

HELLO-LONDON SERVICE BEGINS THEN STUTTERS

Officials Open Regular Commercial Telephony But Call It Off After Two Hours, "Temporarily."

New York, Jan. 7.—The voice of the old world sounded across the Atlantic today and the voice of the new world echoed back. Then it died out.

At 8:44 o'clock this morning commercial radio-telephone service was inaugurated for the first time in history between New York and London.

The telephone conversation lasted five minutes and parties at both ends heard each other distinctly, although there was some static. The buzz of a telephone bell marked a new stage in communication between the two worlds, a step that is far cry from the days when letters sent by clipper ships, spanning across the seas in three or four weeks, were the only means of communication, a step that is even far in advance of the instantaneous cable flashes, the radio waves, and the six-day ocean greyhound that has afforded communication up to today.

Call Temporary Halt

The service, after some two hours of satisfactory service, was temporarily discontinued, due to heavy static, it was announced by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The company refused to divulge the number of calls which had been completed, or the amount of tolls taken, merely stating that commercial communication had been accomplished, and that except for periods of heavy static, would be kept up continuously. It was hoped to resume communication with London later in the day.

Started at 8:44. The New York and London stations were turned in at 8:43 1-2 and at 8:44 o'clock London and New York were ready to talk.

Walter E. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., sitting in the telephone company's office in New York, talked with Sir G. Evelyn P. Murray, secretary of the General Post Office of Great Britain, for two minutes. Then Sir Evelyn Murray, in London, talked to Gifford for three minutes.

"We could hear each other clearly," said Gifford, "although there was more static than during previous tests."

There was no blare of trumpets to the epoch-making ceremony. It was a simple affair—sixty members of the official "family" of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, with a dozen newspapermen, clustered quietly around a green-baize table in the directors' room.

Twenty telephones before an equal number of chairs around the table permitted the more fortunate occupants to share in this scientific achievement.

After an introductory address by Gifford to those present, he picked up the receiver of an ordinary telephone before him at the head of the table.

"Hello, Give Me London." His guests adjusted their earpieces.

LONDONERS SPEND $1,875 ON OCEAN TELEPHONY.

London, Jan. 7.—The first trans-Atlantic commercial radio telephone service has been "fairly satisfactory," the Post Office Department announced this afternoon.

The first hour and a quarter of service saw ten calls completed from the English side, netting approximately $1,875 in tolls. An equal number of calls were understood to have been completed from the American side.

ALL HANDS FORGIVE DISBARRED LAWYER

Attorneys, Judges, Boost For One Time Blackmailer; He Is Reinstated.

Hartford, Jan. 7.—Albert A. Greenberg, of New Britain, was reinstated as a member of the Connecticut bar by Judge Newell S. Jennings in Superior Court here today after a hearing at which many of the most prominent lawyers of the state were present, to testify in Greenberg's favor.

Among those who testified were Lucius S. Robinson, president of the county bar, Joseph E. Berry, Judge B. P. Gaffney, of New Britain, and Benjamin W. Alling, attorney general.

In addition a letter was received from Judge Isaac Wolfe before whom the disbarment proceedings were heard in 1922. Judge Wolfe declared he had no objection to the reinstatement.

Many Lawyers Aid Greenberg also presented a petition signed by nearly every New Britain lawyer.

Hugh M. Alcorn, state's attorney, declared he was reluctant, because of the original charges, to favor Greenberg's reinstatement but that in view of the character of the men testifying for Greenberg he would waive all objections.

Mr. Greenberg was disbarred in January, 1922, after he was convicted on a charge of blackmail and fined $500.

Joseph H. Peck represented Mr. Greenberg.

TO MOVE AMERICAN WOMEN, CHILDREN

Preparations Making to Evacuate U. S. Non-Combatants From Hankow.

Pekin, Jan. 7.—Sixty American women and children have left Hankow for Shanghai on a British merchant-man, according to advices received here.

Shanghai, Jan. 7.—The situation at Hankow was reported today to be one of watchful tension. Women and children have been evacuated from the British concession, and all business has been suspended. A general strike still impends.

The British forces of volunteers are keeping out of sight as far as possible and bear no arms. The Nationalist leaders are apparently doing their best to hold the throngs in control, but without great success. The mobs of Chinese that have taken over public buildings refuse to permit the British entry.

Two American gunboats have taken up their positions near the American properties along the Hankow Bund. Changes are made here in some quarters that Bolshevik leaders are heading the anti-British demonstrations.

Preparing To Move London, Jan. 7.—Preparations are being made for the evacuation of American women and children from Hankow, according to reports received here in responsible quarters today. This may indicate that the animosity of the Chinese in Hankow, which has been directed chiefly against the British, has now turned towards all foreigners.

Reports that the Cantonese had withdrawn from Hankow were denied in reliable quarters, it being stated that the Nationalist military are still in control there.

'CHICK' GANDIL BELLIGERENTLY BACKS RISBERG

Pay-Off Man Declares Swede Told Truth But Didn't Know It All; Defies Accused "Bullies."

Chicago, Jan. 7.—An affidavit bearing the signature of Arnold (Chick) Gandil, which fully substantiates the charges made by (Swede) Risberg that the White Sox "bought" a four-game series from Detroit in 1917, was made public today.

Gandil arrived in Chicago last night in answer to the summons of Commissioner Landis. He announced that he would attend the hearing in the commissioner's office today and repeat the substance of his affidavit, which corroborates in almost every detail the story told by Risberg.

"I met Bill James under the grandstand at Comiskey park before the first game," Gandil's statement reads. "Bill said to me, 'These are going to be pretty soft games,' and I said, 'well, Bill, if it goes all right, I will see that you are fixed up for it.'"

Gandil said he was perfectly willing to go before Commissioner Landis and tell his story, but he served notice that he would take no bullies.

Swede "Too Easy" "If they try any of that, I'll just pick up my hat and go home," he said. "That was the trouble with Risberg. The Swede was too easy with those fellows. He was telling the truth, but he let them bluff him out of it. No one had better call me a liar within my hearing."

Gandil presented a belligerent front as he prepared to go before Judge Landis.

"I've been accused of a lot of things," said Gandil. "I'm kept out of organized baseball despite my acquittal of wrongdoing by a jury. I'm not going to talk just to get even with the fellows who have thrown me down. 'I'm going to talk because Landis asked for what I know and I've decided to tell it, whether it hurts the hypocrites or not."

"What Swede has told is true. He couldn't tell all the story because he didn't know it. I can tell it and no man can scare me."

THREATENS PAL ON WAY TO THE CHAIR

Only Wanted Chance to Save Executioner Job as Trio Go To Death.

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Three more murderers have paid the supreme penalty for the crime in the death chair at Sing Sing prison.

The men, all negroes, were put to death for killing William M. Young, an aged watchman, during a hold-up in New York City. They were Charles Goldson, Edgar Humes and George Williams.

Williams made an unsuccessful effort to cheat the chair of its toll. He had fastened four towels together for a noose to hang himself. His plan was frustrated several hours before the execution. Humes, who believed his conviction was due to the fact that Williams "squealed" to the police, threatened the latter as he was being taken to the death chamber.

"If I had a chance," he said, "I'd save the executioner the trouble of killing you and wring your neck myself."

ANOTHER GREENWICH SCHOOL IS DESTROYED

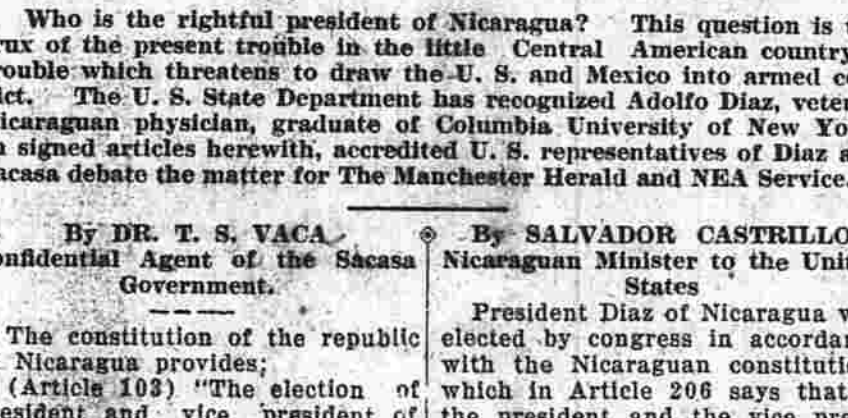

Edgewood Institution, Widely Known, Burns With Loss of Over $150,000.

WHICH MAN IS LEGAL HEAD OF NICARAGUA?

Respective Representatives in the United States.

Dr. T. S. Vaca

Salvador Castriello

Who is the rightful president of Nicaragua? This question is the crux of the present trouble in the little Central American country, which threatens to draw the U. S. and Mexico into armed conflict. The U. S. State Department has recognized Adolfo Diaz, veteran Nicaraguan physician, graduate of Columbia University of New York. In signed articles herewith, accredited U. S. representatives of Diaz and Sacasa debate the matter for The Manchester Herald and NEA Service.

By DR. T. S. VACA, Confidential Agent of the Sacasa Government.

The constitution of the republic of Nicaragua provides: (Article 103) "The election of president and vice president of the republic shall be by popular vote, direct and public. In 1924 Carlos Solozano was elected president and Juan B. Sacasa vice president in what is considered the fairest election ever held in Nicaragua."

(Article 106) "In case of the absolute or temporary default of the president, the executive power shall devolve upon the vice president." Mr. Solozano resigned in January, 1926, and Dr. Juan B. Sacasa is now the constitutional president of Nicaragua.

The farcical election of Adolfo Diaz by a rump congress as president of the republic cannot in any way alter the legal aspect of the case.

Not Legal Congress. It was not a legal congress, but even if it had been it would not have had the constitutional authority to elect a president. Chamorro, by force unsated, eviled, or imprisoned all his political opponents in congress and supplemented the minority left by calling the Conservative candidates who had been defeated by the Liberals in 1924.

Chamorro, by means of his rump congress, tried to create a vacancy in the office of vice president by impeaching Dr. Sacasa. Article 123 of the constitution provides that in impeachment proceedings congress has power to refer the case to the supreme court, which has the power to render the final decision. The impeachment of Dr. Sacasa was never referred to the supreme court, even after the "Diaz" revolution sent to jail several members of the supreme court, and reorganized the said body at his will.

Dr. Juan B. Sacasa has been and will continue to be the president of Nicaragua, in accordance with the expressed provisions of the constitution, until Jan. 1, 1928. Diaz, being clearly a usurper, is barred from recognition by Act 2 of the Washington pacts of 1923.

WIFE-MURDERER SHOT DEAD BY GAME WARDEN

British Columbia Man Chases Magistrate, Stands Off Crowd, Dies Fighting.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 7.—Armed with two rifles, George Barden, garage man, shot and killed his wife in the house next door to their own at Pentlton, B. C. and was fatally wounded in an exchange of shots with J. Robertson, provincial game warden.

Hearing a woman screaming as he passed the Steele residence on his way to court, Magistrate T. A. Pope ran into the house, where he said, he found Barden, gun in hand beating and kicking his wife, who lay upon the floor in the front room.

PLENTY GREASE REALLY MODEST SAYS SWIMMER

Mrs. Schoemmel Insists She Will Wear Nothing Else to Catalina; Protests Fail in Council.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7.—While Mrs. Charlotte Moore Schoemmel who arrived here from New York today was announcing that she would not wear a bathing suit in the Catalina channel swim, the City Council issued a statement in which it declared that it was without jurisdiction to keep the contestants from entering the swim clad only in an axle grease bathing costume.

The council's action was taken following the receipt of a communication last Monday from Robert M. Smithers, Los Angeles resident, in which he demanded that the council take some action to ban the axle grease suit "on moral grounds and also to protect the swimmers from the giant barracuda."

Mrs. Schoemmel, mother of two children, was emphatic in her defense of the axle grease suit. "There is nothing immodest about it," she declared. "A ten-cent suit of axle grease is really more modest than the one-piece bathing suit now commonly worn."

Officials announced today that 125 swimmers will start in the Catalina race.

AIMEE McPHERSON TO GO A-LECTURING

Will Start Tuesday, Whatever Happens on Monday With Relation to Trial.

Los Angeles, Jan. 7.—Aimee McPherson announced today that she was planning to leave Los Angeles next Tuesday on her lecture tour of the United States.

No matter what the outcome of her case, which will be decided one way or the other on Monday as to whether she is to be tried or not, the famous evangelist said she was going to take advantage of the "vacation" granted her by her church, Angelus Temple, and combine play with work for five or six weeks.

The noted woman pastor's first lecture would be delivered in Denver. Mrs. McPherson declared that Dean Peck, Judge Lindsey and other prominent Denver men have requested her to lecture in that city.

From Denver Mrs. McPherson said she plans to continue on to the Atlantic seaboard, passing through and lecturing in Kansas City, Chicago, New York, Baltimore, more, Washington and New Orleans.

WARTIME ACTIVITY AT HAMPTON ROADS

Two Cruisers, Three Destroyers Sail to Reinforce Fleet at Nicaragua.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 7.—Hampton Roads took on a warlike appearance today with the sailing of five warships for "warships" in Nicaraguan waters. The vessels were the cruisers Marblehead and Cincinnati and destroyers Smith Thompson, Barker and Osborne.

The loading of the ships with emergency supplies was accomplished last night under the rays of searchlights from a dozen sister ships. It carried observers back to the stirring days, of 1917-18 when the Roads were filled with activity night and day.

There was a bustle of activity today aboard the cruisers Raleigh, Milwaukee, Trenton and Concord, part of the squadron to which the Marblehead and Cincinnati were attached, indicating they have been instructed to hold themselves in readiness for orders.

With the withdrawal of the cruisers and destroyers from the scouting fleet, the program of maneuvers off the Cuban coast has been smashed.

CANAL TREATY FAKE ASSERTS SEN. BORAH

SINISTER CLUE TO MRS. HOUCK FOUND

Bloody Scarf Belonging to Missing Woman Fished Out of Potomac.

Washington, Jan. 7.—What the police regard as the most tangible clue yet in the disappearance of Mrs. Gladys Walter Houck, wife of the mentally deranged Dr. Knute Houck, was turned up here today in the form of a brown silk scarf, bearing blood spots and identified as belonging to the missing woman.

Near Frequented Spot It was fished out of the Potomac river by George Bashford, a navy yard employe, near Giesboro Point where the doctor and his wife frequently went for walks.

Mrs. Houck has been missing since December 15. Several days after her disappearance, Dr. Houck was found, apparently insane, at Hornell, N. Y. He is now under medical observation at Walter Reed hospital.

$8 PER CASE WAS COAST GUARD FEE

So Former Patrol Skipper Testifies in Big Rum Ring Trial.

New York, Jan. 7.—Further revelations concerning alleged relations between rum-runners and Coastguardsmen, were given today at the trial of 18 men indicted on charges of operating a $5,000,000 rum ring, by Nicholas Brown, of Boston, formerly commander of the Coast Guard boat No. 126.

Brown corroborated testimony previously given by William R. Hughes, a member of his crew, who told the court about co-operation between the bootleggers and the crew of the CG-126. Brown who is a prosecution witness, although he was one of those indicted, said that the "cheery relations" between the "Vincent White" and the vessel alleged to have been operated by the rum ring and the members of his boat, began in the fall of 1925.

Got $8 a Case The crew of the "Vincent White," Brown said, asked the Coastguardsmen for cigarettes. In exchange, he said, the Coastguardsmen were presented with fresh meat and whiskey.

Brown said the entire crew got drunk on the whiskey, and boarded the "Vincent White" the next morning. They then agreed, he said, to convey small boats bearing liquor from the Vincent White to the mainland. For each case brought ashore, he said, the Coastguardsmen received eight dollars.

SAY MELLON BACKED WOOD'S APPOINTMENT

Senator Goff Says I. C. C. Man Was Linked With Secretary in Coal Interests.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was named today before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee as the "real influence" behind the appointment of Cyrus E. Woods of Pennsylvania, to the Interstate Commerce Committee.

Voicing strong opposition to Wood's appointment, on the grounds that he had been associated with Pennsylvania coal interests, Senator Goff, Republican of West Virginia, declared that Mellon, who has an interest in the Pittsburgh Coal Co., was "more responsible than any one else" for the appointment.

5 PER CENT SAVINGS BANK IN PENNSYLVANIA CLOSES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 7.—The Pittsburgh Deposit and Title Co., believed to have been the only banking institution in Western Pennsylvania which paid five per cent on savings accounts, was closed here today by the State Banking Department. Frozen assets was assigned as the cause. The bank had capital stock listed at $125,000, with assets of $1,231,393.40.

Declares It Was Made By Setting Up Clerk of An American Corporation as President of Nicaragua; Denounces U. S. Action After Seeing Coolidge; Naval Gesture Aimed at Mexico Is Belief in Washington; Kellogg Delays Appearance Before Senate Inquirers.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The front steps of the White House were turned today into an impromptu debating ground for the airing of conflicting opinions concerning the American intervention in Nicaragua, as between Secretary of State Kellogg and Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

Borah, after a conference with President Coolidge, emerged from the White House and, after expressing the opinion that the State Department had erred in recognizing the Diaz government, said: "We have no business in Nicaragua."

Secretary of State Kellogg, emerging after the cabinet meeting, said: "The only way we can protect American interests in Nicaragua is by stopping the fighting there, and we intend to do it."

"In my opinion," continued Borah, "Dr. Sacasa is the constitutional president of the country and should have been recognized under the five-power central American treaty."

President Sacasa is recognized by Mexico, while the State Department recognizes Adolfo Diaz, and has dispatched warships and marines to support his regime and to prevent Sacasa from getting arms from Mexican sources.

"So far as the Nicaraguan Treaty is concerned, we made it for ourselves. We sent marines down there in 1911. They killed 150 Nicaraguans and set up a clerk for an American corporation as president. It was with this bargain we negotiated the Bryan-Chamorro treaty."

Borah scouted the state department's contention that the Sacasa revolutionists are menacing American lives and property.

"I have just received," he said, "a letter from an American business man who has been in Nicaragua for seventeen years. He has all his interest in the very heart of the territory controlled by Sacasa. He says he has never seen or heard of any American property being seized or damaged, and that American lives have been taken in the present revolution. Nor, he says, have any American lives or property been threatened by either side down there."

"We have no business in Nicaragua," Borah declined to discuss his conference with Mr. Coolidge.

Secretary Kellogg declared that Dr. Sacasa was out of the country when recognition was extended to Diaz.

"Does anybody think," the secretary of state continued, "that we could bring him back to Nicaragua and recognize him?"

Secretary Kellogg explained that after the Chamorro revolution, the Nicaraguan congress elected a man named Uriza as president but this government refused to recognize him on the ground of irregularities in the congress that accomplished it.

"Then the Nicaraguan congress reconvened under the constitution and elected Diaz," he continued, "and he was recognized by this government."

"These are the facts. Anybody who says the present government is not the constitutional government of Nicaragua is wrong."

Secretary Kellogg was asked as to whether Mexico Uriza as president has rights as a sovereign nation in selling arms and ammunition to the Sacasa faction.

"Oh, I'm not going to answer that," he replied.

Asked further concerning Mexico's recognition of Sacasa as the constitutional president of the country, the secretary said: "I don't intend to go into any general discussion of the matter."

So far as proof of Mexico's supplying the Sacasa faction with arms is concerned, Kellogg said: "Everybody knows where the ships came from."

Kellogg said, however, that Mexico's selling arms to the Sacasa rebels was construed by this government as "an unfriendly act against the government in power."

COOLIDGE BEATEN ON DIRIGIBLE PLAN

Administration Men Vote For Big Blimp Which President Opposed.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Disregarding the protests of the champions of the budget system and governmental economy, the "big navy" men claimed their first victory yesterday when the House by a rising vote of 132 to 69 passed an amendment to the naval bill granting an initial appropriation of $200,000 one of the two dirigibles which President Coolidge had specifically disapproved in his budget message.

This appropriation will be applied to drawing plans and opening bids for a 6,000,000 cubic foot helium-filled dirigible, whose final cost is limited by the amendment to $4,500,000. It probably will be constructed at Lakehurst, N. J.

Party Lines Vanish

With even more zest than was shown during the tax reduction debates a year ago, the Administration was opposed by hitherto Administration men. It was a fight with clearly drawn lines—economy on one side and national defense on the other—in which party designations did not figure.

Strident attacks on the budget system, on economy and on the comparative dirigible strength of various nations, featured yesterday's action, regarded here as a forerunner of the fight on the three cruisers which by agreement, will take place today.

Another proposal offered by Representative Vinson, of Georgia, to increase the amount for naval air-plane construction—cut in half by the budget bureau—failed by the narrow margin of 65 to 30. On both proposals the vote was taken standing and no record vote was made. Representatives John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, majority leader, and B. H. Snell, of New York, chairman of the Rules Committee, voted against both amendments.

Puts Responsibility on Congress

The Constitution of the United States was quoted by Representative James T. Beggs, of Ohio, a member of the Republican Steering Committee, who introduced the dirigible amendment and started the debate, as placing the full responsibility for the national defense on Congress.

Addressing a crowded house, Mr. Beggs declared: "I challenge any man to show me a provision that releases me from that responsibility. I have no quarrel with any man who votes for the smallest possible army or navy, but I do have a quarrel with one who believes in one thing and then votes for another."

Congress, Mr. Beggs contended, is authorized these two dirigibles at a cost of $4,000,000 each. "Show me," he said, "a nation, big or little, that has abandoned its lighter than air defense. I, for one, deplore the administration's suggestion that this government should halt work on its dirigible construction pending the conclusion of tests by Great Britain with craft of this type."

BRITAIN SWINGS AXE OF ECONOMY TO SAVE MONEY

Seven Month Coal Strike Forces Government Into Difficult Position.

London.—The British Government is about to swing the "Economy Axe" in a way of which the ancient Viking never dreamed.

A seven months, disastrous coal strike is ended and now the bill has to be met. "How to meet it," is the question not only awaiting Winston Churchill as keeper of the nation's purse, but every spending Department of the Government.

If it were merely a question of paying for the actual cost of the strike itself, the outlook would not be so serious. But its indirect effects have absolutely crippled British trade and industry and dried up all the usual fountains of revenue.

Four Plans Open

Four courses have already been decided upon by the Government. Every spending Department has been peremptorily ordered to cut down its next year's estimates to the very bone, even at the risk of a loss of efficiency in some directions. In the second place the Government has decided to avoid all fresh taxes on food, if possible. Thirdly, new taxation, direct and indirect on all luxuries—including beer and tobacco—is regarded as inevitable. Lastly, an increase in income tax, already strained almost to breaking point, is regarded as inevitable.

The Government knows it is facing the gravest unpopularity. But it is influenced by the fact that, to take one tangible instance, the collection of income tax for the year is already $150,000,000 down. What the deficiency will be by the end of the financial year it is possible to state. But the indirect effects on other sources of revenue have not yet begun to come in.

Many Bankruptcies

A sidelight on the situation is shown in South Wales where bankruptcies are occurring daily and hundreds of traders and professional men are being summoned in the courts daily for non-payment of municipal assessments and trading debts.

Premier Baldwin is determined to handle the situation much as he handled the funding of the British debt to America. He believes the situation must be retrieved at the earliest moment. Whoever the individual sacrifices through heavy taxation may be, and the Government will act on those lines.

RUSSIAN POLICE IN ROUND UP OF TIFLIS FANATICS

Odd Religious Movement Paralyzed Activities In Hundreds of Communities.

Moscow.—Arresting twenty-five persons including many priests, the police of four districts of Georgia in the vicinity of Tiflis have broken up a fanatical religious movement which for nearly a year had disrupted the economic life of hundreds of farming communities and caused the loss of thousands of tons of grain. The police action cut short an epidemic of pseudo epilepsy which had disabled hundreds.

Described by psychiatrists as an extraordinary example of mass hysteria, the movement started with the report of a poor peasant, Thomas Sobadze, concerning a miracle which had happened to him. He swore to the assembled village that a plot of black grain jumped off the table and hit him in the face.

Proved the Miracle

He proved the miracle by pointing to his face. Sure enough, it was covered by black grain. He was sure the pot had hit him because twelve years ago the Holy Virgin had appeared to him in a cloud and ordered him to dig for holy relics in a field back of the church. He had failed to obey the order, and hence came the pot to punish him.

Far from anyone venturing to suggest that he had gone to sleep and fallen into the grain pot, everybody in the village immediately declared that Thomas had the elements of sainthood in him, and the entire population stopped all work to repair to the graveyard where they dug for relics.

A number of bones were exhumed and installed in the local church amid great enthusiasm. News of the discovery spread to surrounding parishes, and the church of Zalki did nothing for pilgrims and the center of the greatest "religious" movement known in Georgia during the last century.

Peasants Forgot Harvests

Peasants from hundreds of miles away forgot their harvests to journey to Zalki. The Soviet authorities could do nothing to stop the migration. Its effects grew worse when an epileptic fell down in a fit before the bones and uttered cries which the crowd of spectators interpreted as messages from on high. Immediately dozens of persons in the crowd were seized by violent fits, and within a week a god fraction of the population was disabled.

After Soviet agronomes had reported that the movement threatened to spoil the entire harvest of a considerable part of Georgia, the police took a hand. They arrested by violent fits, and within a week a god fraction of the population was disabled.

The length of the play will necessitate beginning at 1:30 p. m. The committee of arrangements includes Mrs. Carmela Aloisio, Mrs. James W. Farr and Mrs. Joseph A. Parr.

PRISON SYSTEM IS FARCE: JAIL A JOY, SAYS GOV.

Florida's Chief Executive Raps Present System of Administering Justice.

Tallahassee, Fla. — Declaring that instead of punishment, criminals in American prisons were given a luxurious place in which to live in idleness while their families dependent on them remained at home in despondent conditions, and that the present system of administering justice with its myriads of legal technicalities was a farce, Governor John W. Martin, of Florida, condemned the present judicial and prison system of the United States and will seek its complete reform.

"We are not punishing our criminals and many of those whom should be punished are saved through one fool writ after another issued by some judge," Governor Martin told International News Service.

"A man convicted of a crime is not punished, but just given a comfortable bed, good wholesome food, a healthy form of light exercise that keeps him in the best of condition and he has little to do to support himself while his wife and children, already disgraced by his actions and the fact that he is a convict, remain at home striving to earn their own living. It is not the criminal that needs his help, it is his family that needs his help and the taxpayer who supports him," Governor Martin emphasized.

Innocent Suffer

"The innocent and not the criminal suffer for a crime under our present system of justice," he said.

The Florida governor, showed where there were two negroes, one convicted on a charge of murder and another charged with assault who have been avoiding the death penalty for over four years because of writs, new trials and appeals granted by higher courts and although he has signed a score of death warrants for the execution of the two, the warrants were cancelled each time. Another instance was shown where one Florida county had refused to pay for the keep of a person found guilty of murder because of the delay in his execution from one year to another at a tremendous cost to the county in which he was tried.

Governor Martin condemned delay in justice where heinous crimes have been committed and their perpetrators go without proper punishment because of the slow technical American judicial system while some with large families dependent upon them are sentenced to several years imprisonment when a small quantity of liquor is found in their possession.

EIGHT FISHERMEN LOST ON VANCOUVER COAST

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 7.—Two white men and six Indians are believed to have perished through the foundering of the Seine fishing vessel Jessie Island No. 4 off the west coast of Vancouver Island. The vessel left Chemainus December 26 for Berkeley Sound. It was found today a total wreck by Bamfield lifeboats.

JURY GETS MOONSHINE CASE OF POLICE CHIEF

Boston, Jan. 7.—The cases of Chief Walter A. Hill and eight defendants in the so-called Wilmington rum ring trial went to the jury today. Judge Lowell charged the jury at length when court opened. Chief Hill and the others involved are charged with violation of the prohibition and revenue laws. It is alleged by the government that the police head was involved in moonshine making with bootleggers at the Stevens farm, Wilmington.

Henry Fanning, former umpire of the Texas League, who has been engaged to officiate in the Pacific Coast League next season, has only one arm.

The Men's Friendship Club of the South Methodist church will hold a social on Monday evening at the church. A short business session will be held at 7:30 but at 8:15 the meeting will take a social tinge. Refreshments will be served and an entertainment provided.

The high light of the evening will be an address by Rev. Edgar Eells on "The Cheer Up Man."

THIRTY MEN INVOLVED IN POLICE-HIJACKERS BATTLE

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 7.—Jack Burgo of this city is dying in a hospital with a bullet in his head, victim of a battle between police, run runners and hi-jackers on the road between Dartmouth and Westport. Nearly 30 men were involved in the night fight, details of which are obscure. Twelve men are under arrest here.

STOPS ANY COLD IN A FEW HOURS

"Pape's Cold Compound" opens clogged nose and head—ends gripe

Relief comes instantly.

A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will drive away the gripe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffing! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only thirty-five cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine—Adv.

Interests Issue Letter Indicating Views On New RUBBER POOL IN U.S. WORRYING BRITISH GROUPS

London.—Considered British opinion on the new Rubber "Pool" in the United States can best be gauged by the circular letter issued by Symington and Sinclair, the well-known British firm.

It italicizes two sentences from a "Times" report: "The organization by a pool by a group of rubber manufacturers and motor car manufacturers for the purpose of buying a substantial quantity of crude rubber, to forestall possible attempts to artificially increase the price of rubber through restriction measures, is reported."

"The purchased rubber will be used to supply the manufacturers when restrictions raise the price, or to hold it over the market to prevent prices rising unduly."

The comment of the circular on this is instructive, as representing British trade opinion:

Hand to Hand Policy

"We think," says the circular, "that the Pool represents an effort to work with restriction to achieve something like stability of price for both producer and manufacturer. In our last Annual Review we made the following statement:

"So long as the manufacturers insist on a hand-to-hand policy with their supply, so long will they be liable to be caught short and to find themselves compelled to pay abnormal prices. The cry for a 'Stabilized Price' comes very largely from manufacturers. A 'Stabilized Price' we believe, is an impossible ideal, but manufacturers have the remedy for very violent fluctuations largely in their own hands and can do more for themselves in this direction than anyone else can do for them by carrying sufficient reserves of stock thus preventing sudden squeezes."

"This fact," continues the circular, "has been recognized for many years by consumers the whole world over, and particularly by the large American manufacturers with their combined consumption of more than 30,000 tons per month. Producers and others interested in the Rubber Market have blamed the buyers for lack of foresight in not buying rubber when it was cheap and scrambling for it when it was dear. Apart altogether, from that human weakness which keeps buyers out of a falling market, and sends them rushing into a rising one, manufacturers, and particularly American manufacturers, have been handicapped in the past by lack of finance."

Growing Trade

"With a young and rapidly growing trade, such as the American tire trade, enormous amounts of money are constantly required for new buildings and machinery, not to mention the constantly growing pay sheets of the employees. Then again, changes in type from the Fabric to the Cord tire, and more recently from the High Tension Cord to the Balloon Cord, involves the manufacturers in huge expense for alterations to existing machinery and plants, and in many cases for entirely new machinery, including the use of moulds and machines which have become out-of-date almost before they have had time to pay for themselves in actual use."

"With such liabilities to provide for, it is, perhaps, not to be wondered at that the big manufacturers have not been able to set aside sufficient stocks of rubber to protect themselves against market fluctuations."

"The present Pool now provides the capital to carry an adequate stock."

VETERAN, MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT, PASSES

Greenwich, Jan. 7.—Major Curtis Judson Judd, Civil War veteran, died at his home on State Street last night. Major Judd was born in Otis, Mass., on May 15, 1849, the son of Dr. Judson Judd, a well-known physician in Lee, Mass. His ancestors came over in the Mayflower. Major Judd formerly taught school and was engaged in various business enterprises. He traveled extensively in recent years.

He had been connected with Dr. Keeley of Dwight, Ill. in the "Keeley cure," also known as the gold cure for narcotics and alcoholism. The remains were taken to Lee, Mass., for funeral services and interment next Sunday afternoon.

WAPPING

Mrs. Thoresa Grisel of Pleasant Valley, was taken to the Hartford hospital on Monday and an operation was performed for appendicitis on Tuesday afternoon. She is reported as doing nicely.

C. J. Dewey, Levi T. Dewey and Mrs. Henry Nevers attended the funeral of their cousin, George Nelson of Broad Brook on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Nelson was a Civil War veteran.

The Pleasant Valley club met with Mrs. Robert Skinner last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Albert Rose was assistant hostess. The Federated Sunday school board met at the parsonage on Wednesday evening with a good attendance. The members voted to omit the regular Sunday school social for the month of January, or rather to combine it with the community supper which comes this month.

The officers of Wapping Grange motored down to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin G. Welles Jr. in Manchester on Wednesday evening and prepared a program for the next Grange meeting.

ANDOVER

There were 21 present at the dressmaking class conducted under the auspices of the Connecticut Agricultural College Extension Service of the state college. Each pupil took her own lunch. Coffee was served.

Mrs. Herron is quite ill with grip. William Palmer and daughter, Mrs. Kittie Mittens were callers in Manchester Tuesday.

There are several cases of grip in town. Mr. Lindholm's family is much better and able to be out except Miss Mary who had a relapse after returning to her work in Hartford. She is still quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Phelps, Mrs. L. B. Whitcomb, Thomas Lewis and Mrs. Frank Hamilton attended the inauguration of Gov. Trumbull at the capitol in Hartford Wednesday.

Mrs. William Palmer, Mrs. Kittie Mittens and son Elsworth attended the Capitol theatre in Willimantic Wednesday evening.

BOLTON

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Rose of Hartford spent the week-end at their home here. Schools in town opened Monday after the Christmas recess.

Miss Margaret Danahy, school nurse, visited schools in town this week. The Bolton pupils that attend Manchester High school, Miss Louise Phelps is on the A Honor Roll and Vera Hotchkiss on the B honor roll at the last marking period.

Mrs. Albert Hughton of Chicago has returned to her home after visiting her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Taylor, the past week.

Several have been grip victims the past week but are improving. Miss Dora Finney of Manchester spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finney.

COLUMBIA

Miss Anne Dix has returned home after spending the holidays with her sister's family in Montclair, N. J.

Miss Harriet Fuller has returned home from Liberty Hill, where she cared for her niece in her illness.

Miss Danahy, the school nurse, visited some of the town schools Tuesday.

The rain and dangerous traveling Tuesday evening prevented Columbia grange from going to Gilead Grange as planned, and turning over the lecturer's gavel to the lecturer of Hebron Grange. The gavel will be turned over in the near future, but the visit to Hebron Grange will be postponed until traveling conditions are better.

The first of a series of dressmaking was held at the Town hall Tuesday under the direction of Miss Van Cleef, clothing expert of Storrs College Extension Courses. 15 ladies were present. Miss Van Cleef spoke on different fabrics and the tests used to show whether dress goods were as represented. She also spoke on colors and lines. Lunch was served at noon. The next lesson in the course will be early in February, when each lady is to bring a perfectly plain dress pattern and Miss Van Cleef will show how to use it as a foundation for different variations.

At the meeting of Columbia Grange held Wednesday evening a letter from the lecturer of Andover Grange was read, asking if it would be possible for the Andover Grange officers to be installed with the Columbia officers Jan. 19th. It was voted to extend to Andover an invitation to do so, making it a joint installation, at which time Worthy High Priest of Demeter Gardner of Westfield, Mass. will be the installing officer. Supper will be served by the two Granges and a big time is expected.

Town Clerk Hubert Collins is confined to his home suffering from a severe cold. These colds are very general, many families having several members suffering from them.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

BY ARTHUR N. PACK

Do you remember when you used to scramble through swamps, with water up to your ankles, to get some leaves from the cat-tails?

The Indians found many uses for what is to us a common plant; the Iroquois found that the heavy matted roots were fairly rich in starch and sugar. They dried and pulverized these roots, which yielded a sweet-tasting flour from which excellent bread and pudding were made.

Hard pressed for food during the war, the German people followed the example of the Indians and the lowly cat-tail was made a boon to many a hungry family.

Flour Nutritious The flour is similar in composition to rice and corn flour and is highly nutritious. In well-infested swampy land from two to four tons of flour per acre may be secured, and the commercial utilization of cat-tails for this purpose has frequently been discussed.

The Indians discovered still another use for the fleshy roots. When mashed and boiled, a sirup of excellent flavor was produced, which was commonly used by the Iroquois on cornmeal pudding and as a sweetening for other favorite Indian dishes.

Cat-tail roots are said to contain as high as 30 per cent of sugar and starch. At this rate, imagine the quantities of flour or other substances that could be obtained from the common cat-tail and the narrow-leaved cat-tail, both of which are found in such abundance in the swampy regions of the United States and southern Canada.

Cotton Substitute The root is not the only part of the plant that is useful, for it has been discovered that a cotton substitute can be secured from the brown spikes, and that the fine fluffy down that comprises a large part of the heads is also of value in stuffing pillows and cushions.

All of these virtues masking under the belittled cat-tail!

CROOK CONFESSES TO TREADWELL ROBBERY New York, Jan. 7.—Moe Shapiro, 27, admitted in the lineup at police headquarters today that he had stolen jewelry and wearing apparel valued at $30,000 from the automobile of Mrs. Laura Treadwell of Albany, a friend of Queen Marie of Roumania. The robbery occurred on November 30, last, just after Mrs. Treadwell had returned from a motor trip through West Virginia with the queen.

PRELATE FILM FAN Paris.—Cardinal DuBois, archbishop of Paris, has confessed himself converted to the movies, after a visit to a studio where he saw a film made. Wearing smoked glasses to protect his eyes from the light, the cardinal watched the making of the film for a whole morning.

BATTLESHIP CARRIES YORKS TO AUSTRALIA

Duke and Duchess Go to Open New Federal Capital at Canberra, N. S. W.

Portsmouth, Eng., Jan. 7.—Escorted by destroyers and other naval craft and with aeroplanes circling overhead, the battleship Renown swept out of Portsmouth harbor today bearing the Duke and Duchess of York on a six months voyage to Australia and New Zealand.

The Renown has been refitted for the voyage. A special library has been installed and squash racquet courts have been erected, that the Duke may keep fit. The Duchess will be served by maids while on the voyage and not by maids, even her hair-dressing being done by a marine. The main purpose of the tour is for the Duke to open the new Australian federal capital at Canberra, New South Wales.

GAS TAX IS VALID IN OPINION BY HEALY

Hartford, Jan. 7.—The Standard Oil Company of New York must pay the gasoline tax assessed against it by this state and its contention that the state act is not constitutional as it is a restraint on interstate commerce is unfounded, in the opinion of former Attorney General Frank E. Healy. The opinion was written yesterday and formed the last official act of the attorney general.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Tecumseh (5)

"When the war of 1812 broke out, Tecumseh led his forces to the support of the British. He was rewarded with a commission as brigadier-general and had under his command about 2000 braves of the allied tribes. He doffed his Indian deerskin and put on a general's uniform.

At Fort Meigs, when a band of Americans who had surrendered were being shot down in cold blood, Tecumseh had a chance to exercise his boyhood oath.

He struck down two of his comrades who were preparing to murder a prisoner and shouted he would kill the first red man who injured a captive.

In scorn he turned to the British general and demanded to know why he allowed such a massacre. "Your Indians cannot be halted," the general is said to have replied. Tecumseh, in the fire of his wrath, replied: "You are unfit to command. Go put on petticoats!" (Continued.)

GANDIL BELLIGERENTLY BACKS RISBERG STORY

Gandil's affidavit flatly charges that the double-headers with Detroit on September 2 and 3 were thrown.

Insists on "Slough"

"The four games were thrown," read Gandil's affidavit, "by Detroit to Chicago and subsequently to which all save one or two of the White Sox contributed $45 apiece. Subsequently the money was delivered by me to Bill James in the presence of Risberg."

"At the time the series began Chicago was two and a half games in the lead, with Boston pressing them; the winning of the four games would make Chicago White Sox's pennant chances almost sure, whereas the loss of even half of those games would cut the margin that the White Sox had over Boston to almost nothing."

Much Talk of "Looks"

"The first intimation I had that it was generally known among the Chicago players that these games were being thrown was the night after the first ball game in the clubhouse, when Rowland Schalk, Eddie Collins and Gleason were discussing how easily we had won them."

"They mentioned different things that happened during the day and Eddie Collins made the remark how terrible the games looked."

"The next day the same talk took place about how had the Detroit players had looked. After these games I remember that the Chicago players repeated the remarks of the previous day about how easily we had won."

"I can't remember exactly what the players said, but I have a recollection that Schalk, Collins, Felsch, Risberg, John Collins and others took part in the conversation."

No Talk Of Pay At Time

"At that time I do not remember that any mention was made of repaying the Detroit club for throwing the four games. Our club left Chicago and did not return for another game for several days."

"It was upon the return of the club to Chicago that I first heard mention of what we ought to do for the Detroit players. I remember someone suggested giving them the pitchers, I mean—suits of clothes."

"I said we ought to make it money and we finally decided that before the season ended we would give the Detroit pitchers about $200 apiece. That meant every one of us would kick in with $45."

Falls to Show Up

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Hearing of additional testimony in the charges that Detroit and Chicago conspired in September, 1917, to "slough" a series to the White Sox was posted this morning until four p. m. because of the failure of Chick Gandil, one of the complainants, to appear at the appointed hour of eleven.

Judge Landis, in making known the postponement, took occasion to score a local morning paper for its activities on behalf of Gandil and Swede Risberg, his brother-in-law of the Detroit Black Sox.

Risberg failed to appear on time at the first hearing on Wednesday, also forcing a postponement.

than at any time since General John J. Pershing led his famous punitive expedition across the international boundary ten years ago. It was generally recognized in Washington today as the largest show of naval strength ever assembled in Caribbean waters proceeded to stations off Nicaragua ports.

Ordinarily, a couple of American gunboats and a handful of marines are sufficient to control any Central American revolution and afford the necessary protection to American legations and property in the Caribbean. It is work with which the navy is entirely familiar and, through long practice, very efficient.

Gathers 15 Ships

The ostensible purpose of this concentration is to quell the revolution in Nicaragua and maintain Adolfo Diaz in the presidential palace, but the real reason is understood to be to impress upon the Mexican government that it had better keep "hands off" in Central America, and tread lightly in the application of its new land and petroleum laws to American holdings.

Yet for the Nicaraguan revolution, in which the combatants on both sides number scarcely more than 5,000, the American government has concentrated in Nicaragua waters, and adjacent to Mexico, a total of fifteen first-class fighting ships, and nearly 8,000 blue-jackets and marines, all under control of an admiral who has been given carte blanche in their disposition. It comprises the largest naval show the American government has ever staged in Caribbean waters.

That a very serious situation may result is universally recognized in Washington.

The American State Department put Diaz in the presidential palace and plans to keep him there. The State Department has accorded him official recognition, and the American navy has been ordered to protect him from revolutionaries who were fast gaining the upper hand over him.

La. On Mexico's Side

The Mexican government considers that Juan Sacasa is the constitutional president of Nicaragua. It accorded Sacasa official recognition, and presently has joined the other way while his forces secured arms and ammunition from Mexican sources.

If Mexico now chooses to stand stilly on her prerogatives as a sovereign nation and chooses to supply arms to this Sacasa government, she is inviting the prospect of an open clash with the United States, may be one of the first results, for Admiral Lattimer has instructions to stop Mexican gun running.

Most international authorities concede that in such a situation Mexico would have international law clearly on her side. They say Mexico is as much a sovereign power as is the United States, and as such is entitled to sell and deliver arms to whomsoever she pleases.

The State Department, however, takes the position that in this instance American rights to the projected Nicaraguan canal and the naval base concession at Fonseca bay are of more importance than technicalities over international law. Hence the fifteen warships and the 5,000 men to put a stop to the revolution and the gun-running.

Needs Only Spunk

Thus the situation stands today, with only a spark perhaps needed to cause a general conflagration in the Caribbean. Mexico can set it off if she chooses.

Meanwhile, the Senate revolt against the administration's policy gathered force, but marked time, pending the appearance of Secretary of State Kellogg before the foreign relations committee to "explain" his Nicaraguan and Mexican policies.

Unable to gain the support of Senator Borah, chairman of the committee, President Coolidge temporarily checkmated Democratic critics of administration policy by summoning Senators Robinson of Arkansas and Swanson of Virginia, the Democratic leaders, to the White House and after acquainting them with the situation pledged them to secrecy.

Kellogg Delays Explanation

Secretary Kellogg is exhibiting no desire to hurry his appearance before the committee. Invited to appear last Wednesday, Kellogg pleaded prior engagements which would delay his appearance until next Wednesday—a fact which caused considerable muttering today among the opponents of the administration's policy.

The cabinet met this morning to

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

So they are saying Cobb and Speaker fixed a ball game! Well if that's so we are prepared to believe anything. . . .

Even that Christmas ain't Christmas. It's just a piece of business hokey framed to stimulate the sale of tinsed cards. . . .

The Fourth of July, ain't a patriotic celebration. It's something the Krupps and the Duponts got behind every year to pep up the ammunition trade. . . .

Washington wasn't the father of our country. It was two other fellows. . . .

The Declaration of Independence was a hoax, inspired by a group of zealous hand-writing experts. . . .

David didn't crack Goliath on the whiskers with a right uppercut. Some one merely sprinkled acid in the old champion's coffee bag. . . .

Paul Revere wasn't riding to warn the farmers of Middlesex. He was cutting the corners in an international steeple-chase and making the sure thing gamblers' money stand up. . . .

The Last Supper was a promotion stunt backed by the "Eat-a-bowl-of-Bran-a-Day" boys. . . .

Lincoln was working for the theatrical agents when he freed the colored slaves. The real idea was to develop some Black Bottom dancers. . . .

The Kaiser didn't lose the war. This was a sellout. Pershing and Foch got to him under the grandstand and the final battle was staged for the money gets.

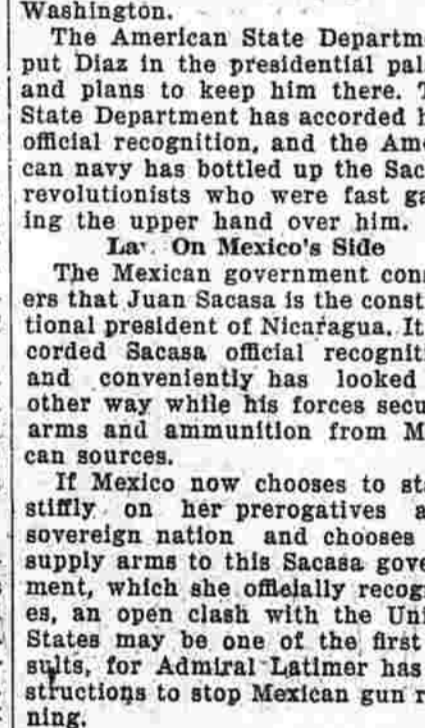

Queen Isabella may have thought a lot of Columbus, but his game was in the dirt book, too. He even crossed the ocean.

You can go on and on in this strain, but in the end you'll only develop bunions. . . .

There are two reasons why it's hard to believe Cobb and Speaker threw a ball game. One is Cobb. The other is Speaker.

MAIL SHIP PUZZLE IS STILL UNSOLVED

Claire Mattieu a Gun Runner, So Federal Officials Say; to Arraign Skipper.

New York, Jan. 7.—The mystery of the Nicaragua steamship Claire Mattieu, picked up off Cuttyhunk, her liquor cargo missing but with Java Scotia and Miquelon mails aboard, remained unexplained today.

That the skipper had been engaged in gun-running to Nicaragua was asserted by federal officials here. The arrest of Captain Brownie Willis is based on failure to have proper navigation papers. The Claire Mattieu, towed here by the revenue cutter Acushnet from New Bedford, was thoroughly searched but no arms were found aboard.

Arrangements were made to have Captain Willis arraigned in federal court this afternoon.

HELLO-LONDON PHONE STARTS THEN STUTTERS

Each made a sort of little speech about what the service was going to mean to business and society.

After responding to the greetings of Gifford, Sir Evelyn said: "I now declare the service opened to the public."

Some Static

Shortly after the opening of the circuit between Gifford and Sir Evelyn, static could be heard. It was a sound like a pair of dice rattling in a wooden box and for seconds at a time made the transoceanic conversation inaudible. But during the majority of the experiment the voice from London was distinct.

Today's achievement is the result of 22 years of research work by engineers of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., dating from the application of the first telephone amplifier in an experiment in 1905, which transmitted the human voice across the Atlantic to Paris and across the American continent into the Pacific as far as Hawaii, and the first successful one-way transmission test between London and New York in 1923. The new water-cooled vacuum tube and the "single side band" were pointed out as technical features in developing the power of the radiophone apparatus.

Good Service Not Certain

"We cannot as yet guarantee a good talking connection with London all of the time," said Gifford. "When atmospheric conditions are very bad it is utterly impossible to carry on a conversation. We cannot claim, therefore, that the problem of trans-oceanic telephony is entirely solved; but our efforts have reached such a stage that we believe progress can now be made rapidly by having commercial jobs and further research studies go on together."

Of the 27 Rhodes scholars who won their Blue for representing Oxford in contests with Cambridge in England the past season, 12 were Americans, some of whom competed in more than one sport.

Billy Evans Says

Year's Greatest Feat
 "What do you regard as the greatest athletic feat of 1926?" writes a sport enthusiast, who, it seems, would have my opinion on the subject.
 When one sees, talks, and writes sports for 365 days of each year, he becomes rather blasé to thrills. Yet, 1926 was so unusual in many respects that it several times caused me to get unably excited.
 I must admit that Gertrude Ederle compelled me to do considerable cheering for the fair sex when she swam the English Channel. No doubt many of the experts will rate it as the master sport achievement of the year.
 It was unfortunate that so many others should have accomplished the feat after Miss Ederle's successful attempt. It took some of the kick out of the performance.
 Channel was Doelle
 I am told that swimming the channel is a gamble as much on the weather as on the athletic prowess of the man or woman making the attempt.
 I also am told that 1926 was an ideal summer for channel swimming; that never in the history of that body of water has it been quite so doelle.
 However, it would seem that some one must have worn a smooth path through the water, so easily was the channel conquered after Miss Ederle's triumph.
 How the swimmers got over is of no great moment. Those who turned the trick and concerned to the rules of sportsmanship are deserving of great credit.
 You will recall that some of Miss Ederle's critics insisted she was helped by the tugs that accompanied her across the body of water.

Courage of Sweetser
 For sheer courage, the palm must be passed to Jesse Sweetser in winning the British amateur, the first time by any American-born golfer.
 Sweetser played through the entire tournament a very sick man. As a matter of fact, he almost ruined his health by his insistence on playing. He is still recuperating at Asheville, N. C., as a result.
 Gene Tunney's defeat of Jack Dempsey was a terrific shock rather than a great thrill. I didn't think Tunney had a chance.
 The remarkable golfing feats of Bobby Jones must not be overlooked when considering the big sport thrills of 1926. Jones was the outstanding golfer of the year.
 While Bill Tilden's defeat at tennis was a surprise, his play had forecasted the possibility of such a happening.

Those Three Homers
 When Grover Cleveland Alexander, after working a game on Saturday, was brought back in the final game of the 1926 series, with bases filled, two out, and his team one run behind, I suffered several attacks of goose flesh.
 When Alexander proceeded to strike out Tony Lazzari and save the game and the pennant for St. Louis, I was forced to loudly applaud and let out a couple of yells, although I hated to see Tony set down. It was a great feat for a fading veteran.
 However, those three home runs that Babe Ruth hit in the 1926 series with the Cardinals constituted, to my way of thinking, the greatest thrill producer of the year. I still can get a kick out of the final drive that went into the center field bleachers. No one ever had hit a ball there before. I doubt if any one ever will again.

DOMINIONS MUST ACT ON KING'S TITLE CHANGE
 London (United Press).—Although the Imperial Conference concluded that the King must have a new title, it will probably be many months before the change becomes legal.
 The king's title cannot be changed except by act of Parliament but Parliament will not be sufficient. An identical act must be passed by the parliament of every dominion and of the Irish Free State before the new title can become effective.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 7, 1927.

NOT TO BE DELEGATED.

In the rough, Hartford's proposed action in the adoption of an ordinance requiring proper installation of gas water heaters, and providing for thorough official inspection, is not only justifiable but necessary beyond debate.

If and when the selectmen of Manchester adopt a by-law covering this matter, however, it is not at all clear that they ought to follow the Hartford ordinance, which provides that all gas heating appliances shall be approved by the American Gas Association Testing Laboratories.

Manchester, it is to be hoped, will be capable of drawing her own specifications for the proper installations of water heaters or any thing else along the line of a building or health code, without delegating the job to some special business interest.

NOT GROWN UP.

We have no doubt that Rev. John Barstow, pastor of the Windsor Avenue Congregational church in Hartford, is perfectly sincere when he declares, as he did yesterday in an address to the women of the W. C. T. U., that the Hartford Courant and the Hartford Times are mere units in a vast plot of propaganda to defeat the prohibitory laws by making a laughing stock of them.

He is, we presume, as honest and as naive in this belief, as is the eight-year-old little girl who admonishes her five-year-old little charge that "the bogey man'll get you if you don't watch out."

What people like Mr. Barstow would do well to do would be to sit down quietly for an hour in some place where their thoughts would not be disturbed, and figure out, if they can, what process of self-interest or class interest or devil's interest it is which operates to make nine-tenths of the worthwhile newspapers of the country "wet."

What dark, mysterious game are they playing? Are they looking for a return of the saloon so that they may get advertising from gin-shops? Hardly any of them ever would accept a saloon advertisement before prohibition was thought of as a possibility.

As a matter of fact the Hartford Courant and the Hartford Times and the Manchester Herald and hundreds of other newspapers are opposed to Volsteadism because they are convinced that it is bad, and for no other reason on earth. We have no more hope that Rev.

John Barstow will believe this than that Little Orphan Annie will ever lose her faith in the bogey man—till she grows up.

JUSTICE WINS.

Once again a frantic effort on the part of thousands of hysterical sentimentalists to save murderers from the penalty of their crimes has failed. The so-called Waltham car barn killers—three good-for-nothings who did to death an old man for being brave and resolute in the performance of his duty and because he stood in the way of their appetite for workless money—have been executed in the Massachusetts state prison in Charlestown; but it took all the powers of resistance in the state's system of law to bring their execution about.

As in the case of Chapman, as in the case of the grinning Baltimore killer Whittemore, there was no palliation, no glimmer of excuse for the thing which they did. They could not have done it if they had had a spark of manhood or decency in them.

Yet an enormous number of people in and around Boston made the cause of these killer-thieves their own.

This thing is growing in America. Not that there have not always been some feeble emotionalists who could forget the crime and the need of society to protect itself, in their madlin sympathy for the plight of the criminal. But these great popular outbursts where masses of people align themselves with the murderer and against the law are comparatively new and not a little sinister.

Causes combine, no doubt, in their creation. In the first place we have suffered from the infiltration of huge bodies of foreigners whose ideas on many points differ from the old American ideas, whose familiarity with violence has blunted their consciences with relation to it, and who for generations have been disposed to regard the law as their enemy rather than their protector.

At all events it is a discouraging sign when the more abominable the crime, apparently, the reader a really large proportion of the population is to take the side of the criminal and to hope that he will escape the provided penalty.

Under these circumstances the more sternly the laws are executed and the less yielding there is to such riots of misplaced sympathy as in the case of the Waltham killers, the better for the future of the country.

FASCISM.

Professor Gaetano Salvemini, formerly of the University of Florence, is in America. Outlawed and deprived of his property for opposition to Fascism, he has been lecturing at English universities, including Oxford. They do not permit fly-by-nights, adventurers or inconsequential persons to lecture at Oxford. Prof. Salvemini, therefore, comes to America with a certain guarantee of a certain degree of authority as a commentator on Italian affairs, in which he was a conspicuous figure until the advent of Mussolini.

In view of the tremendous amount of adulation which has been heaped on the Duce by American visitors to Italy as a person who has at least achieved wonderful things for his country, these words of Salvemini may be worth thinking about:

"Mussolini is not the creator of Fascism. He is nothing but the propagandist of the reactionary combine which conducts its affairs behind the scenes while Mussolini gesticulates in the limelight. The founders of Fascism were the general staff of the army, the big industrialists and the war profiteers, and these forces maintain the Fascist militia at the expense of the Italian tax payers.

"The reconstruction which they boast of having achieved in Italy is a sheer legend. In the economic field they have profited by conditions beyond their control and they have light-heartedly squandered the fruits of these favorable conditions. In the political and moral field they have destroyed in Italy all faith in justice, all respect for right, all mutual tolerance; they are destroying the Italian national feeling, splitting it up into a minority of masters to whom everything, even assassination, is permitted, and a majority of slaves, deprived of all rights and protected by no moral law."

This is pretty complete confirmation of the conclusion of a great many observers of Italian events—that Fascism has returned Italy to the middle ages, that its system is merely the system of feudalism.

THE GIRL IN THE AD

An advertising genius has just hit upon an amazing truth. Millions of beautiful—sickeningly beautiful—girls have been pictured in advertisements in the last ten years. This genius has hit upon the idea of exploiting a girl not at all beautiful but very real and immensely attractive, as one of the two figures in his illustration. The pose is beautiful, the composition of the picture highly artistic—and the effect immensely human. But the girl is no beauty, according to the accepted standards of advertising illustrations.

The result is that in every publication in which that national advertisement appears it stands out like a lighthouse in the night. Such is the reward of vision—and courage.

NAVY'S JOKE.

The Navy is probably very proud of the job handed to it by the State Department. Nicaragua may have, altogether, seven hundred thousand men, women and children. To subjugate these seven hundred thousand men, women and children to the will of Mr. Kellogg is a noble task. From the way in which the Navy is rushing warships to the seat of war, it obviously doesn't intend that the United States shall be licked. Six more vessels were started on their way yesterday.

If it were not that the Navy is keeping a straight face it might be suspected that it is pulling a subtle joke on Mr. Kellogg—perhaps retaliation for being made a fool of by the State Department. Even so, the Navy is well schooled in keeping a straight face, even under the laughter-impulse of fool orders.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Jan. 7.—Senator J. Boonboom McWhorter was seen chinning himself on a chandelier in the Congressional Library the other day, surrounded by photographers.

Ex-Governor Peter Patterson Potts has sold his Hispano-Suiza automobile and bought himself a diver.

Ex-Governor Peter Patterson Potts is a candidate for president and is after the tarmed vote. As everyone knows, farmers favor flivvers.

This is the style of reasoning now prevalent among everyone in Washington except 150,000 government workers, who don't much care. The political hotbed which warms up after each congressional election, began to become "wotten with the opening of Congress. Its strange flora is blooming all over the place.

Now, when any man who gets his picture in the newspapers more than twice a year opens his mouth upon any subject or utters a new article of apparel, political speculation begins. A hundred men will begin to explain the political significance attached thereto.

Let no one envy the president of these United States in such days as these. The situation affects him more than any other, a hundred-fold. Whatever Mr. Coolidge has done since November, it has been seized as unmistakable proof that he seeks four more years in the White House. It is a curious fact that no act or word of any presidential possibility has ever been interpreted as indicating that he did not actively aspire to the office.

Coolidge ditched the World Court at Kansas City. He decided to keep Mr. Butler as Republican national committee chairman. He called for a tax rebate. He changed his position regarding construction of battleships. He permitted Secretary Kellogg to speak sharply in Mexico.

And the key to it all, say the smart people, is that magic symbol: 1928.

The whole Washington panorama reeks with politics and the charges that go with it.

The poor farmer whose mortgage will be foreclosed next week may be interested to hear allegations that the Republicans are holding up farm relief so they will have a nice juicy present for him in 1928 of that the southern Democrats refuse to take care of him now lest they also be deprived of the opportunity to come to his aid in a presidential year. Goodness, knows whether either of these theories is true, but they are everywhere advanced.

Democrats are said to be pushing a tax cut program for the purpose of luring votes; Republicans are said to be withholding tax cuts so they can make bigger ones at a time more propitious politically.

Senator Shipstead eats White House sausages and Mr. Coolidge is said to seek to wear him from the enemy banner. The retort is that Mr. and Mrs. Shipstead have always been personal friends of the Coolidges and that the invitation was purely social.

Vice President Dawes is praised by his political friends for aiming to end political corruption by abolishing direct primaries and raised by his political enemies for a patent attempt to eliminate—by abolishing direct primaries—the insurgent group which has been a thorn to the administration.

The Biggest Range Sale In Months Is Here Clearing Out All Lines We Are Discontinuing at Unprecedented Savings

HERE'S good news for every home in town that needs a new range. We are clearing our stock of many stoves in order to better display the complete 1927 line of Crawford Ranges. Practically all our surplus warehouse stock is gone and only floor samples remain. Yet there are over 25 different types and models from which to choose—coal, gas, combination coal and gas, and oil stoves are included.

Any of these stoves we are discontinuing, or new Crawford Ranges can be purchased on the Watkins Plan of Easy Payments—a small sum down and the rest in easy payments extending over a number of months.

As stated before, there is a limited number of ranges left at these sale prices, so act at once for best choice!

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 7.—There is a hotel, in the very center of the frantic Forties, where gather at night a well-known round table of sophisticates and intellectuals, referred to as the Algonquin.

Here, too, come all the spawn of moviedom; the press agents, the fan magazine writers, the actresses. They clique together in the lobbies and over the tables. Actors seek it out, knowing they will meet some of their fellows and those newspaper and magazine people who will record news about them.

It is, in a sense, one of the most cosmopolitan and metropolitan places in New York.

Yet, like the Inns along the old country roads, it locks its doors at night. And those who come late must ring a bell and be let in after the fashion of another century.

Such customs of another day are not uncommon incongruities in this ultra-modern metropolis. In Greenwich Village there is a church upon the steps of which an ancient Greek oil lamp never ceases to burn. It is watched constantly and spouts its tongue of light night after night.

There is, in one of the expensive hotels, a department in which elderly women do the darning and sew on the buttons for traveling men and are kept quite busy.

And there are still a few idealists in Manhattan. A few months ago, a New York millionaire who wished to preach a religious ideal to Broadway tossed $200,000 into a certain theatrical chance of surviving without artificial stimulant. He has no possible chance of recouping and has announced that he will keep the show going until March. It costs him another $200,000, and he has to give the seats away.

IT COST $32

"It was bad luck your wife fell on a banana skin." "Yes, they took her into a hospital." "Karikaturen, Calo."

TOM SIMS SAYS—

Youth turns to lawlessness for money, says a newspaper. Leadline. This does the day of professionalism grow apace.

If Santa comes can the sheriff be far behind?

Girls in a Boston college write Christmas cards with their toes as part of a treatment to correct fallen arches. Chicken tracks?

There were no pardons from the White House this year, says a dispatch. Maybe it was because nobody has been put in jail lately.

The big joke was on father. He got a bill told for Christmas.

This is the age of electricity but hot air still flourishes.

INJURIES DID NOT SLOW UP CLEVELAND

Aside from good pitching, no one thing helped the Cleveland Indians more to finish second in the American League last year, than the ability of former Manager Tris Speaker to present an unbroken lineup during the greater part of the season.

When the team journeyed north from the training camp at Lakeland, Fla., Speaker announced his lineup and stuck to it to the very finish.

Catcher Luke Sewell was laid up for practically a month because of injuries, otherwise the Indians might have set quite a record for few changes in lineup. Even at that, Sewell caught in 125 games, more than any other catcher in the league.

Freddie Spurgeon at second base enjoyed a like honor, playing in more games than anyone else at that position. He also led the league in chances handled.

Joe Sewell didn't miss a game. He dropped out of two or three in which he started, for a rest. George Burns missed only three contests.

In the outfield, Summa played every game, Speaker failed to start in only five, while Jamieson's name failed to appear in the lineup in eleven.

In addition George Uhle pitched more innings than any other twirler.

Proving that next to tight pitching, it was a good defense, made possible by regularity of play, that made the Indians runnerup to the Yankees.

BINGHAM HELPS TO FIGHT MATERNITY BILL

Joins Bloc For Filibuster Against Scheme to Make Nurse of Government.

Washington, Jan. 7.—A well-organized filibuster was held at a club over the Sheppard-Townsend maternity bill today as its proponents sought to secure its enactment by the Senate.

Foes of the bill organized into a bloc for the purpose of bringing the Senate's legislative machine to a standstill until the measure is shelved. Similar filibuster blocked the bill's enactment five years ago and it has languished in a pigeon-hole ever since. Senator Reed of Missouri was aided in plotting the filibuster by Senators Phipps, Republican of Colorado, and Bingham, Republican of Connecticut.

The measure would create a children's welfare bureau "for the protection of maternity and infancy." It would give the bureau authority to spend $1,480,000 a year in the various states for the care of expectant mothers, infants and delivered mothers. It has received the endorsement of numerous women's organizations.

Opposition to the measure was based chiefly on the contention that it would violate the doctrine of state's rights and give the government control over the private and personal lives of its citizens.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT, KING'S UNCLE, ILL.

London, Jan. 7.—The Duke of Connaught, uncle of King George, is reported seriously ill at his villa on the French Riviera. He is 76 years old.

Beauty Pays

It was decidedly worth while to Miss Clarice Barry to be adjudged the most beautiful October bride of faraway Sydney, Australia. The honor carried with a prize of $5,000, not to speak of a free trousseau, bedroom suite, piano, honeymoon tour and some odds and ends. Miss Barry had been a government stenographer.

Senator's Granddaughter Weds Rich Divorced Man Without Dispensation.

New York, Jan. 7.—Following her marriage to a divorced man without seeking dispensation, Mrs. William Ziegler, Jr., the former Miss Helen Martin Murphy, of Troy, N. Y., today faces automatic ex-communication from the Roman Catholic church, according to an announcement by a spokesman for the chancery office of the archdiocese of New York.

Ziegler is nephew and foster son of the late "baking powder king," whose name he bears, and is said to have inherited $20,000,000. The Zieglers sailed today for a honeymoon abroad.

Avenue Presbyterian church was decorated with flowers for the scheduled ceremony those who went to the church found the couple had been married in the Hotel Plaza in the suite of the bride's parents. Rev. Henry Howard, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The bride is heiress to the wealth of her grandfathers, the late United States Senator Edward Murphy, Jr., and the late Henry Townsend Martin, Albany banker.

SEVEN SOVIET BANK AIDS JAILED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Moscow.—Seven employees of the bank of Kuznets in the district of Saratov have been sentenced to death for embezzlement. The cashier, two of his assistants and four tellers were given the highest measure of punishment, in hope, as the court expressed it, "that this severity may check the widespread dishonesty among Soviet banking officials."

AMARANTHS INSTALL OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Chapman Court Have Visitors At Ceremony—Past Patron Arthur E. Loomis in Charge.

Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, installed its officers for 1927 at the regular meeting in Odd Fellows hall last evening. Several guests from Hartford and elsewhere were in attendance. The unassuming ceremony was performed by Mrs. Abbie Berglund of Hartford, past grand royal matron, and the coronation by retiring Royal Matron, Mrs. Jessie Winterbottom, assisted by past Royal Matron, Mrs. Esther Pickles.

Past Patron Arthur E. Loomis was installed officer. Mrs. Georgia Lettner, marshal and James Richmond, aid to the marshal. The new officers for Chapman Court are: Royal Matron—Miss Finis Grant. TOM CHEEK

Havana, Cuba Jan. 4.—The holidays have been far from happy ones for Tom Cheek, 102-year-old patriarch and horseman. Instead he is a pathetic figure around Oriental park these days for on Christmas he saw another friend pass on. This time, it was "Red," a chestnut eight-year-old, that was the old man's main source of income for the past two years. His string consists of two other horses, Virginia Cheek and Galusha.

Each officer is chairman of a group and is expected to report for her members and if possible see that every one is present and ready to respond by a conundrum or amusing rhyme or sentence. The officer with the most perfect attendance list will be rewarded.

Biblicist

For 90 of his 93 years, the Rev. John F. Richmond, of Jacksonville, Fla., (above) has attended or taught Sunday school. "Teaching the Bible has made me young again," he says. "It has brought me happiness and joy to know I have helped others." He expressed regret that he had but one life to give to the Good Book.

TROUBLE PILING UP ON LOCAL TROLLEYS

It seems that there will be no end of trouble for the local trolley service since the abandonment of the carlans. This noon something went wrong with the bell system on the Manchester Green car and it kept ringing despite efforts of Motorman Harry Sladen. It was a long time before the bell was stopped and its constant ringing became annoying. Then to make matters worse, the window pane fell out of the door when it was closed.

SOPHOMORE SOCIAL

Arrangements have been completed for the annual Sophomore social which will be held in the High school assembly hall this evening. It is expected there will be a large attendance. A play entitled "Great Caesar" will be presented and there will be other entertainment features. Robert Treat, president of the Sophomore class is in charge of the affair which is being supervised by a teachers committee composed of Mrs. Florence E. Nichols, Miss Hazel Kenerson, Miss Marguerite Oates, Miss Margaret Gist, Miss Florence Kelly and Miss Minnie Rook.

BEQUEST FOUND

Armstrong, Mo.—After seven years of search Calvin George has found $1700 in Liberty Bonds. The missing treasure, which was left to him by Pope Cunningham, was discovered in a pile of papers and envelopes in a Mexico, Mo. bank. A note in a check book left by Cunningham, had indicated that he had paid the Boatman's Bank, in St. Louis $100 for Liberty Bonds, but for seven years they could not be found.

It is reported that Scout Erik Modson will appear before the Court of Honor for examination in Bird Study, Electricity and Pioneering. When passed by the Court, he will become an Eagle scout. He will then have the honor of being the first Eagle Scout in Manchester.

Carl Dalham is a close second and hopes to earn his Eagle badge at the February Court. Who will be the third Eagle scout? It's an honor well worth working for.

TAKE POVERTY HIKE BOSTON TO NEW YORK

Cambridge Boys, However, Reach End of Their Rope at Stamford.

Stamford, Jan. 7.—When the wife of a policeman went to her husband's garage early today she was surprised to find two boys in their early teens in the automobile eating a loaf of bread. She notified police headquarters and the youngsters were taken there. They gave their names as Daniel Colley and Peter H. Manuel, of Cambridge, Mass.

The boys told the police that they were students in the Harvard Grammar School in Cambridge. Monday they played truant, and did not return home that night. Instead they started to hike to New York and reached here last night. On the trip someone gave them 25 cents, which they used to buy bread. The boys' parents are expected here today to fetch them back to Massachusetts.

YOU CAN'T PUT ANYTHING OVER ON 'BUCKLAND,' BOYS

He came from Buckland all right but why was he shaking his head, peering at a store in the State building, looking across the street and measuring the distance between the store and an electric light pole? Again and again he was heard to mutter: "Can't be. It was right here the last time I came to town from Buckland." The cause of his worriment was a sign in the vacant store which read: "This Place Has Moved."

More Details Concerning Death Of Local Youth Who Died Recently in California.

The Herald has received further details regarding the death of a former Manchester boy, Arthur Schuetz, which occurred at his home in Geyserville, Cal., on December 7. Services were held in the funeral chapel of Fred Young & Company of Healdsburg, Cal., the Rev. H. S. Saxby of the Christian church officiating. A quartet sang several hymns and the casket was draped with a silk flag by representatives of the American Legion of Healdsburg. Interment was in Olive Hill cemetery at Geyserville.

Arthur Schuetz was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schuetz and was born in Manchester on April 23, 1890. He attended the local schools and later took a course in the Manual Arts High school in Los Angeles. Mr. Schuetz with his mother and younger brother having left here for California 14 years ago.

He was a veteran of the World War, going to France with the Coast Artillery Corps. He was honorably discharged at Presidio February 1, 1919. He was a lover of nature and outdoor sports and had traveled much on the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Schuetz' health has been failing for the past few years. He had been under treatment in various hospitals in California, including the Veterans hospital at Palo Alto, Cal.

He leaves his mother and two brothers, Max and Kun, in California; his father, who resides on West Center street; another brother, Emil H. of Hartford; William of Bridgewater, Mass., and a sister, Mrs. Anna Hartz of Geyserville, Cal.

WHITNEY IS INVITED

TO COME HERE AGAIN

Noted Character Impersonator May Grant Return Appearance at High School—Made Hit Last Time.

It is expected that Edwin Whitney, famous Boston character impersonator, who scored such a big hit here last year at the local High school, will come here for a return engagement on February 4. This announcement was made today by Principal C. P. Quimby who stated an invitation had been sent to Mr. Whitney for his appearance here on that date. It is quite probable that the invitation will be accepted. Mr. Whitney's appearance here last year when he enacted a three-act drama taking all of the thirteen parts himself, was a big success and many requests have been made for a return engagement.

Included in his repertoire this year are two plays entitled: "The Tallor Made Man" and "Hit the Trail Halliday." It is understood that twenty-two characters are included in one of these plays. Mr. Quimby said it was the plan to have Mr. Whitney appear before the student body in the afternoon and give a public recital in the evening.

Whitney is one of the famous Whitney brothers from Boston and has given recitals for Victor records.

"POOR" DOCTOR MAY

HAVE LEFT ESTATE

$1,900 in Clothing of Marlboro Physician Leads to Belief in Wealth.

East Hampton, Jan. 7.—Dr. Elmer Stuart Parmelee, supposed to have died a poor man, is now believed to have left a considerable fortune and a hunt has been started by his relatives to discover it. Dr. Parmelee was admitted to Middlesex hospital, Middletown, on December 31, and a nurse found $1,900 fastened in the lining of his coat.

Dr. Parmelee for many years had an office in New York and there is said to have become well-to-do. He came to Connecticut and practiced medicine in Marlboro for 16 years. He had the reputation of carrying large sums of money on his person. Dr. Parmelee's family, consisting of his wife and a daughter, are now hunting for signs of the missing estate. The doctor also left a sister and three nephews.

CENTER BUILDING

DOUBLES IN VALUE

Encouraging Reports Made By Officers of the Odd Fellows' Association as Stockholders Meet.

About 50 of the stockholders of the Odd Fellows' Building association attended the annual meeting in the Odd Fellows' hall last evening.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and accepted and both reports showed that the association was in excellent condition; in fact it never was in better shape than it is today. A 6 per cent dividend was paid January 1 for the second year in succession.

The meeting last night elected three directors for the term of three years. They are: William S. Hyde, B. J. Benderson and Thomas Wright. Following the meeting of the stockholders the nine directors met for organization. The board of directors now includes Thomas Rogers, Clarence Wilson, John Wright, George Smith, Wilbur Loveland, E. C. Packard, W. S. Hyde, B. J. Benderson, Thomas Wright.

The board elected Thomas Wright, president; Clarence Wilson, vice president; E. C. Packard, secretary and Thomas Rogers, treasurer.

For some time the hall has been rented practically every night in the week. The present year will see the four Masonic bodies leaving Odd Fellows' hall for their new home in the Masonic Temple now under construction. These orders comprise the Masonic Lodge, the Chapter, the Eastern Star and the Amaranth. It is expected, however, that other organizations will take the place of the above.

An example of the increase in real estate values at the Center: the Odd Fellows' building which cost $60,000 to build is in the grand list today for $120,000.

BETTING TAX MAY CAUSE NEW ARRESTS IN ENGLAND

London.—Three-quarters of the total population of Britain are in danger of arrest. This is the official declaration of the Inland Revenue Department. It is the result of the recent Betting Tax. The Department takes the view that every bet made is liable to the tax.

Consequently, if one man bets with another privately—without either holding a bookmakers' license—he transgresses the law and puts himself in danger of arrest and summary imprisonment.

At 74 he leaves the Calgary city service, which he joined after receiving his pension from the mounted police force.

NEW VESUVIUS ERUPTION EXPECTED IN NEAR FUTURE

Naples.—Experts foresee another eruption of Vesuvius in the near future owing to large quantities of

Bristling Battles of Bare Fist Days

Iron pipes wielded from back of a wing, a black jack smashed against a man's skull when he was backed up against a curtain—these are some of the tricks Madden and myself had to use to get out of tight places when we were touring the country agreeing to score a knock-down over any comer or forfeit $50.

Many a time I had to resort to the "backheel" punch in order to get my man down and save the $50. I used to step in fast and stick out my foot behind my opponent's leg. Immediately I'd slip over a lightning left or right. It never failed to flop a man and many times he stayed down from the force of the fall.

When our fights were staged in theaters we'd have an assistant stand behind the curtain with a big club or length of pipe and if my man was too big or too tough a little outside whacking always came in handy. I had to watch out myself, too, and keep away from the wings and backdrops when I was in enemy territory.

Madden taught me a lot of the tricks of the ring and he was pretty clever with his dukes himself. He always insisted on courage in his boxers and used to delight in telling how he got John L. Sullivan his first fight under his direction with a rough and tumble artist named John Flood, who was a killer in the ring. Sullivan said he wanted to meet Flood and told Madden to go get him the fight. Madden tried to sign them up for Queensbury on London rules but Flood was very gruff and hard-boiled and trying to frighten Madden.

Sullivan sat up in bed, blinked a bit and stared at Madden until his story was finished. "I don't give a damn—I'll be ready tomorrow," Sullivan roared and promptly went back to sleep. Sullivan knocked Flood out in eight rounds in a one-sided fight on a barge.

EDITOR'S NOTE—In the next chapter McLaughlin tells of what real danger he faced in his fights when ringsiders crashed a chair over his head after a knockout he scored in Philly and he scoffs at Dempsey's alibi that cowboys' guns had anything to do with the modern Dempsey-Gibbons fight.

There is one satisfaction in the tie-score result of the Alabama-Stanford game. Neither team, nor the followers, had to feel the sting of defeat. It would have been a bitter pill for either team to swallow. As it was, however, Stanford has the meager satisfaction of outplaying the Crimson Tide in the majority of the game although the ball was in Stanford's territory a great deal of the time.

Mechanical Free Throw Most Accurate Scoring Style

Five Distinct Movements Necessary to Successfully Execute This Highly Popular Method

Wide firm stance, same position of feet each time. Ball held lightly, but firmly in fingers, arms extended straight out. Body loosely erect in "position of address."

By G. H. OLSEN
Ohio State Coach

The "mechanical style" of free throwing (i. e., the free throw, which employs as few of the finer muscular co-ordinations as possible) is probably the most accurate, as well as the most "teachable" style of free throwing. It is easily learned by the beginner and is used very successfully by some of the biggest stars in basketball. The illustrations are of John Miner, the Ohio State forward, who used the "mechanical method" of free throwing exclusively.

RICKARD SIGNS UP TUNNEY; GUARANTEED HALF MILLION

What We Think In Sports

While it has been a habit in the past of opening the S. M. H. S. grid slate with a strong opponent, this does not seem altogether advisable. A few years back, football was revived at the local school after a long absence. Since that time, the school has annually lost more games than it has won. Yet it has acquitted itself in fine style. Why wouldn't it be a practical scheme to open the season a week early against a school that would prove a "setup"?

Champion Agrees to Meet Anyone Picked By Promoter—Marine Not Interested in Dempsey Bout.

St. Louis, Jan. 7.—Tex Rickard and his entourage, including about two score of newspapermen and Dudley Field Malone, legal adviser for Gene Tunney, were on their way back to New York today, the promoter packing in his pocket the contract for the next heavyweight title bout.

Director Chaney has started a checker tournament at the School street Rec. How about similar affairs at the North Side Rec and at the Community club over north?

The terms are understood to be a guarantee of practically $500,000 for Tunney for entering the ring against his next opponent, to be named by Rickard, and a big slice of the proceeds after the gate exceeds $1,000,000.

It is a shame the way professional basketball football was played last season. The cry was "Too many teams" but this season started with but one team playing home games, the St. Mary's. Manager Turkington gathered together a fine array of talent. He secured Mattell, Nease, Madden, Stankis, Boyce and others of lesser note but to no avail. Good attractions were brought here but it was hopeless. The result was the Saints have not played a home game since December 16, having evidently decided to vie for the positions, however, when the season rolls around again.

Rickard must post a $200,000 guarantee money before May 1 to bind the agreement. Although the site for the next bout probably be the Yankee Stadium, the agreement stipulates that Rickard must announce it 45 days in advance of the fight.

Stage

New York, Jan. 7.—While waiting for a modern-day Gilbert and Sullivan to appear we'll have to get along with the Maurice Watkinses, George Kaufmanns and such.

For those sturdy American virtues, concerning which latter day writers made so much, have long since been turned to an exposition of equally hardy voices and foibles, and there are many things at which it is best to laugh that we may not weep.

No period ever left itself wider open to lampooning than this in which the absurd antics of boot-goes to trial for slaying her lover. She is led to her cell a fighting, biting wench, but ere the curtain has dropped she is crooning "Baby Shoes," while the cameras click as she knits bonnets for a baby that never will be born.

Miss Watkins has overlooked none of the "hoopy" associated with such a case. All the avenues of publicity are thrown wide open and from district attorney to defense lawyer to judge to camera-man to mob-sister, there is some axe to grind.

We see this hard-boiled Hannah kissing the jury after acquittal and being offered movie and stage contracts, getting offers for books and other incidentals that would make her a fortune. The final irony is achieved when just as she sees herself as a vast personage, thanks to a murder, another gal of similar ilk murders both a husband and lover just outside the courtroom window, and all eyes turn in this new direction while the wheels are oiled for another travesty.

This sort of thing is not particularly native to Chicago, but has had its counterpart in most large cities. It does happen that murder and crime in the "windy city" have made better news stories than elsewhere.

Francine Larrimore is playing "Roxie Hart," a role originally picked for Jeanne Eagles.

Another less worthy commentary is that contained in Peter Glenn's "New York Exchange," which has a fine satiric idea that may yet become a good play theme is a variant of "Gracie Snatchers" and another piece in which the "dancing mamas" and the gigolo are chief figures.

A young man from the country finds himself taking a job in a cabaret, loosely disguised under the name of "Dallas Dinon's" and here drift a couple of gigolo-hunters of mature years, one of whom already has enjoyed the experience of being robbed by a night-club crook. The country boy, needing money, comes into the grasp of the older woman and does not escape until the last act, which falls apart thanks to bad anti-climax.

The most noteworthy production of the week is the Theater Guild's English version of "The Brothers Karamazoff," once given in French and again in Russian when the Moscow Arts Theater came to town.

The Guild version is marked particularly by the direction of Jacques Copeau, that modern-minded man of the theater who journeyed from Paris recently to give this dramatization, of which he was co-author, his personal touch.

Copeau has a wizardry of stage manipulation and arrangement which merits consideration of chronicles more deeply dedicated to the arts than is this weekly letter.

The Dostoevsky story of the sons of the lecherous old Father and their terrible inheritances is now classic and should be, if it is not, generally known.

One thing is certain; the stature of Alfred Lunt—an actor practically unknown on Broadway—is completely measured by his performance of Dmitri. Here is a young man who, within a single season, has given such diverse characterizations as Emperor Maximilian in "Maximilian and Juarez," the boot-lugging Sultan in "Ned Mc-Cobb's Daughter," and the Russian Dmitri—and has run the gamut perfectly.

Since John Barrymore seems wedded to the movies, let us comment in passing that Dmitri is such a role as might have been cut to order for Barrymore but which he could not possibly do better than Lunt. Hence, Lunt is herewith voted our outstanding male favorite of the theater.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF and MOLLE ELWELL in Camdenville, Ind., one night in October, 1898, is brought a woman who had fainted on a train. That night twin girls are born to her and she dies without revealing her name.

The nurse would find out. She bustled herself at the telephone. "There's a man named Elwell, yes. Skull fracture."

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been adopted and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called RUSTY and BETTY.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIV

"Come, now, Nellie," said Jack Nevin. "Brace up, old girl!"

But Nellie Downing straightened almost instantly. "I'm not going to faint," she said calmly. "I'm not the fainting kind."

"Maybe you're not," said Nevin a little grimly, "but those lips of yours have a mighty funny look."

One of her hands flew to her throat. "What shall we do? What shall we tell Mollie and Prof Elwell—how can we tell them?"

He considered this, noting that she was collecting herself and evidently had passed the point of fainting.

"Well," he hesitated, "your man isn't dead—yet, so we'll just say he's been found and then on the way down to Twenty-Sixth street I'll break it to his father and Mike Hennegan. Then when we get her to Bellevue we'll help in case she collapses. That's the best plan I can think of."

"Even so, Jack, it's a cruel plan. Oh, why can't we spare her this terrible news? It's going to break her, Jack, as sure as we're alive."

"I'm sorry," he said simply. "I'm not much good at such things."

They returned to their taxi. There Jack Nevin saw the eager question in Mollie Elwell's eyes and led. That is, he half lied.

"Mistake," he said laconically. "The man they got here is not Jim Elwell. But we've got the correct information now and we'll see your son very shortly."

"Where is he?" "At Bellevue hospital. At least," he said quickly to forestall another question before it should come too quickly, "we're pretty positive the man at Bellevue is not Jim Elwell."

The letter was accounted for by Mollie. She had placed it in his pocket the day before, she said. "It was a letter from a neighbor at home and I had it with me when I took Jim for a walk."

"How," asked Prof, "does he happen to be at Bellevue hospital? Has he been hurt?" He looked at Jack Nevin keenly.

Nevin found that breaking the news to Prof without letting Mollie know the truth was not so easy. While, as Nellie Downing had said, he was a good newspaper man, he was not a very good actor.

"Hello, Planet. Give me the city room."

And neither was the little nurse. They were unable to hide from Mollie's intuitive gaze the story their faces and evasive manners revealed.

Nor was Prof slow in divining that matters were far worse than they seemed.

"You might as well tell us the truth," Jim's father said, after an exchange of looks had passed between him and his wife. "If Jim is dead we've got to know it very soon anyhow. Is he, Nellie?"

Mollie waited breathlessly for Nellie Downing to answer.

The nurse took her hand in both her own. "No, dear, but the report stated he was badly hurt. Skull fracture, the police told Mr. Nevin. He didn't talk with the hospital director. He was still alive, so let us hope for the best. It might not be as bad, even as the police think."

Prof Elwell sighed. Hoping for the best had been about the best thing Mollie and he had been doing for several months. There was getting to be a sameness to these wallows from fate, it seemed to him, that was mighty trying.

They got it first from one side and then from another. Was this the finish? Would they take Jim Elwell back in a box, after all, instead of on his feet?

Well, they had stood it before, he reflected. They had stood it when they had thought Jim dead. Probably they could stand it again, although this one was crueler than any.

Anyhow, what was there to do except to stand it? But it certainly was tough on Mollie.

Jack Nevin was trying to be of some comfort to the woman he had had to hurt.

"Skull fracture," he said to Mollie earnestly. "Isn't necessarily fatal. In this case I imagine they think the case is more serious than usual because of the patient's inability to talk."

Nellie Downing nodded her confirmation. "All we can do is wait—and hope."

"Tell me," Mollie said, addressing the strange nurse, "is he—is he very seriously hurt?"

Again the nurse shrugged. She told Mollie "twice" in sympathetic tones, that skull fractures—severe ones, that was—were gambles.

"Right now we couldn't say one way or another. In a few hours, perhaps—"

Jack Nevin, getting a good reporter, felt the urge to get to a telephone. It was nine o'clock and the deadline for the next edition of the Planet was nine-thirty. He found a telephone at the nurse's desk in the main corridor, obtained permission to use it and called his office.

"Hello, Planet. Give me the city room. Hello, hello—let me have the rewrite desk. Hello—Pete? Jack Nevin talking. . . . At Bellevue. . . . Good war story with dressing. Get the name, now please."

"Soldier; name of Elwell. . . . E-I-w-e-l-l. . . . James T.—T for Thomas. . . . Twenty-five. . . . From Camdenville—Ca-m-d-e-n-v-i-l-l-e, Indiana—Hoosier state, you know. . . . Skull fracture at Sedan. . . . Brain busted. . . . Couldn't talk. . . . Couldn't recognize anybody. . . . Rumbled away from hospital on Staten Island today about four o'clock. . . . Alone. . . .

"Huh? Yeah. . . . Ferry to New York. . . . Hit by truck at fourteenth and Broadway. . . . Bellevue. . . . Skull fracture. . . . Fatal, most likely. . . . Parents here. . . . Father Edwin C. . . . Mother pretty name's Mollie—M-o-l-l-i-e. . . . Same nurse with him I had out in France. . . . Her name? Forget it. . . . What's that—pretty? Certainly she's pretty. . . . Who? Me? Talk sense! I got only one leg. . . . Huh? Certainly she's got two."

"C'mon, damn it, lay off the funny stuff and get—"

"Mr. Nevin, just a moment, please. Please!"

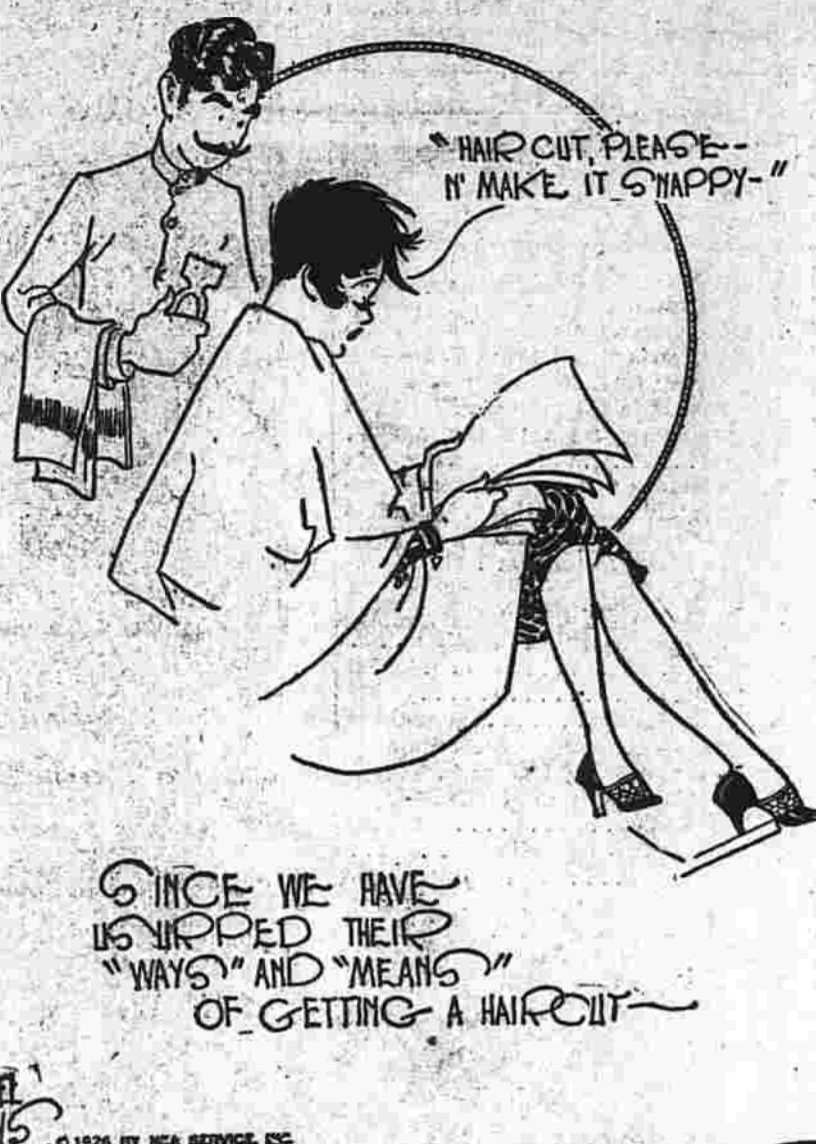

Jack Nevin clapped a hand over the phone's mouthpiece and jerked his head around. Nellie Downing stood at his side.

For the first time in his career, Jack Nevin throws down his paper on a story. Read the next chapter.

Prize Poise

Do you stand correctly? Just compare yourself with this picture and judge for yourself. For you see Miss Paretha Sims, niece of Admiral William S. Sims, who won the posture prize at Barnard College in competition with some 1,000 other women students. You will notice that the debutante slouch and the dapper stride are quite out of harmony with correct posture. Here you have the spine and the feet both co-operating for health and beauty.

The WOMAN'S DAY by Allene Sumner

Mirror, Mirror on the Wall In the little cabin of old Boston where lives Hester Prynne, played by Lillian Gish in the movie of "The Scarlet Letter," there is a mirror on the wall just as there have been mirrors on the walls of rooms wherever women have lived ever since the days of the bad queen and her beautiful step-daughter of the old fairy tales, when the bad queen babbled, "mirror, mirror on the wall, tell me who's fairest of all!"

But this mirror of sweet Hester hides behind a sampler which announces "To be Vain is Great Sin," and a furtive, guilty Hester must lift the screen to gaze at her jasmine flower face in the mirror. As I watched this most beautiful of many movies, I goggled to see the adornments on the sampler which screened "the vain mirror." Hester must have spent many an hour at the embroidery hoops working with colored yarn the slogan "To be Vain is Great Sin."

It is hard to understand why the zealous minister of the gospel who rebuked a maid for running in the woods on Sabbath and permitting her golden bird to sing, did not chide the good women of his flock for giving time to colored yarn, also.

Just by way of remarking that "there are vanities and vanities." To me, my neighbor who is vain on her spotless house, and spends all her time with a broom and dust cloth and makes home a torment for her brood, has a much worse case of vanity than another woman I know whose vanity is her golden hair and myrtle blue eyes.

Blondes Preferred A certain motion picture actress of the variety known as blondes, explains that it's nice to be a blonde because one can be seen farther in the distance, because one looks best in the fluffy clothes which men like, because they look younger. Can't you just hear all the brunets give that ringing clarion call of "Is Zat So?" proceeding to enlarge upon the theme and say that blondes get washed out much sooner, that they are not nearly so striking, and what man would look at ingenious ruffles when he could see the slinky straight lines that vampish brunets affect? Merely to remark that "the devil can quote scripture to suit his purpose," and that any of us can use arguments for our own side, I believe this art is known as sophistry.

"No Husband For Me!" Who says that women are sentimental, swayed by emotion and not reason? A Chicago judge offered 54 wives whose husbands are in jail for non-payment of alimony, these same erring husbands for Christmas presents. Only 19 accepted. The other 44, as one wise-cracker has it, decided "it is more blessed to give than to receive," and gave 'em right back to the judge.

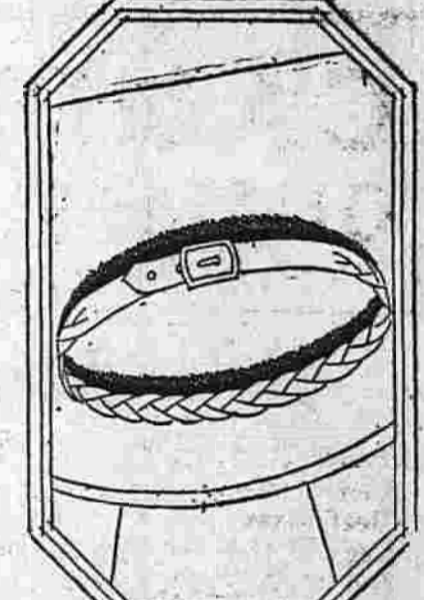

It sounds rather hopeful for the race. The newer woman who will accept a husband only with reservations is far superior, methinks, to the old-fashioned, long-suffering wife who would take 'em on most any condition just because she couldn't get along without 'em.

A Wise Crack One of these men who boast that they know all about women, and then proceed to make much filthy lucre talking and writing about the decorative set once epigrammed, "Women will never find her salvation until she has learned that love is but an incident in life and not a fulltime job."

They seem to be learning!

What Girls In Paris Do

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I make yearly trips to France, and have done so for many years. Just to find the best aids to beauty, and to youth.

There many of his scientists give their lives to beauty study. And their results are known everywhere. I am trying to bring to American women the best ideas they develop. I want to help them for myself and for you.

One of the best ideas I found there is a way to clean the skin. It is a liquid which contains no animal, no vegetable grease. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. It simply penetrates the pores to the depths, then departs.

This is what I use to clean my face skin as girls do in Paris. I never use soap and water. Results are astounding. When you learn them you will always do as I do.

I call this product my Facial Youth. It will bring you a new conception of what a clean skin means. I urge you to try it. Take from your face skin all the hardened oil, dead skin and waste, and see the result.

All toilet counters sell Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth at 75c. Or the coupon will bring you a sample bottle with my Beauty Book. Try this facial cleanser. You will never know what a clean skin means until you do that.

For Trial Bottle A-60 of Facial Youth, mail this today to Edna Wallace Hopper, 601 Lake Street, Dept. C, Chicago, Ill. Enclose 10c for postage and packing.

Good Nature and Good Health

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Meningitis is an infectious disease, scientifically known at least since 1805.

Early epidemics occurred in the United States previous to 1811. It occurs both as an epidemic and in the form of occasional cases breaking out in various communities.

It is transmitted from one person to another, but is not nearly so infectious as some of the common infectious diseases.

It is generally believed that the bacteria enter the body through the nose and throat and that the disease may be transmitted by contact with a person who is infected, and who may cough and sneeze. There also are probable carriers of the disease who carry it about with them but who do not get sick with meningitis.

Sets In Suddenly In meningitis the disease usually sets in suddenly with headache, pains in the back, loss of appetite, chills and vomiting and fever.

The most important early symptom is painful stiffness of the muscles of the neck which may contract so greatly that the head will be drawn back. Sometimes there are tremors of the muscles and spasms of the arms and legs.

Obviously a disease with such serious symptoms should receive the most prompt medical attention. This is absolutely important since the physician will make an exact diagnosis by the use of the examination of the blood and of the spinal fluid, and will then apply the specific medical treatment which has been shown to have great value in controlling this disease.

Home Page Editorials Appreciation of Sacrifice

By Olive Roberts Barton

Once there was an aunt. She started out by being a pretty, young vivacious creature who sewed pink ribbons on the babies' bonnets, said "Little Pigs" on their toes when she put them to bed, hauled them on their sleds and pushed them in their carts, and knew how to make rabbits and pussy-cats that jumped.

She grew older and the children grew older. They didn't need her so much to wind up their trains and dancing bears; they did their own playing and sledding and skating now. Instead of pink bows on their bonnets she mended the stockings of the "Little Pig" toes poked through. And she made pretty dresses and warm coats and nice plaid curtains and bed spreads for their rooms and painted jolly things on their play-house furniture, and made grand desserts that mother had no time to bother with.

She grew yet older and the children grew older. She was not so much fixing up the house to make it look like the southeast corner of heaven, as she was busy packing boxes of goodies to send away to college. And there was more sewing to do than ever. Fancy pajamas for the boys and girls that "cost so much when you buy," party dresses (and dear me, a party dress nowadays lasts about two dances). Laundry boxes were her special care. No one could "do up" the children's things quite as daintily as she.

She never had time, even with the children away, to think of herself. And there were always holidays ahead to prepare for. Men had stopped coming to see her. She had few friends. Her whole life was her sister's house and her sister's children.

She made home for them, but, like the relatives of Lulu Mett, they were not so keen about making home for her.

The children's letters came home weekly to their mother. They usually ended, "Love to you and Dad." Mother would come in and sit on the bed in the sewing room and read the letters aloud. Auntie would speed up the sewing machine and there would be crooked little places in the seam.

SNAPPY VAUDEVILLE AT STATE THEATRE

(By Member of Herald Staff) There is a bright, snappy bill of vaudeville at the State theater for the last half of the week. Perhaps it is not the very best that has ever been at the State, but then, that's a matter of personal opinion. The least that can be said for it is that it's better than the ordinary.

quartet of real darkies. Harmony is their middle name, evidently, for their quartet numbers are all in perfect harmony. One of the group is an excellent bass soloist.

Travers Douglas Co. present a clever playlet which deals with the woes of a henpecked husband. He has to do the housecleaning while his wife polishes her fingernails. But, before the act is over, he has kissed a strange girl, made a date, and dominated his wife. It is all very humorous and the actors received five curtain calls last night.

The fourth act is just about the funniest seen in Manchester in many moons. Pisano and Landau were the hit of the evening. Italian and Swedish comedy evidently is a wow of a combination.

The last act is entitled "Singing and Dancing Bits," and is as bright and snappy a presentation as the State has had this year. Singing, dancing and uke music come in great abundance and made a big hit with the audience.

The feature picture features Mae Murray of "Merry Widow" fame in a beautiful and exciting picture of Spain. Miss Murray is as good as ever, but the big surprise of the picture is the astonishing acting of Lloyd Hughes. Hughes, who has formerly been seen as a quite genial sort of actor with no exceptional merit, suddenly comes forth and goes Lon Chaney and Emil Jannings one better.

NEW HARVARD COACH

Chicago, Jan. 7.—R. J. "Duke" Dunne, former Michigan captain, who has served as assistant coach at Northwestern University for the past four years, has signed as head line coach at Harvard. It became known here today. News that Dunne had signed a Crimson contract came from Arnold Horween, head coach at Harvard, who lives in Chicago. "Dunne will be a great help to us at Cambridge," said Horween.

SMOKING GAINS

Shanghai.—China is rapidly emerging out of its shell of ancient civilization and is fast adopting modern ideas and fads. The smoking of cigarettes and cigars is one of the fads they have adopted, and the quantity consumed is so large that three new match factories, complete with the latest machinery, have been required to take care of the Canton industrial center.

CANDY AND BEANS

Boston.—While Bostonians live royally on beans, their dogs and horses live the same way on candy and bonbons. Miss Mabel Garfield, a clerk in one of Boston's candy stores says that Boston matrons buy soft soft chocolate for "Fifi" and "Dobbin," while the Maltese at home has to be satisfied with milk and what few rats it can pick up.

MORGAN VS. MCGRAW

New York, Jan. 7.—Todd Morgan of Seattle, world's junior lightweight champion, clashes with Phil McGraw of Detroit in a ten-round bout here tonight at catch-weights but if McGraw can make the 130 pound limit this afternoon the title will be at stake.

Britishers are carrying snuff boxes on their hips, according to a dispatch. Not much room for a snuff box in this country.

ROSE IN SNOW

Fitchburg, Mass.—Despite two snow flurries and the inclement weather of the past few months, a rose bush, owned by Mrs. Henry McInerney has bloomed consistently since May. On Oct. 25, the bush contained two flowers and a number of buds.

One person in every five in the United States owns a car now, according to registration figures. That is, they did before Jan. 1.

THE TINYMITES BY HAL COCHRAN

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture) The Tintles took their skates in hand and shouted, "Gee, but this is grand. We surely do appreciate your loaning them to us." The old man smiled, and then replied, "Just wait until those skates are tried." And then the Tintles left him for the pond, 'mid quite a fuss. They climbed up several hills of snow. They'd reach the top, then down they'd go. Whenever they could find a chance, they'd slide instead of run. Then Scouty shouted, "There's the pond. See that big tree? It's just beyond. Come on. Let's hurry, all of us, we're in for lots of fun." It wasn't long 'till they were there. The crispness of the winter air made everything seem right in trim for skating on the ice. Wee Carvy was the first to try his luck, and soon he shouted, "I have never seen a finer rink. This sure is mighty nice." Course Clowzy soon began to brag how he could skate. "Say, let's play tag," said Scouty, as he elapped someone and shouted, "You are it!" The chase was on and off they went, a-playing tag, and pleasure bent. Across the ice like wafts of wind the little band would fill. When of their tag game they grew tired, another hunch was soon inspired, as Carpy skated backwards, doing tricks and other things. "Oh, say," they all heard someone call, "Let's see who is the best of all at skating in a figure eight or making fancy rings." Then Clowzy shouted, "Just watch me a moment, and you all will see the neatest little skater who has ever come to town." He then went whirling 'round the ice, but found his plan was not so nice. The next thing that he knew, he slipped, and soon was sitting down. (The Tinymites build a bonfire to keep warm in the next story.)

What's What and When and How at the Local Playhouses.

BEERY AND HATTON ARE BACK AGAIN

Will Be at Circle Tomorrow In New Year's Greatest Comedy, "We're in the Navy Now." Double Feature Tonight.

At the Circle tomorrow there will be a special return engagement of the greatest laugh fest of the year, "We're in the Navy Now" featuring the screen's greatest comedy team, Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton. All those who were unlucky enough to miss this picture when it was shown in Manchester before, will have another chance to see it. Don't miss it this time!

Two little boys in blue. That's how Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton appear in their first Paramount co-starring comedy, "We're in the Navy Now." The two little boys, the erstwhile doughboy pair of "Behind the Front" are in the Navy now!

And their naval career is just one long laugh. Neither of them had any intention of enlisting until they wandered into a training camp. Then, on trying to get out, a burly guard stopped them with a dirty laugh and a command to "fall in." Before they had time to turn round, the boys found themselves aboard an army transport—bound for France!

The trials and tribulations of this comic team on their trip—with incidental comedy being supplied by the featured players, Chester Conklin and Tom Kennedy and a love theme enacted by Donald Keith and Lorraine Esmond—combine to make "We're in the Navy Now" one of the season's funniest farces. Needless to say, Director Edward Sutherland's direction is at all times intelligent and ingenious.

As a companion feature, Ranger the wonder dog will be featured in "Flaming Fury."

A new screen star to be reckoned with is Ranger, F. B. O.'s canine marvel. Ranger was a smashing success in his first vehicle, "Flashing Fanny," and in that initial appearance won a tremendous following who are anxious to see him in his future pictures. Ewart Adamson who wrote the story and continuity of his first success, also contributed this original story which he adapted for the screen. Besides the flashing action in the picture, there is a romance between Ranger and Starlight which is naturally and humanly portrayed.

The cast includes Charles Delaney, Betty May, Boris Karloff and Eddy Chandler.

Tonight will be the last time you will have a chance to see America's Sweetheart, Alberta Vaughn, in her first feature length picture, "The Adorable Deceiver." Everyone will just adore her in this picture. The other feature is Lionel Barrymore in a fine picture "The Bella." It is a feature filled with excellent drama and sparkling moments of humor. Both pictures make an exceptionally fine double bill.

"SHINING ADVENTURE"

AGAIN AT RIALTO

Last Time Tonight to See It and Daniel Boone Film; Good Bill Tomorrow.

Percy Marmont heads an excellent cast in "The Shining Adventure" which closes a two days' engagement at the Rialto theatre tonight. Marmont is cast as a philanthropic physician who is the means of reuniting estranged sisters and bringing happiness into many lives. Playing opposite Marmont is Mabel Balling, the beautiful young screen actress who has appeared in no small number of recent successes. The co-feature is a complete story of life "in the wild" when the savage red skin fights the encroaching white. It is called "With Daniel Boone Through the Wilderness" and is replete with thrills and adventure experienced by the hardy pioneers of the last century who led by Daniel Boone wrested the forbidding wilds from hosts of murderous red men. Roy Stewart heads the cast. Selected shorter subjects will also be shown.

The double feature program which will be offered for tomorrow only consists of "The Millionaire Policeman" and "Pep of the Lazy J", two pictures which are crammed with action. The first is the story of a young millionaire who finds himself branded as a coward in his home town. He joins the police force in a distant city to learn how to be courageous and the story is made up from his experiences from that time on.

Herbert Rawlinson has the role of the millionaire cop. Others in the cast are Eugenie Besserer and Gillian Langdon.

"Pep of the Lazy J" is a virile western drama replete with action—the kind that the average fan eagerly demands.

Among the shorter subjects to be shown are a comedy, another chapter of the engrossing serial, "The Mystery Pilot" and current news events.

European firms have boosted the price of rags. Such a demand over there from chewers, perhaps.

FORD SARCASTIC IN ANSWER TO BLOOM

Ignores Congressmen's Request For Light But "Agrees" on One Point.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Ignoring a request that he explain to a congressional committee his charges that "international Jews" control the federal reserve system, Henry Ford has replied to Rep. Bloom, Democrat, of New York, through W. J. Cameron of the Dearborn Independent.

"Your letter of December 23rd has been received and its contents noted," said Cameron in reply to Bloom's letter, which was directed personally to the auto magnate.

"We thoroughly agree with you that our government's finances should be entirely free from any vestige of alien domination, regardless of individualities of race, country, creed, group or any other affiliation."

Bloom's retort was another letter to Ford in which he declared he would not "let your charge drop until it is substantiated or disproved."

are reports of continued assaults by rebel factions in various parts of Mexico. A rebel band has attacked
San Miguel el Alto in Jalisco, and 14 rebels and one federal are reported killed in a clash at Chihuahua between federal troops and rebel forces headed by Nicholas Fernandez, a former Villista. All attacks thus far have been sporadic and in widely separated places and do not indicate any general movement to rebellion.

GAMBLING RAID CASH

RETURNED BY COURT

Had Been Held by New Britain
Police Chief on Claim of Losers.

Hartford, Jan. 7.—By agreement approved in common pleas court here today, $957 held by William C. Hart, New Britain chief of police since a gambling raid there several months ago, was turned over to Thomas S. McDonough, of New Britain, counsel for two men arrested in the raid. These men are Leo Seluskowski and John Swierzynski. The claim against the money by two New Britain men who said they had lost to the gamblers was withdrawn in favor of Mr. McDonough.

RUSSIAN STORM DEATH

LIST CLIMBS TO 200

Moscow, Jan. 7.—The death list caused by the hurricane which swept the Caucasus Wednesday today was estimated to be 200. An unidentified Turkish passenger steamer sank off the Crimea, drowning 25. Another Turkish vessel further to the south, all hands going down. Four fishing smacks were blown out to sea from Baku and lost with all of their crews.
The ports of the Black Sea today were full of crippled ships being refitted.

VANDALS DO DAMAGE

IN MASS. OPEN SHOP

Slash Cloth Ready For Machines in Plant of Clinton Pants Co.

Clinton, Mass., Jan. 7.—Vandals
during the night did between $1-500 and $2,000 worth of damage to the plant and property of the Clinton Pants Company. With knives or razors, $1,000 worth of cloth cut for stitching was ruined. Sewing machines in the factory were put out of commission. Entrance was made through a window in the rear of the plant.

Officials of the company said the factory was opened here to get away from Union aggressions in Worcester.

16 YEAR OLD GIRL DIES

OF SLEEPING SICKNESS

New Britain, Jan. 7.—Florence
Walsh, 16-year-old high school junior, died in Hartford Isolation hospital today of sleeping sickness after being under treatment for the disease since December 27. Miss Walsh is survived by her parents and a sister who is a normal school student here.

HICCOUGHS NEAR TO

STAMFORD EPIDEMIC

Many Cases Under Treatment
By Doctors, One Patient In Serious State.

Stamford, Jan. 7.—Striving to allay the fears of Stamford people,
Dr. Raymond D. Fear, city health officer, today issued a statement denying that an epidemic of hicoughs prevails in the city, though scores of cases are under treatment by physicians. The most serious case is that of Douglas Brown, of Summer street, who was removed to the hospital in serious condition.

NEW HAVEN CUSTOMS

INTAKE UNPRECEDENTED

New Haven, Jan. 7.—All records were broken by the United States customs house in New Haven in the fiscal half-year from July to December 31, 1926, when the total amount of imports reached the sum of $443,702, according to the collectors report issued today. Local merchants and manufacturers plan to use the New Haven customs house to a greater extent than before.

SOVIET OIL TRUST SENDS DELEGATES TO TULSA, OKLA.

Moscow.—Representatives of the Soviet Oil Trust will attend the meeting of the American Oil Institute in Tulsa, Oklahoma, it is announced here. The American Oil Institute's invitation to its meeting has just been received by the "Asneft."

The conference between Soviet and American oilmen is considered significant in view of the interest which has been displayed by American oil concerns in the Soviet petroleum fields.

The recent heavy purchases of Soviet oil by the Vacuum Oil Company is taken as an indication of possible further development of business connections between the oil interests of both countries.

BOTHERS BIRDS

London.—If you don't know what to blame it on, try the "disturbance of ether by wireless," on which a great number of things is blamed here. One recent complaint is that the birds are singularly affected by the disturbance in the region of wireless stations, and that doves especially find it hard to find their way home.
