THOUGHT DEAD, SHOCKED MAN COMES TO LIFE

August Larson, of Strickland Street, Receives 550 Volts While at Work— In the Hospital.

Having narrowly escaped death when he was knocked to the floor from the top of a trolley car by coming into contact with a high voltage wire, August Larson, 41, of 66 Strickland street, an employee of the Connecticut Company, is in the Memorial hospital today, seriously hurt. The full extent of his injuries will not be known until X-ray pictures have been taken, it was stated. The accident occurred at 6:45 yesterday afternoon.

His Injuries. Larson is suffering from a concussion of the brain, spine injury, sprained right wrist and burns. Despite the uncertainty of his injuries, the patient's condition was reported as very favorable.

Larson is employed in the car barn at the Center. Part of his work is to change the small wheels on the top of trolley poles. He does this work in the car barn. Yesterday he was engaged in this work. He was working alone. The only other man in the car barn at the time was Delphis St. John, night foreman.

The Accident. The first thing known about the accident was when St. John heard the sound of a trolley pole striking the wire.

Wondering how the pole could have gotten out of Larson's grasp, St. John turned to see what was the cause. He was astonished to find that Larson was not in sight. Running over to the trolley car on which Larson had been at work, the night foreman found the man lying on the floor.

Thought Dead. From first appearances, it was apparent Larson was dead. St. John believed him so, also. The medical examiner and another local physician were summoned. Superintendent Henry A. Nettleton also was notified and was at the scene in a few minutes. However, before the doctors arrived, it was found that Larson was not dead. He was very much alive and had regained consciousness. He was covered with perspiration as a result of the electric current which had passed through his body.

Ambulance Called. William P. Quish's ambulance was summoned and hurried the injured man to the local hospital. How the accident happened, remains a mystery, and may always continue to be, because Larson, when he regained consciousness, said he had no recollection of how it occurred. In fact, he says he doesn't know whether a current passed through him or not. All he remembers is that when his memory came back to him, he was lying on the side of the trolley car. It is generally believed that the accident was caused by Larson's wrist being caught between the trolley pole and the trolley wire. The burn and the electric shock seem to substantiate this. The trolley wire contained a current of 550 volts.

Larson has been working for the Connecticut Company about one year.

NEW HAVEN CHURCH YIELDS TO CHANGE

Grand Avenue Baptists Too Few Now to Maintain It—To Become Italian Church.

New Haven, Aug. 3.—Grand Avenue Baptist Church, whose few present day members have decided to shun their efforts to maintain a church society, will be turned over to the Davenport Association and will be used as a Congregational church for people of Italian descent, according to announcement here today. Grand Avenue Baptist church passes because its members have moved to other parts of the city and for no other reason, according to the few families still attached to the church. The entire district is filled with people recently come from foreign lands who have other church establishments.

LOOT JEWELRY STORE IN HUB SHOPPING CENTER.

Boston, Aug. 3.—Forty thousand dollars worth of modern and antique jewelry of oriental and Russian design, stolen by thieves today from the Kabatnick Art and Gift Shop on Boston street, Back Bay.

The robbers forced the front door, smashed the locks on glass cases and made their escape by a rear entrance, leaving a safe untouched.

C. W. MORSE, VICTIM OF BATH, ME., AUG. 3.—Charles W. Morse, 33, is Unconscious.

Morse suffered a shock on Sunday and has been in a semi-conscious state since. Today his condition showed a slight improvement.

NEW PATRIOTIC ORDER IS FORMED

To Include All Descendants of Union Veterans of the Civil War.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 3.—Descendants of the Civil War veterans in Kansas are leading in the organization of a new patriotic society. There are few Civil War soldiers living, and the members of the Sons of Veterans are beginning to grow old. It is the purpose of the new organization to keep alive the memories of the Civil War by including in this new organization all descendants—sons and daughters and grandchildren of soldiers who served in the struggle for national Union.

Chanute is the national headquarters of this new society to be known as the Sons and Daughters of the Civil War. Col. C. S. Nation, its originator and first president, is a former state commander of the Sons of Veterans.

The eligibility cause, as adopted at the preliminary organization meeting admits all lineal descendants of men who fought for the Union as soldiers, sailors or marines, also the wives of husbands of such descendants. The founders of the new patriotic society will urge organizations in every state, requesting Sons of Veterans in every community to lead in establishing local chapters.

TO SEIZE RUNNERS ANYWHERE AT SEA

of the United States government to search and seize American vessels engaged in illicit trade anywhere on the high seas was upheld today by the Department of Justice.

Under an opinion by Attorney General Sargent, any vessel of American registry may be seized for violations of the prohibition and customs laws whether or not it is within the territorial water of the United States.

Cites Court of Appeals. Sargent's ruling was based on decisions in the federal court of appeals, which set mandates of lower courts holding that the government may seize American vessels only when they are within the 12-mile limit.

Such an interpretation placed American ships in the same category as those flying foreign flags. Since many rum smugglers fly the American flag the coast guard was placed at a serious handicap in fighting this class of liquor runners.

Aids Coast Guard. Officials said that the decision places a new and effective weapon in the hands of the Coast Guard in fighting smugglers.

Coast Guard commanders probably will be notified to disregard the 12-mile limit in operation against American smugglers. Ships flying no flag probably will come within the same classification.

STEAM SHOVEL ON TEAR, OPERATOR HOLDS FAST

Huge Machine Plunges Down Hill, Goes Over Bank and Man Is Little Hurt.

East Haven, Aug. 3.—A steam shovel owned by the New Haven Water Company, slid out of control on Bradford Hill here today, rolled a quarter-mile down the state highway, went through a fence, and turned over on its side at the bottom of a ten-foot embankment, while the operator, who stuck to the machine all the way, escaped with a broken foot.

Heavy traffic, city-bound, was delayed while drivers and passengers climbed out to watch the flight of the machine, expecting to see the operator killed in the crash.

CREDITORS RUN PRATT CONCERN, DEEP RIVER

Search for Missing Owner Goes On, as Endorsers' Lawyer Operates Factory.

Deep River, Aug. 3.—The Phillip R. Pratt company opened its doors today under the management of E. H. Lounsbury, a Hartford attorney, after the plant, which makes novelties, had been closed since Friday evening. No trace has been found of Mr. Pratt, who disappeared last week after leaving a farewell note to his wife.

Continuation of the company decided upon by three local men who endorsed Pratt's note for $10,000. They are John Christianson, Ernest L. Prann and Daniel R. Kane. While Pratt's factory is being operated for him, every effort is to be continued to find him or his body.

EVIDENCE GONE IN HALL CASE, SAYS SIMPSON

Papers Missing, Witness Fades Away— Can Indict Three Men and a Woman, He Declares.

Somerville, N. J., Aug. 3.—State Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in the reopened investigation of the Hall-Mills murders case, in which Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall is charged with the murders, today announced that he had encountered barriers in his preparations of his case.

A valuable witness has disappeared, said Simpson, and important evidence is missing. Simpson said, however, that the authorities were in possession of sufficient evidence to warrant the indictment of a woman and three men. Several witnesses have "positively identified" these suspects, said the senator.

Disappeared Promptly. The missing witness disappeared shortly after the new probe was under way, Simpson declared.

Evidence missing, according to Simpson, included: A handkerchief initialed "N" found at the scene of the murder by a newspaper man. Statements made by important witnesses which were placed in the jail safe.

Reports on the official autopsies. Simpson also said that a county detective, working on the case from the start, had cleaned the Rev. Dr. Hall's spectacles found where the bodies were lying, thus removing any traces of finger prints.

To Re-enact Crime. The senator reiterated his statement that he considered Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," a valuable witness and that he would possibly re-enact the whole murder scene using dummies to represent the bodies of the Rev. Dr. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Simpson plans to examine all the witnesses. It was considered probable that a special grand jury would be summoned.

New Witness Story. A witness, who lurked in the shadows of the Phillips farm, and saw Hall and Mrs. Mills shot to death has been found by investigators and is ready to tell the story of the killing.

Another today's sensation in the renewed investigation of the crime. The eye-witness, whose name has been carefully guarded, already has given information to Gov. Moore, State Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor announced, and the story is said virtually to substantiate that of Mrs. Gibson.

The "pig woman" story is that she saw a man whom she could not identify kill the pastor and Mrs. Mills, that another man and Mrs. Hall were at the scene and that the woman wept over the body of the minister.

Another development today was an announcement from Senator Simpson that Patrick Hayes, for twenty years chief of police at Hoboken, N. J., and well-known as a criminal investigator, had been retained as special investigator.

150,000 BEG FOR LIVES OF WALTHAM BANDITS

Mammoth Petition Goes to Bay State Governor for Commutation of Sentence.

Boston, Aug. 3.—Carry a petition for clemency to which the signatures of more than 150,000 persons have been affixed, friends and relatives of the three youths, Edward H. Heinlein, John F. Malachuk and John J. Devereaux, sentenced to die in the electric chair at Charlestown for the Waltham car barn murder, today appealed to Gov. Fuller to save the trio from death.

Men and women who have been working day and night for weeks obtaining signatures to the clemency petition, went to the State House to deliver the petition and to make personal appeals to the governor for commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment.

HUNT FOR YOUTHS WHO HOLD GIRLS CAPTIVES

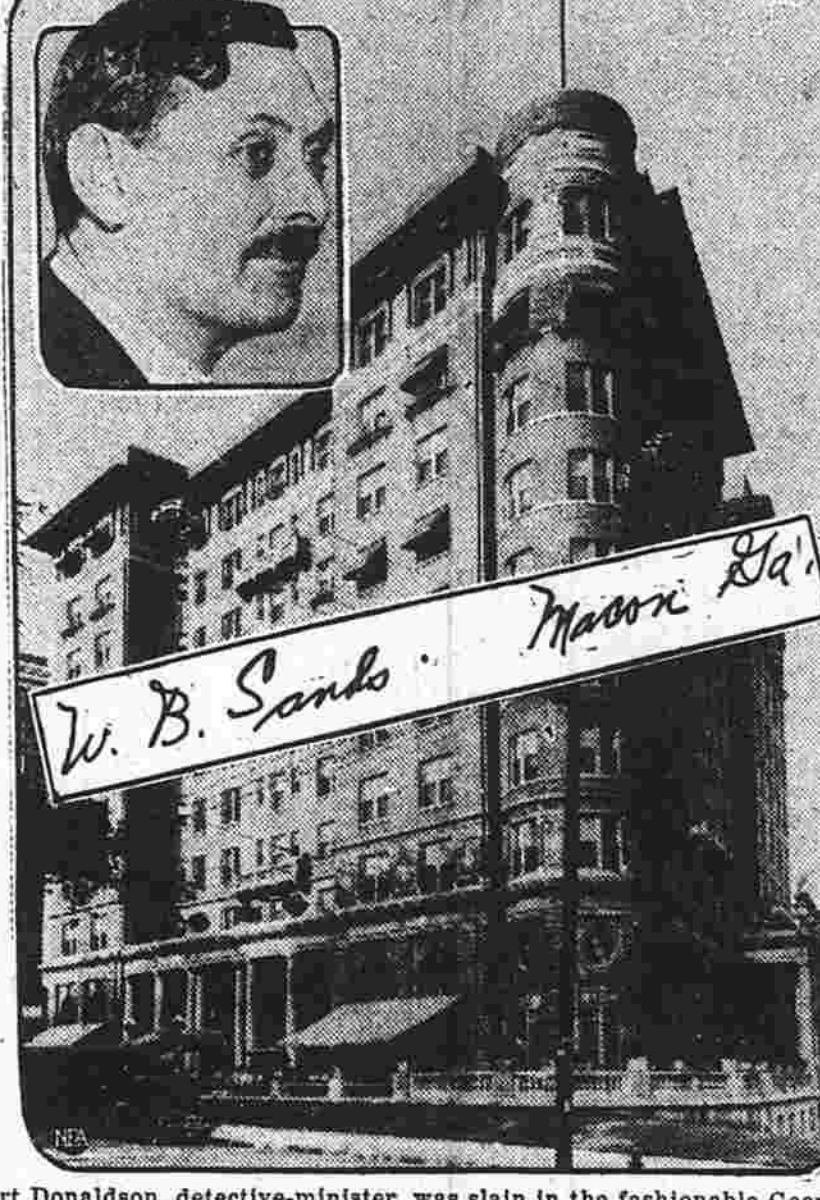

Methuen, Mass., Aug. 3.—Hunt for three youths who are alleged to have kidnaped two 17-year-old Lawrence girls at Gun Point, was made with vigor today through Pleasant Valley.

Malvina Neurosky of Lawrence, was believed to be still in the power of the youthful kidnapers. Archangel of Lawrence, escaped after being held prisoner for a week.

Georgia's Murder Mystery

Bert Donaldson, detective-minister, was slain in the fashionable Georgian Terrace hotel, Atlanta, Ga., because he "knew too much," according to Solicitor General J. A. Boykin of Georgia, his chief. A former pal of "Dutch" Anderson, Donaldson reformed in Atlanta penitentiary, entered the ministry, and later exposed a $1,000,000 swindle syndicate—members of which he was still hunting when he was killed. Picture shows the hotel, Donaldson (inset), and the signature "W. B. Sands" on the register, only clew to identity of the occupant of the room in which Donaldson's body was found. "Sands" is being sought.

COOLIDGE ROUNDS OUT THIRD YEAR

Spokesman Finds Period Is Marked by Unprecedented Prosperity.

White Pine Camp, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Unprecedented prosperity and economic stability have marked the three years of the Coolidge administration, the White House spokesman declared here today, the third anniversary of Calvin Coolidge's "White House incumbency."

Reviewing the events of the past 35 months, the Coolidge spokesman analyzed the business and industrial situation at home and the economic situation abroad, and found the United States fully recovered from the devastating effects of the world war and Europe well on the way to recovery.

Tax Cuts Great Aid. The double tax reduction effected in the past three years, in the opinion of President Coolidge, has been largely responsible for America's healthy condition. Solving of the German reparations problem, he feels marked Europe's first major stride toward recovery.

Outstanding among the achievements of the administration were enumerated: Funding of the world war debts; restoration of relations with Mexico; adherence to the world court; the new immigration law; the railroad labor law.

DIRIGIBLE LOS ANGELES COMING TOMORROW

New England Trip to Follow Trial Flight Today With Aviation Chief Aboard.

Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 3.—E. P. Warner, newly-appointed assistant secretary of the navy for aviation, was expected to go aloft in the dirigible Los Angeles on a brief trial flight in this vicinity this afternoon. Lieut. Commander Rosendahl, commander of the ship, announced today. Warner is making his first visit to this naval air station.

Following this afternoon's flight, the Los Angeles will be moored to its station here tonight and tomorrow will start on its New England trip, which is expected to take two days.

Hottest of Days Failed to Boost July Above Normal

New Haven, Aug. 3.—Though July produced the hottest day ever recorded here, the month failed to go far above normal in temperature, according to the regular report issued here today by Leonard M. Tarr, head of the federal weather bureau office. Its mean temperature of 71.7 degrees was one-tenth of a degree above normal, and was the same as the mean temperature of July, 1924. The report shows also that the seven months of the year to August 1 have been considerably below normal in temperature.

In the matter of rain, July was 1.72 inches behind the normal, having had 2.6 inches where it should have had at least 4.78 inches, and the year to August 1 was 6.14 inches behind the normal.

The bullet-riddled bodies of the two were found in an automobile in front of the Joseph Broadwell farm house near here.

BRITISH RUM 'OUT,' ASSERTS GEN. ANDREWS

Deal With London Government Will Keep 'Out' Liquor, Says Dry Leader; Not Resigning Now.

By Milton Bronner
London, Aug. 3.—"British rum will be kept out of America by the united efforts of American and English authorities," said General Lincoln Andrews, American representative at the London conference on rum running, to me just before he sailed for home.

At the conference, the board of trade, the English colonies, the navy, the foreign office, and the customs of Great Britain were represented.

"150 P. C. Successful." "My trip has been 150 per cent successful," Andrews went on. "The British government officials met us in the greatest spirit of cordiality. I found them as eager as we to put a stop to the illegal registry under the British flag of ships owned by Americans and other foreigners."

"They are equally opposed to illegal clearances. When we presented the facts in our possession, the British were quicker than we to suggest effective remedies.

"The plans formulated in nowise will interfere with legitimate British shipping," or extend the right of search."

Won't Disclose Plans. What these plans are, General Andrews refused to say. "To tell them now would tip off our hand to the bootleggers," he declared. "The latter will doubtless seek to outwit us, but with British contacts and the understanding now firmly established, we will find a way to circumvent the illegal traffic."

"To my amazement, I found the big English distillers equally eager to prevent smuggling. They are eager to maintain the reputation of their brands for purity. They know bootleggers dilute their product with industrial alcohol and other dopes and fool the gullible buyers of America into believing the liquor is all genuine bonded stuff."

Not Resigning Now. "If we effectually suppress smuggling, American buyers will know they are purchasing fake stuff. I believe the new regulations will immensely help us. I am not resigning at present, for I want to put into effect what we have accomplished here. However, I am not hanging on to this job for long. "Congress could help real prohibition immensely by making it possible to employ former army officers in the dry service."

NEGRO IS OPPONENT OF SENATOR CURTIS

Kansas Primaries, on Today, Fail to Stir Interest as Wheat Breaks Record.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 3.—Kansas primaries opened today with no exceptionally heavy vote expected. What interest is manifest is chiefly local in character. Record-breaking wheat harvests throughout the state have killed interest in even the famed "midwestern revolt."

The Democratic voters will choose between ex-Governor Jonathan M. Davis, recently acquitted on charges of selling a pardon while in office, and Donald Muld, Golden B. Davis opposes Gov. S. Paulsen, who is trying for the Republican nomination to succeed himself. Senator Charles Curtis, Republican floor leader, seeks re-nomination against a negro, Nick Chiles, of Topeka.

TWO SLAIN, SUSPECT TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Ohio Man Shoots Himself Dead as Sheriff Comes in Triangle Murder Case.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 3.—Ray Ross, 46, of Felicity, Ohio, killed himself early today at his home with a revolver shot when Sheriff Fred Croswell, of Clermont county, went to arrest him in connection with the murder last night of Mrs. Mamie Metzger, 32, divorcee, of Chillicothe, O.

The bullet-riddled bodies of the two were found in an automobile in front of the Joseph Broadwell farm house near here.

Ross shot himself when the sheriff went to his home, dying instantly, according to a report from the sheriff's office at Chillicothe.

58 YEARS AT ANVIL AND NO VACATION

Long Island Smith Chases Record of His Dad, Which Was 8 Years Longer.

Tiverton, R. I., Aug. 3.—Fifty-eight years at the anvil without a single vacation is the record of Edwin F. Hamby, veteran blacksmith, now seventy-six years old.

Hamby is out to equal the record of his father, who stood for sixty-one years at the forge here.

"I never take a vacation," said Hamby. "First, I wouldn't know what to do with myself. Second, some of the neighbors around here might want some work done and I'm the only smith hereabouts."

The blacksmith of Tiverton believes he has shod his last yoke oxen. "I don't know of another yoke of oxen around here and this yoke is to be sold in the fall," he said.

The old smith is filled with antiques—fireplaces, toasters, stagecoach steps, Revolution-ary-time saddle bags, flint-lock guns and other treasures. But Hamby will not hear of selling any of them.

CHANNEL, POVERTY BEAT MISS BARRETT

New York School Teacher Loses Gallant Fight to Swim from Dover.

Dover, England, Aug. 3.—Clara-belle Barrett, New York School teacher, gave up her attempt to swim the English Channel at 5:25 o'clock this morning when within two miles of Cape Gris Nez on the French coast.

Miss Barrett wept bitterly when she was lifted into the motor launch which had been chugging patiently behind her ever since eight o'clock yesterday morning when she started the cross-channel swim. She was completely exhausted.

The launch bearing the exhausted swimmer turned about and put into Dover at 8 o'clock this morning. A large holiday crowd, waiting at the wharf, cheered Miss Barrett enthusiastically.

Is a Big Woman. Miss Barrett is 32 years old. She is the giantess among the channel swimmers, being six feet tall and weighing 210 pounds. She is reported to have been handicapped by a lack of funds throughout her preparations. Her period of training was considerably abbreviated for this reason and it was said that for the same reason she was forced to start from the English side, considered by experts the least desirable from which to start the swim.

Miss Barrett had been in the water 21 hours and 40 minutes and had covered 40 miles. This is probably the best record made by any woman in the channel swimming competition and compares favorably with the best records made by male swimmers.

Gertrude Ederle gave up her attempt last year after being in the water eight hours. She covered in that time twenty-three and a half miles.

Nurse Cop Beaten Again. Cape Gris Nez, Aug. 3.—Olaf Farstad, Norwegian policeman, met defeat at the hands of the English channel today, for the second time in ten days. Farstad was forced to give up his attempt to swim the channel at 1 o'clock this afternoon, after having been in the water for nine hours and twenty-nine minutes.

Heavy seas and a driving rain made it impossible for the Oslo policeman to continue his courageous effort.

Farstad's failure today is the third in a series of failures. In 36 hours, Clara Belle Barrett of New York and Dr. George Brewster of London having been forced to abandon their attempts, which they started yesterday.

Farstad's decision to make a second trial came suddenly. The swimmer, it is reported, was waiting at Calais for the steamer to take him back to Norway when a message arrived informing him that the police department of Oslo had extended his leave of absence and that friends had subscribed the money necessary to defray his expenses.

Farstad turned back, arriving at Gris Nez yesterday afternoon. He slept peacefully through the afternoon awaiting at midnight refreshment. Three hours later, when the tide had turned, he dove off the rocks.

PAPAL BAN ON MEXICO, BERLIN REPORT SAYS

Interdict Issued Today; Act Comes at Time When Both Sides Are in Parley for Settlement.

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Pope Pius today issued an interdict against Mexico, according to reports received here from Rome. The holy father's action was the result of the Mexican government's recent orders concerning the Catholic clergy, it was reported.

(Up to the present the Vatican has declared that the Pope did not favor an interdict upon Mexico, feeling that the suspension of the cult is sufficiently drastic action for the present.)

There has been no confirmation of the Berlin report that an interdict has been ordered, from any other source.)

Mexico City, Aug. 3.—Direct negotiations for the settlement of the dispute between the Mexican government and the Roman Catholic Church are in progress, it was reported this afternoon.

These reports were supported by the fact that Pascual Diaz, Bishop of Toluca, today for the second time, called at the office of Attorney-General Romeo Ortega and held a long conference with the attorney-general.

Neither the attorney-general or Bishop Diaz would discuss the conference, but it was stated that the archbishopric that Bishop Diaz has been given authority to speak for the Church in all matters.

Police Guards Withdrawn. Mexico City, Aug. 3.—The deadlock between the Mexican government and the Catholic church today seemed tighter than ever, but the tenacity of the situation appears to have been somewhat relieved.

Police guards have been withdrawn from the churches in many places, and additional military stationed in the streets have returned to their barracks.

The control of the churches has passed into the hands of municipal committees in almost every district of Mexico, and they have been opened again for services conducted by lay-readers.

Thus far the economic boycott, put into effect by the Catholics, has not resulted in any general tie-up of business.

Although the early peace overtures have been rejected by the government, it is believed that renewed efforts are being made to bring about some sort of an accord.

Calles Stands at. President Calles stands pat in his insistence that the laws must be administered in full force, and at present it is difficult to see how a compromise can be reached that will not be a backdown for one side or the other.

The churches have been rather largely attended for prayer, the faithful carrying out the instructions of the clergy prior to their leaving. There is frequent prayer in the churches during the period of absence of the priests.

Reports were current today that United States Consul General Weddell has filed a report with the State Department, concerning the closing of the Episcopal church of San Jose De Garcia, an American institution, which is tantamount to a protest, and that the United States government may be drawn into the controversy.

Archbishop Jose Maria Mora y Del Rio, head of the Catholic church in Mexico, is still occupying his private offices, and while refraining from all church services, it is understood that he continues to function in connection with secular business of the church.

The archbishop today received the correspondent of the International News Service and requested that the American people, both Catholics and Protestants, be thanked on his behalf for "their manifest sympathy for the Catholic church in Mexico during the present trials."

The alleged plot against the life of President Calles appears now to have been thoroughly squelched, with the arrest of seven more alleged plotters, thus making a total of fifteen in jail for this conspiracy.

Little Fear of Disorder. The police are on the alert for other plots of this sort, but it is believed that the order which has prevailed is indicative of an intent by the people in general, except for a handful of extremists, perhaps, to leave the working out of this difficult situation to the recognized leaders of the government and the church.

Catholic leaders point to the order which has prevailed as evidence of their intent to pursue only peaceful measures in carrying out their struggle.

U. S. Protest Unlikely. Washington, Aug. 3.—The state department today made public the report of Alexander W. Weddell, consul-general at Mexico City, on Chicago, Aug. 3.—The adoption of a platform by the Crowe-Barrett republican organization of Chicago, denouncing the world court and all "entangling alliances with Europe," brought about the nomination of Frank L. Smith, for the United States Senate, William Hale Thompson, former mayor, testified today at the Senate inquiry into the Illinois primary.

SLAYERS BEHEADED AFTER KILLING CREW

Weird Tale of Years Ago Told by Civil War Veteran Who Died Recently.

"I'd rather not have this tale told in the newspapers while I am alive. After I am dead—"

This remark was made about a year ago by William Ferguson, of Charter Oak street, Civil War veteran who died recently.

In the course of his remarks at the funeral, Ferguson said that he had written the story and tried to sell it to magazines. For some reason he could not sell it. The Herald reporter to whom he was talking asked if he could use it and Mr. Ferguson then said that he would not give up trying to sell it while he was alive but after he was dead he did not care what became of it.

MAD GRABS FOR GENERAL MOTORS

Price Leaps 10 Points if Few Minutes as Morgan Man Talks of 100 Rise.

New York, Aug. 3.—A rush to buy General Motors stock precipitated a near-riot on the floor of the stock exchange today. Brokers struggled and tugged at each other in a wild scramble to execute their orders.

The stock soared ten points in the first half-hour of trading, and sold at the record high price of $211 1/4 a share in blocks of from $200 to 5,000 shares. An overnight gain of 4 to 5 points was only a moderate advance compared to the roaring market for the stock which developed with the influx of buying orders from all sections of the country.

KIWANIANS CAMP A POPULAR PLACE

Girls Start Today for Summer Resort—Boys Gained on Average 2 1/2 Pounds.

That the Kiwanis fresh air camp for children at Hebron is accomplishing something in the regeneration of boys and girls who have not the privileges that other children have is shown by the figures given out today which state that the average gain in weight of the first 40 boys at the camp was two and one half pounds.

Director Lloyd Russell, who has been in charge of the camp for the first two weeks of its existence, will tell the members of the Kiwanis club tomorrow at luncheon of the good that the place is doing for the poor children of Manchester.

The Funeral of Abe Lincoln's Son

A meager group of immediate relatives were the only mourners attending last rites for Abraham Lincoln's son, Robert Todd Lincoln, at Manchester, Vt., where he died. Members of his family had specified a funeral of strictest privacy. The photograph shows the body being placed temporarily in a vault in Bellwood cemetery, Manchester. Later it will be removed to Springfield, Ill. The pallbearers included Lincoln Isham of New York and Robert T. Lincoln Beckwith of Washington. Robert T. Lincoln's grandsons.

WORK SPEEDS UP ON CENTER STREET

Connecticut Co. Makes Good Progress in $250,000 Improvement.

Rapid progress is being made by the workmen for the Connecticut Company in tearing up the tracks on Center street in connection with the $250,000 improvements which are being made.

Today the tracks had been torn up as far as the South Manchester Railroad bridge. This goal was reached late this afternoon. The concrete will be filled in as quickly as possible.

Concrete Work.
It was announced today that the concrete work will be commenced Monday morning at Adams and Olcott streets and will progress along the eastbound track until the men catch up with the steam shovel. The concrete work is to be done by the Edward Balf company, Hartford contractors.

Bankruptcy Petitions.
New Haven, Aug. 3.—J. Ralph Jones, a Greenwich truckman, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in United States District court here. His liabilities amount to $3,701 while his assets total $2,155. Samuel Friedman, president of the Columbia Leather Goods Corporation, of New London, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy with assets far above liabilities. His company owes $47,869 and has assets of $144,168. Much of the assets are in accounts due.

TOWN FLOWER SHOW FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Entries invited from all over town—prizes offered—At North End Playground at 2.30 o'clock.

What promises to be another interesting event on the North End playground was announced yesterday as a flower show. The show will open at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the playground, and it is open to everybody that is a lover of flowers, to anyone who has a garden and has a particular pride in any flowers of his own growing. Director Washburn announced that the only rules in entering the show are that there will be two classes, the first of which is the amateur, the second those who have gone in to the growing of flowers more seriously.

There will be prizes awarded for the best individual blossom, the best bouquet of flowers and one for the best flowering plant. Each contestant must furnish his or her own container for their own particular entry. There will be tables furnished to display all entries. Entry may be made by calling G. H. Washburn, telephone 2083. All entries must be in by Friday at 12 noon.

This event should prove an enjoyable one for the flower loving public, particularly when so many gardens are just now in full bloom. Director Washburn stated yesterday the common garden variety of flower should not be slighted as many of them make beautiful bouquets.

STONE AND WEBSTER IN NEW FLORIDA PROMOTION.

Boston, Aug. 3.—Subject to completion of the detailed arrangements, Stone and Webster, Inc., of Boston, will form a syndicate to subscribe $2,500,000 for a new corporation to complete the development of Davis Island, a real estate project in the mouth of the Hillsboro river and within a half-mile of the city hall of Tampa, Florida. This announcement was made by Stone and Webster today.

The project calls for extensive construction which is expected to begin forthwith. Stone and Webster will direct the financial affairs of the new enterprise; and will do the construction work.

TALCOTTVILLE CORPS WINS THREE PRIZES

Journey to Boston and Return With Beautiful Trophies.

Some of the largest and most beautiful trophies ever seen in this section were brought back by the Talcottville Fire and Drum corps from a field day and series of contests in Boston on Saturday. The local organization won three first prizes and one second, all large cups.

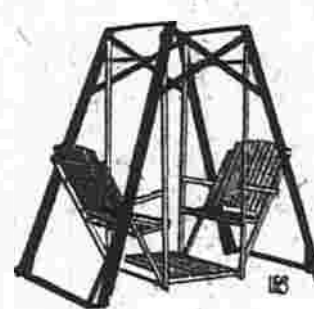

First among the prizes was one for the drum corps coming the farthest distance to the affair. Another first prize was won by Louis Smith as the best bass-drummer, and the third went to William Monaghan, fifer. Second prize was given to Joseph Ferguson in the fifing contest.

MELLOU'S TRIP.

The curiously conflicting stories concerning Secretary Mellon's European trip leave the ordinary American at a loss to know just what to believe—whether Mr. Mellon is in Europe for his health and for recreation exclusively, or whether at least part of his purpose there is to confer with governments of various countries concerning their economic and financial situations.

Just the same it is permissible to hope that there is more truth in the affirmations that he is investigating than in the denials. If there is one thing more than another concerning which the American public is all mixed up it is the actual economic state of Europe as a whole and of its various countries. We are fed propaganda by the ream. Hundreds of individuals of no responsibility and in many cases no especial qualification for the task have made independent surveys of the situation. No two of them agree wholly, save where two or more are employed by the same propaganda agency.

Even our government has had to stagger along, for years, with less exact knowledge of conditions in Europe than any business house would think of accepting concerning its debtors. There is nobody in America better qualified to dig out and assimilate and place in orderly array the facts concerning Europe's financial and economic status than Andrew W. Mellon. We very much hope that when he comes back he will be primed with dependable knowledge on what is, after all, the most important of all subjects to America.

CARAWAY-SMITH.

Senator Caraway of Arkansas having given out an interview in which he declared that Governor Al Smith of New York will certainly be defeated if he wins the presidential nomination of the Democratic party, the New York Times proceeds to put the Arkansas senator—who of course is a Democrat himself—on the grill.

"This is religious bigotry gone to seed," says the Times. "It is not only an affront to the American spirit but an insult to common sense." So long as such a thing is not ashamed to show its head in the United States we had better not point the finger of scorn at Mexico.

Here we have the spectacle of a great newspaper, celebrated for the moderation of its views, hurling indignant obprobrium at the reporter of a fact because it does not like the fact.

As a matter of truth it is improbable that there is any real bigotry in the situation. Not one voter out of six in this country, probably, would care a rap about the individual religious views of a United States President, and the rest would not be greatly concerned, with the exception of a small and unimportant group. The thing that would prevent Al Smith from being elected is not religious at all, in any true sense. It is apprehension of the intrusion of an outside political power, possessing a certain peculiar leverage, into the affairs of the United States.

Just within a few days there have been several assertions and as many contradictions of a report that the Roman Catholic church had either completed or was contemplating excommunication of all persons concerned with the execution of the church laws of Mexico. Evidently the stroke has at least been given serious consideration. And right there is the germ of this whole problem in the United States. There are millions of Americans who honestly believe that a situation might arise where Rome would rise superior to Washington in the control of American affairs.

And it is the grim determination to prevent any such possibility that would affect the votes of many hundreds of thousands of them.

The utter unlikelihood of any such thing, the practical impossibility of it, the absolute patriotism of Catholic as well as of Protestant or Jew, cannot counteract what a great many non-Catholics believe to be a theoretical if remote possibility. And until the Catholic church can convince these skeptics that the ban of the Vatican not only will not but cannot be imposed on the temporal decisions of a great nation, the political factor pointed out by Senator Caraway—and as well recognized by millions who keep their mouths shut about it—will continue to exist.

It is utterly regrettable. It limits the privileges and rights of citizenship to millions of our best Americans. It shuts the door of the presidency in the face of many splendid statesmen. But it is folly to pretend that it does not exist. A difference in religious faith has nothing whatever to do with it. Fear of alien domination through a spiritual influence has everything to do with it.

To this newspaper the fear seems utterly ridiculous, preposterous. But it is a fact that it exists. And facts are to be faced, not blinked.

MUSHROOM GROWTHS.

Eagerly we relate the one instance that comes to notice of a beneficiary, outside of the bootlegger and the salaried dry sleuth, of the institution of prohibition. At Herman, Mo., a big wine company has a great system of wine cellars which cost a lot of money and which the dry laws rendered seemingly valueless. Instead of despairing and committing suicide, however, the company officials evolved the bright idea of devoting these cellars to the raising of mushrooms. Now the middle west is getting more mushrooms than it ever heard about before, the company is thriving and everything is lovely.

On the other hand: Time was when half the cellars on the lower west side in New York city had mushroom beds in them—a fact never generally known but none the less true. It is some years since anybody has heard of such a thing as a native New York mushroom. Is it possible that the cockney mushroom gardens have given way to the more profitable and more exciting still? Perhaps, after all, the dry laws have resulted more in a shift of locations than in a basic change in products.

REAL NEWS.

Special Prosecutor Designate Simpson, named, but not yet confirmed to carry on the prosecution of the Hall-Mills murder case, declares that he purposes to delve deep into the circumstances of that notorious crime.

That is exactly the point. This New Jersey tragedy has attracted nation-wide attention, not at all because of its "mystery" or of any especially baffling features in the double murder itself—but because of the obvious apathy and ineptitude of the authorities.

It has never been the killing of the minister and the choir singer, it has not even been the singularly distinctive cast of characters in the drama—the arrogant rich woman, her smug young husband, her freakish nit-wit brother, the "pig woman," the murdered woman's daughter who sold her mother's love letters—but the amazing performances of those charged with enforcement of the law, which has intrigued the interest of the public to so great an extent.

If it is now actually intended to get to the bottom of the mystery—Who got the money? Whose? How much? How on earth could they get away with it—there is prospect of news out of New Jersey such as will double discount any actual solution of this tawdry homicide itself.

NO SHUTTLES.

Manchester is a town of looms. Thousands of its folks are familiar, intimately or in a general way, with their operation. The idea of a loom without a shuttle will be startling to most of them. Yet one Herr Gabler, in Germany, has invented such a machine, according to report, and it is declared that it will revolutionize the whole business of weaving. Already it is in use in several South German manufacturing plants.

Instead of shuttles, the Gabler looms is said to have two rods that carry the threads and perform all intermediate operations without any changing of the apparatus. One employe, it is declared, can operate 24 of these looms on classes of work where twelve to 16 looms of the shuttle type would be the limit.

There is said to be no breaking of threads and of course no flying out of shuttles.

Perhaps it may be a long, long time before there is any application of this German principle to Manchester silk weaving, if ever. But because it is a mechanical revolution in a system that has existed since the dawn of civilization it is interesting.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS

By CHARLES P. STEWART.

Washington, Aug. 3.—With nearly everybody else of consequence at the seashore, in the mountains or taking life easily in some other cool spot, "I find Washington a desirable place in which to work during the mid-summer months," observes President William Green of the American Federation of Labor.

It was 99.5, too, by the weather bureau's thermometer, the day Green made this remark, and unofficial instruments were away over 100.

Nevertheless, the A. F. of L. head really did look cool and comfortable. The truth is that William Green is a calm, even tempered individual, who doesn't let little things like weather get on his nerves.

Green looks the part of a president of the A. F. of L. He looks it even more than Samuel Gompers did.

Gompers looked like a great man—a statesman. He lacked stature, but there was power in his face, and genius. So far as appearances were concerned, he might have been president of anything—a railroad or the United States Steel Corporation or the United States itself. But there was a little about his looks to suggest that he ever had worked with his hands, though of course he had.

Green suggests the practical working man—a high type, but it doesn't strain the imagination to visualize him as a miner, and right on the job, in a real mine.

Gompers obviously was conscious of his greatness. It wasn't conceit. He was intellectually away above what he appraised himself, however, at what he was worth. You knew, in conversation with him, that you were talking to a potentate.

Green is wholly unassuming. He sits at his desk in his shirt sleeves, anybody can get in to see him who has even a moderately good excuse, and if you didn't know it in advance, you'd never guess who and what he is, he's so completely free from any traces of "side."

Gompers was brilliant. Green is substantial. He has a chunky, powerful figure, of medium height. His face is square and resolute. It's serious—not much inclined to smile. His own's whole makeup hints at the sacrifice of the ornamental in the interests of strength.

As president of the A. F. of L., Green has all the marks of a man who knows his job from the ground up.

He's a smooth-running machine—efficient and thorough but unhurried.

His composure of manner is his striking external characteristic. He talks readily. He doesn't scintillate, as Gompers did, but he's familiar with the labor situation, in all its ins and outs. When he's asked a question concerning it, he doesn't have to stop and think. He's done his thinking previously and can answer right off the reel.

It's refreshing in a city of politicians, where the almost universal tendency is to hedge and trim, to find a man of convictions, who speaks straight out.

The A. F. of L. has been lucky in its presidents. It had Gompers, when a genius was needed to create. It has Green, now that an executive is required to consolidate.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 3.—At this season of year the curials are drawn on dozens of the "smart shoppes" of Madison and Park Avenue.

"Signs in the window" read "Close for the summer. Open August 25."

place on Broadway near 44th At this season, also, there is a "Columbia Beach" for here, the idle actors sun themselves when the play season is spent.

The "beach" is a sidewalk crowded with perspiring passers-by. The actors are either "summering in town" or hoping for out-of-town engagements in stock companies and hanging around the agencies. Some days several hundred players will come and go from this spot within a few hours. As usual, most of them try to "put on front."

You will hear "hams" reciting how they expect to go to Newport next week, but had to stay in town to look after next year's contract. And you'll see, also, many prominent stage folk who have been on the road and now seek to bask for a few weeks in the welter of their "beloved Broadway."

A party of enterprising mountaineers succeeded recently in climbing the three highest peaks in Wales, England and Scotland—Snowden, Scafell and Ben-Nevis—within 24 hours.

NEWS FROM SURROUNDING TOWNS

HEBRON

There was a good attendance at the musical comedy "The Church Fair" given at the town hall Friday evening by a chorus of singers from Westchester, Colchester and Hebron under the direction of Mrs. W. O. Seyms, organist at the First Congregational church at Hebron. The entertainment was given for the benefit of the church, and is to be used as a part of the fund being raised for its interior decoration. A fair by the members of the Ladies Aid was also held. Ice cream and a number of fancy articles auctioned off by George Little of Mansfield. A delegation of over one hundred members of the Tolland County Farm Bureau, making an observation trip to the farm show at the southern part of the county on Friday, visited the farm, orchards, herd and poultry of E. T. Smith. The delegation came from Andover, where the farm of Frank L. Hamilton was the first to come under their observation. The line of over thirty cars there, in the Mansfield, where they visited A. E. Anthony, and from there to Willington, where a basket lunch was served on the farms of Gardner Hall, Jr. Rev. John H. Fitzgerald, rector of Christ church, Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, and his mother, Mrs. Helen Fitzgerald of Andover have opened their home here for the month of August. Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Douglas of Boston, who have been enjoying a motor trip through Maine for the past two weeks have returned to their summer home at Hebron. A silver tea is to be given on Friday at the home of Mrs. Everett G. Lord at three, for the benefit of the Hebron Library Association. Mrs. C. J. Douglas will give reminiscences of a recent trip through the Mediterranean in a lecture on "A Bit of Three Continents." Willington Sloane of New York City will play. Services at the Hebron and Gilead Congregational Churches were omitted on Sunday, as the Rev. Mr. Deeter, who has been called to the pastorate of the churches was unable to be present. The Rev. T. D. Martin has returned from his vacation of two weeks and officiated at St. Peter's Church. Two visiting clergymen were present at the morning service, the Rev. J. H. Fitzgerald of Bay Ridge, N. Y., who is here for his vacation, and the Rev. P. M. Kerridge, rector of St. John's Church, New London, who motored over for the service. He was accompanied by Mrs. Kerridge and their son. After the close of the service Carroll Jean, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Friedrich was baptized. The Fred Burnham place, located on the Andover road, has again changed hands, becoming the property of Morris Keefe. It was last owned by the Accident Insurance Company of Michigan, to which company it was sold by Raymond Burnham who became heir to the farm on the death of his father. Mr. and Mrs. James Brown and three children of Glastonbury were guests at the home of Mrs. Edward Fredericks on Sunday. Services at the Seventh Day Advent Church in Hopevale were conducted by Elder C. P. Lillie on Saturday. Mrs. Lillie, accompanied by Mrs. Lillie went to Willington to officiate at a later service there. Paul Broome of South Lancaster, Mass., was the recent guest of his father in Hopevale. Leroy Benzinger has opened a gasoline and food station on the federal road a few miles from his place in Hopevale. Mrs. Ames W. Sisson entertained at her home on Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson and three children, also Mr. Johnson's mother, and his brother-in-law, Mr. Palmer, all of Manchester. Miss Gladys Hough of Hartford spent the week-end at her mother's home, accompanied by a friend from Hartford. During her visit she and her sister, Miss Marjorie and Harriet and her guest visited the seashore at Glant's Neck, Niantic. Mrs. Della Porter who has spent some time at her former home here has gone to spend the present week at the home of her brother, Attorney Herbert Wilcox, in Waterbury. Quite a delegation of Christian Endeavorers from Hebron and Gilead attended the union meeting held in Andover when Mrs. Howard Champe spoke on Mexican conditions. Mrs. Champe is on a vacation from the mission field at Mexico. Her husband, the Rev. H. C. Champe is attending a summer school in Mexico City. This school is attended by thousands of Americans, besides Spanish, Mexican, and others. The particular purpose of the course is to establish friendly international relations. Mr. Champe will join his wife here later in the fall and both with their children will return to Mexico.

COVENTRY

Mrs. Williams and daughter Besie, of New Britain, are visiting at Mrs. Williams' sister Mrs. Walter S. Haven. Howard Walker of Newburg spent the week-end with Miss Ruth Taylor. Mr. Walker is motoring up to his mother's home in Chelsea, Vt. He will stop one night in Boston to see his sister Miss Olive Walker. Mrs. Clayton Carver spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. Noble Loomis. Mrs. Arthur Shepard and children are visiting at Mrs. Shepard's father, Fred W. Chaus. Ralph Hall and three friends motored from Guilford Sunday to visit his aunt Mrs. Foster Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harlow and family motored to Amherst Saturday to attend the wedding of Mr. Harlow's sister. The bride and groom were to start at once for the West but Thursday the bride was in an auto accident, so rather than postpone the wedding she was married sitting in a wheel chair. The doctor thinks she will be able to go West in a few weeks. Charles Christenson of Manchester spent the week-end at the home of Miss Estlin Vinton. Saturday evening the Christian Endeavor Society gave a lawn party on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Vinton. During the evening a rain shower was poured upon Miss Estlin Vinton. Miss Vinton was presented with a small umbrella and told she would find the rules for the game to be played in due time. Upon opening the umbrella she was instructed to go to the gas station and she would find the first drop of the shower. Reaching there she was instructed further until she had found all the gifts which had been found by following the directions. Miss Vinton has the best wishes of her many friends. Miss Dorothy Wood and Oscar Mathensson of Tatfield were Sunday guests in town. Miss Doris Gowdy has returned to work at Hartford after spending a two weeks' vacation in Maine and at home. Miss Ruth Taylor of Hartford spent the week-end with her mother Mrs. A. B. Porter. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and children Sylvia and Clara of Manchester Green spent Sunday with Mrs. Smith's parents Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Loomis. Miss Marion Hill led the C. E. meeting Sunday evening. The topic was "Wise and Unwise Decisions." The Sunday school picnic will be held at Crystal Lake, August 3. Rev. J. N. Atwood will take as his theme for next Sunday "Men Wanted." He has asked anyone wishing a "special book of the Bible" spoken upon to make their desire known to him this week as he will take some book of the Bible for his theme the following Sunday. Rev. J. N. Atwood had a wonderful sermon Sunday morning. He talked on the Ten Lepers that came to Jesus to be healed. All being granted their request, only one took the trouble to return thanks, the other nine going off feeling they had gotten something for nothing, which is so true of so many people today. The grateful still being in the minority. The pastor starts on his vacation next week. The pulpit will be supplied August 22 by Rev. Leon Austin of Pleasant Valley Cal. Mr. Austin was a Coventry boy. His mother is still living in town. August 29 W. I. Woodin, Sunday school state secretary of State Council of Religious Education will speak.

GILEAD

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fish of Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grant of Hartford were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fish. WAPPING

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Frink were Mrs. Frink's father, Frederick G. Easton, of Springfield, Mass., and Mrs. Lida B. Huntley, also of that place. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Round of Tolland and Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Smith of Talcottville. At the Federated Church last Sunday, the pulpit was supplied by Rev. Phreaner of Manchester, who preached an excellent sermon, his text being "Consider the Lilies of the Field." The High school class of girls of the Federated Sunday school, with their teacher, Mrs. Albert E. Stiles, met at the home of Miss Marjorie Stoughton, last Friday evening; after the meeting a social time was enjoyed by all. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robertson, formerly of this place but now from Massachusetts, called on friends here on Sunday. Mrs. Lillie V. Benjamin went to the shore at Milford over the weekend, where her son, C. Vinton Benjamin and family, are spending a week. The funeral services for Mrs. Martha Hubbard Grant, widow of the late Henry Grant, were largely attended on Sunday afternoon from her late home, Edward Taylor of Manchester sang two solos. Rev. Truman H. Woodward officiated. The flowers were many and beautiful. The bearers were Louis Grant, Donald J. Grant, Ralph Wheeler, Clinton E. Tryon, Henry Nevers and Dr. Roberts. The burial was in the family plot in the Wapping cemetery. The postponed Grange meeting from last Tuesday night will be held at Grange hall this evening at 8 p. m., it being Ladies' Night. Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Steele

TALCOTTVILLE

The Talcottville Fife and Drum Corps, who have had their picture in exhibition in Kemp's Music store for the past several weeks, refused to let the honor make them egotistical. On Saturday they journey to Forest Hills, Mass., and in competition with corps from the Boston district brought home four first prizes and one second. They were awarded first prize for playing in the Ancient Music division, first prize for the corps which traveled the longest distance to the outing. William C. Monaghan was awarded first prize for individual fife, this prize was a medal. Joseph Ferguson was given a medal, second prize for individual fife. Louis Smith won first prize a medal, for individual bass drumming. This is the largest number of prizes ever garnered by the local organization at a single meet and the fourteen men who made the trip should feel well repaid for their efforts. Mr. and Mrs. John Prentice and family spent the week-end with Mrs. Prentice's sister, Mrs. Stephen Jewell at Stamford. On Friday evening the Talcottville baseball team evened accounts with "Zira's Zephyrs" of Rockville. The locals were trailing going into the final inning but a batting rally, started by "Eddie" Kelly sent two runs across the plate and the game ended with the score 5 to 5. Hiller of the Rockville team pitched excellent ball but errors by his teammates lost the game for him. Miss Mildred Prentice of Manchester Green was the week-end guest of her cousin Miss Beatrice Truman at her home here. Mr. and Mrs. H. Preston Bennett of Hartford are visiting with Mrs. Bennett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Beebe. Mrs. James Doggart and family of South Lawrence, Mass., are spending a week with Mrs. Doggart's father, Albert Lee. Mr. and Mrs. William Sieberg and family, who several weeks ago moved to Coventry, have returned to town. John G. Talcott, Jr., who has been visiting relatives at Joplin, Mo., for several weeks has returned home. Alfred Pinney has been visiting relatives in Springfield, Mass., for the past several days. Mr. and Mrs. William Frazier and family of New Britain were Sunday guests of Albert Lee.

and son, Frank, of South Manchester, were visitors on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Frink. Mrs. Clarence W. Johnson, who has been in the Manchester Memorial hospital for an operation for appendicitis, returned to her home here on Monday afternoon.

TOLLAND

Mrs. Lizzie C. Graham of Thompsonville has returned home from a visit at the home of Charles Sterry and Miss Bertha Place. Frank Sterret of New York City spent the week-end with his family who are summering here in the village. Several of the members of Tolland Grange are expected to attend the East Central Pomona picnic to be held at Crystal Lake, Wednesday, August 4. Donald Graham of New York City, who has been a recent guest of Charles Sterry in company with Franklin De Haven spent the day, Friday, on Ashin trip. Mrs. Anna Graham of "The Lilies" is a guest of friends in Hartford. Professor Harvey B. Clough and daughter, Doris, Mrs. James Clough, Frank Clough and daughter, Frances, and Miss Barbara Niell, motored to Flushing, Long Island, Friday for a short visit. Mrs. Frank Uhler of Boston is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles H. Daniels. Myron Sparrow has purchased a new Ford touring car of the Bugbee agency at West Willington. Sumner Simpson of New York City was a week-end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Simpson. Miss Florence Meacham in company with Miss Eunice Barrows of Northampton will spend some time touring in Nova Scotia starting Wednesday next. L. Ernest Hall went Friday to Searsport, Maine, where he will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Anderson. "SKINNER'S DRESS SUIT" AT STATE THEATER

At last, a plausible farce, a farce that is fast, funny and furious, yet convincing and possible. We refer to the latest Universal-Jewel, "Skinner's Dress Suit," shown at the State theater today and tomorrow. The picture is a photoplay version of the famous book that was one of the season's best sellers, and is still one of the most popular of the works of Henry Irving Dodge. It is a story of the mishaps and adventures of a young married couple, the Skinners, and of their eventual rise in the social and business world. Skinner is an underpaid clerk, "Honey," his wife, sees in her handsome husband a paragon of commercial acumen and forces him to ask his boss for a raise in salary. Unfortunately, the time selected by Skinner to brace his employer for the increase is a most unhappy one, as that particular moment was chosen by one of the firm's best customers to announce that he would not renew his next year's contract. And poor Skinner is denied his request. Arriving home, he hasn't the heart to tell "Honey," and he makes her believe that he has gotten a ten dollar increase. Overjoyed, she plans to spend the money in advance from their tiny store of savings. The first thing he must buy is a dress suit, in order to keep up with the social life of the town. That is where the real plot of the story begins. The acquisition of the suit, its resultant complications and the frantic efforts of the hapless Skinner to dodge his creditors, who arrive at the most inopportune moments, combine to make the perfect comedy. Crowded houses rocked at the efforts of poor Skinner to justify his wife's belief in his greatness. Reginald Deany, as the star, gave a wonderful performance, in one of the best pictures he has ever done. Laura LaPlante, as "Honey," his wife, is perfect in this role, which is different from anything she has yet done. Hedda Hopper and Arthur Lake as well as E. J. Ratcliffe and Ben Hendricks, Jr., gave eminently satisfying performances. The rest of the cast is ideally suited to their various roles. It includes Lionel Braham, Betty Morrison, Henry A. Barrow, William A. Strauss, Lisle Leslie, Broderick O'Farrell and Lucille Ward. Thursday for one day only the

WALTON FIGHTS FOR OKLAHOMA COMEBACK

Stormy Ex-Governor After the Democratic Nomination; Hanel Has Six Opponents. Oklahoma City, Aug. 3.—J. C. Walton, former governor and commander-in-chief of all Oklahoma's military and civil forces, came back before the voters of his state today in an effort to gain the Democratic nomination for United States Senate, an honor to which he attained two years ago only to meet defeat overwhelmingly by E. B. Pine, Republican. The "iron man" who in 1923 put the whole state of Oklahoma under martial law, called out the national guard, asked for 75,000 volunteers, kept a legislature from meeting by force of arms, appointed "22,000 minute men" to stop an election and set numerous other precedents in a "war against the invisible government of the Ku Klux Klan," and was later impeached, this time opposes four other contestants, one a woman senator who voted to impeach him. Republican candidates for senatorial race nomination are J. W. Buckles, Joe C. Fox, E. G. Bingham, U. S. Stone, Preston Ashing and D. Lafe Hubler.

POE'S STORIES: The Pit and the Pendulum (1)

An accused man sat in the black-draped judgment chamber of the Inquisition. With growing fear he stared at the judges, in their sable draperies, their stern faces and thin lips outlined to him dimly in the light of the seven tall candles on the table. He saw the white lips pronounce the dread sentence. He fainted.

When he came to his senses he was lying on his back, unbound, in one of the black dungeons of Toledo, a torture-chamber of the Inquisition.

Fearfully he rose to his feet, thrusting his arms about to try to learn the nature of the prison.

The prisoner's hand struck a wall and he groped along it, estimating the size of his cell by leaving a piece of cloth where he started. Circling the chamber, he started across it, but fell on the slimy floor. Fear chilled him when he discovered that he lay on the edge of a deep pit. He dropped a stone and it fell far down. This map shows the constellations visible at 9 p. m. Aug. 1, 8 p. m. Aug. 15 and 7 p. m. Aug. 31 in latitude 35 degrees north. As a change of a few degrees in latitude makes little difference in the appearance of the heavens it is practicable for any part of the United States or southern Canada. The map should be held inverted or over the head with top toward the north.

At the times mentioned, two of the most brilliant of the zodiacal constellations, Scorpio, The Scorpion, and Sagittarius, The Archer, are conspicuously in view in the southern sky.

Milky Way.
Scorpio in the southwest is easily identified by the long curved line of bright stars extending toward the southern horizon that outlines the tail of the Scorpion, while the fiery red Antares, a star of the first magnitude, lies in the creature's heart. Sagittarius is readily identified by the little milk dipper that is inverted toward the south.

The Milky Way is particularly beautiful this month, as it arches high across the heavens from Cassiopeia and Cepheus in the northeast through the Northern Cross in Cygnus where it divides sharply into two branches. One of these passes through Aquila and Sagittarius, the other through Ophiuchus, meeting at the southern horizon in Scorpio.

THEY NEVER KNEW TOM SIMS

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JIMMSON WEED, who was called "JIMP" for short, led in to a well and lost his job yesterday.

He was kicked out of his boarding house. He thought up a new way to kill flies and made a million dollars on it, so PEARL HANDLE, the daughter of MR. and MRS. HANDLE, decided to marry him.

Can you imagine such a streak of bad luck in one day?

Well, you certainly should have been there. Just as JIMP was kissing Pearl goodby until today MR. HANDLE, who was MRS. HANDLE'S husband, shot at CUR JIMP.

"When is our wedding, darling?" asked Jimp.

NOW GO AHEAD CHAPTER II

As the first chapter of this novel of the ages closed yesterday we left our Pearl and her irate dad and our Jimp standing on the sidewalk.

The old gent had just fired at our Jimp. The bullet was in the air. It was going directly for our Jimp's heart.

Today we continue the thrilling story exactly where we left off yesterday. The smoke has not cleared away. The bullet is still in the air. The report of the pistol continues.

Readers may have some criticism. They may say no bullet could remain in the air over night. They may think the author was inconsiderate in leaving Pearl and Jimp, and the old gent standing out on the sidewalk for the past 24 hours.

Perhaps the readers are right. Perhaps they are wrong. As far as the shot is concerned, it really did last the specified length of time. And why not? When a man gets half shot he usually stays up all night. So why shouldn't a whole shot stay up 24 hours?

The author was not inconsiderate in leaving the three characters standing on the sidewalk from yesterday, until today. Last night was fairly warm. The old gent, and the matron didn't bother him. And the three are embarking upon numerous adventures and hardships. So last night really was good training for them.

"Whine! Whine! Whine!" whined the bullet.

Jimmson Weed, who was called "Jimp" for short, didn't flinch a single flinch.

He only laughed as the bullet, which had been going directly for his heart, passed three feet to the left of him.

"Dear you," snarled the irate parent. "You moved during the night. That's the first shot I have missed in 40 years."

"Of course I moved," laughed Jimp. "Did you think I was going to let you shoot me when we haven't even been introduced?"

"I'll get you this time," fairly screamed the old gent as he leveled his pistol again. His wrath was so great even a heavy dew during the night had failed to dampen his enferred for shooting.

"You can't shoot here," said a cop who was passing. "That was because he didn't expect to find any trouble here."

"Why not?" shouted the man.

"Don't you see that flivver by the curb?" asked the cop. "If you shoot you might scare that flivver."

"Aw shoot!" exclaimed Mr. Handle, standing around in a great rage and a pair of shoes.

"Move along," said the cop.

"I'll get you yet, young fellow," yelled the old gent. "I'll teach you how to kiss my daughter."

"He already knows how," replied the snippy daughter, who read all the jokes in Life and Judge.

This remark was too much. Her father could stand no more. So he sat down. Our Jimp and our Pearl walked away.

"That's my father," laughed Pearl when they had turned the corner and were out of earshot and gunshot.

"I was guessed as much," said Jimp. "I don't like him. He shoots too well. If that chapter hadn't ended he would have killed me."

"Father doesn't exactly aim to please," said Pearl. "He wants me to marry a rich man. Says I can't earn enough to support a poor man."

"She doesn't know I am rich now," said our Jimp to himself because he didn't know that she did.

They left the city and found a seat by the roadside in the country. They didn't mind the rain. Didn't mind the hail. Because it wasn't raining and it wasn't hailing.

A passing farmer hailed them, but that was all the hail.

"Darling," whispered Jimp as the over the rugs? Will you go to lodge meetings or stay out and play poker all night?"

"No," promised the girl.

"You won't object when I gossip with the neighbors?"

"No," promised the girl.

"Then we'll be married," cried Jimp.

"My Jimp," whispered our Pearl. "My Pearl," whispered our Jimp. "My goodness," whispered the birds and the bees and the trees and the fleas.

"When will we have the wedding, darling?" asked Jimp.

"Oh, not for a long time yet," smiled Jimp's darling. "We must send out invitations so we will get some wedding presents."

"Better make it snappy. Your old man is liable to take a shot at me any minute."

"I think we are safe for the rest of this chapter. Father is looking for you in town."

"I hope so; I don't want to be shot now. I think it is going to be so much fun—being married to a girl like you."

"I think being married to you will be fun. Just think, Jimp, I'll never have to be sorry I didn't marry."

"Yes, and when I get arrested I always can ask the judge to have pity on my wife and family. When I am too broke to buy a can of tobacco I can tear up some of your cigarettes and put them in my pipe."

"I just can't wait until we are married," said Pearl.

"Neither can I," admitted Jimp. "Being a married man has its advantages. Then people won't think I am not making a lot of money simply because I wear old clothes. If the boss says I am foolish I'll know he is right because my wife told me so."

"Won't that be splendid?"

"But Pearl," said Jimp, as a cloud overcast his handsome face. "I am sorry. I can't marry you, Pearl. Don't be silly now, Jimp darling. Why can't you marry me?"

"I can't play bridge. All married people play bridge."

"You must learn," said Pearl, afraid Jimp was slipping. "Come, let's find a minister and get married now."

So the two lovers started out to find a minister. They wanted a good one who would do a permanent job. Down the road they came to a church. Next door to this church was a house upon which they saw a sign, "Marrying Done Here."

After a short delay in finding witnesses our Jimp and our Pearl were lined up for the ordeal.

"Do you promise to love, honor and not play?" asked the minister.

Before Jimp could answer a scuffle was heard in the hall. Pearl's father appeared. "Crack!" said the pistol as he fired.

The bullet struck Jimp directly over the heart and came out his back. "I'm continued tomorrow," he said as he fell.

"Are you dead?" screamed Pearl Handle.

"Have to wait until tomorrow's chapter to see," said Jimp weakly. (To Be Continued)

IS HERB PENNOCK MOST VALUABLE?

I. N. S. Writer Picks Yankee Twirler for Coveted Honor Soon to Be Given.

By FORD C. PRICK.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 3.—Within the next few weeks a committee of sports experts, representing each of the eight American League cities, will be casting about for some deserving ball player upon whom to bestow the honors as the most valuable man in the league.

When that time comes your correspondent has his candidate all picked out.

His name is Herbert Pennock.

HERB PENNOCK

He hales from Kennett Square, Pa., rides to hounds like a true country gentleman, and pitches baseball with his good left hand, aided and abetted by his better and more active brain.

And what we mean he pitches baseball.

Always Good.

If any single individual on the Yankee team has proved his worth during the present campaign it is the slender, pleasant-faced Herbie. In good weather and in heat and in cold, Mr. Pennock has been in there doing his stuff. Never complaining, never grumbling, never arguing, just working hard and saying nothing.

At the time Herbie came to the Yankees back in the spring of 1923 there was some grumbling among New York fans about the price Higgins paid. At the time it seemed that perhaps the mite manager was giving up a numerous and considerable quantity of his human goods and chattels in exchange for one slender pitcher, and a left-hander into the bargain. Today most folks have forgotten who figured in that deal. But they haven't

ERNEST LYNN, author of THE YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOHN and FAY MILBURN buy a home shortly after their baby girl is born and the advertising agency in which John's partner and copy writer lands a new contract. Among their acquaintances are— NOEL and VERA BOYD, whose marriage is strictly "modern."

"I think that same caution," she remarked significantly, "might apply to the advertising profession."

he sat staring into the empty fireplace, agitatedly consuming cigarette after cigarette. He did not go to bed until he was sure that Fay was asleep, and the next morning at breakfast he tried to tell her the whole story. But Fay had thrown around her a cold reserve which he found impossible to penetrate, and it seemed to him as he sat across from her at the table that he was breakfasting with a stranger.

Still smarting under Fay's silent rebuke and her new and strange indifference, John, in a fit of pique, accepted Paul Davidson's invitation for a "party," and two nights later found him in the latter's apartment. Dinner had been laid for four, and presently Paul opened the door in response to a ring and admitted two decidedly ornamental young women.

"Tonight he seems to have outdone himself on both scores," said the girl who was Joyce, an elegantly tall and slender figure in clinging green silk. Mollie, who was strikingly dark and had almond-shaped eyes, a delicate nose and a decidedly oriental appearance, pouted. "Now they go, Joyce," she looked pointedly at John. "You know how I adore Auburn hair."

And so he wandered into the kitchen, where the unscrubbed dinner lay cold, and after a good bit of steak. But he had not eaten a morsel when he was interrupted by a knock. It was a little later that he staggered back to the living room where I or some man friend of Miss Meredith should have some with you. We would have probably busted Smith's head for him.

TOMORROW—A Beautiful Picture. MUCH EMBROIDERY Embroidery was never more decorative than now, and never applied with such novelty or distinction. A sport dress of bois de rose crepe is given a diagonal band of embroidery in shades of gray, white and rose.

and not wanting to disturb her, he went to bed in another room, wondering what sort of explanation he would offer her in the morning.

"I was out with Paul Davidson last night," he told her at breakfast, and as she did not seem inclined to question him further, he let it go at that. Her resentment toward him still seemed to be smoldering, and as he rode down to the office he felt some recrimination; he wasn't acting fair, he told himself; the thing to do was to be perfectly square with Fay from now on.

Some days later there was dinner for the Milburns, and Fay, learning that Clara was in town, included her in the invitation. Dick, John concluded at sight of him, was getting much heavier, and the air of solid prosperity about him seemed to be increasing. "George!" John exclaimed, "taking his hand, 'there must be a lot of sick people. You look like a bloated plutocrat. Who's your tailor?"

"Well, Clara," Margaret said to her younger sister, "you might as well tell the Milburns now." "Why, what's all this?" John asked. "Holding out any secrets, Clara?" Clara smiled feebly. "Nothing much, John. I'm merely getting a divorce."

"Merely! I didn't know such things were considered so trivial." Fay, completely surprised, said, "Goodness, Clara, what's it all about?" and added quickly, "Forgive me. I didn't mean to appear too curious."

"Oh, that's all right, Fay. Clifton is simply impossible to get along with, so I'm quitting—that's all." "That isn't all," Margaret put in with some heat. "Fay, the way that man fooled her and lied to her and misrepresents things generally was positively shameful. I'm surprised that Clara was able to put up with him so long."

"How terrible!" Fay murmured, and John declared, "never could see Clifton Lane for dust, anyway, Clara." "John," Fay remonstrated, "you have no right to say things like that. Can't help it, Fay. Now that Clara's getting rid of him, I can tell her that he impressed me as a four-flusher from the beginning."

"What are the grounds, Clara?" asked John. "Non-support and cruelty. There's the matter of separate residence to be taken care of before I bring suit." "It serves me right, Margaret," Clara said contently, "for marrying before you did and upsetting your plans. Doesn't it, Fay?"

"John looked curious" at his wife, for Fay had been the first to suggest to him that Clara was playing a rather mean trick on her sister. But Fay laid her hand comfortingly on Clara's and said nothing. They discussed Clara's plans for a divorce during the remainder of the meal and, when dinner had been cleared away, Dick began to talk about the medical profession, and John found that a good deal of the responsible Dick had been lost in this keen, successful young doctor.

"Dick," he said with a despairing shake of the head, "you're getting positively reactionary. All I hear is ethics, and six per cent. In the profession, John," he smiled. "I have to be careful, even about taking a drink. You know?" "I think that same caution," she remarked significantly, "might apply to the advertising profession," and her eyes, as she turned them away to avoid John's sharp, inquiring look, were just a little weary.

It takes a fine brand of courage to act our convictions. We dress and build and play and work as others dress and build and play and work, and as we do so, one does not suggest the revolution of fundamental rules of civilized society, but most inhibitions are silly and weak and lie between honest happiness and artificial makeshift. Life is wasting itself while we are preparing to live.

WRINKLES REMOVED "WHILE YOU WAIT" It has been discovered that the mere application of a spoonful of Powdered Tarkroot mixed with a spoonful of lemon juice, actually removes wrinkles and creases in fifteen minutes or less! There's no rubbing, no work, and the expense is trifling—less than three cents! It is only necessary to spread the mixture over the face, sit down before the mirror, and watch those unwelcome marks of age, illness or worry disappear like magic. The effect is incomparably better than that produced by massaging. The mixture of course is perfectly harmless. While on the face a pleasant soothing sensation is experienced. It is easily washed off. Aside from its remarkable effect on age, illness or worry disappear like magic. The effect is incomparably better than that produced by massaging. THE BEAUTY DOCTOR

BY NINON.

Ruth Andrea showing how to eliminate puffiness under eyes.

SYMPTOMS—Puffiness or discoloration under the eyes. DIAGNOSIS—This may be from organic causes, so it is wise to consult a physician for specific diet and treatment for your general health. This also indicates defective circulation that may be improved by massage and vibration.

TREATMENT—Strengthen the circular muscle around the eyes by massage. Using a good nourishing cold cream, and mold from the inner corner of the eyes to the temple, using the finger tips with a gentle tapping motion. Then begin from the bridge of the nose and work above the eye with a firm movement, lifting the skin upward. Afterwards wring pads of cotton from cold water and hold over the closed eyelids, freshening them every few minutes. This is excellent for the nerves as well as for the looks.

100 PRIZES OFFERED FOR FIFERS GATHERING

Trophies Take Up Entire Window Space of Main Street Jeweler.

Entrants in the competitions to be conducted here at the annual convention of Connecticut Fifers and Drummers Association on Friday and Saturday will compete for what is said to be the largest collection of cups and medals ever given away at an affair of this kind in the state. The medals and cups are on display at the store of R. Donnelly, jeweler, at the Center.

Prizes for every conceivable kind of a contest will be offered. There are those for snare drumming, individual fife, piccolo playing, etc., and also for drum corps and bands for appearance, music and general excellence.

Some of the cups will be given the drum corps in the ancient class, that is, drum corps which are costumed in the dress of colonial days. Others are for modern drum corps and flute bands, while a series of medals and cups has been set aside for junior organizations composed of boys.

Included in the display of prizes is a handsome snare drum which will be awarded the best drummer in the contest.

There are probably 100 medals and cups in the display.

OVER 75 ENTERED IN QUEER CONTEST

Children May Bring Pets Along from Goldfish to Goats or Dogs.

More than 75 entries have been received at the West Side Rec for the pet show in which children from both playgrounds in the South End will participate tomorrow afternoon. The affair will begin with a parade around the track at the West Side at 3 o'clock and the judging will take place later.

In the contest will be pets of every description from goldfish to rabbits and dogs. Prizes will be given to the child having the oddest pet, the one having the best trained, and the one who has the pet costumed the prettiest.

Any child, no matter what age, can enter the contest by signing up at the West Side Rec before tomorrow at noon.

Miss Lucy Gill of Northfield, Conn., is visiting for a few days with Miss Lillian Steels of Garden street.

POLICE COURT

Irving H. Batterson of West Hartford, was found guilty this morning by Judge Raymond A. Johnson in the Manchester police court, of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested by Officer R. H. Wirtalla on the afternoon of July 27 on Main street near the Park theater building. The witnesses for the state included Officer Wirtalla, Chief of Police Gordon and Dr. LeVerne Holmes, who examined Batterson at the time of his arrest. All testified that the man had been drinking and was not fit to drive an automobile.

William S. Hyde represented Batterson and introduced three witnesses who had talked with him just prior to his arrest and immediately afterwards, who testified that Batterson was not intoxicated and was in a condition to drive. In his own testimony Batterson admitted that he drank the better part of three bottles of beer for lunch and he admitted that it was stronger than near beer. He maintained that it had no effect on him and that he was perfectly sober. The man who was with Batterson was intoxicated. Judge Johnson found Batterson guilty and imposed a fine of $125 and costs. Through his attorney Mr. Batterson gave notice of an appeal to the September term of the superior court and a bond of $300 was furnished for his appearance at this time.

FIFE-DRUM CONVENTION HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Cups and awards to be given winning bands in Saturday's big Fife and Drum Corps convention here Friday and Saturday are on display in R. Donnelly's window at the Center. The competition for these cups will be held at the McKee street ball grounds Saturday afternoon at 2.30.

The convention will open Friday night. There will be a dance in Orange hall in observance of the opening of the meeting and a parade of some of the corps will go to Depot Square and back.

Saturday, the big parade of 80 drum corps will start at 11 o'clock. The parade will cover a route two miles long but will be unable to go to Depot Square because of the time it would take. The competitions on Saturday afternoon will be open to all for a small admission fee. Children will be admitted at no charge.

Saturday night there will be a dance and a baton swinging contest at the State Armory starting at 7.30.

Residents along the line of march of the Saturday parade are requested to put out flags.

DIES IN IRELAND.
Word was received in town yesterday of the death of William Murray of Portadown, Ireland. Mr. Murray was well known by many local people who had formerly been residents in that section of Ireland.

Mr. Murray is survived by his wife, and a daughter, Mary, both of Ireland, and a son, James, of this town. Death was due to kidney trouble.

WORTH MORE

A HOUSE that's heated with radiator heat is worth a lot more—can be rented or sold for more—than a house that isn't so heated.

Radiator heat adds three times the cost of the heating plant to the value of the house. That's a fact.

The reason is simple: People are willing to pay extra money for real comfort. Then, too, radiator heat saves fuel, dirt and labor.

And another thing: You can save money—also much trouble—by having a new heating plant installed, or an old one repaired, right now—now while the weather is fine.

Let's talk it over. Why wait till cold days force you to think of better heating?

PROCRASTINATION

Isn't it peculiar why people will put off ordering coal until the last minute when they could just as well have their bins filled before the cold weather arrives?

It's human nature to put off until tomorrow what can be done today, but every sudden cold snap keeps us busy writing orders, each order stating "must be delivered at once."

All of which leads us to ask, have you ordered your winter supply of coal?
