

THANKSGIVING SCHEDULE.

In accordance with an agreement made by the Merchants' Association of the Chamber of Commerce, stores here will close at 6 p. m. on Wednesday (Thanksgiving Eve.) This custom was followed last year.

ABOUT TOWN

Carl Tracey, formerly of the Automatic Refrigerating Company of Hartford is now employed in the car barns of the Connecticut Company at the Center. Motorman William Burke, who has been ill for several months, has resumed his run on the Rockville lines.

Norbert House, a student at Northeastern University of Boston, will come home on Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays.

William McKinney of 220 Center street fell and cut his hip as he stepped off a Manchester bound trolley car in front of his home early Saturday evening. He did not require medical attention.

Gus Waltz, motorman on the Cross Town line, is operating a newly painted car today. It is his old car and has recently come from the repair shops in Hartford where it was gone over from wheels to trolley.

Manchester's Centennial history is now ready for delivery. The book is profusely illustrated and is a much more pretentious publication than was at first planned. A large sale is predicted for it. Manchester residents will not only want a copy for themselves, but people who have formerly lived here and those who came back to visit relatives during the days of the Centennial celebration, many of them will buy the history.

Miss Faith Fallow of Main street was completely surprised at her home Friday evening by a party of sixteen of the boys and girls who graduated with her in June from the local High school. They had a merry evening with dancing, singing and feasting.

Mrs. A. Paul Alderman of New York City is spending a few days with relatives and friends here and in Hartford.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustaf Bengston, of 381 Hartford Road, today are observing their silver wedding anniversary. A large number of friends and relatives were present last night when a dinner was served in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Bengston. They were the recipients of many handsome gifts. A telegram was received from Sweden and flowers were telegraphed from Illinois. Later in the evening a mock wedding was performed. This "serious" affair provoked much laughter from those present.

All of Mr. and Mrs. Bengston's six children and two grandchildren were present in addition to other friends and relatives. Among the relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and daughter Lorraine, of Wethersfield; Mr. and Mrs. William Orr and daughter Lillian, of Wethersfield; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bengston of Hartford Road and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carlson and family.

ARCTIC WHITE OWL KILLED NEAR HERE

One of the snowy-white great owls from the northern extremity of Canada believed to have been driven into warmer sections because of a pestilence which is killing off rabbits and other small animals on which they feed, was killed by Wallace Boyce, of South Glastonbury Saturday. The immense bird had a wing spread of five feet. The owl, which was as pure white as a white leghorn, was sighted near Hale's peach orchard by Mr. Boyce. One well-aimed shot brought him down and now the handsome bird is in a taxidermist's shop being mounted.

UNDERGROUND FIRES

London.—Underground fires are often found in the neighborhood of coal mines. The other day a seam of smoldering coal eight yards underground was discovered at Sheffield. These fires are hard to put out. One which was found in a Scottish mine smoldered and burnt for years.

FARMS, TURKEYS, ETC., ON STATE STAGE WEDNESDAY

Has anyone ever seen a farm on a theater stage? Probably not, but on Wednesday night of this week the State theater will have an innovation in that it will arrange its stage with corn stacks, barns, fences, hicks, live stock and other such things that are associated with a farm. This will be on the "Country Store Nite" program. Right fresh from the farm, ten live turkeys will be given away at the State Wednesday night. Other farm products will also be on the list for distribution. This will probably be the first time that such a farm has been erected in a theater. A program of old-time entertainment will also be given by the "hicks." Ten people will receive their Thanksgiving dinner turkeys free Wednesday night.

BREAK RADIO

Honolulu.—A radio antennae which spans a taro patch loops through a papaya tree and crosses the roof of a grass hut, was a discovery made near Honolulu by tourists recently. According to the visitors who had kodak snapshots to certify their story, the aged Hawaiian occupant of the hut, Mrs. Lukia Maekena, hears radio programs from the Pacific coast any time she wants to tune in. The set is installed in a tiny wooden shack.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. BIG TRAIN CROWD New Haven, Conn., Nov. 22.—A total of 50,387 passengers were carried to and from New Haven for the Yale-Harvard football classic last Saturday by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, according to figures made public by that company Sunday evening. This was a gain of 250 passengers over the number carried at the time of the last Harvard game in New Haven, but is still far short of the 1914 record of 66,795. Railroad officials feel, however, in view of the rainy weather two years ago as compared with the fine automobile weather this year, that the gain represents a distinct trend toward the use of trains in order to avoid congested roads and parking troubles. QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

Sea-Spider.

BY AUSTIN H. CLARK, Smithsonian Institution.

Northwest of the tip end of Cape Cod lies the "Spider ground." This is a well-known and productive fishing ground, but it is avoided by the fishermen because here their gear comes to the surface with great quantities of "sea-spiders" fastened to it. The hooks get caught in them so that the fishes cannot take the bait.

What is a sea-spider? This name in different places is given to several different kinds of creatures. On our coasts it is applied to a kind of starfish with branched and many times divided arms which is also sometimes called the basket-star. Basket-stars of one kind or another are found in every sea, but they are commonest in the north Atlantic and the Arctic, and in the north Pacific, where in some places acres of the bottom are thickly strewn with them. They live mostly down in the quiet water beneath the movement of the waves, and extend downward to depths of more than 6000 feet. The one shown in the picture is from the West Indies and is often found clinging to plant-like creatures in rather shallow water. Those found on our coasts, both east and west, have many more branched and almost tree-like arms.

"THE FOUR HORSEMAN" IN TRIUMPHANT RETURN

Mighty Drama With Rudy Valentino is Big Success in Come-Back Role at the State

Last evening Manchester witnessed a triumphant return of a mighty conqueror—a conqueror, not of military fame, not of new lands, nor of great physical obstacles, but of movieland. "The Four Horsemen" is the picture that has conquered every movie audience on the face of the globe in years gone by, and last night, like the mighty conquerors of history, it staged a triumphant return, a return to the screen where were its victories. All this happened in the State theater last night where a vast crowd came to welcome back this mighty drama. That its return is approved is beyond any doubt.

An epic tale of surging passion sweeping through the wide plains of the Argentine through the fascinating frivolities of pre-war Paris into the blazing turmoil of the German invasion of Northern France is unfolded in "The Four Horsemen" with startling vivacity. Alice Terry and Rudolph Valentino are featured in the leading roles.

It was the triumphant return of this $1,000,000 Rex Ingram production has been the screen sensation of the present season in New York, Chicago, Pittsburg, Detroit and Los Angeles. The picture, adapted by June Mathis from the novel by Blasco Ibanez, has intensified the force of the original story and last night it held the spectators breathlessly intent as with swift, sure strokes it hammered home the terror and grandeur of the war—and a great deal of humor and light-hearted gaiety that kept bubbling up through the turbid stream of struggling humanity when the world was in arms.

The director, Rex Ingram, succeeded in concentrating the great struggle in a series of unforgettable pictures that flash out the quintessence of life at white heat. "The Four Horsemen" is the fulfillment of the promise of a noble art in pictures. There is nothing finer in the realm of cinema.

If you have not yet seen this wonderful picture, remember that it is being shown at the State tonight and tomorrow afternoon and evening. How would you like to get a new, big, plump turkey for your Thanksgiving dinner? If you come to this week's "Country Store" Wednesday, at the State, you may get one there will be ten of them given away besides many other presents.

MYSTERY AND ROMANCE IN "EAGLE OF THE SEA"

Story of Pirates Here Tuesday and Wednesday; Corinne Griffith Last Times Tonight.

Evidently Manchester people are not behind anyone else in the enjoyment of 1926 Jazz. Last night's over-capacity audience at the Circle theater hummed, laughed and swayed to the rhythm of "Syncopating Sue." Corinne Griffith, in this picture, comes back to the comedy role she played in "Mile Modiste," and does it to the vast satisfaction and deep enjoyment of everyone. Honest, folks, you will have a hard time holding your chairs when you see this picture tonight, because it's so catchy, so toe-tickling from one end to the other.

Corinne Griffith essays the role of a sophisticated slang-slinging gum-chewing music store piano player in her latest comedy hit, "Syncopating Sue," in this picture. In the same humorous vein as "Classified," which proved such a decided success, "Syncopating Sue" has been received on Broadway as an even smoother comedy.

"Syncopating Sue" tells the story of a New York song plugger who has a fervent ambition to go on the stage. Romance enters her life in the form of a penniless trap drummer, a part ably filled by Tom Moore.

The manner in which these two meet and the difficulties that "Sue" encounters in furthering her ambitions for a stage career form the nucleus of plot for the exhilarating comedy.

A tale of briny, the mysterious deep will be here to thrill you tomorrow and Wednesday. Fascination is only another name for the ocean, and fascination is what you're bound to be when you see "The Eagle of the Sea."

If you like real he-man adventure—If the sight of pirate crews acts as a magnet—

NO MORE PILES

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-up printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

If romance appeals and makes your heart beat faster—If the thoughts of gallant men fighting for lovely ladies stir your blood—If any or all the above hold forth interest for you, then don't miss "The Eagle of the Sea," Frank Lloyd's first Paramount spectacle. It contains more than a little of each because "The Eagle of the Sea" is a film recording the exploits of Jean Lafitte, last of the pirate chieftains! Florence Vidor, newly raised to stardom by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, is co-featured in this picture with Ricardo Cortez. FALL, DOHENY FACE which he was to provide in return were urgently needed, in the fact of an expected war in the Pacific. The navy and interior department officials who took part in the hearing will be called upon by both sides for testimony.
JURY IN OIL CASE

Fall, who came here after three years of seclusion on his Three Rivers, N. M. ranch, and Doheny, who came from Los Angeles, have been in Washington since they made their first appearance in court Nov. 10, to plead "not guilty" to the indictments.
Both defendants are in good health, according to all reports. Fall, spare, tall, now wears his white hair and mustache clipped quite short now, instead of long as he did while in the cabinet. He weighs about 145 pounds, about 20 pounds less than he did three years ago, before his widely-advertised illness.
Doheny, florid, impetuous and a little heavier than Fall, also has short white hair and a short white mustache. Both wear conservative business clothes, and neither would be picked out as singular or striking in appearance if they appeared at a banker's convention or a chamber of commerce meeting.
Many Witnesses
The thrilling stories of intrigue unearthed by the senate investigation will be recounted in part, perhaps expanded to some extent, by the trial started today.

Among the chief characters in the investigation, many of whom probably will be called to the trial as witnesses, with the exception of members of the oil committee, are the following:
Edward C. Finney, assistant secretary of interior, who helped arrange the leases; Edwin Denby, then secretary of navy; Carl Magee, New Mexico newspaper publisher who fought Fall politically; Rear Admiral J. K. Robinson, staunch defender of the leases; Rear Admiral Robert S. Griffin; John C. Schiffer and Frederick Bonfils, western newspaper publishers; John F. Major, personal representative of McLean; William Gibbs McAdoo, whose law firm once represented some of the Doheny interests in Mexican affairs.
Some of McLean's employes may be called to testify about the exchange of department of justice code messages between them and McLean at Palm Beach, Fla. during the height of the $100,000 mystery, which Fall has referred to as "Apples" and other important personages were mentioned as "cherries," "Apricots" and "Peaches."

ALIBI WITNESS FIXES
2 DATES FOR EVENT

to Stevens that night on the beach. The witness said no. Did he know Stevens? Yes, quite well.
Price admitted that about a week before Stevens was arrested, he went to him and told him he remembered seeing him in Lavallette the night of the murder.
"That's all," snapped Simpson.
Mrs. Arthur Applegate, wife of a fisherman of Lavallette, was then called.
She testified that on the night of Sept. 22, 1922, Henry Stevens went fishing with her husband about seven in the evening.
"I saw Henry Stevens at 10 o'clock that same night," she added.
Mrs. Applegate said Henry Stevens was fishing on the beach at 7 o'clock when she and her husband went down to fish and he was there when we came back at ten o'clock or later. I remember we said "goodnight" to Mr. Stevens.
"How do you fix the time, Mrs. Applegate?" Case asked.
"When we went in the house my husband said its 25 minute of eleven."
"What took place on the beach that you remember?"
"My husband caught a bluefish and Mr. Stevens weighed for him. It was dark and we had to have a light."
She was excused and her husband, Arthur Applegate, a carpenter and fisherman, was called. He testified that Henry Stevens was on the beach on the night of September 14, 1922, and weighed a bluefish for him.
Applegate was asked if he saw Stevens again that evening.
"Yes, about ten o'clock, as I was leaving the beach."
Applegate said he recalled the incident of Stevens fishing on the beach because he was visited by reporters the following week.
"Have you ever made a statement regarding this matter to the prosecution?" Case asked.
The witness said yes, he made one to Lieutenant Burke and Captain Walsh on August 31, 1922. He also made a statement in 1922.
Forgets Earlier Testimony
Simpson took the witness over for cross-examination.
"You respect an oath?"
"Yes, replied Applegate.
"Did you say under oath that the fish was caught on Friday?"
"I said the fish was caught on the night of the murder."
Applegate said he couldn't remember testimony he gave before the grand jury in September, 1922.
"Didn't you tell the grand jury that you couldn't remember when you caught the bluefish—whether it was the 14th or the 15th, and didn't private detectives put the idea of the 14th in your mind?" Simpson shouted.
"No!" Applegate roared back.
Applegate was excused. He stuttered and became tellerent as Simpson questioned him.
Admits Signature
Simpson turned to an assistant and said:
"Take that affidavit." Taking it to the witness, he demanded:
"Didn't you sign this affidavit saying you caught the bluefish on Friday night?"
"It looks like my signature," the witness admitted.
Simpson reminded Applegate that "You came here with Sheriff Grant from Toms River and swore before the grand jury that detectives put the idea of the 14th in your mind."
Applegate replied by saying Simpson did the questioning of him.
"I came into the room," Applegate said. "You said: 'this is the man that doesn't remember whether he saw Henry Stevens on the beach on Friday or Thursday, and I said I am.' I got human sympathy in my heart and that's more than you got."
Re-Direct
Case took the witness on re-direct examination.
"You have said you have given two statements to the present prosecution?"
"Yes, one August 31 to Captain Walsh, another September 2."
"Who was present on September 3?"
"Inspector Underwood and Patrick Hayes and two others."
"Was an oath administered to you?"
"No."
"Were you called any names?" Simpson objected but was overruled.

CHOIR IS EXCELLENT
IN 'GLORIA DOMINI'

Robert Gordon's Solo Work Outstanding in Difficult Part.
"Gloria Domini," the festival cantata of Tertius Noble, the eminent English composer, was given last evening in the South Methodist church by a choir of 25 voices with Archibald Sessions, organist. This cantata commemorates the momentous occasion of the dedication of Solomon's Temple. It is sublime in conception and majestic in realization. The composition is varied by the introduction of two stately choral recitatives and by the Temple choir of tenors and basses and the chorus of all parts.
The watch was pawned three or four years ago in Attleboro, Mass., and the defense has clues as to who pawned it, it is said.
The Hall family has always maintained that the secret of the double murder lay in finding the watch which Dr. Hall was carrying when he was killed. Great efforts were made to find it, and Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall was said to have been especially anxious to obtain it for sentimental reasons.
Now it is reported to be in the hands of those who are prosecuting her and her brothers for the crime, and about to be used in completing a coup before the end of the case.
The parade of alibi witnesses continues as the afternoon session opened.
Mrs. Sarah Wilson, of Jersey City, testified she was in Lavallette, on Sept. 14, 1922, with her two daughters, Alice and Elaine. She said she saw Henry Stevens after 6 o'clock in the evening of that day.
"We talked with Mr. Stevens about 6:30 that evening," said Mrs. Wilson.
She next saw him at 10:30 p. m., she testified. She had a further talk with him at that time. Her daughter, Elaine, was with her.
Mrs. Wilson testified that the next day Stevens took her, her daughters, and their spaniel dog to the railroad station at Point Pleasant in his Ford, so she could take the train to Jersey City. Stevens took the dog to the baggage master to arrange for his transportation, the witness said.
Cross-Examined
Prosecutor Simpson took Mrs. Wilson over for cross-examination.
"What time did you reach your station that day you say Stevens was there?"
"I don't remember the exact time."
"What time did the train leave Point Pleasant?"
"One-thirty P. M."
"That was the day you returned from your summer vacation at Lavallette to your home in Jersey City?"
"Yes."
The prosecutor asked her if she hadn't refused to "tell what you know" for the state of New Jersey. She replied that she wasn't asked.
"Didn't your husband tell a state trooper that he had talked to an attorney and that he was advised not to talk?"
"I don't know. I wasn't there."
Miss Elaine Wilson, Mrs. Wilson's daughter corroborated her mother's testimony.

RANKS NOTRE DAME AS COUNTRY'S BEST

Wajsh Thinks the Irish Have Finest Record — Brown Must Beat Colgate.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Editor
New York Nov. 22.—If you hail from South Bend, you are convinced today that Notre Dame alone is entitled to national honors in college football; if Palo Alto collects your taxes, Stanford, winner of the Coast title without a defeat, gets your vote. If dear old Tusculooosa harbors the old homestead, you won't be able to see how Alabama can go wrong. If it be Annapolis, Providence, Easton or Boston, you will nominate, respectively, the Navy, Brown, Lafayette and Boston College.

Anyhow, as the field straightened out today for the run through the stretch, these seven outfits remained unbeaten in the national sweepstakes.

Offhand, the writer would say that Notre Dame, Stanford, Navy and Alabama are entitled to preferential consideration because of the fact that they have done something of a competitive steeplechase while the others have been running on the flat.

Nebraska dropped New York University on Saturday from the list of undefeated, 15 to 7, a tumble saving New York University from a shutout. Holy Cross fell for the first time, too, and while it was about the matter, it was most thorough. It lost to Boston University, 3 to 0, it being the latter's second victory in eight starts.

Their Records

Meantime the Navy was beating Loyola of Baltimore, 35 to 13. Lafayette was winning a 35 to 9 decision over Lehigh, Boston College was beating Gettysburg, 39 to 0. Brown was running over New Hampshire 46 to 12. Notre Dame was beating Drake, 21 to 0, and Stanford was making human hamburger of California 47 to 6.

Notre Dame has played and beaten, Minnesota, Penn State, North western, Georgia Tech, Indiana, the Army, and Drake, a loss of only seven points. The Navy has beaten Purdue, Princeton, Colgate, Michigan and Georgetown. Alabama and Stanford have defeated the best in their sections.

Contrast that kind of opposition with the Boston College schedule, which includes Catholic University, Fordham, St. Louis, West Virginia Wesleyan, Villanova, Gettysburg, and Haskell. The Indians were the best of a poor lot and they got a 21-21 tie.

Brown's Rep

Brown has built its reputation on the fact that it beat Yale, Dartmouth and Harvard. This may be hard to do, but somehow or other, I can't seem to realize it. However, if Brown beats Colgate, there will be nothing for it but to rally right around and cheer the boys to the well-known echo. This will be the showdown game for Brown. Yale's 1 to 7 victory over Harvard on Saturday was well-earned. So was Georgetown's 39 to 0 decision over Fordham and the 20 to 0 victory of Carnegie Tech over West Virginia. However, the Army almost sloughed one off to Little Ursinus, 21 to 15, and Syracuse had to call upon its first team to make certain of a 12 to 7 defeat of Niagara, equally small.

MAJOR CAVANAUGH GOING TO COLUMBIA

Boston, Nov. 22.—"Cav" is going to Columbia.

That was the word that went across Boston College campus today following the announcement that Major Frank W. Cavanaugh, head football coach, had resigned. Several institutions of learning have been bidding for "Cav" who was paid only $7,500 a year here but it was understood here that Columbia had secured his John Hancock.

In eight years Major Cavanaugh has brought Boston College from football obscurity to the front ranks. "Cav" played end for Dartmouth, coached in Denver Colorado athletic club, University of Cincinnati and Worcester Academy and made a heroic record overseas in the World War. Letters sent home by the major from the trenches to his son in Worcester are considered masterpieces of literature.

The Boston College athletic board has refused to discuss the Cavanaugh resignation or to announce his successor. It was learned, however, that the Hanley brothers, Mike and Paul, now coaching at the Haskell Indian Institute in Western Kansas, were being considered for the position.

EDNA FERBER'S 'GIGOLO' COMING TO THE RIALTO

Another radio set will be given away this coming Friday at the Rialto theater and many who had hopes of winning the beautiful Atwater Kent set last week and were disappointed, will have another opportunity to secure a set absolutely free. Coupons will be given out at every performance and the person holding the lucky coupon which is drawn Friday night will be presented with a valuable set one of the best available.

The two features being shown for the last time today and this evening are "Devil's Dice", a thrilling melodrama and Victor Hugo Halpern's "School for Wives," which can be most aptly described as "something different." "Devil's Dice" fairly brims with action, adventure and romance. The devil casts the dice of fate in the picture but Cupid has loaded them against him so that the hero in whose heart has been planted the seeds of revenge, foregoes his vengeance when the opportune time arrives, saves the lives of the intended victim and his daughter and finally marries the girl. Those filling the major roles are Robert Ellis, Barbara Bedford and Josef Swickard.

"School for Wives" is decidedly unique in plot. It tells the story of a wealthy girl who renounces her father's fortune because it is tainted. She marries a poor artist and then to use a pet phrase "her troubles begin. It is solid entertainment and points a strong moral. An excellent cast including Peggy Kelly, Conway Tearle and Sigrid Holmquist appears in "School for Wives." A Larry Seamon comedy that could be termed hysterically funny. And the usual news reel will also be shown.

Rod La Roque appears in one of the features being shown tomorrow and Wednesday. It is "Gigolo," an adaptation of Edna Ferber's popular novel which relates the dramatic story of a war veteran who after being horribly mutilated, resorts to plastic surgery to reshape his features. Through unfortunate circumstances he becomes a gigolo or dancing man in a cabaret. There he meets his old time sweetheart who does not recognize him. From that point on the picture gains in speed and punch. The climax is one of the best ever. Jobyna Ralston and Louise Dresser have two of the feminine leads in "Gigolo." The second feature "Her Man" is a romance of big business, starring William Fairbanks and Margaret Landis. It has been heralded as one hour of perfect entertainment. A comedy and news reel are included in the shorter subjects.

ENTERS GERMANY AS A THREAT IN TENNIS

New York, Nov. 22.—With the announcement today that the United States Lawn Tennis Association had voted to re-admit Germany to Davis Cup competition, a new menace to America's supremacy in tennis became more than a possibility. Germany's actual admission to the fold needs only a two-thirds vote of the various members and this is regarded as formality. That Germany, when admitted, will prove one of the most dangerous contenders was indicated last summer when Dr. Heinz Landmann defeated Vincent Richards and Howard Kinsey in exhibitions; F. W. Rahe carried Richards to five sets and Kleinschroth and Bergmann gave convincing demonstrations of their skill. Otto Grotzheim, an international star before the war, also is available and is playing almost as well as ever.

'HOWLING ALUMNI' IS DEFIED BY YALE NEWS

New Haven, Nov. 22.—"The policies of Yale football are not the concern of the howling audience of the alumni, the public and the press," declared Yale Daily News today, adding that to the players on the varsity team "belongs the right and the responsibility to decide upon the policies, the coaching staff and whatever else affects Yale's football."

In almost the same paragraph the News declared however, that public opinion must be considered in the future by "the mentors who devise Yale's football plans."

NEW BRITAIN LOSES TO CHENEY BROS. 3-0

(Special to The Herald)
New Britain, Nov. 22.—Cheney Brothers' soccer eleven of South Manchester romped home a 3 to 0 win over the local Clan Douglas team here yesterday afternoon before a large crowd.

There was no scoring in the first half. Both teams played evenly. In the final period, however, Manchester scored three goals. Bert McConkey, youthful inside left, was the hero of the game for the visitors.

McConkey scored two goals. Passes from Hamilton and Boyce gave him the opportunities. Jones scored Manchester's third goal on a pass from Paton.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE DEAN TIMOTHY BROWN...

When Mrs. Brown is black-mailed by "KITTY" SHEA...

Mrs. Brown secures his release by providing an alibi...

When Dr. Dorn is arguing with Judith in her classroom...

Eric appears in the door, smiling insolently.

NO GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXI

ERIC stood just inside the door, one hand in his pocket...

He smiled lazily at Dorn and Judith. When they did not answer...

"Somebody's swiped my Horace pony," he muttered...

Judith was watching him, horrified. He smiled at the expression...

Dr. Dorn took a slow step forward. "Miss Martin isn't going yet..."

Eric raised his eyebrows at him. "Zit so?" he sneered...

The girl could not speak. Her worried gaze traveled from Eric to Dorn...

Dr. Dorn advanced upon him. "It's time for you to be leaving Waters..."

"Fine," answered Eric, flippantly. "If you haven't finished razing me to Judith, I'll just stand by and listen in..."

Dr. Dorn shot out a long arm and grasped Eric's collar...

"I'll get a taxicab for him," said Dr. Dorn, coolly...

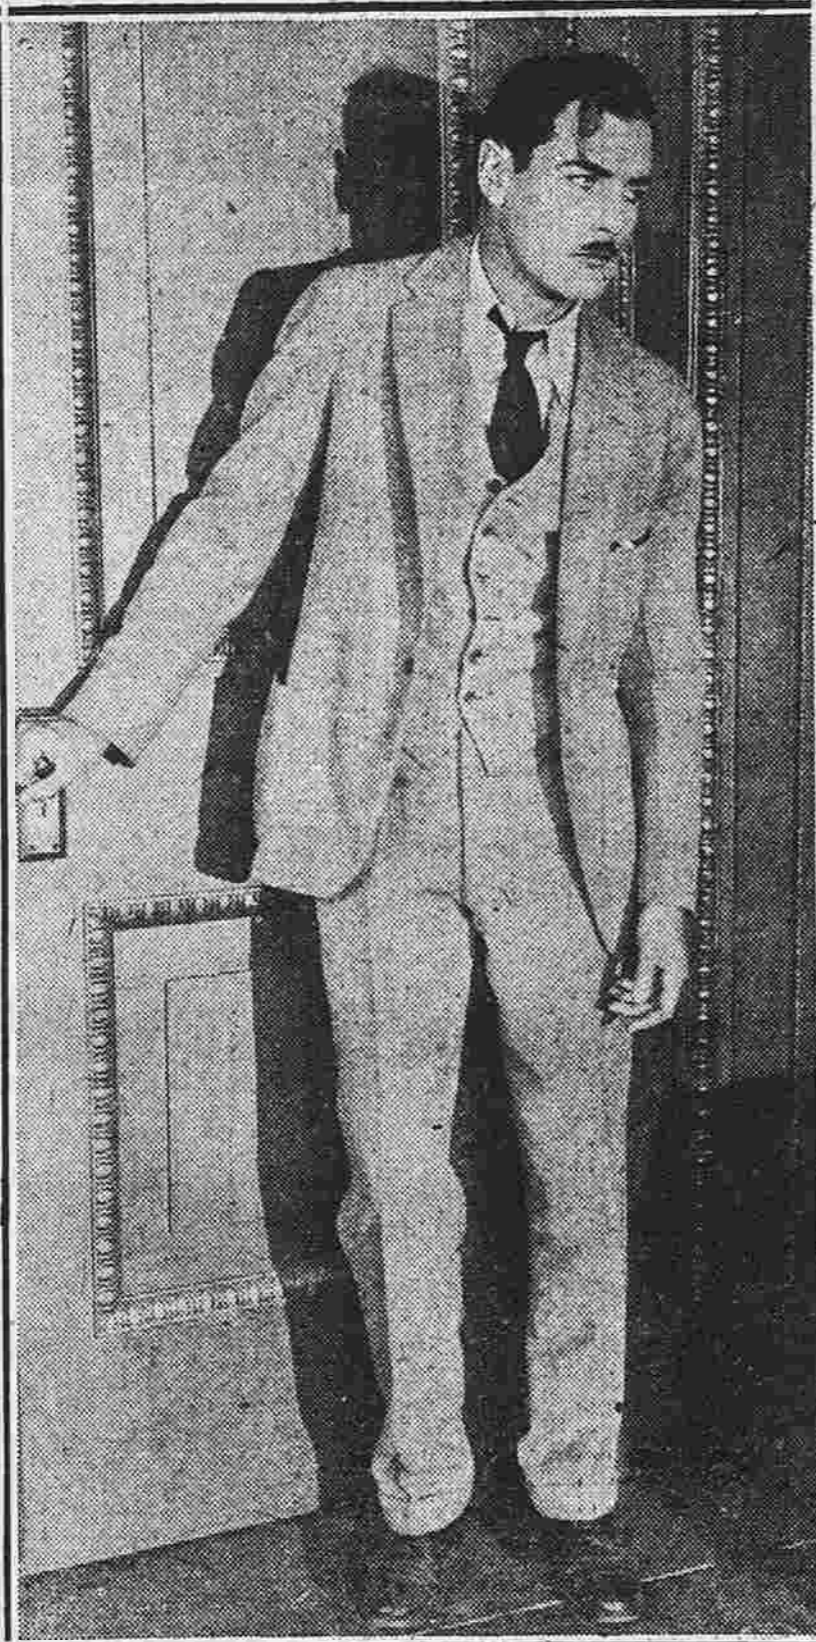

He turned to Judith. "This is a vulgar mess. I'm sorry it had to be done..."

"You have not the right to supervise my selection of friends..."

The professor laughed. "Yes, we've just had a good example of his fighting powers..."

She pushed past him and left the room. When Dr. Dorn came up...

Eric raised his hand as if to speak. "What's matter with you, Eric?"

"This is a vulgar mess. I'm sorry it had to be done," he said.

left eye still showed livid. The professor bent over Eric, but Judith pushed his hand away...

my things. Then I'll leave by the other door. Thank you for reminding me...

He beckoned to Judith calmly, as if he had been waiting for her...

The inner study was in heavy shadow, its ponderous desk and chairs looming blackly in the places...

He sat down heavily in the swivel chair, and his face, under the green-shaded bulb, was cold and gray...

He began to speak. "There are many things to be discussed between us..."

"I do not permit my women teachers to loiter about the buildings after closing time..."

"That is not the worst indictment against you," he began, his voice rasping still more harshly...

Judith smiled very faintly. The dean saw the smile.

"That is not the worst indictment against you," he began, his voice rasping still more harshly...

"What's matter?" she asked, after a moment. "House-to-house canvassing..."

Judith bit her lip. "What is my share?" she asked, after a moment.

He gave her a quick glance. "Do you are prepared, I hope, to do our share of the work in the reform campaign?"

He gave her a quick glance. "Do you are prepared, I hope, to do our share of the work in the reform campaign?"

Judith bit her lip. "What is my share?" she asked, after a moment.

The dean rose, bumping the lamp that he jerked its circle of light wildly about the room.

"You cannot discharge a satisfactory teaching from taking those before the curators long before this."

He shot struck home. Dean Brown's face contorted. He fought visibly for control.

"There is another matter, Miss Martin. I think I saw you in front of my home today."

Judith nodded. "You did."

"My wife wishes me to say that henceforth, your visits will be unwelcome."

(To Be Continued)

How long can Judith continue to defy the dean and remain at Pendleton? Very much in need of friends, Judith can turn neither to Mrs. Brown nor Eric.

The WOMAN'S DAY by Allene Sumner

Queen Mary of All the Britains was never bored in her life, she boasts. A natural reaction might be for one to inquire why a queen should be bored...

On the other hand, I believe a queen has even more right to be bored than lesser mortals, and that if she can truthfully say she never has been, the more should Mary Smith of Market Street who gets "so fed up" with getting three meals a day...

Why is the French woman the best-dressed woman in the world, if not because she is one answer to that throbbing query: "In France, well-dressed women adopt one style alone, have it repeated in colors, do not mind that same style on others, and repeat a becoming mode in year after year..."

My plump little neighbor, Mrs. Greer, is the best-dressed woman I know. She has discovered that gray brings out the blue of her eyes and the shine of her hair...

Winter and summer Mrs. Greer wears her gray—gray voile, gray crepe de chine, gray broadcloth, wide puchos of blue and wistaria and jade and accessories to match.

Another rich woman has bequeathed in her will "a home for working girls." This country is filled with "homes for working girls"—stiff red brick institutional buildings with a stiff-necked iron gate...

For the privilege of living in "a working girl's home," the girl pays from $10 to $15 a week or about an equally clean, respectable, and well-serviced hotel room.

"Pictures are to be lived with, down on a level with people. That's why their center should be about even with your eye when you come into a room."

May Look Awkward "I have been in rooms where the pictures tipped out from the wall, and hung staring down at an awkward angle. They looked uncomfortable and made me feel that way."

I wonder how many women have as their goal this social adulation! Childless women, selfish women, pretty women, for the most part...

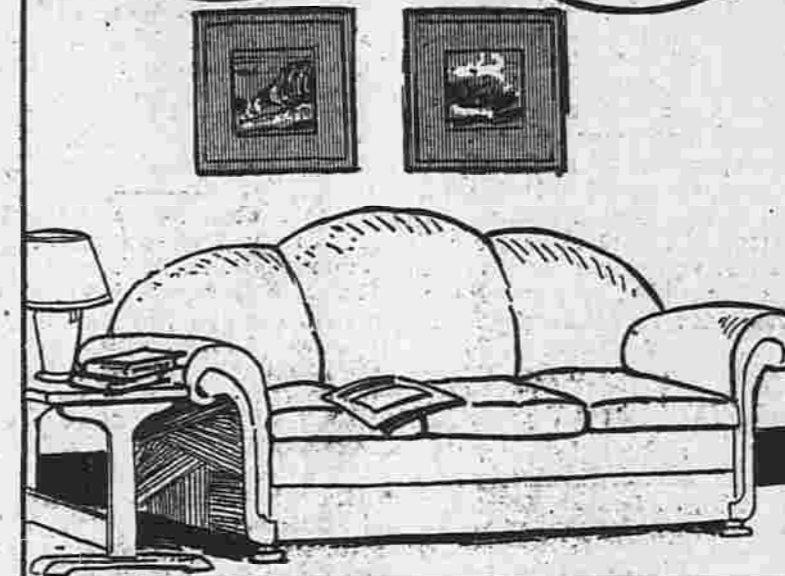

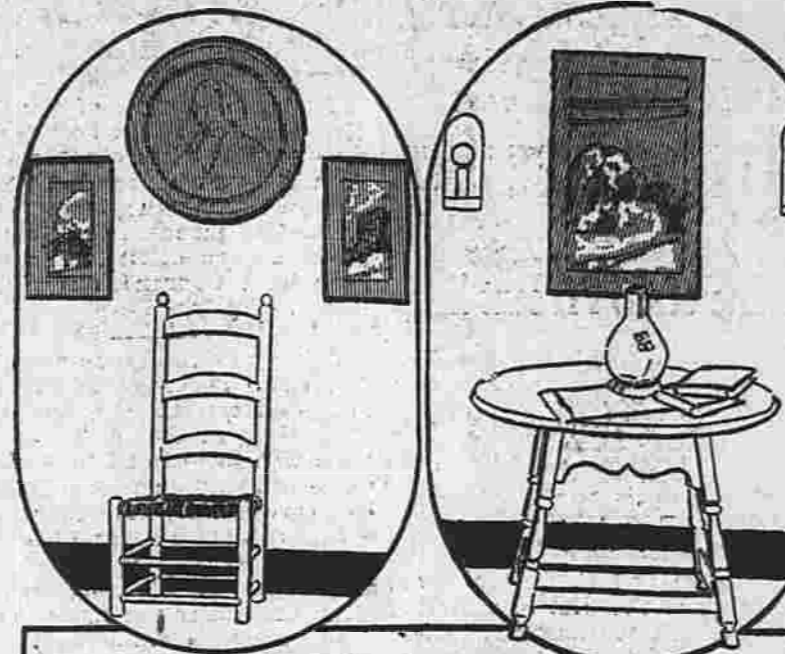

It's just a slim little book, this new one of Willa Cather's. It will take you little longer to read "My Mortal Enemy" than the evening paper.

Thank God for a garden, be it ever so small! wrote the poet. No matter how poetical may be the housewife's soul, there are times when a sprig of parsley for the fish...

HANDLE PICTURES WITH CARE

Decorator Gives Rules to Obtain Balance and Harmony by Proper Use of Art.

These groups illustrate some of Miss Currey's principles of proper picture-hanging.

If your walls are just w-a-l-l-s, look to your pictures. It is surprising what the hanging of a picture can do to your room.

"I have been in homes where the pictures hung so high that one needed a step-ladder to look at them," says Marjorie Currey, Director of the American Art Bureau...

"Pictures are to be lived with, down on a level with people. That's why their center should be about even with your eye when you come into a room."

A large picture, of course, must be hung from the molding. You fasten this with two parallel wires or cords.

The cord or wires should not be heavy. If you choose them in tone to match the wall covering, still less attention will be detracted from the picture.

Large pictures need plenty of space for "breathing room." Miss Currey says, "If you have an open space over the mantelpiece, it should be of the same general proportions as its wall space, though of course not so large."

Of Same Shape "Paneled walls are a pleasing space to hang pictures. The small outline molding of the panel acts as an emphasis of the frame, providing the picture and the panel are of the same general shape, and of course they should be."

By Olive Roberts Barton

"She has finished the letters with characters venomously and hatefully curved," begins a poem by John Crowe Ransom.

Mr. Ransom writes of a woman, who, driven to despair by her lover's conduct, puts what she thinks of him in a letter and sends it off by messenger.

Instantly she is sorry. But the mischief is done, the letter gone beyond recall, and her life ruined.

Letter-writing is a mean sort of revenge. It has its match only in the one-way telephone tirade that smashes up the receiver at the end and waits for no answer.

The difference between the spoken word and the written word is the difference between a stenciled line traced on wood, and the same line seared in by heat to make a pattern.

The written word is a live tangible thing—a creation to be despised, treasured, flattered, or battered.

Few people have written unkind letters that they were not sorry for almost instantly as soon as posted.

INTELLIGENCE TESTS

A POPULAR SCOT

You should have no difficulty identifying this popular Scotch comedian. The rest of the questions are easy, too. Correct answers appear on another page: 1-Who is shown in the accompanying picture? 2-Is the largest city in Ohio the state capital? 3-What is an amoeba? 4-What is meant by a herbivorous animal? 5-Are the backs of "Indian" and "Lincoln" pennies of the same design? 6-Is a fish under water in a straight line with the observer's eye? 7-What is the lowest card in a pinochle deck? 8-Do motorists in England drive on the right or left side of the street? 9-How many quarts are there in a gallon? 10-What state is the largest of the United States in area? Millie: "What does he do for a living?" Tillie: "He's an animal trainer." Millie: "My word!" Tillie: "Yes, he pets dears."

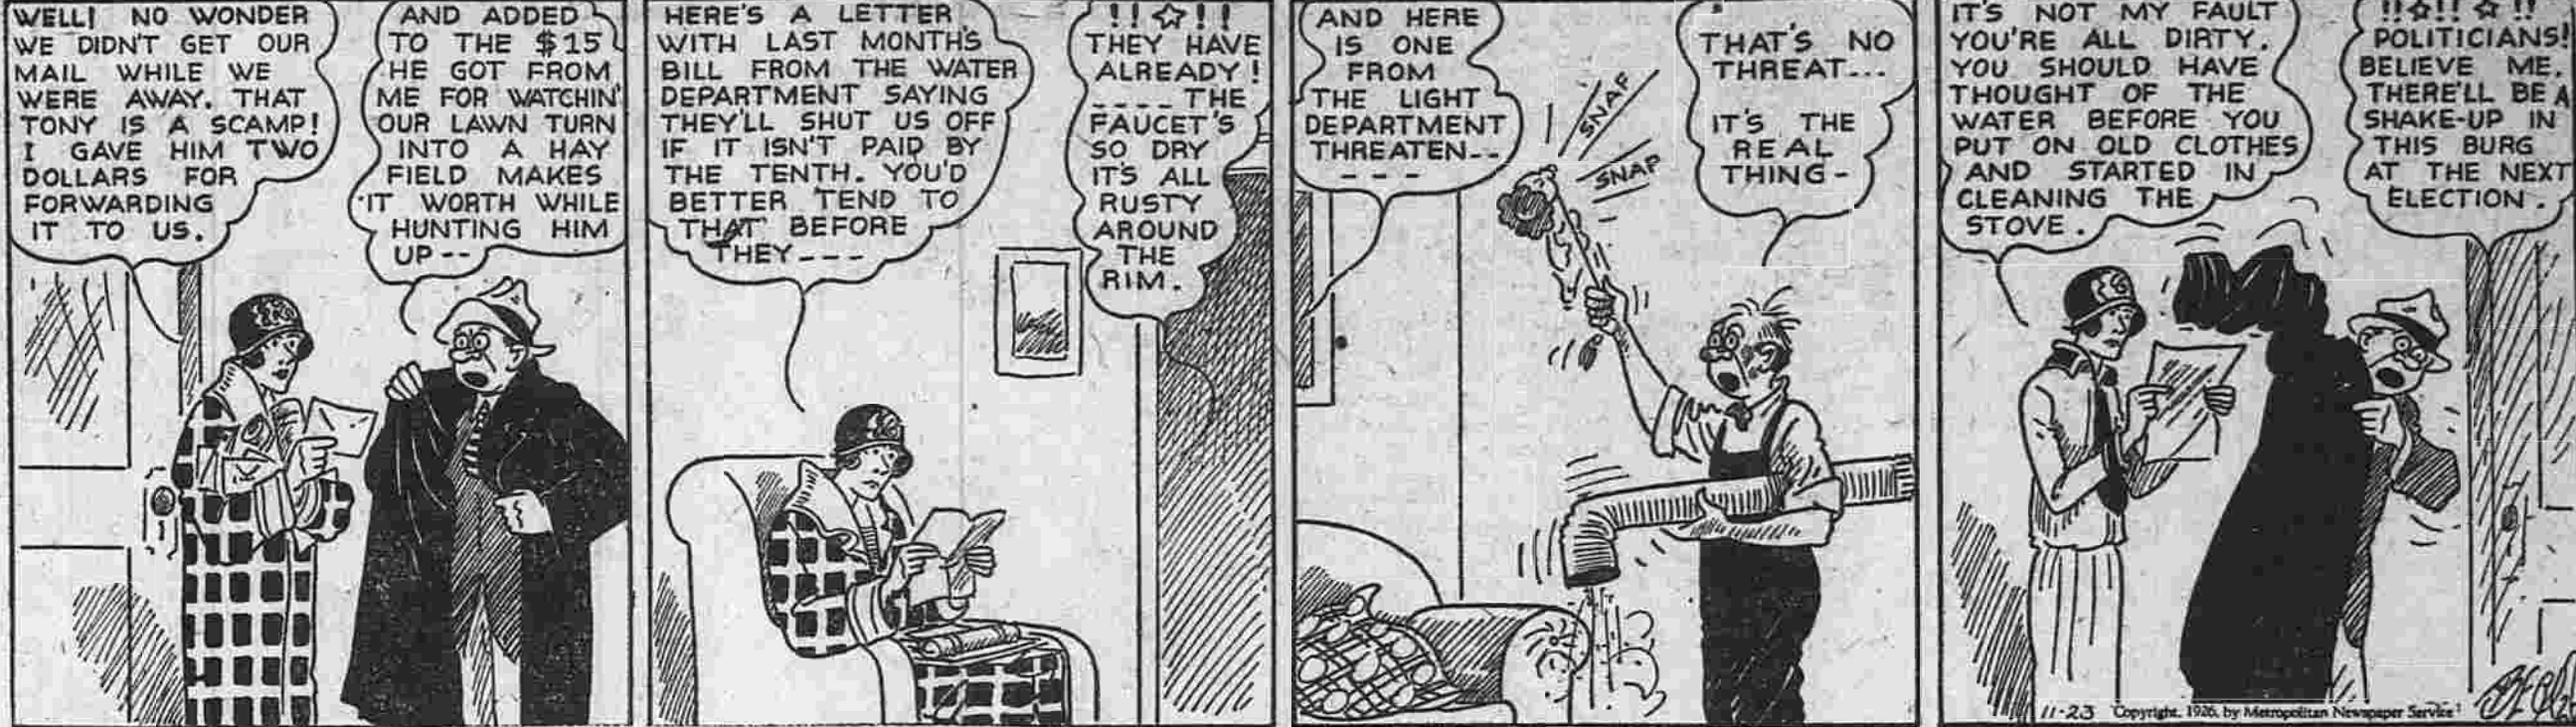

SENSE AND NONSENSE

An item for the ladies says that the correct is coming back. Can it be possible that they haven't been getting sufficient squeezing? It's nice to think people are better than you know they are. Preventive medicine is not needed so badly as surgery preventive. 'The idea of a mofocle is so that a fellow won't see any more at one time than he can understand.' Saving for a rainy day is a dry subject to the spendthrift. The Song of a Color Blind Poet I love the pale green tresses Of your flaming turquoise hair; I yearn to press caresses On your purple lips so rare; Your garnet eyes, enticing, Haunt me through the day's pink light, And your smile like almond icing, Buys me through the topaz night!

Do you old-timers remember when the whistle used to blow at 6:30 in the morning? Minister: "Would you care to join in our missionary movement?" Flapper: "Oh, I'm crazy to learn it, is it anything like the Charleston?" There are two kinds of people in this world—those who use a telephone book and those who put it back. One of the unexplained mysteries of science is how a cigarette stub can start a forest fire, when it takes an hour and a half to get the furnace going. Vistor (being shown through an insane asylum): "What's the matter with that poor fellow?" Attendant: "He thinks he's the whole menu, just because he's nuts." Right now there are men drawing pensions for wounds received from accidental discharges of duty.

A Vegetable Travesty The wheat was shocked, the beets turned red, The corn pricked up its ears. The mockers mocked, the mint was crushed, The onions moved to tears. The tater's eyes open'd in surprise, The tickle grass was tickled; The cause of all you may surmise, The cucumber was pickled! Distance doesn't lend any enchantment when you run out of gas. Teacher—"How do you spell Madam?" Pupil—"Forward or backward, it's just the same." Life is made up of getting and giving and forgiving and forgetting. "That washing machine is the Belvedere," smiled the young clerk. "Sir, how dare you call me dear!" If you have a story that appeals to us as funny, send it to the editor of this column—he may print it—but he won't send it back. If it's naked it's artistic.

THE TINYMITES BY HAL COCHRAN

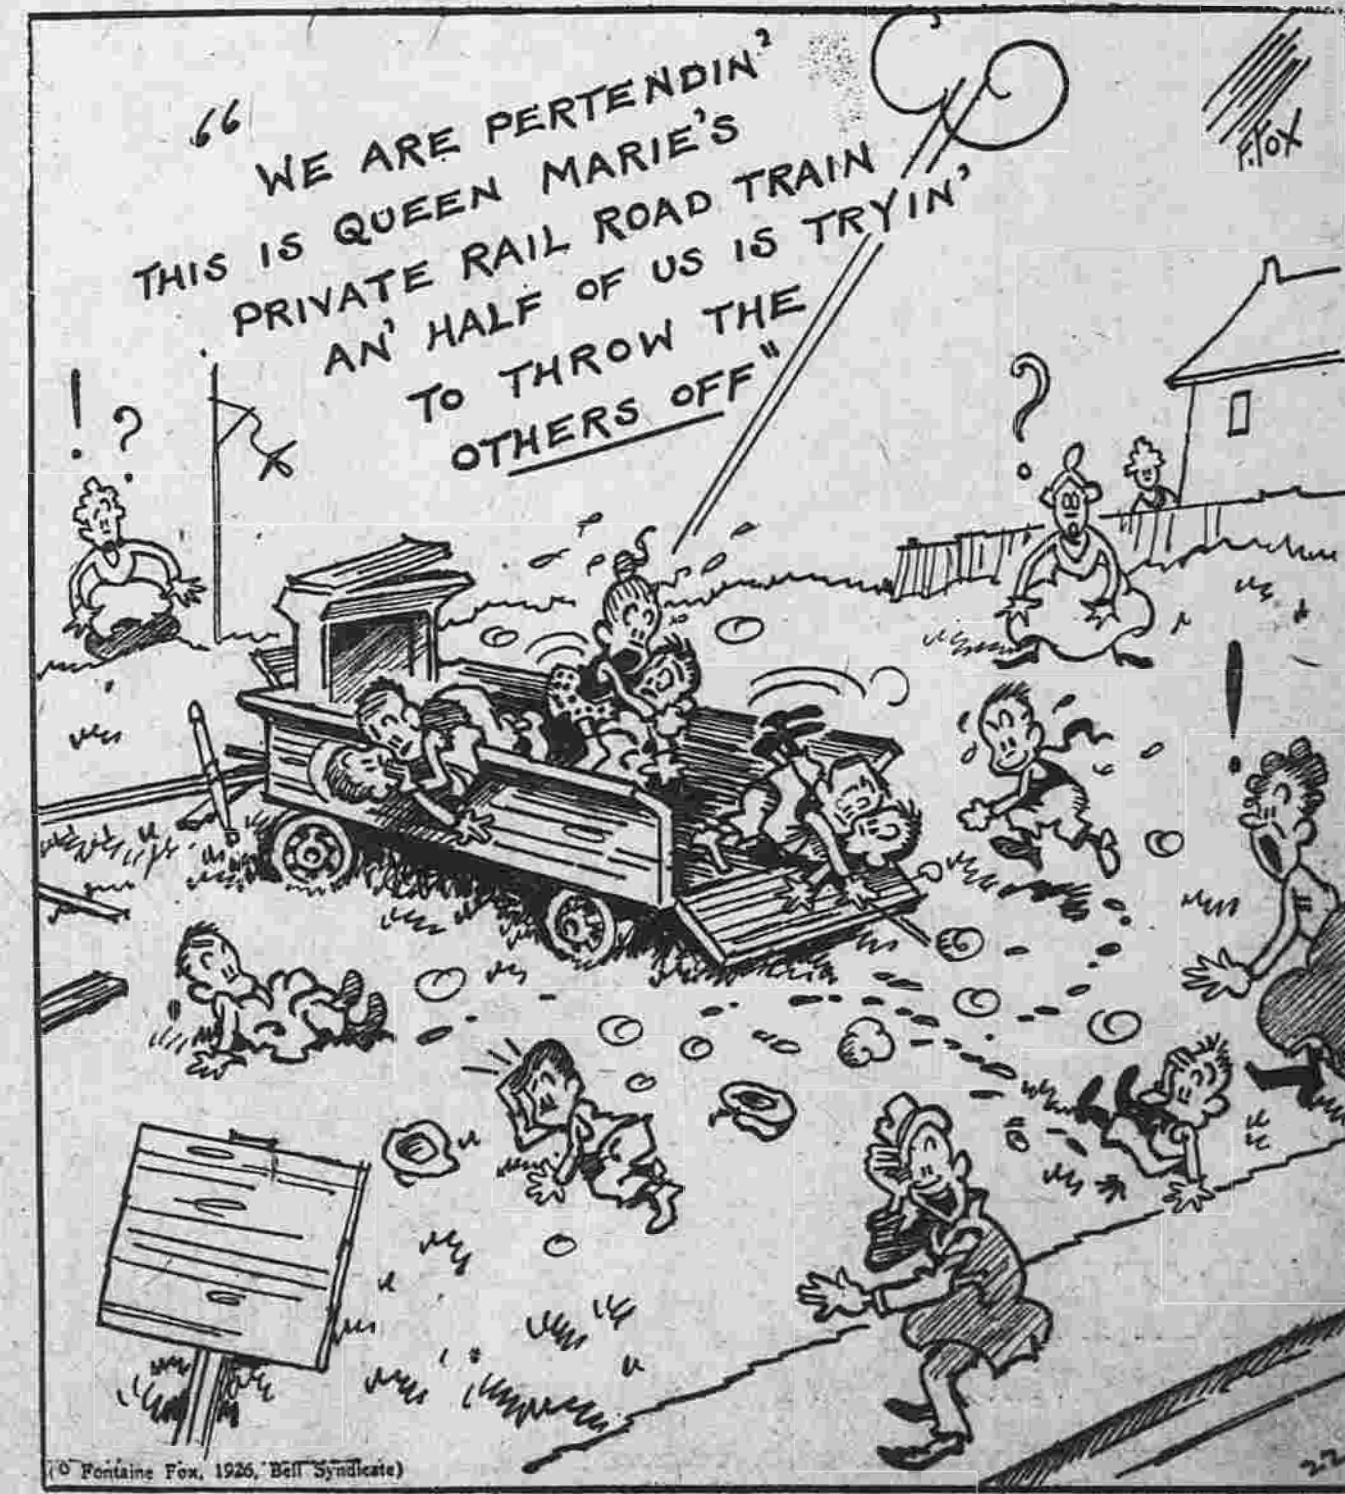

The limb their swing was on, you see, was sprouting from an apple tree, and when they started swinging, apples showered from all around. It came as such a great surprise, the Tynymites didn't realize just what it was that filled the air, and jobbed upon the ground. Then Scouty hollered, "Hey, look out!" And all the rest began to shout. And in a moment all of them were running here and there. They knew 'twas best to run away. It simply wasn't safe to stay. They might be hit by apples that were falling through the air. And then the monstrous swing stopped still, and put an end to all the thrill. It ceased to shake the tree, so shortly, no more apples fell. The Tynymites gazed at the ground, and they were pleased at what they found. A lot of big red apples. Scouty shouted, "This is swell." Said he, "I surely hope they're sweet, 'cause if they are they're good to eat, and we can gather up a lot and have a dandy meal." He then chose one that looked all right, and tried his best to take a bite, but Scouty was too small to even nibble through the peel. "Oh, that's a shame," wee Ukey said, "I surely thought that we'd be fed, but how are we to eat when all our teeth are mighty weak?" "Ho, ho! that's easy," Copsy cried. "There's nothing gained if nothing's tried. I have a plan to solve it all, if you'll just let me speak." So Copsy then suggested quick, a plan that he thought very slick. Said he, "We'll take the farmer's saw and saw the fruit in two." "That's great," they told him with a smile, "the saw's out by the old wood pile. If you'll just run and get it, that's exactly what we'll do." (To be continued) (Scouty saws an apple in the next story).
