ALCORN ASKS QUICK TRIAL FOR TONGMEN; SCARE IN ROCKVILLE

Laundryman in Neighboring City Gets Special Delivery Letter Bearing Death Warning—Slayers of Local Chinaman Bound Over to Higher Court.

Rockville, Conn., March 25.—Charlie Hall, 22 Union street, today received a special delivery letter from On Leong Tong headquarters, Hartford, warning him to move with care because of enemies who were likely to seek him. Hall promptly barricaded himself in his laundry.

Hall came here to succeed Charlie Chang, a member of the On Leong Tong who disappeared in the last Tong war and has never been heard from since.

Quick justice will be sought by State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn in the Tong murder committed here yesterday morning. Ching Lung and Loo Hoo Wing, two Chinese captured yesterday noon in New Haven, were arraigned here yesterday afternoon charged with first degree murder and bound over to the Superior court. Sheriff E. W. Dewey is now at work preparing a list of jurors for the present jury is to be impaneled next Tuesday morning when Mr. Alcorn will ask indictments for first degree murder against the two Chinese prisoners. Mr. Alcorn will then bring the case before the present term of the Hartford county Superior court.

Gun Found
The gun used in the murder was found by Sergeant William Barron in the Manchester police force last night. It had been thrown in back of some litter in the laundry shop on Oak street where the murder was committed. An autopsy was conducted last night by Coroner's Physician Costello. No bullets were found in the body.

After the identification of the alleged murderers by eye witnesses in New Haven police headquarters yesterday the party returned to Manchester. Those who made the trip to New Haven were Chief of Police Gordon, Sergeant Barron, Policeman Roberts, Detective Hickey, Sam Ong, Ong Willie, Joe Vignone and Nick Dellafarra. Upon the return here the Chinese were immediately placed in the cells of the local headquarters to await arraignment before Judge Johnson.

Grim, Stoic Silence.
While waiting in their cells in the basement of Police headquarters, the prisoners appeared quite unconcerned as to their fate. Both took off their shoes, lay down and went to sleep on the narrow cots in their cells. When aroused by Sergeant Barron, Ching Lung, who is about 40 years old and who is alleged to have committed the murder, stared blankly at the police officials and newspapermen. When asked if he wanted a drink of water, Lung made no reply. Other questions were just as fruitless. In the other cell, it was the same.

Not once since they were captured yesterday in a taxi-cab in New Haven had they spoken a word. They had carried out their work to the letter as ordered. The rest was kismet.

LEGISLATURE ECONOMIZES ON EXPENSES

Lopps $862,343 From State Department's Requests; 13 Depts. Given an Increase.

Hartford, Conn., March 25.—With $862,343 lopped off the requests of state departments, the legislative appropriations committee today recommended that $33,625,602 be appropriated to pay the state's expenses for two years from July 1, next. The amount showed the same appropriated rate of increase in state expenditures that has been maintained during recent years. It is $1,856,000 above the budget of two years ago.

In the recommendations thirteen departments are given increases above the amounts requested. Twenty-six are allowed less than they asked, and ten receive the exact amount they requested.

The budget is $617,000 above the board of finance recommendation but it includes many items which were not submitted to that board, that have received legislative sanction.

Veterans' Bill.
A bill which would transfer control of the state's funds for relief of veterans from the American Legion to the Department of State agencies and institutions, was reported unfavorable in the House today and rejected. Mr. Sturges, of Woodbury, father of the bill, said that the present is not the time for changing state department control but that the time would come when the Legion also will favor the change.

Lucas Autopsy This Afternoon.
The body of Matthew Lucas, twenty-year-old Manchester youth who recently died at the Middletown State hospital and over whose death a controversy has arisen as to whether or not he was ill-treated by attendants at the institution, was again removed from the vault in St. James' cemetery today and taken to the undertaking parlor of William P. Quish. An autopsy was scheduled to be held at 2:30 this afternoon.

Undertaker Quish received word this noon from Dr. Calvin H. Elliott, pathologist at the Hartford hospital, that he has returned from his trip to Baltimore which necessitated a delay, and would be here for the autopsy this afternoon at the given time. It is understood that the purpose is to ascertain whether or not young Lucas suffered two broken ribs and other major injuries in his scuffle with the hospital attendant at the time when he was given a bath. One doctor has said Lucas could not have suffered a compound fracture of the jaw, a couple of broken ribs and other injuries of more or less seriousness in an ordinary scuffle with an attendant.

Charged With Murder Here

The photograph above shows Loo Hoo Wing (left) and Ching Lung as they were brought before Judge Johnson yesterday afternoon in court here charged with the murder of King Ong. Ching Lung was accused by Sam Ong, an eye witness of yesterday morning's tragedy, of being the man who killed his laundry partner at his place of business on Oak street.

New England Suitable For Sugar Production

Jerusalem Artichoke Can Be Raised Here, Farmers Are Told—Sugar Factories Are Needed.

Boston, Mass., March 25.—Jerusalem artichoke, which can be harvested at the rate of from ten to twenty tons an acre and from which is derived sugar of much higher degree of sweetness than sugar extracted from beets and sugar cane, may be a new crop for New England farms.

Harry R. Lewis, of Davisville, R. I., chairman of the agricultural committee, today reported to the New England council at the first session ever held here in the two years of the council's existence that artichoke grows well in this district and that federal bureau of standards had furnished the committee with information about the process of extracting sugar from this product.

Must Have Plants.
"If the industry is successfully launched," said Mr. Lewis, "it will require in addition to the production of artichoke the development and financing of manufacturing plants suitably located where the sugar can be extracted and manufactured."

CHILLY WINDS FAIL TO BLIGHT SPRING OPENING

Annual Fete of the Stores Draws Big Crowds as Music Peals and Models Parade.

Despite chilly March winds and a subnormal temperature, Manchester's Spring Opening drew thousands of people to Main street last evening. The street was at its brightest and the crowd which turned out was bigger than has been seen on a regular shopping night for many months.

Latest New York styles made their debut into Manchester through the medium of the many apparel shops along the line. Models, some of them imported from the metropolis, marched slowly up and down in front of crowds in several stores.

Black and white fabrics, the neatest things in fashions, predominated in window displays and in the dresses worn by the models. Shoes, also in the black and white scheme, had a prominent place in the windows.

Some stores offered more or less entertainment while one or two attracted crowds by the offer of souvenirs which were given out as long as they lasted. Practically all of Manchester's musical organizations were engaged by the various houses. Some stores had orchestras, others male quartets and choruses, while still others featured soloists.

In one store New York models alternated with a young dancing girl, who also demonstrated the latest fashions.

Crowds thronged the streets even after the stores had closed, for some windows were kept lighted up for half an hour or more after 9 o'clock.

At the J. W. Hale Company store local girls, employed at Cheney Brothers' silk mill were models. Two professionals modeled coats and dresses on the main floor. The fashion show was given four times. An orchestra played during the evening.

At Watkins Brothers the "Cottage" proved popular as did the new Colonial display on the main floor.

The Manchester Male quartet attracted a large number to the C. E. House and Son store. An excellent program was furnished by this popular group.

At Glenney's Bill Waddell's orchestra furnished a program of popular music and William Sweet, local tenor, sang a number of songs.

At Rubino's local and professional models displayed new frocks and cloaks. Miss Dorothy Wirtalla gave an exhibition of classic and modern styles.

Arthur L. Hultman's attracted a large crowd when the Bethoven Glee club presented a program and Miss Helen Berggren sang several solos.

CANTONESE DEFY U. S. AS SHELLING KEEPS UP

U. S. TO GO LIMIT TO BACK ADMIRALS
Cabinet Gives Officers Authority to Protect Americans at All Costs.

Washington, March 25.—Unlimited backing for Admirals Williams and Hough, who are on the spot in China, and strict accountability from the Chinese Nationalist government for the killing of Americans and destruction of their property.

This was written as the administration's policy in today's Cabinet meeting, which devoted nearly two hours to consideration of the critical situation prevailing at Shanghai and Nanking.

The two American admirals have been given the widest discretion possible, and they will be backed to the limit, members of the Cabinet said after the meeting. At the same time, it was made clear at the State Department that the Cantoneses will be held strictly to account for the action of their nationals.

There was no attempt to minimize the seriousness of the situation.

Six more destroyers are now en route to Chinese waters to reinforce the Asiatic fleet, and Admiral Williams can have as many more as he deems necessary, it was said by Cabinet members.

Even while the Cabinet was in session, the first authentic dispatch reached Washington, placing upon the Cantoneses full responsibility for the deaths of Americans in yesterday's fighting at Nanking. This was in the form of an official report from the American consul, John K. Davis, and told of the looting of the consulate by Nationalist soldiers, the "cold-blooded murder" of one American missionary, and the "attempts to murder by other means" by the same Nationalists.

NEW BRITAIN MAN CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Refuses to Support Wife After Court Ordered Him to Do So.

Hartford, Conn., March 25.—A motion to cite for contempt William H. McKay, a New Britain architect, for alleged failure to comply with an order of the Superior Court, was presented to Judge L. E. Donoghue of New Britain today.

The complaint says McKay did not pay to his wife Esther the sixteen dollars a week support ordered by Judge C. L. Avery on February 13, 1926.

Britain's Guns Also Bombard Nanking—American Destroyer Fired On By Shore Batteries at Chiankiang; Americans Evacuated From All Cantonese Controlled Centers in China—Situation Reaching Acute Stage.

Shanghai, March 25.—One hundred and twenty Americans are missing in Nanking and it is officially believed they have been massacred, according to a dispatch received tonight from Admiral Hough, U. S. N., commanding the American forces in Nanking.

Official Reports.
The official reports from Nanking thus far show the following facts:
110 Americans were evacuated yesterday.
100 Americans were evacuated today.
120 Americans are reported missing, and are believed to have been massacred.

Admiral Hough's latest report states that 120 Americans are missing and are believed to have been massacred. The International News Service dispatches sent six hours ago, that there were more than 100 American dead in Nanking.

An official report stated that American Consul General Davis is "safe," but it did not clear up earlier reports that Davis had been wounded.

U. S. Sailors Wounded.
The official advice stated that "a few American sailors were wounded," but did not state how they received their wounds.

Official confirmation has been received of the death of Dr. Williams of Shawnee, Ohio, a United States missionary.

The evacuation of the remaining foreigners in Nanking followed successful negotiations between Admiral Hough, U. S. N., and the senior British and Japanese naval officers and the general commanding the Cantonese forces, the radio advice stated.

More than 300 Americans have now been evacuated from Nanking, which had a permanent American population of four hundred.

FIRE RETURNED.
Pekin, March 25.—Broadside from four-inch guns were fired from the U. S. S. Preston today at the shore batteries in Chiankiang. The Chinese batteries opened fire and the Preston returned the fire immediately.

Reports to the legation here are indefinite but it is understood that the action occurred while American refugees were being removed from Chiankiang.

The evacuation of Americans in all Cantonese controlled centers, ordered last night by the American legation, was in progress today, according to reports received here.

Two hundred and fifty American missionaries left Hankow today and another ship is standing by ready to take others.

The legation's evacuation order affects 500 Americans in Canton, seventy in Swatow, one hundred and four in Poochow, one hundred and fifty in Amoy and sixteen in Chianchi.

The situation in Hankow is reported as becoming more acute.

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS IN CHINESE SITUATION

The Cantonese army commanders in Nanking have defied the American and British naval commanders and the warships of the United States and Great Britain have backed their demands with renewed force, according to dispatches received officially.

These dispatches appear to make it clear now that the Cantonese are largely responsible for the situation in Nanking and are defying the powers, even though Chiang Kai Shek, Cantonese general, has declared he would go all in his power to "protect" foreigners.

The American and British naval commanders, after due warning are reported to be shelling the salient military points in Nanking.

The fate of the 100 or more Americans in Nanking is still obscure.

The anti-foreign demonstrations at other points are said to be reaching an acute stage.

The American destroyer William B. Preston has been fired on by shore batteries at Chiankiang and has returned the fire.

Evacuation of Americans from all Cantonese controlled centers is in progress today, according to reports to the legation in Peking.

American and British negotiations with local Chinese is under way, Williams' message said.

No communication has been established with foreigners in the city up to 11 a. m. The entire Standard Oil staff there safe. One known dead, Dr. Williams, of Nanking University. British consul wounded and still in city. One British sailor on Emerald killed by fire of shore batteries. Landed fifty men covered by three destroyers.

This message was dated March 25, at 4:43 p. m., Chinese time.

Alcorn was again led to the "bullet" and a guard stood about them. Deputy Judge Thomas Ferguson read the charges, but the accused men stared straight ahead and did not even look at him.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles R. Hathaway proceeded to present an outline of the evidence on which the state is confident it will convict the men.

Search of the taxicab failed to reveal the revolver with which the murder was committed. This led to the belief that the gun had been thrown out of the taxi window during the ride from here to New Haven.

Rockville NEW FIRE ENGINE REACHES ROCKVILLE

City Spends $11,700 For Maxim Pump—Personal News Notes.

(Special to The Herald)

Rockville, March 25.—The new Maxim pump, to be known as the "Maxim Engine No. 2" arrived in the city Wednesday evening from Middleboro, Mass., where it was manufactured and it is a splendid piece of equipment. The truck was brought to this city by Albert Bergius who brought the other apparatus to this city and he will instruct the men in operating the various motors, Chief Milne and the fire committee will inspect the equipment before it is finally turned over to the city.

The new pump is a 750 gallon triple combination. Besides the pump it has a thousand feet of hose and has a booster tank which carries water and can be used in dwellings for small fires, the same as the chemical is now used only it will do less damage. Many of the newer pieces of equipment carry a booster tank instead of a chemical tank and the results are just as satisfactory. The truck also carries cans of foamite which can be used with success in hot automobile fires as well as ordinary fires.

The apparatus is costing the city $11,700 and the old Knox truck. This new apparatus will be kept at the Hocknum House on West Main street.

1,000 LOCAL PEOPLE AT FATHER FOLEY FUNERAL

It is estimated that fully one thousand persons passed by the open casket of the late Rev. Michael P. Foley yesterday afternoon at St. James's church to pay final tribute to the former Manchester priest who died in Bridgeport where he was curate in the St. Mary's church. The church was filled with admirers and there were numerous floral tributes.

The funeral cortege reached Manchester at 3:30 and the body lay in state for half an hour at the church while friends and relatives filed past to view the deceased. The funeral procession was met at the Manchester-East Hartford town line by Manchester priest and Undertaker William P. Quish.

Rev. William P. Reidy pronounced the absolution and Rev. M. E. Wilson, pastor of St. Mary's church, Bridgeport, read the committal service. A dozen priests sang the "Benedictus" at the grave.

The ushers at the church were Cain Mahoney, P. E. McVey, Thomas Brennan, Francis Miner, Phillip Carney, Frank Quish, Edward Moriarty, Frank Balkner, John Tynan and John F. Tierney. The bearers were Daniel Renna, George H. Williams, Dr. John F. Barry, William McSweeney, Henry Murrie, Leo Egan and John Hayes.

The supper which consisted of roast beef, peas, mashed potato, ice cream, cake and coffee was done in fine style. Carnival caps were given out to each guest. Carnations were also worn by all present. Edward C. Ballaster Jr., was chairman of the banquet committee. He welcomed the guests and immediately named William C. Schildge as toastmaster.

Mr. Schildge told of the pleasure he had derived through his connections with the Red Men and called upon Great Sachem William F. Newport of Torrington for a talk. Mr. Newport stressed the point that although the Red Men were both fraternal and beneficial, fraternity meant more to the members than any financial aid derived. He told the guests that the Red Men were the first of the many fraternal organizations to start a fund for orphans. Their aim, he said, is to do away with orphan institutions. They prefer to place the fatherless and motherless children in the homes of good responsible people.

A banjo act was then announced and two Rockville boys entertained with some popular tunes. Another Rockville entertainer followed playing several selections on an ocarina or "sweet potato."

The principal speaker of the evening was Past Sachem George A. Fairchild of Bridgeport. Mr. Fairchild told the Red Men that their order had made wonderful strides in the last year. He believed it was rapidly growing to be one of the most powerful organizations in the country. He said that the principle of faith in God and fellowmen which is taught by Redmanship is most important. He also emphasized the importance of loyalty and devotion to one's country. He told the members of the organization that the Red Men lead in benefits.

Following Mr. Fairchild's talk the presentation of the gifts was made to William C. Schildge. Drawings were also held for prizes.

While it is impossible to state the exact amount at this time the Kiwanis club will net a handsome profit from its minstrel show given at the State theater Wednesday. According to L. C. Clifford, who was in charge of ticket distribution, the club ought to net close to $1,000, which amount will go toward the Kiwanis Kiddle camp at Hebron the coming summer.

The date of the Men's choral club concert is April 21, instead of April 10 as previously announced.

Mr. and Mrs. J. LeClair of Flower street returned from Westerly today where they attended the funeral of Mr. LeClair's father. They came back with Louis LeClair, Mr. and Mrs. George Mullin and Mrs. E. Tierney, all of Syracuse, N. Y., who will spend the week-end here.

CHILLY WINDS FAIL TO BLIGHT OPENING

Jewelers and stationers for the first time.

The Levine Sisters of Hartford gave a program of dance numbers at Fradin's. They are young girls and their presentations were well received. Two local girls and two professionals modeled at this store.

Murray's millinery shop presented souvenirs to all who visited this new store. It was not long before the crowds learned of the stores that were giving souvenirs and it did not take long for the stock to go.

George H. Williams's store was prettily arranged to display the latest in men's clothes and haberdashery.

John I. Olson's arrangement of this paint store was attractive. Several handsome paintings mounted in beautiful frames added considerably to his showing.

At Kemp's the large stock of pianos was neatly arranged and the Orthophonic victrola was kept busy during the evening playing the best tunes.

The Rhode Island Textile Company displayed for the Opening guests a large line of new fabrics. The color arrangement was pretty and many of the large crowd visited this store.

Pop corn advertised itself as soon as the crowds approached the Manchester Electric Company store. Here pop corn was being electrically toasted and given away as samples. Demonstrations here attracted crowds.

The new store of the May Jewelry Company attracted many as did that company's grab-bag novelty.

Miss Alice Healey's new quarters on the second floor of the Park building attracted many friends and patrons.

BRIGHT VIOLET

There is a reappearance of last spring's bright violets in many purple, in dresses and in millinery.

DYED LACE

Chiffon or georgette crepe is used with dyed or black lace for fancy frocks. There is less satin and lace as the season advances.

SMALL DESIGNS

Embroideries repeat the small designs of printed silks. They are practically the only trimming used except for the large chiffon shoulder flowers.

A ton of candy a week is required to fill the demands of the co-ed of the University of California.

"Thar's Gold in Them Sacks!"

The old saying, "Thar's gold in them hills, boys" becomes true again, with covered-motor-wagons, trekking in with sacks of the precious ore from the new Westphal, Nev., gold strike. Above are the sacks of gold ore taken to Los Angeles. Below is a modern "schooler." Covered with the signs of victory and loaded with sacks of ore, it excited curiosity on the streets of Los Angeles.

FARMER PROFITS BY UNUSUAL BIT OF ENGINEERING

St. Mary's Kas.—The vandalism of a roving river which covered many acres of valuable farm has been brought to an end by forcing the water to retreat and leave the fields more fertile than they were before the river had passed over them.

H. F. Kellner, who operates a farm near here, has been able to add about 200 acres of land which was a part of the river Kaw's bed and plant the land to crops.

A six-foot fill, composed of soil that, Kellner points out, formerly was the cream of the farmlands lying along the banks of the Kaw river upstream, this year was laid by flood waters on top of what were sandbars on the Kellner farm a season ago.

This unusual accomplishment has been made possible by steel jetties which are placed along the side of the river to catch driftwood and force the river to deposit silt and sediment along the bank.

Jetties Retain Soil
The jetty, invented and used by Kellner, consists of three 16-foot steel angles, bolted at the intersection to form a double tripod, having six points, all bound together with heavy wire.

Rows of these jetties, all joined by heavy steel cables and anchored firmly in the bank, are placed at right angles with the river about every 50 feet.

When the river swells by a flood of water, fertile land is washed away upstream and deposited on Kellner's farm. As the land fills up the jetties are moved farther into the river bed.

The original farm had an extent of 200 acres, but when Kellner bought it eight years ago the water from the river had already washed away 140 acres and was rapidly cutting into the remaining 120.

Kellner immediately set up his jetties and was able to retrieve the 140 acres of land and force the river back 160 acres more so as to more than triple the size of his farm from the time he purchased it.

River Forced Back
In some places the river has been narrowed and forced back until the accreted land between the former bank and the present shoreline measures one-half mile wide.

Rich agricultural land has been built above the water level this year in places where the river was deep enough before the Kansas floods to cover a man on horseback.

Rye has been planted on this rich loam and has sprouted to make winter pastures for cattle. In the spring corn will be planted and next fall Kellner expects to have raised 100 bushels of grain on every acre of new land.

The value that Kellner has been able to add to his farm is shown by the great increase in the price of the land. Eight years ago he purchased the farm for $4,000 and only recently he refused an offer to sell for $38,000.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

THE WEASEL'S COUSIN
By ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.

This will introduce lutra canadensis, better known as the otter, a most lovable little creature, gentle and fun loving, which because it wears so charming a fur coat has been plundered and murdered until it is fast disappearing.

It is related to the weasel, but is much larger, and like the seal has a beautiful coat of fine dark fur. Its hind feet are webbed and it performs marvelous swimming and diving feats, being exceptionally swift and graceful in the water.

Fish is the otter's principal food. It begins a meal with the head and eats steadily downward to the tail, which it discards. Easily tamed, it is said that in India and China otters are sometimes trained to catch fish for their masters.

March is the month when the otters' thoughts turn to a snug little nest in the bank of the stream all cozy and dry for the prospective family of from two to five baby otters. The front door of the otters' home is beneath the water.

They are very playful little creatures and have a game which they enjoy with all the zest of a crowd of small boys—sliding down hill. They crawl up a steep bank of snow and with forefeet bent under they slide down again and again on their fur-covered "tummies".

When going across-country from stream to stream, if they encounter a hill or snow bank, they make the descent to-boggan-wise, much as a small boy would seek a lower level via the banister.

Send a stamped, addressed envelope and questions of fact having to do with Nature will be answered by the consulting staff of Nature Magazine, Washington, D. C. through arrangements made by this paper.

WIFE IN POOR SPIRITS

Liberal, Kan.—There's little marital bliss in living with a wife who is invisible and who can only talk through the lips of a spirit medium. John Seybold, 71-year-old farmer, is suing the medium for $7,500 which he says he spent since his "wedding" with his spirit bride, "Sarah." He completely outfitted a home for his invisible soul-mate.

HEBRON

Mrs. Truman C. Ives, who with her husband and family occupies the Karas farm at the foot of Post Hill, has just received from her brother, R. B. Caldwell, of Ontario, Canada, a splendid specimen of the bronzed turkey, quite a rare bird in this part of the country.

This bird is a gobbler and weighs 25 pounds. It is not yet nine months old. Mr. Caldwell makes a specialty of fancy poultry in his Canada home. The gobbler came by express. The duty on this bird was light owing to the fact that the government is anxious to encourage the importation of this breed.

Mrs. Ives expects to raise turkeys on the farm using the gobbler for breeding purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren M. Lord entertained during the week end Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lord and children of Lebanon, also Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hamilton of Hartford, and Miss Irma Lord, of the Willimantic State Normal School.

Owing to a severe cold, probably a touch of influenza, the Rev. T. D. Martin was obliged to postpone the weekly Lenten vesper service from Wednesday to Friday in the sanctuary of St. Peter's church.

A number of the young people of Hopevale were present at an evening party recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Benzinger.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Bond of Hopevale entertained their son, Russell from Uncasville during the week-end. He was accompanied by Howard Rogers and brother, formerly residents of this town.

A meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held at the school house in Hopevale Monday evening. There was an interesting program and matters were discussed, helpful to parents and teachers.

A birthday surprise party was given to Mrs. Edward Fredericks Tuesday evening, taking the form of a neighborhood gathering. A pleasant evening was passed and refreshments were served.

NEW MOVIE BOOTH FOR RESTAURANT

The motion picture booth at the restaurant in Cheney hall is being reconstructed in order to accommodate two motion picture machines. There will be no motion picture shown Friday noon on account of this work. The program will continue next week as usual on Monday and Friday between 12 and 1 o'clock.

This change will allow for the showing of pictures without any break between the reels. Any employee of Cheney Brothers is welcome to see the picture at the restaurant without charge. Employees who carry their lunch are invited to spend the noon hour in the restaurant with their friends. It is not necessary to buy lunch there in order to be admitted.

EXPERTS SEE RISE IN PROFITS FROM CULLING OF SCRUBS

Madison, Wis.—Dairy authorities claim that fully 25 per cent of Wisconsin's dairy cows could be sent to the stockyards and the dairy profits of the state would increase.

The average Wisconsin dairy cow produces 4,975 pounds of milk and 190 pounds of butterfat in a year, according to reports issued by A. J. Cramer, in charge of cow testing associations in the state.

Dairy specialists say that it is useless for a farmer to keep cows that will not produce around 6,000 pounds of milk and more than 200 pounds of fat in a year.

Cattle with lower production, it is claimed, cannot produce to a profit and only add to the costs of feeding and labor to rob higher production cattle of their profitable yield.

The experience of farmers in the cow testing associations has shown that a "closely cullled dairy herd is much more profitable than numbers to dairy prosperity."

"While Wisconsin leads in dairying and farm prosperity there is still opportunity for improvement in the state average and margin of profit," says Cramer. "Eliminate the boarder dairy cow and Wisconsin would have few farm financial worries."

If a grain of wheat were placed on the first square of a chessboard, two grains on the second, four on the third, eight on the fourth and so on, the total number on the sixty-four squares would be 18,446,744,073,709,551,616.

CONSTIPATION IS THE ENEMY OF HEALTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings prompt, natural relief!

Bid your system of constipation and help yourself to health. Headaches, bad breath, insomnia, muddy complexion are only a few of the symptoms of this widespread evil.

Constipation is the actual cause of more than forty diseases. No wonder good health is impossible when it is present. Guard against it! Protect your health!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Two tablespoonfuls eaten daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend Kellogg's because it is 100% bran. Because it works as a non-part product can do.

Delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Mix it with other cereals. Use in cooking. Sprinkle over soups. Recipes on the package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served by restaurants, hotels, cafeterias. Sold by all grocers.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST Jesus: Friend, Sight-Giver, Shepherd

SYNOPSIS ARRANGED BY DR. WM. E. GILROY, D. D. SKETCHES BY KROESER

Jesus goes to the home of Martha and Mary at Bethany. Martha, "cumbered about much serving," complained to Jesus about Mary not helping, but Jesus said, "One thing is needful, and Mary hath chosen that good part." (Luke X: 38-42)

Jesus saw a man born blind, and controversy arose concerning sin, affliction, and his wonderful working power. (John IX: 1-41)

Jesus put wet clay on the blind man's eyes and told him to wash in the pool of Siloam. His sight was restored. (John IX: 6-7)

Speaking to his disciples Jesus told them the Parable of the Shepherd, saying, "I am the good shepherd and know my sheep and am known of mine." (John X: 1-16)

"SON OF THE SHEK" AT RIALTO TONIGHT

This evening's performance at the Rialto-theater will bring to a close the engagement of Rudolph Valentino's last starring vehicle "The Son of the Shek," his most pretentious screen effort. No production has called forth such unanimous praise as has this lavish release which is really a brilliant sequel to the stars' earlier success "The Shek." Vilma Banky has the feminine lead in "The Son of the Shek" which offers Valentino in a dual role, that of father and son. The settings are marvels of beauty and the plot is even better than "The Shek" which shattered box office records wherever exhibited. The second feature appearing on the same program is "Speeding Thru" a mile-a-minute story of the auto race track and its devotees. Creighton Hale and Jude King have important roles in this melodrama which has some highly humorous moments. Other subjects are also scheduled.

rent serial as well as a comedy and news reel will also be shown.
HAND GUIDES CLOCK
London.—When the clock of the famous St. Paul's Cathedral broke down recently, the hands were moved around by a man's finger in order that thousands of city clerks would not arrive late to work. Repairs took most of the day, and all that time a clockmaker with a watch before his eyes gradually moved the minute hand, second by second, until the mechanism was fixed.

Europe, As Seen By Will Rogers

"Well, folks," said Rogers, "Mrs. Bessant didn't bring her Messiah, but Mrs. Rogers brought hers—and here I am."

To make a long story short, Beverly Hills, Will's home town, decided that the State theater vaudeville program last night. This popular entertainer, who acted as master of ceremonies at the policemen's benefit here some time ago, led the audience in the singing of "Ho Ho, Ha Ha, Me Too." The left side of the audience sang one of the words, the right side the other, the gallery the third and the whole theater joined in on the last. The entertainer had hard work leaving the stage and had to take numerous bows.

Second were the Melva sisters, clever musicians with the xylophone as their medium of expression. They came out with an unusual marimbaphone constructed out of empty bottles.

A comedy sketch in which Bessie Rimple and company participated was the third act on the program.

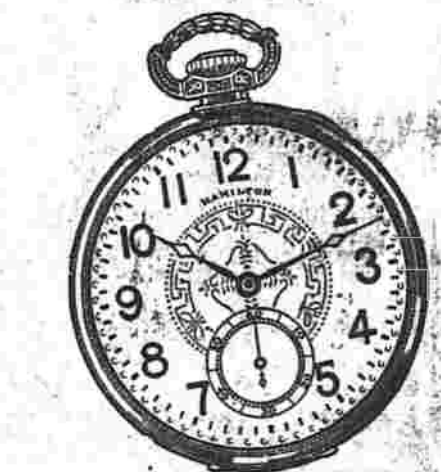

small. One of them was so big he told the crowd they must have put a roof on the ball park.

In one town, Rogers blew in just behind Mrs. Bessant, sponsor for Krishnamurti, the New Messiah from India. But she didn't bring her protegee with her. She should have. It was just the opening Rogers needed to introduce himself once more to his old friends in the community.

And so it came about that Will thought up the bright idea of making a movie of his Grand Tour. Everywhere he went a movie camera went with him. He "shot" everything he saw and he saw plenty. These shots have been assembled in a series of twelve short pictures, known under the general title of "Will Rogers, Our Unofficial Ambassador, Abroad."

Rogers is certainly a genius. In Dublin he "shot" the President of the Irish Free State without starting a fight. That's the first time anybody ever shot an Irishman and got away with it. He also reviewed Ireland's little army. Will says the Irish have fought in every war—on both sides. Some day? He says they'll combine and lick the world. The subtitles are Rogers all over. They ought to be. He wrote them.

CHARLIE TOBIAS HIT ON STATE PROGRAM

Popular Comedian "Takes the House"—Rest of Bill Very Good.

By Member Herald Staff

Charlie Tobias in his round of songs and funny patter furnished the feature act of the State theater vaudeville program last night. This popular entertainer, who acted as master of ceremonies at the policemen's benefit here some time ago, led the audience in the singing of "Ho Ho, Ha Ha, Me Too." The left side of the audience sang one of the words, the right side the other, the gallery the third and the whole theater joined in on the last. The entertainer had hard work leaving the stage and had to take numerous bows.

Second were the Melva sisters, clever musicians with the xylophone as their medium of expression. They came out with an unusual marimbaphone constructed out of empty bottles.

A comedy sketch in which Bessie Rimple and company participated was the third act on the program.

It was filled with lively repartee and had a little plot running through it.

Keene and Tivoli had a line of patter and dancing that took down the house. They closed their show with a pseudo-ventriloquist act, with the "dummies" noted by one of the members of the troupe, a beautiful little girl.

The tumbling Leicards closed the show with an unusual display of acrobatic skill and strength. The woman of the troupe performed the difficult feat of walking up and down a flight of stairs carrying three other members of the party on her shoulders.

On the same program is the "Midnight Sun," one of the feature productions of the year, which is shown in nine acts. The show will be continued tomorrow.

STATE FANS ANXIOUS FOR "BARBARA WORTH"

State theater fans are anxiously awaiting the Harold Bell Wright story, "The Winning of Barbara Worth," which comes to the State theater in picture form on Sunday with Ronald Coleman and Vilma Banky in the title roles.

"The Winning of Barbara Worth" is one of the best known novels of recent years and in its day was a best seller. It came out at that time when western stories were popular and was acclaimed one of the best of the lot.

Ronald Coleman and Vilma Banky, who have been partners in several big productions recently, carry out the spirit of the picture to perfection, giving one of the best interpretations of their careers.

A capable supporting cast is seen in the minor roles.

The picture is here for three days.

Rev. Truman H. Woodward and little daughter Joan motored to Staffordville last Tuesday to visit his father, Rev. William D. Woodward, who has been severely ill for the past two weeks.

The basketball game which was played at the Hartford Y. M. C. A. between the Community club second team and the Wapping senior Y. M. C. A. was won by the Community club team, the score being 23 to 20.

The senior Y. M. C. A. will hold their social at the parish house on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Albert and son William will move from Deming street to Bloomfield about April 1.

The Young People's society of Christian Endeavor has postponed the social which was to have been held this evening at the home of their president, Ralph M. Collins, until some further date.

Mrs. Truman H. Woodward accompanied her sister, Miss Josephine Congdon of Hartford to Boston, Mass. last Monday where they have been visiting friends. They returned to their homes on Thursday evening.

IN CHINA.

A thousand times regrettable is it that American lives have at last been lost in the midst of the welter of Chinese civil war.

At the beginning of this entanglement this newspaper entertained hopes that when the clash came between foreign concessionaires and Mongolian natives it would not involve America.

But to carry out such a policy would perhaps be beyond the power of any President that this country ever had.

It can be fairly said that the American forces in China have been as strongly restrained and as circumspect as it was possible for them to be if Americans were to stay in China and get any protection at all while there.

There is small consolation in the situation. Such as there is, however, lies in the faith that America, while subscribing to the European theory that it is better to kill Chinamen than to permit Chinamen to drive the white man out of China, will nevertheless refuse to walk with those European powers which will be sure to seize on this tragedy as an excuse for refusing to grant to the Chinese that place as an independent nation for which they are willing to give their lives.

That is not so certain as it might seem. This is not the old China. Nor is it a friendless China. The conflict at Nanking, if it starts a continuing war, may mark the beginning of an epoch almost as tragic as the world war.

But it will be a bitter business. And there will be drafts and bond issues and long casualty lists before it is over.

A thousand times regrettable indeed. And may something—some serious realization of the enormous gravity of the thing—set us safely out of it, even yet.

QUICK POLICE WORK.

Alert intelligence and activity on the part of police accomplished the quick apprehension of the two suspects who have been identified as the murderers in Manchester's first Chinese tong war crime.

WOMEN JURORS.

The women of Connecticut who have been absorbed by the Legis-heels of notification of the tongue here, the instant identification of the cab and the sending of word to New Haven was the task kind of work which alone counts in such affairs. And the speedy reaction of the New Haven force; which had the gateways to the city under guard quite as promptly as the Meriden officers had acted, completed the job with as nice a touch of professional skill as one often sees anywhere.

No lack of the same sort of enterprise was manifested, either by the Hartford department, for it was no time at all after the crime there were informed of the crime before the Connecticut river bridge was barred tight and fast to the passage of any vehicle until its occupants had been looked over.

Chinese tong gunmen may be fatalists and all that, but if convinced that there is small chance of their escaping after one of their peculiarly cold blooded murders, it is highly probable that they will pick their victims from among the Chinese inhabitants of some other state than Connecticut.

PREPAREDNESS.

If the United States becomes involved in another world war within the coming decade it will at least be prepared insofar as a spartan disregard for danger and death may constitute preparedness.

Personally we had just as soon be wiped out by an enemy whom we had some sort of a chance to wipe out first, if we were smart enough, as to be eliminated by a neighbor's child driving a Stutz car at 70, and whom neither the law nor our inclinations would permit us to bump off in self-defense before he could knock us into the top of an apple tree a furlong off.

The combination of a removal of the speed limit with the lowering of the license age to 16 is an adventure on the part of the Legislature which ought to change our old-time designation as the Land of Steady Habits into the Land of Steady Casualties.

NO TEST.

The rehabilitation of Roy A. Haynes as a special head of the dry enforcement unit, though acknowledgedly made at the insistence of the Anti-Saloon League, does not put the business of drying up the United States on the basis which would be most satisfactory of all.

What thousands upon thousands of sincere skeptics on federal prohibition would like to see would be the retirement of General Andrews and appointment in his place of Wayne E. Wheeler, acknowledged by all Anti-Saloon Leagues to be the ablest personality in prohibition ranks.

That Wayne E. Wheeler would accomplish anything worth accomplishing, in overriding the determination of untold millions of Americans not to obey the Volstead act, we have not the slightest notion. But we are sincere in asserting that he ought to be given the chance.

ture from the onerous business of jury duty will not, in all probability, feel that the killing of the woman-jurors bill constitute much of an infringement on their citizen prerogative.

It is well understood that women of a certain type resent anything in the way of favors extended to their sex on sex account. But we do not believe that the proportion of these women in Connecticut is considerable. Most of them are to be found in one organized militant group which would like to put over the contention that not only are women the equals of men but in effect are men.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington, March 25.—Congressman Edward H. Wason of New Hampshire, would appreciate your views, if any, on horsehoes.

There hangs in Congressman Wason's office a New Hampshire horseshoe, its ends pointing toward the floor.

Wason insisted that he had hung the horseshoe in the good old New Hampshire way, and that it still hangs, but poor Wason, as he grapples with affairs of state, is sometimes smitten by the haunting fear that maybe those southern fellows knew what they were talking about.

It nearly required a special mail truck to bring in a letter from one middle-western congressman the other day.

It consisted of more than 16,000 words and was written in a strange dialect of jargon.

It came back, typewritten, and was discovered to be somebody's attempt to prove that he was perfectly sane and had previously been wrongfully incarcerated.

No other servant of the people on Capitol Hill has a sign on the door like that of Congressman Lamar Jaffers of Annapolis, Md.

Big moments sometimes come into a little man's life, even in Washington. But Senator Henry Wilder Keyes of New Hampshire, chairman of the generally insignificant committee on audit and control of the contingent expenses of the Senate, had to wait until after the close of the Sixty-ninth Congress for his moment.

Now Senator Keyes has, in his capacity as a committee chairman, mixed in a national issue.

"I'm afraid we'll have to postpone the execution. The prisoner is very sick."

NEW YORK

New York, March 24.—There are as many variations on the theme of the small-town girl in New York as there are on the Cinderella tale.

In a week's casual surveying of the Manhattan newspapers I have checked half a dozen items carrying a despairing message to the daughters of the hinterland who found Broadway too much for them.

Now what was that experience? Just the same old story. In her home town Jean X had been pretty much of a beauty. Pretty figure, pretty face.... Town too small to appreciate her.... Big chance in the big city.... The stage and all that.... In Halifax another girl, thinking the same thoughts.... In Sauk Center, Sacramento, Pueblo and way points, perhaps a hundred other girls with pretty faces and pretty figures and quite sure of their talents.... And on Broadway tens of thousands crashing at the gate.... New ones coming.... Old ones going.... Just some spark and up goes the flame....

Two, of all the girls dreaming of Broadway, ran away.... One ran from Halifax and one from the neighboring Connecticut. They happened to put up at the same hotel, a little place in the Seventies, where the prices were cheap and many of the models go while making as high as $20 a week and waiting for those $500 salaries that are so widely talked about and so seldom seen. The kinship of adventure drew them together. They tried this and that and one got jobs now and then posing for a commercial artist, while the other rapped at the doors of agencies that hire chorus girls....

Now if they only had the right sort of clothes.... That was the matter.... They didn't have money for the right clothes.... Yes, clothes did make a difference in New York.... And they realized that had never seen quite so many attractive girls, many of them beautiful.... Competition was keener than in Halifax and Connecticut.... Pretty girls with pretty figures literally catapulted along Broadway.... But if they had little fiery....

The alert detective in a department store caught them taking bits of this fluff from the counter.... It wasn't the first "hit" they had made.... But it was to be the last.... And there you have it, I tell the story for what it's worth. For perhaps it may be read by a pretty girl with a pretty figure who is considering slipping into the night with her suit case and hopping a train for New York.

GILBERT SWAN.

TRAFFIC EXPERTS OFFER NEW RULES TO HELP CHICAGO

Chicago—Radical changes in the administration of Chicago's metropolitan area traffic have been recommended in a report of the Metropolitan Street Traffic Survey by the street traffic committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Miller McClintock, traffic authority who directed the survey, has recommended extensive prohibition of vehicular parking, restriction of the pedestrians' freedom in the use of streets and correlation of the existing 18 traffic jurisdictions within the city.

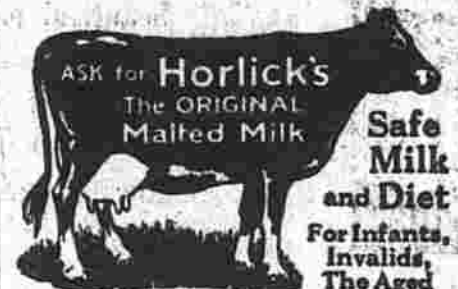

An ordinance has been proposed that would require pedestrians when crossing the streets even at cross walks, to yield the right-of-way to vehicles. The ordinance provides that "the pedestrian shall indicate his intention to cross by a timely and continuous warning by holding up his hand palm outward toward approaching traffic."

The outstanding parking and stopping restriction prohibits the parking of vehicles in the central district, between 7 a. m. and 6:30

Draw upon any day except Sundays and certain holidays. This does not apply to licensed taxicabs in authorized stands.

The question of vehicles passing down the street car tracks within safety zones is handled by making it unlawful for the operator of any vehicle to drive to the left of any safety zone when by doing so such operator would unnecessarily delay the stopping of a street car for the purpose of receiving or discharging passengers at said safety zone.

KANSAS MAY GET IMPROVED ROADS

Topeka, Kas.—Highway interests in Kansas are conducting a spirited campaign to take the state out of the neglected road class and establish a system of first class roads.

Officials of the National Old Trails highway are behind the movement in hopes of removing the last barrier to an all-improved cross-country route.

At present there is a patchwork of better class roads in Kansas, construction of them having followed no definite plan. The campaign has as its aim an amendment to the state constitution to create a highway commission and a state roads system. There are about 200 miles of unsurfaced roads in Kansas on the National Old Trails route. Of this, 75 miles will be graded and 25 miles will be paved, leaving 100 miles to be completed.

If the amendment is passed it is believed that this highway will have the 100-mile gap closed in short order.

Why we sell the DUNLOP TIRE

FOR 39 YEARS Dunlop has been building the world's supreme tire. Dunlops wear longer because Dunlop knows how to build better at each vital point.

Take the hidden carcass beneath the tread. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills for no other purpose than to spin the best long-fibre cotton into the famous cable-twist cord that goes into this carcass.

The extra strength in these cords means an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

The extra "stretch" enables the carcass to give under severe blows, and to come back into its original position without internal injury.

The Dunlop tread—the toughest rubber development known—wears slowly and smoothly, making sure that you get out of your Dunlops, all the extra mileage that added care and longer experience have built into them. We recommend that you put Dunlops on your car.

You can buy a Nash Light Six enclosed car for as little as $925 L. O. B. factory—an amazingly low price for a car like this.

For besides the exceptional smoothness of Nash 6-cylinder, 7-bearing performance, the Nash Light Six has every worth-while feature of modern motoring:

Full force-feed lubrication; Nash mechanical 4-wheel brakes, with front wheel brakes totally enclosed. Double-beam headlights; Automatic windshield cleaner; Rear-view mirror; Gasoline gauge on instrument board.

5 Budd-Michelin steel disc wheels; Alemite chassis lubrication, instead of old-fashioned grease cups.

Air cleaner and oil filter to seal the engine; steering gear especially engineered for balloon tires.

And, in closed car bodies, genuine hardwood frames with rounded rear roofs like the costliest custom cars.

You can buy this car for about the same price as one of the higher priced fours. At the most, you'll only need to add $50 or $60 to your first payment.

Also Her Life Story. Mrs. Chaplin is writing something else, too. "The Story of Lita Grey Chaplin's Life." It begins back in 1915 when, just a little girl of 7, she first met Charlie Chaplin. And it goes on, chapter after chapter, to tell the story of girlhood colored by a girl's dream of romance and ending with her marriage to the art world's "greatest catch," Charlie Chaplin.

But the very suggestion of selling these pages from her heart brings tears to her eyes.

"Not for any amount of money—not for all the money in the world—would I sell this book," she says. "That is for just myself. I am writing it for later years when I want a record of the perplexing years I spent as Mrs. Charlie Chaplin." "I work on it every day. Sometimes I smile over it, and sometimes I cannot."

Mrs. Charlie Chaplin loves to talk of her writing; and her language study. Still rankles her husband's summary of "a beautiful out dumb" wife.

Also Paints and Draws Her story of her novels is capped by a childishly naive display of her drawings and water color paintings, many of them upon the tapestried walls of the mansion side by side with great masterpieces.

"Charlie liked my paintings," she confided to me. "He would often say, 'Lita, you do remarkable work. Where do you get your ideas for such originality? And there is not a trace of the amateur in them!'"

"I have always drawn, even before I could write. I drew little pictures and I don't know where I get my ideas. I generally sit by the west window of my room and thoughts just seem to come to me out of the air."

Wants One Son to be an Actor. The mother of Charlie Chaplin's babies hopes her sons will have "the artistic temperament." She makes it very plain that this temperament could be bequeathed from her to her mother, as well as from the illustrious father.

"I would love to have one paint and draw, and I hope that one will be a great actor like his father."

Mrs. Chaplin, whatever she may or may not think of Charlie, the

THIS HAS HAPPENED
CLAY CURTIS voluntarily inherits himself and gives up a life of ease and luxury to follow the example of his father, T. Q. CURTIS, a self-made man whom he admires tremendously. Clay has been an ardent student of music all his life and his ambition is to become a great composer. When he leaves home, he takes with him only hand luggage and settles in a room in the poorer section of town, in the home of a Mrs. Wells, who has a daughter, BILLY, who is head of the glove department in the mammoth department store owned by Clay's father. Billy is also a violinist of unusual ability. She is instantly attracted to her, though Billy's first reaction to his presence is to believe it is one of amusement that the son of her employer should wish to live in such humble surroundings. Before Clay leaves his room the next morning, Billy hears a shattering of glass. When he enters, she hurries to see that the broken. There she finds a splintered frame and a picture torn in three parts. Fitting the parts together, she beholds a lovely woman—the actress who has thrown Clay over. Billy is a man of anger she does not understand, casts the fragments on the fire.

"I think you're vile!" Billy blazed at him.

CHAPTER V
BUT I tell you I never have worn a six and a half." A heavily powdered and rouged woman, who bought her dresses in the "stylish stout" department, stared at Billy Wells.

"Oh, Mrs. Dunlop," Billy interrupted with her carefully cultivated eagerness and flattery, "I can give you a six, but the latest word from Paris is that loosely-fitting gloves are the hallmark of the gentleman. How nicely you keep your hands!"

"I was just noticing your hands," Mrs. Dunlop admitted, mollified. "How do you keep them so white and soft?"

"Oh, I make a preparation of my own—equal parts of peroxide and glycerin, faintly scented with rose water, but in our cosmetics department—that is it, Gus?" She turned to the boy who had been trying to get her attention.

"Did you know my son before he—or—disinherited the old man? I suppose he's told you his melodramatic story by this time, and, incidentally, that he's owing you a board bill that he has no prospect of paying."

"Mother and I aren't worried about his board bill," Billy told her calmly, but her blue eyes hardened.

"Pretty sure old T. Q. will ante over, ain't you?"

"No, sir, and I don't think you have a right to suggest a thing like that," she flashed out at him angrily. "He's working, and he paid the first week's board in advance—ten dollars. His week isn't up till Friday, and if he can't pay them, that's mine and mother's lookout, not yours. We're willing to take a chance—on him, not on his father."

"Hm! Working, is he? All the reports I've had of him was that he was turned down. The boys at the Business Men's Club have been giving me bulletins on the prodigal son's progress."

"And I suppose you've let them see how much it pleases you for him to be turned down?"

"Hold your horse, you little spitfire!" Old T. Q. chuckled. "You can't blame me for wanting him to come home and take his place in the store. And my friends turned down his application for jobs because he wasn't trained for the work he wanted to do. What's he doing now?"

"I don't think I'm at liberty to say," Billy Wells stood up, her sturdy, boyish little body tense with anger.

"Then he must be working in a factory," T. Q. sighed. "Now look here, little lady. I don't want the fool boy of mine is living at your house, isn't he? He gave your home address when he asked Livingston, the insurance man, for a job."

"I told him not to try insurance. He hasn't brass enough to bully people into buying something they ought to have and don't want."

"Did you know my son before he—or—disinherited the old man? I suppose he's told you his melodramatic story by this time, and, incidentally, that he's owing you a board bill that he has no prospect of paying."

"Mother and I aren't worried about his board bill," Billy told her calmly, but her blue eyes hardened.

"I don't think I'm at liberty to say," Billy Wells stood up, her sturdy, boyish little body tense with anger.

"Then he must be working in a factory," T. Q. sighed. "Now look here, little lady. I don't want the boy to be really up against it. I'd like to slip you a little money to make up any deficit in his board bill, and enough to have his clothes cleaned and kept in order. Ten dollars a week is a ridiculous sum for room and board. Your mother can't be making a penny off him."

"Billy could hold back her words no longer. "I think you must be forgetting how poor folks live," she said. "We should have charged any other boarder ten dollars a week, and mother doesn't take in a boarder for the fun of the thing. And Clay—young Mr. Curtis—can pay for having his clothes cleaned and pressed or do them himself, like other young men who have to make their own living. He's all right, Mr. Curtis," she related suddenly, as her employer's face went suddenly bleak and old; "don't you worry about him. It's good for him, really it is. He's trying to do something fine, something you should be proud of. He'll make the grade if you keep hands off. He's dead set on making a man of himself. No, I don't know him before, except by sight, and he chose this place entirely by accident; had never heard of me before, or noticed me in the store, if that's what you meant. Oh, please let him alone, Mr. Curtis! If he's worthy of his father, he'll make good, and if he isn't he'll come crying home to you."

"Maybe I'd better warn you, Miss Wells, that Clay has just been through a pretty bad time with a New York actress, and he's down on women for the time being. Better not count too much on this prospect business."

"I think you're vile!" Billy blazed at him, and whirled toward the door. Then realization of what she had done swept over her. But it was not in her to eat her words just to save her position. "I suppose this lets me out," she said. "I'm sorry, but—I can't say anything back. Judge Barker will make a good head of the department."

"Put your brakes on, young lady!" Old T. Q. roared at her. "Who set you up to do the firing and promoting around here? This was a private conference, between Clay's father and—I think I'm right in using the title—his friend. The store has nothing to do with it. Go on back and sell gloves, little spitfire, and see if you can get rid of some of them elbow-length white kids that that fool buyer I fired last month got us stuck with."

"Thank you, Mr. Curtis," Billy choked, and dashed like a spanked child at the tears on her cheeks. Before returning to her department, Billy stopped off on the fifth floor at the women employees' rest rooms.

A voluptuous, black-eyed beauty rose from her couch and stretched luxuriously as Billy Wells entered. "Hello, dearie. My fifteen minute rest period's up, darn the luck. Wish old T. Q. had made it half an hour. Slaves—that's what we are. Lend me your lipstick, Billy? Mine's worn clear down."

"Sorry, Nyda. I just can't bear to let anyone use my lipstick, and I can't bear to use anyone else's," Billy told her curtly.

"Well, for crying out loud!" Nyda ejaculated. "Get up, let me see your lipstick. Bet old T. Q. bawled you out. Your eyes are red. Julie said you'd been called on the carpet."

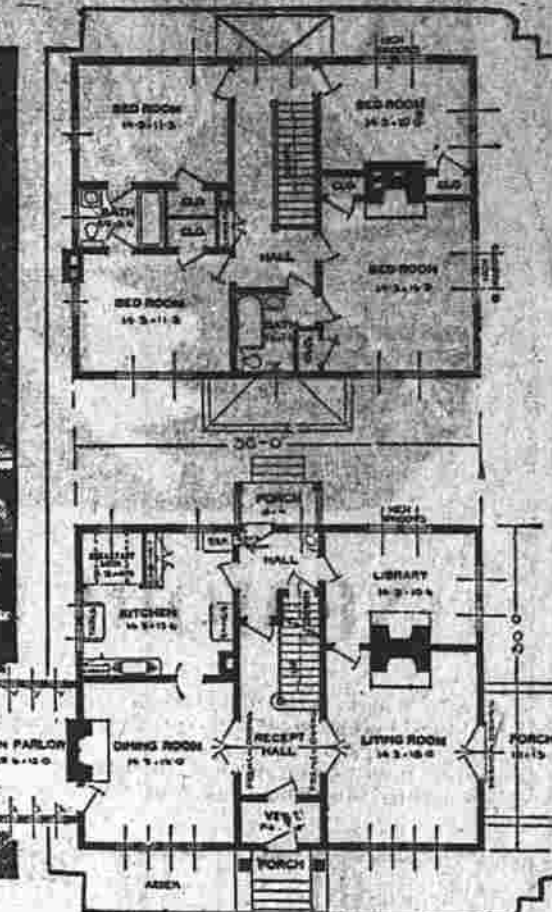

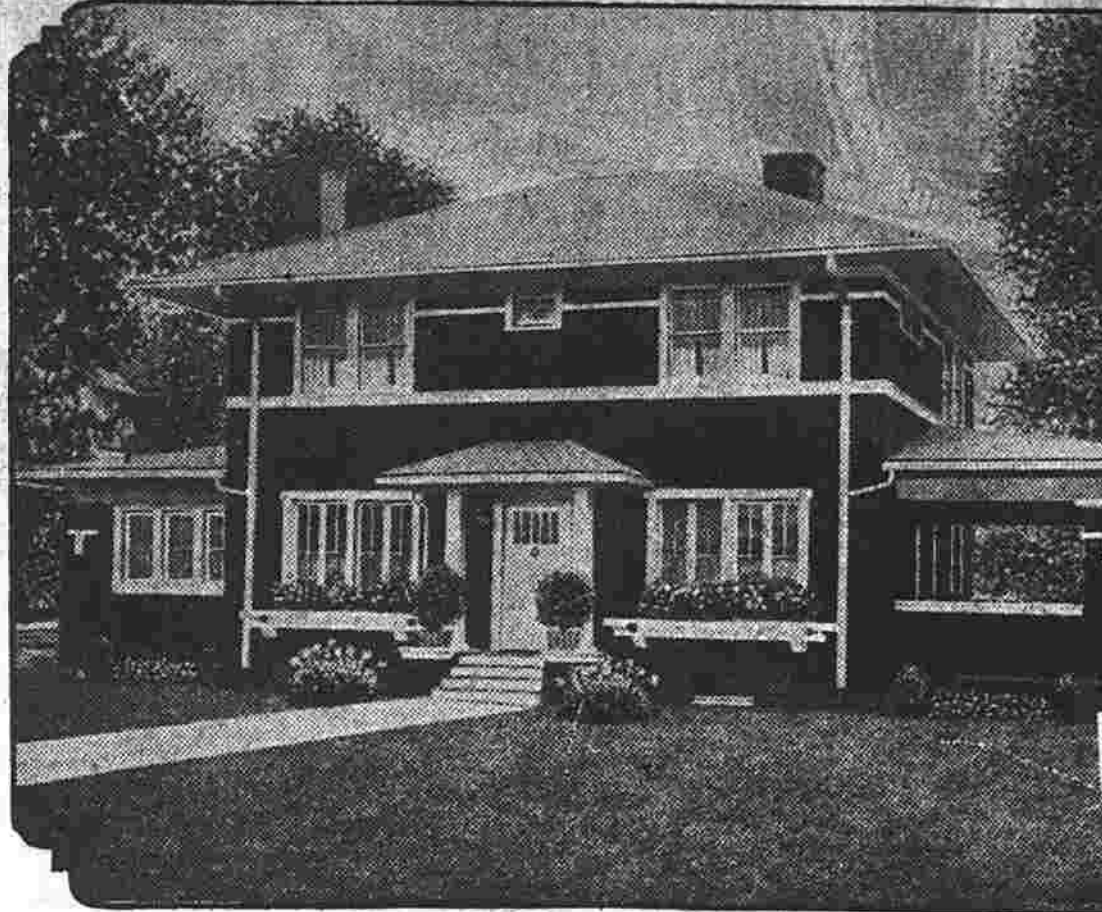

"Say, Billy, that you?" a sleepy little voice called languidly from a nearby couch. "Did old T. Q. spill any dope to you about that meeting of women employees he's called for five forty-five? A nerve he's got—making us stay after hours to listen to some 'onward and upward' bunk, I suppose."

"I don't know about the meeting, Winnie," Billy acknowledged. "And I'd promised—mother—I'd be home early tonight." But her promise had not been made to her mother. She had promised Clay that she would play one of his songs with her on the piano, and she was aquiver with eagerness to get home to her violin, for a precious half-hour's practice.

IDEAL HOME FOR HEARTH LOVERS.

Simplicity yet convenience and an abundance of open fireplaces are what strike one upon first glance at the interior of this home. And on closer examination, it is found that "The Arden," as it is known, has many other attractions. Such are they that this home, while not large, has proved one of the most popular of any size planned by its designers. Of frame, stucco or brick it can be built for about $11,000, complete with hard-wood floors, full basement and steam or hot water heat. With a site, it often sells for from $20,000 to $30,000.

The WOMAN'S DAY
by ALLENE SUMNER

Litters of pups and kittens in porcelain and china are being shown by our town's swankiest department store. They would be seductive and restful. While families of cats sleep contentedly by fire-sides, kittens curled up on cushions in odd corners. Dogs of many varieties and sizes form interesting groupings under table lamps. It seems that you can get a sleeping cat for as low as $3, and as for letting sleeping dogs lie, who can resist them when they cost but $15? The What-Not

Two university insignia motifs—effect and detail.

Frankly, the whole situation is bewildering. Mothers who reluctantly banished to the attic their cherished Lares and Penates as the result of scores and derision from their offspring, and who filled their home with overstuffed living room sofas and oval dining room tables, suddenly find the offspring jeering at the new furniture and demand that the old bureau and corkscrew-legged tables be brought down from the attic.

Not Our Homes
The whole trouble is that our homes are not ours, but are products of what the commercial world says they should be. If ever, and whenever, we learn that we are the ones who live in our houses and that they should be furnished with what suits us and fits us and makes us comfortable and at peace, then we'll stop this insane rushing from attic to department store when the world commercial says "china cats" or "what-nots."

Do Boys Like Sweets
"Lipsticks are going out," says fashion, and the pallid, uncarmined will be most chic. It's all because the male of the species rebelled at the taste of lipstick. "Men do not like sweet flavors," explains someone or other. Granting any truth in that whiff of the lipstick-stick? Couldn't they be flavored sauerkraut, tobacco, liver and bacon, caviar or any of the flavors that men do like? Or couldn't the girls stand those flavors? Silly question, as if a girl couldn't stand any hardship for a man! And, by the way, is it true that men don't like sweets? What about the way your kid brother stole that fudge you made in your youth, and what about the way they consume the wheats with syrup?"

Long 'N Short O' It!
Long hair's the fad, not short hair. This from Violet Hemling, the actress, who adds: "In 50 years long hair will be as archaic as bustles and the one-hoss shay. Long hair is a relic of barbarian days when it was too darn hard to keep it cut off. Men outgrew it long ago, but women didn't. How right she is! She agrees with me exactly. Though every other woman in the world wears it long, not I, not and why wasn't it cut 10 years sooner?"

DOUBLE BELTS
To give the wrapped-hip effect, some designers use two belts, a narrow one above and a wider one below, with fullness between.

erable approval from Gotham's best dressers.

New Move
Here, again, the collegial influence has made itself felt. For by his neckwear, your undergraduate or alumnus can now spot his fellow collegian or his bitter rival.

It is rather a new move in neckwear to have the crests or insignia motif of various universities for a field. For years, fraternities and colleges have had their neckwear colors and hat bands made to order.

The crests themselves are rather quiet and unobtrusive, and are worked out in harmonizing shades against solid backgrounds. They are featured mostly in foulards, the ideal spring and summer the silk. More than thirty-five leading universities are represented in present designs and still more are expected to be made up.

The ties themselves are slightly wider than those of the preceding three years. Likewise, flat silks are still far in the majority when it comes to a question of cut silk and knitted silks. The latter are always good with the business suit but never with formal day clothes.

EVENING CLOAKS
Evening cloaks of lame and velvet are extremely full, often with panels, shirtings and fringe to increase the circular effect.

WHY IS BALDNESS? WELL, TO BE FRANK, NOBODY KNOWS

This is the sixteenth of a series of articles on personal hygiene by Dr. Morris Fishbein, one of America's foremost medical authorities. Other articles in this series will appear daily in this paper.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, The Health Magazine
The average scalp has at least a hundred thousand hairs, if they are all there. In few instances in modern life, however, has any man all that he started with, and indeed many women are inclined to think they have lost a few.

There are two reasons, according to experts, why the hair falls out. In the first class of cases, the hair disappears because of some infection of the scalp or disease. In the second large group of cases the cause is not determined.

The experts say that the baldness is idiopathic, which means that nobody knows the real reason; the hair just falls out and that is the end of it. In such cases the hair may fall out all at once all over the body, or it may fall out in large or small patches. After a severe fever, there is a tendency for the hair to fall out, usually about three months after the time the fever was at its highest.

Our Own Story

By Olive Roberts Burton

George Horace Lorimer, speaking of the number of manuscripts received by his magazine, said that a very large number automatically eliminated themselves from all possibility of acceptance for publication because they were ungrammatical.

Almost all of the remainder were eliminated because the author had nothing to say. "All the more strange," said Mr. Lorimer, "because every one on earth has a story to tell—his own story."

Unsuspected was the story of an old colored neighbor of mine until a day or two ago, when it was discovered that she had cooked breakfast for Edwin Booth in the morning after he had assassinated Lincoln. She was a slave in the family of Dr. Samuel Mudd of Chester County, Maryland, to whom Booth and a companion named Herold rode for medical aid early in the morning after the tragedy. Booth's leg had been broken. Booth gave the colored girl and her sister each a bright quarter, the first money they had ever owned.

It appears that Dr. Mudd later took the quarters, when news of the assassination reached him and said that he would keep them safely for the girls. There is the story—what became of those quarters? Were the same two quarters returned or were they silently dropped into the river to be purged of the blood on them through the centuries to come? Or are they still treasured in some curio cabinet as mementoes of the world's greatest crime—but one?

A little thing—the disposal of a couple of twenty-five cent pieces! But what happened to them would reveal the story of a man's life.

Every gesture we make is typical of us. We think we must wear a sash and sword or cling to a tower bell, to be worth telling a story about. Each life is a magnificent story, even though we do nothing more romantic outwardly than hit up a typewriter and wash-out stockings in a bowl—or add up columns of figures all day and go to a movie at night. Stories are made up of motives and emotions, character and endurance tests.

Were we put into a book, how would the reader class us? Into a movie, would we be applauded or hooted. Are we weak sisters, villains, victims, or the kind the gallery whistles for?

We might read our own story and see what it says. Be sure others are reading every little gesture we make—and judging!

Notes Of The Training Camps

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 25.—In a wild and woolly game featured by the pitching of Frank Wilson, the Boston Braves downed the Yankees, ten to nine. Wilson, who is a National League umpire, pitched nineteen players out of the game. He is the umpire who recently chased Ty Cobb off the field and also banished fifteen other Mackmen.

Tarpon Springs, Fla., March 25.—Uncle Wilbert Robinson's nephews apparently have emerged from their batting slump. In defeating the St. Louis Browns, eight to five the Robins made thirteen hits.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 25.—Having slaughtered the St. Augustine Saints thirteen to four, the New York Giants play Jacksonville today.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 25.—Having said goodbye to their training camp on Catalina Island, the Cubs were here today for the final exhibition series with Coast League teams.

Lakeland, Fla., March 25.—The Cleveland Indians were in fine fettle today following their six to one victory over the world champion St. Louis Cardinals yesterday. Karr and Leaven pitched.

50,000 FANS WATCH GREYHOUND DERBIES

Liverpool, March 25 (United Press).—The immense strides in the popularity of greyhound racing in this country is illustrated by the formation of a limited company known as "The Liverpool Greyhound Club."

This company, possessing a capital of $130,000 and a park of thirteen acres with accommodation for 50,000 people, proposes to run races for greyhounds on as lavish a scale as horse-racing.

"They invite entries for a race called the "Greyhound Derby," the first heats to be decided on the opening day of the grounds, April 16th.

Owners of dogs will pay a nominal fee of $5 for each animal entered.

The race will take place on a flat oval track, over a distance of five hundred yards. The winner receives $4,000 plus a gold cup valued at $500, out of the total prize money of $7,500.

If this venture proves successful "Your wife is very broad-minded, isn't she?" "Oh, very! She believes there are two sides to every question—her own and her mother's."—Sydney Bulletin.

Expect Surprises in Soccer Games and Watch Nats If Vets Hold Up and Rookies Come Through Types Scribe.

The interest of eastern soccer fans will be centered, this coming season on the first round proper of the National Challenge Cup Competition in which nine American Soccer League clubs will participate, and if the Newark-Brooklyn fixture, which was played last Saturday and resulted in a 2 to 1 victory for the former outfit, can be taken as a criterion, surprises may be in order.

Outstanding Game The outstanding game in this round and one that is likely to create an attendance record, for American League clubs, is the Fall River-New Bedford tilt which is down for decision next Sunday at Mark's Stadium, Tiverton, R. I. This will mark the initial appearance upon which these clubs have ever faced each other in the national title chase. Both these clubs are evenly matched as is indicated by this season's league record in which each club has captured one game and a third resulted in a tie. The advance sale of tickets for this match is the largest ever experienced by the Fall River management.

Another inter-city tilt which may tax Indiana-New York Oval to its capacity brings together the Indiana Flooring Company and New York Giants soccer eleven on Sunday. These clubs are bitter local rivals and this game will mark the "rubber" for the season, each club having won two league games. How evenly matched these teams have been all season may be observed from the fact that neither side has gained better than a one goal margin in any of these encounters.

Bethlehem Good The chances of Bethlehem retaining the National championship, which they won last year by trouncing the Ben Miller F. C. of St. Louis by 7 goals to 2, do not appear to be in any immediate danger of passing from their grasp in their impending game against the Philadelphia S. C. in the Quaker City on Saturday. Bethlehem's record for the current season is an enviable one, with 26 victories, 6 draws and 5 defeats, in its league schedule of 37 games. They did not lose a single contest from December 19th until last Saturday, when they suffered a defeat at New Bedford, a period of three months without lowering their colors.

Another New England fixture which is creating more than ordinary interest is the Providence-J. & P. Coats fracas. This is scheduled for Saturday at the Clamdigton, where the two clubs are equal to any in the league and a repetition of the Newark victory may be the outcome.

Other games will take place in Buffalo, N. Y., and Trenton, N. J., where the contestants will be: Buffalo Athletic F. C. vs. White Carpent Mills F. C. of Worcester, Mass., and Trenton F. C. vs. Viking A. C. of New York City.

On the surface, would appear to have an easier assignment than any other American League club, but the close game which their opponents, the Fore River F. C. of Quincy, Mass., gave them last season, when the Hub club barely nosed out the shipbuilders by 2 goals to 1, is still fresh in the minds of the big leaguers.

Washington certainly has quantity when it comes to pitching; if the quality is there, watch the Senators step.

SPRIG, ENGLISH HORSE WINS STEEPLE CHASE

Aintree Race Course, Liverpool, Eng., March 25.—Sprig, owned by Mrs. M. Partridge, today won the grand national—the world's greatest steeplechase.

Bovill III, owned by G. W. Pennington, finished second and Bright's Boy, owned by Stephen Sanford of New York, finished third.

The starting prices of the horses in the money were as follows: Sprig, 8 to 1; Bovill III, 100 to 1; Bright's Boy, 100 to 7.

Under the English turf rules the place and show bets for a quarter of the starting price odds to win, therefore Bovill III will pay 2 to 1 for place and Bright's Boy will pay approximately 1-2 to 1 to show.

ONE-ARMED CADDY IN MICHIGAN SHOWS VERSATILITY AS AN ATHLETE

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 25.—Name your sport and Vic Shipalla, a 17-year-old caddy here, minus one arm, will play with you! Shipalla goes in for every sport known.

He shoots eighteen holes of golf in the low eighties. He plays football, basketball, baseball and tennis; he swims, wrestles, boxes and hunts; he plays billiards, drives an automobile and draws cartoons.

His latest feat was the winning of the caddies' golf tournament here with a score of 83.

He thinks, and so does Al. Watson, "Grand Rapids' well-known pro, that he will be able to shoot in the seventies before the summer ends."

Shipalla lost his arm when he was 10 years old. He fell out of a tree, broke it, and was forced to have it amputated at the shoulder when blood poisoning set in.

Even one-armed only steeled his determination to succeed in any branch of athletics he chose. From his present activities, one can hardly think otherwise of him than as a success. He is versatile, to say the least.

Chicago Cubs Have Better Team Than Last Year, Says McCarthy

Avallon, Catalina Island, Calif., March 25.—"A better ball club than we had last year and you will recall there was a mathematical chance of our winning the National League championship up till the last two weeks of the season." That is the manner in which Manager Joseph McCarthy sums up the 1927 possibilities of the Chicago Cubs.

It appears during the training period as if strength had been needed where required. Last year the Bruins were at times a bit shy of outfielding and pitching. The infield was the steadiest in the National League and shattered all double play records in that organization which of itself is a sufficient demonstration of skill.

The most reliance is being placed in John Brillheart, a left hander acquired from Memphis, of the Southern Association, and Luther Roy of New Orleans. These men did valiant work in the fast minor organization and in training looked the part of ball players. Brillheart won seventeen and lost nine games while Roy compiled 25 victories while dropping eleven. This was in one of the fastest minor leagues in the country.

Roy is Big Fellow Roy is a powerfully built chap whose facial resemblance to Mordred Brown is startling. He also moves like the former Cub star. If he can pitch two-thirds as well McCarthy is likely to smother hugging himself to death. Brillheart has been up before, having had since that time has mastered control. He seems ready for the big league.

That just about disposes of the new pitchers. It is certain that Charley Root, last year's sensational youngster, Bob Osborn, Tony Kaufman; Percy Lee Jones, Guy Bush and the retained McCarthy players will see some action with Roy and Brillheart will be the regulars. Joe Kaiser, from Fordham university, and Roy Hansen, a Chicago semi-pro, are too green but last year and did not acquire any record of any kind for the best, he flitted out.

Root has started where he left off last season when he was second in the National League in point of earned runs per game and was hailed as "the most sensational young right hander in baseball."

The pitching roster also comprises Henry Grapp Jr., St. Petersburg, Va.; Lester Roupnick, Guilford, Miss.; and Gomer Wilson, Minneapolis. They probably will go out for seasoning.

The Cubs will inaugurate the season with six infielders, according to McCarthy. The outfield probably will prevail with Grimm at first, Adams at second, Cooney at short and Freigau at third. New Wilkie is English, Kern and first baseman, is a holdover. The Los Angeles club wanted him but the Cubs needed protection at the initial sack.

EMMET FRENCH LEADING FIELD IN 2ND ROUND AT GOLF TOURNEY

Bobby Jones One Stroke Behind In Company With Sarazen and Two Cleveland Players.

Atlanta, Ga., March 25.—Another eighteen holes of that topographical siren known as East Lake, fair to the eye but false to all that is illusion, beckoned the haggard field that was to proceed on its way today toward the open golf title and $12,000 in prize money.

Robert T. Jones, the well-known amateur, playing his home course in the second round today, is only one stroke behind the leader. The latter happened to be Emmett French, of Youngstown, Emmett having a 71 the first day against 72 for Bobby, Gene Sarazen and the Cleveland pair, Larry Nabholz and W. H. Livic.

Just Starting Of course, there exists the old phobia that no champion can win at medal play over his own course but the suspicion has begun to percolate that Bobby, like John Paul, has just begun to shoot. They say he plays East Lake over 72 about once a year.

Compare that record with yesterday's performance of Walter Hagen, who had an 80, with Willie MacFarlane's 81, the 78 of Bobby Cruikshank and Jack Hutchinson, the 77 of Tom Armour, Loe Glegel, Wilfred Held and Al Espinosa and the 75 of Jesse Sweetser, Jim Barnes, Harry Hampton, Freddie McLeod, Clarence Harmon, Freddie Cyril Walker. If Jones continues to 72 the situation, what chance have most of these scores in the final reckoning?

Hagen and MacFarlane, in fact, are just about eliminated from the $4,000 first prize after one round, unless they run absolutely amuck about the same time that everyone else suffers what is called a bad rally.

Today's eighteen hole test will complete the qualifying round, after which the best sixty-four scores and ties will see what they can do about it over the final thirty-six holes tomorrow.

Johnny Farrell is right up there at 73, so is Willie Klein while Joe Turnesa and the best sixty-four scores and ties will see what they can do about it over the final thirty-six holes tomorrow.

Pete O'Hara of New York, Dave Hackney of Lawrence, Mass., and Bill Mehlhorn all have 75's and a fighting chance.

Sights Big Boxing Center for Frisco

San Francisco, March 25.—"I believe San Francisco can become once more a great boxing center," said Willie Ritchie, former lightweight boxing champion. "We can turn the trick by developing local talent. When good local boys build themselves up to championship pretensions and accomplishments, strong personal following then we can bring in champions from the outside for the title bouts. The people here as the the same people in New York—they'll pay any price to see the best."

Ritchie believes that if the attraction is great, the customers will naturally follow.

"We have a million people living within two hours' travel of San Francisco," the former promoter explained. "And we can draw heavy gates if the boxers have strong followings."

Between 1906 and 1914, Ritchie said, San Francisco was the Mecca of the boxing profession.

"Nearly every championship fight—there were only one or two exceptions—was fought right here in San Francisco," the former lightweight champion declared. "It was the only place in the country where decision bouts were permitted. Now," however, fights to decide are allowed in New York, Chicago and other big cities, but I believe the time is near when San Francisco can compete with eastern cities for championship bouts."

The long lean years when 4-round bouts were a limit have not hurt boxing in California, according to Ritchie. One change, however, has been effected. In the old 20 rounds or more period, fans were content and satisfied with scientific and scientific boxing, a long regime of action and plenty of it. Even now that the 10-round game has returned, Ritchie said, the patrons want lots of slam and bang in their fights.

Ritchie, who held the lightweight title from 1912 to 1914, taking 35 from Ad Wolgast in San Francisco and dropping it to Freddie Welsh in London, is tempted some times to go back in the ring. He is now a promoter.

"When I read about old Mike McTigue coming back and knocking out Paul Berlenbach," Ritchie said, "I feel moved to get out my skipping ropes and punching bag and try to come back myself."

OUTSTANDING IN GOLF Walter Hagen is outstanding among golfers, undoubtedly the game's most colorful player. However, Walter Hagen, in a fanning bee on sports in general, will invariably drift to baseball as his favorite topic of conversation.

Hagen likes baseball as well as golf, probably better. His one regret, despite the fame he has won on the links, is that he didn't go in for baseball.

As a youngster, Hagen early showed proficiency in baseball. This was long before he took up golf, first as a caddy, later to become one of the game's greatest players.

I have no doubt but that he would have been a big league star. The remarkable co-ordination of his features his golf would have made him a batsman of the Ty Cobb style.

Slumped During Winter Hagen's play during the past winter has been slightly below his usual high standard. It has caused some of the critics up north to express the opinion that he had passed the peak of his game.

Just as this opinion was gaining favor, Hagen, in typical Babe Ruth fashion, proceeded to do a fancy comeback that completely upset the so-called expert dope.

ENGLAND SOON TO MAKE ONE RADIO HOP TO AUSTRALIA

Sydney, Australia—Work on the beam wireless system which will link Australia, Canada and England is well under way, according to U. S. Trade Commissioner E. G. Babbitt, here. The complete system may be put in operation before the end of this month, he says.

These stations will offer direct commercial services in competition with cables and at a lower cost than the present cable rates.

The beam services between Australia and England will be available for telegrams to and from the United Kingdom and all European countries. The beam service between Australia and Canada will be used for telegrams to and from Canada, the United States and South America.

The beam stations in Australia will be located near Melbourne, with company headquarters in that city. The transmitting and receiving stations will be separated by 35 miles.

There will be no relays between Melbourne and London, and it is reported that signals will be powerful enough to permit transmission and reception at the rate of more than 100 words a minute.

The station for transmission to Great Britain is daily in communication with the English reciprocal station, and Babbitt says that the results have been satisfactory so far as they have gone.

Total production of soap in the United States last year exceeded 4,878,000,000 pounds, an average of more than forty pounds per person. Its value was $230,000,000.

Put Soul On Scales In The Laboratories

So, in its zealous quest to prove the evolution of man as a matter of course, is at the same time becoming more and more convinced of the existence of a soul.

What that soul is, is the mystery. So deep is this mystery that most scientific believers in the soul's existence contend its nature will never be known. There are a few, however, who hope that even this mystery will be fathomed.

These point to certain delicate evidences that have turned up only recently in the progress of scientific research, as basis for their hopes. Here are some points they cite:

1.—The body of man, as a piece of matter, has been resolved down to an electrical unit, the ion or negative electron, which is believed to be the basis of all man's functions. Perhaps the soul is a product of the electrical reactions that take place among these units within the body.

2.—In the body of man, matter is constantly changing to other matter, or to energy. In this process of change something other than mere energy is given off, just as heat is given off when two or more mechanical bodies work together to bring out another product.

3.—Perhaps the soul is the result of chemical interactions, especially among the ultra-microscopic chromosomes in the blood; small mysterious bodies that have been found floating around in the tiny nuclei of blood cells.

4.—If the soul isn't part of us, it may be the result of the mysterious action of the sun, with its innumerable invisible rays and its mysterious powers, many of which we have already been able to discover and define.

Vague and conflicting as these ideas may be, science shows a deep interest in the soul and an earnest desire to fathom it.

Here are the opinions of some of the country's leading scientists on this mystery:

Pupin's View
Prof. Michael I. Pupin, leading electrical engineer and inventor: "All human and organic phenomena may be reducible to electric reaction. It may be possible that the soul is an actively which results from such reaction in our brain cells.

"There's the chromosome, too, a hundred of them in a single nucleus, which itself is one-thousandth of an inch in diameter. Yet, this seems to be the foundation of our activities."

"It may be millions of years before we will learn what the soul is, but we're working toward that end. First we must discover how the instrumentalities work through which the soul is expressed. That is the work of the biologist, the chemist, the physiologist and other scientists."

Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, famous anthropologist of the Smithsonian Institution:

"When we deal with the human being as such, we find there is no period at which anything known to us of so great importance could be found to enter the body. Likewise, nowhere can we find a break in our lives where we can say definitely, 'Here there is no soul,' or 'Here there is a soul.'"

"Yet we intuitively feel there is something of this nature in existence. But we can't define it, and we must conclude if there is a soul it's much higher than we are, although it is participated in by all of us.

Nearer to Solution
"As we progress in refinement of our qualities of perception and thought and our knowledge increases in details and refinement perhaps we shall get nearer to a more tangible solution of this mystery."

Prof. Henry Norris Russell, famous Princeton astronomer: "From a purely metaphysical basis I am strongly in favor of the argument for the immortality of the soul. It is derivative of a belief in an all-wise and good God."

"The soul must have something to do with bodily existence, and if it is immortal we may assume it exists in some sort of a realm outside ourselves."

"Such belief is certainly possible. The reasons for believing this, however, are of a philosophical or metaphysical nature. I don't think there is any scientific evidence to speak for or against immortality, or the existence of a soul."

All Else Is Saved
Prof. Heber D. Curtis, director of the Allegheny observatory at Pittsburgh, and a leading astronomer: "Matter is continually changing into energy and energy back into matter. There is perfect conservation: Are we alone annihilated?"

"Man makes in his laboratories new chemical compounds that nature never produced. Man originates new forms through breeding plants and animals. Man is a creative spirit. In the universe there is a principle of continuity and I believe man possesses it."

"I cannot believe the 'Largo' of Handel and the 'Ode to a Grecian Urn' of Keats mere phenomena of physical and chemical reactions."

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Tennant who have been living in the tenement over the post office, have moved to New Haven, where Mr. Tennant has accepted a position as bookkeeper for the Eastern Dairy Co.

Among other signs of approaching spring, it is stated that several lake cottages have already been let for the season.

Mrs. Beale Thrall and little daughter Shirley returned home Wednesday from Willimantic, where they have been visiting relatives.

Mrs. Ruth Jacobs, Mrs. Florence Budge and Miss Mildred Latham spent Tuesday in Hartford.

Henry Isham who has been at the Hartford hospital for treatment for the past two weeks was operated on Tuesday, the operation being successful. Mr. Isham will probably remain about two weeks longer.

Postmaster H. W. Porter is a patient at the St. Joseph's hospital in Willimantic, where he was operated on Thursday morning. He will be obliged to remain at the hospital for about two weeks.

George Champlin and Fred Abell were Hartford visitors Thursday.

Mrs. Emil Teenquin of Pine street is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital.

Mrs. Haywood of Hartford is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Carpenter.

Latest reports from Mrs. Hubert Collins indicate that she is making a good recovery from the serious operation performed last week at the Charter Oak hospital in Hartford.

DEATH OF JOHN GEORGE CLOUGH

John George Clough, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clough of 99 East Center street died at his home last evening at ten o'clock after several weeks' illness. He had lived until June next he would have been 14 years old. He was a pupil at the Barnard school. Besides his parents he leaves a brother nine years old and a sister, 13 months.

Funeral services will be held at his late home Sunday afternoon and friends are requested to kindly omit flowers. Burial will be in the East cemetery.

THREE SETS OF TWINS BORN IN TWO WEEKS

Manchester during March made a record that was probably not equalled by any town in the United States. According to the vital statistics three sets of twins, all boys, were born here between the first of the month and St. Patrick's day. The first pair arrived on the first day of the month to Mr. and Mrs. Adam Birk of Kerry street. On the 13th the second pair of twin boys was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller of Hartford Road and on the 17th another pair to Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Guido of 42 Oak street.

ASSERTS NO NATION CAN WIN ANY WAR

T. J. Libby Tells High School Students That "Victory" Is Impossible.

A graphic picture of a proposed League of Nations and a World Court, modeled after the government of the small town, was given students of the High school in assembly yesterday by Frederick J. Libby, national secretary of the Society for the Prevention of War. Mr. Libby treated this form of regulation through the small town government, through the state and national government and told how it could be applied to the world.

"No matter how many wars we have hereafter," said the speaker, "no nation will win. A nation may be called the victor in a conflict but it will lose just as much as the nation it has defeated. In days gone by one nation could come out of a war with a victory, but that is past history."

Danger Spots

He pointed out several danger spots in Europe and Asia naming Poland, the Balkans, Italy, China and Australia as probable places where wars might start. He mentioned Australia particularly because of the fact that although it has a bigger area than the United States, its population is centered on the edges of the continent. All races except the whites are excluded from Australia and pressure is becoming strong from China, Japan and India.

War could be prevented, he said, by the same means by which street fights are prevented in towns and cities. He mentioned the instance in which a war between Greece and Bulgaria was stopped within 24 hours by pressure brought to bear on these countries by the League of Nations.

Like a Machine

He likened government to a machine calling the courts the engine, the steam, public opinion and the lubricant good will. In case of an emergency when something came up that the machine could not handle, the police were ready to handle it. Law is useless, he said, without public opinion and good will.

Newspapers were given considerable credit by the speaker for their work in spreading good will by their faithful accounts and evident desire to keep from hurting anybody. He mentioned the town meeting as a place where public opinion is formed and drew a parallel in the League of Nations.

His talk was not that of a propagandist but an outline of the functions of the World Court and the League.

FISH-GAME MOVIES

DRAW FINE AUDIENCE

Conflict With Opening Night Falls to Keep Devotees From Sports Pictures.

An audience of 800 persons, not a few of whom were women despite the fact that the affair clashed with the annual fashion show, attended the motion picture show given by the Manchester Fish Game club at the Rialto theater last night.

Reels furnished by the Connecticut State Board of Fisheries and Game showed the operations of that class of game destroying animals called "vermin" by sportsmen—mink, foxes, snakes in the act of eating bird's eggs, and so forth.

There were fascinating reels showing the migration and habits of Alaska salmon and others in which enviable anglers caught so many trout in Glacier Park that the night almost started a riot among the Waltonians in the audience.

And just for good measure there was a comedy reel or two.

The club, which made its date for the night without realizing that it was making an Annual Sports Meeting night, was liberally encouraged at the attendance. It is not improbable that other picture shows of the same kind may be given later.

In the semi-barbaric Malay Islands, chess is a favorite pastime. The game is played on boards carried on the floors of the village meeting houses.

BLUE STREAK WESTERN IS BILLED FOR CIRCLE

Fred Humes Stars in "One Man's Game" Tomorrow; Other Features on Program.

A University Blue Streak Western, "A One Man Game," is one of the main features on the Circle Theater program for the continuous show all day tomorrow. The second of the features which will be shown is "As a Dog Loves," a story of animal devotion and a dog's love for its master.

For all lovers of romance, action earnestly recommended. The picture, which brings to the screen a new star in the person of Fred Humes, is a rapidly-moving tale, punctuated liberally with thrilling scenes, fights, hair-raising rides and not a little comedy.

Humes himself is a promising star. He brings to his work a winning personality in which is combined masculine comeliness, a fair-bank smile and a refreshing virility. Add to this that he is a capable actor and one can be sure that he will soon become a widely popular star.

Tonight for the last time the big double feature bill containing "Perch of the Devil," and "The Magician," will be offered at the Circle.

Three leading men and two leading women, all entitled to feature roles in any picture, grace the cast of "Perch of the Devil," King Castor's latest Universal production.

The leading men are Pat O'Malley, star of many pictures, whose recent work has been in "The Midnight Sun," "The Treasurer," "Watch Your Wife," "My Old Dutch" and other pictures, Theodore Von Eltz and Mario Carillo. Both of the latter have played leads in many big productions.

Internationally famous screen and stage stars were assembled by Rex Ingram for the leading parts in his production of "The Magician," the companion feature, for Metro-Goldwyn which was made in Europe.

Ingram spent many weeks of negotiating before obtaining the services of some of the noted players who had contracts extending for periods of years. It was only the personal assistance of the artists who were anxious to appear in the picture, that made it at all possible.

Old Master's

Death, he not proud, though some have called thee Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so; For those whom thou thinkest thou dost overthrow Die not, poor Death; yet not canst thou kill me. From Rest and Sleep, which but thy picture be, Much pleasure then from thee much more must flow; And soonest our best men with thee do go— Rest of their bones and souls' delivery! Thou'rt slave to fate, chance kings and desperate men, And dost with poison, war and sickness dwell; And poppy or charms can make us sleep as well And better than thy stroke. Why swell'st thou then? One short sleep past, we wake eternally, And Death shall be no more; Death, thou shalt die!

—John Donne: from "Holy Sonnets."

Personality is something else that's born, not made.

SENSE and NONSENSE

A careful canvass shows that the infant death rate in cultured homes has decreased from one puppy dog in every five families to one puppy dog in every ten. A better knowledge of dog hygiene, as taught by Radio, is thought to be the reason.

"My wife's main subject of conversation is clothes."
"Well, after seeing her no one could accuse her of being wrapped up in her subject."

"Why do you go on the porch when I sing? Don't you like to hear me sing?"
"I ain't that. I want the neighbors to see that I am not beating you!"

A local school teacher was very much annoyed by the continued mischievousness of one of her boys. At last she exclaimed in exasperation, "I wish I could be your mother for just about one week." "Very well," the boy answered, "I'll speak to father about it."

THE TINYMITES

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture)

The Tyns sat around in glee and heard the tunes of Fiddlers Three. King Cole kept up their playing 'til they all grew very tired. And then when they were finally through, Wee Cloway did a jig or two. He shouted, "By the music they've been playing I'm inspired."
The old king laughed to see him dance and said, "I'd also take a chance but really I am much too old to do a jig or reel." "Oh, you're not," one Tyn said; "just try your luck. Go right ahead, 'cause, after all, you only are as aged as you feel."
The king thought maybe that was true, so he began at prancing too. But after 'bout two minutes he was tired as could be. He sat right down and said, "I'm done. To dance may be a heap of fun for all you little 'Tynmites', but, frankly, not for me."
Then Scouty said, "Well, I believe that it is time for us to

19 LEGION POSTS TO COME HERE SUNDAY

County Gathering Will Bring 200 Guests of Dillworth-Cornell Post.

Commander Victor Bronke of Dillworth-Cornell Post has been advised by County Commander Edward Ogren that 19 Legion posts will be represented at the county meeting on Sunday afternoon at Knight's of Columbus hall. It is expected that over 200 legionaries will gather for this meeting, on one of the most important sessions that has been held in Manchester. Those who heard Mr. Ogren speak at the annual banquet at Rainbow Inn a few weeks ago will be glad to hear him speak again. He is a forceful, convincing speaker.

The roll call of posts will be the first business. This roll call is unique, the commander of each post states to the convention just what activities his post is planning for the future as well as a short resume of what has gone on in the past. In this way the entire legion body is kept in close touch with proposed plans and is in position to give advice and lend assistance.

A matter that will interest every overseas man will be the report on the progress of the Paris Convention for which elaborate plans have been made. Several Manchester people have already sent in reservations for the trip and a number of others are expected to do so within the next few months.

After the business meeting a dinner will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary under direction of Mrs. Jennie Sheridan its president. It is planned to hold the dinner between five and six.

Commander Kenneth Cramer spoke at length on the aims of the Legion at the annual banquet. He will bring before this meeting facts and figures, ideas and inspirations. Commander Bronke is especially anxious that everyone attend who can. This is the first time that Manchester has acted as host to the County Association although local Legionaries have enjoyed the hospitality of many other posts in the county.
