BOARD'S WORK GROWS; GIVES TOWN PROBLEM

Retirement of All Selectmen Next Year Would Seriously Handicap Town; Likely Candidates Sought.

Whether or not Manchester is outgrowing its present form of government will be thoroughly tested during the next year when the reins will be given over to a new Board of Selectmen. Robert V. Treat, present chairman of the board, has told The Herald that he positively would not be a candidate for reelection next fall. The other members have intimated they would not seek the office again.

The proverbial "political pot" isn't beginning to boil so early in Manchester, but it's a serious question the town must face in the very near future. The present board has served intact for three years. The business of running a town grows almost unbelievably in that time. Manchester's $100 a year men are forced to give five times as much of their own hours as did boards that preceded this one.

Waddell Bay, Town Treasurer George H. Waddell, who is also clerk of the Board of Selectmen is the only full time man who actually works with the board. A considerable part of Mr. Waddell's time must be given to matters other than those which concern the Selectmen. His job, too, has grown by leaps and bounds, and the complete retreat of the board will help more and more work upon his shoulders.

Because of the size the town's business has reached an entirely new board would face a maze of seemingly unimportant items that must be tended to carefully. It would take some time before the members could acquaint themselves with the routine work let alone the new and bigger problems that arise every day. It would be natural to expect a new board to name Mr. Waddell clerk but he could not possibly shoulder the work of the entire board while the new members were getting acquainted with the job.

Three Might Remain
If, however, three of the present Selectmen would consent to remain on the board their experience would be a great help to the new members. But, it is doubtful if any of the present members would consent to remain another year in order to give the town the benefit of their knowledge. The Selectmen feel that they have had enough. They cannot give any more of their time to the work, and they insist that it's up to somebody else to shoulder the task.

It is possible that Manchester will be faced with a scarcity of candidates for the office of Selectmen. It is growing more and more difficult to interest men in civic matters especially when they take so much of the office holder's time. However, The Herald suggests that it is not too early now to be searching for possible Selectmen candidates. The present members are emphatic in their assertions that they will not "run" again. They simply put the problem up to the town.

HEAD OF A FAMOUS N. Y. BANK SUICIDES

New York, Feb. 4.—William B. Knox, president of the Bowers Savings bank, committed suicide this afternoon by shooting himself in the head in the bank's uptown offices. He was 64 years old.

Bank officials told police that Knox had been in ill health for two months.

TRAPPING IN NORTH IS NO EASY TASK.

"Oh, dear, the trolley is late so I will have to walk four blocks. Isn't it terrible?" And I have to carry this vanity case, too. I'll be so fatigued when I get home I know I just won't be able to sleep."

This from a Manchester miss.

"Well, sir, we walked about 450 miles until we got to our quarter section. No road, just a trail in the wilderness. Of course we carried a pack of a hundred pounds or so and slept at night where night overtook us. The weather? Oh, about 60 below."

This from an old trapper, from Manchester, also.

THIS PADLOCK NO BOOZE BARRIER

Protected from Cops 2 Boys
Who Passed Hooch Through Hole in Floor.

New Britain, Feb. 4.—John Smigel, 42, of 24 Orange street, was found guilty in police court today on two counts of liquor law violations. According to the police who raided his home last night, when the officers tried to enter the cellar of Smigel's home they found the door of the cellar padlocked and an iron bar placed to block their entrance. The police sent to a fire department station, procured crowbars and broke the door down. In the cellar they found two young sons of Smigel nine and twelve, whose duties were to hand up the liquor as fast as wanted through a hole in the floor.

When Judge Alling learned the prisoner had a wife and eight children, he fined Smigel $60 and gave him a suspended sentence of thirty days.

LT. GOV. BRAINARD AT A. O. H. BANQUET

Principal Speaker at 50th Anniversary — Lonergan
Also Speaks.

Distinguished speakers extolled the merits and the accomplishments of the Ancient Order of Hibernians on the occasion of Manchester Division No. 1's 50th anniversary of the organization, observed in the Knights of Columbus hall last night. More than 200 members of the order, the auxiliary and a number of invited guests were present.

A turkey dinner, served by Caterer Max Walker of Hartford, put the diners in the mood for the excellent talk which followed.

First Speaker
Daniel F. Renn, former County president of the A. O. H., was the first speaker. Mr. Renn went back to 50 years ago when 13 men got together to start the Manchester division. He followed them through the years and told of the work that Manchester division had done until the present time. A moment of silent tribute was given to the two members of the division who lost their lives in the great war.

Mayor Treat
Mayor Robert V. Treat congratulated the division on its golden anniversary and said that he voiced the sentiments of the town when he said that Manchester division was a credit to it. He was followed by Father Reidy, rector of St. James' church.

Lt. Gov. Brainard

"It is top bad that there are no charter members of Manchester division among us tonight," he said. "But the younger members may well go back to their forefathers and consider the valiant, sturdy men who wrapped this lusty organization in its swaddling clothes. We see in those men not the soldiers of the sunny day but thorough fighters under all conditions; men who were held by their convictions and ideals. We see in them an inspiration to take up the torch and continue the mighty work they had in mind. Their spirit goes on although they are missing."

Dr. Dolan Toastmaster
Toastmaster Edward G. Dolan varied the procedure and said that instead of a speech from Mrs. Mary Cream of New Britain, he would ask for a song. Mrs. Cream sang "The Dear Little Shamrock." "How I Envy McGinty" and "Ould Tralee," accompanied by a member of Ed Smith's singing orchestra. Letters of regret because of the inability to be present were read from Michael Donohue, national president; Frank Cheney, J. J. Charles Cheney, Mary E. Gury, Mayor James J. Walker, Governor Al Smith of New York, Rev. C. T. McCann spoke for a short time on the order and what it meant in

FIGHTING PLANS OUST ECONOMY AT WASHINGTON

Administration Quits Its Fight With Preparedness
Men in Congress on Army and Marine Corps.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Virtually abandoning its fight with the preparedness bloc in Congress, the administration today speeded up plans to whip the Army, Navy and Marine Corps into shape for any emergency.

Approval by Congress of supplemental budget estimates totalling $8,500,000 requested by President Coolidge within two days, will start recruiting for both the Army and the Marine Corps. More than 5,000 men will be added to the nation's fighting force before July 1. Taking advantage of the situation, the "Big Navy" bloc in Congress renewed its fight to overcome the opposition of President Coolidge to the Senate's three cruiser amendment to the naval supply bill. This remained as a sole subject of difference between the president and Congress on the national defense.

Army First Victory
The first sign of a change on the part of the administration came when the Army supply bill was passed to provide for 118,750 men next year despite the president's budget message for an Army of 115,000. Virtually no opposition was offered by administration wheel-horses to the change.

Within two days the President has recommended that the Army, now between 109,000 and 110,000, be brought to 115,000 men before July 1. Carrying out of this recommendation will speed the work of the Army General Staff in recruiting the enlisted strength to 118,750 in the next fiscal year.

The President's original budget recommendation for a cut of 1,200 in the Marine Corps was quietly rejected in the House, and in the new estimates sent to Congress the President has requested that the Marine Corps be brought to 18,000 men at once.

See a "Personal Fight"
The fight of the "Big Navy" bloc for the Senate cruiser amendment, providing $1,200,000 with which to begin construction of three cruisers, was to be renewed today in a meeting of Senate and House conference committees.

A deadlock was predicted, with the fight that the question will be fought out again on the floor of Congress. Declaring that the cruiser fight has become a personal issue between the President and Congress, administration leaders said there would be no compromise.

LOOM WORKS IN PERIL IN PROVIDENCE BLAZE

Crompton & Knowles and Other
Factories Saved by Water Curtains.

Providence, Feb. 4.—A watchman was burned, two horses, five wooden buildings of the old Municipal garage were destroyed and the big plants of the Nicholson File Company and the Crompton and Knowles Company were menaced by fire early today. It was the most threatening blaze in the industrial district in years.

One Cayette, 65, night watchman, was awakened by smoke. Flames cut off escape by a window and Cayette ran through a wall of fire at the doorway. He was picked up by firemen, unconscious from smoke and burns. He is in a serious condition.

Sparks, carried on the wings of a high wind, were showered down on the Kinsley avenue baseball grounds and the freight yards of the New Haven railroad. The junk shop of Perry, Buxton and Deane was burned and several tons of charcoal, the property of the Union Charcoal Company, was consumed.

The big industrial plants, including the internationally Crompton & Knowles loom works, were saved by water curtains thrown up by the firemen.

The fire started in the small shop in which the watchman was asleep.

TOURNAUD, BUILDER, DECLARED BANKRUPT

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 4.—Anthony J. Tournaud, a Manchester builder, and Arthur A. Mittenhall, a Waterbury clothier, filed voluntary petitions in bankruptcy in United States district court here today. Tournaud has liabilities of $9,351 and assets of $400, while Mittenhall's liabilities total $7,550, and his assets $1,000.

Bury Politics in Exploration

That their husbands once headed opposed political parties is not to mar the adventure upon which Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt (left) and Mrs. Thomas Preston, Jr. (right), Grover Cleveland's widow, have set out. Sailings on different ships, they are to join each other in Rio de Janeiro and thence continue an exploration of South America together.

SACASA DECLARES HE WILL FIGHT ON

Kellogg Declaration of Non-Recognition No Surprise, Says Nicaraguan.

Puerto Cabezas, Nic., Feb. 3.—(Delayed)—"I shall continue to defend the rights of my country until I am no longer capacitated to resist the armed hostilities of the American forces."

This was the reply made today by Dr. Juan Sacasa, Liberal leader, to the statement made in Washington by Secretary of State Kellogg that even though Sacasa secures control of all Nicaragua he will never be recognized by the United States.

Always Indicated
"All of the acts of the State Department have indicated that this was the attitude of the United States. The United States has imposed upon the Nicaraguan people the presidency of Diaz, against the constitution, against the Washington treaty and against the people, who elected me vice-president for the period ending December, 1923. I understand perfectly the significance of non-recognition by the United States government, but my duty obliges me to continue defending the rights of my country until I am no longer capacitated to resist the armed hostilities of the American forces."

Liberal headquarters here today received reports that the Liberal forces continue to sweep on towards the Pacific coast. Dispatches claim the Liberals have captured the important towns of Somoto and Ocoatl, bordering on Western Honduras.

MURDERER, HANGED, HOPES TO BE LAST ONE EXECUTED

Folsom Prison, Cal., Feb. 4.—Howard Sayer, Denver auto mechanic, today went to his death on the gallows here, acclaiming with his last words the hope his death would serve to end capital punishment. He was convicted of complicity in the murder of a Japanese woman at Penryn.

STATE AUTO WRECKS COST FIVE MILLIONS

Property Loss $2,391,346, Lives of 330 Valued at $3,300,000; Manchester Low on Accident List

Hartford, Feb. 4.—Actual property damage because of automobile accidents in Connecticut in the year 1926 was $2,391,346, while the estimated economic loss to the state through the death of residents in such mishaps was $3,300,000.

The first figure is from compilations by the State Motor Vehicle Department from reports made by owners of the property involved. The second figure is based on the $10,000 maximum set by the Legislature as the largest amount which may be recovered because of death by accident.

Death List Falls
Property damage in 1926 was $260,468 more than in 1925. The loss of lives was less during the past year, 330 fatalities as compared with 354 in 1925. Seventeen cities reported 146 of the total fatalities as occurring within their limits.

Fatalities and accidents were reported as follows: Hartford 25 fa-

FREAKISH BIG GALE ROUGH IN PRANKS

Bombards New Haven Train, Plays Hob at Boston and Elsewhere.

New Haven, Feb. 4.—The south-bound federal express of the New Haven railroad traveling through a gale of wind today had a series of minor mishaps that ended without harm to the train and passengers. A heavy baggage truck was blown from a Greenwich station platform directly against the engine and then was hurled in a wreck two tracks away. A portion of the fence between tracks at New Rochelle was blown against the engine, which flung the pieces in every direction. Finally while running through Mott Haven the train dislodged its overhead wires, with aid of the wind, and was held up until repairs could be made.

Smashes Things in Hub.
Boston, Feb. 4.—Greater Boston was visited by a high wind today that left a trail of fallen trees, tangled wires and broken windows. Burglar alarm companies rushed about the business districts as shattered plate glass windows sent in alarms.

In Cambridge a telegraph pole on Huron avenue snapped off and carried away telephone, electric light and trolley wires. A police detail was thrown around the district because of the live wires.

A big glass window in the Lloyd jewelry store on Boylston street crashed to the sidewalk. Windows in the Joy street police station were blown out. Several big glass signs crashed into the street.

Awakens All Milford.
Milford, Feb. 4.—A wind of gale proportions struck this town last night leaving behind damaged trees and residences. The gale started around midnight and continued for two hours, arousing nearly every person in the town.

At Myrtle Beach a Ferris wheel was blown over and completely destroyed. In Milford-Center the fire alarm siren was blown down and badly damaged. A house in Woodmont had its chimney swept from its foundations. The occupants of the house, smelling smoke and fearing fire would start, summoned the fire apparatus but its services were not needed.

As the gale was an off-shore wind no damage was reported from the Sound section.

Emulating her stunt of disappointing Queen Mary of England and Queen Marie of Rumania, the temperamental French tennis star, Suzanne Lenglen today again displayed this characteristic when she sent a telegram from New York stating that she was indisposed and would be unable to appear for her scheduled tennis match in Hartford this evening.

A radio announcement made from Station WTIC at Hartford this noon stated that word had been received that Suzanne was "still indisposed," and the match had been postponed until next Wednesday night.

Stamford, Feb. 4.—A group of residents to the number of 160 of the Shippan Point section of Stamford, have issued a statement setting forth their opposition to the proposed separation of the Shippan section from the town of Stamford which is now before the General Assembly.

The statement claims that a majority of the residents are satisfied with present conditions and believe that they can obtain all improvements from the present city government that would be possible under a new town government.

Young Vanderbilt Says He Will Settle Up If it Takes 50 Years.

New York, Feb. 4.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., former publisher of Tabloid newspapers, is cooking his own meals and doing "back writing" in a kitchenette apartment on Fifth avenue to pay off his debts, amounting to approximately $3,000,000.

Vanderbilt is determined that no one "shall lose a cent for having trusted in me and my ventures."

"I'm going to pay off every cent if it takes me 50 years," young Vanderbilt said. "I'm turning my back as fast as I can write them. I need money and I'm going to work."

His output includes magazine articles, motion picture scenarios and a novel at high speed.

Radio Act Fails to Assert U.
S. Ownership of Air; Filibuster Threatened.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Failure of the Dill-White radio bill to assert government ownership of the air brought radio legislation to a serious impasse in the Senate today, face to face with a threatened filibuster.

Senator Howell, Republican of Nebraska, led a stiff fight against the measure, claiming that unless it divested broadcasters of every vestige of ownership of the air, the powers of the commission provided in the measure would be totally destroyed. Left with undisputed ownership rights, he declared, broadcasters could bring suit to force the commission to renew their licenses on the grounds of priority rights.

BROWNING "PINCHED" IN A SLANDER SUIT

Tabloid Reporter Brings Action on Charge He Kidnaped
Mary Spas.

New York, Feb. 4.—Edward W. (Daddy) Browning, reputed millionaire who is being sued for separation and alimony by his wife, Frances (Peaches) Browning, today marshaled his lawyers in an effort to prevent an inroad on his fortune from another quarter.

Arthur Mefford, a tabloid newspaper reporter, filed a $25,000 slander action against the millionaire, declaring that Browning slandered him by saying he had kidnaped Mary Spas, a former ward of Browning. Mefford said he merely took the girl to the office of his newspaper where she was paid $500 for a story.

Browning was technically under arrest for two hours in his office while his attorneys were arranging to post a $10,000 bond for his appearance in Supreme Court.

Police reserves were called to disperse crowds which gathered in front of Browning's office when a rumor spread that he would be forced to spend a night in jail.

Opportunity And Motive

CORDING to the best detective authorities, opportunity and motive are the things to establish first when you run down your murderer.

Who had a motive for killing Garrett Folsom? Several, it would seem, had opportunity, for he was stabbed to death while bathing in the surf and was surrounded by friends and other bathers.

Fang, Defender of Shanghai Against Cantonese, Said To Have Been Badly Beat- en in Battle; British Cab- inet Will Stop Troops If Nationalists Give Absolu- te Safety Guarantee.

Shanghai, Feb. 4.—Sun Chuan Fang, defender of Shanghai against the Cantonese, has suffered a staggering defeat in the neighborhood of Hangchow, according to reliable reports received here.

The battle is reported to have been light insofar as casualties go, but the defeat of Sun Chuan Fang is regarded as ominous here as it is not likely now that he can reorganize his forces and stem the Cantonese drive on Shanghai.

Following reports that Shanghai will not be occupied by the Cantonese, refugees are again flocking here.

There are reports that the Cantonese intend to drive to the gates of Shanghai and rest there, making no effort to occupy the international settlement.

Fang Cashing In.
Officers of Sun Chuan Fang's forces appeared at the international race meeting today and ordered it stopped because additional taxes demanded had not been paid. It is believed here that Sun Chuan Fang is making a last effort to collect funds prior to his final defeat.

Yesterday's earthquakes, followed by snow, have been received as a portent by the Chinese, who are more restless than ever.

American Armada.
Peking, Feb. 4.—More than fifty American war vessels are now in Chinese waters, according to a report by the U. S. Navy.

Rear Admiral Hough, in command of the Yangtze patrol, now has under his orders the U. S. S. Isabel, the U. S. S. Elcano, the U. S. S. Monocacy, the U. S. S. Paton, the U. S. S. Peary and the U. S. S. These vessels have been busily engaged during the past weeks protecting women and children evacuating Hankow and Kluksiang and Pigeon, and the U. S. S. Vallabos, are now keeping the Yangtze open for refugees coming down from Chungking and Chengtu in Szechuan.

Captain J. M. Enoch, commanding the South China patrol, with the U. S. S. Helena and the U. S. S. Pampanga, is protecting Americans in South China.

Admiral Williams in charge of the Asiatic fleet, which generally winters in the Philippines, is now at Shanghai on the flagship Pittsburg and has perfected plans for landing 1,000 marines in Shanghai in the event of their being needed. Twenty-four destroyers, ten auxiliary ships and eleven submarines of the Asiatic fleet are ready for duty in China.

In Peking there are 450 marines stationed as a legation guard while the Fifteenth U. S. Infantry of approximately 800 men is stationed at Tien Tsin.

Agreement With British
Washington, Feb. 4.—A still further increase in American naval strength in Chinese waters is expected within a few days. This will be in addition to the 1,200 marines now on their way to join the Asiatic fleet, and three cruisers which sailed from Balboa yesterday.

That this government has a tacit understanding with the British for co-operation in the matter of a military movement for the protection of foreigners is now beyond doubt.

The response of Eugene Chen, Cantonese leader, to Secretary Kellogg's policy statement now being awaited here, is expected to take the form of a protest against American naval movements rather than a reply to the proposal to negotiate.

Notwithstanding conflicting reports from Hankow, Chen has shown no desire to recede from his stand on refusing to deal with the powers on the question of treaty revision unless he is at the same time assured that such negotiations imply the recognition of Canton as the central government of China.

It is not likely, therefore, that Chen will join with the Peking regime in accepting Kellogg's proposals as a basis for a treaty conference.

THRILLS GALORE ON STATE'S BILL Joe Fanton's Stunt Amazes Audience at Local Theater—Fine Picture.

By Member Herald Staff Five excellent vaudeville acts are on the State theater program for the last half of the week. The feature picture, "Hotel Imperial," featuring Pola Negri, is one of the most thrilling that has been shown on the State screen. The Fashion Plate Trio opens the bill. Three fellows make up the act playing popular music on almost every kind of instrument. Their forte is saxophones and they are the essence of speed and pep. Harry and Dan Downing are the second act. They are two of the cleverest comedians seen in Manchester in many a moon. Harry plays the part of a woman to perfection and Dan is a clever gag man as well as a good tenor. They sing while their "Goin' Home" song across so well it brought down the house last night. "Four P. M." is the name of the third act. Two men and a pretty blonde stage a little sketch that centers largely around a park bench. The fatherly fellow of the act, he of the car trumpet, presents a fine character sketch. Walsh and Ellis in the fourth act present an amusing bit of comedy, singing and steps. The girl of the act proves to be an unusually fine acrobatic dancer and her partner who comprise the fifth and last act give one of the most startling aerial stunt exhibitions on the stage. Fanton's blindfold somersault trick is a thrilling climax to a real entertaining bill.

heavy defeat on the mutinous northern generals, and is now preparing to march against the Cantonese capital at Hankow, according to a news dispatch from Peking. The dispatch did not state what mutinous general had been overthrown by Wu, but supposedly it was the "Christian" General Feng, personal and political foe of Wu Pei-Fu, whose army for months has occupied a position directly between Peking and Hankow, effectively preventing Wu Pei-Fu and Chang Tso-Lin from sending an army southward against the Cantonese. Deal With Chen Likely Official denial was made today that the cabinet is considering the abrogation of the Anglo-Russian trade treaty due to the alleged Soviet activities in China. The cabinet met again today to consider Eugene Chen's demands that British troops shall not be sent to Shanghai. The meeting lasted for two hours and it is understood that it approved the foreign office instructions to British Consul O'Malley. While these instructions have not been published it is reported they set forth Britain's willingness to recall troops now enroute to Shanghai if Chen, Nationalist leader, can give absolute assurance of the safety of British life and property in Shanghai. Conflicting War News The reports of warfare in China received here are conflicting. From Shanghai sources come reports that General Chang Kai-Shek, Cantonese leader, is marching from Hankow in the direction of Shanghai, while General Sun Chuan-Fang, defender of Shanghai, is receiving reinforcements and is preparing to defend the city. Other reports state that the situation is unchanged and that the Cantonese are busy consolidating their successes around Hankow. All reports appear to point to a union of the northern forces, however, and there is considerable doubt here in well-informed circles that the Cantonese will make any serious attempt to actually occupy Shanghai. Diversion Deemed Probable The cabinet has not yet made known its decision as to the diversion of the troops now enroute to China, but there is a general belief here that the troops will be maintained at points outside of Shanghai. This opinion appears to be backed up by a dispatch from Hong Kong to the effect that the Second Suffolk Regiment has arrived there and is being held for further orders. Sir William Joynton-Hicks, home secretary, in a statement declared: "It is unfortunate and not a little peculiar that the Chinese Nationalists' anti-foreign bias should have been directed mainly against the British. For this it seems the Soviet government is largely responsible."

ABOUT TOWN It is probable that Highway Commissioner John MacDonald will see the Talcottville bridge, where several automobile accidents have occurred, authorized. It is estimated that the bridge will be completed by the end of the month. The Rockville Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening adopted a resolution calling upon the commissioner to protect the bridge in question. A Talcottville is in the town of Vernon, the latter will be called upon to assume the cost and maintenance of the much-needed improvement. Through misunderstanding, some local citizens have assumed that the legislative committee on the community Young Men's Christian Association for Manchester also gives the association jurisdiction regarding the legacy of the late Dr. F. H. Whiton, who made a bequest for a public library. This impression is not correct. The "Y" would not have any connection with the library matter under the action of the legislature. Trustees designated under the will of Dr. Whiton will carry out the intentions of the doctor, as indicated in the will. King David Lodge of Odd Fellows will hold its regular meeting this evening in Odd Fellows hall, when the first degree will be conferred in full form on a class of candidates. Members taking part are requested to report at the hall at 7:30. A seven and a half pound daughter, Abbey, was born yesterday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Degutis of 388 Hartford road. The fourth supper and instruction classes in the Epworth League Winter Institute will be held in the Methodist church at Rockville this evening. Workmen employed by the town are busy cutting off dead branches and felling trees all the way from Middle turnpike to Depot Square. The work is being done under the supervision of the park commission, and is a safeguard against injury to persons and property from falling branches during high winds. The Manchester Fire department was called to the home of William Siggins on Hilliard street during the noon hour today to extinguish a chimney fire. No damage was done. A huge disk type loud speaker has been installed in the Manchester City club. It was constructed by Paul P. Donze and Gustav Greene. It can be readily adjusted for tone and brings in all stations loudly and clearly. Tickets for the Police Benefit concert at the State theater Sunday afternoon may be secured from any patrolman or at the theater box office. An exhibition of the paintings of Russell Cheney, of this town will be held at the galleries of the Mat-tatuck Historical Society, 119 West Main street, Waterbury week days from February 7 to 28. SPRINGFIELD MAN KILLS WOMAN THEN HIMSELF Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—Mrs. Mary Fernman, 37, was shot to death in her home here today by a former lodger as she slept beside her twelve-year-old son. The slayer, Edward Sturzenegger, 40, of Springfield, Mass., then killed himself as the child fled to summon his father. KING ADOPTS VIOLETS

London.—King George is much less successful than his celebrated ion when it comes to setting styles. Years ago he tried to popularize trousers creased down the sides of front and back. Now he is wearing violets on his lapel, even having a small strip of elastic sewed to his coat to hold the tiny bouquet. Sometimes the king switches to white carnations.

George M. Buck and his son Clinton of Buckingham visited the town clerk's office on Monday. Mr. Buck conveyed by deed his property known as the Skinner farm with 100 acres of land to his granddaughter, Ina L. Buck of Buckingham. Mr. Buck passed his hundredth birthday November 15. His son says his father's health is in many respects better than it was twenty-five or more years ago. The board of relief met on Tuesday at the town clerk's office. They were Edward E. Fote, Alfred H. Post, and Edmund Horton. The next meeting will be on Saturday, February 12 at the same place on all day session.

Mrs. Arnold Fote, Grange master, spoke on the need of a man's making a will with practical hints on the subject. The program was planned by Mrs. E. T. Smith who was lecturer for three years previous to the election of the Rev. John Deeter, the present lecturer. Mr. Deeter was not well enough to attend to the program making at this time. Lucius W. Robinson of Valevus farm exhibits a pair of old iron andirons found by him when he cleaned out an old well near his place on Post Hill. The well was discovered during the laying of the state road from Hebron to Columbia, it having been buried up under stones and earth and its location forgotten for nearly a hundred years. It has been established that the well was the old toll gate well, the toll gate house formerly standing near it. Mrs. Francis Colman of Marlborough who will be 96 years old the 13th of this month remembers the operation of the toll gate when she was a small child and lived with her parents in the toll gate house. Troop No. 1 met at the Harding school, Monday at 7:00 p. m., for a regular meeting. First on the program the patrols assembled in their corners for a brief meeting. Each patrol leader took account of the points earned by the boys in his patrol, during the past week. These points are going towards a four day hike. After the patrol meetings were over the troop was called together. The repeating of the scout oath opened the meeting.

Four boys were made second class scouts and one was made a tenderfoot. At this point in the meeting a troop motto was adopted. After all the business had been transacted some of the teams which were to meet Troop No. 6 started practicing. While the teams were practicing other boys worked on their tests.

About 9:00 the troop again assembled. After the troop motto had been repeated and some cheers had been given the troop was dismissed. By hard and earnest labor the boys, during the past week have managed to pass the total of forty tests.

Troop No. 2 The meeting opened with the salute to the flag and the Scout Oath. Next two good patrols were organized with their leaders and asstantis. The names of the patrols were "The Silver Fox" and "The Flying Eagle." After that a first aid baseball game was played with the Flying Eagles the winners. This game taught much to the Scouts in the way of first aid. The Flying Eagles also won the "bombardment." An overnight hike will be held, leaving from in front of St. James's school at one o'clock Saturday afternoon and returning home at 9:15 Sunday morning. The meeting was closed with the repeating of the Scout Oath.

FAME IN BROKEN GLASS

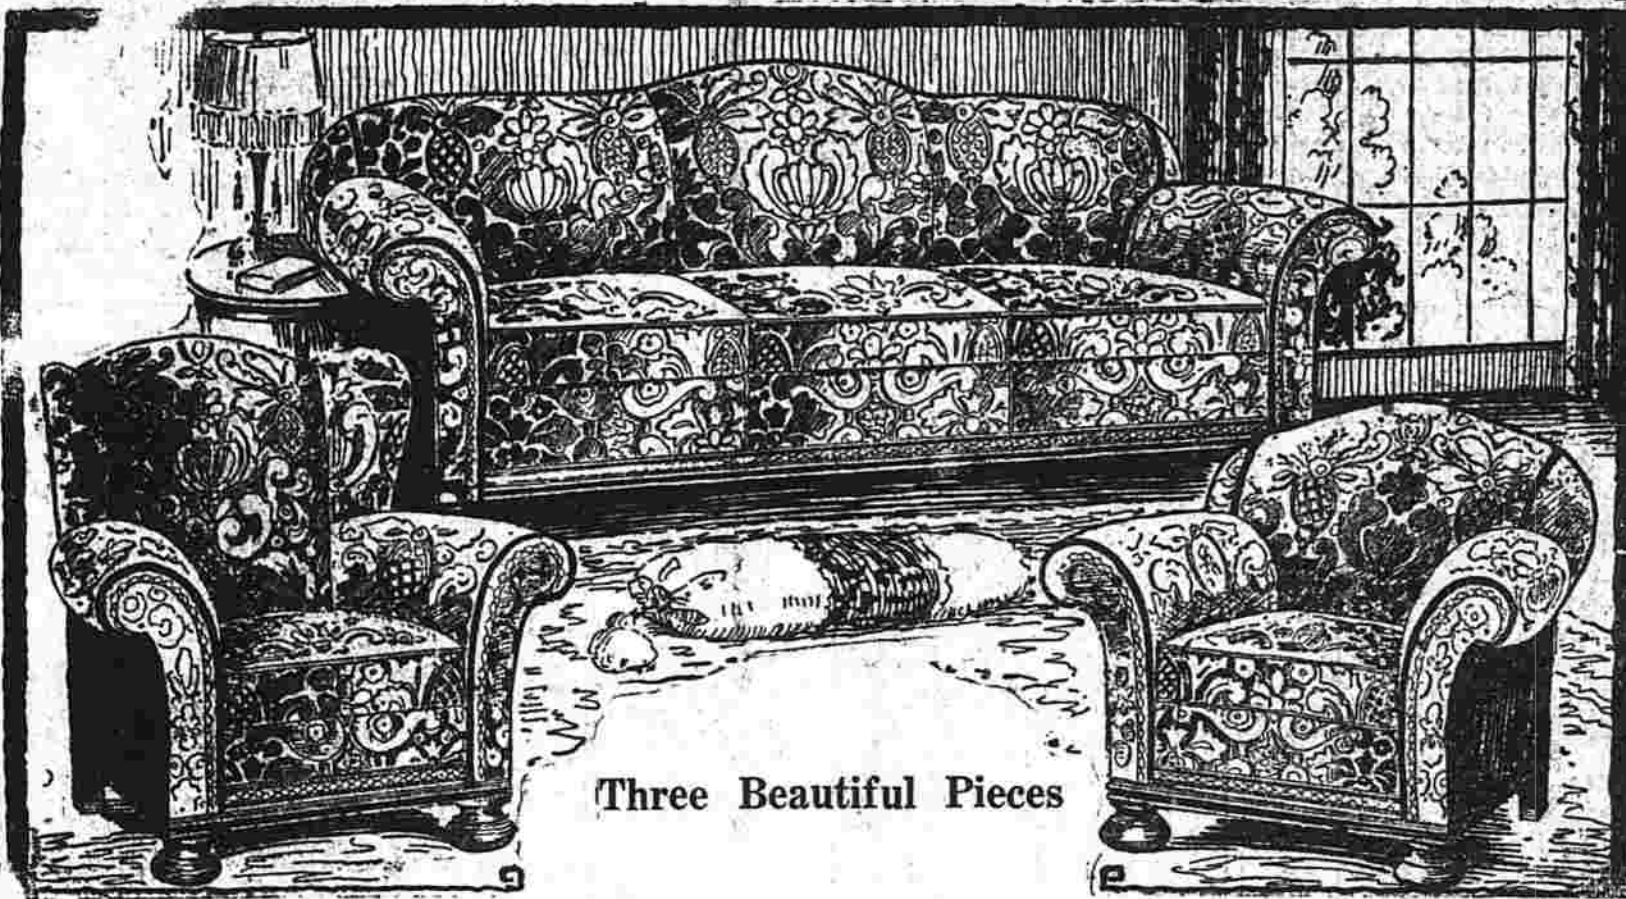

Philadelphia.—As a child, Hazel Blake French used to dig about the waste heaps of the famous Sandwich glass factory on Cape Cod. She was fascinated by the shimmering, multi-colored bits found in the debris. The lure lasted until now she spends much of her time doing delicate inlaid designs with the material and has been honored by the Society of Arts and Crafts.

SPREAD OF PNEUMONIA PROVES IT CONTAGIOUS

State Health Department Urges Precautions Be Taken To Prevent It.

A report of a case of pneumonia recently received in the office of the State Department of Health from a local health officer contains the following notation: "This is the third case of pneumonia in this family in three weeks."

The spread of pneumonia from one person to another in the same family is thus occasionally brought to the attention of health authorities. Such instances serve as a reminder that pneumonia is a communicable disease though it is not so contagious as some other diseases with which we have to deal. Being a Communicable Disease, Precaution should be Taken Whenever It Occurs. To Prevent Its Spread From One Person to Another.

Must Be Reported

Recognizing pneumonia as a communicable disease the State Sanitary Code requires that both forms of pneumonia, broncho pneumonia and lobar pneumonia, be reported to the local health officer. The code also provides that the affected person shall be effectively isolated without quarantine and that the room or apartment where the disease exists shall be placarded. These measures are designed to prevent the spread of infection from one person to another during the course of the disease.

Prevalent Now

It is particularly important that precautions against pneumonia be exercised at this season of the year since this is the time when the disease is most prevalent. Records of the State Department of Health show that for the year 1925 there were 1652 deaths reported from the two forms of pneumonia, broncho and lobar, of which 839 or more than half occurred during the first four months of the year, January, February, March and April. This illustrates the point that pneumonia is more prevalent during the winter and spring than at other times during the year. For this reason it is more important to take precautions against it during the winter and spring than at other times.

Precautions

Aside from avoiding colds which might predispose to pneumonia perhaps the most important step for avoiding pneumonia itself is to avoid exposure to infection. This is the reason for providing in the State Sanitary Code that cases of pneumonia should be reported to the health authorities and that patients should be isolated and the rooms or apartments where they live placarded as a warning to others.

As quick as quicksilver, Jack grasped the ruffian's extended hand with his left hand and gave it a twisting thrust, backward and outward. Jack pressed his fingers into the fleshy part of McNally's hand just below his thumb, and his own thumb bit into the back of the fellow's hand. Stepping forward, Jack planted his right heel behind the right foot of his would-be assailant, and the Bad Egg crashed upon the ground.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Nathan Forrest (11)

While Lee's army was rapidly weakening in Virginia, Sherman was chasing Hood across Tennessee. There were countless delays and blunders. The cause of the south seemed lost when Hood called on Forrest to help him in his retreat. Forrest responded brilliantly. With 3000 cavalry and 2000 men he held off for days an army of 40,000.

For five days while Hood's army fled to Alabama, Forrest protected his retreat. The deed was a classic in military resourcefulness.

As a reward Forrest was commissioned a lieutenant-general and given command of the cavalry in Alabama, Mississippi and part of Louisiana.

Demoralization spread across the face of the south, but Forrest kept on fighting, rallying men wherever he could, attacking, retreating, surprising. Sherman swore in Carolina and repeated his old demand "the devil" be caught. General Wilson set out with 12,000 cavalry to catch him. (Continued.)

JACK LOCKWILL AT ROCKLAKE

by Gilbert Patten

"Jack's nerves jolted. Perhaps the time had come to settle the old score. If that were true he was sorry it had to be done in such a public place, for he had hoped to meet McNally where nobody could interfere. The bully came up, scowling fiercely, and planted himself before Jack. "Look here, you big-headed piece of cheese!" he said. "I want you to keep away from Betty Darling. Do you get me?"

"I haven't yet," answered Jack, as cool as ice, "but I intend to." "What do you mean, you intend to?" exclaimed McNally. "I have an old grudge to settle with you," Jack declared. "Aw, raspberries!" sneered the freshman's enemy, thinking Jack referred to the hazing.

Jack saw the fellow hadn't recognized him as the boy with whom he had fought ten years ago. "Let me tell you that," said Jack, "you're the one who had better keep away from Miss Darling." "Oh, is that so?" snarled McNally, reaching out to grab Jack.

LITTLE JOE

LIGHT HEADS ARE OFTEN BEHIND HEADLIGHTS.

Flying officers will wear dark blue knee breeches, "French jackets" and white shirts with stand-up black and white collars.

It is believed that the change in uniforms is one consequence of the fact, recently reported upon by the Commissar of War Voroshilov, that discipline in the Red Army was suffering by reason of the over-familiarity existing between the officers and men.

Another change which has occupied the attention of numerous conferences of Army leaders is the abolition of political commissars who have previously been assigned to non-communist officers. Many of these commissars have already been assigned to other duties but it is the ambition of the Revolutionary War Council to do away with all of them, since the system of double responsibility proved wasteful and inefficient.

Among other changes, it is announced that the anti-religious propaganda, circles in the Red Army have been greatly increased in number. On every religious holiday the soldiers are now offered lectures on atheistic themes.

Woods Hole, Mass., Feb. 4.—High upon the rocks in Tarpaullin Cove, the steamer Selwyn Eddy, Boston to Norfolk, is stranded. But little hope of saving her from going to pieces is expressed by coast-guardmen, unless she is pulled off before the wind shifts.

Though the crew of 28 men is still aboard, a change in the wind which would be unfavorable to the ship's position would compel them to abandon her.

The Coast Guard patrolboat 134 is standing by. The ship's bottom is badly damaged.

The Selwyn Eddy is owned by the Mystic Steamship Company of Boston and is laden with coal. She is in command of Captain G. C. Hanson.

New Regulations. At the same time were announced new regulations aiming at the creation of a large body of non-commissioned officers. All graduates of high schools will hereafter be allowed to leave the army after one year's training provided they take the necessary courses for non-coms. In the recently established "Academies for non-commissioned officers."

It is also decreed that all young men volunteering for the army being conscripted will be given the privilege of choosing what branch of service they wish to serve in, and when possible, the privilege of serving in the province where they live. This latter privilege is also to be extended to graduates of high schools.

The new uniforms for officers present a striking departure from the previous policy of keeping officers and men as nearly as possible upon the same level, in the matter of clothing as well as of social distinction. Officers hereafter will wear blue uniforms while the private soldiers will continue to wear khaki.

Commanders of all branches except the cavalry, artillery and aviation corps will wear dark blue uni-

VINCENT LOPEZ HIMSELF AT THE STATE, HARTFORD

A most extraordinary announcement made by few theaters in the country, is that of the coming of Vincent Lopez himself with his world-renowned Casa Lopez Orchestra to the State theater, Main and Morgan streets, Hartford, Conn., for three days, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, February 7, 8 and 9. There is perhaps no artist in the world as well known as Vincent Lopez. He has endeared himself to a world of admirers, who recognize his pleasing voice over the air through Station WEAF. The Casa Lopez orchestra is the best organization of musicians ever assembled. Mr. Lopez first gained recognition as the leader of the Hotel Pennsylvania Orchestra. He then went on the air and instantly became the most popular entertainer of the air. The stage called him and he toured the world and was a sensational success in every principal city on the continent. Mr. Lopez owes his remarkable rise to fame to many reasons—chief among them his natural ability as a musician, the orchestrations that he himself arranges, and the special scenic and lighting effects that he devises for each number. This is the first time that theater-goers have ever been able to witness a wonderful attraction as Vincent Lopez and his Casa Lopez Orchestra at the regular State theater admission prices which are twenty-five and forty cents. Mr. Lopez and his entertainers will appear three times daily during his limited engagement of three days.

On the same bill will be Lou Lockett and Betty Page and Co. in a smart offering "Say It With Dancing." Besides there will be other stage attractions and the overture, "Raymond" by the State Symphony of twenty-five with Bert Williams directing. The picture attractions for four days starting Sunday, February 6 and sharing honors with Vincent Lopez, will be the Gertrude Atherton story "Perch of the Devil" starring Mae Musch, Pat O'Malley and Jane Winton. This is one of the outstanding dramatic productions of the year. There will be one of the most entertaining pictures ever made, "The Collegians" with George Lewis and Dorothy Gulliver.

WAPPING

Mr. and Mrs. Percy West moved from Eldridge street, South Manchester, to the tenement house of Wilbur C. Hills on Wednesday of this week.

The Young People's society will give a dance on Friday evening, February 11, at the Wapping Center school hall. Tom Healey's Orchestra will furnish the music.

There was a meeting of the library directors last Saturday afternoon which was held at the South Windsor Public Library, all the officers being present.

Mrs. Albert E. Stiles' high school class of girls will hold their class social at the home of their teacher this evening, also Mrs. Arthur Sharps class at the same time and place.

GAS PLANTS

Lake Forest, Ill.—Every morning for several weeks, I. C. Schiele went out to his greenhouse and found that hundreds of chrysanthemums and carnations had died from some mysterious malady. On the verge of ruin he finally discovered that a gas main had been leaking into the greenhouse and asphyxiating the flowers.

2 FILMS AT CIRCLE FOR TOMORROW ONLY

Automobiles and Cowboys Furtish Entertainment at Oak Street Playhouse.

"Hair Trigger Baxter," the "Mile a Minute Man" and the serial, "Strings of Steel," form the program for the Circle theater tomorrow. Tonight the fans will see George O'Hara in "California or Bust," and Lightning the Wonder Dog in "Lure of the Wild" for the last time. Sunday and Monday's program will feature "Altars of Desire" with Mae Murray in the title role.

Some novel thrillers and new sets have been introduced in "Hair Trigger Baxter." Bob Custer's latest starring vehicle for F. B. O. Custer always has a fresh supply of surprises on hand for his audiences and this time he outdoes even the high mark which he has set for himself. Bob plays the role of a busy young man who has the double duty of trying to rout the cattle rustlers who are stealing his father's prize stock, and at the same time champion a young lady who is very much in need of protection. The girl's role is played by the beautiful Eugenia Gilbert who invests the part with charm and conviction. Others in the excellent cast are: Lew Meenan, Murdock McQuarrie, Fannie Midgley, Jim Corey, Ernie Adams and Hugh Saxon. The story is by James Ormont and the continuity by Paul Byran. Jack Nelson is responsible for the splendid direction.

What is acclaimed as one of the fastest moving pictures ever made is William Fairbanks in "The Mile a Minute Man" as the companion feature.

The story relates of a young man who is superintendent of his father's auto factory—"The Rockett." "Speedy," the youth is in love with Paula Greydon whose mother is chief stockholder in a rival auto firm known as the "Greyhound." Mrs. Greydon swears that "Speedy" shall never marry Paula until the "Greyhound" beats the "Rockett" in the annual race. The chief engineer of the "Greyhound" factory also loves Paula and thinking that he can win the "Speedy" in the race he will stand a chance with Paula, he kidnaps "Speedy" before the race and tries to ruin his car. His plan fails and "Speedy" gets to the track in an airplane. The race is on. The rival has a gang of thugs on the road who try every means to wreck the "Rockett" but "Speedy" outwits them all. Finally Paula takes her place in the race and drives the "Greyhound" against the "Rockett." The race is a tie and "Speedy" the Mile a Minute Man announces he is willing to lose the race to win the girl.

William Fairbanks portrays "Speedy" Rockett and he is supported by Virginia Brown Faire as Paula Greydon and others prominent in the cast are George Periolat, George Cheesboro and many other prominent players and star racing drivers.

The production was directed by Jack Nelson and the race track scenes were taken at the annual Ascot road and track race near Los Angeles. Get tickets for the Police Benefit at the State box office.

A KNEESY CONCLUSION.

Sherlock Holmes: Ah, my dear Watson! Did you have a nice time at the fapper dance?

Watson: Holmes, old kid, you are a wonder. The instant I enter your door you tell me where I have been. Elucidate this abstruse clue.

Holmes: Far from abstruse, my dear Watson, look at the powder on your knees.—Judge.

EXTRA-TERRITORIALITY.

Extra-territoriality is a term that figures very largely in the news from China, these days. Its meaning is not too easy to define.

President Coolidge, long before the present crisis, expressed himself on several occasions as strongly opposed to the whole business of extra-territoriality in China and of foreign interference with Chinese self-government.

Now there is a proposition on foot to appoint an American commission with a view to conferring with representatives of both Canton and Peking on the formulation of an American policy in the present imbroglio.

As an alternative it has been suggested that President Coolidge, speaking for the United States alone and without reference to or dependence on other foreign support, issue a declaration of denunciation of the extra-territoriality privileges of outsiders in China.

It would almost seem as if this were an artificial obstacle. If the President would simply declare formally to all the people of China, irrespective of their internal politics, that the United States recognized their absolute equality as a nation, that it was the belief and policy of America that whatever government they chose to establish would be absolutely sovereign and that America would henceforth so conduct herself toward it, the hands of the United States would be washed clean.

WRIGHT'S ADVERTISING.

A loyal British jury not only puts the kibosh on Captain Wright's allegation of slander against Viscount Gladstone for calling him a liar but it goes to the rather unusual length of attaching a rider to its verdict by saying, through its foreman, "We are unanimously of the opinion that the evidence has completely vindicated the high moral character of the late William E. Gladstone."

Imagine an English jury accepting any evidence, of any character whatsoever or in any amount, blasting the reputation of William E. Gladstone! You might find a jury like that in Ireland or Scotland or in France or Germany or Italy or the United States or Timbuctoo—but in England? Never in ten thousand years.

And since Captain Wright is evidently no fool he must have known what the verdict would be, before the trial, just about as well as he knows now. For which reason it is to be shrewdly suspected that he appropriated the money to pay his lawyers and the costs of the suit out of his advertising fund.

Federal investigators alone are responsible for the discovery that Negroes are still being dealt in as chattels in the state of Mississippi.

What they have discovered so far—at least to the satisfaction of a federal grand jury—is the fact that in Amite county two men, with the good native American names of Webb and Alvord, went to the home of Crawford Allen, a 50 year old Negro, seized him, his wife, his grown daughter and his two small children, took them to a plantation, owner named Hurst and sold them for twenty dollars; that the whole family was forced to work without wages for several weeks; and that many families of Negroes in that section are being worked in the same manner under the pretense that they are crop-sharers, while living under conditions that no slave owner of ante-bellum days would have thought of imposing on his property for fear of losing it by death.

There are many sections in our southern states where the Constitution of the United States runs no deeper than it does in Amite county, Mississippi.

Yet it was the votes of the "dry" members of Congress from those states that made federal prohibition a possibility by incorporating it in that same constitution, and the votes of legislatures of those states which made possible the eighteenth amendment's ratification.

There are times when a citizen of a northern state like Connecticut is justified in wondering whether, after all, the war to preserve the Union, the squandering of hundreds of thousands of lives, the sacrifice of the noble Lincoln and all the tremendous effort of the sixties was not by way of being something of a mistake. Whether this country would not be a better country, on the whole, if we had followed Greeley's advice and "let the wayward sisters go"—and stew in the fat of their own warped standards.

LAYING KEELS.

The appropriation of one million, two hundred thousand dollars with which to begin the construction of three of the eight scout cruisers authorized in 1924 would seem to be a highly technical move in opposition to President Coolidge's fixed determination to appropriate nothing at all while giving his sanction to a "paper ship" program. We are not greatly shocked at seeing the names of both Connecticut senators among those who voted for the appropriation and so set themselves on record as opposing the "paper ship" policy which, frankly, has always seemed to us to be merely silly.

Nevertheless it is in a technical sense only that the President has been defeated; because how far, if you please, will a million or so go in the business of constructing three modern scout cruisers? If this trio of ships get as far as the laying of a keel and one rib apiece before that paltry appropriation has been used up it will be somewhere near as far as they will go. However, it will put them in the naval tables as "under construction" which at least sounds a little less ridiculous than "authorized but not appropriated for."

And nobody likes to have his government look merely foolish in the eyes of the world.

IDEAL PLATFORM.

Broadcasting music and oral utterances from a plane 4,000 feet in the air to an audience within the scope of an amplifier on the ground at Columbus Circle, New York, is one of the latest scientific novelties, scheduled for this afternoon.

The idea suggests itself that this new activity may have especial forms of usefulness. Here is opportunity, for example, for the disseminator in federal prohibition to express his view unqualifiedly—from the plane—without risk of being torn limb from limb by indignant drys; for the Ku Kluxer to tell the Knights of Columbus what he thinks of them or for the K. of C. to address his opinions directly to a meeting of the Klan—all without that distraction and partial disqualification of nervousness which comes from anticipating immediate and violent assault.

Four thousand feet in the air above your audience is one of the most satisfactory positions in the world for a critic to occupy. Out of range of the farthest brickbat that ever was thrown.

NOT SPORTING.

The tabloids are scarcely ever ethical, but it is extraordinary, even in the case of one of them, for a reporter to bring suit for slander against anybody, either in or out of the newspaper business. So that there will not be much sympathy in the fraternity for the tabloidist who has sued "Daddy" Browning because the latter expressed the belief that the reporter had kidnapped one of the "gander man's" wards in order to get a sensational story from her.

When a newspaper rubs to the courts for protection against verbal attack it is a rather flagrant confession of the weakness of its own artillery. It simply isn't done. But the worst of the tabloids seem to be as free of traditional obligations in this matter as in pretty much every other—the obligation of simple decency, for one.

NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 4.—What price scandal?

Along Cortland street and adjacent channels, where the Wall Street belt clerks wander, one realizes the transient value of the sporadically salacious.

With the whispered details of the Browning-Peaches separation suit being brazenly sold in this part of many suspicious pamphlets for $5 a copy or what-have-you, the intimate details of the Chaplin petition already find themselves in the marked-down list.

The once vastly popular Rhineland letters, selling up to $25 stand yellow with age in back-rooms. The Hall-Mills pamphlets lacked sex-appeal, it was said. Even at 25 cents they failed to return the investments of the furtive printers of the down town area. The same was the case of the Gerald Chapman booklets.

The dozen and one intimate stories of Rudolph Valentino gathered dust upon the news-stands, although just off Times Square I saw a vendor of ballads holding up a piece of sheet music entitled "The Death of Rudolph," or something like that.

These dolorous ballads, I am told, are ground out by the yard factories. While these seem almost legendary to the Broadwayites, for whom jazz numbers are chiefly made, sale reports indicate that through the farm belt and in the backwoods of the south and north there is a terrific sale for numbers that go into four and five records, carrying on some almost endless tale such as was unfolded in one version of "The Prisoner's Song."

One concern was said actually to have figured on selling two and three discs of the same record to certain of the backwoods boys and girls who play them so much they wear the records out.

A ballad based on the Hall-Mills case, which scarcely was heard in New York, was said to have enjoyed a great sale in the outlands, and the Floyd Collins disaster song still carries a big sale in certain parts of the south, they tell me.

The story went around the phonograph belt that in one southern town a dealer had to stop playing the record because the crowds that gathered were so great.

Styles in songs travel in amusing cycles. Let one type of song catch on and immediately imitators spring up from behind every piano in "tin par" alleys.

The last rag was for "bird" songs, following the success of a blackbird number. "Bird" songs have appeared in such numbers that, I am told, the cat is to come back, as of yore.

"Moonlight" songs, done almost to death a season or two ago, now are reappearing, for, as one publisher explained, "there's a new gang of kids every year who think they're the only ones the moon ever shined on."

Tango numbers have about reached their peak and the hard-working young piano pounders now struggle with tunes to accompany black bottom steppers.

Your Income Tax

To be allowed a claim for a deduction for a loss incurred in a "transaction entered into for profit," not connected with the taxpayer's trade or business, must have several distinct qualities.

The intent to make a profit must have existed at the beginning of the enterprise. Not infrequently deductions for losses are claimed through the sale of a house owned and occupied by the taxpayer as a home. If the property was purchased for the taxpayer's personal use as a residence without intent of resale, it was not a "transaction entered into for profit."

A person claiming a deduction for loss incurred in the sale of residential property should attach to his return an affidavit stating the facts as to the use of the property, supported by evidence, record if possible, showing his intent when he entered the transaction.

A taxpayer who buys an automobile to be used for business purposes and sells it at a loss is entitled to a deduction for the loss sustained. But a loss sustained in the sale of an automobile purchased for pleasure or convenience is not deductible, the transaction not having been entered into for profit.

All losses are deductible only to the extent by which they are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Feb. 4.—It may be as Senators Bruce and Wadsworth say, that very few senators can be prevailed upon to refuse a drink.

But, it so, it must be said for the others that they can carry their liquor.

And not many of them can be prevailed upon to offer a fellow a drink.

An intoxicated senator is a very rare specimen for one's butterfly-net. There are people who claim to have seen this inspiring sight, but there has been no obvious exhibition on the Senate floor during this session of Congress or, for that matter, even on the streets.

Although your correspondent has made no searches through hip-pockets, desks, or drawers, it seems likely the common theory that every wet senator and nearly every dry senator either packs a flask or has a bottle tucked away in his office is rather a fallacy.

None of them has ever pulled out such a tap-root of evil in this correspondent's presence and it is still a puzzling problem just how strongly one must hint in order to effect such a phenomenon. Apparently one almost needs a club. A senator can stand and talk to a thirsty newspaperman with a breath that is very powerful and still neglect the first principles of hospitality.

There is danger in office drinking for the head of the local W. C. T. U. from back home may show up at any time for a conference, and with galleries full it is dangerous for senators to pass contraband articles under their desks like kids with notes or lollypops in school. But the time senators must have to exercise self-control in this respect is during executive sessions when there are no prying eyes.

Senators go into "execut," as it is called, on serious occasions. Most "execut" during the session of Congress have concerned the Lausanne treaty, the pet of Senator Borah. Others have concerned such matters as consideration of the president's appointment of Cyrus Woods to the Interstate Commerce Commission and discussion of whether Senator-elect Frank Smith of Illinois should be taken in before being booted out. Once one becomes the subject of an "execut," he would seem to be out of luck. Smith, who and the Lausanne treaty have all been given the gate.

Former Secretary of State Robert Lansing is a silent spectator in these days as the country is agitated by an international situation involving us with China, Mexico and Nicaragua. He is practicing international law less than a block from the State Department, a genial gentleman who has no desire to get back into the limelight in which he once figured so prominently.

He is counsel for the Chinese government, but he has nothing to say publicly about the Chinese situation or any other of the foreign situations in which his latest successor, Secretary Kellogg, has become involved. There is an excellent official line Lansing is to grease his harpoon and give it a mighty cast, but Lansing is guided by the dictates of good taste, proving at least that he is no politician.

"Yes," says Senator J. Boom-boom McWhorter, our favorite senator, "we ought to go down and educate those ignorant Mexicans. They all think the American Catholics are controlling our foreign policy. They think the head of our State Department is named Secretary of State Frank B. Kelly."

Old Master's

Awake! awake! the stars are pale, the east is russet gray; They fade, behold the phantoms fade, that keep the gates of Day.

Throw wide the burning valves, and let the golden streets be free. The morning watch is past, the watch of evening shall not be.

Put off, put off your mail, ye kings, and beat your brand; I, a suffer, grasp your hands, methinks, know, your hearts a better trust.

Nay, bend aback the lance's point, and break the helmet bar; A noise is on the morning winds; but not the noise of war.

For aye, the time of wrath is past, and near the time of rest, and honor binds the brow of man, and faithfulness his breast.

Behold, the time of wrath is past, and righteousness shall be, and righteousness shall be, and the Wolf is dead in Arcady and the Dragon in the sea!

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE. THE BASSWOOD AS AN ORNAMENT. By ARTHUR N. PACK. President, American Nature Ass'n. Anyone living in the eastern part of the United States must be thoroughly familiar with the basswood, if not as a forest tree at least as one widely used for street planting and ornamental purposes. The basswood has a wide variety of names, among them white linden, whitewood, beetroe, lynn, lime tree and whistledwood. Its leaves are broadly heart-shaped, and one-sided at the base, with tufts of rusty hairs occurring in the axils of the veins. It has a broadish gray bark with long vertical fissures; the wood is light brown, nearly white, (hence the name whitewood) and is chiefly used in the manufacture of paper pulp. The American tree has five creamy white petals opposite petal-like scales, but these scales are lacking in the European tree. The well-rounded crown and generous leafage make it well suited for the purposes of street planting, and in June the fragrant blossoms add to the beauty of any city. Even in as well-shaded and attractive a city as Washington, the adaptability of these trees is noticeable far above others. On Massachusetts Avenue, a beautiful residential street, there is a stretch several miles long of basswoods, planted on both sides of the street. The tree is subject to insect enemies and sensitive to their attacks, but its beauty repays the effort required for overcoming these handicaps. It demands a deep rich soil, and moist bottomlands and hillsides are its favorite home. Send a stamped, addressed envelope and questions of fact having to do with Nature will be answered by the consulting staff of Nature Magazine of Washington through arrangements made by this paper. CHURCHES WAR ON PAGAN CHARLESTON. Johannesburg.—A new origin of the Charleston has come to light here with the announcement that it is a Kaffir dance. The Christian churches have made it a religious issue. Notices posted in shops and factories warn employers they will be discharged if they continue to practice the pagan prandings. One missionary says modern ballroom dances are very similar to those of the Bantu people. "For the last 19 years," he says, "I have seen the natives dancing the Charleston in the jungles in Africa." Germans have experimented successfully with electric fertilization by drawing electricity charged wires through the ground. HONOR SOLDIER. FISH MONGER SAYS HE'S ROYAL PRINCE

Private Brightwell Claims He's a Son of Dead Maximilian.

By MILTON BRONNER

London, Feb. 4.—Here's a message for Detroit's wealthiest and most famous citizen: "Say, Henry—I want a job! I'm tired of struggling in England. America's a new country with new chances even for a man of my age—53. By dint of hard work, I make about $25 a week. I could make more in your plant and would earn it. You've got all sorts of men in your vast industrial army, but I'd be unique because I am a royal prince and I work with my hands. Just say the word and I will be over."

Now I've kept my promise and transmitted to Henry Ford the heart's desire of a little man in London whose card reads: "His Imperial Highness 'Archduke Maximilian of Austria."

"Austrian Crown Prince, 'Only son of the 'Emperor Maximilian of Mexico, 'Better known as 'Private Brightwell."

At Billingsgate You can find "Prince Bill" as he is known in the trade any morning at the world-famous London fish market which, through the ages, has been known as Billingsgate and has given its name to a very strong line of "langwidge." In spite of his 53 years, Bill thinks nothing of hoisting 100 pounds of fish on his head, and walking miles with it. Years ago, convinced of his royal birth, Bill tried to get some acknowledgment by writing to Belgium, but never got a reply. At that time, he set forth his claims in an affidavit. It started out: "His Claim

"I, Franz Rudolph Maximilian, only child of the late Archduke Maximilian of Austria, emperor of Mexico (who was brother of Franz Joseph, emperor of Austria), commonly known as William Brightwell, do hereby declare that I was born in the Vatican at Rome at 2:05 a. m. on Dec. 8, 1867, was passed over between Dec. 8 and Dec. 21 by the authority of Pope Pius IX to the Jesuit headquarters who subsequently passed me over to a nun, who brought me to England. Subsequently I was adopted by William Brightwell and his wife, residing at Stoke Newington, the said Brightwell receiving the sum of 200 pounds for my education."

Nun's Story "My foster-parents, Brightwell told me, 'got all the facts from the nun. My mother, the Empress Carlotta, who died the other day in Belgium, had fled to Europe in an endeavor to get the Pope to save her husband. She was a guest in the Vatican shortly before I was born. 'Why they wanted to get rid of me is more than I can fathom. But you will notice one thing about all the obituary notices of my mother—none of them says she died childless. 'Years ago I met Archduke Johann Salvator of Tuscany, brother of my father, who gave up all his royal rights. He told me he knew my story and called my attention to our striking resemblance. 'Always Worked 'Being poor, I've always worked hard. For years I sailed on ships. During the war, though well over the age, I served with the Army Veterinary Corps in France. 'I'm serious about wanting Henry Ford to give me a chance. I know machinery, having handled it on ships. Or if he wants me in the commissariat, I know all about fish and meat. Or if he wants a clerk, I write a good hand and have a good education. My main object in wanting to settle in America is that my two boys would have a better chance there."

Italy and France Vie For Favor Of Hungary

BY MILTON BRONNER

London, Feb. 3.—Hungary, yesterday ignored and beaten today finds herself wooed by two of the strongest powers on the Continent.

Her beaux are France and Italy. And the object of the wooing is not only commercial treaties, nor military alliance, but ascension to the vacant throne of Hungary of a King who will be either pro-Italian or pro-French.

It's the most interesting and the most piquant game of international politics at present being played in Europe.

Count Bethlen, the Premier, by an adroit use of his powerful election machinery, has control of a national parliament absolutely subservient to himself. The country is working and the people are quiet. His only dangerous rival in the contest is Admiral Count Horthy, the Protestant regent of this Kingless Catholic country.

ageable to Horthy than Albrecht. Horthy has been king in all but name. If Albrecht mounted the throne, Horthy's job would be gone. If Otto were named, being a mere boy, Horthy and Zita for years to come would be regents.

Moreover, the French look upon Archduke Otto Hungary as a good military ally. France no longer places much reliance upon Czechoslovakia, where the recent reconciliation between Czech and German citizens has led to friendlier relations with Germany. If Hungary were brought under French influence, that country would be a distinct military loss to the Germans. The ally in the French opinion, however, is that the French parties of the left would violently assail any dealings with the Hungarian reactionaries. It might even have its repercussions in the French government.

Archduke Albrecht

Bethlen is prepared now to take full advantage of the ceaseless intrigues of Italy versus France. With the idea of seeking allies, France has unremittingly courted Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Roumania and even Bulgaria. Mussolini has not bothered much with Yugoslavia, because that country and Italy are at cross purposes on too many subjects. But he has made friends with Bulgaria and Roumania and has made of Albania a military dependency of Italy.

Wants a Port Now it is Hungary's turn. Hungary wants an outlet to the sea. Her old port of Fiume is an Italian city. If Hungarian goods could be shipped across the Yugoslavian plains and could get special facilities in Fiume, the country's trade would be greatly facilitated. Mussolini is ready to do business and shortly Bethlen is going to Rome to discuss commercial treaties—and other things.

The chief of these latter is a proposition to make Archduke Albrecht of Austria the King of Hungary. Albrecht is the Fascist leader in the ruins of the old Austro-Hungarian empire. His followers in Hungary are among the strongest upholders of Bethlen, and his political methods square with those of Mussolini. Furthermore, it is possible that he might choose an Italian bride.

French Active However, French diplomacy has not been idle. It failed to bring about a rapprochement between Hungary and Roumania or between Hungary and Yugoslavia, because the Hungarians lost too much territory to these powers. But the French are seeking a closer union between Hungary and their ally Poland. And the French candidate for the vacant throne would probably be Prince Otto, who, with his mother, the exiled Empress Zita, is in Spain. He probably would be more

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE Death strikes GARRETT FOLSOM while bathing with a party at Ocean Town, N. J. At the Hotel Majestica, where they had been guests, an inquiry is begun, after a doctor, perfunctorily examines him on the beach, pronounces him dead.

"Who did it?" she repeated. "Roger, who murdered my brother?"

"MISS FOLSOM," Neville cried. "Why are you here? Haven't you got a room yet? Come, you can go to Mrs. Valdons apartments. You must stay here."

"Why not? Why does everybody want me to hide? I am here to investigate my brother's death. And remember, Roger Neville, I know as yet none of the details. I had only the telegram that Garrett was dead. Then I come here and I find his rooms are in the charge of the police! I sent for Ross, but before I could ask him about it all you came. I had no wish to ask the hotel people, so perhaps you will tell me the facts."

"Of course, dear Miss Folsom, but not here, I beg of you! See," he spoke low, "see, many are already clustering around us. They pretend to be talking among themselves, but you can see they are greedily listening."

Anastasia Folsom raised her head high and gave the curious onlookers a stare. "You are right, Roger," she said. "I was a fool to stay here as long as I have. Let Paxton and Ross bring my things and take me anywhere, anywhere that we can talk."

Relieved at her docility, Neville led her quickly through the throngs to the elevator and took her to the suite occupied by Mrs. Valdons and Mrs. Barnaby. The arrival was not unexpected, for Neville had gone in search of Anastasia with orders to bring her back with him.

"You poor dear thing!" cried Carmelita as she opened the door. "Come right in and let me take care of you."

"I'm not the kind to be taken care of," was the response, but the tone was independent rather than ungrateful. "Who is this?" It was a strange thing, but the speeches of Anastasia Folsom, though often rude of words, were accompanied by a smile of good nature that seemed to take away their sting. Her glance at the Duchess was one of admiration, though her question was brusque.

"This is my dear friend, Mrs. Barnaby," Carmelita introduced. "Usually called the Duchess, because of her—"

"Her noble air and bearing," interrupted Miss Folsom, holding out her hand. "I like you, Duchess, you're all right."

"Goody!" and Helen Barnaby smiled one of her wide, rapid smiles. "It's so nice to be liked."

"Well, that's that," and Miss Folsom turned from the Duchess as if entirely through with her. "Now, Carmelita Valdons, tell me all there is to tell about Garrett's death. Roger, you can speak when I speak to you, but I want Carmy to tell the story."

"I'm glad to have him," she said, "he is dependable and capable in every way. Now tell me more. Who was nearest my brother when he—when he fell over?"

"Our own crowd," Neville told her, "and several strangers."

"Your own crowd being?"

"These two ladies and myself," he said. "Well, I don't suspect any of you," but the hawk-like eyes rested sternly on them all in turn.

"Indeed it isn't! It's in my hands. I am the one who will find out my brother's murderer and bring him to justice. Police, bah! Do they ever accomplish anything?"

"Of course they do," said Neville, with spirit. "You mustn't talk like that—"

"Don't you tell me how I must or mustn't talk! I talk as I choose!"

"Yes, yes, dearie, so you shall," and Mrs. Valdons put an arm round the excited woman. "Do hush, Roger. You only make matters worse when you talk."

"I thought you knew me better," she said. "I say, Duchess," she turned to Mrs. Barnaby, "do I look like a slippers and kimono person? Do I, now?"

And certainly the strong, forceful personality had in it no hint of the type of woman who loves to relax in that way.

"Besides," Miss Folsom went on, more quietly now, "the man from the police place is coming tonight."

"Here?" cried the Duchess. "By here?" She whipped out her vanity case and dabbed vigorously at her powder and rouge.

"Up here or anywhere," said Anastasia, carelessly. "I don't care where, so long as I see him. There he is now, likely."

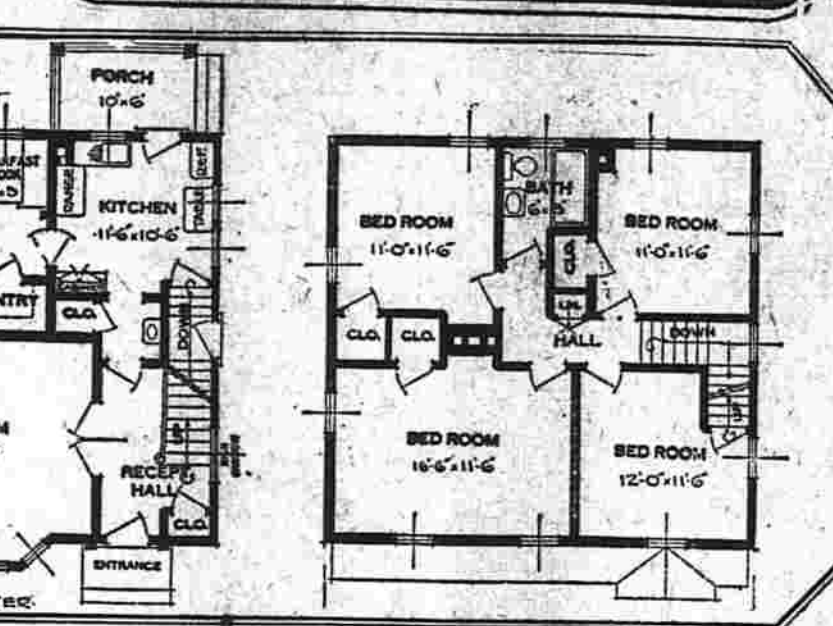

For a swift sharp rap on the door seemed to indicate an important caller. It was Jesson, ushered up by Tuttle, and introduced by him to the group.

A HOUSE WITH "ELBOW ROOM"

Here is a roomy model called the Rochester. It can be built to cost approximately $6,500. Downstairs it has a fine big living room that is 21 by 15 feet and a dining room in the rear together in a convenient location, with a kitchen, breakfast nook, pantry and roomy closet.

Upstairs there are four bedrooms and a bath. All the bedrooms are of equal size with the exception of the right front room which is a trifle larger. None of the rooms are skimp, as is often the case in most architects' plans trying to squeeze in another room to make the impression of a larger home.

The Woman's Day

"Be a nice girl," writes one who signs herself "Admirer," and "write a little piece about bosses who demand a man's work of a woman, but make her keep on with traditional woman's work, too. Say all the nasty things you can think of about bosses who expect double duty of a woman."

Then "Admirer" tells her story. She is one of these modern business women who can sell a lot as easily as their mothers flapped a flapjack. She travels from Dan to Becheba, or perhaps it is from Ypsilanti to Gotham for her firm, trailing prospects and coming back with the bacon in the shape of a few hundred thousand dollars worth of business. Her particular tale of woe goes like this.

"What I am going to tell you sounds so almost perfectly ridiculous when put down in black and white that you may hardly believe it. It seems so improbable that a man intelligent enough to be director of almost a million dollar firm could be so top-minded. But anyway, here's the story. It revolves about silk stockings and crepe de chine step-ins. Ah, do I have your interest? But the story is not as racy as that might indicate.

"The silk stockings and crepe step-ins appeared on my expense account under the heading of laundry. I had been gone a month. My sum total laundry bill ran around $12. It would have been nearer $3 at home where I have it done by a woman who comes in about every two weeks and makes a grand clean-up of my toes. Naturally, anyone knows that expenses when on the road just about triple those at home. The boss, okaying the expense account, read each item zealously. He came to that laundry bill.

Got Very Sarcastic. "His pencil trailed a little. Then he looked at the sarcastically and said, 'Don't tell me, 'Miss R., that you are one of these modern women who can't wash out a pair of stockings.'"

"The thing that made me especially furious was that right before him on his desk was an expense account from a male colleague with a laundry bill twice as high, and I happened to know that this man had come back with about one-fourth the gate receipts I had."

The boss's mental process is easy. He lived in a generation of house-keeping women whose definite task was to wash and iron and mend. Changing conditions have forced the business woman upon him, the one who earns her keep in other but no less fatiguing ways than washing, mending and ironing, but she demands of her today's work plus her yesterday's work, because that is the standard of woman's work he really knows and understands.

Has Wrong View. It just never occurs to him that the situation of the wife and his employe are somewhat different, that it is one thing to wash one's own when it is a job after working hours.

Fortunately, most business women can tell a different story. We can tell a story of an enlightened and fair-minded employerhood which will find this sock-washing story as funny as "the girls" do. But some of them still live in the dark ages. And sometimes I wonder if the girls aren't to blame themselves—if they themselves do not take the double duty role for granted and thus hurt the cause of all working women.

FASHION HINTS

THREE BEST At the latest inventory, the three most important colors are said to be green, rust and eggplant. EMBROIDERED SCARFS Many of the new scarfs are of wool and they are embroidered in wool in pleasant designs. SCALLOPS POPULAR Scallops are a very popular form of adornment, particularly for collars, vests, cuffs and wide berthas. NEW FEATURE Chiffon dance frocks are popularly embroidered with rhinestones or encrusted with sequins. No innovation of this season has met with greater response than the blouse back. In evening gowns it is particularly featured.

FEMINE MODE WILL BE TRICKY

Palm Beach, Feb. 4.—The latest in sport frocks for the season of 1927 depend upon the arrangement of geometric designs for decoration. One particular model has a blue angora blouse and a dark blue crepe skirt. Applied to the blouse are narrow strips of the crepe.

The combination of blue and blue is good. Another frock is of dull wine-violet crepe cut with an ingenuity that distinguishes all of the chic daytime frocks. The interest of the frock is concentrated on the skirt, which is stitched to fit over the hips and then falls in panel-like plaits in the front and in the back. There is an increasing favor for this type of crepe sports frock.

Outing and fitting the simplest of sports frocks has become a test of cleverness for many of the Paris designers. Section is fitted into section with the new sense of line that has developed during the past two seasons. A white crepe tennis frock has fullness worked into a brief skirt, fitted over the hips by means of the panel on the blouse.

COLORED LEATHER Leather coats in delightful shades of blue, red or green, are trimmed with narrow bands of gold or silver leather.

USE FEATHERS Chiffon evening frocks are a bit more sophisticated than they were last season, and often are given an unusual effect by the use of ostrich feathers shaded from light to dark in the color of the frock.

TWO-COATS This season's frock often has two coats, one a sleeveless affair of velvet or kasha, and an outside one of fur or heavy wool material.

The Lovely Paris Girls Try what they use

By Edna Wallace Hopper I have made 55 trips to Paris in my quest for beauty. I go there as regularly for beauty aids as dress-makers go for styles. Every year I find girls prettier, wiser, more than I have seen in the latest ideas and hints. All Edna Wallace Hopper's beauty aids, supplied by toilet counters, are kept up to date. I want them the best in existence.

My Youth Cream is one of them. It is more than a face cream. Several great complexion aids are embodied in it, including products of lemon and strawberry, and other important factors. Youth Cream comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. I use one at night; the other in the morning. Never in my skin without this cream to foster and protect it. My complexion at which millions marvel is largely due to that.

Please learn who your Youth Cream does. It will bring you an entirely new conception of face cream. Ask at any toilet counter for Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream. Jars, 60c; tubes, 35c.

Good Nature and Good Health

TELL SEX-IN ADVANCE? IT CAN'T BE DONE By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine. Hundreds of books are available and innumerable articles have been written to prove that their authors had discovered the secret of the determination of the sex of an unborn child. Among the peculiar unproven theories which have been advanced are the views that the mother is governed in some manner by the diet; that the amount of sunlight received by the mother has something to do with it; that the age of the parents is the determining factor; that the eating of an unusual amount of sugar will incline toward maleness; that the side on which the mother rests has some definite influence, usually the right side for boys and the left for girls. As has been stated, practically everyone of these theories has been disproved by the assembling of a sufficient number of statistics to establish the falsity of the view. A. S. Parke of Manchester, England, studied the records of 8,000 births in a hospital in that city. These figures showed that if the mother is young, the chances are greater that the baby will be a boy, and when the mother was over forty, the probability was that the child would be a girl. However, the proportions were so insignificant that even fanatical race track enthusiasts would not place a wager upon them. The mothers around twenty years of age would be 1.2 to 1 for a boy, and for mothers around forty years of age 0.9 to 1 for a boy. The best available scientific evidence indicates that heredity is the most important factor in determining the sex of the child. The female apparently exercises little influence in the matter. The male forms germ cells of two kinds, in one of which male elements predominate and in the other female elements. Apparently the parents can do nothing in influencing the sex of their progeny. The matter is all determined for them in advance.

Home Page Editorials Children's Training By Olive Roberts Barton

When I was young there was no psychologists, no psychoanalysts, and no psychiatrists. Anything that began with two syllables to those, in these now familiar words would have been interpreted as some new kind of rolling stock. The harbinger of these later arrivals was the phrenologist, who felt bumps on the child's head and told the anxious parent whether he might expect a horse thief or a president in the family when the young hopeful reached maturity. Some of the hopefuls did turn out to be horse thieves, perhaps, but some of them turned out to be presidents, and you may have noticed that as this "complex" business and "psychiatrists" are practically modern affairs, all of the successful and prominent men of the country and women, too, are products of a time when living was simple and parents considered their duty done by keeping their children warm, fed and clean, and hearing their prayers at night, and bothered not about suppressed egos and inhibitions. Simple Yes, it was simple. And isn't that the very secret of the strength of our great men heretofore and at present? Will our coming generations produce as many leaders? They may. But I suspect that if they do it will be in spite of, not because of, our new and rather complicated system of child-training that has grown so intricate it has lost its pattern. Simplicity is hard in an age when life is a sort of Chinese puzzle. You say, "Yes, it isn't quite so easy. Many things are beyond our control." But it isn't so difficult. Weave for your child a "strong rope of honesty, decency, fairness, and a pure ambition" and tell him never to let go. That ought to take him anywhere, like the rope-bridges that swing over the chasms in the Andes. If life may be complex, but we need not be complex. Another little word that is probably the key of the whole thing. It is the simplest of all. Mum! Teach him that.

A Gentleman Could Prefer Any of These

Which do you prefer, gentlemen, Natalie Kingston and Frances Lee, brunets, or Sally Rand and Gladys McConnell, blondes? They're four of the thirteen "Vampas Baby Stars" of 1927, just chosen at Hollywood as the most promising younger movie players. Natalie, California-born, was a dancer in the New York Winter Garden a couple of years ago and broke into movies via the Mack Sennett comedy route. Frances, a Minneapolis girl, arrived in Hollywood late in 1925 and began playing minor roles. Sally Rand, a Kansas City product, got her start as one of the 20 players in Cecil B. DeMille's "stock company," a group of untrained actors. Gladys started on the Fox lot, in the Fox "kindergarten."

CONGRESSWOMEN FOR MAY-DECEMBER BAN

Advise State Laws Against Marriages of Young Girls to Elderly Men.

Washington, Feb. 4.—These May- and December marriages, such as "Daddy" Browning's and "Peaches" Heenan's, should be prohibited by law, in the opinion of the feminine bloc of the Sixty-ninth Congress.

"If parents will not protect their children then the law must," said Mrs. Mary T. Norton, Democratic congresswoman from New Jersey. "Every state should prohibit the marriage of girls under sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Norton's sentiments were endorsed by Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California and Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, members of Congress.

"It is the business of the states and should be attended to at once," said Mrs. Rogers.

Mrs. Norton asserted that no young girl should be permitted to marry a man thirty-five years her senior.

ONE OF AMERICA'S GREATEST CHAINS OF FURNITURE STORES

Billy Evans Says

Power carries the biggest thrill in all forms of sport. The punch is a greater factor than science in achieving fame in the athletic world. It is far more scientific to lay down a perfect punt and beat it out than knock the ball over the fence. But no one ever enthralls over a punt in baseball. It takes a Babe Ruth home run over the garden wall to make the fans roar and slap their unknown neighbor on the back just as if he were a life-long friend.

The boxer with the fancy foot-work will never compare with the fighter who packs a "kary" wallop in either hand. The abysmal brute in the fighter makes a far greater hit than the scientific mind.

Walter Hagen's Views Yet power has its limitations unless it is combined with rhythm. Last winter while snobbing with a number of the leading professional golfers, I heard the pro and con of the question. I was particularly interested in the impressions of Walter Hagen, who to my way of think is about the last word as a stylist, both as to dress and golf.

"Power is a big factor in golf, but power alone will never get anyone below the 100 class," said Hagen.

"With power there must be correct timing, perfect rhythm, absolute co-ordination of mind and body.

"Some of the longest drivers in the golf game are small of stature. Naturally they combine power, timing and rhythm.

Getting Line On Ruth The following day the truth of what Walter Hagen had said was brought forcibly home. I was in St. Petersburg, Fla., at the time, where the New York Yankees were in training.

Going out to the ball park I had an opportunity to see Babe Ruth in action. Never in my life had I seen him look better. In training all winter he was in perfect physical condition.

It was a warm spring day and had it not been for Babe Ruth's club swinging act, would have been mighty uncomfortable.

Against very ordinary pitching the Babe was missing as many balls as he hit. In fine shape, the power was there, but it was apparent something else was lacking.

Timing and Rhythm That my mind reverted back to Hagen's conversation of the day previous, that power alone wouldn't get you anywhere in golf, I realized the same held good for baseball.

Babe had plenty of power, but the timing and rhythm was lacking. There was no co-ordination of brain and brawn. The winter's rest had taken its toll.

Jack Dempsey looked in great shape when he lost the title to Tunney. He seemed to have plenty of power, but when the opportunity presented itself to slip over a punch, something held him back or else his effort was wild.

Out of the ring for three years, his timing was sadly at fault.

GIRL BOWLS BETTER THAN MEN IN MATCH

Jennie Lucas Hits 104, 97, 114; Girls Lose Three, Men Win Two, in Bristol.

Although Jennie Lucas rolled scores better than any other girl on either team and higher than all but two of the members of the male teams, the C. B. A. girls were forced to taste a three-game defeat in Bristol last night from the Wallace-Barnes Company.

Jennie hit scores of 104, 97 and 114. Canada, of Manchester, and Norton of Bristol, were the only men who bettered her scores.

Cheney Brothers broke even in the match, the men winning two out of three games and the girls losing three straight. Return matches will be rolled here later. The men are leading by 16 pins and the girls trailing by 41. Following are the scores:

Four Year Olympic Periods Require Constant Supply of New Athletes

Walsh Says Competitive "Hangovers" May Number as Few as Half Dozen.

By DAVID J. WALSH New York.—"New lamps for old," leaped the villain who wished to short change Aladdin out of his non-refillable magic lantern. And Aladdin's faithful retainer naturally thought the man was off his chump and hastened to close the deal before the sap became conscious. He figured he couldn't get the benefit of a miracle seven days a week.

The American Olympic Committee supplies new lamps for old every four years and no one regards it as being at all miraculous. It is taken as a matter of course. American supremacy in track and field could not long endure otherwise.

Yet a preview of the Olympic situation merely serves to indicate how surprised few members of the team that won in Paris may be expected to figure prominently at the Amsterdam games next year. The competitive "hangovers" of the four year interval may number as few as a short half dozen.

The Big Six Bud Houser, double winner in the weights at Paris, figures to be one of them. Lee Barnes and Glenn Graham, "one-two" in the pole vault at Paris, may also come back, being young and full of verve.

Lloyd Hahn, place winner at 1,500 metres, is an exception in that he is expected to be a stronger contender than ever. Morgan Taylor, 400 metre hurdle champion, also seems to be none the worse for wear.

The other possibilities are Harold Osborn and De Hart Hubbard, winners of the high and broad jumps respectively. I don't believe either is as good now as he was in 1924.

Charley Paddock, winner of the 100 metres in 1920 and second at the double distance in 1924, was fast enough last year to get credit for a new century record of 9 5-10 seconds. But the general idea on Charlie now is that another year will go by virtually no good with sprinters like Locke, Borah, Russell and Sharkey coming while he is going.

The same idea applies to Scholz, Bowman and Murchison, 1924 sprinters, and to the record breaking relay teams of Leonard, Murchison, Clarke and Hussey at 400 metres and McDonald, Stevenson, Cochrane and Helfrich, at 1,600 metres. Hussey is quite young but he seems to have lost the speed he knew in the last Olympic year and the season immediately following it.

No one expects Coard Taylor, Fitch, Robertson or any other 1924 quarter miler to get anywhere in particular now and Enck, place winner at 800 metres last time, seems to be definitely out of competition. Richardson and Watters were active last year but don't appear to be exactly hot bets for 1928. As for the millers, Watson and Buker, they seem to have been recently buried.

Always a Supply Jole Ray also was on the distance team. He is passe now. So is Roming, who placed in the 5,000 metre event.

Tootell, the hammer thrown champion, has turned pro. So has Tom Lieb, discus point getter. Conins and Gourdin, broad jumpers, seem to be pretty well retired from circulation and that appears to go, too, for Hartrant in the weight events; Brown in the high jump; Brooks, Anderson and Legendre in the all around event and broad jump.

Little has been heard, either, of Kinsey, high hurdle champion, but it would appear that Guthrie, and several others will be back. I suppose, too, the statement covers the case of De Mar, who finished third in the marathon at Paris. He is forty years old or more but a marathoner seemingly is incurable.

The four-year task of the Olympic Committee would be that much simpler if all of its athletes were marathoners. It is easy enough, at that; for its deals only in American manhood and the supply is always at the flood.

What We Think In Sports

TECHNICALITIES A New Britain dispatch today states that efforts are being made to have ex-captain Marion Zaleski and Frank McGrath, foremost among the sixteen suspended New Britain High players reinstated for the game with Weaver High tomorrow afternoon. On what grounds? On the grounds that these two players did not play with an "organized" team the night in question at Middletown. Officials of the Corbin Screw Corporation of New Britain have forwarded to Principal L. A. Hodge of Weaver High information to the effect that it was not the Corbin five but a "scrub" team picked up at a moment's notice.

Quoting Rule 9 of the High school rules that, "He (a player) who, not during the season, be a member of any organized outside team in the same branch of athletics," New Britain is hopeful of getting Zaleski and McGrath back into good standing. It seems to us that this is a misunderstanding of the rule.

Furthermore, it was proved beyond doubt that New Britain had no grounds for an exception to the rule because recently, when the same alibi was brought forward by Meriden High players under suspension from the balance of the season, it was ruled against them by the committee. Simply because the team the Meriden High players were accused of playing with, was organized the night before, carried no weight with the judges.

It might do New Britain "investigator" good to read over (or for the first time) Rule 7 which is as follows: "He shall not, during the season, have played under an assumed name." There, and there alone, is sufficient opportunity to ban the New Britain players in the question for the balance of the season without delving further into the technicality of whether or not the team was really organized. It has been proved that all sixteen New Britain High players played with outside teams. Now, does anyone in the least interested in the matter think for one minute that these sixteen players played under their correct names? Does anyone think that the scores of the games published in the New Britain newspapers carried the correct names of the rule violators?

GOOD CONDITION VITAL NECESSARY BY MARTY FRIEDMAN Coach, Cleveland World Champions The two essential requirements of a basketball coach are:

First—A thorough knowledge of the subject, both theoretical and practical, the latter the result of experience, and Second—Possession of the knack of being able to impart this knowledge to others.

No matter how much basketball a coach knows, or how well he can play the game, this first essential in coaching would be worthless unless the coach be gifted with the power to impart this knowledge to those he is teaching.

On the other hand, it would make little difference what ability a man had in teaching others if he did not know what to teach them, and he must learn what he is to teach through a complete theoretical study of the game as well as through experience gained by playing the game himself.

To my mind the most important asset of any basketball team is condition. Without physical fitness a team cannot hope for success and I think it is the first duty of any basketball coach to get his squad into physical shape before he starts teaching the ethics of the game.

All other things being equal, the team that has the most stamina will win out. No matter how well they are trained in shooting, guarding and all the other essentials of playing the game, they cannot carry out their end of the work if they are not in physical shape to do so.

If the muscles are not able to carry out that the mind tells them to do, all the coaching in the world will not win games.

I have found that the best way to get players in condition is start them out with plenty of basket shooting practice and wind up each daily practice by having the men jog and lengthen the distance. I have found that after a week or so of this kind of practice the players can play through an hour's scrimmage without finishing in an exhausted condition.

UNUSUAL GOLF STYLE Leo Diegel, one of golf's best players, has a decided unorthodox style of play and for that reason has never made much success as an instructor. His style is original, impossible to copy.

Hockey, Sled Race, Swimming Feature Winter Carnival

Vancouver, Feb. 4.—Eight ladies hockey teams are taking part in the finish part of the Alpine Ladies Hockey Champion tourney to be held at Maniff in the Canadian Rockies during the winter carnival of February 5-12.

The Calgary wattleite is at present holder of the trophy which will be presented the winner of this year's contest by Miss Mary Cross, 1927 carnival queen.

The Calgary-Banff dog sled race for the Strombeck challenge trophy will also be held during the carnival. Arrangements have been made for sightseers' trains to carry spectators along the course of the race.

Swimming races in the hot sulphur pools while spectators stand knee deep in snow and bundled in furs will be one of the features of the carnival.

Bad "Dogs" Worst Worry Golfers Can Have—Hagen

New Orleans, Feb. 4.—What do you consider the greatest requisites of a good golfer?

Putting that question to Walter Hagen, considered greatest of all professional players, it was expected that he would stress form, follow through, distance and accuracy to one's drives, and so on down the line.

Walter Hagen, who is nothing if not original crossed every one up when he replied: "A good pair of hands and feet. I have them and they are my greatest assets. Incidentally, I am going to let all golfers in on the secret.

"Say, I pay more attention to my hands and feet than one of Flo Ziegfeld's Follies beauties pays to her complexion, even if it is artificial.

"I use olive oil on them. I don't try to get them all hard and calloused. I want to keep them smooth and sensitive and without

"Yes, I reckon you might call it another superstition. I never wear a hat. Neither on the golf course nor anywhere else. I want my hair as long as it wants to stay by me. I figure, it will stay a long time if I don't struggle if. The tight hat bands on most men's hair absolutely cuts off circulation in their scalps.

"That happens to your hair is just what would happen to your mind if you tied a tight tourniquet around your wrist and wore it eight or ten hours a day. People laugh at me and call me the "stomach kid," but I should worry. All I ever use on my hair is the same old olive oil.

"How much longer am I going to be good at golf? Certainly for ten years more, if I take good care of myself. Maybe twenty or twenty-five years more.

"You remember Sandy Herd won the Glenageary event when he was fifty-eight. You remember Walter Travis never got into the game until his very late thirties or his early forties. Age hasn't such an awful lot to do with golf. I feel I'm going to be at top form for the next ten years at least."

Bringing Back Ancient Players Is New Baseball Fad for 1927

BY DAVID J. WALSH Mike Cvangres who first came up with the "Right Down Again

Mike went right down again, but later the Athletics and White Sox dallied with him for some seasons before giving him up as a bad buy. The 1927 Pirates apparently don't think so, however.

Like Boone, up with the Giants and Red Sox, will be back for a whirl with the White Sox. So will Bert Cole, who pitched some seasons with indifferent success in Detroit, Hub Pruiett, the lad who once high-batted Ruth with a slow curve, is to get another trial, this time with the Phillies.

An ex-member of that club, De Witt Lebourveau, is coming to the Giants with an American Association record that has won him a regular position before a ball is thrown. Lance Richberg, ex-Giant, has been recruited by the Braves.

Harry Hendrick, who wouldn't do with the Yanks and Indians, is being talked right into the Brooklyn outfield.

These merely furnish a few off-hand cases. Modern baseball is full of them.

Local Sport Chatter

There is bound to be lots of excitement when the Weaving Mill and Old Mill clash Monday night in the C. B. A. A. senior bowling league at Murphy's alleys. These two teams are arch rivals and the Weavers are anxious to overcome the two-game lead which the Old Mill maintains. Dame Rumor has it that the Weavers will be at full war-time strength, like Cole et al.

Plainfield's basketball team will be engaged for the next two weeks with Meriden and Bristol. At present, Plainfield has split even in two games with each team. Next Wednesday, the Meriden Endless will play at Plainfield and a return game will be staged in Meriden on Saturday evening of that week. The following week Bristol comes to Plainfield Wednesday with a home game in Bristol on that Saturday.

The series with Bristol is very important inasmuch as the Bell City club is attempting to win the state championship. Plainfield will have to show better form than it did against the Purple Collegians, if it expects to win.

South Manchester High tackles the rejuvenated Meriden High team tonight in Meriden and plays Norwich Free Academy here tomorrow night.

As a result of the present controversy between Wapping and Cheney Brothers, it certainly would make a fine attraction if the teams decided to hook up against each other. It should make a real torrid battle if the two aggregations should lock horns.

Speaking of Wapping, and its eight straight wins by overwhelming scores, it seems to be the prevailing opinion that the next game with Wapping will bring the first defeat of the season. The villagers are scheduled to oppose the Knights of Lithuania in Hartford in a return game next Tuesday.

The Knights are the only team to push Wapping to the limit to win, the score being 45 to 38. "Shorty" Malinowski, suspended Hartford High captain will "cover" the Knights in the coming game. Wapping will deserve, and will get plenty of credit if it wins the game. The same holds good for the Knights. It should be a corking battle.

A staff correspondent from The Herald will "cover" the game in order that the fans may have the true story of what happens.

GOOD TEAMS KEEP ONE GUARD BACK

So Says Dave Kerr, Guard On Cleveland World Champions. BY DAVE KERR Guard, Cleveland World Champions

When the ball is tapped up at center, the guard usually takes his position on the inside of the opposing forward and directly beside him. This is done so that he has the step advantage on his opponent no matter which way the ball goes.

It is understood Jewett City has signed the entire Purple Collegian team to play under its banner against Plainfield soon. The Steam Rollers of Providence failed in this capacity last year.

The State Trade school basketball team are playing the Continuation school of Waterbury this afternoon at the School street Rec. Manchester is favored to win.

If Manchester High can trip Bristol the next time that school comes here it will have a fine chance of winning the Central Connecticut Interscholastic league title.

near the center if the ball is tapped to his opponent and naturally has a good chance to get the ball. To equilibrate the step advantage the guard has, the forward knows where the ball is going if his center gets the tap, while the guard must wait and wink out.

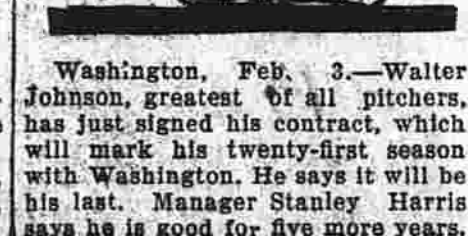

The guard must not charge in too quickly as there is always the danger of a direct tap to the basket. Also, the guard must always keep his eyes open for the opposing guard coming through on the same side of the court which he is guarding, in which case he covers the guard coming through, it then being the duty of a forward to intercept passes and break up plays.

Each team usually has a guard who stays back and sacrifices his chances to score in order to get the ball from the back-board when the opposition shoots and fails to score. This guard's duty then is to feed the ball to a teammate.

The guard must be very adept at switching because the play is usually in front of him and he can see a loose opponent or an opponent cutting through to take a pass better than the forwards or center.

Sports Expert Thinks Latter Cannot Make the Weight Without Weakening Himself.

By DAVID J. WALSH New York, Feb. 4.—Like everything else, hunger striking probably isn't what it used to be but we are glad to announce that, at great inconvenience and some expense, a truly representative specimen has been captured alive and will be placed on exhibition tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The specimen, Charles Phil Rosenberg, will be cast bodily into the pit with a young man named Busby Graham of Utica and on the billboards outside the garden the assurance is gravely given that the proposition involves the banishment of the champion of the world.

Not a Bantam The only trouble with that is Graham has been discontinued as a challenger by losing to at least one contender and Rosenberg officially recognized as champion. In some states, is not a bantamweight at all.

If he makes 118 pounds at two o'clock this afternoon, he will have starved himself into it, according to common belief. He has spent several months in taking off a matter of ten pounds and a few days ago he was said to weigh 121 3-4.

As he is alleged to have done 120 yesterday but the weighing was done in great privacy; in fact some suspect that Charles didn't even starve himself do it.

Drying Process The extra two or three pounds, he expects to relinquish in the drying out process, which is done by drinking to one only with things eyes.

In view of these circumstances, many of the boys have felt some justification in making Graham as the winner, particularly at the scheduled distance of fifteen rounds. For my part and with only one reservation, I think Graham should be a two to one shot to win.

I hear he is far better than he night be lost to Canonizer and he won't have to be that good to beat a weakened Rosenberg, who, at best, is merely a pretty fair fighter.

Mr. O'Gooley says Rocketeer doesn't change much in ten years. "I mean to stay, he still thinks you use times for money in this country."

Mary Browne, the golfer, wants to know whether she is a professional or an amateur. "We can't say, we have never seen her expense accounts."

Wapping and Cheney Brothers are at sword's points in basketball. The game scheduled between the two teams for next Wednesday has been cancelled and the chances of the two rival aggregations meeting on the chalked court this season appear none too good at this writing.

To make a long story short, Manager George Hunt of Cheney Brothers and Manager Raymond reached an agreement to stage a game next Wednesday in Wapping for a guarantee of $15 with free transportation. The guarantee, it seems, was to be kept a secret by both managers. Then came the request from Elmwood that Mantell and Boyle refrain from playing in Wapping on the night before the Elmwood games—Wednesday. So Manager Belcher attempted to arrange the game for another night.

In the meanwhile the players of both teams learned the amount of guarantee. The silk mill players told Manager Hunt they did not want to play in Wapping unless a 60-40 split was made of the receipts and a contra board referee handled the game. Manager Belcher agreed to the latter request but refused to split the receipts. He also refused an increased guarantee. So the game was called off.

New Manager Belcher comes forth with the statement that he stands willing to stack his team against Cheney Brothers either in Wapping or Manchester for a straight guarantee of $15 or for a side-bet. He will not raise the guarantee, however, he asserts.

Manager Hunt when questioned this morning about Wapping's attitude said: "It sounds like a lot of bunk to me. In the first place we don't play home games. It has got to be straight guarantee or nothing. My players will not go to Wapping for the sum of $15. They feel that if Wapping wants to get a shot at them on its small floor, it must pay for the opportunity, and pay liberally. That's our stand on the matter."

BOMBHELL EXPLODES ON WAPPING-C. B. A. GAME FOR WEDNESDAY

HORNSBY'S B. B. STOCK

New York, Feb. 4.—A conference, looking toward the disposal of Rogers Hornsby's stock in the St. Louis Cardinals, was expected here today or tomorrow with the scheduled arrival in New York of the several parties concerned. Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, was due here today from Washington while Branch Rickey, vice president of the club, is coming from Syracuse. Hornsby himself is scheduled to arrive some time tomorrow.

The object of his visit is the annual baseball writers' dinner but a get-together on the stock controversy is likely to be effected.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Walter Johnson, greatest of all pitchers, has just signed his contract, which will mark his twenty-first season with Washington. He says it will be his last. Manager Stanley Harris says he is good for five more years.

After the Champion. Billy Wallace, who overnight became a big card in the fistie game by his knockouts of Kid Kaplan, former featherweight champion, and Cuddy De Marco, says there will be a new champion if he ever gets a shot at Sammy Mandell, present titleholder in the lightweight class. "That's one guy I can lick," says Wallace.

We suppose the really gifted crap shooter makes no bones about his trade.

One of the effects of the numerous baseball scandals is that it will not be necessary to build any additions to the stands next summer.

The big guys in the game say the scandals will help baseball. Dutch Leonard, who was helped to the extent of $20,000, agrees with them.

The old-time footballer of "point-a-minute" days now has a plait-a-minute marvel.

Now that the baseball scandal is formally closed, a check-up shows the following results: Try Cobb—One black eye. Ty Speaker—One black eye. Ban Johnson—One breakdown. Judge Landis—One new contract.

The Game—One swift kick in the pants. The Fans—One violent and lasting attack of nausea.

No golfer ever won a championship without good, strong feet, writes Walter Hagen. Giving you the low-down on golf, as it were.

As the Harvard Lampon would put it: Do you want your boy to be a gentleman or are you going to send him to Princeton?

It is easy enough to believe that Harvard does not play dirty football. It is easier still to believe that Harvard does not play any kind of football.

Joe Dundee, the welterweight, is out of the game with an injured foot. ... And to our great surprise.

The foot was not injured in trying to avoid a matinee. Mr. Rockefeller broke 50 on the links the other day. ... But the economists of the nation are asked not to be alarmed; this was a golf score, not a 50-cent piece.

Mr. O'Gooley says Rocketeer doesn't change much in ten years. "I mean to stay, he still thinks you use times for money in this country."

OFFERED A BILLION FOR FORD'S PLANT

But His First $3 Gave Him Bigger Thrill Says John Prentiss.

BY JIMMY POWERS

New York, Feb. 4.—Even Wall street, the bazaar, with its plungers, its bull-baiters, bear-hunters and seasoned traders in millions, was startled.

Here was a man, so testimony at the Ford tax case hearing at Washington revealed, who sat in a witness chair and glibly told how three times within the past ten years he had made a cash offer to buy out the flivver magnate for a billion dollars—one with nine ciphers after it.

John W. Prentiss

There is the summery of this keen-eyed, friendly voiced individual who goes about making huge bids as if he were buying a dime's worth of two-cent stamps.

First Time In History This is the first time in financial history a $1,000,000,000 offer has been made for any individual property.

"How would you go about raising $1,000,000,000 to buy out Mr. Ford?" he was asked.

"Wall Street was jolted when news of the offer leaked out," he replied, "but you'll note experienced financiers were not skeptical. They agreed the deal could have been swung easily, with prospects of over-subscription. Ownership could be transferred in one week. Stiff credit would be necessary but it could be obtained."

"I am senior member of a firm of thirteen partners. We act in concert with other Wall Street firms who would have participated in any offering of new Ford securities had not Mr. Ford laughed at our bid and turned it down."

Would Stir Country "Shifting of funds would have been greater than at any time since the flotation of Liberty bond issues during the war. We would face the task of collecting enormous amounts of money from all parts of the country as small and large investors sold their securities to get funds to buy the new Ford shares."

POST ROAD WORK EMPHASIZED IN HIGHWAY REPORT

Commissioner Macdonald Also Asks 100 Foot Right Of Way on All New Trunk Line System Roads.

Emphasizing the doubling of the width of the Boston Post Road from New Haven to the New York state line as the most important and most necessary part of the Connecticut Highway Department's work in constructing and reconstructing more than 200 miles of highway, and the recommendation that a complete 100 foot right of way be required for all roads added to the trunk line system in the future, were the highlights of the annual report for the fiscal year of 1925-1926 submitted to the governor by Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald.

Commissioner Macdonald reported that the policy of realigning the highways to eliminate sharp curves and steep grades had been pursued during the year with a view of increasing safety and average speed and of raising the efficiency of the highways in general without increasing the bonded tax rate. He also emphasized the work done by the department in removing snow from the highways last winter and in sanding curves and hills when ice conditions prevailed.

Beautifulizing Highways The commissioner stated that the establishment of the policy of beautifying the trunk line system and state aid highways by the planting of shade trees and shrubbery had been inaugurated and that the department had retained a landscape architect to take charge of this work. Several thousand trees were planted during the course of the year and the work was now well under way, he said.

Mention was made of the establishment of the new highway department laboratory, located at Portland, where the department is able to conduct thorough tests of the material used in highway construction. It was stated that the work accomplished by the laboratory had more than justified its existence.

No Funds Available Attention was called to the fact that at the present time the department is not provided with sufficient amount of funds to do reconstruction work on those roads where maintenance and repairs have exceeded a reasonable amount. The report points out that only 534 miles of the highway system will be good for 10 years or more and that about 1418 miles of highway should be reconstructed within the next four years, if the tentative program established by an extensive survey in 1925 is to be carried out. Specific appropriation by the legislature for this work is suggested.

In his recommendations to the General Assembly, Commissioner Macdonald suggests that in the future no more additions be made to the trunk line system unless the towns directly benefited by these roads guarantee a complete 100 foot right of way to allow for widening of the highways in the future according to the needs of traffic, and to allow room for beautifica-

SUZANNE PULLING FOR MARY BROWNE

French Star Says Mary Is Ever So Much Better Than Helen Wills.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Feb. 4.—There are two really great women tennis players in the world and the other one is Mary K. Browne, if the writer is to be relied upon to judge the purport of a statement given him today by Suzanne Lenglen. The above idea can be construed as a somewhat free translation of what the lady actually did say but, like a shoulder under a suspender, it serves the purpose.

Her Statement She said in just so many words, that she thought Mary Browne was a better tennis player today than Helen Wills. To give Suzanne her due, she didn't mention herself in this connection. She didn't have to. Everyone knows the lady is good.

However, it had been understood that everyone considered Miss Wills as the unofficial runner-up in world ranking, amateur and professional, but it seems not. There is a minority opinion and it appears to consist of Suzanne Lenglen.

Favors Miss Browne "From facing Miss Wills at Cannes and Mary Browne in our series of professional exhibitions, I would be inclined to favor Miss Browne to win," Suzanne declared without hesitation. "Mary's improvement during the trip has been marvelous. Her backhand once was weak; now it is strong, oh, so strong."

"Her strokes are ever so much more severe, her service has become stronger and her court strategy is improved immeasurably. I never knew what to expect from her next. If Miss Browne and Miss Wills were to meet today, I think I would favor Mary as the winner."

Suzanne said she had received invitations to put her "act" on in Germany, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, India, Japan, Australia and South America. She intimated that she would accept all and sundry at her leisure.

Suzanne sails for home in three weeks. She said she would return to America next year.

THE TINYMITES BY HAL COCHRAN

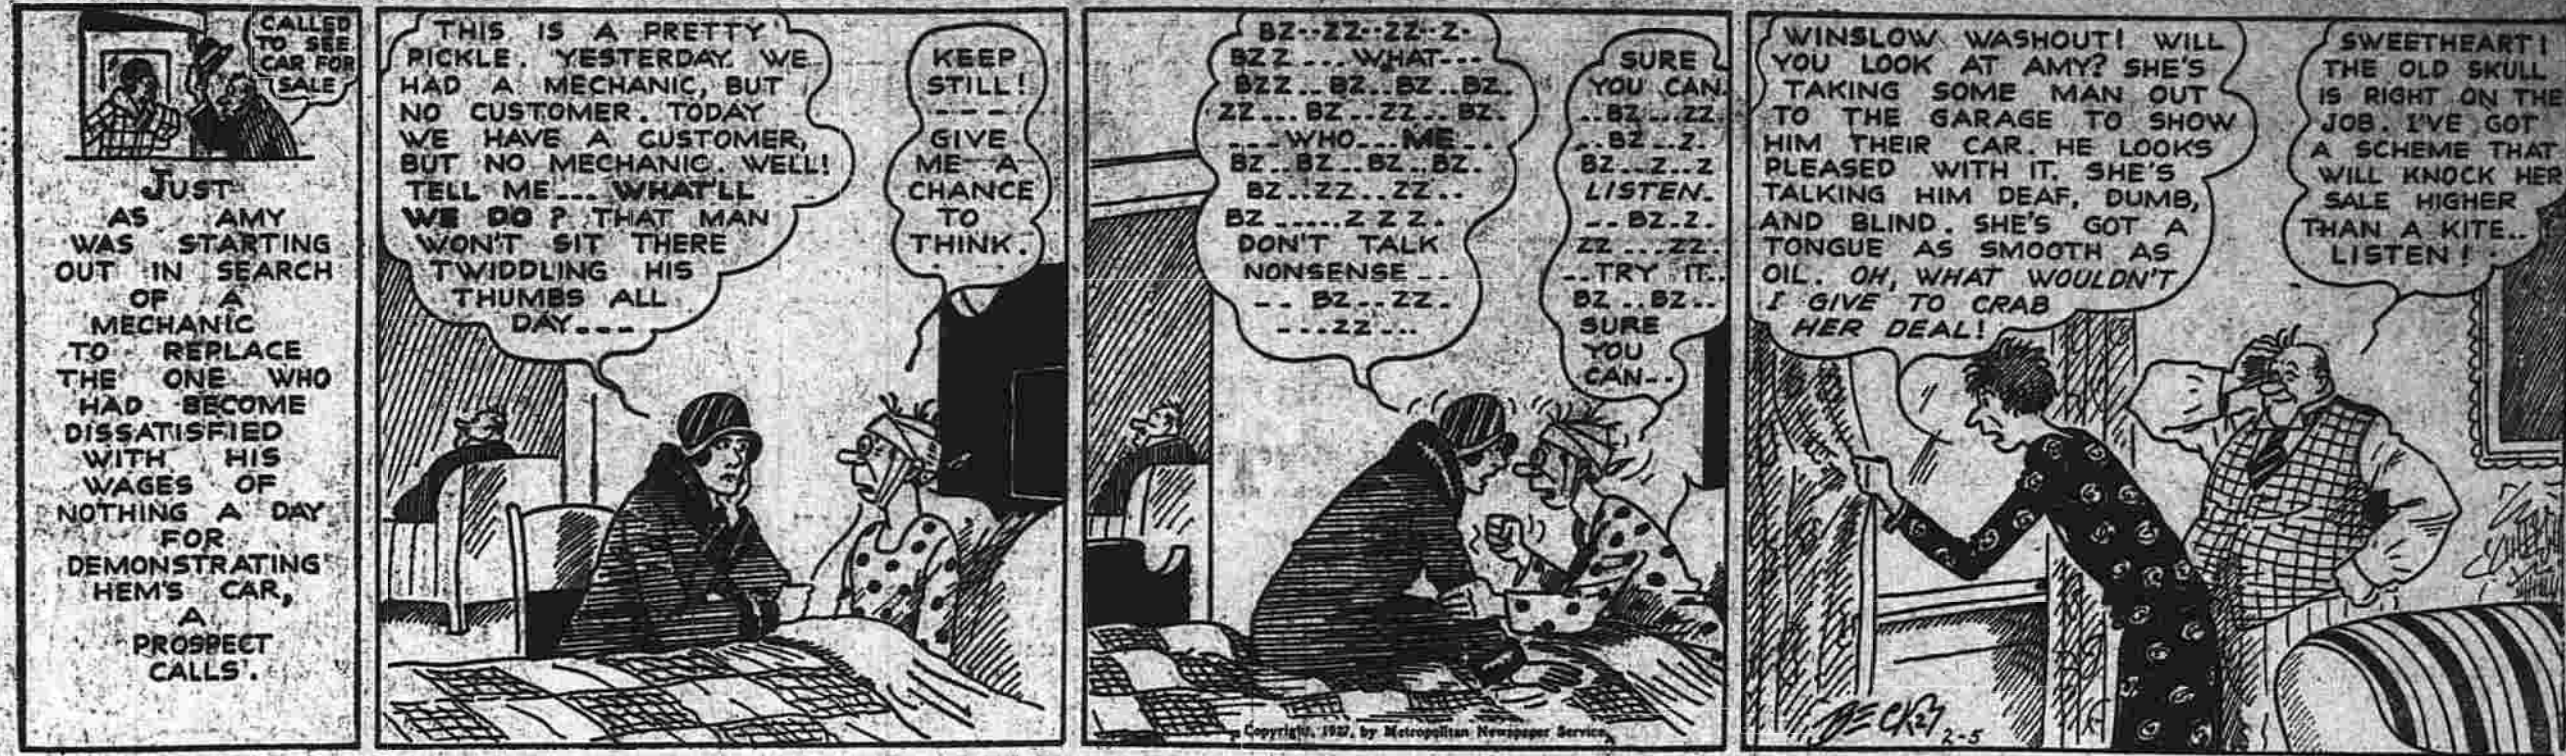

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture)

When morning came the Tinymites awoke to see the seaway sights. Their boat was drifting slowly on and bobbing on the foam. Said Scouty, as he looked about, "At last I haven't any doubt that sailors really mean it when they say they love to roam." Then Clowny said, "I feel in trim to shed my clothes and take a swim. I'm really rather groggy and I need some exercise. I would do us all some good, I guess," and then he started to undress, and all the others figured, after all, that he was wise. So, in they splattered, one by one to have a heap of real good fun. They'd drifted way from far up north, and yet the sea was cold. Wee Copy yelled, "Oh, let's play far. Whenever we let movements lag, we nearly freeze. In fact I think that we are very bold." They chased each other round about until they all grew quite tired out. And then they scrambled in the boat to dry beneath the sun. "Oh, look at that," one Tiny said, and all the others gazed ahead and saw a swordfish swimming round and having lots of fun. "It's well," said Scouty Tiny-mite, "that we crawled out for swordfish bite. I hope he doesn't saw a hole right through our little ship." Then everything turned out all right. The swordfish swam right out of sight, and Copy said, "That is the last time I will take a dip." "Oh look above us," Clowny cried. "I wonder what makes that thing ride." The others gazed up toward the sky and saw a big balloon. A great dirigible it was. They even heard the engine buzz. And I'll just bet the Tinies will be on it pretty soon. (The Tinymites desert their boat in the next story.)

PLANS FOR CARNIVAL ON ICE IS CANCELLED

No Further Attempts to Hold Event Will Be Made This Year.

It was announced today by Director George H. Washburn that the proposed ice skating carnival at the Center Spring Pond has been cancelled. Further attempts to hold the affair will not be made.

Superintendent of Parks, Frank Y. Keur has informed him the ice is in unfit condition to stage the carnival. The recent thaws have left the ice honey-combed and the wind has made it very rough in some places.

THIS RINGS TRUE.

BEEHIVEN CLUBB ON CONCERT TRIP

Local Songsters to Sing at Springfield and Worcester On Sunday.

The Beethoven Glee Club will leave Manchester Sunday afternoon in two motor coaches for a concert trip to Springfield and Worcester, Massachusetts. The first stop will be at Springfield, where the club will sing at the Bethesda Lutheran church, of which Rev. Hans Pearson is the pastor.

From Springfield the club will journey to Worcester where they are scheduled to sing at the First Lutheran Church where Director Paavola was formerly assistant musical director.

Assisting the Beethoven Glee Club on the trip will be Miss Elsie Palmer, violinist of Hartford, who has been heard in several delightful concerts from Station W.T.C. Edward Taylor, tenor, of Manchester, will also accompany the club. The Beethoven Glee Club consists of forty-five young men, most all of whom are members of the Swedish Lutheran church.

CENTER CHURCH NOTES

Tonight at 7:30 the last union service in the Religious Mission for the present week will be held at the Center Congregational church. The speaker will be Rev. John E. Duxbury of the North Methodist church, and his topic: "The Christian in the World." Robert Gordon will sing two solos, one of them, "Open the Gates of the Temple," is by request. Archibald Sessions will accompany Mr. Gordon and the pianist for the evening will be Miss Elsie Benson.

The meetings during the week have been well attended, the congregations of all the Protestant churches uniting in this pre-lenten religious mission have been well represented each evening. With the exception of Colonel Fletcher Agnew, who was the speaker at the joint service Sunday evening, the local pastors, including Commandant Abbott of the Salvation Army, have conducted these services. Next week the meetings of the mission will be held at the South Methodist church, beginning with the union service there Sunday evening.

All teachers and officers of the Center church Sunday school are asked to reserve next Wednesday evening, when the supper will be served by Loyal Circle Kings Daughters and the address given by Professor A. J. W. Meyers of the Hartford Theological seminary. Tickets are already on sale for the above, also for the missionary play by the Girl Reserves to be given on February 24.
