PEACHES BALKS AT DETAILING TALE OF WOE

Breaks Down in Midst of Testimony; Hint She Is Epileptic Crops Up In Doctor's Story.

White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 25.—"Peaches" Heenan Browning, attired in a blue silk dress and a little blue hat, took the witness stand in her suit for separation against Edward W. (Daddy) Browning at 10:35 a. m. this morning.

Justice Albert Seeger ruled that the trial should be open to the press and the public and that there will be no secret session.

Young girls will be barred from the courtroom, however; the judge announced.

Not Hurt by Publicity
"I have been asked by both sides to hold this trial in chambers because it involves the private life of the two litigants and also because Mrs. Browning is under age and therefore a ward of the court," said Judge Seeger. "However, considering the publicity that already has been given this case I do not see how any injury can be done to either of the litigants by the trial being open to the public."

"Another thing, witnesses in this case are less likely to swear falsely at a public hearing than if the case were held in private."

"There might be some censure that the influence of wealth might have been felt in the case if the hearing was secret."

"Mamma" didn't sit with "Peaches" this morning. "Peaches" sat at her counsel's table while Mrs. Heenan sat in the front row among the spectators.

Browning wore a blue suit and a fancy tie. He was smiling and dejected. He glanced at the defendant when he arrived but she didn't seem to see him.

Attorney Henry Epstein for "Peaches" asked that certain portions of the testimony be held privately if it so warranted.

"I will consider that," said Judge Seeger.

Timid "Peaches"
The 16-year-old bride looked about the court room rather timidly as she sat in the witness chair. Her hands went to her forehead to smooth back her blonde hair time and again, indicating that she was nervous.

The direct examination of "Peaches" was then begun by Epstein.

Q. Mrs. Browning do you recall how you met the plaintiff, Edward W. Browning? A. I do, at the Hotel McAlpin; I met him on March 5, 1926.

Q. Was Edward West Browning at the dance when you arrived? A. He was not. He came in at 11 o'clock.

Q. Did he have a girl with him? A. No.

Q. Was he greeted by young women when he came in? A. He was. Many greeted him.

Q. Did you greet him? A. I did not.

HANGMAN TO RETIRE AFTER KILLING 400

Winnipeg, Jan. 25.—Arthur Ellis, official executioner, who has hanged more than 400 persons, declared today he will retire. He said he has arranged for the publication of his reminiscences.

WOODS REJECTED BY BIG MAJORITY

Coolidge Nominee For I. C. C. Turned Down in 49 to 28 Senate Vote.

Washington, Jan. 25.—President Coolidge is seeking a new appointee for the Interstate Commerce Commission as a result of the Senate's overwhelming rejection, by a vote of 49 to 28, of Cyrus E. Woods of Pennsylvania, named by the President at the behest of Pennsylvania influences.

Although the President and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon threw all their political resources into the fight, the Senate refused to confirm Woods with a little compunction as though he were a village postmaster instead of a former ambassador to Spain and Japan.

Senate administration leaders admit that no executive within memory had suffered so crushing a defeat on a personal appointment after making so valiant a fight as was made for Woods.

Anti-Pennsylvania
The vote incidentally served notice on the White House that no Pennsylvanian can serve on the Interstate Commerce Commission for some time to come, unless the Senate has an unexpected change of heart. It also notes that the present preferential freight rate on soft coal from the "open shop" mines of Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee are due to remain for an indefinite period.

The whole fight against Woods centered around those rates. To the state producing the coal and to the many states consuming it, the approval of Woods appeared to be a threat for removal of the rates, because Woods comes from a hard-coal, union-mined state.

Bingham Votes for Woods
The battle to defeat Woods was made easier, too, by the fact that he admitted owing a fortune in the stocks and bonds of five different railroads and a number of hard-coal companies.

Of the 49 votes cast against Woods, 29 were cast by Republicans. This group included conservative administration Republicans as Gould of Maine and Keyes of New Hampshire.

Of the 28 senators voting for confirmation, it was said, 25 were Republicans and 3 Democrats. The Republican names included Senators Bingham, Hale and Moses.

WALL STREET SORE AS DURANT QUILTS

Hates to See Spectacular Trader Get Away With 20 to 50 Millions.

New York, Jan. 25.—Wall street was worried today by the report that W. C. Durant, industrial magnate, was about to fold up his career and quietly steal away.

Durant, perhaps the greatest bull in a great bull market, has made an immense fortune in the past three years, estimated variously at from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000, and brokers are not pleasantly impressed with the idea that he has practically given up speculative trading.

Durant is said to be in ill health and planning to go to Europe for a rest and recreation.

NEW HARTFORD JOB GOES TO DEMOCRAT

Shea Wins First, Selectman's Berth in Recount in Superior Court.

Winsted, Jan. 25.—New Hartford's famous election contest case was decided in favor of the Democrats by Judge Arthur F. Ellis, of superior court, in a decision handed down here today. Judge Ellis found that John J. Shea, Democrat, was elected first selectman on October 4, last, over Frank W. Jones, Republican.

After the ballots had been counted when the polls closed the moderator ruled that Jones had been elected first selectman. Shea appealed to the superior court and Judge Ellis ordered a re-count. Judge Ellis today showed that the recount showed that Shea had received 219 votes and Jones 210 votes.

Shows Temper of the Chinese

Withdrawal of a voluntary guard of Englishmen and their replacement by uniformed Chinese in the British concession at Hankow, emboldened coolie rioters. Wrecked shops, damaged homes and razeed structures, as shown in this exclusive NEA service photo, stood mute victims of nationalist fervor after they had passed.

TAXI LOSES RACE WITH DEATH HERE

Local Man Stricken in Hartford, Dies Before He Reaches Home.

Brought to Manchester by a taxi driver to whom he had appealed for help on State street this noon, Joseph Sardella of 73 Cottage street, died 15 minutes after reaching home. He was 60 years old.

Mr. Sardella, who had been suffering with heart trouble and nose trouble for some time, had gone to see a doctor in Hartford. He was walking near the City Hall in Hartford when he became weak and almost helpless. He called the taxi driver who brought him to his home here. A Manchester physician was called but Mr. Sardella was beyond help.

Well Known Here
A native of Italy, Mr. Sardella came here when a young man. He had worked for Cheney Brothers and also conducted an ice cream parlor about 10 years ago. He later peddled ice cream through the town and was quite well known.

Besides his wife he is survived by three sons, Dominick, Jerry and John, all of this town, and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Campetell of Hartford.

Dr. LeVerne Holmes, assistant medical examiner, was called to the Sardella home and gave permission for the transfer of the body to Holborn's morgue.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

FRENCH DEBT PACT OFF INDEFINITELY

U. S. Commission Notified of Postponement of the Subject in Parliament.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The French government has notified the American Debt Commission that ratification of the Mellon-Berenger debt agreement has been indefinitely postponed, it was learned today. As a result, the American Senate will take no action on the pact until the next session.

Opposition to the French parliament was so strong that a delay was decided upon rather than jeopardize the agreement by calling for a vote now, it was said.

CHAPLIN'S NEW YORK MONEY TO BE FREED

But California Tie-Up Is Kept On, Preventing Alimony Collection.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Attorneys for the Internal Revenue Bureau and counsel for Charlie Chaplin today reached an agreement to release approximately $600,000 of the film comedian's property in New York.

Chaplin's California funds and properties will not be released, thus preventing Mrs. Chaplin from obtaining alimony granted by a state court.

Counsel for Chaplin will post bond in New York within 48 hours to effect the release of Chaplin's funds tied up by government liens to secure payment of additional income tax.

PRINCE TOO LONG OR BED TOO SHORT

Anyhow William of Sweden Is Having Trouble to Get Long Sleeps.

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 25.—It may be jolly to be a prince but it is mighty hard to find a bed to sleep in.

At least, Prince William of Sweden, who comes here today from Bridgeport, finds it so.

His Royal Highness measures six feet, six inches in his princely stocking feet and American hotel beds are too short for him.

As a result two local hotels were in competition today. The Hotel Hartford where the prince will stop put in a bed seven feet long.

Major H. M. Stanford, proprietor of Hotel Bridgeway, promptly brought out a sleeping couch thirteen feet long.

His Royal Highness will try the "seven footer" first.

In Hartford, Prince William was obliged to move to another hotel because the bed in his room was too short.

SEEK MURDER CLUE IN LETTERS TO GIRL

Boston Victim in Year Had Acquired Wide Acquaintance With Men.

Boston, Jan. 25.—Two hundred letters, notebooks and pieces of paper containing addresses and telephone numbers found in the room of Miss Maybelle Matheson, West Roxbury murder victim, were being checked up by police and representatives of the district attorney's office today.

Investigators were puzzled by the large number of young men acquainted with the slain girl, who came here from Nova Scotia a little over a year ago.

Witnesses reported seeing a car parked near the field where the body of the victim, brutally beaten, was found by three schoolboys.

GEORGE M. LANDERS DEAD AT NEW YORK

Well Known New Britain Manufacturer and Ex-Mayor Pneumonia Victim.

New Britain, Jan. 25.—George M. Landers, former mayor of New Britain, and once well known as a "Wilson Republican," died at his home in New York today after a short illness with pneumonia. He was 57 years old. Following his long political service, Mr. Landers became interested closely in manufacturing, after having been for many years director of both Landers, Frary & Clark, and the North & Judd manufacturing company.

ONE TAXICAB LOAD OF DRY SENATORS

That's All There Are Who Never Take a Drink, Declares Wadsworth.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Hypocrisy, corruption, violence and death have stalked in the wake of prohibition, Senator James W. Wadsworth, of New York, charged before the Senate in a vigorous appeal for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

His speech carefully prepared and heard with far more than the usual attention paid such speeches in the upper house, stirred a pyrotechnic display on each side, in the midst of which Senator Bruce of Maryland, named the dry Senators who practiced what they preached, and asserted that the senators who never took a drink could be placed comfortably in one taxicab.

The government is seeking to force every person in the United States to be a "total abstainer by legal compulsion" and is failing in its attempt, Senator Wadsworth declared. He asserted that the average man would not report violations of the prohibition law to the authorities, he challenged.

Whether it will embrace formal recognition of the Cantonese-Nationalist government, which has gained the upper hand in that turbulent country, remains to be seen.

In any event, it was learned today that Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to the United States here in a few days and retire, leaving China without regular representation in Washington.

It is believed here that the United States will continue to maintain its legation in Peking for the time being at least.

MEX REBELS KILL 7 POLICE IN JALISCO

Scene of Religious Warfare Still Unpacified Despite "Progress."

Mexico City, Jan. 25.—The commandant of the mounted police of the State of Jalisco and six gendarmes were killed in a clash with rebels at Arenas, according to dispatches from Colima. Troops have been sent to pursue the rebels who are also reported to have suffered casualties in the fight.

Despite this battle the government announces that progress is being made in the pacification of Jalisco.

Another battle at Tlaci in Guerrero reported to have resulted in the deaths of three rebels and two federalists and a victory for the federalists.

NORRIS CASE TO GO TO THE JURY TODAY

Final Argument in Murder Trial of Minister Made By Special Prosecutor.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 25.—After listening for several hours to attorneys for both sides alternately calling him a knave and a knight, a saint and a sinner, a cold-blooded gentleman defending his life, Rev. J. Frank Norris came into court today to face the bombardment of Special Prosecutor "Wild Bill" McLean's closing argument to the jury.

Rev. Norris has been on trial here since January 10 for murder in shooting to death of D. E. Chippis, Port Worth lumberman. The minister claims self-defense. The case will probably be given to the jury late today.

ENOUGH AUTOS HERE TO MOVE THE TOWN

If the population of Manchester were to move tomorrow, nobody would have to walk. The figures given out at the office of the board of assessors today show that there is one automobile for every five persons.

The population of the town is about 23,000 and there are nearly 4,000 automobiles listed. Of course, it is not even five, but then those who came out in the fractional part could go in Perrett and Glenney's trucks.

U. S. TO ASSERT CHINA POSITION WITHIN 2 DAYS

May Recognize Cantonese; Peking Legation Here to Close; British Troop Movements Arranged.

Tension among foreigners in China was not relieved today, although the situation has quieted considerably. Shanghai and Hankow were both reported orderly but reports have been received that Marshal Chang Tso-Lin is moving troops southward and that a big battle between the Cantonese and Manchu armies impends.

Washington reports that Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese minister, is preparing to close the legation, which in some circles is interpreted as indicating that the United States is preparing to recognize the Cantonese government.

New reports of looting and depredations against Americans is reported from Foochow and Nantai.

Business was resumed by foreigners in Hankow today, but heavy guards were maintained in the business district.

The British preparations for sending a complete division into Shanghai were making progress, despite opposition of the Liberal party.

U. S. Announcement Soon
Washington, Jan. 25.—An important announcement of American policy in China, where 12,000 Americans have been imperiled by Civil war and fanatic anti-foreign rioting, is expected from the State Department within the next forty-eight hours.

Whether it will embrace formal recognition of the Cantonese-Nationalist government, which has gained the upper hand in that turbulent country, remains to be seen.

In any event, it was learned today that Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to the United States here in a few days and retire, leaving China without regular representation in Washington.

It is believed here that the United States will continue to maintain its legation in Peking for the time being at least.

TAX OF 14 MILLS IS TO BE LEVIED

Increase of Almost a Million and a Half Over Last Year; Town Must Raise $730,310.14 This Year to Carry On—Ten Per Cent Penalty Cut in Half

Manchester property owners will pay a tax of 14 mills on a grand list of $53,851,173, it was learned today when the final figures were given out at the office of the Board of Assessors. The total represents an increase of almost a million and a half dollars over the grand list of last year.

The town must raise this year $730,310.14, the sum appropriated at the annual town meeting and 14 mills on the grand list will bring in approximately $758,000.

Exemptions $459,702
Exemptions, which include public buildings, churches, exemptions to ex-servicemen and the blind, total $459,702. The board of relief deductions have not yet been taken from the list for the reason that this body will not have its report ready before the end of the month.

Last year the board of relief deductions reached a total of $124,384. A decrease of one half the amount of the 10 per cent additional for non-filing of lists is seen in the present abstract. This decrease is due to the members of the board of assessors who spent hours at a time telephoning people who had neglected to file their lists. The board saved taxpayers more than $69,000 in this way.

Long Hours
It is the first year that the board has been in session steadily from 7 in the morning until 9 o'clock at night and for that reason the grand list has been completed so early in the month. Usually the abstract is ready about the first week in February.

Increase in Buildings
Buildings show an increase. In 1925 there were 3,475 dwelling houses in the town but during the year this number has increased to 3,522, a gain of 47. Barns, sheds and garages also show an increase this year, the total now being 4,192, a gain of 156. A gain of 56 stores is seen but this increase is explained by the assessors who point out that last year some stores that were closed with dwelling houses were not listed as mercantile establishments but as houses.

Building Lots Drop
Building lots went down 52 in number to 6,355. Acreage also took a drop from 14,084 to 13,510. The assessors say that this drop can be attributed to the fact that farmers who had been assessed for a certain number of acres had surveys made which showed that their property was not as great as it had been in the grand list.

Less Horses
Horses and cattle are on the decline in Manchester. From a total of 400 last year, the list now shows that there are only 295 horses here. Cattle, which were 500 in number last year, are 504 now, while poultry, 1,766 last year, have dropped to 1,205.

To balance the decrease in horses the assessors point to the automobile figures which represent an increase of 254 during the year. Furniture, musical instruments, watches and jewelry show gains while mills and machinery have dropped from 65 to 48 in number. This is due to the fact that last year many items of mechanics' tools were listed in the mills and machinery department while the present list placed them in a separate column.

Goods of manufacturers and traders show an increase of $997,444 over the total of last year.

Swamp Lots.
House and building lots which are not listed as such this year are for the most part in swampy or undeveloped sections and have been put into the acreage column.

The non-resident owned property in this town now is valued at $2,195,925, for the most part represented by building lots, dwellings and buildings used for commercial purposes.

Million Dollar Firms.
Only two concerns are assessed for more than a million dollars. Cheney Brothers will pay taxes for more than $1,950,356 while the Oxford Soap company's list is entered at $1,068,000. Among the non-resident the highest taxpayers are the American Writing Paper company, the Connecticut Sumatra Tobacco company, the Connecticut Valley Association, the Hartford City Gas Light company and the Haffmann Brothers, all well over $100,000.

The latter concern is owner of the Circle and State theaters here.

No dogs are listed in the abstract this year. Formerly several valuable dogs have been entered on the books, some worth several hundred dollars but they have taken care of in another department now. Sheep, goats and swine are valued at $1,205.

With the decrease in numbers of horses, wagons and bicycles have also gone down in number and value. There were last year $11,290 worth of these articles in town when the list shows a value of $7,897.

Complete Figures
Following are the complete figures: Dwelling houses $16,259,557; Barns, sheds, garages, 1,775,204; House and building lots, 9,210,474; Commercial buildings (stores, etc.), 3,344,210; Mills, (including power plants, dams, machinery), 8,289,638; Land (acreage), 1,274,243; Horses, asses, mules, 30,037; Neat cattle, 24,675; Sheep, goats, swine, poultry, 1,205; Carriages, wagons, bicycles, 6,030; Automobiles, trucks, etc., 1,534,366; Watches, diamonds, 19,738; Furniture, pianos, etc., 478,510; Farming tools, etc., 69,117; Farm produce, 11,850; Goods and merchandise, 10,896,941; Cables, conduits, towers, Cash on hand, 21,581; Bank deposits, 1,000; Bonds, notes, choses in action, 1,000; All property not previously mentioned, 29,261; Ten percent additional, 78,897.

Gross total, 54,310,875; Exemptions, 459,702; Net Grand List, $53,851,173.

DON'T STARVE TO END FAT

There is an easier way, used for 19 years. Millions of people know it. The results are seen in every circle. Excess fat is not nearly so common as it was. That way is Marmola Prescription Tablets, made to combat the cause of fat by correcting a gland weakness. The effects will surprise and delight you, and a booklet in each box tells you why they come.

All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Go try it now. Join those slender friends of yours who are glad they learned about it.

LOMBARDO GUILTY OF SELLING LIQUOR

Fined $100 and Costs—Mrs. Kaplan Also Guilty; Wetmore to Hospital.

Two liquor cases occupied the attention of the police court this morning. Joseph Lombardo who conducts a small restaurant on Maple street was found guilty of keeping liquor with intent to sell and a fine of $100 and costs imposed. His place was raided last Saturday by Patrolman John McGlinn and R. H. Wirtalla. When they entered the place Lombardo rushed to the sink with a pitcher of liquor and emptied its contents in the sink. McGlinn reached the sink about the same time, grabbed the pitcher from Lombardo and saved some of the liquor.

Evidence Convincing.
 Patrolman McGlinn said he had seen men who drink enter the place frequently. Wirtalla substantiated McGlinn's testimony. Prosecuting Attorney Hathaway said the state had proved its case and that the man should be convicted. The evidence showed that he keeps a restaurant but drinking men frequent the place. The fact that he threw the liquor into the sink when the officers entered was further proof of his guilt. The officers stated there was liquor in the pitcher.

Attorney William S. Hyde who represented Lombardo reminded the court that the restaurant was not at all high grade and it was not surprising that men who drank visited the place. He maintained it had not been proved that the pitcher contained liquor.

Judge Johnson was satisfied that the man was keeping liquor with intent to sell. He therefore found him guilty and imposed a fine of $100 and costs.

Mrs. Kaplan's Case
 In the case of Mrs. Mary Kaplan of Hilliard street, the judge found her guilty of keeping liquor with intent to sell, but owing to the fact that her husband earns but very little money and they have four children, he imposed a fine of $100 remitted $75 of the fine, gave the woman a 15-day suspended jail sentence and placed her on probation for six months.

Patrolman Wirtalla when he visited the place last Friday in company with Sergeant Barron, found a still, a quantity of liquor and a 50-gallon barrel of mash. Wirtalla had a talk with Mrs. Kaplan at the time and she admitted she sold the liquor to two men. In her testimony this morning, which was given through an interpreter, Mrs. Kaplan denied saying she had sold the liquor, and denied ever selling liquor at all. She told the court she had a husband and four children and came to live in Manchester about a year and a half ago. Her husband works in a Burnside paper mill.

The evidence of Sergeant Barron and Policeman Wirtalla was convincing that the woman had the liquor and that it was kept there for sale.

Sent to Hospital
 Charles Wetmore, who was before the court yesterday morning on the charge of intoxication and breach of the peace, and who was examined today by local physicians, was sent to the state hospital today where he will remain for at least two weeks under observation. His employer appeared in court this morning and was surprised to find that the man was a drunkard. He said he always considered him a good workman and believed he was affected by the hooch he had been drinking. He said he was not a drinking man. He told the judge that he paid him a dollar a day and his board.

PLAN NEW SYSTEM FOR HIGH SCHOOL

No Chance For Favoritism
In Examinations—Numbers Instead of Names on Papers.

A new system was inaugurated at the South Manchester High School today whereby it will be impossible for teachers to show favoritism in judging the work accomplished by students. It was introduced in connection with the mid-year examinations which began this afternoon and which will continue throughout the remainder of the week.

Under the new system each student has been assigned a number and his or her papers will be marked accordingly, the student's name being withheld. The teachers will mark the examination papers without knowing the identity of any of the students who prepared them. The papers will then be forwarded to the principal's office where the names will be attached and then returned to the teachers who will return them to the students.

Another innovation announced that, for the first time in the history of the school, one half of the mid-year examinations will be composed of objective tests, the other half being the usual essay tests. The objective tests are composed of varied questions, some false and some correct, which must be determined by the students.

The Commercial Law and Accountancy examinations were held this afternoon. English examinations will be held tomorrow afternoon with the other subjects having their sessions Thursday and Friday. The examinations will last an hour and a half for each subject.

The purpose of the new system of examinations as explained by Mr. Quimby is to insure impersonal markings by teachers. This does not mean that in the past teachers at the local high school have been showing favoritism but it is a system that is being gradually adopted throughout the high schools in an effort to insure impartial handing of the work of every student.

PEACHES BALKS AT

that he must not take up all of my time.

Quite Composed.
 "Peaches" was entirely composed by now. She replied in a voice that could be heard all over the court room and her answers came clear and swift.

She was asked by Epstein concerning the mysterious acid burns she suffered last April, a few days before she was married to Browning in Cold Spring, N. C., by a justice of the peace. Peaches was asleep in bed in the forenoon when someone smeared her face with a burning concoction which has left pink, lumpy marks around her chin and neck. She put her hand to her disfigured face as she answered.

"I woke up and felt quite dazed. It seemed to me that some one had scratched me. I called a friend on the phone. My mother was at work at that time. I told her I thought I was burned. She hung up the receiver and came to me. When my mother came she cried."

Q. Did Mr. Browning ask you to let photographers make pictures of you when you were in bed? A. He did.

Q. Did you permit it? A. I did not.

Q. Were reporters admitted? A. Yes, Mr. Browning let some reporters in and they stood at the foot of the bed.

Q. Did he bring you flowers? A. Yes, flowers, lots of them.

POSITION IN 48 HOURS

prestige of the Peking government by which he was originally sent here. Peking's control has been virtually wiped out in the last few months and now extends no further than to the borders of the federal province of Chih-Li.

The minister has made no announcement of his return to China and it is believed that he will take up his residence in some American city, probably Baltimore, where he has many friends.

Friendly to Americans
 Meanwhile indications have multiplied both here and in China that the tension, insofar as Americans themselves are concerned, has lessened. A well-defined tendency has developed among the Cantonese leaders to remove as best they can all possible sources of friction. They have ordered a rigid inquiry into the attack on an American mission in Foochow and have instructed military subordinates in the Yangtze valley to afford protection to all United States nationals.

How long the Cantonese chieftains can keep the population in check remains a question, however, especially in view of the fact that the great mass of the natives rarely take the trouble to distinguish between Americans, to whom the Cantonese apparently are friendly, and the British hatred of whom the Cantonese leaders make no efforts to conceal.

Pressure for Conciliation
 At the same time great pressure is being exerted in congressional quarters and by private citizens to have the government commit itself to an independent and more conciliatory attitude toward the Chinese.

These influences want the administration to make this move in all sincerity and not use it merely as a gesture with which to smooth over the present difficulties.

Coupled with this movement is a demand for the resignation of the Cantonese government. American recognition at this time, it is contended, would give the Cantonese the moral support they need to hasten the day when they will gain complete control of the country and carry out their promise to restore peace and order.

British Troop Plans
 London, Jan. 25.—Plans of the British war office for despatching troops to China matured rapidly today.

The liner Minnesota arrived at Portsmouth this morning to take on a thousand marines. Actual embarkation started at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The troopship is scheduled to sail with the first tide tomorrow morning for Shanghai.

Major General the right hon. veteran commander in the Gallipoli campaign during the World war, who has been appointed commander of the "Shanghai defense" forces, was sailing today aboard the liner Megantic from Liverpool with his staff.

The departure of the defense forces for Shanghai was proceeding steadily from tomorrow on as fast as the troops are equipped and transportation made ready.

Advices from Melbourne today said officials there refused to confirm reports that Australian troops and Australian cruisers have been ordered for service in the Pacific. It was officially announced from Malta that one battalion of the Bedfordshire regiment and one battalion of the Border regiment will sail for China from Malta aboard the Megantic, leaving January 31.

Predicts Test at Chuchow.
 London, Jan. 25.—General Sun Chuan Fang, leader of the Chekiang forces, who stands between the Cantonese and Shanghai, today sent an official statement to his representatives denying reports that his army had suffered a heavy defeat at the hands of the Cantonese at Lanchi. The Lanchi fighting was merely skirmishing, the statement said, and the real battle will come if and when the Cantonese army reaches Chuchow.

Hankow Business Starts.
 Shanghai, Jan. 25.—Under heavy guard of police the banks and business places in Hankow opened today, according to advices received here. The situation there is reported to be uneasy.

In Shanghai the tension remains unrelieved although there has been no recurrence of the rioting of Saturday.

The anticipated decisive battle between the northerners and the Cantonese is still a matter of conjecture, but reports received here state that Chang Tso-Lin has started a heavy movement of troops, with Hankow, Nanking and Shanghai as their objective.

Hongkong dispatches state that refugees arriving there report heavy looting in Nantale and Foochow. The Y. M. C. A. at Nantale was invaded and heavy damage was done to the American Methodist Institution church. The home of Secretary Gould of the Y. M. C. A. was raided and the streets while their homes were looted.

In observation of Robert Burns' birthday, Chimer James Hutchinson will give a program of Scotch music on the night of the South Methodist church this evening. The church will be open to visitors during the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goba entertained a large number of guests at their home in Burnside Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Phillips who were married recently. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips received many beautiful gifts. Guests were present from New Jersey, Windsor, New Britain, Hartford and South Manchester. Mrs. Phillips was formerly Miss Marie Goba of Burnside.

LEGISLATURE GETS TORRENT OF BILLS

And One of Them Is Manchester City Measure, Miss Cheney Sponsor.

Hartford, Jan. 25.—The floodgates were opened at the capitol today and the greatest rush of bills of the present legislative session swept in upon the Senate and the House. Nearly every city and town in the state seemed to have a request, either for bond issue or changes in charter, for appropriations of money by the state, or for nomination of some favorite son as a judge.

A much discussed compensation act Wednesday reached the House today from the hands of Representative Citron, of Middletown. This bill increases the amount of compensation in accident cases from $18 to $24 a week, and the limit of payments from 520 weeks to 500. Further, the bill provides that a week shall be paid for the benefit of each dependent child of a victim.

Manchester Bill In
 Undoubtedly by the treatment of the 1925 legislature, Manchester's city charter bill appeared again today. Miss Marjorie Cheney presented the bill for which she fought valiantly two years ago.

Representative Peck of Bristol submitted a measure that would end still more completely any chance for a Gretta Green in Connecticut. The measure would compel a five-day wait between the issuance of a marriage license and the performing of the wedding ceremony within the state.

To the Senate went a bill permitting the slaughter of deer without a license. The bill provides an open season for hunting the animal in the week following the first Monday in December.

Requests for state funds continued to bill up, the State College asking large sums and West Haven, Waterbury and Meriden asking more modest appropriations. A normal school playground and a state trade school at Willimantic are sought, as are a dormitory at new Britain Normal school and an armory in West Haven.

The present rocky road from Waterbury to Hartford over the heights of Prospect would be turned into a state highway under a bill also received today, thus giving the two cities five different good road connections in place of the four now in use.

House Bills.
 Hartford, Jan. 25.—Bills introduced in the House today include the following:

Providing life imprisonment when a person is convicted a fourth time for felony or attempt to commit a felony in this or any other state; the law is not mandatory, and was introduced by Mr. Steilberg, of Bridgeport.

Authorizing Bridgeport to issue sewer bonds to the amount of $1,500,000; abolishing the office of tax collector at Willimantic; and making the city a part of those in the city clerk as treasurer, making an appropriation of $45,000 to the Storrs Pathological Laboratory; directing the controller to release the state's right in Scraggy Island, Lake Pocotopaug, to John and Sophia W. Spellman, of Portland; placing the secretary of state on the board of control; including the Wallingford-North Branford highway in the state line system; closed season on raccoons from December 18 to October 14; providing a license system for New Canaan; authorizing $150,000 water bonds for Putnam.

No Damages for Free Rides.
 Providing that no person shall be held liable for damages when giving free or gratuitous rides in automobiles; modifying the Greenleaf Trust company to increase its par value from $50 to $100 per share of stock; putting the Newtown-Monroe highway in the trunk line system; providing a fifteen year retirement minimum service for Greenwich police; appropriating $40,000 for Greenwich hospital; providing that minors shall not be appointed notaries public; $250,000 appropriation to maintain State Normal schools; appropriating $500,000 for a new dormitory at New Britain Normal school.

Calls for Repeal.
 Senator Wadsworth called for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. He held the country never would emerge "from this wretched condition" until the amendment was repealed and temperance established as the prevailing personal habit. He said prohibition failed because people could not be driven in a matter of this kind.

The speech of Senator Wadsworth inspired a long debate on prohibition.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS
STRIKE; BUILDING OLD

Holbrook, Mass., Jan. 25.—Declaring that the high school building was cold and uninhabitable, fifteen members of the junior and senior classes today went on "strike."

The action of the pupils this morning follows the refusal of the voters in special town meeting last night to authorize the erection of a new high school building.

A meeting of Earl Roberts Lodge, Sons of St. George, will be held tomorrow evening, Jan. 26th in Tinker hall at eight o'clock. The initiatory degree will be conferred on candidates by Capitol Lodge of Hartford.

making the Greenwich borough court judge's salary $4,000; providing a fifty cent fee for town clerks for each hunting and angling license, the fee now being 25 cents; incorporating the Bristol and Trading Company; providing $1,000 salary for Willimantic's mayor, $300 for each alderman, and a city clerk's salary to be determined by the common council.

Willimantic Trade School.
 Appropriating $20,000 for a Willimantic trade school; making the salary of the city court judge at Danbury $2,500 and his associate $1,000; incorporating the Danbury Title and Mortgage Co.; providing the elimination of dangerous curves on state-aided roads; authorizing $150,000 Bridgeport park bonds; appropriating $500,000 for state college improvements; providing for manner of use of auto trailers; restoring forfeited rights to Joseph Falcone, of Hartford; including Main street, Westport, in the trunk line highway system; authorizing the Thirteenth school district of Bristol to issue $125,000 bonds.

Seven petitions were received asking damages from the city of Bridgeport for widening of John street.

Resolutions included the following:
 Appointing Henry L. Davis judge at Wallingford, and Michael T. Downes deputy judge; appointing John T. Curtis Stratford town court judge; appointing Henry Harford judge of the same town court; appointing Joseph M. Donovan deputy judge of Bristol city court and William J. Malone judge.

Senate Bills.
 The Senate received among its bills the following:

Providing an open season on deer during the week following the first week in December; appropriating $65,000 for the erection of a maternity building at the State Farm for Women at Niantic; defining the territorial limits of the town and city of Stamford; providing that the first and second wards of Norwalk elect two councilmen each, and that wards three, four and five select one each; providing the following salaries for Bridgeport officials: mayor, $7,500, city engineer, $7,500, city clerk, $5,500, town clerk, $4,500.

Authorizing Fairfield county to issue $300,000 in bonds; including the Waterbury-New Haven Highway via Prospect in the trunk line system; providing a fine of $50, or a three months jail sentence for persons placing poisoned meat where it is accessible to any dog, game or fur bearing animal.

Law Commissioner.
 Providing a state law revision commissioner to be appointed by the governor for a term of four years, who shall have power to consolidate and codify the general laws from 1919, the salary being $5,000 and in addition $3,000 for office expenses and $2,500 for clerical expenses.

Providing for appointment of a commission of five members by the governor who shall have charge of the distribution of the soldiers' relief fund; making the following appropriations to the State College: Maintenance, $550,000, extension division $175,000, experiment stations $80,000.

how often the average man gave his assistance to the government in the effort to enforce the prohibition law. He declared the average man would not report violations, adding that by the term "average man" he meant men in public life.

Senators Ignore Violations
 "Yes," he said, "I include members of the United States Senate. Recall, if you please, some of you, the social gatherings you have attended. You will know as well as I do that dozens of us have encountered evidence clear and incontrovertible of the violation of the law. And yet we do not hear of a single senator turning over his information to the enforcing authorities. In this respect senators and other public officials do not differ from the great mass of human beings that make up our population. This attitude toward the law pervades every stratum of society. We find it among public officials federal and state, executive, legislative and judicial, all down the line of officialdom. It prevails in the homes of millions, whether they be those of the wealthy, the moderately prosperous or the poor. If you will but tell the truth you must admit that it is the prevailing national attitude."

Calls for Repeal.
 Senator Wadsworth called for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. He held the country never would emerge "from this wretched condition" until the amendment was repealed and temperance established as the prevailing personal habit. He said prohibition failed because people could not be driven in a matter of this kind.

ABOUT TOWN

Town employees are busy today opening the gutters on many of the streets about town which have become clogged with ice as a result of the freezing spell which followed the January thaw.

Skating at the Center Springs Park is excellent now. Half of the pond had been cleared off this morning and teams kept on working all afternoon. At the upper end of the pond where the brook enters, the ice is still unsafe and skaters are warned to stay on the part of the pond that has been cleared off.

Raymond Lewis, 8-year-old Bolton youth, is undergoing treatment at the Memorial hospital for a badly bruised hand suffered when his hand became wedged between a wagon and a tree.

L. T. Wood's men will resume ice harvest at Globe Hollow tomorrow it was stated today. The recent thawing caused a halt in the work. At Folly Brook, ice is also being cut.

The north and south end fromen have been invited by Manager Jack Sanson of the State theater to attend an advance showing of "The Fire Brigade," Wednesday evening at 10:30. This picture is now being shown in Hartford.

Delta Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, will hold a special convocation in Odd Fellows' hall tomorrow evening to work the Most Excellent Master degree.

Acid Stomach
 "Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
 Better than Soda

Here after, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

DANCING CONTESTS AT STATE THEATER

Black Bottom and Waltz Tomorrow Night—Eight Acts Vaudeville Thursday.

The next two days will be eventful for those who attend the State theater. Tomorrow night contests in the Black Bottom and other dances will be held and handsome prizes given to the winners. On Thursday, "bargain night," eight acts of superlative vaudeville will be seen along with the big feature picture, the "Prince of Tempters," with Lois Moran and Ben Lyon in the title role. Tonight for the last time Lon Chaney will appear in "Tell it to the Marines" the picture which has been filling the State for two days.

The Black Bottom is just becoming popular here but this will be the first contest in this section to determine the best interpreter of it. It is a well known fact that there are several dancers who know the intricate movements connected with the dance but none of them has appeared in public. But the Black Bottom will not hold the stage all the time for there will also be waltz contests of the old fashioned kind, and fox trot.

As a special added attraction the management will present Miss Florence Griffith and Joseph Harrison of the Studio de Danse in a waltz routine. Miss Griffith and Mr. Hanson will not be in the contests.

All entrants in the contests are asked to leave their names at the State Theater box office.

The companion features to the dancing contest and exhibition will be Peter the Great, famous dog actor, in "King of the Pack," and Beatrice Lillie, the celebrated English comedienne with Jack Pickford in "Exit Smiling."

Tonight Lon Chaney will be seen for the last time in his epic of the United States Marine Corps, "Tell it to the Marines." Sunday and Monday the State played to crowded houses at both shows and Chaney established himself stronger in the hearts of local movie fans through this picture.

The trials and tribulations of a rookie entering the Monaco Club form the basis of the picture. William Haines, who is cast in the role of Sweets, the race track tout, who joins the Marines and gets into the clutches of hard-boiled Sergeant O'Hara.

Chaney as the sergeant is a real leatherneck, secretly in love with a beautiful Navy nurse but afraid to declare his affections. He steps aside for someone else and through this becomes more lovable than ever.

The picture was filmed with the co-operation of the United States Navy Department, and the Marine Corps. Its scenes on board ship and in concentration camps are true to life in every detail and were supervised by regular Navy and Marine corps officers.

Then on Thursday night the eight acts of vaudeville will be shown as a part of "Bargain Night."

BOWS AND ARROWS AT SPORTSMAN SHOW

Besides Range Work There Will Be Shown Great Collection of Ancient Weapons.

Announcing that all signs point to a revival of the ancient sport of the bow and arrow, the Newton Archers' Club has arranged daily exhibitions of target shooting at Mechanics Building during the Sportsman's Show that opens Saturday.

Present and former national champions will bend their bows and give a helping hand to novices who are interested.

Besides the range work, there will be an historical exhibit of bows and arrows of many lands and ages, arranged by Langdon Warner, Archeologist of Fogg Museum, at Harvard.

Collection of Bows. A collection of bows, arrows and other accessories will be shown which will include not only the most approved modern weapons but also primitive, savage tackle from many parts of the world. Those persons who are interested in archery will have a chance to see and compare the refined and delicate bows used on the target with those heavy hunting bows used for killing buffalo on the prairies.

Types of Tartar and Mongolian bows and arrows for war and for hunting as well as tackle made by the Indians of the Amazon Valley will be displayed. There will be enough arrows to delight and thrill all the small boys who have ever read about Robin Hood and his adventures in Sherwood Forest. Arrows for flight-shooting, hunting-arrows, target-arrows, Chinese and Japanese arrows, old Indian arrows, Sioux, Cheyenne and Blackfoot, from the Great Plains, ceremonial arrows from Tibet and whistling arrows from Mongolia.

Long Range Target. Members of the Newton Archers' Club will be on the long target range daily to demonstrate that archery is not merely a child's game. Within the last few years the effectiveness of the bow for hunting has been shown by Youngs, Pope, Compton and Styles. Feats of archery that brought down walrus and polar bear in Greenland will be pictured during the show in the lectures of George Palmer Putnam, director of the American Museum Expedition to Greenland.

Miss Dorothy D. Smith of Newton, present women's national champion, her father Lewis C. Smith, secretary of the National Archery Association, Cyrus Dallin, Arlington archer and sculptor, and Dr. Paul Crouch, of Newton, champion of the U. S. in archery, are some of the artists of the bow and arrow who will be on the target range to instruct novices.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Frenz, veteran archers, Phillip Martin and A. W. Baker, all of the Newton Archers' Club, are the Committee in charge of the range exhibitions. Miss Stella Ives of Roskilde, runner up for women's national title this year, H. A. Ives, and Harry Jordan, noted Maine hunter with the bow and arrow, will give exhibitions.

Materials On Display. Those interested in making bow and arrows at home will see all materials for the task on display. Mr. Frenz has brought lemon wood and yew wood from Oregon, for bows. Arrows that Dr. Pope used lion hunting in Africa will be on display. Light target arrows are made of Norway pine hunting arrows of birch, maple and hickory.

Mr. Frenz, who has been an enthusiast with bow and arrow for half a century, declares this ancient sport is now experiencing a revival. He says: "There are signs that archery, as a sport for young and old, is coming into its own. The Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts have taken it up. The girls' schools and colleges have adopted it, and are making it a recognized part of their physical training courses.

More and more men in different parts of the country have discovered that they can get enough game with the bow to satisfy their love of hunting, and more real sport than by using a gun or rifle; and those of them who have faced grizzly bears and even lions with only primitive weapons of the savage in their hands can afford to smile at the ignorance of those who still think that the bow and arrow are weapons suited only to children. On the contrary, they call for more physical strength than the use of firearms, and a nicer co-ordination of nerves and muscles; and they require more skill of eye and hand than any other game except billiards.

Will Never Die. The sport of archery will never die out. No matter how popular or fashionable other sports may become, no matter how they may die out, interest from the oldest of them all, there will always be a few lovers of the bow who will keep the love of it alive in their own hearts and communicate the flame to other kindred spirits.

Strictly State Food At This Banquet. Music Also to Be Local at Agricultural Meet at Hartford, Jan. 27.

Dr. Samuel W. Graftlin of New York City, noted lecturer and keen student of international affairs, has been chosen as the principal speaker at the Union Agricultural Meeting Banquet at Hotel Garde, January 27th at 6 p. m.

The banquet will be the high spot in the three-day program which will occupy thirteen agricultural associations and more than 1,000 farmers and agriculturists. Representative Albert E. Lavery of Fairfield will be toastmaster and will introduce speakers who represent the city, state and New England.

Mayor to Speak. Mayor Norman C. Stevens will greet the delegates; response to his welcome will be by Lieutenant Governor J. Edwin Brainard and Commissioner of Agriculture Philo T. Flatt, chairman of the committee in charge. Executive Secretary William H. Corbin of the Hartford Chamber of Commerce; Robert C. Mitchell of the Connecticut Milk Producers' Association; and Harry R. Lewis of Rhode Island, chairman of the agricultural committee of the New England Council, will speak on the work of their various organizations.

The banquet will be a strictly Connecticut food products dinner. Everything on the menu, from the first to last course, will be Connecticut raised or manufactured. To contribute to the "All-Connecticut" plan, the music also will be by local musicians. The Girls' Glee Club and the Boys' Harmonica Band of the Lawrence Street Musical Club will be banquet choirs.

The banquet closes on the second day of the three-day meeting, and will both follow and precede many group meetings of agricultural associations. These will be held for the discussion and possible solving of problems connected with the raising of Connecticut crops.

OPEN FORUM SAYS SERVICE IS O. K. Editor Herald: Why do people always complain about their transportation service? It makes little difference whether it be railroad, trolley or bus. Manchester seems to be an exception, she is having trouble about connections at the Center.

Have the people who are complaining ever stood at the Center and watched proceedings when the cars are changing passengers? Some hustle along, some lag along, others put on motion movies in the shade, if the motorman says, "Hurry please," they are insulted. That corner evidently was laid out before trolley cars were ever dreamed of but is that any reason it need take from three to five minutes to walk from the Hartford to the Green car or visa versa?

How can the Green and Cross Town cars make their trips when they have farther to go and the Hartford car has the bad start? Thus far the Hartford car has to go without making connections on the entire system out of schedule. It seems to me Manchester people made up their minds they would have poor service if the car barns were moved to Hartford and are not making trifles that would have been overlooked at some other time.

I have had to wait for trolleys in many different places so Manchester hasn't so much to complain of, after all. When the traveling public co-operates with, instead of impedes their transportation one phase of the poor service problem will be solved.

Considering the weather the past month Manchester should commend the service and company rather than condemn it. TRAVELING SALESMAN. New Haven, Conn.

BON AMI CLUB IN ENTERTAINMENT

Talented Members of Orford Soap Co. Force Supply Fun At School Hall.

The Bon Ami Social Club of the Orford Soap Company entertained the families of the employees and friends at a minstrel and dance Saturday evening at the school hall on Hollister street.

James J. Breen directed the cast and sang in some of the special numbers. When the curtain parted the minstrels were seated at a banquet table decorated with flowers and fruits. They were waited on to the queen's taste by William Brainard and three other young men, dressed as waiters. At the head table were seated President George Snow of the club, Toastmaster Theodore Roosevelt Fairbanks and other distinguished guests.

The toastmaster read a letter of regret at the inability to be present from the governor and other celebrities. He called on the different guests at the banquet for toasts, jokes and songs. Those who contributed special numbers were Max Smith of Rockville, Corwin Grant, William Brainard, Louis Breen, Henry Stewart, Rufus Robinson and Lloyd Basye. George La Flamme sang a solo and accompanied the chorus on the cornet. The jokes and songs were up-to-date and the witty speeches of the toastmaster and the solo and other numbers by the quartet of waiters rounded out a thoroughly entertaining program.

Miss Elizabeth Norton, who has practiced with the singers at their rehearsals, and accompanied them in all the entertainment numbers, was presented with a handsome bouquet of pink carnations. After the minstrel there was modern and old-fashioned dancing to the music of Al Behrend's orchestra.

U. S. AND CHINA.

News from Washington that the United States government may proceed on its own volition toward establishing an understanding with the Nationalist government in China, regardless of the attitude of the other powers, ought to bring a great deal of satisfaction to those numerous Americans who cannot see and have never been able to see the justice or even sanity of the theory that China should be in any way subject to the practical suzerainty of a concert of nations.

The declaration of the Nationalist government is impressive. British and other foreign declarations of policy, it says, have intimated that "the powers must enter into self-denying ordinances regarding China in order to safeguard her integrity and independence, promote her political development, rehabilitation and her finances."

"The question is," they set forth, "not what Great Britain and other powers may wish to grant China toward legitimate aspirations in the Chinese nation? but what Nationalist China may justly grant Great Britain and the other powers."

In spite of the fact that England is rushing troops to Shanghai as fast as she can, there is not the slightest doubt that not only many of her statesmen but the great majority of her people recognize the full justice of the Chinese Nationalist position. But Britain is in a serious muddle. Her influential moneyed classes have heavy investments in China which they are in the habit of thinking can be preserved only by a show of force, and she has a traditional position to maintain into the bargain.

The United States on the contrary, has never been a figure head for foreign power in China. And Mr. Coolidge, with far more clarity of vision in this matter than any other national head outside the Orient, has consistently taken the extremely simple position that China has as much right to be her own boss as any other nation. The way is wide open to us to deal directly with the Nationalists, to lend them the immense support of American recognition and to cut, once and for all, the bonds in which that great and rapidly developing people have been held.

In this business we can and undoubtedly will serve the world magnificently—and incidentally do ourselves more good than our foreign policy has done us for many a long day.

CHEAP FLYING.

With the first known demonstration of the cost of airplane transportation as compared with railroad passenger rates, air traffic leaped yesterday into a new prominence as it presented itself to public thought from a brand new angle.

Officials of the Wright Aeronautical corporation made a flight from New York to Washington and return with a view solely to producing comparative figures for balancing against railroad charges.

Carrying six passengers and equipped with two Wright Whirlwind 200 horse-power motors, the plane maintained an average speed of 115.2 miles an hour for the journey. It consumed 43 gallons of gas.

oline, averaging 10.8 miles to the gallon. Richard R. Black, representing the National Aeronautical Association on the flight, said the cost figures covering the flight—and presumably these costs figured in all overhead, as they must be of any value—proved the possibility of carrying passengers from New York to Washington for $6.94, which is $1.20 less than the railroad fare.

Including the pay of the pilot, gasoline, oil, depreciation and repair, the operating cost, according to the statement, was 16 2-3 cents a mile.

These are figures which a great many people have been waiting to hear. The air has been full of more or less reckless predictions of the speedy arrival of commercial flying, but nobody has ever seemed quite ready to say how much the ordinary passenger would have to pay out of his ordinary pocket in order to get from here to there by the air route.

This demonstration is the first assurance we have had that there is at least a likelihood of flight traffic becoming practicable from the viewpoint of expense.

GALLIVAN'S ATTACKS.

The extraordinary attack made in the House yesterday by Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts against the personality of President Calles and the utterly unparliamentary language he used in describing the head of a friendly neighbor republic as the "red rat of Chapultepec" and demanding that he be "taken by the neck and shaken out of the nest of nations" ought to have a sobering influence on those citizens who have been somewhat too ready to condemn the Mexicans for trying to run their own country.

There was nothing to the Gallivan speech but an attempt to stir the war spirit—no moderation, no calmness, nothing but an excited determination to force a quarrel. Back lots oratory, run riot.

Yet Gallivan was lined up with other members of Congress who in much more restrained language have advocated a course that could hardly have any other result than the one advocated by the Massachusetts man. The peace party in Congress and the country—which more and more each day is proving its preponderance—ought to be rather grateful to Gallivan for showing up this anti-Mexican spirit in its ugliest colors.

FISHERY.

At this distance the Chaplin divorce case and its curious attendant circumstance have a rather singular look. There was an amount of ballyhoo connected with the affair, from the very beginning, scarcely to be accounted for by the prominence of the film actor. The story did not grow in the natural course of such stories—it seemed to spring into being, full fledged, in a moment. Things happened over-fast. The wolf-like eagerness of the attack on the comedian from half a dozen angles simultaneously; the ruthlessness of the court proceedings; the cock-sureness with which the assault was made; the prompt synchronization of the action of the federal authorities in the income tax matter; the dash and smash of the attack on the resources of Chaplin and his associates; the carelessness of the interests of his certainly innocent business partners—all these things have the ear marks of a carefully planned offensive with the various units going over the top at a zero hour.

Would it be greatly surprising if, in the course of time, it should develop that this affair had been carefully worked up by some interest anxious, for reasons of its own, to destroy not only Charlie Chaplin the comedian but Chaplin the producer and the group with which he is affiliated? Would it be beyond belief to imagine this as part of a subrosa movie-land business war?

There are aspects of the case which are pretty nearly unaccountable on any other hypothesis. It would be far from surprising if there should be developments, later, much more sensational than anything provided by negligible little gold-diggers.

ELECTIONEERING.

House Democrats are busy with a bit of electioneering. Placing at least full value on the universal desire to have taxes reduced, and knowing perfectly well that tax legislation at this session is out of the question, the Democrats are going about, with metaphorical brass bands a-playing, seeking the assistance of 40 House Republicans to call from the Ways and Means committee the minority tax measure which is sleeping profoundly in the archives of that body, as it should.

They do not expect to get the Republican assistance, of course. But they do expect to put in their next national campaign book the story of how the good Democrats strove and strove to get even a few well disposed Republicans to help them reduce the burden of the people's taxes—and how they found that there were no well disposed Republicans at all; or maybe only five or six and these all insurgents from the wild and woolly.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER Washington, Jan. 25.—So the people may know.

A careful observer noted that Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway was ever and anon tugging at the tops of his socks.

Frequently—all too frequently—the vulgar multitude is permitted to peek at a tiny portion of the Caraway shins.

The awful truth is that Caraway wears no garters! While the nation rises to demand as one man, "How long this has been going on?" we hasten to add that it hasn't been very long.

A page was sent out to the Senate floor by your correspondent to confirm his suspicions. He was to ask Senator Caraway on behalf of this newspaper whether the senator did or did not wear garters, and if not, how come.

The courier returned with an admission and a defense. The defense was that Senator Caraway's last pair of garters had worn out and that he hadn't since "been able to get any."

Our go-between understood that the senator hadn't been able to get the kind he wanted, but the secret seems to be that Caraway is too busy watching the Republicans. And there's not a man in the Senate who can penetrate the G. O. P. armor on occasion better than Caraway, garters or no garters.

Anyway, he wanted it distinctly understood that he wasn't adopting a collegiate fad just to feel young again or even for reasons of health. The Senate and House clerks are receiving intensive lessons in pronunciation following delivery of President Coolidge's Nicaragua message to Congress. In reading the message, the Senate clerk who might have been expected to do better than his House contemporary, distinguished himself with strange and bizarre renderings of such proper names as Sacaca, Puerto Cabezas, Colorzaco and even with what he called Nicaragua-way.

The error was no halting or stumbling. The clerk just swept through these names hit or miss and he generally missed. Someone must have whispered to him at one point, for when he read "Sakayza" the first time he corrected himself the next time the name occurred.

The president may in the future have to spell out such messages phonetically. In justice to the clerk, it must be said that the delivery was otherwise perfect.

Senator Henrik Shipstead is trying to help the Nicaraguans, although the differs with the administration on how they should be helped. Helping the lowly and oppressed is old stuff for Shipstead. In Minnesota they still tell up around Nebish how he came gallantly to the aid of Frankie Smith's ducks.

Frankie lived on a farm outside Nebish. Shipstead, driving through the section, stopped for a drink of water. He noticed Frankie's ducks, plinking away and obviously very unhappy. Frankie was very unhappy, too. He explained that the ground where the ducks were parked was all clay and that they had no sand or gravel to eat. Frankie was afraid they wouldn't win the duck prize at the Bemidji fair.

Whereupon, Shipstead put Frankie in the car and off they went to a sandpile. They shoveled sand into the tonneau of the Shipstead car and brought it back for the ducks. And, so the story goes, the ducks perked up from that time on and Frankie won the prize at the Bemidji fair.

Tourist, Gold Mine

Communities Learn That Attracting and Serving Motorists Pays.

This is one of a series of 20 articles on the progress and problems of modern American communities. Tomorrow: The Convention Spirit.

BY DON E. MOWRY Secretary American Community Advertising Association.

The tourist is a gold mine, and American cities are beginning to wake up to the fact.

We have more than 16,000,000 automobiles in this country. We have become an automobile nation, and the importance of this fact can hardly be overestimated.

Serving tourists—and attracting them—is now becoming one of the principal duties of many cities. They are finding that it pays.

Miami's Advance.

Miami's assessed property valuations leaped from $13,000,000 to $69,000,000 between 1913 and 1925. Tourists did it.

Portland, Ore., is a city that makes a strong bid for tourists. Early in the spring the city's publicity department is busy preparing magazine and newspaper copy in connection with the advertising campaign.

Denver does the same thing, and carries it even farther by opening bureau offices in strategic points like Kansas City and Chicago.

Jacksonville and Seattle are using the same sort of tactics. San Francisco also advertises for tourists. The state of Maine uses ads to broadcast its advantages to the rest of the country.

Use Ads.

Biloxi, Asheville, Colorado Springs, Norfolk and Salt Lake City are cities that are using ads to tell the country about their unique climatic or scenic advantages.

Wisconsin is not considered a leading tourist state—at least, it has a smaller tourist trade than California, Colorado, Michigan, Minnesota, Florida or the New England region—but its tourists last year spent more than $25,000,000 in the state.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 25.—Those grand gestures which seek to give the impression of elegance, for which Manhattanites are noted, often reach the point of burlesque and satire.

The strutting, yellow-spatted gentlemen of the Avenue have long since become cartoon characters and the recent advertising drives of beauty creams, culture courses and the like have been considered almost ludicrous by many.

However, there has come just to my desk the last word in this direction. It is a handsomely printed letter soliciting laundry. It came in an engraved envelope and the stationery was far from cheap.

I will quote a few paragraphs from it: "For years I have offered, to discriminating families, a laundry service that once for all will solve your laundry problems. 'I wash your clothes in pure soap and water only—I luxuriously launder collars, shirts, silks, etc. I handle each washing separately and observe strictest sanitary rules. I am insured against fire and theft and am fully responsible for each article entrusted to me. I am now writing for Mrs. Robert D. Huntington, Mrs. A. B. Claffin...."

On the other hand, it is a pleasure to report that at the annual convention of the barbers the president refused to have the organization known as "tonorialists," but persisted that they remain good, old-fashioned barbers."

Thank heaven, one can at least go to a barber shop and not a barber shoppe. GILBERT SWAN.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Nathan Forrest (2)

Shortly after his enlistment, Forrest was called upon by Governor Harris of Tennessee to organize a cavalry battalion. He was made a lieutenant-colonel, and in February, 1862, took part in the defense of Fort Donelson. With General Floyd, he refused to surrender and escaped, taking all the mounted troops with him, leaving General Buckner to capitulate.

On the bloody field of Shiloh, Forrest fought with distinction. But General Beauregard was routed by Sherman's forces.

Forrest's cavalry and courage alone stood between the fleeing Beauregard and the victorious, pursuing Sherman.

But his courage and his cavalry kept Sherman back. With a small detachment of troops, Forrest faced Sherman's thousands and charged. Forrest paid the penalty with a bullet in his body, but after inflicting heavy losses, rode on after Beauregard, and the spirit of the union pursuit was broken. (Continued.)

JACK LOCKWILL AT ROCKLAKE

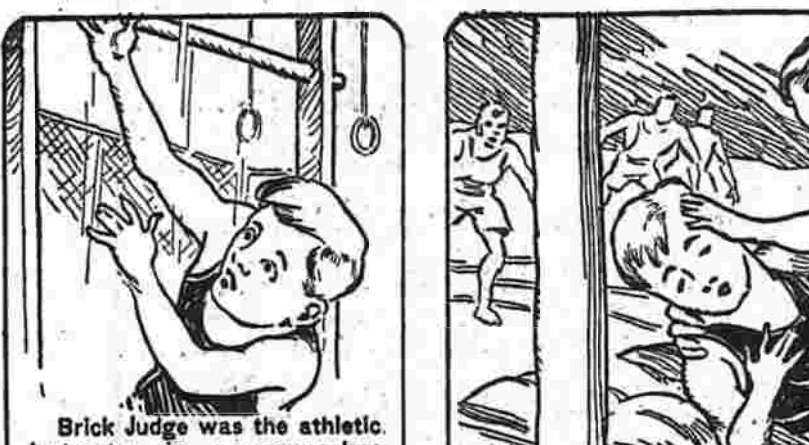

by Gilbert Patten

So Brick Judge became Jack Lockwill's legal guardian. Mrs. Lockwill wept when Jack's curls fell before the barber's shears, but Jack was happy when he was able to wear the stout and sensible clothes and heavy boots that Brick bought for him.

Jack's face took on a ruddy glow and a healthy tan. His mother marvelled at the remarkable change. Judge started him on a systematic course of light exercises, making the work interesting by turning everything into a game or contest.

Brick Judge was the athletic instructor in a gymnasium where Jack was amazed and delighted by the feats he saw performed on the horizontal bars and flying rings.

His hands slipped and he fell with a thud to the mat, striking on his head and shoulders. When he sat up, rubbing his bumped head, he saw Judge standing over him.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

Several hundred years ago in Scotland a new type of dog began to attract attention. He was small with curly hair, and because he was jet black they called him 'collie' at first. They bred him in other colors, mainly sable; they lengthened his thick head, darkened and slanted his eyes; but his mind remained untouched and bright. As years went on the tide of judgment swung from beauty to brains and the collie was saved, resulting in his former qualities of stamina and sense, and living up to the old Gaelic saying, 'A collie has the brains of a man and the ways of a woman.'

RAY HALL WITH 30 KNOCKOUTS TO HIS CREDIT TO FIGHT HERE

Crack Hartford Battler Entered For C. B. A. A. Tournament at Cheney Hall Tomorrow Evening. Notes About the Fighters.

Ray Hall, of Hartford, whose name is entered in the 140 pound rank on the program for the third C. B. A. A. amateur boxing tournament at Cheney hall tomorrow night, has taken part in nearly 50 bouts during his career. Of this number, he has won over thirty by knockouts, not to mention numerous decisions and he has been defeated less than five times. He knocked out one of the Horn brothers from Rockville in the first C. B. A. A. show.

Ross Campbell, local entry, in Hall's class has notified Promoter J. L. Jenney, he will be unable to take part in the show because of a previous arrangement with a Hartford club. Another opponent will be secured for Hall, it was announced.

Notes About Fighters

Ray Strong, of Hartford, who is entered in the 115 pound class, holds a victory over Adolf Donofrio. Strong is noted for his left hand punching. He was defeated in the bouts at Lawrence, Mass., Saturday but injured his hand. However, he expects to be ready for the local card.

Tony Kormas, 118 Springfielder, is very popular among the Bay State fight fans. He may oppose Ray Strong although Billy Laboc, local boy, will face him in the same class and it will be up to the A. A. U. officials to pick the two boxers most evenly matched in weight.

Eddie Lundregan, another boxer from the Home City, is entered in the same class, so it is hard to tell just how the fight will be matched. The latter is said to be a fine boxer and to pack a strong punch.

Al Dowd, local 126 pounder, who has twice gained the decision over Tommy Fagan, will face his first out of town opponent. His rival will probably be Arthur Ambros of Rockville. The latter is from Jimmy Farr's stable.

Incidentally, Jimmy says he thinks Al Dowd will whip Pat McCavanaugh. Farr thinks a lot of the prospects which confront Dowd and doesn't care who knows it.

Billy Patrick, 130 pound Hartford youth, is a sort of a newcomer to the ring and will face his first out of town opponent. His rival last week but won his bout the previous week in New Britain.

The other entry in the 130 pound class is also a Hartford boxer—Mickey Mallagone—the lad who went through the ropes at the last C. B. A. A. show. He has an awkward style of boxing but is very "game."

Joe Lentz, of Hartford recently lost after a hard fight to Eddie Reed in Hartford. Joe Clento, of Hartford, is the lad who gave Reed such a merry battle at the last local tournament. He is the lad with the iron jaw that sustained a dozen stiff uppercuts. Alvin Kemp, a Stoughton Springs youth is the other entry in the 105 pound class.

Eddie Reed, who has already won himself into the hearts of the Manchester fight fans with his two stellar exhibitions, will undoubtedly meet Dan Boccello, of Springfield. The latter has compiled a fine record.

Frank Lentz, who is entered in the 130 pound class, is a brother of Joe Lentz who is in the 105 pound group. He is a newcomer. He may be pitted against one of the Youseman brothers, Barney or Pete as both are entered in the 130 pound class and there are no other 126 pounders. The Youseman brothers have both shown their wares here and acquitted themselves in fine style. Barney, especially, is popular with the fans.

Charley Morey, of Hartford, who is entered in the 150 pound collection, is also firmly entrenched as a local favorite as a result of delivering a haymaker on the jaws of both the Horn brothers from Rockville.

Ralph Richmond, local boy, has fought once in amateur boxing, losing to Ray Hall of Hartford last summer. Max Volght, fast and clever Springfield boxer; Tommy Lewis, a new Hartford boxer, and Jean De Mario, another skillful Springfield boxer, are the other "heavyweight" entries. It is not known how they will be matched until they are weighed in.

Walter Vennart will referee. Ed McCarthy will do the announcing. Harry White will keep time while Walter Moske and Herb Blaseel will be the judges. The doors open at 7:15 and the first bout goes on at 8:15. The next show will be February 9.

DEMPESEY AS MANAGER

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 25.—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, is dickering for the contract of Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., middleweight, according to rumors prevalent here today. Lomski, a leading contender for Mickey Walker's title, defeated Tiger Flowers, former title holder, in a ten-round bout here last week.

PITCHING ACES HAD BAD YEAR AT BAT.

While George Uhls had a great season in 1926, leading the American League in victories with 27, he slumped badly at the bat.

Uhls is conceded to be just about the best hitting pitcher in the American League, and for a big fellow he steps down to first base in mighty fast time. The ace of the Cleveland staff is as much concerned about his hitting ability as his pitching. While his 27 wins were the cause of much joy, his batting average of .227 was a distinct disappointment.

Rival Leaders Fear Strength Of Tiger Team

New York, Jan. 25.—American League managers already are beginning to worry about the pennant chances of the Detroit club. While some are skeptical of George Moriarty's chances to do things in his first year, all frankly admit he knows baseball and has a pretty good club to work with.

While the rival managers look for a general improvement in the play of the club, on the theory that the late lamented year was the best of the best, his system of trying to tell the pitcher what he should use on every batter will not work out.

"I look for Detroit's pitching to be at least 30 per cent more efficient this year," says a certain American League pitcher. When pressed for a reason he replied: "While Cobb's intentions always were of the best, his system of trying to tell the pitcher what he should use on every batter will not work out."

In a short series, such as the world championship games, it might be all right. John McGraw worked it successfully one year. However, it won't function properly over a season's play.

Moriarty will allow his pitchers to work out their own salvation, to use their own judgment, and is certain to get much better results.

Local Sport Chatter

If you are looking for real excitement surpassing even the thrills one gets in the movies, the place to go tomorrow night is to Cheney Hall, where the third amateur boxing tournament conducted by Cheney Brothers' Athletic Association will be held. Just follow the crowd and you won't lose your way.

It is understood that a delegation of the fairer sex will be there tomorrow night to view the proceedings. Many young ladies attend the bouts in Hartford and will likewise be welcome at the local bouts.

Wapping's undefeated basketball team encounters the New Britain Machine tomorrow evening in the old church hall at Wapping. After the game, there will be dancing in the school assembly hall. A large crowd is again expected. First come, served, is Manager Raymond Belcher's motto.

The next opponent for the local High school basketball team is Middletown High which plays here Friday evening.

If the weather holds fair, the ice skating carnival will be held this Saturday at the Center Spring Park.

The Brockton, Mass., Hebrews will be visiting basketball team at Plainfield tomorrow night. The Plainfield team has lost but one game on its home court this season.

Manager Hunt has not announced any more games for his C. B. A. A. quintet for this week. Probably he feels it would not be a wise any more contests until the effects of that chicken dinner are entirely gone.

SETBACK TOURNEY

Durfee and Perine captured the chickens at last week's sitting of the third setback tournament of the Cheney Brothers' Athletic Association series. Second honors fell to Hadden and Carlson, who also were rewarded with "birds." Following is the standing of the ten highest scorers in the tournament:

Durfee	297
Perine	297
J. Ritchie	297
Thayer	275
Jacobs	285
Shorts	272
Muldoon	272
Minich	261
Loomis	261
O'Wiganoske	261

The next sitting will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. at the school.

HOSE TO MEASURE

London.—The Princess de Polignac, the former Alice Walsinger of New York, has established a new record among the fashionable in London, by measuring the stockings made to measure, declaring that she cannot understand why women who would refuse to wear a suit of the sheif will appear with hose that are much too loose or too tight.

FIVE PLAYERS WHO FIGURED IN BIG TRADE

In a four-cornered deal that involved about a dozen players, veterans and rookies, McGraw landed Burchleigh Grimes for the Giants. The former star of the Brooklyn club is one of the few pitchers who are still doing business in the majors and he is a mighty good one. Grimes should be a big winner for McGraw.

High Scorer Not Necessarily Star Says Carl Husta

By CARL HUSTA

Forward, Cleveland World Champion.

Most basketball fans think a forward's duty is merely to score points for his team. While the best shots on most teams are generally forward playing the forward positions, for the reason the forward usually gets more opportunities to shoot for the basket, it will dwell in this article on the other duties besides those of scoring.

Defensive ability must be combined with offensive ability in a forward as well as in the center and guards.

A strong scoring forward who has no conception of defense is not nearly as valuable to a team as a forward of fair scoring ability who can, while scoring points himself, keep his guard from running wild. Most present-day guards are about as good shots as forwards and need to be guarded just as closely as forwards.

A good forward always remembers, too, that the high point scorer of a game is not always the star. Even should the forward be considered the best shot on the team, he must sacrifice some opportunities to shoot by passing to a teammate who is in better scoring position.

It is often the man far down in the scoring column who is the big threat of a team because, by his good judgment and passing, he makes it possible for his teammates to register the points necessary for victory.

A star forward must be a good passer as well as pass receiver. He must know when and how to pass if his passes are to be of any value to his teammates. He must learn to time his passes so that the receiver, who is usually charging in toward the basket, can take the ball in front of him without slowing up his stride. This enables him to shoot the ball in which he receives the ball, in which case there is little likelihood of an opponent jumping in to spoil the shot.

It is the forward's duty to follow up the shot of every man on the team. No matter who makes the shot, the forward should be in position to leap up for the rebound from the back-board in case the goal is missed.

Also, the forward must keep his eyes open when a guard from his own team finds an opening for a shot. When the guards charge down to take a shot, the forward must switch quickly and cover the forward whom the guard has left open.

SIX BATTLEERS MISS HONORS BY 1 POINT.

Being regarded as a .300 batsman is perhaps the very best compliment a big league regular can enjoy. It is considered the select circle of hitters.

One of the biggest disappointments in baseball is to fall to reach one's goal by the slightest of margins. It hurts far more to miss one's objective by a point rather than being 25 away.

The American League averages of 1926 reveal the interesting and unusual fact that six American League regulars failed to reach the coveted mark by a single point. They were Sheely of Chicago, Flanagan and Jacobson of Boston, Ruel of Washington, Combs of New York and Jameson of Cleveland.

Johnson Picks Two Best Men To Catch Him

Washington, Jan. 25.—What part does catching play in the success of a star major league pitcher? No one should be better qualified to answer that question than Walter Johnson, generally recognized as the greatest pitcher in the game ever produced.

"Through out my career I have been very fortunate in having a good catcher handle my delivery," says Walter. "All of them have played a big part in whatever success has come my way."

"I regard Charley Street, the catcher who broke me in as a big leaguer, and Muddy Ruel, who will probably be the last backstop to give me signals, as the best catchers I ever had worked with."

"Speed was practically my only asset when Street caught me. I was credited with being very fast, but never seemed to get enough credit on the ball to satisfy him. Asking me if I had a sore arm was a favorite quip of his when I was bearing down hardest."

"Neither Street or Ruel made it seem as if I was hard to catch because of my great speed. On the contrary, both made it look easy. Both were entirely different in style but equally efficient."

WANT TO THROW OUT AMERICAN FOOTBALLERS

Foreigners Level Attacks at Owners of N. Y. Giants and Brooklyn Wanderers.

New York, Jan. 25.—Threats to have the United States Football Association expelled from the International Federation of Association Football because of alleged tampering with players under contract were met here today with official statements that the United States would withdraw from the federation unless its suggestions were carried out. These included a demand for strict observance of the international code in regard to suspended players and a revision of the contract situation whereby a player will be declared a free agent at the end of each season.

The rule of suspensions calls for a player to be barred in all countries affiliated with the federation but the code is not observed in this instance, according to Dr. G. Randolph Manning, chairman of United States Association's foreign relations committee. He declared there would be no negotiations carried on with foreign players until after the federation's annual congress at Helsinki, Finland, when the American demands will be presented.

Foreign complaints about tampering in the main were leveled at the owners of the New York Giants and Brooklyn Wanderers.

BANKRUPTCY PAYS

New York.—Santa Claus was good to the creditors of David V. Plicker, who was wiped out in 1913 by bankruptcy. Forty-five creditors received checks totaling $30,000. Plicker, during the 13 years since his bankruptcy, has been gradually paying off debts that at first amounted to $100,000.

ACTION BY LANDIS IS EXPECTED SOON

Any Moment News Will Break Deciding Status of Cobb and Speaker.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Jan. 25.—Definite action by Judge Landis on the status of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker may be expected at any moment, according to baseball men returning to the east today from Ban Johnson's presidential "wake" in Chicago. Official assurances from American League owners that no evidence in the Cobb-Speaker case has been held out on him has encouraged the judge to act, they say.

These assurances, as I understand it, were demanded and given at the special league meeting at which Landis was present on Sunday night. They took the form of a declaration that he knew as much as they about the case, a fact that Landis previously had felt privileged to doubt.

Got All the Facts

The judge suspected, in fact, that Johnson had handed him a stick of dynamite to play with, so he refused to be moved until he was convinced that all of the facts had been placed at his disposal; in effect, that no ghost of the past later was to parade through the light of day in mockery of his decision.

The decision therefore, is forthcoming and many believe that it will take the form of an acquittal. Landis' personal admission that Dutch Leonard's unsupported charges of a betting conspiracy do not constitute evidence has led some to feel that a favorable decision is inevitable. Johnson's statement that the men were dropped for "incompetency" and not dishonesty hardly conforms to logic but, nevertheless, it is regarded in some quarters as having publicly absolved the principals.

Not Logical

The statement is not logical because everyone knows that incompetent individuals are not disposed of through the action of the league's board of directors and the passing of the buck to Landis for an official review.

No, Cobb and Speaker were not hired for 1927 because baseball suspected that they had conspired in September, 1919. Their guilt or innocence of the charges was the only question Landis had to decide; it still is the only question before him.

It is so big that the writer can only wonder how some few individuals feel so certain of the outcome. The best bet in the world is come. This alone knows what will happen. The second best is that he has told no one what he knows.

200-YEAR-OLD WOMAN PICKLED

New York.—A 200-year-old woman warrior (that is, her torso) pickled for six weeks to a height of less than a foot, was displayed here to reporters and scientists recently by Charles P. Eres, of Quito, Ecuador. The woman was killed in battle. Her body was soaked in vinegar for six weeks, the bones removed, and then the mummy was ironed with hot stones. It was presented to the American Museum of Natural History.

Don't Fuss With Mustard Plasters!

Don't mix a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, and takes the place of mustard plasters.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throats, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, whooping cough, rheumatism, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back, joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chills, frost feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

Who Is the Better Southerner?

Herb Pennock or "Lefty" Grove?—G. F. D.

Grove has twice as much stuff as Pennock but the New York star, on present form, is far more valuable.

What is considered the best year Walter Johnson has ever had as a major league pitcher?—N. B. Johnson's best year was 1913, when he won 36 and lost only 7.

What is the correct name of Pitcher Jack Quinn of the Philadelphia Athletics?—D. J. John Quin Picus.

Charlie Plays Diplomat But Belongs In Comedy

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS

New York, Jan. 25.—Charlie Chaplin, comedian, is in bad with the American public. He knows it, his business associates know it, his fellow actors know it and his enemies know it only too well. So it is up to Charles Spencer Chaplin, diplomat, to intervene.

The diplomat is now working to save the comedian. Those newspaper reporters who attended his first interview since his nervous breakdown saw his premiere in this new role and saw a victim of stage fright give an uneven performance.

The transition from funny man with trick hat and comedy shoes to suave gentleman with careful diction, kindly tolerance and restrained speech is a hard one, even for one of the world's greatest actors.

The Chaplin we saw after an illness which he admitted made him still a bit "woxy" was an actor who hadn't yet swung into his role and who either forgot or didn't remember half his lines. He was a frightened eager schoolboy one minute, but by the next, those deep lines from eyes to the electric shock, only to drop back the next minute and draw himself up into a characteristic ball with his knees on his chin.

His navy blue necktie needed attention every five seconds. His smile was charming, but a fit mechanical, and too obviously a fumbling for time. Because while he smiled his attorney, quick on the jump, could always give the tactful answer to the questions put to him.

Why hadn't he paid his income tax? Why was his wife in need of money? Was an actor's art more important than his domestic difficulties? All imaginable why-did-it's and why-did-you's were hurled at him.

Obviously, Charles Spencer Chaplin wanted to give a good performance in his new role. He watched his lawyer carefully and took every cue. He spoke unkindly of no one. He spoke gently and beautifully of his wife who started all the difficulties, saying she was ill-advised. He didn't know his tax was in arrears. He would pay every nickel. He wanted to finish "The Circus." He thanked the American public for not giving him the air before the trial revealed both sides of the case.

Of course, he didn't say anything about the air. He thanked us for believing in him.

"Will you promise to give us one more laugh, Charlie?" one reporter asked him.

No time for humor. Charles Spencer Chaplin replied suavely he hoped to be able to provide his public with his new picture, if he could finish it, was full of laughs. He hoped this domestic difficulty had not stamped out his spark of comedy. He admitted it was hard to be funny on the edge of a real precipice.

Oh, he was very polite, very tactful and suave. For one who had never seen him except in pictures he was unexpectedly beautiful. His appealing eyes and his wistfulness kept him a child while his wrinkles and his graying hair tried to force maturity upon him.

But Chaplin has so much compe-

Worry and woe hid Charlie's smile during much of the first interview he gave newspapermen after reaching New York from California. To evoke the reluctant smile in the lower picture the NEA photographer exhausted his wit.

tion in his role of diplomat—so many superior! The world is full of suave people, who say the right thing with never a syllable too much and never a phrase too blunt, who can kill with kindness and smile and smile—

And there is only one such funny man, no one else in his class. He belongs back in comedy.

Your Income Tax

A series of articles based on the Revenue Act of 1926 and the latest regulations relating to the income tax. One article will be published each day until every angle of the question is explained.

In computing the tax on earned net income, consideration is given the taxpayer engaged in trade or business in which both capital and personal services are material income-producing factors. The revenue act of 1926 provides in such cases that a "reasonable allowance as compensation for personal services" shall be considered as earned income. Such allowance is not to exceed 20 per cent of the taxpayer's share of the net profits of such trade or business. For example, a taxpayer received in 1926 from a business in which both personal services and capital are material income-producing factors, a net profit of $30,000. The 25 per cent credit is computed on 20 per cent of $30,000, or $6,000. The amount payable is the tax on $30,000, less 25 per cent of the tax on $6,000.

The earned income credit is allowed members to a partnership, such credit applying to the share of the net income belonging to each which consists of earned income. Where, as in the case of an individual taxpayer, capital and personal service are both material income-producing factors, the 20 per cent limitation applies. In such cases the salaries paid a partner should be added to the distributive shares to determine the "reasonable allowance for personal services." For example, the "A" partnership, consisting of two members, made in 1926 a net income of $40,000. Each partner, drew during the year a salary of $7,000. These salaries should be added to the net income, making a total of $54,000. Hence $27,000 is the distributive share of each partner. Twenty per cent of $27,000 is $5,400. Each partner, therefore, is allowed an earned net income of $5,400, although his salary was $7,000.

Are You "Toxic"?
It is Well, Then, to Learn the Importance of Good Elimination.

FUNCTIONAL inactivity of the kidneys permits a retention of waste poisons in the blood. Symptoms of this toxic condition are a dull, languid feeling, drowsy headaches and, sometimes, toxic headache and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning as they should is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many readers have learned the value of Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, in this condition. Users everywhere endorse "Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
From the veranda of the Hotel Majusca, at Ocean Town, N. J., TITUS RIGGS, a guest, sees a man taken from the ocean and laid on the beach while a crowd gathers to stare.
The reader has been introduced to these characters:
NED BARRON, the copper king, and his wife, MADELINE; ANGELOICA FAIR, and her fiance, ROBIN BEARS; Robin's father, CROYDON BEARS; GARRETT VALDON and her companions, ROGER NEVILLE, GARRETT FOLSOM and MRS. BARNABY whom everyone calls "THE DUCHESS."
From the shocked expression on the faces of the throng, Riggs surmises that the man is dead and, putting down his field glasses, he hastens down to the beach.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER II

AS Titus Riggs drew near the crowd on the beach, he found himself restrained by a stalwart policeman, who forbade him to advance another step.
"Who is it?" he asked, and so pleasant was Riggs' manner, that the strong arm of the law unbenet upon to answer.
"Garrett Folsom, they say," he replied, and Titus Riggs ejaculated, "Good Lord!" though whether the words were an expression of pious gratitude or merely an exclamation of astonishment was not obvious.
"Is he dead?" Riggs pursued.
"As a door!"
"Cramp? Stroke?"
"How do I know?" returned the other. "Anyway, they gotta get him off the beach!"
"I should think so. Is that a doctor bending over him?"
"Guess so. He seems to be giving orders. Though it ain't up to him to say what to do."
"Who is it up to?"
"I don't rightly know. But I s'pose the life guards will take him to his hotel and they'll see to him there."
The life guards bore the body through the crowds, two or three uniformed officers making a way, and though followed by a horde of curiosity seekers, most of the beach population went back to the surf or the sands.
Roger Neville and the two women who had been the bathing companions of the dead man conferred quickly as they stood on the beach.
"You'd better go straight to your bathhouses and dress," he told the others, "and I'll do the same. Then hurry to the hotel; we'll all be asked for."
"Why?" inquired the Duchess, her eyes wide with amazement.
"We had nothing to do with his stroke, or whatever it was. I'm not going to get into the papers as a friend of Garrett Folsom's."
"Why not?" asked Mrs. Valdon.
"There are lots of worse people than that man."
"Oh, not that, but I object to publicity, and I won't be interviewed."
"Don't worry," Neville said. "Folsom's an important man in some ways, but his death won't make a dent down here. What does Ocean Town care for a sudden death more or less?"
"I suppose that's so," the

"I see," said Pelham. "Send for the valet. Why isn't he here already?"
Duchess said, with a relieved air.
"Well, I'll get dressed anyhow. Come along, Carmy. It's spoiled our swim for today."
"Don't be so heartless," said the other. "I'm all upset. I think a sudden death is fearful. And we will be in the limelight, I don't care what Roger says. I think I'll go straight back home. Do you suppose his sister will come here?"
"Didn't know he had a sister."
"Well, he has. A Tartar. One of those strong-minded persons." They disappeared into their respective bathhouses and dressed as rapidly as they could in the cramped and uncomfortable quarters.
Although the bathhouses belonging to the Hotel Majusca were roomy compared with some, they were not luxurious dressing-rooms, and when the two women at last emerged they both expressed a desire to reach their own bedrooms unnoticed.
They accomplished and set to work to repair the ravages of an ocean bath.
But though they had reached a quiet haven, there was anything but quiet down in the hotel lobby, several floors beneath them.
The suave and impassive gentlemen who had the well-being of the hotel in their charge were upset one after another with terrific suddenness and swiftness.
The pompous doorman was the first to be affected, and he was minded at first to refuse admittance to the sinister looking procession that carried a covered, still form on a stretcher.
But his half-hearted objections in a situation. "Now, will you men please take the body to Room 3, next my office over there?"

He indicated a room across the lobby. He beckoned to the hotel detective and called a clerk to his aid, then followed the men who bore the gruesome burden.
As they turned back the covering blanket, Pelham saw the well-formed figure in its bathing suit of gray Jersey, with three black stripes across the chest and a belt striped black and white.
The face was calm and lifelike, the hair, though tousled by the waves, was orderly enough, and the man looked as if merely unconscious rather than dead.
But Pelham's questing hand told him the heart had ceased to beat, and the briefest examination was enough to show that life had gone.
"Stroke, of course," the manager said, looking at Dixon. "But we must have a doctor."
"One looked at him down on the beach," the guard volunteered. "Doctor Manning, he was; he's in the hotel here, and he said as how Mr. Folsom was dead."
"Dead? Of course he's dead. But we must have a certificate and all that. Has Doctor Manning come up from the beach yet?"
Inquiry proved he had not, and saying, "That can wait, then," Pelham turned his mind to more immediate errands.
"Who's in this man's party?" he asked Dixon.
"Nobody. He's alone—or, I believe he has a valet—but no one else in his suite."
"Has he a suite? A good one?"
"One of the best. Two rooms and bath. His valet sleeps on the same floor, but not in a connecting room."
"I see. Send for the valet. Why isn't he already here?"
"We've only just come in, Mr. Pelham," said the life guard. "Will you take the matter in charge now? Can we go? We belong on the beach, you see."
"Yes, yes, go on. I'll attend to this. Leave your names with Mr. Dixon, in case he wants to see you again."
He rang a bell for the room clerk.
"Tuttle," the manager said to him, "was no one with Mr. Folsom here?"
"Only his valet, a man named Ross."
"Send for him. Who were Mr. Folsom's friends or associates?"
"Mr. Neville, and two ladies were with him last evening. He only came yesterday afternoon."
"I thought he was new."
"Neville's been here longer."
"Oh, yes, a week or more. The ladies, a few days—nearly a week."
"I see. Get the man, Ross, but don't disturb Mr. Folsom's friends just yet. Were they in the water with him?"
"Yes," said Dixon. "The guard told me so. They'll probably show up soon."
"They'll have to. We must learn from them as to Mr. Folsom's home and people."
A clerk appeared then, bringing a quiet-mannered, middle-aged man with him.
"This is Ross, the valet," he said, and giving the man an introductory push into the room, he went out and closed the door behind him.
(To Be Continued)
There is more to be learned about Garrett Folsom. Read the next chapter.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER
My young niece, a college freshman, came over the other evening to exhibit her new orchid enamel and silver monogrammed vanity case, and tell me the tale of the fraternity dance. Some affair! It seems that the "place cards" were the vanity cases and that the girls found their places from the monograms. There were corsages of orchids and lily-of-the-valley at each place, none less than eight forks and as many spoons, and a menu that was exactly two hours long in service, with everything from cream and cream of oyster soup and breast of guinea fowl to a dessert of ices and crystallized tropical fruits.
"Our sorority's just wild!" said the young niece, "because it was such a party with that affair that you can't think of anything to do that will be any swankier!"
Crossly I murmured something about the high cost of college parties, to which the apple of my eye made non-committal answer, "oh, we manage somehow!"
As a sign of advancing age, I think back to my own college days. The same college, too. Not even a decade ago. But no maiden with those scholastic portals today would half believe that the co-ed and the freshman could have been so frightfully mundane and commonplace just a handful of years ago.
I recalled our first swanky sorority party the year I was a Freshman. We had no hired caterers and orchestra, but we had copious quantities of refreshment committees walked more than a mile for a bushel of iced fresh-picked grapes and made sandwiches in sorority colors tied around the middle with matching baby ribbons. And the decorating committee consisted of girls of the school art department, did marvelous things with water colors and colored paper and armfuls of gold-leaf and autumn leaves and wild asters.
The Tea Parties Different
The gastronomic committee staged what we thought the greatest little farce ever played, and our prize prima donna sang, divinely, we thought, and altogether our affair was pronounced one of the finest ever staged. I think we were indebted to the committee which she attended the other night cost the boys $35 each.
Am I a Crank?
I sometimes fear that I grow almost a crank on this subject of our exalted standard of living today, which I grow "thicker and thicker" at the cool gray with which today's youth takes and takes and takes the most errant nonsensical "luxuries" of life while their parents are literally drugging and sweating and paying their bills, which means "papercloth" which means "my child to have and do what the rest are doing," no matter what it is—seven $15 dance favors and $10 corsages paid for by fathers earning $40 a week!
The Other Side
There is another side to the story. Do you suppose for one minute that college youth of today, which simply lets Dad pay for the professional caterer and decorator and entertainer, is gaining as help as the old-fashioned student who made his or paid for it?
Which girl, for instance, will have a better chance at success in her marriage, the old-fashioned college girl who helped make sandwiches in sorority colors and helped dance "The Hissin' Slave Dance" and made hand-painted place cards or the new-fashioned girl whose only contribution to an affair is a check signed by father?

Local Woman Tells How Meat is Packed

Maude Tryon Hickson, Living in Omaha, Tells About Her Trip Through Plant; An Interesting Article.

By MAUDE TRYON HICKSON (Formerly of Manchester)
To anyone who has never been through a packing plant, a visit will prove very interesting and instructive. Omaha is the home of the packing industry, second to Chicago. They are all practically the same, so I am going to take you through a local plant, it being one of the oldest established.
When you sit down to a steak dinner, I wonder if you ever stop to think of the hundreds of hands that have passed through before it reached your table.
Unusual Sight
It is an unusual sight in the east to see truckloads of cattle, sheep and swine transported from the railroads and ranges through the streets. Yet, it is a familiar sight in this mid-western city. Even when recently the driver of a truck load of swine tossed one overboard in turning a corner, he unconcernedly went on—the rumble of the motor drowning the squeal of the hog and an old negro picked up the porker up and carried it home. Then, when the stock reach the yards, they are put into pens and buyers from the different packing houses make quotations on them as needed. Prices on livestock rise or fall day by day the same as quotations in the stock market.
Our Best Beef
It is interesting indeed to pass along the narrow bridges over the steel pens—to see the curly long-haired range cattle which make our best beef—of the red, black or blue and the old negro pickers of black and white hogs which make that wonderful bacon you know about. To us native-born New Englanders, the picture of John and Priscilla Alden is familiar. This picture was a favorite with the founder of this company, so the receipts by day the same as quotations in the stock market.
Passing from the stockyards, we enter the office of the packing company, where a sign outside reads, "Visitors Welcome." Here we register and a boy in a moderate tone of voice wants to know if we want to visit the plant. We answer in the affirmative and he replies, "That the guide has just left with a party." "Couldn't we catch up with them," we ask. "I guess we could, I will see," says he. And he then brings out long white coats which we put on over our own garments. The guards at the gate laughs as we pass through. "If it was a party of men, he wouldn't be guiding you," he says pointing his finger at the blushing youth. Just inside the gate we catch up with the rest of the party and the real guide and walk down the dock where empty refrigerators are lined up ready for the day's shipment. The guide rings a bell and a large beef elevator is lowered. (By the way, our guide has been in the employ for over twenty-five years, hence this position.)
Quantities of Beef
On an upper floor, we pass through one whole floor of quarters of beef hung up in rows—enough to feed a nation we think, but our guide tells us that if they were not killing for two days there wouldn't be any at all.
On one of the upper floors, the cattle are marched in single file through a trench—one at a time—something like a ship in a lock of a canal. Then, as the animal's head emerges from under a rail, a man with a heavy mallet knocks it unconscious by a stroke on the forehead. The animal's legs are encased with chains, and the body drops through a trap door to the floor below, where the next man cuts its throat and pushes it along a rail to the next who cuts off the head; another draws a sharp knife from neck down through the stomach; another takes out the entrails and passes them along. The liver man cuts off the liver, and so on, each man taking care of a certain part.
Every Part Used
Another man saws down through the center of the carcass, followed by another with a cleaver, who splits the bones. The hoofs are cut off and sent on to the party taking care of them; the hide taken off and slipped through a trap door to the floor below. Everything is like clockwork—each man having just one operation for his share and our guide tells us that cribe and pack the various products, just how much ice and salt goes into a car destined for a certain point, just what station train stops for receiving a fresh supply of ice. One mistake in routing on their part may send a car in an entirely different direction and cost the company hundreds of dollars in re-routing and sometimes the meat is so badly spoiled as to be unfit for human consumption. Meat moves from Omaha to New York City in five days in summer, four days in winter and six days to the New England states, having special schedule at all times.

Good Nature and Good Health

WORRY IS A DISORDER OF THE MENTAL SYSTEM
By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.
So much has been written regarding the care of the child mind that the adult has been somewhat neglected. The foundation for a sound nervous system should, of course, be laid in childhood, but continued assaults on the mental state will undermine the calm demeanor of anyone.
The person who tries to avoid the realities of life also resorts not infrequently to day-dreaming and fantasies. When one becomes aware of this temptation to compensate himself for the disappointments of daily life, he should take a walk, practice a daily dozen, hunt up a friend and argue about the League of Nations, or even listen to the radio.
Indeed, anything should be done to divert attention from turning inward upon one's self.
VELVET AND GOLD
An evening wrap of dark green velvet has a shawl collar, and is embroidered all over the back with gold beads, in an apple blossom design.
Men and women should learn the habit of facing things as they really are and handle the situations as they arise.

She is a "Sweet Nagger"

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Tom, don't make any engagement for tonight. The Starks are coming over."
"What on earth are they coming for? You know I don't like them."
"Now, dearie, I knew you'd say that. You're just like a little boy. You have to be told what's good for you. Mr. Stark knows so much and it does us both good to listen to him."
Have it your own way. I'll be here.
"And you'll stop at Beer's and bring home a blue fish for dinner, won't you? They won't send it so far."
"What are you having fish for? I don't like any kind of fish, but I hate bluefish particularly."
"But you must eat fish, dear. It's so good for you. Oh, Tom, why do you wear brown shirts? Do go and put on the green one I bought yesterday. That brown makes you look terrible! Besides, green is the latest and I like you to be in style. There! I knew you would."
Later by phone: "Hello, is that you, Tom? The Starks can't come. Get tickets for that Ibsen play, will you?"
"I hate Ibsen. Let's go to a good comedy."
"Tom! You're always wanting something different somehow. I think you do it just to spite me."
"I'll get them!" said Tom in a dull voice. "There was no use of argument. Ten years of married life had taught him that."
He turned to the window of his office and looked out over the gray roofs in the gray twilight. He whistled softly and hopelessly as he jingled the keys in his pocket.
The gray roofs and the twilight were typical—typical of a hopeless colorless future. For ten years he had lived vicariously, touching life only through his wife's ideas.
Mrs. Tom doesn't know it, but she is playing the very dangerous game of sweet nagging. The issue is more serious than a question of blue fish or green shirts. It is the question of a man's happiness.

THE TINYMITES BY HAL COCHRAN

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture)

The Tynmites watched Clowny ride, and rather feared that he would slide right off the seal because its skin was slippery as could be. But Clowny didn't slip a speck. He wrapped his legs around its neck and sat there very upright. Quite a smart wee chap was he.

You'll be made at me for what may happen after while. "Oh, no," wee Clowny then replied. "I love to take this sort of ride. I'll bet I'll duly smile." The Eskimo then laughed aloud, and promptly yelled to all the crowd, "You'd better keep your eye on me, if you desire some fun." He slapped the seal upon the back. Oh, what a nice resounding smack. And then he made a move through which his trick was then begun. He tossed a fish out in the stream, and soon they all heard Clowny scream, for Mister Seal dove in the stream to catch the fish to eat. The water splashed around, you bet, and Clowny got just soaking wet. The other Tynmites wondered, then, what fate poor Clowny'd meet.

(Clowny is afloat on a cake of ice in the next story.)

Howard Waldorf, son of Mrs. Idell Waldorf of 141 Center street, underwent an operation yesterday at the Hartford hospital and his condition is as favorable as can be expected.

Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Tinker of Park street left last night for St. Petersburg, Florida, where they will spend the remainder of the winter.

Lorraine, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Delaney of Durant street, has returned home from the Memorial hospital where she underwent a mastoid operation.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Second Congregational church will meet tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock at the Manchester Community clubhouse.

Mrs. George A. F. Lundberg will entertain the Electric Eastern Star bridge club at her home on East Center street tomorrow afternoon.

It was announced today that through the courtesy of Barrett and Robbins a radio has been installed in the C. E. House & Son store for this evening's radio program from Hartford, which will feature, as far as local interest is concerned, the Beethoven Glee Club of the Swedish Lutheran church.

Contractor Walter Hobby of Henry street has the roof on the new colonial house he is building, corner Pitkin street and Warranoke road. The cottage on Strong street which he is building for E. P. Walton is ready for the interior finish.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Toppin of 54 Fairfield street were pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening by the arrival at their home of a large number of their relatives and friends. A merry evening was spent with the aid of games, dancing and singing. Miss Louise Futosky favored with several piano numbers. The guests presented to Mrs. Toppin a handsome floor lamp and to Mr. Toppin a smoking stand.

A warranty deed was filed with Town Clerk Turkington yesterday afternoon recording the transfer of the former Wells Cheney property, adjacent to the South Methodist Church property on Hartford road, from Cheney Brothers to George W. Cheney. Mr. Cheney is the present occupant of the property.

Russell P. Tabor, Inc., Hartford automobile sales company, has disposed of its branch business located at the former Rutenburg Garage on Main street opposite the State Armory. The business, merchandise and lease of the property has been sold to George Brown. Mr. Brown has been manager of the local branch for the Tabor concern. The record was filed with Town Clerk Samuel J. Turkington this morning.

IMPROVING NORTH END BUILDINGS

Little & McKinney, who bought the old Bissell store property on North Main street have greatly improved the interior and outward appearance of the building. The upper floors have been converted into modern apartments and the large store on the ground floor has been divided into two stores, one of which is already rented.

Cowles and Grant have alterations on the Fuller block, also on North Main street well under way. The stores in the building are all undergoing extensive repairs and modern display windows are being installed. When the work is finished the appearance of the building will be immensely improved.

CENTER CHURCH FOLK TO BANQUET WEDNESDAY

Church Family to Gather Tomorrow Evening — Ladies' Benevolent Society to Serve Supper.

The annual meeting and supper for the Center Congregational church family will be held at the church tomorrow evening. The supper will be ready at 8:30 and will be served by the Ladies' Benevolent society under the general chairmanship of Mrs. H. A. Nettleton. Miss Mary Hutchinson is in charge of ticket distribution and Mrs. James Johnston is at the head of the committee whose duty it will be to see to the details of dining room and decorations.

Mrs. Nettleton has disclosed the supper menu, which is as follows:

- Roast Fresh Ham
- Gravy Dressing
- Mashed Potatoes, Peas
- Beet Relish, Apple Sauce
- Rolls, Coffee
- Pineapple Sponge with Custard.

Special music will be provided. Reports of the officers of the different church organizations will be read and routine business proper to come before the annual church meeting acted upon.

The speaker of the evening will be Rev. Warren Archibald, pastor of the South Congregational church of Hartford.

LOCAL GLEE CLUB ON AIR TONIGHT

Beethoven Society of Swedish Lutheran Church to Sing From WTIC Studio.

Manchester radio fans who love good music, will do well to tune in on Station WTIC at Hartford tonight if they desire to listen to home town talent. For the well-known Beethoven Glee Club of the Swedish Lutheran church, is to be on the air for forty-five minutes starting promptly at 8 o'clock.

The Manchester singers who will have their efforts broadcast for the first time, will render a program of five parts, each of which has several sub-divisions. Rudolf Swanson, tenor soloist at a Hartford church, and Victor Johnson, baritone, will have important parts in tonight's concert.

The Beethoven Glee club is composed of 45 voices. Helge E. Pearson is the director and Miss Eva M. Johnson the accompanist. The group has been organized for two years and at its concert at the High school hall last May sang before a capacity audience. The club is composed of men ranging from 19 to 24 years in age.

DEATH OF BILLY DOG CAUSED MUCH COMMENT
Last evening the talk along Main street was all about Billy, Manchester's best known dog. "It can't seem possible," said one miss to another, "Why I only saw him three weeks ago." That evidently proved something or other.
Asked another: "How old was he?"
"Twelve" answered her pal.
"Why from his looks he appeared to be only about three."
That also evidently proved something or other also.

persons who can be seated in the High school assembly hall, it is estimated that a far larger audience will listen to the program this evening as the Beethoven Glee club makes its debut before the microphone.

KIWANIANS TO HEAR ABOUT IMMIGRATION

Robert C. Deming, director of the department of Americanization of the State Board of Education, will be the speaker at the noonday meeting of the Manchester Kiwanis club at the Hotel Sheridan tomorrow. Mr. Deming, who is a graduate of Yale College was a well-known football player, and also to speak to the High school boys on the "Faults and Virtues of Modern Football." The subject of Mr. Deming's talk before the Kiwanians will be "Causes and Results of Our Immigration Policy." The attendance prize tomorrow will be furnished by F. T. Blish.

WARNING SON OF PERIL HE DODGES, MOTHER IS HURT

Peculiar Accident at Middle Turnpike—Doctor's Car Involved—Mother Cut by Glass.

A peculiar accident happened here yesterday afternoon in which an onlooker was injured worse than the one directly involved.

Willis Snow, 6, was struck a glancing blow by an automobile operated by Dr. D. M. Caldwell when the boy darted out from behind a truck.

The child was only slightly injured but the mother, Mrs. George Snow, who saw the accident from her apartment in the Midland Apartments, fared worse.

In her effort to raise the window and shout a warning to her boy she became confused and plunged her hand through the pane. She was injured far worse than her son, but nothing serious is expected to follow the accident.
