milk of one cow, infected by such a carrier and mixed with other milk, may infect a large part of a city supply. The typhoid germ particularly, multiplies very rapidly in milk, unless it is kept at a very low temperature.

Tuberculosis, scarlet fever, and septic sore throat may also be caused by drinking infected milk.

The little fellows you see strapped to the boards in our orthopedic hospitals are, most of them, examples of tuberculosis which has been contracted from drinking unpasteurized milk from cows which were suffering from this disease.

The SEALED Tydol Pump

—the most effective step ever taken by dealers to safeguard the quality of a gasoline

WHEN the quality of a gasoline is as high as that of Tydol, it is necessary to protect that quality.

But protecting the quality of gasoline is difficult. For, unlike crackers or cereals or tobacco, gasoline cannot be sold in sealed packages. Its bulk is too large and the unit of sale varies so greatly. For years, a method has been sought to protect the high quality of Tydol and prevent all possibility of substitution. And now at last such a method has been devised.

For the sealed Tydol pump has eliminated every element of chance. When you buy Tydol you buy gasoline of the highest quality and you buy it virtually from a sealed container.

How the sealed Tydol pump originated

Last fall, New York City was flooded with so-called "bootleg gasoline". This was cheap, inferior stuff that dishonest distributors unloaded on the public through pumps plainly labeled with the trade marks of well-known, quality gasolines. Such conditions could not continue. Some one had to take the lead—and Tide Water took it.

BOOTLEGGERS, NOW DISHONEST, RUIN BUSINESS

Smugglers on Gulf Coast Complain Bitterly About Crooked Rum Runners.

Bloxi, Miss.—The regime of daring, picturesque bootleggers of only a few years back who "took a chance with the law" in smuggling contraband liquor into the interior now is a closed chapter in the annals of "rum row" along the Mississippi Coast.

For a new generation of bootleggers, lacking the more colorful traits of the old timers, have sounded a requiem for the "honest" rum peddler. The new crop are dishonest even with their own trade, Gulf Coast prohibition enforcement officers say.

Inland Manufacture
 Inland manufacture of whisky and "home-brew" now constitute the prohibition agent's greatest problem, according to officials of the Mississippi department. These, they point out are enemies of the smugglers.

Liquor smuggling and distribution now has become a perplexing and in most cases a discouraging operation for the "honest" bootlegger, and many of them have been forced to abandon the undertaking, it is declared.

Snuff From Dishonesty
 In addition to overcoming the barriers placed in their path by prohibition sleuths, they were faced with "unscrupulous" competition and hi-jacking, it is said. They also have suffered from dishonesty among their employees and poor navigation, the dry officers say.

The new generation of bootleggers, peddling their poor imitation of imported liquors, have played havoc with the smuggler, it is said. European liquor, it was pointed out, can not compete in price with the "real stuff" concocted and labeled on squalid boats in the Gulf of Mexico or on some island tyrst.

SEND OUT PRIZE LISTS FOR CONN. STATE FAIR

The annual premium list of the Connecticut State Fair, which will be held at Charter Oak Park, September 5 to 11, opening Labor Day, is now in the mail, being broadcast throughout the country to principal exhibitors. A selected list of 5,000 names will be served first. There will also be a special issue of 1,000 premium lists for the boys' and girls' department.

The year book of this issue is more elaborate than previous ones and serves to inform breeders and growers of the plans of the state fair management to expand the proportions of this year's fair.

The closing entry date for exhibits this year is set for August 16, excepting in the fruit and vegetable classes, the date of which is set for August 25.

It will be noticed that the breeds for livestock to be shown will now include all the dairy and beef breeds—Holsteins, Ayrshires, Jerseys and Guernseys, with a new classification for Milking Shorthorns. The Beef breeds will include Devons and Herefords and a new class for Aberdeen Angus. All classifications have been made to conform to the breeders' association recommendations.

In the sheep classes it will be noted that more liberal money allowances are provided, so that the state fair premiums will compare with the most favorable of lists in this class.

Competition in the livestock classes this year will be keen for awards of a state fair like that at Charter Oak now have a selling value, reflecting the importance of fairs to the farmer. Competitively, too, the rivalry in classes is producing results in the breeding of better stock to meet the requirements of ideal standards. In this the Connecticut State Fair is doing a valuable service, providing the farmer the opportunity of studying the ideal requirements.

N. Y. GIVES TREES FOR REFORESTATION

Albany, N. Y.—The State Conservation Commission is preparing an illustrated bulletin on municipal or community forests showing how profitable use may be made of large areas of idle land that is suited to the growing of forest trees.

In nearly every county in New York State, the commission says, there are thousands of acres of land capable of producing crops of lumber and wood worth from $300 to $500. This land has grown forests in the past and can easily be used for that purpose now, the commission declared.

In commenting on the waste land, the commission said: "The present economic waste in this idle land constitutes a serious problem that can be solved in large part by utilizing it for growing public forests. The state is encouraging such use by supplying trees in unlimited quantities free of charge."

"Emphasis is laid upon the fact that municipalities can afford to wait for forest crops and will be well repaid for waiting as has been proved for centuries by the success of public forests throughout Europe where they are an important source of revenue to the cities and towns that own and operate them."

4100 NEW LAWS.
 Washington.—Legislatures in ten states have enacted 4100 new laws this year, despite the fact that this is an "off year" in the legislative industry. New York holds the leadership in the number of bills passed, followed in order by Rhode Island, Virginia, Massachusetts, South Carolina, Mississippi, New Jersey, Kentucky, Washington and Georgia.

By exposure to the glow of a luminous plant found in Bengal, India, a photographic plate has been successfully developed.

"Youth Will Prevail" Kayoed

Dope Is Perpetually Shattered As Veteran Hurlers Scintillate

Old Theory That "Youth Will Prevail" Getting Several Raps This Season Says Billy Evans.

BY BILLY EVANS

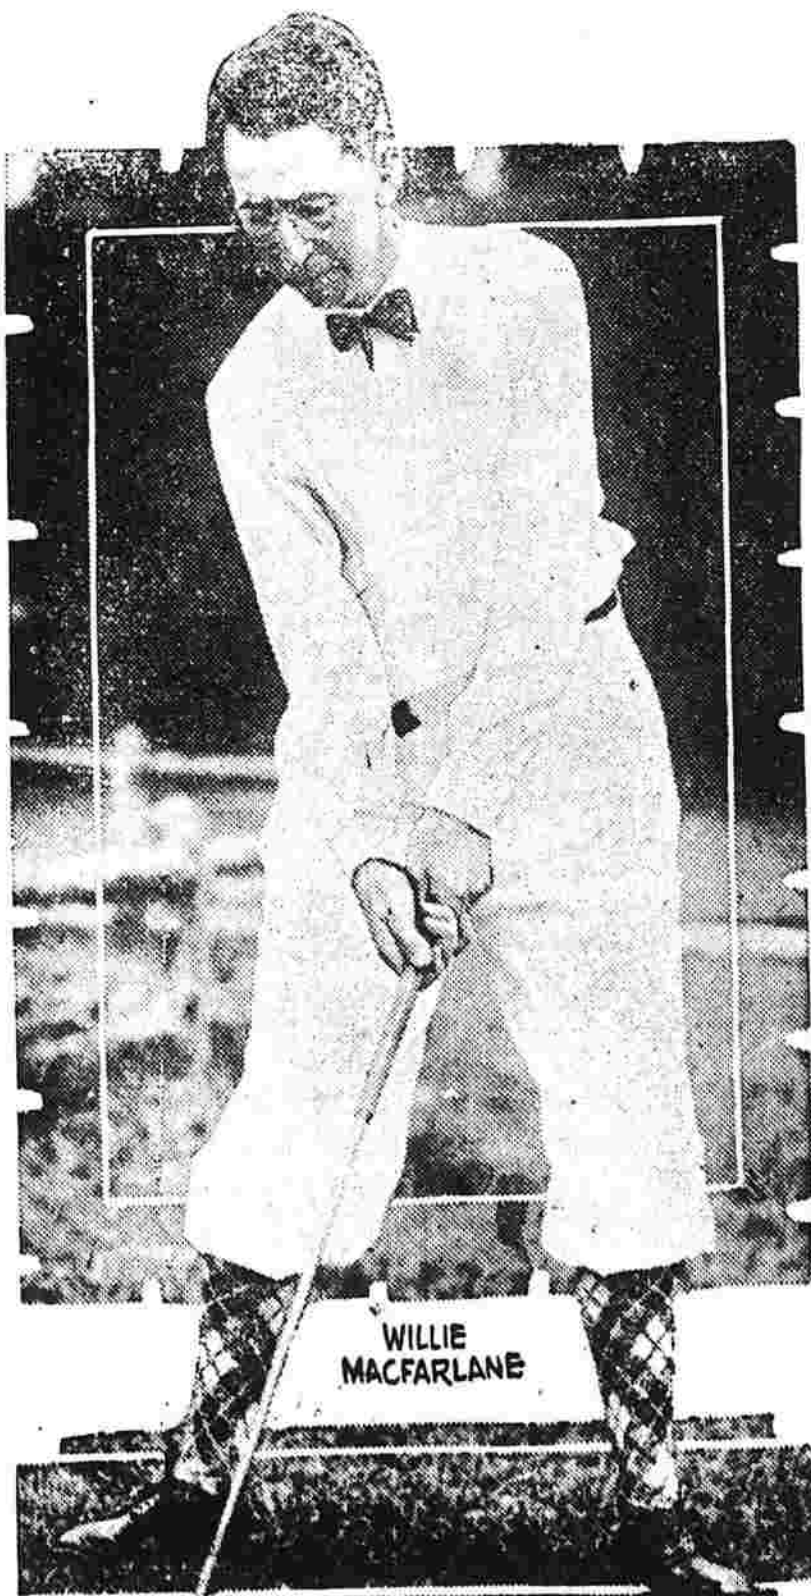

The "youth will prevail" theory of sport apparently doesn't hold good for major league pitching. At least not for 1928. In a backward season, regarded as a severe handicap to veteran pitchers, the old masters rather than the spring phenoms are showing the way. In his first start of the year, made in the opening game of the season, Walter Johnson, who admits he is 39, triumphed over the brilliant Eddie Rommel after 15 innings of sensational pitching. Washington won, 1-0.

In his next start he was batted out of the box by New York, then on a slugging rampage. No doubt the strain of 15 scoreless innings took something out of the old arm and was in a measure responsible for his defeat. Several more victories have since followed, though of late he's dropped a few tight titles.

The 40-year-old Jack Quinn, pitching for the Athletics, has won the majority of his starts, some of them by shut-outs and others by low scores. Debut in 1909 Jack Quinn is the only spitball pitcher I have ever seen who apparently has not suffered arm injury. He says throwing the moist one is not as hard on the arm as the curve. "Practically every spitball pitcher uses a snap at the wrist and that is what hurts," says Jack. "I throw the spitball with the same motion as the fast one and wet the ball only slightly."

Jack Quinn first came to the majors in 1909. He has been in

Defending Champion

WILLIE MACFARLANE

Willie MacFarlane, present champion, hopes to do the unusual and successfully defend his title this week in the National Open Golf Championship at Columbus, Ohio. Willie came into the crown in 1925 by beating Bobby Jones in extra sessions. He's been playing pretty consistent golf since but is hardly figured to repeat.

CARPENTIER GOOD AS EVER

Denver, July 8.—Nineteen years in the roped arena has not glowed down the mighty right of Georges Carpentier, idol of France and Heavyweight champion of Europe. Displaying the speed and cleverness of old, Georges, with that right-hand punch that has made him famous, hit another target last night and scored a knockout over John L. Burke, of Pittsburgh in one minute and four seconds after the opening of the second round.

TWO SHOT-PUT RECORDS

New York, July 8.—Two new world's shot-put records were on the books today, established by John Kuck, sophomore student of the Kansas State Teachers College, of Emporia. At the benefit games of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine last evening Kuck heaved the 12-pound shot 37 feet 9 3/4 inches and the 8-pound weight 63 feet 7-8 inches. De Hart Hubbard defeated Chet Bowman in the 100-metre dash.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At Providence, R. I.—Jim Maloney, Boston heavyweight, defeated George Cook, Australia, ten rounds; John Vacoa, Boston, beat Terry Martin, Providence, ten rounds.

At Boston—George (Kid) Lee, Worcester, Mass., welterweight, won from Al Mello, Lowell, Mass., ten rounds.

At Los Angeles—Fidel La Barba, flyweight champion, won from George Rivers, Mexican, ten rounds.

Brooklyn's penant hopes were revived by the superb pitching of Grimes and Vance, who downed the Braves twice, six to two and five to one, and boosted the Dodgers into third place. Vance fanned nine men in winning his second victory of the season.

HELPFUL HINTS TO GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO

JOYCE WETHERED—USING DRIVER THROUGH GREEN. Whether the golfer is a natural long player or not, the mental attitude he should adopt in attempting to play his driver through the green will be identical in every case. There are, however, certain precautions that need to be taken more behind the ball than is customary with the driver of the tee and take up the line to the hole with exceeding care by means of the stance. Swing more easily than was your wont, and feel that your left arm is guiding the club on its way down and that, at the psychological moment but not before, the right arm, with all its straightness and cautious strength, is guiding the club through to an effortless finish. Imagine that the ball lies at that place in the curve of the swing which is the lowest point of its arc. Sweep the ball away and avoid any movement that is in the nature of a dig or an uncertain snatch. Finally, do not try to elevate the ball, since every driver has a shade of loft, however unapparent it may seem; and on the other hand, make no attempt to drive the ball in a downward direction. If everything goes well, the result will be the shot of your dreams.

HOLD TWO TITLES

Boston, Mass., July 8.—George (Kid) Lee, the fighting gent from Worcester, Mass., today holds two boxing titles, neither of which however, extends beyond the New England boundaries. Already the lightweight champion, Lee unexpectedly defeated Al Mello of Lowell in a fast ten round bout at Braves Field here last night and annexed thereby Mello's title of New England welterweight champion.

AMERICAN WOMEN TENNIS STARS SAIL

Southampton, Eng. July 8.—Five American women tennis stars sailed for home on the liner Majestic today after a long campaign on the courts in France and England. The party included Helen Wills, Mary K. Browne, Elizabeth Ryan, Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, and Mrs. Molla Mallory. They are carrying home with them the Wrightman Cup emblematic of their victory in the doubles at Wimbledon.

There never was a smoke so pleasing as Camel

IN LIFE'S supreme moments no cigarette can compare with Camel. No other cigarette ever was made so good, for Camel excellence is the result of skill. Skill in finding the world's choicest tobaccos—in blending, as only the world's largest organization of experts can.

From the beginning Camel took its stand on the quality platform, and nothing could ever induce its makers to change Camel tobaccos. No expense is spared, no care is too great to make Camel the world's most satisfying smoke, regardless of price.

In popularity with smokers, no cigarette made can touch Camels.

Camel quality has been rewarded with the greatest demand, the largest sales any cigarette ever enjoyed. Since smoking began, there was never such a growing preference as for Camels. Camel rewards its friends with enjoyment that never ends, for Camels never tire the taste, simply never leave a cigarette after-taste.

If you have never tried Camels, if you do not know how good, how satisfying a cigarette can be, we invite you to try them now for the utmost in smoking pleasure. Have the best that's made—we invite you—

Have a Camel!

SONS OF ITALY LOSE ON ERRORS DESPITE POSPISIL'S GOOD WORK

Rockville All Stars Trim Locals by 6 to 2 on Rockville Night—Trade School Boy Allows Seven Hits.

Last night was costly to the Sons of Italy in more than one way. They lost their game with the Rockville All-Stars by 6 to 2 and lost the services of Young Pop Edson. In a perfect steal home in the third inning, Edgar slid to the plate and was picked up with a broken right ankle. Later Pank Lamprecht split his thumb but continued the game. Edgar is the second member of the Sons to suffer a broken ankle this year, for Sam Kotsch snapped a bone in his leg some time ago.

Pospisil, former Trade school ace, pitched for the Sons but received rather poor support. The locals chalked up a total of six errors, many of them costly, and although Rockville made only seven hits, six runs came in through the misplays. Lanning of Bristol used his shine ball to perfection and held the Sons to five singles, two of them going to Hayes, a new man.

More than 2,000 people watched the game and it was one of the biggest crowds that has ever gathered at the West side. The crowd gave Lanning a little bit of razzing now and then but did not vociferate for many of those there did not know that the pitcher used to work in the lineup of the New Departures.

Rockville scored in the first inning, the fourth fifth and seventh and the Sons registered in the first and sixth. In the seventh inning the locals had three men on bases but failed to bring any of them in.

Pospisil walked five men and struck out seven, while Lanning walked only three and had nine strike outs to his credit. The local pitcher's first appearance in fast company was an auspicious one for his game was as good as any that he has pitched for the Trade school this year.

A triple play was pulled off by the Sons in the fifth inning when Scheiner hit to Pospisil. The pitcher relayed the ball to Ballsleper for the out. Ballsleper went clear across the diamond to third base where the man on second had gone. Reached him and got Lanning, who was on third, in a pickle. He threw to Lamprecht who relayed it back to Stratton for the out.

ODDS 4 TO 1 BOBBY GETS GOLF TITLE

Jones Favored in National Opens at Columbus, O., Today and Tomorrow.

By Davis J. Walsh
Columbus, Ohio, July 8.—Bobby Jones, greatest figure in golf, today, as a result of winning the British open golf championship two weeks ago, was the center of interest this morning when more than 5,000 waited at the first tee to see the Atlanta star start in the initial eighteen hole round at the Scioto country club today. Bobby was a four to one favorite at an early hour this morning when the betting was opened and Walter Hagen of New York was next with odds of five to one. Bobby was favored, of course, due to the fact that he won the British open meet and played an important part in winning the Walker cup for the United States for the third consecutive time.

Armour Makes Bid
Yesterday, in the practice rounds, Tommy Armour, who has been knocking on the door of the open championship for the last three years, made a determined bid when he shot an eighteen hole round of 68 to tie the course record set several years ago by George Sargent, the home pro, and following close on the heels of Tommy came Al Espinosa, of the Illinois golf club, Chicago, and Harry Hampton of Memphis, who had counts of 71 for the preliminary sessions.

The first pair to get away from the first tee this morning was Harry Rees of Cleveland and George Heron of Westbury, N. Y. The last man to get away in the first flight was John Junor of Portland, Oregon, who was paired at the last minute with John Reuter, Jr. of Chicago.

There was only one handicap to be surmounted by the field of 35 players when the tournament started. This was the tall rough which caused so much grief in the preliminary rounds. Although this rough is high and dense, it carries a penalty just the same and the golfer who plays safe and sacrifices distance for safety is the man who will be right up in the running when 72 holes of championship play is ended.

Jim Barnes, who was British open champion in 1925, will be among those present.
Other favorites were Al Espinosa, Bob MacDonald, Johnny Farrell, Harry Hampton, Laurie Ayton, Francis Gallett and Gene Sarazen.
Zahner of the Red Sox beat the Athletics four to two in the second game of a doubleheader after the Athletics had increased their winning streak to six games by noosing out the Sox in the twelfth inning of the first game, 6 to 5.
Pittsburgh cut down Cincinnati's lead by taking an eight to seven slugfest from the Phillies. Graham's double and triple accounted for five runs, while Cy Williams starred for the Phils with a triple and two doubles.

Diamond is disputed

How does the umpire determine whether or not the batsman has left his box in swinging at a pitched ball?

This rule was placed in the playing code to prevent players from purposely getting out of the batter's box in an effort to hit a pitched ball before the curve broke, or the splitter dipped.

Most batters who stand well up in the front of the box are usually carried out of its confines a trifle in taking their natural swing.

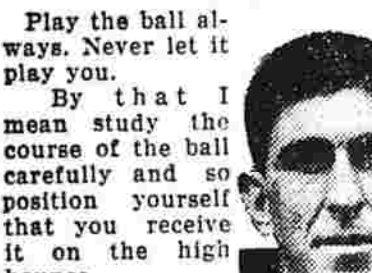

It would be ridiculous to call such batters out, since the follow through of the swing is the cause of leaving the box rather than a desire to cheat.

I have always made it a point never to call a batter out unless both feet were outside the lines of the box when he hit the ball.

Many American girls who worked in war-time munition plants turning cellulose into explosives are spinning thread for shining silk from this same matter.

SECRETS OF STARS ON INSIDE BASEBALL

By ROGER PECKINPAUGH
Most Valuable Player 1925—American League.

Play the ball always. Never let it play you.
By that I mean study the course of the ball carefully and so position yourself that you receive it on the high bounce.
It is almost always a miscue when a shortstop or any other infielder tries to handle the ball between bounds, as we say in baseball.
This happens when a player comes in a trifle too fast on the ball and is forced to handle it just as it hits the ground. Likewise, if he backs up on the ball he gets a short, nasty bounce to handle.

LA BARBA'S VICTORY IS DECISIVE ONE

Shows Same Ability Which Won Him Flyweight Title.
Los Angeles, Calif., July 8.—The flyweight crown sat all the more firmly today on the head of Fidel La Barba as a result of his decisive defeat last night of Georgie Rivers.
It was La Barba's first defense of the title since he won it eleven months ago from Frankie Genaro and he defended it just as conclusively as he won it.
And at that it was a real scrap for all of the ten rounds.

Rivers brought the fans to their feet in the first round when he sent La Barba down on one knee with a right cross to the jaw. The champion came up smiling, however, and retaliated by scoring knockdowns in the third and ninth rounds. Rivers took a short-tout on each occasion but came up full of fight.
The challenger attempted to stage a come-back in the eighth. He had but La Barba although out-punched in this round, took all of the others, the ringside critics agreed. This effort "shot" Rivers and in the tenth he was practically all in.

ERNEST LYNN, author of THE YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOHN and FAY MILBURN, to whom a baby girl has just been born, think they are justified in buying a home of their own when the young advertising agency in which John is partner lands an important new contract.

John does all the firm's advertising copy writing. His partner, NATHANIEL GRAHAM, takes care of the business details.

Previous chapters told how John, while Fay was in the hospital, met NEEL ORME at a swimming party and was attracted by her beauty and puzzled when PAT FORBES, his friend, told him Neel was having trouble with her husband, Forbes, who had a wife and three children, hints to John that he is dissatisfied with his own marriage.

Shortly after the Milburns settle in their new home they meet a housewarming and PAUL DAVIDSON, a bachelor lawyer who is also something of an amateur actor, precipitates an argument by declaring marriage is a barbarous institution.

One of Fay's neighbors, a MRS. BLODGETT, calls, and Fay thinks she is an old snoop. Their boy, JUDITH, passes through a siege of whooping cough and John's best friend, DR. DICK MENEFFEE, treats her. Meneffee is engaged to MARGARET WAYNE and the wedding is set for October 15. Margaret's sister, CLARA, gives a party in honor of her own fiancé, CLIFTON LANE, whom John instantly dislikes. He speaks highly of his own brokerage business and his golf, but John thinks he is a four-flusher, and tells Fay.

"Oh you men!" Fay exclaimed impatiently. "You never will understand."

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)
(The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

THE wedding of Margaret Wayne and Dick Meneffee had been set for October 15. Two weeks before, while the Wayne household was in the midst of half hysterical preparation, Clara Wayne and Clifton Lane ran off and got married. Fay and John were in the middle of a discussion concerning raising the pay of the girl they had come in to take care of Judith when they went out at night, when the phone rang and Dick Meneffee's voice broke the news to John.

John said the first thing that popped into his mind. "What a cheap, theatrical trick—but you won't let it make any difference to yours and Margaret's plans, will you, Dick?"

"Not a chance," said Meneffee grimly. "We're going right ahead with them. Clara said in her telegram that she would be back to see Margaret's maid of honor, Matron of honor now, I guess," and he laughed.

"Where did they get married, Dick?"

"In Milwaukee, Lane's home town. She took a train and met him up there, and they left on a motor trip. John hung up the receiver and met Fay's questioning eyes. "Clara and Lane ran off together and got married," he announced, and Fay, after exclaiming once, was stricken wordless with surprise. "I told you," he continued, "I didn't like it even less, if that's possible."

"But Margaret?" gasped Fay. "Think of the awful thing Clara has done to her."

"What do you mean?"

"Refusing to let her older sister get married first, after all the plans had been made. It's the most selfish thing I ever heard of."

"Oh, well," said John, "trying to justify Clara somehow, maybe Clara didn't look at it just that way. Maybe she's just nutty about this guy Lane and snapped him up when he proposed an elopement."

"Nothing of the kind," said Fay sharply. "You can't tell me that Clara hasn't had this planned for a long time. My! I feel so sorry for Margaret I don't know what to do."

"Well, she won't need your sympathy. She's marrying Dick Meneffee, and the wedding's only two weeks off. That ought to make her happy enough."

"Oh, you men!" exclaimed Fay impatiently. "You never will understand."

"I admit," said John, a little nettled, "that the workings of the feminine mind sometimes are a little bit beyond me. I guess I don't understand. To me it looks as if Lane and Clara were trying to grab off the spotlight for a while, but their elopement will be a thing of the past soon and Margaret's wedding will be the main issue. Besides, by eloping they would have if they had waited."

"Oh, you make me tired," snapped Fay. "This thing was Clara's doing all the way through. Imagine—marrying ahead of her older sister that way."

John retreated to his book.

Four days before the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Lane returned to Chicago, were forgiven by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne and Margaret, and immediately threw themselves into the preparations for Margaret's wedding, as if in atonement for their sins.

There was a dress rehearsal the afternoon of the 14th, and John had to step through his paces as Dick's best man. He chanced to overhear a remark to Dick from Clifton Lane, and only a quick realization of how wrong it would be prevented him from making an angry retort.

"Dick," Lane said, either not knowing or not caring that John was around, "it seems to me that you might have asked me to be best man. Keep it all in the family, you know. I'm standing up for you, you know, and Clara for Margaret."

John, standing behind a hanging that separated living room from reception hall, reddened angrily at the drawing words.

But Dick answered Lane shortly, and John was surprised at the easy way in which he said, "It's going Meneffee's way."

"I'm glad," said John, "that the groom has few privileges enough as it is, without questioning his choice of best man." He turned on his heel.

"Dick," said Lane, following him, "you're not setting me down, are you? I didn't mean to butt in, you know."

John heard nothing further. "Good old Dick!" he exulted.

There was a dinner, for a few close friends and relatives, the night before a wedding, and the elder Wayne broke a rule and served cocktails—the only occasion that John had ever seen liquor in any form at their house.

Wayne, a little and got up in a few words proposed a toast. "I called on Dick."

Dick, blushing and inarticulate, could only murmur something about resulting the honor of it all, and sat down. John thought that Lane looked at Dick rather contemptuously.

"And how about you, Clifton?" said Mr. Wayne, looking toward Lane. "Haven't you a toast to propose to the bride and groom?"

"Gad!" said Lane, rising, "I feel as if I should be toasted myself. Has the novelty of my own marriage worn off so soon?" He then proceeded to acquaint himself of a polished speech, and John felt immeasurably sorry for Dick and an increasing hostility toward Lane.

Out of the fog of his thoughts he became aware that his own name was being spoken, and, rising, he delivered himself of a toast that he had been planning ever since they sat down. It was intended to be humorous and at the same time quite in keeping with the occasion, but somehow with Lane listening to him it seemed to him to fall flat.

"I might add," he said as an afterthought, "that although Mr. and Mrs. Wayne are to be sympathized with at losing two such daughters, yet in gaining two such sons they might be said to be unusually fortunate. One of them, a physician will save them all their doctor's bills. The other, a broker, can tell them what not to invest in. You can believe them, you know," he drawled, "when they tell you not to invest."

Dick was grinning broadly when John caught his eye, and he felt somewhat better for having thrown his little bomb at Lane, who, he noticed, smiled thinly and turned immediately to Clara.

Going home that night he remarked to Fay, "Don't suppose, do you, that the Wayne thought I was giving Lane a dig?"

"When was that?" asked Fay innocently, and he explained. "Oh, I didn't see anything in that to take offense at," she told him.

"Somebody else will have to take you home tomorrow night," he said. "I've got to take Dick's mother and father down to the railroad station. They get in in the morning and leave after the reception. Dick's real disappointed that they can't stay longer, but the old man—he's a doctor, too, you know—can't spare the time."

Fay was silent during the ride home. Once he asked her what was the matter, and she told him she couldn't help thinking of the sweetness in Margaret's manner toward Clara.

The night of the wedding they ate an early and hasty dinner and went immediately to their room to dress. John called loudly ten or twelve times for his studs and Fay had to pause in her own toilet to walk over and show him where they were—right under his nose.

They were early in arriving at the Wayne home, and John went immediately to put himself at Dick's service. "Well," he announced, walking in on the fitting room, "here's your man."

"Gee, but I'm nervous," said Dick. He was sitting by an open window, puffing on a cigarette.

"Come on," and John put his hand affectionately on the other's shoulder, "no use getting worked up over it. Why, it's nothing, Dick, nothing. Look at me—cool as a cucumber."

"You're not the groom," murmured Dick. "Nobody will be looking at you."

"They won't, eh? Then, why do you think I accepted the job of best man, if nobody is going to look at me?"

"Oh, you know what I mean, John."

"Sure I do, Dick, old man." John patted the other's shoulder.

From downstairs came the peal of an organ, and Dick started violently. "There, there," Dick said. "Take it steady, old man."

John had thought, and still was thinking, as he took his place beside Dick at the flower-banked altar, that he had had one in for a little and a few words proposed a toast. He called on Dick.

BABY'S BATH

Oil Baths, Warm Baths, Cool Baths, Sun Baths—They Make His Life Worth Living.

Mysteries of the bath are explained to eager mothers at the New York Diet Kitchen.

By DR. S. J. CRUMBINE, General Executive, American Child Health Association.

The large factor in keeping the baby well is keeping him cool and comfortable. If he cannot be taken to some cool spot in the mountains, he can at least have for his nursery and sleeping room the coolest spot in the house.

The bath is an important adjunct to a baby's happy summer. It is more important in summer than winter, for it is refreshing, and during the heat of the day often will bring sleep. Due to an increased activity of the sweat glands in the summer, there is a constant irritation of the skin. The tendency of chafing or prickly heat may be relieved by adding a handful of bran to the tub of tepid water.

Oil Rubs at First.

Be sure not to give the bath immediately after feeding. An oil rub or a sponge bath should be given until the cord is off. As soon as the navel is healed a tub bath should be given in a room with a temperature of 70 to 75 degrees.

The temperature of the bath water during the early weeks should be warm, 98 to 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

During the first six months the bath water should be tepid, 95 to 90 degrees Fahrenheit. The baby should be bathed rapidly to avoid chilling.

When you take him out of the tub wrap the baby in a warm soft towel, dry thoroughly and do not allow him to chill. Give a full bath or sponge every day if possible and early teach your child the love of a clean body.

Give Sun Baths, Too.

The head and neck should be supported with one arm or hand, while the baby is in the tub. Mild white soap should be used and the skin thoroughly rinsed.

There is another kind of bath which adds much to the baby's well-being. This is a sun bath. Sun baths should be given under the very close supervision of a physician. Even though the baby is in the sun a good deal with his clothes on, he does not get certain rays which he needs.

His body should, therefore, be exposed directly to the sun's rays, two or three minutes at first, gradually increasing the length of time to one or two hours. His head and eyes should be protected from the direct rays. He should not be exposed to the heat of the sun during the middle of a hot summer day.

Sun baths in winter should be given during the middle of the day when the sun's rays are most effective and also the warmest. These may be given before an open window. The body can thus be sheltered from the wind and the heat of the sun help to keep him warm.

The large hat is seen everywhere and more frequently in colored straws than in black. Usually the trimming is slight—a rose or a bow of ribbon. With the summery frock of chiffon, crepe de chine or organza it is the rule. However for sport wear, with the jersey or flannel suit, the small hat, preferably felt, is preferred.

White flannel coats and white flannel skirts are immensely popular, and one notices a decided revival of the dainty, light weight, light-colored slip-on sweaters or banded knitted blouses with white flannel skirts.

O'Leary's New London Hotel at Green & Golden streets is a friendly place, with the hand of cordial greeting extended to all who go there in search of good, well-cooked food, promptly served at moderate prices.

Many a glass of milk will disappear uncomplainingly down children's throats if accompanied by a cookie. There is a deep appeal to big or little boys and girls in the cookie crock that never seems to have a bottom, but in summer time the cook balks at spending hours in a hot kitchen rolling, cutting and baking. The drop cookies or the over-night or ice-box cookies help to solve the problem and we are giving you a low a recipe for each.

DROP NIT COOKIES

One and one-half cups light brown sugar, 1-2 cup butter, 2 eggs, 3 tablespoons cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup finely chopped nuts, 2-3 cups pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder.

One and one-half cups light brown sugar, 1-2 cup butter, 2 eggs, 3 tablespoons cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup finely chopped nuts, 2-3 cups pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder.

Cream butter and sugar. Beat eggs until light. Add with cream to first mixture. Stir in nuts and vanilla. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and stir into mixture. Drop from teaspoon onto oiled and floured cookie sheet and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven.

Caramel Cookies

One cup butter, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup sour cream, 5 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Add eggs well beaten. Mix and sift half of the flour with salt and stir into first mixture. Dissolve soda in sour cream and add. Stir until smooth and add remaining flour and add vanilla. Mix well and form into a roll about as thick as a rolling pin. Chill in the ice-box over night. In the morning cut in thin slices and bake in a hot oven for eight minutes.

The new fabric paints and designs are being used to decorate all sorts of women's garments, especially dresses, hats, scarfs, parasols and handkerchiefs. Many women enjoy doing this fascinating work themselves. Others after they have bought an outfit and received a few lessons are able to earn quite a bit of pin money selling their handiwork.

Salad Melba

Scald peel and chill the required number of ripe tomatoes. If large they may be cut in half; if not, slice off stem ends. Save the pulp for soup or scalloped dishes and fill the tomato cup; with chopped cucumber and pineapple mixed with mayonnaise. Radish or some other vegetable may be substituted for the pineapple.

Who Was Failure?

by Olive Roberts Barton.

Harry and Dick were brothers. Moreover, they were loyal, devoted pals. They had hidden their shoes and stockings under the same bush in the early days of spring; they had played hooky together to go fishing; they had gone swimming with the gang, and taken the dog to bed.

Those were great old days, and Harry loved to talk about them to his prosperous cronies in the club, when he wended his way after four o'clock to rest up from a hard day's work, and for a hard evening's entertainment by a few rubbers of bridge before six-thirty.

Nobody ever said, "Where is Dick?" or "What happened to Dick?" They thought Dick was dead perhaps. Indeed, Harry himself had not seen Dick for years. Chance had made Harry rich—he was not a particularly keen business man.

Dick, off in a western city, had more real business ability than Harry, but some way or other the wheel of fortune never stopped at his number. A long illness and his wife's accident when she caught her hand in the mangle had set them back the little they had saved. One day Dick came to see Harry. "I've got a good chance to go into business with Smith," said Dick, "and every cent we had has gone to the hospital. Lend me a thousand dollars, Harry, and I'll see that you get it back with good interest."

"I don't believe in lending money," Harry had replied. "It's great scandal. As yet there had been no post mortem.

Mamie looked rather disapproving as she pointed to the story.

"Judy," she said, "isn't this the woman whose name gossip has linked with that of Mr. Robinson's for years?"

"I believe so, Mamie," I answered composedly. "Although I really knew nothing about it until yesterday when one of the girls told me something to the effect that Robinson had grown tired of her and was trying to break up the affair."

Mamie looked rather horrified.

"Is it possible, Judy, that you went out with him after you knew that? Everyone will think that he has become infatuated with you. Oh, I hope your name will not come into it."

"I don't think it will, Mamie. And besides I didn't go out with Mr. Robinson."

Mamie looked at me very sternly. "Were you not in the Robinson car when you called to me?"

"Yes, but I was alone, Mamie," I said reproachfully. "I don't believe I would suppose you even if things spoke more eloquently against you even than did a Rolls-Royce car with a Robinson monogram on the door panel."

SOFTER LINES

The jabot reverie is seen on the new wool coats for fall and has a grace and femininity that recommends it.

VELVET FOR LINING

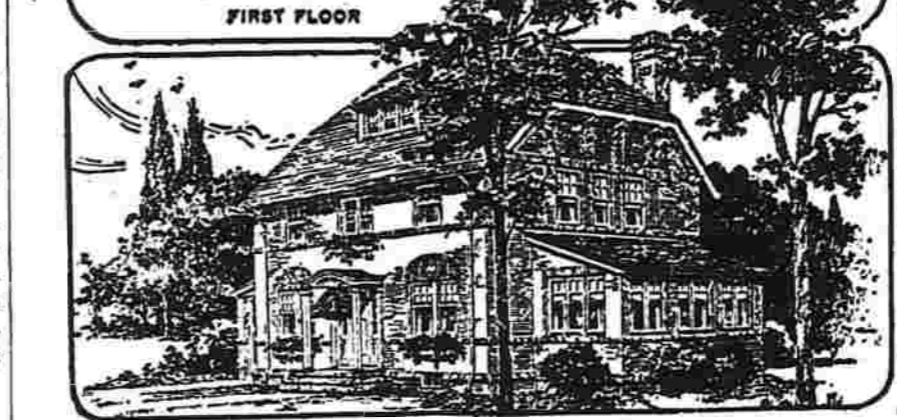

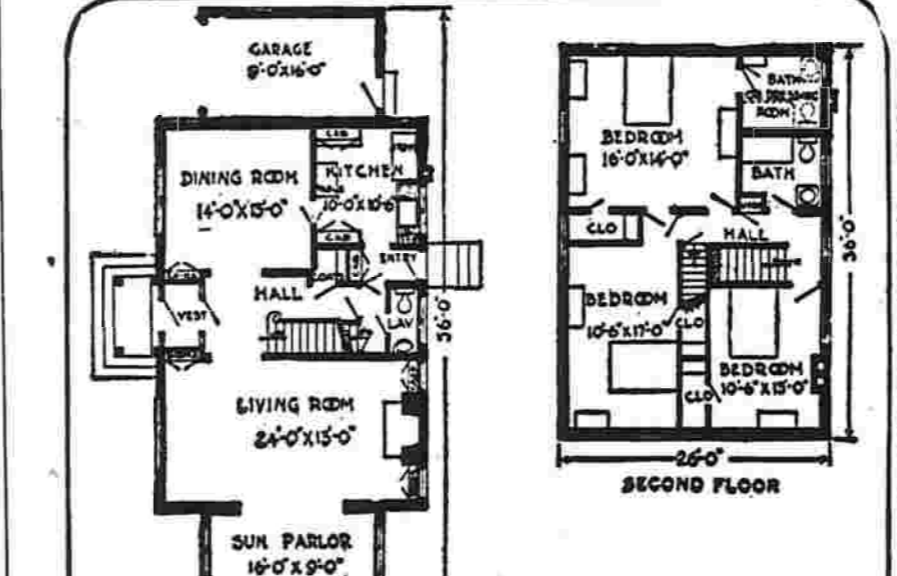

A very charming style that will doubtless be the vogue six months from now is the velvet-lined coat. Wool, silk and fur coats are treated in this regal manner.

High Crown

The new high crown here is chery red velour. The trimming is woven kid cord in two shades of red with two tassels.

Spacious "Western-Colonial" Type

The commodious Colonial floor plan and the breezy, attractive "Western" exterior have been combined in this spacious home.

The paneled effect of the brick-work and the simple but effective facade are features of the front elevation.

Inside, the house is centered around a main hall. As one enters, his glance falls right through a wide living room to a sun parlor beyond.

At the other side French doors lead to the dining room. Behind that is the well arranged kitchen.

Up the broad stairway lie three bedrooms—or four if the family requires. The attic is a spacious playroom for children.

And as for closets, madame, they're everywhere. The kitchen sink is set beneath a window. There's a lavatory downstairs. Cabinets take the place of a pantry. In all, a handy, homey sort of place.

FOR REGULAR FEATURES

The Spanish type of sailor with the high crown and fairly wide brim that is worn very low or over the eyes is newer than floppy wide-brimmed hats and the close clothe-
