

DICKMAN NOW STAR WITNESS IN HALL CASE

Declares on Oath He Was Bribed to Leave; Sup- ports Mrs. Gibson and Names New Witnesses.

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 1.—Sensational revelations appeared imminent in the Hall-Mills case today as the result of statements made by Henry L. Dickman, former New Jersey state trooper and one of the investigators of the murder mystery in 1923.

Dickman, according to Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, has signed an affidavit for the state in which he admits he was paid a large amount of money and told to leave New Jersey.

The money was paid Dickman, it was learned, in the Hotel Klein in Newark, N. J., where he was living at the time. The bribe was brought to him by an agent known only as the "Shadow," who was instructed by the man from whom he received the money that Dickman was to leave New Jersey immediately.

Reason for Hurry.

The "Shadow" it was learned, was instructed not to leave Dickman until the latter left New Jersey. The former trooper was advised he had to leave the state in twenty-four hours and that was the reason he left so hurriedly, leaving personal jewelry at the hotel and not stopping long enough to collect two months pay due him as a trooper.

Dickman brought several names into the case, some of them involved in the alleged bribe, Simpson revealed, and named two others as eye-witnesses of the murder of the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills.

Case Now "Wide Open"

"His disclosures are so sensational that I cannot take the responsibility of making them public," the prosecutor declared. "Investigators are already on the trail of some of the persons named however."

"He swore he was the last man working on the case and was paid a substantial sum of money to leave New Jersey."

"Dickman has broken the case wide open."

Dickman is expected by Simpson to displace Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "big woman" as the star witness for the state. It is possible that the prosecution may abandon its plan for application tomorrow before Supreme Court Justice Parker and County Judge Cleary, sitting as the court of Oyer and Terminer, for sentence in the trial of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the murdered pastor, her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and their cousin, Henry De La B. Carpenter.

Corroborates Mrs. Gibson

The revelations of Dickman are expected to have a most vital bearing on the state's plans for the trial of the four for the dual murders. In many details, it is said, his statements corroborate the story told by Mrs. Gibson.

Dickman is reported to have said he feared becoming insane if he did not "come across" and aid the prosecution in his statement, taken in Castle William, Governors Island, where he is held as an army prisoner, is carefully guarded by Simpson.

Immunity from Prosecution has been promised by Senator Simpson. Dickman was reported as greatly relieved at having unburdened himself. He said he had been on the verge of a mental and nervous breakdown over his secrets.

Identifies Two

Dickman's statement described his flight to San Francisco, spending the last of the money and going broke there. He went to the Philippines, enlisted in the army and subsequently deserted. He was picked up and convicted of the desertion. It was while he was serving his sentence in Alcatraz Island, San Francisco bay, that the New Jersey investigators got track of him.

A Check-up on Dickman's story will require three or four days, the prosecution said today. Of particular interest is his identification of a man and a woman as having been at the scene of the murders on the Old Phillips farm, near the New Brunswick City line, four years ago. These persons, it was expected, would be questioned today.

Special Masonic Features Tomorrow

Saturday and Sunday are Masonic Days in Manchester. Manchester Lodge will celebrate its 100th anniversary and the cornerstone of the new Temple will be laid.

The Herald will carry a complete history of the lodge and several other features in connection with the observance.

NO COLLARS FOR BEES REQUIRED

Nor Names, Either, But If You Don't Register Them You'll Be Fined, Just the Same.

Hartford, Oct. 1.—Fifty or more bee keepers in Hartford and nearby towns have registered their bees with town clerks in compliance with the state law requiring registration before October 1, each year.

Registration, unlike the listing of dogs and motor vehicles, does not require that the owner name each bee or provide tags or collars for each. The owner merely certifies to the number of colonies maintained and their locations. Failure to register does, however, carry a penalty as in the case of other sorts of state registration, the fine limit being five dollars.

MORE FIREWORKS EXPECTED TONIGHT

Volcanic Fifth District Due for Another Eruption; Things in the Works.

The volcanic Fifth School District is due for another eruption this evening. It will be the center of attraction not only for the taxpayers in that locality but the public at large. Past doings in the little community have produced much verbal fireworks and tonight's session will be no exception.

Tonight's meeting has been called for 7:30. There are several matters which will be discussed. One of the foremost will be action regarding the two law suits being pressed against the district by Arthur E. Loomis and Amie DeMars. Loomis is the former committee man in the district.

Result of Suit

Just what action the voters will be able to take tonight regarding the law suits is problematical. Two factions are opposing each other in the district and every motion made is bitterly contested by the opposing side. According to a local attorney, it is doubtful whether the district can do anything except reimburse Messrs Loomis and DeMars.

OVER 15,000 FANS FIND SERIES TICKETS GONE

New York, Oct. 1.—Infuriated subscribers for World Series tickets, who have paid for seats that are not available, bounded to the Yankee business offices today. More than 15,000 fans have been unable to secure tickets.

URUGUAY RIVER FLOOD INUNDATES BIG AREA

Thousands Driven from Brazilian Homes, Many Towns and Cities Under Water.

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 1.—Reports from the state of Rio Grande, Do Sul, state that the Uruguay river is rising rapidly, and that already a large number of cities and towns are under water. Thousands of persons are said to have been driven from their homes by the floods, and the state government is mobilizing relief forces.

AIMEE'S HAIR NET PERFORMS MAGIC STUNT

It Was Real Hair When She Vanished, But Silk When She Escaped from Her Kidnappers.

Los Angeles, Oct. 1.—Apparently ignored by all save her attorney, Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sellaf, co-defendant in conspiracy charges lodged against Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson and Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the evangelist's mother—the woman who has sworn that Mrs. McPherson offered her money to produce a "Miss X" to pose as the companion at Ormiston at Carmel—Ormiston, former Angelus Temple radio operator, has not yet been called to the stand in the preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Sellaf, admittedly the state's star witness, has so far been sidetracked while the state has been attempting to prove that Mrs. McPherson was the woman companion of Ormiston at Carmel—at the time when her followers thought she drowned and during which time Mrs. McPherson claims she was held captive in Mexico by kidnappers.

A Matter of Hair Nets.

Proceedings at the preliminary hearing were enlivened yesterday when Mrs. McPherson loosened her mass of auburn hair to prove that she did not wear a switch, as it had sometimes been intimated.

Meriden Pair, Over 80, DEAD FROM GAS

A. F. Hall and Wife, Well Known Residents, Killed by Flow from an Open Jet.

Meriden, Oct. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Hall, elderly residents of Third street, were found dead in a bedroom at their home by police today after neighbors had told of gas odors emanating from the bedroom. Medical investigation indicated they had been dead since Tuesday night, when they were last seen by neighbors, and that the accidental opening of a gas jet in another room had flooded the bedroom with gas.

Turner's Revenge Like the Implacable Monte Cristo's

Betrayed Man Spent Three Years in Prison, Then Three More in Hunting Down Hallen, the Cheat, to Kill Him.

Portland, Me., Oct. 1.—More than three years of fateful pursuit was taken up when Benjamin H. Turner walked free from the misery of a Mexican jail—move rapidly toward a climax now as Turner goes on trial here for murder.

He Doesn't Care

"I'm glad I shot him," he says. "I trusted that man more than I would trust my father and he ruined me. Nobody can blame me. I am satisfied no matter how the trial turns out."

DAUGHERTY NOT IN ALIEN DEAL DECLARES GOFF

Senator Asserts He Alone Was Responsible for Re- turn of Securities; Acted on Judgment.

New York, Oct. 1.—Former Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty had nothing to do with the approval of the attorney-general's office of the $7,000,000 claim of Richard Merton, German financier, Senator Guy B. Goff, of West Virginia, testified today at the trial of Daugherty and former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller. Goff was assistant attorney-general under Daugherty and approved the claim.

Our Own Judgment

"Was your approval of the American Metals company claim influenced by any other consideration than your own views?" Goff was asked.

"I was never influenced by Mr. Daugherty in my action with reference to the claim but only by my own judgment as I saw the facts as they were presented to me," Senator Goff replied.

S. Senator from West Virginia.

VINCENT RICHARDS TURNS TENNIS PRO

"White Hope" Amateur Gives Tennis World a Shock by Signing With Pyle.

New York, Oct. 1.—Tennis fans, still dizzy from a season of upsets, the loss of the national singles championship to France and the invasion of Suzanne Lenglen, were given another shock today by the announcement that Vincent Richards, third ranking American star, had turned professional under the banner of promoter C. C. Pyle, manager of Miss Lenglen, "Red" Grange and Mary K. Browne.

Champion at 14

At the age of fourteen, Richards won the national doubles championship with Tilden. Coached by Tilden, he quickly rose to the front rank in the tennis world, often defeating his mentor. He holds the national singles title and with Williams won the national doubles title both this year and last.

Association May Yield

Persons close to Pyle intimated that he will bend every energy toward adding Miss Helen Wills, former national woman champion, to his troupe. Tennis officials were frankly worried today over Pyle's latest inroad on the amateur ranks and the opinion was expressed in some quarters that the United States Lawn Tennis Association, in self-defense, will be forced to agree to the holding of open tournaments for amateurs and professionals, such as the one Pyle intends to stage.

COL. WILLIAMS, BUTLER VICTIM, DROWNS IN CAR

San Francisco, Oct. 1.—Colonel Alexander Williams, Marine corps officer, was drowned here early today when his car plunged from the end of a pier.

Witnesses saw the car as it sped down the Embarcadero, tore its way through the curbing and plunged into the bay. They said the machine was traveling at a fast rate of speed and swerving in an alarming fashion.

Had Applied Brakes.

Joe MacFarland, a night watchman, told officers he heard the brakes of the machine, squealing, but the driver was unable to bring the machine under control.

Found Dined Out.

But little concern could be had concerning just how Col. Williams met his death. His wife said that he called her on the telephone about five o'clock yesterday afternoon and told her he was going to have dinner with friends.

The Senator offered a further explanation.

"In the earlier discussion of the claim, I said I was not satisfied that the requirements of the law had been met and that further evidence was needed to substantiate the claim."

Senator Goff said, "I stated to Merton Williams and Johnson that I wanted to know the ultimate beneficiaries and stockholders. I wanted to be satisfied this claim was not a disguise for the purpose of returning the stock to German or enemy stockholders."

"The Merton refused with further proof, and when I signed the claim papers I was satisfied the requirements of the alien property custodian's office had been met."

COMMITTEES AT WORK FOR CHURCH BAZAAR

November 18 is the date set by Center church women for the big bazaar for which large committees are already working enthusiastically.

Attractive gifts for women and children, dressers, rompers and all sorts of garments for little ones are being made by the ladies and will be offered for sale. Early Christmas shoppers will have an excellent opportunity to select desirable gifts for relatives and friends from the display of fancy and domestic articles.

Another feature that will appeal to all will be the food booth where home-baked bread, cakes, pies, cookies and canned goods will be found in great variety.

It is now planned to open the bazaar on the afternoon of the 18th at three o'clock, to serve a substantial supper in the cafeteria and in the evening to stage an entertainment.

The different church organizations will unite in plans for the fair. The group method, whereby all women of Center church worked in some group or other will not be followed this year, although the results of this plan the last two years were very satisfactory.

HARTFORD POLICE COURT MAY GET NEW HOME.

Hartford, Oct. 1.—Investigation of crowded conditions in the Hartford police court was taken up today by the Hartford County Bar Association. President Lucius F. Crendon, former police court judge, says that the court has labored under difficulties for ten years and an entirely new building is necessary.

DEMPSEY SICK MAN IN RING, SAYS DOCTOR

Suffered from Infection from Boxing Glove and Could Not Do Best Work.

New York, Oct. 1.—Jack Dempsey was "self-poisoned" on the night of September 23 and, therefore, was not capable of putting up his best performance when he lost the heavyweight title.

This was the verdict rendered today by Dr. Frank H. Russell, attending physician, following an examination of the former champion in his suite at the Hotel Belmont shortly after noon today.

Dr. Russell found his patient "very much improved" and predicted he would be able to leave his quarters within a day or two, if he wished.

"Dempsey suffered and is suffering from what we call 'multiple abscesses,' the technical term for which is furunculosis," Dr. Russell said. "It is a skin infection that he probably contracted from the gloves of a sparring partner a week or ten days before the fight. It poisoned his system, the result being the rash that appeared under his left armpit and on his chin."

The physician was asked if he believed the infection had prevented Dempsey from doing himself justice.

" unquestionably," came the instant reply.

"Then you scout the theory that Dempsey was poisoned?" was the next question.

"Of course, he wasn't poisoned." The infection of the arm pit and chin had subsided considerably today, the physician said, as had the swelling on Dempsey's face. However, he added, the hemorrhages of the left eye were continuing, although showing signs of abating. Jack has not been confined to his bed.

MOMMERS FUNERAL LARGELY ATTENDED

Velvet Mills Closed for the Afternoon—News of Death Shock to Community.

Several hundred persons paid tribute to the memory of Richard J. Mommers this afternoon when the Velvet Mill at Cheney Brothers closed at noon for the rest of the day out of respect for their superintendent.

The funeral service at the home on Hartford road was largely attended. There was a large number of immense floral tributes banked about the casket. Rev. H. O. Weber, pastor of the German Lutheran church officiated. His eulogy paid respect to the great success which Mr. Mommers attained in the velvet industry.

The death of Mr. Mommers was the chief topic of conversation about the streets last night. It was plain that the news was a great shock to the community. Those who had been intimate with Mr. Mommers recalled the fact that he appeared to be in fine health prior to his death.

Following the funeral service this afternoon, the body was taken to Springfield for cremation. Burial will be in the East cemetery.

MAJ. AND MRS. SEAVER COMING

The Harvest service to be held at the Salvation Army citadel next Saturday and Sunday will be conducted by Major and Mrs. Seaver, the divisional officers of the Southern New England and Vermont divisions. These will be the last services conducted by the Major and his wife for sometime as they leave Hartford to take charge of the Army's work in the Dixie division with headquarters at Birmingham, Alabama.

Major and Mrs. Seaver have had the oversight of the work in this district for three years and a half years, and have been frequent visitors to Manchester.

Saturday night the songsters will give a special harvest sketch in the citadel at 8 o'clock, and there will also be music by the senior and Young People's band. There will be an altar service Sunday morning when the soldiers will bring their contributions to the Harvest fund. The afternoon will be devoted to a service of music and song and in the evening a great "Harvest Home" service.

HARE AND HOUND RACE ON TODAY

Annual Frolic at High School Has 300 Girls Hiking Through Country.

Today is a red-letter day in the history of the local high school. It is the date set for the annual hare and hound race, an event which has been eagerly awaited by every girl in school. Favorable weather is the only thing needed to make the affair a rousing success. The hare and hound races were started at the local school three years ago and because of the successful outcome, they have been made an annual affair. Between 300 and 350 are expected to participate.

Healthful Exercise.
This kind of recreation is highly recommended by high school officials. It furnished a competitive spirit which is friendly, and offers unusual opportunity for making the students better acquainted with each other. The hike through the country land also furnishes healthful exercise which is none too strenuous. It does, however, serve to whet an unusually big appetite.

Hares Lay Trail.
The hares were scheduled to leave the high school building at 2 o'clock this afternoon. There were twenty of them, 3 seniors, 4 juniors, 6 sophomores and 7 freshmen. They were selected by the students, one from every home room. The hares were accompanied by teachers whose purpose was to see that the game was played fairly and that everything conducted in the proper manner. With the senior hares were Miss Margaret Veits; with the juniors, Miss Marguerite Oates; with the sophomores, Miss Minnie Rook and with the freshmen, Miss Mary McGuire.

Posted Instructions.
The trails left by the twenty hares were as follows: seniors, variegated fennel; juniors, orange and black; sophomores, red and white, and freshmen, black and white. The senior hares traveled south, the junior hares east, the sophomore hares north and the freshmen hares west. Each of the trails intersected with another once, in an effort to throw pursuing hounds from the trail. Instructions were posted on trees, fences, stone walls and other places ordering the hounds to do various stunts. For instance, some will read that the hounds must roll down a certain hill, crawl under a fence three times backward or some other even more foolish stunt.

Hounds Released.
The "raring-to-go" hounds were to be released from their "kennels" at 2:30, a half an hour after the hares are on their way. The hounds were accompanied by the following teachers: senior, Miss Carrie Spafford and Miss Marion Holmes; juniors, Miss Elizabeth Olson, Miss Charlotte Doane and Miss Rebecca Estey; sophomores, Mrs. Frances Nichols, Miss Hazel Gist, Miss Florence Kelley, Miss Sophia Ferderber and Miss Hazel Kenerson, and the freshmen by Miss Florence Hopkins, Miss Ruth Burke, Miss Mildred Trippe, Miss Ruth Parker and Miss Hazel Worcester. The accompanied teachers were also subjected to government by the posted instructions.

Secret Destination.
It was the plan that the hares would reach their rendezvous about 4 o'clock this afternoon. It was expected that the hounds would arrive shortly after that time. The first hound to finish for each class receives a prize and the last must pay a forfeit. Just where the rendezvous will be, of course, is a secret. Only the hares know. The first year it was at Jarvis Grove. The second year it was at Highland Park and last year at the old golf links. Dame Rumor has it that they will convene this year near the Country Club and another report is that the end will be at the stadium on McKee street. The trails are between 2 1/2 and 3 miles long.

Feast at Finish.
After the hounds arrive the program calls for a vaudeville entertainment of eight numbers. Then there will be the "Picnic Supper" which, by the way, will doubtless be one of the most welcomed parts of the day's frolic.

In speaking about the matter last night, Principal C. P. Quimby stated that in case of adverse weather conditions, the hare and hound race would be postponed a week.

HADDAM, OUT OF DEBT, SENCS LOWER TAXES.

Haddam, Oct. 1.—This ancient town has just closed what appears to have been the most prosperous year since it was incorporated in 1668. Out of debt entirely and with a surplus of $21,414.80 on the right side of the ledger, there now is talk of a lower tax rate for the coming year. The present rate, set at the town meeting a year ago, is 21 mills.

Don't try to get Ann Rork's goat, because she's got a strange hold on it. Goats, you know, are quite the thing as pets in certain Los Angeles circles, and Ann is shown here with hers—a baby goat who hasn't had time to sprout horns yet. Oh, yes—in case you haven't guessed it, she's a movie actress.

Pittsburgh. — Building projects to cost approximately $100,000,000 will be begun in Pittsburgh this fall, according to advance notices received by the Chamber of Commerce here.

Among the largest improvement projects being planned is that of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad, which will expend $5,000,000 on improvements to its Pittsburgh terminals, officials announced. The railroad will rearrange and enlarge its public delivery yard and add to its facilities for handling mail and dairy products.

FINE FEATURES ON CIRCLE'S DOUBLE BILL

Three "fall birds" as desperate as life had shown them they had to be, entered the life of one of those rare, pure characters whose inner light is so great that it affects all those who come within its range.

This was the situation upon which the story of "The Hidden Way" by Ida May Park was built, and which may be seen in its screen version at the Circle Theater as part of the double feature bill showing for the last time tonight.

Mary Carr, as the woman whose faith in the three regenerates them, is here cast in the most powerful role of her career, the featured player of "The Hidden Way."

Mrs. Carr's work in this picture required deep insight into the character she was called upon to interpret. For the "Mother" of the picture is a mental and a spiritual role rather than one of mere external qualities.

The other feature contains Geo. Sidney and Alexander Carr, that inimitable pair, in "Partners Again"—with Potash and Perlmutter.

There are probably no two faces as welcome on the motion picture screens of the world as those of our old friends, Potash & Perlmutter, or to refer to their actual earthly identities, George Sidney and Alexander Carr, the vitriolic partners have hitherto gabbled in the prosaic "Clock & Suits" business. From that, they took a flyer, in motion picture production, but now we have them in "Partners Again," enjoying and suffering the experiences of automobile dealers.

Saturday's double feature bill at this popular playhouse has for its first feature, Tom Tyler and pals, in "Out of the West," a story of a broncho busting baseball player. The co-feature is "Lovely Mary" starring Bessie Love in as pleasing a picture as has ever flickered across any motion picture screen.

There are forty direct telephone lines between London and continental Europe. These carried upward of 90,000 calls last year.

DRYS AND WETS STIR SCOTLAND BY BIG BATTLE

Issue to Be Decided in December Has Country Highly Excited.

Edinburgh.—The great battle between the "Drys" and "Wets" of Scotland, to be decided in December, proceeds with unabated energy and virulence.

At present, impartial observers think that Prohibitionists will receive a big set back as in 1920 and 1923, and, curiously enough they believe the votes of women will be largely responsible for this defeat.

This argument sounds strange at first, because it was the women's vote that brought its few victories to Prohibition in the two previous elections. But it seems the unmarried women have changed their minds in the present "dry" centers. They say that the unmarried men drift away from the "dry" towns to the wet ones, and are lost; and as they can get drink so easily elsewhere, it would be just as well if they were to procure it in their own home town.

In Industrial Towns
Local feeling of this description is becoming one of the greatest thorns in the side of the Prohibitionists.

A good example of this situation occurs in the tiny industrial town of Stewarttown, about 20 miles from Glasgow and five from Kilmarnock. A prohibition majority in the 1920 elections closed the nine saloons and two hotel bars of Stewarttown. The same verdict was returned in 1923. So for nearly six years Stewarttown has been entirely "dry," and yet even a number of the local "Prohibitionists" think it will go "wet" at the coming poll. They admit that drinking has not diminished. It is only done in another place.

Business Falls Off
They also say that the shopkeeper's turnover has diminished because the tendency is for a woman to accompany her husband when he sets forth in search of week-end refreshment in a neighboring "wet" town. The husband does his drinking while his wife goes shopping. Accordingly, on Saturday afternoon, a great fleet of motor omnibuses is in readiness to convey the greater part of the population of Stewarttown to Kilmarnock—only 15 minutes drive. The one business street of Stewarttown is deserted and that of Kilmarnock is thronged.

Local businessmen say that there is more drinking done nowadays by Stewarttown people than before the place was dry. People who want to drink have to go further and are instinctively feel that the extra effort entitles them to get the utmost value for time and money spent.

STATE'S VAUDEVILLE UNUSULLY CLEVER

Headliner Carries Its Own Orchestra—Other Numbers on Bill.

(By Member Herald Staff.)
A well balanced vaudeville bill was presented to the patrons of the State theater last night along with one of the most widely advertised pictures of the season, Gilda Gray, the originator of the shimmy dance, in "Atoma of the South Seas."

The headliner on the vaudeville bill was the company headed by Martinez and Corelli, an orchestra and two excellent Spanish dancers. This troupe has lately come from the Keith circuit and received some of the greatest applause ever heaped on a vaudeville group in this town.

Martinez and Corelli, the dancers, showed some intricate steps of old Spain combined with some of the more modern ones, all in costume. The latter of the pair of dancers is comparatively new in this country, having come from Europe only 15 months while his companion has been a professional dancer since she was 12 years old. The troupe carried its own scenery, and had its own orchestra, a six piece affair containing four brass instruments and two pianos. One of the pianists doubled with the violin and all appeared in short solos. The musicians appeared to be equally proficient.

With the dancing troupe appeared on the bill Stein and Sec, a clever juggling and tumbling act, one in which the two men assumed the most ludicrous positions while throwing their Indian clubs. Stacey and Fay, a man and a woman, sent the theater into gales of laughter with their lively patter. York and Willis, two men who had the most marvelous act in the world, "sawing a woman in half," gave the audience fifteen minutes of laughter. York brought out a bassoon in his act and played a solo, helped, or hindered, by his partner who had a little tin whistle.

Westony, Norri and Czasy injected some classical atmosphere into the program with their offerings of grand opera, classical music and an occasional jazz piece. Mile. Norri, a soprano of no mean caliber, appeared in solos and violin obligato was played by Jan Czasy, Hungarian violinist. Mr. Czasy Sarasate's "Gypsy Airs," McMurrrough's "Macushla," and "Natie" a Russian dance, Mile. Norri is also a dancer and in three numbers came out in different costumes. The effort of the troupe to play American jazz struck the audience as being rather funny.

Senior Westony's best offering of the evening was his conception of the "Marsellaise," "Yanka Doodle," "Star Spangled Banner" and "God Save the King" all at once on the grand piano. He said he would do it and he did.

The piano used on the stage last night was a Steinway, loaned by Watkins Brothers.

One of the film features is the first showing here of the Florida hurricane and the Skorsky plane disaster.

MILLIONS ARE BET ON WORLD SERIES

Six to Five Odds Given on the Yanks for First Game and to Win the Majority.

New York, Oct. 1.—Heavy speculation in Wall street on the outcome of the World Series reached high tide today when it was announced that approximately $300,000 alone had been wagered with the firm of W. L. Darnell & Co. on the chances of the Yankees and Cardinals. With other Wall street houses taking on all comers, it was estimated that the amount of money riding with the winner and loser had run into millions, with more on the way as the hour for the series tomorrow approached on Leaden feet.

The Yanks, in spite of an influx of St. Louis money, continued to rule steady favorites at odds of six to five and it seemed probable that these figures would prevail, at least until after tomorrow's premier. There will be a hasty hedging of bets, however, and a consequent shifting of odds if the Cardinals win the first one. The odds of the opening game have remained steadily at six to five and today a bet of $3,000 to $2,500 on the Yanks was placed with Darnell's, indicating that the price might be a permanent one. Indeed, there seemed to be no breaking of the confidence in the Yanks, it being estimated that the odds on the series might go to thirteen to ten before tonight.

"Work hard and don't worry" is his answer to those who would live long.

"I've never seen a moving picture," he said. "It's a shame to pay for entertainment when there are so many good shows out on the street." And as a group of young girls passed by, dressed in ultra-modern fashion, the centenarian waved a languid hand. "Just look," he said.

NEW WIZARD HURLS BOLTS OF LIGHTNING

Out of the West Comes Man Who Surpasses Achievement of Steinmetz.

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

Science Editor, NEA Service
A new Steinmetz has risen. From a quiet unobtrusive laboratory on the Pacific coast comes word of an electrical achievement surpassing even the wondrous wizardry of the late Charles P. Steinmetz.

Just before his death, the latter electrical genius succeeded in unleashing man-made lightning bolts of more than a million volts, f melting the hardest of metals and penetrating strong insulators.

Yet this marvelous achievement is surpassed by that of Prof. Harris J. Ryan, the electrical engineer of Leland Stanford University in California. Dr. Ryan has been able to produce lightning by use of the highest voltage yet attained by man—more than two million volts.

Switch Looses Lightning
Standing on a high platform, in a specially built laboratory of asbestos and steel, Dr. Ryan has turned a switch and sent so powerful a current through wires and transformers that it jumped 20 feet from one electrode to another. In that distance it created a lightning flash similar to the much more powerful flashes of the sky.

Dr. Ryan has been enabled to achieve this wonder through the aid of Allan B. Hendricks, electrical engineer, who designed what may be considered the most powerful transformers in existence. They convert the power of 22,000 volts furnished from the great water power stations along the coast, to the 2,000,000 volts used by Dr. Ryan.

The purpose of Dr. Ryan's experiments with such enormous voltages is to ascertain the possibilities of high power and its transmission from the ever-growing water-power facilities along the coast and the adjacent back country.

Sources of Power
Here is 80 per cent of the available waterpower of the United States, Dr. Ryan points out. The sources of this power are so far from the market centers, where it is to be used, that immense voltages are required to transmit it effectively.

The economical radius for water power transmission today is only about 50 miles, scarcely more than 100 miles. This is far too short a radius to cover, when waterpower is to be depended on for manufacture. Foreseeing this, Steinmetz in recent years and Dr. Ryan today saw the necessity of experimenting with miniature lightning bolts.

The mere transmission of high voltages isn't all for which the study of enormous voltages is essential. The means of transmission is also highly important. This includes the design of effective wire lines, of powerful insulators and other safe means of transmission. Steinmetz, in his experiments with a million volt flashes at Schenectady, N. Y., threw these enormous voltages at all sorts of insulating materials to determine their effectiveness against such high power. He melted heavy coils of wire in his search for a carrier that could stand the high voltages required of them.

This, it is expected, Dr. Ryan will continue. All for the development of higher power and its transmission over greater distances.

FRADIN'S OPENING

SALE TOMORROW

Fall Opening will be a big event at Fradin's tomorrow. Nothing delights the soul of women so much as to look at beautiful clothes and so Mr. Fradin has made every effort to assemble a large and remarkably varied assortment of new styles that a visit to the store will be worth while and interesting.

The coat and dress department is replete with fresh new stock reflecting every version of the fall and winter mode and chosen with a thorough knowledge of the preferences of the Manchester women. The millinery exhibit is most interesting with the invariably high and draped crown hats to fit every headsize which is quite a problem these days of extreme hair styles. The accessories are smart and in a variety to please the most discriminating taste.

And last but not least comes a delightful display of children's apparel which occupies the entire rear of the store, exhibiting in complete assortments, girls' fashions.

START REGISTERING CARS FOR NEXT YEAR

The business of registering motor vehicles for the year 1927 was started today at the state motor vehicle department. Application blanks were mailed by the department to 270,000 present registrants, and the department is prepared to send out the new marker plates at once as of January 1st. They have a maroon background with white figures for pleasure cars and a white background with maroon figures for commercial cars.

The experience of the department has been that 82 per cent of all registrations are applied for and issued by mail and that 20 per cent of these mail applications are defective and must be returned to the applicant at least once and frequently oftener for corrections. Thirty-eight per cent of the registrations are issued to persons who go to the Capitol or any of the various branch offices in person to get their markers.

Of the 270,000 application blanks sent out today, 144,000 went from the main office at the Capitol, 89,000 from the Bridgeport branch, 35,000 from the New Haven branch, 15,000 from the New London branch, 17,000 from the Waterbury branch and 10,000 from the Stamford branch. However, no mail orders, except for reservations of particular numbers, will be filed at the branch offices. The new application blanks have been simplified. Three of the questions previously required to be answered have been withdrawn and two others have been combined into a single question. The applicant is no longer required to indicate by what kind of motive power his car is propelled, nor to give the bore and stroke. In the place of the two questions formerly asked, as to the color of the car body and the color of its running gear, single question asking the color of the car appears.

The department will endeavor to reserve for any applicant the number assigned to him in 1926, either for January 1, 1927 or April 1, 1927, provided a completed 1927 application, accompanied by the necessary fee and a written request for that particular number is received at the Hartford office or any of the branch offices on or before November 15, 1926," says a notice enclosed with each of the application blanks.

Those who receive their new plates in advance are cautioned, by the notice, not to display them on their cars until the last week-day of December, 1926. Remittances are required to be made by check, money order or express order. There is no charge for postage on number plates.

7 DAYS, 7 STATES.

Georgetown, Ky. — Spending $7 in all, Homer Kemp and Richard McInnis of Rosebud, Tex., hopped their way through seven states in seven days. They are attending Georgetown college where they are members of the football squad. On their trip, they said, they rode in almost every kind of a car on the market.

TOD MORGAN SHOWS UP AS A REAL CHAMPION

New York, Oct. 1.—Eastern skeptics who doubted that Tod Morgan was a real champion today were firmly convinced that the Seattle boy will retain his crown as junior light weight champion for some time to come. Last night they saw Morgan outpoint Joe Glick, of Brooklyn, by a decided margin in a fast 15-round bout.

Morgan displayed fine defensive skill, scored a knockdown in the eleventh round and had Glick in a bad way on several other occasions. Glick took a severe drubbing.

Morgan won nine of the 15 rounds.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Stephen Decatur (3)

Decatur demonstrated his bravery while on recruiting duty at Philadelphia in June, 1799. The mate of an Indianan insulted the young man in a dispute concerning some enlisted men who had tried to escape the service by joining the merchant ship. He finally challenged the mate, at the instance of his father, to a duel.

Decatur was a skilled marksman and a perfect master of the pistol, which was the chosen weapon for the encounter.

Just before the duel Decatur told his friends that he would not seek to kill his opponent, but intended to shoot him in the hip.

Decatur carried out his plan with remarkable courage and coolness for a boy of 20. He was untouched by the bullet of his adversary, and placed his shot in the mate's hip. Two years later Decatur was appointed first lieutenant of the frigate Essex, under Captain Bainbridge and sailed for the troubled Mediterranean. (Continued.)

Proper Faces in Proper Places Would Save Industry Some Money, Too

New York, Oct. 1.—"Business men lose thousands hiring and firing employes. The time will come when they will have a casting director, just as the films have, to cast proper workers in proper places just as the director casts his pictures." Such is an interesting theory of Clarence Brown, the rising young director of the Metro-Goldwyn forces, who gave the screen "The Goose Woman" and "Kiki" and is now engaged on "Flesh and Devil." As far back as 1913, Brown says, science recognized that the innate qualities of every man and woman are mirrored in their external. Gauging Abilities. "The researches of Dr. Katherine M. H. Blackford," he says, "evolved definite rules that anyone can follow in gauging man's abilities and possibilities. She examined more than fifty thousand subjects, analyzed their features and characteristics, and compared them with their known qualities, thus diving the human race into a series of generally standardized types. "Her basic rules are interesting when applied to casting either labor or actors. "The contour of the face is a valuable index to a man's mental habits, and his adaptability to a given profession or work. It can divide them into three groups. "First, there is the triangular. Men or women with triangular-shaped heads, broadest across the forehead, and often have triangular bodies—the upper torso the widest—this is the type of poet, educator and artist. John Gilbert, while generally of this type, has a square contour, indicating a driving force underneath the artistry. "Then we have the square type—square contour of head, body, hands. Pioneers, generals, fighters and hard workers come from these. "Then there is the round type—rounded features and body—the type of judges, financiers, organizers. The late Willard Louis was an excellent example—hence he was cast for such roles as "Babbitt," in real life he was a shrewd business man and organizer. "Greta Garbo is triangular also, and blond. Her moods vary, but she is an artist throughout. She was made for nothing in the world but to be an actress, hence is at her best in pictures to choose the right actor for the role. "It works in business it will work to choose the right worker for the job, thus removing the risks of labor turnover, changes in personnel and other employment difficulties. "We just received a shipment of Lowney's Chocolates, bon bons, etc. and have had to re-order to meet the demand. A wonderful buy at 50c lb. Quinn's—Adv.

400 AKRON SCHOOLBOYS IN TRAFFIC POLICE JOBS

Akron, Ohio.—The juvenile police force has made good here. During the past week Chief of Police L. D. Carter has sworn in nearly 400 schoolboys as traffic policemen. His action is the result of a year's trial of the scheme which has resulted in a report that not one child was killed last year near a public school building. The new "coppers" are all picked "men" who have undergone training and been given a probationary term of duty. They leave their classes a few minutes before recesses and take up their stations at the traffic semaphores. The youths are trained by a motorcycle sergeant assigned to their command. Great rivalry exists among the boys for heavy posts and the sergeant yet has to receive any report of dereliction of duty. Only three cases of refusing to obey orders were reported last year. One man slapped a juvenile policeman, spent five days in jail where he could mull over his fault. Another "sassed back" and was smothered with a $50 fine by the judge. The Panama Canal Zone has an area of 474 square miles.

Mrs. Mary Tefft who is the guest on Sunday her nephew and niece, of Mrs. Frank Waldo entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Clark of Old Lyme. Mr. Clark is postmaster of that place.

Herbert Rathbone is making a good recovery from his attack of spinal meningitis. His brother, Norman, though improving slowly, suffers much pain and is still prostrated with the disease. The house is still under quarantine.

TOLLAND

There was no local Christian Endeavor service Sunday evening as several people from here attended the services in Vernon Center. The Saturday and Sunday morning services at the Vernon Center church were also represented by many from here.

Mrs. Clara Baker, Helen Baker and Miss Helen Hawkins who have been summering in town have returned to Boston where they will spend the winter.

Dr. Harris W. Price who has spent a few weeks with his father Lewis B. Price and family has returned to Boston.

Miss Bernice Hall of Springfield and Miss Alice Hall of Storrs College are to spend the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Ernest Hall.

The neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Pinowarczuk extend their sympathy to them in the death of their little daughter that passed away last Wednesday.

A special meeting of the Tolland Grange No. 51, P. of H. was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wilcox.

Rufus Leonard who has been exhibiting his famous herd of Dutch Belted cattle at many of the large fairs is expected to return to his home at Lake View Farm, Tolland, avenue in time to exhibit the herd at the Stafford Fair.

Mrs. Harry Wood is ill at the Hartford hospital and it is hoped she will be able to return home soon.

Mrs. Charles Bachelier who has been a guest at the home of her Grants Hill, has returned to her home in New York City.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Roger Clough of Meriden. Mrs. Clough was a resident in town here for many years and was well known.

RICHARD MOMMERS.

In the passing of Richard J. Mommers there disappears from the scene a personality in whose debt Manchester stands to a degree perhaps little realized by the majority of its people. A great master of a great mechanic art and an artist among artists in the more common understanding of the term, as well, he contributed of his genius and of his untiring devotion to the upbuilding of a great industry to which thousands of the residents of this community owe their opportunity for well-being and happiness.

Of old world antecedents and mental and moral training, this chieftain of the velvet craft remained, during his long living in America, a man of his native kind—a little apart in many ways from the life of the community, courteous, honorable, reserved, not seeking intimate contact with the affairs of the folk by whom he was surrounded, a bit austere perhaps but with the austerity of preoccupation.

He lived velvet. To him the production of the most beautiful fabrics possible for the hand of man to create was an objective worth the highest effort of the highest mind—and on that basis he applied himself to the darling labor of his life. Utterly loyal to the great enterprise with which he was associated, utterly absorbed in achieving for it perfection in product, it is conceivable that to the tireless thought and artistic sensibilities of Richard Mommers, more than to any other influence, is attributable the lofty position to which the product of the Cheney velvet mills has attained.

It is as greatly to the credit of the industrial general as to the military field marshal that he shall select his lieutenants with keenest insight—and then use their talents in the common cause. It was one of the finest evidences of industrial leadership that the Cheney Co. brought Mommers to Manchester and made it possible for him to employ, in its interest, in the interest of Manchester and in the artistic interest of America, his rare and unequalled genius.

Something splendid has gone out of Manchester in this death.

PROHIBITIONISTS.

By an intricate source of reasoning all its own, the New Haven Journal-Courier figures it out that the prohibitionists of Connecticut ought to endorse the Democratic candidate for senator, Judge Rollin U. Tyler.

Once upon a distant day the prohibitionists did endorse Judge Tyler's gubernatorial candidacy. But that was in 1920 when the Democratic platform was silent as the tomb on the rum question, while this year that platform caters to the waltz with a flat declaration for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment at the same time that it caters to the dries by declaring for ruthless enforcement of Volsteadism. And advocacy of repeal of their beloved eighteenth can hardly be expected to sit well on the tumblers of our friends the dries.

Just incidentally it may be worth remembering that the endorsement of Judge Tyler by the prohibitionists six years ago did not result in his being elected governor. Also that it did not bring him within a thousand miles of being elected, since he was defeated by a plurality of 110,000. Also that the total prohibition vote in the State of Connecticut in that year was fewer than eighteen hundred, as indicated by the ballots cast for the party's candidate for President, out of a total of nearly 365,000; and that it was, in fact, only one-sixth as numerous as the Socialist vote.

Yet small as is this prohibition vote, the Democrats want it and argue for it.

It is understood that the prohibitionists are to decide in a meeting to be held on Saturday what course they shall pursue in the coming election. It will be interesting to note their decision, not by reason of the prohibition group being numerous enough to exert an important influence on the outcome, but as to whether they are capable of reasoning as deviously as the New Haven newspaper.

As a matter of fact, if the prohibitionists still regard themselves as a unit—and their planning of political action indicates that they do—it would seem as if there was no logical political home for them save in their own party organization, no candidates worthy of endorsement, from their point of view, but candidates of their own naming. Certainly they would fit oddly enough into the party which urges the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

UNSETTLING.

Just what was hoped to be accomplished by the theatrical international conference of Mussolini and Austin Chamberlain on the latter's yacht off Leghorn, it is not likely that we shall be told at once. What is likely to be accomplished by it, however, is a popular revision of feeling in both France and Germany not at all calculated to make for the improvement of all-European good feeling.

Apparently the over-subtle diplomacy of both Britain and Italy conceived it to be necessary to make some kind of a compensating demonstration as an offset to the recent conferences between Briand of France and Stresemann of Germany. Just why, it is not easy to understand.

There is every reason for the rest of the world to be supremely delighted at the apparent approach of a Franco-German union of interests. Nothing conceivable could be a surer guarantee against a new world war than for a genuine friendship to grow up between these hereditary enemies. But it has long been apparent that the Fascist government of Italy is less concerned about world peace than about Italy's economic advantages. In Great Britain itself the charge is often made that the dominating influence in that country is less concerned for world peace than for the making of money.

If the prospect of an economic entente between Germany and France is to be met instantly with a new shuffling of the cards and a new cut for partners in the deadly old game of balance of power the diplomacy of 1926 may earn the curses of the generation of 1950.

PLYE.

We are not at all sure that C. C. Pyle, the P. T. Barnum of the athletic show business, is an injurious influence. We are not at all sure that the amateurs he is converting into professionals do not, in the majority of cases, undergo something of a moral cleansing in the process.

For many years there have been, in this country, amateurism and amateurism. There are sports, and individuals in various sports, untainted by compromise with professionalism. And there have been, on the other hand, amateurs and amateur sports, which have only retained their status by a wilful shutting of the public's eyes to the truth about them.

How much of deception and partial lies has been put over and how much cash remuneration thinly veiled, in the system of "expense money" and prizes awarded to so-called amateurs in various sports activities, nobody knows but everybody can guess.

In the old days of amateur bicycle races there were plenty of young men who made a good living by winning watches—which were bought back, at rather staggering prices, within ten minutes behind the grandstand by the promoters. And that principle has been widely followed.

If Pyle succeeds in corralling all the "amateurs" with itchy fingers into his frankly professional shows, it may be possible that real amateurism will get a chance for its white alley—which it hasn't had in a long, long time.

AT THE HAGUE.

Appointment of Charles Evans Hughes as American member of the Permanent Court of Arbitration at the Hague is a distinguished honor to that notable citizen but is not, immediately likely to carry with it any serious tax on his strength or his reputation as an international lawyer. Since the World War in 1914 smashed flat the whole theory upon which the tribunal was founded at the suggestion of the Russian Czar in 1899 the Hague tribunal has not participated very actively in the affairs of the nations and would be rendered altogether superfluous if all its signatories were members of the Permanent Court of International Justice, more familiarly known as the World Court.

Since the United States, however, is not yet of the latter membership, the Hague tribunal constitutes its only organized judicial contact with the rest of the world.

and though that body is not at present active it is possible at any moment that it might prove to be a recourse for America or another of the several nations outside the League and the World Court. That the United States should be represented in it by the ablest available talent is, therefore, eminently desirable. In Mr. Hughes a choice has been made which could hardly be improved on.

OUTLAND CRIMINALS.

Down in Fairfield county they are making plans in the courts to hasten to early trial charges against nine thugs who are accused of manhandling garment workers who persist in earning their living in opposition to the wishes of some trade union or another whose members are on strike.

As the state attorney down there puts it, these numerous inroads of blacklegs from another commonwealth for the purpose of brutally intimidating Connecticut workers, is "the worst affront ever put upon this state."

Connecticut has a certain measure of hospitality to extend to these cheap and cowardly bullies who race about from town to town slugging needle workers with iron bars and broken billiard cues. There is room for them in Wethersfield, and the fact of their being outlanders ought to operate to lengthen, rather than shorten, the period for which they will be made welcome there.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, Oct. 1.—Not only has the drierest of the dries in Congress gone down to defeat in the recent primaries, but so has the wettest of the wets.

The 70th Congress won't seem like the old institution with Representative Upshaw and Representative John Philip Hill both gone. They didn't lose in quite the same way, but they both lost.

Upshaw was just plain beaten for a renomination. Hill bit off more than he could chew. He could have been renominated, as a representative without half a try, but he had senatorial ambitions, and now he isn't going to be a senator or a representative, either one.

Senator O. E. Weller of Maryland has a dandy state organization. He has to be elected to the Senate, as a Republican, from that state.

When Hill challenged his leadership—for Hill's a Republican, too—Weller turned his organization's guns on Hill. The ambulance corps brought in Hill, a political casualty.

Hill was badly wounded but he wasn't killed. He made a run that will entitle him to subsequent consideration. Weller's shot and shell got him, but it took a lot of shot and shell. And for a short time, while they were counting the returns, it looked like anybody's fight.

It remains yet to be seen whether Weller wins at the polls in November.

Maryland is a peculiar state. Why should it have a Democratic governor, who wins in a walk, and a Democratic senator, who sweeps the boards every time, and yet have a Republican senator, too, and two Republican representatives, out of a total of six?

A mixture understandable in a state like New York, with one whole of a big city, several other big cities, only not so big as the city of the first part, and a vast hinterland—conflicting interests of all sorts.

But Maryland is mostly Baltimore. It's just queer. That's all.

There have been hints that the Maryland Democratic organization's policy recently has been to trade a little when fights were close—to let a few Republicans get in, in return for Republican support of the bulk of the Democratic candidates.

This is one of the times when it will pay the Maryland Democrats to yank their whole ticket through. If they want Governor Ritchie named as the Democratic candidate for president in 1928, it behooves him to make a record showing all up and down the line this year.

So Representative Millard E. Tydings, opposed to Senator Weller for a Maryland togo, undoubtedly will be supplied with all the ammunition available. It's conceivable that he'll make Senator Weller hustle for all he's worth.

From a Republican standpoint, there's one supremely pivotal state this year—Massachusetts. If President Coolidge loses that, he's gone. For the Democrats there are four pivotal states—or maybe five—New York, Maryland, Ohio, California, and—maybe—Missouri. Each has a potential presidential candidate—Gov. Al Smith, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, ex-Senator Alton Pomerene, William C. McAdoo, and—maybe—Senator Jim Reed.

As between them, the coming election may prove a great deal.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 1.—Signs of approaching winter in Manhattan: Announcement in the newspapers of the Sunday night "concerts".... Which are somewhat carelessly disguised evasions of the metropolitan "blue law".... Theatrical performances on the Sabbath are not tolerated, though movies may go merrily along.... Headliners of vaudeville and the stage are secured and appear in "concerts," which are allowed.... Showing that anything can be bootlegged, including amusement.... The oyster peddlers on the east side.... Oysters at one cent each.... All you can eat and plenty of diners.... The increasing number of sweet potato vendors.... Theatrical rehearsals in almost any vacant hall and theater building.... Actors looking as though they had landed a job.... And while makers in the restaurant windows ooh buser.... Computers moving in from Connecticut and way states.... Backyard garden cafes begin to pack up and move indoors.... Particularly in Greenwich Village.... No city in America likes to eat outdoors more than Manhattan.... And just now the very "arty" paintings that adorn the back fences begin to look like the scenery of a successful theatrical road show.... Those pathetic window boxes with their straggly geraniums begin to give up the ghost.... Ah, me, winter is not far off.

One of the sprightly night clubs hired as an entertainer a certain Hindu mental telepathist. He goes from table to table, answering the questions of guests and reading their minds. The other night he halted at the table of three youths who plainly showed the ill effects of too much gin. "Whadda we thinkin' of—tell me 'at," demanded the soberest of the trio. Without hesitation the "mystic" replied: "You are wondering whether you'll be able to pay your check or get thrown out?" "My Gawd, how'd he know?" pondered the perplexed collegian as he sat upon the sidewalk fifteen minutes later after the combined fortunes of the three had been found insufficient to meet the bill.

PARADISE Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM. If you aim to give me comfort in the highest steepest degree put me right before the fireplace, 'cause that's where I long to be. Let it be at early evening, when the daylight's sinkin' low, so that I can do my dreamin' in the hazy ember glow. Let there be a pile of log wood that is crackly, there is store, so that I may reach it easily as I lie there on the floor. Give me just a lonely pillow my head can gently fall, as I try to trace the queer things in the shadows on the wall. Let the blue flame drift to red flame. Let the sparks rise in the flue. Let the blaze eat up the old logs. I can feed it with the new. Yes, I love the song of sizzling. Let me slowly close my eyes, for before an open fireplace I can find my paradise.

'I Love the Sea,' She Insists After Storm and Shipwreck

Mrs. Rose Ellen Murray.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 1. — "I love the sea," says Mrs. Rose Ellen Murray. And love the sea she must. She was aboard the "Titanic" when it crashed into a North Atlantic iceberg the night of April 14-15, 1912. That disaster cost 1,517 lives.

She was aboard the Lusitania when it was riven by a German torpedo off the coast of Ireland at 2 p. m., May 7, 1915. With the Lusitania, 1,198 persons went down. Mrs. Murray was saved only after clinging almost unclothed to wreckage and an overturned lifeboat from early afternoon until past midnight.

"I Love the Sea." And yet Mrs. Murray travels the sea. Black memories visualize its menace, but— "I love it," she says, smilingly. She has crossed the Atlantic 34 times. The Lusitania trip was her seventeenth.

"It's strange," she says. "When I'm on land, I'm all nerves. Often I can't sleep. Time after time I live through it all again.

"When I'm at sea, I forget it all."

As the Titanic went down, its hand playing super-heroic notes, rescue for Mrs. Murray was merely a matter of crowding into a lifeboat and waiting for the Carpathia to come. She suffered little, physically. But there was the racking stress of seeing hundreds die.

It was just after the lurch hour when the blast of a torpedo sound-ed the Lusitania's knell. Mrs. Murray's brother, Patrick McGinley, was on board with her. "I remember that Rita Jolivet, the actress, and I had been taking up a collection for the ship's musicians," Mrs. Murray tells.

"My brother rushed to me with a life belt.

Lusitania's Plunge. "The ship was about to stand on end. I leaped from one of its highest decks.

"An old man caught me by the hair. He was clinging to some wreckage. In a few moments he went under.

"I swam to an overturned lifeboat and crawled across it. I lost consciousness. About 2 o'clock in the morning a fishing smack picked me up.

"They wrapped me in a blanket and took me to a hotel at Queens-town," she recalls. "There someone gave me a pair of pajamas.

"I thought my brother dead. I went to temporary morgues to look for his body. Then I went down to the shore, where bodies were being washed up by the waves.

"There I saw him, watching for my body.

"I took a train that afternoon to my old home in Belfast—still wearing the pajamas, and without stockings or shoes."

Mrs. Murray and her naval officer mate were married 16 years ago. In a year more, Murray will be eligible for retirement.

And then his wife wants to voyage around the world.

SUPREME COURT FOR OCT. TO FACE BIGGEST DOCKET

Final Phases of Actions in Fall and Daugherty Cases to Come Up.

Washington.—The final phases of two of the most bitterly contested court actions growing out of the famous Daugherty and Fall senatorial investigations of 1924 will be reached in the United States Supreme Court in its long session beginning October 2.

The court is confronted by one of the heaviest dockets in years, including a test of the removal of the power of the President, many demands for interpretation of the liquor laws and cases growing out of the World War, which involve huge sums of money.

Mal Daugherty, brother of former Attorney-General Harry S. Daugherty, is making his last stand in the high court against the efforts of the Brookhart Senate committee to force him to produce confidential records of the Midland National Bank of Washington Court House, Ohio.

Daugherty's Case.
Met by Daugherty's stubborn refusal to divulge the records the committee preferred charges of contempt against the Senate. Daugherty's attorneys will ask the highest court to rule that the power of a senatorial investigating committee does not permit it to enter the vaults of a bank to secure evidence which it believes will involve a cabinet officer.

The fight of Edward L. Doheny, California oil magnate, to prevent the government cancellation of valuable oil leases in the Elk Hills naval reserve will be among the first big cases to be argued. After winning a partial victory in the district court, the government won everything it sought in the circuit court of appeals.

The court will be called upon to decide whether the $100,000 Doheny advanced to Fall was a bribe, as contended by the government, or a loan, as maintained by Doheny.

Prohibition Cases.
Two of the most important prohibition cases involve the validity of the limitation of prescription liquor, brought by Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, of New York, and the constitutionality of laws providing for the seizure and sale of automobiles used in liquor running.

President Coolidge's power to remove a postmaster before his term has expired is called into question by Frank S. Myers, former postmaster of Portland, Oregon. Myers raises the question of whether a man appointed by the President with confirmation of the Senate can be removed without the Senate's consent.

Many cases growing out of the World War are on the court's calendar. Five thousand German dye patents and trade marks are involved in the governments' suit against the Chemical Foundation.

German Property Cases.
A score of law suits involve the seizure of German-owned property during the war. In one case the Atlas Line Steamship company is seeking to recover for the seizure of vessels, which it purchased from the German-owned Hamburg American line five days before war was declared. More than $50,000,000 is involved in suits growing out of the seizure of ships.

Two state syndicalism laws—

California and Michigan—are called into question in the court in the cases of Charlotte Anita Whitney and C. E. Ruthenberg.

Important decisions are expected to result from two suits attacking the zoning ordinances of Minneapolis and Los Angeles. The theatrical world is watching the case of Max Hart against the B. F. Keith Vaudeville Exchange, in which he charges the Keith and Orpheum circuits have combined to control "big time" vaudeville booking in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Large Crowd Expected to Watch Opening Game at McKee Street Stadium.

Local Sport Chatter

Confronted with the prospects of a successful season, the South Manchester High school pig-skin chasers will make their 1926 debut tomorrow afternoon at the McKee street stadium against a strong Bulkeley High eleven which hails from New London. Play will start at 2:30.

Past Reverses
Football for the past two years, or in fact, since the sport's revival after a relapse of over twenty years, has not been successful. Under the tutelage of Director W. J. Clarke and Jack Dwyer, the S. M. H. S. eleven won but two games. Last year, with Harry Keaney as coach, not a single victory was registered. The coaches were not to blame. They were severely handicapped by lack of suitable talent. The players being too inexperienced to equal the caliber of football displayed by other schoolboy teams.

Faithful Drilling
But this year, there is every indication that the team will complete a successful season. Experience has taught them the fundamentals and technique of the game. For the past three weeks about thirty-five husky warriors have been drilling faithfully under the expert direction of Thomas Kelley, former Bates College star. Kelley is well versed in the science of the gridiron sport and should prove a most worthy leader for the S. M. H. S. team.

Starting Lineup
Coach Kelley today gave out the following lineup which he said would be the probable men to take the field at the start of the game. He intimated, however, that there might be last minute changes. Here is the lineup: "Little Ding" Farr, re, "Butch" Kittle, rt, "Bab" La-Coss, rg, "Salve" Vendrillo, c, "Ory" Orenstein, lg, "Nick" Shannon, lt, "Ab" Lupien, "Luddy" Hansen, qb, "Joe" McCann, lhb, "Chad" Treat, rfb, "Kid" Keaney, fb.

In Bulkeley High, Manchester will face a tough foe. The boys from the Whaling City have a strong team this year even though they lost their opening game to Meriden High 14 to 0 last week. It is expected that a large gathering of fans will watch the opening game tomorrow. Everyone is anxious to see what kind of a team Manchester is going to have.

George Hunt is optimistic about his basketball team which is going to represent Cheney Brothers during the approaching season. He told the writer yesterday it looked much stronger than the one which he advertised the silk mills a year ago.

Carroll Barrett has signed with Cheney Brothers basketball team. Manager Hunt announced yesterday. The diminutive Barrett, it will be remembered, hopped into the spotlight a few years ago in the town championship series when he held the highly touted "Red" Thornton scoreless. Thornton was captain of the Crescents who were playing the Red Men at the Kacey hall. Thornton was also the main cog in the Crescent team which that year had rolled up a state-wide reputation. Barrett played guard for the Red Men and essayed to "cover" the red-tatched leader of the green and white. Although the Crescents won, Barrett's individual efforts was the outstanding feature of the game. Carroll is small but mighty. He ought to prove a valuable addition to the C. B. A. A. outfit.

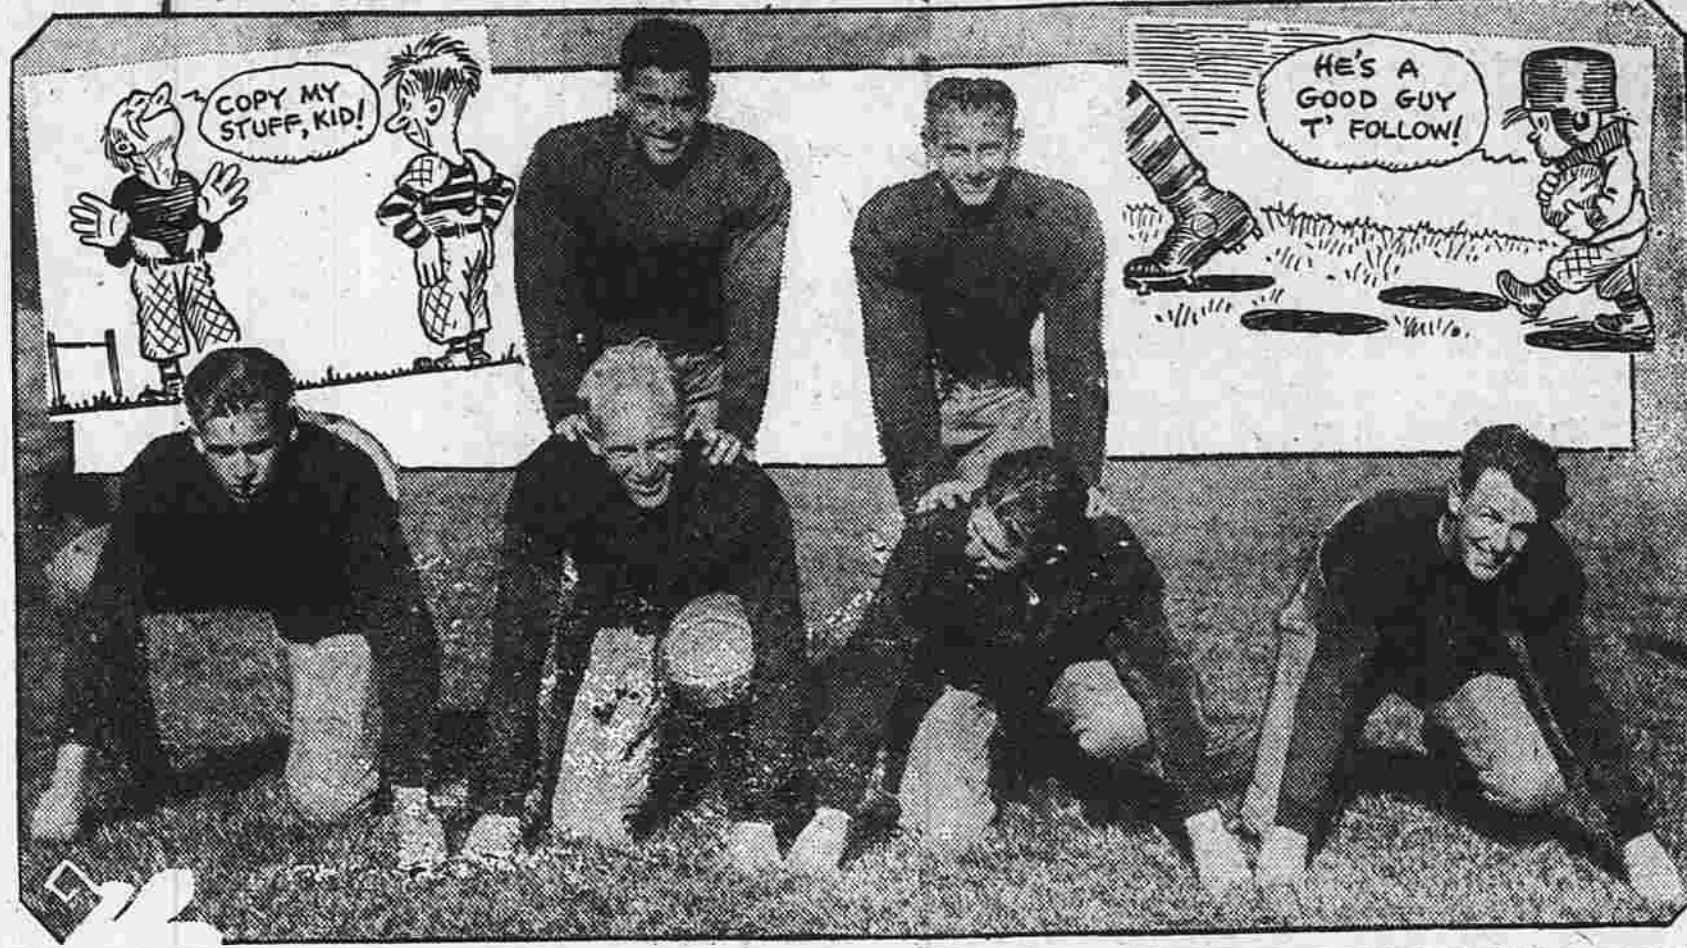

Walter Hennequin has again taken over the managerial reins of the S. M. H. S. football team succeeding the temporary manager, Frank McCann. Hennequin is a senior. He left the local school and entered Bulkeley High at New London at the beginning of the year but evidently did not like the surroundings there as well. He has just re-entered the local school. The members of the grid team are glad he has returned.

The S. M. H. S. tennis team which opened its season yesterday by playing a 3 to 3 tie with St. Thomas Seminary, will play its next match next week Thursday afternoon in Bristol against the High school team of that city.

With the game in Middletown tomorrow afternoon against the State hospital nine Manager Vendrillo will achieve his season's ambition—that of completing a fifty game schedule. It is quite a feat for a semi-pro team to play that number of games and Manager Vendrillo is due to be congratulated. The work of managing any kind of a team in athletics is hard work and when a manager books fifty baseball games, he has done a nifty piece of work.

The New Departure baseball team of Elmwood will attend the World Series in New York in a body as a reward for winning the pennant in the Independent League. This means that several

Speaking of Brothers—Here's Three Sets

There's plenty of brotherly love on the University of California football team this fall. At least there will be until the final pruning starts—and then it may be different. For when a candidate is beat out of a job, well—

All of which brings up the fact that there are three sets of brothers among the aspirants for grid berths at California. In each case, one brother was a member of the 1925 squad while the younger brother has just completed his freshman year.

"Dutch" and John Clymer are out for quarter and half, respectively; Ned and Bob Green, each seeks a tackle post, while James and Ralph Doughery, both hope to hold down an end position.

BROADCAST WORLD SERIES RESULTS AT H. S. GAMES.

It was announced today that the returns of the World Series between the Cards and Yanks will be given out at the football game between S. M. H. S. and Bulkeley High of New London tomorrow at the McKee street stadium.

This arrangement has been made possible through the courtesy of Barstow's Radio Shop. The play by play returns will come over the air direct to the field and the score by innings will be posted on the scoreboard in left field.

Manchester boys will see Ruth and Hornsby engage in the greatest duel in history. Tommy Sipples, "Woody" Walllet and Red Thornton are booked for the free ride.

Meriden High school which engages the local school eleven later in the season is away to a flying start this year having put the skids under Southington High 26 to 0 and Bulkeley High of New London 14 to 0. The latter team meets S. M. H. S. here tomorrow. Meriden plays East Hartford at the Velodrome Saturday.

Local baseball fans will no doubt sympathize with Rogers Hornsby in the World Series which starts tomorrow afternoon. Hornsby will play in the series under a great mental strain because of the sudden death of his mother. But he will play with one consolation—that of fulfilling the dying wish of his mother. Her last words were pleadings that her son stay with his team and play in the series. He will carry out her wish and while his face may be camouflaged with an iron-like determination, his heart will naturally ache within him. It certainly is a tough predicament for anyone to face and the world is wishing him unlimited success.

Prospects for the year for a successful basketball season at S. M. H. S. are not rosy. The candidates have not as yet been called out by Coach Clarke but a few of the regulars left over from last year's team and some of the members of the second team, which made such a brilliant showing, have been practicing a formation at the Rec, which Coach Clarke expects to use this year.

Yesterday Manchester had a program which called for sports of all sorts over the week-end but today there remains but two football games. The Sons of Italy baseball team cancelled its double-header baseball attraction and the soccer game was also cancelled. This leaves two football games, one tomorrow and one Sunday. The High school play, Bulkeley High of New London tomorrow and the Cloverleaves meet the Falcons Sunday.

Hornsby and Ruth Make World Series Unusual Attraction

(BY BILLY EVANS)

Step lively folks! The big show is just about to start.

On the inside we have the great, and only Babe Ruth, the Sultan of Swat, the Belting Bambino, the Colossus of Clout.

You can't afford to miss baseball's greatest attraction. No game is complete without him. Money back if he fails to hit a home run.

And while on the inside, ladies and gentlemen, don't overlook the Babe's greatest rival, Rogers Hornsby, the Peerless Rajah of Wallop, the King of Baseballville.

Sounds like the ballplay for a circus sideshow. On the contrary, it best tells the story of what the 1926 world series has to offer in the way of the unusual.

Every big series has had its stars but for the first time in the history of the game, the two outstanding players in the National and American Leagues are arrayed against each other in the annual diamond classic.

Babe Ruth, home run king of the majors, will wear the uniform of the New York Yankees and try to uphold the prestige of the American League.

Rogers Hornsby, premier batsman of the National League, baseball's greatest second-sacker, who is now eligible for the much overworked title of "Miracle Manager" for his success in guiding the St. Louis Cardinals to a pennant, stands out as the one best bet of the National League.

The world series itself is a magnet that always plays to a sellout, regardless of the contending teams or the personnel of same. It's the climax of a long grind over six months of play for the championship.

However, when the series also presents the two biggest names in baseball, Babe Ruth and Rogers Hornsby, it is a tremendous added attraction.

Never in the history of the game have two such colorful figures graced the lineup of the rival teams.

In a sense, the careers of these two great stars have been dotted with many unusual incidents. Success has not been attained without great effort. Early failures did not keep either of them from carrying on.

Babe Ruth began his career back in 1914 as a pitcher with Baltimore. He was purchased by the Boston Red Sox and later back to Providence, then in the same league as Baltimore, for further seasoning.

In a few short years Ruth developed so fast as a pitcher that he was regarded as the best southpaw in the American League. When not mowing down opposing batters, he gave signs of considerable ability as a slugger.

In 1918, Ed Barrows, then manager of the Boston Red Sox, started the baseball world by the announcement that he intended to make an outfielder out of the great southpaw. He gave as his reason the belief that Ruth's batting ability would win more ball games for his team than as a pitcher.

Barrows' untimely fate and did a mighty good job of it. Ruth made good for him with a vengeance. Sold to the New York Yankees in 1920 for $125,000, the greatest price ever paid for a ball player up to that time, Ruth began breaking all attendance records with his ability to make home runs.

In 1921 he established a record in that line that will probably stand for all time, driving out 59 circuit clouts. The past season he made 47, in an effort to set a new mark of 60, Enuf for Ruth.

Twice released as a minor leaguer, Hornsby showed enough to be purchased by the Cardinals for $500. He made good from the start. For a couple of years he played every position in the infield and took a whirl at the outfield before deciding that second base was his forte.

Starting in 1920, Hornsby for six successive years led the National League at the bat. This year he was dethroned, like most of the other sportive champs.

In three seasons during the last five, Hornsby reached or surpassed the 400 mark in hitting. Two years ago he established a major league record for present-day play by batting .424.

Like Ruth, Hornsby holds the home run record for his league. In 1922 he set the high mark in the National League with 42.

PICKING PITCHERS A PLEASANT TASK

Man That Starts Series Should Be Team's Best Bet, Says "Dave" Walsh.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Oct. 1.—Bill Sherdel, left-handed but able to live it down, quite possibly will pitch the opening game of the World Series for the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow instead of the elderly Alexander, original choice among those who do their guessing while you wait.

There was said today to have been an overnight shift in sentiment toward Sherdel in the camp of the Cardinals, although no one in authority would confirm the report. The young man is worth a bet.

Of the twenty-two winners since the start of the modern series in 1903, fifteen of them got away running by winning the first game. The percentage, moral and actual, is all in favor of the club that hits them first and explains at Leisure, if at all.

Yanks Fear Sherdel Sherdel is the man the Yankees fear. They say they can "take" these fast ball pitchers like Alexander and Rhem something like seven days in every week and every one knows that there are two ways to break the average Yankee back.

Hit him firmly between the shoulders with a sledge hammer or feed him a slow-ball left-handed with a wide curve. Sherdel fits that description like a cap on a freshman's head.

The "kick" in the Yankee lineup is centered around Ruth, Meusel, Gehrig and Lazzeri and all of them are what is known as "free-swingers." They don't choke the bat and snap at the ball; they try to gobble it while and often do.

But not with a great deal of success against slow ball left-handers. If you don't believe me, ask our Mr. Ruth about Present.

Pennock Probably Anyhow, the man who figures to be the big winner of the series should start the opening game, of course. He then can be brought back for the fourth game and, if he purports to have anything left, the seventh, if any. That will be Huggins' system with Herb Pennock, at least as far as the first and fourth games are concerned. Pennock is not the man to pitch three games in any series and get away with it.

Alexander, old as he is, might be able to do it. Flint Rhem, with all his fine, young strength, could laugh it off, too. But the Yanks think they can smear this pair all over the premises and that collection of brooding athletics is difficult to convince, once it makes up its mind to a thing.

"CARDS" ENGAGE TRAIN FOR ST. LOUIS JUMP. New York, Oct. 1.—In order to facilitate the transportation of athletes between the second and third games of the world series, the St. Louis Cardinals have chartered a special train to carry the team from New York to St. Louis.

There are more than 45,000 miles of electric railway in the United States.

CALL OFF BASEBALL GAMES FOR SUNDAY

Sons of Italy to Close Season Saturday in Middletown; 50 Game Schedule Nearing Completion.

There will be no more baseball games in Manchester this year. The double-header between the Sons of Italy and the Hartford Colored Stars has been cancelled. Manager Vendrillo made this announcement last night.

The reason for the cancellation of Sunday's games was because of several of the Sons of Italy team who are planning to go to the World Series games in New York City Saturday and Sunday. Rather than to put a makeshift team on the field, Manager Vendrillo felt that it was better to cancel the game. The Sons will close their season tomorrow afternoon in Middletown against the State hospital team of that place. This will mark the 50th game of the season for the Sons.

SOCCER GAME WITH LOCALS CANCELLED

The soccer game scheduled between the Hartford Swedes and the Manchester eleven at the McKee street stadium for Sunday afternoon was cancelled last night.

The local management received a special delivery letter from Joe Booth, secretary of the league, stating that the game had been cancelled because the Swedes were to play in Ansonia. As a result the local eleven will remain idle this week but will resume play the following week.

FOSSIL ON EXHIBITION IS 20,000,000 YEARS OLD: WAS DUG UP IN CANADA.

London.—What might be described as a 20 million years old "tank" is now being exhibited at the Natural History Museum, South Kensington.

It is an armored dinosaur, collected in 1915 by the late William E. Cutler, and was found in sandstone cliffs at Red River, Alberta, Canada, whence many dinosaurs have been obtained for United States and Canadian museums.

The standstone is in the Belly River series and authorities would date it from 20 to 30 million years back.

The fossil is 15 feet long and 6 feet broad and weighs after removal of all unnecessary rock, 2,000 pounds. The reptile was preserved, because when it died it was rapidly entombed by blown sand, and consequently remained excellently preserved, especially as regards the skin.

The armored dinosaurs or stegosaurs are characterized by their defensive armor, which, in the family to which this fossil belongs, takes the form of bony plates in the skin. These plates are usually found isolated, and preservation as in this case is extremely rare.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

By ARTHUR N. PACE
President, The American Nature Association

Well he is called the Kingfisher, with his crown of blue feathers holding peaceful dominion over winding stream or shallow lake.

Flying from one commanding perch to another, with his cheerful rattling call telling us that all is well in his kingdom, he seems a fitting part of his chosen valley.

For ages before this quiet haunt was known to human being, his ancestors gained their living from the waters, sharing with heron, fashawk, eagle and other their bounty.

It has remained for our later civilization to raise fishing to the dignity of a virtue when practiced as a pastime by man, but to make of it a crime, when pursued by a bird for a living. So we sometimes find our friend of the gentle waters with a price put on his head just for catching a few fishes.

Were they not his before they were ours, and even if we now lay claim to them, may we not spare a few for him, in exchange for that extra bit of cheerful life which he lends to pond or stream?

In late spring or early summer, Mr. and Mrs. Kingfisher seek some sandy bank near a good fishing place, and dig a burrow extending back several feet in a small chamber at its end, on a few fishbones or debris. Mrs. Kingfisher lays her generous clutch of white eggs. When these hatch more fishes are needed, and until the young are grown and trained to fish for themselves, the parent pair lead a busy life.

Let us hope that before this clamor for the destruction of our feathered fisherman results in their further destruction, fairness to the birds and their well wishers, shall turn the tide in favor of our fisher friends, and that so long as water runs their cheery rattle shall echo along our waterways.

MULES, BIRDS, TEAPOTS. IN FOREIGN DEMANDS.

Washington.—Mules, birds of the air, fishes of the sea, teapots and cornob pipes—these varied commodities are listed by the department of commerce in its summary of foreign demands upon American production.

Every week the department, as a result of information obtained from its foreign representatives, furnishes to American producers a comprehensive list of sales opportunities.

This service is said to stimulate vastly the foreign trade of this country. More and more is American foreign business widening its scope both as to markets and as to the goods shipped abroad.

Nearly one thousand different commodities are listed weekly as wanted in foreign countries. Most of these American produced articles dominate the markets where they are in demand.

BRITISH CLIMATE MAKES AMERICAN WATCHES LAZY

London.—Britain's climate makes American watches lazy, is the fixed belief of many visitors from the United States.

Many of them observe that a watch that never varies in America will lose two minutes a day in London. Evidently American watches used to a dry crisp climate find London a trifle enervating and react accordingly.

It is for this reason that the management of the Savoy Hotel say they always keep the principal clock in the vestibule three minutes ahead of Greenwich time.

Mount Lassen in California, is the only active volcano in the United States.

HELP YOURSELF TO HEALTH

Worn and weary—but not from work

ONLY a few months ago he was feeling fine. A full desk meant nothing more than a full day—a challenge which he eagerly accepted. Life was worth living then. . . . But now . . . now he seemed eternally tired, lifeless, exhausted. His head was dull and achy. Work was a frightful bore. Life was barren of interest. Where would it all end? . . .

In the work-a-day world there are thousands of men and women who suffer from constipation. They try this and that, forever seeking relief and seldom finding it. Yet there is sure, permanent relief from this disease—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system its fiber remains unchanged. It remains a bulk food, as doctors call it. Because of its bulk it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It stimulates the flow of digestive juices. It absorbs and carries moisture into the intestine and prompts it to natural, healthy action.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, or your grocer will refund the purchase price. Eat two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as a cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone or with fresh or preserved fruit; with other cereals; use in soups, cook in hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

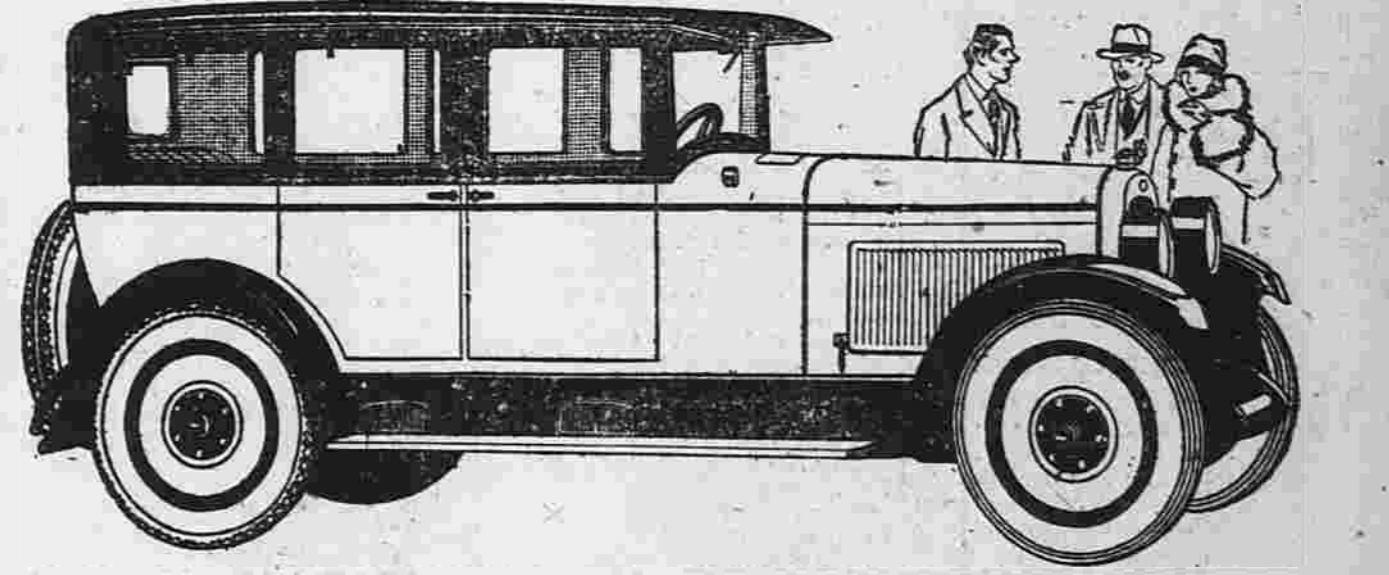

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the original ALL-BRAN—a 100% bran product. That is why doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Get a package today. Also served in all hotels and restaurants.

"MRS. ETTLESON!" Faith echoed in amazement. Then her instinctive, unreasoning desire to protect her parents from knowledge of Cherry's foolish philandering with a married man...

"You're a liar!" Her voice made poor Mrs. Ettleson cringe. father moved instinctively toward Mrs. Lane. Cherry's mother rose, a vast, upheaving bulk from her chair, her drooping hands gripping the arms of the wicker chair...

"It was from - Cherry?" Bob prompted the faltering narrative. "Yes, from Cherry Lane," Mrs. Ettleson nodded. "It was a love letter. He had promised to help her go on the stage - in New York..."

Good Nature and Good Health

IS IT POSSIBLE TO END ALL DIPHTEHRIA IN 10 YEARS? This is the last of a series of five daily articles on diphtheria.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBURN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene the Health Magazine.

A survey made by the American Medical Association of diphtheria in the United States indicates a varying distribution of the disease. Among the cities in New England, New Haven had the remarkably low rate of 1.7 deaths per 100,000 population for 1925.

In 1890, the rate for Boston was 112.2, and the lowest rate of any Massachusetts city was that of Lowell, with 36.4. This is an indication of what has been accomplished in the control of diphtheria by the application of modern scientific methods.

Lowest in History. Among the Middle Atlantic cities, New York has a rate of 10.8 the lowest in its history, as contrasted with 134.4 in 1895. Syracuse, New York, had only 2.7, whereas Utica had 22.6.

The rate for Norfolk, Virginia, showed only one death for every 100,000 people in that community, wedded twin were straightway arrested, since the city code forbids "mixed bathing." The offenders were soundly lectured and warned that when they next swam, the wives must swim on their side of the rope and the husbands on theirs.

Vienna.—Professor Josef Bayer, director of the pre-history department in the State Natural History Museum, has found an ivory statuette of Venus, dating back to the glacial period.

The find was made at Wallendorf in the Wachau (a requested definite note for its scenery and legends) on the Danube, where the Professor found a similar figure in limestone in 1908.

The new Venus is carved from the tusk of the lower jaw of a mammoth, whose remains were discovered close by. A massive shivel of jasper was discovered near the spot.

The new statuette, which is about 10 inches, is believed to be the largest belonging to the glacial school yet found. It is probably between 20,000 and 25,000 years old, and is in good preservation owing to the protection afforded to it by the deposit of loam and quartz.

The famous Venus de Milo was found by a peasant in the island of Melos, in 1820, and sold to the French Government for $1,200.

Speaking of Queen Marie of Rumania having difficulty in engaging a royal suite on any transatlantic liner for her trip to America, you may recall that Lorelei Lee, heroine of "Gentleman Prefer Blondes," and her girl friend, Dorothea, are escorted in a royal suite when they set sail for historic places like Paris, France, Lorelei, you recall, is better educated, Gus Elsmann of Chicago, the butler king, "some folks unkindly call Lorelei 'Gold Digger,' but I'm sure she's just a sweet young girl trying to get along!"

"I'm sittin' atop of the world," shrieks "Peaches" Heenan, child bride of millionaire Brownings, as she is euphoniously known. "Peaches" thinks she is emulating the w.k. setting hen atop the universe because she has a chunk of diamonds or so, a closefit of clothes, and a sugar daddy who loves to dance until morning. We smile at little "Peaches" and feel smugly superior for her interpretation of real values. But after all, is it any different from that of most of us who would be quite willin' to sit atop the world if we were well wrapped in a sable coat?

Joan looked thoroughly mystified, as she knew nothing about Mamie's affairs and couldn't understand what it was all about. Seeing that Mrs. Tremaine was still fussing about someone at our table, Mamie again partly arose from her chair, but Jerry thrust her back and then we three tried to go on with our dinner as though nothing had happened.

Dying from War Hurts, Leaves for His Little Son Series of Annual Letters

Vineland, N. J., Oct. 1.—Letters from "Daddy Dick" to his six-year-old son, John Stevenson, Jr., written by "Dad" a year ago, just before his valor on the fields of France resulted in his death, will not be made public, the boy's mother decided today.

son said that he would receive a letter each year until his twenty-first birthday and would receive the final letter from his father when he married. In the first letter "Dad" advised his son to be good to his mother. Yesterday, John's sixth birthday, the postman brought the first of the series of the annual letters that are to come to the boy. "Daddy Dick" was thirty-six when he died. He was gassed with the A. E. F. and never regained his health.

"UNOFFICIAL DIPLOMAT" IS COOLIDGE GUEST

Will Rogers, Back from Europe, Tells the President All About Everything.

Washington, Oct. 1.—President Coolidge this morning knows exactly what's wrong with Europe and what should be done to rectify conditions. He got a complete earful of low-down on the situation last night from America's self-appointed diplomat, Will Rogers by name. The gum-chewing comedian, just returned from Europe, whence he sent innumerable postal cards of advice to the president, is a White House guest. He wired Everett Sanders, the Coolidge secretary, yesterday afternoon that he would be in Washington for a few hours and would like, if possible, to pay his respects to the office. When the president heard this he directed Sanders to ascertain when Rogers' train arrived so a White House automobile might be on hand to meet him and to extend an invitation to stay overnight.

TAKE 5 CHINESE SMUGGLED INTO U. S. FROM CUBA

Boston Taxicab Bringing Stowaways to Newark Is Stopped by Jersey Police.

Jersey City, N. J.—Five Chinamen, who were smuggled into this country by way of Boston, Mass., several days ago and who were apprehended by the Jersey City police were questioned at Jersey City Police Headquarters by immigration officials. They gave information to the government agents which indicates that a plot for the wholesale smuggling of Orientals into this country is under way. The base of operations is supposed to be in Cuba. They also gave information of the whereabouts, in even remote parts of the country, of friends and relatives who have gotten by the immigration bars. This latter information will probably lead to the deportation of hundreds of Chinamen. It has been announced by the Jersey City police that four Chinamen recently smuggled into the country were arrested in Brooklyn as a result of the information secured by the government men in Jersey City. The five Chinamen were discovered in a taxicab, speeding through Jersey City towards Newark. The fact that the cab-borne Massachusetts license plates and the name, "South Boston Cab Company" aroused the suspicions of two police officers and after chasing the machine several blocks caused it to stop. The five Chinamen inside were unable to talk English. They were brought to Headquarters and the Immigration men and an interpreter sent for. It was learned that they came to Boston as stowaways from Havana, Cuba, arriving in Boston a few days ago. They were fed and cared for during their voyage by one of the ship's crew and were assisted in their escape upon arrival in Boston by another of the ship's crew. They were housed a day or so in Boston, they didn't know where, and then started on the taxi trip to New York. They took the cab at the company's stand at Broadway and Dorchester avenue, South Boston. William Foley of 294 D street, South Boston was the driver, who accepted the fare. He said that he was offered $100 to make the trip. Half of that amount was given him in advance and the balance was to be given when the party reached New York. Upon arrival in New York the Chinamen succeeded in making the driver understand that they wanted to go on to Newark. Going through Jersey City they were stopped.

that the Newark destination was a restaurant on Market street. Several officers were sent out there and visited the place with Newark police. They found two men waiting for the arrival of the orientals and arrested them. These men are believed to be the two who assisted in the smuggling. They proceeded the Chinamen to Newark by train. The white men will be questioned in an endeavor to find out from them the persons back of the smuggling ring. The Chinamen are of the coolie type who have been imported into Cuba to work in the sugar industry.

BURNED FAST.

Bridgeport, Oct. 1.—Two automobile trucks and a frame garage at 112-114 Capitol avenue were reduced to total wreckage in eight minutes today. S. Cohen owned the property. There are only about 40,000 Eskimos in the entire Arctic area.

Notice of the Tax Collector

All persons liable by law to pay taxes in the Fourth School District of Manchester are hereby notified that I shall on October 1, 1926, have a rate bill for the collection of four mills on the dollar, laid on the list of 1925, due the collector October 1, 1926. I will be at R. L. TAYLOR'S STORE Corner of South Main and Charter Oak Streets TUESDAY AND SATURDAY NIGHTS From 7 to 9 p. m. for the collection of said taxes. Take Notice—The law provides that if any taxes shall remain unpaid one month after the same shall become due, interest at the rate of nine per cent shall be charged from the time that such tax becomes due until the same is paid, also lawful fees for travel or collecting after November 15, 1926. HAROLD RICHMOND, Collector. South Manchester, Conn., October 1, 1926.

FIGHTS LIKE MANIAC IN GALLOWS' SHADOW

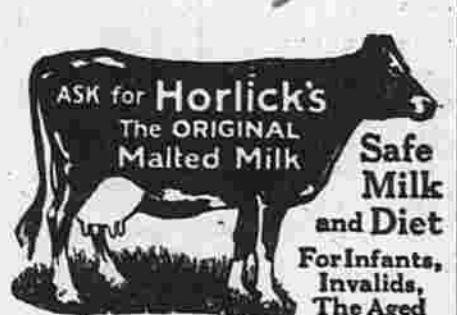

Slayer of 3 Battles Warders, Yields to Tear Gas But Is Hanged Cursing.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 1.—With the fury and strength of a maniac, Tony Vetter, convicted of the murder of three men in Butte last November, launched an attack on his warders here early today when they came to take him from his cell to the gallows. Vetter was finally subdued after tear gas was poured into his cell from all sides until he became unconscious. His legs and arms were then strapped as he lay on the floor, but upon being pushed between two guards on his way to the execution chamber he regained consciousness sufficiently to vehemently curse his guards, dying with a curse upon his lips. Vetter dropped to his death at 12.28 and six minutes later was pronounced dead by jail officials.

NO INTERNATIONAL COAL MINE STRIKE

Last Hope of British Miners Gone, They Are Flocking to Work, Despite Leaders.

London, Oct. 1.—The last hope of the British coal mine strikers went glimmering today when a Central News dispatch from Ostend announced that the International Miner's Federation, now in session there, had rejected the proposal of English mine leaders for an international coal strike. With starvation staring them in the face, and cold weather rapidly approaching, the miners are going back to the pits in large numbers.

ALAN COBHAM BACK FROM ANTIPODES TRIP

Aviator Gets Huge Welcome as Plane Alights on Thames After Australia Flight.

London, Oct. 1.—Alan Cobham alighted on the Thames opposite the House of Parliament at 2.15 this afternoon, completing his 28,000 mile flight from England to Australia and back. A huge crowd lined the banks of the river and the bridges to cheer his arrival. The flier was welcomed on the terrace of the Commons by cabinet officials, members of the House of Lords and of the Commons, and many other prominent personages. Cobham started his flight on June 30. His actual flying time was 320 hours. Two hundred thousand, or one-fifth of the total number of miners, had returned to work today.

HAS SEEN EVERY WORLD SERIES GAME SINCE 1903

Bridgeport, Oct. 1.—Michael J. Flanagan, attorney, clerk of the Superior court, started his vacation today on the eve of the world series, intending to keep intact his record of having seen every world series game ever played since 1903. Mr. Flanagan will follow the teams between New York and St. Louis as he has followed all world series teams.

STETSON-GOSS FINALS.

South Ardmore, Pa., Oct. 1.—Mrs. J. Henry Stetson, a Philadelphia golfer and one who has been prominent in women's golf for several years, will meet Mrs. Wright Goss of Baltusol in the final of the women's national championship tomorrow. Mrs. Goss defeated Mrs. Smith three and two. Mrs. Stetson defeated Miss Wilson one up, nineteen holes.

OFFICIALS WILL VISIT SENIOR STATE FOREST.

Hartford, Oct. 1.—The oldest state owned forest in New England, the Meshomastic at Portland, will be inspected by several state officials who are planning to attend the fall field meeting of the Connecticut Forestry Association here tomorrow.
The Meshomastic state forest was started in 1908 with a 70-acre purchase for $105. Since that time it has been increased to 3,446 acres at a total cost of $14,417.

"SUNSHINE CITY"

NOT HIT BY STORM

Mrs. James Trotter Tells Herald That No Great Damage Was Done to St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Fla., where so many Manchester people make their homes during the winter, came through the hurricane of a week ago practically unscathed, according to a letter received by The Herald from Mrs. James Trotter today. Practically all the damage suffered by St. Petersburg consisted of broken windows and minor damages to roofs and growing plants.

Her letter follows:
To The Herald:
Dear Sir:
We arrived in St. Petersburg Saturday, September 25, and were glad to find the Sunshine City looking so beautiful. The tropical hurricane which swept over the east coast of Florida and other parts of the land was kind to St. Petersburg inasmuch as what damage it contrived to do consisted mostly in broken windows and damaged roofs. All of the damage has been quickly repaired.

Most of the damage was really from the water, however. The Southland has never cared for heavy roofing and that is the reason the light shingles were blown off so easily. St. Petersburg is taking on a tourist air. Cars are coming in heavily loaded every hour. Schools opened as usual on Monday. There is quite an air of activity on the streets and everyone is looking forward to splendid season here.
Respectfully,
MRS. JAMES TROTTER.

WILL KEEP HIS WORLD SERIES RECORD CLEAN

Old Saybrook, Oct. 1.—Matthew Golden, telegraph operator for the New Haven railroad here, who hasn't missed seeing at least one World Series game since that famous baseball institution was established in 1903, will go to New York tomorrow to take in the first game between St. Louis and New York. Mr. Golden intends to keep his record clean for another year, at least.
Formerly a New York newspaperman, Mr. Golden is considered the local authority on baseball, keeping a complete statistical record of big league games, with pictures and clippings of all sorts.

At Cleveland—Tommy Freeman of Cleveland won newspaper decision over George Levine of New York, ten rounds.

SERIOUS SITUATION IN POLISH CABINET CRISIS

Warsaw, Oct. 1.—Extreme tension today followed the resignation of the Bartel ministry as a result of the government's failure to obtain a vote of confidence on the budget proposals.
The serious nature of the situation between the enemies and adherents of President Pilsudski was indicated when several officers early today raided the bedroom of former Finance Minister Vichowski, leader of the opposition. The ex-cabinet member was beaten into unconsciousness and a gas bomb was left in his room.

YANKS RATED WEAK AGAINST "LEFTYS"

Bill Sherdel May Prove Great Menace to Huggin's Crew, Evans Reports.

(By BILLY EVANS.)

Will Bill Sherdel and Art Reinhart, the two star southpaws of the St. Louis Cardinals, get plenty of action in the world series?

If Manager Rogers Hornsby uses the same dope that American League managers have followed all season, they will.

In American League circles, the managerial opinion is that the Yanks are weak against left-handers, particularly those who can blow up.

The Yanks are sluggers, pure and simple, with one or two exceptions, and a slow diet is not usually relished by clouters.

However, one American League left-hander, Bob Grove, who boasts terrific speed, was just as effective against the Yanks as any of the southpaws who rely almost entirely on medium speed and a change of pace.

Grove, when he is fast, and he is that way most of the time, is just as tough for a right-handed hitter as a left-hander. His speed is the exception. That is what makes him so effective.

One of Best.

National League players in speaking of Sherdel, tell you that he has a slow ball that is most deceptive and then another that is even much slower.

Sherdel was away to a poor start in the spring, but in the final stages of the race has been one of the most effective pitchers of the Cardinals' staff.

It was he who pitched the game that clinched the pennant for St. Louis. Relieving Flint Rhem, the right-hand ace of the Cards, after the Giants had made three runs in the first inning, Sherdel held McGraw's club in check the rest of the way, while his teammates overcame the early lead.

While Reinhart is given credit for having more natural stuff than Sherdel, his main forte is control. He is one of the very few southpaws in the game who makes the opposition earn its way to first.

I look for Hornsby to make much use of Sherdel and Reinhart. Occasionally the Yanks make life unpleasant for even southpaws, however.

Browns Pick Yankees.

The St. Louis Browns with very few exceptions are of the opinion that the Yankees will beat the Cardinals.

"We trimmed them two games in the spring without any great trouble," remarked Second Baseman Marty McManus, "and the Yanks have been beating us all summer.

"May sound funny for a member of a seventh place club to say it, but I wish the Browns were playing the Cards for the championship. That is one club we can beat."

The fact that the Yankees were running wild over the Browns in a double-header that afternoon, 10-2 and 10-4, probably accounts in a measure of the high opinion the Browns have for the Yanks.

They Razz New Yorkers. It was a bit of a coincidence that the New York Americans should clinch the pennant in the final series of the year at St. Louis against the Browns.

The fans in St. Louis are partisan. Those for the Browns can see only the American League, while the Cardinal rooters think any league other than the National is a minor organization.

It seemed as if the crowd that came out to see the double-header that decided the pennant was made up largely of Cardinal rooters, whose sole intent was to "raze" the Yankees.

And it so happened the Yankees for the first time in a month looked like a championship team. Ruth made three home runs while Meusel and Gehrig drove out one each.

No doubt those five mighty swats gave the Cardinal rooters something to think about. Before the afternoon was over Ruth was being cheered instead of jeered.

WOMEN'S GYM CLASS TO BEGIN AT REC

Gym and weight reducing classes which were so popular with the women members of the Recreation Centers last year, will begin on Monday and will follow the schedule which was published in "The Herald" this week. A change in the women's weight reducing class has been made and this group will be in the gym from 2 o'clock until 2:45 on Monday afternoon instead of from 2:30 as formerly announced.

At 7 o'clock in the evening the popular gym class for women will resume its sessions. This class had the largest registration of any in the history of the Rec last season and between 50 and 60 women were on the floor at each session.

Following the gym class the pool will be open for a plunge. The schedule for these plunges on Monday evening has been changed and only one plunge session will be held from 8 to 8:45.

Business men will resume their volley ball sessions on Monday afternoons at 5:15. This class has been meeting for the past three years but this year a gym class will be held under the direction of E. H. Cheney.

The Girls' Friendly society of St. Mary's church will have a private gym class at the West Side Rec on Monday evenings at 7 o'clock. A demand for private swimming classes is evident and Miss Cathoun, an experienced swimming teacher, will organize these sessions in groups of 20 or more.

FROM OSCAR WILDE

A certain dull poet complained bitterly to Oscar Wilde of the lack of attention his verse was receiving.

"There seems to be a conspiracy of silence against me," he railed. "What would you advise me to do?"

"Join it, my dear fellow, join it," replied Wilde.—Answers, London.

PUMP BALL FROM LUNG

Prague—A boy, blowing lead balls from a pipe, inhaled too strongly and drew one into his lung. Efforts to extract it were unsuccessful and his life was despaired of. Then a rubber hose was introduced until the end touched the obstruction. An air pump was used and the ball was drawn out almost immediately.

ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Horace E. Risley of 141 Highland street returned yesterday from St. Francis' hospital in Hartford where she had been confined for treatment for two weeks.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of Second Congregational church will enjoy a frankfort roast at the home of Frank Williams, Tolland turnpike this evening. Young people will be met at the Buckland postoffice this evening at 6 p. m. by Mr. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cowles and Herbert Stevenson of Woodbridge street will motor down to New York tonight to attend the World Series games. They plan to return Sunday evening.

The first fall meeting of the W. B. A. Guard club held last evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Vincek of Union street, took the form of a miscellaneous shower in honor of one of the summer brides who is a member of the club, Mrs. Stella Vincek. Mrs. Helen McCarthy assisted the hostess in serving the refreshments. Mrs. Vincek received a number of desirable gifts.

Rally day will be observed at the Second Congregational church Sunday and at the South Methodist church on October 17, when it is hoped the attendance at Sunday school will reach the 500 mark.

Marriage licenses have been issued at the Town Clerk's office to Herbert F. Kearns, 21, and Miss Hattie Newbauer, 19, and Joseph F. McVeigh, 39, and Miss Christine Sonnikson, 38, all of this town.

The winter schedule of hours will start at the East Side and West Side Recreation Centers on Monday. The school street building will be open from 10 a. m. to 10.30 p. m. and the West Side from 1 to 10.30 p. m.

Sunday school teachers of the Swedish Lutheran church will meet at the church this evening at 7.30. All teachers are urged to attend.

Miss Mildred Walker of Main street and Miss Marion Sullivan of Valley street are spending the week-end in New York.

Between fifty and sixty relatives and friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. B. Anderson at their home on Pitkin street Wednesday evening. The affair was in the nature of a housewarming as Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have recently moved to their new home there. Their friends brought with them a number of useful gifts as well as good things to eat. Music and other social pastimes made the evening most enjoyable.

The Manchester Green Community club will hold its regular meeting in the school assembly hall this evening. An entertainment and whist will follow the business session.

Miss Jamima Smith of Hackmatack street was completely surprised last night by about twenty of her neighbors and friends. The occasion for the party was the fact that Miss Smith is leaving Hackmatack street, where she has lived since a very young girl, and is soon to move to Cooper street. Her friends came prepared with all the requisites for a bountiful repast, and also remembered their good neighbor with a number of pretty gifts. A pleasant evening was spent by all.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dowd of Summit street have returned from a two weeks' vacation spent at Atlantic City and Philadelphia where they visited the Sesqui-centennial. They report the weather exceptionally fine until the early part of this week when they experienced the same drop in temperature as people here.

The first copies of the annual town report are being distributed by Charles A. Sweet. It is expected the work will be completed by Saturday night. The town report contains the reports of the town and school authorities and is of interest to every citizen of the town.

Six separate blasts of the fire alarm whistle within an hour last night caused much speculation as to what was the cause. Inquiry brought the response that it was caused by short circuit. Superintendent L. N. Heebner and his assistants were busy scouting for the trouble.

COLD CHANNEL WATER DEFEATS JANE DARWIN.
 Dover, Eng., Oct. 1.—Miss Jane Darwin, the English girl who left Cape Gris Nez at 3:22 o'clock yesterday afternoon in an attempt to swim the English channel, gave up the attempt at 7:53 this morning because of the coldness of the water. She was three miles from Dover when she abandoned further effort, having made little progress since midnight.

MIKE BALLERINO BEATS MERIDEN'S EDDIE LORD.

New Haven, Oct. 1.—Mike Ballerino, of Bayonne, N. J., former junior lightweight champion, received the referee's decision over Eddie Lord of Meriden here last night in a fast ten round bout at the Nutmeg stadium.
 Ballerino's aggressiveness throughout the match proved too much for Lord. Ballerino piled up a majority of points by a never-ceasing whirlwind attack. It was one of the best bouts seen here this season.

The Master Craftsman Who Made Your Watch

would be more than disappointed to see the way many of you men and women let your watches get out of repair and good running order. When the watch you are carrying was made all the ability of the master craftsman was built into it, coupled with a great ideal. You should take pride in your watch. Have it kept in good running order.
