BOTTLE-NECK AT CENTER TO BE WIDENED

Selectmen to Confer With Center Church Officials On Elimination Congestion At Town's Busiest Spot.

A widening of the Center where Main, Center and East Center streets meet by cutting into the property of the Center Congregational church which meets with the approval of both the Center church officials and the Board of Selectmen was brought before the town board in meeting last night. Although proposed plans have been drawn and members of the Center church and the Selectmen who have seen them agree on the changes, no definite action can be taken until a joint meeting has been held and the Ecclesiastical Society of Center church has adopted the officials' proposals.

The proposed changes would allow the town to cut back the corner of Center church property to a large oak tree which now stands in the church lawn. This would allow for a better approach to East Center street so that the state's plans for an improved highway from the Center east could be carried out. The present bottle-neck condition at Manchester's busiest corner would be practically done away with and traffic congestion alleviated.

To Meet Soon
The Board of Selectmen will meet with representatives of the church society soon to go over the plans. If approved the church city will be asked to adopt the proposals and then the whole matter will be brought before a town meeting.

The Selectmen were in session for five hours last night and covered a large number of important subjects. The only scheduled hearing was one for the alteration of a building line on McKee street. The only interested property owners were Karl Marks and Cheney Epiphany. Mr. Marks appeared and asked that a ten foot line be established on McKee street south from the corner property for 124 feet. No one appeared to oppose the line and it was voted.

Wrong Assessment
Albert P. Dewey, president of the police commission, appeared to inform the board that he believed the property assessment on the Dewey-Richman frontage on Main street was unreasonable. He stated that he had appeared before the assessors on the matter. They referred him to the board of relief, but this board informed Mr. Dewey that it was too much trouble to make any change this year. The board of assessors admitted a mistake had been made in the assessment but that it was beyond their power to rectify it. The Selectmen could do nothing since the books have been closed and Mr. Dewey's only recourse is to sue.

It was disclosed that there are three changes in property assessments between Blissett street and Birch street. Mr. Dewey maintained that property lines should not determine property values necessarily. He did not ask the Selectmen to take any action, but merely wanted to let them know of the situation.

Street Condition
Robert Johnston and Robert Hughes, who own property on Doane street at the north end of the town asked that the town accept Doane street and repair it. They claim it is in terrible condition and that they cannot sell buildings lots because of it. Doane street runs south from Woodbridge street and will eventually meet

SMITH GIRLS ARE ON SKATES

The Real Kind, However, and Police Chief is Worried Over Traffic Regulations.

Northampton, Mass., March 17.—Smith college girls, at least half of the two thousand undergraduates, were on roller skates today, and citizens of the city were literally dizzy over the advent of the new coffee fad.

College girls skating to and from classes and through the business district created a serious traffic problem. Pedestrians were obliged to make sure that the sidewalks were clear before venturing out. Autolists were developing nervous disorders dodging girl skaters in the streets.

To add to the confusion, skaters of roller skates were being rushed here to supply the demand of Smith girls, who have exhausted the stocks in every store in the city.

A city ordinance provides that anything on wheels or runners is a vehicle and Police Chief Batholomew Brennan was considering means of enforcing this rule for protection of the roller-skating college girls and the general public.

Night skating by the fair collegiates causes special problems. A city ordinance required all vehicles to carry a white light in front and a red light in the rear and Chief Brennan said today he was wondering if he would have to order the college girls to carry lighting equipment as they speed about the city.

CLEANER MILK SUPPLY, AIM OF HEALTH BOARD

Proposed Changes in Regu- lations Would Give Man- chester Highest Quality; Good Records Now.

Manchester's unusually high quality milk supply will be further protected if the local Board of Health's proposed changes in milk regulations here receive the approval of the state commissioner, Dr. D. C. Y. Moore, chairman of the local health board and Dr. Fred F. Bushnell, local sanitary inspector, appeared before the Selectmen last night and presented a copy of the proposed revisions in the present regulations.

The outstanding feature in the changes would be the requirement that all milk, sold, used or given away in Manchester whether pasteurized or raw must come from tuberculin tested cows. This feature meets with the approval of resident distributors of milk. It will affect city dealers who deliver here, and might be so far reaching that certain large dealers would have to stop selling in Manchester.

Other Changes
Other changes in the regulations require that new dealers must give a ten-day notice before starting in business, that a steam or hot water sterilizing process must be part of the equipment of any dealer who bottles milk, and that anyone selling his milk room or house separate from living quarters, sheds housing animals or from toilets, and that all milk cans be properly protected from animals and flies.

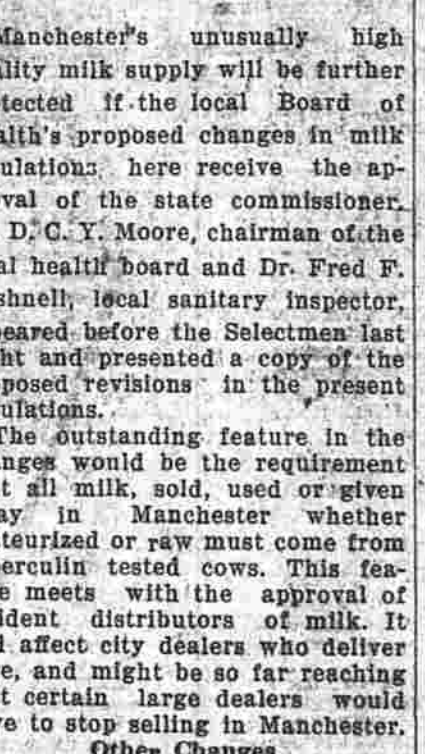

Most of these regulations are at present complied with by local dealers. Dr. Moore said that he believed that every milk dealer in Manchester and most of the larger dealers who come here from just outside the town are in favor of these changes. Dr. Moore was liberal in his praise of Manchester's milk supply. He said that federal inspectors who have been here recently said that Manchester stands unusually high in the quality of the milk it uses. Dr. Bushnell said that 84 per cent of the cows in Manchester have been tuberculin tested.

To Have Hearing
Before the proposed changes in the local regulations can become effective a hearing will be called by the state board in charge of milk regulation. Any dealer who

REED AT FORD TRIAL

There is no mistaking the face at the right! It is that of United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, presidential possibility and leader of Henry Ford's attorneys in the Sapiro case.

George Higgins of Kansas City, Reed's law partner, is pictured with him. It is another remarkable photograph taken of the Detroit legal battle over a million dollars, co-operative marketing and Ford's criticism of the Jews.

EVACUATION OF NANKING UNDER WAY

Cantonese Capture Two More Cities—Fighting On All Sides—No Great Loss Of Life.

London, March 18.—The Cantonese have captured Wukiang and Lihui and are now closing in upon Nanking, according to dispatches received here today.

The Daily Telegraph correspondent declares that the northerners have already begun the evacuation of Nanking.

The Westminster Gazette correspondent states that all is in readiness for the evacuation of Shanghai.

The Daily Sketch reports that General Pi Shou Chen, northern general defending Shanghai, is negotiating with General Chiang Kai Shek for the peaceful occupation of Shanghai by the Cantonese.

POLICE SEARCHING FOR $100,000 LOOT

Man Held In New York Said He Buried It In North Da- kota Cemetery.

New York, March 18.—A bold robber was on the hands of the New York police today but they passed the buck to Chicago to find the robbery.

Frederick Buhl, 24, the "millionaire kid," says he is the robber. A $300,000 holdup of a train on the Chicago and Alton near Alton, Ill., on August 23, 1923, is the alleged robbery.

Six Bandits
There were six bandits, declared Buhl, and two of the boys covered the fireman and engineer of the train bound for St. Louis with automobiles from the roof of the first car. Other syndicate members of the band swung down from the top of the mail car, pitched tear and gas bombs through an open window overcoming two clerks.

Got $50,000.
The "millionaire kid" received $50,000 for his part in the hold up, he confessed, and buried the loot in a cemetery on the outskirts of Bismarck, North Dakota.

Postal agents and police are still tumbling the record in an attempt to find a reference to the robbery.

10 DEAD, 20 HURT IN BIG TORNADO

Houses Wrecked, Trees Up- rooted and Trains Are Forced to Stop.

Benton, Ark., March 18.—Ten dead and twenty injured was the toll of a tornado which swept through this section of the state last night. Several small towns were hit by the storm and property damage was considerable.

The dead are:
Mrs. Edgar Smith, Klondyke.
Clifford Smith, 2.
Floyd McAllister, 30, Willis.
Ola Moody, 18, Mountain View.
Jennie Cash, 22.
Helen Cash, 15.
Matthew Cash, 15.
Ardie Cash, sister of Jennie and Matthew.

Mr. and Mrs. John Buckalew, of Point View.
Originating in the southwest, the tornado struck Klondyke about nine o'clock last night.

Several missing
Several persons were still unaccounted for and the death toll may grow.

More than twenty homes were blown away. Trees uprooted, houses unroofed and trains forced to stop until the storm subsided. The towns of Klondyke, Mountain View, Collegeville, Willis, Benton and Alexander were struck by the storm, which originated in the south.

All the towns struck are located within a radius of forty miles of Little Rock. This city's only damage was a brick wind and a rain which continued all night.

The body of little Inez Smith was not found until this morning. She had been missing since her mother and little brother were found crushed to death. Her tiny body was found in the debris of the Smith home.

The death list was swollen when the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Buckalew were brought to Benton from Point View. Five injured were taken to a Benton hospital from the same town.

YOUNG MAN CONFESSES TO FIVE BURGLARIES

Police In Waterbury Trying to Check Recent Crime Wave; Hold Another Suspect.

Waterbury, Conn., March 18.—Charles Pratt, eighteen, was arrested at the Central Young Men's Christian Association this morning on suspicion of having committed several burglaries in this city. Pratt later confessed that he had committed five burglaries within the last three days and in his possession the police say they found several hundred dollars worth of diamond rings and money. The prisoner will be given a hearing in Police Court tomorrow.

Another arrest was that of Arthur Hobart, who will be charged in court tomorrow with robbing a store on Main street several days ago. The police are looking for three companions said to be occupants of the automobile driven by Hobart at the time of the hold up.

Two other arrests follow a drive by police because of a series of robberies and hold ups in this city. Police report that there have been seven robberies, two hold ups and eight automobiles stolen within the past few days.

ACTRESS STRANGLER IN HER HOTEL ROOM

Suspect Says He Quarreled With Her But Denies Killing Chorus Girl.

Erie, Pa., March 18.—Virginia Gibson, Philadelphia chorus girl in a backstage show which closed its run here last night, was found strangled to death in her room in a hotel here early today, police reported.

Police arrested K. H. Bechtel, 25, of Buffalo, and lodged him in jail on a murder charge in connection with the case.

Police said Bechtel admitted quarreling with the actress after their return from a party late last night. Both were guests of the same hotel, where Bechtel was arrested shortly after the actress' body was found, scantily clad, in her room.

Bechtel said he came to Erie from Buffalo on business, according to police, and met the actress through a bell boy at the hotel.

500 CASES OF TYPHOID REPORTED IN MONTREAL

Spread of Disease Caused by Infected Milk—Hospitals Crowded With Patients.

Montreal, Que., March 18.—The typhoid epidemic here passed the two hundred mark today when the director of the Department of Health reported 508 cases since last January 1.

The spread of the disease had been caused by infected milk supplied by numerous dealers, it was officially announced. Stoppage of milk shipment from unauthorized dealers has been ordered.

Montreal hospitals are overwhelmed by the influx of typhoid patients. Despite the opening of emergency wards many cases have been turned away due to lack of facilities for handling.

20 KILLED BY AUTOS IN STATE LAST MONTH

Over 400 Injured, Among Them 115 Children—Man- chester Had 6 Accidents.

Hartford, Conn., March 18.—The grim reaper still uses the motor car in Connecticut. Twenty persons were killed by such vehicles in the month of February, three of the victims being children. The state motor vehicle department, issuing its monthly figures covering February, shows 1,288 motor vehicle accidents occurred in the month, causing 334 persons to be injured, besides those who were slain. Children numbering 115 were injured. Deaths in February, 1927 total eleven more than in February, 1926, while the injured this February were 49 above the number hurt in the previous February.

Accident totals for eighteen cities of the state during February were: Hartford 184, New Haven 132, Bridgeport 115, Waterbury 89, New Britain 65, Stamford 33, New London 22, Meriden 22, Norwich 18, Greenwich 20, Middletown 18, Naugatuck 7, Manchester 6, Patnam 3, Williamstown 3.

The month of February created a record of its own in the matter of motor car registration, presumably because of mild weather. The state reports 10,254 cars were registered in the month as compared with 2,241 in February, 1926.

CROOKS GET $60,000 IN GEMS IN CHICAGO

Switch Packages In Hotel; New York Firm Loser In Transaction.

Chicago, March 18.—Theft of $60,000 in diamond jewelry from the safe vaults of the Congress hotel was reported to the authorities early today. The loot was the property of Adolph Lathrop & Co., Inc., of New York City.

Detectives are searching for members of the "Ritchie gang," a notorious band of jewel thieves known to have been operating in midwestern cities during recent weeks.

The jewels were placed in the hotel vault last Saturday by Arthur S. Brower of Grand Rapids, Mich., western representative of the New York firm of importers.

By a clever ruse, the thieves switched the receipt check given Mr. Brower, Sunday, a man posing as a jewelry salesman, deposited a package resembling the Brower package in the same vault.

When Brower called for his jewels last night, his package was gone and the dummy, containing nothing of value, was in its place. It is believed the strange "salesman" holding Brower's check, received his package.

WAIT FOR DR. COOK AS SOON AS FREED

Cleveland Officials Want Him Held For Using Mails to Defraud.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 18.—United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein today sent a telegram to the warden of the Fort Leavenworth Kansas federal prison, requesting that Dr. Frederick A. Cook be held for federal authorities here, on an indictment returned in 1925, charging Cook with using the mails to defraud.

Cook was convicted at Fort Ticonderoga on a similar charge in connection with oil deals.

At Fort Worth he was sentenced to serve fourteen years and nine months in the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth. He is now eligible for parole and official announcement of this was made yesterday at Fort Worth, though he was not immediately released.

Bernstein plans to have Cook brought back here on his release from the Kansas prison.

JAIL-BREAKING PLOT

Another Jail-Breaking Plot by Three Convicts Held in the Will County Jail for Execution, Was Disclosed Today with the Finding of a Hack Saw Blade, Two Steel Bars Sharpened to Dagger Points and Three Revolver Bullets.

Joliet, Ill., March 18.—Another jail-breaking plot by three convict killers held in the Will county jail for execution, was disclosed today with the finding of a hack saw blade, two steel bars sharpened to dagger points and three revolver bullets.

The finds were made in cells occupied by Charles Shady, Charles Duchowski and Walter Stalesky, who with three Mexicans were convicted of killing Deputy Warden Peter Kiehn during the Stateville penitentiary break last May.

Boston, Mass., March 18.—Trial of Guy W. Holmes, unfrocked Methodist minister of New Bedford, facing serious charges on complaint of Miss Antoinette Fortin, 19, former tea room waitress, was deferred today pending agreement between counsel for settlement of a definite date.

Holmes, with his counsel, H. E. Woodward of New Bedford appeared in Suffolk Superior Criminal Court today when the case was called. Because of the number of witnesses to be examined by the district attorney's office the postponement was agreed to.

Mr. Holmes was unfrocked at a conference held last year at the South Methodist church here.

VESUVIUS ACTIVE AGAIN; NO DANGER

Frequent Explosions Heard In Crater of Volcano—Peasants Worried.

Naples, March 18.—Mount Vesuvius today was again active. The volcano burst into sudden activity during the night, shooting forth fountains of liquid fire, lighting up the countryside for miles around. The spectacle drew throngs of spectators.

Frequent explosions accompanied the belching of flames.

The officials of the observatory state there is no danger to either tourists or inhabitants of the slopes of Vesuvius, but the peasant folk are apprehensive as they always are when the volcano is in eruption.

The present activity is believed due to a sinking of the crater.

Green Road. The highway committee will investigate.

A petition was received from property owners on Fairview street asking for the construction of sidewalks and curbing. The petition was presented by David Chambers and signed by George H. Waddell. A hearing will be called.

Residents on the south side of School street from Spruce to Glenwood streets entered a petition for sidewalk construction. A hearing on this request will also be called.

Want to be Dog Warden
Several requests for the office of town dog warden have been received by the Board of Selectmen. All of them were tabled. The present warden is Fred Krahn. Mr. Krahn did not get his last appointment from the town. The Selectmen did not name a dog warden and Mr. Krahn was appointed by the state.

It was brought out at last night's discussion that this office is one of the best paying of the appointments in Manchester. Mr. Krahn has averaged about $80 a month, and the work, while disagreeable at times, is comparatively easy. The warden gets $3 for each dog killed and $3 for each case, involving dogs, investigated. The warden must provide a pound for dogs and must take care of the burial of dogs he kills.

Other Petitions
Robert W. Chambers and seven other property owners on Server street in the West Side Heights section petitioned the Selectmen for street lights. The lighting committee will investigate.

A petition was received from William Gudattis and other property owners on Anderson street asking for the acceptance by the town of that street. It runs off Liberty street between Hemlock and Elm streets. The highway committee will investigate.

Robert Reid, who owns property at the corner of Main and Washington streets appeared before the board asking a permit for a gasoline station in front of his house at this corner. Mr. Reid was informed that such a permit would have to come from the state since Main street is a state road.

Paul Correnti of Birch street applied for a permit for a gasoline station in front of his place of business. The highway committee will investigate.

Joseph Tedford, a local milk dealer, appeared before the board asking that Academy street extension be graded so that sewer pipes can be laid to the sewer system on Plinkin street. An informal hearing on grading this new street and also Franklin street will be held at the next meeting, March 28.

A permit was requested for a gasoline station on South Main street opposite Spring street. This is a trunk line highway and the permit must be granted by the state.

Bills Paid
The building inspector, Edward C. Elliott Jr., made his monthly report last night. A complete copy of it will be found elsewhere in today's issue of The Herald. A large number of town bills were approved by the Selectmen and a copy of them will be found in today's Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. William Knofskie and other property owners entered a petition with the board for sidewalks on both sides of Flower street. A hearing will be called.

A contract was presented to the Selectmen last night by which the Town of Manchester agrees to provide a building for the State Trade school and furnish, light, water, power and heat. The contract also calls for the payment of a fee for local pupils and that 14 years of age in the seventh and eighth grades, this fee to be paid by the town.

Several questions about which members of the board were in doubt were brought up and the contract was tabled until information can be obtained from the trade school authorities.

The board members attached their signatures to maps and layouts of the streets accepted at the last town meeting.

Upon the recommendation of the public safety committee the Selectmen voted that a no parking restriction be laid on the west side of Trotter street.

Main street merchants have complained to the board that dirt, papers and other refuse collects rapidly on the street and in the gutters. They asked that a street cleaner be put on that thoroughfare regularly to keep it in a cleaner condition. One of the board members suggested that one man, "white legs" and all, be put on Main street to keep clean. Mayor Trent said that if the town decided to employ "white wings" it would only be one more step toward making Manchester a city.

Miss Alice Dexter, regent of Oxford Parish chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, would like to hear from the members within the next day or two, who desire to make reservations for the luncheon or supper in connection with the state meeting at Meriden, March 29 and 30. The meetings will be held at the First Congregational church, Colby street. Members of the Meriden chapter will act as hosts for those who desire to remain over night.

Louis M. and Robert Genovesi have leased the restaurant on North Main street from Mathew Merz.

The Men's Choral club will have their usual weekly rehearsal at the South Methodist church this evening.

Papers turning over the Cowles hotel property from Ellen Murphy to Harry Mintz were filed with the town clerk today.

Mrs. Sadie Robinson of the Lily Beauty shop returned today from a visit to New York City where she attended the Master Hair Dressers' convention at the Hotel Commodore the early part of the week. The balance of the time she spent with relatives in Bridgeport.

ADDY-FLAVELL
The marriage of R. John Addy of 43 Garden street and Miss Anne Flavell was recorded at the office of the town clerk this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Addy were married in Thompsonville in February, according to the record.

CLEANER MILK, AIM OF HEALTH BOARD

do not already comply with the new rulings when given a chance to voice their objections to the proposed changes. Dr. Moore is quite confident that the changes will be made, and that the local milk supply will be nearly 100 per cent pure.

In stressing the importance of tuberculin tests, Dr. Moore said that a large number of baby illnesses are now a thing of the past simply because tubercular milk is not sold as freely as in years gone by. Septic sore throats and diarrhea in babies is directly attributable to tubercular milk and the number of cases of such illnesses has been greatly decreased here in Manchester.

The Changes
The proposed changes in the milk regulations as presented to the Selectmen last night are as follows:

Section 2—Each application for license shall be in writing in duplicate upon blanks provided by the Board of Health not less than 10 days prior to the time it is desired to engage in or begin such business.

Section 6—Every dairy and dairy farm where milk is bottled or otherwise prepared for sale in excess of 25 quarts per day shall provide and maintain a milk room or milk house which does not communicate directly with any living room, kitchen, toilet, laundry, stable or place where animals are kept for slaughtering. The immediate vicinity of a milk house or milk room shall be kept free from accumulation of rubbish, garbage, manure and other putrefying decomposing or ill smelling substances or breeding places for flies. Privies shall be located not less than 100 feet from milk houses or milk rooms and shall be properly protected from access by animals or flies.

On and after July 1, 1927 a steam or hot water boiler and sterilizer shall be required as a necessary equipment for proper sterilization of all dairy utensils.

Section 9—On and after June 1, 1927 all milk whether pasteurized or raw, sold, used or given away in the Town of Manchester shall be only from cows having passed the tuberculin test, as approved by the commissioner of domestic animals.

TAKE IT FROM ONE, GIVE IT TO OTHER

If the new Chamber of Commerce sign on the Camp Meeting Woods road is taken as a boundary post Manchester will give to Bolton about 500 feet of perfectly good land. The new sign marking the entrance to the town is just 500 feet inside the town merestone.

Last year Manchester tried to steal about 500 feet from East Hartford, so, perhaps, this is just a case of "passing it."
Neither Manchester nor Bolton will worry much about the new sign, however, because the boundary mark is set deeply and firmly in the ground.

The South Manchester Salvation Army band and several soldiers of the local corps attended a missionary meeting at the Hartford corps last night. The speakers were Ensign and Mrs. Dempster, who have been in China for the past seven years. Ensign Dempster is a veteran of the World War and is a native of this country. His wife was born in Finland, of Swedish parents.

The condition of Henry Behring, who has been in the Memorial hospital as the result of an accident three weeks ago, was still critical and unimproved, it was said at the hospital this morning. Behring's leg was amputated, and a gangrene set in. He was given a blood transfusion by Helge Pearson on Tuesday.

The March party for the gym class of a East Side Recreation Center will be held Monday evening, March 28. All the members of the class are urged to be present next Monday evening to learn of the plans for the affair.

Such a good time was had at the Kiddle's party in February that it is expected there will be a full turnout of those who are eligible to attend.

IRISH AIRS PRECEDE ST. PATRICK'S DANCE

300 Persons Attend 50th Annual Ball of Ancient Order Hibernians.

A concert of Irish airs by Al Behrend's orchestra preceded the grand march at the 50th annual St. Patrick's Day ball given by Manchester Division No. 1, A. O. H., in K. of C. hall last night. More than 300 persons attended the affair, which was the principal St. Patrick's day observation in Manchester.

Strains of the "Wearing of the Green," "Kathleen Mavourneen," "Come Back to Erin," and other Irish songs entertained the dancers for an hour. Then the orchestra swung into the modern and old fashioned dance music.

The old fashioned numbers were prompted by Cornelius Foley. The general committee was headed by Leo Egan.

The hall was decorated in green and white, carried out in crepe paper and evergreen plants.

PUBLIC TO INSPECT MUNICIPAL BUILDING

Selectmen Set Tentative Dates For Open House—City Hall Now Complete.

Saturday and Sunday April 2 and 3 have been tentatively named as the days on which the people of Manchester and any others interested are especially invited to inspect the new Municipal building.

Although the building has been occupied by the various officials for the past two months all of the interior work had not been completed and the town authorities were not ready for visitors.

The building committee will be asked to approve of the dates arranged by the Selectmen last night. There is little doubt but that the days

THE LIFE OF CHRIST Jesus: Loving and Beloved

SYNOPSIS ARRANGED BY DR. WM. E. GILROY, D. D. SKETCHES BY KROESSEN

At Nain, Jesus met the funeral procession of the only son of a widow, and touching the bier restored the young man to life. (Luke VII: 11-15)

John the Baptist sent two disciples to ask Jesus, "Art thou he that should come? Or look we for another?" (Luke VII: 19)

Jesus told them to tell John how he was healing the sick and restoring the dead to life. (Luke VII: 22)

While Jesus was the guest of Simon the Pharisee, a sinful woman washed his feet with her tears and anointed them with ointment. Simon was scandalized, but Jesus said, "Her sins which are many are forgiven." (Luke VII: 36-50)

TEST ANSWERS

- Here are the answers to "Now You Ask One" for today, which is printed on the comic page: 1-An English scientist who propounded an explanation of the theory of evolution. 2-With the discovery of the law of gravity. 3-The theory of relativity. 4-William Harvey. 5-For his development of antiseptic surgery. 6-This ship carried Darwin on an extended scientific cruise, on which he gathered much of the data which later went into "The Origin of Species" and "The Descent of Man." 7-Gregor Johann Mendel. 8-In astronomy. 9-Benjamin Franklin. 10-Approximately 186,000 miles a second.

When she comes home again! A thousand ways I fashion, to myself, the tenderness Of my glad welcome, the tenderness Of my glad welcome; I shall tremble—yes; And touch her, as when first in the old days I touched her girlish hand, nor dared upraise Mine eyes, such was my faint heart's sweet distress; The silence; and the perfume of her dress; The room will sway a little, and a haze Cloy eyesight—soul-sight, even—for a space; And tears—yes; and the ache here in the throat. To know that I so ill deserve the place Her arms make for me; and the sobbing note I stay with kisses, ere the tearful face Again is hidden in the old embrace.—James Whitcomb Riley: "When She Comes Home."

IS THAT SO?

"Who will have your fine collection of pictures when you die?" "My children, when I marry?" "And if you have none?" "My grandchildren, I suppose."—Passing Show.

NEW YORK

New York, March 18.—The Broadway atmosphere seems to flavor almost everything that touches it for long—like gasoline in a pantry. Stores, soda fountains, restaurants, personalities find the germ infectious and their wares and tastes soon begin to reflect the manners and ways of the big street. Not even the church is immune. In the upper Forties, just off the "main racket," there is a church which rents its side halls to the folk of the entertainment world. It is not at all uncommon to hear an actor, hurrying to rehearsal, remark: "Gotta get over to church for rehearsal." The average visitor smiles at this, feeling that the actor is being facetious. As a matter of fact many a play has rehearsed in a room just above the lines of pews and the altar. I was told by a young man who had an engagement for dinner with an actress that he entered the church and, to his amazement, found a jazz band in rehearsal just off the choir loft. Looking in on the rehearsal he found the play to contain a huzzified barlot as one of the characters and of a type that the faithful Tennessee might not consider exactly nice. But it's all in a day's work for Broadway. Few who have actually had a finger in Broadway's pie manage to get very far away from it. And if they do, back they come. Having grown too old for the stage, the tent show racket or any of the show games they find jobs

GLARING HEADLIGHTS NOT VERY DANGEROUS

State Finds Few Accidents Attributable to This Cause in 1926 Report.

Glaring headlights, although a nuisance, have not been found to be especially dangerous in Connecticut. Out of more than 24,000 motor vehicle accidents occurring in this state last year, which was at the rate of about sixty-six a day, or nearly three an hour, only thirty-four were held to have been caused by glaring headlights. At most twice as many were due to automobiles being operated with insufficient light. Altogether there was a total of ninety-seven accidents in 1926 for which headlights were blamed. In the previous year, 1925, headlights were held responsible for 152 accidents.

It is estimated that the state motor vehicle department that the average night-time speed of automobiles in Connecticut is at the rate of about twenty-five miles an hour. A car moving thirty miles an hour can be stopped in sixty feet. The Connecticut law requires headlights sufficient to enable an operator to see ahead of him 135 feet further than that.

In a recent article, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Stoekel pointed out that if each operator would adjust his headlights whenever necessary, the glare nuisance would be largely eliminated. If it were not for the fact that the ordinary man will not do anything whatever in connection with his automobile or his accessories until something about them makes for his inconvenience as distinguished from the inconveniences of others," he said, "there would be no headlight problem."

HIGH SCHOOL SINGERS TO BROADCAST SOON

Some time in the near future Manchester radio fans are going to have the opportunity of listening to a musical program from Station WTIC in Hartford which will be broadcast by the musical clubs at the local high school.

Dana S. Merriman, musical director to the Hartford station, came to Manchester, Wednesday afternoon and listened to a special concert by the boys' and girls' glee clubs. He reported afterward that he was much impressed with the work of the clubs and would give them a booking at WTIC soon.

BIG CROWD SEES

"Hell and the Way Out" opened to a large audience at the State theater, South Manchester, yesterday afternoon at 2:15. The theater stated that, because of its especially full bill this week, the picture would be shown at 5 p. m., a little earlier than had previously been announced.

An information table in the lobby is equipped with various leaflets giving facts and history of the League of Nations about which the film "Hell and the Way Out" centers. About 4,000 people saw this film when it played at the Palace theater in Hartford March 1-3. Although it was shown at 5 p. m. in the afternoon only, the Palace was full for every showing, and the demand for a longer run in Hartford has been so great that it will be shown there again before the end of this month.

RAILROAD TRACKS SAFER THAN ROADS

Hartford, March 18.—The Public Utilities Commission is doubtful whether public highways are any safer than railroad tracks. The commission's doubt rises as a result of an extensive survey of fence conditions along railroad rights of way. New fences were ordered in some cases and in other reconstruction was demanded.

As a result of the study the commission said "it is doubtful if roaming domestic animals would be in a safer zone upon the public highways where rapidly moving high-powered motor vehicles are constantly passing than on railroad rights of way where the movement of trains is much less frequent." "Human life generally would be less endangered by animals on railroad property than roaming at large in the public highway."

EPIC OF GREAT WEST AT CIRCLE TOMORROW

Custer's Last Stand Features "Flaming Frontier"—Hoot Gibson in Title Role.

Custer's last stand! What memories of those heroic men who opened up the great West are conjured up when that great battle is mentioned. That battle in which not one man lived to tell the tale of the heroism and undaunted bravery with which a little body of men resisted the onslaught of hundreds of Indians for many hours. In the battle the heroic figure of General Custer, one of the bravest men of history, stands out head and shoulders above them all. That last stand is the climax of the great picture which comes to the Circle theater tomorrow, "The Flaming Frontier." Historically accurate and correct in every detail, the film blazes on the silver screen a lasting monument to Custer's men. It is in a sense a tribute to the builders of the West and in another sense is a memorial to those whose blood was spilled in the effort to make this country what it is today.

General Custer will never be forgotten and neither will "The Flaming Frontier." Both are great, one a great man who had a part in a great accomplishment, and the other a great accomplishment in itself.

That "The Flaming Frontier" is all that a historical film should be is attested to by the many letters which have been received from historical societies all over America commending the Universal Film corporation for the adept manner in which the picture was filmed.

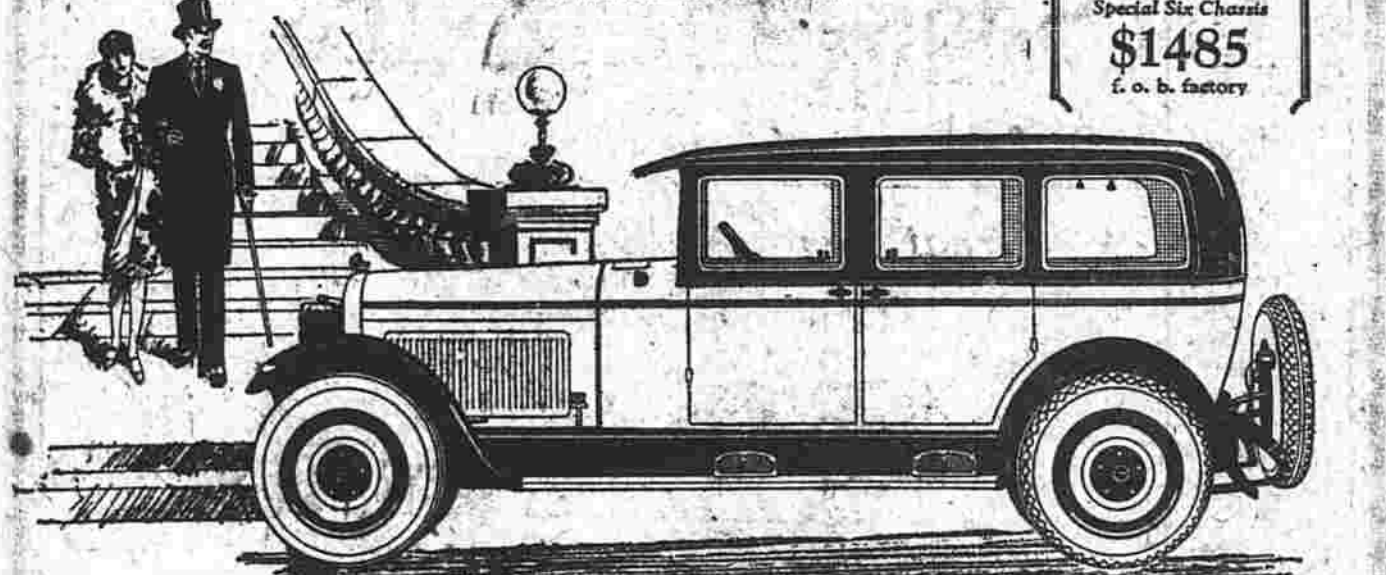

Tonight the Circle will show for the last time the mystery play, "Easy Pickings," with Anna Q. Nilsson in the title role, and also the newspaper story, "The Final Extra," both of them packed with thrills.

It is emphatically apparent today that Nash has created a new era in American enclosed body artistry with this arrestingly distinctive body design.

With its new symmetry of line, its classically beautiful French-type rear contour and French roof design, and its rich ensemble of costly car features, the new Special Sedan pictured above possesses magnetic appeal for those most keenly perceptive of motor car style and quality.

The steering wheel is of real walnut in fitting harmony with the handsome walnut finish of the inside window moldings, door panels, the instrument board and the crowned panel which is above the instrument board. The gray toned upholstery is genuine Chase Velmo Mohair Velvet, deeply tufted. And Nash powers it with a 7-bearing motor—the world's smoothest type.

So that in transcendent power-economy and quietness, in lightning-fast "pick-up," and in easeful roadability on the straightaway or climbing together with a world of speed, it stands out as the most notable car of its field.

As standard equipment there are Gabriel Snubbers at front; 4-wheel brakes, of special Nash design, with the front wheel brakes completely enclosed for safety's sake; and 5 disc wheels.

A larger Special Sedan on the Advanced Six Chassis, reflecting the same unsurpassed quality throughout, is offered at $1695 f. o. b. factory.

U. S. KNOCKS OUT COURT FEES OF OHIO JUSTICES

Supreme Court Puts End to Practice of Village Squires' Courts.

Columbus, O.—The lucrative trade of being a justice of the peace, the mayor of a village and presiding over the municipal or "may's court" in Ohio has come to an abrupt ending as a result of a recent decision by the United States Supreme court.

And throughout Ohio, in the villages and rural precincts, the "squires" and mayors are weeping very real tears of regret for their $10,000 a year incomes gone glimmering.

The Supreme court held that the Ohio law under which these petty courts were created was unconstitutional, because the "judges" received a split of the fees and fines collected from defendants, and were therefore not receiving the constitutional guaranteed trial by an unprejudiced tribunal.

Practically, here is how the thing has worked out for years in Ohio:

Raiders As Bailiffs
A mayor or justice of the peace in a village on the outskirts of the larger cities of the state would retain a dozen or more husky "raiders" as bailiffs or constables.

Unrestricted as to jurisdiction, these "run ferrets" as they were popularly known, would conduct hundreds of raids upon the private homes of citizens, under authority of search warrants issued at their request by the magistrates for whom they worked.

Finding the slightest evidence of possession of liquor, or any description, these constables would haul the possessor into the village court where the justice or mayor would usually assess a fine ranging from $200 to $1,000. The "judge" and the raiders would divide the fat fees resulting from these cases with the county or village.

A similar method of operation was used in the connection with the arrests of motorists. If the defendants could not or would not pay the fines, they were "permitted" to work them out at the rate of $1.50 a day.

Make Large Incomes
The incomes of some of these

"fee court judges" ranged upward from $10,000 to $12,000 a year. Raiders enjoyed incomes of $5000 or more. They rode in high-powered automobiles and wore expensive diamonds. The mayor of many a tiny village enjoyed a larger income than the governor of the state.

Illustrating the lengths to which the "fee grabbers" would go, was the case of one man whose home was raided, and who was fined $250. The "run ferrets" found, high on a forgotten shelf of his pantry, a bottle containing about two fingers of wine. On it was a label inscribed: "In memory of our wedding day, June 14, 1897."

At least two women in Cleveland dropped dead from shock, when their homes were entered by "raiders" from nearby villages. But Safety Director Barry of Cleveland anticipated the action of the Supreme Court several months ago, by instructing his policemen to arrest and throw into jail any village raider who entered a home in Cleveland. The raids in Cleveland stopped immediately.

COLUMBIA

Mrs. Hubert Collins, who has been a patient at the Charter Oak hospital for several weeks, was operated on Wednesday morning. The operation was a complete success, and Mrs. Collins is getting on nicely and the chances are in favor of complete recovery.

The funeral services for John German were held at his late home on West street Thursday afternoon. Rev. Duane Wain of the Columbia church officiating. Burial was in the West street cemetery.

An auction was held at the home of Miss Nellie Hunt on Pine street Wednesday, the place having recently been sold. Miss Hunt intends to make her home with her brother, Henry Hunt of Providence for the present.

Andover grangers to the number of 34 were guests of Columbia Grange Wednesday evening. A program of music and recitations was presented by the worthy lecturer of Andover Grange. Refreshments were served by Columbia Grange.

The country roads at present are impassable to autos. Supervisor Larcomb got stuck in the mud Thursday morning trying to reach the Old Hop River school, and the Chestnut Hill and Pine street sections are about as bad. The recent warm weather has brought the frost all out of the ground, so the traveling will gradually become better from now on, providing the warm weather holds.

SHIPPAN ROWS.

The Shippan Point controversy, an account of the legislative hearing on which was carried in the Herald yesterday, possesses a definite educational value to such persons or communities as may be interested in obtaining the best in municipal government. The misunderstanding, unsympathy and failure of co-operation between Shippan Point and the rest of the city of Stamford afford striking example of the fruits of the old fashioned city government—many of which continue to exist both in and out of Connecticut—which are based on the principle of locality representation; in other words the ward system.

Perhaps not always is a flagrant piece of injustice against, or favoritism to, one part of a city to be traced directly to this system of government, but it is safe to say that in a very great majority of cases it can be. City councils and boards of aldermen whose memberships are chosen by localities would be rather more than human if they did not yield a more immediate allegiance to their regional constituencies than to the city at large. And just as sure as there are these regional loyalties in any governmental body, so sure are there to be combinations whereby municipal blessings are bestowed upon or withheld from certain parts of the community which for some reason or other are outside the combine.

It hardly ever fails to work that way. Shippan Point residents have been seeking to be set off from Stamford not because life within the corporate limits of Stamford is uncomfortable for them by necessity, but because it is uncomfortable in fact. The locality feeling, locality prejudices, locality advantages enter into the administration of the city's affairs. Every neighborhood is pulling for itself and the devil take the other fellow. This condition is not at all peculiar to Stamford; it is almost essentially a part of the kind of government Stamford has.

In sharp contrast is the kind of government we have in Manchester, where we know no wards and where in town affairs the interest of one locality can gain no advantage over that of another locality because the first happens to have a brighter or cleverer or more forceful or more ruthless representative in the municipal council.

And when the time comes for Manchester to take on the mantle of city classification she is not going to allow anybody to wish on her one of those old fashioned, outworn, trouble making instruments that cuts a community up into a dozen warring little communities called wards, with a city council made up of delegations from neighborhoods. She is going to keep the form of her government as nearly like as two peas in a pod to its present town form. We have no Shippan Point rumpuses in this community; we want none—and we never will have one as long as we pick our seven selectmen or seven councilmen or seven commissioners or whatever we call them, from all the people of the whole town as we do now.

CONGRESSIONAL "RECORD."

The Congressional Record is supposed to be printed by the United States government for the purpose of carrying to the public a correct and detailed account of the proceedings of the House of Representatives and the Senate. In fact it is partly that and partly a medium through which members of the two houses of Congress get into print their private as well as their public views on every subject on earth which has never been considered by Congress, never could be considered by Congress and never by any chance would be considered by Congress.

Long after Congress has adjourned the Record makes its appearance, a fine big book published daily, filled to the brim with "extensions of remarks" which are in fact speeches that never were delivered and never expected to be delivered. In the issue of March 14 there appears, under the heading "Extension of Remarks of Hon. William D. Upshaw of Georgia in the House of Representatives, Thursday, July 3, 1927, a eulogy of Frank L. Stanton minor poet and song writer of whom only a few people outside of Georgia ever heard except perhaps in connection with a couple of very simple popular "coon" songs, but whom, because he was a Georgian, Upshaw calls "the beloved poet laureate not only of that state but of the Southland and possibly of the nation."

Everything that every gusher in Georgia had said or printed in laudation of the departed rhymster Upshaw put into that "extended" speech. Yards of Stanton's songs and poems are solemnly reprinted in the Record, with a fine disregard, no doubt, to copyright law, and four full pages, equivalent to seven or eight ordinary newspaper columns, of the public report of the proceedings of Congress are given up to this perfectly pointless, perfectly bombastic appeal to the vanity of Upshaw's Georgia constituents.

Upshaw has sung his swan song in Congress, but so long as the Record continues to be printed under its present idiotic rules, the South will never lack for some place to brag in type—or for some braggart to avail himself of it.

HALL-MILLS REVIVAL.

Lest we forget, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, her brother, Willie Stevens, and her cousin, Henry H. Carpenter, co-indictees in the notorious Hall-Mills murder case in New Jersey, are suing a tabloid for a total of a million and a half in damages for pictures and statements published in connection with that crime.

William Randolph Hearst and his Daily Mirror are sued by each of the plaintiffs for $500,000, the claims being based primarily on "reconstructed" photographs pretending to represent scenes in connection with the killing of the Lothario minister Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

We know of no way in which Mrs. Hall and her relatives could have returned to public view with less offense to the feelings of the public than the assaults of the methods and manners of a New York tabloid. There was about that New Jersey tragedy an atmosphere of over-ripeness which the verdict of the jury could not entirely dissipate and the entirely natural sequel to it would have been as complete and early retirement from general notice, on the part of the defendants, as might be possible.

But if we are to have the Stevens family in the news again it is infinitely less disgusting to have to tell about them, as attempting to restrict the unbridled license taken by the tabloid newspapers than to have to use their names in any other connection we can now think of. A great many people will quite enjoy a retrial of the Hall-Mills murder case in the civil courts because they will be in a position of equally rejoicing over a verdict that will make it cost Mr. Hearst a barrel of money for transgressing all rules of newspaper decency or a verdict that will, in effect, declare that the Stevens crowd was singularly fortunate in escaping conviction of that Crabapple tree murder.

If the case comes to trial, as it most likely will, the audience, consisting of newspaper readers all over the country, will be one of the most impartial on record—ready to cheer madly for the outcome, whatever it may be.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

Despite the findings of the United States court that the maintenance of Jim Crow schools is unconstitutional and the order requiring the Toms River, N. J., school board to show cause why it should not admit Negro children to the same schools with white children, it is our guess that if the people of that New Jersey community are determined to maintain separate establishments they will find a way to do so.

It is an extremely difficult thing to prove that a person is being discriminated against on grounds of race, color or previous condition of servitude. If John Smith refuses to admit Robert Brown to his friendship it is impossible to prove that he does so because Brown is a Negro if Smith merely stands on the ground that he does not like the other man and declines to explain further.

If the Toms River education board should decide to establish a school for backward pupils and it should then be decided that each Negro child in the town came under that category and that no white child did, the mere coincidence in color, could be declared to have nothing to do with the segregation—and it would be a job and a half to take away from that board the right to decide as to which children were backward and which were not. The fourteenth and fifteenth amendments have never worked in the South. There is no reason to expect that they will work in the North if resisted by entire communities.

125 YEARS OLD. Dr. Serge Voronoff, European gland specialist, has come to the conclusion that human life, as rearranged by his kind of surgery, should consist of about 125 years of full activity, then three months of the quickly collapsing old age and an easy death. Perhaps this prospect may be highly attractive to those who have a horror of what is ordinarily called senility. It is doubtful, however, if every human being who has lived rest is not the finest part of the journey? Let those who will anticipate a century and a quarter of hurly-burly succeeded by sudden, shriveling collapse. There will be plenty to smile at the proposal as at a toy promised to a baby—even if it should be better proven that the gland man is anywhere near right in his guess. Because it is a toy that they are too wise to play with.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE
THE TREE OF HEAVEN
By ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.
Why a tree of mediocre appearance and markedly poor odor should be called "Tree of Heaven" is hard to understand, but the fact remains that that is one of the names of the Ailanthus, Chinese Sumac, or Paradise Tree. It is a native of China, brought to this country about 160 years ago and planted first near Philadelphia. The poorest soil and the most forbidding environment seem to offer no discouragement to it. Its growth is very rapid; thrifty sprouts have made a height growth of eight to ten feet in a single season.

On the other hand it has few merits as an ornamental tree and its offensive smells and uncontrollable growth make it undesirable for planting on home grounds. The leaves produce a most unpleasant smell when crushed. The bark is smooth, thin and light grey on young trees, and on older trunks it becomes dark grey to black and slightly furrowed. The wood is soft, weak and pale, thus well adapted to the manufacture of paper pulp. A silk spinning moth lives on the leaves of the Ailanthus tree, and yields a silk more durable and cheaper than mulberry silk, but inferior to it in fineness and gloss.

"MAN OF THE FOREST" COMING TO THE RIALTO

A splendid cast is seen in the pictureization of Zane Grey's famous novel "Man of the Forest" which heads the program at the Rialto theater tomorrow. Jack Holt popular hero of many gripping western dramas by this widely read author plays the male lead. Georgia Hale has the feminine lead opposite Holt and other members of the cast are almost as well known. The picture deals with the romantic adventures of Holt as a rancher, who plays a lone hand at the cattle game with his interests chiefly confined to the wooded ranges in the high country. Because of the mystery surrounding him and his choice for solitude he is known as "Man of the Forest". Romance comes into his life when he hears of a plot to deprive a girl of the possession of her ranch. He intervenes from then on takes an added interest with Holt's fight for the girl's homestead occupying a major portion of the picture. The whole gamut of human emotions are vividly portrayed in this thrilling feature and no true movie fan will risk missing. Another western attraction is slated for a showing on the same bill. It is "Pioneer Blood" and Fred Gilman is starred. Another chapter of the current serial as a comedy and news reel completes the program arranged for tomorrow. "Stranded in Paris" a charming comedy with Bebe Daniels in the lead. It has a strong romantic flavor in addition to the real laughs it affords and can safely be described as Bebe's finest effort to date. "Heartbound" appears as the co-feature on today's offerings. It is a realistic tale of the modern West. Bill Miller and his wonder horse King have the leads. Other subjects will also be shown.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, March 13.—Nearly all our congressional lawmakers have hied themselves away to rest from their labors, but there is no let-up for Washington's alibi squad. The alibi squad is the secretarial corps remaining in the Senate and House office buildings. The boys and girls were rightfully busy all through the session, answering constituents and others who sought to sway votes for some bill or other with the reassuring assertion that the senator or congressman was studying the measure carefully with the best interests of the home folks ever in mind.

Theoretically, they would have a chance to learn what followed the lamented demise of that last Congress, but actually they have enjoyed nothing of the sort. What happened was that the senators and congressmen went away and left the secretaries to do the explaining. Under the circumstances attending the wind-up of the nation's affairs on March 4 there are plenty of explanations to make.

The mail bags that once contained requests and recommendations for legislation are now filled with inquiries as to what happened to this bill and that bill and if not, what the heck?

Some of the northwestern states know perfectly well what happened to the McNary-Haugen bill, but many of their citizens are writing to learn what became of the Norbeck seed-grain loan bill for benefit of drought-stricken regions. The mix-up is due to the fact that Congress voted to appropriate, and then didn't appropriate, the appropriation before it when the deficiency bill was filibustered to death.

Numerous other appropriations similarly failed of provision and pensioners and other beneficiaries are frantically communicating with their representatives to find out where they stand. All departments of government were more or less affected by the filibuster and what makes the alibi squad's work so tough is that, in many instances, the departments don't know just how they're going to operate in the particular respect which the deficiency bill would have covered. The first days of figuring were rather chaotic. It appears that the folks back home lose track of nearly everything that goes on here in the last few days of a session, and then depend on the senatorial and congressional offices to give them a fill-in. A surprising number of queries is being received regarding the fate of the postal rate reduction bill which was passed in different form by both houses and died because the conference report was only made at the last moment.

Various broadcasting stations, becoming panicky lest they be forced out of business by the new radio commission which must reduce the number of stations, are writing frantically to learn their chances for survival. The alibi squad, of course, can give them little information and is forced to turn back copies of the bill at them. The same treatment is given to bankers inquiring regarding provisions of the new McFadden banking law, who are writing in large numbers.

Others—many of them with families in Europe—ask to be straightened out on any changes that may have been made in the

You know, statistics show that all us poor working girls must buy one pair of those weekly, or spend $101.90 yearly for hose, and I guess it's one case where figures don't lie. Anyway, as I was saying, I went forth for said hose. I wanted them "sort of beige-tan with a little rose," I told the clerk. They were to go with a "meadow pink" dress. Do you mean sandalwood? asked the clerk. I didn't know, but I would see, Well I didn't mean "sandalwood." She tried me with some "nuscato," "Arabia," sandalwood, "safe as a lat," "beaver," and didn't mean them. She told me she had 49 shades of "tannish rose" and would "just have to keep showing all of them until I found what I wanted."

PEP YOUNG'S LOSS HURTS THE GIANTS

Youthful Star III With Bright's Disease; May Never Play Again.

By HENRY L. FARRELL. (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 18.—"He not only was a great ball player on the field but he was a ball player off the field and one of the best influences our club ever had."

"This was the tribute paid to Pep Young by Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, when it became known definitely that his star little right fielder would not be able to play this season and that he might be out of the game for good."

"I have heard John McGraw say," Stoneham continued, "that Young was the greatest team player he had ever handled and McGraw has been handling the New York club for twenty-five years."

"He fought every step of the way and on every play in every game and when he left the field he was still playing ball for the club. Several years ago the Giants had two or three bad years who were not keeping in training. They had been warned by their manager but there were no immediate results until Young took it upon himself to say something."

"He wasn't the captain of the club and there was no official obligation upon him to act as disciplinarian but he didn't need any shoulder straps."

"One afternoon in the club house before the players went on the field, Young gathered the offenders into a huddle and told them if they didn't get down to work and play ball he would lock them individually or collectively and Young was the smallest member of the squad."

"You birds," he told them, "are hurting yourselves and that's none of my business but you're hurting the chances of the club and when you hurt the club you're hurting me. I'm just a ball player on the club, when you get right down to it, but the higher this club finishes in the race the more money it is to all the players and when you keep booing around you're taking money out of my pocket and no one is going to roll me without a fight."

"They know Young meant what he said, and the threat worked. McGraw officiated the conversation and that gave him one of several reasons for not only respecting him but actually loving him."

Young's case is really tragic. He is comparatively a young player and just in his prime. He was stricken down with Bright's disease and may never be able to play again."

He played all last season on his nerve but refused to give up or admit that he was sick as long as his legions of fans were watching. The fans knew of his condition and tried to tell him that he was actually killing himself as Billy Mike, the fighter, did years ago."

McGraw felt sure at the end of the 1926 season that Young would not be able to play this season and it was principally for this reason that the deal was made with the Cincinnati Reds for Eddie Roush.

Young was not very popular with the fans or with the players but he commanded respect."

"That Young always was a hell-bent ball player and no one knew it better than every second baseman in the National League," a well-known ball player said recently.

"He knocked over every second baseman in the league going into the bag. Every time he got on first base the second baseman had to get him and get ready for a crash and Young crashed every time he got the chance."

"It looked like dirty baseball but the players got to know that he wasn't doing it to be dirty. He just wanted to fight for every inch. We called him names that would make a lot of fellows fight but he wouldn't fight on the field. He just dusted himself off and walk over to the bench with his head down but the next time he got a chance he'd do the same thing over again. Don't think that he wouldn't fight! He could handle his dukes as well as anyone in the league and he probably adopted the defense of silence and unconcern as a goat getter and it certainly was."

The loss of Young is certain to be a setback to McGraw's hopes to celebrate his silver jubilee by winning a pennant.

Billy Evans Says

FAVORABLE REACTION

A lot of things have happened in baseball since the close of the 1926 season.

Not during the 22 years I have spent in the majors can I recall an off-season replete with so many sensations.

There was considerable washing of dirty linen, some of which remains soiled. To me most of it was much ado about nothing.

I have been asked any number of times if I believed the scandals of 1926 would react unfavorably on baseball.

My reply has always been the same—"I do not think so." Of course I have any number of reasons for my optimistic attitude, the most important being that the game is far greater than any individual or group.

It may surprise, but now that all the teams have been straightened out, I look for the unpleasant happenings of the past winter to react for the good of the game.

The Ever Suspicions True, the accusations that were bandied back and forth last winter have created a tendency toward suspicion.

But after all, there always have been a lot of people interested in sport ever ready to point the finger of suspicion at any act that failed to meet with their approval.

These pessimistic folk probably will be oversuspicious this summer when some player errs on the easiest sort of a chance. They will leave the ball park wondering what his price was.

This, of course, is unfortunate, but far from being entirely new. It has been my experience, that if one desires to get into an argument, he never has the slightest trouble in getting plenty of hearers willing to swear all sports are crooked.

Play the Game It is my thought that the ball players are going to display a better spirit this season. I look for it to be prevalent from the start to the finish of the schedule.

In the past it has been more or less the custom for teams that were out of the money or had their money positions pinched, to play careless, in different baseball.

While there is nothing actually wrong in such methods, other than the failure to give their best effort, all the way, major league ball players are certain to be far more thorough on this point.

For a time, at least, the fans are certain to be more critical and they have every right to be. Careless methods have laid the players open to suspicion, when really nothing was in error. The players have created the unpleasant situation and must clear it up.

The one positive way to regain any confidence that has been lost is to fight to the finish, give one's best all the way and show no favors.

A better brand of baseball, to my way of thinking, is certain to arise out of the ruins of the scandal.

C. B. A. A. LOSES BY 6 POINTS IN ITS 25 BASKETBALL GAMES

Town Champions Conclude Successful Season Winning 13 Games; Faulkner Leads Scorers.

Cheney Brothers' basketball team was outscored 828 to 823 during the 25 games on its 1926-27 season, which resulted in 13 victories and 12 defeats. It was revealed today by Manager George Hunt, Jr. that these extra six points were the result of three field goals as Cheney Brothers and their opponents each caged 130 free tries. In field goals, the opponents led 349 to 346. It is believed that this record is the closest of any basketball team that ever represented Manchester.

The C. B. A. A. team, which won the town championship in the 1925-26 season retained that honor this season without being forced to defend it, there being no logical contender. The St. Mary's disbanded and the Rec five was not of equal caliber. Cheney Brothers plan to be represented on the chalked court next season, Manager Hunt said.

The six workers registered some mighty cherished victories during the campaign just concluded and then again they slipped up on some of the easy assignments. Among the most notable victories recorded were wins over Elmwood twice, Tatfield, Poquoctuck, Westerly and Crompton-Knowles. Only two games were played at home.

Tommy Faulkner, who missed five games because of a sprained ankle, was high scorer for the team averaging 10.9 points per game and scoring 218 points. Joe Peil-land, who played but part of the season, was second with 183 points and an average of 10.4 points per game. Johnny Boyle finished third with 92 points.

Following are the season's record and the individual averages:

National Managers Have Tough Tasks

By BERT M. DEMBY United Press Staff Correspondent Chicago, March 18.—As the baseball teams of the National League make ready for the start of the 1927 flag-chase, middlewestern interests center around the chances two managers have of getting their teams under the wire first.

These two men are Joe McCarthy of the Cubs and Robert (Bobby) O'Farrell of the Cardinals.

O'Farrell, of course, takes the center of the stage. Bob has quite a job cut out for him. He begins his first year as a manager with a team that is a world's champion outfit—something almost unheard of in baseball.

Should the team slump, the man who was voted the most valuable player to his team in the National League in 1926 is bound to get the major part of the blame. In addition to this, O'Farrell is faced with the task of supplanting the greatest St. Louis ever had as manager—Roger Hornsby.

It is recognized that the Cardinals are not as strong on paper as Hornsby's management made them. It remains to be seen whether or not O'Farrell can supply the Hornsby ingredients which made the team a winner last year.

McCarthy's case is different. A man who had never even played big league baseball, Joe took hold of the Cubs last year and slid them into a first division berth after they had been in the rut the year before.

For this achievement, McCarthy was praised all over the baseball world. He enjoys the spotlight in the position of having accomplished in one season the task of being accepted as a manager who knows what he is doing and who is not afraid to go out and do it, regardless of what other people say. That is a distinction which many managers have striven for years to obtain.

McCarthy's chief trouble last year was that he did not have the hitting power needed in pinches which developed time after time in practically every game.

Joe's pitchers were good ones. Many times they lost encounters which two good hitters—one of them of the $50,000 type—would have turned into easy victories. Charley Root, in particular, pitched several of these hard-luck contests and with any kind of hitting at all behind him last year, this speed ball artist would have been among the leading pitchers of the league in games won and lost.

But, all things considered, McCarthy has proven himself a capable boss; one who, if given the material, can build a team which will make any outfit hustle to beat it.

HIGH PRICED STARS ARE NOT SO GOOD

Neither Ty Cobb Nor Eddie Collins May Start Season With Athletics.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 18.—Neither Ty Cobb nor Eddie Collins will start the season in regular positions with the Philadelphia Athletics unless they can prove they are better men than those now sitting on the bench. Connie Mack intimates to the writer today. He made the inference by candidly admitting that to date "some of last year's team have looked better" than the players who has started in the human luxuries he acquired during the winter at hothouse prices.

Connie named no names but I was able to learn that one of the pick-me-ups who hasn't looked so good is Eddie Collins and that one of the players who has started the natives is Max Bishop. It is an excellent three to one bet that Bishop and not Collins will be the regular second baseman of the club before the campaign goes too far.

Collins Falls Off. "Kid" Herman, Los Angeles, covered a fraction of an inch around second base. Cobb hasn't been hitting. Neither has Dudley Branch, scion of wealth from Kansas City, nor Joe Boley, the expensive young man from Baltimore. They still are in the line-up but no one is guaranteeing how long, least of all Connie Mack.

"I haven't picked my club at all," he said today. "It is early to pass judgment and, therefore, I will content myself with saying that I had a good ball club last year and that some of its members have looked better so far than several of the additions I made to the club during the winter."

I paid a lot of money to build up the team this year but if my 1926 men prove to be better players, they will get the call, regardless of box office values.

Cobb Has Lame Back. Collins says that the leg injury which has threatened to send him into retirement has bothered him not at all this spring; yet Eddie simply can't seem to get around. Cobb has been troubled by a lame back but, even so, his failure to hit is one of the abiding mysteries of the time. He hit two yesterday, however, just before Umpire Wilson made him hit the air.

At short stop, Chick Galloway is said to have brought himself back to the speed he knew five years ago when some thought him the best in baseball. Beley has done every thing asked of him except knock someone's cap off with an occasional base hit.

At first base Brannan has the "hit" present over Jim Poole, the 1926 model. Sam Hale and Jimmy Dykes both played last year at third base. Halo is the regular third baseman at this writing although baseball men around the circuit think Dykes is the better bet.

In Left Field. In left field we find that bearded patriarch, Zach Wheat. On the bench we find Bill Lamar. Bill Simmons will play center field all alone. In rightfield, Cobb's rival is Walter French, former West Point athlete and Walt, like Bishop and Galloway, is said to be going too well to be an acquiescent bench hand.

Happily, the catchers and pitchers are hangers of standing. Gordon Cochrane, of Bridgewater, Mass., looks as good as he did in 1926, which was very superior, indeed. Ralph Perkins is another good one. They say Jimmy Fox is a third but James hasn't been able to prove it.

S. M. H. S. Has Tough Assignment Today

Central High Has Beaten Naugatuck, Commercial, Fairfield and Crosby; Result Known Here at 5:30.

By The Sports Editor.

By the time you read this article our schoolboys will be in the midst of their opening game at the Yale interscholastic basketball tournament in New Haven and some 2,000 odd Manchester supporters will be eagerly awaiting word as to their fate. Call 664 for the results after 5:30.

Although it has not been said before, Manchester has a very tough assignment at Central High of Bridgeport to say the least. The Brass City team, which has won eight games and lost four at the time its record was submitted for consideration, has bowled over such worthy opponents as Fairfield, Naugatuck and Crosby High. New Haven Hillhouse defeated Central High twice.

The game between Manchester and Central High started at 4:15 this afternoon and the result is due here about an hour later. If Manchester should win, its next game will be with the winner of the Bristol-Norwalk games which will be played tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 and another victory would bring Manchester into the finals at 8 o'clock in the evening.

The record of Central High follows: Central High 34, Fairfield 33. Central High 29, West Haven 16. Central High 24, Crosby 23. Central High 17, N. H. Commercial 14. Central High 16, N. H. Hillhouse 27. Central High 21, Naugatuck 17. Central High 26, N. H. Hillhouse 22. Central High 34, Greenwich 18. Central High 26, Warren Harding 30. Central High 29, Fairfield 21. Central High 24, West Haven 17. Central High 33, Crosby 20. Central High 27, Warren Harding 30. Central High 38, Greenwich 20. Manchester High has won 12, lost two, losing to Bristol and Willimantic.

Registration of motor vehicles in the United States in 1926 was 223,273,643, an increase of 2,044,618 over 1925.

Pacific Coast League to Open 196-Game Schedule on March 29

By THOMAS R. CURRAN.

San Francisco, March 18.—Organized baseball, the annual obsession, will make its national debut this year when the Pacific Coast League opens its 196-game schedule on March 29.

The Pacific Coast League will thereby anticipate the National and American leagues by some two weeks. The following teams will be seen in action on the opening date: Holywood at Sacramento. San Francisco (Missions) at Oakland. Seattle at Los Angeles. Portland at San Francisco (Seas).

As a hurried survey of the following tabulation, world indicate, all of the opening games will be played in California. The rainy season in the Pacific Northwest will postpone opening dates in Portland and Seattle until several weeks later.

Early Opening. The opening on March 29 is the earliest in recent history, according to baseball men, being about ten days in advance of last year's premier. To compensate for slacking out in front, like a westward pressure the schedule has been

Sandlot Pals Pick Different Paths to Top and Succeed, But—

BY JIMMY POWERS

New York, March 18.—To be or not to be a railroad president or a baseball star!

"Kid Hamlet's soliloquy was given a good bit of attention a long, long time ago by two young fellows living in a little Texas town. One was a struggling bookkeeper earning $50 a month, the other an equally struggling cowhand earning $35 a month.

This spring the two men reached the peaks of their careers. Both, by a coincidence, are stepping into new jobs commanding the highest salaries they have ever been paid.

One is a national figure in baseball—Tris Speaker of the Washington Senators. The other is a national figure in business—Angus McDonald, president of the Southern Pacific railroad lines.

Tris might have become a railroad president, and Angus might have been a star slugger, if— But here's the story.

Speaker and McDonald were voted by scouts one summer to be of major league caliber. Both were fast men, heavy hitters and brainy. Speaker, who hailed from Hubbard City, was sold on the idea of taking a whirl in the big top.

"I don't know," said Angus. "I guess I'll stick to railroading." Angus had graduated from Notre Dame, where he starred in varsity football and baseball. He felt he had a surer chance in a business because of his degree.

"Better come along," urged Tris. "You've got all I have and more." But the cagey Angus decided against it. He kept plugging away at his books and played baseball only late in the afternoons or on Sunday. He went to Houston for his railroad and organized an "enjoyer's league. Major teams came through on exhibition trips. Speaker and McDonald occasionally crossed bats on the spring tours. Speaker was then with Boston.

The years rolled on. Both men grew prematurely gray. Speaker's hair is nearly snow white now and so is McDonald's. Speaker went up and up the ladder of professional baseball. McDonald also was ascending. He went from Houston to Los Angeles, where he was made an auditor of a subsidiary railroad. Two years later he was promoted. Later he came to New York, again promoted.

That same year fans were lining the streets out in Cleveland, Ohio, to pay tribute to a man they called "The Gray Eagle," who had brought up the cheering thousands their first world series pennant.

Then came January, 1927. Tris Speaker was offered a contract of $50,000 to play ball with the Washington Senators. It represented the top income of his life. The same month Angus McDonald was made president of the Southern Pacific railroad, Texas and Louisiana group, in charge of ten railroad lines.

GRABOWSKI WILL CATCH MANY GAMES FOR YANKS

Kept Down By Schalk While With White Sox, Youthful Backstop Bids Fair For Limelight Now.

By BILLY EVANS

St. Petersburg, March 18.—Manager Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees won a pennant in 1926 with a ball club that few of the critics conceded even an outside chance.

Therefore, it is not at all strange that Miller Huggins is of the opinion that he has a pretty good ball club. He has.

As a matter of fact, the wee plot of the Yanks is so well satisfied with his champs that he intends to stand pat on his lineup.

Probably will be the only major league ball club to start the 1927 season with exactly the same lineup as finished last year's race.

One new face is certain to break into the box scores at various times during the season, that of Catcher John Grabowski. I am positive his ability is such that Manager Huggins will give him a chance to share part of the catching burden.

For several years a member of the Chicago White Sox, Grabowski got but little chance to work with the brilliant Ray Schalk doing most of the catching. As a member of the Yankees, he is certain to get a real chance to show his worth.

Grabowski is a mighty good receiver, who will improve with regular work. He can hit. Of that there is no doubt. No catcher in the majors has a better arm. He will help New York back of the plate.

The infield will be composed of Gehrig at first, Lazzeri at second, Koenigs at short, and Dugan at third.

The experts who have already consigned Koenigs to the bench are sure to be mistaken. At this writing there is no chance for any one to displace him.

Koenigs played brilliantly as well as erratically in the world series. Those who do not figure him to start are thinking only of his poor play, forgetting entirely many of his sensational performances.

Mark Koenigs has the ability to become one of the greatest short stops in the game. Confidence and poise will make him such. The big chance is just ahead for him.

The outfield will be Meusel, Combs and Ruth, quite some combination. In starting the season with the same lineup of last year, Manager Huggins faces one most important situation which bears on his pitching.

Will the veterans who perform—ed so nobly last season continue to pitch consistently good baseball? That remains to be answered. It is asking considerable. There is a possibility of a slump in pitching on the part of the veterans. If such is the case, Manager Huggins must look to some of his recruits to overcome this handicap.

Three of the new Yankee pitchers—Roy Chesterfield, S. Cannon and George Pigra—impressed me most favorably. All three are right-handers. Cannon's record of only five victories and 16 defeats doesn't look well on paper, but he is a fine prospect to my way of thinking.

George Pigra, who has seen service with the Yankees always had the stuff, but just couldn't make the proper use of it. He won 22 games in the American Association last year. I look to him to stick this time.

So from any angle, the smart Mr. Huggins is justified in standing pat with the hope that improved battery work will make the Yankees a more dangerous, bringing him another pennant.

MECHANICS DEFEAT MIDDLETOWN TRADE

Trailing at the half by the score of 21 to 13, the Trade school basketball team came through in an overtime period to win over the Middletown Trade school five yards in Middletown by 35 to 31. Wrenn pulled the game out of Middletown's grasp with about a minute to go when he led the team with a field goal. Maloney clinched the thing when he scored the final basket in the overtime period.

The Trade school team played well for a while but Beers' individual playing and long shots slowed up the good combination. Beers was taken out and the locals forged ahead to tie the Middletown.

FORD WON'T GET BARBER'S LIZZIE

Famous 18 Year Old Bus Not For Museums Not to Swap For Rolls-Royce.

George M. Barber, the Grand Old Man of Gardner street, who owns and operates daily the grandest old Ford in the eight counties, today denied with emphasis that he had received an offer of a thousand dollars and a brand new car, in exchange for his Aunt Lizzie, from the great Henry himself.

"There wouldn't be any use in him making such an offer," declared Mr. Barber, "cause I wouldn't take it. I wouldn't swap the old bus even for a new Rolls-Royce. I got too much sentiment and too much regard for old friends to do a thing like that."

For days the report has been bruited about the streets that Barber's famous eighteen year old five-horse power Detroit museum of automobiles. It may now be set at rest as the invention of somebody's imagination.

Plenty of Offers.

"I have had offers for the old wagon," said Mr. Barber, "plenty of them. But she's not for sale at any price. I've run her day in and day out ever since she came from the shop, and that's eighteen years ago or pretty near it. Did I ever run her over fifteen miles an hour? Who says I didn't? Plenty of times I've hit it up to twenty-three or twenty-five or even twenty-seven—on a good straight open road, of course."

"One thing a lot of people don't know about an automobile—you take care of them and they'll take care of you. This old bus of mine hasn't any kick coming—so she don't kick. And that about the Rolls-Royce goes."

Mr. Barber's 1909 driver is one of the best known movable objects in Manchester. Almost never is it parked anywhere about the business center of the town but it draws a little group of interested spectators. It has a hood the size of a four-quart pail and a top like the famous Covered Wagon. But it keeps right on a-rambling.

Mr. Barber himself has worn even better than his ancient touring car. He is one of the two surviving members of Drake Post, G. A. R. who are still so active as to never miss a meeting of the post—the other being Lucius Pinney of Prospect street.

GOT YOUR NUMBER?

Budapest.—To avoid the many arguments, fights and jamming on buses in the crowded section of Budapest, the management of the bus company recently placed numbered slips at each waiting station. Passengers take slips as soon as they arrive at the stations and are picked up according to number. The only fights reported now are over the lowest numbers.

Constipation is the cause of much unhappiness and ill-health. It wrecks strength. It saps vitality. It sickens the mind and body! Yet, it can be relieved—yes, prevented! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring safe relief—prompt prevention!

Why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the intestines—at the same time it gently distends them, purifying, removing wastes and poisons. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is usually too small to be effective. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN—because it is 100% bran.

No need to risk habit-forming drugs!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

How different is ALL-BRAN from drugs and pills—whose dose must be constantly increased to remain effective! ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Let it soak a few moments to bring out its full crisp flavor. Mix it with other cereals. In soups. Try the recipes on every package.

Don't risk part-bran substitutes. Insist on genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Catching" health becomes a simple matter when one learns what to eat. At this season of the year and all through the spring the "tonic" foods are of utmost value. Instead of taking your tonic from a bottle this spring try taking it straight from Nature. Instead of taking celery compound for frayed nerves eat celery. Instead of dosing with iron pills, get your iron as wise Mother Nature intended you to have it—from spinach, carrots, lettuce, beets, raisins, apples and turnips. Instead of hypophosphates take your phosphate of potassium direct from cabbage and brussels sprouts suggests Alice Burrell Irvine in a recent magazine article. She tells us that:

Kraft Kay
Delicious for Sandwiches
Limburger Cheese

Lettuce is a medicine disguised as a food. It feeds the nervous system, relieving nerve tension. If you are "over-strung" from hurry or worry or overwork lettuce will often be found an actual sedative unequalled by drugs.

Spinach is truly one of Nature's greatest gifts to mankind. It is rich in iron and other mineral elements and has the bulk so necessary in cases of intestinal stasis. In all cases of anemia and in tuberculosis it should be eaten every day. It is more beneficial than lettuce as a nerve tonic.

Grapefruit should be eaten freely in the springtime. It is a marvelous help in cases of nervous irritability and in fevers, especially scarlet and typhoid. It is also valuable as a corrector of abnormal intestinal conditions.

"PEGGY" FUNNIEST OF COMEDY DRAMAS

Center Church Play "All of a Sudden Peggy" to Be Given March 25.

"All of a Sudden Peggy" to be staged on Friday evening, March 25, by the Center Church Dramatic club will be one of the funniest plays put on in town for some time. The play is an old one written by Ernest Denny and originally produced in the Duke of York's Theater, London, in 1904 and two years later in New York at the Bijou Theater. It is full of repartee, quick moving, and humorous. The complications which Peggy and Jimmy get into are many and the way they get out of them is clever.

A synopsis of play which will be given at Cheney hall follows: Anthony, the oldest son of Lady Crackenthorpe and brother of Millicent, has caused much excitement by his strange hobby of collecting and studying spiders and by his attentions to Peggy O'Mara and her mother, the widow of Prof. O'Mara F. R. S. who are not considered as up to social standing.

In order to save the family, the scheme is to invite Jimmy, the younger son, to come home and displace Peggy and thus save the family name and money, preventing their being turned out of their home.

Mrs. O'Mara is determined to marry Peggy to Anthony. Peggy does not like him and is trying to turn the tables and marry her mother to Anthony. Jimmy and his friend arrive and agree to try the job. Enter Peggy, who scandalizes everybody but Anthony by relating her experiences of falling into a brook while looking for spiders and then drying her clothing before a fire in a bachelor cottage, the bachelor of course not being at home.

Peggy meets Jimmy rather informally. Jimmy discovers her sitting on the back of a chair, her feet in the seat, looking at an old dusty book, from which she apparently unawares blows the dust into Jimmy's face and on his clothes and then insisting on blowing it off. Then follows some witty repartee during which they become well acquainted.

Peggy takes writing a book and asks Jimmy how to turn the trick on her mother by making out that what she wants to do is a part of the story. Jimmy actually falls in love with Peggy and answers her question, that the young lady in the story should tell that she is already married. This is so satisfactory that Peggy impulsively jumps up and kisses Jimmy, then rushes off to turn the trick on her mother.

Jimmy proposes later, is refused and goes back to town that night. Peggy slips out also and goes to town, leaving a note to the effect that they have eloped. Peggy tries to locate Jimmy and on not finding him, and having no place to stay, stops all night in his apartment, waiting for him. During the evening a caller drops in to see Jimmy. The lady is a gossip and finding a lady in Jimmy's place starts a story.

Jimmy arrives in the morning and finds Peggy and after much explaining she tells him that the folks at home think they are married. Peggy says it his fault because he suggested the trick. Later his mother and sister come and there is more to explain; they seem to get in deeper and deeper. Peggy gets angry and rushes back home.

Jimmy returns home with a marriage license. More explaining is necessary and more complications arise. Mrs. O'Mara and Anthony are found engaged. Peggy and Jimmy finally make up, piece together the torn marriage license, planning to use it soon.

ALLEGED DRY AGENT TO GET NEW TRIAL

New Haven, Conn., March 18.—J. Harvey Estes, of Boston, Mass., convicted last May of collecting money from Jacob Levy, of Westport, by pretending to be a federal officer, is to get a new trial before the United States District Court. Judge Harlan B. Howe handed down a decision to that effect in the district court here today, declaring the verdict was not in accordance with evidence.

There were three similar counts against Estes. The offenses were said to have occurred on September 13, September 26 and August 20, 1924. He was found not guilty of the first and third counts and guilty of the second count. Estes has been free under bail since the day the jury returned a verdict against him.

J. Weston Allen, a Massachusetts attorney-general, came here as a witness for Estes at the time of the trial and aided later in the defense. Estes was in California when he was indicted and returned for trial. His exact connection with the government has never been established. Levy, then in state prison for a liquor law violation, declared Estes collected money from him on three different occasions by declaring himself a federal agent. Estes denied the charges.

SI YAFFE ORCHESTRA

PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

A real dancing treat is in store for those who journey to the Harding school auditorium tonight when Si Yaffe and his symphony orchestra make their appearance at that place. Quite a few Manchester dancers are well acquainted with "Si" and his aggregation and those who have already danced to the entrancing strains of dance music such as "Si" officers are already planning to attend, and a trip to the dance would be a night well spent.

It is only by chance that the dance is being run, were able to have such an orchestra as this to appear here and are planning for a large crowd.

It will probably be the last chance to hear this well known orchestra here for some time as Mr. Yaffe has already been booked to play at Dan Quilly's Colonial at Bridgeport, Cook's Buttery at Springfield, Rhode Island on the Pawtucket, Providence and other equally high class dance halls in these parts.

A good time is assured all who attend.

For profitable results speedily secured use Herald Want Ads.

Scoutmaster Crough will report on the Boy Scout Troop which has been supported by the Legion. The Legion has sponsored one of the most active of the troops and has supplied leaders. This activity of the local post is in line with the national program of the American Legion. The last convention of the Legion, held in Philadelphia last September, stressed the need of public service and the executive board of Dilworth-Cornell Post feels that there is no better way to help the future of Manchester than by training her future citizens.

Mrs. Agnes Quish has been appointed chairman of the entertainment committee for Monday night's meeting and passes the word along that the auxiliary has plenty of talent and will put on an interesting program. Following the entertainment a lunch will be served by comrades Curtis Skatis.

TO PERFECT PLANS FOR LEGION'S GATHERING

A joint meeting of Dilworth-Cornell Post No. 102 and the Ladies' Auxiliary will be held next Monday evening in the state armory at 8 o'clock to perfect plans for the entertainment of the Hartford County Association of the Legion County Association of the Legion County Association of the Legion.

Although the local post has issued the invitation to Connecticut veterans to accept Manchester's hospitality the responsibility for keeping the "chow line" moving has fallen on the shoulders of the auxiliary. Mrs. Jennie Sheridan, commander of the auxiliary, promises a dinner that will fit in nicely with the town's policy of advertising.

The joint session will be opened by Commander Brookes, who will then turn the meeting over to the auxiliary. The auxiliary has adopted a national ritual similar to the Legion's which will be of interest to all who have watched the growth of the sister organization from one or two small groups to their present strength of thousands of members.

Scoutmaster Crough will report on the Boy Scout Troop which has been supported by the Legion. The Legion has sponsored one of the most active of the troops and has supplied leaders. This activity of the local post is in line with the national program of the American Legion. ### ABOUT TOWN

According to the birds, spring is here, two or three weeks earlier than his last year arrival as per the same authority. Within the last three days the robins have become frequent in Manchester outskirts and even the little juncos have made their appearance.

A grass fire on the premises of Gustav Schrieber at 235 West Center street yesterday afternoon developed to the danger point about 4 o'clock and a still alarm was sent to fire company No. 1. The flames were extinguished before damage was done.

More than 100 students at the South Manchester High school are earning some of their expenses through part time work which ranges from acting as nursemaids to peddling newspapers. A short time after it was announced yesterday that there was a part time job available, Principal Quimby had received 13 applications for the position.

The variety of jobs that the students are doing, almost every business and industry in Manchester. Girls work as part-time nursemaids, office workers and store clerks while the boys are milkmen, paperboys, gardeners, janitors, postoffice carriers, telegraph messengers, apprentice bakers, soda fountain workers and tobacco peddlers.

RADIO LICENSES.

Washington, March 13.—Licenses heretofore issued to radio operators valid at the passage of the radio law have been extended for the unexpired period of such licenses, the Department of Commerce announced today.

The order applies principally to persons holding operator licenses for ship communication and to amateurs of whom there are about 20,000 in the United States. Since all of them have passed examinations for their respective grades it was felt unnecessary to impose a second examination before expiration of the present licenses.

TRIAL OF SMUGGLERS

Boston, March 13.—Motions for directed verdicts of not guilty in the cases of Carleton C. Lewis, owner of the Ocean House at Westport, and Walter R. Wood, truck driver, who is charged with liquor smuggling, were allowed today by Federal Judge John A. Peters.

Motions for not guilty verdicts were denied Charles E. Hitt, Omar Lightner, Harry and Phillip Bernab, Westport constables, on trial on smuggling charges with Lewis and Wood.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Every year is leap year for flappers and pedestrians.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Modern Lullaby
Rock-a-bye baby, upon the bough,
You get your milk from a certified cow.

A young husband was anxiously awaiting news of the birth of his first child. He was pacing up and down the hospital corridor when the doctor came out and told him to control himself or else take a walk around the block.

"Brederen, we must do something to remedy de Status Quo," said a negro preacher to his congregation.

I Shall Belong To You
Dear, tho' long years and spaces stretch between us,
Striving to prove this love of ours untrue.

When laughing May flings blossoms on the hedges,
And lolls along the lanes that only we knew.

When o'er your garden cypress trees, a white moon floats like a lotus on calm twilight seas.

When ruddy phantoms greet you from the hearth flame,
To build tomorrow's hope, today's desire.

When on the last adventure, you, unafraid,
Shall scan some far horizon's unknown blue.

NOW YOU Ask One

A QUIZ ON SCIENCE

Newspapers and magazines of late have been full of stories about scientific men and discoveries. If you've followed such articles you shouldn't have much trouble with "Now You Ask One" today—it deals with things scientific. You'll find the answers on another page:

- 1-Who was Charles Darwin?
2-With what great scientific discovery is the fall of an apple connected?
3-What far-reaching theory is associated with the name of Professor Albert Einstein?

A man called on an optician to have his eyes tested. The optician held the test card forty feet away and asked: "Can you read that?"

JACK LOCKWILL'S POLO PONY

"I'll have the law on ye!" squawked Abel Cowl, glaring at the daring intruder. "I know ye! You're the fellow that pretty high killed my dog. Now you drop that whip and get outta here!"

Dropping quickly on one knee, Jack grasped the fellow's wrists, surged forward with his body, and flung his assailant over his head. The young ruffian crashed down on his back, stunned.

Abel Cowl had jumped forward to get into it. Rising, Jack swung upward with his fist, which found the man's chin. It was a pretty knock-down. Cowl sat up, dazed, and looked at Jack.

The farmer and his son got up slowly, appearing very unsteady, and gazed in amazement at the grim-faced youth who had mastered them with such ease. "What do you mean by penning this horse up and beating it?" Jack demanded. "That horse is a regular man-killer, an unbusted western bronco," answered Cowl, "and so he's got to be broke and conquered. Ain't nobody that can ride him." "I can," declared Jack.

Eighth Grade Pupils of 9th District Give Interesting Exhibition.

More than 300 people witnessed the exhibition of gymnastics, tactical marching and rhythmic dancing given by the eighth grade pupils of the Ninth District schools last night at the School Street Rec.

Included in the exhibition was a combination of stunts on the gym apparatus given by members of the leader class, a group of High school girls who have made this work their principal extra-curriculum activity. This was the final number on the program and the most spectacular of all.

The boys in the exhibition have been drilled by W. J. Clarke, director of physical education in the schools, and the girls were under the direction of Miss Hazel Worcester. Both are graduates of the New Haven Normal school of gymnastics.

Following is the program: March, all boys; tactics, Miss Eaton's boys; wand drill, Miss Johnson's and Miss Krapowicz's girls; two dances, Slovak, seven jumps, Miss Clark's and Miss Tynan's girls; exercises by command, Miss Munsone's and Miss Reed's boys; apparatus, horses, Miss Johnson's girls; team game, hum-an croquet, Miss Clark's girls vs. Miss Tynan's girls; rope climbing, all boys; advanced apparatus, Leaders' class.
