

EXPLAIN SHARE TOWN STANDS FOR SCHOOLS

Costs Divided Between Municipality and the Various School Districts—Manchester's Expense Below Average.

The Ninth school district committee, through its chairman, Howell Cheney, is preparing, from time to time, articles on school costs in Manchester. These will run from time to time in The Herald and will serve to inform Manchester taxpayers just how money appropriated for school expenses is used. An introductory article appeared in yesterday's Herald. The first of the series follows:

The Cost of Schools in the Ninth School District for the School Year 1925-26

In discussing the cost of schools, it is always necessary to remember that under the district system which prevails in Manchester the cost of schools is divided between two taxing units: (1) the town, which pays for the current cost of the maintenance of public education, and (2) the districts, which pay for the construction and maintenance of the physical buildings and grounds, and interest on indebtedness covering the same. The present discussion concerns itself only with that portion of the expense chargeable to the town.

The total cost of the Ninth District schools for the year 1925-26 chargeable to the town has been $253,185.02, which is an increase over a year ago of $20,392.35, or 8 per cent. The school population during the same period has increased from 2489 pupils in average attendance to 2584 pupils, or 4 per cent. There has been an apparent net increase, therefore, of about 5 per cent, which is accounted for in part by increases in teachers' salaries, the cost of transportation in the Buncce district, the additional cost of the Buncce school, and of heating the new Trade school, which is new in the Ninth District account, and the increased cost of heating because of the long and cold spring.

Costs Per Pupil

Because of the new Buncce school and Trade school changes it is almost impossible to compare item for item on this year's account with last year's. A comparison on a per pupil basis comes nearer to showing the true condition, but here also it is necessary to bear in mind that the cost of transportation of Buncce school pupils, and the equipping of the Buncce school with new text books throughout, the heating and hygiene of the Buncce school, and the cost of heating the new Trade school building, were expenses assumed this year which would not have shown on a per pupil basis in our account last year. These items amount to an estimate of $3,627.50.

Comparison of estimated cost per pupil in average attendance for school years 1924-25 and 1925-26:

High school . . . . .	$107.53	$121.62
Elementary schools . . . . .	$8.48	$9.02

It will be seen from the above that if the extraordinary expenses ($3,627.50) due to the transfer of the Buncce school and the opening of the new Trade school building are deducted from the elementary school expense, there has been no

KING GEORGE SETS 'EM UP TO 4,000 BOTTLES OF FIZZ

London, July 9.—King George is an excellent host. That is the consensus of opinion that was expressed today, following the last of the season's courts held last night. According to estimates of the royal caterers something like 4,000 bottles of champagne were served to the 5,000 guests last night. Soft drinks were obtainable for Americans, and there were hundreds of other dainties spread upon the tables for the hungry and thirsty dancers.

HALE'S BIG SALES ATTRACT CROWDS

Engine Bell Recording Cash Sales Kept Ringing Continuously for Hours.

At 9 o'clock this morning Hale's doors opened for its 29th anniversary sale and at that time an engine bell started ringing, one peal for every cash sale. The sales came in so fast that the boy ringing the bell had to be relieved after a short time.

Store Crowded.

The sidewalk in front of the department store was crowded long before the opening at 9 o'clock and a mad rush started the minute the doors were opened. Shoppers came from all sections of Manchester and from out of town, all anxious to get in on the bargains that are being offered.

29 Cent Specials.

The biggest drawing card of the sale is probably the 29 cent special, a new one for each of the ten days of the sale. The specials went like hot cakes and the supply was exhausted long before the time estimated made by the management of the store.

New Ones Daily.

These 29 cent specials will continue throughout the sale and will be changed every day. The Herald carries a big advertisement of the sale on its last page every night and it is principally through this medium that the sale is being brought before the public.

The new organization is backed by heads of great Italian manufacturing corporations, banks and labor unions, and seeks to retain a balance of trade for Italy by underselling in the world markets and by the creation of superior goods. An army of skilled salesmen is preparing to make a world campaign. Reports coming through Fascist headquarters indicate that the public is cooperating. White Pines Camp, N. Y., July 9.—Sad memories of a lamented past. Sait for the wounds of Volstead and Wheeler. The summer camp of President Coolidge contains a bar—a good, old fashioned bar of mahogany and brass.

Beneath the bar is a wine vault of steel and concrete. In the vault there was, until very recently—and possibly even now—one of the finest collections of rare and ancient vintages ever put under lock and key. What now is the quiet summer home of the chief magistrate of the United States once was the most glittering Mecca in all the Adirondacks. Where now sundown brings solitude and quiet, once echoed the laughter and revelry of Broadway's greatest and brightest. Matties Tell.

SEEKS WAY OUT OF AMNESIA TANGLE

Shelton Man Asks Freedom from Second of Two Extra Wives Forgetfully Wed.

Bridgeport, July 9.—A marriage tangle unique in court records here was revealed today when J. Lyall McIntosh, 29, of Shelton, brought action in the Superior court for annulment of his marriage to Dorothy Isabel McIntosh, whom he wedded on May 3, last, in Media, Pa. McIntosh claims that at the time of his marriage he was suffering loss of memory occasioned by a beating received in Texas by bandits in May, 1921.

Had One Annulled.

On May 24, last, McIntosh appeared before Judge Baldwin in Superior court here and obtained an annulment of his marriage to Geraldine Snyder, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., whom he married September 24, 1925, under the name of M. F. Nicholson, his first wife's maiden name. He asserts that this marriage also resulted because of loss of memory.

During this trial McIntosh said he recovered his memory in November, 1925, after suffering a stroke in his home in Shelton. He was admitted to the New Haven hospital in March, 1926, where he claims a delicate operation was performed on his brain.

SUBWAY TRAINS CRASH AS NEW HANDS BLUNDER

Two Accidents Due to Strike Bring No Casualties; Reporters Assaulted by Strike Sympathizers.

New York, July 9.—The first wreck and violence directly attributed to the Interborough subway strike occurred early today at the South Ferry terminal of the Lexington Avenue-Broadway local lines, where a trolley train operated by a novice motorman, jumped the track and crashed through a concrete wall, setting off a local train. Passengers escaped by rushing to the tracks and getting to the street via an emergency exit. No one was injured.

Immediately after the wreck, three newspapermen were assaulted. William Kelly, a green motorman hired yesterday, was in charge of the train and was directly responsible for the wreck, it was asserted. Fortunately only a few passengers were on the train at the time of the wreck.

Held for Assault.

Ralph Voight, 35, a private detective, and Thomas Frances, 45, who said he was an investigator by the Interborough, were arrested charged with assaulting John Weissberger, a reporter, and held for arraignment later today. Weissberger was taken to a hospital suffering from cuts and lacerations.

John Rogan, another reporter, was attacked by thugs, who escaped. Harold O'Hare was assaulted while telephoning his story from a public booth. His notes were destroyed and he was beaten.

According to newspapermen, an Interborough employe became enraged at the sight of the reporters and rushed at them with several companions, shouting "Let's get at 'em."

Improvised Gas Masks.

The third rail was ripped up for twenty feet and seven feet of concrete wall was destroyed. Because of the danger of suffocation from smoke caused by burning insulation and grease that had come into contact with the third rail, passengers improvised gas masks with their handkerchiefs as they walked through the smoke-filled tunnel.

Red lanterns were placed along the tracks to prevent collisions while rescue work was in progress. The Interborough today was mobilizing a new force of recruits to meet the threatened strike of 882 power house and signal workers, who were to discuss strike action at a meeting. A delegation of these employes told the strikers that they would go on strike at midnight tonight.

A tie-up of the power houses would affect the street railways of New York and cripple the Broadway and Queens lines of the B. M. T., which run to Brooklyn.

The second accident of the strike and of the day, occurred during the morning rush hour when two trolley cars, one on the East side met in a rear-end collision between the Astor place and Fourteenth street stations. No one was injured and traffic was tied up only fifteen minutes.

As was the case in the first accident, the later one was due to the ignorance of a green motorman, it was said. The trains were not crowded, as the traffic is mostly downtown at the time of the crash, and there was no panic.

LADY ASTOR HEARS THE SHORT AND UGLY WORD.

London, July 9.—Jack Jones, obstreperous Labor member of Parliament, contributed something to parliamentary language when he characterized Lady Astor as a "terminological inexactituder."

A few moments before when Lady Astor had declared there was municipal corruption in the Socialist district of Poplar, Jones had shouted out: "You are a liar!"

The speaker called on Jones to withdraw his un-parliamentary remark.

"I apologize to the noble lady and will substitute the term 'terminological inexactituder,'" said Jones.

CONGRESS BROKE ALL LAW RECORDS

"Do-Nothing" 69th Passed 522 Public Measures in Its Initial Session.

Washington, July 9.—Breaking all records for work, the House during the first session of the 69th Congress went on a law-making orgy, equalling the work of both sessions of the previous Congress, and served up 986 brand new public and private laws and resolutions.

986 Measures Adopted.

Statistics announced today by Eugene F. Sharkoff, tally clerk of the House, showed that in the 158 days the House actually worked, it passed 522 public laws, 46 public resolutions and 327 private bills and resolutions.

There were 1,495 committee reports. When Congress adjourned, 1,321 of the reported bills had been acted upon and 174 were passed.

ADMIRAL PLUNKETT ANNOUNCED THAT NAMES OF THE MEN FOUND DEAD IN THE HULK WOULD BE GIVEN OUT AS SOON AS IDENTIFICATION WAS MADE.

The official naval board of inquiry was already in session, and those who entered the rammed vessel were instructed to report with what information they had gathered as soon as they emerged. The board is composed of Lieut. Comdr. Low as judge advocate and Captains Hunt and Weaver.

Tomorrow, it was announced, the S-51 will be open to the view of the public, although no one will be allowed actually to enter. A crowd of 150,000 is expected.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur was expected to arrive at the yard this afternoon from Washington.

One of the tragedies of a tragic story was told by Miss Lurline L. Garrett, of Norfolk, Va., the only person present to identify a relative or fiancé.

"I had a sweetheart aboard," she said. "First Class Torpedo Man Robert H. Willis. He had only one more week to serve when the S-51 went down. We expected him back after his enlistment was completed, and we were to have been married last October."

"We had been keeping company for four years, and the last time I saw him was in New London, in September, shortly before he died. I am here to identify the body, and if it is in proper condition I will take it to New London, where his mother lives."

As the water was pumped from the drydock the rusty hull gradually appeared. A long slanting gash was visible in the port side forward, some 12 to 15 feet long. This showed where the City of Rome had rammed the submarine last September. The cut was through the battery room, the men's sleeping quarters.

Besides this injury the periscope was bent at a rakish angle, but still the vessel gave the appearance of a complete submarine.

Men who worked at the salvage at Block Island were surprised today to see that the bow had been ripped and torn, which was not the case before the sub was towed to the yard here.

Commander Ellsberg explained that when the ship collided with a rock in the East river on the trip here the strain of the towing cable was so great that it pulled the nose of the vessel almost off.

7 BODIES TAKEN FROM THE S-51; IDENTIFY THREE

Lieut. F. D. Foster First Victim of Tragedy to Be Recognized; Search of Hulk Continues.

New York, July 9.—The first identification of one of the naval heroes who lost their lives when the submarine S-51 sank off Block Island last September was made today when authorities announced that the second of the first five bodies removed was that of Lieut. Frederick D. Foster, of Niantic, J.

The gruesome task of recovering the dead was begun shortly after noon, when the first body was removed from the engine room as the vessel lay in dry dock at the Brooklyn Navy yard.

Shortly afterward four more bodies were found and carried to the morgue in the naval hospital. Two of these were badly decomposed and identification through examination of the teeth probably will have to be resorted to.

As a sixth body was removed from its sea tomb another identification was announced. The second man to be identified was Seaman John Joseph McCarthy of New York City.

Shortly after two o'clock the seventh body was removed from the funeral home and another identification was made, the third. This was Charles C. Thomas, seaman, of El Paso, Texas. He was identified by a chart of his teeth, such as is taken of all enlisted men.

In the pockets of the third body jewelry was found which it was hoped would simplify the matter of learning the dead man's name.

Promises List

MANCHESTER'S MOTH MAN

Manchester has many gifted and talented residents. Men and women here have made reputations in mechanics, in literature and in the arts.

But here we have a man who for over fifty years has made a study of moths. He catches them, raises them, feeds them, studies them. There is nothing about a moth he does not know and he has specimens from all over the world. Birds of paradise with their wonderful plumage fade into insignificance when compared with the colorings of a moth and there are many varieties to be found right here in town.

Read all about this fascinating life study and about the man whose life is spent in this study in tomorrow's HERALD "Out at Noon"

Mrs. Fred Walter and one of her two children are in the New Haven General hospital from cuts and bruises as the result of an automobile accident in which her husband and another child also figured recently, it was learned today. Mr. Walter was also injured but not seriously. The accident occurred near an underpass in New Haven Sunday morning.

Mr. Walter, who is employed by the town, and who lives at 307 Middle Turnpike East, was on his way to New Haven with his family to visit at his sister's home in New Haven. A strange phase of the accident was that both drivers saw each other before the crash and stopped. Then suddenly both, evidently believing the other was going to wait, started their machines. As a consequence the collision occurred. The machine owned by the Manchester man was a total wreck, according to the story he told a Manchester man, and the truck also was damaged to the extent of $35. Mrs. Walter and the older child were taken to the hospital.

A new Haven officer who investigated the accident said he could find no reason to blame either party but the driver of the car which collided with Walter's machine insisted on a hearing in court. Walters was found guilty in connection with the responsibility of the accident and fined $1 without costs. He also had to settle the $35 damage done to the Bridgeston truck.

The affair served to spoil what would otherwise have been a perfectly happy Fourth of July celebration.

NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY

That "highbrow" needs to be a "highbrow" in order to get what poetry has to give" is an opinion recently expressed by Marguerite Wilkinson, poet and critic. This statement appears in her reading course, "The Poetry of Our Own Times," a little book which has just been made available at the South Manchester Library.

In a few pages Mrs. Wilkinson introduces the reader to some of the writers of our day whose poems will give keen pleasure to "all normal people who dance at parties, sing hymns in church, and enjoy the quick beauty of the world."

Among the twenty or more English, Irish, and American poets whom Mrs. Wilkinson singles out are Massfield, Housman, Yeats, Stephens, Robinson, Masters, and Millay.

She tells the reader something about the writing of each and mentions a few of their poems which are likely to appeal to the new reader of poetry. Following this instruction Mrs. Wilkinson recommends a few collections in which the reader can discover, with the help of the suggestions given in the introduction, poems to suit his taste.

This is one of the courses in the "Reading with a Purpose" series published by the American Library Association.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB HEAR
JULY FOURTH REPORT

All Bills Paid and the Committee Discharged—Testimonial for C. A. Sweet.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Manchester Improvement club, held last evening at the Balch & Brown building, the final report of the committee in charge of the Fourth of July celebration was submitted and approved. Eight members attended the meeting. The report was given by Chairman William Foulds, Jr. It showed all donations collected and all bills paid, in fact all of the collections and most of the payments were made three days before the celebration.

A surprise was sprung on C. A. Sweet, a member of the committee. Chairman Foulds announced that Mr. Sweet's work in securing contributions for the Fourth-of-July celebration had been of great value. He stated that more effort was made by Mr. Sweet than most citizens realized, and it was done that Manchester might have a good Fourth of July. Mr. Sweet's patriotic zeal in order celebration. The committee felt that official recognition of this work should be given, and a gold piece was presented to Mr. Sweet, with the thanks of the Manchester Improvement Club.

As the summer season is at hand, the August meeting of the club will be omitted.

EXPECT NO CONTESTS
AT 9TH DIST. MEETING

Voters Asked to Rent Old Cooper Hill School to Take Care of Overflow.

A call was published today for the annual meeting of the voters of the Ninth School district which will be held in High school hall on Wednesday evening of next week to transact the business for the coming school year.

One of the articles in the call asks the voters if they will decide to rent the old Cooper Hill school on the West Side from Cheney Brothers to take care of the overflow from other schools in the district. This building was used as a school for many years on the West Side but of late years has been a day nursery.

An addition to the heating plant at the Nathau Hale school is planned and this will come up during the meeting.

It is not expected that there will be any contests for district offices.

A THOUGHT

For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succor them that are tempted.—Heb. 2:18.

Find out what your temptations are and you will find out largely what you are yourself.—Henry Ward Beecher.

GOODRICH PUTS TIRE PRICES
BACK TO LEVEL OF 1924.

A generous reduction in tire prices just announced by The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, has restored the price levels of two years ago, according to C. J. Chartier, local Goodrich dealer.

"This is much more than a cut thrown out to attract a few backward tire buyers," says Mr. Chartier. "Comparison of the new price list with prices on the great majority of sizes and types in 1924 shows how completely any so-called 'inflation' has been squeezed out of tire prices. In a majority of cases, the new prices match the prices of two years ago."

Mr. Chartier also points out that the new prices, figured in percentages, are 25 per cent or more below the peak prices of last year.

SALAMANDER LIVES IN ONE TOWN FOR CENTURY.

Tokio, July 9.—The prince regent has a new pet—a salamander, 120 years old. It was presented to him by the head priest of the Anyo temple, where it had lived in a secluded pond, so the temple authorities claim, for more than a century.

MISSING AVIATOR SAFE.

Cordova, Alaska, July 9.—R. H. Morrill, Vancouver, B. C., aviator, for whom grave fears were entertained and widespread search was made, arrived safely at Ketchikan, Alaska, on July 8, in the aeroplane in which he left Vancouver on June 27, according to word relayed here today. Morrill was enroute to operate a mail contract between Bristol Bay and Seward, Alaska.

URGENT PROSECUTION OF A NORWAY CABINET

London, July 9.—The Norwegian parliament was urged today by a special governmental investigating committee to prosecute the entire cabinet of former Premier Berge, according to an Oslo dispatch to the Central News.

The Berge cabinet is accused of lending 25,000,000 kroner to the Norwegian Commercial Bank shortly before its failure in 1925 without the consent of Parliament.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA — Robert Fulton (1)

Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, was born in 1765 at Little Britain, Pa., of Irish parents, who were so poor that all the early education Fulton had was training to read and write. At an early age he was apprenticed to a jeweler in Philadelphia. He made good use of his spare time in studying, taking an interest in mechanics and painting.

Through the sale of paintings and landscapes, Fulton was able to buy a small farm where he placed his widowed mother.

At the age of 23, Fulton went to London. He studied painting there for several years, but his mind turned back to mechanics, his greater love.

Fulton's first mechanical product was an inclined plane, the object of which was to displace canal locks, for which he was granted a patent by Great Britain. Then he invented a machine for spinning flax and one for making rope. He was received as a civil engineer in 1795, and wrote a work on canals in which he developed his system and ideas. (Continued)

W. C. FIELDS STARRED IN "OLD ARMY GAME"

An old phrase soon destined to come into popular use again is the well-known saying "It's the Old Army Game." Why? That's the title of W. C. Fields' first starring picture for Paramount, which arrives at the State theatre today and tomorrow.

Old-timers will testify that the phrase has nothing to do with the army. Fields himself says it means, "Never give a sucker an even break." And that just about explains it.

Remember the old circus and medicine side-shows that used to arrive in town? There was always a red-faced chap mounted on a platform who called out "Step up, you-a-dites and sants! See if you can tell under which shell is the pea!" Then he moved the shells around rapidly and you'd guess. Usually wrong.

Well, that's "the old army game."

"The old army game" has been practiced as long as humans have lived. They say prehistoric cave-men used to play it. Definite records show that it had a part in early Chinese history. And the Romans, at the height of their glory, were experts in "kidding the suckers."

The exact origin of the phrase is a little indefinite. Why the army was brought in is problematical. Some say that it refers to the buck private and his lot. A buck private is popularly, if humorously, supposed to do all the work.

However, the phrase has gone beyond the limits of the army and now refers to any phase of life in which suckers appear. According to many experts, this is just about every start of existence.

This humorous side of American life is the basis of W. C. Fields' first picture, a characterization he has made famous on the musical comedy stage. Louise Brooks is featured. Edward Sutherland directed.

The companion feature for today and tomorrow, Rod La Rocque in "Red Dice," the melodramatic story of a man who did not fear death but who was tired of living and sold his life to a second-rate whose power, like the tentacles of an octopus reached out only to corrupt and destroy. One of the romantic pictures ever screened.

Added attraction for today and tomorrow the sing-em again "Koko" song and "Champ, Tramp, Tramp."

For Sunday and Monday Conway Tearle in "The Sporting Lover," the kind of a man every woman loves—and the kind of picture you'll cheer all through.

SILK MILL NINE WITHOUT PITCHERS

Both Edger and Georgetti Scheduled to Go to Nautic With Company G Sunday; Holland May Be Signed.

Cheney Brothers' baseball nine faces a rather tough predicament the next two weeks because of lack of pitchers. Georgetti and Edger, the two star twirlers, both being members of Company G, will go to Nautic for military training the next two weeks. They depart Sunday morning. Although Edger sustained a broken leg in the Rockville-Manchester game the other night, Captain Bessell said last night he thought Edger would go to camp just the same but wasn't positively sure.

Anyway both will be lost as far as pitching for Cheney Brothers is concerned and Manager Jenney is busy scouring about for someone to take their places. It is possible that Ray Holland will be drafted into use.

SAVES 3 LIVES IN TWO DAYS AT THE GLOBE

Later two women from Hartford who came to the pool in an auto, went into the pool. One of them got beyond her depth and screamed as the water went over her head. She could not swim. The other held her for the few minutes it took for McCormick to swim out to the couple. He brought both of them to shore. There was no need of first aid treatment in this case. An effort was made this morning to obtain the names of those who were saved but it proved futile.

St. Louis man of 25 had four wives. Probably one of these congenial fellows who can't say "No."

That is what I'm paid for, isn't it? I never got their names. I just pulled them out. That is all there is to it. There was no excitement and I do not believe that half of the other bathers knew what had happened.

That is the way that Fred McCormick, life guard at Globe Hollow pool explains how he saved three lives in the last two days. No amount of questioning could get him to say anything more.

Boy sinks.

But from one of the boys it was learned that day before yesterday a small boy got in over his head and shouted for help. McCormick promptly dove into the water, dove again when he reached the spot where the boy had sunk and brought him to the surface. Then he swam ashore with him and after a few minutes' first aid work, the youngster was all right again.

Two More.

Yesterday another boy sank and the guard got him out quickly.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

BY ARTHUR N. PACK

President, The American Nature Association

The codling moth is the most serious insect enemy of the grower of the apple, which has been called the king of fruits. In spite of the best directed efforts to destroy the pest by spraying the trees with poisonous liquids, a process which has been brought in late years to a high stage of perfection, the annual loss to the apple industry reaches several millions of dollars.

The adult insect is a rather small moth with a wing-spread of about one inch. Its fore wings, when closed, are crossed by alternate light and dark bands, and on the tip of each is a spot of dark brown. As it remains hidden during the day, it is seldom seen by the orchardist, the source of whose bread and butter it so seriously affects. At dusk it becomes active and deposits its eggs on the foliage of the trees.

The young hatch within a few days, and, if the apples have reached a sufficient size, lose no time in eating their way into the pulpy interior, entering usually at the blossom end, and remaining in this food storehouse until they have attained their full growth and ruined the fruit.

Codling Moth

They then spin a cocoon, usually beneath a flake of bark on the trunk of the host-tree. The pupae of the earlier broods transform to the adult state and lay eggs the same summer, the product of these remaining over the winter in the larval stage and thus assuring the continuance of the race.

The codling moth is most injurious in the south, where as many as three or four generations may develop during the long season, while in the north one, or at most two, is usually the maximum.

HOW TO PREPARE TIRES FOR AUTOMOBILE TRIP.

With hundreds of motorists in this city preparing for automobile tours Dave Housen of Depot Square Service Station, Manchester Firestone dealers, today gave out instructions on the care of tires and the materials that should be carried for emergency use.

"Nothing can do more to mar an automobile tour, especially if it is of long duration, than frequent engine or tire trouble. The first thought of the motorist contemplating a tour should be that his engine and his tires are in proper condition," he said.

"Badly worn casings should be replaced with new ones. If a used tire is to be carried as a spare, the motorist should have a fireman carefully examine it to see that it is in good condition and any repairs necessary should be made before the trip is started.

"A complete emergency kit should be carried, in case of trouble on the road, far from a service station. There should be included in this kit an extra tube or two, one extra tire flap, one can of mica, three blowout patches, one box of friction tape, one tube of dry patching cement, one can of cure cut, three tire saver patches, one can of holdfast patch stock, one pair of scissors and three or four valves.

With this equipment the motorist is prepared to make temporary tube repairs, and to care for a blowout, valve leaks and outside tread injuries. These repairs mean a material saving in time as well as tire costs.

"Tourists, too, should recognize the importance of checking the air in their tires at least every 500 miles. Continuous traveling over hot roads causes the air to leave the tires quicker."

Mr. Housen says he will be pleased to assist any motorists in preparing for automobile touring and advise them as to proper methods to be followed in repairing tires and tubes on the road.

FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1926.

DAWES' BREAK.

Vice-President Dawes is a very smart man. His intelligence is not only of much more than ordinary depth, it is of quite extraordinary quickness.

The Vice-President was called on to go to Salem and make a talk there. It was the proper occasion for applause and so Dawes told the Salem folk that they were just the kind of folks who framed the American Constitution.

But jumping hurriedly from that takeoff, he said something which, it is an odds-on bet, wasn't down in any manuscript prepared in advance.

Now Brother Dawes, as a more than possible aspirant for the Presidential nomination of the G. O. P. in 1928, had very carefully refrained up to then from committing himself, one way or the other, on the wet-and-dry question.

It is a hundred to one that for the instant the vice-president clean forgot all about the eighteenth amendment—where the worst of judgment crystallized itself into law of the hardest kind.

Yet by unescapable inference he has put the seal of his entire approval on prohibition in those few words.

It is a hundred to one that for the instant the vice-president clean forgot all about the eighteenth amendment—where the worst of judgment crystallized itself into law of the hardest kind.

Yet by unescapable inference he has put the seal of his entire approval on prohibition in those few words.

er cause, anywhere, without regard to territorial limits, will have an effect on the rum running business. The effect will not be to make smaller the amount of liquor smuggled into the country, but to cause the smugglers hereafter to charter or buy ships of foreign instead of American registry—which, as a matter of fact, they are already doing to a very considerable extent.

That this will have any appreciable result in the diminution of the amount of liquor illegally brought into the country by way of the sea is not very likely. The harbors of the world are full of idle ships, big and little. There is no more necessity for the rum runners to use American vessels in their business than there is for them to use teakettles as containers for their booze.

PAID ASSASSINS.

Bloodthirsty attacks on garment strike pickets by thugs who turn out to be among New York's best known or worst known gangsters are not calculated to inspire in an outside public much respect for the character of the people against whom the strikers are contending.

Crooks of the type of "Little Angle" have no interest of their own in labor disputes, as labor and they are strangers. When they drive up and begin shooting and cutting union pickets it is because they have been paid to do so, or are to be paid when the job is done.

The hiring of rowdies and black-legs as "guards" in time of strikes is reprehensible enough, at best, but sometimes employers justify themselves on the basis of meeting violence with violence.

If the people who employed them, whoever they are, had spent ten times as much money in any other way, in a deliberate attempt to create sympathy for the striking cloak makers, they could not have been more successful.

THE SHIPPING BOARD.

Captain Elmer E. Crowley, president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, has been fired by the Shipping Board despite the opposition of the older and more experienced minority members.

Crowley bucked the sale of the President-class steamers to the Dollar line at a price which he declared to be ridiculously low.

The Dollar line is that highly American corporation which, at the outbreak of the war, promptly took every ship it owned out of American registry and put it under the British flag—and promptly returned its fleet to American registry when it conceived it to be profitable to do so.

This was not mentioned in the curious transaction of the President-class ships. But it may give the outside citizen some kind of an idea as to the sort of influence that can kick a useful and earnest federal officer out of his job.

Of all the strange organizations, strangely functioning, under the United States government, the Shipping Board is the strangest. Some day sensational history will be written about it.

FRANKNESS.

Intruding herself into a discussion which appears to have been away of her business but strictly an affair between certain members of parliament and the government, having to do with the conduct of a particular borough, Lady Astor yesterday got herself called a liar.

The temeritous soul who thus braved the lightning of heaven was Jack Jones, a hot headed Laborite. He is still alive, no bolt from above having hit him; but perhaps that is because, having repeated the short and ugly word so that there might be no mistake about his meaning, he withdrew the unparliamentary language and substituted "terminological laxitude" as a description of the noble viscountess' statement.

RECKLESS.

The dumbest of human beings is the reckless auto driver. Safety campaigns have been tried on him to no avail. Crossing gates are built for his benefit; nice large white signs are painted for him; policemen stand ready to arrest him. Still he insists on killing himself and others.

won't. It sounds too good to be true. When a train is due, the curtain automatically lowers, thus saving the strain on the driver's mental machinery and his car's brakes. It is hoped that a few headlong plunges into this elastic steel curtain will ultimately persuade him that his neck is worth saving. But the only sure way would be to deprive him of his automobile.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, July 9.—Tearing down a ghost "haunt" and chucking the ghost out into the cold seems like a mean trick. Nevertheless that's what the government's talking about doing to one of the best known "haunts" in Washington—the old house at 25 First street, northeast, close to the Capitol, where the National Woman's Party has had its headquarters for the last half dozen years.

The government wants the site for a new Supreme Court building. Major Henry Wirz's ghost's prior claim doesn't appear to enter into the government's calculations at all.

Major Wirz was superintendent of Andersonville prison, where Union prisoners were kept, in the south, during the Civil War. The horrors of Andersonville were a byword of the period and for long afterward. The captives died there like flies. Wirz was held up as an arch-fiend. Who knows now? Was he as black as he was painted? Or had he excuses to offer, which, in the state of feeling at the time, weren't recognized?

Wirz was caught when the confederacy fell. They hanged him in the side garden of that house at 25 First street, northeast. The building was in use as military prison at the time. White prisoners were kept in the upper rooms. Colored spies were locked in the vaulted brick cellar underneath.

Wirz was not the only one put to death, but he was by far the most famous. Mostly they died facing firing squads. He died by the noose, not like a soldier, but as a common murderer.

Ever since then, according to popular report, Wirz has ranged around that house o' nights. When you come to slumber it down to something definite, you can't find anybody who actually has seen the ghost, but you can find plenty of people—mostly old-timers of African descent—who have seen others who did. These ghost stories generally are so. The eye-witness is lacking, but the facts are well authenticated at second hand.

Anyway, the capital hasn't another ghost to offer who's so generally believed in as Major Henry Wirz's. Congress held sessions in that house at 25 First street, northeast, for five years, after the British burned the Capitol in 1812. John C. Calhoun died there. Chief Justice Field of the Supreme Court lived there. General Leonard Wood was married there.

The government owned the place until after the Civil War. Then the Capitol sergeant-at-arms remodelled it into three dwellings and sold the lot into three dwellings and sold them off. Finally they passed into the National Woman's Party's hands at a very modest price, for fashionable Washington has moved away from the vicinity of the Capitol now.

Officials of the National Woman's Party don't take Major Wirz's ghost at all seriously. They've never seen him, they say, and they've never heard him, and, frankly, they doubt if there is any such thing.

But they admit they have trouble in keeping colored help about the place, particularly on night duty. Except on 14th street, few of the modern business accessories are to be found. The side streets have no cash registers and the trading is polite and restrained. Everywhere is the atmosphere of a modesty all but forgotten in this land.

If one comes in the hot season, the fragrance of figs and dates will cling to the warm air; and the faint perfume of fermenting sweet bread dough. On Gansevoort street a strange Dutch name for a Spanish belt, you will note a warehouse in perfect Spanish architecture. On cross streets between 6th and 7th avenues you will come upon houses with black-painted windows and here and there a balcony and here and there latticed windows.

On 14th street, the Casa Maria, in rough stucco, with wrought iron gates. Just beyond the Guadalupe Church, and more gates of wrought iron. At 7th avenue the Spanish Bank, with windows revealing Spanish books and rare Spanish perfumes as a side line. Along the two avenues the New World injects its atmosphere. ## Guarding Public Health

BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING
Surgeon General, United States
Public Health Service

In a preceding article you were told how easy it is for water to become contaminated with such deadly disease germs as those of typhoid fever, cholera and dysentery, how milk may be contaminated by washing the milk cans in contaminated water, and be the carrier of such diseases as diphtheria, scarlet fever, and septic sore throat.

How does your health department protect you from the dangers of disease germs which thus may have been accidentally introduced into water and milk? In the first place, an endeavor is always made to obtain water which is free from the possibility of pollution by human beings.

At present it is almost impossible to get such water for large cities. Much of the water we drink today was a few days ago most foully polluted and dangerous. What is done to purify unsafe water? Briefly, the processes carried out in the case of badly polluted water are as follows:

A coagulant is added in measured quantities sufficient to throw down the greater part of the suspended solids and yet leave none of the coagulant in solution.

This process renders the water fairly clear and gets rid of a large number of germs. The water is next rapidly filtered through sand and gravel.

It comes out of the filter tanks clear as crystal, but still may contain deadly disease germs. In order to destroy these, a very small measured quantity of chlorine is added to the water as it is fed into the main trunk pipe. This renders the water perfectly safe.

All of these processes are necessary if the water contains much suspended material or is badly polluted. There are variations of these processes but the one I have outlined is typical.

Miss Essie Frink has returned to her work in Hartford after a two weeks' vacation.

The committee in charge of the patriotic dance Saturday evening, consisting of the Misses Mildred Hamilton, Evelyn White, Dorothy Cook and Olive Hutchinson report the dance a financial success as well as a success socially. A large number attended and all enjoyed the music of Tom Healy's orchestra and the good condition of the dance hall floor.

Mrs. Turner and son Howard, and Mark Bass of New York were recent visitors in town.

All of Thornton Burgess' bed time stories as told over the radio are not true, as proved by Fred Bishop Monday. Mr. Bishop went out to a trap, thinking to find a woodchuck. Instead of finding a woodchuck, he found a big black skunk. Mr. Bishop had recently heard Thornton Burgess state over the radio that "even a skunk, if kindly treated, would do no harm." Thinking to prove this fact, Mr. Bishop stepped in front of the trap. He now refuses to believe in bed-time stories. Evidently the skunk did not return good for evil.

To those who have seen Mr. Eldred perform, he needs no introduction. A treat is in store for all. The entertainment will be for the benefit of the Tolland Public Library.

Miss Ethel Usher is visiting the Sequentennial while taking her regular yearly vacation.

Miss Hazel West has returned from a visit with friends in New Jersey and Philadelphia where she spent some time at the Sequentennial grounds.

The members of Tolland Grange No. 61, P. of H. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Johnson last Tuesday evening. A good number were present. After the regular business routine the meeting was turned over to the Lecturer, Mrs. Lella Hall who had given questions to the men "what are our most local needs" and to the ladies, "Our Patriotic Women" It proved to be a very lively and interesting meeting.

ing. The social hour was pleasantly spent. The refreshments served were sandwiches, cakes and soda. These Grange meetings at the homes have proved most pleasant and better attended than when held at the hall. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Lovern in Vernon, who still retain their membership with Tolland Grange.

With 2 Hits, Cheney Bros. Defeat Conn. Mutual 2-1

MACDONALD'S PERFECT SQUEEZE PLAY SENDS OVER WINNING RUN IN FOURTH

Georgetti Bests Barton in Thrilling Pitchers' Duel Allowing but Four Bingles; McCollum, Local Boy Stars for Hartford Nine.

Despite the fact that he allowed twice as many hits as his opponent, Guido Georgetti managed to best Frank Barton in a pitchers' duel at the West Side playgrounds and as a consequence Cheney Brothers baseball nine won a 2 to 1 decision over the Connecticut Mutual Insurance nine of Hartford in a well played game. Georgetti was supreme in the pitchers' duel, what earned him the victory. The majority of his nine strike outs came in the crucial moments of the conflict and kept the tide from sweeping over the silk mill representatives.

There was not much hitting. It was clearly a pitcher's day and the eighteen players collected but six hits. Cheney Brothers made two and the visitors made four. Both aggregations fielded well. Hartford scored a run in the third inning when Fay tripled to left and scored on Francis McCollum's single to center.

Cheney Brothers came back strong in the fourth inning and scored two runs on wide awake and smart baseball playing. Pitt walked and scored from first on White's single to center when the relay to third base in attempt to catch Pitt at that station went past the third baseman. During the rumpus, White raced to third. Then "Mac" Macdonald rose to the occasion and scored White with a perfect squeeze play. It was a bunt down the first base line that was perfectly executed.

Featuring the play of the visitors was that of Francis McCollum, local boy. McCollum played short, fielded his position in splendid manner and whaled out two hits. The summary:

JONES IS SURE OF OPEN TITLE His Easy 70 Shows Him in Winning Spirit, Asserts Our Mr. Walsh.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

Scioto Country Club, Columbus, Ohio, July 9.—Bobby Jones will win the National open golf championship. This opinion was exclusively, or otherwise, the writer's, today, with 54 holes remaining between the field of 151 golfers and the championship for which every one of them would sell his immortal soul.

The reason I think this to be true is that Jones shot his 35-35-70, entirely unfurried and professing only to be seeking amusement in going over the course. "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, of Chicago, took a 68 to lead the field yesterday. But he has done this before without winning any major titles and there is no reason to suspect that "Wild Bill" is any tamer than his name implies. Likewise, must the writer look askance upon the performance of John Junor, of Portland, Oregon, in taking a 70 and equalling Jones' score. John is an unknown quantity and, therefore, is scarcely worth more than 25 cents of any man's dollar.

Like in Britain. Bobby yesterday was playing the same kind of golf that won him the British open championship. He played it with the nonchalant air of a boy who is playing for his grandmother, had unfortunately died on the eve of a World's Series.

Although there were several sterling golfers interspersed between Bobby Jones and his 70 and Walter Hagen and his 72, there was no doubt but that it was likely to be Jones and his clock-like steadiness against Hagen and his sensational competitive spirit for the championship on Saturday.

Al Espinosa, of Chicago, and Joe Turnesa, of New York, turned in 71 each, as a result of their day's calisthenics. I can't go crazy about either Al or Joe. Willie MacFarlane and four others of ambitious tendencies reported par 72s. Willie is dangerous and, if you don't think so, you are liable to bet that coal dust is pink or cerise. So is Leo Diegel, for that matter. He, too, managed a 72, but if Dan Williams, Pat Doyle or J. G. Collins of Kokomo, Ind., who also circumnavigated the course in six figures, can continue to click tomorrow, the situation will be quite opaque.

McLeod Lucky. Another man in a strategic position was Freddy McLeod, of Washington. Freddy worried through the 34, or 34 for the first day's play. He was one of the hottest tips on this tournament. So hot was he that some of the unofficial bookies declined to take further bets against Freddy that night before the tournament opened. His 74 was regarded as having done him little harm, if any.

Few of the remaining pre-tournament favorites were as fortunate as McLeod. For instance, only miracle golf can reclaim Jack Hutchison's 53, or Harry Cooper's 54, or, for that matter, the 77s of Bob Macdonald and Jim Barnes. Gene Sarazen's 78 likewise was not an encouraging total nor was the

SCIOTO COURSE HOLE BY HOLE

Editor's Note: No one person, perhaps, knows more about the construction and layout of any single golf course than does the club professional of the links over which he presides. Therefore, a more accurate and detailed description of Scioto could hardly be obtained than that herewith outlined by George Sargent, former national open and Canadian open champion and now Scioto club pro. His line-up gives the real "inside dope" on the course.

By George Sargent. First—110 yards long. Calls for straight tee shot down fairway guarded on right by trees, with bunkers and trees on left. Straight drive of 250 yards leaves comparatively easy approach shot. Player should not have much difficulty in starting with par 4.

VICTORY TOMORROW MEANS LEADERSHIP If Orford Soap Defeats East Glastonbury It Will Oust Visitors from Top Rung of "Y" League Ladder.

The East Glastonbury nine, leaders of the Hartford County Red Triangle Industrial League will come to Manchester tomorrow afternoon to meet the Orford Soap Company representatives. The game will be played at Hickey's Grove and will get under way at 3 o'clock. Jack Godek will be on the fringe line for the home team. He is the ace of the Bon Ami nine and should give the visitors plenty to think about before the festivities abate. This game is considered one of the most important on the local's scale. The East Glastonbury nine leads the league standing with five victories and one defeat. The local nine is second with three victories and one defeat. Ergo a victory tomorrow for the Bon Ami means at least temporarily leadership of the circuit.

A large crowd is expected to turn out as considerable interest has been worked up over the forthcoming tilt. Those who watched the Bon Ami in action against the colored team the other night were more than impressed.

A homer by Cy Williams started the Phillies on a four-run rally that brought victory over the Pirates, ten to six. Pitchers Yde and Adams took their showers early.

Girl athletes are gradually coming into their own. Each succeeding season sees new stars step into the limelight and new records established. It's not so long ago that track and field activities were considered "for men only." But things are different now, and, as some wise old philosopher once remarked, "time brings many changes."

The lassies of today are enthusiastic participants in track and field athletics. Moreover, they are improving rapidly as their efforts each year attest. They now have their own sectional and national meets that draw competitors from all parts of the country every season.

Seventh—400 yards. There are several tees that can be varied from 380 to 400 yards. As prevailing wind is with player hole will likely be played from 400-yard mark. Gully crosses fairway at about 200 to 250 yards. If player can drive across gully, hole is comparatively easy par 4 with possible chance of birdie 3.

Eighth—480 yards. One of feature holes of course. Putting green is very tightly guarded front and rear by water hazard and on sides by sand traps. Trouble over advised to play cautious second shot, slightly short of putting green then try to get birdie 4 by aid of chip shot or putt.

Ninth—140 yards. Fine type of short hole. Putting green angles to right and is well guarded on all sides by sand traps. Length and angle of hole can be varied by using different tees, of which there are three. Par is 3.

Tenth—390 yards. If prevailing wind is blowing, it will be with player and hole is comparatively one for par 4. It is picturesque with water hazard guarding putting green in front.

Eleventh—350 yards. Attractive hole of drive and pitch variety, but not severely. Good straight golf will make it easy for player to chalk up par 4 with possible chance for 3.

Twelfth—545 yards. Dogleg type which has decided swing to left for second shot. Putting green rather small and well guarded. Next to impossible on account of diagonal sand trap immediately in front of green to get on in 2. Usual way is to place second as advantageous as possible for approach. It is fairly interesting as long holes go. Player should not

An Irishman's Sli-i-ide, as of Old, Brought Him Home Safe

Sli-i-ide, Kelly, sli-i-ide! But in this case it's another Irishman, Rod Murphy of the Atlanta club of the Southern Association, who's doing the "hitting the dirt" act. Murphy had just slashed out a tremendous clout to deep center for what looked like nothing more than a triple. As he rounded third, however, the Crackers' coacher waved him to continue for home—and Murphy made it by a desperate slide, as the photo shows. Kohlsbecker, Memphis catcher, is "way up in the air" to take the throw from the outfield. The relay was remarkably fast and but for the high heave would doubtless have nipped Murphy at the plate.

This unusual bit of action was snapped during a recent game between Atlanta and Memphis in Atlanta.

A PUZZLE A DAY

There was a large hole in the barn and both stable flies and house flies streamed in. In spite of the fact that the cows had been sprayed and therefore could not be harmed by the flies, their presence annoyed Farmer Muller. So he made a temporary patch from a piece of wood. The original shape of the wood was square. It was cut with three slashes and glued together without any waste, in the shape sketched. How did farmer Muller piece the patch?

Last Puzzle Answer Officer Kelly asked the secretary to write the number 30 in 3 equal digits. The correct answer is 33 minus 3 equals 30 (three cubed plus three equal thirty.) Thus the same digit expresses the desired amount. This is the smallest digit it is possible to use. Other answers can be secured using either 5 or 6.

appreciable increase in the cost per pupil in the elementary system. The increased cost in the High school has been in part due to the putting of the Junior High school in the remodeled Franklin school building, with increased heating, lighting and janitors' charges, amounting to $4,335.00; and in part to increased supervision, slightly increased teachers' salaries, and two new teachers, these items totaling $7,418.00.

Are Costs Excessive The question as to whether the cost of schools is excessive might be judged from three angles:

(1) How does the per pupil cost compare with the average in the United States? (2) How does the per pupil cost compare with the average in this state, and with other Connecticut towns of our class? (3) How does the burden on the town compare with that of other towns of the state, especially towns of our class?

The cost per pupil in average attendance in our elementary schools for the present year was $90.02. The Federal Bureau of Education for the year 1923-24, which is the last year for which the figures are at hand, report that the cost in forty-five northern cities of from 30,000 to 100,000 population was $94.05 per pupil.

By this comparison we are higher by $21.81 than towns of our class and by $18.71 than the average of the state. The same report gives the median cost of High School pupils in towns of from 10,000 to 30,000 as $118.75, and for state as $152.73, as against our average cost of $121.62. Judged by this measure our High School would seem to be about on an average basis.

Town Below Average The reports of the State Board of Education show that the burden of schools upon the town of Manchester is carried by the equivalent of an eight mill tax, and that the average expense to towns of our size in Connecticut is ten mills, and that the average for the state is eight and one-third mills. Manchester's figures were compiled on the old grand list. On the new valuation it would be under six mills. As far as the amount of the tax burden goes Manchester would seem to be relatively better off than towns of our size in the state. It is true that these figures do not include the district taxes which are laid in Manchester but even if these were added our total school taxes on the new valuation would be lower than those of other towns of our size.

The next section of this report will show in what respects the elementary schools in the Ninth School District cost more per pupil in average attendance than in the state at large, and in towns of our class in this state, for if our schools are to be judged on the basis of the comparative expense per pupil in average attendance, the comparison is against us in the elementary schools of this state only, and not in the northern cities of the United States.

Children Cry For

Why Castoria?

Years ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupefy the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

JITNEY PLAYERS PLAY
HERE ON JULY 16TH

To Give Famous Play for Benefit of Kiwanis Fresh Air Camp.

"The Jitney" Players' famed for the delightful costume plays which they can present in any field or garden on their own canvas covered truck, will come to Educational Square on July 16 under the auspices of the Kiwanis club for the benefit of the children now at the Kiwanis fresh air camp in Hebron. Their plays are always interspersed with charmingly picturesque songs and dances, and their coming to our midst will be welcomed by many persons who have enjoyed their performances for the past three summers in all parts of New England.

"Little Red House" The plays have been produced at the "Little Red House", the headquarters of The Jitney Players at Madison, Connecticut, under the direction of David Belbridge, a distinguished actor, who has appeared with Walker Whiteside in "Mr. Wu," "The Hindu," and "Maverick"; with Henry Miller in "Pastor"; and Mrs. Insull in "The School for Scandal." He will himself take important parts in association with Alice Keating, the gilded leading lady of the Jitney Players, and Bushnell Cheney, Yale '21, who originated the idea. Richard Skinner, Harvard '22, another popular member of the company, returns as also Ise Bloede, one of the original pioneers three years ago. The charming ingenue this year is Frances Simpson. Other members of this organization are Joaquin Souther, Harvard '12, Edgar Barrier, Columbia '24, George Macready, Brown '21, Constance Smith, President of the Vassar Dramatic Club, Henry Bragg of the Harvard Dramatic Club, and John Everts of Exeter Academy.

38 AIRPLANES IN RELIABILITY TOUR

Detroit—Thirty-eight airplanes, more than twice as many as took part in 1925 commercial airplane reliability tour have been entered for this year's event, to be held August 7 to 21 over a 2,200 mile course touching 15 mid-western cities. H. G. McCarroll, manager of the tour announced today.

The Edsel B. Ford trophy, in itself worth $7,000 has been completed and is now on exhibition in the Detroit Athletic club. In addition to this $20,000 in prize money has been put up for pilots and manufacturers, and still other prizes for the winners of individual legs of the tour have been posted by the cities on the route.

These cities have practically completed negotiations with the management. Kalamazoo, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Des Moines, Lincoln, Neb., Wichita, Kans., Kansas City, St. Joseph, Mo., Moline, Ill., Terre Haute, Ind., Cincinnati and Fort Wayne. They are to be visited in the order named, the planes remaining in most cities a full 24 hours. If some drop out substitutions will be made.

A pathfinding plane or planes will be sent over the route early in July. In all probability the newest planes of the Stinson Airplane Company and the Bihl-Verville Airplane Company will perform this service.

COAL STRIKE MAY BAR

London, July 9.—Unless the British coal strike ends shortly, King George may have to cancel his annual visit to Balmoral castle. Under the best conditions Balmoral is rather chilly and damp and without fires it would be uninhabitable. The king does not choose to burn large quantities of coal while on vacation, if there is a strike in progress.

MURDERS MAN HE SAYS STOLE HIS WIFE

New York, July 9.—Frank Katz, 28, a leather dealer, slashed Benjamin Holtzman, 40, to death early today while Holtzman slept in his apartment, according to police.

"I killed him because he stole my wife," Katz told police when arrested later at the home of his mother. When arrested, after a struggle, he was washing crimson stains from his hands.

Holtzman's jugular vein was severed and the upper part of his body slashed with a dull knife, the medical examiner reported.

Mrs. Katz left her husband two months ago, taking her baby daughter with her, detectives learned. Holtzman formerly boarded at the Katz home.

very often, bring out surprising facts. This week we have carefully compared our "regular" prices with the advertised "specials" of some of the cash stores. In most every instance our prices were as low or lower. We have always thought and still believe that the fellow that gives you the real "bargain" is your neighborhood grocer.

NORTH END

GOING TO KEENE, N. H.

Outing of Company No. 2 to Cover Two Days—McGonigal Re-elected Foreman.

At the annual meeting of Hose Company No. 2 of the North End fire department held at the fire headquarters last evening, the members voted to have their outing at Keene, N. H. Most of the men are planning to make a two-day outing of it, leaving here Saturday afternoon and returning Sunday night. Suitable quarters will be provided for those who stay over night. It is about one hundred miles up there through a beautiful country, and a program is being planned that will keep the men busy most of the time. The outing will take place the first Sunday in August.

At the meeting last night the following communication was received from the directors of the district. It is self explanatory: "Mr. William McGonigal, Foreman Hose Company No. 2, Manchester, Conn.

"Dear Sir: "At a meeting of the directors of the Eighth School and Utilities District, held June 21, the following motion was passed: 'That the clerk communicate with Hose Company No. 2, M. P. D., to state that for the best interests of the district, in the future the commissioners deem it inadvisable to allow any of the apparatus (Fire) to leave the district on parade purposes.' This therefore answers your company's request for permission to take the pumper to New London for parade purposes.

"Respectfully yours, Edward J. Murphy, 'Clerk of Board.' William McGonigal was re-elected foreman, Harlow Willis, first assistant; Allen Coe, second assistant; Andrew Clemson, secretary; Thomas Ferguson, treasurer; Charles Loomis and Harlow Willis, auditors; W. W. Robertson, L. A. Thrall and Fred Smith nominating committee. It is expected that several of the members will attend the annual state fireman's convention to be held at New London. John Limerick was elected a delegate to represent the company and Dr. F. A. Sweet an alternate.

BELFAST PASTOR HITS "RELIGIOUS HOOLIGANISM."

Belfast, July 9.—"Jazz religion" and "religious hooliganism" came in for a castigation at the Methodist conference here by Rev. T. J. Allen of Belfast. "There is a woeful ignorance of the New Testament among a certain class of people," Rev. Allen said. "They prefer a kind of jazz religion, which demands plenty of emotionalism and sermons as shallow as the tracts they pick up in the streets. It is religious hooliganism."

Ready to Eat Food Products are Economical

It is wrong, in our opinion, to treat Ready-To-Eat Meats as a luxury and home cooked foods as something to buy just to fill in now and then. All of these present themselves to us as practical for the housewife to consider. Besides getting food of a delightful flavor and at the same time saving the housewife considerable time that she may spend otherwise, the very pertinent point about them is that they are economical and a distinct advantage from the point of view of dollar and cent values.
