

GET NOTED SPEAKER FOR MERCHANTS MEET

J. B. Guernsey to Talk on Retailing on Monday at School Street Rec.

John B. Guernsey of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, New York, is to be the speaker at the annual meeting and election of officers of the Merchant's Division of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce to be held at the School street rec. Monday, January 10 at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. Guernsey is field secretary of the National Retail Dry Goods Association and his work takes him all over the United States studying retail conditions. He is, therefore, in an exceptional position to help any body of merchants to solve their local problems, as he can divorce himself entirely from the local situation and look at their problems strictly from the angle of a general merchandise proposition.

He is coming through the courtesy of Frank H. Anderson of the J. W. Hale Company, and no better speaker could have been had for this occasion.

An unusually large number have signified their intention of being present.

CHURCHES

ST. JAMES'S R. C. Rev. W. P. Reidy Rev. J. P. Timmins Rev. Vincent McDonough

Masses tomorrow at St. James' R. C. church will be celebrated at 7, 8:30 and 10:30 o'clock. Sunday school will be held at 9:15 o'clock in the chapel. Vesper services at 3:30 p. m.

Music to be rendered by the junior choir at the 8:30 o'clock mass will be as follows:

Prelude: "Hosanna".....Millard Professional hymn Anthem: Gloria, Sing Gloria

Anthem: Lord God, Our Protector O'Connell Offertory: Soprano and alto duet, "O Love Divine".....Dykos

The Misses Nellie Moynahan and Elizabeth Waskiewicz Anthem: Hymn of the Holy Name O'Connell

Anthem: Jesus, Savior of My Soul Brennan Communion: "Chant des Anges" Berge

Recessional hymn. At the high mass at 10:30 o'clock the senior choir will sing Albert H. Rosewig's beautiful composition, "Mass in G." Rosewig is perhaps the most popular composer of such compositions in America. "Mass in G" is one of his best works.

Prelude: "Andante".....Maespro Professional hymn.....Choir Boys Asperges Me.....Choir Boys Kyrie Eleison.....Rosewig

Contralto solo by Miss Arlyne Moriarty Gloria in Excelsis Deo.....Rosewig Miss Louise Squatrito and Arthur E. Keating, soloists Credo in Unum Deum.....Rosewig

Baritone solos by Louis Breen and Dan J. Sullivan Offertory "O Salutaris".....Bailey

Duet, Miss Arlyne Moriarty, contralto and Arthur E. Keating, tenor. Sanctus.....Rosewig

Elevation: "Ave Maria" Boardman Walter Williams, baritone Agnus Dei.....Rosewig

Recessional hymn. BASEBALL TAR NOT STICKY, WALSH'S IDEA

(Continued from page 1) check book under the date of October 16, 1917. Gandil forced Collins to produce the check stub and, after a minute examination by Chick's lawyers, their silence was tacit admission of defeat.

James, on the other hand, virtually absolved Howard Ehmke automatically, and his ready account of his distribution of the fund carried the ring of truth. Even the fact he couldn't recollect just what player had received the final fifty dollars of the $850 fund indicated a lack of a carefully pre-arranged story.

"Didn't Like" Ehmke. His testimony that Ehmke had received no part of the pool killed Risberg's charge that, at the payoff, James had said: "Howard is holding for his money," and James' further remark that Risberg had suggested that Ehmke go unwarded because "he (Risberg) didn't like that guy, anyhow," attributed a motive to the Swede for making such an allegation against Ehmke.

"Buck Weaver's about-face on Risberg and Gandil likewise did their case practically no good. Neither did Buck's support of Oscar Vitt's convincing testimony that the traveling bag Weaver gave him at Christmas was a customary gift between friends of long standing. Guns Backfired.

Even the faux pas of Robert Hasvrouck, former recruit first baseman of the White Sox, in introducing evidence of a hiterto unmentioned White Sox meeting in Boston, allied to injure the defense. It allied primarily because Gandil ave every evidence of not remembering the occasion himself, but the further fact that rookie players seldom are admitted to club meetings relegated the incident altogether beyond the pale of importance.

In brief, there was a lot of shooting but the guns back-fired and nly the marksmen themselves were injured.

Mrs. Edward R. Coleman of Hill street, while with a party of taters bound for Center Springs and Thursday evening, fell on the sidewalk and fractured her left wrist.

MODERN DANCING TONIGHT AT THE RAINBOW

Bill Tasillo's Orchestra

ABOUT TOWN

The Daughters of Liberty, No. 125, I. O. A., will hold their regular meeting in Orange hall Monday evening at 7:30. A social with refreshments will follow.

About 20 friends of Paul Fournier, manager of the F. W. Woolworth store here, gave him a farewell party at the Waranoke hotel last night. Mr. Fournier, who has been here less than a year, will assume charge of the New Britain store today.

John Robinson of 21 Wadsworth street is confined to his bed through illness.

Hose Company No. 1 of the Manchester Fire Department will have a "ladies' night" program Saturday evening, January 15, beginning with a roast beef supper at 7 o'clock, followed by a dance to the music of Schendell's orchestra. The good cooks among the firemen of No. 1 will prepare and serve the supper. The committee of arrangements consists of Albert Yost, chairman; Chief Edward Coleman, Charles Viocek, James McIluff, Patrick and William Griffin.

James M. Shearer of Hilliard street, who was operated upon for appendicitis at the Memorial hospital Monday, is reported to be making as favorable progress as can be expected.

HOUSE STANDS BY COOLIDGE ON SHIPS

(Continued from page 1.)

Rep. Britten, in flamboyant style, urged his Republican colleagues publicly to stave the face of the President by overriding his recommendation to withhold money for construction at this session.

Britten Frightens Many. These two incidents had more to do with the final vote than any other speeches in the long day of debate. Mr. Burton's speech affected many members from the corn belt and the interior, who were wavering under the leadership set by their chosen chiefs. On the other hand Britten's ill-chosen remarks frightened many staunch Republicans, including several members of the Massachusetts delegation who did not wish to be placed in opposition to the President.

At a point, the naval appropriation bill will go to the Senate carrying provision for one dirigible, but not for the three light cruisers that remain of the 1924 program. Over in that body the battle will be fought out all over again and there still remains the possibility that the measure, before it goes to the President, will carry the necessary funds to start construction on the three ships.

Longworth Enters Debate. Speaker Longworth, for one brief moment, joined in the debate on the vessels. When Rep. Garrett, minority leader, was taunting Floor Leader Tilson for his break with the President, "because it is a break between the President of the United States and the majority floor leader." Speaker Longworth cut in with:

"I think the gentleman will agree with me that while under the treaty we owe an obligation to conform to the spirit of the Washington treaty, we also owe an equally great obligation to the American people to see that we do not go below the strength accorded to us by that treaty."

These words were greeted by applause from all over the House. Mr. Longworth's participation in the debate proves the first time a speaker of the House has taken part in its discussions since the late Champ Clark took the floor in 1917 to oppose President's Wilson's recommendation for the selective service, or draft legislation.

Complete Victory for Coolidge. The President won a complete victory, so far as the cruisers were concerned, in the face of the combined opposition of both Republican and Democratic leaders. While Longworth and Tilson were at the head of the big Navy forces on the Republican side, Reps. Garrett, Burns and Vinson were occupying a like role on the other side of the aisle.

SPORTING EDITOR OF BOSTON PAPER DEAD

Birney Lynch, Hero of Five Air Crashes in France, Victim of Meningitis.

Boston, Jan. 8.—Birney Parker Lynch, sporting editor of the Boston American, and widely-known in the field of sports throughout the country, died at his home in Dorchester today. He had been sick several weeks with meningitis.

He was born in Attlea, N. Y., in 1885. During the World War he was a member of the Canadian Royal Flying Corps and was the victim of five crashes.

In 1922 Mr. Lynch became sporting editor of the Syracuse Telegram and was later with the New York American before coming to Boston.

SILK TRIMMINGS

Woolen street frocks trimmed with crepe satin are new in Paris. Either the crepe or satin side of the silk may be used.

TRADE AND LIFE IN OUR OUTLYING STATES IMPROVE

Foreign Business Grows In Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico and Philippines.

Washington.—Under the control of the United States the economic position and plane of living in the so-called "outlying possessions," are showing a marked improvement, according to E. Dana Durand, of the commerce department.

An examination of the foreign trade of these territories including Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines, shows that in the year ending June 30, goods valued at nearly $251,000,000 were purchased from the United States.

The colonies at the same time, sold to United States raw materials and other commodities valued at $361,000,000 enjoying a favorable balance of trade of about $100,000,000.

Under the present system of compilation of foreign trade statistics as a foreign country. The trade of the other possessions is classed as domestic.

Like Foreign Trade. "There is much to be said in favor of changing this practice and treating the trade with all outlying possessions as foreign trade, notwithstanding the fact that Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico are part of the customs areas of the United States," Durand said.

"Practically all other countries in their trade statistics treat the trade with their possessions, however intimately related they may be with the home country, as part of their foreign trade."

Commerce department studies show that the trade with the outlying possessions is increasing rapidly. Comparison of the figures for the last fiscal year with those disclose an increase of 585 per cent in shipments from Continental United States to Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines, as compared to an increase of 230 per cent in our exports to foreign countries.

The gain in the case of Alaska was 234 per cent, Hawaii 556 per cent, Porto Rico, 578 per cent and the Philippines, 1,529 per cent.

"It may be suggested that these gains have been at the expense of trade of other countries with these possessions—that their acquisition has diverted a greatly increased proportion of their total trade to United States," Durand continued.

"As a matter of fact, in the case of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico, the country has for an indefinite time enjoyed nearly all the trade. This was the natural result of their proximity to United States.

The gain since 1903 has been in no way at the expense of other countries; indeed, the imports of these possessions from other countries have increased almost as fast as those from United States.

Philippines Different. "In the case of the Philippines the situation is different. In 1903 this country furnished about 12 per cent of the imports, while in 1925 it furnished 60 per cent. Nevertheless imports of the Islands from countries other than the United States were more than 80 per cent greater in 1925 than in 1903."

Durand pointed out that the rapid gain in our shipments to outlying possessions is mainly due to the improvement of their economic position much of which may justly be attributed to the very fact of their political connection with the United States.

"The investment of American Capital, education of the Native population, and maintenance of orderly government have increased production in all these possessions," Durand said.

"Standards of living have been raised and their buying power enhanced."

"That the exporters of United States have gained the most from this greater buying power is only natural."

FORD RE-ESTABLISHING MARY-LAMB SCHOOL

Old Sterling Structure, Moved to Wayside Inn, to Be Used Again.

South Sudbury, Mass., Jan. 8.—Reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic, the three famous R's passed lightly over in the curriculum of many modern schools, will be emphasized in Henry Ford's wayside school, it was learned today, but not by the rule of the notorious "hickory stick."

The old "aesthetic" school house from Sterling, the institution of learning to which a lamb followed Mary to classes and was immortalized in verse, has been moved here. The building was for many years a barn, following its school days, but has been restored. It stands near historic Wayside Inn, a Ford property.

Superintendent of Schools Frank Benedict is working on the project and report today had it that the building would be used as a private school, Mr. Ford furnishing the teaching staff.

The automobile magnate, it was also learned today, is going in for wool and sheep and cattle here. He has purchased a flock of sheep from Oregon and a herd of Jersey cattle from Connecticut.

The Ford acres of South Sudbury are being divided off by split rail fences.

Tenors in Popular Quartet

Harry Boland and Edward F. Taylor. The tenors of the Manchester Male Quartet are Harry Boland, first, and Edward F. Taylor, second. Mr. Boland and Mr. Taylor are both local men and their artistic work is generally recognized, not only in Manchester, but in Hartford, and throughout the state. Both are church soloists.

ANNOUNCE QUARTET CONCERT PROGRAM

Popular Numbers Only Included—Burdette Hawley Is Accompanist.

The Manchester Male Quartet today announced its program for the concert it will render in the Swedish Lutheran church Monday evening. None but popular numbers appear on the program which is printed in full below.

Miss Beatrice Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Emil Johnson and a sister of Jarle Johnson, bass of the quartet, will be reader. Burdette Hawley will be accompanist, and will render an organ solo at the opening of the concert.

The program is being presented under the auspices of Team No. 1 of the Luther League. It follows:

Organ: Adore Te.....Wely Mr. Hawley

Morning.....Speaks The Two Roses.....Werner Honey Mine.....Strickland

The Wanderer.....Schubert Volga Boatmen's Song.....Russian Mr. Johnson

Uncle Rome.....Homer Star Eyes.....Speaks Like Morning.....Reichardt

Reading—The Highwayman Miss Johnson

Three Folk Songs— Little Rose Bud.....Hungarian Brunette.....English Spin, Spin.....Swedish

The Quartet

WAR VETS ATTEND MARTIN FUNERAL

Former Comrades of Y. D. Pay Tribute at Last Ceremonies; Many Floral Pieces.

The funeral of Sherwood K. Martin, who was found dead from gas poisoning in his store on Cooper street, Tuesday evening, was held yesterday afternoon. Rev. Watson Woodruff of the Center Congregational church officiated and the body was placed in the receiving vault at the East cemetery.

Among the floral pieces was a large offering from his former comrades in the Yankee Division with which the late Mr. Martin served in France during the World War.

The bearers were a number of his friends: John Waddell, Maurice Waddell, Walter Mahoney, Roger Williams, Walter Wilkinson and William Russell.

The volunteer choir of the Second Congregational church will have a rehearsal tomorrow evening at 6:15 to rehearse the music for the sermon-lecture "Ben Hur" which Rev. Frederick C. Allen will give at the church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

HARTFORD BANKER WELL KNOWN HERE

J. Robert Kane, Who Died Yesterday Had Many Friends in Manchester.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Strant of Hudson street have the sympathy of their many friends in the death of their son-in-law, J. Robert Kane of Hartford which occurred at his home on Ridgfield street in that city yesterday. This is the third time in less than two months that death has removed a member of the family. Their daughter died a short time ago and the death of the husband of another daughter occurred in Milwaukee almost at the same time.

Mr. Kane married Miss Hazel Palmer Strant in 1907 and they had always made their home in Hartford. Mr. Kane and his brother George were well known to Manchester people from their long connection with the Pratt street bank, the name by which the Society of Savings is generally known. Mr. Kane, who was 48 years old, had been with the institution for about 30 years.

The only other employee who was with the bank when Mr. Kane went there as a boy is Frank I. Prentice, second assistant treasurer, also well known locally. Mr. Kane was assistant treasurer, having been promoted from one position to another. He was a charter member and prominent in the American Institute of Banking, and active in church and Masonic circles.

Funeral services will be held at the Fourth church parish house Monday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Watson Woodruff of the Center Congregational church, an old friend of the family, will officiate owing to the illness of Rev. James J. Dunlop, pastor of the Fourth Congregational church. Interment will be in Cedar Hill cemetery.

MANILA FLEET READY FOR DASH TO CHINA

(Continued from page 1.)

British marines were landed and greeted with a shower of stones from men in the mob, who took refuge behind women and children and massed upon the band.

A bayonet charge by the marines was futile, due to the refusal of the marines to bayonet women.

The Hankow club, in Chinese territory, was looted on Tuesday and British residences and stores outside of the concessions were also rifled, the refugees said.

Pony skin is used for inserts in smart leather handbags. Both the plain brown skin and the spotted white and brown are used.

CLEARANCE SALE AT THE NEEDLECRAFT SHOP. M. H. Hewitt, Prop., Johnson Block. 20 per cent to 40 per cent discount on regular stock which consists of Stamped Centerpieces, Scarfs, Pillow Cases, Bedspreads, Lunch Sets, Towels, etc. Also Embroidered Models, Ribbon Novelties, Hand Painted Vases, Toast and Tea Sets, Receipt and Letter Boxes, etc. SALE STARTS MONDAY, 9. A. M. continuing for the Week.

CIRCLE TODAY CONTINUOUS 2:15 to 10:30. BY POPULAR REQUEST THE BIG LAUGH OF THE SEASON IS BACK AGAIN! WALLACE BEERY and RAYMOND HATTON We're in the Navy Now ALSO 'Flaming Fury' RANGER, the Wonder Dog, in 'SUNDAY and MONDAY' 'The Spirit of Youth' FOR ALL LOVERS OF ROMANCE TIFFANY Presents Collese DAYS By A. P. YOUNGER Adaptor of 'Brown of Harvard' DEAR OLD COLLEGE DAYS With a Cast including Marceline Day Charles Delaney Edna Marbury Kathleen Key James Harrison Brooks Benedict

STATE TODAY CONTINUOUS TODAY 2:15 to 10:30. Mae Murray in "VALENCIA" 5 Acts Select VAUDEVILLE SUNDAY--MONDAY--TUESDAY Gay Colleen in Golden Curls and the Greatest Role of Her Life! Make a Date with "Twinkletoes" and she'll steal your heart away! Her Ballet Stopped the Brawl "A Star must have danced when she was born," they said in Limehouse, for she flitted through the shadowed streets of slinking men like a golden flash of happiness from heaven. Smashing fists were stilled, screaming women hushed with awe. "There's something almost holy about her" they whispered and smiled when she found her beau. SUNDAY NIGHT 2 Shows 6:45 and 8:45 Monday, Tuesday 3 Shows 3 Mat. 2:15, Eve. 7 and 9 BETTER THAN HER BEST!

RIALTO TODAY AND THIS EVENING "The Millionaire Policeman" WITH HERBERT RAWLINSON and EVA NOVAK "Pep Of The Lazy J" FAST ACTION WESTERN MELODRAMA. COMEDY SERIAL NEWS REEL TOMORROW EVENING AND MONDAY "The Coast Patrol" KENNETH MacDONALD in a Modern Tale of Bootleggers, Coast Guard Heroism and the Sea. "Unseen Enemies" Western Staff Packed With Thrills and Action. STARRING AL HOXIE. SELECTED SHORT SUBJECTS. MONDAY Clean-Up Day Aluminum French Fry Pans 75c Deep pan with strainer to fit. White Enamel Dishpans 69c Large Can Sliced Pineapple 25c Large Can Spinach 19c No. 3 Can Corn on the Cob 30c Muffets—Toasted Whole Wheat 12c JUST ARRIVED A FULL LINE OF BATTLE CREEK FOOD PRODUCTS The Amos Adams Co. Orange Hall Block, East Center Street. Phone 192

CHURCHES

CENTER CONGREGATIONAL

Rev. Watson Woodruff

Morning worship at 10:30 with sermon by the pastor. The music for the morning service is as follows: Prelude: Pastorale. Wachs Anthem: I Am Alpha and Omega. Stainer Solo: "The Publican" Van Der Water Mr. Lidstedt. Postlude: San Fare Dubois Sunday school classes for all ages, 12:00.

Men's League. Speaker Louis Slade, principal of the New Britain High school. 10:45 a. m., Morning Worship. The vested choir will sing. "Come, at Times, a Stillness," by Woodward, and "Lord of All Things," by Andrews. The pastor will preach. Sermon subject: "That Tie That Binds." 4:00 p. m., meeting of the Intermediate League; leader, Miss Dorothy Silcox. 6:00 p. m., meeting of the Epworth League; leader, Miss Elsie Lewis; subject, "Establishing the Zones of Silence." 6:45 p. m., Ministry of the Chime. 7:00 p. m., evening service. The pastor will preach; sermon subject, "The Man That Nobody Knows." Monday— 7:30 p. m., business meeting of the Men's Friendship Club. 8:15 p. m., the Men's Friendship Club will observe Ladies' Night. Orchestra readings, songs. Address Rev. Edward Eells; topic "Just Loving." Tuesday— 7:00 p. m., meeting of the Boy Scouts. Wednesday— 2:00 p. m., the Ladies' Aid Society will meet for sewing. 5:30 p. m., the regular monthly supper will be served under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. 7:15 p. m., regular meeting of the Camp Fire Girls. Thursday— 2:30 p. m., meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. 7:30 p. m., Mid-week service of praise and prayer. The pastor will speak; subject, "The Revival Jesus Brought." Friday— 4:00 p. m., meeting of the Junior League. 6:30 p. m., the first Mid-Winter Institute for all Epworth Leaguers will be held at East Hartford. Supper will be served, and will be followed by classes, lectures and a fourth department demonstration. 7:30 p. m., prayer meeting at the home of Mrs. John Humphries, 10 Lilley street. All are invited.

ST. MARY'S

Rev. J. S. Neill

Sunday services as follows: 9:30 a. m.—Church school. Men's Bible class. 10:45 a. m.—Morning prayer and sermon. Rev. Mr. Kelly will preach. 3:00 p. m.—Highland Park Sunday school. 7:00 p. m.—Evening prayer and sermon. The rector will preach. Sermon topic: "Men of Prayer." Monday evening, January 10th, at 8:00 o'clock, the annual parish meeting will be held in the parish house. Saturday, Jan. 8th.—Junior choir party. Sunday evening, Jan. 9th.—Girls Friendly society candlelight service, at Christ church Cathedral, at 7:30 p. m. Members will leave on the 6:15 trolley. Sunday, January 6th., at 7:30 p. m. at Christ church Cathedral, Hartford, the opening meeting of the Bishop's Crusade, in Connecticut, the Rt. Rev. Thomas C. Darst, Bishop of East North Carolina, will preach. Sessions will be held on Monday and Tuesday, January 17, and 18 at the Cathedral.

CONCORDIA LUTHERAN

Rev. H. O. Weber

Sunday school at 9 a. m., English services at 10 and German services at 11 a. m. Monday evening Boy Scouts meeting at 7. Tuesday, Teachers' meeting at 7. Wednesday, Willing Workers at 6:30. Thursday, Ladies' Fund Circle meeting at 2:30 and Senior choir at 7:30. Friday, Rehearsal of English choir at 7.

THE CENTER CHURCH

At the Center.

MORNING WORSHIP—10:30

The Minister is preaching a series of sermons on "The Sermon on the Mount."

MEN'S LEAGUE—12:00

Principal Slade of the New Britain High School will be the speaker.

We stand for the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man. We welcome all who will join with us in the worship and service of God.

South Methodist Episcopal Church

Corner Hartford Road and Main Street.

DON'T FORGET AT

7:30 p. m. the Pastor is speaking on Bruce Barton's Book, "The Man That Nobody Knows."

9:30—Sunday School.

10:45—Morning Worship. Topic, "The Tie That Binds."

COME AND WORSHIP WITH US.

SECOND CONGREGATIONAL

Rev. F. C. Allen

The pastor will preach a New Year sermon tomorrow morning on the topic "The Success of the Aspiring Life." The music will be rendered as follows: Prelude: Offertoire Devred Anthem: "Lead Us, Our Father, Lead Us" Sullivan Offertory: Anthem: "Take Me, O Father, Take Me" Gilder Postlude: March from Mathala Mendelssohn

Sunday school is at 12:10. Mr. Millard Park is the speaker at the Men's class. He will give a summary of the story of Mr. M. J. Denison, president of the Dennison Manufacturing Company of Framingham, Mass., telling of the development of co-operative management in that industry. There will be an important meeting of the Standing Committee Sunday morning at 10:15 in the church parlors.

According to the rules of the Second Congregational church proposed amendments to the by-laws must be read at a business meeting previous to the one at which they are to be voted upon. The proposals of the Amendments Committee will therefore be read tomorrow at the time of the Sunday morning services.

Volunteer choir rehearsal at 6:15 p. m.

Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:45 p. m. Topic: "What Confession of Christ Includes." Room: 200 Lake 12:8, 9. Leader, Lester Wolcott.

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, "Ben Hur," the third in the series of sermon lectures is to be given. The beautifully colored stereoscopic views, taken direct from the new motion picture of Metro-Goldwyn, recently in Hartford, vividly portray the Roman rulers, galley slaves, and piracy of 1900 years ago, and true to the background of that great novel, reverently suggest the ministry of our Lord. The principals of the cast are as follows: Ben Hur Ramon Novarro Messala Francis X. Bushman Esther May McAvoy Iris Carmel Myers Tirzah Kathleen Key Mother of Hur Claire McDowell The Eunuch Betty Bronson The Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters meet next Tuesday evening at a quarter of eight with Mrs. George Kuhney.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid society with election of officers will be held at the church on Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5. Ladies will meet and help set the tables for the annual supper.

The annual meeting, with supper preceding, takes place next Thursday evening. The annual reports to be given at this time, telling of the spiritual progress and financial condition of our church and all affiliated organizations, should be vitally interesting to all members and friends of the church. If there are still any persons who desire tickets for the supper, they may be secured from Mrs. Nelson Smith, 55 East Middle Turnpike.

THE SALVATION ARMY

Commandant C. M. Abbott

Saturday night at 8 o'clock, song and testimony meeting.

Sunday 9:30, company meeting; 11 a. m., Holiness meeting; 3 p. m., talks from "Life's Other Side"; 7:30, Salvation meeting.

The afternoon and evening services will be led by Brigadier Henry Taylor and Ensign Long of Hartford.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Rev. Chester F. Austin

Morning prayer will begin tomorrow at 10 o'clock and the pastor will preach at 10:30. Sunday school will convene at 12 o'clock and the young people will meet at 6. The evening service will commence at 7:30.

NORTH METHODIST

Rev. J. E. Duxbury

10:30—Morning worship with sermon on "The World and the Kingdom of God." Singing by the two choirs. 12:05—Bible school. 6:00—Epworth League and evening service. An exchange of leaders in being made with the Vernon church. Our leader will be Clayton Richards. Wednesday, 3:00—Ladies Aid will meet in the community house. Wednesday, 7:00—Junior choir rehearsal at Miss Lydall's, 22 Hudson street.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL

Vernon Center.

Rev. Edward Eells

10:30 a. m.—Sermon subject, "Getting Rich in 1927." 7 p. m.—Christian Endeavor. 7:45 p. m.—Sermonette, "Spreading Christianity Through the Year."

ENGAGED TO COUNT

Paris—Announcement of the engagement of Count Gaston de Bearn of Paris, to Monica Avery, daughter of the late Sir William Avery of England, was made recently. Both are 19. The count is the son of the Prince de Bearn and de Chalais and the late princess de Bearn, daughter of the late Ross Winans of Baltimore. The ceremony is to take place in March.

ACT TO SAVE TREES

Toronto—As a means of protecting Canada's timber wealth, the Canadian Forestry Association is advocating laws requiring that licenses.

THE EGG-BEATER

Never let the egg-beater soak in water after you have finished using it. Wash it at once and set it to dry. The water will draw the oil from the gears and make the beater useless.

The Evening Herald

Sunday School Lessons

by William T. Ellis.

For Every Age, Creed and Nationality.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson. How to Get Help From the Bible. Deut. 6:1-9 2 Tim. 3:14-17.

By WM. T. ELLIS, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist.

Few themes are of more practical importance than this. There is a sense in which to read the Bible at all is to get help. One can hardly think of anybody reading that book, even if he had never heard of it, and read it before, without immediately finding truth and help for life. This is particularly true of those who would read without their minds being in any way biased or corrupted by theories or presuppositions.

When one reads the Bible more closely and thoroughly, however, questions and difficulties begin to develop. One does not find it a book of which all teachings are upon the same level. It is the story of a progressive revelation.

Need of Such a Book

The actual text of our lesson does not emphasize in detail the nature of this help. It does lay great stress upon the need in reading a book of remembrance, the importance of sacred writings for a sacred life.

Impossible! Can anybody be as perfect as God? The text makes no such requirement. God never asks the impossible. Let us read the request understandingly. God is in the heaven and also in the earth, but in neither in all fullness. He is in each just in the degree that He is received. To be perfect as the Father in the earth, is not enough.

THE CHRISTIAN STANDARD

By GEORGE HENRY DOLE

International Sunday-School Lesson Text, January 9.

Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.—Matt. 5:48.

What entrancing beauty unfolds out of the seed of the rose! Plant in the garden of the soul the seeds of truth. God will send His rain and sunshine upon them and they will spring up. Cultivate them, and they will grow until they bring forth the perfection of our Father in heaven. His hallowed love, as it is in the hearts of angels.

SCOUT NEWS

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

The next assembly of the Patrol Leaders' School under the direction of Assistant Scout Executive E. L. Machol will take the form of an all day hike.

Patrol leaders will assemble at the terminus, South Methodist church on Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, January 16th, and will return in the afternoon between six and seven o'clock. The hike will take place regardless of weather conditions, except rain. No hike if it rains.

PENSIONS FOR THUGS

Chicago—it would be better for society in the east to pension criminals than to sustain the huge losses their crimes inflict. That was the recent expression of Charles R. Hollen, president of the Chicago Crime Association. He quoted figures showing that the annual loss by theft in this country amounted to three billions.

BRITAIN LIFTS SECRECY VEIL ON WAR SHIPS

Pictures of Battleships Finally Published After Three Years.

London.—The British Admiralty after allowing the naval world to wonder for nearly three years, has at last allowed the veil of secrecy surrounding the construction of the two new British battleships (Nelson and Rodney) to be partly lifted.

In "Jane's Fighting Ships," the famous naval annual, the first authentic photographs of the new vessels are produced, revealing them to be extraordinary looking craft, resembling overgrown monitors.

The Nelson, for instance, will have the largest forecastle in the world, with an armored tower for a mainmast. From stem to bridge the forecastle of the vessel will be 410 feet long, or more than half the length of the ship.

Armored Structure

The bridge of the new vessel will be totally unlike anything hitherto called a bridge. The recognized coming tower type of bridge has been used to a great extent in armor structure, something after the style of a castle keep, and resembling a corkscrew in silhouette or a Chinese pagoda.

The photographs reveal that the British Navy has now adopted the triple turret style of gun-mounting. The guns on the Nelson and Rodney will be carried in three triple turrets, each mounting three sixteen-inch guns forward. The two ships will be one-turret vessels.

When completed they will be unusually ugly vessels, but there is little doubt from the scanty particulars already revealed that what they lack in beauty they will make up in fighting power.

Other Ships

"Jane's" also shows that Britain has the only first class power altering the outlines of her warships. Pictures are shown of new Italian warships with extraordinary smoke stacks, broadbased and extremely flat.

The Japanese battleship Matsuda has a curved funnel bent at the middle to take the smoke and fumes away from the queer-looking mainmast. The new Japanese cruiser Furutaka is another freak, with oblong funnels attached by a great trunk to the forebridge.

Details are also given in the annual of the new American and British ten-thousand ton armored cruisers. Comparisons between the two types of vessels indicate that the American type is much superior to the British.

In most instances it is an honor to be a man of letters. . . . You sit in Dutch Leonard's case—You say it.

EAT SEAWEED

San Francisco.—The ideal food for all ages is seaweed, so declares Miss Josephine Menden, head of the biology department of the University of Minnesota, who stopped here on her return from the Pacific Science Congress at Tokio. People were healthy who used to eat it in bygone days, she said. It was the food basis for all sea life, Miss Menden said.

DOAK WILL RETURN

Brooklyn, Jan. 8.—Bill Doak, veteran spitball hurler, has been restored to good standing following a suspension due to his retirement two years ago. He still thinks he can pitch winning ball and will report to the Brooklyn Dodgers in the spring.

BEST WAY

When your tea kettle is not use, empty it and keep it dry.

"1927—Our Biggest Year"

Yes sir, that's th' story. We bin mighty busy here last two-three weeks gettin' thru with Chris'mus an' New Year's an' inventory, etc., an' gettin' started on another year—an' what with chewin' things over 'mongst ourselves an' layin' plans fer 1927, we bin gettin' real excited over th' prospects—an' there's a lot more dope to it 'n what I kin tell y' here, but th' long an' short of it is, ez the boss says: "We're out to make 1927 our biggest year!"

Not that it makes eny difference t' you—er probly it does—caus when y' think of it, means we got t' give all th' folks 'round here a better deal 'n they ever had before or 1927 won't be no better 'n no other year. Well we got a notion we kin do it, an' that's just about what we figger t' do. But that ain't all.

We just about decided thet things is comin' our way—that's the size of it—an' we're settin' right out t' meet 'em half way. Fer one thing, folks is gettin' awful tired of goin' over th' river an' comin' back stung. They's so many of 'em in there all sellin' fer less than anybody else—lik th' feller says, there never wuz nothin' made yet but what somebody cud make it worse an' sell it fer less. An' more folks is discoverin' that to their sorrer an' we git th' news an' make a friend at the same time—which is one o' th' things that's comin' our way.

An' another thing, we got somethin' new up our sleeve fer 1927 an' it's comin' out mighty soon—an' more like it right thru th' year. We're all keyed up an' ready t' keep things poppin' soon's we get started—cause ez I said we're after our biggest year an' y' got t' hev big guns fer big game.

We're goin' t' have a sale—yes. There ain't no secret 'bout that. Always have our January Sale, an' we sell out oodles of stuff. Just simply haven't got ready er we'd be into it now. The goods is here an' th' prices is cut t' clear things out after th' holiday season—an' as fer th' rest we just ain't quite ready t' sing out. But it's comin'—an' it's good—an' there's a lot more t' follow. We're off to a flyin' start—an' when we say so we got reason t' believe it an' th' stuff t' back it up. Yes sir, I just want t' warn you we're about t' start something, and just watch our dust in 1927—our biggest year.

Happy Holmes

Keith's
Cor. Main & School Sts.
South Manchester
"The Place To Buy Furniture"

Manchester Evening Herald

PUBLISHED BY THE HERALD PRINTING CO. Founded by Elwood S. Ellis Oct. 1, 1851

Every Evening Except Sundays and Holidays Entered at the Post Office at Manchester as Second Class Mail Matter

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Mail six dollars a year; sixty cents a month for shorter periods.

SPECIAL ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVE: Hamilton De Lisser, Inc. 25 West 43rd Street, New York and 812 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

The Manchester Evening Herald is on sale in New York City at Schmitt's News Stand, Sixth Avenue and 42nd Street and 42nd Street entrance of Grand Central Station.

"International News Service has the exclusive rights to use for republication in any form all news dispatches credited to or not otherwise credited in this paper. It is also exclusively entitled to use for republication all the local or undated news published herein."

SATURDAY, JANUARY 8, 1927.

THE TREATY.

The charge made yesterday by Senator Borah—that the much-touted treaty with Nicaragua, granting exclusive canal rights to the United States through that country's territory and which is now cited by Secretary Kellogg as justification for American seizure of control, is a thin fake and a fraud—will come as a shock only to those who cannot remember for so long a time as fifty years.

We have been sticking our finger into the Nicaragua pie for a great many years. First there was William Walker, freebooter, soldier of fortune, and filibuster. He, without any of the transparent subterfuge employed by Mr. Kellogg, simply took a gang of men to Nicaragua from California, seized control of the country and ran things as head of the little republic's army.

There are a great many people in this country who have labored under the impression that Rev. John Roach Straton was a bit of a fool. They have been unable to see how he could be such an extraordinarily bigoted fundamentalist and be otherwise. To these folks, and particularly to the scientists among them, is recommended consideration of the price that the whale-swallowing-Jonah man is to get for sixty lectures in the interest of the "Supreme Kingdom"—organized by the same clever money makers who organized the Ku Klux Klan.

Dr. Straton is to have just thirty thousand good American dollars for this job. If there is any scientist in the United States, who can reap any such bunch of kale for talking sixty audiences that this world wasn't made in six days of 24 hours of 60 modern minutes each, we should like to be told who he is.

Mr. Straton is no fool whatever. He may be a little disagreeable and enormously ridiculous. But so, they say, was the famous Marcelle—the highest priced clown who ever capered on the New York stage. And he had plenty of brains, of his sort.

doubt, under the protection of American Marines, if it had not been for the World War. We had just gotten into that when the Nicaraguans kicked out the clerk-president and elected a President of their own.

Now that the State Department has gotten around to it again it proposes to pick up the thread of Nicaraguan bullying where it was dropped when we found something more respectable to do with our ships and our fighting men than empire-chasing south of the Rio Grande.

Mr. Borah simply remembers what plenty of people knew but have forgotten.

NAVY PROPAGANDA.

Navy propaganda got in its work in the House when that body voted to commit the government to the expenditure of something more than four million dollars for the "bigger and better" Shenandoah.

It would be interesting to know just how much lobbying for this dirigible bill has been done by the Navy Department. The overgrown blimp is the especial fad of Secretary Wilbur—and Secretary Wilbur is a gentleman possessing a most curious set of ideas as to loyalty to his chief.

It would be ridiculous to accuse the Secretary of the Navy of doing his best to scuttle the Coolidge economy policy in this matter, because there is no proof whatever that he has. But one can be free to say that if he did there would be nothing surprising about it.

There are a great many people in this country who have labored under the impression that Rev. John Roach Straton was a bit of a fool.

Dr. Straton is to have just thirty thousand good American dollars for this job. If there is any scientist in the United States, who can reap any such bunch of kale for talking sixty audiences that this world wasn't made in six days of 24 hours of 60 modern minutes each, we should like to be told who he is.

Mr. Straton is no fool whatever. He may be a little disagreeable and enormously ridiculous. But so, they say, was the famous Marcelle—the highest priced clown who ever capered on the New York stage. And he had plenty of brains, of his sort.

YOUTH CRIME.

A recent report on juvenile delinquency, issued by the Department of Labor, furnishes evidence that wild youth is not so wild after all.

The fact that people read almost daily stories of crime by youths, gives the readers an impression that youth is somewhat rampant.

HOME.

A bit of the "good old days" when crinoline ladies and plum-colored waistcoated gentlemen rode in landaus along old Fifth Avenue in New York, still exists in that very modernish city.

up half a block of the highest-priced land in the world, shadowed by towering skyscrapers, those symbols of a day far different from the peaceful '90's.

Fabulous masses of gold have been offered for the old house and its green garden trying to keep bright under a pall of soot and smoke from the commercial world all about.

But the owners, sisters of one Gottlieb Wendell, descendants of the Wendells who were partners of the Astors, only give weary and bored refusal again and again to the merchants with their yellow gold.

Money? Oh, after all, if they are comfortable and contented, what can more money do for them?

Besides, this is their home!

Old Masters

When she comes home again! A thousand ways I fashion, to myself, the tenderness Of my glad welcome: I shall tremble—yes; And touch her, as when first in the old days I touched her girlish hand, nor dared upraise Mine eyes, such was my faint heart's sweet distress, Then silence, and the perfume of her dress: The room will sway a little, and a haze Cloy eyesight—soul'sight, even— for a space; And tears—yes; and the ache here in the throat; To know that I so ill deserve the place Her arms make for me; and the sobbing note I stay with kisses, ere the tearful face Again is hidden in the old embrace.

MOUTH ORGAN LEAGUE IS FORMED IN LONDON

London—In order to settle the vexed question as to who is the harmonica champion of Britain, the British Mouth Organ League is organizing a contest on a nation scale in London January next.

LONDON SEEKS REMEDY FOR TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

London—Alarmed by the 710 deaths in the traffic-jammed streets of London during the first nine months of this year, the various authorities of the capital are to meet in conference to endeavor to find a remedy.

HEALER POPULAR

Rochester, N. Y.—When Abram George, 11, Indian boy "healer" came to Rochester recently from Batavia, he was surrounded by an eager crowd in a short time.

BUYING METHOD

Nowadays, many persons buy their silver in sets of six or twelve of each article, but in complete services for one or two persons at a time, thus collecting a workable set more rapidly.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Jan. 8.—Who gets the smoothest and most painless shave in Washington? Who gets the most meticulous haircut?

Who is spared the necessity of rinsing singe, hair tonic, massage, shampoo, eyebrow manicuring and all the other expensive tonorial niceties inflicted on a customer with weak will power?

Who is spared a barrage of supercilious conversation unless he asked for it?

Who is spared the former health commissioner of New York, expects that, when and if the bill becomes law, similar beneficial legislation will be passed elsewhere.

Many years ago Copeland was mayor of Ann Arbor, Mich. He became the first mayor to close saloons during proscribed hours—for awhile—because he came to realize that most saloonkeepers held open illegally merely because their competitors did.

He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, New York Athletic Club, National Democratic Club, Transportation Club, Sons of the American Revolution, Knights Templar, Mystic Shrine, Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, honorary member of the stationary engineers' local, nights of the Maccabees, surgeon general of National Stewards' Association, Hovenkopf Country Club, vice president of American Public Health Association, ex-president of the University of Michigan Club and the Michigan Society of New York, to say nothing of membership in the Newspaper Club and Press Club of New York, the Hundred Year Club of Chicago and the National Press Club of Washington.

Two thousand players are expected to take part, and an eminent musician will adjudicate.

DAILY ALMANAC

De Weekelycke Courant was first published in Haarlem, Holland, 1656. First newspaper in South Carolina, published, 1732. Battle of New Orleans, 1815. Birthday anniversary of Augustus Thomas and General Longstreet.

BRITAIN MAKES SLOW SPEED ON SINGAPORE BASE

Three Years of Effort Leave Little to Show in Way of Progress.

Singapore.—Although it has been in the hands of the British Admiralty for about three years, the site of the Singapore Naval Base at Seletar has advanced only slightly from its original state of swampy desolation.

Seletar is 15 miles from Singapore, on the northeast side of the island, and is reached only by road—a good road most of the way, but very indifferent in parts.

The dredging for the new floating dock's mooring has begun. It will take at least 18 months, if not two years, to excavate the berth, which will be over 70 feet deep and sloping down from normal sea level on completion some 400 yards long and 300 yards wide.

Two gravely docks are to be built at the base, but there is no sign of these yet. A few miles further inland, and within view of the main line railway, is the oil storage for the base, and already nearly 40 large tanks have been built.

Build Two Docks The port of Singapore is of great and growing importance to Britain's Eastern trade—its annual tonnage clearance comes next to that of Liverpool—and it is a pivotal point in the Empire air routes to Australia and New Zealand.

Soon it will have a fourfold importance—a commercial centre by sea and air, in addition to the export trade of rubber, tin, and tropical produce from the Malay peninsula.

The port of Singapore is of great and growing importance to Britain's Eastern trade—its annual tonnage clearance comes next to that of Liverpool—and it is a pivotal point in the Empire air routes to Australia and New Zealand.

A THOUGHT

For the fashion of this world passeth away.—1 Cor. 7, 31. Every generation laughs at the old fashions, but follows religiously the new.—Thoreau.

NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 8.—See-sawing up and down Broadway, saw William Haines, the latest of the Charlie Ray-type of movie actor, sitting beside his beaming mother watching himself act in "Tell It to the Marines."

Saw John Drew, the perennial blade, wearing the inevitable gardenia in his buttonhole. . . . The tale goes that he was born thus. . . . Saw Ben Lyon at theater with the very charming dancer, Marilyn Miller. . . . Elite Janis, looking just a couple of years older. . . . But perhaps it was the presence of her mamma, who looks so incredibly young. . . . Thomas Meighan, one of the movie stars you are almost certain to see in company with his own wife. . . . Saw Mal St. Clair, the film director, enjoying the long holiday which started when Florence Vidor, whose picture he was to direct at Astoria, fell ill. . . . They tell me that Mal knows more quaint places in which to eat in Manhattan than all the swaggering columnists combined. . . . The story goes that he starts forth in the morning in his flossy motor chariot and disappears down the entangled lanes of the foreign quarter, dashing through a Hungarian place with a dirty front and ending up in a squalid back room where a red tablecloth awaits. . . . Here, Mal is willing to take oath, may be had the finest mushroom omelet to be found on seven continents. . . . Similar places intrigue him from time to time at dinner hour. . . . He has for them a zealous loyalty and a jealous sense of possession. . . . Only his intimates are taken there with him, lest these places be "discovered" by the world at large and grow popular. . . . St. Clair generally travels with a carefully selected retinue, never failing to have a court jester who will feed him "gags."

Saw Daniel Frohman in the midst of celebrating his 50 years (or whatever it is) association with the theater. . . . He is 73, I believe, and has ceased active management, but his office carries on the tradition of being a gathering place for the profession. . . . Frohman began his career as an office boy on the New York Tribune of Horace Greeley vintage and, through the efforts of his brother, was thrust into the show business as an advance man for a minstrel show. . . . GILBERT SWAN.

SERVANT RETIRES

Rome—"Linda," as Miss Teodolinda Banni is called, has grown feeble and will retire shortly from the service of Pope XI. She is 70 now and has served the pope ever since he entered the priesthood. For years she has prepared or looked after the Pope's meals. The Pope eats but little—usually soup, fish or vegetables with a small glass of wine making up his principal meal, usually taken about 2 p. m.

Monday Only $2.95 WROUGHT iron plant stands are rapidly taking the place of the cheap fumed oak taborets of a few years ago, and why shouldn't they at such low prices? They are not only practical but highly decorative in their graceful wrought iron designs finished in gloss black with decorations in gold and touches of red.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE By ARTHUR N. PACK. The genial afternoon sport of crabbing would suddenly change its complexion if one should encounter a crab of the size of the one shown in the picture. This is the great spider crab of Japan, so gigantic in size that it seems to be the creature of a horrible nightmare in which insignificant proportions. Among its striking and wonderful features are the two long powerful biting claws or arms, which measure 15 feet and are capable of inflicting a dangerous wound.

A good cold weather starter now more dependable than ever. Probably no single feature of Dodge Brothers Motor Car has been more widely talked about and commended than the power and promptness of the starter. The new two-unit starting and lighting system now advances Dodge Brothers leadership in this important respect still further. There are now no moving starter parts when the car is in motion—no starter chain—no noise—no wear. The new starter is even more DEPENDABLE than the old, and far simpler and more compact in construction. Many other major improvements have been added during the past twelve months, all vitally affecting performance and increasing value far beyond the apparent measure of current Dodge Brothers prices.

Dissolving the Partnership. HERE'S WHERE WE QUIT, I'M DONE! GOVERNMENT POISONED ALCOHOL. HUNDREDS KILLED BY POISONED BOOZE DURING HOLIDAYS. The illustration shows a man in a top hat and military-style coat pointing to a speech bubble that says 'HERE'S WHERE WE QUIT, I'M DONE!' while another man in a suit looks on. A sign in the background reads 'GOVERNMENT POISONED ALCOHOL' and a tombstone in the foreground reads 'HUNDREDS KILLED BY POISONED BOOZE DURING HOLIDAYS'.

Local Man, Formerly "Bobby" Tells of Night Life in London

Abram Matchett, of North End Bears Scars on Wrist, Mementoes of Fight With Drunken Sailors—Thrilling Tales of 50 Years Ago.

It is a foggy night in London at Whitechapel where the ships come in from all over the world. The alarm is sent in. A hundred or more sailors and marines, drunk and ugly, are creating a disturbance in the more respectable section away from the docks.

"Form fours!" It is the sergeant speaking. The long blue line drops into formation. "Double Quick!" The line starts off at a trot.

"Bobby" Introduced. "You should have seen those boys go through that gang," Abram Matchett, of 60 Oakland street, smiles and his eyes light up as he tells of it.

"Bobby" Introduced. "You should have seen those boys go through that gang," Abram Matchett, of 60 Oakland street, smiles and his eyes light up as he tells of it.

"Bobby" Introduced. "You should have seen those boys go through that gang," Abram Matchett, of 60 Oakland street, smiles and his eyes light up as he tells of it.

"Bobby" Introduced. "You should have seen those boys go through that gang," Abram Matchett, of 60 Oakland street, smiles and his eyes light up as he tells of it.

"Bobby" Introduced. "You should have seen those boys go through that gang," Abram Matchett, of 60 Oakland street, smiles and his eyes light up as he tells of it.

"Bobby" Introduced. "You should have seen those boys go through that gang," Abram Matchett, of 60 Oakland street, smiles and his eyes light up as he tells of it.

"Bobby" Introduced. "You should have seen those boys go through that gang," Abram Matchett, of 60 Oakland street, smiles and his eyes light up as he tells of it.

"Bobby" Introduced. "You should have seen those boys go through that gang," Abram Matchett, of 60 Oakland street, smiles and his eyes light up as he tells of it.

MANCHESTER'S LONDON BOBBY HAS INTERNATIONAL FAMILY

Abram Matchett, the former London bobby, who is the subject of this story, has three children, all natives of different countries.

While a member of the London Metropolitan police Mr. Matchett was married. His first child, Mrs. Harry Armstrong of this town, was born in London.

His second, Mrs. Ben Hutton, also of Manchester, was born in Ireland just before Mr. Matchett came to this country, while the third, David Matchett, another local man, was born in this country.

These regiments, it will be remembered, are open only to men over six feet tall and it is an easy matter for a soldier in one of them to get on the police. Then, a policeman who has served 21 years is pensioned for life and can take his ease.

Bobbies in London never have to buy their uniforms. Each policeman receives two suits of clothes and two pairs of shoes each year, and one greatcoat every two years.

On the London police force at the time Mr. Matchett began there were 17,000 men. These were divided into as many divisions as there were letters in the alphabet.

Each barrack had a certain number of cops, according to the size of the section it governed and attached to each station were two detectives.

Scotland Yard is the head of the detective force of the country and every one in a while when a particularly clever policeman was uncovered, he was sent to the Yard and became a detective.

A policeman received 27 shillings, about 75 cents, a week, and all food. That, of course, was the pay of a first class policeman. He had to wait three years for the rank and the raise, which came at the rate of a shilling a week per year.

"A bobby walked a regular beat and was put on another beat after a month," Mr. Matchett says, "and he might not be on the same beat twice in a year or more. He might be transferred to another station or even drafted out of the city to some other part of England."

Their Hours. "Bobby" Matchett walked their beats four hours and rested four hours. Night men had it a little harder, though, for they went on for eight hours at a stretch.

Real Bobby

Abram Matchett

tramway system. Horse cars were run in London then and one of the rules laid down by the police went to the effect that two horse-cars could not stop within 100 feet from each other.

"We enforced this rule sometimes when we knew our superiors were looking on but most of the time we didn't care about it," he said.

Another peculiar thing that Mr. Matchett noticed was the conduct of the bobbies when a fire broke out.

"Every cop in the district went to the fire and stayed until it was extinguished. Sometimes there would be a hundred or more policemen there."

"Then, when the fire was out, the cops were each privileged to file into the nearest saloon and drink a pint of ale for nothing. It was some arrangement with the fire department and you may be sure that we never missed any fires in our sections."

"And it was regular ale, too; none of your near beer stuff it was real old 'stingo' and warmed us to our toes."

They had their time off, too, one Sunday and one week day in each month and one week's leave at the end of each year. Night men had it a little harder than day men for they had to go through one hour's drill every week, something that the day policemen didn't have to bother with.

Every 13 men on the force had a sergeant over them, a man who wore two stripes. Then there was a top-sergeant who had four stripes and was called the acting inspector. Over him there was the inspector for each station. These in turn were governed by the commissioners and the superintendents of divisions.

The system of promotions and pay went on a similar scale to that employed in the English army. When a first class constable had served another year he was placed on the reserve and wore an arrow on his collar. He then had no special beat but was ordered anywhere in the district covered by the station.

"I saved that man's life." "On this same beat another day I noticed a length of rope hanging from a tall oak tree. I, of course investigated and found a man away up in the top limbs.

"What are you doing?" I shouted. "I'm going to hang myself." "What do you mean by that?" I came down and I'll hang you, I shouted back to him.

"Flame, I'll be right down." "He came down and I pointed out a tree on a hill some distance from where we were and told him that there was a better place to hang himself. We started off.

"On the way, which was in the direction of the barracks, I noticed that the man's eyes were rolling and that he was insane. He kept talking all the time about hanging himself and how he had wanted to be hanging for a long time.

"Pleased To Be Fanged." "Now that I had volunteered to do the job for him, he was greatly pleased. "We kept on walking. He told me he had bought the new rope just for the purpose of hanging himself. I was carrying it then so I felt safe.

In a short time we came to the barracks and I opened the door and took him in charge.

"He was placed under observation in the insane ward of a London hospital and in about two weeks recovered from the attack of insanity which had seized him. He was a rich man, too."

London bobbies rarely make any arrest and if they do take anybody in charge, they are forced into it. "We had many drunks on our hands in those days but I don't believe I arrested six of them in my six years on the force," said Mr. Matchett.

"We found drunks on our beats but if they were able to walk and knew their way, we sent them home. If they knew where they lived and couldn't get there, we would take them home, knock at their doors and give them in charge to their families."

Few Drunks Arrested. "Once in a while, however, we would come upon a drunk who was unconscious and knew nothing. These we had to take to the station. If they were kept there they had to remain overnight and answer charges in the morning."

"Sometimes we would walk to the station and on the way the man would become sobered up somewhat. We would bring the drunk to the inspector and after an examination the inspector would order us to take the man home."

"They just didn't want drunks. And if we had been arresting people under the influence the way we do here, each of us would have made 100 arrests in a night. They couldn't have built a castle to hold them."

an exciting one," he continued, referring to the one mentioned at the beginning of this story.

"You see, Whitechapel is near the docks and all kinds of people come in from all over the world. Then the saloons there are open all night to take care of the incoming ships and it was in these places that the sailors and marines got lit up."

Mob Was Armed. "They broke into houses on the way and got pokers from the fireplaces and when we arrived they had plenty of arms. Inspector Dale didn't stop for the knives. The bobbies charged and the fight was soon over. Some of our men, of course, received cuts and bruises and plenty of their helmets were split."

The sailors were not cowards, though, and on the ground they slashed at the feet of the bobbies with knives. I ran a foul of one of their knives and got it in the ankle. Another slashed me on the wrist and I am reminded of the fight every time I roll up my sleeves.

There were many more things like that but if I told you half of them you wouldn't have space enough in your paper to print them," he said.

Sees the Queen. The opening of Parliament, although a colorful ceremony, is described by Mr. Matchett.

"I attended the opening for three years and it always was a terrible job. We had to stand from 9 in the morning sometimes until 5 o'clock at night without so much as a drink of water between 9 and 5. "Queen Victoria was ruler of England then and she came in her carriage with the prime minister, so close to me that I could have reached out and touched her. We bobbies had the job."

The crowds, millions of people in a black sea of hats as far as one could see in every direction, kept surging toward the line of march. Bobbies five, six and seven deep had to keep the crowd back and believe me we had our hands full."

I went into the House of Parliament one day and had a good look at the Queen's chair. I felt it and I think I am the only man in Manchester who has done so.

"Prince Edward, afterward king of England, was a good looking young fellow. And he was quite a sport. He usually offered us good openings of various invitations and personally passed around the hat for donations."

He must have had a system of dressing. He would appear at the coronation in military uniform and half an hour later I would see him in evening dress. He must have changed in his carriage for he would never have had time to go back to the palace."

Unlike the temporary "police" jobs sometimes given school boys, the kid cops of Kearny, N. J., are the real thing. The force was created by Police Chief Bell after an attack upon a child and because of the frequency of coasting accidents. It consists of a chief, captain, two sergeants and eight patrolmen who are constantly on duty. Here (left to right) are Sergeant Stanley Gedwith, Chief Norman Doyle and Captain Joseph Clifford.

WTIC

Travelers Insurance Co. Hartford, Conn.

6:00 P. M.—Dinner Music. The Hub Restaurant Group. Waltz Sherzo. Strauss Romance Sans Parole. Van Goens Serenade. Piene Barcarolle from "The Tales of Hoffman". Offenbach Bolero. Moszkowski Serenade. Drigo

6:25—News. 6:30—Piano Selections—Barcarolle (Sunlight Dancing on the Water). Dett Juba. Dett Valse Arabesque. Lack Morton Kahu

6:45—Salvatore Avoliese, Accordionist and Ray Moretti, Violinist. Accordion and violin duets. 7:00—Dinner music continued. The Hub Restaurant Group Popular Program

Fox Trots—Precious Give Me a Ukulele I Don't Mind Being Alone How I Only Believed in You That's a Good Girl

7:30—Bible Study Period—"A New Thing in Religious Education in Connecticut." George Nesbitt McClusky, director. Week Day church schools, Bridgeport. Hymns—The Reynolds Quartet. 8:00—Hartford Composer Period with Edward F. Laubin.

Pocetra Thomaston Marine Band 9:30—Half Hour Recital with Mary H. Burns, soprano and Mary McKenna, pianist

10:00—Weather. 10:05—Club Worthy Orchestra. 11:00—News. Sunday, January 9

6:00 P. M.—The State Theatre Concert—Bert Williams conducting. Festival Dance and Valse of the Hours from the ballet "Coppelia". Leo Delibes

10:00—Weather. 10:05—Club Worthy Orchestra. 11:00—News. Sunday, January 9

6:00 P. M.—The State Theatre Concert—Bert Williams conducting. Festival Dance and Valse of the Hours from the ballet "Coppelia". Leo Delibes

HEBRON

Farmers all around are harvesting ice from the different ponds and lakes of the town. The New Haven Dairy Company are cutting ice from Holbrook's Pond and are carting it to the Gilead Creamery house. About fifteen local men are employed in the work of cutting.

Alphonso Hills who is spending the winter with his sister, Mrs. Helen Hills enjoys the sports in spite of his eighty odd years. He has recently caught a fox, a mink and a raccoon. The last mentioned he had already caught in a trap set for mink. It was a dark fox in color and weighed thirteen pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keefe were guests at Mrs. Helen White's on Sunday.

Mrs. Loren M. Lord was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Hamilton in Hartford for a few days this week.

Miss Clarissa Pendleton was present at a public meeting in New Haven in the interest of the prohibition movement this week. She spent a few days with friends.

Mrs. Frank Waldo is improving from an attack of grip which has prostrated her. Mr. Waldo, who suffers from his injury to his knee recently, by a fall recently, Mrs. Asa W. Ellis, their daughter, spent part of the day with her parents on Thursday.

TEST ANSWERS

These are the correct answers to the questions which appear on the comic page: 1—Leatrice Joy. 2—7-7. 3—Shakespeare. 4—D. W. Griffith. 5—Kansas. 6—No. 7—Springfield. 8—Lake Ontario. 9—New York City. 10—Vermont.

HARD WINTER

Toronto.—The migration of vast numbers of snowy owls from the arctic into Ontario and the northern United States doesn't mean a hard winter, according to George Corson, naturalist. Mr. Corson says the arctic birds which the snowy owl usually preys upon are suffering a plague this year, and that shortage of food drove the snowy birds south.

GIANT MELONS

Washington.—Watermelons grown in the Turkistan, along the Tigris river, have, under special conditions, reached the remarkable weight of 275 pounds, according to a Department of Agriculture bulletin. Melons weighing more than 125 pounds are rare in the United States.

Billy Evans Says

Money is the root of all evil. Money is the root of all evil. Money is the root of all evil.

Along those lines, it might be argued, that the immense world series receipts have been responsible for many of the evils that have arisen in baseball.

No doubt the asserted scandals that are being aired in baseball at the present time, many of them so old they have whiskers as long as Rip Van Winkle after hitting the hay for 40 years, will result in the stereotyped cry of: "Call the world series off and hereby eliminate the evil!"

Abolish World Series? I certainly do not favor such drastic action. The world series is one of sport's greatest spectacles; it is the crux of the baseball season, for which the public and players are anxiously waiting.

I am inclined to think that general interest in baseball would suffer with no world series as the all desert of the diamond pastime.

The magnates would escape some of the petty fixing that has been either real or alleged, all they need do is go back to the old system of dividing the receipts among the two pennant winners.

Do away with the second, third and fourth place moneys that appear to have caused some of the layers in their greed for money to resort to tactics that would hardly be construed as good sportsmanship.

Cutting the Melon. The intent of the magnates in offering second, third and fourth place moneys out of the world series receipts, was to stimulate all the players to put forth their very best efforts until the close of the season.

In order to keep the players on their toes until the final game of the season, the money now given to the clubs finishing second, third and fourth in each major league, could be distributed into individual and team prizes for superior play in various departments of the game.

There could be batting prizes, as well as many others for fielding, baserunning, pitching, driving in the most runs and so on down the line. As a special reward there could be a prize for the most valuable player on each team.

TRADE SCHOOL LOSES TO BETTER FIVE 46-20

ARGENTINE HAS SWIMMING STAR. New York, Jan. 8.—Here's a successor for the Wild Bull of the Pampas to cheer fans from the Argentine.

Bristling Battles of Bare Fist Days

CHAPTER TEN. I pulled a lot of clever tricks on some of the men I met on my barnstorming tour with Billy Madden, my manager, but I sure got mine in Philly.

A man often took his life in his hands when he invaded a ring where there was a lot of pride in the local fighters. If I went in and slapped him silly I usually had to watch I didn't get a brick bounced off my skull by the fallen fighter's brother or idiomer.

The modern Jack Dempsey gives me and a lot of the other veterans a laugh when he talks about his Shelby fight with Tommy Gibbons. Jack claimed the first row in the arena at Shelby had a lot of guns in it and that he was afraid some of the cowboys would shoot him if he hurt Gibbons. Why that's the bunk. He should have gone through what we had to.

I remember well one December in 1882 I was playing Philadelphia. Bull McCarty, a rugged, rough stevedore, was my opponent. The house was a McCarty house from top to bottom. I looked over the howling mob and told my manager, Billy Madden, that I was in a tough spot. He said he didn't need the information. He knew it.

Bull McCarty came into the ring and he brought his gang with him. They eyed me suspiciously and said they had heard all about my barnstorming tricks and were going to sit tight and see that nothing happened to their Bull McCarty.

McCarty was a tough fellow, as I figured him to be, but he did not know a thing about boxing. He started the first round very cautiously, eyeing my seconds all the time and I had a chance to smack him quite a few times before he woke up.

In the second round he started whaling away with looping rights and lefts. I stood off, speared him with my left and cracked him on the chin with a hard right and down he clattered.

I was surprised at the lack of disturbance in the house. I thought the whaling gang would pile into the ring after me although I had knocked him out cleanly. I was walking slowly to my corner when Madden shouted a warning at me. "My God, look out, Jack!" he screamed.

I turned to see McCarty's father swinging a heavy chair down on my unprotected head. I tried to sidestep—but—blooie!—it crashed and I went completely out.

Springfield Vocational Out-classes Mechanics; Reel Flings in Ten Baskets; No Alihis Offered.

(Special to The Herald.) Springfield, Mass., Jan. 8.—The State Trade school basketball five from South Manchester, Conn., fell an easy victim to the speedy local Vocational quintet here yesterday afternoon. The final score was 46 to 20. The visitors never seriously threatened and were outplayed practically all the way.

Reed, Home City flashy forward, hopped in ten field goals and was the star of the game. Renn and Kinne were the best for Manchester but that wasn't saying a whole lot for they never got a real chance to show their ability.

Summary table for Springfield Vocational vs Manchester. Columns: Player, P.G., F., T., P.

WILKIE IS LEADING WITH 106.19 AVERAGE

Old Mill Spinster Shows the Way; His Team Also Leads Loop; the Highest Averages. Ernest Wilkie of the Old Mill, is leading the list of individual averages in the C. B. A. A. senior bowling league with an average of better than 106.19.

League Standing table. Columns: Club, W., L., P.O., P.C.

The Old Mill leads the league and the Weaving Mill's second. Following are the league standings, games next week, and individual averages of the twenty-three bowlers who have bettered 90 in nine or more games.

OVERWEIGHT ALONE SAVES TOD'S TITLE. New York, Jan. 8.—Tod Morgan of Seattle, junior lightweight champion, today was thanking his lucky stars that he and Phil McGraw, Detroit challenger, failed to make the 130 pound limit for their ten round bout at Madison Square Garden last night.

HORNSBY TO RECEIVE $30,000 WITH GIANTS

New York, Jan. 8.—Rogers Hornsby, former pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, world's champion, is slated to sign a contract to play with the New York Giants, following a second conference with Manager McGraw this afternoon. The contract, it is reported will call for an annual salary of $30,000.

SPEAKING ABOUT STRENGTH

WAYNE MUNN'S strength wasn't quite enough to cope with the headlock as applied by Strangler Lewis as he lost both falls in their recent match. Here is Munn strutting his strength by balancing the Ivanhoe Masonic basketball team of Kansas City, a mere matter of 1000 pounds, on his shoulders.

REC FIVE HAS EASY TIME DEFEATING MIDDLETOWN Y

The Rec Five had an easy time of it against the Middletown Y team at the School street gym last night, taking the visitors into camp by the score of 48 to 18. At no time was the issue in doubt, Manchester taking the lead at the first whistle and holding it throughout.

Boyes and Quish got into a race for scoring honors, but the former came through with 17 points, three more than the center. Others on the team scored often and a total of 19 field goals was run up.

Summary table for Rec Five vs Middletown Y. Columns: Player, P.G., F., T., P.

Olsen Says "Close In" Shot Very Important

By H. G. OLSEN, Ohio State Coach. THE SHORT SHOT. The short, or "close in" shot is perhaps the most important shot a basketball player attempts. Technique is important in long shots, but the element of luck is present there to a much larger degree than in the case of short shots.

Generally speaking, in a basketball game "two hands are better than one," but in the case of the short shot this is not true, for the "close in" shot can be made more accurately with one hand than with two—and at the same time is a harder shot to guard than the "two-handed shot."

S. M. H. S. SWAMPS E. HARTFORD HIGH

Holland Starts Scoring Bee In Which Everybody Has Part—Locals Hold Lead Throughout.

Manchester High added another scalp last night when East Hartford fell in that town by the score of 21 to 27. For half a game the affair was interesting but the local boys scored at will in the third and fourth periods.

The first trap at center brought a Manchester score. Farr tapped to Gorman who relayed it to Holland for a basket. Things quieted down and no more scores were made for about five minutes.

The Boggini cousins did the lion's share in scoring last night but Nino broke loose in the last quarter and scored four in a row for a total of five. Alphonse made four and two fouls. Farr and Holland were even with three baskets apiece.

Summary table for S. M. H. S. vs E. Hartford. Columns: Player, P.G., F., T., P.

TIME SET FOR NATIONAL H. S. CAGE TOURNEY

Chicago, Jan. 8.—The ninth annual University of Chicago National Intercollegiate Basketball tournament will be held March 30, 31 and April 1 and 2, Coach H. O. Crisler announced here today.

BOWLING

Warner's score of 142 was high in the Thursday night session of the C. B. A. A. junior league at Murphy's alleys. Sixteen other scores were over the century mark. The scores:

Table of bowling scores for C. B. A. A. Junior League.

THROWING GIRLS WIN

The International Boxing Union of Europe was formed 14 years ago and is composed of the following countries as members: Europe—Germany, Belgium, Great Britain, Denmark, Spain, France, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Portugal, Sweden and Switzerland. America—Argentina, Cuba, Canada, Mexico and the United States. Africa—Egypt. The Transvaal, the Australian Boxing Federation. The International Union meets annually in Paris, France.

BEST GOLFERS WILL SEEK GOLD MASHIE.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 8.—The oldest field in history will compete for the fifth annual gold mashie. It was announced here by T. S. S. Taylor, over whose private links the golf tournament will be held August 5, 6, 7.

Keeping Tabs On Fistiania

Last Night's Fights. At New York—Phil McGraw of Detroit won decision over Tod Morgan of Seattle, junior lightweight champion, ten rounds. Morgan's title was not at stake.

Dowd and Schiebel Run Wild as Frosh Trim Broad Brook

The South Manchester High school freshmen basketball team experienced little difficulty in conquering the Broad Brook Junior Y. M. C. A. quintet in that village last night. The score of 43 to 23 indicates Manchester had the game well in hand all through and that was just the case. At the intermission, the Frosh led 21 to 4.

Summary table for Dowd and Schiebel vs Broad Brook. Columns: Player, P.G., F., T., P.

587 PAID ADMISSIONS AT WEDNESDAY'S BOUTS

Secretary John L. Jenney, of Cheney Brothers' Athletic Association announced today that the official gate receipts for the amateur boxing tournament at Cheney Hall Wednesday night revealed that there were 587 paid admissions.

THE REFEREE

Did the three-year-old Espino over beat Crusader?—F. H. Yes, in the Lawrence Realization. Who is the best of the three-year-old fillies?—D. D. Black Martin, who won eight times in 17 starts in 1926.

Who won the Belmont Futurity last year?—D. S. Scapa Flow. Where was Dan O'Leary born?—D. O. B. London, England. What is the "honor" in golf?—J. L. Was Walter Gerber of the St. Louis Browns ever with Pittsburgh?—C. D. S. Gerber was with the Pirates in 1914 and 1915 but only played in comparatively few games.

What did Max Carey hit in the 1925 world series?—S. E. J. He hit .449.

HAUT CRACKER

The first newspaper poll on Speaker and Cobb versus Landis showed 51 to 1 in favor of the ball players. Jim Bagby must have been pitching.

One of those girls entered in the Catalina channel swim thinks a coating of grease is enough to wear. Being sort of old-fashioned.

Pan M. Pappadopolis is listed as one of the entries in next year's Davis cup matches. A guy who has been all those letters ought to be good.

Eight amateur boxing champions have just arrived from Sweden and Denmark. These are in addition to Knute Hansen and Harry Ferrison.

You can always tell a Swiss fighter because he's invariably in the wind up.

Mr. O'Gootty says his faith in Speaker and Cobb remained unshaken until the boys began running around with lawyers.

Red Grange complains professional football is a losing proposition. Perhaps it would have been more profitable if he had remained an amateur.

Of course, if worse comes to worse Speaker and Cobb can sign with Mr. Eyle and tour the country as something or other.

After all there is something in consistency. You never hear anyone squawking that a wrestling match is on the square.

The sport records of the year can not be considered complete until the cow that poisoned Dempsey's coffee has been duly identified, and catalogued.

The supreme court has ruled that baseball is neither a trade nor a commerce. A lot of folks are wondering just what it is.

BUD TAYLOR MAY LOSE EYESIGHT. Operation Proves Unsuccessful Following Sangor Bout Recently. Chicago, Jan. 8.—Shed a gentle tear, please, for Bud Taylor. The Terre Haute bantam did not escape the plague that smote the boxing ranks lately, taking Joe Dundee, Kid Kaplan, Tiger Flowers and others. It also smacked Bud Taylor, and his little smacker was Joey Sangor, who gave him a surprise pasting in Milwaukee.

But where the others are slightly dizzy and none the worse for the wear, Bud Taylor is completely out of luck. The little bantam who figured in the deaths of Frankie Jerome and Clever Sencio, is himself in a bad way. When Sangor socked him in the eye in his Milwaukee bout he completely closed it. An operation was unsuccessful. Another followed and now Bud is on the shelf for two months and may lose his eyesight.

HOPPE REGAINS 18.2 TITLE BY BEATING HAGENLACHER. New York, Jan. 8.—Fighting a game uphill battle, Willie Hoppe today regained his 18.2 balkline billiard championship from Eric Hagenlacher in a 1500 point match by a score of 1,500 to 1,477. Hoppe averaged 44.4-34 for the entire match and Hagenlacher outscored Hoppe 547 to 500, but when pressed Hoppe exhibited a brilliant game, making one run of 388.

Beware, Trudie. PEGGY DUNCAN. Have a care, "Trudie" Ederle for Miss Peggy Duncan is on your trail as champion long-distance swimmer. This 15-year-old school girl recently swam from Robben Island to Rogge Bay, Cape Town, in 3 hours and 12 minutes. It is a feat considered more difficult than the swimming of the English Channel, and has only once before been accomplished, then by a man, 17 years back.

THE HERALD'S HOME PAGE

LATEST FASHION HINTS BY FOREMOST AUTHORITIES

FEATURE ARTICLES ABOUT INTERESTING WOMEN

Then and Now

Broken Threads

©1926 NEA SERVICE INC. by Clifford L. Webb and Ernest Lynn

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF and MOLLIE ELWELL in Camdenville, Ind., one night in October, 1924, is brought a woman who had fainted on a train. That night twin girls are born to her and she dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been adopted and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called RUSTY and BETTY.

JIM ELWELL, the son, enlists in the World War. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at the Battle of Sedan and at first is reported dead. Later he is identified in a New York hospital and his mother and father hasten to him to find his memory gone, that he is like a living dead man.

Specialists despair of his recovery, believing an operation might be unsuccessful and fatal as well. The day before his parents are to take him home Jim wanders away from his nurse, NELLIE DOWNING.

A search is begun, in which JACK NEVIN, newspaperman, and MIKE HENNEGAN join. They find Jim in Bellevue hospital with his skull fractured in a traffic accident. Nevin calls up his office to give it the story. He is interrupted by Nellie Downing.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXV

"YOU were talking to your paper, weren't you?" Nellie Downing asked.

"Yes," said Jack Nevin. He knew what was coming. "Do you have to send in the story about Jim Elwell?"

"Already have sent the gist of it. Why?"

Her eyes dropped. She looked as if she were about to faint. "Jack Nevin," she said at her speculatively, "Hold on, now; would you rather I had used it?"

"I—I had hoped you wouldn't."

He shot a strange look at her. "All right. Then he removed his hand from the phone's mouthpiece.

"Hello, Pete. Say, Pete, kill that story. Yes—wrong dope. No, that's all."

He hung up the receiver and then turned away from the phone, adjusting his crutches beneath his arm pits.

"Oh, thank you," said Nellie Downing, laying a hand on his arm. "Thank you. It would mean so much to poor Mollie and Prof. Jack."

He laughed lightly. "It's all right. Well"—he swung off on his crutches—"I guess I'll be moving along. There's nothing more I can do, is there?"

"No. You've been very kind. I'll get in touch with you again to thank you properly."

He smiled. "Well, so long, Nellie. My regards to Mr. and Mrs. Elwell, in case—"

The significant gesture with his head made it plain that he was referring to the expected death of Jim Elwell.

Nellie Downing nodded slowly "Goodbye."

She watched him move away, a tall, thin figure, hobbling along swiftly on his crutches.

Jack Nevin was on his way back to the Planet office to hand in his resignation. In all his years of newspapering this was the first time he ever had thrown his office over on a story. And he was thinking what a peach of a story!

Nellie Downing turned and moved swiftly toward the room where Jim Elwell lay in tragic silence.

"Jack Nevin," said Nellie Downing, "has gone back to his office. There was nothing more he could do for us."

Prof Elwell nodded. "I'll see him later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

John Clayton of Indianapolis was one of those rare individuals who consider it good exercise for the mind to pause occasionally in the regular routine of everyday affairs and the observation of things in general to take an introspective look.

"Jack Nevin," said Nellie Downing, "has gone back to his office. There was nothing more he could do for us."

Prof Elwell nodded. "I'll see him later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

John Clayton of Indianapolis was one of those rare individuals who consider it good exercise for the mind to pause occasionally in the regular routine of everyday affairs and the observation of things in general to take an introspective look.

"Jack Nevin," said Nellie Downing, "has gone back to his office. There was nothing more he could do for us."

Prof Elwell nodded. "I'll see him later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

John Clayton of Indianapolis was one of those rare individuals who consider it good exercise for the mind to pause occasionally in the regular routine of everyday affairs and the observation of things in general to take an introspective look.

"Jack Nevin," said Nellie Downing, "has gone back to his office. There was nothing more he could do for us."

Prof Elwell nodded. "I'll see him later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

John Clayton of Indianapolis was one of those rare individuals who consider it good exercise for the mind to pause occasionally in the regular routine of everyday affairs and the observation of things in general to take an introspective look.

"Jack Nevin," said Nellie Downing, "has gone back to his office. There was nothing more he could do for us."

Prof Elwell nodded. "I'll see him later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

"Why do you suppose we haven't been told to meet the train?"

later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

John Clayton of Indianapolis was one of those rare individuals who consider it good exercise for the mind to pause occasionally in the regular routine of everyday affairs and the observation of things in general to take an introspective look.

"Jack Nevin," said Nellie Downing, "has gone back to his office. There was nothing more he could do for us."

Prof Elwell nodded. "I'll see him later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

John Clayton of Indianapolis was one of those rare individuals who consider it good exercise for the mind to pause occasionally in the regular routine of everyday affairs and the observation of things in general to take an introspective look.

"Jack Nevin," said Nellie Downing, "has gone back to his office. There was nothing more he could do for us."

Prof Elwell nodded. "I'll see him later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

John Clayton of Indianapolis was one of those rare individuals who consider it good exercise for the mind to pause occasionally in the regular routine of everyday affairs and the observation of things in general to take an introspective look.

"Jack Nevin," said Nellie Downing, "has gone back to his office. There was nothing more he could do for us."

Prof Elwell nodded. "I'll see him later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

John Clayton of Indianapolis was one of those rare individuals who consider it good exercise for the mind to pause occasionally in the regular routine of everyday affairs and the observation of things in general to take an introspective look.

"Jack Nevin," said Nellie Downing, "has gone back to his office. There was nothing more he could do for us."

Prof Elwell nodded. "I'll see him later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

John Clayton of Indianapolis was one of those rare individuals who consider it good exercise for the mind to pause occasionally in the regular routine of everyday affairs and the observation of things in general to take an introspective look.

"Jack Nevin," said Nellie Downing, "has gone back to his office. There was nothing more he could do for us."

Prof Elwell nodded. "I'll see him later and thank him."

A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief questions to the nurse who was watching Jim. Then he nodded gravely.

The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.

"Too bad," he whispered. "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty shortly. They can come back later, you know."

Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downstairs the faithful Mike Hennegan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whistling beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the three coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger. Mollie was leaning heavily on Prof Elwell's arm.

Good Nature and Good Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBAIN

Improvements in methods of caring for children during the last quarter century has been so great that many optimistic investigators believe another generation may see the disappearance of diphtheria, scarlet fever and measles.

However, standing in the way of this health control, are ignorance and superstition, twin enemies of the march of medicine. They are bound to delay a complete triumph over these ills.

Use of Sunlight

The nature of rickets has been determined. The use of sunlight in the treatment of the children's disease has reached an efficient stage.

Knowledge of the action of the glands has been a tremendous factor in the advances of care for children. There is method of control for all spasmodic disorders of childhood. Juvenile diabetes was considered fatal even as late as 1920. Today more than 90 per cent of children with diabetes are saved for many years of useful and pleasant existence.

Dentistry

In 1900 tooth carpentry was distinctly a mechanical business. Any young man with well-trained fingers could fit himself for the work. Today dentistry is a part of medical practice.

The mouth and teeth can no more be separated from the body than any other organ and tissue. Decay of the teeth is the most prevalent disease and has increased with our higher civilization and its refinements in diet.

Sturdy Trimming

One of the smart new details in gloves is thong leather trimming, as shown in this swagger model of Arabian skin.

Sir Gullible

By Olive Roberts Barton

The office called him "Sir Gullible."

He believed what he was told and as a consequence of his faith and credulity easily became the butt of all their jokes.

The office wit, like most practical jokers, was always alert for a trap. He had faith in nothing and nobody. His nickname was "Doubting Thomas from Missouri."

He loved Sir Gullible. Oh, how he loved him! "The poor boob," he said, "had one use at least. He made life very, very pleasant for those about him."

One day a man came in to see the manager. The manager was out. The man sat down and explained to the office force that he had invented a brake equalizer and was trying to get up a stock company to finance it. "Any of you can get in for a couple of hundred dollars," he explained, "and time payments at that."

Never mind what Thomas had to say about gold bricks. Sir Gullible, however, talked to the man for a few minutes and wound up by subscribing all his savings. The office then had a Ropian fellow at Sir Gullible's expense. They had carbon paper round their desks and did a funeral march around his desk.

One day some years later Thomas of Missouri answered an ad. "Book-keeper Wanted." He was preparing

Removes Stain

Equal parts of egg and glycerine applied to grass stains will remove them.

Wring by Hand

When laundering table linen never put it through the wringer as that makes creases that are almost impossible to remove.

The Wash Line

When you hang clothes on the line hang all things of the same kind together. All sheets, towels, slips, side by side. It will be easy putting them up and will also save time when you take them off the line to iron.

ETHEL

MILADY'S BOUFFANT SKIRTS MADE AN EXCELLENT BACKDROP FOR OUR FOREFEATHERS' SAFELY CALVE'S

WHILE TODAY MILADY'S BALLYHOO LIKE PANTS AFFORD A PROPER SETTING FOR MILADY'S TRIM ANKLES, ETCETERA

This And That In Feminine Lore

"Be sure you are right, but don't be too sure that everybody else is wrong."

The popularity of crisp toast is due to the fact that the heat changes the starch into dextrin, which is easier to digest. The crispness is important because it makes us "chew" the toast. The brownness attracts the eye and so tends to offset the starch into dextrin, which is easier to digest. The crispness is important because it makes us "chew" the toast. The brownness attracts the eye and so tends to offset the starch into dextrin, which is easier to digest.

Cranberry and Prune Pie

Two cups cranberries, 1 cup prunes, 3-cup sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon.

Wash prunes well, cover with 1 cup cold water and let stand overnight. Simmer in the same water until stones can be removed, about twenty minutes. Remove stones and cut prunes in halves and add to cranberries in halves and add to prunes and juice. Simmer ten minutes and add sugar, flour and cinnamon mixed and sifted. Turn into a pie dish lined with pastry, dot with bits of butter and cover with a top crust. Put into a hot oven for five minutes to "set" the crust, then reduce heat and bake twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

According to "School Life" more than a dozen of the state colleges and normal schools are teaching child care to students of home economics with living subjects.

Very popular are the new silk net stockings for evening wear.

Shalloon Potatoes and Ham

One slice ham cut thick, three or four potatoes, three or four medium sized onions, salt, pepper, ginger, mustard, milk.

Trim rind from ham and let stand in cold water to cover for two hours. Choose a deep baking dish and half fill with alternate layers of thinly sliced potatoes and onions. Season each layer with pepper and a tiny bit of salt. Pour in milk to barely cover vegetables. Do not trim fat from ham. Put ham on top of potatoes and onions, and sprinkle ginger and mustard over the whole. Bake not more than 1-3 teaspoon combined. Cover baking dish and bake in a moderately hot oven.

In China it isn't considered rude to make a noise when you are eating, but it is taken as a display of satisfaction.

Bracelets have reached the elbow for evening wear. In daytime are sometimes as many as 20 tiny gold or platinum circles are worn about the wrist. Slave and chain bracelets with semi-precious stones are no longer fashionable.

A New Costume Party Idea

The Telephone Bulletin for January tells about an interesting costume or advertising party, so-called, given by a group of hotel girls a few weeks ago. It included both women and men, and every body represented some nationally known and well advertised product. A grand march was formed and a prize given for the best rig. Quite naturally, the judges awarded first honors to the lady who was dressed to represent a telephone set. By the use of cardboard and black cloth she carried out the idea, even to the receiver on its hook. The mouthpiece covered her head and she had to be led through the grand march. The second prize fell to the young woman who represented a cover over a well known woman's magazine. Two of the men teamed up and appeared as the "contained app-

The WOMAN'S DAY

By Allene Sumner

Was It A Cat Trick?

It is just a plain old-fashioned female cat trick! That's what I wondered when I read a little piece in a magazine in which Billie Burke told how Caruso used to propose to her again and again, and then seek to move her adamant heart by dropping to his knees and warbling soulful arias of impassioned love to her. What every woman knows, if she has anything to know with (meaning brains) is that what every other woman wants is to kid herself that she was the supreme, if not the first love, of her husband.

"Being as how," the great Caruso married someone other than Billie Burke, it does not seem altogether fair to this lady to tell the world how he made love to another woman. Oh well, "girls will be girls!"

Husbands of "antique wives" may be interested in this wall of a husband who found himself caught in the grip of the high cost of antiques problem. He is Larry Barretto, author of "Walls of Glass," a good readable story, by the way, telling again the inhumanity of woman to woman. He writes:

"The trouble began when some ill-disposed person gave my wife and me a table. We soon learned that this table was a Genuine Antique, curly maple, antedating the Duncan Phyfe period, and all the rest of it. We grew rather fond of that table, but of what use is a table without chairs to go with it? The opportunity came, as it always does, to acquire six chairs, at a bargain price, the dealer said. We acquired them. A pine dresser followed and then more chairs. By now we realized that our furniture was inappropriate with pine and maple."

Well, it's a long story, but they began getting high-bored and four-posters, then the apartment was too small and they found an old farm house in the country with queer steps and "H hinges on the doors, and all that."

She Fed the Baboons

When Ernest Schumann-Heink was just a little girl she fed monkeys in a circus to get a meal because there was not enough to eat at home. The early struggles of the great are no new story. It is almost bromidic to remark that most genius seems to star from cruel hardship. For a real stirring, inspiring story of achievement the story of "Schumann-Heink," "The Last of the Titans," now running in a woman's magazine, takes the cake!

Spinster, Glad Of It!

"I can freely say that my principal reason for not marrying was my utter horror of parting with my liberty, and of having my gifts snuffed out by husband and children and circumstance."

—MARY TAYLOR.

Silver Gauntlets

Silver-bound strips make an interesting new cuff on a suede glove.

MRS. ADA M. MERRIFIELD

Teacher of Mandolin, Cello-Banjo, Ukulele, Banjo-Mandolin, Ensemble Playing for Advanced Pupils, Agent for Gibson Instruments, Odd Fellows Hook Room

J. H. Hewitt

49 Holl St. Phone 2056

PASTEURIZED MILK AND CREAM

Where attention is given to cleanliness in every operation.

High Quality Results.

COLD WATER FIRST

Glassware that has contained milk should always be rinsed in cold water before it is washed in hot.

BORAX BLEACHES

Add a teaspoonful of powdered borax to the water in which handkerchiefs are to be washed. It will whiten them perceptibly.

By Frank Beck

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

INTELLIGENCE TESTS SHE'S A STAR

The name of the actress and the answers to the following questions appear on another page: 1-Who is shown in the accompanying picture? 2-What was the score of the recent Stanford-Alabama New Year football game? 3-Who wrote: "Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears?" 4-Who directed the picture, "Sorrows of Satan"? 5-What state does Senator Arthur Capper represent? 6-Is Clarence Darrow in favor of the Volstead Act? 7-What is the capital of Illinois? 8-Which of the five Great Lakes is the most eastern? 9-In what city is the American Museum of Natural History? 10-In what state was President Calvin Coolidge born?

SENSE AND NONSENSE

"That's a lie!" shouted the golfer as his ball stopped one inch from the hole. One of these days the girls may give their feet as much freedom as they do their knees, but I doubt it. The honeymoon is over when she learns that salads are not foods. A balanced diet is one that leaves you little bank balance with which to pay for it. Drifting Back To Me If you ever take a notion To come drifting back to me, I'll show the old devotion— For I'll sink you in the ocean, I'll throw you in the sea, If you ever take a notion To come drifting back to me.

Nature ain't so grand. Poets and kings are born, but a plasterer makes himself what he is. What you think of yourself is probably more flattering, but it is what others think of you that really fixes your position on the map. "That old fellow threatened to kill himself, but I notice he's still alive, and doing business." "Yes, I understand he's waiting for a chance to pick up a cheap second-hand revolver."

Ballads Of a Bachelor To a Young Man in Love Say it with flowers, Say it with sweets, Say it with kisses, And say it with cats.

Say it with diamonds, Say it with drink, But whatever you do, Don't say it with ink.

The most miserable person in the world is a woman with no troubles to speak of.

The quickest way for a doctor to lose a patient is to tell her it was only a minor operation.

Slogan for the five-and-ten in Florida: "Positively nothing in this store over $10."

A musical show consists of a lot of one-fourth dressed girls entirely surrounded by bald heads and rubber necks.

Shoes are to be made of ostrich skins. With the feathers on hats, the ostrich will make both ends meet.

It's always a pleasure to teach a beautiful girl anything. They learn so slowly.

Flapper (To Sheik)—"There are two things I never could get used to and both of them are you."

GAS BUGGIES—Enter The Law

SKIPPY

by Percy Crosby

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

Sounds Like a Side-Show to Jay

By Blosser

SALESMAN SAM

He's Certain of It

By Swan

THE TINYMITES BY HAL COCHRAN

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture) The Tynmites all skated fine. They formed into a long, long line and Scouty was the leader, as they skinned across the ice. Their little feet flew left and right. It surely was a dandy sight to see them gallop all around and scoot along so nicely. Then Scouty yelled, with all his might, "My goodness, Clowny's out of sight. I saw him just a bit ago but now, where can he be?" The others stopped their fun and play and looked around in every way, and then they all grew frightened "cause no Clowny could they see. "Let's call to him," wee Carpy said, and then he quickly went ahead. "Oh, Clowny, tell us where you are, and have you fallen through?" Then came an answer, "Have no fear 'cause I'm all right, I'm over here." The Tynmites looked and saw him. Then they knew just what to do. Poor Clowny'd slipped right through the ice, and said, "Oh the next story!"

WASHINGTON TUBBS II By Crane

Out of the Mouths of Babes

By Fountaine Fox

Dance at Turn Hall
Saturday Evening
Given by Polish Grocery
Shearer's Orchestra.

CONCERT
Manchester Male Quartet
Assisted by
Beatrice Johnson
Reader
Swedish Luth. Church
Monday, Jan. 10
8:15 p. m.
Aus. Luther League, Team 1
Admission 50c.

ABOUT TOWN

The condition of James M. Shearer, manager of the local branch of the Capitol Buick Co., who was operated upon for appendicitis at the Memorial Hospital, Monday, is very encouraging.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert E. Willis of East Center street left this morning for St. Petersburg, Florida, where they have a winter home. They expect to remain in the south until warm weather.

The steam heating plant in the new Masonic Temple has been put in operation this week with an Oil-O-Matic oil burner installed by M. H. Strickland. The concrete floor is being laid in the basement and the carpenters will resume work on the interior of the building next week.

E. C. Packard has just placed in position along the west wall of his drug store a handsome mahogany and plate glass show case of the newest design, 20 feet in length and ten feet high. The front is entirely of glass and gives a large amount of display space. About two-thirds of the case will be used for confectionery and the balance for pipes, cigars and tobacco, the tobacco section is a humidifier case as is the new cigar case that forms a part of the equipment.

COLLEEN MOORE STARS IN "TWINKLETOES"

Charming Colleen's Latest Showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Vaudeville, "Valencia" Today.

"Twinkletoes" is the intriguing title of Colleen Moore's latest starring vehicle, which comes to the State Theater tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday.

It was adapted from Thomas Burke's famous tale of the Limehouse district of London, and the combination of star, story and setting make "Twinkletoes" one of the most promising entertainment offerings that has shown here in many moons.

Kenneth Harlan, Gladys Brockwell, Warner Hand, Julianne Johnston, Tully Marshall, John Phillip Kolb and Lucian Littlefield bring to life other famous characters of the Burke story.

They portray Limehouse folks, picturesque characters from that London maritime slum where all races and kinds of humans meet around the wharves, tenements, dingy shops and dives, and sinister plots are born in the narrow, mysterious streets bordering the waterfront.

Lots of Action
The action centers around a charming love affair between "Twinkletoes" and a young Limehouse pugilist, Chuck Lightfoot. Twink is a dancer in the Quayson Theater, and for this role Colleen has discarded her black Dutch bob and appears with curly golden hair.

The story is freely sprinkled with sparkling comedy, but a powerful menace continually haunts the bright, lovable little heroine; the sinister powers of the Limehouse and its denizens gather to destroy her—and keep the spectator tense with emotion.

There is the theater manager and chorus master, named Doseleaf, to whom Twink's innocence appeals as a lure.

Punchy Climax
There is a jealous Limehouse woman who plots to blot out Twink's happiness. And, worst of all, the menace of the law, pursuing Twink's beloved Dad—the man whom she worships and thinks to be the straightest, cleanest, best man in the world.

Through tense drama and suspense, thrills and moments of joy and laughter the story builds swiftly to a big, surprising, punchy climax and an ending that is happy and satisfactory. Colleen is at her best in her role of "Twinkletoes," in which she runs the entire gamut, from tense paths to the brightest comedy.

For the last times today a fine bill of vaudeville and a top notch picture are showing at the State. The vaudeville is about as fine as any ever seen at the State. Ask the man who's seen it. The feature picture is "Valencia," a beautiful and exciting tale of sunny Spain with Mae Murray, heroine of "The Merry Widow," in the leading role. Beat that for a program. If you can. Showings are continuous today from 2:15 o'clock.

On next Wednesday evening instead of the regular "Country Store Nite," the State will give away twenty live chickens. Maybe one of them is for you.

ITALIAN DRAMA
By Colombo Co. of New York
STATE THEATER,
SUNDAY, 1:30 p. m.
"Perla Di Savoia" 5 Acts
Italian-American L. A. Society
Reserved Seats $1.00
Other Seats 75c and 50c

PUBLIC WHIST
Buckland School
Monday, January 10, 8 p. m.
Auspices P. T. A.
4 Prizes! Refreshments!
35 Cents.

WESLEYAN CLUB'S CONCERT TONIGHT
Program Announced For Entertainment and Dance For Benefit of H. S. Fund.

An interesting and well selected program has been announced for the Wesleyan Glee Club for this evening at the High school auditorium. The Wesleyan Glee Club, national inter-collegiate champions, will be heard in their second local appearance. Last year their concert here was considered the outstanding musical event of the year. This year it should be even better. The glee club has been augmented, and is making its second concert tour as champions. The members have sung in practically every city of note in New England, and in several other states, and are accomplished artists.

The proceeds realized from the sale of tickets for this concert will go toward the Washington trip fund being raised by the members of the senior class of the local high school. The concert is being conducted under the auspices of the L. Phelps Group.

Besides the glee club, the Wesleyan string quartet and the Jibbers, a male quartet composed of the four best singers in the glee club, will be heard in solo numbers. Both organizations went ever big here last year. They should prove even more popular this year, having been heard locally before.

The Program

Following is the program:

- I.
- (a) Campus Song . . . Magee '85
- (b) Sword of Ferrara . . Bullard Glee Club
- II.
- (a) Andante Cantabile Tschaikowski
- (b) Minuet Boccherini
- String Quartet
- III.
- (a) The Autumn Sea . . . Gericke
- (b) Swing Low, Sweet Chariot Reddick Glee Club
- IV.
- (a) Thal's (Meditation) Massenet
- (b) From the Cane-brake Gardner
- Mr. H. C. Kuhl
- V.
- (a) Twilight Song Waite '06
- (b) Song Memories Harrington '82
- Glee Club
- INTERMISSION
- VI.
- Soldiers' Chorus (Faust) Gounod
- Glee Club
- VII.
- The Jibbers
- Male Quartet
- VIII.
- (a) The Lotus Flower Schumann
- (b) Amiel Glee Club
- IX.
- The Serenaders
- Orchestra
- Alma Mater Davis '94
- Glee Club
- X.
- The Personnel of the Wesleyan Glee Club follows:
- D. L. Scudder '27, Manager.
- G. L. Langreth '28, Ass't manager.
- E. F. Laubin, Coach.
- H. C. Kuhl '27, Leader.
- Glee Club

First Bass—J. E. Bryan '27, L. P. Gallivan '28, C. B. Mitchell '28, E. F. Singer '30, W. M. Slichter '30, I. R. Sussman '29.

Second Bass—J. D. Anthony '28, G. F. Atwood '27, W. T. Carlson '28, B. H. Clark '28, E. L. Gaylor '28, F. W. Kahrl '27, H. A. Lewis '30, H. B. Matthews '28, R. J. Murphy '29, A. P. Winters '28.

First Tenor—M. D. Casner '30, R. A. Friend '30, V. B. Harrison '28, H. A. King '27, F. J. Landolt '30, S. A. Larrabee '28, L. J. Patrick '29, C. W. Phyl '30, L. R. Thesemeyer '28, L. R. Thompson '28.

Second Tenor—D. M. Chapman '28, K. B. Grady '27, L. R. Holmes '30, E. S. Hulsizer '27, C. Staples '29, J. R. Swain '29, M. C. Webster '30.

The Serenaders will play for dancing after the concert. They are: J. G. Campbell '29, drums; R. A. Friend '30, saxophones; W. C. Knep '27, saxophones; clarinet; E. M. Hallett '30, piano; H. W. Lincoln '30, banjo; R. N. Ryley '30, trumpet; flute; F. E. Smart '28, saxophones, clarinet.

String Quartette
H. C. Kuhl '27, first violin; E. H. McCormick '29, second violin; I. R. Sussman '29, viola; R. J. Murphy, '29, cello.

Jibbers
First bass, H. C. Kuhl, '27; second bass, H. B. Matthews, '28; first tenor, H. C. King, '27; second tenor, E. S. Hulsizer, '27.

Soloist
H. C. Kuhl, '27.
Accompanist
M. D. Casner, '30.

HERE'S A BEDTIME STORY FOR MANCHESTER KIDDIES

Now, kiddies, listen to your bedtime story. Here it is just as it was written by the Herald correspondent. "Reddy Fox was acting as an escort for the Misses Partridge last Monday. The birds were two rods apart and Reddy Fox in the center was waving his tail and glancing from time to time at one or the other of his fair friends as he promenaded with them. "A farmer was watching and he knew that Mr. Reddy Fox planned to grab one of the pretty partridges when he was within jumping distance so the farmer gave a wild yell and the fox bounded away and the pretty partridges flew away."

RAWLSON THE STAR ON RIALTO PROGRAM

"The Millionaire Policeman" a Thrilling Film—Western Drama on Same Bill.

Herbert Rawlison is starred in the feature attraction which is being shown for the last time today and this evening at the Rialto theater. It is called "The Millionaire Policeman" and tells the thrilling story of a wealthy coward's regeneration after joining the police force in the Metropolis. Eya Novak has the feminine lead and the support is capable to say the least. A western drama "Pep of the Lazy J" will also be shown as well as another chapter of "The Mystery Pilot", a comedy and a news reel.

General Auto Repairing and Overhauling

THE BOULEVARD CHEVROLET CO.
275 Conn. Boulevard
East Hartford, Conn.
Phone Laurel 765

G. Schreiber & Sons
General Contractors
Builders of "Better Built Homes"
Telephone 1565-2.
Shop: 285 West Center Street

You Must Be Satisfied
"Used Cars With an O.K. That Counts"

- 1926 Chevrolet Coupe—Has had good care. Small mileage, many extras.
- 1925 Chevrolet Sedan—This car looks and runs like new. Practically new rubber.
- 1925 Chevrolet Coach—Good motor. A fine car for little money.
- 1925 Chevrolet Coupe—This car is A-1 in every way.
- 1925 Chevrolet Touring—With all the extras that go with a good car.
- 1924 Chevrolet 4 Pass. Coupe—Motor has been overhauled. Good tires. Duco finish.
- 1924 Chevrolet 2 Pass. Coupe—Thoroughly overhauled. Duco finish. Good tires.
- 1923 Chevrolet Coupes (2)—At a small price.
- 1923 Chevrolet Sedan—Here is a real bargain, 5 new cord oversize tires. Motor is perfect.
- 1925 Studebaker Standard Duplex—A mechanically. Good paint and tires.
- 1924 Studebaker Special 6 Coupe—One of the famous models. O. K. throughout.
- 1923 Durant Sport Model Touring—Many extras. Duco finish.
- 1924 Ford Tudor Sedan—Good rubber. Duco finish.
- 1924 Ford Fordor Sedan—Good motor. Good tires. Duco finish, priced right.
- 1926 Ford Roadster—Express body, perfect in every way.
- 1925 Ford Roadster—Balloon tires, looks and runs like new.
- 1925 Ford Coupe—Balloon tires. Nickel radiator. A-1 mechanically. Priced low.
- 1924 Chevrolet Touring.
- 1923 Chevrolet Coupe (2).
- 1923 Chevrolet Sedan.
- 1924 Ford Coupe—Balloon tires.
- 1924 Ford Roadster—Express body 1925 Ford Touring.
- 1923 Ford Touring.
- 1923 Ford Tudor Sedans—Two to choose from. Duco finish.
- 1922 Oldsmobile—3-4 ton truck, flat body.
- 1923 Ford 1 Ton Truck—Express body, all new tires.
- 1924 1/2 Ton Ford Panel—(3).
- 1924 1/2 Ton Ford Canopy Top.

The Boulevard Chevrolet Co.
275 Conn. Boulevard
East Hartford, Conn.
Phone Laurel 765

JAZZ THE TENOR
Dr. Fred F. Bushnell
Banojo and Ukelele
Quick advancement. Terms Reasonable.
Geo. Smith
Tele. 2296, Centennial Apartments.

Mark Holmes
Funeral Director
Licensed Embalmer.
Lady Assistant. Calls Day or Night.
223 No. Main St., Phone 406-2.

SUNDAY DINNER
at the
HOTEL SHERIDAN

Turkey, Duck or Chicken with all the fixings, $1
12 M. to 2:30 P. M.
Also a la Carte Service.

Goslee & Goslee
CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS
High Grade Building
HOMES OFFICES STORES FARM BLDGS. REPAIRING

No Job Too Big or Too Small. We solicit an opportunity to estimate on your requirements.
Quality and Service Assured.
Phone 899-4 or 205-4.

READ For used cars WANT ADS

I Repair Rubbers, Arctics, Rubber Boots
SELWITZ
THE SHOE REPAIR MAN
Selwitz Block, 10 Pearl St.

An Honest Deal
Hudson Model O $175
Star 1923 $65
Dodge Sedan 1923 $275
Dodge Coupe 1923 $250
Dodge Coupe 1922 $175
Dodge Touring $100
Studebaker Coupe 1922 . . $350

H. A. Stephens
Sales and Service Dodge Bros. Cars Graham Bros. Trucks, Corner Center and Knox Sts., South Manchester. Open Evenings.

HERE! NOW!

Now's the time to have things done. Fretilful waiting is no fun. You won't fret and you won't wait after you phone us. Moving done with a promptness that will surprise and please you.

Special Taxi Service. Daily Express to Hartford.

HARTFORD OFFICE—MANCHESTER OFFICE
PERRETT & O'LENNY
MOVING - EXPRESSING
GENERAL TRUCKING.

THERE!

The Greatest Sensation
of America's Greatest Industry!

The
Chevrolet Coach
Improved in Quality
Yet Reduced To $595
f. o. b. Flint, Mich.
Former price $645

CHEVROLET

New and Marvelously Beautiful Fisher Bodies
—a host of Mechanical Improvements—New Features found only on the costliest cars —Plus an Amazing Reduction in Prices

- New Low Prices
- The Coach - - - $595
Former price $645.
 - The Coupe - - - $625
Former price $645.
 - The Sedan - - - $695
Former price $735.
 - The Landau - - - $745
Former price $765.
 - The Touring Car - $525
Price includes Balloon tires and steel disc wheels. Former price $535 with balloon tires only.
 - The Roadster - $525
Price includes Balloon tires and steel disc wheels. Former price $535 with balloon tires only.
 - The Sport Cabriolet $715
Entirely new model with rumble seat.
 - 1-Ton Truck - $495
Chassis Only
 - 1/2-Ton Truck - $395
Chassis Only
- Ballon tires now standard on all models
All Prices F. O. B. Flint, Mich.

America has always expected great things from its greatest industry. But the announcement of the Most Beautiful Chevrolet has been the automotive sensation of all time!

Here is a car which in beauty, luxury, quality and modern design challenges the costliest creations of the day.

Here, in a price class where average standards have been the rule, is now offered a car so far beyond all expectations that comparisons cease to exist. Seven superb models styled as low priced cars were never styled before and offering such marks of fine car distinction as: full crown one-piece fenders, bullet type lamps and "fish tail" rear deck modeling! New and supremely beautiful bodies by Fisher! And, above all, infinitely finer quality—the result of a host of additional improvements such as AC oil filter, AC air cleaner, incidental steering and ignition lock, larger 17 inch steering wheel, gasoline gauge and many, many others!

All this is combined to a supreme degree in the long famous leader of the Chevrolet line—the Coach. It would be a brilliant achievement for any manufacturer merely to design such a splendid car to sell at any reasonably low price. But to sell it at the amazing price of $595 is a feat of history making proportions. This one price reduction alone would suffice to center worldwide attention on Chevrolet. But due to economies of tremendous production plus the vast resources of General Motors, Chevrolet also announces striking price reductions on other models.

For years Chevrolet has led the world in providing Quality at Low Cost. But now with a new and more beautiful car—with a car infinitely finer in quality and greatly lower in price, Chevrolet stands supreme and unchallenged in dollar-for-dollar value!

No matter in what price class you intend to buy or whether you plan to spend more or less than the price of a Chevrolet, come in today and see the most beautiful low priced Coach ever designed. Admire its marvelous style and grace! Mark its many new fine-car features! Learn for yourself by personal inspection why, at its new low price, it is the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry!

The SAVAGE
is the
Washing Machine
You'll Eventually OWN

Arrange for your Free Home Trial NOW
And Buy at the Old Price.
Convenient Terms
IT PAYS TO WATCH OUR WINDOWS.

The Manchester Electric Co.
861 Main St. Phone 1700

W. R. TINKER, JR.
130 Center Street South Manchester
QUALITY AT LOW COST

WILL BUY OLD GUN CATALOGS
L. D. Satterlee, 65 W. Fern St. Dorch, Mich.