

EDITOR SLAIN IN CRUSADE ON DOPE AND VICE

Don R. Mellett of Canton, O., News, Shot to Death by Gunmen — Had Been Threatened by Crooks.

Canton, O., July 16.—Don R. Mellett, 36, publisher of the Canton Daily News, was shot down and killed early this morning in the rear of his home as he was putting his automobile into his garage.

At least a dozen bullets riddled the publisher's body.

Mr. and Mrs. Mellett and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vall had returned home about 1 a. m. Mellett went to the garage to put away the car. Mrs. Mellett and the Valls were startled by a fusillade of shots.

Mellett was caught in the cross-fire of two gunmen.

Anti-Vice Warrior
The slain warrior is believed to have been the continuator of his crusade against vice in Canton. There is no clue to the slayers but it is believed by police that a couple of hired gunmen accomplished the crime and fled. The victim is survived by a widow and four small children.

Had Been Warned.
Mellett had been warned a number of times recently that if he did not cease his anti-crime campaign he would be the gangsters' next victim, but he refused to be intimidated and continued his efforts to rid Canton of what he believed amounted to control by the underworld.

Police believe the murderers were imported from Pennsylvania, and are searching for a big touring car with a license from that state which has been seen here several times during the past few days.

From the angle the bullets took through the garage door, police are certain there were at least two assassins. One bullet crashed through the kitchen window, narrowly missing Mrs. Mellett.

Don R. Mellett was born in Indiana and graduated from the University of Indiana. He came from a newspaper family, nearly all his brothers being journalists. One brother, John Mellett, of Indianapolis, is a well-known contributor to magazines under the pen name of Jonathan Brooks.

Mellett came to Ohio three years ago with the Scripps-Howard organization.

U. S. May Intervene.
Cleveland, July 16.—A federal inquiry into the shooting of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton News, believed slain as the result of his campaign to rid Canton of vice, was in prospect here today as United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein summoned Howell Leuck, his assistant; Secret Service Operative William Harper and Narcotic Chief J. B. Vrissom for a conference.

Mellett was a witness in federal court here March 19, against Louis Angelo, John Koras and George Manos, three Canton Greeks, charged with violating the Harrison narcotic act.

At that time Mellett told Bernstein that he had received threats against his life.

Belief was expressed by the federal officials that Mellett was the victim of a conspiracy by Canton dope peddlers and bootleggers.

QUEEN OF RUMANIA COMING 17 SEPTEMBER

LOCAL GIRL TELLS OF CATSKILL FIRE

Miss Jennie Bausola, Who Escaped Death, Gives Eye Witness Story.

A harrowing experience which she will never forget was undergone by Miss Jennie Bausola of 117 Prospect street, one of the survivors of the terrible fire which burned the Twilight Inn at Haines Falls in the Catskill mountains with the loss of nearly 20 lives and injuries to scores.

Miss Bausola arrived home last night, and will remain there for some time to rest.

She with three other school teachers, had planned to spend the summer at the inn and were to return about September 1 to resume their duties of teaching.

They were all asleep in their room when the cry of fire was heard. She awoke and awakened the other girls and led them through the corridors to the open.

Tells Her Story.
"There was a little confusion as we were attempting to get out of our room," she said.

"I had snatched my mono from the place to the door. People on the other side of the door were pushing it.

MANCHESTER LEADS HAZINGS AT CAMP

Local Units Revival of "Woof-Woof" Tops Initiation Ceremonies.

(By Staff Correspondent.)
Camp Trumbull, Niantic, July 16.—With initiation ceremonies now a thing of the past, the soldiers of the 150th Infantry were ready today to settle down to real business in preparation for the strenuous work confronting them during the final ten days of the annual encampment which reaches its peak next Wednesday when Governor John H. Trumbull will come here to review the troops.

The soldiers are now content to think chiefly of their work in the morning, athletic competition in the afternoon and dances or sleep in the evening. Hitherto, each evening has been practically replete with initiations.

Hazings Reach Peak.
Last evening the hazings rose to their supreme heights. Almost everyone of the companies in the regiment held special sessions. Rookies were forced to undergo all sorts of hazings but they took to them like a duck takes to water.

Of course they knew there was no alternative, but nevertheless, it must be said in their behalf that they took their medicine in a manner which seemed to indicate that they liked it. It is just this kind of spirit, that of being willing to give and take, that makes the boys such worthy representatives of Uncle Sam.

Woof Woof Revival.
While several other companies were gathering their rookies together, stripping them with tar, in some instances, covered them with feathers in a manner which they liked it.

The elder Morse is staying at the home of his sister, Miss Jennie R. Morse, where Mrs. Morse died.

CHAOS IN AIR HERE, JUST AS HOOVER SAID

Wave Length Jumpers Grab Right and Length—Labor and Pulpit Stations Are Among Offenders.

New York, July 16.—Herbert Hoover's predictions of chaos in the ether, as a result of the Department of Justice ruling a week ago stripping him of power to enforce his rules of the air for broadcasting stations, have begun to materialize.

Radio stations that have been dissatisfied with the wave lengths formerly allocated to them are jumping to new pastures where meters and kilocycles are more to their taste, and there is nothing the Department of Commerce can do about it.

A check up last night showed that six local broadcasters have either switched to new wave lengths or indicated their intention to do so.

Four have increased their power, and one new station has demanded and received a license because no one longer has the authority to refuse such demands.

This despite the fact that the "saturation point" long ago was reached in the American broadcasting field and 600 requests for licenses to meet his father as he had heard he was to be liberated today.

Seek Higher Wave Lengths.
Failure to enact either of two bills presented at the last session to handle adequately the increasingly difficult problem of radio broadcasting in this country combines with the Department of Justice's ruling to create the present impasse.

No method of relieving the situation, except by self-regulation of those concerned or recourse to processes of law ordinarily sought by persons who feel their rights have been encroached upon, is in sight until Congress convenes again next December.

Defection in all cases has been from low to higher wave lengths. Stations which have worried along at the bottom of the broadcasting band of 200 to 545 meters because many receiving sets could not pick up programs transmitted on the low wave, have welcomed the opportunity to get their antennae up in the world and be heard.

Jumpers.
New York stations to obey the impulse toward higher wave-lengths include WBNY, at the Hotel Roosevelt, WMSG, Madison Square Garden, WBNY, at No. 145 West 45th Street, and WBBR, at Rossville, S. L., the broadcasting station of the People's Pulpit Association.

Names of those whose permits are not yet complete were not disclosed. A new broadcasting license was granted yesterday to Peter Prince, a Flushing radio dealer, to operate at 1,320 kilocycles and a 227.1 meter wave-length.

Prince's application was the first to be received at the headquarters of the Second Radio District, in the Sub-Treasury Building, since the new ruling by the Department of Justice, Arthur Batcheller, United States supervisor in charge, said. Mr. Batcheller also took occasion to deny an announcement by WBNY that this station's change of wave-length was made with the full sanction of the Department of Commerce, through Arthur Batcheller, radio inspector of the second district.

There are, or were before the Attorney General stripped Secretary Hoover of his radio authority, about 560 broadcasting stations in the United States. Some 600 others wanted licenses to operate but were kept on the waiting list because the atmosphere already was saturated with radio.

Chicago Air Bulging.
Despatches from Chicago last night said the radio congestion there had been made worse by the granting of three more broadcasting licenses under the new suspension of rules. There are now about twenty broadcasters in that city as compared to thirty-seven here.

One of the latest arrivals in the Chicago field is WCPN, the Chicago Federation of Labor station, which is located in one of the towers of the Municipal Pier. Having no wave length of its own, WCPN pre-empted that of WEAJ, the American Telephone and Telegraph station here, and has announced its intention of putting out programs as long as the air is free in America.

Zenth Is Hit.
An ironic twist is given to the present situation by the fact that the Zenth station, WJAZ, which seized a wave length assigned to ACND and precipitated all the trouble by beating the Department of Commerce's suit, is now in wave-length collision with WBNY of New York. The latter station got tired of its original 210 meters and pulled itself up the scale to 322 with a fine disregard for the fact that it was "pirating" on the original jumper of allocated wave lengths. It is not expected that WJAZ will get much sympathy, either from the public or from the courts.

AFTER THE CATSKILL HOLOCAUST

A score of persons were killed and 22 injured when fire destroyed the famous old Twilight Inn in the Catskill Mountains at Haines Falls, N. Y. Most of the injured were guests who jumped from windows of the upper floors when they found themselves trapped by the flames.

SOKOLOSKI QUILTS JAIL SUNDAY A. M.

"King of Homestead Park" to Finish Sentence—Story of the Crime.

Word from the Hartford County jail this afternoon verified the rumor prevalent in town that Frank Sokoloski, "The King of Homestead Park" will be freed on Sunday morning. It is expected that Sokoloski will return to his home on Homestead street and continue his farm work. His eldest son is in town. He came here expecting to meet his father as he had heard he was to be liberated today.

History of Crime.
As will be remembered, Sokoloski was given a year's jail sentence for the murder of his wife at the Memorial hospital. According to the wife's deathbed statement, she and her husband had had a quarrel in which he beat her and threw her down a flight of stairs in their home in Homestead Park. She was taken to the hospital where she lingered for about ten days before she died from the effects of her injuries.

The trial was a brief one. He had been bound over to the superior court where he was sentenced to a year's imprisonment. Visitors there said that at times he appeared as if out of his mind because of the odd stories he told. However, the jail physicians pronounced him sane and he was compelled to finish serving his sentence.

The charge of manslaughter was the culmination of a series of court cases that kept the local officials busy off and on for years. There was hardly a month that "The King" was not arrested either on the complaint of his wife or his neighbors. He was always quarreling with persons of his own nationality. He is a German Pole.

Guarded Property.
Strange to say, his Italian and American neighbors said that he was never in any trouble and always was very polite to them. The feud with his neighbors became so acute years ago that he surrounded his property with a palisade, high, sharp-pointed poles, after the fashion of early American settlers guarding their homes from attacks by Indians.

It is estimated that in the past six or seven years, Sokoloski spent almost every cent he earned in hiring lawyers and in paying court fines. He was an industrious man and worked practically day and night on his little farm. He gathered garbage and raised pigs besides chickens and a great variety of vegetables and fruit. There is a splendid orchard on his place filled with fruit this summer.

HERALD
"Out at Noon"

NO 'CAL AND AL' PICTURES; NAY

Pictures of Cal and Pictures of Al, Yes; But Together? No, No, No, No, Also No.

White Pines Camp, N. Y., July 16.—Al Smith, wet and Democratic, is lurching with Calvin Coolidge, dry and Republican, today, but the public will never know about it photographically.

Pictures of New York's popular governor arriving at White Pines Camp? Certainly. Pictures of the governor and the president together? No.

That is the edict on today's meeting of the two outstanding personalities for 1928, as delivered by President Coolidge in person.

Mr. Coolidge inspected the Marine camp, included in his summer establishment, last Thursday for the benefit of the photographers. Following the event, one of the middle men approached the executive and inquired about the prospects of getting a picture today of him and his distinguished guest.

"I don't see how it can be done," retorted Mr. Coolidge sharply, and, upon being pressed, repeated the statement several times.

Why "it can't be done" is a mystery to both photographers and newspapermen who have accompanied the presidential party north.

ANDREWS IS DRY DESPITE THE HOCK

Britain Offers Finest of Wines to U. S. Prohibition Conferees at Luncheon.

London, July 16.—General Andrews, American prohibition director, and other American delegates to the prohibition conferences now being held here, are practicing teetotalism.

The British government today entertained General Andrews and his colleagues at luncheon at Claridges. The wine cellars of Claridges are famous and from these cellars were brought the finest, tall lean bottles of hock and claret.

EAST SIDER EATS VERMONT'S FISH

Coolidge and Al Smith Meet for First Time Over Trout the President Caught.

White Pines Camp, N. Y., July 16.—Governor "Al" Smith of New York, sat at the summer White House table today and partook of regal trout taken from the waters of the Rockefeller preserve.

The Democratic governor of New York called at the summer White House officially to welcome President Coolidge to the empire state. He stayed for a Friday luncheon, the piece de resistance of which was brook trout, for which the president had expressly egged fishing yesterday.

Meet for First Time
It was the first time the boy who grew up on the east side had ever met the boy who was raised on a Vermont farm.

Accompanying the governor was Mrs. Smith who extended a similar welcome to Mrs. Coolidge and also presented to the First Lady a fishing license so she will not run afoul of the law.

The governor's official party arrived at Paul Smith's this morning by motor and immediately retired to their five-room suite to "clean up" for the luncheon engagement.

Included in the motor caravan that brought Smith and his wife to White Pines were Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith, Jr., Miss Catherine Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bloch, the former being Democratic leader of the assembly; Major John A. Warner, superintendent of state police, and Mrs. Warner. Dr. Leonard Saratoga, commissioner of public safety, and Mrs. Leonard; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winchester and William A. Humphrey.

The entire party will remain at Paul Smith's until Monday to enable the governor and his escort to play the golf courses hereabouts.

LODGE SPENDS DAY AT COVENTRY LAKE

Eighty Members of Chapman Court With Their Families Enjoy Outing.

Eighty of the members of Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth and members of their families attended the outing held yesterday afternoon and evening at the Henry Morgan cottage at Coventry lake. Royal Matron Mrs. J. L. Winterbottom had appointed committees to look after each detail of the picnic, and it was such a success, and everybody had such an enjoyable time, the ladies hope to make it an annual affair.

MEXICAN PRESIDENT PUT UNDER BAN BY POPE

Churchmen May End Coal Strike

British Miners Conditionally Accept Proposal Made by Ecclesiastics.

Mexico City, July 16.—President Calles and every member of his Cabinet have been excommunicated from the Catholic church, the newspaper El Imparcial stated today.

The papal decree, the newspaper added, forbids Catholics to have dealings of any kind with the officials under the ban, thus seriously handicapping Mexican church leaders who are striving to modify the regulations of church activities recently issued.

The ecclesiastical peace proposals provide for a return of the men to work at their old wages and hours, the government to continue the subsidy to the operators for four months, and future wage scales to be worked out in the meantime by arbitration.

MRS. HEMMING TO BRING A LOVE SUIT

Says She Will Sue L. S. Griffing for Breach of Promise; His Guards Arrested.

Winsted, July 16.—Mrs. Marion Hemming will sue Louis S. Griffing of Hartford for breach of promise. Such is the statement issued here today by the woman who for three days was besieged in a Highland Lake cottage by a Hartford detective agency, ostensibly at the order of Mr. Griffing.

Just when the suit will be started and who is to be Mrs. Hemming's attorney in the case, she would not say today, but Samuel A. Herman, coroner for Litchfield county, represented her during the recent episode of the siege.

Re-established.
Residents of the lake colony recoiled at the news that had been placed over the windows by Mr. Griffing's detective force, and things seemed to have returned to normal.

This is all due to the fact that four detectives, headed by Robert W. Bridgman, former state police chief of a Hartford detective agency, attempted to storm the cottage in the interest of Griffing and were promptly arrested by Patrolman Waldo S. Heath of Winsted on a breach of the peace warrant signed by Judge Howd of the Winchester town clerk.

They are to have a hearing tomorrow. Mrs. Hemming says she has a right to the cottage because Griffing promised to give it to her if she would marry him.

TO ELIMINATE BERLIN DEATH TRAP CROSSING

Utilities Board Orders Wiping Out of Record Breaking Grade Accident Source.

Hartford, July 16.—The Public Utilities Commission today issued an order approving the state's plans to eliminate Beckley's Crossing, Berlin and apportioned the expense as follows: New Haven rail road $38,250, town of Berlin $3,500, State of Connecticut $58,250.

BIGGEST FENCE IN N. Y. HISTORY IS UNCOVERED

"Export" Concern, With Many Employes, Receiver of Truck Loot—Three Under Arrest, More Coming.

New York, July 16.—Three men were arrested early today in what police assert is the biggest roundup of receivers of stolen goods in the city's history.

A squad of detectives raided 49 Crosby street, almost in the shadow of police headquarters, seized the three men, Samuel Greenbaum, 42; Israel Davis, 22, and Charles Karen, 39, and goods valued at $325,000.

Agents of insurance companies identified $200,000 worth of the goods as the proceeds of recent truck hold-ups.

Operations Nation-Wide.
Detectives declared that the operations were nation-wide, and predicted further arrests here and in other cities in various parts of the country.

The prisoners were taken to headquarters to be questioned. Officials of insurance companies said the loss sustained yearly from truck hold-ups exceeded $1,000,000 in New York alone.

A complete replacing plant was found in the raided building. On the door was the sign "Export Packing Corporation." According to the police, the stolen merchandise was turned directly over to the packing corporation by the truck bandits.

The company has a large number of employees who are being questioned. The police say that when the stolen goods were received these employees immediately removed all labels that might identify the property.

Sense Identified.
Among the merchandise identified was a consignment valued at $50,000, said to have been taken by seven bandits during a hold-up of a truck at Bordentown, Pa., on July 11.

The authorities intimated that among those who will be arrested shortly are several wealthy business men.

MRS. TALCOTT DEAD; MOTHER OF SENATOR

Passes Away Peacefully at Her Home in Talcottville— Was Active in Church Affairs.

Mrs. H. Maria Talcott, widow of Charles Denison Talcott, died at her home in Talcottville yesterday afternoon at 4:15. Mrs. Talcott, although in frail health for several years, was able to go out occasionally for automobile rides until a month ago, since when she had been confined to her room.

Mrs. Talcott received her early education in the schools of Mansfield and was graduated from Mt. Holyoke College. She later became a successful teacher and taught in the Rockville High school.

Mrs. Talcott was beloved not only by the people of Talcottville but by all who knew her. For many years she was an active member of the Talcottville Congregational church. She sang in the church choir and taught a class in the Sunday school. She was greatly interested in home and foreign missions, was president of the Missionary Society connected with the church and was at one time vice-president of the Hartford Branch of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and for four years was regent of Orford Parish Chapter, D. A. R., of Manchester.

COSTS SIX MILLIONS TO RUN NEW HAVEN CITY

Treasury Balance

New Haven, July 16.—The cost of running New Haven in 1927 will total about six million dollars, according to city officials who are sending their estimates for the next year to the board of finance. Departments of schools, fire and police require the bulk of the money, the schools asking $2,700,000; the police $838,000 and the firemen $794,000. It is understood that the estimates will be reduced but slightly when the board of finance has acted on them.

TREASURY BALANCE.
Washington, July 16.—Treasury balance as of July 14: $211,485,073.12.

The regular meeting of Manchester L. O. L., No. 99, has been postponed from tonight to Tuesday evening of next week. At that time reports of the delegates to the supreme grand lodge in Philadelphia will be heard.

DOLL PARADE WAS MARKED SUCCESS

Over 100 Parents at North End See Kiddies' Triumphs; Six Prize Winners.

Despite yesterday's threatening skies, more than one hundred parents and friends came to the North End playground, where the youngsters put on their first Doll and Carriage parade that also included scooters and carts. Long before the appointed hour of two o'clock the time for the scheduled event, the contestants were on the grounds eager and waiting.

During a delay in starting the activity Director Washburn took the opportunity of addressing the audience on the subject and direction of playground activities with an educational background, illustrating by the Doll and Carriage parade the facts of the child's making of doll clothes its selection of things the doll shall do in the child's "Land of Make Believe" and the one hundred and one things that go into the child's character that in later years become prevalent in the mother of reality.

Mr. Washburn stressed the points of the child's need of play out of doors, the contact with other children, the lesson of "fair play," unselfishness and the sharpening of the mental, moral and physical fiber as well as putting into the character of the child the proper foundation for building a firm and sound character.

At 2:30 all contestants were formed in line and slowly marched past the audience and judges. The spectators expressed their judgment by applause while the judges gathered later and carefully scrutinized each entry.

The judges committee, consisting of Mrs. William Vitner, Miss Helen Moriarty, Mrs. Ralph Rockwell and Mrs. Ethel Melendy, announced the prize winners as follows:

Best Decorated Carriage, Lillian Leist.
Prettiest Doll, Dorothy Foley.
Best Decorated Scooter, George Graziano, Jr.
Finniest Costume, Stella Polinski, Angelina Bellinski.
Prettiest Costume, Margery Napoli.

W. B. LEEDS RESCUED IN BOATING ACCIDENT

New York, July 16.—It was regarded as virtually certain today that one of three men saved from a floundering speed boat, the Alcaza, off Welfare Island last night, was William B. Leeds, heir to the "Tin Plate Millions" and husband of Princess Xenia of Greece.

Leeds disappeared shortly after the accident and could not be reached. Chauffeurs in the garage on Welfare Island heard cries on the river and rescued the men.

The Alcaza was a gift from young Leeds to his wife, Princess Xenia.

REC MEMBERSHIP TAKES BIG JUMP

Over 1,000 Now Belong; Rand Under Appropriation Last Year.

A decided jump in membership and widening of the range of activities, especially on the women's side, is reported by the Recreation Committee of the Ninth School district for the year ending July 1, 1926. Membership, according to the report was at its lowest in 1924-1925 but showed a great increase, the total members enrolled this year being 1,018.

In addition to this, the centers ran under their appropriation by more than $600. This is unusual for it is rarely that the two buildings and the playgrounds are run at anything but a loss. Last year this was considerable but the revenue from special classes in the buildings helped to bring about the gain this year.

Following is the report in full: Faced with a gradually decreasing membership list which had reached its lowest point during the year 1924-1925, the Recreation centers underwent a revival of interest especially among the women during the past year. A total of 1,018 members was enrolled in the Recreation Centers from July 1, 1925 to July 1 of this year. The aggregate attendance for the year which reached 60,648, represents members of the Recreation Centers only and does not take into consideration the large number of non-members who participated in activities not sponsored or conducted by the organization.

Various Activities Activities under trained leadership were carried on at the two playgrounds during the summer weeks for people of all ages from kindergarten children to adults. In addition to the playground work, work-working classes were carried on in the Barnard school for the summer weeks under the supervision of Henry Miller, instructor in sloyd for the Ninth District schools.

While the weather was not at all the best for swimming last summer, the attendance at Globe Hollow aggregated nearly 60,000. Lifeguard was constantly in attendance and swimming instruction was given at certain hours.

Swimming Classes Swimming classes for girls of grade school age were conducted during the summer at the Recreation Center pool three times a week without charge to the pupils. The average attendance at these classes was 70, divided into three groups classified as beginners, intermediates and advanced swimmers.

The past winter brought with it a marked increase in the number of women's activities conducted at the school street building. Enrollment in the women's gymnastic and dancing classes was 197 and the average weekly attendance was 137. There were 2 tons of classes conducted from October 5 to May 15 and each ten ended with an exhibition which gave the public an idea of the fine type of instruction being given. These exhibitions were run at a profit, although there was a large expense involved in costumes for the dance numbers. Capacity audiences witnessed both exhibitions. Classes in folk and classical dancing were held for girls of grade school age and both these groups took part in the exhibitions.

Gymnasium Popular The gymnasium at the School street building was continually in use during the winter for basketball and volley ball practice, for

The Herald basketball league sponsored by the local paper and for the High school basketball team. The Trade school basketball team used the gym one afternoon each week for its games. Classes in tumbling and boxing for men were held in the little gym twice weekly during the winter.

Swimming classes conducted throughout the year enrolled 175 women. This enrollment represents those who attended regular instruction classes and does not take into account the women who patronized the pool during the regular periods. The total attendance at plunges for women was 3,678 and for men 1,941. The men, however, patronized the shower baths more than twice as much as the women, the total men's shower baths reaching 15,841. Not all of these were taken by Recreation Center members as many of them were paid for at non-member rates.

Six Recreation Center bowling leagues totaling 32 teams were organized at both buildings. These leagues were run in several rounds which kept the teams on the alleys from late fall to early spring.

New Organization A new organization, the Town Players, similar to other units in the Little Theatre Movement, was started by the Recreation Center, numbering in its ranks 71 members, 46 of whom took active part in the productions. Principal among the activities of the dramatic club was the presentation of "Her Husband's Wife," which was given to a packed house in the State Theater for the benefit of the Educational club milk fund for the Open Air schools. Several one-act plays were given by the club in the Recreation building and in other places in Manchester during the year.

Directors of the Recreation Centers cooperated with churches and other organizations in planning and carrying out recreational programs. Equipment was loaned and programs planned for outings, etc.

Entertainments in the form of card parties were especially popular at the West Side this winter. Four parties were held each week with an average weekly attendance of 195.

Band Concerts Band concerts proved to be a form of recreation which appealed to large groups. Six were held at the West Side during the summer. The average attendance numbered 2,800.

Moving pictures, of an educational character, were shown weekly at the Nathan Hale school and at Cheney hall. The aggregate attendance was 5,444.

It is the purpose of the Recreation Committee to continue to provide healthful supervised recreation to an increasing number of children and adults through a well organized year round recreation system and to make possible the use of the recreation facilities for the benefit of the largest number.

FIREMEN NEAR DEATH FROM GAS DURING BLAZE New York, July 16.—Five firemen were overcome and forty persons fled down fire escapes early today when flowing gas added to the menace of a $20,000 fire in a five story brick building in Brooklyn. The firemen, found unconscious in the basement, were carried to the street and revived.

BROADWAY GUN BATTLELIES FROM COP'S SHOTS New York, July 16.—Glen Miller, of Buffalo, N. Y., died in P. A. clinic hospital early today from bullet wounds received in his first excursion into banditry last Wednesday night when he attempted to "stick up" a Broadway restaurant during the theatre rush hour.

Catlin's

Open For Business Monday, July 16, 1926

Mr. Catlin, formerly Service Manager for the Manchester Motor Sales Co., for nearly two years servicing Hupmobiles, Oaklands and Federal-Knight Trucks, and for the past ten months service manager for the Depot Square Service Station, repairing all makes of cars, has now opened a Repair Garage at 39 Hudson Street, formerly known as Gibson's Garage, Hudson Street. I shall run a strictly cash repair shop but will give Honest Work at Honest Prices. A place for people who like good work done, to bring their automobile troubles to.

I am starting in a small way but shall do my best to satisfy the automobile public. All work will be done or supervised by me personally, and all work Guaranteed as represented.

I will be pleased to meet all of my old patrons as well as the new ones. I am only a little ways from Main street but shall try and make it worth while for those who give me a chance to do their automobile repair work. If I satisfy, tell others; if I don't, tell me and I will try and make you satisfied. I have had eighteen years' experience in the automobile business, and feel that if you give me a trial you will not be sorry.

I do not sell gasoline but Repair Automobiles. I have taken the agency for Manchester for that (Best by Test)—

Kendall Motor Oils and Greases

100 Per Cent. Pure Pennsylvania Oil.

You do not have to change your oil so often.

Will Repair All Makes of Automobiles But Will Specialize on Hupmobiles and Oaklands.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

BY AUSTIN H. CLARK

Curator U. S. National Museum

Somewhere about ten million years ago, says Charles W. Gilmore of the National Museum, a branch of the Smithsonian Institution, that part of North America known as the Rocky Mountain region was inhabited by a race of strange reptiles known as dinosaurs.

There were many kinds of dinosaurs, but none was more formidable in appearance than the one here shown, the armored dinosaur known in scientific circles by the name of Stegosaurus stenops.

Outward appearance does not always disclose the character of the inner man. According to Mr. Gilmore, the same is true among the dinosaurs. In spite of his ugly exterior, the teeth of this great dinosaur disclose the fact that he was a plant-eating creature, and therefore not so ferocious as perhaps he looks.

Furthermore, the small size of the brain, hardly larger than a man's clenched fist, indicates the stupid, dull nature of the brute.

The most striking feature of Stegosaurus is the large bony plates that stand erect in rows along either side of the midline of the back. These are outgrowths of the skin and have no connection with the interior skeleton. They are comparable with the bony plates found lying in the skin of the crocodile and alligator of the present day.

The largest of these plates, above the hips, were two feet in height and length and not more than an inch in thickness except at the base, where they were enlarged and roughened to give a firm hold to the thick skin in which they were embedded.

In life these plates were doubtless covered by a horny skin.

In the picture you can see that the end of the tail was provided with two pairs of bony spikes when in some kinds reached a length of more than three feet. They were swung by a tail 8 to 10 feet long, and as a visitor was once heard to remark, one wouldn't like to be about such an animal in fly time.

As dinosaurs go, the Stegosaurus was not an exceptionally large animal, although full grown individuals sometimes reached a length of more than 20 feet and a height to the top of the tallest plate above the hips of nearly 10 feet.

The remains of this kind of dinosaur have been found in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and South Dakota and close relatives are known from England, France and Africa.

THE STORY OF EDGAR ALLAN POE (4)

After Helen's death, Poe's next sentimental attachment was with Sarah Elmira Royster, his young neighbor. In this affection for Sarah, who was a girl of 16, Poe found solace for the grief caused by Helen's death.

Sarah's father used to intercept Poe's letters because he did not like their poetic tone. He forbade his daughter to see Poe.

Sarah was married at the age of 17, and young Poe was left poetically disconsolate again.

In 1825 Mr. Allan came into the fortune of an uncle. It is believed that Poe's spendthrift habits began from that time. Poe so abused his guardian's new wealth that Mr. Allan soon took him to task. Poe was prepared by tutors for entrance in the University of Virginia, and Feb. 14, he began his new duties there. (Continued.)

TOBACCO ASSOCIATION'S HEAD MAKES ENCOURAGING REPORT

As at May 31, 1926, the 1925 Havana seed (Exclusive of New Mill) situation is as follows: Pounds Delivered 6,716,926. Net Per Pound Amount to Member (Cents) $1,818,020.30. .2706

President Joseph W. Alsop of the Connecticut Valley Tobacco Association has submitted his fourth annual report to the members of the association, giving a resume of the sales, finances fire losses, changes and prospects for the future. The report is in considerable detail and is of great interest to members of the association.

The report voices regret that the tobacco raisers who through the association had received credit for hail premiums due insurance companies, though had they suffered a loss would have expected liberal settlement.

Sales of 1925 Havana seed tobacco still unsold. As to overproduction of tobacco, President Alsop referred to the study made by the Connecticut Agricultural College on New England tobacco production over a period of years and published last November. This bulletin No. 134, 1923, shows that the total production of tobacco in New England in 1923 was 20 per cent too high and that owing to this over-production an accumulated surplus of tobacco of approximately one year's supply had resulted.

This left the association in a rather unpleasant position. Naturally manufacturers assumed a waiting position. Business had not been brisk and they felt assured that the surplus of tobacco would be held by the association and dealers. The association owed large amounts of money on both the 1923 and 1924 crops, and only two courses were open a drastic cut of the 1926 acreage or to liquidate inventories of old tobacco immediately.

WANTED—Male dog, collar and chain, no license tag. Part collie, $2 Bigelow street.

Scarlet Fever's Hand

BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING
Surgeon General, United States
Public Health Service.

Scarlet fever is essentially a disease of childhood though it is not confined to this age. It is most prevalent in temperate climates but may occur, though with much less frequency, in the tropics. In general, the death rates from scarlet fever are higher in the northern states than in those of the south. Scarlet fever is usually contracted by direct personal contact with persons suffering from the disease, indirectly by contact with articles freshly soiled by secretions (discharges) from the nose and throat of infected persons, or through milk which has been contaminated through milking, or the handling of milk by persons, who, while not disabled, or suffering from the disease, or are sufficiently recovered from an attack to be at work, but who are still capable of conveying the infection.

Some cases of scarlet fever are so mild as to go unrecognized, and these "missed" cases help to spread the disease. Most cases and deaths from scarlet fever occur in children under school age, though the disease is uncommon in infants before the seventh month. When scarlet fever does occur in infants it is usually quite severe, and the younger the child the more dangerous the disease, as a rule.

Two very important complications that are apt to occur in scarlet fever are middle ear disease, which may result in deafness, and acute inflammation of the kidneys.

The chart shows the deaths in the United States from scarlet fever, per 100,000 population.

which may develop even in a mild case and after the patient is apparently well.

Quite recently new discoveries have been made in the study of scarlet fever, which promise to lead to improved methods in diagnosis, in treatment, and in the prevention of this disease. The accompanying chart shows the trend of scarlet fever in the original registration area of the United States during recent years.

C. E. HOUSE & SON, INC.,
IN BUSINESS 73 YEARS

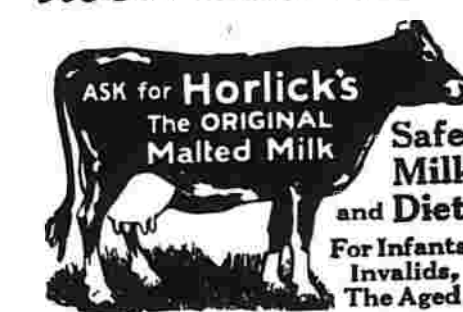

Unusual Event Being Celebrated by a Great Sale of Clothing, Furnishings and Shoes.

Comparatively few business ventures survive to celebrate their 73rd anniversary. This unusual event becomes a reality today at the store of C. E. House & Son, Inc., and is being celebrated by a sale of unusual magnitude.

The House store has, through all its years, borne an excellent reputation for the quality of its merchandise and many of its patrons wait for these periodical sales, knowing that they will get exceptional values for their money. This will hold true in the 73rd anniversary sale which includes at sharply cut prices the store's entire stock, and that means a wonderful assortment. Particulars are given in the full page advertisement elsewhere in today's Herald.

FARM "MONOPOLIES."

The affairs of the Connecticut Valley Tobacco Association are the business of its members and not of the public, and no one outside that body is in any position to judge of its methods or to give useful advice concerning its management.

"Perhaps one underlying trouble from the start has been that a large proportion of our membership joined the association," says Mr. Alsop, "not from any genuine desire for true co-operation or to build up a stable business, but more with the idea that through control of the product a monopoly could be set up by which the law of supply and demand could be set aside and their business become an exceedingly profitable one."

Whether it is possible to overcome this tendency, which perhaps is the upgrowth of generations of the New England theory that every tub should stand on its own bottom, remains yet to be seen. The Connecticut Valley Tobacco Association, as the principal pioneer in the experiment, is making a good fight in that direction.

MORSE.

It is hard to understand why they will not let Charles W. Morse alone. For twenty years or thereabouts this man has been a target for prosecution by this, that or the other branch of the federal government, and some day the true inwardness of it all will be made public, perhaps.

In the beginning Morse violated the banking laws by permitting over-certification on the accounts of some of the stock speculating customers of his trust company. Half the big banks in New York and almost all of those in the Wall Street district were doing the same thing, but none of the others was prosecuted.

Some months ago United States Attorney Emory Buckner at New York moved the dismissal of a batch of musty indictments against Morse, his three sons and 16 other persons on a stock-fraud charge.

hood home in Bath. But if he doesn't show up in the New York court room in the middle of July his bond of $20,000 will be called—and likely enough a United States marshal will be sent to Maine to drag him to trial after all.

Everybody who ever knew Morse knows that he is not the criminal type. If in his enthusiasm for fortune-building he transgressed the letter of the law it was in ways that were as common as violations of the Volstead act.

Morse cannot always be defended on high moral grounds. But just the same there are a hundred bits of evidence that he is the victim of spite in high place. He has never been forgiven by certain financial interests in New York for breaking into their game there without asking their permission and letting them in on his deals gratis.

Have those interests had influence enough in the department of justice, through successive administrations, to instigate the persistent hounding of this one individual to the edge of the grave itself? It would seem so.

As this is being written news come of the death of the wife who has been Morse's faithful champion during all the years of his vicissitudes. But this new calamity will probably bring no softening of the hearts of his enemies.

STUPID.

A curious atom of news comes from the investigation of the S-51 disaster by the Board of Inquiry which is now taking the evidence obtained through inspection of the resuscitated submarine. This is it: "A witness started to testify to statements made to him by survivors that at one time the engines had been stopped during the run. This testimony was not admissible, being hearsay evidence."

It is almost inconceivable that the red tape of courts should so infect the processes of discovering the cause of a naval accident that perfectly relevant testimony should be deliberately rejected by a board of inquiry for no better reason than that its admission might conflict with the practices of a civil tribunal.

What on earth have provisions created for the safeguarding of a defendant in a court case to do with getting at the facts in an accident inquiry where there is no defendant at all. In this navy hearing nobody is on trial; there is no person in peril whose interests must be meticulously protected.

The hearing is being held for the sole purpose of learning what happened in the S-51 disaster, presumably for the guidance of future submarine operation. Yet when an intelligent submarine officer attempts to cast a little light on the subject in hand by informing the board as to what he had ascertained, he is stopped by a warning hand and told that that august body cannot listen to hearsay evidence.

If it isn't the height of stiffness what is it?

CAILLAUX.

What Belgium has done in the erection of a dictatorship with the king as dictator seems to be hourly becoming a more imminent prospect in France, with Caillaux sitting in the master's chair. The franc is down to a valuation of less than a fortieth of a dollar and still going.

Stabilization must come in France, sooner or later, and the sooner it comes the smaller will be the losses taken by the commercial classes and by industry. That country is not going to follow the example of Germany and wipe out the fortunes of other fortunes by gamblers—the wealth of the country is too widely distributed for that, and too great a proportion of the people would be hit.

The French people have never yet failed themselves in a crisis. They are not likely to fall themselves in this one. They will swallow Caillaux, whom they do not like, very much sooner than they will break themselves on the rocks of continued currency depreciation and inflation.

DUELLO.

The movie men and the promoters of sports in this country are overlooking a splendid opportunity. In Poland, in Italy and even in parts of Germany the duello seems to have come back into its own with a bang—two or three bangs. There is one Italian who has so many challenges on his hands that it is going to take the decision of a "court of honor" to frame a schedule of his dates to kill or be killed. Polish palaces are fairly ringing with the sither of rapiers.

Now few of these European gallants are fixed to leave their families very well off if by chance any of their duels should prove fatal. Over here there is plenty of cash but no duello.

Why not offer the parties in interest in each of these affairs a whacking big purse, hire the Levathan and stage their battles in a series outside the twelve mile limit, running ferries to the ship?

Such a show ought to draw big crowds. And it ought to justify an admission charge of—well, say ten cents.

ST. SWITHIN.

In the excitement over Coolidge going fishing, poor old St. Swithin was sadly overlooked yesterday. It is one thousand and sixty-four years since the saint passed in his checks, and one thousand and sixty-three since his body was removed for re-burial, that grim event being held up for forty days by continuous rainfall. Since then the superstition has held that rain on St. Swithin's day meant a month and ten days of downpour.

That is a good enough yarn to feed to people in England and Scotland, where they really do have rain, but no kind of a ballyhoo for New England consumption. In the first place it never rains for forty days in this neck of the woods, and if it were going to it wouldn't start in on the fifteenth of July. And in the next place we need about forty days rain. If you can beat that combination for knocking a tradition in the bezer, let us know.

IN NEW YORK

New York, July 15.—See-sawing up and down Broadway I find the chorus girls most fetching in their new coats of sumburn. And due to this season's scantiness of costumes, one producer, I am told, has issued orders that if they must get tanned at the beach to distribute the coat over their entire bodies in so far as possible.

Saw a most ingenious new motor coach parked near Times Square. Making trips between New York and Connecticut during lunch and dinner hours, it has a little built-in "diner" of four tables. Soon they'll have Pullman sleepers, I doubt not.

Saw a very agile new electric sign in the constellation of the "gray white way." It depicts the dancing figure of an electric peanut.

But for a "visiting fireman" I never should have noticed it. Few New Yorkers can tell you without due notice, what the bright light signs of Broadway depict. Fewer still notice the frequent changes. But the visitors from the "sticks" know them "by heart."

On the skeleton of a fast rising Broadway building are two huge electric signs. Obviously they must interfere with the operation of the contractor. Yet they are not taken down because the licenses for them could not be again secured and it is considered better business to interfere somewhat with construction than lose the bright light location.

Saw a new store at 42nd Street and Sixth Avenue which rents for $300 per square foot. Yes, the owner of the building is a millionaire. And will continue to be.

Saw James Mackey, the sedate traffic cop at Fifth Avenue and 47th Street in the heart of the fashionable shopping belt. And he was telling a tourist not to expect basement sales in that neighborhood. Jim, it seems, is supposed to have read all the ads in the morning newspapers and is asked many times a day "where the best sale is."

Saw Broadway music stores displaying ukuleles. This modern Hawaiian instrument, it appears suddenly has taken on heroic proportions, thanks to the fact that one of the sailors on Commander Byrd's ship sneaked his pet "uke" aboard the plane in which Byrd circled the pole.

Saw "Sergeant Charley," now retired on the income earned from shining the police department's shoes. For fifty years Charley was the official police station boot-black. He decided to quit when he reached the age of 70. Starting as a lad Charley decided he had a "soft berth," was sure of a good living and rather easy work. He says he's lived well and had a good time and he couldn't have done any more than that had he been a millionaire.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS BY CHARLES P. STEWART. Washington, July 15.—While Senator Richard P. Ernst of Kentucky never has been a very original member of Congress, his constituents shouldn't get the impression that he hasn't worked hard for his wages during the six years he's been there.

plains Ernst, "that the first thing the Senate had to do was to kill them before making a start on this one. For instance, one of the house codes, by oversight, failed to provide for the navy, which couldn't have operated if that code had been adopted. Under the other, the South American republics would have had to agree on a single diplomatic representative, to look after all their interests in Washington, jointly. "Those are just examples."

DAILY POEM BRIDGE? Four women in our neighborhood sat down to bridge, one day, 'cause all of them, most likely, had the hunch they'd like to play. They drew to play the dealer, and, as soon as she was found, 'course she started nonchalantly tossin' playing cards around. Said player one, "I bid spades—I saw Miss Clark today. Her clothes were looking shabby. 'Course, she always looks that way." "Well—two no trumps," said player two. "Is that the Clark I know? I'll bet she had the same dress on, she wore two years ago."

Rain Calls Off Light-Heavy Fight; Will Meet Tonight

STORM AT EBBETTS FIELD TOO SEVERE TO ALLOW BERLENBACH-DELANEY SCRAP

Disappointed Thousands Receive Rain Checks for Tonight—Odds Remain as of Yesterday.

New York, July 16.—Rain which had fallen steadily most of the night, stopped about 9 o'clock today and the indications at that hour were that the Berlenbach-Delaney fight would take place tonight. Clouds still kept the sun out of sight but the weather man predicted that they would vanish during the day.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, July 16.—After a postponement of 24 hours, Paul Berlenbach and Jack Delaney will decide their fifteen round bout for the world's light-heavyweight championship tonight and my guess is that the delay, like a punch in the nose, will do Delaney practically no good at all. Jack was almost eight pounds under the champion when they weighed in yesterday. With the overnight gain, figuring the two men for what they are worth in this respect, Berlenbach will not be less than twelve pounds heavier tonight. It may not be enough but it surely will be plenty. The man who can figure to spot Paul Berlenbach twelve pounds extra is a scoundrel around with him, a la bar room, is a better man than you, Gunga Din.

Trained Too Fine
Another thing that will put Delaney strictly on scratch tonight is the fact that, according to gifted and observant sports men, he is not ready to go to work yet. When you are ready to go and don't, a terrible mistake has been made.

However, and be that as it might, the writer went out on a far limb in picking Delaney as a certain winner and he, the writer, will not back-track even at the expense of salvaging a reputation, if any. Jack is not as good a bet tonight as he was but he still is worth exactly one hundred pennies of any man's dollar.

His Mighty Right
Delaney has the right hand, the greatest in the game today, and Paul has that welcome jaw and when the twin shall meet—good night, Tosti.

However, the champion is no man's sap and, with his left to the body and his one-two to the jaw, has a debilitating effect on an opponent that is not readily laughed off, if ever. The fact remains, that, that he has not knocked out a first-class man since he adopted the profession of the many art of mutual murder. Therefore, the odds are all against his knocking out Jack Delaney, who either is a first-class man or Coolidge is a Democrat.

Paul's Weak Point
In the first place, Berlenbach, the writer has been in great labor to point out, must drop his left to hand that punch in the stomach—his most persuasive—when he is not his most persuasive—and once he does that, the dear old jaw will be as open as a saloon keeper's side door.

And there they are: the one with a great right hand that, seemingly, has a law just waiting for its caress. The other with left that dulls and stupefies, that lulls and etherizes. Like a soothing draught of mead.

The "house," thanks to the overnight delay, was said today to be an absolute sell-out of 45,000, the attendance having been limited by the fact that the fire department had a one-way neck. The boys drew up a beautiful prospectus for 60,000 but someone forgot to leave a gate at the end of the rainbow and, of course, there was no happiness, at least not for Mr. Humbert J. Fugazy, if possible.

ANOTHER TO TRY TO SWIM CHANNEL

Cape Gris Nez, France, July 16.—The cross-channel swimming camps here are at a white heat of rivalry.

Jabez Wolfe, the English trainer, declares that he has taken on the task of training Clara Belle Barrett of Pelham Wood for the sole purpose of demonstrating that his training efforts were not responsible for Miss Gertrude Ederle's failure last year. Wolfe hopes to have Miss Barrett in the water and across the channel within a fortnight.

Wolfe charges that the attacks made upon him by Miss Ederle last year caused him to lose the chance to train Miss Lillian Cannon of Baltimore, whose promoters have engaged the Dover shoemaker, Jack Wiedman, to train her.

Wiedman adds a little interest to the rivalry here by announcing that he is the man who trained William Burgess for his successful swim across the channel. Burgess who is training Miss Ederle, comes right back with a denial of Wiedman's statement and alleges that his success in swimming the channel was due to his own efforts.

There are many rumors of secret trials, much discussion of probable failures, and gossip galore between the rival camps.

CHANDLER REPEATS HIS 1925 TRIUMPH First Man in 31 Years to Win Collegiate Tennis Title Twice in a Row— Hails from Southern California.

BY ART CARLSON

Place the name of Eddie Chandler on the list of rare athletic heroes. Chandler, flashing the colors of the University of California successfully defended his intercollegiate tennis title at the University of California today. He was the first to turn the feat since Chace of Yale did it in 1895. Thirty years without a successful repeat! That's what makes Eddie Chandler a U. S. A. athlete. Crowns are hard to win nowadays, but much harder to retain.

Eddie Chandler

You might put Freddie Lamprecht of Tulane in the same class. The big southern fullback copped the intercollegiate golf title at Merion for the second straight season. Only once before had it been accomplished. In 1923 Dexter Cummings of Yale finished in front at Swanoy. The next year Jess Sweetser, winner of the recent British amateur, could only win the college wreath once, taking it in 1920 over the Apawamis course.

REMEMBER
Bill Hogenson of Chicago? Hogenson was a sprinter, a go and broad jumper. He was a sensation as a school boy while attending Lewis Institute. He was good for 15 points in virtually any competition. A much sought after young man, he maritulated at Chicago where he likewise starred, though he had to step some to live up to the great reputation he had established as a prep.

Syracuse and Wisconsin furnished the two big surprises at the recent Poughkeepsie regatta. Syracuse, picked to finish in the rear, started the experts by coming in a good third. Wisconsin, referred to as the "dark horse from the middle west," wound up seventh, the poorest performance a Badger crew ever made. Syracuse, on the other hand, did its best work since 1922, the year it landed third to Navy and Washington.

INTRODUCING—
Hugo Bezdek, former Chicago football star, Besedel was one of the best line-plunging fullbacks of his time. He played for Stagg back around 1903 when the names of Eckersall, Catlin, Speik, Parry and others were bywords around the Midway campus. Some years ago Bezdek took a whirl at managing the Pittsburgh Pirates but met

GREAT BATTLE ON FOR SEVENTH IN THIS LOOP

Syracuse and Reading are having a little battle all their own for seventh place in the International League. Reading, after getting away to a wretched start, has been crawling up on Syracuse during the last few weeks, and it wouldn't be surprising to see the former emerge from the cellar berth. Jersey City, sixth, has a lead of more than 100 points on the two last clubs.

It is foolhardy to try to pull or place hits when Walter Johnson is the opposing pitcher and going at top speed. It just can't be done with any degree of certainty. When Johnson was in his prime it was practically a physical impossibility. When an opposing pitcher has a world of stuff, simply hit straight away. In other words, make an attempt to hit the ball when it will be driven directly through the pitcher's box.

After all, under most conditions, the greatest open space in the field is the vacant territory between the positions assumed by the shortstop and second baseman. Great batters, also noted for their speed, have a distinct advantage in piling up base hits. My speed enabled me to turn in many a base hit that otherwise would have been an ordinary out.

The batsman who has speed can take a hint and then, after pulling in the third baseman on the can hit through him. Pick the ball you like best to hit. I often refuse to swing at a ball which I realize is going to be called a strike, simply because it is practically impossible for me to carry out my batting intent when swinging at such a ball. When you get a pitcher in the hole, never fail to take advantage of the situation. I am strong for hitting the "cripple." That is the baseball slang for the next ball pitched with the count two balls and no strikes.

The pitcher being in the hole, he must come over with the next ball. Most pitchers have a habit of cutting down on their stuff at such a time. In other words, the two and nothing ball, should be easier to hit because it isn't quite up to the pitcher's standard. Batters who take the next ball, if it is over the plate, and no count stands two balls and no strikes, seldom achieve much of a reputation as batsmen. In so doing, they let the pitcher crawl out of the hole his wildness has dug for him.

GOOCH OUT OF GAME

Pittsburgh, July 16.—Catcher Johnny Gooch will be out of the Pittsburgh Pirates line-up until next Monday because of his vigorous protest of Umpire Cy Rigler's decision at the plate during a game with the Giants recently. With the recall of Joe Cronin from the New Haven club to strengthen the Pirate infield, the Pirates must dispose of another player to come within the 25-player limit. Rumors were to the effect that Eddie Moore, Carson Bugbee or John Oldham will be released.

SECRETS OF STARS ON INSIDE BASEBALL

By TY COBB

World's Greatest Ball Player.

Ty Cobb

All great batters in a sense conform their swing to the style of pitching the opposition offers. It is rather foolish to try to pull any so-called brainy stuff at the bat with a star pitcher working who has lots of stuff.

It is foolhardy to try to pull or place hits when Walter Johnson is the opposing pitcher and going at top speed. It just can't be done with any degree of certainty.

When an opposing pitcher has a world of stuff, simply hit straight away. In other words, make an attempt to hit the ball when it will be driven directly through the pitcher's box.

Local Sport Chatter

Tomorrow will see two good attractions on South End diamonds.

At the Stadium the C. B. A. A. will entertain the fast Belting-Hemlingway Silk company team of Putnam and at the West Side oval the Sons of Italy will inaugurate a series with Naugatuck. Both visiting teams are of high caliber and have come through the season so far with good records.

The Sons gathered some more confidence after their game with the New Departures of Bristol Wednesday evening. The locals came within two runs of winning the game and incidentally ran up the largest score that a Manchester team has made against the New Departures in many years.

Rockville-Manchester rivalry will be stirred up again next week when the Sons start their series with the All-Rockville team in that city. On Friday evening Rockville will come here and it is expected that the old razz gang will be out to meet the visitors. Razz gang is not the same as the old Poison Ivy gang which used to cluster around the stairway on the hill behind home plate at Mt. Nebo.

The school meeting of the other night someone made the suggestion that the Ninth District abolish the Recreation Centers all together and make them into schools. He failed to take into consideration the fact that the Recreation Centers are schools in fact as well as in name, for it is in those buildings that the children of the schools receive the regular periods of physical training prescribed by state laws.

He said that the expense of keeping up the building was too great, but he found out that the majority of the expense goes toward heating and lighting the place and the benefits of this expense are enjoyed by school children from 8 o'clock in the morning until later than 5 in the afternoon. This leaves the total time during the day for Rec members about four and one half hours. The folly of such a move is apparent even to those who have not made much of a study of the Rec. The kicker at the meeting admitted that he had never been inside the School street building but he said that he had always found it empty. He was a viewer from the outside but his statement did not compare at all with the report of the Rec committee which said that 60,000 people attended Recreation Center activities alone. This number did not include the thousands who used it under the sponsorship of other organizations.

LILLIAN CANNON PLANS TO START GRIND AT NIGHT

Cap Gris Nez, France, July 16.—

When I make my attempt to swim the English channel I want to start at night. That is not a very pleasant prospect, I fully realize, but I would rather start at night than be caught off the coast by darkness. The big advantage of beginning at night is that some of the worst hours can be undertaken when the swimmer is fresh.

If I start at midnight I will have a good piece of the work done by dawn. When I am beginning to feel the cold the sun will come up and warm me. This will be like finding a friend, and I think it will cheer me up and help me to carry on.

Then I will have all day to finish the job. If luck is with me, and the weather stays good, conditions should improve during the morning. I am conditioning myself to stay in the water for eighteen hours, and I should have some reserve strength if I require longer time than that to cross. In any event, a midnight start will give me plenty of daylight for all the swimming I shall be able to do that day.

I shouldn't like the prospect of getting off the other coast when the sun goes down and darkness settles over the shore. That must be a gloomy experience, and I can imagine that it would chill the stout-est heart. Also the cold air would become a handicap to a successful finish. Last year Madame Slon, the French swimmer, had this experience and she claims it contributed largely to her failure. She started about 8 in the morning and swam bravely and well for more than 14 hours. She was off the Dover coast when darkness came. Naturally she was tired. The air got cold and she simply lost heart, which is not at all surprising. She struggled on as long as she could but finally had to abandon. I hope to profit by her experience and forestall that disheartening finish.

I am not out to break records. No man ever swam the channel in less than 16 hours, and I don't expect that I can, but time depends largely on catching favorable tides and being able to split in smartly from this coast is bound to be about the same for all swimmers. The supreme test and the most trying conditions develop off the other coast and it is then that I want daylight and sunshine with me.

DIAMOND DUST

The Giants got only four hits off Ray Kramer of the Pirates and were neatly kalamazored, three to nothing. A single by Paul Waner off Kent Greenfield gave the Buc their first two runs.

After being kicked up and down the Rhineland by the Reds, the Phils knocked Luque silly and helped themselves to an eight to six victory over the league leaders. Cy Williams got four hits and Wrightstone drove in the winning run.

The Braves could make no headway against Percy Jones of the Cubs and lost three to one, dropping into last place. The Cardinals pounded Jess Petty to a pulp and trimmed the Dodgers eleven to five. Just to make it a perfect day for the star southpaw, Wilbert Robinson, Brooklyn manager, plastered a $100 fine on Petty for staying away from the hotel until after midnight on Wednesday.

Detroit swamped the Yankees, seven to two, driving Shocker out of the box. New York's lead is now only six games.

Lefty Helmsch of the Red Sox beat Cleveland, six to two, after the Sox were set back by Sherry Smith in the opener, four to two. Rigney, Boston shortstop, handled 34 chances without a miscue during the afternoon.

If there ever was convincing proof of a store's right to undisputed leadership in its field, here it is. Not another store in all New England, regardless of size or location, is in position to come forward with such an offering. We do not believe that, dollar for dollar of actual worth, this value has ever been equalled before anywhere in America—in all our 42 years' experience we have never had anything to compare with it, and it is possible now only through very unusual circumstances and the tremendous purchasing power of the World's Greatest Furniture Selling Organization.

Just to Keep His Factories Busy the Manufacturer Delivers These Suites
Without a Penny Profit!

To keep his factories busy during what would have otherwise been an idle period, so that he might keep his forces of highly skilled cabinet makers intact in a highly competitive labor market, one of America's foremost manufacturers of fine bedroom furniture accepted an order from the May-Stern Company for 2000 suites—at actual cost! But he insisted upon one condition—DELIVERY MUST BE AT HIS OPTION!—the suites to be made during the slack period. So here they are—just two sample suites from which we can take orders for delivery next month. Each suite sold is unconditionally guaranteed to be just like the sample in every single detail.

We offer these suites just as we bought them—less the manufacturer's profit. Delivery is assured on or about August 17.

The Bed

Popular bow foot design made doubly attractive by the gracefully curved lines of head and foot boards. Fitted with Patented Wittiff bed brace.

THE DRESSER

Unusually large—50 in. long, with swinging mirror 37 by 27 1/2 in. of clear plate. Dust-proof construction—mahogany finished drawer interiors.

VANITY DRESSER

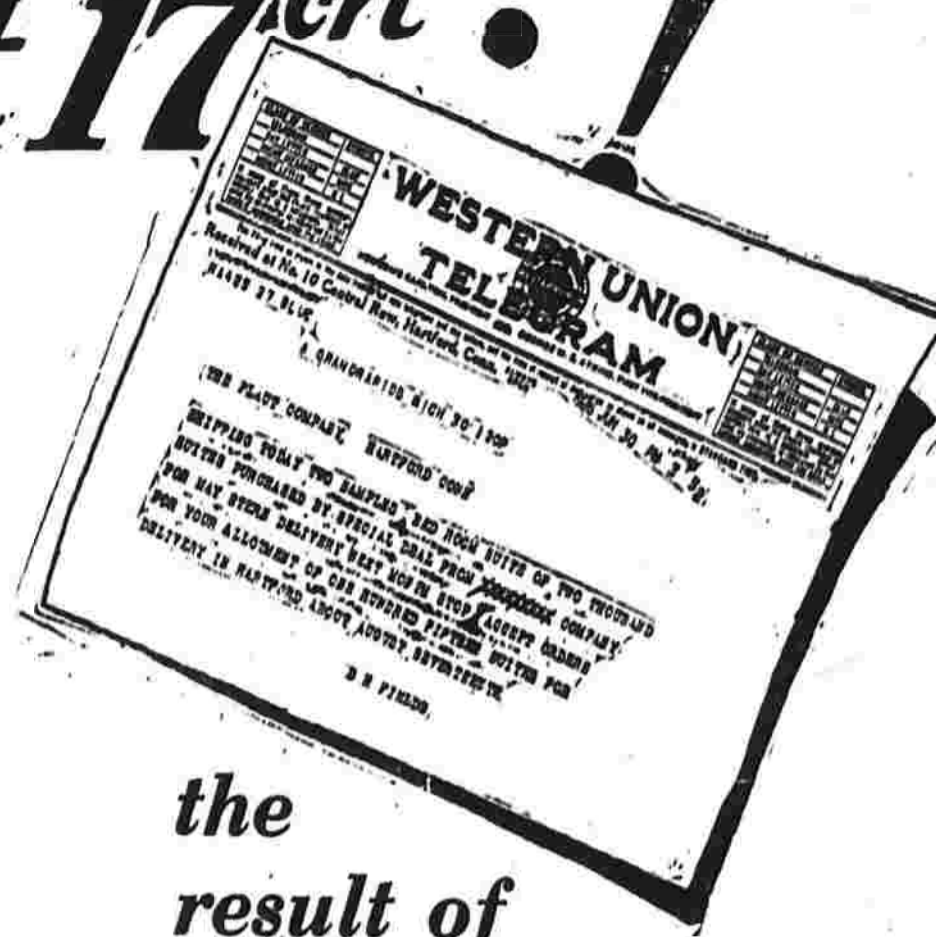

Stands full 70 1/2 inches high, permitting a full length reflection in the big 45 by 15 1/2-inch center mirror. Wing mirrors are 10 by 25 inches.

Deck Top Chest

Unusually commodious—note the large drawer capacity. Stands 45 inches high, full 36 1/2 inch width and 18 1/2 inches deep. Beautifully figured burl walnut.

At the regular price of $287.00 these splendid suites would be a value you couldn't duplicate anywhere in Hartford—you wouldn't expect to find a four-piece suite of such sound construction, such rarely beautiful woods and such classic design offered anywhere under $325.00. Examine the illustrations closely—they were sketched direct from the actual pieces and faithfully picture the design and proportions of each piece—but not the exquisite beauty of the richly figured burl walnut with which all exposed surfaces are veneered. You will have to examine the suite itself to fully appreciate the rare beauty and fineness of the finish. In every single detail of design, structure and finish, these splendid suites typify substantial and beautiful furniture at its very best. Note carefully each of the following features which distinguish this offering as one of much finer than the ordinary—one you may well be proud to possess.

—Genuine burl walnut veneer throughout, the aristocrat of all cabinet woods—heavy five-ply fronts and three-ply tops and sides. The veneers selected for this suite are of unusual beauty with the delicate tracery of rich figuring and warm color found only in the finest burl. The divided drawers of each piece have carefully matched crotch walnut panels while the rest of the piece is in figured burl. Hand rubbed finish throughout;

—each piece unusually large and generously proportioned—note carefully the size of each;

—all dust-proof top construction, the most substantial and approved type;

—all drawer interiors finished in mahogany;

—drawers have dove-tailed corners, each carefully fitted and rests on guides which prevent wobbling and insure ease of closing and opening.

We can accept orders for just 115 of these beautiful suites, our allotment of the May-Stern purchase of 2000. When this number has been taken we can accept no more, as it will be impossible to obtain a greater number than has been allotted us. The suites will be sold only in the four pieces complete—we cannot break suites or accept orders for three-piece groupings. Our usual convenient terms of payment will apply as upon purchases made in the ordinary manner. If you expect to purchase a bedroom suite any time during the coming season, we urge you to see this remarkable value early to-morrow. If you can wait thirty days for delivery it will more than pay you, for the saving is more than unusual and the character of the offering much finer than the ordinary.

BEGIN HERE TODAY JOHN and FAY MILBURN, to whom a baby girl has just been born, buy the home of their own...

DR. DICK MENEFEE, John's best friend, marries MARGARET WAYNE, and Margaret's younger sister, CLARA, runs away and marries CLAYTON LANE...

A party is given by NOEL and VERA BOYD, and Vera, who is rather keen about John, asks him outside into a room...

On the way home John tells his wife he is rather disgusted with both Vera and Noel Boyd...

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XXI

"What did you and Vera do out there?" he demanded. "John, you know very well, Fay answered, 'I saw you and Vera coming in from outdoors. Everyone else did, too, for that matter...'"

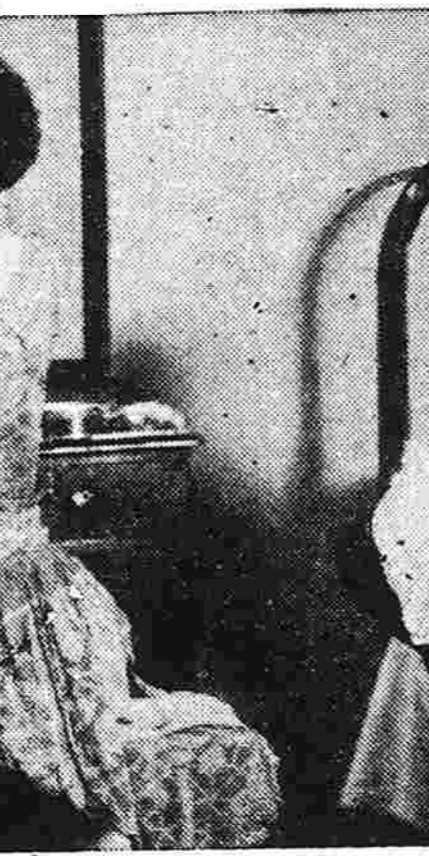

"What did you and Vera do out there?" he demanded. "John, you know very well, Fay answered, 'I saw you and Vera coming in from outdoors. Everyone else did, too, for that matter...'"

"Yes," she broke in cuttingly, "you're such a Don Juan."

A CLASH OF WITS "I got back from my luncheon Mr. Robinson, in the time which was given me for it, according to rules..."

"I've got a room reserved in a hotel. Spoke to Noel Boyd about it and just finished talking to Pat Forbes on the phone. Got another fellow lined up tentatively, but I'm not sure of him. Thought you might call up Dick Menefee. Does he play?"

"He used to play a pretty stiff game." "Well, if you get him, that'll be five at least. What do you say?"

"I don't know whether Mr. Robinson has it or not, Doctor Flint, I lied cheerfully. 'I haven't seen Mr. Robinson since I saw him at the counter when I handed it to him...'"

"You remember it. You dropped it yourself," I said, turning to the manager of the store. "Yes, I remember it," said Mr. Robinson.

We Must Be Modern

by Olive Roberts Barton.

Americans are so inconsistent in their search for thrills. It is the glamour of age that attracts them to Europe by the millions every summer, yet at home in America they give nothing a chance to get old. The cry is, "We must be modern!"

When I see them tearing down a fine old house I feel like shouting, "Don't do that!" I cannot understand the passing of the woodman-spare-that-tree sentiment.

There is a lovely lake, or was a lovely lake, in a park in a big city. A beautiful lake a figure eight, a rustic bridge spanning it at the waist.

Under this bridge swans and oriental ducks used to nest; some of them preferred, however, a tiny tree-grown island in the center of the larger lake.

There were paths and bushes with white old-fashioned roses. It was a heavenly place for the children. Now the lake is a long oval, curvilinear and bare.

Gone are the rocks, the summer-house, the bridge, the island, the swans and ducks. And gone are the children.

KEEPING MEATS Never put meat or poultry in contact with ice, or lay it flat in a pan. Put a rack under the meat and set the pan in the refrigerator.

South End Librarian Makes Interesting Report—Non Fiction on Increase.

Following is the report of the South Manchester Free Library committee for the past year: The past year has shown a gain in circulation, the total having exceeded 70,000, our high water mark so far. In the Adult department the gain has been in non-fiction which indicates that the library is growing along healthy lines.

"New books in French, Italian and German were added. We have had books in French, Italian and other foreign languages for some time, but this is our first acquisition of German books and it has been much appreciated."

"The Rental Collection has proved a successful addition to the library, and has increased the number of volumes by 57 as these books are placed in the regular collection as soon as they have paid for themselves."

"The Christmas tree was placed at the end of the lower hall this year instead of in the Children's room, so that adults as well as children might enjoy it. The Christmas Story Hour was held in the Reference room from which the chairs and tables were removed, and the stories were told to a large group near the tree."

"Our new full time Junior Assistant, Stella Lincoln, joined the library staff at the beginning of the year. The librarian wishes to express to the Library Committee her appreciation of their cordial support, and interest in the welfare of the library."

ZANE GREY FILM

NOW AT STATE

"Desert Gold," Paramount's Great Thriller, Has a Great Cast of Stars.

A Zane Grey story picture with Paramount with absolute fidelity and authenticity, with one of the most notable stellar and supporting casts in screen history and acclaimed by reviewers as one of the most entertaining and thrilling Grey stories to date, come to the State theater for an engagement of two days starting today.

"Desert Gold" concerns itself chiefly with the lawless days at the close of the last century, along the southwestern border. Into this seething whirlpool comes the son of a rich man and there he encounters a girl. With her he escapes from bandits into the Painted Desert and amid wild rides, fights and adventures, finds love and gold.

Robert Frazer plays the role of the son of wealth and Shirley Mason that of Mercedes, the Spanish girl. Nell Hamilton is seen as Lieutenant Thorne, of the United States cavalry and William Powell as Landree, the hit and killer.

The supporting cast numbers in its personnel George Rigas, remembered for his excellent work in "The Wanderer," and Frank Lackteen who scored as a half-breed Indian in "The Pony Express."

The picture was directed by Geo. E. Solti and supervised by Lucien Hubbard of "The Vanishing American" fame.

The companion feature on the same bill with "Desert Gold" will be Raymond Griffith in "Wet Paint." Don't dare miss "Wet Paint!" This is not intended as a sarcastic way to warn our citizens away from the City Hall's new coat, but is rather a compliment to Raymond Griffith's latest Paramount comedy, "Wet Paint." If you see it, you'll life. At least, a capacity audience have one of the gala times of your which greeted it this afternoon.

A fine cast headed by Helena Costello and Bryant Washburn, the two featured players, supports the star. Arthur Rosson, director of many of Douglas Fairbank's early pictures, was at the megaphone. Lloyd Corrigan wrote the screen play from Reginald Morris' original story.

Imagine the plight of a good looking young chap who has more money than he can spend, swearing he'll marry the first girl he meets! That's what Griffith says because the lady of his heart has made him propose just in order to win a bet from some friends.

Add to this ridiculous situation, one gorgeous brunet, with a "bachelor-eating husband," and a weird ride in an empty car without a chauffeur. Now you have the essentials around which, with the aid of a fine staff of assistants, Griffith has fashioned "Wet Paint."

Added attraction for today and tomorrow the Ko-Ko Song Reel "Bonnie".

COLONEL HUNTER SELECTS MOZZER AS HIS ORDERLY

(By Staff Correspondent)
Camp Trumbull, Niantic, July 15.—Another Manchester soldier was honored here yesterday when Corporal Anthony Mozzer, of the Howitzer Company, was selected by Colonel D. Gordon Hunter, commander of the 169th Infantry, as his mounted orderly. He was recommended by Captain Dexter. He was assigned to that duty until further notice and the probabilities are that he will continue in that capacity during the remainder of the encampment.

Corporal Mozzer is an ex-cavalry man, having been connected with the crack 11th Squadron while that unit was stationed in Pasadena, California. He is now concluding his third year in the Howitzer Company and it is understood he plans to re-enlist when his term expires.

Corporal Mozzer is well known in Manchester, especially at the North End where he resides. He is a member of the Cloverleaf Football club, which captured the town championship last year.

STREET SWEEPER KILLED BY TRUCK AT NEW HAVEN
New Haven, July 15.—Patrick J. Ryan, 60, a city street sweeper, was instantly killed at State and Crown streets here early today by a Kneeland Trucking Co., Springfield, Mass., truck, driven by Ainslee N. Kempthorne. The accident occurred in the midst of a heavy shower, just as Ryan was starting his day's work. Kempthorne is being held.

Ryan is survived only by a daughter, wife of Dr. William J. Berrett, a prominent local physician. He lived alone at 85 Whiting street.

A PUZZLE A DAY

There was an argument at the Hunt Club, last night. You see, we had a shooting contest. Each player was given nine shots. And while the winner hit the bull's eye, he also hit in every circle. This I considered a very poor score. But the rest pointed out that the nine shots were placed in such a way that they formed ten rows of three shots each. This was possibly true, but when I tried to draw a sketch of the shots I soon discovered that my memory was faulty.

So I wish that anyone who knows how the shots were placed, would draw them for me.

Last puzzle answer: Mr. Axtell put 57 turkey eggs in his incubator. If he had put in two-thirds as many more, there would be 38 more eggs, and twice as many more would be 114 more, and 11 on top of that would make a total of 163 eggs. This quantity added to the original 57 gives 220 eggs, the quantity that was given in the puzzle.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

"There's always room for one more" can't much longer be said of automobiles on earth.

A puncture in the baby's bloomers is worse than two in the auto tire.

With so many automobiles how far will a horsefly have to fly to land on a horse?

Say a prayer for H. S. Burr. He skimmed the roads at sixty per.

Rockefeller is going to give $10,000,000 to the Egyptians. How come? Camels don't burn gasoline.

Weather Prophet. "It's a fine day," said the motorist as the Justiced of the Peace rang up $12.50 on the cash register.

A live-wire salesman rushed up to the home of a doctor in a small village about 3:00 a. m., one morning and asked him to come at once to a distant town.

The doctor cranked his fivver and they drove furiously to their destination.

Upon their arrival the salesman asked, "How much is your fee, doctor?"

"Three dollars," said the physician, in surprise.

"Here you are," said the salesman, handing over the money, "the blamed garage keeper wanted $15 to drive me over when I missed my train."

Why do the cities always place the fire hydrants where the best parking space is located?

It was dusk as she stopped at the roadside filling station. "I want a quart of red oil," she said to the service man. The man gaped and hesitated. "Give me a quart of red oil," she repeated. "A quart of r-r-red oil?" he stuttered. "Certainly," she said, "my tail-light has gone out!"

One objection to the expression, "used car" is that the adjective is so darn inadequate.

When no man considered himself properly equipped for a drive unless he wore a linen duster and his horse had a blue fly net with tassels on it?

William—Where were you last night?

Ralph—May and I went coupeying.

"Big time, I suppose?"

"Fair. May did the cooling and I did the paying!"

Our idea of perfect poise is being able to dismount gracefully from a taxicab.

Among the things cleaned by gasoline are pocketbooks.

So long as women drive we doubt the safety of the mirror in the car.

The fool with a fivver leads a fast life.

Sultor: May I marry your daughter?

Auto Dealer (absently): Yes, but I can't guarantee delivery until 1927.

How would it do to let Fords use the streets on Sundays, Tuesdays and Fridays?

"During my vacation I tramped on an average of thirty miles a day."

"Ha-ha! I owned a second-hand car once myself."

They used, a nice hand-painted dish, which made the kitten cough. And when it lapped up milk, one night, it licked the flowers off.

REASON ENOUGH
Little sister's mighty good, an' doin' all the things she should. Fine behavior, here of late, an' dad an' mother say, "that's great."
Helpin' round the house all day. Doesn't seem to care to play. Washes dishes, sweeps up, too. All such things she's pleased to do.
To the store she's to go a dozen times a day, 'er so. Finds out what the trip's about and runs—ta help her mother out.
Dad comes home. Is mighty pleased, findin' sister hasn't teased, or kicked on work, or even cried. Just been good—and satisfied.
Mother knows just why she tries to be so nice. Why, shucks, she's wise. Workin', helpin', all she can, ta get a standin', that's her plan. Seven now, but close ta eight. Betcher life, she knows the date. Birthday's comin'. What's in store? Well—that's what sister's workin' for.

While we tried to open it from the inside. Finally we got it open and emerged into the corridor. "The whole building in our section was filled with dense smoke that made breathing difficult. Even though the fire had started in another part of the building just a short time before, it was spreading rapidly and when we got out to the ground we saw the section we had been sleeping in go up in a blaze.

"Roof Caved In.
"As we watched, fascinated, the flames spread over our section with almost incredible speed, and then the roof caved in. People on the second and third floors were more fortunate than we for many of them were burned while others, jumping from balconies to the ground, received fractured skulls and other injuries. Some were killed outright in this jump and others are not expected to live.

"A fire department from Tannersville, N. Y., quite a distance from the inn, arrived some time after the fire had gained a considerable start and although the firemen made gallant efforts to save the structure, the fire had won its battle before they got there.

"Made of Pine.
"The building was of pine wood, dry as tinder and flames had gone from the basement, where the fire started, to the roof in a few minutes. The roof caved in a short time after the beginning of the blaze.

"One of my companions, a Waterbury girl, had mementoes, gifts, and a diary in the drawer of a dresser in the room where we were sleeping and she went back into the building to get these. She grabbed her suitcase and with the bureau drawer started for the open air again. She was either pushed or stumbled and fell, but she landed in the kitchen of the hotel.

"It was ten minutes before she was brought out and her lungs were so filled with smoke from her stay there that she had to be taken to a hospital where she was given treatment. Her condition was serious for a while."

"Thrilling Stories.
Thrilling stories of how some of the inmates of the hotel escaped are told by Miss Bausola. One concerns an elderly woman who crawled along the slippery shingles of the roof to safety. The section had been visited by a heavy rain storm about 5 o'clock on the preceding evening and the shingles were as slippery as ice. The woman who crawled the roof admitted herself that she did not know how she had done it.

Practically everybody in the hotel lost everything, Miss Bausola said. And some of them, in attempts to recover valuables, lost their lives. Never Returned.
"A number of them went back into the blazing structure to get their belongings," said Miss Bausola, "and many of these never came out again."
"A long row of charred bodies and a blackened pile of burnt lumber are all that remain to show the ravages of the fire. Some of the bodies will never be recovered for they were burned to ashes. Identification of the bodies brought out of the hotel will be difficult because most of them are burned beyond recognition."
"The structure was a three-story affair built of white pine. It was three stories high and around it at different places were balconies and porches. Practically every window in the building was open and a stiff wind blew through the whole hotel, fanning the flames to an intensity that doomed the building from the start."
The cause of the fire has not yet been determined but it had its origin in the basement at the other end of the building from where the Manchester girl was sleeping.

MANCHESTER LEADS HAZINGS AT CAMP

The Herald Tuesday. The candidates were ordered to appear clad only in their army raincoats. After reading the ritual of the secret order of the candidates Sergeant Anderson, Grand Chief Wood Wolf, ordered them to take the oath. This done, the men were marched one by one, to the Howitzer Company mess shack where the initiations took place. The big ceremony if it can be termed that, consisted of a liberal application of red, blue and green dyes. This left a coating which soap and water alone would not wash off. Left on, it would take two or three weeks, at least, before it would wear off. Captain Dexter, who is familiar with the nature of the dyes, however, says that the dyes are not in the least injurious and that they may be washed off by using chloride of lime dissolved in water and then neutralizing this with vinegar. The rookies soon learned this trick and now nearly all of them are free of the dye.

Quish Judge Again.
While the Howitzer Company and Company M were holding their initiations, a mock trial was going on in the next street, in which the members of Company M, of Hartford reside. And again Lieutenant Thomas J. Quish, who gained recognition the previous night in a mock army court martial, was the judge.

Another Poor Rookie!
The story briefly was of Private Raymond Baldwin, of Company M. It was the case of another rookie being tried on a charge of which he was, of course, guilty. It was, in many ways, a repetition of the Zaleski trial in the Howitzer street the night before. Baldwin, had been given the rank of "Blanket Sergeant" by his mates and throughout the trial was totally unaware that there was no such rank in the army.

The charge against the accused was that he had stolen a blanket and sold it for a dollar to Private Nelson of the same company. The latter turned state's evidence and testified against his former pal. A "marked" dollar bill was introduced as evidence and Corporal Griggs and Privates Bland and Killard testified against Baldwin. Those who testified in the accused's behalf were Corporal Tangany and Privates Bennett and St. John.

Had Refused Promotion.
It developed in the course of the trial that Baldwin had also refused the post of "Regimental Sergeant" after it had been offered him by Captain Partridge of the Colonel's adjutant. The trial lasted nearly two hours and was filled with all sorts of amusing incidents and featured by the great speech of Corporal Smith, the defense counsel in the "rebuttal."

Quish's Decision.
Judge Quish found the man not guilty on all but one count. He said the affair was a "frame up." The judge, however, censured Baldwin for refusing the regimental assignment and as a penalty took away the prisoner's chevrons which, in Baldwin's belief, gave him the title of "Blanket Sergeant." After the trial was over it was some time before Baldwin realized the prank which had been played on him.

Company G's Work.
Yesterday the regiment was up bright and early and the various units went through their scheduled training. Company G under its leader, Captain Herbert H. Bissell, left camp with several other companies. Working separately, the units worked out field problems. Company G had the problem of company in attack, company exterior. The Manchester unit went to the River Road a short distance from the camp. In the afternoon the units went on a tactical walk. Colonel Hunter was in charge and various problems were worked out.

Howitzer Hits Target.
The morning found the Howitzer company under Captain Allan L. Dexter, firing the three-inch trench mortars in a section lying west of the camp. Captain Dexter reported that his men made good 27 of their 30 shots which were fired over the 450 yard range. Telephone wires were laid from the firing point to the target where observers would telephone the result back to those in charge of the firing. Two shells fell short and one went too far. On a range of this distance and with a shell of this caliber, a hit within thirty yards is considered a hit. Captain Dexter, Lieutenant Walter Tedford marched over the Howitzer recruits late in the morning and they arrived in time to see ten of the shells fired. It was something new to them and they were greatly interested.

In the afternoon, the Howitzer Company took part in the "Spare Part" Battalion review. Other units in the parade which were reviewed by Major Samuel A. Butler, the commanding officer, were Regimental Headquarters, Service Company and the Medical Detachment. The battalion was formed by Major Butler's adjutant, Lieutenant George Werdenski. The Manchester unit made as good, if not better appearance than any of the other units. Rain fell hard throughout the parade and the soldiers were drenched but the weather did not halt the proceedings.

Manchester's Baseball Chances.
Company G's baseball team which last year worked itself into the finals for the regimental championship before being eliminated, today stands a mighty fine chance of gaining the laurels it so narrowly missed last year. The Manchester unit has been granted a bye in the first round of play in the second battalion. Lieutenant Grayson announced today.

Schedule Starts Tomorrow.
There are five teams in the second battalion who will battle for honors in that unit. The Headquarters Company will meet Company F of Hartford and Company E of Hartford and Company H of New Britain will mingle when the schedule gets under way tomorrow. The names of the two winners will be placed with Company G's name and a drawing will be made to see which will be the lucky team to stay out and meet the winner for the battalion championship.

This means that if Company G should pull another bye, the Manchester unit will need but one victory to advance into the regimental championship series. There will be two other winners, those of the first and third battalions and the three will fight it out for the regimental championship and the beautiful silver loving cup accompanying it. The fact that three teams will have to fight it out for the regimental honors means that if Company G reached this stage of the elimination tournament, and draws a bye again, all it will need to win is two games to cop the title of the 1926th.

The pairings of the other two battalions have not been arranged at this writing but were expected to be today. The Howitzer Company will enter a team in the third battalion fight.

Howitzer Kitchen 100 Per Cent.
Major Harold Burr, who is in charge of the Medical Detachment made a tour of the fifteen kitchens yesterday and reported that several of them were in fine condition. The only one which he termed 100 per cent was the Howitzer Company's kitchen which comes under the supervision of Mess Sergeant Andrew Reggetts, Cooks Stevenson and Copeland and a couple of kitchen police. Privates Clarke and Burke are on duty in the latter capacity at the time and are so pleased with the major's comment that they have asked to be placed permanently on this duty. This has been granted.

Briefs From Camp
Colonel Harry B. Bissell says the camp here is without doubt the best of any National Guard camp in the United States. Colonel Bissell's statement certainly can be taken as a fact because he is in a position to come into contact one way or another, with all the National Guard camps in the country.

Colonel D. Gordon Hunter speaks words of praise for the Howitzer Company for the wonderful success the Manchester unit made in its recruiting rally before coming to camp. The company was severely handicapped by a large group of enlistments expiring at the same time, but Captain Dexter executed a rally that "saved the day" so to speak. Colonel Hunter says he didn't believe the Howitzer Company would be able to come up to the required quota and had planned to transfer at least thirty-five men to the company.

Sergeant Frazier may be a good mess sergeant and all that but he must learn to get accustomed to the smell of onions without crying. Yesterday Sergeant Duke purposely sliced an onion over a cot on which Frazier lay asleep. Frazier has been crying ever since.

PLAYGROUND NOTES.

There has been a good response to the announcement of tennis lessons for women which are being given on both playgrounds this season. This evening at 6:30 at the East Side playground a tennis lesson will be given.
On Saturday morning at 9:30 a ball game between the East Side boys and the West Side boys will be played on the diamond. Gilbert Wright will be the umpire.
A team of girls of high school age from the East Side playground have challenged a team from the West Side playground to a volley ball match to be played on the East Side playground next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. On the same evening the East Side boys volley ball team will play the West Side boys on the West Side court.

The swimming classes for girls which are being held in the swimming pool at the School Street Recreation Center are full. Other girls who wish to take lessons should leave their names at the Recreation Center office as a new class will be formed next week.

A Word To The Newly-Weds

Mrs. Newly-wed, there are hundreds of women who have been married for years, some of them quite a number of years, and who can cook and have cooked—but have found that Florence's fills the bill when it comes to foodstuffs and saves them a lot of time that they may spend doing other things. So why experiment and cause yourself a lot of work and worry when you get whatever you want at this store.

ABOUT TOWN

The annual picnic of the Swedish Lutheran Sunday school children will be held on Saturday at Elizabeth Park, Hartford. Special cars will leave the terminus at 9.15 in the morning. Tickets will be on sale at the church tonight.

While playing in his yard, Robert Stearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Stearns of 21 Florence street, caught one of his fingers in a piece of hay wire. The wire broke off, leaving a piece of it in his finger. A local physician was summoned, who extracted the wire.

District Deputy Grand Master Goehring and suite of Rockville will officiate at the installation of officers for King David Lodge, I. O. O. F., this evening. Herbert B. Ingham, a member of the lodge for several years, will be elevated to the office of Noble Grand. Refreshments will follow.

Mrs. J. M. Magnell of Main street and Mrs. Lester Adams of Russell street returned yesterday after a week's stay at the Magnell cottage at Saybrook Point.

The Daughters of Liberty L. L. O. L., No. 125, are planning to hold a picnic at Savin Rock on Saturday, July 31. Any member of the organization who intends to go will please send her name to the Orange Hall Tuesday evening, July 20, so that the committee in charge can arrange for transportation.

Clarence McGonigal, with his sister, Mrs. John Flayell of Woodbridge street and Mrs. William McGonigal of Main street left today for New York City to attend the wedding of their brother, James Leslie McGonigal and Miss Violet Anna Ginsberg of 720 Riverside Drive, New York City.

Three Manchester Sunday schools will hold their annual picnic tomorrow. St. Mary's church school will picnic at Lake Com-pounce. The Swedish Lutheran children will go to Elizabeth Park and the Lutheran Concordia Sunday school will go to Crystal Lake.

If the weather is unfavorable this evening for outdoor production, the group of plays by the Jitney Players will be presented at High school hall instead of in the open at Educational court. The entertainment is sponsored by the Manchester Kiwanis club for the benefit of the recently opened camp for children at Hebron.

JITNEY PLAYERS PERFORM TONIGHT Expect Large Attendance at Educational Square—Benefit of Kiddies' Camp.

Bushnell Cheney's Jitney Players who have been touring New England for the past three summers, will play in Manchester at Educational square tonight under the auspices of the Kiwanis club. Proceeds of the play are to go toward expenses of keeping 80 of Manchester's poor children at the Kiwanis camp in Hebron for two weeks.

Kiwanians have heralded the appearance of the Jitney players throughout the town for many weeks and through a system of publicity the coming event has become known to almost everybody in Manchester. The largest attendance ever to see these actors is expected to be at the square tonight.

Local Man in Cast Headed by Bushnell Cheney, a Manchester man and his wife, Alice Keating, the players will present three one-act sketches, a drama, comedy and a fantasy. The sketch, which is let down from one of the jiteynes, is ideal for the kind of productions the Jitney Players specialize in.

In past appearance here the players have never failed to please and their audiences have been increasingly large. Tickets for the plays have been in the hands of Kiwanians for some time now and have been enjoying a good sale.

Kiwanians' Plan The Kiwanis club of Manchester this year took over the project of giving Manchester's poor or underprivileged children a vacation in the country. It was at first decided to house them in the Community Camp in Coventry but for various reasons the site of the camp was changed to the Hebron Game Club grounds.

To bring the children there, however, the club had to build a dormitory in which to house them and their leaders and instructors. The dormitory was built at less than half the cost because most of the work was done by either Kiwanians or men employed by Kiwanians who donated their services. The place was ready for occupancy about July 6 and the first contingent of children left Manchester for their two weeks.

A daily program of sports, hikes and amusements of various kinds is carried out by Director Lloyd Russell, who is a graduate of Springfield Y. M. C. A. college. Director Russell is assisted in his work by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dean, Mr. Dean being the instructor in stoyd in the Eighth district schools.

TWO ESCAPE DEATH AS CAR HITS POLE

Wethersfield Man Thrown Through Windshield on East Center Street.

Luck was with John Dunphy, 20, and Herman J. Layman, 26, both of Wethersfield, last night when they escaped death by a narrow margin on East Center street as their Ford coupe collided with a telephone pole near Benton street. Both men were taken to the Memorial hospital where they were given treatment.

One of the men was thrown through the windshield by the collision and the other, who was driving, was considerably bruised. The latter was able to be up and around this morning.

Layman, the man who went through the windshield is suffering with what is believed to be a fractured or dislocated jaw. His companion is less seriously hurt. The pair were returning to Wethersfield last night and had reached Benton street about 11 o'clock. Slippery roads caused their car to skid and it lodged against a telephone pole near the car tracks, the car striking the pole between the radiator and the right front fender.

The lower part of the windshield was smashed to atoms and the fender and right front wheel of the car were broken.

BOLTON NOTCH PARK AS KIDDIES PLAYGROUND

Yesterday the juvenile commission of Hartford voted to request Mayor Stevens of that city and the common council to negotiate with the state park and forest commission for the use of Bolton Notch Park for the "under privileged children" of Hartford. Under a plan considered the Hartford park board or another municipal board would have control of a program for the provision of recreational facilities for those children in Hartford who cannot afford a vacation. George A. Parker, chairman, who spoke in support of the measure, pointed out that about four thousand children in Hartford would be eligible to participate in a plan of this nature.
