

NO INCREASED HOSPITAL AID FOR THIS YEAR

Manchester Hit By Action of State Legislature—Pres- ent Appropriation Enough, Committee Reports.

Hartford, March 15.—Both Houses of the State Legislature today rejected bills which called for increases in the appropriations made by the state to hospitals in twelve cities. The explanation was made that the committees feel the state's expenditure of $700,000 as aid to hospitals is very liberal. No increases will be allowed but the regular hospital budget allowances will be reported favorably.

The bills rejected called for appropriations to Griffin hospital, Derby; Greenwich hospital, New Milford hospital, Manchester Memorial hospital, Danbury hospital, Norwalk hospital, Stamford hospital, Waterbury and St. Mary's hospitals, of Waterbury; Meriden City hospital, Park City, of Bridgeport; and the General Hospital Society of Connecticut, at New Haven.

The appropriations committee also reported unfavorably on fourteen army repair bills asking for a total of $134,000. The committee has cut this to $100,000. Appropriations affected are: West Hartford, Middletown, Stamford, Meriden, Hartford, New Haven cavalry, Branford, Torrington, Wallingford, Bridgeport, Norwich, New Britain, Danbury and Ansonia.

The Senate today rejected the bill calling for the adoption of a state song, and bill which would authorize railroad companies to pay wages bi-weekly instead of weekly.

Bills with the following provisions were reported unfavorably: authorizing appointment of fish and game wardens by local town authorities; appropriating $742 to the Middlesex county health officer; re-imbursing George Ahern of Hartford for damage to his automobile; naming a committee to investigate appropriations to hospitals.

Favorable Reports.
Bills reported favorably to the House were: Providing that funds for stationary and office supplies in state departments shall be included in the general appropriations; authorizing biennial election of town officers in East Hampton; providing that maintenance of prisoners in Wethersfield shall be provided for out of the civil list funds rather than out of a specific appropriation.

The House concurred with the Senate in approving the appointment of Harry A. Scofield as deputy judge of the Borough court of Naugatuck.

The House received a petition from Mabel E. Flint for permission to appeal from the decision of the Bridgeport Board of Appraisals.

GETS LIFE SENTENCE FOR SLAYING THREE

Killed Wife, Father-in-Law and Who's Uncle—Found in Ohio Pen.

Providence, R. I., March 15.—Sentencing Joseph Gianetti, convicted forger found in Ohio penitentiary, to life imprisonment for slaying his wife, his father-in-law and his wife's uncle, Judge Hahn in Superior Court today declared that the suspension of the electric chair in Rhode Island was a detriment in efforts "to curb the wave of wife murders sweeping the state."

Gianetti, found guilty by a jury, was expected to take an appeal to the Supreme Court but instead issued a statement saying he would do his best to make amends for the wrong done.

The three persons were shot to death during an argument over a divorce action contemplated by Mrs. Gianetti.

JUDGE BOWERS COMING OUT OF STUPOR TODAY

Although Judge H. O. Bowers is still unable to recognize anyone he made a distinct reply to one of his nurses today at the Memorial hospital, where he has been unconscious five weeks tomorrow, Dr. N. A. Burr told The Herald that Mr. Bowers was coming out of the stupor and now articulates words. His unconsciousness is less deep and shows greater resistance today than at any time during his severe brain illness. Judge Bowers's attending nurses reported his general condition improved today.

TAKES ICY BATH TO SAVE A DOG

Manchester Boy Joins Hero Ranks for Strange Pup in Perilous Predicament.

People dive into water to rescue other people, but one Manchester boy got all wet last Saturday pulling a half-frozen terrier out of the Center Springs pond.

Stanley Mason, of Center street was walking in the woods when he spotted, far out in the pond, a bedraggled dog hanging by its front paws on to the fast rotting ice. The dog did not seem able to swim and it was not strong enough to climb to the ice and walk ashore.

Mason was just a minute deciding what to do. He plunged into the pond, broke the ice in front of him until he got to the dog and took it under his arm. Then he swam ashore with the animal in tow.

Mason did not swim for it because the ice at the pond had rotted so that it would no longer sustain the weight of a human being.

AM. WOOLEN STOCK CRASHES ON CHANGE

Prices Drop to Lowest In History of Company—Total Drop of 27 Points.

New York, March 15.—The common and preferred stocks of the American Woollen company crashed to the lowest prices in the history of the company in heavy trading on the New York Stock Exchange today. Since the publication of the 1926 report, showing a deficit of $7,700,000 the stock has been heavily sold, and the recent closing of New England textile mills has invited aggressive short selling of both classes of stock.

The preferred stock declined to 59 for a new loss of about six points for the day and a total of 27 points from the high of the year, while the common stock broke through its previous low level of 19 to sell at 18 3/4.

Though the American Woollen company has reported a deficit in the last three years, and a relatively small surplus in the three years preceding 1924, the company has maintained the seven per cent dividend rate on the preferred stock. The last distribution was made on January 15, and a payment has been ordered for stockholders in record March 11. Common dividends were suspended in 1924, when the company lost $11,969,838.

BUTLER GETS $100,000 FROM LATE EMPLOYER

"I Have Three Children So I Must Keep Working," He Declares.

New York, March 15.—The man who is probably the wealthiest butler in the world donned his dignified apparel quite as usual today and began his round of work at the home of his late employer, Mrs. Josephine W. Taylor.

In Mrs. Taylor's will, on file in the Surrogate's court, Frederick Bucher, employed in the Taylor family for twenty years, was named a legatee to the extent of $100,000. He declined to comment on the bequest, save to assure questioners that he would not quit work because of the windfall.

"One does not stop working when there are three children to be considered," Bucher said.

Mrs. Taylor was the widow of Henry A. Colt Taylor, financier.

SUSPECT SON-IN-LAW OF DOUBLE MURDER

Man and Daughter Killed in Their Home; Detectives Hold Husband.

Hampden, Ohio, March 15.—A family quarrel was blamed by police today for the murder early this morning of Frank Mitts, fifty-three, and his twenty-one-year-old daughter, Mrs. Catherine Mitts Foley. Michael Foley, twenty-four, estranged husband of the murdered woman, a local prize-fighter, was being questioned by detectives today in connection with the crime.

Foley was arrested several hours after the killing.

The police version of the affair was that a man entered the Mitts' home about one o'clock this morning and opened fire with a shotgun, killing Mrs. Foley with one barbed shot, and then wounding her father so badly that he died shortly thereafter in a hospital.

KING ALBERT NOW ILL

Brussels, March 15.—King Albert of Belgium is confined to his bed with an attack of influenza. The King's condition was not considered serious. All audiences at the royal palace were suspended, however.

PLOT TO FREE 1,200 CONVICTS WITH POISON

Arsenic Was to Have Been Put in Salt Cellars Used By Guards—Leopold Is Suspected.

Joliet, Ill., March 15.—While the search for Bernardo Roa, only missing member of the Joliet jail break gang, led into Indiana and Michigan, the authorities today were to question Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., whom they believe might have been the "brains" and financial backer of a gigantic guard poisoning scheme and plot to liberate more than 1,200 convicts confined in the Joliet penitentiary.

Acting on confidential information from habitues of Mexican pool-rooms, detectives were dispatched to Detroit where Roa's brother lives, in the belief the condemned murderer may seek refuge in Canada before trying to return to Mexico.

Name Leopold.
Half a dozen persons questioned individually today named Leopold as the ringleader of the jail delivery plot.

According to State's Attorney Hjalmar Rehn vast quantities of arsenic were to be smuggled into the prison and into the hands of convict cooks, with a view to poisoning all guards next Saturday.

With the guards incapacitated, the 1,200 prisoners were to make the break for freedom.

Cook as Poisoner.
Carlos Stepien, formerly one of Chicago's most notorious bandits and now a convict cook at Joliet penitentiary, was declared today by high Chicago police officials to have been the one named as the proposed poisoner.

The arsenic, it was said, was to have been placed in salt cellars used by guards and officials.

Leo Delgado of Chicago, paroled from the penitentiary last December, told officials of the plot.

Was Interpreter.
Because of his official capacity as kitchen worker and translator of all messages sent to and from the prison written in Spanish, Delgado said he knew of the original plot last May which resulted in the escape of seven convicts and the killing of Deputy Warden Eugene Klein. Six of them were sentenced to life terms.

The arsenic, it was said, was to have been placed in salt cellars used by guards and officials.

Leopold Knew It.
"Leopold planned and worked out that scheme," Delgado stated under oath. "From outside friends he obtained $8,000 to finance the work. He and the three Mexicans and Staleski, Duchowski and Shadler were to flee to Detroit, to the home of Roa's brother."

"Leopold balked at the scheme because Klein was killed. He told me after he couldn't stand the sight of blood."

It was this same Leopold who, seeking a "thrill," dragged Bobbie Franks into an automobile and murdered him.

FIND CABELL GIRL IN THE ADIRONDACKS

Student Caught When She Tries to Buy Ticket for Hol- lywood—Held for Father.

New York, March 15.—Mary G. Cabell, fifteen-year-old girl who has been missing since Wednesday, was found today at Lake George in the Adirondacks. Her identity was betrayed when she inquired from the station agent there the price of a ticket to Hollywood. She was determined, she said, to have a career in the movies.

Mrs. Cabell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hartwell Cabell, socially prominent in New York and Virginia, attended the fashionable Spence school here until the morning of her disappearance. At first it was believed that she might have gone to visit relatives in Connecticut, Virginia or Texas, and police in those places were notified to look for her.

The girl's father left immediately after the disappearance. Her mother was taken from Lake George, to bring her home.

Rowland in criminal court and was sentenced to serve one and half to three years in prison and to pay a fine of $5,000.

Edward Goddow, alleged associate of Knapp in the deal, also pleaded no defense. Sentence will be passed later.

JUDGE IS PERTURBED OVER PEACHES YARN

Published Reports Said Real Estate Man Won Victory In Famous Suit.

White Plains, N. Y., March 15.—Publisher reports that the Peaches Browning separation tilt had resulted in a decision in favor of the elderly real estate man, aroused the ire of Supreme Court Justice Albert H. F. Seeger here today.

Justice Seeger, who presided at the trial and in whose hands the case rests, arrived here this morning from his home in Newburgh to preside at the regular trial term of court. He closed himself in his chambers, and declined to see newspapermen, threatening to "pitch through the window" any reporter who attempted to question him.

Justice Perturbed.
The jury was visibly and audibly perturbed over the published story which stated that Browning had emerged the victor in the now famous suit. He held a conference with the clerk of the court, while an anxious and watchful group of reporters waited in the corridor. Occasional bursts of indignation hurled with tempestuous fury over the partitions of his chambers, and resounded through the halls of the court house.

"Now get anything," Justice Seeger was heard to say. "The 'they' apparently referred to the newspapermen."

Justice Seeger is at liberty to file his decision either here or in Carmel. His present indignation gave rise to indications that the decision now will not be handed down until tomorrow at least, for observers at the court house believe that his present mood will cause to temporarily withhold judgment.

LEAPS TO HIS DEATH FROM LEVIATHAN

Morgan C. Edgar Noted Law- yer Jumps Into Water From Deck and is Drowned.

New York, March 15.—Morgan C. Edgar, widely known admiralty lawyer, with homes in this city and Summit, N. J., committed suicide by leaping from the United States liner Leviathan as she lay at anchor off quarantine, it was learned as when the ship docked.

Edgar's leap from "C" deck, fifty feet above the water, occurred late last night and was witnessed by his wife, Annette, and two elevator boys who arrived too late to restrain him.

No motive for the suicide could be furnished by Mrs. Edgar.

According to Captain Herbert Harley, commander of the Leviathan, the Edgars were strolling on deck last night, when suddenly Mrs. Edgar rushed into the foyer and cried to two elevator boys:

"For God's sake, get my husband. I'm afraid he is going to jump overboard."

As the boys rushed Mrs. Edgar rushed on deck. Edgar mounted the rail and jumped. An alarm was sounded immediately and lighted boys were thrown overboard. The propeller was churned in an effort to bring the body to the surface, but no trace of it was found.

KIN OF JOHN D. MUM
ON HER EXPERIENCE
Will Not Tell of How She Was Treated By Chinese When She Arrives Here.

New York, March 15.—Miss Lucy Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who was made captive by Chinese bandits and forced to sleep in a dog kennel near Suichow, returned today on the Leviathan.

She declined to talk of her experiences in China, but said she had otherwise enjoyed her trip around the world.

Miss Aldrich suffered many indignities at the hands of the rebel Chinese. During her imprisonment by the bandits she was clad only in night gown and dressing robe and given but little to eat. She was finally permitted to go.

BLASPHEMY CASE TRIED IN CAN.

Toronto, March 15.—The first blasphemy case in Canada in which a plea of not guilty was tendered was started here today when Judge Coatsworth refused to take the trial of Ernest V. Sherry away from the jury, as requested by defense counsel. The judge said that in his opinion the crown should be forced to present an exceptionally strong case.

CITY OF WUHU NOW IN HANDS OF NATIONALS

Foreigners Leaving Nanking Which May Fall Next; Americans Use Chinese Warships to Escape.

Shanghai, March 15.—The city of Wuhu today was reported to have fallen into the hands "of some kind of a Kuomintang (Nationalist) committee." All the civil authorities evacuated the city after mobs had entered the offices.

The fall of Wuhu to the Nationalists would mean the cutting of the line between Shanghai and Nanking and would probably be the forerunner of the fall of Nanking. The Nationalists apparently believe that with the fall of Nanking the Shantungites would find Shanghai untenable.

Foreign Warships
There are many foreign warships at Nanking, including British, Japanese and American, and landing parties may be landed to protect foreign interests. In anticipation of fighting there has already been a general evacuation of foreign residents. There are some 500 Americans in Nanking and the American consuls are reported to have advised that they avail themselves of Chinese ships to make their departure as it might not be possible for American naval vessels to evacuate all at one time.

CROSS YELLOW RIVER
Pekin, March 15.—Under cover of artillery fire Fengtien troops have crossed the Yellow river and are now menacing Cheng-Chow.

The troops of Chin Yunao, are reported in retreat towards Cheng-Chow.

Fentien troops are advancing along the Lunghai railway and have taken large numbers of prisoners.

AMERICA PROTESTS
Peking, March 15.—The American Legation today instructed Consul Lockhart at Hankow to protest to the Nationalist authorities over the action of southern Chinese troops firing on the U. S. S. Preble. The incident occurred while the Preble was conveying a Standard Oil Company launch. The Preble returned the fire with machine guns. There were no casualties on the Preble, although two of the Chinese bullets lodged in the vessel's bridge.

Conflicting Reports.
New York, March 15.—Troubled China is today more puzzling than ever.

Conflicting reports cause great confusion in attempting to estimate the true situation which exists in China as the Cantonese continue their widespread drives to gain control of the richest city of the Chinese empire.

Private advices and cable dispatches make it appear however, that the eventual success of the Cantonese is generally anticipated.

General Chang Tsung-Chang, who has taken over the defense of Shanghai is apparently preparing to give Nanking to the Cantonese invaders. The evacuation of Nanking can only be followed by the surrender of Shanghai to the Cantonese, since Shanghai depends upon Nanking for its defense forces.

CAL TALKS POLITICS
Washington, March 15.—President Coolidge kept a Cabinet meeting waiting for half an hour today while he discussed politics with Senator Pease, Republican of Ohio.

What political opinions Mr. Coolidge expressed, if any, were not revealed, but Pease said later that "if present prosperity continues no man living can defeat Calvin Coolidge in 1928."

RADIO REGULATIONS
Washington, March 15.—The first order of the Federal Radio Commission, at its initial meeting today, was to extend indefinitely licenses of ship and amateur radio operators.

The commission then decided to send out at once license application blanks to all broadcasting and point-to-point stations. Broadcasters were requested to return these promptly.

Public meetings will be held in Washington from March 29 to April 1 to receive suggestions and recommendations for regulating broadcasting of entertainment programs.

FORD WINS OPENING SKIRMISHES IN HIS $1,000,000 LAW SUIT

HOLL BLOCK SOLD TO HARTFORD MAN Transaction Involves $50,000— Located at Main and Ford Streets.

Mrs. Martha Sheehan today sold her business block at Main and Ford streets to Solomon A. Bender of Hartford. The transfer which involves $50,000 includes the former Holl block which Mrs. Sheehan bought from Edward J. Holl in 1920. The papers were made up at noon today.

The property is bounded on the west 100 feet by Main street, on the north 113 feet by the Farr property, on the east 100 feet by the property of August Kirschefer, and on the south 114 feet by Ford street.

The present occupants of the block are: The Manchester Gas company, Juul's Market, The Ladies' Shop, Bidwell and Williams candy store, Peter Paperini, shoemaker, and Mrs. Sheehan's own wallpaper and paint store. The sale includes leases to the Manchester Gas company and to Bidwell and Williams.

The property is listed on the town's tax books for $38,000. Mr. Bender, the new owner, gave the City Bank and Trust company, Hartford, a first mortgage for $25,000 and Mrs. Sheehan a second mortgage for $20,000.

Postpones Decision
The court postponed a decision on a motion by Sapiro's counsel to eliminate the whole Ford plea. He said that the plea was defective in many instances.

The point was won when Federal Judge Fred S. Raymond overruled a motion by attorneys for Sapiro to eliminate Ford's "plea of justification" on the ground it violated an earlier court order.

The decision gave Ford wide latitude in presenting his defense to the libel suit, which was based upon a series of articles, published in the Dearborn Independent, attacking Sapiro's activities in organizing farmers' co-operative associations.

Order Not Signed
On the question of eliminating the plea because it violated an earlier court order, Judge Raymond said the order had never been signed. He also mentioned another order issued by Arthur J. Tuttle, who presided in the case a year ago, which gave Ford's counsel authority to amend his plea without any limitations.

"It was claimed under certain prior orders of this court, that the plea could not contain any amendments, notice of which was not given to the plaintiff," the court ruled.

"The laws of the state and federal government permit the amendment of a plea at any time and if this court should ignore the law its order would be of doubtful validity."

The court also explained his decision on the second motion.

"It is quite obvious that the plea is defective in some and perhaps many of its paragraphs," Judge Raymond said. "It is also true that some of the paragraphs of the plea contain no statements of fact and offer no evidence. They cannot be considered to be sufficient to show justification. Some of the paragraphs merely declared the inuendoes were incorrect but offered no proof to the contrary. Obviously, such paragraphs are defective in a plea of justification."

The court said it would "take a day" to point out the specific defects in Ford's plea. He added that he would render rulings during the trial whenever the plaintiff's attorneys thought Ford was introducing evidence not covered in the "plea of justification."

Of the first twelve persons called to fill the jury box, five were women. There were eighty venturers present and a third were women.

Senator James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, chief of defense counsel, immediately asked the court for permission to question the prospective jurors.

The court said the rules prevented a general examination but that attorneys for both sides could ask questions overlooked by the court. Reed at once launched a chair run in front of the jury box.

Judge Raymond described the case to the venire. He told those in the jury box to explain their employment. One juror, Mrs. Charlotte Sherrill, was excused immediately because she knew Mrs. Ford in a social way.

"Plea of Justification" Is Al- lowed—Gives Auto King Wide Latitude in His De- fense on Libel Charge; Five Women in First Twelve Called For Jury Duty.

Federal Building, Detroit, March 15.—With justice smiling upon him for the second time in as many days, Henry Ford won another round today in the $1,000,000 libel suit brought against him by Aaron Sapiro, Chicago attorney.

The point was won when Federal Judge Fred S. Raymond overruled a motion by attorneys for Sapiro to eliminate Ford's "plea of justification" on the ground it violated an earlier court order.

The decision gave Ford wide latitude in presenting his defense to the libel suit, which was based upon a series of articles, published in the Dearborn Independent, attacking Sapiro's activities in organizing farmers' co-operative associations.

"LILIES" THE SUBJECT BEFORE GARDEN CLUB

Prof. Patch Gives Instructive Talk to Enthusiasts In Rec Meeting.

Professor Roland H. Patch of the Connecticut Agricultural college at Storrs was the speaker at a large gathering of members of the Manchester Garden club and their friends last night at the School Street Recreation Center. Mr. Patch, who is a horticulturist at the state college, is no stranger to local garden enthusiasts, having given addresses here on previous occasions. His subject at last night's meeting was "Hardy Lilies" and the sowing of annual and perennial flower seeds. His talk in the main on lilies was a review of an exhaustive article in a recent number of Country Life by Miss Helen Fox on "Lilies for the American Garden."

The hardy lilies represent a very large family and have a wide range of color, running the gamut of all shades from purest white to those having distinct black markings. Miss Fox after much experience with the different varieties acknowledged her favorite to be the Lillium Candidum.
There has been an impression that lilies were difficult to grow but that has been overcome somewhat by the importers and professional growers who plant the bulbs when they reach this country, and grow them here for a year or two. The speaker explained the reason why they do not stand shipping well, and urged that when transplanting is done, the work shall be rapid and the locations made ready to receive the transplanted bulb, or when matting that they be very carefully protected with moss or some other material. This refers to the lily bulbs having a petal or scale-like formation which breaks off and dries out when exposed to the air.

Professor Patch recommended a work by E. H. Wilson, the lily specialist of the Arnold Arboretum at Boston, to all those interested in lilies, which in his opinion involves less care than dahlias or roses. He explained in detail the method of planting and the soil they prefer. While they like moisture and thrive better in such countries as England and France, they do not like "wet feet" and the drainage must be good. Locations as to sunlight and shade for different lilies must also be studied to obtain the best results, as well as their proximity to other plants for good color effects.

Professor Patch brought with him several excellent books on gardening, as the local club is gradually accumulating a library for the benefit of the members who may borrow them at will. Launching forth into the second part of his subject—annuals and perennials—he said while it was undoubtedly more satisfactory for a gardener to specialize on a few varieties, he confessed to a great love for all flowers, and particularly those that were best for cutting.

Experiments had been made at the state gardens at Storrs with expensive varieties of cannas, such as the Mrs. Dupont, a beautiful pink, blue salvia and other novelties but it was necessary to keep within their appropriation and trials of the new things were too expensive for state funds.
Spring is the time for annuals and he discussed the methods of seed-sowing in cold and hot frames to provide the plenty of healthy seedlings for May planting. Perennial seeds may also be planted in the spring but they gain nothing by it and July is a more satisfactory time. He touched on the advantages of perennials, their value in the flower border and compared formal gardens with borders. The formal garden is more easily cared for than double border for instance, with all the tall plants through the center.

Professor Patch gave many interesting details of his work at the college and answered a number of questions by the garden club members. Miss Mary Chapman, the president, contributed a small basket of crocus blossoms, spring's first offerings, and Mrs. R. K. Anderson exhibited leaves of the odd "Live Forever" plant, received from Miss Grace Robertson who is wintering in St. Petersburg. The leaves of this novel plant may be hung up by a string, and tiny leaves will shoot out from the edge of the main leaf.

Charles M. Murphy contributed two attendance prizes, a box of bullets from his gladiolus gardens at Coventry, and bulbs of Lilium Auratum, the golden-banded lily of Japan. The former was won by Mrs. N. Burr who is the guest Mrs. C. R. Burr, and the latter by Mrs. W. J. Taylor. Several new members joined the Garden club at last night's meeting.

CONVICT SURROUNDED

Chicago, March 15.—Bernard Roa, the Mexican desperado under sentence of death, who broke jail with two other condemned men at Joliet last Saturday morning, was believed surrounded near the Indiana border early today. Roa escaped a police trap here in which one detective was killed and his two companions captured. Roa's hiding place was given to police by a Mexican pool hall proprietor whose name was withheld.

VALUABLE HORSES BURNED

Huntington, W. Va., March 15.—Fourteen saddle horses, including five valuable show animals, were burned to death here today when fire swept the stables of N. K. Sauer, prominent Huntington horse fancier, in Kellogg, a suburb.
Among the animals killed were American Maid, Gold Crown, Bohemian Princess, Catherine Rex and McGintie, all valuable exhibition animals familiar to horse-lovers at the large American shows. The loss is estimated at $40,000.

BOY UNDER TRUCK ESCAPES UNINJURED

Edward Lucas' Bike Tripped By Car Track Rut, Has a Thrilly Escape.

Eleven year old Edward Lucas, of 27 Homestead street, had a narrow escape from being killed late yesterday afternoon when he was thrown from his bicycle directly into the path of a five-ton truck which passed directly over the badly frightened youth without touching him.

Edward was riding home from school and at a point in front of the Trotter home on Main street near Straut, when a rut in the highway between the trolley tracks threw him to the pavement on the right-hand side of the road directly in front of a state highway truck operated by William Busse, of West Willington.

Missed by Inches

The truck driver jammed on his brakes, but it was too late. The truck passed over the prostrate youth's body—but the wheels missed by inches.
Mrs. P. W. Taylor, of 369 Porter street, an eye-witness of the accident, went to the boy's assistance but found that aside from some scratches and bruises, the result of the fall, he was uninjured. The bicycle stayed between the trolley tracks, and was not struck by the truck.

Buss reported the matter at police headquarters and the injured lad was able to return to his home after brief medical treatment at a local physician's office.
Edward is a brother of the late Matthew Lucas, who died at the Middletown State hospital recently, the circumstances of whose death have occasioned considerable controversy.

MANCHESTER ANGLERS FIND FLATFISH PLENTY

Several Parties Have Good Luck With "Fillet of Sole" In Sound Waters.

Manchester anglers whose impatience outruns the trout season have already begun to make weak and trips to the Sound shore in quest of the dependable, and at this time of the year particularly toothsome, flatfish. Several parties which drove to the vicinity of New London at the last week-end have reported the fish fairly numerous and of good size. Herbert Ingham and Thomas J. Curran were members of two of these groups. They found their fishing in the Niantic river, which is one of the best bits of water along the coast for this sort of angling, being sheltered from the high March winds and at times fairly alive with flatfish of peculiarly excellent flavor owing, no doubt, to the clarity of the water and its abundance of marine vegetation.

While the flatfish is not rated as a game fish it is no sleepy head, and resents being converted to dryness about as much as any other piscatorial variety. Also it is the source of supply of the well known "fillet of sole" an epicurean delight when properly prepared and cooked.
Fresh water anglers who have never interviewed the flatfish in his lair could do worse, in the opinion of those local experts who have. The most fun is to be had by fishing with a utility rod and using a sinker just heavy enough to carry the line to the bottom. There is no better bait than garden worms, cut into three or four pieces. As the flatfish's mouth is very small and a very small hook, not over a No. 4 or No. 5, should be used.
Inland anglers who put in a day at this sport will get fish for their pains. Also some salt water birds, in the course of the day will tell them that a flatfish is not a flounder—which is worth knowing.

FAMOUS ORCHESTRA HERE ON FRIDAY

Lovers of good music, and those who love to dance to real entrancing dance music are to have their wishes fulfilled if they attend the dance given by the "Jesters" on next Friday evening at the Harding school hall on Hollister street. St. Yaffee and his orchestra have been engaged for the evening and to those who have heard "St" and his syndicators a word to the wise is sufficient.
Mr. Yaffee has just returned from a tour of playing some important engagements with his orchestra through Massachusetts and Connecticut. Some word noting are the Taft School Prom at Kent, Conn., a notable affair; the Kiwanis Club ball at the Hotel Kimball, Springfield and broadcast the affair through WBZ, also the Shiners annual ball in Springfield.
Mr. Yaffee's latest engagement in Springfield was a battle of music dancing with the orchestra, have been engaged for the evening and to those who have heard "St" and his syndicators a word to the wise is sufficient.

A great many Manchester dancers who have attended the S. M. H. S. Prom in bygone days will remember dancing to the joyful strains of this well known dance orchestra.
Included in this orchestra is a Manchester boy, Walter Lustgens, who pastimes on the saxophone, also "Skimpy" Dixon known as the trap drummer—a comedian—and his actions at the drum is surely worth the price of admission.
Cross town trolleys run every fifteen minutes to Hollister street where a good time is assured to all those who attend.

WOULD PLANT BY CARS' SCHEDULE

Optimistic Old Lady Has More Faith Than Some in Trolley Company.

The harassed dispatcher at the Connecticut company office here, used to freak questions of all kinds, was asked the prize one the other day.

An old lady's voice came over the wire in response to the brusque "hello" of the dispatcher:

"Will you please tell me when your next storm is due?" it asked.

"Our next storm?"
"Yes, you see I am expecting to do some planting and I thought you would have a schedule of the storms that are coming."

"What makes you think we know about the storms?"
"Oh, the trolley car companies usually know those things. If you don't know when there is a storm coming maybe you could tell me which quarter of the moon is the rainiest this month."

The dispatcher explained that the Connecticut company schedules contained timetables, not weather forecasts.

FOUR INJURED AS AUTOMOBILE SKIDS

B. F. Carini Badly Hurt, Com- panions Less Severely In Thompsonville Crash.

Four Manchester men were injured, one badly, when an automobile in which they were riding skidded and overturned early yesterday morning at Thompsonville. The party was on its way to Springfield and the driver of the car lost control as he was rounding a sharp curve in a heavy fog.

He is in the Memorial hospital suffering from cuts and bruises in addition to possible internal injuries. He has been driving an automobile for fifteen years and that was his first accident, his wife said today.

The other Manchester men injured are: Carlo Raccagnoli, 39, of 26 Cottage street, broken collar bone; A. Canale, 52, of 38 Oak street, broken rib and cuts about the head; Antonio Baridi, 30, of 2 Oak street, leg injury.

SAPIRO-FORD CASE.

Whether the Sapiro-Ford libel trial, just now starting on its long and strenuous way, shall become a matter of the deepest interest to millions of Americans or merely degenerate into another of those long winded legal contests of which everybody but the profiting lawyers becomes intensely weary ages before the jury returns a verdict, depends on whether or not the plaintiff's attorneys are successful in making the whole Jewish race co-plaintiffs with the rich Chicago man of law who is bringing the suit.

Sapiro asserts that, in charging in the Dearborn Independent that Sapiro acted for a conspiratorial set of Jewish bankers in organizing cooperative marketing associations which proved very costly to farmers, Henry Ford has libeled not only Sapiro but the whole Jewish people, and he insists that his suit is brought for the purpose of obtaining vindication for his race as well as for himself.

The burden of the interest, lies, of course, in whether it is possible to libel a race, a nation, or any large and indefinite group of individuals, within the meaning of the laws against libel and slander.

It is the contention of the lawyers for Ford that no action for libel can lie where the libel, if any, is directed toward such an indefinite target as a race or a nationality. They are not, however, resting their defense there, for they deny that there has been any libel at all, either against the Jewish people or against Sapiro.

If Ford is in effect placed on trial for aspersions against the Jews as a whole, the affair becomes a matter of the greatest possible importance, for his defeat on such a basis would mean that it was no longer safe for any publication to express any sort of derogation against any race. The newspaper that ventured to say that the English might be quicker at taking a joke or that the Scotch were a wee bit careful of their bawbees might find itself defendant in a suit brought by the Honorable Percival Ponsoby Cadwalader in behalf of himself and his nation, or by Sandy McKintock in behalf of the Clan McKintock. One would have to be extremely careful about referring to the head hunters of Borneo, lest some enterprising lawyer should appear in court as the attorney of a million Borneans suing for a fat amount of damages.

We suspect, somehow, that it will not be long before that aspect of the suit in question fades away and the case will get down to brass tacks as a contest to see whether Mr. Sapiro can get a million of Henry Ford's money away from him.

TWO REASONS.

We like Governor Trumbull's first reason for opposing a bond issue, as told to the Hartford Republican club last night, better than we do his second reason. The first reason, in effect, was that actual necessity of embarking on huge expenditures for institutional purposes had not been definitely determined by thorough investigation—in other words, there was some danger of going off at half cock in a matter of the gravest economic importance. We will say that no better reason could possibly be imagined than this for objecting to bond issues—or cash expenditures, either, for that matter.

The governor's second reason, leaves us scratching our head. It is: "It is unsafe because the mere mention of the possibility of bonds or notes created a veritable avalanche of requests and demands which, if seriously considered, would lead to an orgy of spending." To our mind this smack of the eighteenth amendment. It is predicated on the theory that use should be prohibited because there is a possibility of abuse. It is the self-restrained man further restrained by law for the benefit of the weakling, over again.

If there is a situation in this state where the choice is between neglect and suffering for the insane on the one hand and a bond issue for the specific purpose of their relief on the other, it is submitted that it is sheer weakness to deliberately allow the neglect to go on and grow worse just because somebody might be tempted to ask for electric signs at every country cross roads.

SUNDAY MOVIES.

Passage without opposition of the state law permitting moving picture shows on Sunday afternoons as well as on Sunday nights does not necessarily mean that Manchester theatres will give matinee performances on the first day of the week. The law is of the local-option variety and leaves decision in the matter up to the city or town government insofar as each separate community is concerned. The subject has never been agitated here and the theatre managers have not expressed themselves as to whether they would deem it advisable to open their houses even if permitted. And whether the community opinion would be favorable or unfavorable toward such a proposal would have to be developed in any case.

Certainly this town is not likely to be one of the first in the state to take advantage of the greater latitude allowed by the new law.

ST LAWRENCE WATERWAY.

It has been said that there was never but one American railroad magnate who had economic vision enough to see that the last thing a railroad man should do was to obstruct the development of inland waterways—and that one magnate is dead.

It was James J. Hill, Northern Pacific and Great Northern seer, who declared that the railroads of the United States should be first to urge the construction of such great projects as the Mississippi channel and the Lakes-to-Ocean waterway. Because, he pointed out, the railroads would then be largely relieved of the most onerous and least profitable of their burdens, the haulage of vast quantities of cheap long-haul bulk freight, and could confine themselves to short hauls as feeders in this sort of transport under a constantly growing commerce, and in the handling of commodities better able to pay remunerative rates.

Whether the viewpoint of the St. Paul wizard ever became impressed to any extent at all on the minds of the fellows of the railroad world it would be hard to say. But the large masses of silence that arise from the great railroad offices whenever anybody like Mr. Hoover begins to boost for inland waterways indicate that it did not.

There are those, such as the auditors of Mr. Hoover at New Haven the other day and those who listened in on the radio while he was talking, who would be easy to convince that it is a matter of only a few years when the great St. Lawrence waterway will be built. Perhaps, but, unless a vast change comes over the spirit of the railroad world, that majestic enterprise is in for a seige of many a decade before it succeeds in overriding the consolidated opposition of the enormous interest represented by railroad stockholders and railroad directors throughout the country.

We had an example of what selfish—and foolish—interests can do in the recent matter of Boulder Dam, when that great scheme was blocked by the representatives of a few highly localized power interests in the southwest. Imagine the whole force of railroad influence brought to bear to prevent the passage of a St. Lawrence waterways bill and fancy, if possible, such a bill becoming law.

The St. Lawrence waterways project would probably do more for the sound prosperity of the United States during the next two hundred years than all the other laws that Congress could pass during that time. But it is too big, too upsetting to the momentary arrangements of thousands upon thousands of influential persons, to stand a ghost of a chance of being put through without a deadly long period of education and argumentation.

MOIST REALITY.

Westward the star of empire trends on the shores of Lake Ontario. East of the Niagara river that shoreline is theoretically dry. West of it the new Ontario liquor law holds forth legal wetness to the summer resident. For which reason, so the press wires assert, there is a rush to sell lake shore cottages in New York state and a boom in similar property in the Canadian province.

The extent to which cottage holders will be willing to sacrifice values, however, will probably be determined by the price each is willing to pay for the privilege of buying his liquid refreshments legally. Instead of via the bootleg, for if the Lake Ontario shore in New York state is any drier than the Lake Ontario shore in Canada it must be credited with occupying a unique position among such resorts anywhere in the country.

BAD TRAINING.

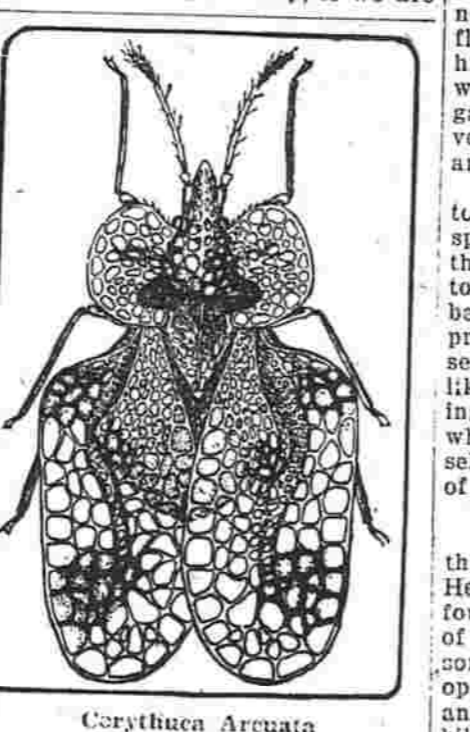

An East Hartford man has conceived the utterly new idea of shipping baby chicks from his poultry farm to the west coast by air mail, allowing 37 hours from the take-off in Hartford to the arrival within sight or sound of the whispering Pacific.

Enterprising and all that, but what on earth is the Californian who buys those chicks going to do with them? Fancy having to take care of chickens half of whose life time, if not more than that, has been sent scotching through the air at a hundred or a hundred and twenty-five miles an hour! If there is anything at all in early training as an index to probable character, no normal white Leghorn that ever flew a fifteen foot wire fence would be a feasible to these air-mailed chicks. Nobody and nothing will be able to hold them without amputating their wings down to the point where nobody does amputate until chickens are all through as living entities and have become food.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE AN INSECT BEAUTY PRIZE WINNER

By ARTHUR N. PACK If the debutants of bugdom could enter into a beauty contest, Corythuca arcuata, whose family name is tingididae, would certainly be among the last to be eliminated by the judges, even if it didn't win first place.

Corythuca arcuata

nature lovers and can see beauty in a bug, at this airy fairy little creature, for the delicate meshes and tracery of its body and wings have earned for it the popular name of lace bug.

Perhaps Nature fashioned the lace bug in so delicate a manner that it might be invisible as it creeps among the leafy boughs of hawthorn and oak, upon the juices of which trees it subsists. It sucks the juices of the trees and sometimes in a severe infestation the foliage will become blackspecked and yellow-spotted.

If you want to make the acquaintance of this bug beauty, look for it on the underside of thorn or oak leaves next summer. Here its eggs are laid and are fastened to the leaves by a sticky brown substance, a sort of insect glue.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER Washington, March 15.—From the standpoint of official dignity, at least, Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama, who went out of political life with the demise of the will not be missed by the president of the Senate.

Although Vice President Dawes never made public comment about it, he doubtless has been somewhat pained by Senator Underwood's past demonstrations of unfortunate manners. The veteran Alabama senator had his own way of addressing the Senate. Generally, when he spoke, he arose from his front row seat on the center aisle, stood in front of his desk and faced the Senate with his back to the gentleman in the chair.

To sticklers for senatorial courtesy and all that, this was very bad form. But it always proved effective, for it enabled Underwood to utilize his keynote location to its full advantage, whereas if he had merely faced the chair, he would have had his back to everyone else in the Senate. Some senators have purposely picked the more central desks as the best positions from which to deliver their oratory.

Others walk all over the place, speaking or reading. The folks in New York is the champion roamer—he claims its good exercise. He never stands at his desk and often addresses particular senators during his speeches by planting himself directly in front of them. Former Senator France of Maryland was an incurable walker, too, but he always walked up, and down the rear of the Senate chamber, next to the wall, when unburdening himself.

Caraway of Arkansas ranks next to Copeland. He paces the floor like a restless lion, parking his hands in his pants pockets with coat buttoned and generally gaining toward the carpet. His voice is likely to be heard from any part of the chamber. Most senators, however, prefer to stick to their own desks and to speak from them. The folks in the gallery generally have no way to identify them except by numbered charts of the floor which are presented to them and thus, if senators don't watch out, they are likely to have some of them making a speech from their own desks which will be credited to themselves and which expresses a point of view opposite to their own.

Heflin and Kink speak oftener than any other two senators. Heflin, on his feet, is generally found to be speaking against some of his "enemies" or denouncing some measure. King most often opposes some piece of legislation and probably has opposed more bills than any other senator.

Congress has gone home, but the offices of congressmen and senators continue to receive letters from back home urging passage or defeat of the radio bill, the McNary-Haugen farm bill or other legislation long since disposed of. Of course these letters—sometimes they're telegrams—grow fewer and fewer as the news gets around that it's all over.

A week after the radio bill had gone to the president, Senator Mayfield received 11 telegrams urging him to vote for it and nine on the day following. Most of them came from Amarillo, where considerable static apparently had been experienced.

TOLLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cheate have moved the remainder of their furniture preparatory to leaving town.

Mrs. Fred Carpenter and Mrs. Harry Bartlett of Hartford were guests of Mrs. Marion Baker and Miss Lucile Agard at luncheon and bridge one day last week.

Mrs. Wm. Senk, Wm. Senk, Jr., and Henry Blake were visitors in Hartford Sunday.

The Christian Endeavor meeting was held Sunday evening. Instead of the regular meeting Theodore Gardner, who is working for the U. S. government and has spent three years in Japan, China, Korea, Philippine Islands, Malay States and Siam, gave an interesting account of his experiences and also of the customs of the different people he has been in contact with. He showed many interesting pictures and the evening was both pleasantly and profitably spent.

Mr. Howard Lewis of Hartford was at Mr. Charles Sterry's Sunday.

Miss Eleanor Bowers, of Hartford, spent the week-end with her father, Rep. John M. Bowers.

L. E. Hall went to New Haven Monday to resume his duties as grand juror at the Federal Court.

The sixth meeting of the Study Club was held at the home of Mrs. Sarah Young on Monday evening.

Mrs. L. R. Ladd and Miss Bertha Place were assistants. The paper was by Miss Margaret Morris on "Experiences with the Foreign Born." The next meeting will be held April 11th with Mr. and Mrs. I. Tilden Jewett.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

The Most Important Feature Of The Modern Newspaper Is Service To Its Readers in the advertising as well as the news departments, for in reality the advertising is the business news of the community

In keeping with its policy of progress and accomplishment while continually striving to give its readers the best obtainable, the Manchester Evening Herald has rearranged its Classified Advertisements usually known as Want Ads, which will appear daily on second from the last page, in accordance with the principles of modern advertising methods as adopted by most of the great newspapers of the country.

This consists in placing the Wants of this community before the readers of the Evening Herald through a service system that must be reliable, accurate, quick, economical and, above all, result producing—results with satisfaction—to both reader and advertiser.

Under this new method, the manner of as nearly perfectly indexing each Want Ad as the copy permits and setting these INDEX WORDS in capital letters as the first words of the ad, enables the reader to find, in each classification, what he or she may be seeking, with the least possible effort.

The classification or groups into which the Want Ads are divided are standardized and appear in the same relative position and in the same numerical order every day, with the index terms of individual ads in alphabetical order in their respective classifications.

But the perfected service cannot stop there for the method of receiving, writing, indexing, printing, checking and recording these many Want Ads must be so accurate as to eliminate to a minimum, possible errors of many kinds.

In order for the Want Ad to make the desired appeal to the reader and get quick and positive results for the advertiser it should present its offer truthfully, clearly, convincingly and in a manner that will incite to action.

To help its patrons meet these requirements, Herald Want Ad Takers will cheerfully give the necessary assistance, in person or by phone, to the users of these columns—and this service is supplied solely for your convenience.

The Classified Advertising rates are now on a uniform line basis, so that you are charged only for the actual space used, with a minimum charge for three lines, and reductions are made from the one day rate of two cents per line per day for ads ordered three days and four cents a line per day for ads ordered six days.

New line rates are published in full at the top of the first column of Want Ads on second from the last page.

And so often happens from the great Result Power of the Evening Herald, Want Ads ordered for three or six days may be stopped by the advertiser when results are secured before the third or fifth day and the charge will be made only for the actual number of times the ad has been published, charging at the rate earned.

PHONE IN YOUR WANT ADS

And Save by Paying Cash Rates Within 7 Days After Insertion

For your convenience Want Ads will be accepted over the telephone at the CHARGE RATE as printed at the top of the first column on the Want Ad Page, but the CASH RATE, also shown there, will be accepted as full payment if paid at the business office on or before the 7TH DAY after the Ad has been first printed in the paper, otherwise the cost at the CHARGE RATE will be collected. You will thus save a considerable amount through taking advantage of the CASH RATE by either paying for the Ad when ordering it published or by bringing or mailing the money to the business office with 7 DAYS after the Ad has first appeared in the paper.

By thus revolutionizing ancient methods of selling—by reducing cost of distribution and promoting free exchange of goods—Evening Herald Want Ads make it possible for thousands of dollars' worth of articles to be sold at bargain prices. They illustrate the value of modern advertising, a force which lowers prices by affording a quick, inexpensive route between buyer and seller.

EVERYDAY---EVERYWHERE

The Newspaper is the Recognized Universal Advertising Medium. It is read everywhere, and every day. It comes fresh and new with each issue. Its freshness never grows stale. People naturally turn to the Want Advertising in the Evening Herald because they regard it as part of the events of the day.

Following a nervous shock, a Parisian is said to have turned blue all over, a condition which resisted the treatments of physicians.

BIG DOUBLE FEATURE PROGRAM AT RIALTO

"Marriage License" an ultra modern tale of bachelors, pseudo bachelors and merry widows heads a double feature program at the Rialto theater today and tomorrow. The story is an unusually entertaining one and is enacted by a splendid cast of screen favorites. Lavish settings contribute to the dramatic punch of "The Marriage License" and the picture is well directed viewed from every angle. It should prove a treat to Manchester's discriminating film fans.

The second picture being offered is "That Wild West" which stars William Fairbanks and Dorothy Revier. Whoever said "money is the root of all evil" must have been thinking of "That Wild West" when he wrote this famous line. The ranch bank roll is stolen in this thriller. The bank messenger is killed for it. The pretty girl who owns the ranch is kidnapped for it. The guilt of the murder is fastened on the hero and he is nearly hung for it. The sheriff doesn't move fast enough to suit the cowpunchers and he nearly loses his job for it. When its all over you will have enjoyed thrills, laughs a fascinating mystery and a clever ending. An hilarious comedy as well as a news reel will also be shown.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE GARRETT FOLSON is stabbed to death while swimming at Ocean Tower, N. J. It is believed that the death weapon was a pick-up, an Oriental knife, and that it was purchased on the boardwalk.

Folson's bathing companions had been ROGER REVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON.

ANASTASIA FOLSON, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, takes command, and it is established that one CROYDON SEARS is a fancier of curious weapons.

SEARS admits buying two knives, but not the pick-up. A new artist, engineer TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, Folson's nephew, arrives and is puzzled by the curious French dolls in his uncle's rooms.

Croydon Sears sends for FLEMING STONE, famous detective. He tells him Folson had been black-mailing him and had had a bad case of nerves but was innocent.

Stone meets others of the circle, including NED BARRON and his wife, MADELINE, who puzzles him. Stone comes upon Carmelita Valdon, whose suspicious actions have involved her, and determines to question her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLIV "NOT going in this morning?" Stone said, after Pelton, who was with her, had made introductions.

"Not until later," Carmelita Valdon told him. "About noon, I think, today."

"Then you've time for a chair ride with me. Do take pity on my loneliness and come for a ride. The chairs fascinate me and I hate to go alone."

It was not the habit of Carmelita Valdon to turn down anything in the shape of attention from any presentable man. And Fleming Stone was decidedly presentable.

So Carmelita smiled on him and declared she'd love to go. "See you when I come back, Dan," she said gaily to Pelton, who watched the pair depart, uncertain whether he wanted Stone to interview her or not.

"Be good to her," he called out, as a warning to the detective, who answered with a smile and a nod, and then glanced at Carmelita.

"I fancy everybody is good to you," he said in his gentle voice, so full of subtle flattery and yet impersonal, too.

"Yes," she said slowly, "everybody but Fate."

"And Fate is cruel?" They were slowly rolling along the boardwalk, the sun not yet high enough to be unpleasantly warm, the sea breeze coming in crisp and cool and the stolid, half-seated negro pushing them utterly oblivious, if indeed he could hear their conversation.

"Yes, Mr. Stone," and Carmelita turned a grave countenance to his own. "Fate is nearly always cruel to a woman."

"Oh, what a sweeping assertion! And what an untrue one! Surely you don't mean that—you, with the world at your feet—with all the gifts nature can bestow—"

"Never mind that sort of talk. You're glad he's dead because

"But you are glad he is dead," Stone said quietly.

And it is we who have—as you say—nature's gifts, looks, charm, power, all the feminine assets, who oftenest get cruel blows from Fate, that are none the less terrible because unknown to the world at large.

Without appearing to do so, Stone scrutinized her keenly. Either this woman was all Miss Folson had painted her, and she was deliberately setting out to fascinate him, or Pelton was right and she was troubled, but not by reason of a guilty conscience regarding Folson's murder.

"I think, Mrs. Valdon," he said gently, "it would be better if we talked plainly. You know, I dare say, that I am down here to investigate the death of Garrett Folson. There are reasons why I should ask you some questions and I have chosen this way to do it, thinking it would be the least annoying to you."

Carmelita thanked him with one of her best smiles.

"You are good," she said, with a ring of sincerity in her tone. "Let us talk plainly then. In the first place, I did not kill Mr. Folson."

"But you are glad he is dead," Stone said quietly.

She gave him a startled glance. "I hate to put it so baldly," she said, as if thinking this over, "but, well, I am not really sorry. Or, to come nearer the truth, I'm glad only for one reason. Otherwise I wish the man were still alive."

"You're glad he's dead because that gave you opportunity to retrieve your letters which he held."

"You must have been told that," she said, looking straight at him, "and nobody could have told you but Dan Pelton. Yes, I did get my letters back, and I never could have done that so long as Garrett Folson was alive."

"And so you are suspected, in some quarters, of having killed him in order to accomplish that end."

"Some quarters, meaning his sister, I suppose. Does any one else suspect me, Mr. Stone?"

"That I don't know. But it would not be out of the question for Miss Folson to spread such a suspicion."

"I know it wouldn't. She hates me. I wonder why?"

"Partly because you two are so diametrically opposed in character and type and partly because she really thinks you killed her brother."

"My dear Mr. Stone, I couldn't kill anybody. I really couldn't. Miss Folson might; she's the killer sort. But I'm not—"

"That's no argument, Mrs. Valdon. To kill a man one doesn't have to perform the actual deed oneself."

Fleming Stone had dropped his charming manner, and now he spoke with the steeled, low, hard voice that had so often struck terror to the heart of a wrongdoer.

"Oh!" Carmelita gave a little gasp. "You mean—"

"That some one else could have done it—at your bidding. Who was the man with the white mustache?"

At once Stone saw he had drawn blank.

Purposely he had sprung this question suddenly, feeling sure he could tell by her reaction whether she knew of the man or not.

Clearly she did not. For her uncomprehending look and her surprised voice were so indubitably sincere that the detective was forced to believe her.

"The man with the white mustache? I've not the slightest idea. But he most certainly was no agent of mine! And I tell you, Mr. Stone, I had no hand in Garrett Folson's death. Either directly or indirectly."

"But as soon as he was dead you hastened to get your letters?"

"I did indeed! And a hard time I had of it! I subsidized servants; I begged keys from friends; I tried every way I could think of—and I finally got them. Now they are burned up, and if the police accuse me of murder because of it they will have to prove it. But they can't get the letters!"

Her smile of triumph went further toward convincing Stone of her innocence regarding the murder than any asseverations could have done. To his mind it was clear that she was so anxious to get her letters and so relieved at having got them that the thought of a more serious accusation had not yet sunk very deeply into her mind. And this, of course, for the reason that she had no guilty knowledge of the crime itself.

"The letters were so very important then?" he asked, casually.

"Important to me because of their disclosure of some facts in my past life which I wish kept secret. Facts which would be of small interest to the general public but which would be of importance to give Garrett Folson a hold over me that he never let me forget. Now they are destroyed, and my soul is at peace."

She was silent a moment and then turned to him, with a really friendly smile, and said, "I couldn't be at peace if I had killed him, could I?"

"No, Mrs. Valdon," Stone said, giving her a keen look. "I think it could not. I'm not prepared to say I can tell a criminal by looking at one, but I will say that I think I can tell by talking to one. And my judgment, my experience and my instinct all about to me your innocence in the matter of Folson's death. Now the question of those letters need never be brought up, but I will say plainly that if we can find out who did kill Folson, that's all his sister wants; that's all the police want; that's all I want—to learn the identity of the murderer. No one has any justifiable concern with your letters or their import if you are not connected with the crime."

"What are you leading up to?" she asked gravely.

"Just this. You know—probably from some evidence you ran across while getting your own letters—you know something you have not yet told. I want you to tell it to me."

(To Be Continued)

The WOMAN'S DAY by AILENE SUMNER

"Then one night Edward came home with a $170 radio set when we had been going hungry for days." This line pops out in the story of Vivian Ingram, "the bandit queen," who terrorized a midwestern city by rifling filling station cash drawers to the tune of a dozen a night. Vivian blames her downfall to her marriage to a $20-a-week clerk. She tells of the dresses and hats she made over, of the meals she missed, and then of the husband who came home with the radio. Vivian's story is no new story. It is the other thing that "every woman knows," the almost miserably economy of ways only that husbands may come home with autos and radios and complete sets of illustrated encyclopedias. We are "the tight sex."

Five Babies Die. Five newly-born babies in a Chicago hospital died because nurses mistook boric acid solution for drinking water and fed the eye-wash solution to the infants. "Criminal negligence," say some. Maybe so, but it's a rare nurse and a rare doctor who at some time during his or her career does not make the mistake that could be called "criminal negligence."

Any worker is only human, and no human can never make a mistake. We hear a great deal about inflated salaries of nurses and doctors. Perhaps one reason is the fact that they work in a realm of frightful responsibility. The stenographer's mistake can be corrected with an eraser. The doctor's or nurse's mistake means death and can never be corrected. A worker in this field needs iron nerve, and is paid for it.

The Whiskered Man. Nine years ago J. E. Boyle of Texas "turned on" women. He was "through forever." His physician told him that if he would raise a beard, women would leave him alone. J. E. has not shaved since. He says that it worked like a charm; that whiskers are to a man what avoirdupois is to a woman when it comes to keeping the opposite sex away. But there are any number of those who say that, in this day of h. c. l. when keeping a family is a real economic job, most women are only too glad to wish it off onto a man, that even whiskers couldn't keep a man so immune from the feminine wiles.

Separate Cars. Separate cars for men and women in New York subways, and, for that matter, on even the L and buses, are called for by no less a walk-in-golden light than our Aimee from the golden strands of California. Aimee says that "girls must go through hell to get to work and home," and that "subways are the masher's playgrounds." I would love to wise-crack at Aimee, but no one who has ridden in a New York subway at 6 p. m. or 8 a. m. and kept their eyes "peeled," can deny that something should be done.

King Says, "Not Nice!" King George of all the Britains, king in a land where everybody rides with hounds, doesn't like to see women riding astride, and asks for a return of the side-saddle method. Well, Od's bodkins, the selfish old brute! I'd like to see the kink keep his hams upon his prancing steed, perched there like a fly on a steep wall, in a side saddle method! Things that bring us ailments wish upon women, but would never do themselves, such as long hair, et al!

GARGLE IS SOOTHING, BUT DOESN'T HURT GERMS

Editor's Note: This is the eighth of a series of articles on personal hygiene by Dr. Morris Fishbein, one of America's foremost medical authorities. Succeeding articles in the series will appear daily in this paper.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Most specialists are convinced gargles seldom reach the tissues deep in the throat in sufficient quantity or strength to permit them to have much effect in killing germs or in curing disease.

They have, however, the value of washing out everything that they can reach and of relieving dryness of the mouth and throat and of substituting a good taste in the mouth for one that may be unpleasant.

If it is necessary to apply antiseptic solutions to the tonsils or the back of the throat or to the cheeks, these are best applied by spreading with a cotton swab which has been dipped in a solution of the appropriate strength. Sprays from an atomizer properly used will also reach the parts affected better than gargles.

Since the primary purpose of the mouth wash or throat wash is cleansing and soothing rather than germ-killing, one of the best simple cleansing washes is salt solution made up of one-fourth teaspoonful of salt to a half glass of warm water. If there is much mucus present, the addition of a quarter teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda is sometimes beneficial.

Most of the mouth washes and gargles sold in the drug stores contain a basis of water, salt, bicarbonate of soda, or boric acid, with additional flavoring materials of various kinds.

Alcohol is a stinging, cleansing and antiseptic. It is frequently recommended by physicians as a gargle or mouth wash, one part of alcohol being used to four or five parts water.

If the mouth is dry during an illness, chewing gum, or the drinking of some effervescent waters, such as ginger ale or Vichy, has a pleasant effect. It serves also to increase the flow of saliva and prevents drying of the membranes.

A person who is convalescing from a long illness in which there has been much fever suffers greatly with dryness of the mouth and sometimes with swelling. It is, therefore, especially important to examine the mouth after an illness to find out whether the teeth, the gums, or the throat have been badly infected, and to relieve any inflammations that may be present.

Safeguards

By Olive Roberts Burton

We have several kinds of law. If it were not for the law that protects our land, anyone could walk over our lawns, pick our flowers, and break our hedges. If it were not for the law that protects our homes, anyone could cut his name on our front doors, camp in our halls, and eat our food.

Our money is protected by law, and we to the offender who takes it from us without fair exchange. Every possession that we have comes under the protection of one law or another, even unto wives and husbands.

There can be no group-living nor community-living in a civilized land unless these laws are obeyed. Laws are not made for our discomfort. They are made to render life safe and possible—and happy. The vandal is always ready and waiting to take that which is not his.

Social law is the law that protects home life. Social law is behind all federal and state law. It is the thing that keeps the vandal out of the home.

The minute a man and woman enter into marriage, the law throws its protecting mantle over them. And the law says to the world regardless of sex or relation, "Hands off!"

It says to the disappointed lover who is inconsolable over the loss of his sweetheart, "Keep away!" And he must keep away, for on what he does and not what the law says, alone, depends the fabric of our whole social system.

And the woman who is in love with a man who marries another woman must also keep away. She must let him alone. Hers may be the heartbreak, but she must bear it. The wife has a right to her husband by every law of God and man.

I have known homes where all sorts of misery and trouble were started by this unwillingness of young men and young women to "give up" their former sweethearts when they married.

WHEELER MAY WITHDRAW BILL ON AMATEUR BOXING

Strong Opposition Forecast; Manchester Against Bill Too; Jenney's Arguments.

By the Sports Editor
There is a possibility that the proposed bill placing amateur boxing and wrestling under the jurisdiction of the state boxing commissioner will be either withdrawn or modified before it reaches the general assembly, it was learned today.

It is understood that because of the strong opposition to the bill from all parts of the state and the unfavorable attitude of Thomas A. Donahue, state boxing commissioner that Senator Shang Wheeler, of Stratford, who drew up the bill, has decided to discard it. Confirmation, however, is lacking.

A meeting of the Judiciary Committee, which is composed of fifteen attorneys, will be held in the house, one of whom is Representative R. A. Johnson will listen to arguments pro and con in regard to the proposed law tomorrow at the state capitol in Hartford. At this time, opponents of the bill from various parts of the state will present their reasons for opposing the bill.

The Connecticut Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, which is very much opposed to the passage of the bill, will be represented by competent authorities prepared to fight to the last ditch to prevent the state from gaining control of the sport, according to Thomas J. Tracy, of New Haven, who is chairman of the legislative committee. It is the contention of this organization that if the bill is passed, it will be a serious blow to its future progress in the sport world and will handicap it greatly in carrying on athletic relations with other states.

Executive Secretary John L. Jenney, of Cheney Brothers' Athletic Association which has staged eight amateur boxing tournaments during the past winter under the supervision of the A. A. U. joining with the rest of the bandwagon in opposing the bill and it is in accordance with this that he has sent Senator Robert J. Smith and Representatives Raymond A. Johnson and Miss Marjorie Cheney, Manchester's representation in the general assembly, the following letter:

Dear Sir:—
Our club, a member in good standing in the Connecticut Association of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, wishes to place ourselves on record as being opposed to the passage of the

S. M. H. S. Practices On Armory Surface for Games at Yale

Coach W. J. Clarke is drilling his S. M. H. S. basketball squad on the spacious state armory court this week in preparation for the tournament games at Yale University in New Haven Saturday. The floor at Yale is as long as the armory floor here, but not quite as wide and it is Coach Clarke's idea to have the boys become accustomed to playing on a court of this size because of its similarity to the one at New Haven.

Manchester did not look at all impressive when it battled Windham High on the large armory floor at Willimantic a few weeks ago much to Coach Clarke's dissatisfaction. However, he is confident he can overcome that weakness pronto. Yesterday the players received their initial workout at the local armory and this afternoon took another hour's "lesson." Tomorrow will conclude the preparation.

According to Faculty Manager Edson M. Bailey, complete arrangements for the trip have not yet been made. In all probability the players will leave Manchester shortly after eight o'clock Friday morning by automobiles but there is a bare possibility the trip will be made by train. The team may stay at the Royal Hotel while at New Haven. Faculty authorities provided "board and eat" for twelve players on each team for two nights.

Manchester played its first game at four o'clock Friday afternoon and if it wins, will play again Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the local high school. Another victory would bring Manchester into the finals at eight o'clock Saturday night. If the team goes in touring cars, it will probably return home late Saturday night but if it goes by train it will probably remain overnight and return some time Sunday morning.

Considerable interest has been worked up over the state championship tourney among the students at the local high school. The tourney and Manchester's chances are the chief topic of the students during their leisure minutes. The blackboards bear such signs as, "On to Yale," "Bring Home the Bacon," etc. It seems to be the consensus of opinion that Manchester is pitted against a most worthy opponent in the Central High quintet of Bridgeport.

During Coach Clarke's reign at the South Manchester high school, five basketball teams have participated in championship tournaments—two at Yale and three at Tufts—but the grade has always been too steep although on two occasions Manchester was eliminated in the semi-finals. These were at New Haven. At Middlebury, Mass., Manchester was defeated twice in its first game and once in the second round.

Last March, Manchester High was represented at the Tufts tournament and was eliminated in its first game by an undefeated team, Manchester, New Hampshire. This year, Coach Clarke has high hopes his charges will make a much better showing at the state tournament.

FOOTBALL GAME HERE COST BURNSIDES $800

Team Footed All Expenses of Two Players Injured in Manchester Contest.

It has just come to light that injuries sustained in a football game played in Manchester last fall cost the All-Burnside team approximately $800.

Manager Nick Angello of the Cub football team which played the Burnside eleven said today that Manager John Lange has informed him of the serious financial setback which the game brought.

Two players were injured. One suffered a broken leg and another a broken arm. It was the first injury that was the most expensive.

According to Lange the Burnside team stood good for approximately all the expenses of the patients which is said to be unusual for semi-professional clubs where often an injured player has to foot his own doctor's bills. The Burnside club obtained the money by giving benefit dances and other entertainments.

Additional strength for the game. He has secured the services of two of the best players on the Plainfield team—Roy Norris, who will jump center, and Hap Madden who will fill one of the backcourt positions. Both men are Manchester boys as are Herby Kerr, Joe Pentland and Francis McCollum, who are expected to get into the Poquonock lineup.

The probable lineups:

Weavers Rally As Old Mill Slips And League Is A Tie

Manchester fans who have read about the alleged sloughing of baseball games but who never have had the opportunity of seeing sports contests actually "thrown" had an opportunity last night to see just how that kind of business is transacted right here in Manchester.

It occurred in the C. B. A. A. senior bowling league at Murphy's alleys. After the Old Mill, with its two game lead, slipped badly, losing the first two games to the Ribbon Mill, and the Weavers had won their first two from the Splinters, then the "monkey work" started.

Both the Ribbon and the Splinters threw their third games to the Old Mill and Ribbon respectively in order to make the league come out a tie and necessitate a play-off. A careful study of the scores of both teams gives further proof that everything was not according to Hoyle in the last game.

NORRIS AND MADDEN WITH WAPPING FIVE

Villagers Strengthen For Last Game of Season With Poquonock Tonight.

Basketball interest in Wapping, which died down recently following the defeat by the Diamond Match team of Springfield, has been aroused again and a capacity crowd is expected to jam its way into the Community club to watch the rejuvenated home team tackle Poquonock in the last game of the season tonight. Play will start at 8:30. There will be no dancing.

Poquonock and Wapping are dead rivals and a large crowd always turns out whenever the two teams meet. The St. Joseph's team holds a 37 to 35 decision over Wapping as the result of a five-minute overtime game played recently in Poquonock.

Wapping hopes to square accounts this evening. Manager Raymond Belcher announces that his team will take on additional strength for the game.

He has secured the services of two of the best players on the Plainfield team—Roy Norris, who will jump center, and Hap Madden who will fill one of the backcourt positions. Both men are Manchester boys as are Herby Kerr, Joe Pentland and Francis McCollum, who are expected to get into the Poquonock lineup.

Harris Gives Low Down On Washington Senators

Editor's Note:—This is the fourth of a series of stories by Davis J. Walsh on major league clubs in training. Others will follow:

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Tampa, Fla., March 15.—Having an open mind and an inclination to speak it, Stanley Harris got right down to brass knuckles with the writer today and released the following thoughts about the Washington Senators of 1927:

That Walter Johnson will be available by May first but that the club is disposed to depend on him less this year than in any other of his major league career.

That Tris Speaker looks like a cool million; that the story about his eyes being bad is the unmitigated bunk, as evidenced by his .538 batting average in training camp games to date; that Speaker knows more baseball than he Stanley Harris himself, does and that Speaker is going out of his way to help the young players on the club; that Speaker will play Major league baseball for at least two seasons, no one.

Splendid Pitchers
That the Senators have the greatest collection of young pitchers Harris ever has seen; so good, in fact, that he fears it may be his painful duty to part company with a man who is listed among his first line pitchers.

That John Berger, of Lake Charles, La., will be his second catcher and might be his first, if only the young man could hit, which, seemingly, he cannot.

That Hollis Thurston, acquired by barter from the Chicago Sox, is a smart pitcher and Chuck Meyer a great young hitter.

He then proceeded to add to these observations such miscellaneous data as the fact that, good as Reeves looks at shortstop, Meyer looks better, and that, barring a general collapse of his pitching, he doesn't see how he can go wrong.

"A pitching flop doesn't seem to be possible, however," Harris declared. "Johnson, of course, is getting old but he will win his fifteen games for us and so will Coveleskie. As for Thurston, if he doesn't win more than that I will be a most astounded young man. Johnson's injury would have been a disaster to us in 1924 but, as it is, it will give these great young pitchers a chance to get going early and I don't think they will disappoint us."

"Meyer will be a better ball player for us this year, with Peckinpah out of the way and the knowledge that the shortfield position is his.

A Young Club.
"In many respects, we are a young club again, with comparative youth at shortstop, second base, third base, left field and occasionally in the box. Furthermore, the positions occupied by veterans being forfeited by young utility men."

It is understood that Harris intends to carry the following interchangeable parts:

Emmet McCann, back again this time from Columbus, as understudy to Joe Judge at first base; "Stuffy" Stewart, another major league hangover, to replace Harris himself, when necessary; Reeves as extra man on the left side of the infield to fill in for either Meyer or Ossie Flegge; and Earl McNeely and possibly Sam West, rookies, to augment the regular outfield of Sam Rice, Goose Goslin and Speaker.

Two young pitchers, Irving Hadley, a right hander from Lynn, Mass. via Birmingham, and Horace Lisenbee, from Memphis, have made a good impression.

It is believed that Johnson, Coveleskie, Thurston, Alvin Crowder, Jones and Lisenbee may do the firing from the front line trenches, with Marberry and Braxton turnleuhing right and left handed relief pitching while you wait.

George Murray also may be retained.

FISTIC FATHERS PUNCH RICKARD

Cancel His License For Paolino - Heeny Bout Week From Wednesday.

New York, March 15.—The boxing commission hit back at Tex Rickard at their meeting yesterday and canceled his heavyweight boxing license between Uscudun Paolino and Tom Heeny scheduled for March 23rd at Madison Square Garden. This action was taken because of violation by Rickard of the commission ruling prohibiting the payment of more than fifty per cent to principals in a main fight.

The commission charged that the Garden promoter had paid Paul Berlenbach 32 1-2 per cent and Mike McTigue 20 per cent for their fight on January 28.

Rickard made no denial of the commission's allegations, stating that the reports of the fighters' payments were sent down to the office of the solons the day following the contest and showed what disbursements had been made.

Rickard left before James Farley, chairman of the board and George Brewer, the only commissioners present, called in newspapermen and announced their decision. William Muldoon, the other member of the board did not attend meeting.

Commissioner Brewer moved the following resolution which has adopted:

"Be it resolved that the commission recall its permission for Madison Square Garden to operate on March 23 or any other day that week on the ground the Garden presented to the commission contracts which were in fact misleading and not the true contracts entered into between the Garden, Paul Berlenbach, Michael McTigue and their managers."

Just what action Rickard will take is not known as he was not left their offices for the Madison Square Garden.

The boxing board stated contracts on file for the fight showed that Berlenbach was to receive 30 per cent and McTigue 20 per cent but that a new agreement, not filed with them but which later came into their possession, called for new figures with Berlenbach getting 32 1-2 per cent.

FOOTBALL GAME HERE COST BURNSIDES $800

Team Footed All Expenses of Two Players Injured in Manchester Contest.

It has just come to light that injuries sustained in a football game played in Manchester last fall cost the All-Burnside team approximately $800.

Manager Nick Angello of the Cub football team which played the Burnside eleven said today that Manager John Lange has informed him of the serious financial setback which the game brought.

Two players were injured. One suffered a broken leg and another a broken arm. It was the first injury that was the most expensive.

According to Lange the Burnside team stood good for approximately all the expenses of the patients which is said to be unusual for semi-professional clubs where often an injured player has to foot his own doctor's bills. The Burnside club obtained the money by giving benefit dances and other entertainments.

Additional strength for the game. He has secured the services of two of the best players on the Plainfield team—Roy Norris, who will jump center, and Hap Madden who will fill one of the backcourt positions. Both men are Manchester boys as are Herby Kerr, Joe Pentland and Francis McCollum, who are expected to get into the Poquonock lineup.

The probable lineups:
Wapping Poquonock
G. Hills Pentland
Pospisl rf Cunningham
Norris lf J. Romakam
Madden c Kerr
Boyce rg R. Romakam
Referee: Connie Diets.

Genevieve goes to the forest where her baby is nursed by the milk of a deer and the two live in the woods for long time. Meanwhile Sigfrid returns from the war and is told by Golo that his betrothed has become betrothed to the hero, Sigfrid, but is desired by the tyrant, Golo.

Sigfrid leaves for the wars and Golo remains behind to rule over his vast domains. He sees his chance to sojourn in the young girl, but after she is imprisoned he is unable to force his attentions upon her.

Enraged, Golo orders the girl to be killed and her tongue brought to him as a proof that she is dead. Her kind-hearted jailers listen to plead and spare her life, bring the tyrant the tongue of a dog.

Country Store Back at State Wednesday

Surprises Planned—Two Features; "Casey" Ends Run Tonight.

The County Store, bigger and better arranged with more surprises than ever, comes back to the State theater tomorrow night after an absence of several months. And for the occasion the S's has arranged for the presentation of two good features in addition to the surprises which will be on the program.

First of all, David Belasco's triumph, "The Return of Peter Grimm," appears in the headline position on the program. "Peter Grimm" deals with the theory that the dead can return to earth to advise or to direct their friends. Peter Grimm was one of these spirits and in the film he is as real, as a ghost.

Victor Schertzinger selected a great cast, headed by Alec B. Francis, for "The Return of Peter Grimm."

Jane Gaylor and Richard Walling, young favorites, have to romantic leads. John Roche is the "menace."

Others in the cast are John St. Polis, Bodil Rosing, Lionel Belmondo, Elizabeth Patterson, Florence Gilbert, Mickey McBan, Yvonne Gilma, Marshall, Sammy Cohen and others.

George O'Hara figures to quite an extent in the second feature of the evening, "The Timid Terror." A young man suffering from an in-

Life of Beautiful Saint in Picture Form at Circle.

One of the greatest films that has ever been produced by a European company is "The Life of St. Genevieve," which is showing at the Circle theater today and tomorrow. Acting such as has never before been performed by a foreign troupe helps to make this spectacle one to be remembered for a long while.

The picture gives the life of the so-called "best beloved saint." It is laid in Italy where the innocent

GAS BUGGIES—More People in the Same Boat

THE FARINAS THIS MORNING EARLY DUMPED EVERYTHING IN A TAXI AND SKIPPED OUT. HOW THEY EVER LUGGED MY LAWNMOWER ALONG IS BEYOND ME. BUT THEY DID. I CAN FIND HIDE NO HIDE AROUND THE PLACE.

HEM WHEN ARRIVED AT HIRAM FARINA'S HOUSE AND FOUND IT EMPTY, HE STEPPED INTO THE NEIGHBORHOOD TO INQUIRE AS TO HIS WHEREABOUTS, AND FOUND HE HAD TOUCHED ON SUBJECT OF MUTUAL INTEREST.

YOU'RE ONLY THE SIXTH PERSON WHO'S BEEN AROUND LOOKING FOR THEM.

TWENTY NO SURPRISE TO ME WHEN THE FURNITURE COLLECTORS START CALLING EVERY DAY. IT'S ONLY A MATTER OF TIME.

WE LEARNED OUR LESSON FROM THE FARINAS THE MINUTE THEY MOVED IN WE BEGAN TO MISS THINGS... SO TODAY, AFTER THEY LEFT, I LOOKED OVER THE JUNK THEY THREW OUT AND FOUND NEARLY EVERYTHING... BUT BUSTED.

BELIEVE ME, WE'LL BE MIGHTY COOL TO THE NEXT TENANT THAT MOVES IN. IT'LL SAVE US GETTING ALL HET UP OVER THINGS LATER ON.

THEY LEFT SO MANY FORWARDING ORDERS I COULDN'T REMEMBER ONE OF THEM.

IF EVERYONE WHO'S LOOKING FOR 'EM WOULD CHIP IN A DOLLAR EACH, THERE'D BE A NICE JUICY REWARD FOR SOMEBODY.

HEY, MAW! THE AXE AND HAMMER ARE MISSING TOO.

NOW YOU ASK ONE

ARE YOU A NAVY MAN?

Nearly everybody is interested in the United States navy. "Now You Ask One" for today, therefore, ought not to be hard—the questions all deal with the navy. The answers are printed on another page.

- 1—During the World War this admiral directed America's naval operations. Who is he?
- 2—What American and British ships fought the most notable naval engagements of the Revolutionary War?
- 3—What American naval officer commanded the winning vessel in that fight?
- 4—What naval officer led American ships against the Barbary pirates in the early years of the last century?
- 5—What naval architect during the Civil War revolutionized naval designs by installing turrets for warships' guns?
- 6—What was Farragut's "flagship at the battle of Mobile Bay?"
- 7—What officer opened what naval engagement by remarking to his chief gunner, "You may fire when ready, Gridley?"
- 8—What lieutenant, who later became a congressman, distinguished himself by his bravery in the operations of Cuba in the Spanish-American War?
- 9—What American cruiser was destroyed, apparently by a floating mine, near the United States coast during the World War?
- 10—What navy collier mysteriously disappeared with all on board while enroute north from South America during the World War?

When the next war comes Chicago won't notice it.

A Main street man gazing across the street one day last week, remarked that you don't have to see a girl's face to tell whether she is good looking or not.

Maud Muller on a summer's day Raked the meadows, sweet with hay. You'd hardly expect a girl, you know, in summer time to shovel snow.

SENSE and NONSENSE

We talked to a goot today who says he has at last found the girl of his dreams. He says she has only been kissed twice. (Once by the Pacific Fleet and once by the Atlantic Fleet).

The wife's kin are also more numerous than the husband's.

Capable as our radio inventors seem to be, they have yet to give us a satisfactory loud speakeasy.

Honest man: One who will walk up to the counter and say: "I want to buy an apron for dishwashing purposes for myself."

Little Lessons in Etiquette
Brain your baby, shoot your man, Overlook these things I can; But I'd be mortified, my sweet, If you with your fingers should eat.

Strangle your wife with her hair, Smash your daughter with a chair; Keep your home embroiled in strife But do not eat peas with your knife.

Hit poor grand-dad with an axe In grand-dad's mince pie put some tacks, Wear clothes ruined by mould and moth But don't wipe your mouth on the table cloth.

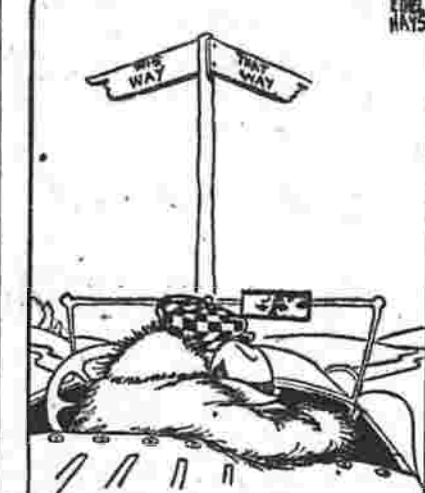

Never worry 'bout your looks, Care not for your classic books, Wear a sock that 'a got a hole, But don't drink out'er the finger bowl.

Some men are afraid of lightning, Other men are afraid of thunder, Other men are afraid of women, Every man is afraid of something.

"Tis the woman who Pays, and Pays, And Pays!" Perhaps, but did you ever notice That it's Usually Man who Supplies Her With The Cash?

"If she wears old-fashioned gold rings, they usually indicate that she has old-fashioned ideas about divorce."

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture)

The Tynmites enjoyed their meal, and Clowny said, "Well, now I feel like taking quite a cozy nap, out there beneath the sun." The man who'd fed them laughed aloud and then replied to all the crowd, "Tis better, after eating, if you exercise, and run."
So, all the bunch jumped up to play, but Clowny found a pile of hay and said, "I'll just flop down a while, I'm much too tired to stand, I think right here's where I belong. Now, please don't let me sleep too long." And, as he stopped his walking, he was lost in slumberland.
The rest played 'round an hour or two, and then the first thing that they knew, they, one by one, began to feel their eyes grow very weak. At first it started quite a fuss. Then Scouty said, "Why, what ails us is that we've simply grown too tired. A nap we'd better sneak."
They joined poor Clowny in the hay just at the end of this bright day, and everybody slept real sound until the break of dawn. When morning came they all arose and quickly dusted off their clothes. They stopped to thank Tom's father, then the Tynmites were gone.

They walked along the road 'til noon. 'Twas day, of course, but even so, the moon was in the sky. Their eyesight had to be real keen, or else the moon could not be seen. It's often faint in daytime, but you'll see it if you try.
And then they came upon a cat. He had a fiddle and he sat a-playing funny music while the queer cow did her trick. And then wee Scouty stopped to shout, "This cow and cat we've read about, in Mother Goose's Nursery Rhymes. I think them very slick."
(The Tynmites see the dish running away with the spoon in the next story.)

Rough Spot at Adams Street Soon to Be Smoothed; East End Oiling Done.

Employees of the local branch of the State Highway department have finished oiling the state road from the Center to the Bolton line near Finley street. The road as far as that point is in rather good condition now. Completion of the new stretch of road from Adams street to the beginning of Twin Hills will begin as soon as the front is out of the ground, it is said.

This part of the road was left unfinished during the cold spell which came just as the Center street paving was being completed last fall. It is about 100 yards in length and at present has no asphalt or concrete covering.

MEN'S FRIENDSHIP CLUB IN MEETING

Boy Scouts Show Ceremony; Editor Ferguson Is Speaker.

A supper of scalloped oysters was enjoyed by the members of the Men's Friendship club of the South Methodist church last night previous to the business session. About 40 of the men were present. The meal was prepared, cooked and served in the church, including the freshly baked apple pie. It was a fine supper and was put on by the ladies of the church. The supper over, the party adjourned to the chapel where the business session was held, with Frank Pearson presiding.

A number of important matters of business were disposed of and following the business, the troop of Boy Scouts of the church under the leadership of Raymond S. Mercer took part in the impressive investiture ceremony. Nine boys took the tenderfoot scout oath. Other members of the troop received badges for points gained, given by Louis St. Clair Burr of the Boy Scout Council. Mr. Burr complimented the boys on the work accomplished. He urged them to take greater interest in hikes during the spring and summer and to appear in their uniforms as often as possible.

President Pearson told the boys that more than 25 years ago he was a scout in England and served under General Baden-Powell. Following the scout exhibition Thomas Ferguson of The Evening Herald gave the men and boys a word picture of what it means to get out a daily newspaper from finding the news to receiving the printed and folded paper from the press. A plate all ready for the press was exhibited. Sticks of type were passed around by the boys showing the work of the type-setting machine from the finest print to the large face type for display advertisements.

President Pearson announced that for the April meeting he had secured for a speaker a Hartford man who is connected with Colt's Patent Fire Arms company.

MISS CHURCH TO WRITE HISTORICAL PAGEANT

Miss Lella Church of Rockville, who has many friends in this town, has just been commissioned by the town of Antrim, N. H., to write and direct a historical pageant, the episodes of which will depict its history for the last 150 years. It will be remembered that Miss Church was the writer and director of Manchester's Centennial pageant, and as was the case here, the historical pageant will be the outstanding feature of the sesquicentennial at Antrim. Through a small town situated just northeast of Keene, N. H., a large sum has been appropriated to put over the celebration which will take place in August.

Miss Church's fame as an author and director of historical pageants has spread all through New England, and although events of this kind are not of frequent occurrence, she is usually chosen by pageant committees to have charge of that part of such celebrations.

Miss Church recently presented here under the auspices of Orford Parish Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, a play entitled "Three Hundred Years of Style," and during the past few weeks has been busy coaching the play by the Hartford Fire girls.

It was said today that Alphonse Boggi, injured member of the S. M. H. S. basketball team may make the trip to the Yale tournament with the squad but will not don a suit. Elmo Mantell, another former player and a sort of assistant coach under Clarke will also go.

BASEBALL CALL
 The Warriors of the North End, who have nearly completed a successful basketball season, will hold an important baseball meeting and practice session Saturday, in the rear of the Harding school gym.

It is planned to purchase suits and equipment for the entire team. Games have already been arranged with fast teams in Hartford, Willimantic, Rockville, Winsted and other places. The following men should report at 1 o'clock: Reid Wells, Coe, B. Radding, G. Wheaton, Klotzer, Tanner, A. Chambers, Hill, T. Chambers, Nacousky and any others who wish a try-out.

Pat McCavanaugh, who has been convalescing since his arm injury some time ago when he fell off a motorcycle, expects to be able to don the ring togs again before long.
