U. S. MAY TAKE PART IN A NEW NICARAGUA WAR

Fresh Fighting By Liberals Brings Critical Situation; Kellogg Mum as to American Intentions.

Washington, Dec. 3.—American troubles in Nicaragua, instead of being ended by the elevation of Adolfo Diaz to the presidency, appeared today to be just beginning.

Despite the presence of American Marines along the coast, despite American warships patrolling Nicaraguan waters, and despite the warnings of the American State Department, Dr. Juan Sacasa has revived the Liberal revolution and there has been severe fighting within 30 miles of the American forces.

Ugly Situation Threatens

An ugly situation may easily develop. The sympathy of the Mexican government is with the Liberal revolutionists, and they apparently have been fairly well equipped with arms and ammunition of Mexican origin, for there is an embargo in effect from American ports.

The United States Department is supporting President Diaz. He was, in fact, inducted into office under the protecting guns of the American warships, and under the auspices of the American State Department's representatives at Managua. He has formally asked the State Department to maintain him by "whatever means" it considers necessary. To date those "means" have been the establishment of American armed forces in Nicaragua for an indefinite period.

Whether the American forces actually will engage the Sacasa revolutionists, if they appear to be getting the upper hand, remains to be seen.

Won't Deny Aid Intent

It was said at the state department that the traditional American policy in such cases was to refrain from taking sides in actual hostilities—but officials there would not say today that the occupational forces would not go to Diaz's aid if it was necessary.

Meanwhile, the state department's policy in the situation is being carefully watched on Capitol Hill. If American forces actually are sent into action to quell the Liberal rebels, there will be an explosion in the Senate when that body meets next week.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, already has announced his intention of introducing a resolution calling for the immediate withdrawal of American armed forces from Nicaraguan territory in order that "these people may have a government of their own choosing."

IDENTIFY BODY AS THAT OF OLSON GIRL

Youth Held in Illinois May Be Her Sweetheart, Accused of Murdering Her.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Dec. 3.—The body of a girl found near here yesterday was identified by her father as that of Clara Dorothy Olson, 22, for whom Legion members were searching when they came on the shallow grave between her home and that of Erdman Olson, her sweetheart, who is missing and charged with murder.

While authorities were preparing today to conduct a post mortem examination on the body of the girl, a nation-wide search was begun for Erdman Olson, 18, for whom a murder warrant has been issued. Olson is a wealthy Gale College student. The families are neighbors but not related.

Meanwhile Sheriff Harry Sherwood today went to Dwight, Ill., to view a youth, held there, who is said to answer the description of Olson.

RECALLS CO. G'S FIRST DAYS

There is only one original member of Company G alive today. He is nearly 80 years old and remembers when the uniforms of the unit were of blue and red with brass buttons.

He enlisted during the presidency of General Grant just after the Civil war and has outlived all of the 70 members who made the first National Guard company in town.

He has an interesting story to tell and makes humorous comparisons of today's National Guardsmen and yesterday's Manchester Grays.

READ ABOUT HIM IN THE SATURDAY HERALD OUT AT NOON.

Ileana's Cadet

Has a royal heart been added to Cupid's long West Point casualty list? They say that when Princess Ileana sailed for Roumania her thoughts were less on Bucharest than on the turreted academy buildings which frowned down upon the Hudson river. It's there that she met William J. Glasgow, of Washington, honor man of his class who is here exclusively pictured in fencing togs.

RADIO LOOMING AS BIGGEST JOB FOR CONGRESS

Enemies of Stop-Gap Law May Bring on Chaos in Air To Force Passing of Permanent Act.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Radio enthusiasts in Congress today served notice that unless an agreement is reached for permanent radio regulation at this session of Congress they will oppose temporary legislation and precipitate further chaos in the air.

"It sometimes takes a crisis to bring action in a situation like this," declared Rep. E. L. Davis, Democrat of Tennessee, one of the leaders in the long fight for regulation and precipitate further chaos in the air.

Proposals for "stop-gap" legislation immediately after Congress convenes next week were denounced by many senators and congressmen. Such action, they assert, would further delay a final solution of the problem.

FINED $320 BECAUSE DOGS KILLED 16 DUCKS

New Canaan Woman Has to Pay at Rate of $20 Per Bird For Pups' Fun.

New Canaan, Dec. 3.—Because her two dogs killed 16 ducks, Mrs. P. H. Hiss, owner of the animals, was fined a total of $320 in court here today at the rate of $20 per duck. It was also charged that the same dogs killed sixteen other ducks some time ago.

Dog Warden G. E. Bradley today said he would start a crusade against all dogs found roaming at large.

KILLED WHEN GRAVEL BANK BURIES TWO

Bridgeport Man Dies Under Weight of Earth, Comrade Is Seriously Hurt.

Stamford, Dec. 3.—One man was killed and another seriously injured when a gravel bank caved in upon them. Frank Lufby, of Bridgeport, was crushed to death and John Casey, of Stratford, suffered a broken leg and internal injuries.

Lufby and Casey were members of a gang employed by a nursery company, who were getting buried when the bank caved, entirely burying Lufby and partially burying Casey.

Fellow workmen dug the two men out and they were sent to Bridgeport hospital, where Lufby was found to be dead. Casey is reported as having a chance to recover.

YOUNG MAN, FROZEN, IS FIRST N. E. WINTER VICTIM

Boston, Dec.—An unidentified man, aged about 32 years, found frozen to death in a doorway on Baxter street, South Boston, early today, marked the winter's first cold weather victim here. The only distinguishing mark of identification was a Boy Scout ring of German silver worn on the left little finger.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, Dec. 3.—Treasury balance as of December 1: $140,958,827.93.

Canadian Realty Jumps 20 Per Cent on Wet Vote

Three to Five Million Dollars Worth of Options Being Closed by Resort Planning Syndicates.

Ottawa, Canada, Dec. 3.—Real estate values on the Canadian side of the Ontario-United States border have jumped twenty per cent in value overnight as a result of the troil sale of liquor in Ontario at Wednesday's general election. It was announced today. The increase in values was attributed to the large influx of Americans and American capital which is now expected during the coming year.

Basing their action on such a hypothesis, Canadian and United States real estate syndicates were reported taking up options estimated to total from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000, with plans to erect summer colonies.

Premier Ferguson today announced that he will speed up the necessary machinery in the legislature to give the people of Ontario a supply of beverage liquors at the earliest possible moment.

Political leaders in the Canadian capital voiced the opinion that the popular vote in Ontario would play a prominent part in bringing about a change in the prohibition laws of the United States.

G. O. P. TOO, PLANS SNIPING IN SENATE

To Attack Validity of Four Democratic Seats if Vane War Goes On.

Washington, Dec. 3.—With President Coolidge taking the lead in smoothing out Republican difference in Congress, administration leaders today plotted a defensive war to protect their single-vote control over the Senate in the Seventeenth Congress.

Anticipating a Democratic drive to wrest control by the exclusion of Senators-elect Frank L. Smith of Illinois, and Willis S. Vare of Pennsylvania the Republican chiefs drafted plans for initiating retaliatory contests against at least four incoming Democratic senators.

Targets Selected

Among Democrats most likely to face these contests are Senators Edwin S. Broussard of Louisiana, Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, and Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina. An old contest may be revived at the same time against Senator Lawrence D. Tyson of Tennessee, who was elected in 1924.

The Republicans will give attention to the demand of K. C. Birmingham, a Burket, Neb. citizen, who memorialized the Senate to initiate investigations into every senatorial election in the south this year, charging the "free use of shotguns" had destroyed the life in these states.

CRUDE RUBBER LEAPS AS POOL IS FORMED

Union to Fight British Control Causes High Jump in Values in a Day.

New York, Dec. 3.—Crude rubber prices jumped fifty to 100 points in the New York markets today, in response to the announcement that banking and tire companies had organized a $40,000,000 pool to stabilize values. The London position advanced 190 points to 38.80, up nearly two cents a pound.

The pool, composed of a score of the largest and most powerful automobile manufacturers and rubber manufacturers of the United States, aims to break the monopolistic grip of England on the world's supply of raw rubber.

The plan was attributed to Chas. R. Seger, president of the United States Rubber Company. Seger intimated that the pool funds would be utilized for purchases of huge stocks of crude rubber at times when the market is favorable.

Chaplin Stopped Riotous Party, He Says; Now Divorce May Follow

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—The rift in the affairs of the Chaplin family showed no signs of closing today.

Following a party given by Mrs. Chaplin to a group of friends in her home early Tuesday morning, which included the Baron and Baroness Mile, De Precourt, Mrs. Chaplin left her home and took her two children to the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Curry. A disagreement between the film comedian and his wife precipitated the move.

Mrs. Chaplin reiterated today, "I will never return to my husband's home."

Chaplin countered with a terse legal notice to newspapers that he would no longer be responsible for his wife's debts.

Although neither Chaplin nor his wife manifested any desire to discuss the incident which led to their separation, it has become known that the motion picture star objected to the noise made by his wife's guests on the morning of the dispute between them.

"I couldn't sleep," said Chaplin, "there was too much noise being made. I asked my wife to get those people out of the house."

GAME LAW ARRESTS EXACTLY EQUALS 1925'S

Hartford, Dec. 3.—Violators of the state's fish and game laws continue to make liberal contributions to the courts, according to Fish and Game Commission records for the fiscal year ending Nov. 30. Out of 576 persons arrested 552 were convicted and paid fines totaling $10,337.44. In the previous fiscal year arrests totaled 576, the same as this year; convictions totaled 550 and fines $9,641.81. To accomplish the arrests in the '26 fiscal year, A. Joseph Williamson, state game warden, and his eight county wardens and 73 deputies gave 4,601 days to warden patrol service.

FALL TOOK NO LEGAL ADVICE ON OIL LEASE

Defense Witness Admits Secretary Ignored Opinion of Oil Concerns Proposal Was Invalid.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Although serious doubt was raised from the beginning as to the legality of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve lease to the E. L. Doherty interests, ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall, on trial with the oil magnate for conspiracy to defraud the government, never sought a legal opinion on the lease. H. Foster Bain, formerly director of the Bureau of Mines, declared under sharp cross-examination today.

At least two large oil companies, the Standard Oil of California and the Union Petroleum Company, directly questioned the legality of the proposal, Bain, a defense witness, said.

Fall did not even act upon the suggestion of E. C. Plancy, assistant secretary of interior, to obtain "an informal opinion," Bain admitted.

Bain previously had testified Fall was not in the city during the lease negotiations. Under cross-examination by Owen J. Roberts, government counsel, however, he linked Fall and Doherty with the negotiations, which actually were carried on by subordinates under Fall's direction and approval.

FOOCHOW IS TAKEN BY CANTON FORCES

North Chinese Generals Give Chang Full Command to Resist the Reds.

Shanghai, Dec. 3.—The Cantonese forces have occupied Foochow, without disorders. The fall of Foochow menacing Chekiang and Kikang, as the Cantonese are now expected to push on towards these cities.

Although the Sun Chuan Fang defenders of Foochow went over to the Cantonese, there were reports today that there had been fighting outside of the city and here were rumors of casualties running up to 300.

Chang Leads Northerners

The northern general's meeting in Peking have unanimously appointed Chang Tso Lin as commander-in-chief for a combined drive against the Cantonese.

Reports from Hankow state that while outward calm prevails there is an underground movement there. All foreign concessions are under the guard of foreign troops.

SEAMAN REFUSES TO SQUEAL ON RUMMIERS

Coastguardsman Bobtailed in Punishment For Declining to Give Evidence.

Boston, Dec. 3.—Coastguard Seaman Burnell, who refused to "turn-coast" for the government in the rum trial of Skipper Marcus Haley, was stripped of his uniform today and dismissed with a bad conduct certificate and a dilapidated suit of muffs. It is also reported that four other coast guardsmen who testified for the defense in the court martial proceedings of John H. McEnroe just completed, await a similar fate.

Burnell is reported to have received a tempting offer from big liquor interests to serve aboard rum schooners which load at foreign ports and unload somewhere off the New England coast.

KILLS YOUNG WIFE WHO REFUSES TO COME HOME

New York, Dec. 3.—Crazed by the fact that his young wife refused to return to him and their seven-year-old daughter, Paul Sheik, 30, of North Haven, N. J., this afternoon entered his wife's restaurant on Second Avenue, and shot her through the breast.

She was rushed to a hospital in a dying condition.

GET $4.50 TERMS

Lynn, Mass.—Twelve Lynn boys, from 12 to 15 years old, were arrested for window smashing recently by Judge Ralph E. Reeve, of the juvenile court sentenced them to earn $4.50 each and pay for the panes they had destroyed.

HAL-MILLS MURDER CASE IN JURY HANDS

JAMES MILLS HAS ALIBI TOO

Is Little Stirred by Charge of Hall Lawyer That He Might Be Wife's Slayer.

Somerville, N. J., Dec. 3.—"I would have been a fool to commit a crime like that," this was the reply today of James Mills, husband of the slain Eleanor Mills, to the intimation of Robert H. McCarter, senior counsel for the defense, that Mills might have killed his wife and Rev. Edward Hall, McCarter made the inferential charge in his summation to the jury.

"I'm not worried about the charge at all," said Mills. "My conscience is clear."

"I never suspected the relations that existed between my wife and Rev. Hall. If I had suspected, I would have done nothing more than go to Mr. Hall and remonstrate with him.

"If that wouldn't have done any good, I would have taken it up with the church vestry, or the bishop; but kill him?—No!"

Mills said that on the night of the murder he was making boxes on the back porch of his home in New Brunswick. Then he went to the front porch where he chatted with Mrs. Frank Dank and Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley. Kelley left, he said, to take the 10:05 p. m. trolley for South Amboy.

The time of the murder has been fixed at 10:20 p. m.

SEA WALL CHARGES SUBJECT OF REPORT

Hartford, Dec. 3.—An award of $10,000 was made by a Superior Court jury here today in favor of the estate of Leo Argiz, of New Britain, who was killed in an automobile accident at South Wallingford, last May. The judgment runs against Edward Cassegan, of New Britain, who owned and was driving the car in which Argiz was riding when the accident occurred.

Co-Defendant Absolved.

A verdict in favor of the co-defendant, C. W. Reynolds, of New York, owner and driver of a truck with which Cassegan's car collided, was given by the same jury. Reynolds was absolved from blame but the jury found that Cassegan was responsible because of negligence.

The suit was brought by Milo Argiz, administrator of his brother's estate.

Campaign Accusation of Graft In Road Work to Go to Court.

Middletown, Dec. 3.—Judge John R. Booth, of Danbury, will be given the problem of solving the problem brought up in October when H. D. Tyler, of Chester, charged in a campaign speech that the state highway department's employees were being employed in private jobs at state expense.

State Attorney Ernest A. Inglis, of Middletown, took up the case when Eugene A. Post, of Deep River, was accused of having built a sea wall at Westbrook with state highway labor, the accusation arising when Mr. Tyler's charges were pursued by state officials.

The state's attorney today announced he would submit his findings in the case to Judge Booth next week when the December superior court term opens here.

KING FERDINAND TO MEET QUEEN FRIDAY

Bucharest, Dec. 3.—King Ferdinand appeared in public today for the first time since he was stricken seriously ill, several weeks ago. The king drove from his suburban palace at Cotroceni to his palace in Bucharest, to receive the Spanish minister. He appeared in good health.

Preparations for a welcome home for Queen Marie, were well under way today.

King Ferdinand will meet the queen at the station tomorrow morning.

Anti-Rumania Propaganda For U. S. Consumption Appears In The Balkans.

Berlin, Dec. 3.—Indications are accumulating that certain Central European and Balkan states, actuated by jealousy over the friendly relations between Rumania and the United States, are organizing an anti-Rumanian propaganda campaign, designed to discredit Rumania abroad.

Today there was a flood of reports, reaching Berlin, relating that serious anti-Jewish demonstrations had occurred in Rumania. There is no confirmation of these reports, which would seem to be directed at disturbing negotiations between Rumania and American financial interests.

COBBAMS FINISH MOTH FLIGHT TO WASHINGTON

Washington, Dec. 3.—Sir Alan Cobham, British aviator, arrived at Bolling field from Philadelphia shortly after 11 o'clock today. He flew here with Mrs. Cobham in a baby "moth" plane.

They arranged visit with President Coolidge and the British embassy during the day.

Sir Alan encountered heavy winds shortly after leaving Philadelphia and was forced down at Belair, Maryland, for gas. He was delayed about an hour.

U. S. COURT TO MEET IN HARTFORD TUESDAY

Hartford, Dec. 3.—The December term of the United States District Court will open here next Tuesday morning with the calling of a grand jury. Judge Edwin S. Thomas on Tuesday afternoon will hear the case of Taylor against Burr Printing Co., an action to collect for alleged services in securing advertising for the Hartford Times.

"Cold Blooded Murderess" Simpson Calls Mrs. Hall

$10,000 DAMAGES IN MOTOR DEATH

Driver of Car in Which Companion Was Killed Is Held Responsible.

Hartford, Dec. 3.—The case went to the jury in the Hall-Mills murder trial at 1:45 this afternoon after Judge Charles W. Parker had delivered his charge to the jury.

The jury was still out at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Somerville, N. J., Dec. 3.—The case went to the jury in the Hall-Mills murder trial at 1:45 this afternoon after Judge Charles W. Parker had delivered his charge to the jury.

The jury was still out at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Somerville, N. J., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall was referred to as "a cold-blooded murderess," by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson in his impassioned summation to the jury in the Hall-Mills case today. He declared she and her brothers, Henry and Willis Stevens, killed the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills during a row in De Russy's lane on the night of September 14, 1922.

"That fatal night Mrs. Hall may have had no idea of murder," said Simpson. "She simply was going to the lane to confront them with the love notes they had exchanged and say, 'My dear, this has to stop.'"

"But there was a row. I don't know what happened exactly. Perhaps it was done with Hall's revolver. And her brothers were there with her."

"I don't say this woman on trial committed the murder herself, but she was there."

Mrs. Hall, attired in black and very pale, sat between her two brothers and regarded this prosecutor coldly. Not once did she change expression.

"She Was There."

"Mrs. Hall was jealous of Mrs. Mills—she had listened over the telephone and heard Mrs. Mills, that evening, make an appointment with her husband," said Simpson. "So that night she went to the spot with the letters."

"Mrs. Mills was a fine looking woman. Some people say she was a harlot. Don't believe that. A harlot does not wear a cotton stockings (holding the dead woman's apparel up before the jury)."

Then Simpson turned to a description of Mrs. Hall.

"Mrs. Hall was well educated, poised and cunning. She never suspected there was anything between Mrs. Mills and her husband," she said. "Nonsense! I say!"

Simpson attacked the story Mrs. Hall told of trying to find her husband the night he was missing.

"Mrs. Hall loved her minister husband. It was no commercial marriage between them. Perhaps it was a hypocrite, but Mrs. Hall wouldn't swear to it."

"And when Dr. Hall didn't return, she didn't even rap twice on his door to see if he were in. She went over to the church, she says, at 2:30 in the morning, to look for him. Did she call up the police station and asked if there were any 'casualties.' Mark that 'casualties.'"

"Cold Blooded Murderess"

"Then she called on Jimmy Mills. Why? She was in mortal hell over the murder. Why don't they find the bodies?" she kept asking herself.

"I tell you, gentlemen, this woman is a cold-blooded murderess," Mrs. Hall sat unmoved, her pale face retaining its mask-like expression.

"Why didn't she offer a reward for the slayer of her husband?" he shouted. "Because she knew who the murderers were."

Simpson declared that Mrs. Hall "didn't even have honorary pall bearers for her husband—this man she loved." He said the when the Supreme Court held that broadcasting of music constitutes a public performance for profit, upholding the contention that a license must be obtained to prevent violation of the copyright.

Amendments to the federal copyright law, to permit bargaining between individual composers and radio broadcasters for the use of copyright music, may be proposed at the short session of Congress. This is a compromise measure by which officials hope the "war" may be ended.

DEATH OF MRS. LAMPRECHT

Mrs. Pauline Lamprecht, 61, of 77 West street, died at the Memorial hospital last night at 8:30. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at the late home at 2 o'clock and at the German Lutheran church at 2:30. Rev. H. O. Weber will officiate. Burial will be in the East cemetery.

Mrs. Lamprecht was born in Germany but had lived here many years. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Harry Bashlow of New York City, a son, Emil, of Germany and three step-children, Mrs. Michael Kleinschmidt, Mrs. Walter Custer and Edward Lamprecht, all of this town.

Mrs. Lamprecht's last confinement to the hospital was the second of the year. She was admitted October 27 for treatment and discharged only to be removed to the hospital again on November 27 where she had been until her death. Last year, Mrs. Lamprecht made a trip to Germany and back.

LADY ROBERTS LODGE INSTALLS OFFICERS

Lady Roberts Lodge, Daughters of St. George at their meeting in Tinker hall Wednesday evening installed their new officers for the coming year. The work was in charge of District Deputy Mrs. Quimet and her staff from the Bristol lodge.

The new officers are as follows: President: Mrs. Dorothy Belcher. Past President: Miss Marjory Hemingway. Vice President: Mrs. Lilly Robinson. Treasurer: Mrs. Grace Hemingway. Financial Secretary: Mrs. Daisy Potterton. Recording Secretary: Mrs. Eva Leslie. First Conductor: Mrs. Margaret Jones. Second Conductor: Mrs. Emily Healy. Inside Guard: Mrs. Edith Hewitt. Outside Guard: Mrs. Louise Marsden. Chaplain: Mrs. Charlotte Foxcroft. Pianist: Mrs. Kate Robinson. Trustees: Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. Cocksham and Mrs. Albiston.

Following the business of the meeting a social hour with refreshments was enjoyed.

ABOUT TOWN

The Happy Gh Lucky Girls' club which is affiliated with the Manchester Community club has decided to trim and donate the Christmas tree which will be placed in the east wing of the White House during the holiday season when many of the organizations are having their Christmas parties.

To raise funds therefore, the girls are giving a food sale at the White House tomorrow afternoon at two and bespeak the generous patronage of North End people.

A marriage license was issued in Hartford yesterday to Herbert E. Gleason, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gleason of North Elm street, and Miss Olga C. Schirin of Burnside. The wedding will take place soon.

AMHERST MEN PICKED FOR TOWN TITLE GAME

Strictly Neutral Officials For Cloverleaves - Cubs Game; Grayson, Referee; Ball, Umpire; Craine, Headlinesman.

The officials who will handle the town championship football game between the Cloverleaves and the Cubs were secured this afternoon. They are from Amherst, Massachusetts, two being from Amherst College and the other from Massachusetts Agricultural College. Effort to secure officials from Yale University proved fruitless. Publicity Manager Bennett sending word this morning that he was unable to secure competent men for that date.

Emory E. Grayson, director of physical education at Amherst College, coach of basketball and football and assistant coach of football, will referee.

L. E. Hall, assistant athletic director at Massachusetts Aggies, and considered the premier basketball referee in the Bay State being second only to Dick Dillon of Hartford in Mass., and lived there all her life. She had been spending her winters here, however, for the last fifteen years.

FINDS THAT ARMISTON BOUGHT BLUE TRUNK

Much Discussed Box Chased in Pasadena, State Attorney Discovers.

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—"I don't care if Mr. Keyes has found out that Armiston bought his little blue trunk in Pasadena, or if he found out that he bought a red, white and blue trunk anywhere else."

In these words Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, today scoffed at an admitted discovery by District Attorney Keyes of Los Angeles that Kenneth G. Ormiston, will o' wisp—radio operator of Mrs. McPherson's Angeles Temple, under the name of H. C. Corbelle, had purchased the trunk from a luggage shop at 304 Colorado street, Pasadena, a few blocks from his rooms at the Maryland hotel, May first last.

"What we are sure of," Mrs. Kennedy continued, "is that no one in this house ever bought such a trunk."

FOLEY IS ELECTED A. O. H. PRESIDENT

Local Attorney Named to Succeed P. E. McVey—
Member For 20 Years.

Attorney John E. Foley was elected president of Manchester Division No. 1, A. O. H. last night at the annual meeting and election of officers at St. James's hall on Park street. He will succeed President Patrick E. McVey when the annual installation of officers takes place next month.

John F. Foley

Attorney Foley has been vice-president of the organization for the past two years and has taken considerable interest in the work of the division. Mr. Foley has been connected with the A. O. H. for about twenty years and has been a very active worker.

A large attendance was present at the meeting last night. The reports of the treasurer and secretary were read and approved. The former's report shows the stantial progress. The Fifty-fifth Anniversary committee reported satisfactory progress had been made in preparation for the celebration which is to be held February 3, 1927 at the Knights of Columbus hall on Essex street.

The exact date for the installation of officers was not set. However, a committee of five was appointed to confer with the Ladies' Auxiliary in regard to a joint installation to be held sometime in January.

The other officers elected at the meeting last night in addition to the president were as follows:
Vice-president—Leo M. Egan.
Treasurer—James Egan.
Financial Secretary—John F. Tierney.
Recording Secretary—John F. Miner.
Sergeant at Arms—Arthur O'Neil.
Sentinel—James McSherry.

CHICAGO STIRRED UP OVER MIDDLES' FIGHT

Has Gone Boxing-Mad About
Flowers-Walker Contest For Title Tonight.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Chicago is the capital of pugilism today and a wild, fight-mad capital it is. At 9 o'clock tonight Deacon Tiger Flowers of Atlanta, Ga., king of all the middleweights, will step into a ring at the ancient Coliseum here to defend his world title against Mickey Walker, former welterweight champion.

It will be the most important fight staged here since the revival of legalized boxing in Illinois. Flowers and Walker will box ten rounds to a referee's decision. Flowers is an eight-to-five favorite to retain his title. Many freak bets are being made. Some of them are at varying odds that Walker will win by a knockout.

Jack Kearns, the challenger's astute manager, argues that Mickey can take anything the deacon has to offer, while waiting for the opportunity to slip over the knockout punch. Failing that, Kearns points out, Mickey will pile up enough points to lift the title.

Flowers is admittedly fast and clever, but is supposed to lack punching power. Walker, on the other hand, is a slugger, but is not calculated to be as crafty as the battle-scarred Tiger.

With a well-thumbed Bible in his hands, the same he used when he was steward in the Butler Colored Methodist Church in Atlanta, Flowers whiled away the hours before the bout.

The little book of scriptures is Flowers' constant companion. He has it with him always. The fighting deacon said his favorite verse was part of the 144th psalm, which reads: "Blessed be the Lord, my strength, which teacheth my hands to war and my fingers to fight."

CENTENNIAL HISTORY ON SALE TOMORROW

The Centennial History of Manchester, prepared by Mathias Spiess and Professor Percy Bidwell, will go on public sale tomorrow. The books will be sold at the J. W. Hale store and at E. J. Murphy's drug store. The price is $2.50.

There will be but a limited number of the volumes for public sale. About 1,000 have subscribed for them and only 1,000 extra volumes have been printed. A limited number have been bountifully given to those who ordered them first. Those remaining will be sold to those who seek them first. The price of this volume is $5.00.

The delivery of the volumes to those who subscribed for them will begin next week.

CITY CLUB MEETING

The regular December meeting of the Manchester City club was held last night at the club rooms on Oak street. Three new members were voted in, a change in the constitution was voted and a committee was named to prepare a Christmas tree party. James McVeigh is chairman of the committee and Henry Gottschalk is to furnish the tree.

Following the meeting a supper was served by the house committee. It consisted of scalloped oysters, meat loaf, pickles, cheese, crackers and coffee.

6,157 PHEASANTS FREED.

Hartford, Dec. 3.—Connecticut's forests were enlivened during the present year by the addition of 6,157 pheasants, averaging ten weeks old when released, placed by the State Fish and Game department. The year 1925 saw 4,748 birds released.

Mrs. Hutchinson Has Wallflower in Full Blossom

The English Wallflower is something practically unknown in this country but Mrs. James B. Hutchinson of 63 Hamlin street has one in full bloom now. Two more buds on the plant are ready to flower at any time.

Although florists and growers who have tried to grow the wallflower here have said that it is impossible. Mrs. Hutchinson has, by careful attention to the plant, brought it to blossom. She has kept the flower in an even temperature all the time.

The plant was grown from seeds sent to her from Ireland where the wallflower is very common. She has sent her seeds to another town in this country where plants have been raised from them. Many residents of the North of Ireland have raised Mrs. Hutchinson's home to see the flower.

The unusual part is the fact that the wallflower normally blossoms in springtime.

The date for the big whist to be held at the assembly hall of the Manchester Community Club, has been changed from Friday evening, December 10 to Thursday the 9th.

PROPERTY ATTACHED IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Joseph Hawk Made Defendant By Hartford Woman to the Extent of $15,000.

GOBS AND GUFFAWS IN 'WE'RE IN THE NAVY NOW'

Excellent Comedy of Sailor's Life, With Beery and Hamilton, at State Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton have the time of their lives as the gob heroes of Paramount's second "sunny sid. of the war" comedy, "We're in the Navy Now" which comes to the State theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Starting in a prize ring, going to a naval training camp, from there to the deck of a troop transport, and in turn, a small row-boat, submarine, French dreadnaught, France and then—all the way back to where it started from, "We're in the Navy Now" creates a new laugh record for future directors to aim at. Edward Sutherland, the man who made "Behind the Front," has injected more gags in this picture than have ever been seen before. In one sequence, the two stars land at Brest and proceed to a cafe. There, they see the girl each adores, but who remains an enigma to both, keeping her true identity a secret. Glimpsing her two suitors approaching, she passes them a few drinks and they "pass" out of the picture. Only temporarily however because—well, "We're in the Navy Now" should be seen to be appreciated. Chester Conklin and Tom Kennedy are featured. Monty Brice wrote the original screen story. John McDermott prepared the screen play.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Roger Williams (8)

The punishment of the Pequots by the Massachusetts men inflamed the Indians' hatred. The settlements became alarmed. It was reported the Pequots were trying to ally with the Narragansetts. The magistrates of Massachusetts appealed to Roger Williams to save them, knowing the Indians trusted him.

Roger Williams replied immediately that he would. He set out alone in a canoe to appeal to the Narragansetts.

Pequot ambassadors were negotiating with the Narragansetts when Williams arrived on his dangerous mission.

For three days he pleaded with the sachems of the Narragansetts not to ally with the bloody Pequots. So great was the Narragansetts' faith in the man that he obtained assurance that the Narragansetts not only would not join the Pequots but would ally with the colonists against them. (Continued.)

FIVE FREED FROM MARRIAGE BONDS

Unhappy Hartford County Unions Dissolved in Friday Court Session.

Hartford, Dec. 3.—The marriage of Catherine Martin Kenney, of New Britain to William H. Kenney was annulled by Judge John E. Booth in Superior court here today. Mrs. Kenney testified that Kenney was already married to Minnie Evans of Hudson Falls, N. Y., at the time of the New Britain marriage in October, 1921. The first wife has since died. Catherine Kenney was 17 and Kenney 39 at the time of the marriage. Kenney was in court today but did not testify.

Vera Ellis Zehrer, of 15 Chapman street, New Britain, a book-keeper at the Burritt Hotel, was granted a divorce from John W. Zehrer on grounds of desertion. They were married October 7, 1916, and have four children. The children will remain with their mother by order of the court.

Benjamin Cutler of Willow street, New Britain, was granted a divorce from Dora Yerkowitz Cutler on grounds of desertion. They were married May 15, 1919. She was a widow and he a widower with four children at the time. He testified she left him because she didn't want to care for the children.

Rose Kemp Fedt of 51 Woodland street, New Britain, was divorced from Frank Fedt of Detroit. They were married in May, 1922, but lived together less than five weeks, according to her testimony.

Sarah Shapiro Wells of 264 Willow street, Waterbury, was granted a divorce from Harry B. Wells of Hartford, after she had testified to cruel treatment. They were married at New Haven in December, 1924, and she said she was compelled to leave him the following May. She was allowed the right to resume her maiden name.

WAPPING

Miss Doris Cooley, daughter of Mrs. Clifford Cooley of South Windsor and Roland Williams, of Hartford, after she had testified to cruel treatment. They were married at New Haven in December, 1924, and she said she was compelled to leave him the following May. She was allowed the right to resume her maiden name.

At the Bible study class which met at the parsonage Thursday evening, they took up the third missionary journey of St. Paul, which is very interesting.

There were sixteen members of the Sunday school board, which met at the parsonage Thursday evening just preceding the Bible study class. The reports from the ten members who attended the Sunday school convention which was held in Hartford recently, were given and then arrangements for the Christmas festivities were made. The decorating of the church was left to the Young People's society of Christian Endeavor, providing and decorating the trees to Alfred Stone, Mrs. Eugene Bentley's class to do the soliciting, Ralph Collins to purchase the candy and oranges and Walter Foster's class to fill boxes.

The first rehearsal for the play which is to be given at Christmas will be held next Monday evening.

The choir rehearsal will be held at the Federated church this evening at seven o'clock.

TOLLAND

The missionary exercises Sunday were in charge of the primary department, Miss Bertha Place and Mrs. Samuel Simpson, teachers. A little play was given showing some of the work done by the Congregational board at Ellis Island.

The friends of Clifford Ward are glad to see him about again after his long illness of typhoid fever.

Word has been received of the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Steele and Mr. George Bartlett at Hampton, Florida. It is warm and sunny there and roses are in bloom.

Mrs. Ira Wilcox and son Calvin, visited Mrs. Rupert West, Thursday.

The pulpit at the Federated church Sunday will be occupied by a representative of the Near East Relief Work.

The all-day sewing meeting was held Thursday at the church. Miss Lucile Agard and Mrs. Ivan Wilcox were hostesses.

Some of the Tolland members of the Farm Bureau attended the annual meeting that was held in Rockville on Thursday.

Mrs. Harry Bartlett of Hartford visited Miss Margaret Morris last Wednesday.

Mrs. Florence Agard of Westerly was a recent visitor at Edwin Agard's.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Sparrow and son, Leon, went to Providence by auto Sunday, taking Miss Helen back to her school duties at Brown University.

Miss Edna Crandall has returned from a visit with relatives in New York.

Schools opened Monday after the short Thanksgiving recess.

The Christmas committee to take charge of the exercises at the Federated Sunday school has been appointed. Mrs. West's class is to have charge of the Sunday evening program and the other classes are each to have prepared a ten minute program for the Christmas eve exercises.

The United Soda Shop, State Theater building, will sell all of their $1 boxes of candy at 75 cents a box for Friday and Saturday only.—Adx.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

We do not recall hearing or reading an exposition of Chamber of Commerce work and purposes, anywhere or at any time, which so truly set forth the situation as did the address of Austin Cheney, president of the Manchester Chamber, at that body's meeting on Wednesday evening.

The whole tenor of that address was in sharp and refreshing contrast to the conventional, hackneyed and altogether harmful bragadocio which so very, very often is mistaken for Chamber workers for inspirational encouragement. Far too often Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade speeches are mere flimsy fireworks, calculated to effectually hide the very plain sticks of which the set-pieces are constructed. We esteem it immensely to the credit of Mr. Cheney's intelligence that he doused the fireworks and exhibited the sticks.

Because, after all, the Chamber of Commerce—any Chamber of Commerce—is useful in proportion to the simplicity and sturdiness of its structure rather than in proportion to the popping it makes or the flashes it gives off or the bright colors it exhibits. And it was on the basis of a serious plugging, working institution that the president of the Manchester Chamber presented its claims to consideration.

Mr. Cheney went a very long way in putting over one of the most difficult things in the world to make any American community understand—that its Chamber of Commerce is not a magic mechanism, capable of turning old overalls into rabbits and turkeys into gold watches, but an extremely necessary, plodding, affair like a plough, which has certain functions to perform that are highly essential but not in the least showy. And that if the Chamber should go out of business the community would miss it just as certainly and just as seriously as the farmer would miss the plough if somebody stole it.

The best work ever done by such group-bodies as Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade is the kind that attracts little if any public attention—the laboratory work, so to speak; the assemblage and contact of ideas, the study of reactions, the tests of mutual and conflicting opinions, the sorting and sifting of community thought; operations that may go on for a long time without the issuance therefrom of any specific triumph of achievement, but which inevitably raise the level of the community intelligence in its application to social, industrial, political and civic affairs.

There is an army hiking song:

Oh, the infantry, the infantry, with the dirt behind its ears; The infantry, the infantry, that drinks its weight in beer; The cavalry and the artillery And the blooming engineers They couldn't lick the infantry in a hundred thousand years.

There are a lot of people who expect from a Chamber of Commerce the spectacularity of the cavalry and the hoarse of the howl-ers—when as a matter of fact that body is an infantry organization, doing a plain work, fighting a long steady fight on the ground and breaking the lines of resistance by keeping everlastingly at it.

DEER.

Twice as many deer have been killed—or at least twice as many deaths of deer have been officially reported—in the current year as in 1925, according to the records of the Connecticut Board of Fisheries and Game.

The total number of deer killings known about this year has been 205, of which nineteen are attributed to unlawful act. Railroad trains, automobiles, trespassers and injured farmers account for most of the dead animals. But dogs are charged with the killing of 54.

It is highly probable that dogs killed a great many more than 34 deer in this state last year.

Likely enough Connecticut's more or less heroic effort to preserve wild deer from elimination from the state's fauna will sooner or later have to be abandoned. Too many people are out of sympathy with it. There are a great many Connecticut farmers who have a keen fondness for the deer—most beautiful, most graceful, most interesting of all our remaining wild creatures—and who value an occasional glimpse of a stag or doe as one of the compensations of rural life. But there are also a good many farmers who are fond merely of venison and who have no compunctions whatever about killing a deer as a marauder for the nibbling of a single carrot top.

The automobile is a growing menace to all sorts of wild life and the deer joins with humanity in paying the toll for night speeding.

These things cannot well be helped. Nor can the instinct of a dog to kill a deer be subdued. But there is one thing that can and should be stopped, and that is the practice of owners of hounds in letting their dogs range the woods, dally and nightly, in pursuit of deer.

There are sections of Connecticut in which the baying of hounds on the trail of deer is as familiar a sound as the droning of the air mail overhead. Many times the quarry which they pursue gets to water and escapes. Many times it is pulled down, mangled and slain.

Probably the deer will have to go, eventually. But if every pair or pack of hounds in this state were kept under restraint except when employed in the legitimate business of legitimate hunting under control of their masters, the disappearance of the deer would be considerably delayed. Every nature lover and observer in Connecticut knows that.

RAILROAD WAGES.

It is a peculiar fact that, while there is no more widely distributed body of workers in the country than the railroad employes, nor one whose contact with the general population is more direct, and while wage controversies affecting railroads invariably are given wide publicity, the public hardly ever knows much about the merits of such discussions because it has, after all, very meagre information as to the actual earnings, hours of duty, etc., of the men concerned.

Therefore the circumstance that the Railroad Arbitration Board has awarded to the trainmen of substantially every road east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio a flat increase of seven and a half per cent in wages is one of those things which the public will read, accept and promptly forget, entertaining merely a half formed idea that here is just one more reason for wages to go up all around.

Economically, the important thing is that the raise in railroad wages means that fourteen and a half millions of dollars per year have been added to the nation's living expenses—plus the percentage of profit that inevitably intrudes between the cause of cost and the customer who pays it.

We do not say that the raise was unjustifiable, because we do not know whether it was or not. But we do know that it figures as a whorl of the endless spiral of increasing costs to meet increasing wages and increasing wages to meet increasing costs. Also that no amount of tariff, farm bonuses, ship subsidies or bounties of whatever sort can possibly enable a nation to compete in world trade when its wage scale is out of all proportion to the wages paid by the rest of the nations of the earth.

And if we do not participate in world trade we shall, sooner or later, hit the toboggan in the item of employment and, most certainly also, in the item of wages.

WHY?

There is something that no layman, however case-hardened he may be in experience with courts, has ever been able to get through his head; and that is the reason for the extraordinary license permitted to lawyers in abuse and slander of persons who are compelled to give testimony in trials.

A citizen is subpoenaed, put on the witness stand and questioned. He gives the evidence that he must give. Presently, when all the testimony is in, the arguments begin.

"This abandoned liar, this crook, has the effrontery to come here and tell us," etc., yelps the lawyer on the other side, pointing to the witness and holding him up to scorn.

The citizen is not a liar, he is not a crook. He is a citizen engaged in the discharge of a citizen's obligation. But he is denied not only protection against the slander but even the slender satisfaction of punching the slanderer's head.

Perhaps the lawyers understand why this is so no better than does the layman. But they know that it is so, and that is sufficient for some of them. McCarter and Case, accusing James Mills and Jane Gibson of the Hall-Mills murder, describing the state's witnesses as a group of crooks and liars, occupied a perfectly safe position. The ordinary citizen who did the same thing could be made to sweat for it. Abusive language and slander appear to be prerogatives of the "gentlemanly" profession.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER Washington, Dec. 3.—There is one organization in Washington—just one—which isn't seeking any more publicity. The Anti-Cigaret Alliance has had plenty.

Not that the jolly old League would object to exactly the right kind of publicity, you understand, but somehow it just hasn't been able to get the sort of free advertising it would like.

The fact seems to be that no one takes the Anti-Cigaret Alliance very seriously. And consequently the manager of its headquarters here, a Mr. Mahoney, is harder to interview than President Coolidge himself. That is literally true.

Mr. Mahoney dreads the newspapers as the burnt child dreads a fire. Too many correspondents have devoted their more humorous moments to the Anti-Cigaret Alliance and Mr. Mahoney claims to have been very seriously misquoted.

So whenever anyone gets anything from Mr. Mahoney it will take the shape of a formal statement, formally approved by the board of directors, trustees, managers or whatever they are, and given to all the newspapers simultaneously.

Still, one can scare up enough of the league's literature to broadcast the league's message to smokers and their unhappy families, in spite of the league itself. The organization's abhorrence of publicity even goes so far that a visitor cannot find its name on the building directory or on the door of its office.

The place is harder to find than an obscure speakeasy. Inside, however, is kept a table of pamphlets and placards with which the alliance carries on its work. Obviously, it is a very tolerant body, filled to overflowing with the milk of human kindness, for the most conspicuous of the card-board signs it has for distribution, printed in large black letters, says: "CIGARET SMOKERS WILL PLEASE CRAWL INTO THE STOVE AND CLOSE THE BACK DRAFT."

"No smoking" signs are there aplenty, and if you haven't one in your office or home, the alliance will gladly send one for virtually no consideration.

For the small sum of 25 cents a hundred, you may obtain such pamphlets as "Tobacco Poisons," "The Plagues of Plagues," "The Reasons Why No One Should Use Tobacco," "Astounding Facts About Tobacco," "The Cigaret Epidemic," "Eminent Authorities Who Condemn the Cigaret," "Alcohol and Tobacco," "The Cigaret Under Fire," "The Smoker Is Entitled to the Facts" and "The Case Against Smokes."

One learns that the "poisons of tobacco smoke" include nicotine, pyridine, ammonia, methylaurin, prussic acid, carbon monoxide, hydrogen, sulphide, carbonic acid, marsh gas, picolin, lentidin, parvulin, colidin, coridin, rubidin, birlidin, pyrrol, formic aldehyd and turfural.

Two drops of nicotine kill a dog, eight drops a horse and one-twentieth of a drop convulses a frog and kills him with general paralysis. Half an ounce of tobacco contains a fatal dose of nicotine.

No, the alliance is not yet taken as seriously as the Anti-Saloon League, which generally has its way. It admits that use of the "debanching, deadly cigaret" has increased more than 6000 per cent in recent years.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR CHURCH BAZAAR

"Festival of the Months" to be Held Wednesday, December 8, at So. M. E. Church.

At the meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the South Manchester Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday, the ladies made their final arrangements for the great "Festival of the Months" Bazaar which is to be held during the afternoon and evening of December 8, in the banquet hall of the church. At the stroke of one o'clock ladies came from all directions with gifts partially made, and a very enjoyable time was spent putting the finishing touches here and there. It is expected that the dining hall will be changed into a gay array of colors, and that the booths will take the form of many novel and original ideas.

There will be a booth to represent each month of the year, and decorated according to the outstanding thought of that month. Although the members of the Ladies Aid society are sponsoring this great endeavor, every organization of the church is abetted with it, and is busily working out its own schemes and doing its own soliciting. The Bazaar is being held that the church gymnasium might be better equipped, and so each group intends to do its part. Mrs. Claude E. Truax is the general chairman of all arrangements, and has given a great deal of time and thought to the general plan. At three o'clock the doors will be opened to the public with tables loaded with fine displays. The booths will be found as follows: January Booth will be presented in the form of an Ice Cream Parlor under the direction of the Men's Friendship Club with Mr. Arthur Gibson in charge. February, the Valentine month of the year, will bring a booth of fancy work, and every imaginable thing for the hope-chest. This will be given by the Ladies Aid Society in charge of Mrs. Joseph Stepe. March, the St. Patrick's Booth, will display aprons, again in charge of the Ladies Aid Society, with Mrs. Charles Steinburg, as director. April, the beautiful month of plants and flowers will be under the direction of the Sunday school and represented by Mr. Albert E. Holman. May with its pretty Maypole will have a booth entirely given over to the sale of candy under the auspices of the Epworth League, and in charge of Miss Florence Metcalf. The June Booth will be conducted by the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary societies where home made cakes will be sold by Mrs. Joseph Cooper and Mrs. J. Howard Keith. The month of July will be seen as a Wayside Gift Shop, and will be conducted by the young ladies of Mrs. Burr's class with Miss Esther Metcalf in charge. The August Booth will be a Woodcraft Booth in charge of the Boy Scouts of the church, with David Hutchinson as leader. A Handkerchief Booth will represent September, and will be directed by the members of Miss Pollard's class in charge of Miss Elsie Lewis. Halloween spirits will haunt the October Booth, and grabs will be on sale in charge of the Camp Fire Girls with Miss Thelma Carr as leader. The November Booth will be the Harvest Booth, and will have a vegetable display in charge of Mr. George McKimney, representing the Men's Friendship Club. The last month of the year will show the Christmas tree, and all the dolls and toys for the children will be on sale by Mrs. Taylor's class. Altogether, this will be a great occasion and every need should be satisfied with so much to choose from. Best of all, a cafeteria supper will be served from five o'clock throughout the evening, and will be in charge of Mrs. Mary Benson, and her committee. A very pleasing menu has been planned, and is as follows: Scalloped oysters, individual chicken pies, waffles, hot dogs, beans, potato salad, cold sliced ham, rolls and butter, crullers, cake, all kinds of pie, ice cream, coffee, tea, and milk. Prices will be nominal.

The general committee will meet at 7:30 on Friday night of this week, to further plans.

Cheney Brothers and J. J. Regan Company In Sport Carnival Tonight

ROCKVILLE HERE FOR A FRIENDLY NIGHT OF SPORT

Keen interest has developed over the outcome of the indoor sport carnival at the School Street Rec this evening. Cheney Brothers Athletic association will act as host to the J. J. Regan Manufacturing Company which operates in Rockville. Festivities are scheduled to commence at 7:30 prompt.

The program calls for competition in basketball, pool, bowling, checkers, setback, horse-shoe pitching and tug-of-war. These seven events can be expected to produce abundant excitement for those who attend and it must be remembered the general public is invited free of charge. The tug-of-war event is one which always brings forth a large party. It cannot be over-estimated in speaking about the tug-of-war competition last night. Secretary J. L. Jenney, who arranged the meet with Thomas Regan, announced that resin and water-soaked towels would be taboo. No artificial reinforcements will be allowed. Fifty men will be allowed on each side and they will pull in one minute periods for the best two out of three.

While only between 50 and 60 representatives from the J. J. Regan Company came here the last time the two concerns met it was learned today that they will make the trip by trolley cars and by automobiles. The influx is expected to reach Manchester about 7 o'clock. The point scoring will be five points for first place and three for second. This will enable either company to make clean up in pool, checkers, setback and horse-shoe pitching. In the other sports the winner will gain but two points. This resulted in the 28 to 28 tie last year although Cheney Brothers won five of the seven events. A double victory in pool won Rockville at the last time. There will be eight players on a side. They will play an elimination tournament as partners.

The horse-shoe pitching will also be conducted on an elimination basis. Four will be on a side and the first round games will be fought as partners in 21 point games while the finals will be the best two out of three games at 15 points. In bowling two five-man teams will roll three games for total pinfall. In checkers, three men will be on a side and in setback there will be about forty men on a side.

REC BOWLING ALLEYS ARE OPEN TO PUBLIC

Four Alleys at West Side and Two at School Street Available Now—Membership Not Essential.

South Manchester people are commencing to realize that four of the finest bowling alleys in town are in the West Side Rec. Conditions are particularly favorable for bowling leagues or parties. The alleys are not only in excellent condition but the surroundings are especially clean and pleasant. The attractive lobby affords a comfortable place to read or talk while awaiting the others in the party. At the present time there are a number of leagues using the alleys regularly. The married people's league is very popular. Twelve couples have bowled in this league for three years. It has proven so popular that several more couples are anxious to start a similar league. Any couple interested in joining should get in touch with the West Side Rec as soon as possible as there are only a few vacant places.

Any group wishing to start any kind of league should contact the Rec and everything possible will be done to make satisfactory arrangements. It is not necessary to be a member of the Rec to bowl on the alleys at either the West or East Side buildings.

SUBSTITUTE KERR MAY BEAR KICKING RESPONSIBILITY IN CRUCIAL GRIDIRON STRUGGLE

No Other First Class Punters In Lineup With Stratton's Name Erased; Cloverleaves Have Three.

The agreement to strike Jack Stratton's name from the Cub's eligibility list was a severe blow to the championship aspirations of the south end eleven. It leaves them without a reliable punter. Kerr, the best punter on the Cub team, has been used as a substitute end because he is not of the caliber of Mistretta and Mozzier are. Coach Wright will have to use Kerr in the place of a veteran lineman or else take a chance on the ability of several second-rate punters.

Coach Mozzier Absolutely Refused to Allow the Game if Stratton Played Sunday.

He based his grounds for that stand on the fact that Stratton was a "ringer" and had not played a single game with the Cub. Manager Angelo finally agreed to erase Stratton from the list. Where the Cub made their big mistake, if they intended to use Stratton in the final game, was in not injecting him into the lineup in at least one other game this season. Then he would have been eligible beyond a particle of doubt.

Scarcity of Kickers

However, as matters now stand, south end fans are worrying to no small extent over the thought of who will be assigned the responsibility of punting for the Cub Sunday when the two teams clash in the season's final classic at Hickey's Grove. Against the Rambler-Tigers, "Lefty" St. John was used but to no great advantage. St. John can boot them high enough but the distance is lacking. Al Ferrero, a veteran guard, was called back to punt once. He can get off some nice boots but being more or less "green" at the kicking game, is a trifle dangerous under fire. Joe Boraski is said to be a good punter but he is practically out of the question because of an injured leg. Felix Mozzier's name has also been mentioned but he is not what you might call satisfactory in this respect.

Looks Like Kerr

Thus, the slimmers down to the lone nominee, Herbert Kerr. This chap, understudy for Mistretta and Mozzier at the wing position, is used in a tackle position in place of "Red" Hopeny who is said to be out of the game with water-on-the-knee. Coach Wright would hardly see fit to keep either of his first class ends out of the game. Therefore it seems only logical that Kerr is the man to get the call to play tackle and take care of the kicking. Kerr is also the most dangerous drop-kicker on the Cub eleven and is the same player who came within a hair of winning the town championship game last year with a field goal. Kerr's punts will be a life-saver to the Cub. The south end eleven will need a most competent kicker to stave off the threats of the champions who are very well stocked in punters. The Cloverleaves have their ace, Walter Moske, and also two other regular backfield players who can boot 'em far and high if the case necessitates it. They are Bill McLaughlin and Captain Brunie Moske.

DEMPESEY STARTS RACING STABLE

Tis Juana Race Track, Lower California.—Jim Dempsey, former heavyweight titleholder, hopes to be known as a famous turfman, rather than a pugilistic "has-been." Dempsey has entered four thoroughbreds with the registrar of the Jockey Club here. As soon as they are accepted, the colts will be baptized by Estelle Taylor, the film star, who is Mrs. J. Dempsey in private life.

The colts, arriving at a two-year maturity on January 1, will be ready for racing after that date, and, with them as a nucleus, Dempsey hopes to build up a racing stable out of at least twenty runners by the end of the season.

The colts were bred at Hamburg Place, famous Kentucky breeding establishment. Their sires are Fair Play, St. Rock, Danger Rock and Dozier. Dempsey is reported to have paid $25,000 for the pedigreed quarter.

Johnny Coburn, well-known New York turfman, will train the Dempsey colts.

The Dempsey colors will be pink and purple polka dots.

Local Sport Chatter

A couple more of fair days like today and the Cloverleaves-Cubs football squabble will have become history and the "I told you so" guys will be out in full force. It has been agreed that the game will be played almost totally regardless of the weather. However, in event of several inches of snow or a down-pour of rain in the afternoon, the game will not be played.

While the setto at Hickey's Grove will attract a bumper crowd, there will be another sport conflict in town which will also draw heavily. The Manchester soccer eleven is scheduled to meet the Hartford Thistle at Mt. Nebo Grounds Sunday. The kick-off will be at 2:30.

A special practice session for all members of the Cub's football eleven is set for this evening. All members are ordered to report at the School Street Rec at 6:30.

Irving Mendell was again the luminary last night as Meriden, Inslow won 22 to 19 from the Holyoke Mohawks in Meriden. He scored 12 points.

Speaking about Meriden, the Silver City in mourning today. The crop is in respect for the famous Louis (Kid) Kaplan, former world's feather-weight champion, who last night met his first knockout. It was delivered by Billy Wallace at Cleveland and twelve thousand spectators were amazed at the pummeling the Nutmeg State took. Kaplan was knocked down four times in the fifth round.

It is not known yet who will be the officials in charge of the Cloverleaves-Cubs encounter. Negotiations are in the works with Publicity Manager Burnett of Yale University. Last night Mr. Burnett had been unable to secure the men he wanted to and said he would decide one way or the other this morning. If Yale officials are unobtainable, efforts will then be pointed toward Amherst College.

Fans who think there is not real rivalry between the north and the south this season need only to have been in this office last night. Representatives of the Cloverleaves and the Cub were present and in a few minutes arguments were flying right and left with the result that one of the managers cancelled the game. He could not be induced to consider the matter and left the office immediately. The other side then became incensed and said: "To h— with them, if that's the way they feel." Cooler heads intervened, however, and the game was later restored.

It was learned today that the Cloverleaves are going to have a hand at the game. A twenty piece band has donated its service and will march from the north end to the field. This should add considerable color to the game. It is rumored the Cub will bring a real bear cub to the game as a mascot.

Tryon To Marry

Selectman and Mrs. Judson L. Phelps have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lenora E. Phelps to J. Edward Tryon of New York, who is "Eddie" Tryon starred on the football teams of Sunfield School and Colgate and is now a member of the New York Yankees, a professional football team. Miss Phelps and Mr. Tryon were when both were students at Sunfield School, although of different classes. Miss Phelps attends a kindergarten school in Bridgeport.

BOSTON'S DEFEAT OF HOLY CROSS BIG SURPRISE

Boston University's 3-0 victory over Holy Cross was one of the outstanding surprises of the winter football season.

Up until the game with the Terriers, Holy Cross hadn't met defeat. Boston, on the other side, had lost the majority of its games. Hence the contest looked like a practice affair for Holy Cross.

But the Beantown eleven, playing the best brand of ball it had exhibited all season, played Holy Cross to a standstill. A field goal by Harry Herbert, the fellow who was once laid up with a broken neck, proved the winning margin.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At New York—Jimmy Maloney of Boston won decision over Franz Weisner of Germany. Lenora E. Phelps of Pittsburgh won decision over Jack De Mave of Hoboken, N. J. ten rounds; Arthur De Kur of Brooklyn knocked out Charley Anderson of Chicago in third round.

At Cleveland—Billy Wallace of Cleveland knocked out Louis Kaplan, former featherweight champion, in the fifth round; Johnny Parr of Cleveland won the decision over Eddie Shea of Chicago; twelve rounds.

SEASON IS OPEN ON GRID COACHES

Rumors of Changes Running Amuck—College Can't Stand Loses.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Editor
New York, Dec. 3.—Officially starting the open season on football coaches who neglected to fool some of the people all of the time, including the opposing defense, came the expected intimation today of post-season changes in coaching staffs and imposing names were bandied with considerable freedom. Among those mentioned for de-capitation were Price of California, Alexander of Georgia Tech and Ingwerson of Iowa.

However, of far greater moment is a report to the effect that a Middle Western coach whose team attained national prominence this year is dissatisfied and will jump anywhere that conditions seem more favorable. The writer feels that he is not at liberty to divulge this man's identity until the situation develops further.

Frank Cavanaugh already has declined to return to Boston College and has been mentioned for the California berth. It seemingly has been taken for granted that Price will not return to Berkeley next fall. Rumors of Lou Young's passing at Pennsylvania have been in the air and, according to a prominent Pacific coast coach, Young also has been under consideration by the Bears.

Only a day or so after Carnegie Tech's notable victory over Notre Dame, it was said that Walter Steffen would not return in his advisory capacity next season, owing to his judicial duties and other demands on his time. If this is the case, Tech still will be in a position to carry right on, for Bob Waddell, who was Steffen's middleman, probably will be available.

They say that Hugo Bezdek has

THREE STAR TEAMS OF YEAR AGO FELL DOWN IN 1926 GRID RACE

For at least three high ranking teams of a year ago, the 1926 football season was anything but a success. The trio comprised Dartmouth, Tulane and Colgate.

Dartmouth, figured on to repeat its 1925 success despite the loss of the great Oberlander, fell down completely. Even the return of "Mickey" Doolley, 1924 sensation, failed to stem the tide.

Dartmouth lost four games. It was trimmed by Yale, Harvard, Brown and Cornell. Harvard's victory over the big Green eleven was the only major tilt the Crimson won all season.

Tulane also dropped four frays.

Colgate, minus the stellar Eddie Tryon, was far below its caliber of a year back. It fell before Pittsburg and the Navy and was lucky to gain a 10-10 tie with Syracuse.

Its one big achievement was the holding of the undefeated Brown eleven to a tie.

SOCCER GAME SLATED TOMORROW BETWEEN C. B. A. AND CELTICS

The Celtics and Cheney Brothers are scheduled to meet in a Manchester District soccer league game tomorrow afternoon at the McKees street Stadium. This announcement was made today by the Celtic management who requests his players to report at the West Side Rec at 1:30.

BOYCE AND MISTRETTA WILL PLAY WITH REC

Cheney Signs Saint and High School Stars—First Game Saturday Night.

Bobby Boyce of the Saints and Jimmy Mistretta, formerly of the High school team, will make the first appearance as members of the Rec Five tomorrow night, at the School street gym against the Portland Independents. The game will begin at 8 o'clock and will be preceded by a fast preliminary.

Coach Cheney will have as his other men Weiman, who has been chosen captain, Jimmy Quib, Olie Gotsberger, Bird Runde, Harry Bellamy, Igoe Robb, Cordera and Wolfram.

INDIANS RANKED LOWEST

AVERAGES TAKE TUMBLE

Batting averages took a terrific tumble in the major leagues last season. For instance, not a single club in the American finished in the select .300 circle. Washington snapped out of their lethargy. Elwood could not get possession of the ball after that. The clever

ELMWOOD BATTLES FIERCELY BUT SAINTS NOSE OUT GAME

A meager crowd of less than 100 people watched one of the best games of the season last night when the Saints' downed the fast Elmwood Eagles, 24 to 31. With five minutes left to play the visitors tied the score but a spurt by the locals netted two baskets and enough points to win the game.

The Saints started off well and soon had the score up to somewhere near 10 to 2 before the visiting team found its stride. Things continued this way for the better part of the second half with Mantelli, Stavitsky and Norris doing all the scoring.

With about seven minutes to go in the period Coach Clarke sent in the sub. The visitors then crept up and by the end of the half had come to within striking distance of the leaders. The score at the end of the period was 17 to 15 in favor of the Saints.

Grattis, a younger brother of the former Dixie player, showed that basketball runs in his family for he netted three baskets in the first half, and these three baskets were made off Stavitsky. J. Barton and Larson each contributed two field goals while the other two men were held scoreless.

The Saints played in streaks last night, flashing brilliantly at times while now and then they were just mediocre. They had a few minutes late in the second half and just five minutes before the end of the game the visitors tied the score.

It was 30 all when the locals snapped out of their lethargy. Three baskets came in a row and Elmwood could not get possession of the ball after that. The clever

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF and MOLIE ELWELL in Camdemville, Ind., one night in October of 1888, comes MARTHA DALTON, a nurse, bearing with her a woman who had fainted on the train on which Martha had been traveling.

Elwell is an artist. He has a son, JIM, aged 5. Late that night twin girls are born to the woman, who dies without revealing her identity. Her attire had indicated she was a person of refinement and wealth.

The story then moves forward to June, 1916, and the reader is introduced to Jim Elwell, now 22, and his father's partner, and to the twin girls, who have been adopted by the Elwells. They are now 17, and one of them has been named MARGARET and nicknamed RUSTY, the other, ELIZABETH, is called BETTY.

To Jim the girls are just kid pals, although they are growing to beautiful womanhood. The three go out on a hunting expedition in the woods one afternoon and Rusty, venturing ahead of them, stirs up a rattlesnake. Jim hears the ominous rattle and then the wild scream of the girl.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER V

Like a flash Jim Elwell tore through the weeds and undergrowth, past Betty, who stood frightened. He reached the other girl just in time to catch the swaying form in his arms. Plucking her up as if she were no heavier than a baby, he turned and rushed back to the clearing near the first pond. Betty was already there. Jim laid the limp figure on the ground, flat on her back.

"Help me to get her shoes off stockings off quick!" he cried. "She's been on the leg, probably."

He tore off the low shoes from the right foot. Then catching the stocking above the knee he jerked it free from its fastenings and pulled it off. Betty, too, was working fast and a second later had the other stocking off.

"I'm goin', Mollie," Jim told his mother.

"He cut a slit an inch long and half as deep across the two punctures in the white flesh of the calf of Rusty's leg. The outraged flesh quivered a little and then was still.

A quick flow of blood welled up from the cut. Jim squeezed the feet around it and the blood ran faster. Then he drew his handkerchief, sopped it in the water and slapped its clean portion over the wound. After a minute he lifted it off, straightened his body out at the ground and placed his mouth over the cut.

For five minutes he sucked the blood and poison from the snake-bitten leg, rinsing his mouth at intervals with water from the hat. Satisfied at length that he had done all he could in that way, he reached into his coat pocket and drew out the pistol.

"Turn over on your right side now, Rusty," he directed, "and swing your left leg over in front."

The girl obeyed, bringing the torn calf into position for Jim's purpose.

He nodded to Betty, who read the unspoken command and took firm hold of her sister's hand. She was very pale.

Jim spread the cut with finger and thumb of his left hand. Then he cocked the gun and placed the muzzle at the top of the wound so the bullet would plow through the cut and into the ground. His own face was pale but his hand was as steady as a rock.

He pulled the trigger. The burn of the powder entered the wound. But he wasn't through yet. Pulling a pack of cigars from a pocket, he tore some open and packed the tobacco into the cut. Then he wet the handkerchief again and tied it around the calf to hold the tobacco in place.

It was rough surgery, and unscientific. Drawing the poison and blood out and tourniqueting the leg had been all right. But in burning the wound with gun powder he had outraged nature and courted a worse danger—tetanus.

But Jim was no doctor. All he knew about such matters was from listening to snake bite lore from others. That he remembered all these things, and did them, was a tribute to his coolness and presence of mind.

He stood up. "Bring along bar shoes, Betty, and my hat," he instructed, and then picking up his wounded pal in his arms he started up the path, followed closely by the other who, now that the greater danger was over, was fighting hard to keep down the sob that kept coming up in her throat. Rusty lay as still as a mouse in Jim's arms, and she stopped once to look in her face, thinking she had fainted. But her eyes were open. She said never a word.

The time Jim had made with his scout car in getting out to the woods was improved on considerably in getting back to town, where Rusty was turned over to old Doc Palmer, now well past sixty, the same old Doc Palmer who had ushered the twins into the world on that wild October night more than seventeen years ago.

The doctor gave the snake bite all undivided attention for some fifteen minutes, frowning when he saw the bits of gunpowder embedded in the girl's flesh. "Him-m, have to watch that." But he turned to Jim with a smile. "You did just the right thing, Jim." To Rusty he said, "How do you feel now? Does it hurt pretty bad?"

"It did, Rusty informed him.

"Well, if Jim had wanted to get you here first you'd have had a slightly sore leg by this time and least awful sick at the tummy!"

Rusty was able to laugh, in spite of the pain in her leg, and to kiss Jim.

"That evening in the Elwell home after the excitement had died down and Rusty was resting on the sofa, Jim turned to Betty with a little grin.

"Well, kiddo," he said, "we didn't shoot any farmer's calf today but we shot a calf just the same, didn't we?"

Betty giggled and nodded her head. Rusty pouted her pretty lips. Jim's mother reproved him: "Now, Jim, it's hardly fair to tease her."

Summer's golden days fitted swiftly in the carefree lives of Jim Elwell and the two girls. And war's black clouds rolling in from the east grew bigger and blacker as autumn approached.

October came, and with it the twins' birthday. Eighteen now and young women. Mollie and Prof sighed as they audibly lamented the swiftly rolling years, and there were times when Prof's eye was troubled as he contemplated the two glorious young things as they flew around the house in pursuit of Jim.

November's chill and the icy winds of winter came, paused a while to whisper of coming events and then moved on. And the little town of Camdemville, like the whole world, was on its toes waiting for the Senate and President Wilson to issue the call to arms.

Then a day in April came and the long-expected news was hurled to the world at last, spread across the front pages of the city sheets in eight-column screamers:

"U. S. DECLARES WAR AGAINST GERMANY."

Jim Elwell carried the paper home with him that afternoon. "I'm goin', Mollie," he told his mother. She uttered not a word of protest, but when he kissed her she clung to him fiercely for a long minute and the eyes which she turned quickly away from Jim were wet.

She had known it for some time. Jim had told Prof months before that when war was declared, he was going to enlist. And the elder Elwell's heart surged with pride, albeit he shared some of his wife's misgivings. But Rusty and Betty saw things from a younger viewpoint and a weaker philosophy of life. Joyous youth singing in their hearts shrank back appalled when the dark shadow of war struck across the threshold of their home. Patriotism, they were willing to admit, was a grand and noble attribute, but when patriotism reached out its hand and collared their pal Jim, then—well, then it was a war horse of an entirely different color.

But just like millions of others, mothers, wives and sweethearts, throughout the country, these two girls had to stand back helpless and impatient when Thor's heavy hammer struck the knell of the coming death to many of their fondest hopes.

"War," Sherman is credited with having said, "is Hell." And Sherman knew. But some of war's aftermaths, its spasm, as shown in this story, was and is today the slimy serpent of a hell that the whole world does not see nor war's promoters give a hoot about—a serpent that hides its hooded head in the shade of breaking news.

The next day, bright and early, Jim Elwell went downtown and enlisted. He was not the first in Camdemville; others had rushed to the recruiting office at the first news. Mollie Elwell watched from her post at the door as his stalwart figure turned down the street.

Her son! Jim!

A friend of Jim's appears on the scene in the next installment, a friend who sees more than just "kid pals" in Rusty and Betty.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by Allene Sumner

No Job For Women!

"Motherhood today," says Margaret Haig, 2nd Viscountess Rhonda, "is only a part time job. No woman has a right to expect the community, whether through her father or in any other fashion, to keep her, if she is not giving her full day's work in return. If the small family has come to stay, when with it must come the realization that motherhood is no longer a full time job and is not in itself sufficient to justify existence."

So There Now!

Well, I don't know. I cannot speak with that voice of authority owned only by one who speaks from personal experience. I have never tried this particular job of being a mother. But I have observed. And my observation tells me that the lady, whether a viscountess or not, is "all wet." I dare wager my week-day pay check—and I need it!—that the average wife with but one child works much harder at her job and has a much fuller day than any of the sisterhood who labor outside the home walls.

What's She Do?

The Viscountess' argument of course, is to the effect that life-day with its commercial specializations has taken so many jobs away from the wife and mother that she has little or nothing left, to do, especially since her family is very small compared with her mother's or grandmother's brood.

Neither Do They Spin

True, wives of today do not spin their own flax, knit the family's woollens, make soap and candles, "put down" meat and make sausage, dry and can fruits and vegetables to any extent, make the family's clothes, raise chickens and make butter, pick their own vegetables and dig their own potatoes before getting dinner, but there are one or two little jobs left, just the same, that even this highly specialized and complex age hasn't been able to generalize rather than individualize.

I'd Get Mad

And I, for one, wouldn't blame average mothers if they got mad at this assertion of the viscountess. The trouble with her, as with most people who speak out in meeting, is that they consider only people of their own environment, even if this environment represents but a small fraction of the population. Viscountess Rhonda's friends doubtless have maids, a laundress and cleaning woman who come in, sufficient income to enable them to buy for the larder and buy clothes about as they choose, with little regard for budgeting. She would "look out the other side of her mouth" if she knew the thousands and millions of wives who do their own laundry, all their own cleaning and cooking and sewing, and still try to care for even just one or two children!

Smart Papa

Speaking of the problem of raising families, consider the family of Stanley Scygel. Stanley had 13 children. He took 11 of them back to Poland the other day. "Yes," said Stanley, "America is a great country to make money in, and it's a great country to spend it in, too." Stanley on his miner's wages, can't keep his family well-cared for and happy in America where the standard of living is too exalted for him, so he'll take 'em back home where simple living, the necessities and not the luxuries of life, are the accepted standard of the working man.

Kids Won't Like It!

The little Scygelids may not like the idea so much. They may cry for a land where they could go to the movies at least once a week, have ice cream cones and candy and peanuts and popcorn with frequency, ride in a nice auto and wear shoes all the time. As to what it cost their parents to give them these things, they never thought. Children don't. They are selfish, grasping little beasts. We all were.

Bully For Stanley!

And I, for one, welcome a revolt of parents as inaugurated by father Stanley Scygel. He'll work hard for his children, of course—see that they are well fed and clothed and sheltered, but he and his wife will not become old, distraught creatures before their times, all because of ice cream cones and auto rides, and their children may grow into stronger men and women with a better sense of values.

RADIO SET FREE AT RIALTO TONIGHT

From the most hardened scoundrel who ever admitted that he himself had "shot" the wrong rapids that any northern river could possess comes praise for the men who rode the canoes through the wild waters shown in "Steele of the Royal Mounted," which comes to the Rialto for tomorrow night. Even the natives who gathered along the shore opined that the water was "purty rough" and when a native commits a general opinion of that length it is time to believe that that is only half of it. It is like a farmer's reckoning of a mile or the next crossroad—two miles off in the one.

The rapids shown in "Steele of the Royal Mounted" are real and there were no doubles employed as the stars of the picture were called upon to forget personal safety in an effort to secure realism. It was only on the fourth attempt that the rapids were negotiated. The first three times the canoes were washed to pieces and the actors themselves were saved from the icy waters only after a thrilling struggle. But in this as in everything else perseverance was finally rewarded and the films were taken.

The film is an adaptation of a James Oliver Curwood novel and depicts the hazards that a Royal policeman encounters in God's own country, the wild untamed north. Bert Lytell, Stuart Holmes and Charlotte Merriam have stellar roles. Another feature which will be shown is "Daughters Who Pay," an entertaining story of modern youth and its foibles. There are suspense laden scenes that must be seen to be appreciated and a strong cast is used in the picture. Another chapter of "The Fighting Marine," which stars Gene Tunney, one of the most popular champs the world has ever known, a rollicking comedy and a news reel will also be shown. Two features close their engagement at this theater tonight when "The Silent Guardian," a thrilling dog story and "The Unfair Sex," a modern society drama starring Nita Naldi, Hope Hampton and Holbrook Blinn will be offered. At this evening's performance another five tube radio set will be given away to some lucky person. There will be a special event for the children tomorrow afternoon when five pairs of ball bearing roller skates will be given away to as many fortunate children.

Flowers in organdie and georgette crepe in pastel colors are used on lingerie and negliges.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The meeting opened with the salute to the flag and the repeating of the scout oath.

Dues and attendance were then recorded. After this a study period held, the second class scouts studied Morse and Knife and Axe, the first class scouts studied map-making.

Scouts McKeever, Sheridan and Brimley passed knife and axe tests. There will be a class in leather-working Thursday afternoon. It will be held in the church library at 3:30.

The games played were bump the ball and hockey ball. Before the meeting basketball was played. The meeting closed after the game period with the repeating of the scout oath.

Good Nature and Good Health

SIGHT BEFORE LOOKS!

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygienic The Health Magazine.

Previous to medieval times few people did any reading.

Manuscripts were copied by hand and only the priest class or a few savants had access to them. When Gutenberg invented type and printed the Bible, reading became available to everyone.

Eyeglasses and lenses, however, were known before the development of printing. Modern science discovered that the human eye, while it is one of the finest mechanisms known to man, suffers in many instances from deficiencies of structure and accomplishment.

What Strain May Bring

Near-sightedness, far-sightedness, astigmatism and weakness of the muscles of the eye result in unusual strains which must be compensated for by properly fitted lenses. It is reported by Terman that 35 per cent of the school teachers in Germany wear glasses, as contrasted with 15 to 20 per cent in the United States.

This is not due to the fact that more German women have weak eyes, but rather to the fact that many American women fear the risk to their beauty or attractiveness that may be associated with the wearing of glasses.

The eyes should be examined at least once early in life of the child to determine their exact condition.

In some instances the eyes are unable to work properly because the person suffers with a disease such as high blood pressure, a disturbance of the kidneys or a focal infection, which is reflected in the eye. Attention given to the primary condition affords relief for the visual disturbance.

After Middle Age.

After middle age the eyes should be examined somewhat more frequently, at least once in every two years, to determine whether changes are occurring which will demand glasses in those who previously have not worn them, or will demand a change in glasses in those who always wear them.

Examinations of the eyes are made by two types of professional workers: the oculists, who are physicians, and the optometrists, who are concerned only with measurement of errors of refraction.

The primary measurements as to diseases of the eye always should be made by a physician, who will be able to determine not only the mathematical deviations that exist in the construction of the eye, but also to any changes which may be due to a general disease.

A careful optometrist invariably refers persons suffering from a general disease to a physician.

Home Page Editorials Women, Culturally

By Olive Roberts Barton

Women may have struggled for recognition in the political and business world, but in point of culture it appears that throughout the ages, she has been naturally, if rather gradually, coming into her own.

Clayton Hamilton, New York dramatic critic, tells us that the drama originally was written for and acted by men. Greek drama in the days of Pericles was not attended by women, although audiences of 20,000 men were a usual thing.

Even in Shakespeare's time, women were not expected to attend plays. No women appeared on the stage, feminine roles being played by boys. Shakespeare's plays were written to appeal to men.

Moliere, the famous French playwright, did the same—his leading parts were written for and given to men. The women's parts did not amount to much.

In the last hundred years things have changed. When being one of the pioneers who wrote largely for women and gave his chief roles to women.

Now, women, we are told, form the greater part of the discriminating audiences of fine plays, and as a result women appear to appreciate the great possibilities of the drama more than men.

As for the change in theme, that of giving women the leading dramatic roles in more recently composed plays—is there not a reason? As long as woman was kept in the background of the home with no interest save her housekeeping, she was an undramatic figure. As soon as she became a personality in creation with problems, and ideals, and a struggle on her hands to get away from her subordinate servility—then she became interesting enough to be dramatic. Since then she has continued to be a creature to be reckoned with in the dramatic world.

Now, she not only occupies the chief roles in the drama, but a center seat in critics' row.

"Yes, because we have to grub to buy their tickets. We are too tired to go to one of your deep plays."

If husband says this there is only one thing for a wife to do. Take him to a musical comedy.

MARLOW'S FOR VALUES

VOCAL REFRAINS PROVE HIT IN DANCE RECORDS

When the vocal refrain first made its appearance in dance music, it met with instant response because of its novelty. Many dance music prophets foretold its early death, but the dancers decreed otherwise. It has not only remained, but has been developed into something as distinctive and colorful as the music of the instruments of the orchestra in many instances.

In the week's Victor record release, there is only one that does not have a vocal refrain. This exception is a waltz, Irving Berlin's "Because I Love You," and it is beautifully scored and played in a smooth, flowing style. Its companion is another Berlin composition, "Just a Little Longer," played in fox trot time by Philip Spotalny and his orchestra, with a finely sung vocal refrain.

"I'd Rather be the Girl in Your Arms," and "Sunday," are brilliant fox trots, recorded by Jean Goldkette and his orchestra. A solo guitar is heard at times with interesting effect, and the vocal refrains are by a trio of happily blended voices.

The guitar appears in another Victor release of the week in accompaniment to the vocal refrains in "Hello Blue Bird," and "Hugs and Kisses" recorded by Art Landry and his orchestra.

Correll and Goaden (Sam'n Henry) sing two melodious songs in fox trot time, "Meadow Lark," and "Kiss Your Baby, Good-Night."

There is suggestion of the near approach of Christmas in two old Christmas eve favorites, played for Victor on the grand organ by Mark Andrews: "Oh Come, All Ye Faithful," and "Silent Night."

BOY SCOUT ASSEMBLY HERE THIS EVENING

An assembly of all the Scout masters, assistants, troop and district committeemen as well as the fathers of scouts has been called for Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock at Cheney Hall. A roast beef and scalloped oysters supper will be served promptly at 6:30 p. m. The senior patrol leaders of the eight troops will be asked to serve as waiters.

Frederick C. Hill, scout executive of Hartford council, will deliver a short address illustrated by motion pictures. Mr. Hill will tell of his plans for the scouting program for the coming year.

Harold Williams, scout executive of Providence, will be the speaker of the evening. Mr. Williams is a very enthusiastic booster for scouting and in addition to being a splendid speaker he has proven to be an entertainer as well.

Letters have been sent out to all fathers of scouts and scout officials. Over eighty men have reported that they will be on hand for the supper at 6:30 p. m.

If there are any fathers or officials who cannot come for the supper—a special effort should be made to attend the meeting and hear what Scout Executive Fred C. Hill of Hartford and Harold Williams of Providence have to say.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

Trapped Coyote

By ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.
Only a wandering and thieving prairie wolf this, caught at last in a trap. His perchance has been levying on the barnyard flock of Plymouth Rocks, or the herd of Southdowns. Now he has come to the end of his thieving.

True, we moved into his haunts, the hills and valleys where for ages he had hunted the jack rabbit and ground squirrel. We shot his rabbits and poisoned his squirrels. Meantime, as these grew scarce he learned that hens were foolish creatures. So he ate, and now we have him here with his foot in the trap.

He sprung the trap early last night, and since then he alternately has crouched, shivering and dull-eyed, or has striven frantically to break his way to freedom. But with each effort the steel has bitten its way deeper.

Presently we see the skin dressed and satin-lined, thrown over the shoulders of some fair lady, or with several of his fellow sufferers, fashioned into an automobile coat.

Suppose the coyote which we have just seen in the trap, had been born a marten or mink, or civet, or muskrat. In that case he never would have harbored evil thoughts concerning a sheep, and might never have done a worse deed than to bite the root of the sweet-flag, or catch the wandering field mouse. But his suffering in the trap would have been just as keen.

No Other Enclosure Has These Features

1—On or off instantly

2—We supply a container

3—Perfect ventilation

Glassmobile can be put on or taken off quicker and easier than celluloid side curtains; without tools and from inside of the car if necessary. Every panel is a separate unit—you can use one, or as many as you wish.

Glassmobile takes up very little room—not much more than a set of celluloid curtains—and is carried in a shallow container which we supply with the set.

Glassmobile avoids the dangers and annoyances of sliding glass panels and yet permits better ventilation.

Be sure you see a touring car with this modern all-season enclosure installed before you buy a new car.

Feature at State Theater This Week

The Six Anderson Sisters, pictured above, are a feature on the State's vaudeville program this week. They play all kinds of musical instruments, sing, dance and smile prettily for about twenty minutes. They are really and truly sisters and all of 'em pretty as their photographs attest. Their names are, left to right, Roma, Nydia, Lilia (below), Alice (above), Rhea and Ollie.

IDOLS ARE CLEW TO AN OLD RACE

Tulsa, Okla.—Novaculite idols, believed to be the work of a race more ancient than the Indians, were discovered recently near Jonesboro, Ark. W. L. Foster, professor of science at the University of Tulsa, asserts the find will form a new link in scientific study of the old continental races.

of black trap stone, images or taper, frogs, eagles' heads, alligators and snakes, marbles of colored stone and a jewel box of lava-like materials, formed the collection. FLAPPER FANNY

When at first a girl doesn't succeed she can cry, cry again.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

An automobile driver had an arm taken off the other night. He put it about Gladys's waist and she took it off.

When your fiver won't start, be nonchalant—light a fire under it.

Traffic: The guy ahead threw her into reverse. Broke my front, but it might have been worse: Some hurlyin' boob tore off my door, but things like that don't make me sore; Along came a saphead that couldn't stop. So he went right over and ruined my top; I was sideswiped then by another, near The place where I usually sit to cheer; The top was ruined, the front was smashed; The door was gone and the sides all crashed; 'Twas then I got mad and lost my cheer— When some nut behind, asleep or Mashed in and spoiled my whole career.

The horn that makes the most noise in traffic is the greenhorn. Many a Ford has become a "high-powered car" over night by getting mixed up in a burglary story. Name: "I seen you taking a tramp along the river yesterday." Gert: "That wasn't no tramp; that was my husband."

There's always something to be thankful for. Right now it's that Progress hasn't demanded the tearing down of the churches to make room for filling stations.

He: Let's park here—the road is so rough. Gladys: It doesn't macadam.

Twinkle, twinkle little star, Grandpa bought a motor car, Pulled the lever back too far. Music by the G. A. R.

It may be all right to toot our motor horn, but it is a whole lot safer to use the brake.

Some of the motorists think they have made a great concession to the pedestrian when they let them use the sidewalk.

She (anxiously): Oh Archy, how far is it back to town? Archy (at the wheel): About two pair of oxfords.

Every woman who sets out to run down a man doesn't use an automobile.

Lives of speeders all remind us, We can make our lives a curse, And departing leave behind us, Orphans, anguish, graves and hearse.

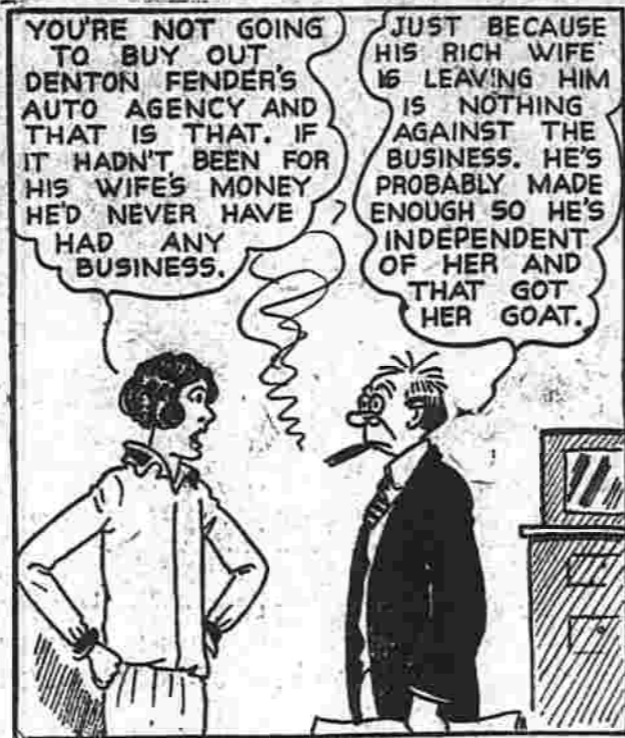

Gladys says that the dumbest girl she knows is the one who told her that a coupe is an inferior type of car, because every time she went out into the country the roads were lined with those that had stalled.

INTELLIGENCE TESTS

You should have no trouble naming the actress in the accompanying picture, but you may meet with difficulties answering the other questions. The correct answers appear on another page: 1—Who is shown in the accompanying picture? 2—In what city is Alexander Kerensky, president of the Russian republic in 1917, now residing? 3—Who was the Canton (Ohio) newspaper publisher who was murdered because of his fight against crime? 4—Professor Albert A. Michelson is a member of the faculty of what university? 5—How long did "Uncle Joe" Cannon serve in the national House of Representatives? 6—Who is postmaster general of the United States? 7—What ability made Annie Oakley famous? 8—At what public function did President Coolidge speak in Kansas City on last Armistice Day? 9—Who is premier of Great Britain? 10—What is meant by "Hara-Kiri"?

The Tinymites at dawn arose and quickly jumped into their clothes. How very neat the garments looked, all epic and span and white. They'd hung upon a long clothes line which made them hot their sha e real fine. It surely s a happy hunch to leave them all night. Said Scouty, "Now that we are dressed, let's run along. I think it best that we all leave this place before somebody comes along. Of course we've had a good time here, but we are in the wrong, I fear, for after all is said and done, 'tis not where we belong." So out they ran by twos and fours and when they reached the great outdoors they surely were surprised to see the farmer in the yard. They hid before he saw them, too, and Clowny said, "What shall we do—If he should ever find us he will make it mighty hard." "Run to the barn," someone replied. "We'll have to sneak around the side, and when we reach the

MUSICAL ACT IS STATE'S FEATURE

Six Anderson Sisters Make Hit—All Five Acts Good—Picture a Scream.

(By Member Herald Staff.) Six young ladies from out of the West billed as the "Six Anderson Sisters" lead the State's vaudeville bill this week in all around entertainment value. The six sisters are musicians of exceptional ability. Some of them dance, some of them sing and all of them are good to look at. The stage setting for their act is beautiful.

Right on the heels of the six sisters this week are two others of the five acts—Al H. Wilson and Amazon and Nile. Al Wilson tells stories so fast that he'll keep you sitting right on the edge of your seat so you won't miss any of them. He strums a guitar, sings some pretty songs and tells some pre-war incidents that are heart-breaking for an old timer. Amazon and Nile are acrobats and contortionists. They present a clever opening and they don't carry their contortionist stunt to extremes.

Marty and Nancy open the bill with some clever clogging and bits of chatter that are amusing. They have with them a little lady, their own, not yet four years old, who can sing, Charleston and entertain delightfully.

Good "trap" comedy is hard to find, but Marino and Martin have an act that is chock full of it. They make a lot out of a letter from Pittsburgh and conclude their act with good harmony. Martin plays the piano and Marino has a surprisingly good voice.

The photoplay in conjunction with the vaudeville is of the usual high standard found at the State theater. Doris Kenyon and Lloyd Hughes are featured in "Ladies at Play." The comedy situations are furnished by two elderly ladies, staid and demure, who become shockingly sophisticated before the play is over.

Backstage Notes

(These notes are picked up through conversation with the actors and actresses at the State Theater by a Herald man. They will serve as an informal introduction to the people who are here to entertain you this week.)

Marty and Nancy are man and wife. The last name is Marty and they come from Philadelphia. Little Leo, their cute little daughter made her first stage appearance when two years old. She played for an Elks Christmas benefit in Philadelphia. She isn't yet four years old.

Al H. Wilson has been calling himself Smith in the hope that he might win a little of the other Al's popularity. Al knows everything there is about shows. He owned a troupe for several years, and his stories backstage are even better than those that get across the footlights.

Marino and Martin have been together for five years and they've played every house on the Keith circuit as well as most of the other vaudeville chains. Martin's right name is Tony Martin and Marino's first name is Frank. Tony played a Fox medicine show for a number of years when movies were first brought out. They had to steal their current from trolley wires using a hooked pole for a connection and dropped their rheostats in barrels of water for resistance. The mustache Tony wears out front is false.

Amazon and Nile is a fictitious name for the couple that come on the stage in the last act. They are

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Niles, if you please. Mr. and Mrs. Niles have played their act for many years and have been on the stage in every country and continent on the face of the globe. Since there are no spoken words in their act they go across as well in Africa or Abyssinia as they do in Chicago or Oshkosh.

The Six Anderson Sisters really are sisters. Their father, Chris O. Anderson travels with them. Their home is in Seattle, Washington, and the girls are all graduates of the high school of that city. They studied music and dancing while going to school and have been together for six years. Practically every vaudevillian knows the act and speaks highly of it.

TWO LOCAL CASES IN SUPERIOR COURT

Only One Manchester Man Involved, Other One is From Out of Town.

Two Manchester cases are among the 140 listed for a hearing in Hartford superior court when the December term opens next Tuesday morning. There were three, but one appeal has been vacated, that of Wilbur Markham, charged with violation of the dog license law and convicted in the local court.

One of the two cases will be for alleged robbery. Phillip Salenik of Worcester, will be charged with theft of $1,000 from Anthony Pridokko of 60 North street, William Lewis of Charter Oak street who also took an appeal from the decision handed down in the local court, will have his troubles aimed. He is charged with intoxication, breach of the peace and assault.

"Her Big Adventure" and "Prowlers of the Night" Showing Tomorrow.

For tomorrow only the Circle will present a bang-up double feature bill, "Prowlers of the Night" starring Fred Humes and "Her Big Adventure" with Herbert Rawlinson and Grace Darmond. They will make up a first class double feature program. Things happen, fast and furious, in "Her Big Adventure," the picture is packed with action and unique situations that will keep the audience guessing and gasping in turn, according to advance reports. It is a comedy crook melodrama containing all of the elements of good clean entertainment and is ideally suited to Herbert Rawlinson, who plays the leading role. He is supported by the winsome and popular Grace Darmond.

Fred Humes, the newest of Western stars, makes his debut in the five-reel form of cowboy drama, in "Prowlers of the Night." The story deals with love and hate on the open range when a young sheriff finds that the lawbreaker who wounded him in battle, is the parent of the girl he loves. Beautiful Barbara Kent plays the role of the girl, while the cast includes "Slim Cole," "Baldy" Belmont and John T. Prince.

"The Honeymoon Express" and "The Devil's Partner," two top notch features are being shown for the last times tonight at the Circle.

TOWN PLAYERS MEET
The Town Players meet this evening at 7 o'clock in the reception room at the Recreation Center. Important matters are to be taken up and a full attendance is desired. New members are always welcome. A full rehearsal of "Dulcy," the comedy to be presented by the Town Players at the Circle theater on December 9th, will be held at the Recreation Center this evening.

The Manchester Green Community club will hold its regular meeting this evening in the assembly hall of the school. The entertainment following the business will be in charge of Miss Ella Peckham.

Lady Roberts Lodge, Daughters of St. George will hold a sale of aprons, useful and fancy articles and homemade breads, cakes and pies, many of them made from English recipes, at Watkins Brothers' store Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

The official board of the Church of the Nazarene will meet this evening at 7:30.

Mrs. Grace Lathrop of Benton street is chairman of the roast chicken supper which Mystic Review, Woman's Benefit Association will serve in Tinker hall Monday evening. The meal, which will include chicken and all the accompaniments, will be served from six to eight o'clock, previous to the regular meeting and election of officers. The supper is open to the husbands and friends of Mystic Review members, and the proceeds are for the general fund.

Mrs. Carrie Taylor's piano pupils gave a pleasing recital at her home on Woodbridge street last evening, to which they had the privilege of inviting their friends. At the close of the program ice cream and cake was served and games were played. The pupils presented to their teacher a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums and a large layer cake.

Miss Ella L. Washburn, supervisor of the kindergartens of the Ninth district schools, was called to her home in Nashua, N. H. yesterday morning by news of the sudden death of her father, who died of heart disease.

Word has been received today of the death of John, 11 months old son of Ensign and Mrs. Albert Jackson of Washington, D. C. Burial of the infant will be at the East cemetery Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Jackson will be remembered as Miss Pearl Robb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robb of Orchard street.

Miss Helen Bodreau of 107 Hill street, formerly assistant director of recreation at the West Side Recreation Center, and more recently at the Manchester Country Club, will hereafter be in charge of the buffet at the School Street Recreation Center. Miss Bodreau will begin her duties Monday afternoon when the cafeteria will be open from five o'clock throughout the evening. If there is a demand for refreshments at noon or in the afternoon during the Christmas shopping season, Miss Bodreau will consider meeting it.

Confirmation classes are being held today at St. Mary's Episcopal church in charge of the curate, Rev. David Kelley, in preparation for confirmation at the morning service Sunday when the Right Reverend E. Campion Acheson, D. D., bishop co-adjutor of Connecticut will be present for this purpose.
