Keeney Court Fire Imperils Lives of Two Families But Only One Mother Is Over- come.

A plucky mother was overcome by smoke early yesterday morning when fire gutted her home on Keeney court but she was repaid for her experience by the fact that her brood of four children all reached safety and became a neighbor's flock of five were also safe. The doctor who was hurriedly called to attend the mother, Mrs. John Foglio, says she will be all right. All the occupants of the house, thirteen in number, were driven into the snow-covered street but none aside from the mother was injured. Nearby neighbors cared for the refugees and provided clothes for those who had no time to jump into their own.

When the fire broke out in the kitchen of the Foglio home at 9 Purnell place, commonly known as Keeney court, both families had long been asleep, for it was then quarter to two in the morning. In the Foglio apartment besides the mother and father were four children, Anthony 15, Salvatore 12, Michael 10, and Antonette 9. In the other side of the house were Mr. and Mrs. James McVeigh and their five children, Anna 15, Kathleen 12, John 8, James, Jr., 4 and Leo 2. Both families slept upstairs.

Timely Coughing

The fire, which is believed to have started from an overheated kitchen range standing a few inches from the wall, was discovered through the coughing of little Antonette. The little child's coughing awakened the mother who discovered that the bedrooms were filled with smoke. She aroused her husband. It was hard to breathe in the smoke and the Foglios hurried to open the bedroom windows. One of them stuck and Tony, the eldest of the children, smashed out a pane with his bare fist.

After getting a few breaths of fresh air, the father rushed down stairs. The door was locked, but he stove it open with a lusty kick and soon the children were all out. The mother waited until the last to see that all her children escaped and when she returned she found she had collapsed. She was assisted to the home of Mrs. Caroline Pagan, next door neighbor, who also found clothing for the children.

Warns Neighbors

Meanwhile, Foglio shouted to the McVeighs that the house was in fire and in short order this family made its exit while the flames rapidly ate their way through the walls of the kitchen. Mrs. McVeigh, barefooted, and clad only in her nightgown, started on a run for the nearest fire alarm box, at Main and Bissell streets. On her way, she met a man who said he would turn in the alarm. So she went back to the house and helped remove furniture. This household gear was later placed in a vacant apartment of an adjoining house.

"We haven't got a nickel's worth of insurance either," Mrs. McVeigh said. "It expired two months ago." Luck with the McVeighs, however, for after the firemen had succeeded in extinguishing the flames, it was found that the damage was almost wholly confined to the other side of the house. There was not even any water damage in the McVeigh apartment.

In the Foglio apartment the smoke was so dense it was next to impossible to remove any of the furniture. The damage broke out from Box 45, was answered by all the East Side companies, under command of Fire Chief Albert C. Foy.

The loss will probably be about $2,000. The Foglio furniture is said to have been insured for $700. All the kitchen furniture was destroyed and part of the remainder.

The Foglio family was cared for by Mrs. Pagan last night.

FIRE IN HOTEL

London, Ontario, March 28.—American tourists motoring through here early today discovered a fire in the roof of the Park hotel and aroused the sleeping guests who escaped.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, D. C., March 28.—Treasury balance March 26: $410,002,504.53.

New York, March 28.—One million dollars is the amount written today on a check payable to Anatol Josepho, 32, of Omsk, Siberia, who came to this country penniless three years ago.

The tidy sum is in payment for the invention by Josepho of a machine which takes eight pictures automatically when a quarter is dropped in. Former Ambassador Henry Morgenthau, General James G. Harbord and others prominent in business here are said to be interested in development of the device.

MAY LINK TONGMAN WITH EARLIER WAR

Victim of Murder Here Possibly Involved In Former Tong Feud.

States Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn visited the scene of the Chinese murder on Oak street Saturday, remaining here for about two hours. He was in consultation with Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon, County Detective Edward J. Hickey and other police officials. The three men went to the laundry shop where Ong King was slain and also went to Watkins Brothers' morgue to view the body of the dead Chinaman.

While there were no new developments locally in the case, it is understood that police are attempting to trace back the history of the murdered man with the idea in mind that he may have possibly been connected with some former outbreak between the rival Chinese factions.

George Johnson, civil engineer, father of Judge R. A. Johnson, is preparing maps of the scene of the murder to be used during the superior court trial of Lou Hoo Wing and Ching Lung, accused of the crime.

The expected arrival of the brother of the victim of the murder in the laundry Saturday did not materialize and as a consequence many Manchesterians are wondering how they are going to get their collars and shirts back.

Brother Claims Body

Undertaker Robert K. Anderson said that the body of the dead Chinaman was sent by train this noon to New York where it will be temporarily buried in the Chinese section of Evergreen cemetery, Brooklyn. The body was claimed by a brother of the dead man. He did not come to Manchester but made arrangements by wire.

Old time residents recall that Ong King was not the first Chinese to be found murdered in Manchester. About forty years ago, the badly burned body of a Chinaman was found by near the tin bridge at the north end. The mystery that surrounded that case has never been solved. It was believed at the time that the man was murdered elsewhere and his body brought to Manchester, deposited in one of the railroad tracks and set on fire.

Peace Treaty News

Meanwhile comes the information from New York City that the warring Chinese Tong—the Hip Shing and On Long—signed another peace treaty in the Hotel Pennsylvania after a long secret conference between the high officials of both organizations. As soon as the news reached Chinatown, the peace flags—white, bordered with red—floated over the rival headquarters. The reports say that hundreds of Chinese, manifold in the chilling rain, ventured into the narrow and crooked streets for the first time since the simultaneous outbreaks snuffed out the lives of Chinese throughout the land. A big celebration followed.

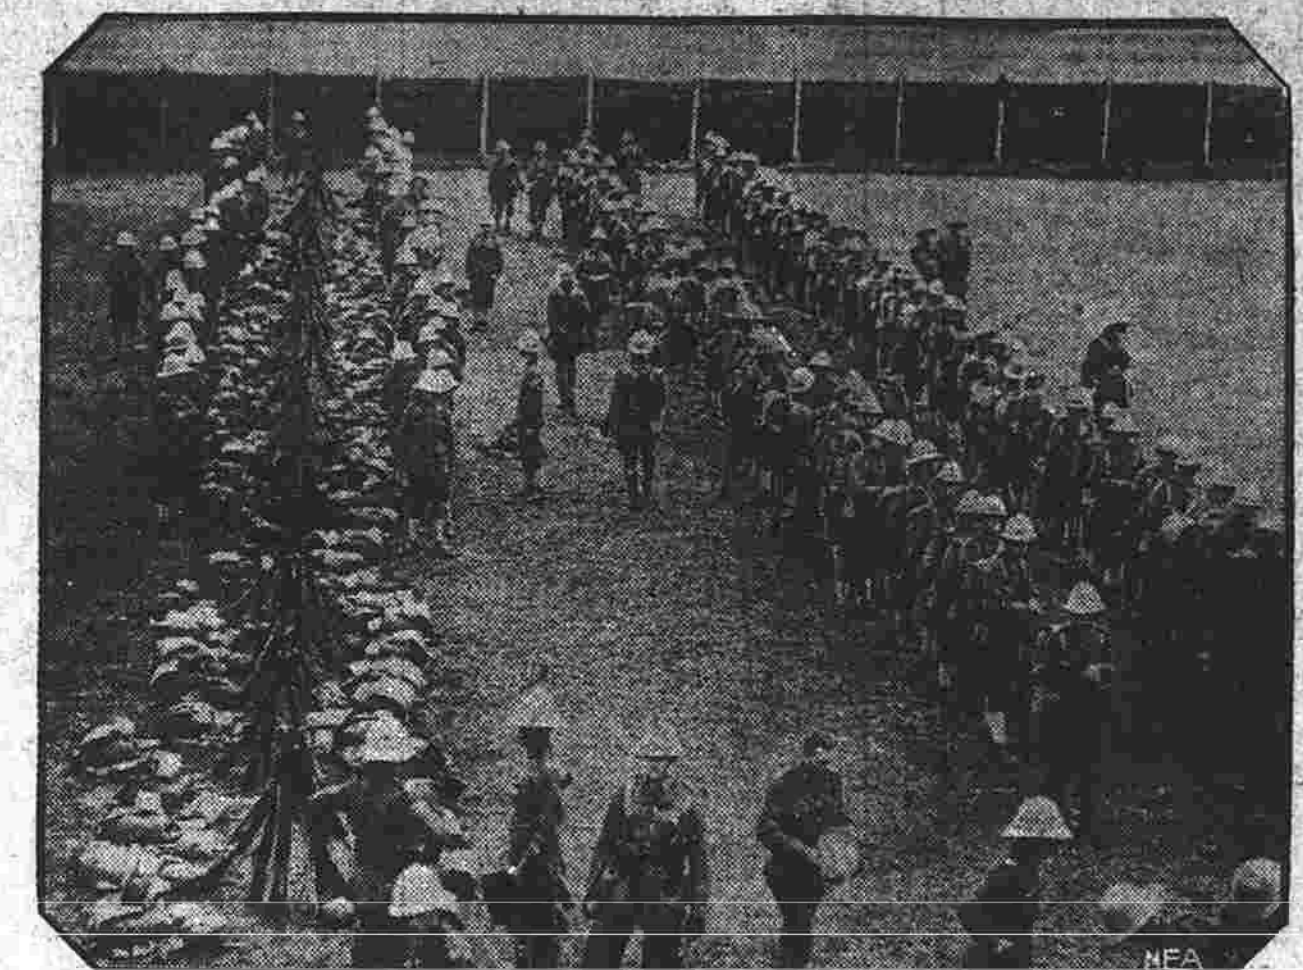

While first reports contained no details of what occurred during the secret conference, one Hip Shing official said that the treaty specified no definite time limit. And while the peace treaty affects New York Chinese, it was said that this might not prevent additional killings in other cities.

MACHINE GUN USED IN CROOKS' BATTLE

Two Killed and One Badly Hurt When Detroit Follows Chicago's Example.

Detroit, Mich., March 28.—Two men were killed and a third was seriously wounded today in Detroit's first machine gun shooting. Joe Bloom and George Cohen were moved down by a rain of bullets. Frank Wright was seriously injured.

FIGHTING SIDE BY SIDE WITH OUR DEVIL DOGS.

WORLD WAR SCENES ARE BEING RE-ENACTED IN China now, where British Tommies are fighting side by side with American marines to protect lives of foreigners. Above a detachment of British soldiers is shown ready for any emergency in Shanghai. In the background is a barricade such as has been erected around the foreign quarters in many of the Chinese cities.

LEGIONAIRES MEET AS LOCALS' GUESTS

Dilworth-Cornell Post Has Its Premier as Host to County Units.

Dilworth-Cornell Post No. 102, American Legion, for the first time since its organization acted as host for the meeting of the First District, comprising Legion posts in Hartford county, at K. of C. hall here yesterday afternoon. The regular business meeting was followed by a dinner served by the women of the Legion Auxiliary.

The roll call disclosed that there were 133 Legionnaires present. Manchester had 23 of that number. Other posts were represented by delegations of from two to ten members.

Distinguished visitors at the meeting were State Commander Kenneth Cramer of Wethersfield, County Commander Edward Ogren of New Britain, who conducted the meeting; Commander Joseph Keating of Willimantic Post, a former Manchester man; Commander William East of Stanley Doherty Post of Rockville; J. Fred Collins of Greenwich, who is in charge of On-to-Paris trip of the Legion for the Department of Connecticut, and Past Commander Harry Jackson of New Britain, who is connected with the Legion paper.

Meriden in April

The invitation of the second district for the joint meeting with the Hartford County Legion in Meriden on April 30 was accepted. Plans for a district picnic and field day were started and it was voted that a committee be appointed to work out the details.

Forest Subscriptions

Reports were heard from all of the commanders in the district as the roll call was read. In these reports were numerous posts reported that they had subscribed for one or more acres in the Legion State forest, a project which is to be a permanent memorial to the World War. The Manchester post reported that it had not as yet subscribed but that action would be taken on the matter at the regular meeting this evening.

Short Talks were given by Commander Keating, Commander East, and Commander Cramer.

YOUNG WIFE DESERTS HER RICH HUSBAND

Tells Him She Prefers Other Man—Drew Savings From Bank.

Plainfield, N. J., March 28.—Dazed and in a highly nervous state, John W. Bache, wealthy iron and steel man, today awaited word from his young wife, Mrs. Linda H. Bache, who walked out of the house a week ago. She is 33 years old, thirteen years younger than her husband.

"God forgive me for what I am about to write," a note from her to her husband read, and then she referred to a man she is understood to have been seeing lately.

Three Men Are Killed In Crash At Cheshire

Cheshire, Conn., March 28.—A drowsy driver is believed to have been responsible for an automobile tragedy that wiped out three lives on the New Haven-Cheshire highway, just south of this village today. The dead are James J. Welch and James H. Reilly, of New Britain, and Edward Sheehan, of Bristol.

The accident happened near the south end of "Ives Switch" just after five o'clock. The three victims were bound home from New Haven. Traveling at high speed, according to the auto evidence at the spot after the tragedy, an Essex coach, containing the three men, sideswiped a telephone pole at the edge of the highway. The entire running board on the right side of the machine was ripped off and flung into a field.

VICTIMS WELL KNOWN

New Britain, Conn., March 28.—The victims of the Cheshire tragedy were well-known here. James J. Welch was a well-known local figure.

OUR SOLDIERS HANDICAPPED

No Maps of Connecticut for National Guard, Says Civil Engineer.

Hartford, March 28.—If Connecticut soldiers had to face an invading enemy, the defenders would be handicapped by their lack of knowledge of the state terrain, and that lack of knowledge is due directly to the fact that no maps exist to describe the state.

"Mystery Note"

The latest American note to Mexico, the so-called "mystery note," is reported to have dealt with this alleged plot. According to rumors which have filtered through the capital, while the relations between Mexico City and Washington were most strained, an apparently authentic American note found its way through regular channels into the hands of the Mexican foreign office. It was of a nature calculated to inflame already intense Mexican feeling. Simultaneously there appeared in Washington, a Mexican note of similar import.

Speed of Probe

Speedy investigation was undertaken by both governments, according to reports, and the misunderstandings were cleared up.

FIRE STOPS SERVICE ON OUR AIR ROUTE

Five Planes and Other Valuable Property Destroyed In New Brunswick, N. J.

New Brunswick, N. J., March 28.—Air mail service between New York and Boston was temporarily suspended today when five Sikorsky airplanes, five motor trucks and twenty liberty motors owned by the Colonial Air Line, operators of the service, the hangar in which the planes were stored was burned to the ground.

JUDGE BOWERS'S CONDITION

Judge H. O. Bowers was resting more comfortably today it was reported at the Memorial hospital at three o'clock. His condition, generally, is unchanged.

ANTI-FOREIGN FEELING SWEEPING OVER CHINA

MARINES MOBILIZE FOR DUTY IN CHINA

Washington Continues Preparations Fearing More Trouble in Shanghai.

Washington, March 28.—Hoping for the best and fearing the worst, official Washington continued preparations today to meet any exigencies in China.

Overnight reports from Admiral C. S. Williams, commanding the Asiatic fleet from Shanghai, emphasized the tenacity of the situation throughout the Yangtze river district, where agitators are whipping up anti-foreign sentiment among the masses.

See Further Trouble

The demands made by the Chinese at Shanghai for the removal of the protecting barricades around the international settlement were regarded in Washington with grave concern. In some quarters, the opinion was expressed that these demands, promptly denied by the American and allied commanders, were but the forerunner of organized attacks on the settlement.

More Bluejackets

An additional force of bluejackets has been sent ashore from Admiral Williams' flagship, the U. S. S. Pittsburgh.

The recreated Sixth regiment, United States Marines, was mobilized today from Boston in the north to Charleston in the south. Marine barracks at Paris Island, Quantico, Washington, Philadelphia, Brooklyn and Portsmouth, were humming with activity as detachments speeded preparations to mobilize and move across country to San Diego.

The marine transport Henderson has left Cortina, Nicaragua, and is making speed toward San Diego where she will pick up the 1,500 marines from eastern points and sail for China.

EX-MAYOR OF DANBURY DIES FROM HEART STROKE

Was 77 Years Old and the Original Woodrow Wilson Man From Connecticut.

Danbury, Conn., March 28.—Charles Kerr, the "original Woodrow Wilson man from Connecticut," and once mayor of Kingston, N. Y., as well as later mayor of Danbury, will be buried here tomorrow afternoon in the presence of distinguished residents of New York and Connecticut. Mr. Kerr, who had been in poor health for many years, died Saturday evening after a sudden heart attack. He was seventy-seven years old.

Mr. Kerr came here from Kingston in the early nineties to purchase a drug store. He entered politics as a Democrat and served two terms as mayor. During his residence here property he owned near Kingston developed as a remarkable trap-rock quarry, and the New York Central railroad system had a long lease at a figure which made Mr. Kerr a wealthy man. Retiring, he financed corporations here, in Norwalk and in New Haven.

A delegate to the Baltimore convention in 1912, Mr. Kerr became a steadfast follower of Woodrow Wilson, then governor of New Jersey and was the first delegate from this state to vote for him.

Mr. Kerr is survived by his wife and one daughter, a teacher in Darien.

PLOT TO BLOW UP EMBASSY IN CHILI

News Comes From London But U. S. Officials Know Nothing About It.

London, March 28.—The Central News today carried a dispatch from Buenos Ayres stating that a plot to bomb the American embassy in Santiago, Chile, had been discovered and a number of anarchists arrested.

Washington, March 28.—The State Department announced today that it has no information regarding the report circulated in London of a plot to bomb the American embassy in Santiago. Inquiries are being made.

REFUGEES TELL GRIM TALES OF SUFFERING

Million of Dollars Worth of Property Abandoned — Marines Being Mobilized in U. S. For China Duty— Britain Sends Stiff Note to Nationalists Telling Them to Protect Foreigners More Adequately.

Abandoning millions of dollars worth of property, much of which has been the work of a lifetime, Americans and other foreigners are rapidly evacuating the Nationalist controlled Yangtze valley of China. The great wave of anti-foreign sentiment continues to sweep through China, with Shanghai regarded as the sole safe refuge for foreigners.

The Nationalists are pressing demands that the international settlement in Shanghai be turned over to them, a mass meeting of thousands having voiced this demand. The foreigners in Shanghai are apprehensive but it is believed the forces there are sufficient to protect them. At present quiet exists in Shanghai.

Refugees in Shanghai tell of horrible indignities suffered, and are arriving battered and suffering from exposure, many of them improperly clad and without proper food.

The British foreign office states that order has been established in the Chinese city in Shanghai and no immediate attack from the Nationalists is feared.

Sir Austen Chamberlain is reported to have sent a stiff note to the Nationalists refusing to treat with them further until foreign lives and property are protected. The Communists International has issued an appeal to those "traitors" of America and Great Britain throughout the world to rise and demand a reckoning for the Nanking incidents.

Wild reports that thousands of Chinese were killed in Nanking are being used to stir up the anti-foreign sentiment.

AGITATORS BUSY

Shanghai, March 28.—Anti-foreign agitators redoubled their activities today in the Chinese districts of Shanghai.

All was quiet in the foreign settlements.

Rain fell heavily throughout the day which helped keep crowds off the streets.

Approximately seventy additional American refugees have arrived from the Nanking district on board the steamships Tsenqta and Hsin-Tsuanang, two American-owned freighters plying the Yangtze river.

Many Sick

Many of the refugees and some of the sailors on the United States destroyer Noa were ill of ptomaine poisoning from eating canned foods on board the Noa where they took refuge when they fled from Nanking. None of the sailors was in serious condition, but twelve of the refugees were removed to a hospital and two were believed to be dying.

A majority of the refugees were Chinese garments, their own being torn off by Nationalist soldiers during their flight.

Existence of an understanding whereby United States marines under General Smedley Butler and British troops will aid the defenders of the French concession in event of an emergency was admitted by the French consulate, but the refugees were removed to a make a statement pending instructions from Paris.

The U. S. S. Probie arrived here today, being the sixth vessel to arrive here with refugees from Nanking.

land and sea forces, men-of-war and airplanes.

The situation at Nanking is quiet. The consular authorities have been notified that a handful of Americans are remaining there upon the United States warcraft anchored off the city to supervise the evacuation of Americans from the outlying districts.

Refugees Struggle In

Foreign refugees are struggling into Shanghai from interior points. It is estimated that practically all American and probably all the British will have left the Yangtze valley by the end of this week.

There are now more than 20,000 foreign land and sea forces in Shanghai to protect foreign residents and foreign property. It is likely that this force will be increased to about 30,000 within the next few weeks.

General Chang Kai-Shek, commander-in-chief of the Cantonese army, while disclaiming any purpose of attacking foreign nationals is demanding that the foreign concessions be turned over to the Cantonese government. He has assured the Americans, British and other foreigners in Shanghai that they will be protected, but it is feared that he cannot make good his promise once violence breaks out.

A particularly dangerous spot is Soochow creek. American, British and Japanese are on guard there. Machine guns have been planted to sweep the bridge over the creek leading to the foreign settlement.

BRITAIN PROTESTS

London, March 28.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister, has sent a sharp note to General Chang Kai Shek, Nationalist military leader in China, stating that Great Britain can enter into no further negotiations with the Nationalists until steps are taken to insure protection for foreign lives and property, according to reports circulated in semi-official circles today.

Sir Austen's action, it is understood, followed a request made upon the powers in Shanghai for a statement from them as to their plans for giving up the international settlement in Shanghai to Chinese control.

The demands of the Chinese for the return of all concessions are insistent, but it is understood here that Great Britain will give no further ground and that Chiang Kai Shek has been notified that the powers are prepared to defend their Shanghai concessions by force, if necessary.

AMERICANS SUFFER

Shanghai, March 28.—American refugees from the Yangtze valley have suffered great privations, due to their flight without clothes or proper garments, and because of improper food.

The following American refugees have been removed to the Shanghai general hospital: W. T. Moffat, Doctor C. S. Trimmer, A. B. H. G. Robson, Dr. E. F. Price, Busyone Griffing, Mrs. Hulsinger. Ptomaine poisoning, due to

REDS MAKE APPEAL TO STIR UP RACES

All Suffering Under American and British Yoke, Says Soviet.

Moscow, March 23.—An appeal to "all Negroes, Hindus, Chinese and Malays" groaning under the American and English yoke, to "rise and demand a reckoning from Nanking," has been issued by the Communist International.

The appeal, which is bitter in its denunciation of the American and British, charges the powers with conducting a "hanging war" against China.

Pravda, official Soviet newspaper, in an editorial declares: "Remember, you civilized gangsters, that ten million organized Soviet workmen are cursing you. Realize now that the Soviet workers will grasp even more firmly the hand of the long suffering Chinese."

PROCLAIM PROGRAM FOR ORGAN RECITAL

Robert H. Prutting to Play New Instrument at St. James's.

Tomorrow evening at eight o'clock Robert Henry Prutting of Hartford will appear at St. James's R. C. church as guest organist in an organ recital on the large Austin pipe organ which has just been installed at St. James's. Mr. Prutting is an accomplished musician, and is considered one of the best organists in New England. He has arranged an exceptionally fine program for his recital. The program follows:

Part I
 Chorale and Prælude: "O Great of Beauty and Wonder" (Graun). From the cantata "The Dead Jesus" by Graun-Hesse.
 O Jesu, Deus Noster (from Mass in G major)Portogallo
 Air à La BourgeoiseHandel

Part III
 Fantasie: "O Sanctissima"Fr. Lux
 Funeral Prelude on Pachelbel's HymnR. H. Prutting
 Scherzando: "Dragon Flies"Gillette
 Praise Ye the Father (with full choir)Gounod
 It will be seen that Mr. Prutting has included two of his own compositions. He is a recognized composer of organ music as well as an eminent organist. Mr. Prutting was for a number of years conductor of the Hartford Philharmonic orchestra, and was connected with the Capitol Theater orchestra for a time. He is at present organist in the Farmington Avenue Methodist church and is also associate conductor of the State theater symphony orchestra.

A few will remember Henry Prutting, who was leader of the old Cheney Brass Band fifty years ago. The organization was also known as the First Connecticut Regiment Band. There are two or three of the members of that organization still living in town, and one of them, who used to play the piccolo in the band, said today that Mr. Prutting was a wonderful cornetist. He said that Prutting could make a cornet play as if it seemed it couldn't play. Henry Prutting was Robert Prutting's grandfather. He resided in Manchester for quite a number of years.

Robert Prutting's father, George Prutting, who was also an accomplished organist, was one of the big dances held about thirty years ago. Some of the old timers will remember when Mr. Prutting used to prompt at all the biggest dances locally, and at all the military balls.

FIND CODE LETTER USED BY MRS. SNYDER

Guard Over Gray Doubled For Fear of an Attempt at Suicide.

New York, March 23.—Officials of the Queens county jail today doubled their vigilance to prevent Henry Judd Gray, middle-aged corset salesman and lover of Mrs. Ruth Snyder, from taking his own life. Gray is in a desperate state of mind and threats muttered while he restlessly paced his cell led the authorities to fear that he might try to commit suicide if an opportunity offered.

Mrs. Snyder, who is jointly under murder indictment with Gray for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, art editor of "Motor Boating," is in a more cheerful frame of mind. Her sole determination is to free herself from the charge hanging over her head.

With the announcement by District Attorney Newcomb that he has come into possession of a series of passionately phrased love letters—all written in code—which passed between Mrs. Snyder and Gray, it was revealed that the state regards the woman as one of its strongest links of evidence against the accused pair.

These love letters, coded in a fashion which the writers imagined would render them unintelligible to a third person, were exchanged during the last week which preceded the murder of the woman's husband.

NO EMBARGO HERE

Hartford, Conn., March 23.—An embargo on Canadian cream and milk, because of a typhoid epidemic in Montreal, will not be necessary in this state, Thomas Holt, state food and dairy commissioner, announced today. Embargoes for other states have been ordered by Washington. Connecticut's milk regulations, which require high standards, already bar Canadian milk shipments. Mr. Holt pointed out, and only one plant ships cream to this state. The cream is pasteurized before shipment and re-pasteurized on arrival here. The plant is some sixty miles from Montreal.

MANCHESTER GIRL TO MARRY IN N. Y.

(Special to The Herald)

New York City, March 23.—James William Lynch, 27, of 315 East 77th street, New York City, and Miss Mildred Ellingarde Swanson, 20, of Peckard street, South Manchester, Conn., obtained a license to wed here today. The couple announced they would be married in this city today. Mr. Lynch was born in Hartford, Conn., the son of James J. and Agnes Kelley Lynch. Miss Swanson was born in South Manchester, the daughter of Albert and Jennie Johnson Swanson.

LOS ANGELES TO FLY

Washington, March 23.—The Naval dirigible Los Angeles has again been inflated at Lakehurst and made ready to undertake a series of test flights, it was announced today.

Naval officials declared the inflation of the giant airship had no possible connection with the Chinese situation, but was merely a regular routine.

Withdrawal of marines from Lakehurst for duty in China, however, may delay or halt the training flight tests.

NATIVES FIRE UPON U. S. PATROL AT LEON

Also Shoot at Aviator But No One Injured, Admiral Latimer Reports.

Washington, March 23.—Two members of the American patrol at Leon, Nicaragua, were fired upon yesterday by natives. Rear Admiral Latimer, commander of the American occupational forces, reported to the Navy Department today.

When the patrol returned the fire, the natives dropped their guns and ran.

Latimer also said that a marine plane, flying between Derio and Metagalpa, was struck by bullets fired by an unknown native. Damage apparently was slight as Latimer made no mention of it.

HALL BLOWN UP

Budapest, March 23.—The Hungarian society assembly hall at Novisad, Jugoslavia, was bombed and blown up Saturday night, according to dispatches received here today. There were no casualties, but great excitement attended.

Resentment against Hungarian support for the Italian army in Albania is believed to have been the motive of the bombers.

ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Karra and their child have moved from Birch street to 84 Maple street and will make their home with Mrs. Karra's mother, Mrs. Agnes Ellis.

Mrs. F. Marion Dorward, director of music at the high school, has been engaged as organist at the North Methodist church for the month of April and perhaps longer. Miss Dorward feels that her work at the schools demands so much of her time she cannot consider a permanent organ position, although she was organist of a church in Barre, Vermont, for four years before coming to Manchester. She is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

Mrs. Fayette B. Clark of Main street will enter the Hartford hospital tomorrow where she will undergo a serious spinal operation which will confine her to that institution for five or six weeks.

DISEASE ON DECREASE.

Hartford, March 23.—Large decreases in scarlet fever and measles were reported to the State Department of Health during the past week. New cases of scarlet fever dropped from 151 to 135, and measles from 211 to 115. Pneumonia and influenza increased slightly during the week. The totals for various contagious diseases were as follows: pneumonia 197; influenza 21; chicken pox 131; mumps 45 and typhoid 1.

SCHWAB OPTIMISTIC.

Chicago, March 23.—An industrial expansion unexampled in the nation's history was predicted today for the United States during the next few decades by Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate, enroute to California.

Schwab said the condition of the steel industry, harbinger of American business, "has never been better," although prices are not entirely satisfactory.

TWO FIREMEN KILLED.

Verdun, Que., March 23.—Firemen Lever and Choquet were killed today when the horse-drawn fire brigade wagon skidded on an icy road today while responding to an alarm, and crashed into a tree. LeFavre and Fireman Gendreau were injured.

BRISTOL TEAM PLAYS GILBERT WEDNESDAY

State's Champs Paired With Arizona High School Team; Other Pairings.

Chicago, March 23.—Forty-three teams representing the elite of America's high schools basketball will see off hours tomorrow in the ninth University of Chicago National Intercollegiate tourney. Play will continue throughout the week with the final game for the national championship and the gold trophy on Saturday night.

NEARLY 60,000 WOMEN AUTO DRIVERS IN STATE

It has been determined by the state motor vehicle department there are approximately six times as many men as women operators of automobiles in Connecticut today. At the close of last month, which was also the end of the state's license year, 244,000 men and 59,000 women held licenses to drive in this state. During the year, approximately 21,000 men and 7,000 women were added. The rate of increase in the two classes is almost constant, but women operators are increasing at a rate barely in excess of that for men operators.

It is only a comparatively short time ago that the sight of a woman at the wheel of an automobile was uncommon. Today nobody thinks anything of it. The records indicate that in some families all members are licensed to drive, father, mother and children, whereas only the head of the family held a license some years ago and automobiles were considered too complicated mechanical toys to be understood by the so-called weaker sex.

Not all of those who held Connecticut licenses in the past license year have renewed them to date. The advent of spring weather and April 1 registrations of cars that have been laid up for the winter usually stimulates the business of renewing licenses. By the middle of next month, it is estimated, the number of licensed operators in this state will have passed the 300,000 mark, four times the number licensed in Connecticut ten years ago. At present nearly every fifth person in the state, counting men, women and children is a licensed automobile operator and there are more than enough automobiles owned in the state to carry the entire population.

In the face of this steady increase, it is obvious that the highways will be more dangerous unless all classes of drivers become increasingly careful. Chances that could be taken five years ago would be virtually suicidal today.

FRANKY BUSH FIGHTS IN GARDEN FRIDAY

Franky Bush, boxing instructor at the Recreation Centers here, will make his first professional appearance Friday night when he meets George La Rocco, of New Rochelle, in the ring and opener of the Paulino-Henney card in Madison Square Garden.

It will be the first fight for Bush since last Christmas at which time he fought Battling Finch in Florida. Not much is known in this locality as to the ability of La Rocco but it is understood he has been winning regularly.

MURDERER CAUGHT.

Pawtucket, R. I., March 23.—Police of this city and Attleboro, Mass., apprehended John Mega, 34, in the wooded section of the latter city today, whence he had fled after fatally shooting Mrs. Mary Stec, 31, wife of Michael Stec in the kitchen of her home.

Enraged because of the woman's repulses of his attentions, Mega, who was a former boarder at the Stec home, drew a revolver and fired a bullet into her head from close range.

Football paid the University of Pennsylvania $314,958 in profits during the season just passed, according to a report of athletic officials.

Rockville FIREMEN ACCEPT NEW MAXIM PUMP

Gets Final Tryout—Memorial Day Orator Chosen; Notes.

(Special to The Herald) Rockville, March 28. The new Maxim pump, to be known as Hockanum Engine No. 2, was given its final test Saturday afternoon. A large number of people witnessed the tryout. The committee accepted the truck and after having it placed in commission it was turned over to the Hockanum Engine company on West Main street. From every standpoint the deal was found most advantageous to the city...

Memorial Day Orator Chosen On the Sunday preceding Memorial Day, religious services will be held in Rockville to which all the patriotic organizations will be invited. The program will be along the same line as in previous years. William L. Willard of Hartford has been chosen to deliver the Memorial Day address on Monday, May 30 at the public exercises. Mr. Willard gave the Memorial Day oration last year at the exercises in Cheney hall, South Manchester, and previously has delivered addresses in Wetherfield, Unionville, Farmington and other towns.

When health permitted Mrs. Berger attended the Union Congregational church. She was a woman who was loved by all who knew her and will be greatly missed by her many friends who mourn her death. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Rose O'Brien, brother, Mrs. Schernig of this city and a sister, Mrs. Lena Struntz of Plainville, also a grandson, Burton Monette of this city.

The funeral was held this afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rose O'Brien on High street at 2 o'clock. Rev. George S. Brookes, of the Union Congregational church, officiated. The bearers were six nephews: Edward and William Schernig of Hartford, William Struntz and Fred Johnson of Plainville, Carl Ke'ner of Norwich and Oscar Hoerman of Rockville.

Persons Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blake of Union street spent the week-end in Melrose. Fred Schwalm of Prospect street confined to the house with the grip. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bentley spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phelps of Manchester. Bernard Bentley and James Pfeiffer will play at the Red Men's smoker Tuesday evening. They will also play at the Polo Palace theater in Meride. April 4. These two young men are very busy now days and their musical numbers are greatly appreciated by all who hear them.

The play "Deacon Dubbs" which was to be given on April 19 under the auspices of the Friendly class of the Union Congregational church has been postponed until some time in May. The play is being coached by David L. Hondlow of Rockville. Mrs. Kenneth Webster of Vernon is confined to the house with the grip. The Vernon Grange cleared $66 at the roast beef supper held in Grange hall at Vernon Center on Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell of West Hartford were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Conroy of High street. Otto Ungewitter, Harry Ungewitter and Miss Hattie Ungewitter of Monson were visiting friends in town over the week-end.

Mrs. Susie Lewis of South Manchester spent Sunday as the guest of Mrs. Rose O'Brien of High street. Mrs. Bowers and daughter, May of Cheshire and Mrs. Phillip Blinn were the guests of Miss Nettie Bowers at the Undercliff sanatorium. Herbert Schilberg and Earl Mathewson of the Dudley Bible institution are home on a ten days vacation. Lenora, one of the twin daughters of Robert Thompson, is seriously ill with diphtheria.

ANGLERS ARE TAKING OUT STATE LICENSES

More Combinations Asked For Than Last Year—State-Leased Streams Open April 15.

Applications for fishing licenses at the office of the town clerk are on the increase and a rush is expected there between now and April 1 when the season opens. Licenses are required of every fisherman who intends to use brooks and lakes in Connecticut. Combination licenses, which carry privileges for both hunting and fishing, are becoming more popular. Last year sportsmen did not fully understand the laws governing fishing and hunting with the result that in many cases separate licenses were bought for fishing and hunting by sportsmen who engage in both sports. The combination license is somewhat cheaper than both the fishing and hunting licenses taken out separately and it is said that the saving is responsible for the large number that have been issued.

There are nine different kinds of licenses now in Connecticut running from the resident to the non-resident alien permits. Badges, issued with every license, must be worn by the fishers or hunters while they are in the woods. Women anglers are not required to take out licenses except for fishing in state-leased waters. On these waters they rate the same as men and must have licenses. The open season for trout fishing in state-leased brooks, does not begin until April 15.

SEARCH FOR WILL OF SLAIN EDITOR

Police Wish to Find Motive For Murder—New Developments in Case.

New York, March 28.—The will of Albert Snyder, murder victim of a love conspiracy between his wife, Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder and her married lover, Henry Judd Gray, coreset salesman, was sought today by the police as the alleged slayers continued to shunt responsibility for the crime on each other's shoulders. If the will of the slain art editor cut out of her infidelities a definite motive for the murder would be established, police pointed out. Gray Engineered Plot. Meanwhile, attorneys for Mrs. Snyder declared that they had obtained evidence tending to show that the murder plot was engineered and executed by Gray. Dana Wallace, one of the lawyers for Mrs. Snyder, said he discovered the evidence on a trip to Syracuse.

Police and detectives are trying to trace the source of the bichloride of mercury which Gray had mixed with a bottle of Scotch whiskey that the authorities found in his baggage. They want to find whether it was purchased by Gray or Mrs. Snyder. They believe that Gray may have intended to use it to take his own life if the crime was fastened upon him, although the opinion is also advanced that Gray and his mistress may have planned to administer it to Snyder.

Started Divorce. Snyder knew three years before he was murdered by his wife and her lover that the woman had been untrue to him. At that time he made the first moves for a divorce which she refused to grant. It was that would have saved his life. But he dropped the action before it reached the courts—actuated by his love for his daughter, Lorraine. Whether the man he was to have named was Gray is not known. Both Gray and Mrs. Snyder attended religious services in the chapel of the Queens county jail Sunday afternoon, sitting less than twenty feet apart. But never once did the man look at the woman whose beauty only a short time ago took a lively interest in the scene, joining in the hymns. Gray sat moodily staring at the clergyman.

It is now learned that the insurance money at stake in the killing of Gray was more than $100,000. Instead of $52,000, as first believed, Snyder's policy was for $52,000 in the event of natural death; but double that amount if he died a violent death. Miss Ila Hamilton returned to her work at the Connecticut Mutual office after being home for several days sick with the grip. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Platt of Wapping spent the week-end in town. H. E. Frink of Reading, Mass., visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Frink Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Webster and son, of Southbury, were week-end guests of Mrs. May Webster and attended the church roll call Saturday evening. Mrs. Fred Bishop went for a short ride Sunday afternoon the first in several months. Mrs. Bishop is slowly recovering from a long serious illness. Miss Mary Hyde of Amherst, Mass., is visiting her brother and wife Mr. and Mrs. Erskin Hyde. Charles Wright who works in New York spent the week-end with her family. Mrs. Thomas Lewis spent Saturday in Hartford. The Christian Endeavor meeting had for the leaders two of the youngest members, Miss Carolyn White and Russell Thompson. Young little girls sang a special song, "Speak a Little Word for Jesus." At the meeting of the Ecclesiastical society Saturday afternoon, Charles L. Wright acted as moderator, Hurlbert A. Thompson, secretary. The committee elected for the ensuing year is as follows: Edward K. Post, chairman; Erskin B. Hyde and George Nelson, Hurlbert A. Thompson Sr. were re-elected secretary and treasurer. The matter of rescinding the vote taken a year ago in regard to moving the parsonage to the library site and that the Skinner Building Memorial Library might be built where parsonage now stands was considered but no action taken. Charles Phelps is home from Yale. Mr. Phelps had a friend, Arnold Griffin, engineer in the main office of the Southern New England Telephone company for a week-end guest. Mr. Griffin returned to New Haven Sunday evening. Mr. Phelps has a severe cold but will probably return to college in a day or two. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Colburn and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Colburn of South Willington spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lewis.

THREE MEN KILLED IN CHESHIRE CRASH

Welch was a native and life long resident of this city. He was fifty years of age and probably one of the best known sportsmen in Connecticut. He was a member of the Railroad Arcade. For many years he had been a member of the Y. M. T. A. B. Society, and also held an honorary life membership in the Elks, for conspicuous service rendered seven years ago. From 1912 to 1916 he was municipal sealer of weights and measures. He belonged also to the Eagles, Foresters, and Knights of Columbus, having been faithful navigator of Bishop Tierney Assembly, fourth degree. He leaves a wife and seven children. James H. Reilly, Jr., was 26 years of age and a teller at the New Britain National bank. He is also a member of the Y. M. T. A. B. Society and of the Knights of Columbus and Elks. Reilly leaves his parents, four sisters and a brother. Mr. Sheehy, a Bristol resident, for many years lived here. He was a Spanish War veteran having come out of service a corporal. He was killed by a train in 1915. He was a member of the local Y. M. T. A. B. Society. Sheehy is survived by his wife and children, living in Bristol, where he conducted a hat store.

HOLD NUMBER SUSPECTS

Newark, N. J., March 28.—George Metaxos and James Kamantis, both of Newark, were being held by local police today on a fugitive from justice charge on request of the authorities of Perry body, Mass., where the two are wanted on a charge of murder, it is alleged. Police Inspector E. F. Pierce of Peabody came to Newark yesterday and said the two men were wanted in connection with the murder of All Hassan, a Turk, in Peabody, a month ago. Hassan's body was not found until Saturday. Inspector Pierce said. Extradition proceedings were to be started today.

EIGHT HURT IN WRECK

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 28.—Eight persons were injured in a head-on collision between Rock Island train No. 62, eastbound Amarillo to Oklahoma City, and a westbound Rock Island train near El Reno today. Four of the eight were injured seriously enough to need hospital attention and were brought here. All of the injured were passengers. A paper that will be used in the manufacture of paper money has been devised by the Bureau of Standards to withstand twice the wear of bills now in use.

LEGIONAIRES MEET AS LOCALS' GUEST

Commander Richter of the fourth district and State Commander Cramer. Mr. Cramer appealed to the district for an increase in membership and read statistics showing the comparative enrollment of the six districts of Connecticut. 130 for Paris. Mr. Collins asked for more enrollments for the trip to Paris next summer. He mentioned that he had at present 130 applicants from Connecticut but wished to raise this number to 200 in two weeks' time. He urged the members of the Legion in this state to get in their applications early so that they may be assured of good accommodations on the liner which will carry the parties to France. The Connecticut Department has been allotted to the Arabic, which sails on September 2. A report on the membership campaign which is now going on between the department of West Virginia and this state was given, and it was found that Connecticut is leading by a small margin. Commander Cramer, however, said that this condition exists because he thinks West Virginia is holding out the results of its campaign until the close. He asked for more interest and increase membership on the part of all posts. The final speaker was Past Commander Cramer, who spoke on the Legion Monthly. He asked for subscriptions from all posts and explained considerable details of the publication. Following the business of the afternoon the Legionnaires went to dinner. Mrs. Jennie Sheridan was chairman of the auxiliary committee in charge of that affair.

ANDOVER

About seventy attended the communion service given by ladies of the Cente church in the town hall Saturday evening. Forty members of the church responded to the church roll call. There are about sixty members of the church on the roll. The Sunday school and Christian Endeavor society, Girls League, Young Men's club and Ladies' Benevolent society were well represented. The Rev. Elmer Cook acted as toastmaster. George Nelson, as did the man look at the woman whose beauty only a short time ago took a lively interest in the scene, joining in the hymns. Gray sat moodily staring at the clergyman.

It is now learned that the insurance money at stake in the killing of Gray was more than $100,000. CHINA.

It is to be suspected that, mixed up with a certain amount of lamentable fact, the news from China carries a heavy content of war propaganda. Those whose memories run so far back as the early days of the World War will recall how their feelings were harrowed up by the tales of atrocities committed by German invaders in Belgium and in Flanders. Not that the German armies were not cruel enough in fact, but to them were attributed long lists of inhumanities which no white man was ever guilty since the world began—and most of us believed the tales.

Only recently an Englishman coolly related his experiences and achievements as head of a government bureau especially organized to manufacture such stories and feed them out to the world for the acknowledged purpose of influencing world opinion. This person obviously was very proud of the stunts he and his associates performed in the line of manufacturing hatred against the enemies of England. It may be remembered that long before we entered the war hundreds of thousands of Americans almost hysterically demanded that we get into the fight—so shocked and horrified were they by this very propaganda that is now admitted to have been fabricated for precisely the effect it had on these Americans.

There was no need of all this chicanery. The truth itself would have been sufficient—as in course of time it was sufficient—to determine our course in the World War. But international politicians have not forgotten what can be done by dressing up the facts.

There are very powerful interests at work to align the United States with certain European powers in an out-and-out war to prevent the success of the Nationalist movement in China. Some of these interests are American. Most of them are European. They control the news from China in very great degree. Every line of that news comes from sources that are either personally and socially identified with foreign business or religious enterprises or are militaristic. Not a word of it comes from the other side. An expert case is being presented against the Cantonese. And on the basis of that ex-parte evidence we are drifting rapidly down a current of events leading to war with China.

One American, it now appears, was killed at Nanking. How he was killed it is not easy to determine, so conflicting are the reports. Perhaps by Cantonese soldiers; perhaps by an ordinary trapped looter; perhaps by a stray shot. The fact remains that of the hundred and twenty citizens of this country who were allowed to remain in a place that for weeks had been known to be the inevitable scene of wild fighting, almost all are still alive and unharmed. If there had been any concerted purpose to destroy this handful of foreigners it is to be supposed that several thousands of armed Chinese soldiers could not have accomplished that purpose despite the presence of a squad of marines and of navy guns that would have been entirely useless had the Americans actually been under a close attack?

There is absolutely only one course for the United States government to pursue at the present moment—and that is to employ to the utmost all the military power at its command on the scene for the protection—and evacuation—of its nationals in China. Other than that the situation has for the time being gotten out of hand. There can be no halfhearting, no hyper-refinements in considering the justice or injustice of the proceedings. Our first obligation is to the Americans in China—to the protection of their lives.

But further than that it is beyond all things to be hoped that we shall not be committed. Further than that we cannot be committed without act of Congress. Neither our State Department nor any other power but Congress has the ghost of a right to involve the United States in a foreign war.

BRIDE OF THE SEA.

New London, which in bygone days smelt delightfully of whale oil and Jamaica rum, is to come again into one-half of its own. No longer does the peculiar effluvia of the mello intoxicant of the Indies haunt the old warehouse district of Bank street, for the last lingering traces of its clinging ghost has been smothered by the explosive tang of Parade hooch and the aromatic savor of gin that comes down the wind from many little boats up-river. But the sound and hearty, the historic and soul-satisfying odor of fish is once more to permeate the lower reaches of the Thames, to seep slyly through the atmospheric strata from Grotton monument to farthest Ocean Beach. Many an old-time New Londoner, stepping out on his back porch of a summer morn when the mares-tails flick the sky and the wind is just setting from the eastward, will find his youth miraculously restored as there lifts gratefully to his olfactory that sublime scent given forth by a dozen mighty fares of fish.

For it is all signed, sealed and delivered—the contract of a big fishing company to take over the sad, old ruin of Charley Morse's wartime shipyard and convert it into the biggest trawler station and shipping plant this side of Gloucester.

New London has tried long to become common—a mere manufacturing town like the rest of us. But nature, must be served. She planned the Whaling town to be a bride of the sea—and bride of the sea she is to be after all—with a delicately odored bridal bouquet of eels and fatfish in her blushing hand.

UNDERMINING THE TABLOID.

The future looks dark for the New York tabloid newspapers. It seems almost certain that in a few years they will cease to be the greatest educational influence in their city. An insidious power is creeping in, destroying their monopoly on the minds of the five million.

The New York public library announces that its daily attendance of readers is 12,000; that it gives out 11,000 reference books every day; that in 28 days it issued 880,000 volumes for home reading.

The library has delivered a powerful blow to our conviction that the tabloids are supplying everything that New Yorkers want to read. It is discouraging to our notion of popular education that the citizenry wants to know about something besides holdups, divorce cases, movie actresses and love-need murders.

It's difficult to say what can be done about it. Maybe a board of censors could be appointed to ban all books on history, biography, science, and all things. Or perhaps the library can be sensationalized to the standard of the tabloid.

One thing is certain. The tabloid will never lose its grip upon the minds of those who cannot read.

A TEST.

The young Russian socialist who has just received a million dollars for his invention of an automatic photographing machine, which enables a customer to get eight pictures of himself by dropping a quarter in a slot, is now confronted by the alternative of making good on his anti-capitalism ideas or, in the words of a departed colloquialism, going away back and sitting down.

When a fellow has been born in Siberia, has run cheap photograph galleries all over Asia and has starved and toiled and talked his tongue off to perfect an invention like Anatol Josepho and get some of the hated millions of wealth to back it, he may continue to be as enthusiastic as he used to be about public ownership of everybody's brains and industry, or he may not. A million dollars is a lot of money for a young Siberian Russian to find himself possessed of. But it would spread out rather pitifully thin among a couple of hundred million Russians if he should determine that his duty lay in turning it over to the Soviet Union.

MIGHTY GAMBLERS.

There is probably no branch of business anywhere in which money flies around so loosely as in the motion picture and allied theatrical line. A little over a week ago the new Roxey theatre in New York, biggest in the world, was opened with as much eclat as if it had been an international exhibition. It has just been completed at a cost of about ten million dollars and it took in $127,000 the first week. Now it has been sold to William Fox, the film magnate who was once a pants presser, for something more than $15,000,000.

What other class of business men or financiers would think of paying a fifty per cent profit on a ten million dollar enterprise before the paint on its plant was fairly dry? Whatever may be said of the cultural quality of the people who are purveying the nation's most popular and general form of entertainment, they are certainly magnificent gamblers, picturesque in their disregard for the size of a bet if they believe it will win.

AN UNHEEDED LESSON.

Fate did one of her most cynically ironic deeds when she tempted Policeman John McDermott of New York to do an act of humanity and when he readily yielded. Fate led a strange dog, whining and miserable, up to McDermott's little police booth in Brooklyn on a cold night last January. The policeman took the dog into his booth to warm it, patted its head. The dog bit him. Last Friday McDermott died terribly in a hospital from rabies.

Perhaps it was not surely the kind policeman's charity that cost him his life. Perhaps the dog would have promptly bitten him if he had kicked it. But once again comes that often read and seldom observed lesson—do not pet a strange dog. It is a lesson that parents, especially, should impress upon their children.

...with abrupt and visionary eyes, I saw the huddled tenements arise. Here where the merry clover danced and shone Sprang agonies of iron and stone; There, where green silence laughed or stood enthralled, Cheap music blared and evil alleys sprawled. The roaring avenues, the shrieking mills; Brothels and prisons on those kindly hills— Then menace of these things swept over me; A threatening unconquerable sea.

A stirring landscape and a generous earth! Freshening courage and benevolent mirth— And then the city, like a hideous sore, Good God, and what is all this beauty for? —Louis Untermeyer: "Landscapes."

JOHNE'S DISEASE THREATENS COWS

Madison, Wis.—John's disease, a chronic intestinal ailment of cattle, is present in at least one-half of the United States, according to B. A. Beach, veterinarian at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. The loss to the dairyman results not only from the death of cattle, Beach explains, but many cattle infected with John's disease give reduced milk flow, in spite of good appetite.

"The disease is known to exist in many herds within this state, and, although less serious than tuberculosis, it probably exists in many others where it is 'undetected,'" Beach says. "Death usually follows when cattle are infected with John's disease. The slow progress made by the infection generally fools the farmers and many veterinarians into believing that something else is the cause of the illness."

"The disease often attacks the best producers in the herd. Heifers with the first or second calving are more apt to show the symptoms than the older or younger animals, as the strain of reproduction stimulates the progress of the disease, possibly acquired as a calf."

Every citizen of Montpellier, France, claims that he has the right to call himself baron. In 1537 the Baron de Caravette bequeathed his title and estates to the city. Hence, it is argued, every child born in the city may adopt the title.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, March 23.—A major poet has come to Washington in the person of Ambassador Freyre, plenipotentiary from Paul Claudel of France, but he is not the first member of the foreign diplomatic corps here who has seduced the muse.

The most successful of the others are Senor Dr. Don Ricardo Jimenes Freyre, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Bolivia, and Senor Dr. Don Antonio Castro-Leal, the handsome and intellectual counsellor and charge d'affaires ad interim at the Mexican embassy.

And to tell you first of a most diverting poetical excursion, let us go back into the past life of Dr. Castro-Leal, who once put over a devilishly ingenious hoax which made the more recent Cleone Knox and Whispering Gallery hoaxes seem like kindergarten work.

It came to pass while Dr. Antonio was poetical in Chile, can legation in Santiago, Chile. Suddenly the literary world of this hemisphere, particularly the Spanish-speaking portion of it, was considerably stirred by the appearance of "an anthology of the various works of Karez-i-Roshan, the famous poet of Afghanistan". There was a lengthy biographical preface and a picture of a patriarchal old fellow who looked like an Oriental philosopher well along in the nineties.

The book purported to be built from four books of poems by the eminent Karez-i-Roshan, consisting of love verses, lyrics and philosophical and religious poems.

The publisher, of course, was Castro-Leal, but only Castro-Leal himself knew that the author was also Castro-Leal and that old Roshan was purely mythical. The photograph of "Roshan" was that of an aged poultry dealer.

The first edition of the anthology sold out rapidly. Castro-Leal, who had expected to pay for his fun, broke even on the expenses and would have made money had he not sent so many free copies through the Americas and had he not finally confessed.

Many complimentary letters came, congratulating him on bringing out such a work of high literary merit. Came some, principally from the United States, declaring that they had long admired the poetry of old Roshan and wasn't it splendid that someone had finally introduced him to the new world?

There was argument as to whether Roshan should or should not have had the Nobel prize for poetry the year before, and the climax came when Chilean authorities began to include some of Roshan's stuff in textbooks along with the lines of Homer, Cervantes and Shakespeare.

Apparently Castro-Leal then either began to realize his diplomatic responsibilities. He decided, at any rate, to expose the hoax. He wrote a letter to Chilean newspapers, telling all. The poems of Karez-i-Roshan have not since recovered their popularity.

Castro-Leal, however, has also published an authentic anthology of Mexican poetry—"The One Hundred Best Mexican Poems," and a study and translation of Bernard Shaw, as well as various stories of Mexico. In collaboration with Requena, the Mexican poet, he published an anthology of French and British poets who died in the World War.

Incidentally, the Mexican ambassador to Guatemala is regarded as Mexico's foremost poet. Thus the only two Mexican embassies are well supplied with cultural talent. Freyre, the Bolivian minister, is described as one of the poets who

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

Look at tongue! Then give fruit laxative for stomach, liver, bowels

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm children and they love it

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Fig Syrup" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious, "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing." Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," then see that it is made by "The California Fig Syrup Company," adv.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST

Other Parables of Jesus

SYNOPSIS ARRANGED BY DR. WM. E. GILROY, D. D. SKETCHES BY KROESER

Through the story of an Unjust Steward, who by fraudulent sagacity served his own interests, Jesus teaches the lesson of zeal and sagacity in the right use of wealth. "Ye cannot serve two masters . . . God and Mammon." (Luke XVI: 1-13)

Jesus emphasizes the lesson of the obligations of charity and brotherhood, by the story of Lazarus the beggar, sitting neglected at Dives' gate. (Luke XVI: 19-31)

Jesus rebukes the sin of ingratitude, when only one of ten lepers, whom he healed, returns to give thanks. (Luke XVII: 12-19)

Through the striking contrast between the proud, self-righteous Pharisee, shanking "that he is no as other men," and the humble Publican crying, "God be merciful to me, a sinner," Jesus teaches the true spirit of prayer, saying, "He that humbleth himself shall be exalted." (Luke XVIII: 1-14)

and ably assisted every second by Sergeant William Barron, who is convincing and admirable as any police investigation ever made. Because Chief Gordon is to most of us "Sam" Gordon and because Sergeant Barron is to most of us "Bill" Barron and because most of us know them other than officially we are quite prone to under-estimate work like that of Thursday. But, of ten tough murders and all of the others in big cities where big detective bureaus actually await murder cases, Manchester, little Manchester, Connecticut, was the only place which apprehended the murderers. No, Chief, the board of commissioners cannot reward you and your associates with a raise in salary because an ungrateful coterie of voters at the police approval vote so much last October that we are having difficulty in properly policing the town but we can say in public and without fear of contradiction that when the crucial test came to ten cities, Manchester was the only one which came through 100 per cent. "KOSHER KITTY KELLY" IS COMING TO CIRCLE

Irish-Jewish Love Story Begins Tomorrow - "Prisoners of Storm" Ends Tonight.

A potpourri of Irish and Jewish emotions and love, furnished the author of "Kosher Kitty Kelly," which comes to the Circle theater tomorrow for two days, the opportunity of writing one of the funniest stories that has ever been produced with this theme as the plot. This picture is even funnier than those others which have gone before and if anything it is more dramatic and thrilling. A Jewish girl and a Jewish cop. An Irish girl and a Jewish doctor. Their families who are terrified at the idea of the matches! That is the situation which proves to be so funny and yet so full of drama. Nothing but fate can settle the question and Fate doesn't seem to act until the last reel when the happy ending takes place for everybody. "Kosher Kitty Kelly" is a picture worth seeing for it is New York's East Side just about the time when the Jewish residents were almost done with driving the Irish from the district. It happens that one Irish family is left and it is the trials and tribulations which furnish the plot of the story. Viola Dana gives a thoroughly lovable characterization of the li-

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE. SHE PUTS THE WORM IN THE HAZELNUT. BY ARTHUR N. PAGE. President, American Nature Ass'n. Hazelnuts make a splendid ready-prepared baby food—at least so thinks this busy mother whose picture is shown. Her babies thrive on it splendidly. You know that yourself if you ever have cracked a perfectly sound-looking hazelnut and found a plump white grub occupying a goodly portion of the interior, with part of the kernel still uneaten. Mrs. Hazelnut Weevil, the mother of these soft little grubs, is a very business-like creature. She is equipped with an instrument as perfectly adapted for her purposes as is a dentist's or a surgeon's instrument for their purposes. When she is ready to lay her eggs she spies a hazelnut tree with tender little nuts in their green state. Then she brings into play this wonderful instrument of hers which, you will notice in the picture, projects from her head. In the end of this is a tiny hook. With this she pecks a hole in the nut to the very center. She then lays an egg, which she carefully pokes into the hole she has made and goes on to the next nut. The incision in the nut is so small and so delicately has the operation been performed that the nut continues to develop. The egg is also developing and presently when the nut is fully grown, the egg has hatched and the grub is busily devouring the sweet kernel. It stays there protected from harm and with plenty to eat until it is fully grown, when it gnaws a hole in the shell and drops to the ground. Presently it wraps itself up in a silken cradle, or cocoon, where it sleeps for a time, finally to awaken, no more a white grub, but a hazelnut weevil itself, proudly bearing on its head the same long snout that has carried its foremothers into the hearts of countless millions of hazelnuts.

OPEN FORUM AGAINST SUNDAY MOVIES. The Hartford Praying Band (Christians, evangelists, undenominational) assembled at Newington, Conn., places on record its emphatic protestation against the recent act of the Connecticut Legislature in increasing the Sunday hours for commercial motion picture shows to the interval from 2 to 10:30 p. m. We are informed that the bill in that behalf passed both houses, without discussion, without a roll call, and without a single dissenting vote. King James of England having by law ordered that Sunday should be a day for sports, play, and animal pleasure, the early Pilgrims, observing the monstrous inconsistency that presented each Sunday, of the fourth commandment read in the parish meetinghouse, and the classroom devoted to bowling, shooting, fencing, games, and dancing, knew that a home and a civilization built upon such a foundation could not endure, neither could it merit the benediction of a righteous God. Hence, for centuries' sake, they came to America, suffered hunger, endured pestilence, withstood Indian raids, faced starvation and bore unending loneliness, for the mere purpose of maintaining and observing a holy Sabbath. They built their homes and schools (with the Bible in each) and finally our government, whose manifold blessings we enjoy, upon those Christian ideals that have been vindicated in their accomplishments; that have been largely responsible, by their influence, for the world's progress; and that have made the United States of America the cynosure and the admiration of the world. We regard the present tendency to constantly add new encroachments by business, sports, and pleasure, on the sacredness of the Lord's day, as one of the leading menaces to the stability and the perpetuity of our nation! all his tory having attested the verity and the correctness of the declaration of Blackstone, that "a corruption (sanctioned by the Bible) is a profane and sacrilegious act, and we deplore and denounce the above-mentioned vote of the Legislature as an act of moral cowardice, and of base ingratitude to Him who transplanted and still sustains, and as a reproach to our commonwealth, that justifies the derision and the scorn of honorable men. And we call upon all Christian and patriotic citizens to arise in righteous indignation; to cry aloud and spare not; and to labor, by precept and example, by voice, pen and ballot, to stop the further encroachment; that we may turn into the continental holiday of the disintegrating and decaying nations of Europe that priceless heritage, the Christian Sabbath, that was bequeathed to us by our noble forefathers; that is the very core of our American civilization; that has been upheld by the supreme courts of Pennsylvania and Arkansas as having been "set apart by Divine command as well as by the law of the land," and that was regarded by the exalted president, Abraham Lincoln, as "the last, best hope by which humanity rises."

That's the ticket, Billy chuckled. "The men are being pacified by some other stunt, which T. Q. neglected to mention. All set now? Let's go—Name—do I have to put that mother?"

Wells corrected amiably. "Granted then, that I really don't like my work, what am I to say?" Billy laughed and sucked the end of her pencil.

PROFESSIONALS SHOWED UP BAD IN COMPETITION WITH JONES

Finished From 8 to 80 Strokes Behind Bobby; Hagen the Great in 17th Place.

By DAVIS J. WALSH I. N. S. Sports Editor

New York, March 28.—It may be had taste to call the embalmer before the corpse is cold but that is what it might seem self-evident today that some of the revered figures of professional golf have reached a pass where they no longer are worthy of even illiberal reverence. I am referring in general to men who finished anywhere from 80 to eighty strokes, or thereabouts, behind Bobby Jones in the Southern open on Saturday and in particular to Walter Hagen.

Hagen these many years has been famous as the Houdini of golf, the man who could get out of any trouble; the great pinch hitter of the game who promised you that the bigger the prize, the better the round. They put up $4,000 as the first money prize at Atlanta and Hagen finished in a tie for seventh place or something of the sort.

Others in Race Others I wish to recommend as probable dead ones, or at least among the dying, are Jack Hutchinson, former British open champion; Jim Barnes, holder of both British and American national titles during the last six years, and Gene Sarazen, quasi-famous to the point five years ago.

Judged by their records during recent years, inclusive of the Southern open, they ceased some time ago to be of international caliber and now are golfers of little more than minor consequence, except for the traditions to which their great past entitles them.

Hutch hasn't won anything of more than local moment since his great victory at St. Andrews in 1921. Barnes did come back to win the British title several years after his victory in the American open at Washington but otherwise he has just been one of the boys, doing the best he can. He failed to get into the money at all at Atlanta, although thirty cash prizes were up.

Sarazen neither was as bad as Barnes nor as good as Hutchinson at Atlanta, which means that there were a few ordinary golfers around and he was one of them. Sarazen really has sunk to mediocrity after his one great year as open and P. C. A. champion and the winner over Hagen in a special match.

Hagen's game has been ebbing away from him for two years and this winter it reached the low level of his career. Money to Hagen represents about everything except vanity and honor. Hagen most certainly was doing as well as he could in the southern open and, frankly, it might have been much better without being very good.

Notes of The Training Camps

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 28.—After playing the St. Louis Cardinals here today, the Yankees break camp and head for the South. Hank Penneck has come to terms but will get into shape here instead of leaving with the team.

Clearwater, Fla., March 28.—With three straight victories to their credit the Brooklyn Robins meet the Washington Senators here today.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 28.—Kent Greenfield, one of the Giants' regulars, is not yet "ready." The Senators knocked him off the rubber yesterday and trimmed the New Yorkers nine to four, despite a homer by Hornsby.

Lakeland, Fla., March 28.—The Cleveland Indians will start northward tonight, following a practice game today.

Dallas, Texas, March 28.—The Cubs had said goodbye to Los Angeles today and were speeding eastward, having defeated Hollywood here yesterday, ten to five.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 28.—Eager to even up matters for an earlier fraying handed them by the Giants, the Browns arrived here today. Cincinnati beat the Browns yesterday at Miami, six to three.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 28.—Ossie Bluege, who has played third base regularly for the Nationals for three years, has been shifted to shortstop and will play that position all season, Manager Bucky Harris announced today. Myer will play third.

BROTHERS INSTRUCTING SAME FOOTBALL SQUAD

Evanson, Ill., March 28.—(United Press)—Pat Hanley, brother of Dick Hanley, new Northwestern University football coach, has obtained a leave of absence from Haskell Indian Institute, and is aiding his brother in giving Northwestern the fundamentals of the Warner system during spring practice.

Billy Evans Says

SHORTSTOP MEMORIES

One of the greatest shortstops the game ever produced was Bobby Wallace, starting at a time when Hans Wagner was the big noise. Wallace had to play runner-up to the Pirate star.

However, Wagner in his palmy days was never a better fielder than Bobby. In the more than 20 years that I have spent in the majors I have never seen an infielder who could touch a baserunner with the unerring accuracy of Wallace.

Any time the ball arrived at Wallace's station the slightest fraction of a second ahead of the baserunner it was a safe bet that he would be there.

Wallace is the only infielder in the American League's history who found no great difficulty in touching the great Ty Cobb. He would go up a triple to meet Cobb, get the ball in the path of the runner and practically make him touch himself out.

Cobb very frankly admits that he tried every slide in his catalog to confuse Wallace but never succeeded to any great extent.

Reds Have Good Chance Bobby Wallace is now acting as coach and manager of the Cincinnati Reds. I recently bumped into him at the Reds' training camp at Orlando, Fla.

Wallace, who is anything but talkative, likes the pennant chances of the Reds. He is keen for the Cincinnati pitching staff and feels it is given proper support the club will certainly be up in the race.

While Wallace was never a great batter, he hit the ball hard and was known as a line hitter. In other words, Wallace was one of those players who had a pretty good eye but always seemed to hit the ball directly in the path of some fielder.

Despite this, pitchers had a wholesome respect for him and in a pinch worked on him with the utmost care.

Therefore, I know Wallace is a good judge of pitching and his comment on the Reds' staff interested me.

Wallace Admires Donohue Bobby is the great admirer of Pete Donohue, generally regarded as one of the best right-handers in the game.

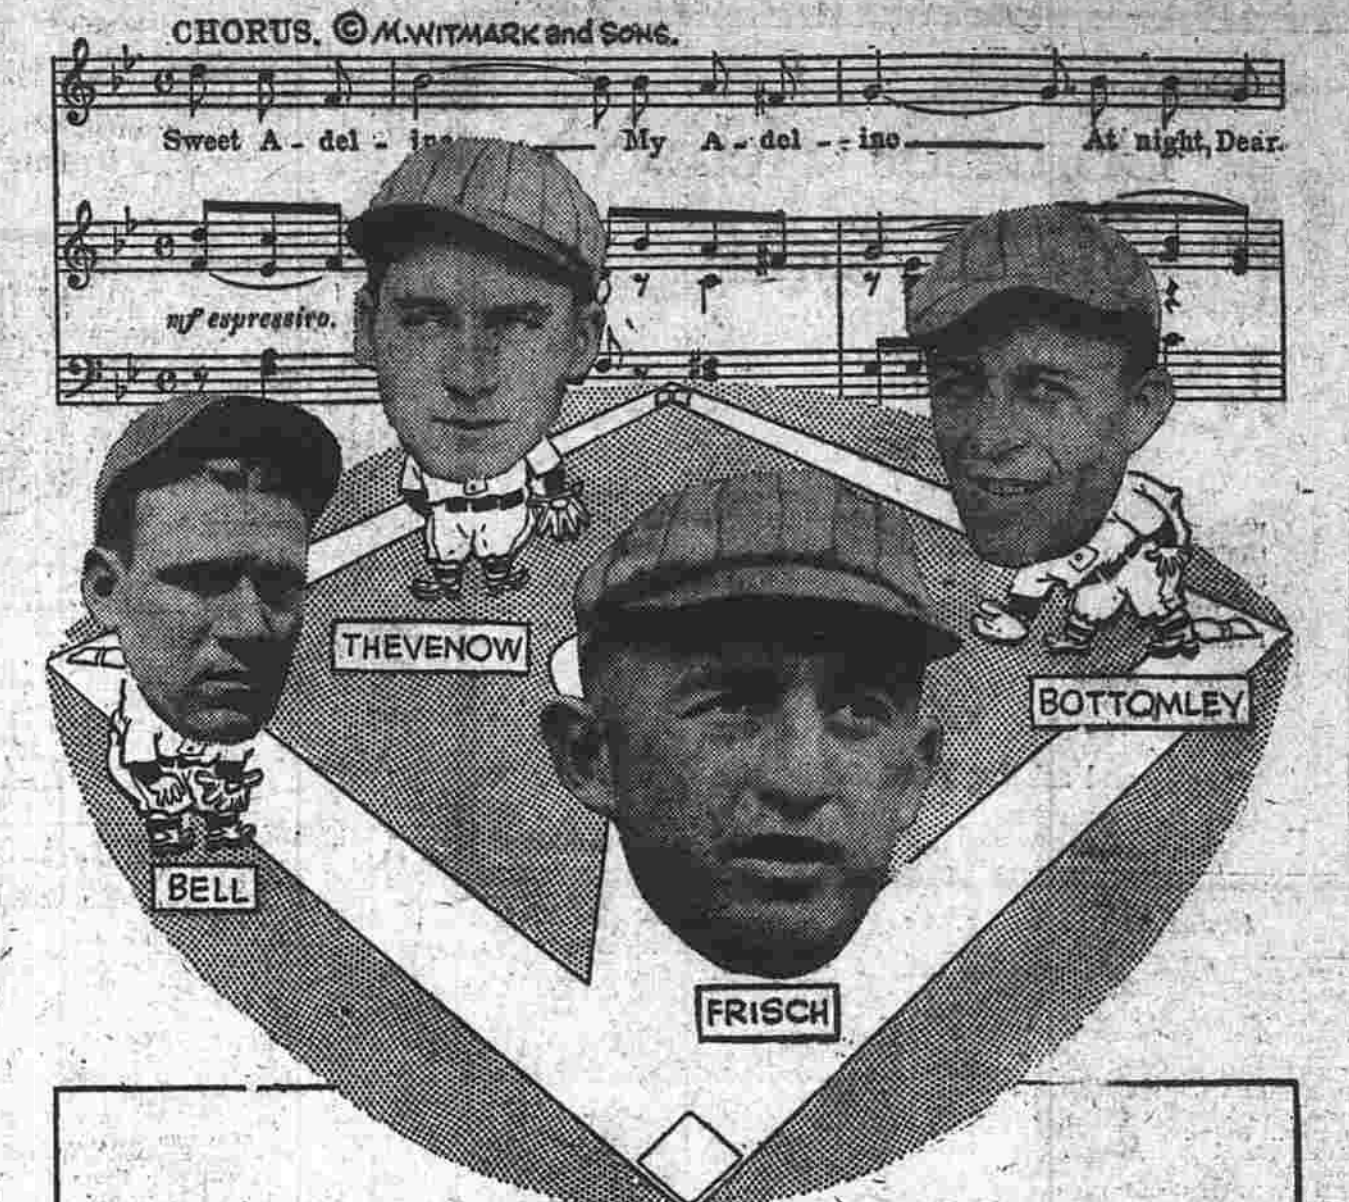

"There is one of the greatest pitchers I have ever seen in action," said Wallace as he pointed to Donohue warming preparatory to the St. Louis Browns.

"I have played with and against a lot of crack twirlers but I never saw a more polished performer than Donohue. They tell me he was that way from the start.

"He is just about perfection, when you consider every phase of the pitching game. He has the stuff, perfect control, a world of poise, a keen mind and the ideal temperament.

"Donohue is the type of pitcher who inspires the rest of a ball club by his ability and deportment.

Speed And Youth In Card's Quartet

Speed and youth are the two factors that will make the infield of the world champions St. Louis Cardinals as good as any in the majors this season. Cardinals are good as any in the majors this season. Cardinals are good as any in the majors this season.

SPIRIT IS HIGH IN INDIAN CAMP

Speaker's Absence Big Question But Club's Pep May Overshadow This.

Lakeland, Fla., March 28.—How much is the Cleveland ball club going to miss Tris Speaker?

That was the big question that occurred to me as I watched the Indians in action under their new manager, Jack McCallister.

Viewing in impotence with the loss of Speaker, as I saw it, was the spirit of the ball club. I wondered if this spirit would be able to balance the passing of baseball's greatest outfielder from the ranks of the Indians.

This, by the way, is the year of 1927, not 1913. If it were the latter, we would see young Dan Howley trying to make the raffle as warm up catcher and not precisely succeeding. Howley, in fact, ceased to be a major league baseball player with great rapidity and continued to do so apparently by common consent.

He just wasn't equal to the matter of furnishing even minor aid to Bill Killefer, who then was blossoming into a star of the first water with the same club. Killefer was the ranking catcher of the league within a year or two and lived to become a major league manager in his own right.

And what of Shang? The year of 1913 was his first in the major leagues and many contend it was his best. Only five blocks up Lehigh Avenue in Philadelphia, he held forth at Shibe Park as the overnight catching star of the champion Athletics.

Shang later teamed up with two more championship outfielders, Cleveland and New York but now he has reached the point where he is the relief man in St. Louis for Steve O'Neill, another great worker of other and better years.

And they are all working for Howley, the ex-catcher who never was quite up to major league requirements.

C. B. A. A. EXHUMES SEASON TO LOSE TO COLCHESTER 33 TO 27

Cheney Brothers' basketball team which closed the 1926-27 season some time ago, played either a post-season game or the first of next season's schedule, or what have you? Saturday night when they responded to an emergency call for a substitution after an evening hour cancellation at Colchester, Manchester was defeated 33 to 27 and now Manager George Hunt Jr., hustling boss of the C. B. A. outfit, says he will have to get another game somewhere to break the season's record of 13 wins and 13 defeats.

ALEXANDER TELLS PITCHING SECRETS TO EVENING HERALD

"Grand Old Man" Writes 12 Articles to Start Wednesday For Manchester Baseball Fans.

With Wednesday's issue of The Herald will begin a series of twelve articles dealing with the secrets of successful pitching written by none other than Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the greatest baseball hurlers the world has ever known.

Alexander is the oldest player in point of service in the National League. He is a veteran of sixteen seasons and 600 games. He is forty years old. But when the outcome of the 1926 world's series hung in the balance last year, with three Yankee players on bases and Tony Lasser was up—the "Iron Man" stepped in and won with coolness and experience.

After sixteen years in big league baseball, Grover Alexander says he is good for five more. How does the "Iron Man" keep up the pace? What is the secret of his marvelous physique? How does he judge his batters? Why does he never have a sore arm, scarcely even an injury? What is his advice to the young pitcher? What were his most thrilling experiences?

Those are some of the things that Alexander himself is telling your fans in a series of twelve articles written for The Herald. They are exclusive, informative, vitally interesting.

The veteran hurler tells how the frisks Babe Ruth. He describes the trickiest batters he has ever met and tells how he judges them.

He gives the training secrets that have allowed him to maintain a steady pace throughout his long career. He gives advice to young players that will attract the interest of sandlot teams.

Don't miss this series of installments.

HEBRON

Mrs. Florence Smith of this place, teacher at the Seymour school in West Hartford, presided at a meeting of the delegates to the State Teachers' Association held in Hartford on Saturday, the purpose of the meeting being to elect officers for the ensuing year.

Miss Jennie Loomis a former resident at Hopevale has spent a week at her old home, and is in Brooklyn, New York, for a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fabel and family of Tacoma Park, Washington, D. C. recently made a short visit at the home of Mr. Fabel's mother, Mrs. Mary Fabel, in Grayville.

Mrs. Edward Fredericks and son Royal were guests for a few days at the latter part of the week at the home of Mrs. Frederick's brother, Marshall Deasy in Hartford.

Miss Helen Gilbert, teacher at the Unquava School in Bridgeport, is spending a few days at her Hebron home recovering from a recent attack of tonsillitis.

Elder C. P. Lillie spent the latter part of the week end Sunday in New London and will maintain in connection with his preaching circuit.

The Young Peoples' society at Hebron postponed the weekly meeting, Mrs. Fred Fabel, teacher at the Hebron private school.

Word has been received that F. Clarence Blissell of Hartford, who has been seriously ill for several months with heart trouble, is in a less favorable condition. He is not able to sit up and is losing strength daily. Mr. Blissell was a former resident of this place and has always taken a great deal of interest in the history of the town and locality.

Mrs. Ed Pratt of Waterbury has opened her country place on the Andover road and expects to remain here for the rest of the spring and summer.

McCann Is Named On All-Star Five

"Hank" McCann, former S. M. H. S. player, was selected as right-forward on the Oursant's All-Star Hartford schoolboy basketball quintet today. McCann was praised more than any of the other four to make the team.

McCann All Around Man. McCann has several lapses during the season in which he fell below his best form, but for the most part his work was high grade in every respect. He is big and husky, able to stand the gait of a hard, tough game; he is a particularly fine dribbler, a shooter with better than an average eye and a defensive player of ability. He can play forward, center or back with almost equal skill.

"ACE OF CADS" CLOSING AT RIALTO-TONIGHT

Save Adolph Menjou heads the cast in "The Ace of Cads" which appears on the Rialto theater program which will close its engagement this evening. This star has never had a more suitable one than the part he so ably portrays in this photoplay which tells the story of a smooth fashion plate, much beloved by many women who finally meets his Waterloo in an unexpected manner that the real dye in the wool movie fan will enjoy. The second feature is "The Goat Getter" one of the popular prize ring tales starring Billy Sullivan. This type of story has proven quite popular in Manchester and it is only necessary to state that this picture can be termed as the outstanding one of the series.

"Exclusive Rights" and "Law of the Yukon" Are on Double Feature Bill.

"Exclusive Rights" a thrilling romance with few chuckles thrown in will head the double feature program being offered by the management of this theater tomorrow and Wednesday. The cast is an exceptionally strong one and includes Lillian Rich and Gaston Glass in his roster. "Law of the Yukon" will be the co-feature of these two days. As its title suggests it is a vivid story of life in the raw, beyond the pale of civilization. Eva Novak and Raymond McKee have the stellar roles. Other attractions are also scheduled.

It does not seem to make any difference whether the ties are returned or not. Delegates continue to come with requests, demands and threats, for the return of the ties or the money.

The above company was the subject of an earlier article in this series because of its fraudulent representations in regard to earning power of its stock. The National Better Business Bureau has recently made this the subject of one of its bulletins, while Massachusetts, Ohio, and New York have barred the sale of the stock in those states.

George Graham Rice, won another technical victory this morning when the Attorney General of New York state practically defaulted the case by failing to present evidence against him.

Rice was represented by half a dozen of the ablest and highest priced lawyers in the United States, which would indicate that he has an abundance of money at his command.

His discharge has resulted in rocketing such stocks as Columbia Emeralds, Idaho Copper, and General Mines, and in greatly increased sales of these stocks to those who wrongly interpret his discharge.

His discharge does not cost one dollar to the value of any of the properties back of the stocks in question. Whatever they may be quoted, or whatever sales may be reported, the value of the mines remains unchanged.

Attorney-General Ottinger's failure to vigorously prosecute Rice has undoubtedly added immensely to his prestige and financial well-being.

Premier Art Company. One case was recently reported to the Chamber in connection with the Premier Art Company, Boston, for soliciting contracts for photographic enlargements. Upon request of the Chamber, a photograph taken for enlargement was returned to the owners, and the demand for payment for an unsatisfactory enlargement which had been submitted has been withdrawn.

Dr. B. F. Batten, vice-president of the National Security Company of New York, speaking before the Manchester Kiwanis club estimated the amount of money lost to the country by financial frauds as ten billions per year, exclusive of the expense of government maintenance of police, courts, jails, and other penal institutions.

What portion of this tax are you paying? Remember that whatever you pay, is entirely needless, as proper investigation will disclose and prevent 90 per cent of the fraud.

PUBLICITY KILLS GRAFTER'S GAME

Chamber of Commerce Points Out Several Instances of Fraud.

"I know it was foolish of me to get caught; I was ashamed to tell anyone." The state of mind which prompts the above remark is one of the most potent factors in the life of the professional crook.

If everyone could be educated to act precisely as a burglar alarm does, and raise a hue and cry as soon as they are stung, the work of the scientific professional thieves would be immeasurably curtailed.

No Disgrace. There is no disgrace attached to the average housewife or business-man who is worried in a battle of wits with a crook. In the first place, you do not realize that he is a crook while you are talking with him, and you do not realize that it is a battle of wits. He has you off your guard, you are entirely unprepared, while every faculty of his is concentrated upon deceiving you to the end that he may get your money as quickly and as easily as possible.

Silence is Golden. To keep quiet when you know that you are stung is another matter. Then you become practically an accomplice and accessory after the fact. You know the fraud has been committed, and that the crook is at large. Your silence contributes to his safety, and to the danger of your fellow citizens. The police should be notified or the Chamber of Commerce should be told, in order that publicity may be given.

The Week's Development. The past week has developed but little new in the line of fraudulent operations. The Hub Realty Company of Worcester are sending out photoplay literature, much along the usual line, except that it is more daring, and the purchaser has less of a run for his money than in those which have previously been cited.

In this case you are asked to send your check for $45.00 without even seeing the lots.

The Manchester Chamber believes that it has actually saved the people of this community $25,000 in connection with the various lot purchases alone during the past year, and it is hoped that anyone who is tempted to fall for this game will obtain the facts from the Chamber of Commerce before doing so.

"Neckties by mail" game is broadening out. Several new batches are being distributed in the name of ex-servicemen, or disabled veterans. The ties are evidently of the same vintage as those referred to from "Pauze Bill" and others, and indications are that they come from the same factory.

The manufacturers evidently fear that their operations are about to be curtailed by legislative enactment sponsored by the Post Office Department, and they are enlisting the services of anyone they can induce to lend themselves to their selling campaign.

It does not seem to make any difference whether the ties are returned or not. Delegates continue to come with requests, demands and threats, for the return of the ties or the money.

The above company was the subject of an earlier article in this series because of its fraudulent representations in regard to earning power of its stock. THE CRACKER by JOE WILLIAMS

New York traffic was awfully messed up St. Pat's day... Cops kept the green lights burning.

A canny Scot is making a lot of dough in Glasgow running a cure-for-stuttering school... Makes his pupils use the trans-Atlantic phone on time rates.

That old gag about a mail man taking a hike on his vacation has a new variation... It's a harassed information clerk reading manager as Ducky Harris of Washington goes on record that he regards the coming of Speaker as a pennant punch, the one man who will put the Nationals over.

So enthusiastic is the spirit of the Cleveland ball club that I feel it is in earnest in the belief it can go along as well without Speaker. I don't believe it is a mere gesture on the part of the players or officials.

However, we shall see what we shall see. Time will tell.

Dear Fellers:

Lissen fellers, I just heard that the famous United States Frigate, "Constitution" is decaying at the Charleston Navy Yard, Boston, and all because there ain't enough money to save it. Gee, its a shame, fellers, to let that dear old boat go like that. Ain't there some way us fellers can all get together and help out? It wouldn't be so hard just now, because its Lent and lots of us ain't eatin' so much candy as we used to. Yousn't there be a way? England did this one time. Yeh, sirs! They did, because my father says that England wouldn't let Lord Nelson's flagship the "Victory" rot. No, sirs! They did the right thing. Everybody chipped in and saved it for all time. Don't let them have the laugh on us and say we only think of money. Don't let them do it, fellers. Will ya, huh? I was on "Old Ironsides" and its got all the old cannons on board 'n everything. Just think, just the way it was when brave men dropped fighting for our flag. Gee, if it only takes money, I think we ought to save the ship, because the sailors gave their lives to save "Old Ironsides."

JACK LOCKWILL'S POLO PONY

by Gilbert Patten

"You vile traitor!" bawled Willie at the monkey. "You ungrateful turncoat!" The monkey clapped his hands applaudingly, and seemed to laugh. Snatching off Jack's cap, he leaped to the back of the chair again, and from thence to the fireplace mantle, where he solemnly tried the cap on his own head. "That's no use," said Willie sarcastically. "Jack's got the biggest head of any fellow in school."

As though disgusted, the monkey threw the cap down into the fireplace. "Burn my clothes!" laughed Jack. The monkey hopped down, got the cap again, took it to Jack, and held it out.

"That saves you," said Jack. "I guess you can stik around." So "Imp," as Willie called the monkey, was allowed to stay, having a neat little cage for his own private use.

In a small stable not far from the campus Jack had secured quarters for his pony, which he had named "Dynamite." The bronco appeared thoroughly broken, and his affection for Jack was evident. Willie took Imp to the stable one day when Jack was going out for a canter on Dynamite. As the pony started, with Lockwill in the saddle, the monkey deserted Willie and sprang on Jack's back.

THE ANYMITES

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture)

The Tinies eyed the three queer men who rode within the tub, and then, they rushed down to the shore line and they shouted, loud, "Hello." The three men answered, "How dee do. What little folks! Say, who are you?" "Come on ashore," weee Copsy yelled, "and then you soon will know." And so the three men came ashore. To watch them made the Tinies roar. They clamored from the funny tub as clumsy as could be. Then Copsy said, "We're Tinymites, just running 'round to see the sights, and watching you within that tub was really great to see." "Ho, ho! Ha, ha!" The men laughed loud. "We're glad to meet four little crowd. It must be fun to go for a bone. Though in the cupboard Mother looked, of food she found no trace. (The Tinymites get a scare in the next story.)

BLIND EVANGELIST GAINS 20 PENITENTS

Winds Up Revival Campaign Here and Will Start One in Bristol Tomorrow.

Walter Williamson, the Blind Evangelist, finished his revival campaign in the Salvation Army citadel last night. During the past week large crowds have attended the services and results have been attained. During the campaign more than twenty people have turned to the penitent form. Saturday night the evangelist gave a talk on "The Experiences of My Life." He told how he became converted at the age of fourteen. For a number of years he was in the piano business and learned the art of tuning so that when he became blind he was still able to make a livelihood in that way. After he had lost his sight completely he received an invitation to go and help with a revival campaign in a church where he played his guitar and other instruments and occasionally sang a solo. This continued for some time, and at last, he seemed led to go out alone. For three years he has conducted services in all kinds of churches and for Salvation Army corps.

Last night the Citadel was filled and the subject, "Hitting the Homeward Trail," was well received. Williamson used for the basis of his sermon the story of the Prodigal Son and said the tendency of the human race has been to go from God, but God has always shown a Fatherly interest in humanity, and at all times been ready to receive humanity back home. During the service the local band and songsters took a prominent part in supplying the music and songs.

Tomorrow the Evangelist goes to Bristol where he will conduct another campaign.

C. B. A. A. BOWLERS TO CELEBRATE TONIGHT

The annual banquet of the C. B. A. A. bowling leagues—senior and junior—will be held this evening at the Hotel Sheridan. A roast chicken supper will be served at 6:15. It is expected that about fifty persons will partake.

Hammie Metcalf, vice-president of the bowling league, is chairman of the general committee on arrangements and he has planned a good time. "Cap" Stays, who christened the league winners as "The Old, Old Mill," will act as toastmaster.

During the course of the evening, individual and team prizes will be presented.

NOONAN, THE SPEAKER AT KIWANIS LUNCH

Compensation Commissioner to Address Local Club Wednesday.

Leo J. Noonan of Hartford, compensation commissioner, will be the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club at the Hotel Sheridan Wednesday. Mr. Noonan comes to address the Kiwanians on invitation of Rev. W. F. Reidy. His talk on the work of his office should prove enlightening to all.

Holger Bach will furnish the attendance prize this week. Members of the Hartford club will be guests at the meeting April 6, with Rabbi Feldman as the speaker.

Those who have not made returns of their tickets for the Kiwanis minstrel last Wednesday at the State theater, should report at once to Arthur Hultman or Loren C. Clifford.

KINDERGARTENERS MEET IN NEW HAVEN SOON

Local kindergartners will be interested in the fact that the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the International Kindergarten Union will be held in New Haven, April 25 to 28 inclusive. The headquarters will be at the Hotel Taft. A committee of twelve kindergarten teachers in the Elm City is busily engaged in preparation for the conference, which will attract teachers from all over the country. During the entire week there will be an exhibition of kindergarten and primary work in the New Haven Public Library. Morning, afternoon and evening sessions will be held each day, with reports and addresses by eminent educators from colleges and normal schools. All afternoon meetings will be held in Center church, New Haven, and all morning meetings, with the exception of the meeting Wednesday morning, April 27, which will be held in Woolsey hall. All evening meetings will be in the Troup Junior High school.

SEDAN-TRUCK BUMP BAD FOR THE LIGHTER

A sedan driven by Carl Bengs of 12 Park street came out second best in a collision with a coal truck driven by Henry Massey of Andover on Saturday at noon on Chestnut street at the junction of Winter street. The truck is owned by G. E. Willis and Son of the north end.

The truck was going down Chestnut street in the direction of the mills and the sedan was coming up in the opposite direction. There is a curve at this point and usually cars are parked on the curve so that the view of drivers is obstructed. Both drivers were going slowly at the time of the accident and nobody was injured. The accident was investigated by Sergeant William Barron.

NINE PATIENTS IN HOSPITAL EXODUS

Many Discharges Reduces Institutions Census to Unusually Low Level.

Nine discharges of patients at Memorial hospital Saturday and Sunday brought the census at the institution down to 36, the lowest it has been in many weeks. Recently the census was nearly sixty. The hospital is listed under the 5-bed quota.

Following is a list of those discharged: Mrs. Thomas Elliott and son, of 161 Center street; Mrs. Robert McBride, of 895 Woodland street; Mrs. Lottie Dahlman, Teachers' Hall, South End; Victor Duke, Summit street; Mrs. Rose Stanilaus and son of 48 School street; Mrs. Bernhard Monson and son of 130 Union street.

MANY HERE WILL SEE BIG MILITARY REVIEW

Many Manchester people are planning to go to the State Armory in Hartford Wednesday night to see the big military review of the 1927 Infantry, C. N. G. under Col. Gordon Hunter before Commandant March B. Stewart, head of West Point Military Academy, Governor John H. Trumbull and other notables will be present. Practically all the invitations have been disposed of and those who expect seats will have to go early. The program starts at 8:30.

Both Manchester units—Company G under Captain Herbert H. Blissell and the Howitzer Company under Captain Allan L. Dexter—will take part in the affair. Company G has been honored by being selected as color company. One platoon of Company G under First Lieutenant Thomas J. Quinn will give a bayonet drill, working with two other companies.

Because of the unusual importance of the event, it was stated today that all local members of the two companies must assemble at the State Armory here at 6:15. A penalty will be imposed on those who are absent.

TOWN TAX DUE FRIDAY

Tax Collector George H. Howe is preparing the bills for the town tax which is due next Friday, April 1 and must be paid on or before May 2 if the taxpayers would avoid the addition of 9 per cent to their tax bills from April 1. Most of the seven or eight thousand personal tax bills have been mailed out. The property tax bills will be sent out some time later.
