

LARGEST TAXPAYERS GLEANNED BY HERALD

Too Early to Give Grand Total in Figure on Tax Rate; Abstract Not Yet Completed by Assessors.

The work of the Manchester Board of Assessors has progressed so far that The Herald is able to publish today a list of local property owners paying on valuations of $10,000 or over.

Despite reports to the contrary it is not possible at this time to give the total amount of the grand list or figure the tax rate. This can only be arrived at when the abstract is completed and this will take at least several weeks more. The abstract is about half completed.

No comparison can be made at this time between last year's valuations and those of the year before because the Board of Relief must pass on the present list before the values are final if there are objections made by any of the taxpayers.

As the figures now stand before the Board of Relief passes on them, this list contains the names and valuations of the town's biggest taxpayers and those owning property here but living out of town:

HEART STROKE KILLS MAN HIT BY FAST TRAIN

Robert McGrath, of Jamaica, L. I., Stalls Car on Tracks At Andover—No Marks On Body.

Local police found out today that Robert McGrath, who was killed when his Auburn car was struck by a train at the Andover crossing last night, lives in Jamaica, L. I. His body, which was taken to Holloran's morgue after it arrived in Manchester on the train which struck his car, will probably be removed to Jamaica today. A relative of the dead man is on the way to Manchester and will arrive here at 5 o'clock this evening.

No Autopsy

No autopsy was performed today for no orders to do so were received from the coroner. Medical Examiner W. R. Tinker said today that he had made no finding as to the cause of death. He went to Andover this afternoon to investigate the case further. In the meantime, the body will remain at Holloran's until action is taken by the coroner.

Autopsy

An autopsy was to be performed today to determine the cause of the death of Robert McGrath of New York, whose auto was struck and demolished in Andover last night by the train due in Manchester at 9 o'clock. McGrath's car is said to have stalled on the track and it is thought that the man died of heart failure or shock as he saw the lights of the train bearing down on him.

Alive on Train

McGrath was still alive when he was put on the train by passengers and brought toward Manchester. He died, however, before reaching here and Dr. A. B. Moran, who received permission for removal of the body from Dr. W. R. Tinker, medical examiner, ordered removed to Holloran Brothers' morgue.

Papers Prove Identity

A notebook in McGrath's pocket contained cards and information showing that he was an organ salesman for the Adams organ company of New York and also a musician. He held a card of membership in Chicago Local No. 10, American Federation of Music, and also one of the Long Island Automobile club.

Although his automobile was badly smashed, Dr. Moran could find no wounds on McGrath's body, except an abrasion on one of his thighs. This, it is said, could hardly have caused death.

Police decided that he is married and has one or more children for the notebook in his pocket is inscribed: "To my daddy from Bobby McGrath." His automobile bore the New York state markers, 6C-93-45.

Signals O. K.

Lights at the Andover crossing, according to train officials, tested them later, were found to be functioning perfectly and it is the opinion of the investigators that McGrath drove his car on to the crossing despite the flashing signals which warn motorists that a train is approaching.

The train was in charge of Engineer Alfred Doweller of 205 Burnside avenue, East Hartford, and Albert D. Thayer, conductor, of 83 Chapel street of the same town. Sheriff Allison L. Fink, who examined the automobile after it had been disengaged from the engine pilot, found that it had been tagged for a motor vehicle law violation in Providence that day.

FIND 3 SLAIN BODIES IN BURNING HOUSE

Penn. Firemen Discover Triple Murder of Mother, Two Children.

Unontown, Pa., Jan. 13.—The bodies of Mrs. James Williams, 35, a son and daughter, 5, were found apparently slain, when firemen entered their burning home at Lambert, near here, today. Their heads were crushed. A baby girl, unconscious, was carried to safety by the firemen.

HAUGEN BILL PASSES COMMITTEE OF HOUSE

Washington, Jan. 13.—The House agriculture committee today approved, thirteen to eight, the Haugen farm relief bill. The measure, carrying $250,000,000, would aim to stabilize prices by regulating surpluses.

WIFE SEEKS TO STRIP CHAPLIN OF HIS FORTUNE

Divorce Action Takes the Form of Effort to Get All Of the Comedians Sixteen Millions.

Los Angeles, Jan. 13.—Eighteen-year-old Lita Grey Chaplin, who is seeking a divorce from Charles Chaplin, famous film comedian, may seek to obtain the entire Chaplin estate for herself and her two babies, instead of asking for half of the $16,000,000 fortune as is customary in California divorce settlements. It was learned here today from attorneys representing the young wife.

On the heels of the receivership which left all of Chaplin's funds and property in California "tied up," notice was served by Edwin T. Murray, heading Mrs. Chaplin's legal battery, that he will move to halt the pay of Edna Purviance, one time leading woman for Chaplin, and still said to be on the Chaplin payroll at $250 a week.

Not in Employ

Murray contended that Miss Purviance was not entitled to any salary because, he alleged, she had not been in the employ of the Chaplin studios for several years. He also declared he would investigate just why this money was still being paid Miss Purviance.

Chaplin's Beverly Hills home was being closely guarded by detectives today. Every article in the house and on the estate has been checked. Nothing is permitted to leave the grounds except servants' cars.

Some of the comedian's expensive automobiles were found in the home garage, while others were located in his studio grounds. The studio accounting books were seized and the placing of an armed guard on the famous Chaplin "lot" completed the process of putting a legal hook upon the Chaplin holdings.

Chaplin Worried

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Charlie Chaplin continued as elusive as ever today, despite the fact that newspaper reporters had him "cornered" for a few minutes here last night when he stepped off a Santa Fe train from California.

The famous film comedian is believed enroute to New York, although no one is quite sure just what became of him. The Atlantic express which left here early today with one Pullman for New York was reported carrying a passenger and a servant who resembles Chaplin and his Japanese valet.

"It's terrible—simply terrible," said Chaplin to reporters at the station. When asked for a statement

JUDGE S. A. ROBINSON DIES AT MIDDLETOWN

Former Supreme Court Justice Succumbs to Second Seizure At 85.

Middletown, Jan. 13.—Judge Sias A. Robinson died suddenly at his home here just before noon today. He was stricken at a time when he apparently had recovered from the effects of a shock on January 3, and the end was entirely unexpected. He was eighty-five years of age.

Sias Arnold Robinson was born at Pleasant Valley, N. Y., September 7, 1840, son of Rev. Daniel and Ursula M. Arnold Robinson. He was educated at Lewis Academy, Southington; Bacon Academy, Colchester, and Brookside institute, Sand Lake, N. Y. Then he read law at Troy, N. Y., being admitted to the bar in 1863.

Afterward he settled in Middletown and in 1865 was married to Fannie E. Norton, of Otisville, Mass. He practiced law in Middletown until his appointment to the bench by Governor Morgan G. Bulkeley in 1890.

LANDIS PLANS 4 WAYS TO CLEAN BASEBALL

No More "Rewards" from One Club to Another, No Betting Whether in or Out of Game; No "Cold" Trials.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Four drastic amendments to the rules that regulate organized baseball, may be a direct result of the late Risberg scandal affair, it was learned today. The amendments will be proposed by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis when a committee representing the major and minor leagues meet at French Lick Springs next Monday.

The c-mmissioner's suggestions are these:

1. A statute of limitations with respect to alleged baseball offenses.

2. Ineligibility for one year for offering or giving any gift or "reward" by players or management of one club to the players or management of another club for services rendered in defeating a competing club.

3. Ineligibility for one year for betting any sum whatever upon any ball game in connection with which the bettor has no duty to perform.

4. Permanent ineligibility for betting any sum whatever upon any ball game in connection with which the bettor has any duty to perform.

TROLLEY SERVICE HERE GETS WORSE

Apparently No Attempt Made For Connections at Center—Want Busses.

Patrons of trolley cars here are dissatisfied with the service the Connecticut Company is rendering locally since the local office and car barns were abandoned. Never before in the history of the trolleys here has service generally been so poor.

North end residents complain that connections at the Center are apparently a thing of the past. One by one during the slack hours can be assured of catching a South Manchester car at the Center on a transfer from the Green trolley.

Employees Riled

Employees of Hartford factories which start early in the morning are incensed at the tardily poor service they get. Several meetings no trolleys have appeared in Manchester until too late to get the workers to their plants on time. Seemingly no attempt is made to give Manchester people service of a dependable nature.

The Herald has experienced such poor service in the delivery of its papers by trolley that it has decided to deliver all its newspapers by automobile. Trolleyman simply refused to throw bundles of newspapers off at Buckland and at Talcottville, carrying them through either to Stafford Springs or Hartford. Both of these points are now covered by automobile busses.

Would Run Busses

The Herald today learned that Perrett and Glenny, formerly proprietors of a number of Manchester to Hartford busses, stand ready to put on busses again at the first opportunity. If Manchester people desire bus service Perrett and Glenny will seek a permit from the Public Utilities commission.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, Jan. 13.—Treasury balance as of Jan. 11: $202,538,453.33.

Ford to Stage Fiddlin' and Dancin' Party at His Ancient Wayside Inn

South Sudbury, Mass., Jan. 13.—Pages of history will be turned back on the evening of January 21, when Henry Ford, motor magnate, will assume the role of "miser host" at historic Wayside Inn. The event will be an old-fashioned dinner party and dance. Costumes of the days when Sudbury was an outpost will be worn by the fifty men and women guests.

MEXICO TO BREAK OFF RELATIONS WITH U. S.

KELLOGG'S RED EXPOSE BRINGS G. O. P. SUPPORT

Officials of Southern Republic Remain Silent But Kellogg Statement Is Regarded As Certain to End Friendship—U. S. State Dept. Explains American Constabulary.

Mexico City, Jan. 13.—A severance of diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico at an early date was regarded as inevitable today, as the reaction here to the publication of Secretary of State Kellogg's charges to the Senate committee that the Soviet government of Russia was operating here and in Central America against the interests of the United States.

The secretary of state's charges, coming on the heels of President Coolidge's message to Congress, were regarded as a clear declaration of the Coolidge administration's determination to carry out its own policy for the protection of American interests in the region between Panama and the Rio Grande against the alleged activities of Bolshevik interests.

While a strict silence was maintained in Mexican official circles regarding Secretary Kellogg's charges, Madam Kollontay, sole minister of the Soviet government in the Americas, was outspoken in her contradiction of the charges.

"Abundant" she said when informed of Kellogg's statement to the Senate Committee. "Mr. Kellogg can not have information relative to a thing which does not exist."

Explains Officer Incident

Washington, Jan. 13.—An explanation was made by the State Department today of its objection with a recent effort to have an American soldier command the Nicaraguan constabulary.

The explanation set forth that the constabulary was a "non-political police force" and that President Diaz, recognized by the State Department, asked the department to suggest a man to act as "instructor" of the force. Accordingly, several names were discussed, including Major General K. Shuler, a retired marine officer, but nobody has been named.

A Major Carter, American former military constabulary, has been in charge of the force for some months. His name also was suggested by the State Department.

President's Committee Wrangles

President Coolidge's Nicaraguan policy was again subjected to a wrangling session of the House foreign affairs committee.

Rep. Huddleston, Democrat of Ala., who charged that the administration is "consciously and deliberately" toward "Mexico," asserted that President Coolidge has exceeded his authority in Nicaragua.

Republican members countered with denials and said the President was merely employing the police power of the nation to protect American interests.

A move to have the House investigate the Mexican-Nicaraguan policy of President Coolidge was quelled in the committee when by a vote of eight to five, it defeated a motion to bring Secretary of State Kellogg before the committee tomorrow.

Two Republicans, Fish of New York and Cooper of Wisconsin, voted against the administration.

New Censorship Report

Rear Admiral Julius Latimer in charge of American naval forces in Nicaragua, has authority to establish a censorship there whenever he deems it necessary. Secretary of the State Kellogg said today, with reference to reports that censorship has again been clamped down on Nicaraguan ports.

Latimer had not advised the department, however, of the reported renewal of the censorship.

ARNOLD DALY, NOTED ACTOR, DIES BY FIRE

New York, Jan. 13.—Arnold Daly, the noted actor, was burned to death this afternoon in his apartment. His body was burned beyond recognition but he was identified through other means.

Fire starting in the hallway on the ground floor of the studio apartment house in which Daly lived, swept to the roof rapidly. Occupants of the apartment house were trapped by flames and only rescued through the use of ladders by firemen.

The body of Daly was found near the window of his apartment. The door was open, indicating he had attempted to escape but was driven back by the smoke and flames.

OLDEST WOMAN VOTER OF WINSTED DEAD, 91

Winsted, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Julia Miller, 91 years old, Winsted's oldest woman voter and for more than 85 years a member of the Baptist Sunday school died at her home today. She was a native of New Hartford.

PHILIPPINES SWEEP BY EPIDEMIC OF FLU

Manila, P. I., Jan. 13.—The Philippines Islands are being swept by an epidemic of influenza. Health officers declared that several thousand cases have been reported. Authorities said that deaths so far were less than a hundred.

NEW CAGE IDEA

Logansport, Ind., Jan. 13.—The Logansport High school will have two varsity basketball teams here and they will be considered the division of talent in the school. Team while Team B is going about on the road schedule.

8 ACTS AT STATE THEATER TONIGHT

On Same Bill With "God Gave Me 20 Cents"—Robbins Family Featured—Rajah Raboid Here All Next Week.

To begin with, the show at the State theater this evening will be one of the biggest attractions of the year. Eight superior vaudeville acts and a marvellous feature will constitute the special program which is being offered. The bill is headed by the Robbins family, Pa, Ma, and the kids, seven people in all. Then, for the feature there will be that great spectacle which opened the $17,000,000 Paramount theater in New York, "God Gave Me 20 Cents."

Instead of the usual Thursday night program, three extra acts have been added. These eight, with the feature picture, will provide a perfect evening's entertainment. The picture alone is one that is featured exclusively in other big theaters throughout the United States and is a first run affair. On Friday and Saturday there will be five acts of vaudeville with this picture. "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," Dixie Willson's short story, is the colorful record of a short time in four lives. They were persons who might well have come from the ends of the earth. All were young, but three were old in the ways of the earth. The fourth, Mary, was thrown into a vortex created by life, and only saved because of her faith and trust.

After having been married less than a week, deliciously happy in her new paradise, she is told that Steve has taken another woman aboard his ship. It is unbelievable, but as the hours pass, her mind starts distorting this awful thought. She sets out for the dock alone. There you have one of the most dramatic, poignant episodes ever transferred to the silver screen. "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," is said to begin where most pictures leave off. It is as good as it is reputed to be. Mr. Brenon will soon be enabled to add another feather to his already overflowing hat.

Jack Mulhall, Lois Moran and Lya de Putli are starred. All next week Manchester people will be shown the mystic powers of Rajah Raboid, an Indian mystic, whose marvelous brain and second sight enable him to go around blindfolded as though he could see perfectly. On Tuesday at noon the Rajah will drive an automobile through the streets of Manchester with his eyes covered tightly with 16 layers of adhesive tape.

No explanation of the Rajah's powers has yet been given and scientists in this country and Europe have been baffled to account for them. He will tell his State theater audiences what they are thinking, what their future holds, their past, and where their lost articles can be found. The Rajah is at the top of his profession and will be sure to please his hearers here.

BIG COMEDY SUCCESS AT RIALTO TODAY

Six reels of merriment with a generous sprinkling of thrills as well as moments of appealing human interest heads the double feature program at the Rialto theater today and tomorrow. It is "His New York Wife" which has been hailed as a triumph in light entertainment, eliciting as it has laughs and applause from critical audiences the country over, for many clever bits in its ingeniously contrived plot. Alice Day in the leading role, that of a country girl who poses as a notorious widow in a big city, gives finished performance and Theodore von Eltz playing the opposite part leaves nothing to be desired by reason of his realistic portrayal of the young lawyer who is hoodwinked by the captivating country bred miss. Ethel Clayton heads the supporting cast. The second attraction is a virile western drama "Flashing Steeds." It has everything entertaining that this type should have and a great deal more besides. Bill Patton has the role of the hero who breaks up a gang of jewel thieves, stops promiscuous rustling and then rides off with the girl he loves. Every one will admit this is a fair day's work even for a hero like Patton. The shorter subjects to be shown include a comedy and a news reel.

A Raw, Sore Throat

eases quickly when you apply a little Mustrorle. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain and won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Mustrorle is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Brings quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest.

To Mothers: Mustrorle is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Mustrorle.

SEE REVIVAL IN BRITISH TRADE FOR THIS YEAR

Fall In World Prices Had Effect On British Foreign Business In 1926.

Liverpool. — "The year 1926 was one of consolidation and readjustment for British trade," says Sir Max Muspratt, President of the Federation of British Industries, and ex-Lord Mayor of Liverpool. Sir Max pointed out to me that Board of Trade figures for 1926 show an almost general decrease in British trade, both import and export. "But," he asked, "can official figures be always taken as a reliable trade barometer? It is often extremely unreliable to measure trade in terms of money. "This was especially so in 1926, for although the figures incontestably show a contraction in trade, this will be found to be very largely accounted for by the heavy fall in world prices which took place during the year, a fall which was particularly heavy in raw materials, especially cotton. "As an instance, it is more than likely that the whole difference between 1925 and 1926 imports from America was accounted for by the decline in price of one of our principal annual purchases from the United States.

Coal Exports Stopped. "Apart from this, the cessation of our coal exports alone is estimated to have reduced our export figures by approximately $125,000,000. Therefore, without even probing deeper, the record of the year may not have been nearly as bad as might be first imagined. "The most notable feature of the coal stoppage is not so much the strain it has placed on British finance, or on the enormous blow dealt to British trade. The most notable feature by far is the manner in which British industry and commerce have taken it. They have been able to keep going and even, in some cases, to increase, despite the drastic curtailment of coal supplies.

Home Markets. "One great development of British trade has been the expansion of the 'Home Market.' Since the war, exports have been declining at the expense of imports and have obstinately refused to reach their pre-war levels. Imports on the other hand have largely exceeded the pre-war normal. "This can be largely accounted for by an extraordinary industrial development in and around London in parts which have been traditionally looked upon as residential or agricultural. In these districts, small industries are growing up which, by taking advantage of motor transport and electrical facilities, have been able to avoid many of the handicaps imposed upon traders in the industrial North, by taxation and traffic congestion. "Thus 1926 stimulates the observation that 'this is the day of British dependence upon her export trade are numbered. The movements are at present only embryonic. I do not imply that the export trades are on their deathbed or that the race of heavy metal industries has been run. It may be merely that the scales, which immediately pre-war were heavily weighted in favor of export trade and foreign capital development have since shifted in favor of our internal trade.

Markets Over Seas. "In our markets overseas, 1926 was a year of consolidation and readjustment also. Many countries, especially France, Belgium and Italy, have made determined attempts to put their currencies on a sound basis. "World prices which have been falling since the fall of 1924 are also beginning to stabilize, and unless disturbed by the various currency adjustments already mentioned, should begin to take an upward course this year."

PUTS AN END TO BUNION PAINS

No Need to Suffer Another Day Those Agonizing Torturing Pain.

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflamed, swollen toe joints and get them down to normal and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning. Ask Masnell Drug Co., So. Manchester, or any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place, it is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded. Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. Applied night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

convenient political base in America for the development of further ties. "At another point, Kellogg again quoted from communistic reports, signed out a resolution adopted at the sixth enlarged plenary session of the executive committee of the Communist International at Moscow, a year ago. "To the American Communist party: In the future struggle for the overthrow of the yoke of the bourgeoisie in the United States, the working class and peasantry of Latin-America will play a tremendous role. Moreover it is necessary that the Workers (Communist) party maintain the closest contact with the labor movement in the colonies of Cuba, the Philippines, etc., and support them in their fight against American imperialism. "In view of this the executive committee of the Communist International instructs the Central committee of the American Communist party to devote more serious attention to the tasks cited and above all to appoint an earnest group of party workers to participate in the current work in Latin-America in agreement with the presidium of the executive committee of the Communist International."

Kellogg added that a special organization had been created, known as the "All-American Anti-Imperialist League" to carry out organization of Latin-American sentiment against the United States. Three or Four Years Old. In his strictures on Kellogg's policy Senator Wheeler said: "The only document produced of Mexican origin was one from the Mexican Federation of Labor denouncing Communists as enemies of the Federation and enemies of the Mexican government. Instead of proving that Mexico is fomenting Communist opposition to the United States, it would appear rather that the Mexican government is the foe of Communism, for it is a well known fact that the Mexican Federation of Labor constitutes the bulwark of the Calles government."

Wheeler and other opponents of Kellogg's policy pointed out that the Russian documents submitted by Kellogg were taken from the meetings of the internationals of three and four years ago. "They did not cause any special alarm at that time when they were published, so why should they now?" said Wheeler. "Chicerin, who sponsored some of them, is no longer a major figure in Russia. Administration Has Majority. "If we have to send fifteen warships and 5,000 marines to Nicaragua because a few American Communists are making speeches in Mexico, it is a pretty state of affairs."

Senator Johnson, Republican of California, who announced he would support the administration, said the State Department was in the position of having "a bear by the tail," which left the department nothing to do but to "hang on." Notwithstanding these opposition views, it was apparent today that the administration can command a majority in favor of its policy at any time the matter comes to a vote.

RUSSIANS TO BUY ARMY HORSES FROM CANADIANS

Edmonton, Alberta, Jan. 13.—From 2,000 to 5,000 horses for military purposes will be purchased in Western Canada for the Russian government by a special Soviet commission which will arrive here this spring, it was announced today by R. E. Wilson, Dominion government agent, at the annual meeting of the Alberta Provincial Horse Breeders' Association.

HOLDUP OF TRAIN FAILS AS GUN JAMS

Trauman, Passengers Capture Pair Who Try to Rob Penn. Express.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 13.—Two bandits who attempted to hold up the Pennsylvania railroad's Keystone Express, bound from New York to St. Louis, near here early today were overpowered and arrested when one bandit's gun jammed.

The attempted robbery occurred between Greensburg and Pitsburgh. Police said the bandits gave their names as W. F. Heyner, 21, of Tyrone and L. D. Rhodes, 25, of Johnstown. Authorities said Heyner only recently was released from the state penitentiary at Hintonburg. He was armed but his companion was not. As the train pulled out of Greensburg, 40 miles east of Pittsburgh, the bandits walked through the smoking car, revolver drawn, and ordered passengers to surrender their valuables. While the bandits were searching the passengers in the front part, other passengers in the rear of the car noticed J. J. Fulton, a brakeman. Fulton made a dash for Heyner, the armed bandit, in the smoking car. Heyner pulled the trigger but his gun jammed. An instant later the railroad man empowered Heyner, wresting his gun from him, while passengers pounced upon Rhodes. The prisoners were taken to Pittsburgh and turned over to police.

WIFE SEEKS TO STRIP CHAPLIN OF FORTUNE

regarding the divorce suit filed against him in Los Angeles last Monday by Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin, the comedian said: "Please, boys, let's don't talk about it. It's too terrible for words. I can't make any statement—not now. Not until I confer with my attorney."

Chaplin was very nervous and appeared drawn and worried. The old Chaplin smile was missing. He was a sorry, pathetic figure. "Don't steal a picture of me boys," he told the photographers. "I'll pose for you," and so he did. Then, as though by a prearranged plan, Charlie and his servant suddenly stepped through a side door of the station, into a taxicab and were soon lost in the traffic. Efforts to follow them in other cabs proved futile.

TOLLAND

There was a basketball game scheduled for Tuesday evening at the Community House between South Willington and Tolland.

A meeting of the Tolland town school committee was held last Saturday afternoon at the Hick's Memorial school. Mrs. Charles Chestly has gone to visit her folks in Waterbury, Vermont. Mr. Chestly is boarding at Frank Newman's until the work on the Hartford-Vernon Turnpike is done for the season. Miss Bernice Hall visited in Hartford over the week-end. Several persons about town are ill with grip and colds. Charles Chestly motored to Providence Sunday where he visited friends. One of the best light for the benefit of airplanes is being installed on the field of Edward Wochomurka at the north end of Tolland street. The tower is over 50 feet high and will be a revolving light and a 75 watt bulb will be used and arranged with reflectors to make the light more effective. It was to have been done last Tuesday but owing to the storm was not finished but will be completed very soon. James Rhodes came down through the street with his two horses and snow plow making a good road for autos.

Edgar, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Smith of this place is quite ill with grip and laryngitis. He is a pupil in the first grade of the local school.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Kit Carson (4)

Carson considered his most thrilling experience an encounter with two grizzly bears on the Laramie river, in what is now Colorado. He had gone out alone to shoot game. After he had killed an elk, and his rifle was empty, the bears attacked him. He ran for a sapling, climbed swiftly, and cut off a branch with his knife.

The bears climbed, too. But just as one or the other would reach him, Carson would bang the bruin on the nose.

The blows on the nose sent the bears away growling, but they inevitably returned. Carson was in the tree all night. Finally the bears quit.

Soon after Carson's adventure with the bears, Jim Bridger, the ruthless and cunning enemy of the Indian joined Carson's party on the Green river, Wyoming. Bridger, one of the bravest of the men of the old west, became Carson's close friend. The bond between them was welded by many a fierce battle with the Indians.

GAMBLING WAVE SWEEPS LONDON SOCIAL CIRCLES

Continental Games Take Hold of People Driving Dancing to Background.

London, Jan. 8.—A wave of roulette, chemin-de-fer, and baccarat is sweeping over London. Illicit gaming houses are springing up right and left, and invitations to private dinner parties almost invariably involve the various games of hazard associated with the Continent. Dancing is rapidly going out of favor, with the result that night clubs like Ciro's close nearly two hours earlier than they did during the summer.

Another effect of the sudden popularity of spending holidays in the casino towns is the arrival from Paris of the gigolo, a young man paid by otherwise partnerless women to dance, his double-breasted suits, effeminate shoes and manners, can be seen everywhere.

Cocktail parties, too, are becoming more and more into fashion. Their duration, often two hours, fits in the time before the new late dinner hour of nine. Instead of being an aperitif, the cocktail has now acquired all the importance of a social function.

In every way London is seriously adopting all the habits of casino towns, even if the gaiety and light-heartedness of the Continent are lacking.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

THE BIRD THE CLERGY DUBBED A FISH

BY ARTHUR N. PACK President, American Nature Ass'n. Here is a cousin of the pretty Murre, and a cousin of whom we strongly suspect the Murre is secretly ashamed; for whoever saw a more grotesque bird than this Puffin, which inhabits both sides of the North Atlantic and shores of the Arctic Ocean.

OVER 700 WATCH PLAINFIELD WHIP SOUTH KINGSTON 31 TO 18

Norris Holds Famous Bernot Without a Single Field Goal; Normandin Misses Many Shots; Stavinsky Puts Game On Ice; Plainfield Plays In Middletown Saturday Night.

(By Staff Correspondent) Although furnishing stiff opposition at times, the South Kingston team, minus Martin and Morley, taken as a whole proved rather easy picking last night for the Plainfield quintet with its array of Manchester talent. Plainfield won 31-18. Over 750 fans jammed their way into the spacious Community club hall at Plainfield to watch the two teams battle. They were rewarded by a battle that fizzled with flashy floorwork by both teams but witnessed more or less erratic shooting, especially on the part of Leo Normandin, who must have had at least forty shots at the hoop. They simply would not fall for him as they did the previous night in Taftville against Cheney Brothers.

REVERSE PIVOT SUCCESS UP TO PLAYERS—OLSEN

Reverse Pivot, Perfectly Executed, One of Best Strategic Plays in Game.

By H. G. OLSEN, Ohio State Coach

The reverse pivot when executed at the proper time, is one of the finest movements in basketball. It is not only good to look at, but is invaluable as an aid to team play. By its use many passes are made successfully, which would otherwise be inaccurate and risky.

Norris Checks Bernot One of the highlights of the evening, while many of the fans were apparently unaware of it, was the careful guarding game of Roy Norris, lanky center of the Plainfield team. The local boy held the famed Bernot, who is playing in one of the professional leagues, without a field goal. Each player looped in one from the foul line. Bernot had but few shots at the basket, so closely was he watched by Norris. Bernot was the man who scored six field goals in the last Plainfield-South Kingston game almost preventing Plainfield from attaining its cherished 20 to 19 halftime decision.

Madden and Benson played well in the backcourt but George Stavinsky looked much more impressive when he entered the game in the second half. George practically won the game himself by contributing four field goals, three of them coming in the closing minutes of play when Plainfield was hanging onto a 20 to 18 lead. It must be said Stavinsky has improved at least fifty percent over the ability he displayed when the Crescentsis he displayed when with the Crescentsis here. The Plainfield fans like him mightily well too. Roy Desinger dropped in three pretty shots from difficult angles that helped along the Plainfield cause greatly.

Saturday night Plainfield plays in Middletown.

Summary of last night game follows: Plainfield (31) B. F. T. Normandin, lf. 5 0 10 Dessinger, rf. 3 3 9 Norris, c. 0 1 1 Benson, lg. 0 0 2 Madden, rf. 0 0 0 Stavinsky, rg. 4 1 3 12 5 31 South Kingston (18) B. F. T. WESLEYAN COACH QUILTS HIS JOB

Samuel H. Hill Says He Has More Attractive Offer From "Somewhere."

Middletown, Conn., Jan. 13.—Samuel H. Hill, for two years football coach at Wesleyan University, today resigned his place, announcing he would become assistant football coach at a large university where he shall work under one of the greatest football coaches in the country.

Breadon Says He Swapped Hornsby Because He Bet Money On Horse Races

St. Louis, Jan. 13.—"I don't approve of men who make their money playing baseball gambling it away on horse races," Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, told International News Service today in discussing the incidents which caused the break between himself and Rogers Hornsby, former Cardinal pilot.

His statement was made in connection with the appearance here and the threat of Frank L. Moore, a betting commissioner, to try through Commissioner K. M. Landis and the courts to collect an alleged debt of $22,000 from Hornsby.

"I have nothing to do with this matter of Moore collecting his debt from Hornsby," Breadon added. "I told Moore that when he called me up and wanted to see me, that is a personal matter between them. It had been known quite generally, although previously officially denied, that Hornsby's friendship with Moore was the reason for the break in relations between the Cardinal owner and manager.

LANDIS EVASIVE ON 'SLOUGH' CASE

Judge Usually Frank With Reporters, Dodges the Issue Today.

New York, Jan. 13.—There was a vague yet conscious promise today of possible developments in the scandal of Cobb and Speaker versus organized baseball, as Judge Landis' verdict of acquittal for Eddie Collins, Shalk, Bush, Rowland, Daus, Ehmeke and other defendants charged by Swede Risberg with being accessories to a "barney" in September, 1917.

"I have reasons of my own for not saying what course I would take in that event," was his reply. "Just say that anybody can see me any time. That Cobb and Speaker having bided their time while awaiting the Risberg verdict, had been in communication with Landis, either personally or through their attorneys, seems to me pretty well understood in certain well-informed circles in Chicago. That the accused but neither convicted nor exonerated stars will try to force Landis' hand appears to be equally probable.

They may be precedent with its refusal to accept the word of self-implicated "fixers," as having established a precedent and demand that Landis render a decision in their case. It was because of the deposit made by Leonard, who freely admitted his part in the alleged conspiracy, that Cobb and Speaker became involved in charges of engaging in a betting coup late in the season of 1919.

However, the judge was smart enough not to commit himself either one way or the other on Leonard's charges; therefore, it can't very well be said that he took anybody's word for anything. It will be the policy of Cobb and Speaker, in consequence, to attempt to force the courts again will be the choice of the accused stars.

DEMPSEY WILLING TO TAKE RICKARD AS GUIDE

New York, Jan. 13.—Jack Dempsey is willing to place his future activities entirely in the hands of Tex Rickard, even to the extent of meeting the winner of Rickard's heavyweight elimination, according to a statement made today by Leonard Sachs, secretary to the champion.

Wapping is a tobacco village to be sure but one would not draw that conclusion from listening to the conversation among the villagers as they gather each evening at the store in the center of the town. Because the chief topic of conversation is basketball and it pertains to the town's new "Wonder Team" which last night won its fifth consecutive game by an overwhelming score. Broad Brook, falling a victim for the second time, was trounced 58 to 22. Pospisil swished the cords exactly eleven times for the winners.

Last night's victory brought Wapping's total point column up to 336 points against 96 for its opponents, which is no record to be sneezed at for five games regardless of the calibre of opposition. It is an average of 67.2 points against 19.2 per game. Wapping has scored over fifty points in all but one of its games. The season record is as follows: Wapping 81, Highland Park 20; Wapping 21, Southington Collegians 16; Wapping 43, Broad Brook 19; Wapping 63, Service A. C. of Hartford 19; Wapping 58, Broad Brook 22. Next Wednesday evening the Knights of Lithuania of Hartford play at Wapping.

The largest crowd that ever watched a basketball game in the history of Wapping was present last evening. As one person put it, "everybody from the minister down, was there." At any rate, everybody physically able was there "with bells on" as the old saying goes. The little old church was taxed to its capacity. The crowd was so big it surged onto the playing surface. Men, women and children! Boy! how those natives did root for their team.

Best Team Won Wapping won because it was a better team. There was no doubt as to this. It passed better, possessed keener eyes for the hoop, and offered a far more impregnable defense. Randall was Broad Brook's only hope and he amounted to about as much as a snowball does in hell, let's say Halifax and let it go at that. Wapping took the lead at the start and held it throughout. At the interim, Wapping was in the van 30 to 28.

NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 13.—So often have we written of Broadway in terms of its seamy side, its incongruities and ludicrous aspects that it is perhaps high time to shout a few words of praise.

Broadway is today truly "the crossroads of the world." All Europe has come to look upon it as an outlet for its product.

At this moment the drama of the world can be viewed here as nowhere else. Paris, Vienna, London—all the world capitals suddenly become provincial by contrast.

Stride for a half hour up and down its pavements and Broadway will be seen to display the wares of all nations, while the outstanding talents find their names emblazoned in the bright lights. For Broadway is a gambler and gambling takes money and gold is a siren that brings forth the best and the worst.

And Broadway's theatrical gamblers, with well-lined purses, have brought to this street of many faces all things that money could buy and spread them out as the farmers display their produce at the county fair.

Here is a Hebrew troupe from Moscow performing in the ancient tongue of Palestine. Here are the most deft of the French artists, an outstanding tragédienne of Paris and singers from the French opera vomique. An outstanding box-of-rice hit is the work of a Frenchman and the director of a leading art production is late from Paris.

The newest revue features a series of Moscow-made entertainments and two of the most popular musical comedies have London favorites at their head.

A man named Boleslavsky directs the newest in little theaters and another named Bel-Geddes makes some of our best stage designs. The Guitrys play at $25 a seat and an entertainer from Spain brings a similar sum. For a season the hits of Vienna tantalize the ears and foreign translations are as common as weeds.

One can scarce navigate a block without coming headlong into a European artist, writer or actor.

The lecture bureau about the names of Walpole, Masfield, Madox-Ford and such.

The musical bureaus cry the arrival of new Hungarian pianists and violinists.

The latest in foreign cinema makes its bow and Broadway puts up the money to bring over the greatest directors and actors of the film.

But for Broadway America would never know them.

Oh, yes, we like to tell about the weaknesses and comedies of our little highway, but at this opening of a new year I've got to stop a moment to take my hat off.

It's really more than a crossroads of the world. It's a big doorway through which passes everybody from beggar to genius. And that's why there's always something to write about.

Doctors Endorse New Studebaker No-Draft Windshield

This diagram shows how the Studebaker no-draft ventilating windshield, when opened inward, directs the air up over the occupants' heads. The convenient handle on the dash adjusts the windshield to any desired position. A hidden trough under the cowl carries off rain when the windshield is set for storm-proof ventilation.

IN the matter of giving professional endorsements, doctors are the most conservative of men. Nevertheless, many leaders of the profession have volunteered their approval of the new no-draft ventilating windshield (patented by Studebaker).

Keeps Out Rain—Lets In Air—Avoids Drafts

Opened inwardly, this new Studebaker windshield directs the air currents down into the driver's compartment. In this position the windshield is also waterproof. In the stormiest downpour, with a driving rain slashing head-on against the open windshield, none can enter the car.

Opened outwardly, it deflects the air in a gentle current up over the heads of the occupants.

In neither case is there any direct draft, yet tobacco smoke and stale air are carried off, while the supply of clean, fresh air is constantly renewed.

All Studebaker Custom Cars have the following equipment

Front and rear bumpers; engine thermometer and hydrostatic gasoline gauge on the dash; coincidental lock; oil filter; automatic windshield cleaner; rear-vision mirror; traffic signal light; 4-wheel brakes; full-size balloon tires; and two-beam acorn headlights, controlled from steering wheel.

Only the fact that Studebaker manufactures all the vital parts of its cars in its own great plants makes such outstanding values possible.

"Your No-Draft Ventilating Windshield . . . only adds considerably to the comfort of driving, but gives a definite protection against the ills caused by riding in a draft. I believe it to be a decided reform from cowl or open windshield ventilation."
DR. CHAS. J. WHALEN,
Past President,
Illinois Medical Assn.,
Editor, Ill. Medical Journal.

"I am glad to write you what I think about the new Studebaker windshield. I have been over the matter carefully and think that it looks so good I feel sure my next car will have it. It looks like a physical impossibility that any amount of draft can bother the occupants of the seats of the vehicle."
J. M. BLACKFORD, M. D.,

"In the new Custom Sedan which you have just brought out, the ventilating windshield attracted my attention. I believe this windshield and the ventilating system used thereon, is about the most attractive and up to date arrangement I have ever seen."
"I tried the full effects of the windshield on a rainy day and am very much enthused about the operation of same and the benefits derived therefrom."
J. T. TRAVERS, M. D.,
New York City.

"The new windshield ventilating system is ideal. Its 'overhead or underfoot' selective feature is excellent for the avoidance of the disagreeable draughts to which one is subjected in most cars; and its rainstorm ventilation is a triumph. No more hot, stuffy cars during summer showers."
DR. B. STEWART RALSTON,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

"The health protection afforded by the new Studebaker ventilating system is not only unique, but should prove very valuable to persons who are subject to colds and other ailments caused by sudden weather changes. Studebaker is to be congratulated on this important advancement."

Of course We NEVER have "sales"

A "sale" is a reduction from a higher price . . . but as that higher price does not exist at Garber Brothers, we naturally do not have to offer discounts to attract people to our store.

Our Everyday prices do not permit discounts of 20, 30, 40 or 50%. When such discounts are offered it shows that the original price was too high. But not so at Garber Brothers . . . we do not believe in excessive profits.

Our Everyday prices are the lowest possible. Low prices, influenced by our low rental, low overhead expense, our manufacturing facilities, the LACK of pretentious surroundings, elaborate equipment and unnecessary frills.

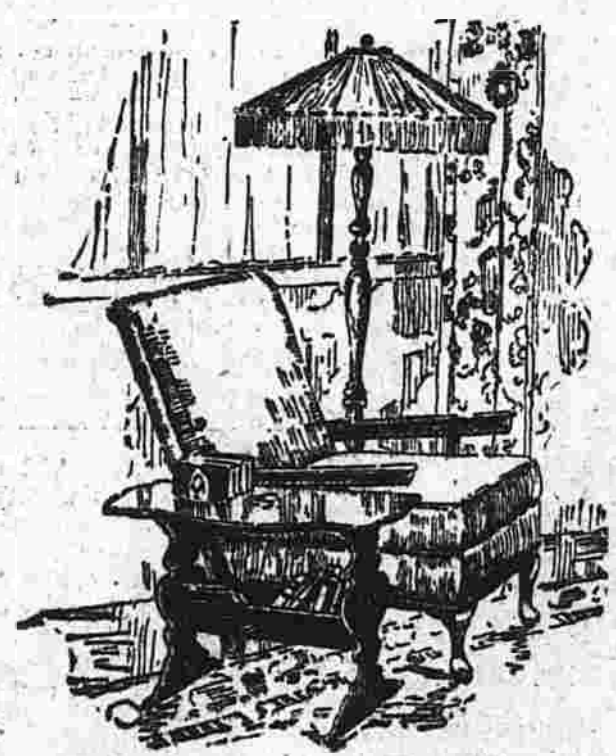

You pay only for the furniture you buy at Garber Brothers . . . a LOW price that NEVER fears the competition of the most alluring "sales" held elsewhere.

We do NOT believe in selling at a high price in December and at a so-called discount price in January . . . that would be unfair to the people who bought in December.

We DO believe in selling at the lowest prices of the year EVERY DAY in the year.

And good reader, if you compare prices, you will find that the savings you hope to make at "sales" are available to you Every day in the year at Garber Brothers—who NEVER have "sales".

That's why thousands of people come to Garber Brothers when in need of furniture. They know that the price will be the lowest and the quality of a standard that will give them pride in their possession.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE To the home of PROF and MOLLIE ELWELL in Camdenville, Ind., one night in October, 1898, is brought a woman who had fainted on a passing train. That night twin girls are born to her and she dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins have been adopted and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called RUSTY and BETTY.

JIM ELWELL, the son, enlists in the World War. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at Sedan and reported dead. Later he is identified in a New York hospital and his mother and father hasten to him to find his memory and speech gone. He is like a living dead man.

The day before his parents are to take him home Jim wanders away from his nurse, NELLIE DOWNING.

A frantic search is begun. Late that night he is found in Bellevue hospital, unconscious, his skull fractured, expected to die. He had been hit by a truck.

The twins are in Indianapolis at the home of their uncle, JOHN CLAYTON, the mystery of their identity having been cleared up while Jim was in France. John Clayton is notified that Jim, whose life had been despaired of, now has a chance to live, and he speaks of his joy to MARTHA DALTON, an old friend of the Elwells, and they discuss the possibility of Jim's being cured and marrying.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIX

WOULDN'T Jim, with his mind back, Betty continuing, "be the same old Jim he always was, a perfect darling, but old Jim just the same—a big boy of an artist whose only knowledge of girls is what he learned from the girl pals he knew from the night they were born?"

"Do you suppose that Jim, accustomed all his life to these two tomboys—girls as full of faults as a sheaf of wheat—is full of stickers—but loving them just the same because he trained them himself, and knowing they loved him—that dear old Jim is going to forget all about his pals and fall in love with the Faultless Lady just because she nursed him in France and happened to be on hand when his memory came back?"

"I tell you, Dainty," she finished, speaking severely to her old friend, "your romance is too romantic—and anyhow I'm not going to have Jim falling for any nurse!"

"Nurses are not so bad," remarked John Clayton oracularly, and looked significantly at Martha Dalton. She bowed slightly and smiled at him.

"You said it, sister! Rusty was acclimating. 'We won't have our Jim tying up with any profession but the stage and he can even aspire to a grand opera star there, if he wants to, can't he?'"

"Or a new and famous danseuse in Russian costume, perhaps," supplemented their Uncle John. "I reiterate,

"There, Martha Dalton, is your romance for you. And he'll never get well. He'll never get well."

however, that nurses are not so bad. I tried to get it across a moment ago and you never even paid Martha Dalton the compliment of acknowledging it."

He shook his head. "I'm afraid your training has suffered since Jim's been away."

Elizabeth Marvin snuggled her coppery head against the white-gray of his own.

"Well, I only hope," she said softly, "that his nurse can help him to get back his memory and that Mollie and Prof bring him home pretty soon."

She slid off her chair and stood up. "I must go and write a letter," she announced. "I've about a million things to tell Mollie and quite a few things I want to say to Nellie Downing."

"She's probably," said Uncle John, our training has suffered since Jim's been away."

Elizabeth Marvin snuggled her coppery head against the white-gray of his own.

"Well, I only hope," she said softly, "that his nurse can help him to get back his memory and that Mollie and Prof bring him home pretty soon."

She slid off her chair and stood up. "I must go and write a letter," she announced. "I've about a million things to tell Mollie and quite a few things I want to say to Nellie Downing."

greatly mistaken, those two young ladies could tell us all something that would surprise us considerably. Considerably," he repeated, and reached for a cigar.

During the first two weeks of the Nurse Dalton's visit at the Clayton home she made three ineffectual attempts to impart to her the information that she must return to Camdenville. On the third attempt he stopped her at the beginning.

"Now, listen very carefully to me, Martha Dalton," he said, his lips smiling but an undertone of real seriousness shading his voice, "and forget about this going back to the old nursing job and living alone again."

He hadn't forgotten, he said, and never should, what he owed her. "My sister Edna was very dear to me, even if she did marry against my judgment, and what you did for her made me your debtor for all time. That debt is in the class with the debt I owe Prof and Mollie. Nothing that I can ever do ever will balance the accounts. But I have the right to expect and insist upon being allowed to pay a little interest on my debts."

"You are very fond of the girls," he continued earnestly. "That I know. And both of them think the world of you. Now, I've been considering this matter for a long time—ever since Mollie Elwell during her visit here drew for me a word picture of you as you looked that night twenty years ago when you brought Edna to Prof and her."

He wanted her, he said, to make her home there, as companion and a kind of chaperon for the girls.

"This," he explained, "will be an honorary position—not that of an employe, of course—and I want to put sufficient funds aside in the shape of an endowment so that you never will be embarrassed for want of money."

"I've spoken to the girls about this and it pleases them immensely. So now you see how utterly useless it is for you to be talking about going back to Camdenville and to work again. This thing they call work and you, Martha Dalton, have reversed position. Hereafter instead of work telling you what time to get up in the morning you can now tell work to go plumb to hell and ring for yours to be served in bed for you."

That, it seemed, was that. John Clayton had spoken. Martha Dalton was thinking that, after all, there was something in the story about casting a loaf of bread on the waters.

It had taken twenty years for Martha Dalton to get her back. But she got hers, all right—served in bed, in case she liked it that way.

Margaret and Betty Marvin made of Nurse Dalton a repository for all their little feminine confidences, the kind they couldn't tell their uncle, he being a mere man. There was one little confidence, however, that her most durable corker failed to extract. Still, that didn't matter, she consoled herself. It was all in the family, anyhow.

Letters from Mollie Elwell were not as frequent as they had been previous to Jim's accident. Prof did most of the writing these days.

Most of their own letters were addressed to her, though, and they looked forward to the day when they should see her familiar handwriting on an envelope. It would mean that Mollie Elwell was well again.

When such a letter did make its appearance one day it was fallen upon eagerly and answered individually and collectively by all of the house of Clayton.

The letter bore good news—of the Elwells' homecoming, but to John Clayton it also brought disappointment. He had expected that Jim might—

It read as follows: "My dear ones: "All things, we are told, come to him who waits. Perhaps they come to her, too, if she has learned to be a good waiter. Prof says that is one of the best things we have been doing since coming east—learning to wait. "As you were told by Nellie Downing, Jim's escape from death was by a very narrow margin. The fracture, however, was not as dangerous as at first supposed, although he was unconscious from it for five days—" "Five days! Think of it!" breathed Rusty.

"Some hope," the letter continued, "was held out to us at first that if he regained consciousness the brain might clear up again. This hope was shattered the moment he opened his eyes. So far as I could see, there was not the slightest change either way."

"He is far from strong yet, but the doctor says he will be in shape to be taken home in another week. But I must tell you now, my dears, what the specialists say, that there isn't a chance in a thousand that Jim will ever be any better mentally than he is now. His physical health probably will return—that is, he will take on weight and get strong. But his mind—oh, well, it is God's will and as Prof says, we have much to be thankful for at that. Had Jim died I don't think I could have lived. In fact, I know I shouldn't."

"And now, dear girls, I must tell you something else. You have mentioned frequently in your letters Mr. Clayton's and your wishes that we—Prof, Jim and I—accompany you to Europe."

"I am afraid that it will not be possible. Jim must have rest and quiet—particularly quiet—and be kept free of the things that might excite him, for, as you have been told, he is very liable to emotion. And it is that I would caution you against."

"Both of you, of course, want to see Jim and I want that you should. But in view of certain things that I needn't go into at this time, I think the best if you just met him and then left at once. For, oh my girls, I just can't bear a great deal more and the thought of what might have been is terrible. You must go on with your plans just as though Jim had died. We cannot go with you. I shall, of course, be expecting to find you, with Dalton, awaiting us at the old home. Please don't meet us at the train. Let the meeting take place at the old house."

"Ever your affectionate Mollie."

There was a postscript to the effect that she would write to give the time of their arrival.

John Clayton put the letter down and looked around him. And he saw a very strange thing. One of the girls—Betty—had been listening with downcast expression. Now she burst into tears and began to run her hands wildly through her hair.

"There," she cried, incoherently, "there, Martha Dalton, is your romance for you. And he'll never get well—he'll never get well! Oh, my God! And we had hoped and prayed. Did you think I'll go to Europe without him? Do you think Mollie has a right to keep him all to herself? Go with our plans as if John had died! Oh!"

BANISHING BOREDOM FOR "LEISURE-TIME" WIVES

Believing Women Should Get a Woman's Education, Millionaire Found College Under Presidency of Prominent Spinster-Educator.

Miss Marion Coats, president of the new Sarah Lawrence College. Lower right is W. V. Lawrence, the founder.

Haverhill, Mass., Jan. 13.—Teaching girls how to entertain themselves, after marriage eliminates their dinner dates, dancing dates and late parties, is to be part of the instruction in a new college recently founded by an aged millionaire who would see "a woman get a woman's education."

"Most unhappiness exists because married women don't know what to do with their leisure time," said Miss Marion Coats, of Haverhill, who is to be president of the new school.

After a girl marries, she is lifted from a world of attentive friends and dropped down into an apartment, with nothing to do after she washes the breakfast dishes. "She rushes aimlessly to teas and bridge parties, seeking amusement. She is bored when alone, restless and unhappy," said Miss Coats.

"In Sarah Lawrence College we want to teach girls how to use their extra hours, for their own pleasure and advantage—how to be interesting companions for themselves."

Need Separate Education William V. Lawrence, 85 of Bronxville, N. Y., who has founded the school and appropriated $1,250,000 for it, believes that girls now get a man's education with four years of studies unsuited to them. Consequently he founded the Sarah Lawrence College, in memory of his deceased wife, and engaged Miss Coats to carry out his ideas of what a woman should learn.

The new school to open in Bronxville, September, 1928, will offer but a two-year course, so planned as to "prepare girls for a higher, intellectually useful life."

But there will be no classes in cooking, sewing, dusting or dish-washing, according to Miss Coats, who says, "Cooking is but a small phase of married life and we buy clothes ready-made."

Miss Coats, at present principal of Bradford Academy, New England's oldest school for girls, talked of pre-marriage education and how it would be taught.

"There are to be classes in world literature, world citizenship and government, psychology, economics, dramatics, French, a bit of philosophy and a great deal of time devoted to studying piano, violin and voice."

"If a girl studies the best of ancient and modern literature she will develop a love and understanding of good books which gives her a balanced perspective of life—providing self-entertainment for dull evenings alone."

"Instruction in dramatic technique and play production will fit girls for organizing community plays, staging church tableaux, playlets and pageants," said Miss Coats.

"Instead of becoming just a nonently in her community she can be a leader in one or more phases of community life, by properly utilizing her leisure time.

"Psychology and its application to government, politics and religion will be one of the main courses. It will be the college girl to study her future husband and children—to understand and aid local and national politics."

And with a self-operating student government, which the school will have, any girl with a political bent may get practical experience in political organization, making that her leisure time occupation after marriage.

The principles of marketing—the relation of buying and selling and the "why" of changing prices will be taught the prospective brides. The definite ways of cutting the grocery bill are not to be considered as important as a general, wise management of the home, it was learned.

Music a Home-Maker Violin, piano and voice lessons will be available for all who show any talent whatsoever—"so that every girl may learn an art which will help to stand out in a group, give her a common interest with musical friends and make her home more pleasant," according to Miss Coats.

This isn't a vocational school, unless, as some insist, marriage is a vocation. A graduate is trained only for marriage and the intelligent, charming management of a home, and family, with enough outside interests to fill her leisure time.

"We want to provide a general knowledge of cultural subjects which concern the modern woman, encourage hobbies for the leisure time and develop each girl into a more interesting person for others to know," says Miss Coats.

"She, a graduate of Smith and Radcliffe colleges and a leader in the girls' prep school world, was picked by the elderly millionaire to head his school. Yet, she never has been married. And at 41, this attractive, effeminate woman asks "why should I?" Her "leisure time" interests have eclipsed the need of a husband.

Not as a queen, she prefers to come unofficially and enjoys every minute of it. She loves colors and buys many at the Lon'on house of a Paris designer the English founder of the house having been a childhood friend. Asked if there was any truth in the report that King Alphonso and herself were to visit South America next year, the reply was that as sovereigns they must stay in their own country as far as possible.

During the winter when it seems necessary to sometimes serve meat of some kind at breakfast, sausage is usually selected. One of the readers of this column tells me of a breakfast equally nourishing and appetizing that she served to her family lately and which they all seemed to enjoy. The fruit was delicious quince preserves and the piece de resistance cheese toast, or open sandwiches spread with American cheese and placed in the oven until the cheese had melted. They have quince marmalade on their pantry shelves and she gave me the name and store where an especially good brand may be procured at a reasonable rate if any of you care for it.

According to a Viennese doctor tooth decay may be prevented by eating certain foods and it is just possible that within a few years the dentist may be able to present a dependable tooth-grassing diet. To date they have determined that cabbage, brussels sprouts and spinach are tooth builders because of the lime salts which they contain, also that experiments along this line with sea foods prove very encouraging.

A recent message from the foreign office of a large Connecticut store read as follows: "Paris is mad over the new shiny, narrow bracelets, so mad in fact, that they wear from twelve to twenty-five at one time."

For two-piece sport costumes there are a great many knitted jumpers of two shades, white and seranum, Flemish blue and white, two tones of gray and so on.

The "homeliest girl" contest was recently announced by one of the magazines and already the publishers are being flooded with pictures from all over the country of girls who evidently are convinced they are the homeliest and willing to do a knowledge of it. The possibility of a motion picture engagement and other prizes are to be awarded the successful contestants.

Nutrition experts claim that liver is not only valuable for its high vitamin content but because it builds blood. Beef, pork, sheep or calf's liver are equally nutritious. Calf's liver, because it is more tender, and less plentiful, is the most expensive. There are other ways of cooking liver besides frying. It may be baked, stewed or made into a liver loaf about as you would make any meat loaf. A casserole of liver with potatoes and onions, carrots and a little parsley or celery is appetizing, using beef liver and adding a few spoonfuls of fat. Liver has been fed to sufferers from inflammation of the eyelid or eyeball for years in Japan and India. In the country last named they sometimes apply fresh raw liver directly to the eyes. It is believed a remedy for anemia and to lower high blood pressure. It is therefore one of the best sources of Vitamin A, and its efficacy is not destroyed in ordinary cooking. Liver, therefore, would seem to be an item that should appear on our tables much more frequently than it does.

Fashion says: "Go as far as you like with the bizarre of the exotic when you select a negligee. Probably it is because clothes are fairly conservative for general wear that so much leeway is given to clothes for the boudoir. A negligee need not be practical and may be of the loveliest and softest of fabrics in subdued or the gayest of colors. Some of these negligees that we see in the shops and on the stage rival dinner or evening gowns, they are so elaborate."

Bridge Party Sandwiches Remove crusts from white bread and slice about 1-4 inch thick. Cut in oblongs like playing-cards. From half the slices cut out small hearts or diamonds with fancy vegetable cutters, to represent ace, two, three or four of each suit. Cut as many similar pieces from canned pimento. Put a plain and a fancy slice of bread together with well-seasoned cream cheese in the breathing passages. On the safe side, consult Mrs. Carrie J. Anderson, phone 2330-3 about the Prairie Window Ventilator for which she has the local agency.

Doctors declare that bad ventilation is a factor in the production of almost every kind of disease, having its origin in the breathing passages. Be on the safe side, consult Mrs. Carrie J. Anderson, phone 2330-3 about the Prairie Window Ventilator for which she has the local agency.

Have you a dress that while it is perfectly good otherwise is worn or discolored at neck and under-arms? If so, put one of the new lace yokes on it. They are cut in fancy shape with the short sleeves cut in one with the yoke. Ecru lace is the favorite for this form of trimming and will harmonize with almost any light colored silk or fine wool material.

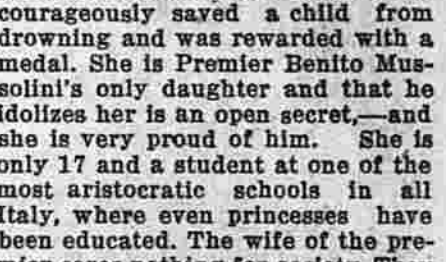

Italy has suddenly discovered that the daughter of its premier is a personage. Vivacious little Edda Mussolini, still a sub-deb, came into the limelight when she appeared as sponsor recently at the launching of a ship near Genoa. Once before she broke into print when she courageously saved a child from drowning and was rewarded with a medal. She is Premier Benito Mussolini's only daughter and that he idolizes her is an open secret—and she is very proud of him. She is only 17 and a student at one of the most aristocratic schools in all Italy, where even princesses have been educated. The wife of the premier cares nothing for society. They have two boys and all the children attended the public schools until their father became premier when the status of the family was changed in some respects.

A nice way to cook lean tenderloin of pork, or even pork chops cut thickly, is to place a rich bread stuffing between the slices, tie with cord and toast in a hot oven in a tightly covered casserole.

Green, mauve or blue suede gloves exactly made to match the frock, the wrist of which is embroidered in tiny old gold beads, is the latest creation of Parisian glove makers.

TWO-COLORED HATS The newest felt hats come in two colors, with a darker or contrasting color for the brim. Red and tan, and gray and flag blue are popular combinations.

CAUSES OF ASTHMA. By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Asthma is usually misused by the public to indicate any form of shortness of breath. Under the same circumstances, a physician uses the term "dyspnea" for such cases, since shortness of breath may result not only from the disease asthma, but also from a variety of conditions, including heart disease and other disturbances of the lungs.

The difficulty of breathing in asthma is due to the fact that the muscles of the smaller tubes leading into the lungs contract suddenly and the patient is unable to breathe in or breathe out enough air to provide him with the oxygen that is needed for activity.

Sensitization. Nowadays the condition called asthma is ascribed to a sensitivity of the body to certain chemical substances belonging to the class of proteins. This sensitization sometimes takes place in early childhood. Indeed, it may be associated with conditions at birth.

The substances to which the child may be sensitive include certain foods, such as animal material as the dandruff of horses or cats, or perhaps feathers, the pollen of plants or bacteria.

Home Page Editorials Masterpieces! By Olive Roberts Barton

I have a merry little laundress who could teach a lesson to kings. She is foreign, speaks of her husband as "She" in spite of all telling, and to her everything is "nize."

If I were to say anything to her about "pride of accomplishment," her black eyes would probably flash out at me a look of deep dismay, as she would think very likely that I was talking about missing buttons or too much starch.

She is 35 years old, has four children and a husband who always develops rheumatism when there is a good job on hand.

Five days a week she labors and does all her work—for other people, and on the sixth and seventh days she does the rest—the washing and ironing and cleaning and sewing and sundry for her own family.

I wish you could see her carry in a basket of snowy clothes, her face glowing with pride. "Nize day—good for dry," she beams, looking over her handiwork as Benvenuto Cellini may have looked at a vase he had just finished for the Grand Duce.

Her work finished, she is at liberty to leave, but no, she is determined to give value received and you find her wandering over the house with cloth and bucket to see what windows need cleaning. Usually some of them do, and she goes at the job with as much alacrity and enthusiasm as though she were sitting out on a picnic and the day just begun.

Zips! They are finished. Clear as crystal and the corners not neglected. She can do 25 large windows while most people are doing a fifth the number.

Loves to work, you say? No, I don't think so. She would at least rather be working for her own children, of whom she is very fond. I often hear her sigh. But unless I ask she never mentions her troubles. She likes nice things. I met her down street the other day and stopped to talk. She patted my coat all over and said "Nize," and looked so happy to see me.

I said to myself, "You sweat little soul! Wouldn't this world be wonderful if everybody was like you!"

Pride of accomplishment is a great thing. Happiness of accomplishment is still greater.

ABOUT TOWN

The adjourned meeting of the directors of the Manchester Community club, from last Thursday evening will be held this evening.

Mrs. John Hayden of Eldridge street called this afternoon from New York for a steamer trip to California by way of the Panama canal. Her husband and mother, Mrs. Jennie Cook of Manchester Green, accompanied her to New York City. Mrs. Hayden who is employed in one of Cheney Brothers' offices, has secured a three months' leave of absence during which she will tour the Pacific coast.

The Manchester Improvement club will hold its annual meeting with election of officers in the Balch & Brown hall this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Loomis of Keeney street are in Bridgeport, attending the session of the State Grange, in which they are both voting members. They are making their headquarters at the Stratfield hotel.

The young people of the Cyp club of the Center church are making plans for a sleigh-ride party to be held Monday evening, weather permitting. The party will start from the church at 7:30. The return will be at 10:30. Mrs. Warren has been elected chairman of the social committee for January.

Miss Mary McGuire and James W. Foley were first prize winners at the whist held last night at the White house. Mrs. Ada Peckham and Ray Griffin won second prizes.

Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Delaney of 26 Girard street, is able to sit up for a few hours each day. She is at the Memorial hospital where she was operated on for a mastoid in her ear.

A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrison of 18 Lilley street.

Mrs. Annie Johnson of 342 East Center street entered the Memorial hospital Sunday for treatment.

Ten or more children with their parents came to a party in honor of the fifth birthday of Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vennard of 18 Griswold street yesterday afternoon. The home was decorated with pink streamers.

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL FOR CIRCLE'S PATRONS

"Speed Mad" With Bill Fairbanks and Viola Dana in "Home Struck" Now Playing.

"Speed Mad" is the title of the latest and best offering of the popular star, William Fairbanks, and is at the Circle theater on Oak street today for a two-day run. As a companion feature, the management presents Viola Dana, who needs no introduction, in "Home Struck". The matinee audience this afternoon enthused over both features.

Edith Roberts, one of the prettiest young women in Hollywood, has the feminine lead in "Speed Mad." William Fairbanks heads the cast and Miss Roberts is the charming heroine of the story who causes him to realize that there are attractive things in life besides burning up the roads with his high-powered racer.

The story was written by Dorothy Howell and directed by Jay Marchant. Such well known character actors as Johnny Fox Jr., Lloyd Whitlock, Charles French, Bob Kortman, Florence Lee and "Buddy," the clever dog, have the most important of the featured roles. A number of daring automobile racers worked in this production, and a series of thrilling racing episodes were "shot" on one of the fastest tracks in the country. There are other interesting sequences according to pre-view announcements, and this picture promises to be one of the best. Pathéon Productions of the 1925-26 season. As a special attraction with "Speed Mad" the Circle offers Viola Dana in "Home Struck," a story of mother love that grips the heart-strings. Miss Dana does a wonderful piece of acting in this picture and holds the attention of her audience from beginning to end. She is the type of actress that pleases in any kind of a role and in this one, where she acts the part of the girl who is bored with life in the small town, she is convincing. Pathéon is interwoven with comedy. In just the right mixture for a well-balanced feature picture and every department is well handled, both by the actors and the director. These two features will be shown again tomorrow.

CENTER SPRINGS PARK ICE IN GOOD CONDITION

Carnival Planned For Saturday—Herald to Publish Bulletins.

If the weather holds out until next Saturday, the Center Springs pond will be in fine shape for the skating carnival which is to be conducted by the Manchester Community club, the Recreation Centers with the co-operation of the local Park Department. The last snowfall did not hurt the surface of the ice to any extent and the four or five inches which fell is being rapidly cleared off.

Supt. J. Y. Keur of the Park Department started a force of men with two teams of horses and two scrapers on the pond yesterday morning and it is expected that the work will be finished by tomorrow night. At present a large area of the pond has been scraped and the ice under the snow is smooth and excellent for skating.

George Washburn of the Community club and Mr. H. Chaney of the Recreation Centers and Mr. Keur of the Park Department expressed themselves as pleased today with the way that Manchester people are following out their request that they stay off the pond when rain or snow falls. Very few tracks were seen on the ice today and the scrapers were allowed to do their work without any difficulty.

In order that Manchester people may know the condition of the ice without going to the pond, it is the plan of the Evening Herald to publish a notice every day to advise them whether or not skating is good. This is being done in cooperation with Mr. Keur.

MORE CLERKS THAN CONN. PRODUCERS? Offices, Services, Etc., Have More Help Than Factories, Report Shows.

Hartford, Jan. 13.—Extension of the safety and sanitation laws governing industrial establishments to include mercantile shops and restaurants is recommended in the annual report of Harry E. Mackenzie, state commissioner of labor, submitted to Governor Trumbull here today.

Revision of the law regarding the hours of employment for minors also suggested. Under the existing laws, the report says, minors may be employed only one night a week in mercantile establishments. This, it finds, is not consistent with the law governing employment of minors in bowling alleys and like places.

Fewer Women in Industry. An increase in the number of men employed in the industries in the state by 12,240 during 1926 and a decrease of about 3,000 in the number of women employed is shown in the report of Miss Charlotte Holloway, industrial investigator. She also finds that at present the labor situation is practically stationary, the only demand being for skilled workmen.

At the end of the year there were 309,375 men and women working in the industries. In addition, insurance companies, other offices, mercantile establishments, telephone and telegraph companies, and the like employed 395,814.

MEETINGS TONIGHT AT THE CENTER CHURCH

The Troubadours will have a meeting at 6 o'clock this evening, in the intermediate room. At 7 o'clock the Girl Reserves will gather to make paper hats for the Y. W. C. A. banquet in Hartford Friday evening, January 14. A number of the mothers of the girls will attend this annual banquet. When the hats are finished the girls will receive First Aid lessons from Miss Clara Wells, the assistant leader.

At 7:30 p. m. all members of the Ecclesiastical society will have a conference in the junior room.

QUISH-WIND

Miss Agnes Wind, daughter of Mrs. Mary Wind of Foster street, and Frank J. Quish, son of Mrs. Margaret Quish of Garden street were married yesterday in St. James' church. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. W. P. Reidy. The bride and bridegroom were attended by Miss Jennie Wind, sister of the bride as bridesmaid, and Thomas J. Quish, brother of the bridegroom as best man.

The bride's gown was of powder blue crepe Romaine and her shower bouquet was of bridal roses and freesias.

The bridesmaid wore a frock of Nile green georgette crepe and carried a shower bouquet of Madame Butterfly roses.

Following the ceremony at the church a reception for the members of the immediate families was held at the home of the bride's mother at 46 Foster street.

On their return from a wedding trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Quish will live in their newly furnished home on Foster street.

The bride has been for a number of years a clerk in the office of the Manchester Trust Company. The bridegroom was formerly with the police department and is now engaged in the plumbing business.

COMMUNITY CLUB PLANNING SUPPERS

Series of Novelty Dinners to Be Served at White House Each Month.

Under the auspices of the Manchester Community club, a unique series of club suppers will be given at "The White House", 79 North Main street. One club supper will be given each month for five consecutive months, the first to be given the present month.

The club suppers will differ from the customary events of this kind in that a special menu, novel, yet extremely tempting, will be provided. Furthermore, these assemblies will be subscription suppers, each couple who participates subscribing at the outset to the entire series.

New Epicurean Club For the purpose of conducting these suppers for the Community club, a new club has been formed, and has adopted the alluring, promising name of the Epicurean Club. The assembly suppers will be conducted for the purpose of promoting neighborly and community spirit, and not for gain. The subscription price will be $1 per person. Each subscription will include the complete series of five club suppers, $1 per supper.

The ingenuity of the Epicurean Club will be brought into action in providing unusual and appealing menus, attractive decorations, and "surprises."

The personnel of the committee in charge of the club suppers of the Epicurean Club is ample guarantee of capable preparation and direction, as well as resourcefulness in providing out-of-the-ordinary programs. The committee consists of the following: Miss Mary McGuire, chairman; Scott H. Simon, R. K. Anderson, Mrs. G. H. Washburn and Mrs. Walter P. Balch.

The first club supper will be given at "The White House" on Thursday evening, January 27. The other four suppers of the series will be given on the last Thursday evening of each month for four consecutive months.

To Receive Applications Believing that with its large membership the Community club will have more demands for subscriptions for the club suppers than can be accommodated at "The White House", the Epicurean club has decided, in order that all may have equal opportunity to receive applications for subscriptions. Applications will be received from local residents, whether they are members of the Community club or not.

The applications will be recorded in order received, and subscriptions will be issued until the capacity of the dining hall is exhausted. When once completed, it will not be possible to make additions to the subscription list. Applications may be made by mail or telephone to any member of the club supper committee whose names are printed above in this article.

PICK PLAY CAST TOMORROW NIGHT

Town Players to Present "Seven Chances" Next Month For Girl Scouts.

"Seven Chances" the hilarious three-act comedy by Roy Cooper Meguire, which will be given by the Town Players and the Girl Scout Council in the Circle theatre in February, will be cast tomorrow evening. Tryouts will be held in the women's room of the School street. Rec at 7 o'clock and all members of the Town Players are asked to attend.

This play was first produced by David Belasco in New York and enjoyed a long run in that city. In the cast are seven men and eight women, the biggest cast that has been seen in the local dramatic organization's productions so far.

In the other two big plays the Town Players gave here there were less than four women although the men were well represented. It is because of the large number in the cast that an urgent appeal is being sent out to all of the membership.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BANQUET ON WEDNESDAY

The committee in charge of the Mother and Daughter Banquet which is to be given by the Missionary societies of the South Methodist church next Wednesday evening, are working hard to make the affair one of the most enjoyable of the winter's church activities. Every woman in the church will want to be there with her own daughter, or one borrowed for the occasion. Mrs. Ada McCue has been chosen to act as toast mistress.

POLICE COURT

The case of Walter Gleason, the young man 19 years old, who was before the Manchester town court on Thursday, January 6, on the technical charge of breach of the peace, was disposed of in the police court this morning when Judge Johnson suspended judgment. Before doing so, however, the case was referred to a probation officer to understand if he continued in his present course he was likely to find himself in serious trouble. This is the second time he has been before the local court and while the charge was breach of the peace it might have been more serious.

Gleason with two or three other young fellows in order to see the fight at Cheney hall on the night of January 5, gained entrance by way of a basement window.

COUNT SALM GETS $325,000 TO DESIST Famous Separation Suit Settled; Wife to Obtain a Paris Divorce. New York, Jan. 13.—Count Ludwig Salm's suit for separation from the former Millicent Rogers, heiress to the $40,000,000 Standard Oil fortune of her father, Cpl. H. H. Rogers has been settled out of court, it was reported today. By the terms of the settlement the Austrian nobleman will receive $325,000 from his wife's father, it was reliably stated. The payment of this sum was said to be in abatement of the count's projected suit against Colonel and Mrs. Rogers for alleged alienation of his wife's affections. Separation Suit Off The count's suit for separation will be dropped for ever, the reports said, but a quiet divorce suit in Paris was forecast for the countess. A further provision of the settlement will accord Count Salm partial custody of his little son, Peter, the figure around whom the suit for separation pivoted. The extent of this custody has not yet been determined, it was said. Thus ends one of the most spectacular international romances of recent years. Attorneys for both sides, advising the court that a settlement had been reached, stated that reconciliation was not the basis of settlement.
