REED GRILLS SAPIRO IN FORD SUIT

Pillories "Cooperative King" On the Rack at Million Dollar Trial.

Federal Building, Detroit, Mich., March 30.—Aaron Sapiro, the so-called "cooperative king" was pilloried today on the act of cross examination at the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit in Federal Court.

Before a crowded courtroom and a jury that hung on every word, Senator James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, delved into the forgotten past of Sapiro and into every detail of his amazing rise to power in the American farm world. Reed hammered away at Sapiro's statement that he earned $400,000 from his professional practice in the years 1919 to 1925.

Strange Contrast Reed and Sapiro presented a strange contrast. The senator, white-haired and deliberate growl in his questions, sometimes with a sneer in his voice and always in tones that expressed doubt of Sapiro. The "wheat king" black-haired and infectious, replied in a soft voice, sometimes with a break in tones as though he had choked a sob.

Reed went back to 1916 to open the cross examination. He first asked Sapiro how he and Philip Ehrlich, San Francisco attorney, split their law fees. Sapiro said he got 60 per cent and Ehrlich got 40 per cent. Then Reed wanted to know what share of the fees went to Sapiro in all other law firms in which he had a membership. Usually, Sapiro said, he got 80 per cent of the fees.

Reed scored when he produced papers from a San Francisco law suit, involving Sapiro and two of his former law partners, David and Lawrence Levy. Sapiro said he never read the paper and upon objection of his counsel, the court would not allow Reed to ask questions on the case.

Reed invoked all courtroom tricks to no avail. Time and again he apparently forgot dates or confused Sapiro's replies but the "cooperative king" never wavered.

New Name Before Sapiro turned the stand the court laid down a new rule limiting each side to ten minutes argument on all points of law. Herebefore some of the arguments have lasted a day.

Sapiro told of establishing his law practice in Chicago in September, 1924. He severed all connection with his old California law firm January 1, 1925.

Reed's question jumped Sapiro said he received $100 a month in 1917 as attorney for the California State Fish Exchange. He got the appointment from Col. Harris Westwood, California market director.

The first cooperative which Sapiro served as attorney was the poultry producers of northern California. That was in 1916 and Sapiro got $100 a month. It was the beginning of long climb to fame and fortune.

The jury was treated to an account of all the fees received by Sapiro in his association with farmers cooperatives. With the California Poultry Producers, Sapiro said he got $25 a month before his salary was increased to $100 a month. He received special fees too from the producers and in 1922 he got $8,000 in all from the association.

The California bean growers paid him a retainer of $1,200 a year from 1913 to 1924 inclusive, Sapiro testified, and in addition he received special fees which made a total of $31,761 from the bean growers in seven years.

Sapiro also told of receiving $4,149 from the Central California berry growers in the same period. Reed was curious about every dollar received by Sapiro and his associates.

FISHERMAN CATCHES SKULL OF A WOMAN

Stirling, Conn., March 30.—Vision of an unusual tragedy were conjured up when George Dowd, fishing in Perry's pond on Saturday, hooked up a human skull and brought it in to town to Dr. B. F. Teft, medical examiner, who declared the skull to be that of a woman, and told the police of Connecticut and Rhode Island in which Perry's pond is located. Investigation disclosed an abandoned tomb two miles from the pond had been broken into, and the bones disturbed.

Blast Buries 250 Miners

Cresson, Pa., March 30.—Officials of the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Co., whose Ehrenfeld, Pa., mine was shaken by an explosion today, told International News Service that 250 miners are believed entombed.

The Ehrenfeld mine is one of the largest in Cambria county. It normally employs from 500 to 700 miners.

Although the blast did not occur in the main passageway, company officials believe 250 men were working in the wrecked channel.

All of these men were entombed about 12:20 p. m. A general alarm was spread to all mining communities throughout the district and they responded immediately with rescue equipment and with trained mine rescue crews.

At 3:45 p. m. twelve rescue crews were at the mouth of the mine and ready to take their turns at burrowing through the debris to the entombed miners as soon as the gas had cleared sufficiently to permit their entrance.

URGES EXTRA SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE

Senator Walcott Says Problem of Revenues For State Needs Serious Study at Present.

Hartford, March 30.—A special session of the State Legislature to study the problem of administration of state departments was put forth as a possible means of bringing about economy and additional revenues by Frederick C. Walcott, of Norfolk, chairman of the Senate committee on finance here today.

He made his remarks to the Farmers Association of the Legislature. Mr. Walcott upheld Governor Trumbull in the statement that "no more taxes can be levied against industry." At the same time levies must be made to meet expenses necessary to expand human institutions. "More taxes will drive out industry," Mr. Walcott declared.

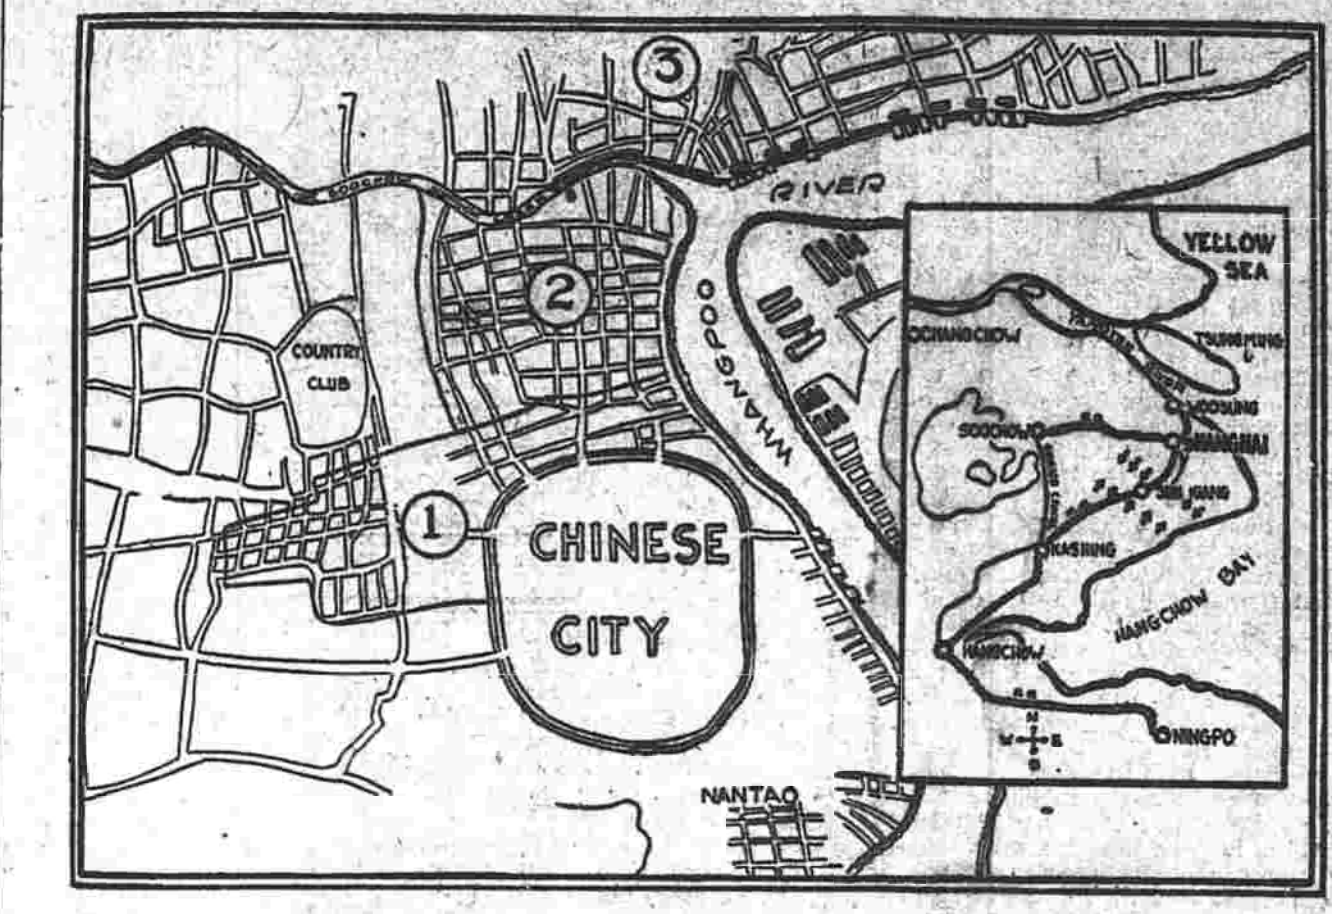

"Business does not grow nor start intensive lobbying when heavily taxed; it simply moves to other states," he said. "The future is shown. We must devise means of administration which will tie one legislature to another. Under the present system one-half of each session is taken up in learning the subtleties of problems, and much of the rest in squabbling about bond issues and projects.

Too Far Apart. "We are so far apart from business methods that we deserve censure. Our activity is of the highest but our business system, because of the set up, is poor. Plenty of individual ability is at hand each session but the system provides a handicap. We should do the same here as was done in Washington; reduce departmental expenditures, get rid of supernumeraries, and effect economies all along the line.

"I should like to see the governor call a special session to last one or two weeks so that we might study all these problems."

COLLIE KILLS COW
New Canaan, Conn., March 30.—Mike Chiello, a Weed street resident, this afternoon asked the Selectmen to pay him for his cow. Ten minutes before he sought payment, Chiello saw a strange collie chase his cow in a pasture near the Chiello home. The cow fled in terror, stumbled, fell, and broke its neck. The collie trotted away unconcernedly.

FORD HURT IN ACCIDENT

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—Henry Ford has been operated upon for injuries received when he drove a Ford car down a steep embankment near his Dearborn estate last Sunday, it was announced today by his counsel at the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

Ford is now a patient at the Henry Ford hospital and is resting easily. The operation was a minor one and "no serious complications are expected," his counsel said.

Ford's injuries will prevent him testifying this week at the million-dollar libel suit, it was said. Details of the accident occurred when Ford was forced off the south side of Michigan Avenue near the Rouge river bridge, while on his way home about 8:30 Sunday evening. His little Ford coupe plunged down an embankment and crashed into a tree.

The billionaire was knocked unconscious but after a while regained his senses and walked several hundred feet to his estate. There the gate keeper found him and rushed him to his house. Dr. R. E. McClure, chief physician at the Henry Ford hospital attended to his injuries.

Overcome by Smoke. Crowds on the street saw the aged Mr. Benjamin, flames shooting around him, make his way to the edge of the roof. They cried a warning for him to wait. The rope ladder of the fire department was brought out and into this he leaped. He struck the net on his side. Seriously injured, he was carried to Franklin hospital.

Jack Carrigan, 35, escaped by a ten-foot jump from a blazing window to the roof of a lunch cart. He was unhurt.

Miss O'Brien lost her life when she fell from the third floor of the three-story building as the floor collapsed. The body of Mrs. Philbrook was found in her room. She had been overcome by smoke before she could leave her bed. Mr. Gage, who had removed a wooden leg when he retired, was helpless in his attempt to escape. His body was found at the doorway of his apartment.

The third and top floor of the block was made up of apartments and a majority of those rescued were carried down fire ladders. Many were terror stricken.

On the second floor were several offices and the plant of the Central New Hampshire Telephone Exchange. The night operator, Miss Rachel Buchanan, stayed at her post with smoke and fire all about her until rescued by Ralph Manning, who ran into the burning building.

Five stores on the ground floor and a pool room in the basement of the block were ruined. The cause of the fire was undetermined, but was believed to have started in an office on the second floor. Only the four walls were left.

MR. BOWERS RECOGNIZES ONE OF FAMILY TODAY
Judge H. O. Bowers regained consciousness this morning long enough to recognize a member of his family, and to make several reasonable requests. It was reported at the Memorial hospital today at three o'clock, Dr. N. A. Burr, his attending physician, said that the patient's condition was much improved. Mr. Bowers showed signs of regaining consciousness yesterday afternoon, but he had not come out of the coma until this morning. He has been unconscious seven weeks this morning.

CHINESE MOB ATTACKS FRENCH IN SHANGHAI

P. U. PROBE IS BALKED IN SENATE
Rep. Citron Makes Charges; Miss Marjorie Cheney Asks For An Investigation; Debate State Rights.

Hartford, Conn., March 30.—An appropriation of $1,000,000 to be made annually for construction of rural roads was approved by the Senate here today.

William Citron and Rev. George B. Gilbert, representatives from Middletown, made today a second unsuccessful attempt on the floor of the House to bring about the appointment of a commission to investigate public power companies and power sites within the state. The House rejected the bill by oral vote.

An investigation of some sort was urged by Miss Marjorie Cheney, of Manchester, after disassociating herself from innuendoes against the heads of the Republican Party in Connecticut, from the Democratic Party, and finally aimed at the judiciary committee.

Citron's Charges. Charges were made by Mr. Citron, who declared that the investigation of such companies would become a party issue if the matter was neglected by the Legislature. He quoted Professor W. Z. Ripley, of Harvard, to the effect that "a dark combination exists between the head of the Republican Party and public utilities companies of Connecticut." Mr. Citron declared he did not "propose to do one of the dumb things and humbuckisms who sit in the House and just listen to reports."

Mr. Gilbert thought the bill vital to the state. He said "we want development of power, but we also should control state rights."

A. W. Sisson, of Hebron, also favored the bill but House Leader Averill was ready with objections and was sustained by a comfortable majority.

A bill which would allow salary increases to $1,000 for Middlesex county's commissioners was passed by the House under suspension of rules.

George H. Hummel, of Seymour, received restoration of forfeited rights by vote of the House.

Favorable Reports. Favorable reports received by the House and tabled for calendar and printing were: regulating sale of milk laws; providing for hospital licenses, revising natureopathy laws; providing for official proclamation by the governor for observance of Maine Memorial Day each year.

AMERICAN IS KILLED BY MEXICAN BANDITS
Kidnapped With Son and Held For $40,000 Ransom—U. S. Protest.

Mexico City, March 30.—Edgar Wilkins, American citizen of Savannah, Ga., has been killed by Jalisco outlaws, who kidnapped him, according to an unconfirmed report from Guadalajara, published by the newspaper Excelsior today.

Wilkins and his son were kidnapped several days ago and the son was released and sent to Mrs. Wilkins with a demand for $40,000 ransom, asserting that unless the ransom was paid Wilkins would be killed. This threat has been carried out, according to the Guadalajara reports.

Urgent protests have been made by the American embassy and the United States consulate at Guadalajara.

CHILDREN DRIVEN AHEAD AS SHIELD

Defenders of Concession Forced to Fire Over Heads of Small Boys and Girls—Reinforcements Rushed to Barricades—American Residents Ask For American Troops.

Shanghai, Midnight, March 30.—Chinese mobs opened attacks upon the barricades about the French concession tonight.

The mobs of Chinese approached the barricades of the French concession, behind groups of small boys and girls who had been herded in front of the attackers and gave them shelter.

The attack occurred at the Avenue Des Deux Republics, where mobs hurled missiles over the barricades and fired occasional shots. Children in front.

The Annamite troops defending the concession were prevented from returning the fire directly because of the children in front of the mobs.

The French defenders, however, fired volleys over the heads of the children. Reinforcements have been rushed to the French barricades and defensive measures have been tightened in the international settlement.

The French concession adjoins the native city of Shanghai and is regarded as the weakest point in the defense of the foreigners.

American residents in the concession have asked for American troops, but the French commander has thus far refused, maintaining that his forces were sufficient to afford protection.

Barricades have been erected between the French concession and the international settlement and even though the Chinese mobs penetrate the French concession they will be faced by heavy defenses before they can reach the international settlement where the majority of the Americans in Shanghai are now quartered.

OTHER ATTACKS
Shanghai, March 30.—Anti-foreigner raid continues to spread in China today, and the entire coastal region seems in ferment.

While reports come of the evacuation of foreigners from Chefoo and other towns in the north, which are still under control of the northerners, there came a report today of anti-American attacks in the southern most province of Kwangtung.

The French administration of Kwang Chowwan in Kwangtung has cabled a report that an American-Catholic mission there has been looted and that the Fathers in charge have been forced to take refuge in Koehow. The French authorities suggest that warships be sent there immediately.

Thirteen Americans are isolated at Hainan Island, according to the French authorities, and grave fears are felt for their safety. It is recommended that a warship be sent there to investigate.

Northerners Helpless. The northerners apparently are not yet prepared to give resistance to the Cantonese for they have withdrawn in order from Nanchow to the north, after the U. S. S. Pillsbury evacuated nine Americans in that town and in Jukow.

Cantonese continued to fire on refuge ships. The Tatum and Loongwo, bringing 105 American refugees from Hankow under the escort of the destroyer Paul Jones, was fired on as it passed Nanking during the night. There were no casualties although several rifle bullets hit the vessels.

The Cantonese have occupied the Standard Oil property in the British concession, but this far have done no damage, as an American destroyer has been standing by.

Elect Barricades. Some significance is seen in the fact that the foreign defenders have erected barricades along Avenue Edward VII, which divides the French concession from the international settlement, which is now entirely surrounded by barricades and is not reliant upon the French concession for any protection.

Last night there were 1,400 arrested for failure to observe the curfew law.

Railroad service to Nanking was resumed today.

In the Chinese area there are rickshaws today, as the general labor union has ordered rickshaw pullers to join the union or face arrest by pickets.

The Shanghai Provisional government which has been established has a strongly radical tinge. The members include several Communists.

The provisional government has announced that it is arranging a mass meeting to welcome Chiang Kai-Shek.

Violent anti-British propaganda is being disseminated from some fifty Chinese colleges. This propaganda scores the British bombardment of Nanking but curiously makes no reference to the American participation in the bombardment.

TWO BIG FEATURES AT STATE TONIGHT

William Farnum and Dorothy Devore Divide Honors on Program—Eight Acts Tomorrow.

Two big features, the first starring William Farnum and the other a problem-play with Dorothy Devore in the leading role, are on the State theater program for this evening only.
William Farnum is a hit in "The Winning Wallop," a story of prizefighters who are in the ring for the love of a girl. The picture is excellently filmed and the story is one of that thrilling kind that Farnum is at his best in.
"The First Night" as its name would suggest, is a story of trial marriage and its attendant problems. A young couple run up against snags on their honeymoon and the marriage ship seems destined to be wrecked when other old lovers appear on the horizon. It is a picture that has plenty of thrills and love interest.

The State will feature tomorrow afternoon and evening its Bargain Day program with eight acts of vaudeville and the whimsical play, "The Potters," with W. C. Fields in the leading role. "The Potters" is the comedy of an American family whose conduct has been spread all over the country in the comic strip of that name.
The amusing character of browbeaten Pa Potter, eternally hopeful of some day making a million dollars has a real life background as startling as the most bizarre of his imagined adventures.

WATKINS DEMONSTRATE NEW VICTROLA TONIGHT

First Showing Here of Automatic and Self Operating Talking Machine.

Development of a self-operating talking machine, which changes its own records automatically and gives an hour of music with one of the records, is the latest achievement of engineers and scientists. Announcement of the perfection of this instrument was made today by Watkins Brothers, local Victor dealers.
The new instrument, which is the fourth in a series of revolutionizing developments in the field of musical reproduction, will be demonstrated for the first time locally by the Victor Talking Machine Company, at a private demonstration tonight at Watkins music room, entrance from Oak street.
With this new instrument it is now possible to put a recording of an entire symphony in the magazine, turn the switch, and hear the complete composition without the necessity of changing records by hand. The instrument takes off the record that has been played and puts on the next until the entire selection of twelve records or less has been played when the turntable stops automatically.
In addition to the playing of long recordings requiring a number of records, with out the necessity of changing the records by hand, the new invention also makes possible the playing of an entire program of records. Twelve different dance selections, or a complete vaudeville program may be placed in the magazine and the instrument will require no further attention until the last record in the group selected has been played. And then the instrument stops automatically.
All those who are interested in seeing and hearing this newest development in the musical field are invited to attend the private demonstration given by Watkins Brothers tonight in their music room, entrance from Oak street.

S. M. H. S. SWIMMERS ENTER FOR WATERBURY

Despite the loss of Arthur McKay, a star captain, who left school recently, the S. M. H. S. swimming team, winners of the Central Interscholastic League meet, expects to make a good showing in the state meet at Wilby High, Waterbury, on April 9.
The team has been training under Coach W. J. Clarke and yesterday Manager Leslie Buckland sent an entry list to Waterbury which included in addition to himself, Robert Trevis, Edward Treat, Edward Markley, Wesley Warnock, Bernard Sheridan and Frank Hicking. About twenty other schools will compete.

HERALDITES BOWL, EAT ALL BUT PINS

Masculine Newspaper Workers Cut Loose By Courtesy Of Number Ones.

All male employees of The Herald, from the printer's devil down to the managing editor, enjoyed a chicken and spaghetti dinner and social at Hose House No. 1 on Pine street last night. The feed was served at 6 o'clock and 25 were present.
Following the dinner bowling teams captained by "Wah-Wah," the big devil and Joe the little devil met on the alleys and after many pins had been broken and a pin-boy or two maimed by flying timber, it was found that Joe's team was victorious by one pin. The consolation prize was awarded to "Wah-Wah," while Joe walked off with the purse of gold which was the stake.
Demonstrations of the fire apparatus in the hose house were given by Leroy "Pop" Chapman, a professional fireman. Mr. Chapman's explanation of the use of the sliding pole and the way he slid down it was very impressive.
Trencherman Tommy
Eating honors went to Thomas W. Stowe, sports writer, who disposed of a whole chicken several plates of spaghetti and an entire box of anticips. Others in the contest conceded defeat after the fourth course so Mr. Stowe was left alone in the field.
Between courses the gang joined in singing several of the popular songs of the day, led by J. Albert Gervin and abetted by Bill Anderson and a few others. The noise was so terrific that it awakened the night men who were sleeping upstairs so a hint was received to cut down on the volume if not the harmony.
Card tables were put into use by members of the force who did not bowl. While the rummy games were in progress the editorial department accepted the challenge of the composing room to a bowling match. The outcome of the match is not clear for both sides claimed victory. A coin was tossed up by Fred Hartenstein, foreman of the linotype force, but it was later found that the coin had two heads and the game was thrown out by the official arbiter.

LARGE CROWD HEARS PRUTTING RECITAL

Demonstration of New Organ At St. James' Occasion of a Musical Treat.

St. James' church was filled to capacity with a recital of the organ recital which was rendered by Robert H. Prutting on the new Austin pipe organ. Many appreciative comments were heard.
Mr. Prutting's control of the various combinations was excellent. The rendition of Chopin's Funeral March and of Schubert's "Ave Maria" were perhaps the best numbers on the program. Mr. Prutting's own composition, "Travelling Ambulance" and Logan's "Over the Fields" were also outstanding.
All those who attended were much pleased with the excellent tonal quality of the new instrument. Mr. Walker, general manager of the Austin Company, who was present at the recital, was enthusiastic in his comments on the result of the very careful work that has been done in the installation of the organ.

SEEKS SEPARATION

New York, March 30.—Mrs. Alice Jones Rhinelander was today preparing through her attorneys a legal action to obtain a separation and permanent alimony from her blue-blooded husband, Leonard Kip Rhinelander.
The unanimous decision of the court of Appeals yesterday, denying Rhinelander's appeal for an annulment, will automatically halt payment of the $300 a month temporary alimony which Mrs. Rhinelander has been receiving during the litigation.

FOUR SHOWS TO AID WASHINGTON TRIP

H. S. Seniors Sponsor Film Of "La Boheme" and Other Pictures on April 6.

On Wednesday of next week, April 6, the senior class at the local high school, will hold a benefit day at the State Theater. It was announced today at the principal's office. The purpose will be to secure additional funds to help defray the expenses of the Washington trip this month.
There will be four performances. The two matinees will start at 2:15 and 4:15 and the evening shows will be at 7:30, 9:15 and 11:00 o'clock. The admission will be thirty-five cents in the evening. Miss Dorothy Penland, chairman of the committee making arrangements for the affair.
Through the efforts of Manager Jack Sanson, a fine bill of entertainment has been secured. There will be about twelve reels of motion pictures, the feature of which will be the picturization of the famous opera, "La Boheme." It is said to be one of the most beautiful pictures ever filmed. The theater orchestra will be augmented for the occasion.

BIRTHRATE HERE TAKES BIG DROP

1926 Fell Far Below 1925 and 1927 Is Off to a Still Worse Start.

Manchester's birthrate, despite an increase in its population, is decreasing, it is found on examination of the vital statistics for 1925, 1926 and 1927. And if the number of births for each month does not average more than January and February have, 1927 will not even come near to equalling the figures of the past two years.
Comparison between 1925 and 1926 shows that the former year had 503 births against 428 for 1926, a difference of 75. The average number for each month of 1925 was something like 42, while 1926 averaged only 35. January and February of this year averaged, show only 32 births for each month, ten less than the monthly average for two years ago.
January of 1925 had the greatest number of births with 58. No month in 1926 comes within 15 of this record and no month in that year had 50 births and only two had more than 40. On the other hand, only four months in 1925 had less than 40 births.
January of this year got off to a bad start with only 31 births while February produced one more than that.
The following paragraphs give the number of births by months in 1925, 1926 and 1927:
1925: January, 58; February, 36; March, 41; April, 43; May, 33; June, 50; July, 45; August, 46; September, 49; October, 35; November, 40; December, 35.
1926: January, 35; February, 29; March, 38; April, 38; May, 35; June, 35; July, 43; August, 35; September, 34; October, 41; November, 35; December, 33.
1927: January, 31; February, 32.

FRENCH BEAUTY DETAINED

New York, March 30.—Miss Jacqueline Schally, 18-year-old blonde and famed as the "Most Beautiful Girl in France" who arrived here to enter the movies, was detained at Ellis Island today by the immigration authorities. The officials said they would make an investigation as to how long the French beauty intended to remain in America and delve into her plans here.

SIX GRADUATE, SEVEN ENTER TRADE SCHOOL

Boy Carpenters Busy With Outside and Inside Work as Spring Approaches.

Six students have graduated from the Trade school and seven new ones have been enrolled since the first of the year, Director A. A. Warren said today. Those who have completed their work are: Julius Dobzanski, Burnside, machine; Kingsley Knobov, Manchester, electrical; Fred Wood, Manchester, electrical; Joseph Schiebepflug, Manchester, carpentry; George Bingham, Manchester, carpentry; Jacob Stygar, Williamantic, machine.
The new students are: Adolph Hunzher, Hartford; Albert Samling, Hartford; Romeo Panclera, Stafford Springs; Gilbert Kibbe, Hartford; John Sprant, Manchester; Edwin Wright, South Glastonbury; Patrick Caron, Hartford.
The carpentry department at the Trade school is busy as spring approaches. Work is in progress on several buildings and there is a liberal amount of so-called shop work.
The foundation of a two-car garage on Center street for Mrs. Mabel R. Hauschulz has been completed and work was started yesterday on the frame of the building.
The remodeling of the store on South Main street, owned by Michael Orfittella has been completed. During their work on this building, the Trade school carpenters attracted much attention from passersby, a large sign, telling that the S. T. S. students were doing this work, having been placed in front of the store.
This is also the time of the year when orders come in from local fishermen to build boats. Last year several were built and three contemplated orders are now in hand. Director Warren states that it would be impossible for the carpentry department to handle all orders that come in for the building of boats, but that they turn out as many as possible.
Thirty new lockers for the Hartford Art school on Colling street in Hartford have also been completed. At the time of the erection of the school the carpentry department here made the original lockers and storage closets.

They Stain Teeth

Why Some Teeth Look Dingy

A viscous coat constantly forms on your teeth. You can feel it any time. Fruits, coffee and tobacco stain that coat, then teeth look dingy. The glistening enamel is hidden by a cloud. Magnesia quickly removes that coat. When it is gone, the teeth reveal their natural beauty. The quick change will delight you. Phillips' Dental Magnesia tooth paste applies that help in the best way known. It applies Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in concentrated form and dentists have for 50 years recommended that. It protects teeth in many ways. Magnesia is alkaline, so it instantly neutralizes the acids which form between the teeth and in crevices. Acids are the greatest enemies of the teeth and gums. Its antiseptics combat mouth germs. Its deodorants purify the breath. No other tooth paste in existence does so many things at once. Learn how much it does. Watch the teeth whiten, the breath grow sweet. Note the delightful taste it brings to the mouth in the morning. You will always be glad that you know it. You will never find anything else to compare with it. Go try it now.

Five in One
Its 15 ingredients combine in one tooth paste these five important helps:

SUPERVISION.

We confess to reading with some trepidation the account of Governor Trumbull's speech before the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce last night in the course of which he recommended the establishment of a centralized managerial bureau to supervise the expenditures of the various state boards and commissions.

It is not more than fair to remember that there was no very serious antipathy displayed toward missionaries, or toward any other white sojourners in China for that matter, until British ships and soldiers and Americans and French and Italian ships and Marines began converging from all quarters of the seven seas upon Chinese ports.

From that time to this the situation has been growing daily worse. The Chinese see pointed at them the frowning guns of warships sent by the nations to whom the missionaries belong.

They have been preaching a gospel of helpfulness and charity in which they firmly believed. They have been willing, in a way, to make themselves hostages to their faith in their own governments.

Two Ford suits. A tremendous fuss is being made over the million dollar suit brought against Henry Ford by Aaron Sapiro. None at all is being made over the $5,500 action instituted by a Rochester Italian named Angelo Tomassello against the same defendant.

His peers. Henry Judd Gray, the "good fellow" salesman who helped Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder murder her art editor husband, thinks that the people of Queens county, New York, are prejudiced against him and seeks to be tried elsewhere.

Smelts. A special dispatch to the New York Herald-Tribune from Kalama, Wash., tells of an annual run of approximately five billion smelt up the Sandy river each spring.

Missionaries. Will Rogers is the only American who feels at all inclined to be funny about this Chinese business. "Any fellow," he says, "that will stay in the middle of a civil war for six months and don't even know enough to send his family out, it won't do much good to rescue him."

Queer Quirks of Nature. The Beaver Lodge. Here is an animal that builds himself a home that far outclasses the primitive dwellings of many savage races of humans.

value of Christian proselyting activities among old, anciently established peoples like the Chinese, but there is no room for difference of opinion as to the amount of effort that has been spent in building up a certain amount of good understanding between the Christian welfare workers in China and the people among whom they work.

It was not at all unnatural, it was not at all necessarily stupid or reckless, for these people to refuse to believe that the good feeling so long existing between them and their Chinese neighbors was to be destroyed by the outbreak of war between their host nation and their own home governments.

Rogers' grim humor is aimed, of course, at the missionaries. But it is hardly fair. There are differences of opinion as to the proportionate these same smelts with hook and line in the late fall and early winter, and are well rewarded with a catch of four or five dozen. It isn't only because the Atlantic coast spawning waters are contaminated that there is such a tremendous difference in the supply of smelts as compared with Pacific waters; it is because, in defiance of the law, bootleg fishermen net the little fish on their way up the estuaries to spawn. They do it right along and it is doubtful if any police or town court holds a record of a prosecution for this particular offense.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

A WILDERNESS ARCHITECT

The Beaver Lodge. Here is an animal that builds himself a home that far outclasses the primitive dwellings of many savage races of humans.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, March 30.—Ohio has received certain publicity as a mother of presidents. It is more or less interesting to observe that numerous members of Congress also turn in her direction when they sing dimmy songs.

Not all members are quite frank as to their places of birth, in the self-furnished biographies appearing in the Congressional Directory, but 531 members of House and Senate, just 153—more than a fourth—record themselves as having been born outside the states they represent.

The middle-west has gone in heavy for this sort of crop, even as for agricultural crops. Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Iowa have produced a total of 49 senators and congressmen for other states.

Iowa has given 11 congressmen away, and they aren't all from California now, either, although Senator Shorridge is on the list. So are Representatives Howard of Nebraska and Johnson of South Dakota.

Indiana has supplied eight congressmen of one sort or another, in addition to the official Hoosiers in Congress. She would top Ohio, of course, had not most of her great emigrants turned to journalism and literature rather than politics.

Eleven members were born outside the United States, which means that any party absent-minded enough to nominate them for president will be licked by the constitution. Among them are Senators Couzens of Michigan, who was born in Ontario, and Gooding of Idaho, born in England.

NEW YORK

New York, March 30.—The newest gang in the metropolitan is known as the "Red Hook bunch." And this crude satire on the gang days of old should make many a gangster turn in his grave.

The "Red Hookers" are made up of youngsters, most of them about 14 years of age. They steal plumbing and job peddlers' carts for movie money or the price of a pool game.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Haling were callers in Hartford this week.

Edwin Lawton of Hartford visited his bungalow at Cemetery Heights Saturday.

The Red House which is nearly 200 years is being restored by John Massey. It has been moved on to a new foundation located on slightly high place at "Cemetery Heights."

Miss Dora Pinney of South Manchester spent the week-end at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pinney.

The Grange met Friday evening and the following candidates were voted upon. Mrs. Oscar Anderson, Oscar Anderson, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Daly, Thomas Daly, Jr., Lillian Switzer, Joseph Mack and Milton Haling.

The Grange officers will give the first and second degrees April 3. The lecturer's program was as follows: song by Grange chosen by the lady assistant, "The Wild Bird," talk, Does it pay the farmer to advertise? Master David Toomey; How to keep the hired man on the farm, Maxwell Hutchinson; House plants, Elsie Jones.

An old-fashioned spelling match was exhibited by the entire Grange, the words being given by the Worthy Lecturer. The spellers proved to be a brilliant class, six remaining after words had become scarce. The remaining six took their seats with an expression of fatigue.

Master Chester Howard is improving after a serious illness.

The Grange will give a box social at the home of Mrs. W. W. Grant. Ladies are requested to bring a box of lunch to be auctioned off. Every one is invited.

WAPPING

Edward Howard Fairchild was initiated in the following degree at the meeting of the Evergreen Lodge of Masons, No. 114, A. F. and A. M., at South Windsor last Monday evening. Plans are under way for the holding of a public whist at the lodge rooms on Thursday evening, April 7.

OLDEST TREE IN STATE STANDS NEAR DANBURY

Danbury, Conn., March 30.—"The Oldest Tree in Connecticut" will look down upon the semi-centennial of the Battle of Ridgefield on April 27, next just as it looks down on the real event, according to tree experts. The "oldest tree" is a sycamore standing on West Wooster street within a short distance of the city line, and possessing a recorded history running back to the settlement in 1685. The tree then was a monument marking the west boundary of the district that later was to be known as Danbury. Tree experts estimate the tree is older than the famous sycamore on the Green in New Haven. No one has yet proposed the sycamore for a place in the "Tree Hall of Fame" for its location is such as to cause it to be overlooked.

FENCING MASTER WINS SUIT AGAINST DIRECTOR

Jury, However Awards Him But $500 of $25,000 Damages Sought.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 30.—Gerald De Merveux, Hollywood fencing master, today stood victor in his sensational damage suit against Commodore J. Stuart Blackton, motion picture producer.

By a vote of nine to three, the jury awarded De Merveux $500 of the $25,000 damages he sought for an alleged horsewhipping administered by the defendant.

De Merveux had been an employee in the Blackton home. The alleged assault occurred, according to the testimony, when Blackton, returning home from a trip, was told by Mrs. Blackton that De Merveux struck her because she discharged him.

An insanity complaint sworn against De Merveux by counsel for Blackton, had not been served today.

NO RECORD FOUND WIDOW LOSES MONEY

New Haven, Conn., March 30.—Daniel S. Johnstone, of Hartford, was killed in the second battle of the Marne, on July 20, 1918. Because the War Department can find no record of Johnstone having applied for war risk insurance, Judge Edwin S. Thomas, in United States District Court here, was forced to decide against Marie T. Johnstone, of Hartford, "next of kin," who sued the United States for the $10,000 insurance provided for soldiers by the government.

Judge Thomas expressed regret for the situation in his memorandum of decision but finds no other course under the circumstances but to decide in favor of the government.

BIG BOOZE SEIZURE

Newark, N. J., March 30.—Scotch whiskey and malt valued at $100,000 was seized today by government agents in raids at Sayerville and South River. It was announced by the office of Colonel Ira L. Reeves, prohibition administrator for New Jersey, following the Sayerville raid, in which 1,000 cases of uncut Scotch were seized. Chief of Police George Gross was arrested, it was stated.

Reeves was investigating a report that the liquor was brought to this country by the steamer Kilmarnock and unloaded to other vessels prior to the seizure of the ship last Sunday.

GEORGE WALSH HEADS CIRCLE FEATURE CAST

Is Count In "Count of Luxembourg" Here Tomorrow and Friday—Two Features.

George Walsh comes to the fore at the Circle theater tomorrow and Friday with his latest offering, "The Count of Luxembourg," a dramatization of Franz Lehár's operetta. The author of the famous "Merry Widow" wrote the original story and it was adapted to the screen by one of the foremost dramatists of the day.

And the "Count" is not the only feature on the program. The Circle is presenting along with this picture the feature, "Stolen Pleasures," with Dorothy Revier and Helen Chadwick in the leading roles. "Stolen Pleasures" is the story of a husband who goes outside of his home for enjoyment and Miss Revier as the jealous wife has considerable acting to do in her part.

Produced by Columbia, who have been responsible for a number of entertaining screen plays shown at the Circle this season, it has Harlan Tucker and Gayne Whitman in the supporting parts. The story is one that has already achieved no little fame as a magazine tale and was written by Leah Baird, former screen star herself, now turned author.

"The Count of Luxembourg" is the romance of a new love and a new marriage presented in a new way. The most beautiful and successful star on the Paris stage promises to marry an old Duke, because it was his money that paved the way for her theatrical success. But the marriage cannot take place until she first acquires a title; for that reason she marries, at the Duke's instigation, "The Count of Luxembourg." Then the trouble begins; life of the studid, life of the stage is carried down to the Riviera where troubles gradually transform themselves into breathless joys.

The story has to do with the social life of the palace and the art life of the studio and stage. Color and beauty from city and country, sea and shore. And throughout all is the undertone of melody, a harmony of life that holds and lingers long after the picture has passed from sight.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Recent transfers by the Stuart J. Wasley Real Estate Agency, 827 Main street, include the following:

William T. and Bertha S. Burgess of 17 Trotter street have sold two lots on Woodbridge street to W. Harry England of Manchester Green. Mr. England has already broken ground and is to construct a modern seven-room colonial house, with the bath and fireplace for Egbert B. and Emma B. Inman of 390 East Center street. The house will be built in the center of the two lots, which have a frontage of 195 feet on Woodbridge street.

Alexander and Susan Cordner have sold their six-acre farm in Talcottville to Henry Baxter of 19 Oakland Terrace.

Mrs. Margie Giblin of Cottage street has sold a lot on Brookfield street in the Greenacres tract to George Fish of 160 Benton street. Contractor Fish intends to construct on this lot in the near future a modern colonial house.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST The Spirit of the Kingdom

SYNOPSIS ARRANGED BY DR. WM. E. GILROY, D. D. SKETCHES BY HROESEN

Jesus, illustrating the quality of privilege in the Kingdom of Heaven, told the story of a householder hiring laborers for his vineyard at different hours of the day...

Jesus, going to Jerusalem, called his disciples aside and told them of his impending betrayal, suffering and death.

The mother of James and John came to Jesus asking special places of honor for her sons in Christ's Kingdom.

But Jesus, assuring her that she knew not what she asked, said, 'To sit on my right hand and on my left is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.'

TORPEDOES ARE AWAITING PRES. COOLIDGE'S NAVY PLAN

'Limit the big guns all you want but leave us our torpedoes,' says France in effect. And because of their attitude Great Britain is expected to assume a similarly uncompromising position at the Coolidge conference...

By MILTON BRONNER.

London.—Despite fair words spoken to him by England and Japan, President Coolidge and his staff face grave difficulties and obstacles. From here it looks probable that Congress eventually will go ahead in its expressed desire to strengthen the American navy with light cruisers, modern destroyers and bigger submarines.

Under President Harding, the Washington naval disarmament conference of the five great naval powers—America, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy—agreed to limit the number, tonnage and gun-power of battleships and battle cruisers.

At that time France strenuously opposed limiting the number of lighter vessels and now, joined this time by Italy, has refused to go into a conference which has just taken view. As an alternative, President Coolidge envisages in agreement among America, Japan and Great Britain to limit their light vessel construction.

NO 1927 DROP IN ACREAGE OF TEXAS COTTON

Growers Report Normal Planting With Increase In Some Sections.

San Antonio, Texas.—Reports coming to the headquarters of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce would indicate that man's cupidity is hard to overcome. According to figures compiled by that regional organization, it would appear that there will be no lessening of the acreage planted to cotton this year...

After the disastrous slump in cotton prices last fall, the general belief was that the cotton growers of the South would voluntarily curtail their acreage anywhere from 10 to 25 per cent and so minimize the danger of another crushing surplus.

Many communities pledged themselves to crop diversification, in other words reducing the cotton acreage a certain percentage and utilizing the soil for the raising of other necessary crops.

See New Surplus. It was believed that the cotton farmer himself, sensing the critical state of affairs, would show enough 'hoss sense' to make an effort to reduce his acreage, thereby boosting the returns on the 1927 crop.

Farmers in some localities may have done so, West Texas Chamber of Commerce officials declare, but they are inclined to believe that man's natural cupidity will again give the cotton farmer a lesson he is not likely to forget.

Reports show that normal cotton planting is proceeding now. Reliable advice from some seasons show that an increase in cotton acreage will be checked up before the planting season is over.

The belief seems general over the cotton section, it would appear, that there will be a big increase in cotton acreage throughout the South this year. Hence, the farmers argue, there will be a big advance in cotton prices, and by slipping in a few extra acres the canny grower will reap a harvest.

Charges have been made that in some sections meetings have been held in which prominent local agricultural leaders advised their neighbors to 'talk a lot about cotton acreage reduction,' but to 'let George do the reducing.' These local authorities on the cotton problem...

LIFE AND LETTERS OF FIRST BABY OF THE LAND

Baby Mildred Pinkenfeld and her mother.

By Mrs. Frances Pinkenfeld Brooklyn, N. Y., March 16.—My three-months-old baby, Mildred Marcla, adjudged the nation's finest infant, quite unconsciously finds herself occupying the spotlight as 'Baby America.' Fifteen leading physicians declared her the champion nine-weeks-old child. Now she is 13 weeks old and still perfect.

But she eats, sleeps and 'gooses' quite as unconcernedly as if she did not get a number of fan letters every day offers to endorse foods, advertise the latest baby clothes, and even to appear in the movies.

A Proud Mother Her head is not turned by the adulation she receives, and I hope mine will not be, though naturally I am a proud mother, grateful for the health of my only child. Because of the interest she has unwittingly aroused, I am convinced that women all over the country are trying to raise the standard of babyhood. I am, therefore, more than glad to tell others how she is being reared.

First, she was very much wanted and loved before she came. I never worried about myself or her. I walked, danced, played bridge, indulged my fondness for chocolate cake and beefsteak, and led a perfectly normal existence before she came.

Her Birth Weight Women told me that unless I dieted, I would have an overweight baby, but Mildred weighed only five and a half pounds at birth.

I did my own housework right up to the last minute, and the day after she was born I walked three miles at two o'clock in the morning, just for exercise.

At the hospital, she was given scientific care and her regular habits were formed. At the end of 10 days, I took her home and have been her nurse ever since. She has always been perfectly healthy, and I believe she is happy. She began to smile almost as soon as she came home and has never cried any more than a normal baby should to exercise it lungs.

She is fed every three hours. After a breast feeding, she finishes with a dessert of formula milk—and here I must say I have always given Mildred the benefit of the doubt, for we usually give her an ounce more than the doctor prescribes. Somehow, I can't bear to be too mechanical with Mildred. My mother's instinct to humor her must have some outlet.

At six each evening she is bathed before she is fed and tucked in for the night. At this time, too, she takes her exercise. I pull her opposite arm and leg together and out three times, and stretch her arm out straight and back to her chest three times.

At this time, too, I wash her eyes because she sleeps on the sun porch from to in the morning until sunset with her face exposed so she has an opportunity to gather a possible impurity or so from the atmosphere. I never wash her mouth.

For her tubbing we have the bath room at 80 degrees, otherwise the rooms are between 65 and 70 degrees. At night the windows are wide open. After the feeding she is put to bed—not rocked, but my husband and I always bid her an affectionate goodnight and leave her happy and gurgling before we switch off the light and leave her to her dreams.

Ordinarily we dress her, very simply in a silk and wool shirt, diaper, silk and wool stockings and an elderdown night dress. When she rides in state in her perambulator we add a dress, sweater outfit, hood and booties. She will be snug and cozy with the shield arranged to shut out any draft. Her face is exposed.

Often On Scales Twice a week we put her on the scales, and keep a regular nurse's chart of her increases in weight, as well as the food she eats and all information about her bodily progress. She has always gained according to schedule, from 7 to 9 ounces a week, and has more than doubled her weight in three months.

Besides her physical care, in which we are guided by our doctor's advice and by our own commonsense, we are trying to supply affection and happiness for her as well.

She loves music and will lie happily and contentedly while we have the phonograph playing. We talk to her, train her to follow us with her eyes, and to be interested in what goes on about her. As soon as she is old enough we will encourage her to make in her way the sounds she hears, to observe color and design, and to tell us what she sees and feels.

Love's Labor As I set down the simple details of her care it sounds very commonplace, but it is all part of a glorious experience, and all a labor of love. There will come a day when I cannot do everything for her, when she will have to get her bumps and learn to work out the details of life for herself. But I believe if I give her a firm foundation of physical health and the same outlook of a happy child, she will be able to meet them for herself. That's why I'm making the effort of my life to keep her a perfect specimen.

Proposed Grid Coaching Rule Would Cause Cheating-Farrell

Hopkins' Suggestions Have Merits as Well as Faults; "Kick" Cannot Be Removed From Game.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, March 30.—When the football rules committee at its annual meeting amended the playing code to discourage the kicking game and to encourage lateral passing, a prominent eastern coach remarked:

"They are doing everything they can to take the foot and the kick out of football."

There are two sides to the argument that the amended rules will create more interest for players and spectators but there is no reason to fear that the "kick" ever will be taken out of football. The professors and the faculties will see to that.

After the stress that has been directed against "over-emphasis," "too much commercialization," "excessive expansion" and "too much of a lot of other things" that the hard working, underpaid professors do not like, it would seem that football is the biggest metaphoric football of its own game.

Somewhat is always taken as a kick at football and as a glutton for punishment it makes the Joe Grimm of sports look like a British heavyweight.

Hardly had the coaches finished explaining the new rules to a bewildered bunch of young hopefuls who had reported for spring practice than a call was issued for a conference of college officials to consider the changes in the code that would make a wreck of the whole system.

In recommending that such a conference be called, Dr. Ernest Mack Hopkins, president of Dartmouth college, one of the most prominent and influential football institutions in the east, suggested for consideration and approval:

1—Limiting players to sophomores and juniors.
2—Holding big games on a reciprocal or double-header basis with each college playing one eleven on the home field and another eleven on the rival's college home grounds.

3—Restricting all coaching to undergraduates.
There was a roar from the angry mob when the suggestions were dumped on an unsuspecting public and a hearty verdict was given that it wouldn't do at all.

There are, however, merits in each suggestion even if they are accompanied by practical faults. The double-header idea has been advanced here. It is not entirely unsound and it has possibilities that give it a fair chance for adoption in coming years. It theoretical virtue is that it might keep some of the boys close to the campus who otherwise might cut classes and bum a ride of some hundred miles or more to see their varsity boys play. But the idea certainly invites criticism of commercialization and the policy of gate receipts first.

The third suggestion that coaching be confined to undergraduates would throw a lot of high salaried men out of jobs but it might not wreck the game.

Among the assistant coaches at practically every big football college you will find graduates from the previous year and if they are competent to coach after idea years of instruction in varsity football they should be able to do it after three years. In big colleges where an established system of coaching is followed, a smart senior with qualities of leadership and success as well as a professional coach and he it remembered, there always would be the possibility of assistance from the football advisory committee.

The proposed rule, for this reason, certainly would encourage cheating. There is nothing sound, from the lay point of view, in the first suggestion that only sophomores and juniors be allowed to play.

There already is a rule preventing freshmen from playing varsity football. It was directed against the "tramp athlete" and succeeded very well.

Barring seniors from competition on the theory that no time would be taken away from the battle for a degree is impractical. If a senior can play good enough to make the varsity team and cares sufficiently about a degree he will get the degree football or no football. If he is not good enough to play football and is not interested in a diploma he can't be legislated into the ambition.

The Referee

Did Pete Donohue or George Uhle pitch in more innings last season—G. A. J.
Uhle pitched 318 innings. Donohue pitched only 286 innings. Was President Heydler ever a big league umpire?—S. W. E.
Yes. He started as an umpire when the regular umpire failed to show up for the fifth game of a series between Connie Mack's Pittsburgh Pirates and Gus Schmetz's Washington Senators in May, 1895. When did Clyde Hull, who beat Pete Latzo in Texas, start boxing?—G. E. F.
Hull was a wrestler before he was a boxer. He changed to boxing in 1923 when after winning a wrestling match he failed to receive any pay.

Billy Evans Says

CENTER FIELDS' JINX

A jinx seems to pursue the star center fielders of the Chicago White Sox.

Seven years back Happy Felsch was playing that position. It was a toss-up at the time as to who was the more valuable player, Tris Speaker or Felsch.

Then came the world series scandal of 1919, which broke a year later, causing the expulsion of Felsch as well as seven others of the White Sox from organized baseball.

Put on the market, Felsch would have been worth at least $100,000. He finally was a tough break for the Chicago club.

Years of experimenting with a number of outfielders followed and Johnny Mostil was finally unearthed as a worthy successor to Felsch. Now Mostil is probably lost forever as the result of self-inflicted wounds.

Best In American

The loss of Johnny Mostil is a severe blow to the chances of the Chicago White Sox. It makes the debut of Ray Schaik as manager a doubly difficult task.

Mostil last year was the best center fielder in the American League. He enjoyed a big season, and finally arrived, was a big star. Early last spring, after Mostil had turned in a brilliant performance the day previous, I sat on the Chicago bench discussing him with Eddie Collins, then manager of the White Sox.

"Mostil has been a great player for you," I remarked. Then I made reference to his fine baserunning of the year previous when he had scored 47 bases.

Collins agreed with me and then made comment that in a measure may explain Mostil's rash act in attempting to take his life.

Fearful Heart Trouble

"Mostil has developed into a star quickly," he replied, "and he didn't worry over his physical condition."

"Several years ago some specialist told Mostil he had a bad heart. Whether he really has or not Mostil believed him, and he worried about it."

"Watch him run and you will see that he keeps his mouth wide open and is always sucking in wind when he pulls up. He says he does that because he feels as if he isn't going to be able to breathe after he has run."

"Johnny is fearful, and the psychology of his alleged or real ailments greatly handicap his play."

"Dubious" Mostil's Favorite

No doubt this worry so preyed on Mostil's mind that he was out of his head when he acted so rashly in trying to take his life.

In this connection I recall the favorite word in Mostil's vocabulary. It was the word "dubious" and in a sense is an index to his temperament.

If it called a strike on Mostil he didn't like it and asked him if there was anything wrong with my judgment, he would always reply:

"It was a very dubious strike." If the weather became cloudy and rain seemed imminent, Johnny never failed to remark that the weather looked very dubious. Everything looked dubious with Johnny Mostil.

It was a dubious old world to Johnny, who was as fine a chap as ever walked on the ball field. His mental attitude was usually wrong, unfortunately for him.

Beauty and the Biscuit

Of all the handsome pups in the Boston Dog Show, "Wild Oaks," wire-haired fox terrier of R. C. Bondy, of New York, was adjudged the best. And the grand prize biscuit for which all his competitors yelled so enviously, came to him.

McGraw's Visit To THE NORTH STARTS SOME WILD YARNS

One Says He Is Trying to Sell His Stock In Giants to Rickard.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

INS Sports Editor
New York, March 30.—Unqualified denial that John McGraw's surreptitious visit here was prompted by a desire to sell his stock in the Giants to either Tex Rickard or "Fuzzy" Anderson, St. Louis promoter, because he had "one heavily 'on the nut'" in Florida real estate was entered today by Charles A. Stoneham, president of the club.

The visit ended yesterday afternoon just as mysteriously as it began when McGraw boarded a train for Chattanooga.

Stoneham's Story

Stoneham accounted for McGraw's visit by declaring that illness in the Stoneham family had prevented him from meeting his manager in the south and that it had become necessary for them to get together in order to devise some cunning scheme whereby it might be possible to overcome Eddie Roush's natural repugnance to a sum like $25,000. The matter of awakening the interest of Rogers Hornsby in anything less than $120,000 for his stock in the Cardinals was also discussed at length, it was said.

McGraw Happy
To a direct question about the allegation that McGraw was trying to unload his Giant stock, Stoneham said:

"As far as I know, there's nothing to it. Mr. McGraw seemed very happy and the matter of stock wasn't mentioned."

"McGraw felt that he would be able to persuade Hornsby to sell his stock in the Cardinals when they get together in Chattanooga on Thursday. I understand that he will in the rough but he will be able to iron out their differences."

"We have gone as far as we care to with Roush, for when I made the trade I thought he would be willing to play for the Giants for the money he was demanding and not getting in Cincinnati. It seems to me, however, so we have increased our bid several times and now we will go no higher."

"Hornsby is another matter. He is in condition, is a big help to the young players and has given our club a fighting spirit it lacked during the last two years."

EYEBROWS' RETURN CREATES DILEMMA

Chicago.—Eyebrows are coming back in style, while countless thousands mourn. Devotees of fashion who plucked their eyebrows—and most of them did—are out of luck, for they cannot grow a full crop now. No one seems to be quite sure what is responsible for the renaissance, but the National Cosmeticians' Association is sure that there will be one. One beauty expert says that movie vamps and the visits to this country of Oriental beauties created the desire for naturally thatched brows.

NEW HIS FROGS.

New Orleans.—Frogs that were being raised in captivity by a biological firm were stolen recently. Two men, discovered with frogs in their possession, declared they had caught them in the marshes. But an official of the firm demonstrated to the satisfaction of the court that they were his frogs, because their throats were much deeper than those of their wild cousins, and the frogs were thereupon returned to the biological firm, their rightful owners.

Cobb Tells Mack He Asks No More Favors Than Rookie

Ft. Myers, Fla., March 30.—"I'm just a ball player. Want you to forget that I was ever a big league manager or rated a star. Treat me like any one else on the ball club. I don't want any more consideration than you would give a promising rookie."

That, according to Connie Mack, was the gist of Ty Cobb's first speech after greeting the manager of the Athletics at their training camp here.

It made a great impression upon Connie. The word was soon passed to the players. The spirit of Cobb has been absorbed by the Athletics. It has already given the club fight and fire that was lacking last season.

When Cobb was signed by the Athletics, it created endless discussion as to how much or how little he would help the club. It was feared that his temperamental nature, his many years as star and his reign as manager, would unfit him for the ranks.

Cobb dispelled that thought five minutes after he arrived here. He has stuck to it through the training period. If he continues in that frame of mind, he is going to be a great help to the Athletics.

White Sox Pennant Hopes Grow; Manager Schalk Mum on Subject

Fort Worth, Tex., March 30.—Pennant hopes, not quite but nearly faded from the Chicago White Sox training camp, when Johnny Mostil, sometimes entitled the "Ball Hawk of the American League," in a fit of temporary insanity, attempted self destruction in a Shreveport hotel on the day after he reported for the start of the annual conditioning grind. The pale hope still loom as one of the most formidable entries in the championship stakes though at this writing Manager Schalk is maintaining a sphinx-like silence when pressed for an opinion regarding the club's chances.

Before Johnny stabbed and slashed himself with a pocket knife and safety razor blade everyone connected with Comiskey's machine believed the Sox were all set in every department. Many points stronger than the club that had worn the immaculate hoisery in recent seasons. The outfield was well balanced, packed ample sticking power and fielding ability with Bibb Falk in left, Mostil in center and Bill Barrett in right, operating as the first string trio and Ike Boone and Rookie Randolph Moore as reserves.

New Men a Problem

Mostil's almost fatal act however has gummed things up terribly. Only time can tell whether he will again gallop about the greensward executing seemingly impossible catches. Boone, a terrific slugger, is just an average outfielder, not fast, and hardly competent to undertake the job of filling Mostil's shoes.

Moore, like Boone a left-handed hitter, is only 20 years old and, a product of Longview Club of the East Texas League. He appears to be a diamond in the rough but he is lacking in experience.

Just now he has the call as Mostil's understudy. If Moore makes the grade the right-field berth will be split between Barrett and Moore, and the ponderous Isaac, who last season yielded a mighty war-club for Hollywood of the Pacific coast loop is certain to be retained in the role of pinch-hitter. Mostil may be seen in uniform within a month; he may not play before mid-season, and again he may be out of the majors for all time.

New Combination

A new combination is shaping on the infield. Aaron Ward, former Yankee, who was obtained via the trade route in return for catcher Grabowski and infielder Ray Morehart, is roving about second base in a manner that leads one to believe he will play the gap created by the passing of peerless Eddie Collins, former manager late of Roger Peckinpaugh, late of the Sox family, in a deal which consigned Hollis Thurston and Leo Mangum, both right-handed pitchers to Washington, appears just as sprightly as of yore.

Earl Sheely, of course, will play first base, with "Bud" Clancy, a hard-socking, left-handed batter, as his understudy. Clancy came up from Little Rock where the Sox of their wild cousins, and the Sox were thereupon returned to the Kamm a Fixture.

Captain Willie Kamm is a fixture, as usual, at third base. Bill Hunnefeld, who in the early stages of the 1926 season played sensationally at short only to slip along about August and delinquish the post to Moe Berg, ex-captain at Princeton, will be present ready to render a helping hand at short stop should Peckinpaugh need a rest.

The pitching situation looms brighter than in several seasons. Veterans in the persons of Red Faber, who is entering his thirteenth successive season with the club, Ted Blankenship, Ted Lyons, the only finger to register a no-hit classic in the majors last year, Tommy Thomas and George Connelly, all right-handers, form the nucleus of the mound corps.

The club will carry three catchers, namely Schalk, Harry McCurdy and Clyde (Buck) Grouse.

Summarizing we would say that the Sox, with Mostil in his 1926 playing form, would be the dark horse entry of the American league. The team, without him, will be a contender.

REDS IN CONTROL

London, March 30.—Communists are in full power at Hankow and conditions have become intolerable for foreigners, according to a dispatch from Shagnhai today. The foreign residents remaining at Hankow have been compelled to live on the waterfront to be ready for immediate evacuation in event of a crisis. Even the United States consul is living in the band. A foreign newspaper has been compelled to suspend.

BUGLE CALL FOR BASEBALL HEARD AT HIGH SCHOOL

Coach Kelley Has Regulars Back For All But Two Positions; Season Opens on May 4.

Coach Tom Kelley sounded the bugle call for the first high school baseball practice yesterday to be held this afternoon. It was expected that about thirty candidates would assemble at the Rec at 3:30. For the past few days Coach Kelley has had eight battery candidates at work hammering up their "soup-bones."

Manchester opens its season on May 4 in West Hartford. Fourteen games are on the schedule arranged by Faculty Manager Edson M. Bailey. The most important change in the schedule from that of other years, is the addition of Rockville High.

The chances of having a successful season at the high school, apparently unusually bright, if the presence of veterans from last year's team means anything. But two positions are vacant because of the graduation of last year's players. Frank Lupien will be absent from the outfield and Jim Quish will not be seen at first base. Johnny Wright, catcher and one pitcher were lost through graduation but Rino Eoginzi, regular catcher and Joe Wiley and Tony Gaudinetti, Joe Wiley and Tony Gaudinetti, will be back seeking a berth again.

Rookies who are contemplating trying for the team should not let this news discourage them, however, for Coach Kelley is after the best men for each position, regardless of whether or not that player was a member of the team last season.

N. E. HEAD OF S. A.
HERE AT WEEK-END
Col. Stephen Maxwell of Boston, Veteran Salvationist, to Visit Manchester.

Word has been received at the Salvation Army Citadel that Colonel Stephen Marshall of Boston will visit Manchester next Saturday and Sunday. He will conduct services in the Citadel Saturday night at 8 o'clock and Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Colonel Marshall is one of the oldest officers in point of service the Army has in this country. He recently came to take charge of operations in New England as his successor to Lieut-Commissioner McIntyre who was recently transferred to the oversight of the new Southern territory with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga.

The colonel became connected with the Army in Canada, and after some service there came across the border and over 30 years ago was commander of the forces in Massachusetts and Maine with headquarters at Worcester and Portland. Since then he has been out in the Western territory and was transferred to New York City six years ago and had charge of the Metropolitan province.

He is a man of strong character and has spent over forty years as an officer in the Army. He is very much abreast of the times. His family are all filling important positions in the Army.

Saturday night will be Col. Marshall's first visit to South Manchester, which is one of the most important stations in his command. The local officers extend a cordial invitation to all to attend.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

A friend in need is just an acquaintance.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Smith and Brown both had their houses built recently, and Brown, meeting Smith in the street one day, said: "Do you know that chap grained our door so well that on going home I had to get out my knife and cut it to see if it was real oak."

Folks who try to make an impression make one they're not trying to make.

Mrs. B: Mrs. Smythe dresses extremely well, doesn't she? Mr. B: Yes, but she keeps her husband worried to death all the time.

NOW YOU Ask One

PRESENT-DAY LITERATURE

Books are being sold nowadays at a rate to amaze writers of a former generation. Are you keeping in touch with them? If so, "Now You Ask One" for today won't be hard for you. You'll find the answers on another page.

1.—What English novelist is the grandson of a famous scientist who was one of Darwin's most noted contemporaries?

2.—Who is Heywood Brown?

3.—What university professor recently became famous because of his satirical, slightly irreverent novels about Helen of Troy and Sir Galahad?

4.—Who wrote "Dark Laughter"?

5.—About 30 years ago, Stephen Crane wrote a short novel about a Civil War soldier. Unnoticed for years, this book has recently been acclaimed as one of America's literary masterpieces. What is its name?

6.—Who wrote "Ulysses"?

7.—Which of Conrad's novels deals with a silver mine and a revolution in a mythical Central American country?

8.—What is Carl Van Vechten's most recent novel?

9.—Who wrote "The Perennial Bachelor"?

10.—In what novel, by whom, is Eugene Witla the central character?

A Boston woman married a man whose acquaintance she made when he snatched her purse on a crowded street car. We dislike people who harbor a spirit of revenge.

Accuracy is the twin brother of honesty; inaccuracy, of dishonesty.

The early bird catches the worm, but where is the bird that would lose his morning nap just for a worm?

Pome It's easy enough to be pleasant. When life's course is smooth and untroubled, But the man worth while is the man who can smile When he finds his cigars all busted.

Every one who doesn't know how should learn to swim and those who know how shouldn't get out of practice.

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing. So is a little widow.

The real boss in any business is the ultimate consumer. This is a good thing for presidents and directors to remember.

Lizzie Cutler were a-staying last week with Mrs. Sam Slapper, a helping her with some sewing for the children. So one night Sam come home drunk an' beat up her an' she had him arrested. When the judge ast why he done it an' what he had to say for himself, Sam says, "Why, Judge," says he, "it were this way," he says, "I were a little under the influence of liquor," says he, "an' I thought it were my wife," he says.

"I feel just like a paint brush," Dear Father made complaint; "I kissed my little daughter, And my mustache's full of paint!"

New Widow: Oh, what could be worse than losing your husband? Old Widow: Not being able to collect the insurance.

These are the good old days we will be longing for a few years from now.

While the average man knows what is wrong with his fellowmen, he seldom knows what is wrong with himself.

THE TINYMITES STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture)

The mouse that scampered down the clock, was likely now more than a block away, for when the Tynies yelled it ran right out of sight. The Tynies then all stopped right short. Said Clowny, "I don't like this sport. Although that thing was just a mouse, it filled me up with fright."

Old Mother Hubbard laughed away and said, "It won't be back today. I think the way you Tynies screamed will make it quite afraid. And now that it is safely gone, why don't you play out on the lawn?" The Tynies thought that would be nice, so that's right where they played.

The grass was soft and very green. The Tynies enjoyed the scene. They played a game of hop and skip and jump for 'bout an hour. Then Mother Hubbard loudly cried, "You'd better hurry here, inside. It's getting dark right over head. I think it's going to shower."

The Tynies next to Goosey Gander in the next story.

and so they scrambled out of sight. From window panes they watched the rain which started to fall. It wasn't very long until the grass and trees had had their fill. Then Clowny glanced outside and said, "It's stopped. I guess that's all." Then they decided they should leave, and Copy said, "Say, I believe I saw a funny looking sheep down by that winding brook." The others cried, "We saw it, too. The very thing that we should do is ramble down the grassy hill and take a real good look." The sheep they found was black as coal, and Copy said, "Well, bless my soul, 'tis surely Ba-Ba-Black Sheep that we have read about. Its wool is thick. What fun-ny stuff! And, say, it surely has enough for everyone who wants a bit. Of that there is no doubt."

ABOUT TOWN

The regular Thursday afternoon public whist will be held at the Manchester Community club tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. C. T. Strickland of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting relatives and friends in town.

The annual meeting of the Orange Hall Corporation which was postponed from March 25, will be held tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Harry R. Sharpe and daughter Dorothy of Main street will spend the next few days in New York City and in Maplewood, N. J., as guests of Mrs. R. C. Williams, formerly of Manchester.

The Junior choir of the North Methodist church and girls' production class will meet this evening at 7:30 at Mrs. E. R. Walker's, 45 Mather street.

Contractor John Hayes has a force of men at work on the Cowles hotel on Depot Square The veranda which ran across the entire front has been removed, together with the small stores underneath. The interior will be remodeled and new stores fronting on North Main street will be built.

The Buckland Parent-Teacher association will give a public card social in the assembly hall of the school this evening and all players are invited.

The contract for screening the new Municipal building has been awarded to H. H. West and Son. The work will be started at once.

Miss Elsie McGuire of 41 Strant street will entertain the W. B. A. Guards tomorrow evening. This will be the monthly business meeting and social get-together. The guards will rehearse their new drill again Friday evening at eight o'clock at the Barnard school.

Edward Jezeski of Lockwood street was placed under arrest today for failure to send his children to school. He was arrested on complaint of Attendance Officer James E. Duffy of the Eighth District. He will be given a hearing in police court tomorrow morning.

The annual meeting of the Orange hall corporation will be held on Thursday evening of this week.

The library at the South End will not remain open on Sunday afternoons any more until next winter, it was stated by Miss Jessamine M. Smith today. It has been the custom to open the library for reading and reference work for two or three hours on Sunday afternoons during the past winter months but with the coming of spring, this practice will be abandoned.

The ladies' auxiliary of the Army and Navy club will meet this evening for one of its regular monthly sessions at the clubhouse at Main and Forest streets. Much interest has been aroused among the members in the lampshade class and at the last meeting there were about thirty members in attendance.

"FOURS" TO HOLD THEIR ANNUAL APRIL SIXTH

Hose and Ladder Company, No. 4 of the South Manchester Fire Department, will hold its annual banquet Wednesday evening, April 6, at its house on School street, it was stated today. The program will start with an elaborate dinner served promptly at 6:30. Word has been received at the committee in charge of arrangements has not divulged its plans. There will be several speakers and a lively time, it was said, but the principal details are being withheld so as not to kill the curiosity of the members. District and department officials will attend, including the fire commissioners, fire chief, superintendent of alarms, assistant fire chief and other officials.

Y D'S TO CELEBRATE FIGHT AT SEICHEPREY

Club Plans Banquet at Army-Navy Club on Night of April 23.

The annual celebration of the battle of Seicheprey, in which many Manchester soldier boys were involved, will be held by the YD club at the Army and Navy club on Saturday evening, April 23, it was learned today. The famous battle was fought on the twentieth of the month but it was decided to hold the celebration here on a Saturday night. There will be a big celebration in New Haven on April 20 and several Manchester ex-service men are planning to attend. A meeting of the YD club will be held tomorrow evening at the clubhouse for the purpose of completing plans for the Seicheprey banquet.

When in doubt advertise. The Herald Want Ad way.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HATTIE SKINNER HALE.

Committal services were held this afternoon at two o'clock at the Buckland cemetery for Mrs. Hattie Skinner Hale of New London, formerly of Manchester. Rev. Frederick C. Allen of the Second Congregational church officiated.

Mrs. Hale suffered a shock last summer and since that time had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Klein of Sturgis, Michigan, where her death occurred last Saturday. Her husband Frank L. Hale and son Wells live at East Point, New London. Mr. Hale is a brother of H. B. Hale of the East Hartford Gazette who has been for the past few months in South America.

REPRESENTATIVES of the Brown Studio, 61 Pratt street, Hartford, will call offering a special introductory in studio work and home portraits. The offer has been investigated by the Manchester Chamber of Commerce and has received its approval.—adv.
