

CRASH POURS BATH OF ACID OVER DRIVER

Trolley Hits Truck at Wood- land; Oxford Man in Hos- pital in Serious Condition; Truck Wrecked.

Spattered with sulphuric acid as the result of an accident in which a Ford truck loaded with that liquid was hit by a Hartford bound trolley car at the Woodland mills late yesterday afternoon, George Martin, 19, of Oxford, this state, is in the Memorial hospital in a critical condition. Martin's truck, containing eight carboys of the acid, was struck by a trolley car operated by Motorman Fred Wilkie of this town at 4:30 yesterday and the acid splashed all over his right side, burning his clothes and eating into his flesh.

Presence of Mind.
Martin's presence of mind when he ran into the Woodland paper mill after he had extricated himself from the wreck and smeared his burns with machine oil, saved him much pain. He was taken to the Memorial hospital immediately and was given treatment by a Manchester physician there. Motorman Wilkie and Conductor Harold Birge were slightly burned by the acid when they went to Martin's assistance and the sole of Birge's shoe was burned off. Passengers in the trolley car who had gotten out to view the wreck, suffered injury to their shoes when they walked in the acid which had flowed over the road.

Martin is employed by the Byrrolly Transportation company of Waterbury and had come to Hartford yesterday with a five-ton truck load of merchandise. At Hartford he was transferring the merchandise to a Ford truck loaded with acid to be taken to the Case-Marshall paper mills in Woodland.

Truck Stalls.
He had reached the mills and was about to make a left hand turn to enter the driveway of the plant in some manner, his car stalled on the track and the trolley crashed into the rear of it, demolishing the machine and plowing the driver under the wreckage. All of the acid containers were smashed and the liquid, seeping through the planking under which Martin was lying, covered his entire right side.

Condition Critical.
Martin made a vigorous effort to free himself but in emerging from the wreck, some of his clothes and part of his flesh fell off, eaten by the acid. He was put in Quish's ambulance and taken to the Memorial hospital and when he reached that place his skin had turned black. It was announced today that his condition was critical. Today it was said that he was resting more comfortably.

The truck was smashed to kindling wood and hardly any of what is left can be salvaged. The accident was investigated by the East Hartford police.

Martin's relatives in Oxford were notified by local authorities last night.

MELLON, BACK, SAYS HE NEVER TALKED FINANCE

New York, Sept. 17.—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon arrived here today on the S. S. Verangaria, after several weeks vacation in Europe, and took occasion to state that, all rumors to the contrary, at no time while he was in Europe did he confer with regard to financial matters.

Secretary Mellon admitted that he had met a number of distinguished statesmen, but said that not once had international affairs been discussed.

Three Fastest Humans Now Live In Manchester

"Daisy, Daisy,
Give me your answer, do;
I'm half crazy, all for the love of you.
It won't be a stylish marriage,
I can't afford a carriage,
Won't you look sweet, upon the seat
Of a bicycle built for two."

That was the "Yes, sir, she's muh baby" of 25 years ago when all this happened and the song applies to the careers of the three fastest humans that you'll read about in

THE HERALD
"Out at Noon"

QUEEN MARIE COMING TO U. S. IN OCTOBER.

Paris, Sept. 17.—Queen Marie of Rumania will sail for the United States early in October, the Rumanian legation announced today. The queen has accepted an invitation to attend the Sesquicentennial at Philadelphia.

The Infanta Beatrice of Spain and, probably, Princess Ileana will accompany the queen and her suite.

STIFF SENTENCE FOR NEGLIGENCE

Hartford Autoist Fined $150 and Costs, Gets 40 Days for Striking Boy.

"This is the most glaring case of criminal negligence that has come to my attention since I have been judge in this court. You are not only unfit to have a license but also not fit to associate with decent people. I am going to find you guilty on both charges and impose a fine of $100 and costs with a jail sentence of ten days for reckless driving and $50 and costs with a jail sentence of thirty days for evading responsibility."

This was the sentence handed down by Judge Raymond A. Johnson in the case of Frank Hornberger, 22-year-old Hartford man, who lives at 34 South Whitney street. Hornberger was taken to jail following the trial which was held in the Manchester Police court today in the case of Frank Hornberger, 22-year-old Hartford man, who lives at 34 South Whitney street. Hornberger was taken to jail following the trial which was held in the Manchester Police court today in the case of Frank Hornberger, 22-year-old Hartford man, who lives at 34 South Whitney street.

Police Work Fast.
Considerable credit is due the police department for its speedy work in solving the mystery. The fact that the guilty person was arrested and convicted less than 36 hours after the accident occurred, will attest to their efficient work. It is moreover impressive because the police took up the case with-out the slightest delay upon which to work. Notwithstanding this, they succeeded in clearing up the mystery which for a time was baffling.

Erwin Walsh, the 16-year-old boy, who was struck by the machine operated by Hornberger, was unable to give a coherent story of what had happened. He was on his way home from the Halfway Hill Station on Spencer street late Wednesday night. He was alone. At a point in front of the West Cemetery, he was struck and knocked unconscious by the Ford sedan.

For a long time he lay at the side of the road unable to move and unaware of what had happened. Later he recovered his senses partly and managed to crawl to his home at 188 Spencer street, where he lives with Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Miller. It was a distance of 200 feet but he managed to reach the house. His head was covered with blood and he had other injuries. Mr. Miller hurried the boy to a doctor's office where it was found he was suffering from a concussion of the brain.

Sent to Hospital.

ENTIRE CREW INJURED IN SHIPS' COLLISION

One Sailor May Die from Crash of Schooner and Collier Off Nantucket.

Nantucket, Mass., Sept. 17.—While a fifty mile gale was sweeping a fog blanket across Pollock Rip Sluic early today, the Collier Eastern Crown, crashed into the three-masted schooner Rebecca R. Douglas, of Machias, Me., injuring the latter's entire crew of seven men. One member of the schooner's crew may die from the injuries which he sustained.

The schooner, her bow literally torn off by the force of the impact, was filling rapidly when Captain J. W. Gay and the injured crew were rescued. The damage to the Eastern Crown was slight and the Collier's crew was reported to have escaped without injury.

A heavy sea was running when patrol boat 241, from Nantucket Coast Guard base No. 3, was dispatched to the scene of collision, effecting the rescue. The Coast Guard cutter Ossipee and the Coast Guard destroyer Beale were standing by in the close vicinity when the rescue was made.

The Douglas is owned by Charles W. Small of Machiasport, Me., and the Eastern Crown is a United States Shipping Board craft.

An attempt was made to tow the Douglas to port here. The Eastern Crown stood by.

WORST FLOODS FOR 50 YEARS HIT MIDWEST

Illinois, Indiana and Iowa Worst Sufferers in Vast Sweep of Waters Taking 20 Lives, Working Havoc.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—The most damaging flood in half a century is sweeping over vast areas of ten mid-western states today. Property loss thus far has been placed at upwards of $20,000,000, although any accurate estimate at this time is impossible. At least twenty persons are known to have lost their lives.

Rain continued falling today over much of the stricken area. Thousands of families have been driven from their homes and are seeking temporary refuge on higher ground. Whole counties of rich farm land are under water in some states, the crops laid waste.

Three Is Hardest Hit
Illinois, Indiana and Iowa are the hardest hit. Missouri, Wisconsin and Ohio are also suffering heavy damage.

Skunk river, in southeastern Iowa, presents the real drama of the flood. Three hundreds of citizens are working on the levees in a frantic effort to keep pace with the rising river.

The levees has gone out in one or two places, flooding hundreds of acres of rich farm land and driving farmers and livestock to the hills. Several towns and villages in the Skunk Valley are threatened with inundation.

Similar conditions prevail along the Mississippi river, which has reached a flood stage of 24 feet. Beardstown, Ill., is threatened and hundreds of workers are fighting to save the weakened levees.

Fear of Disease
Highways have been washed out and train service badly impaired over the stricken area. Motor traffic in the flooded sections of Illinois, Iowa and Indiana has been practically abandoned.

Fear of disease as an aftermath of the flood was the chief concern of health authorities today. In some sections there is no water to drink save that of the swollen, muddy streams as water works and power houses in many towns have been put out of commission.

FAKING CHARGED IN JACK-GENE BATTLE

Underground Lawsuit in Quaker City Based on Unre- vealed "Inside" Story.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—Suit has been filed here which has as its purpose the trying up of the purse of the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship bout next week. The suit was brought by Sol Wittenberg, an employee in the law office of John R. K. Scott, who will appear as counsel for Wittenberg at the hearing of the case tomorrow, said today that an "inside" story containing hints of a "fake" will be revealed at the hearing.

Wittenberg brought the suit as a taxpayer and ticket holder. Although Wittenberg is named in the action as plaintiff and Tex Rickard, promoter of the fight, as defendant, it is reported that an enemy of Dempsey's is really behind the suit and that it is aimed at the champion.

William T. Conner, an associate of Scott's, explained the suit, which is an action in equity. He said the complaint charged that Rickard had already paid Dempsey and Tunney part of their share of the gate receipts, and thus "in the event of a fake, they would be in a position to leave the state, thus defrauding the ticket holders.

Conner said that he conferred with Gov. Pinchot yesterday on the case, and alleged that arrangements had been made to pay the fighters in full before they entered the ring. He declared he was in possession of the entire inside story, but refused to name his witnesses, or his source of information.

Rickard, in a statement, denied that he had made any advance payments to either boxer, but admitted that he had "loaned" them money for "traveling expenses." He added that he had notes from both Dempsey and Tunney for all money advanced.

SIKORSKY FLIGHT OFF TILL SUNDAY MORNING

New York, Sept. 17.—Captain Rene Fonck's trans-Atlantic flight in a giant Sikorsky bi-plane has been postponed again because of storms at sea. The starting time is now scheduled for Sunday morning just after daybreak.

Oh, Girls! Here's the Latest On Clothes, Hot off the Wire!

(BY SONIA LED)
New York, Sept. 17.—Backless evening gowns and skirts after-noon frocks. A reversion to black. A continuance of matching accessories.

These were the predictions today of designers along Garment Row and of caterers to woman's fancy. Specifically styles vary little from those of the past season. The skirts are still fourteen inches from the floor, or more; legs permitting. The silhouette is slim, tall and compact. Frills and furbelows, while attempted, are finding but little favor in feminine eyes. Pleats are used either in front or back or at the sides of the skirt.

Collars, which have displayed a tendency to be high, have again dropped; and the deep v-neck, with a fancy tie at its side, is favored.

For afternoon wear, green of the hunter shades, deep wines, with purple shades, and the wood tints are popular. However, the very smart woman, again in the war days, chooses black from top to toe, with the exception of her hose, which are of sun-burnt tints. Colors have palled on the lady of fashion, and she is reverting to the sombre but very chic black. Materials are velvets, twills and a preponderance of silks.

Little of the reptile leathers are being used in shoes. The smooth leathers and the patents again are in vogue.

Hats will be in felts and velours, probably two-toned, and of high, folded crowns.

Hat, bag, gloves must match. Shoes should sound the harmonizing note in the costume.

NO. END'S FIREMEN FROLIC SATURDAY

Annual Field Day to Be Held at Community Grounds; Great Baseball Contest.

Tomorrow, weather permitting, will be a red letter day in the history of the Manchester fire department. It will be the occasion of the first annual field day to be held at the North End playgrounds. Everything is in readiness for the event, which is expected, will hereafter be held annually.

The program will begin at 1:30 o'clock. There will be contests among the North End fire fighters in jumper hose laying and plain hose laying. Other contests will be included. The feature of the afternoon will probably be the baseball game between the Manchester fire department and the South Manchester fire department. These two combinations of "would-be" baseball stars have met once before this year with the South End getting the decision, 8 to 7. This time the North End hopes to get revenge.

The Teams.
"Bill" McGonigal will assay to pitch the North End team to victory. His team will take the field in the following order: Keller, ss; Keeney, 2b; P. Cervini, 3b; Coleman, 1b; McGonigal, p; Smith, lf; Mooney, rf and Griffin, cf. The South Ends will have the following lineup:

Pinnegar, c; Cotter, p; Quish, 1b; Smith, 2b; Glennen, ss; Lashlusk, 3b; Kid Smith, lf; Montie, cf; Lorich, rf.

In the Evening.
In the evening at 6:30 a supper will be served at the Rose House at Main and Hilliard streets. There will also be a lively entertainment. The firemen are volunteers who have given their services day and night and the Fire Commissioners are taking this way of showing their appreciation.

One of the main features of the day's program will be an entertainment which the Salvation Army band will render in the afternoon at the Community ground.

ALICE LONGWORTH FOR NATIONAL COMMITTEE

Ohio Aspirant Withdraws in Favor of Wife of Speaker, Daughter of Roosevelt.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 17.—Miss Rose Moriarty, one of the leading aspirants for the office of Republican national committeewoman from Ohio, today announced her willingness to withdraw in favor of Mrs. Alice Nicholas Longworth, of Cincinnati.

Miss Moriarty's announcement was made in a letter to Fred W. Warner Marion, chairman of the Republican Central committee. She urged unanimous selection of Mrs. Longworth, wife of the speaker of the national House of Representatives, and daughter of the late Theodore Roosevelt.

There are five other women candidates for the office.

Jess Smith Unpaid Sleuth, Daugherty Letters Declare

New York, Sept. 17.—Harry M. Daugherty's relationship to the late Jesse Smith was explained in letters read to the jury today in the Daugherty-Miller trial in Federal court.

The letters were read by Max Steyer, counsel for Daugherty. They were written by Daugherty to John D. Harris, who was on the stand when Steyer introduced the correspondence.

HENRY STEVENS SEEN AT PLACE OF HALL CRIME

Simpson Has Witness Who Will Swear New Suspect Was Present at the Dou- ble Murder.

Somerville, N. J., Sept. 17.—Plea of "not guilty" will be entered late today by Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, her brothers Henry and Willie Stevens, and their cousin, Henry B. Carpenter, when they are arraigned before Supreme Court Justice Parker.

Whether the white-haired, aristocratic widow of the Rev. Edward W. Hall is to share the imprisonment of her kinsmen pending their trial for the murder of the clergyman and Mrs. Eleanor B. Mills, will be decided by Justice Parker.

Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor said today that he does not desire to have Mrs. Hall re-arrested and placed in jail. He will ask for a heavy increase in her present bail of $15,000, however.

May Arrest Gorsline.
Following questioning of Ralph Gorsline, New Brunswick church vestryman, early today by investigators, it was rumored that he may be arrested later in the day. The further quizzing was a surprise.

Gorsline admitted before the grand jury that he had visited De Russy's lane, near New Brunswick, the night of the murders and had heard shots and screams.

Senator Simpson bluntly asserted that he was convinced Gorsline had not told all he knew to the grand jury.

The hearing before Justice Parker has been set for five o'clock this afternoon.

Simpson revealed today that he will produce a witness when the murder trial opens who will swear that Henry Stevens was at the scene of the murder.

Seen at Farm.
"I would not have permitted Stevens to be indicted for murder if I didn't have a witness who placed him at the scene of the crime. There seems to be some doubt that he placed him actually on the scene of the murder when it was committed. Stevens was there and we have had a witness right along who saw him there."

Simpson firmly refused to divulge the name of the witness.

Stevens maintained his air of unruffled calm in jail. His wife plans to take an apartment in Somerville to be near him.

MABEL NORMAND AND LEW CODY MARRIED

Suddenly Decided on Nuptials Performed by Justice in Mid- dle of Night.

Los Angeles, Sept. 17.—Lew Cody, film star, and Mabel Normand, one of the best known screen actresses, were married last night at midnight at Ventura, Cody announced today.

Suddenly deciding on the nuptials, Cody and Miss Normand departed late last evening for Ventura by automobile, escorted by two motorcycle officers, Cody said.

Routing a marriage clerk out of bed, the couple obtained a marriage license, Cody giving his age as 39 years and Miss Normand as 28.

From the clerk's office they proceeded to the home of Justice of the Peace M. Dimmick, who performed the ceremony.

ELEVEN OF OLD 14TH ATTEND ITS REUNION

Waterbury, Sept. 17.—George E. Wood, of Middletown, was today elected president of the Fourteenth Connecticut Volunteers Association at the annual meeting here, succeeding Joseph Schlichter, of Willimantic. Other officers named are Mrs. Ibert F. Hall, Meriden, first vice-president; Mrs. Lester Flood, Waterbury, second vice-president; Captain Russell Glen, Bridgeport, secretary; Major Albert F. Hall, Meriden, assistant secretary; Geo. B. Hammond, Rockville, treasurer; and Nathan Stowe, Milford, chaplain.

Eleven of the original members of the Fourteenth Connecticut Volunteer Regiment attended the reunion, with Ira Spencer, of St. Petersburg, Fla., covering the longest distance.

FRANCE MAKES DENIAL OF GRAVE DESECRATION

Paris, Sept. 17.—An official denial of charges made by Senator Cursey that American graves in France have been desecrated has been forwarded to the United States government through the French Embassy at Washington. The American Graves Registration Bureau announced it has no information to substantiate the charges made by Senator Cursey.

MEX BANDITS KILL AMERICAN CAPTIVE

Jacob Rosenthal, Held for Ransom, Murdered as Sol- diers Appear.

Mexico City, Sept. 17.—Jacob Rosenthal of Woodmere, L. I., was murdered Wednesday night by the bandits who kidnapped him on his way in an automobile from Cuernavaca to Mexico City.

Federal troops and police who had been pursuing the kidnapers since Monday found the body of Mr. Rosenthal.

Retarded in their flight by the weakness of their captive, who was more than 60 years old, and having failed to get the $10,000 ransom they demanded, the bandits killed him with machetes and blows from their rifle butts.

Held Three Days.
The pursuing forces, after a short battle with the bandits, found the body of the American (Continued on Page 2.)

DROPS 4,000 FEET FROM AIR FLIGHT

Mail Aviator, Plane in Trou- ble; Saved by Parachute Leap in the Dark.

Ottawa, Ill., Sept. 17.—Carl A. Lindberg, air mail pilot, saved his life during a storm last night by stepping off his plane in a parachute 4,000 feet in the air, and said today that he felt none the worse for his experience.

Flying from St. Louis to Chicago with a cargo of mail, Lindberg became lost in a heavy blanket of fog. He ran out of gasoline. Disaster was imminent.

Plane Follows Him.
With only a few moments to spare, Lindberg cut loose his parachute and leaped into the dark, 4,000-foot void. His abandoned plane cut spirals around him as he descended. He landed uninjured in a cornfield.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS FIX UP THE SLATE

Smith for Governor, Wagner for Senator Is Final Deci- sion of State Leaders.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Governor Al Smith and Democratic leaders today were reported in agreement on the ticket to be nominated at the state convention at Syracuse, September 27-28.

When a conference of the leaders at the executive mansion broke up early this morning, the following slate had been decided on:

For United States senator, Supreme Court Justice Robert F. Wagner of New York.

For lieutenant governor, Edwin Corning, of Albany, chairman of the Democratic state committee.

For attorney general, Benjamin Stolz of Syracuse.

For comptroller, Maurice S. Tremaine of Buffalo.

Up to almost the last minute, it was learned today, Gov. Smith had insisted that some one be selected in place of his name for governor but when the leaders refused to listen, he finally gave them his word that he would make the fight.

The conference was to have taken place either today or tomorrow but because of the governor's illness the leaders came to Albany.

REPORTS OF OBERGON'S DEATH NOT CREDITED

Mexico City, Sept. 17.—Reports circulated in the United States that General Obergon has been killed with death at the hands of the Yaqui Indians are without confirmation here. These reports, it is believed, are based upon the fact that General Obergon was besieged for nearly a day in Sonora but was relieved last Monday by federal troops. The reports received at that time stated that Obergon was proceeding to his home.

AIMEE SEMPLE McPHERSON TO BE ARRESTED

Perjury Charges Against Evangelist, Her Mother, Ormiston and 2 Others to Be Prosecuted.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 17.—Chief of Detectives Ben Cohn will serve Aimee Semple McPherson, noted Evangelist, with a felony complaint today, it is understood. After being arrested on a charge of preparing perjured testimony, the pastor probably will be released immediately on bail.

Complaints charging preparation of perjured evidence were ready for service upon Mrs. McPherson; Kenneth Ormiston, her former radio attendant at Angelus Temple; Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the Evangelist; Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sellaf, who confessed to negotiating with the pastor for the production of a woman masquerading as "Miss X." and "John Doe" Martin of San Francisco, whom Mrs. Sellaf said first approached her with a plan to manufacture McPherson case "evidence."

Immunity to Ormiston
District Attorney Keyes today had extended to Ormiston an offer of immunity from prosecution if the radio man, who is reported to be in Los Angeles, will come out of hiding and make a full statement of his connection with the McPherson case. Ormiston introduced the cryptic name "Miss X." into the McPherson case by stating that Mrs. McPherson was not his companion at Carmel and that his actual consort was a San Francisco nurse, "Miss X." It is generally believed that Ormiston intends to turn state's evidence.

Angelus Temple attaches denied today that Mrs. McPherson had collapsed. Their pastor, they declared, was merely "very tired," and suffering from an abscess in her cheek.

District Attorney Keyes declared in a statement that the "brazen activities" of Mrs. McPherson and her friends had become a nationwide scandal.

SHORT CIRCUIT BRINGS DEATH AND INJURY

One Killed, Several Shocked, in High Tension Accident at Braintree, Mass.

Braintree, Mass., Sept. 17.—A high-tension wire of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company became grounded early today and electric lights and telephone service in a mile square area stopped.

Fire men summoned to the home of John Obar, where an electric motor had exploded and set the house afire, attempted to line-up a hose. Two horsemen dropped, severely shocked.

A few minutes later in the house next door, Mrs. Mary Fernald fell dead on the front steps, electrocuted. Her son, severely shocked, dropped beside her. A patrolman attempting to remove the son to a hospital, also was shocked.

MOROCCO DON OFFICERS SEND RIVERA DEFI

Soldiers of Spanish Forces De- mand Removal of Premier in 72 Hours.

Paris, Sept. 17.—An ultimatum, demanding the removal of Pr-no de Rivera from office as premier, has been delivered to King Alfonso, according to a report received here.

The ultimatum, which has a seventy-two hour time limit, is understood to have been forwarded by all the cavalry and artillery officers serving in Morocco and is supported by many infantry officers.

All officers of the Spanish army in both Spain and Morocco are reported to be moving in concert for the dismissal of General De Rivera, there being great dissatisfaction with the recent artillery decrees and also decrees regulating retirement from the army.

TIMSON, DITCH STRIVER RETURNS THIRD CLASS

London, Sept. 17.—Louis Timson, Boston Legionnaire, arrived here today from Dover and will sail for New York tomorrow in a third-class cabin, giving up all hopes of further attempts at swimming the English channel this year because of lack of funds.

Timson says he will swim Boston Bay in October and hopes to make another attempt at the channel in 1927.

FLETCHER, PHILLIES' HEAD, SUSPENDED. New York, Sept. 17.—Arthur Fletcher, manager of the Philadelphia National League club, has been suspended for the balance of the season for his tactics during one of yesterday's games with the St. Louis Cardinals in Philadelphia. It was announced this afternoon by John Heydler, president of the National League. James Wilson, catcher for the Phillies, was fined $50 by Heydler for his part in the proceedings. Fletcher, according to Heydler's ruling, was guilty of using abusive language to umpire Klem and general bad conduct. It was explained that after Fletcher's altercation with Klem he took fifteen minutes in getting off the ball field.

FOUR MEN INJURED AS VAN OVERTURNS

Steering Gear Goes Wrong on Twin Hills; No One Seriously Hurt.

A Hartford moving van on the way from Providence turned over in North Coventry near the Twin Hills at 7:30 last night and four occupants of the machine were taken to the Memorial hospital suffering with bruises and cuts. The driver of the truck, Roy Fitzpatrick of 18 Edgerton street, Hartford, refused to leave his machine until the owner in Hartford could be notified. The van was returning light from Providence and Fitzpatrick had with him his helper, Archie Wilson of 200 Magnolia street, Hartford. On the way to Hartford they picked up John Iyer and Patrick Grady, both of Providence, who were walking.

Near the top of the Twin Hills the steering gear of the truck went wrong and the machine went over the side of the road, picking up John Iyer and Patrick Grady, both of Providence, who were walking. Wilson is more seriously injured than the others having a severe scalp wound.

DOUBLE FEATURE AT CIRCLE TOMORROW ONLY

"Man in the Saddle" With Hoot Gibson and "Footloose Widows" on Same Program.

Tomorrow, only, the Circle theatre will present a good double feature program. Universal's latest Hoot Gibson Western comedy-drama, "The Man in the Saddle" will be one of the features.

"The Man in the Saddle" is a typical Hoot Gibson Western. Foot is as ever the big boob who isn't quite such a nut as his adversaries come to find out, much to their sorrow. This picture has comedy, thrills, spills, fast, cyclonic Gibson riding, sprinkled all through with Gibson geniality.

The other picture will be a surprising comedy feature, "Footloose Widows." Do you remember reading the "Evening Herald's" story, "Footloose" some time ago? If you do, you will most certainly want to see the screen version of this remarkable story. In the play are featured Louise Fazenda, Jacqueline Logan, Jason Robards and Arthur Hoyt.

"What's a girl to do when she's a scrimp, weary of working and discouraged at the hopelessness of it all?" See "Footloose Widows" and decide for yourself. "What's a guy to do when a bunch of girls are on his trail, trying to 'hook' him for his money?" See "Footloose Widows" and find out.

Tonight for the last time that great drama, "Havoc," will be featured. This is a mighty picture of stirring drum beats and woman's fickleness. As a stage play "Havoc" in London, New York, and Paris. It was one of the biggest hits in years. As a screen play it is even better. Startling, dramatic, thrilling, surprising—that's "Havoc." In the cast are featured George O'Brien and Madge Bellamy.

"The Cat's Pajamas," an exceedingly funny comedy feature, is the other picture on tonight's program.

NASH
Leads the World in Motor Car Value

Great Bearings

The Smoothest Miles are NASH Miles

All new Nash models now have the great superiority of a 7-bearing crankshaft motor.

It is an engineering fact that this is the ultra-modern motor—the world's smoothest type.

The 7 great bearings give the revolving crankshaft absolute rigidity and stiffness, thus achieving the final degree of power-smoothness and quietness.

Come view these new Nash models—16 different body styles—brilliant new body finishes—with prices ranging from $865 to $2090 f. o. b. factory. Now on display.

New NASH Attractions

New instrument board with indirect lighting and all instruments in single panel under glass, including hydrostatic gas gauge.

New oil-screen "agitator" which prevents oil coagulation in coldest weather.

New crank-case "breather" eliminating crank-case dilution.

Rubber-insulated motor supports which deepen operative quietness (standard Nash practice for some time).

And an array of further superb new features.

GARBER BROTHERS HAVE QUARTET NOW

Famous Knickerbocker Club Singers to Be Heard Over Radio Tonight.

The Knickerbocker club of Boston, which won the radio elimination contest for male quartets last winter and took the title of American champion, has been engaged by the Garber brothers of Hartford to give a series of concerts over Station WTIC in the series of industrial concerts to be given by that station. The quartet will be known in the future, over WTIC, as the Garber Brothers Artisans. It will give its first concert under its new name tonight when the radio audience will be given an opportunity to get acquainted with it as a whole and with the individual members, as the program which has been outlined includes solos by tenor, bass and baritone. The quartet which has become well known on the stage is also well known to radio listeners having been heard over a number of the large stations in the east. Through its contract with the Garber brothers it will be heard each Friday under the name of the Garber Brothers Artisans.

All-Noted Singers

The club is composed of Norman Arnold, first tenor, who was leading tenor of the Boston English Opera Company—co-rectalist with Schumann-Heink, Fritz Kreisler and Percy Grainger. He is soloist at the New Old South Church of Boston and has sung in concerts in all parts of the United States and Canada.

Roy Harlow's speaking voice is, of course, familiar to the radio audience, as he has been announcer during the broadcast periods. He has enjoyed a rich experience in Light Opera; with Raymond Hitchcock and George Cohan, and is in addition the composer, writer and producer of the famous Flies Shows. To him goes much of the credit of giving a personality to this group which removes it from the routine quartets so often a trying part of entertainment programs. Mr. Harlow is the second tenor.

Walter Kidder, baritone, is said to be New England's best. He has sung with all principal oratorio societies and in concert work. He is soloist at Elliot Church, Newton.

Cameron Steele's bass voice is one of extraordinary depth and sonority, and, coupled with his light opera experience, makes him a valued member of the group. It would be less than just to omit mention of his ability as a teller of stories particularly of Scottish origin.

YOUR WATCH IS MORE THAN A TIMEPIECE

Take an interest in your watch. Don't let it get dirty. There is nothing that will "gum up" the workings of your watch quicker than dirt working in through the case. Make a practice of having your watch looked over periodically. It will run better and the expenses of repair will be less.

WEEKLY STAGE LETTER
YOUNG PLAYWRIGHTS WEARY
OF BLAZING TRAILS, FOLLOW
BEATEN PATHS TO FORTUNE

Dorothy Burgess, ingenue of "The Adorable Liar," and Marlon Coakley (inset) in service for "Two".

New York, Sept. 17.—They have been teaching the young idea to shoot at box-office receipts.

And the apt students are proving no mean marksman.

But the curse of formula hangs over their efforts.

In a theatrical season so young that it still believes in Santa Claus, the gifts displayed seem to please the children of the theater, but the practiced eye detects another season's toys made over.

After all, the young playwright must eat, and having tried serious diet and gained little weight he cannot entirely be blamed if he turns to popular fare.

Thus there is Martin Flavin, who gave the theater that haunting, nightmarish, yet compassionate study of inherited insanity, "Children of the Moon."

His newest piece, just presented to Broadway, started this young realist's devoted following, for it is another of the up-in-Peggy-room-getting-Gertie's-garter farces wherein a young man with a round-erish past weds, settles down upon his honeymoon, only to discover that a door of his hotel room opens upon that of Peggy, a blonde movie queen he had trotted about with in days agone.

Flavin, giving all due credit, has done the froth extremely well in bits, particularly those sections where the film actress is called to "register" for public effect and return to her slinky self thereafter.

Marlon Coakley, who has appeared about these parts as a perpetual ingenue in the movie gal. But just where one is ready to surrender to the author's freshness, he condescends to lines distressing to friends.

The point that worries this department is that, with a dozen of these capable young writers catching on to the formula for writing "sure-fire" plays, will there not be so many successes that some of them will fail in spite of it?

Thus the New York season got away with a piece entitled "Loose Ankles," which seems definitely to have caught on. Although it is said that Sam Janney, its author, had the piece written four years ago and failed to market it, bringing it out now after much rewriting, nevertheless it seems strangely like the offspring of a mating between "Cradle Snatchers" and "Is Zat So."

The daddy of all the formulists is, perhaps, Owen Davis, and since his latest is said to be his 147th play, he certainly should have all the tricks of the trade at hand. What has proved puzzling about this Davis is that he produced "Ice Bound" and is entrusted with the transcription of some of the season's most important productions, while turning out the season's most blood curdling melodrama and a mystery play such as "The Donovan Affair," for instance.

Mystery melodrama is always sure fire and even so befuddled a conception as "The Ghost Train," which putted in last week from merry England with Al Woods at the throttle, seems likely to remain at this station most of the winter.

"The Donovan Affair" is vastly better in construction. It follows the accepted formula of a murderer at a dinner party with all the guests accused and the program not, "please don't tell the solution." Davis is a deft craftsman and his play ranks among the best of this school.

Finally there is a Broadway "discovery" this week, whose pictures will be in the theatrical magazines before long and of whom there will be much talk.

She is Dorothy Burgess, who appears in a thin, fragile and very pleasant comedy, "The Adorable Liar."

Miss Burgess first rose in sight when Helen Hayes left the cast of "Dancing Mothers" and she became the ingenue. She is charming, quite young, and as girlish as her age, and this jury likes her considerably better than Helen Hayes who, after all, may be growing up since she has achieved success with Barrie plays.

"The Adorable Liar" concerns a super-romantic miss who tells many lies about imagined lovers and who finally gets a saxophone player to her room for a midnight supper only to find a Florida posse outside ready to lynch him while she, herself, becomes most squeamish at this denouement to her own darning.

MASTERPIECE IN WOOD

New London, Conn.—Fourteen thousand pieces of wood, of fourteen different varieties, have been formed into a small table by J. N. LaPointe, retired manufacturer. It took him 1500 hours of labor, he says. The top contains the flags of the United States, Ireland, England, France, Italy, Canada, Turkey and Germany. Wooden pegs were used instead of nails.

SEEKS ANCIENT TOMBS

Johannesburg—A search for the secret tomb of savage African chiefs is to be made shortly by Dr. C. M. Duke, of the university here. When the Doctor was a missionary in Northern Rhodesia, he learned of the secret graves, which no white man and only a few privileged natives have ever seen. Practically nothing is known of the Lamba tribe, and he hopes to record their speech, songs and folk lore.

ROYAL RESTAURANT.

Paris.—A Russian prince and princess have started a restaurant bar here. All the waiters are ex-nobles or former officers in the Russian army, while the princess' aunt is at the cashier's cage.

PILL-SLAVE FREED FROM CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought natural relief in a few weeks

A remarkable, convincing tribute is paid Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in this letter from Mr. F. C. Aminsen, of Seattle:

"I suffered with chronic constipation for many years and was compelled to use pills every night, but since I got your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN it works fine. I would not be without it. I was so deathly sick of taking pills every night. Now it is so different. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works so naturally and is pleasant to take."

F. C. AMINSEN, Kennehole, Seattle, Washington.

You can get permanent relief from constipation with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN if eaten regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—or in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend it because it is ALL-BRAN. It does a job only ALL-BRAN can do. Part-bran products may not do any good at all.

Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream. Use it in cooking. Try the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Served by the leading hotels and restaurants. Sold by grocers.

GREEK PRINCESS
CLAIMS THRONE
UNDER PROPHECY

Eugenie Is Told by Seer That Constantines Heir's Will Return.

London.—A claim to the throne of Greece is being put forward by the Princess Eugenie Nicéphoru-

Comnenu-Palaologu, who is said to be a direct descendant of Constantine XI, the Byzantine Emperor of the Fifteenth Century, and the last Emperor of the East.

The Princess Eugenie lives at Bath with her daughter and son-in-law, Colonel and Mrs. Stair Dalrymple-Hay.

Still retaining much of the beauty and charm of her younger days when she was welcomed and feted in the courts of Europe, Eugenie declares that an ancient prophecy of an eastern seer indicates that she will come to the throne.

"Who is this woman whose love for her country never ceases?" the prophecy states. "It is Eugenie the Princess, flower of Constantinople. It is written that she will reign before she dies."

Chances Not Bright. Although the chances of the Princess Eugenie to ascend the Greek throne do not appear bright in view of the general acknowledgment in royal circles of King George of Greece, now living in exile in England, and the Republican strife now raging between various Hellenic factions, she puts great faith in the predictions of the old soothsayers.

"I do not know how or when the time may come," the Princess told an interviewer, "but it is written that the great Constantines' descendant will one day rule in the land of her fathers, and she will be unable to die until this prophecy is fulfilled."

"Do you know that there is an other prophecy that has been fulfilled by us? An old rhyme runs: When the Cock and the Bull shall unite The Crescent shall wane, And the Cross shall regain its own again.

"My father's crest from the de Bouillon was a cock, my mother's was a bull. The name we assumed in exile was di Cristo-Foro and our motto is Christian Ferenis, meaning bearer of the Cross.

"Thus you see in me, the woman descended from the three great imperial houses of Byzantium, a fulfillment of this prophecy.

The Prophecy. "I have been told, too, that it is a woman who is to lead the victorious Greeks to the gates of Constantinople, that she is to ride on a white horse and carry the emblem of Christ's passion in her hand. Also that she will place her hand on the gate that none can open, for her and her troops and that she will enter the church of St. Sophia, when the Patriarch from behind the wall will advance towards her as she seats herself on a throne near by, crown her, and then drop into dust at her feet."

The Princess Eugenie declared that she was watching events in London.—Women have taken to side whiskers. The newest Eton crop is accompanied by flat strands of hair brushed smoothly down the cheek, with-out the least suspicion of a curl. The hair is parted at the side and allowed a slight ripple exactly in the style of the Victorian bang. Another masculine touch added to feminine attire has been introduced with cloth gaiters.

Greece closely, although she has not yet formed an opinion regarding General Kondylis, who recently came to power through the overthrow of the dictator, Theodore Pangalos.

"Pangalos," she said, "was my enemy. There was no hope of any kind while he was in power, but I have my friends in Greece."

The Princess Eugenie has not been in Greece for twenty-five years but all her thoughts are centered there, and she is hoping always to return there to assume royal power.

POE'S STORIES: Hop-Frog (3)

Tippetta, her face dripping with the wine the king had thrown upon her, arose meekly, not daring even to sigh. But through the room came a harsh grating sound, as of the rasping of a file upon stone. The king swore. He turned furiously upon Hop-Frog demanding that he quit grating his teeth.

Hop-Frog denied that the noise had come from him. He smiled, as if to set the king at ease, displaying a set of huge, powerful teeth.

Hop-Frog, as if further to disarm the king, drank glass after glass of the liquor that crazed his brain.

Finally Hop-Frog declared with a porter laugh, that at last he had the very idea for the masquerade. It would require the persons of the king and his seven ministers. The king was intrigued by the idea when Hop-Frog told him it would frighten men as well as women out of their wits. (Continued.)

PITY CHARLES MURRAY, DAD AND HUSBAND TO—

A Chess Champ! A Movie Actress! And an Oil Magnet!

Marion Murray playing chess blindfolded with Frank J. Marshall, U. S. champion. Her mother is standing at the extreme right. Inset, another picture of young Marion.

By VIRGINIA SWAIN.

New York.—It takes a brave man to put up with one feminine career in the family. Charles Murray of Tulsa, Okla., has to put up with three—distributed between his wife and daughter, the two Marion Murrrays.

The first is the career of the elder Marion, whose phenomenal success in oil promotion culminated in her coming to New York recently, to handle a merger involving $25,000,000.

A great-granddaughter of Churchill Downs, the famous Kentucky racing man, Marion Downs Murray has made millions for herself and her associates since her entrance into the oil game five years ago.

The first dividend paid by her oil company was a modest 600 per cent.

Career number two in the Murray family is the moving picture acting of the younger Marion, 14. Introduced to the screen in a film produced by her mother, the junior Marion has had important child roles in various companies.

The third career is the spectacular chess playing of Marion, Jr. She fought Jose Capablanca, world chess champion, to a draw in a tourney recently, after he had defeated 42 other challengers.

Marion says she won't rest until she beats him and captures the world title for herself.

She never played a game of chess until last January. She now can carry the entire game in her memory, and plays as well blindfolded as seeing. She defeated the American chess champion in a blind-folded game in July.

How did the two Marions build their careers? Ask Dad Murray. He knows.

It is an ironic fact that he taught them both the arts in which they have since excelled him. His wife learned the A. B. C.'s of oil from watching his operations. She began when he failed to bring in a much-desired well. And against the predictions of specialists, she proved herself an eminently efficient financier, geologist, superintendent and driller. Her profits far exceeded her husband's.

Then along came Marion, Jr. Her father had given much of his time to chess of late years. Last winter he taught his little daughter to play, and in a few days she was unmercifully beating him.

Her success at the game puzzles the chess analysts, who prophesy that she will be the greatest player of aggressive chess that America has known.

Charles Murray still plays oil, and he still plays chess. He says he is manager of the two Marions. But he smiles when he says it.

He ought to be in the picture of this remarkable family. But he flatly refuses. The two Marions may be celebrities—but he's just Dad.

Comfort Is Keynote of Attractive Cottage

It is easy to make a small home of the cottage type very attractive to look at; but it is hard to make it comfortable and convenient to live in at the same time.

The living room extends all across the front and opens through French doors into the sun parlor at the side—an extremely spacious arrangement that provides ample living space and gives an effect of even greater openness. The fireplace is where it should be, in the center of the side wall.

The attached garage is a feature that is sure to be popular. No need here for wading through mud or snow to get at the car; no need for tracking dirt and slush into the house when you return from a drive. Note how handy the clothes-closet is in relation to the garage entrance.

The dining room is airy and roomy, opening into the living room through an archway and into the kitchen via a swinging door. There is plenty of space in the kitchen but not too much. Upstairs there are three bedrooms, a bath and a sleeping porch. Sleeping accommodations are ample for a good-sized family, but the house is not so big that the housewife will be forever busy in caring for it.

All in all, this cottage leaves very little to be desired.

TOLLAND

The annual meeting of the Tolland Library association was held Monday afternoon in the Library rooms with the president, Mrs. Charles H. Daniels presiding. Encouraging reports were read from the secretary, treasurer and librarian. A generous gift was received from Miss Minnie Helen Hicks. Mrs. Charles H. Daniels was unanimously re-elected president. First vice-president, Mrs. James Clough; second vice-president, Mrs. John H. Steele; secretary, Mrs. L. E. Hall; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Baldwin; directors, Mrs. Oscar A. Leonard and Mrs. John H. Steele, were elected for the coming year. After the regular business meeting the literary program was carried out with several selections from old and new books. The social hour was pleasantly spent with Mrs. Charles H. Daniels and Mrs. Julia Bartlett as hostesses, assisted by Miss Eleanor Overman.

Mrs. Henry Birdseye, accompanied by her son, Percival Birdseye, and Miss Miriam Underwood, has returned to her home in Glenridge, N. J.

Miss Matilda Rudolph of New York City is spending her vacation with her mother.

Mrs. L. C. West and son, Charles, of Maiden, Mass., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hibbard West and family of Sniptic district.

Dr. Harris Wayland Price has been a recent guest at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Clarence Essex and family at Willington Hill.

Lewis B. Price, who was injured when an automobile driven by Henry Barlow in Westford was being backed out of the garage, is recovering in a serious condition as at first feared. The auto hit Mr. Price, knocking him down and passing over both limbs, injuring his back and one ear. He was brought to his home here Wednesday and after an examination by his physician it was found that no bones had been broken.

Myron Sparrow carried off several prizes at the Rockville Fair with his handsome Holstein steers.

Hugh Lewis of Garrison, Pa., was a recent guest of his mother, Mrs. Alida Lewis.

Miss Alice E. Hall has returned from a visit with her uncle, L. Archie Hall and Mrs. Hall, of Manchester.

Mrs. L. E. Hall, Alice Hall, Mrs. Minnie Norman and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Steele were guests of Mrs. Henry E. Steele of Wales, Mass., Thursday.

Word has just been received here of the death of Carlos Tilden in Springfield, Mass. Mr. Tilden was a resident in town for many years and uncle of I. Tilden Jewett and Miss Hattie Jewett.

The annual business meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the Federated church will be held at the home of Mrs. Samuel Simpson, Thursday afternoon, Sept. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Walls who have spent several weeks at Meadow Crest returned to their home in Westport, today.

GILEAD

J. Banks Jones and Mrs. C. Daniel Way attended the Republican state convention as delegates from this town.

Miss Jennie Stehlan of Lyme is the guest of Mrs. Arnold C. Foote, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hutchinson of Porter street, South Manchester, were recent visitors at Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hutchinson's.

Charles Norton of Deep River, with his son from the West, were visitors Thursday at Hart E. Buell's.

Carl Gilbert and family of Abington were recent visitors at Fred B. Post's.

The members of the local church have planned a reception in honor of the Pastor and Mrs. Deeter. It will be held at the hall this evening. It is an informal affair and everyone in the community is cordially invited.

The Ecological society will hold its annual meeting at the church, Saturday evening at 8 p. m. There was a good attendance at the auction at Porter Brothers, Wednesday. The cows brought an average price.

NEW EVIDENCE THE BASIS OF SACCO-VANZETTI FIGHT

Dedham, Mass., Sept. 17.—William G. Thompson, chief counsel for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, opening his rebuttal today to State's Attorney Dudley Ranney's argument on the motion for a new trial, declared that he was not asking the court to set aside the verdict of the first trial as it was returned on the evidence offered. Instead, he said, he was asking for a new trial on the grounds of new evidence developed since that trial and of great consequence in the case.

COAL, WASTED NOW, IS SEEN AS WORLD'S MAIN SOURCE OF POWER

This is the third of a series of articles by Israel Klein, science editor of NEA Service and The Herald relating the part chemistry is taking in the welfare and progress of the world.

By ISRAEL KLEIN.

Oil—the international irritant. Coal—the world pacifier.
These are the pictures of two essential commodities painted by the leading chemists of the United States and Europe.

The oil painting is one of the present, already known to the world and one that depicts this mineral as the most necessary and efficient fuel for the power and industry of the earth.

The painting in coal, however, is almost entirely futuristic, one to which only the far-seeing chemists look as the coming source for the world's energy.

Coal was known and in use long before oil was discovered. Yet coal will far outlive the oil resources of the world, is the prediction of those who have studied this question.

They base this prediction not so much on the immense drainage of our oil supplies at present, as on the fact that the entire oil resources of the world amount to only five per cent of the coal deposits.

Oil Must Be Saved.

Oil is recognized as extremely important in the modern activities of mankind. For this reason, chemists are searching for means to conserve the present supply and to stretch out its use as long as possible.

In the matter of motor fuel alone, 11,000,000 gallons of gasoline will have been used up this year. But the discovery of an anti-knock, or anti-detonating compound as the chemists call it, may reduce this great expense of oil by as much as 40 per cent and save some $800,000,000 a year.

Yet oil is going fast enough for the chemists to foresee the day when the only oil obtainable will be that from coal.

"The present flood of petroleum is a temporary episode in the world's history," says Dr. A. C. Fieldner, chief chemist of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, and there's not a word of disagreement from his fellow scientists.

"As far as the next hundred years are concerned," he adds, "it will be the nation which makes the best use of its coal that will be most prosperous and will assume the industrial leadership of the world."

Great Waste of Energy.

And R. T. Haslam, professor of chemical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, goes even further with this statement:

"It has been stated that oil is the principal present day international irritant and that the future peace of the world hinges to a large degree on the satisfactory solution of the petroleum supply problem."

"It is probably safe to say that the solution of the problem of converting coal into oil will have more influence on world peace than any disarmament conference yet held or contemplated."

With this ideal before them, the chemists of the world are concentrating on coal as the world's future source of energy. They regard it a shameful waste to burn coal directly in a furnace for any purpose, for from it should first be obtained such important by-products as gas, ammonia, tar and fuel oil, while the coke residue would burn with a cleaner and hotter flame than the original coal.

"Pound by pound," says Dr. Fieldner, "the by-products are more valuable than the raw coal and they will be needed in the comparatively near future to augment the waning supply of petroleum."

Converting Coal.

There are three main processes by which coal is converted into liquid fuel and other by-products. One is the low temperature carbonization of coal which yields 12 per cent of the original coal and leaves a form of coke which can be used as a smokeless fuel. This is a low-grade crude oil, however, and would produce only a slight increase in our present oil supply.

The second process is that of Prof. Franz Fischer of Germany, by which the coal is converted into water-gas and this gas is turned into light oils and gasoline. This is a highly efficient method and is being rapidly developed here and abroad to a profitable commercial basis.

The cost of this process is still too high to compete with the natural oils, but "the famous forecast of dollar gasoline made in the United States Senate three years ago has been definitely put into the discard by this development," Prof. Haslam asserts.

By the third method, the Bergius process of Germany, coal is almost completely converted into oil from which the fuels varying from gasoline to the heavy crude oils may be obtained. This is especially applicable to the conversion of the lower grades of coal, such as lignites, which find little industrial use today.

The importance of utilizing any one of these methods for its by-products before the residue is used in the furnace is shown by the enormous waste of the original coal in the modern industrial plant.

"To date the efficiency with which coal can be converted into electrical or mechanical power in the most modern boiler house and power plant is rarely over 25 per cent," says Prof. Haslam.

"It is unthinkable that scientists should be content with such a low efficiency from the conversion of chemical into electrical energy when the reverse process, the conversion of electrical energy into chemical energy, is practically 100 per cent efficient."

WILL WE COME TO THIS?

Glasgow.—Tailors here have announced their new fall styles for men. For street wear, they recommend: A stiff hat, crown from four to five inches high and the brim modeled something like an automobile fender. The suit is blue serge, double-breasted, the coat very short and loose at the shoulders and the trousers very loose and flappy, their bottoms about three inches above the shoe tops.

AS USUAL.

Our friends the Democrats yesterday interjected into their state convention exactly the flip of compensating humor necessary to balance the near-tragedy of their over-earnest rowing of the night before. After long and strident disputations and strivings they brought forth such a hybrid creature, in the way of a wet-and-dry declaration for their platform, as has been bred in no other convention or by any other political body anywhere.

Sop for the wets, the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Sop for the dries, strict enforcement of the Volstead law. And there you are, with the entirely gratuitous tidbit, thrown to a possible middle of the road crowd, "No saloons."

Having no other conceivable issue worth a plugged nickel Connecticut Democrats might have been expected to at least seize on the opportunity, unwisely left open to them by the Republican convention of forcing a fight on the wet issue alone. But with their inevitable ineptness they tried a straddle—and a grotesque one it is.

Of course the eighteenth amendment ought to be repealed. Senator Bingham beat the Connecticut Democracy to that position, with a flourish. But to advocate its repeal is to breathe and burrah for Volstead in the next while butter no the lips for any political party; not even in a state which is five or six to one wet—particularly in such a state.

There was no conceivable way in which the Connecticut Democrats could have given themselves a victory in this state this fall. But they could have made their certain licking a good deal less impressive if they had not tried to ride the wet seat and the dry camel at the same time.

ROSENTHAL.

The murder of an American citizen, Jacob Rosenthal, apparently in Mexico merely as a sightseer, by bandits whose attempts at extorting ransom was on the point of failure, is a highly regrettable affair. It is doubtful, however, if even the most energetic efforts of interventionists will succeed in making it an excuse for a break between the Washington and Calles governments.

There are a great many desperate characters in Mexico—almost as many in proportion to population as there are in the United States, one is led to believe. There are also many wild and practically inaccessible fastnesses in which the bandits of that country hide, instead of mingling in safety in the crowds of great cities, as in this country. So that the Mexican police, in the pursuit of murderers and other violent criminals, labor under handicaps comparable in their difficulties to those of our own authorities; and, like our own authorities they frequently fail to bring the criminals to justice.

So that a person of known means, visiting in Mexico and going about in the rural districts unprotected, runs risks much as he does when he displays quantities of money or jewelry in a New York night club. The principal difference is that in Mexico he is likely to be seized and held for a price, whereas in New York or Chicago he is liable to be found robbed and shot to death on his own doorstep.

A great many Americans go about in Mexico without being shot, robbed or captured by brigands, just as a great many persons, Americans and foreigners, go about in the night life of our great cities without being held up or murdered. But a certain element of hazard attaches to either adventure, and when one becomes a foser in the game he is merely out of luck.

This country of ours is very big. It affords substantially unlimited opportunities for either money making or recreation. Those who cannot find enough of either within its boundaries but feel impelled to cross into Mexico for one or the other surrender something of their own government's guarantees of protection.

All that the United States can do, in such cases as that of Rosenthal, is to insist—if that be necessary—that the Mexican government make a reasonable effort to bring the murderers of justice. In the present instance there is no indication that anything like a bullying insistence of this sort is necessary. The plainly apparent interest of the Calles government lies in the direction of a complete suppression of banditry as possible. In this direction, also lies the interest of every American state and city. But as we are not uniformly successful in such suppression it would be unreasonable to expect complete success on the part of Mexico.

Perhaps the best possible lesson derivable from the Rosenthal tragedy is for Americans who have no urgent business in Mexico to keep out of that country. There is a great deal of room at home.

MCPHERSON HOAX.

If Aimee Semple McPherson, spectacular revivalist, is guilty of the perpetration of the gigantic hoax of which she is accused—and a criminal trial now promises to demonstrate whether she is or is not—she will be very far indeed from deserving the support of the many thousands of Christian people who have rushed to her defense.

The McPherson "kidnaping" has stirred up an infinite amount of bitterness. It has aligned neighbor against neighbor in Los Angeles. It has been an injurious and evil thing in its effects on the community.

If, as the authorities charge, the whole business was engineered by the evangelist and her associates—whether as a matter of advertising or for any other purpose—it merely demonstrates the utter unfitness of the woman for the Christian leadership that she has assumed.

To fall into perfectly natural human error is one thing. To deliberate bedevil the whole machinery of justice in a great community for weeks and months is another.

Mrs. McPherson is to stand trial. Until that trial is concluded she is entitled to a presumption of innocence. If she is acquitted it will be the business of her critics to unqualifiedly admit error. If she is convicted it would be one of the greatest blunders in the world for church people to reject the verdict of the court.

It is they, above all else, who are the direct sufferers by the hoax, if there was a hoax. Such performances do more to injure the cause of religion, in a day than a thousand earnest if inconspicuous workers can do to further it, in a decade.

"FOREIGN" JURIES.

The "foreign jury" provision in the New Jersey laws, which is to be invoked by the prosecution in the Hall-Mills murder trial, was happily conceived by whoever was responsible for it. Accumulated indications in the last four years are such as to render well nigh hopeless the gathering together of an impartial jury in that part of New Jersey adjacent to the homes of the Stevens clan. That the spell of that family's "importance" has paralyzed the processes of justice through the years is scarcely open to doubt. That it would render a jury trial ineffectual, should the jury be picked from among the victims of the spell, goes without saying.

It was a wise mind that foresaw the possibility of some such situation arising, and incorporated in the New Jersey law, instead of the customary change of venue, this alternative of trying a case in its proper court and in the proper locality, with relation to accessibility of witnesses and background, and yet with a jury of strangers.

OPINION.

Superintendent of State Police Robert J. Hurley puts forth the proposition that a policeman is as good a judge of when an individual is drunk as is a doctor. We take no issue with this postulate. We have known physicians to take bizarre and unconvincing attitudes with relation to, specific cases of presumptive intoxication. And by the same token we have known policemen to evidence a singular optimism in similar connection, particularly when the joyous heart throbs induced by stimulants abundantly beat an inch or so north-west of a nickel badge. We should be well inclined to subscribe to the Hurleyan theory but for the horrid fear that some time a policeman might weigh the sobriety of an automobile driver, in the same scales with the sobriety of an occasional—thanks be, an extremely occasional—cop.

No policeman is drunk so long as he can find a police box and pronounce his own name so that the desk-sergeant can identify it. It may be, however, that driving a car in traffic on the open road calls for a hairbreadth more of alertness. Perhaps after all, we should rather have the testimony of a doctor than that of one of these occasional policemen. None of whom, we hasten to assert, are on the Manchester force.

MARIE.

Queen Marie of Rumania is coming to the United States on a new date and in a new guise. She was to have sailed on several different dates and was to have come as a royal visitor inaccessible to the commonalty, and too regal to be the guest of anybody whatsoever in an ordinary republic. Now she is coming in private character and any climber with money enough and social pull enough can get her for their guest.

We must admit that the portentous parade of the Queen of Rumania, chin up, across the country, paying her own shot and snubbing the world, had more appeal in some ways than the visit of Marie, movie fan and private person, who will leave a trail of social disappointments as well as victories in her wake, and who will, in the aggregate, cost Americans more than the price of quite a good many ice cream cones.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS

BY CHARLES F. STEWART

Washington, Sept. 17.—The question of primary election expenses will loom very importantly in Congress next winter.

The question of regular November election expenses will loom, too, if any great amount of money is spent in the course of the present campaign. The probabilities are, however, that this will be an unusually economical campaign, not an expensive one. Election expenses are a liability just now, not an asset.

With the Lorimer and Newberry cases still in mind, candidates for Congress know they must spend too much on their post-primary elections for any. If they do, they're aware that they're liable not to get their seats after they've paid for them.

But the argument has been that primary expenses are none of Congress' business—that primaries are elections for the respective state legislatures to regulate, not the national legislature.

However, bills—lost in the adjournment jam but sure to come up in December—are in now, by which Congress does undertake to regulate primary expenses.

They'll be fought on the ground that they're an attempt at federal interference in state affairs, but it will take a pretty nifty congressman to go clear to the mat against them, after the Pennsylvania and Illinois scandals. If they do, the supreme court will knock them out. The supreme court is pretty impervious to public opinion, but Congress isn't.

They'll come up, anyway, and make trouble.

Primary nominations are sure to be bitterly attacked.

Still, the general trend, in the last few weeks, seems to have been somewhat in their favor. All who originally believed in them continue to believe in them. Not all who formerly stood pat for the convention system want to go back to it.

Primaries have not made for statesmanship—the old kind, which disregarded public opinion. It's made for politicians who keep their ears mighty close to the ground. They act cowardly, but at least they're responsive.

The row over primary expenditures has been confined, thus far, to senatorial candidacies. It may break out in the House of Representatives, too, next winter.

A candidate for representative doesn't spend as much on his campaign as a candidate for senator does, partly because it isn't worth quite as much and partly because, in most districts, he hasn't as large a territory to spend it in.

Nevertheless, he can spend a good deal, and if he has, it may be "ingrained" into. Nothing is quite so contagious as investigations.

As to the investigation angle of the proposition:

What has next winter's session of Congress—the tail-end of the 69th Congress—got to do with elections to the 70th?

It seems as if "nothing whatever" was the answer, but quite a few authorities hold otherwise. Their contention is that, the minute a senator or a representative is declared elected, Congress has a right to pass on the validity of his election.

It doesn't sound very logical—or constitutional. All the same, even a beaten congressman has his feelings. At his windup session it's a consolation to him to make it appear that he was defeated unfairly. Primary corruption being in the atmosphere, it's fair to assume it will be made the most of.

HERE'S REAL SPEED. Itaquaquecetuba, Brazil. — The fastest living thing is not Charley Paddock, sprinter, nor yet is it a bird. It is, according to Dr. C. H. T. Townsend, American entomologist, the lowly raphanophila, an insect. With tremendous power stored in a body of extremely light weight, it can fly 815 miles an hour. If man could duplicate this speed, he could encircle the earth between sunrise and sunset of the longest summer day.

IN NEW YORK. New York, Sept. 17.—Here's your daily irony: Near the foot of Fifth Avenue is the old Mark Twain residence, as every good rubber-neck wagonite knows. It has long since been split into two-room apartments that are rented out at prices exceedingly reasonable considering the historic nature of the building. I am told that the taxes of property at that particular point are so steep that the old mansion will be torn down one of these days to make room for another 20-story apartment hotel, although frequent efforts have been made to preserve the building.

While down upon the first floor throngs gather in the newspaper room to await the coming of the home town papers, scanning the columns for a familiar name; chucking over some item about an old friend. Then, one by one, they go lonesomely back into the streets. —GILBERT SWAN.

Drive carefully. Blow your horn. In Chicago, a man ran over a girl and she married him. What's worse than getting home from church and finding the cook has ruined the home brew? Telling the truth is the best policy in the long run. Some doubt if they can run that long.

All city boys don't think we get milk from bottles. Some think we get dimes from them. Reading the signs of the times isn't so very difficult. They all say, "Go Right Ahead." The most expensive and least durable roofing is a hat. A nose is a nice organ until hay fever comes along and makes it a pipe organ.

This Hall case in New Jersey is having as long a run as Abie's Irish Rose in New York. If one was a woman, Dempsey and Tunney could arrange to have their fight by getting married. Bricklayers are all right. Don't lay many bricks. But look at the hen—she lays only one egg a day.

How can a man look pleasant when posing for pictures which cost $15 a dozen? Mussolini spent his vacation on a boat, and we thought it was the King who was all at sea. France owes more money than a drinking man. An early winter is predicted, but it's three months too late already for it to be early enough.

Education gives you a lot of things to worry about which are entirely neglected by the ignorant. About the most expensive thing on earth is too much economy. An orator is one who can explain to a barber just exactly how he wants his hair cut.

Persian weddings are held in front of a fire, perhaps this being a symbol of hubby's future. Slot machines which sell apples has been invented. How does it know how many worms you want? The glass roof of the Victoria station in London covers 10 acres and many homesick Americans. We could stop short skirts in about 20 years by teaching present girl babies to walk too soon.

Never drink poison or laugh at a tourist fixing a puncture. A small town is a place where the filling station is larger than the railway station. Big oaks from little acorns grow and lightning strikes more oaks than any other tree.

If the best words in our language are "Enclosed find check" then the worst are "Please remit." A river has no idea of where it is going; but that doesn't make it too stop. What the world needs is propaganda to convince flies that human beings carry germs.

Blue beads are a token of bad luck in the Orient. A black eye is the token in America. A married man simply has to do what a single man should. While women first appeared on the stage about 1790 many of them seem much older. They don't ever seem to have a "Park by a fire plug" week. Playing the piano by ear is nice, but some of them sound as if they were using their feet. And, while it doesn't matter, the whole Damn family in New York had its name changed to Gorman.

Local Sport Chatter

Sunday will bring about the second game of the town series between the Shamrocks and the Sons of Italy.

Waller, Smith, Burke and McCarty will pitch in the Shamrock lineup Sunday.

The Sons of Italy lineup will be the same this game.

Alex Simpson will take part in the National Professional Golf tournament at Salisbury, N. J.

Joe McCann's entry into High school this year in the sophomore class is going to be a big help to the S. M. H. S. football team.

In speaking about the local basketball situation, a prominent local sportsman said last night that he believed the logical place for big games would be the armory.

Although a morning newspaper said 75 football candidates turned out for the first practice session of the S. M. H. S. team yesterday, this was not the truth.

It is interesting to note that only 8 of the 33 candidates for the S. M. H. S. team are aspirants for backfield positions.

In the last two final rounds for the women's national golf championship, the ultimate winner has had a comparatively easy triumph.

Last year Glenna Collett and Mrs. Alex Stirling Fraser fought it out for the crown which both had formerly held.

When the pitcher stepped off the rubber as the runner started to steal home, he removed the legality of the pitch and had a perfect right to throw the ball to the plate.

The swinging at the ball created an interference, for which the runner should have been declared out.

It was not a legally delivered ball hence the batsman had no right to swing at it.

Dempsey's Future Pals?

Champion Has Held Title Longer Than Any Heavyweight in History But Now Appears In For Toughest Battle In His Record-Breaking Career Against Tunney; Is He Due To Follow These Old Kings Into Fistic Oblivion?

Jack Dempsey has ruled the pugilistic parapet longer than any heavyweight champion in history.

He Then Retired Jim Jeffries perched atop the ladder from 1899, when he whipped the lanky Bob Fitzsimmons.

Of the other heavyweight kings Jim Corbett held the title five years before he was dethroned by the great John L. Sullivan.

Two years after winning the crown, Fitzsimmons tackled the young giant Jim Jeffries, a collier-made trader.

Willard in 1915 Jess Willard, the mason from the Kansas plains, reached the heights of Havana, Cuba, in 1915.

Starting with the famous John L. Sullivan we find the heavyweight kings ruled the ring in this fashion: Sullivan, two years; Corbett, five; Fitzsimmons, two; Jeffries, six; Burns, two; Johnson, six; Willard, four; and Dempsey, seven; to date.

Now the big question concerning the future of Dempsey is whether he will continue as emperor of the pugilistic domain, or will he follow Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons and the rest into fistic oblivion?

Tomorrow afternoon the Sons will travel to East Hampton to meet the team from that place.

THREE AMERICANS ARE OUT OF THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Ten Rounds With Dempsey BY JOE WILLIAMS

Jack Dempsey has never been known as the man in the stadium at Forest Hills when the ranks of his vaunted "Big Four"—Tilden, Johnston, Richards and Williams—were broken by the gallant challengers from France—Henri Cochet, Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste—in the fourth round of the national singles championship tournament.

Money in Trunks. This was back in 1917, Dempsey was nothing more than a big lug.

Of course Flynn—Fireman Jim as the game used to know him—couldn't have whipped one side of Dempsey in a square fight.

That Gibbons Battle. There was a lot of talk about his "carrying" Tommy Gibbons at Shelby three years ago.

For these timorous souls Dempsey has always had the same compelling answer, namely and to wit, "the rough stuff starts as soon as the song sounds."

One of these was popped over in the first round. The other foot on the lam in the third.

The Laurel basketball team will practice this evening at the School street Rec. at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

The Cardinals who ran amok and scored 33 runs in two games with the Phillies are tied with the Reds for first place again today in the National League race.

A Great Pair Dartmouth's ace of the forward pass in the Cornell and Chicago games was uncaney.

Richards Only One to Survive; Three Frenchmen Remain With Him.

New York, Sept. 17.—America's lawn tennis debacle came yesterday in the stadium at Forest Hills when the ranks of his vaunted "Big Four"—Tilden, Johnston, Richards and Williams—were broken by the gallant challengers from France—Henri Cochet, Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste—in the fourth round of the national singles championship tournament.

Results Amaze Big Gallery The results of yesterday's matches, which came with stunning surprise to the great gallery in the concrete stadium, were as follows: Cochet defeated Tilden, the holder of the national title for the last six years, by the score of 6-3, 6-1, 5-3, 1-6, 8-6; Borotra triumphed over "Little Bill" Johnston by the score of 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4; Lacoste conquered Williams at 6-0, 6-3, 8-6, and Richards defeated Brugnon, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

Three crushing defeats for this country's prestige in tennis within the space of a summer afternoon, but the defeat that brought a lump to the throat of every American present was the downfall of "Little Bill" Johnston.

That Gibbons Battle. There was a lot of talk about his "carrying" Tommy Gibbons at Shelby three years ago.

For these timorous souls Dempsey has always had the same compelling answer, namely and to wit, "the rough stuff starts as soon as the song sounds."

Ex-Bellhop Leading Jockey This Season

LA BARBA TABLES COLLEGE ENTRANCE Finds Fistic Field Too Prosperous to Enter Stanford This Fall.

Last year little Arthur Mortensen had 785 mounts. He turned in 151 victories, leading all American jockeys in piloting winners.

Los Angeles, Sept. 17.—Would it be good business judgment for the coming year in order to hasten through college?

Fidel La Barba thinks it would not be a bit wiser and always from championship of the world from Frankie Genaro in 1925.

Not for a single moment was Fidel's crown in danger. The champ was a young bull, proving that his natural fighting weight is 112 pounds and not the 116 or 117 he has been scaling for his other battles.

Next to Munden, with winners, comes "Goldie" Johnson and Willie Garner. Johnson, up to the first of August this year, had piloted 104 winners in 535 attempts.

The sensational Earl Sande is not even in the list of the 30 leaders. Sande, while he's been quite successful this season, has been in the saddle only at various intervals.

Albert Johnson, Bradley's great rider, has been the real derby sensation. Johnson has piloted four derbies winners. He took the Louisiana Derby last winter (another Bradley triumph), has turned in 48 winners in 245 mounts.

What's the lowest card ever made in the national open golf tournament and who shot it?—F. G. H. Best score is 290 and was made by Chick Evans over the Minkanda club layout in 1918.

Willie Munden.

100TH BIRTHDAY AT VERNON CENTER

First "Meeting House" Was Erected There in 1826; The Program.

Saturday and Sunday, September 25 and 26 will be red letter days for Vernon, for at that time will be held the Centennial celebration of the erection of the first "Meeting House" of the First Congregational church at Vernon Center in the fall of 1826.

The program of events will begin by a social hour held on the lawn of the church, Saturday, September 25 at 2:30 p. m. This will be followed by a pilgrimage to the Old Cemetery and site of the First Meeting House. Deacon Williver Driggs will be the conductor. At 4:30 p. m. William Churchill Hammond, a native of Vernon Center will give an organ recital. Professor Hammond is now organist of the Second Congregational church of Holyoke, Mass., and is a nationally known musician.

Saturday at 6 p. m. a banquet supper will be furnished at $1.75 per plate. Guests on the 26th will be the members at the services the Sabbath following. Reservations for the banquet should be made to George W. Guillard, Vernon Center, without delay.

At eight o'clock Saturday evening the Salvation Army band of Manchester will give a free concert on the church lawn.

The program for Sunday, the 26th is printed in full below:

10:30 A. M.—Devotional Service with special musical features. Former pastor in charge, Albert D. D. of Boston, and Rev. Rockwell Harmon Potter, D. D. of Hartford. Greetings by Miss Elizabeth Hammond of Guatemala representing the missionary line of this church. Greetings from His Excellency Governor John H. Trumbull and Rev. Arthur H. Smith, D. D. for fifty-four years missionary in China, author of note and authority.

Doctor Smith was born in the parsonage, the son of the late Albert Smith, D. D., pastor 1845-1854.

12:30 P. M.—Cafeteria Luncheon by Ladies' Aid Society.

2:30 P. M.—General Gathering of Widespread Interest. Historical Addresses by Rev. Sherrod Soule, D. D. and Professor Samuel Alford, Greetings from the churches of Connecticut by Rev. William F. English, Registrar of General Conference. Selections and solos by representatives from choirs of the county. Recognition of oldest living members of the First Church of Vernon.

8 P. M.—Cafeteria supper served by Ladies' Aid Society.

Memorial hospital where it was later revealed his injuries were not serious. He has a slight contusion of the brain and a bad injury to his right ankle. Hospital authorities said today young Walsh will probably be able to leave the hospital within a day or two. This is the only reason why Hornberger's case was tried today. Had the injuries shown any possibility of being serious, the case would have been continued to await the extent of Walsh's injuries.

Pleads Guilty. In court this morning, Hornberger pleaded guilty. Prosecuting Attorney Charles R. Hathaway called but one witness, Sergeant William Barron, who is credited with solving the mystery. Sergeant Barron took the stand and told how he had succeeded in getting a clue which led to Hornberger's arrest. He also told of arresting William Daoust, who lives in the Trotter block on Center street. Both men were brought to the police station and locked up at noon yesterday. They were grilled at length by Chief Samuel G. Gordon and Sergeant Barron. At first the pair claimed they knew nothing of the matter but finally broke down and confessed, Sergeant Barron testified.

Sergeant Barron testified Hornberger confessed he realized the car had struck the boy and that he slowed up and then turned out the lights and then increased the speed of the Ford again, fleeing from the scene without stopping to learn how seriously the boy had been injured. Daoust confessed he had warned Hornberger not to drive so fast just before the accident. Both admitted they had been drinking, but it was impossible to prove they were drunk. Consequently the charge against Hornberger of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor was not pressed. No charge was brought against Daoust either although Judge Johnson severely reprimanded Daoust for his part in the matter.

Serious Case. After Sergeant Barron had concluded his testimony, Prosecuting Attorney Hathaway summed up the case stressing the seriousness of the charge against Hornberger. He considered it a very grave matter and one which called for a severe penalty. Prosecutor Hathaway said Hornberger had sent the boy to the hospital for an indefinite period and that Hornberger should be sent to some place where he would be confined for an indefinite stay, too. He believed Hornberger was fortunate he was not being charged with driving under the influence of liquor, a fact which he believed to be true but one which would be hard to prove. Mr. Hathaway gave considerable credit to Sergeant Barron for his work in cleaning up the case.

This is the second mystery Sergeant Barron has solved within the past two weeks. Recently he brought about the arrest of a Hartford man who was charged with assaulting Paul Cyr of West Hartford at Love Lane. On the strength of his findings the man was bound over to the Superior Court.

ECONOMY EMPLOYEES TO HOLD AN OUTING

Expect 1,000 at Lake Compounce on Sunday—To Enjoy Sheep Bake.

The Economy Grocery Company, a Connecticut chain store institution with grocery stores scattered throughout the state and located in sixty-six towns and villages of Connecticut, will entertain the various units of the organization at Lake Compounce, Sunday. A large gathering is expected, approximately 100.

Baseball games, running races and other sports will take place during the day. During the morning a large supply of lambs, prepared and spiced will be baked and served as a foundation for a substantial dinner scheduled for 2 p. m.

Lake Compounce will be a focal point for a mighty procession of automobiles coming from all points of the compass in Connecticut. Such gatherings are important as they bring together and help to assimilate individuals from widely scattered communities and cultivate closer knowledge and appreciation of the aspirations of the other fellow.

The Economy Grocery Co. is an example of the many successful institutions in the state of Connecticut, well-known all over the state and through its many retail branches reaching out its influence into every community.

DRY ADMINISTRATORS TO MEET ON MONDAY

Washington, Sept. 17.—The national conference of dry administrators will open in Washington Monday. Bailed in his advocacy of a scientific dry survey, General Lincoln C. Andrews, prohibition chief, expects to obtain the facts from his administrators in all states. Out of the conference Andrews expects to obtain information that may lead to a radical change in enforcement methods.

PLANS TOURNAMENT FOR LADY GOLFERS

Our Country Club to Hold Meet Beginning October 1; Prizes Offered.

Twenty-five of the lady members of the Country club gathered yesterday at the clubhouse for golf and bridge.

At an informal meeting of the tournament committee it was decided to run a handicap tournament, beginning October 1 and continuing to October 16. Each contestant is required to hand in at least two scores before October 1 in order that handicaps may be adjusted. The scores may be left in the professional's room. The player or hander in the lowest medal score will have her name engraved on the Maxwell shield. This is the silver shield presented by the former Priscilla Maxwell, of Rockville, now Mrs. H. Wendell Endicott of Boston. Last year no tournament was played by the ladies and Miss Maxwell's name is the only one appearing on the shield.

Mrs. Endicott, who is a noted golf enthusiast, has sent to the tournament committee $25 to be used in prizes at the coming tournament, which will be played in two flights. Three prizes will be awarded in each flight and they will be on exhibition at the clubhouse soon.

From now until the end of the golfing season, Wednesday will be observed as Ladies' Day. When convenient the ladies should call Miss Helen McGowan at the clubhouse the day previous.

JONES BEATS QUIMET THREE UP IN FIRST 18

Baltusrol Golf Club, Short Hills, N. J., Sept. 17.—Bobby Jones, the Atlanta wizard, finished the first eighteen holes of his semi-final round match in the national amateur golf championship this morning with a lead of three up on Francis Quimet, his ancient enemy and former champion. Jones was defending the title he won in 1924 and 1925.

All square going to the fourteenth, Bobby won that hole and also the 17th and 18th. Previously they had halved every hole from the third to the thirteenth inclusive eleven in all.

Quimet holed out in a forty foot putt at the second. At the fifth Jones missed an eight inch putt. It now looks as if the final would be Jones vs. George Von Elm game, as Von Elm was six up on George Dawson, Chicago, at the end of the first eighteen holes.

Jones, out, 544-354-543-37. Quimet, out, 634-354-543-37. Jones, in, 444-544-354-37-74. Quimet, in, 444-544-375-41-78. Von Elm's medal score against Dawson was 72.

FINDS STRANGE BABY ABANDONED ON PORCH

Stamford Woman Promptly Gives It to Police; Left by Man in Night.

Stamford, Sept. 17.—This morning, Mrs. Catherine Kowalski, of Pacific street, heard a baby crying on her front porch. She discovered an infant wrapped in an old patinet, notified the police and the child was taken to Stamford hospital.

Joseph Kabrill, a next door neighbor, told the police that during the night, while he was in bed on his sleeping porch, an automobile drove up in front of the Kowalski home and a man alighted with a bundle in his hands. He quickly returned to the machine minus the bundle and hurriedly drove away.

DIRECTOR ANNOUNCES SEWING CLASS TIME

Classes to Start at Trade School on Oct. 11—Expects Large Enrollments.

Part-time millinery and sewing classes for women being conducted by the local State Trade school will convene the week of October 11. Director A. A. Warren today announced. The classes will be held on the same nights in the same buildings and at the same hours as last year.

Many inquiries have already come into the Trade school office and it is expected there will be an unusually large class formed this fall. Women who expect to take up the work must register at the State Trade school office on School street during the week of October 4. Registration can be made on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday between the hours of eight in the morning and five in the afternoon.

In view of the expected congestion it is expected that some of the women who have been taking up the work for the past two or three years will discontinue in favor of those just starting. This, of course, means in case of congestion.

Miss Nettie Johnson and Mrs. Lena Johnson will be the instructors in sewing and Mrs. Selma Stockels will teach millinery.

SAINT and SINNER by Anne Austin

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE FAITH and CHERRY LANE, sisters, are utterly different. Faith, tall, womanly, not pretty but rather handsome, stays at home and keeps house for the family of six, because of her mother's ill health...

the pleading, pale, lovely little face without mercy. "Now, suppose you tell me what happened, Cherry. I don't know what made me let you get away with it. Chris Wiley deserved to be shot, and Dad has a right to know that you've got yourself into this mess through disobeying him. I'm ashamed of you, Cherry. If it weren't for waking Mother up, I'd give you the whipping that Dad ought to have given you."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER V

WHEN forty-five long minutes had been told off by the loud-ticking alarm clock beside her bed, Faith rose, thrust her bare feet into her old blue felt bedroom slippers, flung a cotton crepe kimono over her nightgown, and was about to tiptoe out of her room, in search of Cherry.

"Put that girl down or I'll shoot!" said he had been watching me for a long time, that he was in love with me, that he was going to take me away with him. I pleaded with him, but it wasn't any use. Then he stopped talking, just flung me across his shoulder and began to run down the walk with me. Oh, Daddy, darling, I'm so glad you came—in time.

"Oh, Daddy, don't get the police!" Cherry begged, shuddering. "You scared me so badly I'll never come back! And I'd be disgraced! The newspapers! Oh, Daddy, I couldn't stand it—the disgrace, the police asking me questions—please, Daddy, darling, I've begun to sob more wildly than ever, and her little red mouth nuzzled her father's haggard cheeks with frantic, pleading kisses.

The question of how old a girl should be before she is allowed out alone is still with us. How comfortable it would be for us in America if European conventions held good here. We tried it for a while, the merry fiction of the chaperon, for the chaperon with us was always more or less of a joke; but, the joke becoming apparent, we discarded the whole business by and large. It is considered rather up stage now even in the best of families.

What Is To Be, Will Be

Mrs. Christabel Hulme Russell and Geoffrey

BY MILTON BRONNER London, Sept. 17.—"The sara sar"—What is to be will be. The words will be on little Geoffrey Dennis Erskine Russells official crest when he becomes a man and inherits the title and estates of the barony of Amphill.

But Mrs. Russell had only begun to fight. She carried her case to the House of Lords where five of the Law Lords heard her appeal. By a vote of three to two they decided in her favor. That ended all chance of divorce, and Mrs. Russell was thus fully vindicated. The long battle had cost over $200,000.

CHARM SCHOOL MENTOR ADVISES WAY TO BEAUTY

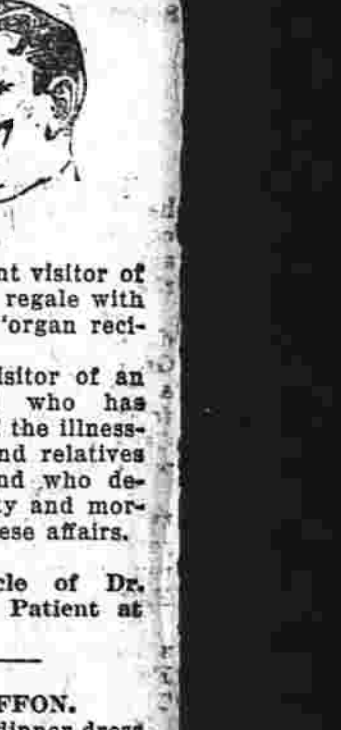

By LOUISE GIFFORD New York, Sept. 17.—Yawn, stretch and squirm away your curves and cares. The great enemy of grace is haste. We rush from duty to duty, from pleasure to pleasure at a breakneck speed that ties our muscles up in knots and put wrinkles in our faces.

Household Suggestions

Mothers Look

for the Quaker's picture when buying oats. That means richer flavor

WHEN children say they don't like oats, it's usually because rich Quaker flavor is missing. Children who ordinarily don't take to oats are often quick won to this important food, simply by giving them "Quaker."

THE BEAUTY DOCTOR BY NINON.

Posed by Hazel Hurd CONDITION—Flabbiness about the waist. TREATMENT—You were endowed with plenty of muscles to keep your waistline trim if you just make them all work instead of allowing them to loaf. Take the position illustrated, and with the hands and feet thus moored, bring your body as far from your hands, and then as near as you can. This will pull and stretch at the muscles of the stomach and abdomen and remind them of the reasons for their existence. This will also be beneficial for your spine.

HER OWN WAY. A GIRL OF TODAY. JUDY WONDERS. "I will have to leave you now, John," I said. "For I have had a very strenuous day and I want to do honor to you tonight, consequently I am going to rest a while to smooth out the wrinkles about my mouth and eyes."

Basque Beret

The little Basque beret in navy blue, worn with sweater suits, is very sweet for the young girl.

Flowered Chiffon

A charming dance or dinner dress is of simple basque lines, with a black lace bodice and a skirt composed of richly colored flowered chiffon, set on a yoke of the same lace.

Women Rave Over New French Powder

A new kind of face powder is here. Made by a new French Process—stays on until you take it off. Pores and lines do not show. Not affected by perspiration. Gives life and beauty to your complexion almost unbelievable. It is called MELLO-GLO. You will love it.

ONCE UPON A TIME

Whales Throged Our Beaches

By TOM SIMS

Nine whales recently visited an Atlantic resort. They were huge fellows, weighing numerous tons. After playing around a couple of days they left without venturing ashore. So not even one of them is shown in the above photograph. You may think we have made a mistake. But, honest, we couldn't have.

Because this picture was snapped years and years ago. It shows—believe it or not—a couple of bathing suits.

The fair nymphs are all set for their plunge. They have paused just a moment to do a little nympling before their dip.

These suits really were "outrageous" in those days. They were daring. They verified the general suspicion that women had legs.

How times have changed!

The modern girl would take one of these old bathing suits and make five or six dresses.

She would have enough left over to make a couple of bathing suits.

DAILY POEM

HAPPY-GO-LUCKY.

When a fella stops to figure that the world is not so bad, and, at that, he's been real lucky in the treatment he has had, he can shake the gloomy feeling and clear of all things sad, and keep smiling at the world because he's really feelin' glad.

After all, what are you gaining when you hang on, like a leech, to the side that's always darkest, when the bright side's right in reach? Trouble is, too many people never know just what to do, so's to chase away the storm and let the sun come shining through.

"Course you have the power to worry, but don't work the thing to death. Let your better judgment tell ya that you'd best come up for breath. Sorrow has it's place, they tell me. But what's got it skinned a mile is the pet to shed the gloomies and to spend yer face in smile.

There's the bright side and the dark side in most everything that's known. Gee, it's funny how some people just can't let the dark show. Still, the stark can sorta help ya, if you use it as you should, for it's darkness after all that makes the brightness seem so good.

WAPPING

Miss Elizabeth Sloughton who has been enjoying a two weeks vacation, has gone to New Haven for a few days as the guest of Mrs. Nathan Musay.

Mrs. Ernest Maynard and three daughters, Gertrude, Ernestine and Genevieve have just returned from a month's visit with relatives and friends at St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Canada. Miss Clara Chandler went with them.

Mrs. Erwin F. Sloughton and two daughters, Elizabeth and Marjorie, and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Sloughton, spent the week-end at Black Point.

Mrs. Eugene Bentley has secured a position as saleslady with the G. Fox & Co. She began her duties Tuesday.

The tobacco association held its meeting in the school hall Wednesday evening. About 20 or 25 members were present.

COLUMBIA

Mrs. Junabel Squier has gone to Plainville to care for her sister, Mrs. Theodore Lyman, who was recently injured in an automobile accident on the Storm King Highway. Mrs. Lyman was badly cut and bruised, and suffered a severe nervous shock and has been confined to her bed since the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harvey of Newton, Mass., and Miss Frances Harvey of Windsor, were in Columbia Wednesday calling on old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gilbert have sold their house on the Hartford road to Wilbur Spencer. The Gilbert family have moved to William.

Raymond Lyman is having his house shingled. The work is being done by Henry Lafeur.

Mrs. M. M. Bashas of Willimantic is acting as housekeeper for the family of H. W. Porter.

Columbia being on high ground, has escaped so far the frosts suffered in nearby vicinities, though the lower meadows have been covered with white frost every morning recently. No crops have been hurt here as yet. Silage corn is very late, and not ready to cut, and a hard frost now would mean a big loss to many.

Columbia Grange held its regular meeting Wednesday night. The social hour was in charge of the Past Masters of the Grange, ten of the eleven Past Masters being present. Henry Lafeur was chairman of the committee and a mock trial was put on by the 10 men which entertained the audience for over an hour. This part of the program was thrown open to Grange families, and the hall was well filled. The prisoner at the bar was Henry Hutchins, accused of watering milk and selling it to the Dairy Company. Clayton Hunt was Prosecuting Attorney, and Hubert P. Collins was counsel for the defense. Edward P. Lyman acted as judge, Philip Isham as clerk, Roland Cobb, sheriff, Henry Lafeur, Raymond Clark, and William Wolf as witnesses for the prosecution, and Raymond E. Lyman witness for the defense. A jury trial was demanded and the following were impanelled: Mrs. Ethel Blakey, Mrs. Ruby Wolf, Mrs. Alice Hunt, Mrs. Ruth Jacobs, Mrs. Nellie Macht, and Miss Lila Seeley. The whole thing was a clever burlesque of a regular trial, and kept the audience in gales of laughter. The jury found the prisoner "not guilty" with the recommendation that he buy several Jersey cows to add to his Holstein herd, to overcome the surplus water contained in Holstein milk. Music was rendered during the evening by St. Jean's orchestra of Willimantic, this feature being a surprise to all, and arranged by Mr. Lafeur. A male quartet consisting of Hubert Collins, Clayton Hunt, Raymond Lyman and Roland Cobb also sang two selections. The next meeting of the Grange will be October 6, and will be an Educational program, with special invitations issued to the School Board, teachers, supervisor and school nurse. This meeting will be in charge of two members of the School Board and two teachers.

LIVE IN CASKS

Cleveland.—Forty-one miles west of Cleveland, a curious village is springing up. After seven years of prohibition a wine corporation became convinced that the beverage was a thing of the past and sold its casks. A Vermillion (O.) man bought 35 of them and has converted them into summer cottages for tourists. The capacity of each cask is, or was, 6000 gallons, and each weighs 7800 pounds. A screened porch is built on the front of each of the homes.

WHITE TRESSES NEXT

London.—"Silver threads among the gold" are very desirable in London now, according to beauty experts. And the more there are of them, the luckier madam is, for snow-white hair soon will be all the rage. Women beyond the flapper age are having their locks bleached white in preparation for the winter season. Ordinary bluing and certain chemical tinctures will whiten the hair and causes no ill effects.

FAMOUS ARE ELDERLY.
Washington.—Only thirteen of the United State Senate are under 50 years of age, the majority being well along in their sixties. President Coolidge is comparatively young for his office; he is 55. Vice-President Dawes is going on 61. The president's cabinet there are but two men under 50—Dwight F. Davis, secretary of war, and William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture.

INTENTIONAL DUPE

FLAPPER FANNY

The long talker may be an "utter" idiot.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

The old fashioned tombstone said, "Rest in Peace," but some of the later varieties are said to carry the phrase, "The brakes failed to work."

"How is it you never take your wife when you go motoring?" Windy Wolf—"That old car of mine can give me all the arguments I want."

If the driver in front holds out his hand, you can always tell what he is going to do if you are a mind reader.

EPITAPHS Shed a tear for Joseph Meets. He would look back while crossing streets.

A fool and his money are soon parted. Now for a similar alienation of the fool and his flyover.

Auto Salesman (in show room) "What type of car do you like?" Man from Street: "None of them. I just came in here to be among a few I don't have to jump from."

SMOOTHING THE WAY A state road sign for railroad crossings: "Come ahead. You're unimportant."

"Try our engines. They satisfy." "Don't stop. Nobody will miss you."

"Take a chance. You can get hit by a train only once."

Raise a lament for poor old Jess. His Ford bumped into an H. C. S.

And while your oiling and greasing the car, you can take out the promiscuous squeaks.

Dumb Mechanic: Mister, they ain't no promiscuous on a Cadillac.

My Kelly—"Thirteen thousand miles without a puncture!" Mr. Goodyear—"I saw you at the dance the other night with a 'flat tire'."

AS THE CORONER SINGS IT Just to wait for a train. Always gave him a pain; He tried to cross first— To his sorrow. For the rain was too fast. And he didn't get past— They're having his funeral Tomorrow!

If your brake bands are loose tighten up on your life insurance.

There's at least one "flat tire" at every "blow out."

Angry Customer: This tire you sold me was no good. Look at it! And it only went 500 miles. Tire Dealer: Well, you shouldn't kick. You've got only one of them. I've got a whole rack full.

The owner of a second hand car is always trying to start something.

Truck drivers should be broken from trying to break speed records.

We can imagine few deeper humiliations these days than being run over by a horse and buggy.

Let us pray that the 1927 model will be a self-washing automobile. He gave his golf ball quite a sock. The bloomin' thing went skimming.

It landed "plunk." To get it back He had to go in swimming.

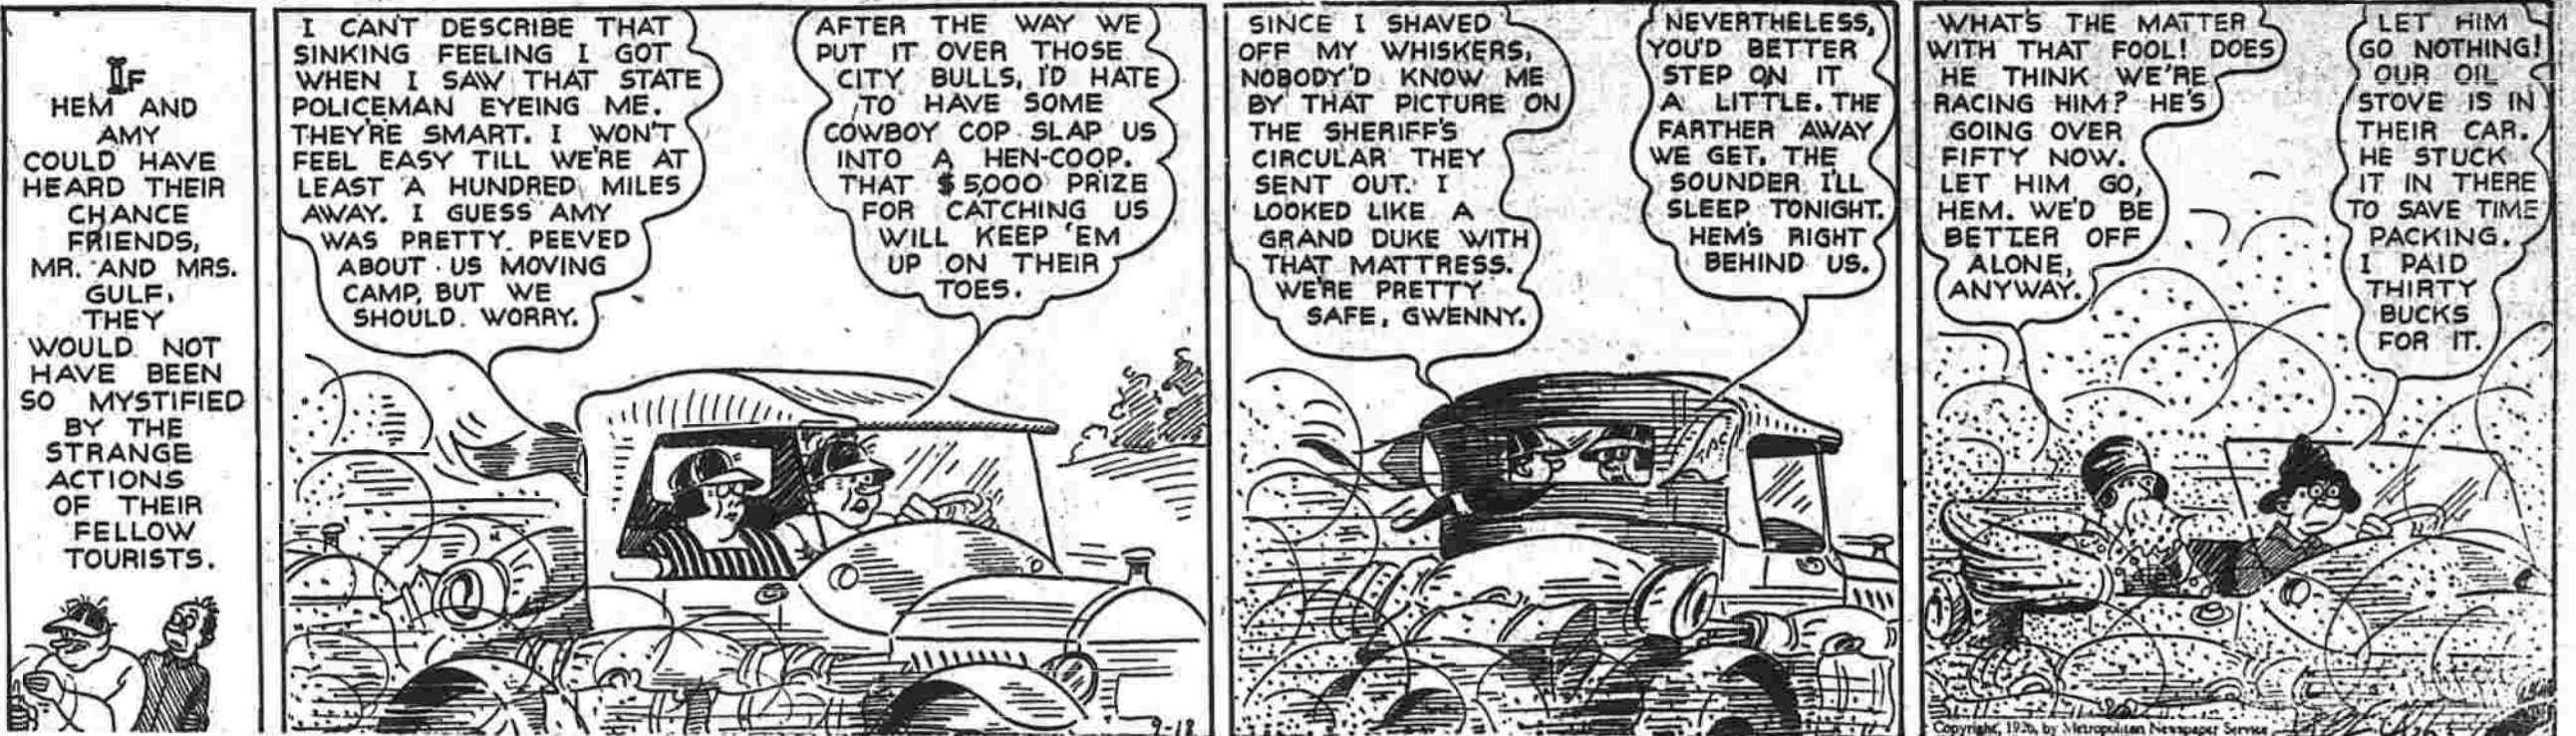

The hat he bought was much too large.

His wife was near in tears. "That's only good," said she, "to keep The wind out of your ears."

They heard the baby weighed a ton.

I started quite a fuss Until the people found it was A hippopotamus.

ART CARLSON

THAT CRIMSON CLASH

Should Michigan and Harvard meet on the gridiron in 1927, as various reports have it, it will be the second time a Yost-coached Maize and Blue has gone to the mat with the Crimson. Back in 1914 the Harvard authorities agreed to a game with the Wolverines. Harvard had a good team that season, though not a great one. Michigan was just finishing in John H. Maulbetsch and Larry Splawn it boasted two of the greatest sophomores in Michigan history. Harvard won that brush, 7-0. But Michigan was not disgraced. Twice the Wolverines carried the leather almost the length of the field, only to be stopped inside the Crimson 10-yard stripe. Maulbetsch was the individual star of the fray. In both of Michigan's sensational marches "Maulbetsch" carried the ball virtually every time, all but whipping the Crimson single-handed. Through his sterling efforts Maulbetsch gained an All-American berth that year.

Couldn't Book 'Em Michigan has always experienced more or less trouble in booking games with members of the "Big Three." In fact, the 1914 game with Harvard is the only one the Maize and Blue has played with any of the triumvirate since Yost came to Michigan in 1901.

Back in the old Michigan point-a-minute days the Wolverines on several occasions tried to schedule Yale, Harvard and Princeton. But their efforts went for naught. The eastern schools evidently didn't care to have anything to do with teams capable of running up 107, 119, 218 and 130 points on opponents as Yost's charges were wont to do in those seasons. Even after Michigan had deserted the then "Big Nine" at the close of the 1905 campaign, and had turned to the east for competition, Yale, Harvard and Princeton weren't a bit inclined towards booking the Michigansers. True, Michigan did get games with Penn. Cornell and Syracuse, meetings those schools in home-and-home affairs for several years. But there was no scheduling of Yale, Harvard and Princeton—until 1914 when Harvard finally consented to a tilt.

Want Home Games Of course there has long been a drawback in booking the "Big Three." Institutions the size of Michigan prefer a home-and-home arrangement. But it's been practically impossible to entice Yale, Harvard or Princeton out of their back yards.

A few years ago Princeton did agree to come west to play Chicago in the second of a two-game series. But that's the only time in many seasons a member of the "Big Three" has appeared on a middle western field. Harvard, a white back, took part in a Tournament of Roses game out on the Pacific coast but that was all. As I recall it, Michigan was desirous of keeping Harvard on its schedule following the 1914 defeat. Michigan, however, wanted a home-and-home series. Harvard refused such a program and Michigan immediately dropped all negotiations with the Crimson.

STATE VAUDEVILLE BILL VERY CLEVER

Audience on Opening Night Votes It "Wonderful"; All Star Acts.

(By Staff Correspondent) "Wonderful!" That was the exclamation of nearly everyone in the State theater last night after the curtain had fallen on the last act of the vaudeville bill that opened the new season at the State. If the State management can present as good vaudeville every week as it presented last evening, Manchester people may be assured that they can find nothing better in the way of vaudeville offerings in any theater hereabouts.

The first act was exceptionally good. Cheater and Leon Earle, the performers who took part, seemed to do almost anything that can be done in the air on a stage.

McDonald and Oakes were next in a singing and dancing act. This young man and young lady showed the State's patrons just how much two pairs of feet can do in the way of dancing. It was the best dance act, according to many who saw it, that has appeared at the State in a long time.

The third act was a comedy sketch by Harry Goodwin and Company. Six capable comedians, four men and two girls, took part in this offering. Besides being clever comedians, the members of the company proved themselves good singers before the act was over. The scene for the act was in a clothier's shop, where the employees evidently think it a disgrace to get to work on time. When the boss curtain lectures them about it they all decide to go on a strike. No one knows what he is striking for, with the exception of one who is chairman, president and just about everything else in the union. It is an exceptionally good act.

And now for the funniest act in vaudeville, as everyone who laughed at it last night will vouch. Kemper and Bayard are so genuinely funny—not silly—but really funny, that they can't help laughing themselves. One of the actors is so perfectly dumb that he can't believe that a twenty dollar gold piece is round. He thinks that it is square, and the other actor, who is apparently well educated, can't convince him that a gold piece is round. After laughing so hard that a person can laugh no longer after seeing these two performers, one wonders where they can possibly get all the "gags." The grand opera "Il Trovatore" has nothing on these two when it comes to the comic chorus. And then the "Old Homestead Quartet"—Well it's just about too funny to talk about.

The last act was a superb musical offering. A family of five talented musicians put across just about the best musical act yet seen at the State. None of the members of this extraordinary family is confined to one instrument. They prove their versatility by playing several instruments each. They say that Harry Bickford, one of the musicians is only seventeen years of age. He is certainly superior to a great number of musicians much older than himself. The saxophone quintet is unusually good in this act, as is also the novel rendition of "St. Mary's Bells," a standard song number.

There is also a good feature picture with the vaudeville program. Corinne Griffith is featured in a picture of the Russian Revolution, "Into Her Kingdom." The film has a simple but effective theme. Besides amusing it would be well to mention the State theater orchestra, which played for the vaudeville, and for the picture in such a commendable manner. Director Kaplan has a capable group of musicians.

MOVE STARTED FOR BURBANK MONUMENT

Cuero, Texas.—A movement among farmers and residents of the rural sections of the United States, to erect a suitable monument to the late Luther Burbank, famous plant wizard, has been started by the De Witt County Farmers' Luncheon Club here, the only similar organization of farmers in the country.

A resolution of respect to the memory of Burbank was passed by the club, and the secretary J. C. Carrington, was instructed to take the matter up with the proper authorities. Besides being clever comedians, the members of the company proved themselves good singers before the act was over. The scene for the act was in a clothier's shop, where the employees evidently think it a disgrace to get to work on time. When the boss curtain lectures them about it they all decide to go on a strike. No one knows what he is striking for, with the exception of one who is chairman, president and just about everything else in the union. It is an exceptionally good act.

Plans for the memorial, location to be decided, also were placed before William McAdoo of Los Angeles, Calif., who has been supporting a move to transfer the Burbank university at Palo Alto, Calif. In a letter to the club here, McAdoo indicated he was in favor of the suggested memorial.

There are probably from 20,000 to 40,000 earthquakes every year, but only 8,000 are recorded.

Tennis Talks

By ART CARLSON.

TAKEICHI HARADA. No. 7 in 1925 Ranking.

Next to France and Australia in the foreign tennis world ranks Japan. The Nippons have turned out some first class netmen, including Zeno Shimizu, Ichiya Kumagai and Takeichi Harada. One of the best is Harada; in fact, he was good enough to be placed in the No. 7 position in the 1925 national rankings. Harada is comparatively new as a big-time competitor, but he's been coming to the front at a rapid clip. In last year's national championships Harada reached the third round. Richards put him out in straight sets though the last went to deuce twice before the American finally broke down the gallant game of the Jap. Harada got as far as the third round by whipping Thomas Mangan and John Caldwell, two California lights. Against the pair he won six out of seven sets. This season Harada may go farther than he did a year ago, but it isn't likely. Not with such a sterling field entered, for he's still quite a bit away from the top notch class. Despite his very good rating of 1925. He's certain to find the competition too tough, more so, I believe, than was the case at Germantown last year. Out side of America's "Big Four" there are several others that must be given consideration for instance Eddie Chandler, Brian Norton and Alfred Chapin, not to overlook Manuel Alonzo, Rene Lacoste, Jean Borotra and Henri Cochet. Harada is a member of Japan's Davis cup team. He plays a strong baseline game. He strokes with all his might with typical Japanese lifting drives, both forehand and backhand. His shots, as a rule, carry great pace and are played close to the lines. Harada is a fairly formidable opponent for most players for three sets, after which he tires noticeably, the sting going from his game. His service has so little break he is inclined to double fault. His grips are of the western type and his volley of low balls is therefore uncertain, especially on the forehand. Overhead he's quite erratic.

S. T. S. STUDENT ARRESTED

Harold R. Bechler of Glastonbury, a student in the local State Trade school, was fined $10 and costs in the local police court this morning when he pleaded guilty, through Prosecutor Officer Edward Elliot, to a charge of operating a motorcycle without a license.

Bechler was driving down Main street to the Trade school and was halted by Patrolman John McGinn when he became involved in a traffic mixup. The youth had no license and the policeman ordered him to appear in court.

HE DIDN'T GET IT

An Abordonian went into a chemist's shop and asked for three penny worth of arsenic.

The chemist inquired what he wanted it for.
