CANTON PROBE REACHES JUDGE, COPS, LAWYER

Former Prosecutor Under Arrest; "Got Whole Gang Where I Want Them," Declares U. S. Attorney.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 19.—Whipping the curtains aside on the whole conspiracy that is alleged to exist between members of the "Jungle" and certain Canton officials to pervert the course of justice and the prosecution of law violators, U. S. District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen today revealed that the arrest of Norman Clark, former assistant to the solicitor of Canton, was but the first step in a sensational expose of conditions that led to the shooting of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton News, on July 16.

Took Bribe, Charged
Clark, whose office was that of local prosecutor was arrested late yesterday on information supplied by Louis Mezer that the latter had given him $25 and two bottles of whiskey, in return for which Clark had obtained the return to Mezer of a seized automobile.

The district attorney was highly jubilant today over the success that has so far attended the prosecution of his investigation.

Bernsteen reiterated today that he had dedicated himself to the task left unfinished by Mellett's death—that of cleaning up the city of Canton. In this crusade Bernsteen said he has the cooperation of Attorney Joseph R. Roach and other investigators.

"Got Whole Gang"
"I've got Carl Studer, Louis Mazer, Clark and the rest of the gang where I want them," Bernsteen said this morning. "When I get through with that bunch they'll be sorry they ever forgot there was a prohibition law in this country."

Mazer, who has been charged with Mellett's murder and who is being held incommunicado along with Studer in the county jail, has squealed to some extent. That became known with Clark's arrest.

Known to have been implicated in Mazer's relations of bootlegging activities is a prominent judge of Canton, who held conferences with bootleggers in his official chambers; a number of Canton policemen and a certain well-known Canton detective.

Two Arrests Coming
Arrests of two other men in the Don R. Mellett murder plot is expected momentarily.

The surrender of one of these men, Eugene Patrick McDermott, it is expected, will be effected through a promise that he will not face death in the electric chair.

These statements were given today by an official high in the investigation.

The other man to be arrested shortly, according to the official, is a Massillon merchant.

Through investigating channels it was learned that McDermott left Washington yesterday, where he is reported to have been employed by a barber. He is said to have left for his home in Pennsylvania.

FINGERPRINT SERVANTS IN BREAKERS ROBBERY
Vanderbilt's Lawyer Listing Stolen Gems, Said to Be Worth $300,000 or More.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—Household servants at "The Breakers," summer home of General and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, were questioned and fingerprinted today in the hunt for the robbers who had secured thousands of dollars worth of jewels from the villa two weeks ago.

The fingerprinting was being compared with those discovered on Mrs. Vanderbilt's empty jewel cases, found on an adjoining estate.

The questioning of the servants was done by Chief of Police Patrick L. Sweeney and Attorney Harold Parsons Cross, representing the Vanderbilts.

Attorney Cross was also preparing a list of missing gems but refused to state the total value. Society gossip placed it between $300,000 and $500,000.

ITALIAN PRINCE SLAIN AS HE CATCHES POACHER

Rome, Aug. 19.—Prince Don Umberto Ruspoli, member of one of the oldest aristocratic families of Italy, was shot and killed today by a poacher, whom he had surprised upon the Ruspoli estate near Rome.

The Ruspoli family has been prominently identified with American society, several of its members marrying American women.

AMERICANS FALL IN FRENCH PLANE

Bostonian Killed, 8 Tourists Hurt as Channel Liner Crashes in England.

London, Aug. 19.—Robert Blaney of Boston was killed and eight other Americans injured when the new Farman Goliath plane, cross-channel air liner of the French Air Union, met disaster on Romney Marsh, in Kent, after crossing from France late yesterday afternoon.

Another passenger was killed and five other persons injured, including the pilot and mechanic. The pilot died today.

The machine had completed a difficult passage of the Channel in a heavy rain and the pilot was seeking a forced landing place when he collided with a barn and the plane was wrecked.

In addition to bone fractures, cuts and contusions suffered by some, all the injured are suffering from shock.

The Injured
The injured Americans include: Miss Victoria Valden of Baltimore; Miss Mildred Valden, her sister; Miss Edna Bennett, formerly of Toronto; Miss Edna Searn, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Miss Margaret Hazard, New York; Stanley Hazard, her brother, serious; Miss Harriet Ames; New York City; Lawrence Stroh, New York City. The body of Blaney is being held at the Sandgate mortuary awaiting the official inquest, which probably will be held tomorrow.

Richard Hutchison, who was reported to have been among the injured, is now reported not to have been on the plane, but to have taken a later plane.

Hugo Rizzi, who was killed, was the well-known manager of the Ambassador club.

Thousands gathered at the scene of the wreck today, but were barred by the police from approaching the wreckage which is being carefully searched.

Pilot De Lisle of the wrecked plane, whose home is in Paris, died today. His mechanic, Grocon, suffered a broken leg and arm and many minor injuries.

Miss Victoria Valden, 26, daughter of the president of the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, who was traveling on the plane with her sister, Mildred, 22, was found at Sandgate today recovering from cuts and bruises in a nursing-house.

Officials of the French Air Union today blamed the accident on the rain storm and said the pilot would have made a perfect landing if poor visibility had not caused the ship to strike the barn.

H. D. Wilson, who witnessed the fall of the liner, said that he and three other men narrowly escaped being killed in the falling machine.

GAINES HAD SUSPECTED HIS WIFE OF MURDER

Fact Made Known Late in Trial—Seattle Case to Go to the Jury Today.

Seattle, Aug. 19.—The jury was scheduled today to set the case of Wallace C. Gaines, accused of murdering his own daughter, Sylvia, 22-year-old eighth grade graduate. Yesterday, for the first time, Defense Counsel revealed that the accused father had formed an opinion when one of his attorneys in court stated that Gaines suspected his second wife, Sylvia's stepmother, of committing the crime.

Carmony said that Gaines thought that jealousy between his wife and daughter might have been the motive for the murder. His wife had previously attempted to end her life because of friction between Sylvia and herself, he said.

HUGE ERUPTION SEEN ON BERING SEA ISLAND

Cordova, Alaska, Aug. 19.—A great eruption has taken place on the island of Bogosloff in Bering sea, according to radio messages received at the various Alaskan radio stations of the United States navy.

The commander of the Japanese vessel Yokohama Maru reported to the United States Naval radio station at St. Paul that he had sighted the eruption, which started at 1 p. m., Wednesday and continued until 1:30 p. m.

A United States Coast Guard cutter has gone to the scene.

Lillian Cannon O. K.'s Ederle Swim as Pure Sportsmanship

By LILLIAN CANNON.
Cape Gris Nez, Aug. 19.—I have just heard of the offer of NEA Service and the Scripps-Howard News-papers to contribute $5,000 toward a $20,000 purse for a competitive race across the English Channel.

Encouraging for me, yes! It is one of the most flattering expressions of confidence I ever received, and especially after my being driven back by the storm in my first attempt. And the offer suggests a fascinating picture of the doer or so swimmers along this coast all taking the water at once like a school of porpoises, and splashing out for the gold on the farther shore.

But my training and my hopes remain just the same as they were before. Disappointed because of that ill-timed thunderstorm, I am keeping in condition and waiting the first day that looks favorable.

KING OF BANKNOTE FAKIRS ESCAPES

Zecchinati, World's Prize Counterfeiter, Gets Out of Mexican Jail.

Mexico City, Aug. 19.—John Zecchinati, a former resident of New York, but of Italian birth, alleged to be an expert bank note counterfeiter, was being sought by Mexican police today following his escape from the Mexico City jail where he was being held for extradition to Italy.

Zecchinati, alleged by Italian, American and Mexican authorities to be the most skillful bank note counterfeiter living had been held in the jail here for the past year on charges preferred by the Italian government.

The American embassy entertains a doubt as to the genuineness of Zecchinati's claim to American citizenship.

ANOTHER ARSENAL HIT BY LIGHTNING BOLT

Small Arms Ammunition Magazine at Pig Point, Va., Swept by Blasts and Fire.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 19.—An official investigation was put under way today to determine the cause of a fire which swept the Pig Point army arsenal last night, exploding millions of rounds of small arms ammunition.

Lightning is believed to have been the cause of the fire and explosion. No one was injured. Most of the small complement of the arsenal were attending a moving picture show.

VALENTINO PASSES CRISIS OF ILLNESS

So Much Better That Doctors Announce No More Bulletins Will Go Out.

New York, Aug. 19.—Rudolph Valentino, film favorite, who has been critically ill, has passed the crisis in his fight for life. His condition was so improved today that his physicians, believing him well on the road to recovery, announced that no more bulletins on his condition would be issued, barring "unexpected developments."

This bulletin was issued this morning. "Mr. Valentino is making satisfactory progress and, having passed his most critical period, no further bulletins will be issued unless some unexpected developments occur."

MANY DIE AS PLOTTERS WRECK GERMAN TRAIN

Twelve Bodies Found, More in Ruins of Express Much Used by Americans.

Hanover, Germany, Aug. 19.—Twelve bodies have been removed from the wreckage of the Berlin-Cologne express, derailed here today, and it is believed that at least fifteen more bodies are buried, including those of many women and children.

Reichswehr troops have been ordered to give assistance. The wreck occurred fifty kilometers outside of Hanover, which is one of the biggest railroad centers in Germany.

The Berlin-Cologne express is one of the most popular trains for American tourists leaving Berlin for London. It is not known whether there were any American casualties.

It is suspected that the wreck was the result of plotters.

DISTANT BLAST FATAL; NO ONE HELD TO BLAME

Middletown, Aug. 19.—Mike Zahorsky, 34 of Bridgeport, met death on the state hospital grounds here accidentally on August tenth and no one is responsible for the fact, according to Coroner Z. A. Smith.

A jagged piece of shale hurled 540 feet by a blast penetrated the man's skull and he died almost instantly, the coroner found. The blast was set off while workmen were building a dam near Silvermine cottage at the hospital.

COOLIDGE PARLEY ON ARMS LIKELY

Failure at Geneva Expected to Be Followed by Call by U. S. Government.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Belief that the Geneva disarmament conference is foredoomed to failure and that President Coolidge will initiate an American plan of arms limitation was expressed here today as the aftermath of Secretary of State Kellogg's Plattsburgh speech.

Many members of the Coolidge administration are known to be keenly anxious for an extension of the Washington agreement for reduction in naval armaments but have felt no progress could be made until European nations had made the attempt through the League of Nations and failed.

No Goal in Sight
The preparatory conference at Geneva has struggled for weeks to find a basis for reaching an agreement to end the burden of competitive armaments and appears no nearer its goal than when the conference opened.

Secretary Kellogg's plain-spoken statement of what the United States wants accomplished served to emphasize in the minds of Washington observers the hopeless position of the Geneva parley.

The preparatory conference already has come to violent disagreement on the five major proposals in the American policy as laid down by Secretary Kellogg. They are:

1.—Regional agreements for limitation of land armaments rather than a world-wide scheme. The American proposal was rejected.

2.—Limitation of naval strength by class of ships rather than on a tonnage basis, beaten by France, Italy and other nations who would put most of their tonnage in submarines.

3.—Reduction of military forces and tangible armaments, rejected in favor of a scheme to include material resources as potential military strength.

4.—Separation of land, air and water arms limitation on the ground that consideration as a whole is impracticable.

5.—Dependence upon good faith of nations and treaties to enforce agreements. Many central European representatives at Geneva are demanding an international body to control disarmament.

Germany Pessimistic
Berlin, Aug. 19.—Secretary of State Kellogg's speech at Plattsburgh yesterday setting forth the American administration's position relative to present and future disarmament discussions met with a cold reception here today. In the German press the secretary's speech aroused renewed pessimism regarding the outcome of the Geneva arms conference.

Some newspapers welcome the abandonment of the original complicated program for approaching the problem and the adoption of a plan taking up the questions of land, sea and air armaments separately.

Great Britain Pleased
London, Aug. 19.—Great Britain is extremely pleased with the disarmament speech made by Secretary of State Kellogg.

Official opinion today was that the speech will have a salutary effect on the Geneva disarmament discussions and may possibly result in the abandonment of the original complicated program for approaching the problem and the adoption of a plan taking up the questions of land, sea and air armaments separately.

Robbed of His Loot, Complains To Police and so Is Arrested

New York, Aug. 19.—George W. Ford, a former bank clerk of Highland Park, Mich., was under arrest here today, charged with stealing nearly $8,000, as a result of his report to police that two chorus girls had robbed him of $5,000.

Police charge that Ford on June 14 stole $800 from the Highland Park Peninsula bank, where he was employed.

On July 17 he re-appeared in the bank and at the point of a pistol forced the cashier to open the vault and stole $7,183, police allege.

CARPENDER, STEVENS HELD FOR GRAND JURY; NO BAIL

MERCHANTS OF MEXICO WEARY OF CHURCH WAR

Most of Them Catholics But Hit by Boycott, Urge End of Strife; Call for Episcopate Plea.

Mexico City, Aug. 19.—President Calles today gives every indication of standing firmly against peace movements in the religious controversy initiated in the Catholic Episcopate's letter of yesterday.

The letter petitions the president to suspend the religious regulations on the ground they make impossible the life of the Catholic Church in Mexico.

The government is asked to grant "freedom of conscience, thought, religion, teaching, association and the press," and the request is made that the church be granted "recognition of the necessary personality to make these liberties effective."

The letter expresses the profound conviction that this is the only way to end the old religious conflict.

The requested suspension is not made conditional upon congressional action.

Merchants Seek Peace.
Another peace move was announced today when the merchants of Mexico City addressed both President Calles and the Episcopate, demanding peace in the name of national welfare.

This overture has brought no signs of favorable response from the president's palace.

The president, it is understood, interprets the Episcopate's overture as an evidence of weakening by the Church, which he believes is due to the announcement of non-intervention by the United States.

The president is said also to feel that the frustration of the alleged plot against the government and the collapse of General Estrada's movement have weakened the morale of those opposed to the government, although the Episcopate has denied its connection with any anti-government movement.

Want End of Boycott.
A circular letter issued by the merchants and industrial leaders of Mexico City, addressed jointly to President Calles and the Episcopate, appeals to both sides to "get together and drop the religious warfare which is affecting the whole nation."

The merchants particularly de-

KITCHENER HOAX WAS FOR MOVIE PUBLICITY

Another Man Invented Idea of Deception That Power Carried Out.

London, Aug. 19.—The great "Kitchener hoax" was just another motion picture publicity stunt, according to the Daily Sketch.

The Sketch today publishes a statement by Singleton Gates, a publicity man, stating that he "invented the whole story of the discovery of Kitchener's body in Norway" in 1921 in the presence of Arthur Vectis Freeman, now better known as Frank Power.

"The reason for that invention was that the film entitled 'How Kitchener was Betrayed' badly needed publicity," Gates is quoted as saying.

Greenwich, Aug. 19.—Four aerial bombs discharged near the Cox Col. cemetery during the night loosed a many fiery crosses that floated away leaving behind great excitement throughout the district.

Police found the remains of the bombs when they rushed down to the site but no persons were about.

The bombs, according to experts here, cost over $100 each. Prosecution will follow if the bombers can be found, it was said today, for houses were shaken by the explosions though no actual damage has been reported.

CUT IN FOREIGN BOOZE REAL, SAYS ANDREWS

For First Time in His Regime Supply of Imported Liquor Is Being Reduced.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The use of airplanes to patrol rum row and the Coast Guard's blockade of the Atlantic coastline has materially reduced the smuggling of contraband liquor into the United States from European countries, it was announced today by General Lincoln C. Andrews, prohibition chief.

The increased activity by prohibition border patrols of the north Atlantic and Florida coasts, Andrews said, has brought a shortage of imported liquors in New York and other eastern cities, according to reports just received by the Treasury Department. He incidentally revealed that these were the first reports of a curtailment in the foreign supplies of whiskey, gin and rum, received by him since he took charge of prohibition enforcement.

Andrews declared the dry forces were making "real headway" against the smugglers and predicted a virtual stoppage of liquor imports once his new border patrol program is carried into effect.

Andrews will take a brief vacation, leaving late today for Lake Champlain, N. Y.

GOV. AL SMITH FLUNKS LABOR DINNER DATE

Leaders Go to Albany to Dine Governor But He Fails to Show Up.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 19.—William Copen, president of the American Federation of Labor, and the members of the Federation's executive council, left Albany today for Plattsburgh considerably perturbed because Governor Al Smith failed to keep a dinner engagement with the labor leaders here last night.

A week ago, when the labor leaders decided to make an inspection of the United States Army Training Camp at Plattsburgh, they planned to stop off here and invite the governor to dine with them. The invitation was accepted by the governor, according to the labor leaders. The dinner took place at the Ten Eyck hotel last night, but the governor did not attend.

President Green had never met Gov. Smith, and the labor men counted on their getting acquainted.

COAST GUARD ARREST ON HIGH SEA ILLEGAL

U. S. Court Holds Rum Chasers Cannot Operate Beyond 12 Mile Limit.

Boston, Aug. 19.—The United States court of appeals today handed down an opinion reversing the conviction of James W. Lee, of Gloucester, who was found guilty by a jury in federal court last year of conspiracy to smuggle liquor into Gloucester.

Lee was sentenced by Federal Judge Peters in June, 1925, to serve four months in the Plymouth House of Correction. He appealed and was released on bail.

The court of appeals held that the conviction should be reversed on the grounds that the Coast Guard had no authority beyond the 12 mile limit to visit and search the vessel owned by Lee and that the seizure of the liquor was illegal.

Hall-Mills Murder Suspects Committed for Indictment Proceedings as Special Hearing Suddenly Ends;

Prima Facie Case Established, Judge Rules; Simpson Declares He Has Evidence in Reserve; Will Not Ask for Increase in Bail of Mrs. Hall; Sensation Is Promised as Murder Gun Is Found.

Somerville, N. J., Aug. 19.—Henry Carpendier, cousin, and "Wille" Stevens, brother, of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, were today held without bail for the grand jury on charges of murdering the Rev. Dr. Edward Hall, New Brunswick, N. J., clergyman, and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, a chorister in Dr. Hall's church.

Decision to hold Stevens and Carpendier was made by County Judge Cleary, who has been presiding over a special hearing conducted by Special Prosecutor Simpson.

End Was Sudden.
The end of the special hearing and the holding of Carpendier and Stevens, came suddenly.

When the hearing resumed this morning, one witness only was called. This was Lieut. John L. Day, police photographer of Newark, N. J. Day testified that he could not find the photographic plates taken at the scene of the Hall-Mills murders four years ago.

At the conclusion of Day's evidence, Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson announced that he would present no more evidence.

"I have more evidence," said Simpson, "but this I will present to the grand jury."

Robert H. McCarter, chief of the defense counsel, then argued before Judge Cleary as to the rights of the defense to present testimony.

Prima Facie Case.
In reply, the judge said: "The only question before this hearing is—has the prosecution made a prima facie case against Stevens and Carpendier, sufficiently strong to hold them for action by the grand jury? In my opinion, the prosecution has clearly established a prima facie case and I therefore order Stevens and Carpendier held without bail for grand jury action on the charge of murdering Rev. Dr. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills."

Immediately after Judge Cleary's decision, Stevens and Carpendier were taken back to jail. Neither man displayed much emotion at the turn of events.

James Mills, husband of the murdered chorister, and his daughter, Charlotte, who had been spectators at the hearing, left the court room smiling.

Habeas Corpus Report.
Robert H. McCarter, chief of the defense counsel, would not confirm a report that he would apply for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Stevens and Carpendier.

Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson said he would not recommend increased bail for Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, also accused of the murders of her husband and Mrs. Mills, but that he would submit the records of the special hearing to the courts dealing with Mrs. Hall.

"The records will speak for themselves," said Simpson.

Simpson also issued a statement regarding the gun with which it is presumed the murders were accomplished.

Gun Found in Bed.
He said that a man named Stanley Tregli, now living in New Brunswick, had reported that a man named William A. Winters, whereabouts unknown, had in his possession such a gun. According to Tregli's story, Winters overheard a discussion of the murders in a Philadelphia rooming house. He entered the room after it had been vacated by those who were discussing the case and found, under the mattress, a gun wrapped in a New Brunswick newspaper.

Simpson said that efforts were being made to locate Winters.

The prosecutor said he was confident of an indictment against Stevens and Carpendier.

"We have disclosed only part of our evidence," he said. "The rest will hold for the trial jury. I am not worried about the outcome of the case."

Will Oppose Bail.
"I will oppose any effort to secure the liberation of Carpendier and Stevens on bail," said Simpson.

"What about Mrs. Hall?" Simpson was asked. "Nothing," he replied. "The record, as I have already said, will be submitted to the chief justice. Lack of fuel has made it impossible for the Poles to rebuild their homes as they were before. Mr. Rubinow says that if it was not for the generosity of the United States, Poland would be in far worse condition. ABOUT TOWN

Mr. Rubinow said he found Poland still greatly devastated from the war. Around the province of Grodno where Mr. Rubinow's father lives, the scars of the war are still plainly visible. Barbed wire entanglements and trenches are still in existence. New homes have been built to replace those destroyed by fire and artillery fire in the war but these are much smaller than the ones which formerly existed. Lack of fuel has made it impossible for the Poles to rebuild their homes as they were before. Mr. Rubinow says that if it was not for the generosity of the United States, Poland would be in far worse condition. MEXICAN MERCHANTS WEARY OF CONFLICT

At the end of the boycott which they state is possible only with a settlement of the conflict. They point out that while the boycott is being conducted by Catholics it is affecting Catholic merchants adversely and that the heaviest sufferers have been members of the faith.

At the headquarters of the Episcopate it was announced that the appeal of the merchants is being given serious consideration and that it is a hopeful one. Church "Not Obsolete." Bishop Pascual Diaz spokesman for the Episcopate, said today that the Episcopate's letter to President Calles was not an indication of weakness but was "a gesture for the purpose of convincing the people that the continuance of the boycott and the religious conflict is not due to the obstinacy of the Church."

The Church is willing to humiliate itself in order to save the people from misery and approaches the government in the most conciliatory spirit but without real hope that its initiative will meet with a friendly response," said Bishop Diaz. "Lack of a friendly response means a continuance of the struggle of the Church for its rights."

Denies Prompting K. C. The Knights of Columbus of Mexico have issued a statement denying the charges of Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs Estrada that Edelmire Trasloereros, head of the Mexican Knights of Columbus, was responsible for the action of the Philadelphia convention in adopting a resolution asking President Coolidge to intervene, the statement says that the Mexican delegation at the Philadelphia convention was less than one per cent of the convention strength and that the resolution was not presented by Mexican delegates.

Gasparri Condemns Calles Rome, Aug. 19.—"Christ's church must rise resplendent from persecution," declares Cardinal Gasparri in a message regarding the Mexican religious controversy which has been circulated to the Catholic chancellors universally. The cardinal declares that the object of President Calles is the destruction of all faith. "Persecution is horrible, but only an incident in the life of the church," said the cardinal. "The sympathy of the Americans and the world are proof of the rectitude of our cause. The church is unitedly

REV. NEILL WRITES OF ULSTER'S BEAUTY

Thrilled at Return to Land of Ancestors — Enjoying His Trip.

Rev. James Stuart Neill, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church here is touring the British Isles this summer. He has spent most of his vacation in Ulster, the province of Ireland from which a great many Manchester residents have come.

His Letter The letter follows: London, Aug. 9, 1926, Ivanhoe Hotel.

Editor, The Herald: We arrived today in London after ten days in Ulster, a week in Scotland and a week end at Durham, England.

So far, nothing we have seen can compare in any degree to beautiful, wonderful Ulster! When you think of the soft green hills of Northern Ireland appreciative superlatives fall you.

In Belfast I met a man, quite by accident, who knew an uncle of mine, Thomas Pullman, now dead, some thirty years. This gentleman, Walter McClelland of Knock took us all around Belfast on the Castlereagh Road to Hollywood and Helen's Bay, to Shaw Bridge—where we saw a perfect double rainbow—that one could almost touch, it seemed, from the auto seat.

Preaches in Portadown On Sunday, July 25, I preached at Portadown, St. Marks church, at the morning service. The church was well filled. The rector was on his vacation and had not announced my coming (he had not received my letter in time). So it was a most surprised congregation when they learned I came from South Manchester. I have many views of Belfast and Portadown and the other places in Ulster we have seen.

On Monday, July 26, Sir Robert Baird of the Belfast Telegraph placed his car at my disposal. We had luncheon at the Oldfield Hotel at Larne and then a drive along the Antrim coast, acknowledged to be the most beautiful automobile road in the world.

We stopped en route at Carrickfergus about which I will have much to tell all Orangemen and those interested in King William.

While at Portrush we saw the Giants Causeway—which is next to Niagara Falls, nature's most amazing piece of workmanship.

At Derry Another day at delightful, inter-

IF YOU LOSE POCKETBOOK LEAVE ENOUGH CASH IN IT

Somewhere in town a young lady is bemoaning the loss of her pocketbook and just because she failed to leave enough money in it for an ad she will probably never get it again.

A man came into the South End office of The Herald last evening and wanted to advertise the pocketbook as lost. He was told that it would cost thirty cents for one insertion and he replied that there was not that much money in the pocketbook and "he'd be hanged" if he would pay the rest.

The moral of this tale is that if at anytime you lose anything always leave at least 30 cents attached to it somehow so as to get it back again.

esting Derry. The trip up Lock Foyle by train through stretches of woodland and hills covered with soft green and glowing purple was most enjoyable.

I walked around the walls of Derry" saw where the "Moantjoy broke the boom" put my hands on "Roaring Meg" took a picture of the seal of Ulster with the red hand of the O'Neills on it. Climbed to the top of Walkers monument.

Then I called on Dean King of St. Columba's Cathedral, found him a scholarly, genial and altogether human and humorous person, much interested in America.

Beautiful Cathedral The Cathedral is a fine example of early Jacobean architecture, built about 1625. In the vestibule is the old cannon ball, in which, during the siege, came the note asking for terms desired for surrender—to which went back the memorable and never to be forgotten answer: "No Surrender!"

I then secured many beautiful postcards and some lantern slides from which, perhaps a lecture on Ulster may be developed next fall.

We are all well and thoroughly enjoying the trip. We stopped at Durham a fine old Cathedral town of Northern England. The stately and imposing landmarks of Edinburgh—the heather covered hills of the Trossacks county of Scots "Lady of the Lake" and the other features seen en route have all impressed us but for scenery—again those soft green hills, and for the greenest grass anywhere, the most beautiful flowers—the finest potatoes and green peas, green beans and lettuce.

Not to forget the most courteous and interesting people we have ever met, give me beautiful, wonderful Ulster every time!

Sincerely yours, JAMES STUART NEILL

EAST AND WEST SIDES TO HOLD COMPETITION

Town to Be Divided Into Sections—Costume Carnival a Feature.

What will probably be the biggest night of the season will come next Wednesday when the East and West Sides of the town will meet in a series of competitions for the championship of Manchester. The town will be divided into the two sides by Cheney Brothers' railroad tracks, all on the west side being included in the West side and all on the other side on the East.

Competitions will be held in volleyball, tennis, paddle tennis, baseball and horseshoe pitching. Teams of boys, girls, men and women will be organized in these sports so everybody on both sides of the town will have a chance to compete.

The feature of the evening will be a children's costume carnival in which prizes for the most beautiful most original and funniest costumes will be given. The children in the carnival will take their places on the bandstand for judgment and some of them will do tricks and dances.

A band concert will be held in connection with the affair and a dance will take place in the auditorium of the Recreation building.

"COUNTRY STORE," BIG SURPRISE AT THE STATE

Tonight at the State theater the regular weekly "Country Store" will be featured. And, in addition, Manager Sanson has a big surprise which he refuses to divulge. Whatever it is will be worth while, says the manager, and the gifts that will be awarded through the "store" will be better than ever.

The two film features tonight are Pola Negri in "The Crown of Lies" and a Peter B. Kyne story, "The Golden Strain."

Friday and Saturday two more fine feature films will be on the program. Zane Grey's "Born to the West" and Elinor Glyn's "The Only Thing" will be the pictures.

MAN DROPS DEAD AT BURR NURSERY

Thomas Wass Suddenly Passes Away While Walking to Another Job.

While working at the C. R. Burr Nursery late yesterday afternoon, Thomas Wass, aged 56, of 46 Foster street, dropped dead of heart trouble. Wass had been employed at the nursery for nearly three years and was considered one of their most valuable workmen.

At the time of his death Wass had been helping Tom Hart, carpenter, who was repairing the hot beds in the rear of the storage shed. Hart had just completed his work and had started down the roadway toward the new storage shed which is being erected. Wass followed, but out through the storage shed. He was carrying the tools.

Drops to Floor. Suddenly Wass was seen to drop to the floor flat on his face. The tools flew out of his hands. A workman standing nearby saw him fall and called for help. In a few moments a crowd of fellow-workmen had gathered about him. A local physician was summoned. However, Wass was dead before he arrived. Dr. William R. Thinker, the medical examiner, was then summoned and he pronounced death due to heart disease.

Here Four Years. Wass had been in this country only four years. He came here from England and has been in Manchester most of the time. He lived on Summit street previously to his late address. He is survived by his wife who lives on Foster street. He also leaves three sons, two daughters, three brothers, and two sisters, all of whom live in England. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

TWO AUTOS COLLIDE, NO ONE INJURED

Although Eight Persons Were in Cars, They All Escape Unhurt.

Eight persons were involved in an automobile accident on Main street in front of the Manchester Trust Company last evening shortly after 9 o'clock. No one was injured and the damage to the machines was trivial.

Philip Shaw of 165 Hackmatack street was sitting in his Buick sedan which was parked in front of Barrett and Robbins store. Raymond Barrett, of 306 Spruce street was also in the car.

A Nash sedan operated by John Santuro, of 70 Charles street, Hartford, was going north on Main street. Matthew Deluco, also of Hartford, and four young women were riding in the car. Deluco, Santuro and one of the girls were in the front seat while the other two women and fellow were in the rear seat.

The driver of the Hartford car claims an automobile coming out of St. James' street forced him to drive into the Buick.

The local man's car was forced to the sidewalk. Both cars were slightly damaged. Patrolman Arthur Seymour investigated. The drivers agreed to settle the case out of court.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS DURING LAST WEEK

Eleven property transfers were recorded at the Hall of Records during the week of August 8-14 according to information taken from the Warranted Deed book yesterday. The list of sales follows:

Ralph Towle of Keene, New Hampshire, to Albert E. and Emma H. Holman two lot sections of land in the Orford Park tract known as Lots 22 and 23.

Arthur A. Knofla to the Manchester Construction Company two lots known as No. 62 and No. 53 in the Oak Grove Heights addition.

Edward J. Holl to George L. Fish Lot 231 in the Greenacres tract. It is located in sections A and B.

George L. Fish to Willard and Irene C. Hawley, lot 234 in sections A and B in Greenacres.

Emil L. E. Hohenthal Sr. to Louis Lester Hohenthal a tract of land bounded westerly by the St. James' cemetery and the John D. Stone property.

Edward J. Holl to Howard and Janet Boyd a plot of land on Porter street adjoining Lot 43, No. 4 in the Hollywood tract. Emil Seelert to Frank Bronke, land on Hartford Road.

LIGHTNING ARRESTERS NOT MADE PROPERLY

Lightning arresters on radio sets are usually made of a strand of copper wire bolted or soldered to a long pipe which is driven into the ground, the wire leading to the set. Some are in use in Manchester which a local electrical expert says are useless.

This one in particular consists of a strand of wire just wrapped around a four inch wire nail, the nail being driven into the ground so that its head barely shows. Such an affair, according to the expert, is worse than useless and might attract lightning instead of conducting it out of danger.

Gustav and Lucine Schaller to Henry A. Schaller a section of land bounded northerly by Olcott street. Frank A. Emma V. and Louise M. Merkel to George and Anna Reidman a section of land bounded on the east by Stone street.

Morris L. Elmand and Frank H. Rolson to Edward L. Dauchey, Lot 47 in the Marvin Green tract.

Joseph Rosenberg to Edward J. Holl a piece of land including all standing buildings bounded westerly by Middle Turnpike, easterly by Ralph Gome property, southerly by James R. Pitkin estate, and westerly by Aaron Cook Jr. property.

As a technician let me praise the first and the editorial pages in particular. The make-up shows skill, a good eye and a clear, cool judgment in picking and then displaying telegraphic and other matter. It is not given to many newspapermen to pick and display with such skill, trained eyes and intelligent perspective, ocular and mental. The editorials are well worth studying over. PRIVATE AIR MAIL.

The people of the country will wait with considerable interest more complete development by Postmaster-General New of his astonishing declaration yesterday that the United States government is on the point of turning over its air mail service to private capital.

We do not understand that the determination to sell out the postal service of this country, or any part of it, is a responsibility to be assumed by any one official, bureau or department.

Whether properly protected by congressional action or not the air mail is essentially a government function just as much as the forwarding of letters by rail or by rural delivery.

There are growing indications that possibly the very greatest achievement of President Coolidge, in the light of history, may prove to be in a direction along which the gaze of the American people seldom if ever travels.

PHILIPPINES.

There are growing indications that possibly the very greatest achievement of President Coolidge, in the light of history, may prove to be in a direction along which the gaze of the American people seldom if ever travels.

A RECORD.

We are told that one Tom Johnson, indicted now for a murder in Minneapolis, has tabulated a list of 1710 robberies and burglaries which he swears he has committed in 44 towns and cities in the United States and Canada.

It is not probable that there are many crooks as industrious, as skillful in evading arrest or as lucky as Tom Johnson.

One would, lacking special information, imagine that if a crook got out of nine jobs successfully and was caught and did time for the tenth he would be hitting a fair average, and that he would have to be careful at that.

This probability might very well enter into the calculations of those earnest and emotional souls who are so anxious about the welfare of the convict that they love the parole system and shudder at the thought of steel bars.

MAKING HISTORY.

The Sesqui-centennial exposition at Philadelphia is coming into its own. Something of a bloomer this Philadelphia show has been thus far, attracting something in the way of sight-seeing crowds but commanding no important part of the attention of the nation, as such a presumptively great celebration might be expected to.

Mr. Rickard is going to take Mr. Dempsey and Mr. Tunney down there to hold their prize fight. And at once Philadelphia and the sequel show take on a new importance.

The crowd that stood about Independence Hall, hanging on the fateful decision of the Continental Congress as to whether or not the Declaration of Independence should be adopted, and the corresponding groups of anxious souls who awaited, throughout the colonies, news of that decision, will have been as nothing, either in numbers or in stress of emotions, compared to the throngs which will seize upon the words of the radio announcers and the flashing of the bulletins as to the result of this tremendous September event.

Incidentally the cash which Mr. Dempsey and Mr. Tunney will receive for buffeting each other for a possible but not probable thirty minutes, had it been in the hands of a forgotten gentleman named Washington during that forgotten winter at Valley Forge, would, in all probability, have shortened the war of the Revolution by a couple of years.

However, the Dempsey-Tunney fight will undoubtedly keep the Sesqui-Centennial exposition from being forgotten, for at least five years. And that is a long time for this country to remember anything nowadays.

THOROUGH.

Altogether aside from the religious aspect of the Mexican troubles it would appear that this man Calles is the strongest individual who has been at the head of that chronically turbulent nation since Porfirio Diaz.

Whoever recalls the ease with which revolutionary movements have been started in the past, and the facility with which they have grown, must be impressed by the rapidity with which the Calles administration disposes of such enterprises at their inception.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, Aug. 19.—Will the fact that no William Jennings Bryan will be present make a difference at the next Democratic convention?

Many politicians in Washington think it will make a great deal. That his wing of the party will have any such leadership as his is deemed altogether unlikely.

Just back from a western tour for the Democratic national and congressional committees, Raymond B. Angell—a pretty good political investigator—doesn't appear to think much of Senator Caraway's prediction that the Democrats' next presidential nominee will be a dark horse.

Angell's list of possibilities is the conventional one—Smith, William C. McAdoo, Governor Ritchie of Maryland and Governor Donahue of Ohio—plus ex-Secretary of Agriculture Meredith, Iowa, and Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, as corn belt favorites.

Now they're saying that it takes two-thirds of the senate vote, not a mere majority, to expel a senator. Vire partisans in Pennsylvania and Smith partisans in Illinois, don't believe it.

President Coolidge ran true to form when he appointed Proctor L. Dougherty to succeed Frederick A. Penning, resigned under considerable pressure, as one of the commissioners—the trio of mayors—of the District of Columbia.

Baltimore is all upset because, when its mayor, H. W. Jackson, asked Acting Secretary of War McNider to remove the Curtis Bay arsenal from its midst, McNider replied that it will cost $1,500,000 and congress will have to grant the money first.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 19.—The famous methods of P. T. Barnum are constantly being applied by those shrewd ones who might otherwise go unnoticed.

The circus genius would take a three-legged pig, a wild man from Borneo, a "what-is-it" or a bearded lady and calling attention to "these strange creatures" would soon have a crowd of gawkers.

Such is the extent of modern standardization that anyone who does not wear the exact clothes and manners of the masses is marked as a "freak" and crowds turn to gaze.

Greenwich Village commercialized this many years ago. By means of a few artist's smocks and flowing ties, this district drew thousands from every section and became smugly prosperous.

And many are the individuals who find this Barnumesque device eminently profitable. Just now Fifth Avenue becomes the target at which they aim.

Recently there appeared a handsome young fellow, with long "artist's" hair, who paraded up and down the famous thoroughfare. Now and then, for no particular reason, he would stop and burst into a fragment of song.

He would continue walking for a few blocks and, again, the necessity for song would come upon him. A few notes more and then on he would go.

Finally curious ones stopped him and asked what the big idea was. He was perfectly frank.

"I've got to attract attention," he said. "I've got a good voice and I know it. I've gone around trying to get engagements and couldn't. I wasn't known. Nobody had ever heard of me. Soon the whole city will know me."

And it does. The young man now appears several times a week at a big radio station broadcasting room and is likely to get a stage engagement.

Then there was the case of the young singer who struggled along until he conceived the idea of putting on a mask.

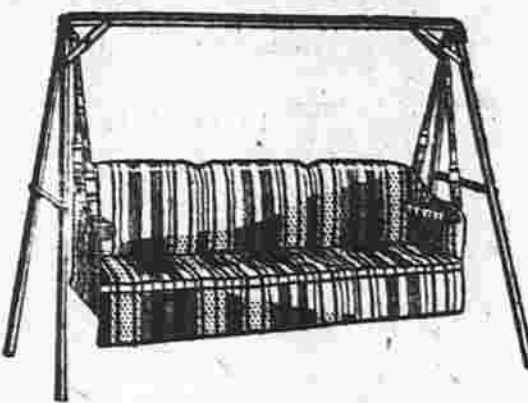

Today the whole broadcasting world knows the "Silver Masked Tenor." So much so that a big musical bureau has booked him for a transcontinental tour, beginning in Ohio. His name is never mentioned. That's of no consequence. If he were to remove the mask it is probable that the crowds would soon fall off. And yet, I take my oath, he sings no better with the mask on than with it off.

And there's the old gent who appears on the Avenue with an Alpine stick, in lieu of the walking cane; the Beau Brummelish old fellow who wears cutaway coats and spats if the temperature be 96 in the shade and if the time be morning or night—to say nothing of his waxed mustache and elevated heels.

In Greenwich Village there was a book store that passed from one hand to the other. No one could make it go. Along came a young man from the west. He had lived on the border and at one time "rode cattle." He put on a cowboy hat, hung some lariats and saddles in the window, began singing cowboy songs. And the book store is a success.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

Nellie, who never won a beauty prize.

By AUSTIN H. CLARK Smithsonian Institution

Meek and gentle and a general favorite with the keepers of the National Zoological Park at Washington is Nellie the wart-hog.

Wart-hogs are found only in Africa where they live both on the bare plains and in the thinly wooded forests; but apparently they are never found in thick forests.

The animals are strictly vegetarians and obtain their food by grubbing roots, young sprouts and various tubers; they also crop grass like the zebra and antelope. Usually when digging they rest on their front knees.

Few animals are uglier than the wart-hogs with their two pairs of large warts on the face and their large up-curving canine teeth. They are clothed with a long thin mane of coarse hair which runs down the middle of the back.

The head of the wart-hog is enormously large, the skull being nearly twice as large as that of some of the other African pigs of the same size of body. Young wart-hogs differ from the young of other wild pigs in being uniform in color without lighter spots or stripes.

 BY DR. M. METZENBAUM

Thousands of cases of contagious disease every summer are directly traceable to infections acquired at public bathing beaches and swimming pools.

These beaches and pools become polluted, sometimes by sewage or stagnant waste that is not washed away, sometimes by persons who are carriers of disease. Such persons may not realize that they are carrying germs; others are simply careless of the welfare of other bathers.

Much can be accomplished by cities in the purification of the swimming places. Adequate circulation of water should be provided to prevent stagnation. Bathing can be forced to follow a few simple rules. When analysis shows water to be dangerous to health, beaches should be closed.

Head Above Water
 The individual can do much to protect himself. A safe thing to do is to avoid public bathing beaches. If one must bathe, it is never put any liquids into the nose for fear of forcing germs up into the sinuses or into the ear tubes.

It is important not to take water into the mouth or have it enter the nose. Should the water enter the nose, then don't blow your nose with all might and main, for this might force the polluted water, along with the mucus in the nose, up into the sinuses or up into the eustachian or ear tubes into the middle ears, resulting in an infection of the sinuses of the ears or even causing a mastoid.

If persons suffering from contagious infection were educated to the dangers to which they are exposing others, many of them would stay away from public pools and beaches.

Dangerous Then
 Again, these same persons may be suffering no longer from their own recent infection but fall victim to another. They have very little resistance to this new germ, and what they would call a relapse. In reality, however, this is a new infection implanted upon their old one, and these cases usually run a very severe course.

The natural question is—should one use an antiseptic wash in his nose after bathing at a public place? The logical answer is—never put any liquids into the nose for fear of forcing germs up into the sinuses or into the ear tubes.

KELLOGG KEEPS HARD AT WORK AS OTHERS PLAY

Secretary of State Busy With Foreign Problems All Summer — Latin American Relations Cause Concern.

Washington.—While most members of President Coolidge's cabinet have ranged far and wide on their summer vacation excursions, Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg has remained steadily at his desk during the torrid summer weather spreading the "peace and good will" gospel of the administration to other nations of the world.

And although Mr. Kellogg, one of the most peace-loving foreign ministers in many administrations, has sought at every turn to minimize differences with other governments, many pressing problems are now before him.

More concern is displayed by the state department toward Latin American relations than any other matter at this time, since Secretary Mellon has shouldered the burden of the foreign debt negotiations under the direction of President Coolidge.

challenge to the United States and to other foreign powers, pledged to a general relinquishment of the great authority seized in China to maintain order and make foreign interests secure. The state department is now giving its support to a movement to turn back the mixed courts in Shanghai to Chinese control.

The apparently futile efforts of the preparatory commission on a disarmament conference to reach a basis at Geneva that augurs for an accord of greater scope than the Washington naval conference was not a disappointment to American diplomats.

The genuine hatred of America which diplomats have reported exists in many harassed countries is giving Secretary Kellogg plenty of opportunity to exercise his bent for smoothing troubled waters.

On one subject, Mr. Kellogg apparently departs from his general settled policy of friendship and good will. This is Russia. Never say Washington officials, will Russia be recognized as long as he is secretary of state. Socialism and communism are to him vipers to be stamped out.

No Russian of prominence comes to the United States without Mr. Kellogg knowing about the visit. Nor does any one get a visa on his passport if there is good reason to suspect he is coming for the purpose of spreading propaganda of the Russian Soviet.

STUDENTS USE VACATION TO CATCH UP IN STUDIES.

Principal Clarence P. Quimby of the South Manchester High school today gave out information that the examinations for make-up work will be held at the High school on Tuesday morning, September 7. School opens the next day.

It is expected that between 30 and 40 students who have been studying during the summer months will take the examinations in order to catch up with their class. Most of these have been working for about six weeks under the guidance of special tutors.

Principal Quimby said the proctors for the examinations will be Vice-principal Ralph H. Proctor, Francis Lee and Charles L. Wilgorn. Any students who wish further advice on the matter should get in touch with one of the teachers.

CHANGEABLE.
 "Mabel and I have decided that our happiness is the biggest thing in the world, sir," said the ardent suitor.

"How changeable you are," replied the father. "Only yesterday you told me you wanted to marry her."—Passing Show, London.

Will He Kill Donahey's Boom?

The man shown in the center of this picture may puncture the presidential boom which is growing about the person of Gov. Vic Donahey of Ohio. He is Myers Cooper of Cincinnati, Republican candidate for governor of Ohio, and if he beats Donahey this fall Donahey's boom will be ended. With Cooper is shown his family. Standing are Mrs. Cooper and Raymond Cooper, a son. At the left is Mrs. F. M. Judy, a daughter, and her baby. At the right is Mrs. Raymond Cooper and her little daughter.

DAILY POEM

THE OL' WELL

It stands behind the old red barn, a landmark on the place. There's muck along its lining, and there's moss upon its face. How many years it's stood there? Say, I wonder who can tell. But then, no matter—anyway, it's served its purpose well.

The creaky swinging handles turned a million times or more. A bucket that is rusty let a sea of water pour. It's meant a deal of pleasure to all comers, from the first its task, in fullest measure, is quenched people's thirst.

A hundred bricks were gathered in the days long since gone by. They circle round a water hole that never would run dry. A wooden bucket topped them, and a rope was raveled loose, and one of nature's drinking spots was ably put to use. Yea, folk have come and folk have gone, but first they've had their treat at sippin' cooling water. Is there anything as sweet? Say, when you're near the farmhouse, never pass the pleasure by. Just call upon the grand ol' well—and tip the bucket high.

VETERAN ELEPHANT TRAINER, BATES, DEAD

Harris, R. I., Aug. 19.—George N. Bates, 75, who during thirty years trained hundreds of elephants for the Barnum & Bailey circus, including the famous Jumbo, passed away during the night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude R. Whitford here.

The man who had traveled nearly every country in the world and who was the central figure in many magazine stories dealing with the circus, died after five weeks' illness. He quit circus life six years ago.

BEARDED VILLAIN, THEN

"What do you think of his nerve? He called me a barefaced robber!"

"Oh, perhaps in his excitement he didn't notice your mustache."—Tit-Bits, London.

NOT ENOUGH?
 A bishop noticed a small boy playing in the gutter.
 "What are you doing there, my little man?" he asked.
 "Making a kerfedral."
 "A cathedral! And where is the bishop?"
 "Oh, I ain't got enough mud to make a bishop."—Tit-Bits, London.

Campaign Extended To Saturday, August 21

Help Give Our Underprivileged Children A Vacation

"DON'T LET THIS CAMPAIGN FAIL"

The Manchester Kiwanians, an organization of business and professional men, gather weekly to think and talk of things that will better Manchester. They conceived the idea that one of the best ways to help the town would be to help its children. Simple, isn't it? Yet from an idea this great country was created but the idea had to be developed and carried out. The Kiwanians have the idea. Will you help it along?

Out where the breezes blow in Hebron; where nature is at its best, they have organized a camp for our children who need an out-of-door vacation with nourishing food and health giving surroundings. They want to make this camp a permanent one and next year send two or three hundred kiddies instead of 80 as this year. "Let Charity Begin At Home" slogans are worn out but is there a better one to put over this plea?

A LITTLE GIRL IN HOMESTEAD PARK DIED THIS WEEK IN OUR SLUMS
 HELP TO BETTER CONDITIONS.

Manchester has slums and the conditions there are not what they should be. It was expected that it would take but ten days to raise at least $1,000, but only one fourth of that amount has been contributed. The campaign has been extended until Saturday and canvassers will make a final attempt to raise at least $1,000.

WILL YOU ALLOW THIS CAMPAIGN TO FAIL FOR THE FIRST TIME IN TOWN'S HISTORY?

Manchester Has Not Been Found Wanting When a Matter of Charity Is Concerned.
Will You Let It Fail Now?

TWICE AS MANY APPLICANTS SEEKING TO GO OUT TO KIWANIANS' HEBRON CAMP

Not seeking literally, for if the youngsters had their way the camp would be jammed. Nurses who work daily among the needy pick out the cases and their hearts bleed because the camp is not big enough to take care of all. Exaggerated? Ask the nurses. Only 80 were taken care of and are being taken care of this summer. THAT DOES NOT MEAN THAT THERE ARE ONLY 80 CHILDREN HERE WHO NEED THE VACATION.

LET US MAKE THIS CAMP A PERMANENT ONE. GIVE IN THE NAME OF YOUR OWN CHILDREN.

Send or give your contributions to Lewis H. Sipe, the Kiwanis Club treasurer, at the Home Bank and Trust Co., at your convenience but, DO IT NOW BEFORE YOU FORGET IT. Any sum acceptable. All contributions will be acknowledged as received by The Evening Herald.

POE'S STORIES: The Masque of The Red Death (3)

The seven apartments were arranged so none could be seen from any other, there being a corridor with a sharp turn leading to each. In that seventh chamber of black and red stood a gigantic clock of ebony. When the hour was to be struck there came from the clock a low, musical yet terrible sound that caused the giddiest to grow pale.

There was a sinister twang to the note that the grim clock sounded which caused even the musicians to pause in their playing.

But in spite of the seventh chamber and its ghastly light and strange clock, the revel grew wilder and more bizarre as the night progressed.

There was the grotesque, much of the beautiful and the fanciful, much of the wanton, something of the terrible and not a little of that which might have caused disgust. There were arabesque figures with unsuited limbs and appointments, and to and from the seven chambers stalked maskers dressed as dreams. (Continued)

"BE SERIOUS," EVANS ADVICE TO ATHLETES

Cites Recent Suspension of Al Simmons as Conclusive Proof of Statement.

If there is one thing a major league ball player should do, it is to run out the ball every time he is at bat. I understand that is one of the things that recently caused Connie Mack to suspend Al Simmons, voted by the baseball experts of Philadelphia as the most valuable man on the Athletics last season. It is unusual for a player to come to bat more than five times in a game, four is closer to the average, so it is not asking very much of him to run out every bit. No club in either major league adheres more closely to this theory than Cleveland. Manager Tris Speaker sets the example by going to first at top speed, regardless of where he hits the ball.

Al Simmons

Must Take Work Seriously.

It is to be regretted that Manager Mack found it necessary to discipline Al Simmons. Mack is usually very reticent about taking such severe action, so no doubt it was deserved. Simmons is a great ball player but he can wreck his own usefulness as well as a brilliant career unless he takes his baseball seriously. Walter Hagen, famous golfer, spoke large words of wisdom, when he said no player in any sport could hope for success unless he took his own particular game seriously. He gave that as the reason for the Britons' slump in golf. Last season Simmons was the league leader of the American league. He finished with a mark of 386, three points away from Tris Speaker who finished second and seven shy of Harry Heilmann who led the league in batting. Many experts predicted that Simmons would be the league leader of 1926. Instead, we find Simmons suspended for weak batting and indifferent fielding. Perhaps the best moral to this tale is—be serious.

LANGS AND SHIELDS LEAD IN TOURNAMENT.

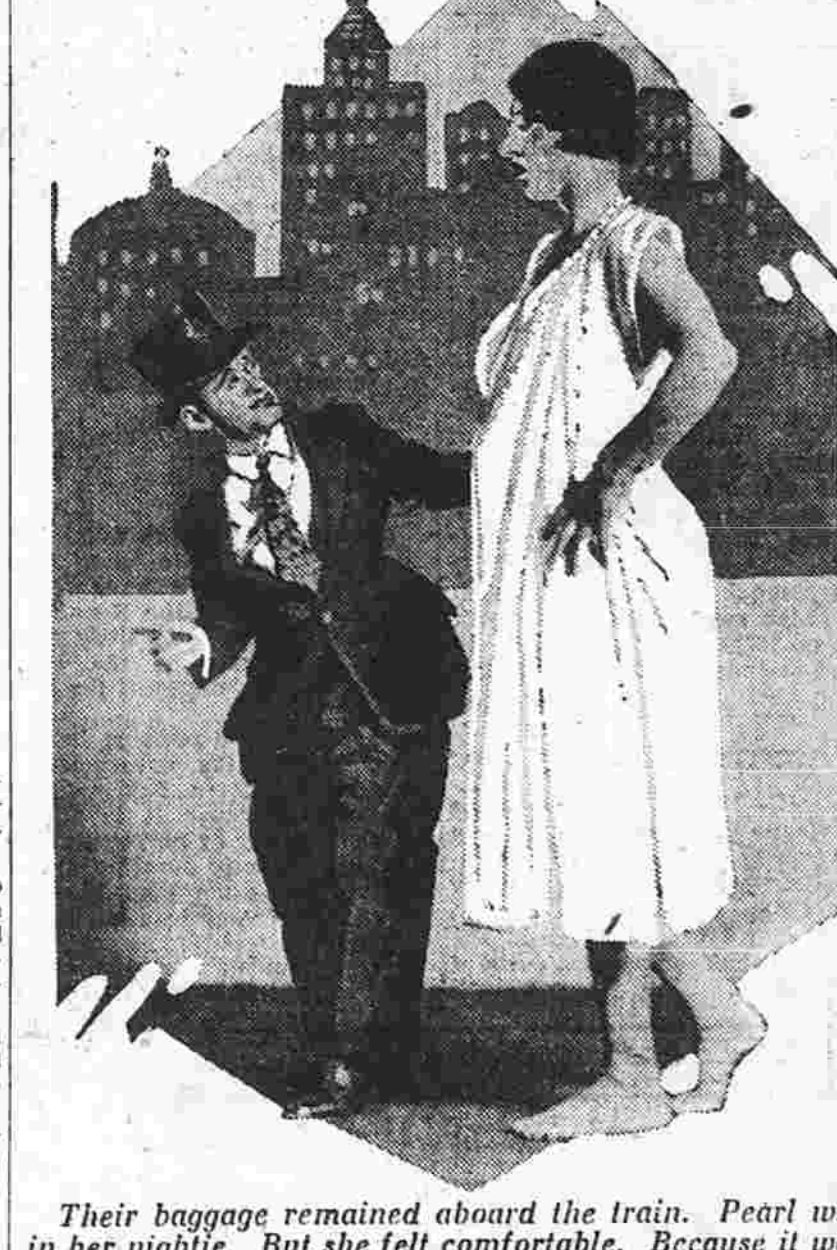

Langs and Shields were high in the postponed games of the West Side town horsehoe pitching championship tournament last night. This team won five games and was tied with Clifford and Smith for the honors. Feeney's leg injury handicapped him in his match, in which, paired with Sam Nelson, he won four out of six. Any games scheduled for tomorrow night and postponed because of the weather will be played on the following Tuesday. Games postponed from Mondays will be held on the Wednesday following for the remainder of the schedule. Tomorrow night's schedule follows: Furphy and Fogarty vs. Hadden and Hewitt. Taggart and Smith vs. McIntyre and Thompson. Leggett and Lamprecht vs. Francis and Oakes. Taylor and W. Moore vs. Suhle and Vesco. Second Round. Furphy and Fogarty vs. Suhle and Vesco. Taggart and Smith vs. Francis and Oakes. Hadden and Hewitt vs. Taylor and Moore. Leggett and Lamprecht vs. McIntyre and Thompson. WALKER AND SPENCER RACE AT VELODROME

Hartford, Aug. 19.—Oscil Walker and Arthur Spencer, two of the world's greatest bikers, will ride at the Hartford Velodrome tonight in a special sprint race which promises to take rank as the outstanding event of the summer at the fast track over east. They will ride in this race with Bobby Walthour, Jr., prime local favorite and a capable sprint rider. This event will be run off in mile heats, the winner being called on to win two heats. This may throw the event into four heats since the riders are well matched. Walker, who is known wherever bike racing has its devotees, whether in the country or abroad, has been all-around champion four times; he has defeated, at one time or another, all the noted sprint riders and is rated the premier handicapped rider of the world. Spencer is equally famed. He has three times won the American sprint championship and is unequalled as a match rider. This sprint race will vie with the "Diamond Match" race for popularity at the Thursday night meeting. The "Diamond Match" will be a motor-paced event in heats with Robert Grassin of France, world's champion; Victor Hopkins of Davenport, Iowa and George Chapman of Newark, N. J., American champion, competing. Each heat will be of ten miles, the winner to win two heats, and, as with the sprint special, may go to four heats. This new form of motor-paced competition will strike the fancy of those fans who have been inclining to regard the motor-paced races as rather long. There also will be some other professional and amateur races.

THEY NEVER KNEW TOM SIMS

PLEASE START HERE TODAY Bub Blubber was an Eskimo and his wife wore an Eskimo. Bub had a great idea. He would set up a barber shop and induce the polar bears to shave the hair. Of course, just as soon as the bears shaved they froze to death. So Bub got the hair as well as the hair. This however, has nothing to do with the present story. In "They Never Knew" JIMSON WELK marries PEARL HANDLE. The two live in Omeoqui, Ohio, so naturally they go away or their honeymoon, unchaperoned. It's Jim's first honeymoon. It's Pearl's first honeymoon. So, it's their first honeymoon. Pearl's father objects to the match. There are two other people in the story in addition to numerous innocent bystanders. One's DETECTIVE GUMSHOE. The other's MRS. DETECTIVE GUMSHOE. Go ahead and read the dang thing. You'll soon get the hang of it.

Their baggage remained aboard the train. Pearl was in her nightie. But she felt comfortable. Because it was bedtime.

CHAPTER XVI A HURRIED review of the conclusion of the last chapter may not be amiss. If that's all right, it's only a matter of time before Jim and Pearl were en route to Chicago via train. They were in their stateroom. Being peaceful citizens, they were astounded to discover the porter was Detective Gumbush in disguise. Also, they were overhelmed with fear upon learning that the maid was none other than Mrs. Detective Gumbush in disguise. And, they were startled out of their senses when Jim discovered the engineer was Pearl's father in disguise. Just as the chapter ended, someone was trying to break down the door to their stateroom. Jim was threatening to have them arrested.

Grabbing the sheets off the berth, Jim fashioned a rope out of them while Pearl, his darling wife, hurled a suitcase through the window. The sheets were short because Pullman covers are designed by some guy who sleeps with his knees under his chin. But they made sufficient rope to reach the ground outside the speeding car. "Hasten," called Jim. The door to the stateroom was giving way under the onslaughts of the attack party. Just as the door crashed in Jim and Pearl leaped through the Pullman window and dangled helplessly above the ground which sped past underneath at a tremendous rate. They could hear voices in their stateroom. Where did they go? Ask someone, evidently Pearl's father. "We got away," called Jim through the window. The voices howled with rage. "They got away," cried Mrs. Gumbush, the old she-devil. "It's they got away," sobbed Pearl's father, the dirty bum. "I heard my son-in-law say they did." Detective Gum, however, was not so easily swayed. He dashed to the window and looked out. There he saw Jim and Pearl hanging by their improvised rope. "Come quickly if you want to shoot Jim!" cried the detective, greatly excited. The rough robber faintly. Pearl went through the fellow's pockets and found a million dollars. Like the dutiful wife she was, she gave Jim the million. "Well," laughed Jim as they sauntered down the street toward the business section of Chicago. "That makes three million I got." "But why didn't the bullets hurt you?" asked his lovely bride. "I knew they couldn't," giggled Jim. "Remember when you were working in the kitchen at the hotel in Cave City?" "Yes," said the curious girl. "Yes, I remember." "Remember you made some biscuits?" "Yes," blushed the lovely maid. "Yes, I remember I made some biscuits there." Thrusting his hand into his coat pocket, Jim brought forth a round object. He held it up to a street lamp. It was a biscuit. "I carried one of your biscuits over my heart," said Jim. "And they stopped the fellow's bullet?" asked Pearl. "Yes," said Jim. "The biscuit stopped both his bullets." The clerk blinked as Jim and Pearl walked into the hotel. "I see you are blinking, my good man," said Jim. "I suppose you are doing so because my wife is in her nightie." The clerk laughed, and laughed.

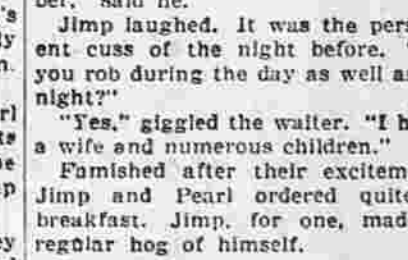

and laughed. "I hadn't noticed her," said he. "You hadn't?" answered the incredulous Jim. He was all ready to explain they were victims of a train wreck. "No," said the clerk. "But now that you mention it, she really is in her nightie, isn't she?" And saying which, the clerk yawned. Jim had forgotten he was in Chicago.

The young couple's first night in the Chicago hotel was a hectic one. Tired out, they hopped into bed at once. But there was no sleep. Time after time they were awakened just as they dozed off by someone knocking at their door. "Who's there?" Jim would call out. "It's me," someone would answer. "I'm the robber. Have you been robbed tonight?" The first time it happened Jim couldn't understand. Again he had forgotten he was in Chicago. He said to the man at the door, "Are you a regular robber, or are you the hotel owner?" "I'm a regular robber," answered the fellow. "I do the best robbing in this district. If you haven't been robbed, let me in."

Then Jim remembered he was in Chicago. "I've been robbed already tonight," said he. "Please go away and let me sleep." After that, when a robber rapped upon the door, Jim always answered that he had been robbed satisfactorily. One fellow, however, was so persistent Jim had to promise to let him do all his robbing so long as he remained in Chicago.

Morning came, as mornings have a habit of doing. Jim and Pearl rushed for the dining-room. "What will you have?" asked the waiter. Jim was startled. Where had he heard that voice before? The waiter only smiled. "I'm your regular robber," said he. Jim laughed. It was the persistent cuss of the night before. "Do you rob during the day as well as at night?" "Yes," giggled the waiter. "I have a wife and numerous children." Fumished after their excitement, Jim and Pearl ordered quite a breakfast. Jim, for one, made a regular hog of himself.

He was sorry later that he had done so. Because they visited the stockyards Pearl wanted to see them. And Jim thought they would be beautiful in July. So they went. And Jim had made such a hog of himself at breakfast that suspicious glances were cast upon him from the first. "Are you a spectator," or a client?" asked the man at the gate. "I'm a spectator," said Jim. So they entered. But many were the curious looks which were bestowed upon him. Finally, in the regular order of events, they came to where hogs were being killed. A huge roughneck grabbed Jim and started him for the slaughter house. Pearl screamed just as the chapter ended. (To Be Continued)

He was sorry later that he had done so. Because they visited the stockyards Pearl wanted to see them. And Jim thought they would be beautiful in July.

VERY CHEESY
London.—The freighter Suffolk had just reached Liverpool and was being unloaded. Stevedores rushed from the hold, complaining of a dreadful odor. Two officers went to investigate. Half an hour later, when they had failed to return, a search was started. They were found unconscious in the hold, gassed by the fumes given off by the ship's cargo of cheese.

HOW'S THAT?
"Tell me, why did you break in to the polish factory?"
"Things weren't looking any too bright for me, sir!"—Luk, Berlin.

Station WCAP, Washington, has discontinued broadcasting, allowing WRC, another Washington station, which had shared time with WCAP, full time on the air. Wire lines now connect WRC with both WEAF and WJZ, New York, and WRC will arrange its programs with features from both of these stations.

RADIO LOOMS BIG DESPITE POOR LAW

Department of Commerce Rulings Will Be Obeyed; Good Times Ahead.

Lawless as radio broadcasting seems to be today, signs point to happier times for the radio fan. There will be no jumble of the air, for those who would cause such a jumble would harm only themselves, financially and in popularity. Jumping of wavelengths hasn't gone far before its end, for one station already has retreated to its former wavelength in fear of the consequences.

But the most significant sign of better radio, despite this lack of a controlling law for broadcasting, is the agreement of a great majority of the present broadcasters to respect the broadcasting arrangements made before the Department of Commerce lost its right to control the situation.

This promise to "be good" is in the hands of the officials of the National Association of Broadcasters, of which most of the larger stations of the country are members.

More Super-Station
Outside of this "gentlemen's agreement," however, there are important factors that point to a more highly developed season of broadcasting than the fan has ever enjoyed.

Some of the larger stations, those already broadcasting on 5000 watts power, have signified their intention of raising their power to as high as 50 kilowatts, while the two stations now equipped with such power are experimenting on even higher power for their broadcasting.

This isn't so much an urge for more distance, as it is a tendency toward a relief from the static that worries the fans today.

The purchase of station WEAF and its chain station programs by the Radio Corporation of America is another sign of the confidence the larger broadcasters have in radio's future. This, despite the lack of a radio control law, shows promise of better programs broadcast over a much greater field than has been covered heretofore.

More Competition
At the same time, the withdrawal of WJZ, New York, and WRC will arrange its programs with features from both of these stations.

HE CARES NOTHING ABOUT SPORT; IT'S MONEY HE'S AFTER

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. In accordance with your telegraphic request I met the ubiquitous Mr. Cash and Carry Pyle immediately upon his return from Europe, and debated with him the manner in which he is planning the dollar sign upon our leading athletes.

I spell athletes that way because Mr. Pyle pronounces the word so.

I beg to report that in the debate, in which I upheld the cause of simple, money-scoring amateurism with all the zeal at my command, I came off a poor second. It is plain, from what Mr. Pyle told me, that the days of amateurism are few in America. Nor is the forthcoming tide of professionalism to be regarded with grief or regret. It will be a boon, as Mr. Pyle sees it, to athletes and the public alike. "Red" Grange and Suzanne Lenglen are just starters.

Professionalism is what the game of tennis long has needed, Mr. Pyle assures me. Amateurism conduces to dishonesty, because it is well known the players are driven to pocketing profits on the sly.

The promoter tells how the management at Forest Hills gets rich off the players and so did the management at Wimbledon.

Mr. Pyle intends to organize professional tennis and promote it for all he is worth. He may lose money in the venture, but he faithfully will discharge the duties imposed on him by his love of the game. (I might say that Mr. Pyle confessed he never had been a tennis player.)

As for professional football, what a great thing it will be for college athletes after their graduation!

The average graduate, just starting into business, earns about a thousand dollars a year. Who should worry, if he can put in three months at professional football on the side, and pocket five or ten or a hundred thousand more?

Mr. Pyle exuded so much familiarity with and respect for the staff

Victor Herbert is the most popular American composer whose works are heard from station WBAL, Baltimore, Md. Forty different Herbert numbers have been broadcast by this station since Dec. 1.

Jaa Van Bommel, Dutch baritone, former Royal Court singer to Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, sang recently on the WAHG, Richmond, Hill, N. Y. program. Van Bommel is making a tour of the United States and probably will be heard from many radio stations in the future.

Paul Roberts, popular KFI, Los Angeles, tenor, received an envelope recently that contained nothing but a card, an ace of hearts, on which was scrawled the message, "Your voice."

Gertrude Lunt is a member of the staff of WLWL, New York. Her voice is seldom heard on the air as her work is connected more with the studio than broadcasting. She is well-known by the many entertainers and visitors of the WLWL studio.

Walter Damrosch will be heard in a series of 13 programs, starting Saturday evening, October 23, from stations WEAF, New York; WEEI, Boston; WGR, Buffalo; WFI, Philadelphia; WCAE, Pittsburgh; WWJ, Detroit; WSAI, Cincinnati; WTAM, Cleveland; WGN, Chicago; KSD, St. Louis; WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul and WDAF, Kansas City. The weekly programs will alternate in nature one being an elaborate musicale by the New York Symphony Orchestra with Damrosch conducting and the other a piano lecture-recital by Damrosch.

DEMPSEY ISSUES WILLS CHALLENGE

Tells His Story of Fight Argument Over Negro; Wants the Money.

Saratoga Springs, Aug. 19.—Jack Dempsey issued a public challenge today to Harry Wills for a bout to be staged before January 1, 1927, providing the champion retains his title in his battle with Gene Tunney in Philadelphia.

Dempsey declared he had posted a forfeit of $150,000 and demanded that the Negro or his manager, Faddy Mullins, cover it, the winner to take all.

Declaring that he will never defend his title in this state, the champion said the bout could be held anywhere in this country or Mexico, except in New York.

His Statement.
 The statement, issued shortly after Dempsey was informed that his fight with Tunney had been shifted to Philadelphia, revealed that Rickard transferred the fight to the Quaker City at the champion's insistence. It reads in part as follows:

"Since the license committee refused to grant me a license, I sent my manager, Gene Normile, to New York to demand that Tex Rickard shift the fight to Philadelphia.

"I will never again defend my title in New York State. My attorney could easily win in court and force the committee to give me a license, but if the Farley-Phelan-Wear combination does not want me, I surely will not intrude.

"Since I won the championship in 1919 I have wanted a bout with Wills. The powers that be in New York and the responsible promoters throughout the country do not want a heavyweight championship bout with a Negro and they have carefully prevented it from taking place. The Jack Johnson messes killed fight pictures and nearly killed the game and the men who control the sport are scared to death of a repetition. Meanwhile, I have had to be the goat and remain silent while I have been accused of running away from Wills.

"Three years ago when I fought Firpo and Wills tried to tie up the boxing commission with an injunction, the commission openly stated that no responsible promoter had come forward to stage a Wills bout. That was true then and has been true ever since.

"Trying to Cover Up.
 "The commission did not want to antagonize the Negro race. Since then, however, in some unknown way, their hands have been called and they have tried to cover up and force me into a Wills bout with some such promoter as Tom O'Rourke.

"I do not know anything about O'Rourke's tie-up with the boxing authorities, nor do I care. If any bulldozing of the boxing authorities has induced Tex Rickard to undertake the job of promoting a Wills bout, Tex knows he could have had my signature to any contract he wanted to write.

"For the past year I have traveled thousands of miles and spent much time trying to book Wills for a fight. I have never drawn the color line. Wills was the only man I wanted.

"In September of last year I signed papers in Niles, Mich., for a Wills bout, but it fell through because the promoters could not put up the initial $125,000 that was to be paid me on signing the contract.

"In October at Huntington, W. Va., we again met only to see the match fall through because the would-be promoters could not put up the necessary $125,000.

No Longer Silent.
 "I refuse longer to remain silent and be the goat. I will fight Wills or I will know the reason why. I want every one that is interested to know that I am open for bids for a Wills bout to take place not later than Jan. 1, 1927, to take place anywhere in the United States or Mexico, except in the State of New York. If we cannot stage this fight in the United States then we will take it to Tia Juana.

"In the meantime let Mr. Wills and Mr. Mullins cover the $150,000 and we will sign articles. Money talks and I don't mean maybe."

Umpires: Dwyer and Russell. Game called at 6 o'clock at the West Side grounds.

The last twilight game of the season of the Sons of Italy will be played tonight with the New Departures of Bristol on the other side of the West Side diamond. This is the second appearance of the ancient rivals of Manchester in this town this year and will undoubtedly draw an immense crowd of fans.

Thorpe, who held the Sons in two games so far, is expected to take the mound for the New Departures while Russo Fisher will do the honors for the locals. With these two men opposing each other the affair should wind up in a pitching duel if one or the other of the teams doesn't let out with a spurge of hitting. Fisher has been the mainstay of the Sons this season and has turned in a good game every time he has pitched.

The Sons want this game and they want it badly. That is why they have bolstered up their team by the addition of Partons and Wright of the Saints. These men are expected to round up what will make a well nigh perfect infield with Sipples and Mike Zwick in the other two positions. Sipples will come in from the outfield to pastime at first base while Mike will take second. Wright and Partons will be at shortstop and third base.

Woody Wallett, F'sher's old running mate, will have the mask on tonight. The outfield positions will be ably taken over by Le Bell, Alexander and St. John, three men of well known hitting ability. The local batting order puts Le Bell, Wright, Sipples and St. John in the first four. All of them are hitters from the word go and Sipples usually makes his offerings go for one or more extra bases.

Bristol's lineup will be practically the same that has played in Manchester year after year. It is reasonably sure that Thorpe or Brooks will be on the mound but Lester Lanning with his shine ball will be on the bench ready to step into the affair at any time. Bristol depends on these pitchers and has found them reliable since the first of the present season.

This will mark the last twilight game of the season for the Sons. The local team has given Manchester fans a game or two every week and has brought attractions to town that would have done credit to bigger cities. The weather is beginning to show signs of coming autumn and the nights are not so light as they were so the management has decided to confine its interest to Saturday and Sunday games.

WILTSE PITCHES, HITS TO WIN OVER HARTFORD

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 19.—"Hooks" Wiltse, Albany's box prodigy, showed Billy Lush's Hartford Senators that his ability isn't confined to twirling in yesterday's game here. Wiltse's home run in the fifth broke the tie at 2 all, and gave him a lead that Hartford never caught again.

White entered the Hall of Fame with a home run in the fourth. Krahe had a good day at the plate getting three out of four.

CUBS, NOTICE!
 The Cub football team will hold a special meeting tonight at the Nathan Hale school at 7 o'clock. Coach Earl Wright will be present and he requests all members to attend.

SPORT CHATTER

Tonight is the big night. Manchester's arch enemy, Bristol, comes here to play the Sons of Italy in the Sons' last twilight game of the season. A big crowd will undoubtedly be at the West Side. The old fighting spirit of rivalry is always at its highest when Bristol comes around.

Bristol has taken the Sons' measure before this year, but Pete Vendrillo's pets will be out for revenge this time. At any rate, the locals should have plenty of lung support from the sidelines.

Wardy Waters and Eddie Goodrich will be there as usual. These two players are the big drawing cards in the Bristol lineup. Crabs? If you want to call them that, but they're not really "crabs." They're good ball players that fight every inch of the war, and while they may get the "razzberry" from hostile fans, they never fail to push their team on to a victory when the least possible chance of winning remains.

Local people, as well as fight fans everywhere else, are still wondering when Jack Dempsey really will fight. During the next war, perhaps, if he is not too old.

There will be another band concert and get together night next Wednesday at the West Side Grounds. These nights never fail to draw big crowds, and never fail to provide plenty of diversion for everyone.

The Shamrocks rans up an easy victory over the Aetna Fire Insurance team of Hartford last night at the Community grounds. Prentice had the visitors eating out of his hand most of the time, and never was in real danger. Tomorrow night the Shamrocks play the All-Rockvilles in the Windy City; on Saturday, the Wicos of Springfield there; and on Sunday the Groton team at Hickey's Grove.

EAGLES WIN

The Eagles defeated the Tigers in the best played game of the season yesterday.

Wiley pitched a good game and received fine support up to the last inning when a wild throw allowed the winning run to be scored. Wiley held the Eagles to one hit, while Andriol also did well, only allowing two hits.

McConkie was the lucky man to get the one hit. Wogman and Wiley got the Tigers two only hits. The Eagles wish to challenge any team averaging the age of 18. Please communicate with James Foley, telephone 1870.

RICKARD EXPECTS 150,000 TO SEE FIGHT AT PHILLY

Sept. 23 Set as Date for Dempsey - Tunney Bout; Sesqui Show to Get 10 Per Cent; Everybody Satisfied.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Aug. 19.—The Dempsey-Tunney match will draw a gross of more than $2,000,000 in Philadelphia on September 23, the largest "gate" in the history of legalized boxing or any other kind.

Tex Rickard was authorized for this statement today, by way of elaboration, amplification and for good measure, following his shift of scene, between suns, to the city of eternal repose.

Exactly 150,000 persons can see the fight at the Exposition Stadium, and may go higher," Rickard said. "The thing is an absolute sell-out, as I see it. Why, do you know I have 9,000 ticket applications on hand right now, in spite of all the uncertainty caused by the local license committee's failure to give Dempsey a permit. I always knew I could make more money in Philadelphia with that stadium but I hated to take the fight away from New York, where I owe so much to boxing.

"However, it won't be exactly Philadelphia's fight, either. New York will furnish at least a third of the crowd and my seat reservations on hand have come in from Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Denver and as far west as the Pacific Coast. It will be a national fight."

and, according to Rickard, 150,000 will. Maybe the crowd will number only 149,998 but, in that case, Rickard will know what to do. He'll give two tickets away, just to make it unanimous.

The bout is scheduled to go ten rounds to an official decision. If the two judges fail to agree upon a winner, the referee will render a decision. If the fight had been held in New York it would have been a fifteen-round affair.

Biggest Sport Crowd
 If Rickard knows his viands, this fight, which was kicked all the way from New York to Chicago, back again and then cut, will yet live to play to the greatest sport crowd America has known. Approximately 50,000 saw the Dempsey-Carpenter and Dempsey-Firpo enterprises and at the time it struck us that we certainly were meeting a lot of people. This one, apparently, will make us feel that we must have been enjoying absolute privacy.

"It can't miss two million dollars turnties, he intimated he would be willing to call it two million even and be able to bear up bravely. The Carpenter shot grossed about $1,700,000, the record to date.

Of course, it won't be all velvet; in fact, a lot of it will be imitation seal. Dempsey's for instance will be a half million; Tunney $150,000, the state of Pennsylvania five per cent, the Exposition ten per cent, and Jules Aronson, the new partner in the enterprise, a sum of important money mutually agreed upon before the shift was made.

Everything, in fact, has been mutually agreeable, according to last night's announcement. The governor says it's all right, the Mayor says it's all right, and just as though anybody cared, I say it's all right. So do Luke McLuke, Joe Windmill and a lot of prominent bootblacks.

A Big Price
 It seemed, also, that it would call for a national price. The sum of $30 will be charged for ringside seats, and by the time Rickard is finished, sweeping out the box offices, that $50,000 check he furnished the Pennsylvania commission and the $50,000 bond he gave the exposition officials, as evidence of his good faith, may look like a nickel in the collection box on Easter Sunday.

As Rickard figured it today, a crowd of 150 at an average of $15 a head, if any, would mean a gate of $2,250,000. Allowing for seepage, flat feet and loss of life at the

FLOWERS FAVORED TO WIN TONIGHT'S FIGHT WITH GREB

New York, Aug. 19.—Tiger Flowers was an eight to five favorite today to retain his mid-weight title in his fifteen-round bout here tonight with Harry Greb, the former king of the middle-weights inasmuch as Greb has been outpointed twice by the Negro, experts believe that the Pittsburgh windmill will have to register a knockout to win, although he is reported to be in much better shape than when he lost the title to Flowers.

Joe Prentice Bests McDonald In Pitchers' Duel

SHAMROCKS DEFEAT AETNA FIRE; BRENNAN AND BURKE HIT HEAVY

Each Pokes Out Double and Triple as North End Team Triumphs 5 to 2—Prentice Fans Eight Batters.

Joe Prentice bested Vic McDonald last night in a crack-jack pitchers' battle at the Community Grounds and as a consequence Manager Clemson's Shamrocks romped to a 5 to 2 victory. A fairly large gathering of fans watched the melee and were treated to a snappy exhibition from start to finish. The winners made but one misplay. Prentice struck out eight batters. He was in fine form and showed no ill effects from his recent serious injury from an automobile accident. Prentice was especially effective in the pinches. His fast ball was a puzzle to the Hartfordites.

Brennan and Burke were the stars as far as heavy hitting was concerned. Each banged out two hits. Brennan got a double and a triple. Burke did likewise. "Abe" Silverman of the Hartford Dixies, excelled at shortstop for the Hartford team. Brennan and Brownell fielded well for the Shamrocks.

RACE IN NATIONAL GETTING TIGHTER

Cards and Reds Win as Pirates Split With Braves; Giants Beat Cubs.

The National League race today is tighter than a Dowager's corset as a result of yesterday's victories by St. Louis and Cincinnati. The Pirates, who could do no better than break even in a double header with the Braves, lead the Cardinals by only half a game, with the Reds the same distance behind St. Louis.

Three Winning Streaks Keep Yankees In Lead

(By Billy Evans) Three sustained winning streaks explain why the Yankees are out in front in the American League. The first streak consisted of eight straight wins, the second comprised just twice as many, while the third totaled eleven.

Thus in three winning streaks the Yankees have knocked off 35 ball games, about the margin the team now enjoys in the race for the pennant.

Managers of the Sons and Maplewoods were two runs down at the start of the sixth inning but a rally brought them two in this frame and tied the score. The game was then called because of darkness.

MOSTIL FASTEST OUTFIELDER, HAS SPEED GALORE—EVANS

(By Billy Evans.) What outfielder in the major leagues covers the most ground? Since the opening of the season, I venture to say that question has been put to me 100 times by fans.

I am inclined to think that Johnny Mostil of the Chicago White Sox can go farther and get them than any other outfielder in the majors.

Mostil is very fast, gets up speed quickly and is an excellent judge of fly balls. He is one of the few outfielders who turns his back at the crack of the bat, races out and then faces about, usually right under the ball.

BILLY EVANS TELLS HOW TILDEN STANDS

Says Veteran Has Slipped Some But Still Is Quite a Tennis Player.

Tilden and Chandler. Possibly Champion Bill Tilden has slipped a trifle, but he is still quite a tennis player.

Recently, while in Boston, I had the opportunity of watching the titleholder in two matches, one of them with the highly touted youngster from the west, Edward G. "Bud" Chandler.

Chandler is the young man Bill Johnston calls a better player today than Vincent Richards. Among his tennis titles is that of the intercollegiate champion.

Incidentally, Chandler has already this season beaten Bill Johnston, so it is only natural that the diminutive Californian should have a high opinion of his ability. Johnston is No. 2 player in the national ranking.

Chandler also has to his credit a win over Harara, the No. 7 ranking player. These two victories are outstanding in the tennis feats Chandler has performed this year.

It was my very good fortune to watch the match between Chandler and Tilden, which experts agreed would test the champion to the limit.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

No town is big enough for a reckless drivers' convention. It has been suggested that Monday morning newspapers would save space by printing a list of the living. Teacher: What are the three essential ways of caring for the body? Garage Owner's Boy: Wash, grease and Simoniz. "What a world!" A man holds up a train and gets $100. Another holds up a Ford and gets $5,000. The wolf doesn't always knock at the door these days. Many a time he rides on the running board of the auto. There once was a driver named Morning. Who refused to heed any warning. He drove on the track. Without looking back. So they're mourning this morning for Morning.

Most of the hiking is now done from the parking place to where you are going. You can't have a big blow out with a flat tire. UNDOUBTEDLY. If a motor cop stops you for speeding, call him a liar and a blackmailer. He probably will take your word for it and let you off.

Most of the old motor cars have been paid for once anyway. "The old family sofa two generations removed," remarked the wise man as he observed the car parked on the lonely road.

Young lady (after violent dance) - "There! My heel's gone! That's done for me this evening." Youth - "Oh, bother! Don't you carry spare parts?"

The life of a telegraph pole, we are told, is about fifteen years. This data, however, does not apply to poles located near State roads.

Fred (horsback riding): "Hey, you! Don't stop your car in front of my horse." Paul: "Don't worry, I know the rules. Don't park in front of a plug."

The tourist who fell dead at the steering wheel probably met an autoist who gave him half the road voluntarily. The fellow who can memorize the license number of the car that hit him should be credited with real presence of mind.

SIGNS ON FLIVVER. "Don't rush this can!" "Chicken, here's your coupe!" "I'd run faster but there's a crank in front of me." "Four wheels—all tired." "Latest model spoon holder." "Why girls stay at home." "Don't laugh, you'll be old yourself some day."

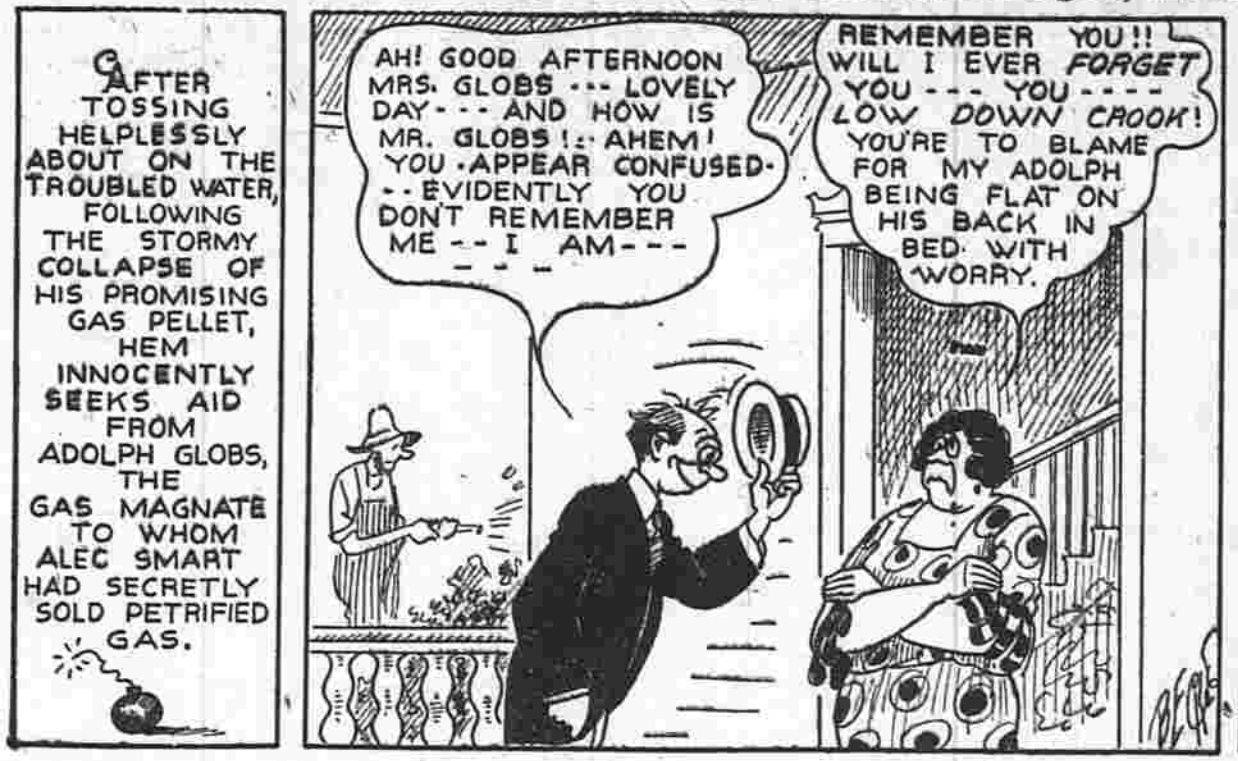

"I wonder where that speeding motorist thinks he is going?" says a local policeman. "Well, a good guess would be the cemetery," says another.

Some towns have all the luck. In Detroit a man got mad at his motorcycle and tore it up. Most flivver wrecks are due to tight nuts. Clothes used to make a girl. Now it's his car.

He parked his auto where he pleased. "Cause he had lots of kale. But, shucks, they wouldn't take a fine. So now he's parked in jail.

WOMAN BADLY HURT IN QUEER ACCIDENT

Pipe Protruding from Rear of Auto Swings Around and Hits Mrs. Boughton.

Two persons were injured, one seriously, and three others narrowly escaped being hurt in an odd accident which occurred at the Center late yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Richard Boughton, 22, of 19 High street, is in the Memorial hospital with a possible fracture of the skull. Miss Marie Keating, of Elm Terrace received a bad scalp wound. Mrs. Ethel Whitman, of 123 Cooper Hill street, William Howell, of Hartford Road and Benjamin Desmond, of 125 Cooper Hill street escaped injury.

The accident occurred when a party of five persons were proceeding up Main street in an open Chevrolet touring car, which was operated by Howell. In front of the Manchester Gas Company office at the Center, a Ford truck was parked. It belonged to the gas company. Workmen were loading pipe into it. One piece protruded from the rear of the truck.

Eye Witness's Story
It was said by an eye witness that another automobile passed the car driven by Howell. As it did, it is said the car cut over suddenly in front of Howell's car. The result was that Howell swerved sharply to the right to avoid a collision.

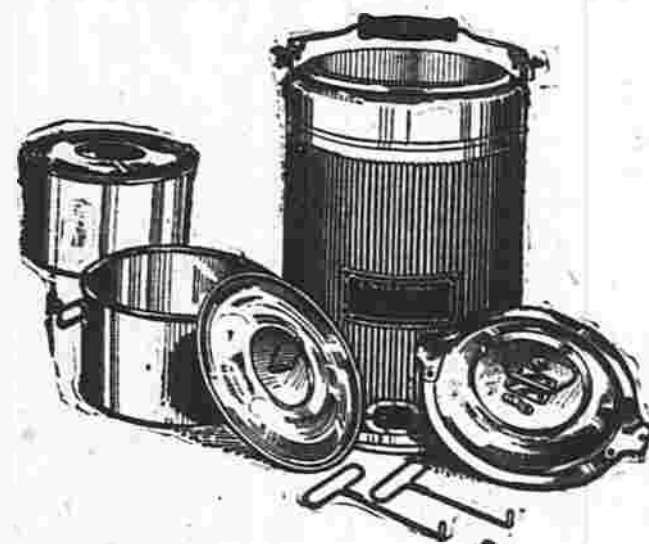

In doing so, the pipe which stuck out of the end of the truck struck the Chevrolet midway. It caught against part of the auto and bent back. Then it snapped free and struck Mrs. Boughton on the back of the head. It was a terrific blow and the woman was knocked unconscious. The pipe also grazed Miss Keating and narrowly missed the other occupants of the machine.

Sent to Hospital
The injured women were taken to a doctor's office where she was revived a half an hour afterwards and then removed to the hospital where X-ray pictures are to be taken today.

You Intend to Name a Friend or Relative as Your Executor

"BEFORE I left for Europe three months ago," said a prominent business man, "I arranged with a friend to look after my investment and other business matters during my absence. I gave him full power of attorney to handle my affairs, for I had complete confidence in his judgment and ability."

"Two weeks after I sailed, my friend was taken seriously ill and within three weeks he passed away. I was compelled to return to America as quickly as possible. Upon my return I found that I had suffered a loss of $5,000 on my investments due to the fact that shares which I held as a stockholder of a railroad company had not been exchanged within a required time limit when a new company was formed."

"My investment and business affairs were completely neglected due to the illness of my friend and I have spent two weeks in straightening out the tangles.

"This experience set me thinking. I had always intended to name my friend to handle my affairs for my family if anything happened to me. His death, however, impressed upon me the inadequacy of such a plan. If my estate is to be managed efficiently without loss or inconvenience to my family, I should name someone who would not become sick or incapacitated or be away when important matters need attention—someone thoroughly experienced in investment and other estate details."

"I have, therefore, made my will and named a trust company as executor and trustee. I know that my executor cannot die, that it is financially responsible and that its officers are experienced and qualified efficiently to manage my estate."

Before naming your executor and trustee, read our booklet, "Safeguarding Your Family's Future." It contains much information about wills and trusts and the advantages of leaving your estate in the care of a trust company.
