

CHASE REBS WHO BURN OVER 100

Attack Passenger Train in Mexico and Massacre All But a Few.

Mexico City, April 21.—A heavy force of federal troops, under personal direction of War Minister Amaro, is today in pursuit of a band of from 500 to 1,000 rebels that attacked a passenger train near Guadalajara, killing and burning to death more than 100 passengers, including twenty children and a number of women.

Dr. Mestre, of the Mexican treasury department, one of the survivors who arrived here on a train with seven wounded and five dead, declared that, after killing the federal guard of fifty soldiers and two coaches, the rebels set fire to the coaches and then shot down the passengers as they tried to escape.

Survivors said that the rebels called out to the passengers in the burning coaches to come out, then fired upon them as they emerged. Most of the corpses were buried in a field near the scene of the attack, while many of the wounded were taken to Labarca for treatment.

About a score of the survivors returned to Guadalajara. Three American families were reported to have been on the train, but they escaped uninjured. The only American proceeding to Mexico city was H. Dock, a resident of Guadalajara.

An Englishwoman, Miss Watson, who was a passenger, also escaped injury.

Heartbreaking Scenes

Heartbreaking scenes were described by persons who were on the train that took relief to the scene of the attack. One man, half crazed by his experience, laughed hysterically as he described how the rebels had killed all his family, including his mother and three children.

A survivor reported seeing a woman and two children stabbed to death.

An official communique, issued by General Jose Alvarez, chief of staff to President Calles, said that most of the passengers killed, had been burned to death or hacked to pieces with knives after the rebels had locked the doors of the coaches and set them on fire. The statements said that the screams of the terrified and tortured passengers could still be heard from the burning coaches when federal troops arrived on the scene, some time after the attack had opened.

Government officials expressed belief that the rebel band may have been part of the revolutionary force that took up arms against the government as a result of religious differences.

The train, speeding over the national railway tracks, was traveling between Mexico City and Guadalajara. When between Guadalajara and Irapuato, in the state of Jalisco, the rebels suddenly swooped down firing rifles and shouting. They derailed the locomotive and set fire to the three coaches.

A daughter of former President Obregon was said to have been a passenger on the train.

ACTRESS COLLAPSES AT MURDER HEARING

Admits She Was With Husband's Slayer a Few Minutes Before the Assault.

Los Angeles, Calif., April 21.—Dorothy Mackaye, the pretty young actress, whose husband, Ray Raymond, an actor, is alleged to have died from injuries received in a fist fight with Paul Kelly, hand-some and debonaire juvenile screen actor, will never play a more tragic role than the one in which she is cast today.

Urged by her husband to cease her friendship with Kelly, she refused. Kelly also declined to end the relationship. The screen actor, according to his own admission, told Raymond that he loved Dorothy Mackaye.

Telephone Call
Just what was said when Raymond's wife and Kelly met, has not yet been brought out. It is known, however, that Kelly called Raymond on the telephone and said that "he was coming over."

Kelly went to Raymond's home. Ushered in by hot words, the subsequent fist encounter started almost at once. It was a one-sided battle, according to the negro maid who witnessed the fight. Kelly, muscular and athletic, gave Raymond a terrific beating, the maid said. Raymond was knocked to the floor five or six times, the maid told police.

Raymond was taken to a hospital and there died early Monday morning.

5 HORSES AND BUGGY FIGURE IN ACCIDENT

Milford, Conn., April 21.—Four horses tied to the rear of a buggy driven by John H. Metz, of New Haven, along the Bridgeport turnpike here today broke loose and caused trouble when the buggy was struck by an automobile driven by William Brennan, of Stratford. Metz escaped without injury and aided in rounding up the horses while Brennan was arrested for reckless driving.

SENATE FAVORS TAX REVISE ON MOTOR BUSESSES

Miss Marjorie Cheney Opposes Restoration of Forfeited Rights to Hartford Man.

Hartford, Conn., April 21.—A revision of the excise taxes on motor busses is proposed in a bill reported favorably in the Upper Legislative House today. The bill calls for a tax of three per cent on the gross income of busses operated wholly within the state; one cent a mile on those operating partly within and partly without the state; and three per cent on those operating on certain routes wholly within the state.

Miss Cheney's objection to a report on restoration of forfeited rights during the present session was made today by Miss Marjorie Cheney, of Manchester, who opposed restoring rights to Joseph L. Cone, of Hartford. Cone was convicted of assisting at an abortion.

Miss Cheney charged that the interval of three years since the crime was too short and that clemency should be withheld. Representative Pinkstone, of Bridgeport, explained that the statutes specify no interval of time before restoration may be granted. Mr. Southwick of Cornwall supported the committee, as did James W. Slason, of Hebron. Mr. Slason said: "After Moses had labored forty days and forty nights on the mountain, he came down with the commandment 'Thou shalt not be found out.'" Mr. Slason declared that because of this fact clemency should be shown "those who have suffered after they have been found out."

The bill passed with only Miss Cheney voting against it. Other forfeited rights
The House voted to restore forfeited rights also to Royal G. Holmes, of Norwich and Adelbert L. Wilson, of Putnam. A bill allowing conscientious objection to the law compelling school children to be vaccinated, before attending school, was rejected by the House. Other bills rejected followed.

Establishing a Woodbridge police commission; creating the office of tax collector at Norwalk; restricting authority of motor vehicle department officials; providing for insurance or indemnity bonds for jitney owners; authorizing taxes to be levied against Pomfret school; authorizing taxes on Yale university property at Warren.

Favorable Report
A favorable report in the House authorizes the Waterbury and Bristol trolley company to operate busses between Waterbury and Bristol. Favorable reports in the Senate included one including East Main street, Stratford, in the trunk line system, and another allowing the extension of the Connecticut Railway & Lighting company to construct a track in Fairfield. A bill allowing towns to adopt the town manager form of government was rejected in the Senate as was a bill calling for automobile laws in uniformity with laws of other states.

CANADIANS PROTEST ARREST OF PARSONS

"Has Uncle Sam Gone Mad?" Asks Editorial in a Vancouver Newspaper.

Vancouver, B. C., April 21.—The Vancouver Sun is vigorously protesting the arrest of Frank Parsons, held in San Francisco on conspiracy charges.

The Sun, in an editorial under the caption "Has Uncle Sam Gone Mad?" declared that the indictment against Parsons "is an offensive and intolerable indictment against this whole nation," and that no Canadian may enter the United States on business without exposing himself to the risk of being arrested.

The editorial in part says: "Unless the Canadian government gets out and demands the immediate release of Mr. Parsons, this country will be surrendering its political integrity and its sovereign right of self-government to a little group of crazed fanatics on the other side of the line."

CHOOSE FIFTH JUROR AT THE SNYDER TRIAL

Fresh Panel of 150 Talesmen Being Drawn—All Jurors Thus Far Fat Men.

Court House, Long Island City, N. Y., April 21.—The fifth juror, Herman Ballweg, retired, of Jamaica, a stolid, heavy-set man, was selected this morning at the trial of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, who are accused of beating the woman's husband, Albert Snyder to death with an iron bar.

Ballweg is 63 years old, married and has a daughter about the age of Mrs. Snyder. He said he "had no mental prejudice" against the defendants at the same time he assured the state he felt he could render a verdict of guilty in the event the evidence submitted at the trial justified such a verdict and disclaimed opposition to capital punishment.

He was sworn in and joined the four other jurors.

Fat Man's Jury
As Ballweg was being questioned, the court attaches brought in the large metal drum from which names of a fresh panel of 150 talesmen were to be drawn and set it up at the right of Justice Townsend Scudder's desk.

Ballweg, like his four predecessors, is stout. So far, it's a fat man's jury.

Ballweg, under questioning by Assistant State's Attorney Peter J. Daly, said he would treat a woman defendant in the same manner as a man in rendering a verdict. He said he read about the case, he was disgusted with it because of the way the murder happened.

Ballweg Explains
This statement provoked a series of questions by William Milford, Gray's lawyer, but Justice Scudder intervened and helped Ballweg explain that his first reactions upon reading the newspapers about the slaying did not necessarily mean that he was still disgusted and Ballweg was accepted.

After the fifth juror, Herman Ballweg, was chosen, the work of questioning talesmen dragged on. John Elton, of Hollis, was "peremptorily challenged by the defendant Snyder." It was the thirteenth peremptory challenge exercised by Attorney Hazleton.

The Gray defense used its tenth peremptory challenge in eliminating John L. Ait, machinist, of Ridgewood.

GRAY INTERESTED
Gray, however, showed marked interest in the proceedings for the first time. He frequently leaned over and whispered to his attorneys. He kept the fingers of his left hand moving nervously across his lips as he watched the faces of the talesmen as they answered questions from the jury box.

The proceedings dragged so that half of the small army of reporters deserted the court room and it seemed at times as if even the judge himself was asleep.

"I am greatly pleased with the five jurors selected so far—they appear to be of a high type," Mrs. Snyder said, through her counsel, at the conclusion of the morning session.

AD MAN AGAIN FIGURES IN PHONEY CHECK CASE

Louis Eytinge, Just Out of State Pen, Finds Himself Behind Bars.

Kansas City, Mo., April 21.—Louis Victor Eytinge, widely known advertising and sales consultant, of New York, who figured in a romantic business "comeback" after a term in the Arizona state penitentiary several years ago, was behind bars again today.

Held on a charge of issuing worthless checks drawn on the Chatham-Phoenix National Bank & Trust Co. of New York, Eytinge today blamed his wife for having indirectly caused his arrest and declared he is innocent of any wrong doing.

While he waited today for friends to furnish $2,000 bond for which he is held in default, the advertising man explained why he believed himself the victim of circumstances growing out of marital troubles.

Since he is a former convict, Eytinge has no legal financial credit which he is held in default, the advertising man explained why he believed himself the victim of circumstances growing out of marital troubles.

CONN. CO. PROPERTY KEY AT THE CENTER

Town Must Buy It if Street Widening Deal With Church Is to Go Through.

Whether or not the proposed straightening of the sharp curve at the Center, suggested some time ago and deliberated on by town and church officials, will go through depends on the town's decision on the purchase of the property owned by the Connecticut company adjoining the town hall, it was said this morning by a member of the church committee.

Rights of way and the dovetailing of adjoining properties of the town, the church and the Connecticut company, it is said, make it almost imperative that the town buy the property, exchange a part of it with the church corporation and use a portion of the church's land on Center street.

Complicated Problem
The church property, according to the map, runs back to the rear of the town hall, around the hall on the north side. Property of the Connecticut company, Connecticut cut company property, on the other hand, flanks church property on the west and extends around the church land on the north.

Rights of way through these properties include one of the town and the Connecticut company through the land owned either by the church or the Ninth school district, and a right of way of the church runs on land west of the town hall, owned by the town. The map of the land is so involved that the relation of the different parcels to each other is a difficult matter to describe.

A meeting of the Center church committee was held last night but it was said today that two members of the body were unable to attend, one because of illness and the other because of a death in his family.

The committee member who talked to the Herald representative today said he hoped that the matter would be adjusted and the necessary transfers made this spring.

MADEIROS IS REMOVED TO THE DEATH HOUSE

Confessed to Killing Paymaster for Which Crime Sacco and Vanzetti Are Held.

Boston, Mass., April 21.—Celestino Madeiros, of New Bedford, convicted slayer of an aged Wrentham bank cashier and who confessed to the slaying of a South Braintree paymaster and his guard for which Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were sentenced to death, was removed from the Cherry Hill section of state's prison to the death house today.

A second executive reprieve for Madeiros expires April 27th. It was granted because of the confession alleging Madeiros' part in the South Braintree killing, clearing Sacco and Vanzetti of any connection with it.

Calm In China Today Presages War Storm

Shanghai, April 21.—The situation in China today is one of intense anticipation. An apparent calm prevails, but everyone knows the storm must break.

Fighting in the north between Chiang Kai Shek and the Shantung forces is reported as at a stalemate, giving rise to rumors of a possible alliance between Chiang and the northerners.

The situation as between Chiang Kai Shek and the Hankow government is obscure. While there have been reports that Hankow has ordered its armies to march against Chiang in Nanjing, as yet there have been no indications that such an attack is under way.

Followers of Chiang Kai Shek are said to have secretly executed more than 100 alleged Communists at Lungwha in an effort to stamp out Radicalism.

INTERNATIONALS ON GUARD

Peking, April 21.—A detachment of twenty-five international troops, composed of five Americans, five British, five Japanese, five Italian and five French, under command of Col. Little, of the United States marine corps, forced the gate of the Soviet embassy compound at noon today, taking up a position to defend the legation quarter. American marines scaled the wall, breaking open the gate with sledge hammers.

The defenders occupy part of the wall fronting the United States legation. The position occupies only a small portion of the Soviet embassy compound. The compound itself has been occupied by Chinese police ever since the raid three weeks ago.

FLOOD SITUATION IS GETTING WORSE

Refugees Along Mississippi Now Estimated at 50,000 —More Levees Break.

St. Louis, Mo., April 21.—With the number of refugees hourly increasing and with many of these finding it difficult to locate a permanent concentration point, the flood situation in the lower Mississippi valley was reaching a crisis today in Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas.

The number of refugees in these three states is estimated at approximately 50,000 and 4,000,000 acres are inundated. Seven companies of Missouri National Guardsmen have been called out by Governor Baker to patrol the areas most affected in this state.

Arkansas is probably the hardest hit section in the flood-ravaged territory. At Jonesboro, 700 additional refugees have just arrived and 3,000 more are expected from Craighead, Poinsett and Mississippi.

Two steamboats from Memphis, local boats of every description, small gasoline boats and three barges have been plying back and forth along the inundated sections taking off marooned families and transporting them to safe ground.

LEVEE CRUMBLES
Memphis, Tenn., April 21.—The main levee at Scott, Miss., crumbled before the rushing torrents of the Mississippi river early today, according to reports received here.

Waters from this break will flood Scott, Leland, Bolivar and adjacent towns. A temporary levee being built by the American Legion, state convicts and three hundred volunteers was still holding and may prevent much damage, it was believed.

The surging current was rushing through the break at Scott at an estimated speed of thirty miles an hour, the report said.

The known death list in the floods mounted to sixteen, with the drowning of two Negroes at Leland last night.

EXPECT OAKLAND MILL SALE SOON

Several Prospects Now Investigating — Property Posted for Sale.

Notices were today posted at the Oakland mill branch of the American Writing Paper company that the property was for sale, and houses owned by the company in Oakland were also declared for sale with the present occupants being given a first option on the purchase. That a new manufacturing concern will soon occupy the valuable Oakland property is almost a certainty since several companies have investigated the local property and in Manchester showed many officials consider all of them good prospects.

Investigate
Representatives of manufacturing concerns have recently searched the records in the town clerk's office at the Municipal building to gain information about the property titles. They would not say that they intended to bid for the property but their interest in the property and in Manchester showed they were enthusiastic about the possibilities.

In Good Condition
The American Writing Paper company has not been in a position to dispose of its property without a court order. However, the company has gone into a receiver's hands, and recently underwent a complete reorganization. Now, the company itself can dispose of the mill. Several other branches of the company were also posted for sale today. The mill here has been kept in good condition and the cost of preparing the plant for another industry would be small.

Judge Abruptly Stops Hearing, Discharges Jury and Remands Case for New Trial — Woman Juror Talked to Newspaper Reporters, Given as Cause.

Federal Building, Detroit, Mich., April 21.—The million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel trial ended abruptly today when Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond ordered a mistrial, discharged the jury and remanded the case for a new trial.

The mistrial was granted on a motion by counsel for Henry Ford because Mrs. Cora Hoffman, one of the woman jurors, talked to newspapermen about the case.

Probe Still On
The court announced that the Department of Justice was still investigating the bribery plot hatched by Ford's attorneys at Mrs. Hoffman and a man named J. "Kid" Miller. Thus far, he said, there was no evidence to show Mrs. Hoffman had been involved in any such plot. The court also exonerated Aaron Sapiro, plaintiff in the million dollar case.

In granting the motion for a mistrial, Judge Raymond severely condemned a Detroit newspaper for publishing an interview with Mrs. Hoffman relative to the charges against her. The interview, he said, was an invasion of the court's functions.

Court Speaks
After referring to the fact that he had examined Mrs. Hoffman, the court said:

"The whole matter was turned over to the department of justice for a fair and impartial investigation. That investigation is not complete and the court does not expect a report until later in the day."

The court said he was extremely loath to grant a mistrial because of the five weeks spent in taking testimony.

"In all fairness to the juror in question," the court added, "it must be said that up until this time, the investigation did not disclose any facts that warrant the filing of charges against her on a matter that would be serious if true."

"There may have been indiscretion or improper conduct on her part, but the court has very grave doubts if this juror participated in any bribery or any attempt at bribery."

Absolves Sapiro
The judge absolved Sapiro in these words:

"I have no evidence whatever that Mr. Sapiro, the plaintiff in this case, has indulged in any improper conduct in reference to the jury."

The court added, however, that it was impossible that the government investigation might disclose new evidence on the alleged plot.

The court condemned counsel for both Ford and Sapiro for giving interviews last night on the bribery charges. He said the affidavits had been filed in court until 1:30 this morning, although stories had appeared in morning newspapers.

"After reading the morning papers," the judge said, "it was hardly necessary to listen to the arguments of counsel. It was one of the most flagrant violations of the duty owed this court by the newspapers."

"Justice has been crucified upon the cross of sensational journalism."

The judge then discharged the jury but ordered all subpoenas in force for a new trial.

BUMPERS AND HORNS FOR STROLLERS NEXT?

A small lad, furnishing the motive power for a stroller containing his smaller sister, "stepped on it" to the limit of his speed as he tore up Bissell street, approaching Main. A matronly woman, also pushing a stroller, but much more conservatively, approached Bissell on their little noses. Two strollers resist impact—no garage man called. No doctor. Great luck. "Now we've got to put horns and bumpers on these things," exclaimed the matron.

Some 'Bootleg' Milk The price of milk here ranges from 16 to 17 cents a quart, according to the quality. Milk coming to Manchester must be tuberculin tested, according to a town ordinance, but it is said that some milk, which is reported to be sold here at as low as 10 cents a quart, is not up to the standard observed by the bigger dealers.

THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1927.

"METROPOLITAN" HARTFORD.

So there is to be a Metropolitan District of Hartford, perhaps. There will be if the people of West Hartford and East Hartford, Bloomfield, Windsor, Wethersfield and Newington follow in the path of Mr. Barakis, and if the Legislature of 1929 yesses the Legislature of 1927.

If there is a job in Connecticut for which we wouldn't care it is membership on the commission, made up from representatives of the Capitol City and all those other towns, which faces the task of drawing a charter for said Metropolitan district that will satisfy everybody concerned and then please the next General Assembly.

At that, the idea of the so-called metropolitan district (though why "metropolitan" in this case we are slow to understand) is no bad one. Hard and fast boundary lines between communities that need to merge their interests in certain directions—such as park systems and waterworks, for example—are inconvenient and stubborn obstacles to progress in many an instance.

Over here we can regard the project of a Greater Hartford District with equanimity and complaisance. We are outside the proposed limits and so long as we are not asked to become involved we don't give a hoot what happens.

COMPULSORY LIABILITY.

The killing of the compulsory liability measure leaves the people of Connecticut at the mercy of the judgment-proof automobile owner who can now continue to smash other folks' cars and necks without paying the fiddler.

The measure which has failed in the Legislature never seemed to us to be an ideal one for several reasons, but it would at least have reasonably guaranteed the citizen against financial loss incurred by him through the reckless or bungling operation of some other motorist. That some good arguments were available against the measure is true enough, but the one that the automobile department could not handle the extra business involved provides a ludicrous instance of lying down under a small difficulty.

As matters stand the roads will continue to be full of financially irresponsible persons, including a great majority of the worst possible drivers, free to inflict all kinds of damage upon the persons or property of other people—and let the victims pay the bills.

It is only a question of time when the states will have to take this question into hand more seriously. Perhaps there would be less opposition if the state itself were to act as the insurer, charging the covering fee along with the registration charge. In that way could be met the most active if not the most valid objection to the present law and its recently defeated amendment—the objection that such measures result in profit to the insurance companies and therefore fall under suspicion.

PLAYING TO NEGRO VOTE.

The refusal of the Connecticut Legislature to pass a measure strengthening the equal rights law in favor of Negroes is merely a wise determination against attempting that impossible task, changing the whole body of public opinion by legal enactment. We have had far too much of that sort of thing in this country of late, in Volstead prohibition, Tennessee fundamentalism and the like.

He is a poor friend of the colored man who, for the sake of his vote, stirs him to a desire to force his way, by law, into situations in which he could by no means be happy. There is no honesty in asserting that the Negro has an even break with a white man in this country, for he has not. But his position has improved economically and in the north it is, politically, surprisingly good, all things considered.

If the Negro suffers serious social inhibitions these can never be corrected by law—and actually it is the exceptional Negro who is at all discriminated by them. The colored man's humorous philosophy of life saves him from heart burnings and his shrewdness tells him that, on the whole, he can have a lot more fun out of life through association with his own race than in a too intimate contact with a curious kind of folk who never, anyhow, can see life through the laughing eyes of the African.

The puzzle is no more a Negro problem to the white man than it is a white problem to the Negro. So far, here in Connecticut, the two peoples have gotten along side by side in perfect amity, each recognizing the social as well as the political rights of the other, and each resolved to leave something to future developments.

We can all do much better without the assistance of Legislative agitators who, for sheerly political purposes, seek to destroy a system which, if not perfect, at least has left the two races in a state of perfect mutual respect.

BLOODTHIRSTY.

The Springfield Union is one of the few newspapers of the country—almost all of them to be found in Massachusetts—which are virulently opposed to a retrial of the Sacco-Vanzetti case. And the quality of its opposition is made evident by the kind of argument it employs.

"Under the Constitution the governor, by and with the advice of his council," says the Union, "has full power to commute the sentence or to pardon. But * * * those who have declined to have faith in juries and courts decline also to have faith in the governor and his council, and therefore ask that the whole case be farmed out to an extra-judicial commission to retry with the object of setting aside the processes of the courts, of going over the heads of judges and jury."

Massachusetts persons will read this and believe it. It is absolutely untrue. It is proposed to have the governor himself appoint the commission, which in turn is to dig out the absurd facts of that notorious trial, solely for the purpose of presenting them to the governor for his information. Whether he should then be guided by the facts in the case or by deference to the mincing and inept practice of the Massachusetts appellate system would be entirely up to the governor. The commission could set aside nothing, could do nothing in the world except to find out the truth and turn over its finding to the state's chief executive.

If Massachusetts newspapers are so willing for their state to stain its hands with the blood of men who are—we will not say innocent but illegally convicted—they are strangely lacking in the kind of state pride that their fellows of most of the American commonwealths possess.

SNYDER TRIAL.

Frantic efforts are being made to dramatize the Snyder trial. All the machinery of the news services and the metropolitan press is brought into application on the exploitation of that utterly sordid and terribly hackneyed tale of selfishness, vice and ruthlessness.

There is not, in this case, a single circumstance making for unusual news value. It is the ancient triangle with two of the participants complete sensualists vain enough to think themselves unusually clever. There have been thousands of such crimes. That in this instance it is attributable to the "jazz age" or to any new quality or phenomenon is an assumption born of a determination to manufacture interest where none exists of its own right.

If the trial has any value as a public concern it lies in the fact that it brings to the attention of a great many people the ridiculous system of selecting jurors in the great state of New York—and may possibly result in some reform in that direction.

WEATHER.

When one recalls the not uncommon Aprils of the past when the wind blew from the East practically all the month and sleet storms alternated with dour and chill gray days until well into May, the sanguine prophecies of a handful of weather sharps that we should have an early spring this year seem to have been joyously vindicated. But who of them had the nerve to forecast a chunk of July even before April had two-thirds run its course?

With the temperature several degrees above the average of summer mid-days yesterday, the woman in the fur coat and the man in the woolen unmentionables had an unhappy time of it—but by refusing to faint away on the streets they demonstrated the power of mind over matter. Any one of them so arrayed on a cooler day in August would have fallen from sunstroke and then been taken in charge by the police for examination as to sanity.

IN THE MEXICAN WAY

If there is a dollar of American money back of the bandit-revolutionists who committed the horrible atrocity in the state of Jalisco, Mexico, where insurrectionists slaughtered and burned more than a hundred passengers and military guards of a railroad train, it is probable that the individuals who furnished that money will sleep badly for a night or two at least.

Many dreadful things have happened in Mexico, but the affair at Limon excels anything we remember hearing or reading of in a bloody history of Mexican disorders. Yet those who promote revolution in that country are at all times liable to start more than they can stop.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, April 21.—If you aren't interested in "National Gained Peas Week" or "National Garters Week"—buy yourself a new pair, you may at least be able to consider American Forest Week without telling its promoters to go chase themselves.

It is estimated that no week in the year isn't reserved for some sort of propaganda, and doubtless some weeks have to serve for "National Toothbrush Week," "National Candy Week," "National Raisin Week," "National Kiss Your Wife Week," and various others all together.

Already, the mustache cup manufacturers are fomenting a "Grandfather's Day," the teething ring manufacturers a "Baby Brother Day," the cookie makers a "Little Sister's Day," the Morris chair industry an "Uncle's Day."

But none of these weeks or days has received government recognition and support except American Forest Week. Before you say again that everything the government does is stupid, consider some of the things it hasn't done which would have been still more stupid.

The United States and Canada will observe their forest weeks jointly the week of April 24-30, domestically by presidential and in many cases gubernatorial proclamation.

The week is designed as a special period in which to spread the gospel of conservation. It is different from other designated weeks in that nobody tries to sell you a forest just so that you can observe it. The committee in charge of it is composed of 100 organizations representing various types of interest in the question.

Just how much American Forest Week has accomplished since President Harding first endorsed it by proclamation in 1921 is perhaps problematical, but no one will argue against the idea. One learns from the Forest Service that the timber supply of the United States is being used up four times as rapidly as growth is replacing it and that the consumption is expected to increase.

Bigger and better timber crops is the answer of the service which says that the entire 470,000,000 acres of American forest land must be put to work growing trees. This envisages persuasion of all owners of forest land to undertake timber growing as soon as possible.

Other Forest Service figures show that 90 per cent of high-grade saw timber is being taken from stored supplies in the remaining forest area has been reduced from $22,000,000 acres to 125,000,000 acres. The original stand is estimated to have exceeded 5,200,000,000,000 feet board measure as compared with the present stand of 1,800,000,000,000 feet.

As for the bright young gent in the rear of the hall who wants to know who in hell cares and is about to walk out on this story, it may be said that when he has saved enough money some 20 years hence to get married on, he will be paying through the nose to the furniture companies. One of these days wood is going to be scarce.

If you can't plant a few trees which the Forest Service suggests that you at least step on your cigarette butts before you throw them into a pile of pine needles. Man-made fires burn up some 12,000,000 acres of forest land every year.

FOUR FLYERS KILLED

Melbourne, Australia, April 21.—Four aviators were killed today when two planes taking part in the official ceremonies welcoming the Duke and Duchess of York collided in mid air.

New York, April 21.—The Bowery has for many generations been linked in the public mind as a symbol of roughness, toughness and disreputability in a wholesale.

Some reputations are hard—and so I have hunted in vain over a period of time for some event that would link the Bowery with its traditional bloody name.

Down-and-outers are as numerous in its waterfront "flophouses" as ever, but its main stretch after dark presents an inky black solitude, hovered over by stygian outlines of an elevated track and broken only now and then by a solitary figure slumping in a doorway or tramping drearily alone toward the flickering light of a cheap rooming house.

Even the type of outcast has changed. In one Y. M. C. A. mission, into which float many of the derelicts, there is a young woman who for a number of years has done social service work in the section.

Once a week she holds an open forum. At a recent weekly gathering she says we two young poets who had found it impossible to crack the surface of Manhattan's streets; four men of college education, one of whom had been a teacher; a couple of "intellectual radicals"; a few Irish seasonal workers—and the like. Not a single member of the old Bowery-and-out tribe was there. A "mock trial" held at this meeting, she told me, brought out talks and comments that bordered on brilliancy and indicated a high rate of intelligence.

And these all recruited on the famous Bowery.

Coney Island is doing its spring cleaning. The internationally famous beach resort is wakened at this season of the year by an army of paint welders and carpenters.

Those gay catch-penny resorts which beckon so alluringly once the lights are on and the thousand raucous noises begin, come out of each winter a mouldy, damp and dreary looking sight. Couch-shelled entrances are streaked with dirt, plastered in great ugly blotches by the hand of blizzards.

Amusement parks the world over pattern their "rides" and shows after Coney and the "Coney Island red hot" is known from the fair of the tiniest hemlet to the curbstones of the opposite ends of the earth.

Such an idea of the fame attached to the pioneers of the hot dog may be gathered from the fact that a big meat company recently offered $50,000 to an outstanding "weiner dispenser" for the use of his name. "The better the sauce, they tell me, is called the 'swiggle'."

A catchy name, if ever there was one, picked up in South America. Havana and way ports where the word is used when referring to a "stick" in the punch or the cocktail.

The movement, I am told, has a South American tangolish touch, varying with that of a drink being mixed in a cocktail shaker—if you know what I mean. Which would seem to make it some sort of kin to the shimie. The exact origin, like most dance innovations, is more or less vague, but Broadway gives the bow to Vincent Lopez, the jazz bandleader.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

By ARTHUR N. PACK
Hemlock, a member of the little known family that does us a very friendly turn by keeping our fresh water lakes, ponds and streams free of refuse that would otherwise turn to offensive carrion.

Incidentally he is the only member of that family that is not afraid of man, and that does not hesitate to defend himself vigorously if he is disturbed. His defense, too, is one to be wholly respected.

If you are not already acquainted with this hard-shelled chap, he is the snapping turtle. He lives in fresh water, usually in lakes with weed beds on the bottom, in

U. S. HAS SPENT 3 BILLIONS FOR MERCHANT SHIPS

Ten Year Undertaking in Effort to Build Foreign Trade Is Costly.

Washington.—In the 10 years that it has been undertaking to establish an American Merchant Marine, the United States government has expended more than $3,500,000,000 of public funds in that endeavor.

For this outlay the government today has: One high-speed trans-Atlantic passenger line of six ships the United States Lines, operating directly under Shipping Board management between New York and the principal ports of Western Europe. One passenger-cargo line, between New York and Europe. Twenty-two cargo lines, covering the principal trade routes in which the United States has built up a foreign trade.

Others have been built by private interests since that time.

Total original appropriations and allotments by Congress to the United States Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation up to and including the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, aggregate $3,620,965,426. Unexpended balances from these appropriations returned to the United States Treasury amount of $3,959,420. Thus the net outlay at the end of the present fiscal year is figured at $3,567,006,006.

Administrative expenses of the Shipping Board from 1917 to 1927 inclusive have consumed $5,296,040. The Emergency Fleet Corporation has spent the rest.

Pile Sufferers

How Far Have You Gotten With Messy Ointments? Don't be surprised that suppositories and salves haven't rid you of Piles. The most they can do is bring temporary relief. They never reach the cause—blood stagnation in the lower bowel.

Piles can be removed by an operation. Sure! But who wants to submit to the surgeon's knife when a harmless little tablet taken internally can banish the cause of Piles and bring real, lasting and honest-to-goodness relief? Forget about an operation and stop using salves, Ham-Roid, the internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonard, should quickly rid you of Piles the same as it is doing for thousands of others or costs nothing. Get a package of Ham-Roid today at Packard's or Murphy's Drug Store or any druggist. It is absolutely harmless and if you aren't delighted with the results you can have your money back—adv.

Family Saw Him Failing Now Rejoice in His Health

Meriden tailor tells trying experience. Health shattered, he tried Tanlac. Now robust and strong, praises this natural tonic body builder

Bernardo De Filio is a respected tailor living at 160 1/2 West Main St., Meriden, Conn. For three years his health was broken, growing gradually worse till he almost despaired of getting better. He says in part, "I grew thin, pale and nervous, was wasting away. I couldn't do the lightest work but wanted to be moving around all the time; couldn't sit still.

"Weakness and fainting spells made matters worse, and I couldn't force myself to eat normally. What little I could take caused keen discomfort. Finally I decided to try Tanlac, and I can truthfully say it made me a new man all over. I've gained 20 lbs. in weight and enjoy better health than ever before in my life. It restored my appetite and my nerves, so that I can almost thread a needle in the dark. I have abundant energy and my color which was a sickly grey, now denotes perfect health. I recommend Tanlac as the greatest restorative I've ever known."

You can profit by this man's experience. If overwork or neglect has left its mark on you, get a trial bottle of Tanlac. It is nature's own tonic and body builder, made from herbs, roots and barks. Your druggist has it; start in on Tanlac today. Over 52 million bottles already sold.

Ex-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE

by PAUL ADAMS
© NEA Service

This is the eleventh chapter in the story of an ex-service man who is going back to France as an advance guard of the "Second A. E. F."

A four ox-team, hauling a huge log, padded over the bridge at Jaulgonne. Tied to the log was a leather pouch containing bread for the driver's refreshments. Swinging above the pouch was a tiny cask of wine. This was for the driver's refreshment, also.

And around the turn is Fossey—a signboard—La Ferté Jouarre—Varennes—Dormans—Moulins—Launay—names that must bring floods of memories to those soldiers in America who knew this battle area.

Over there on the right stood just a shell of a stone house in 1918. Two children are quarreling out in front now over the possession of a doll. All traces of the war are gone. No—there's something familiar about that old man hiking along at the side of the road—Sure enough!—he is wearing one of those leather sleeveless vests issued to American soldiers for protection against the weather.

More signboards—Chiesmes—Fossey—Montmirail—Ch. Thierry—villages—the vestiges of the war may be gone when the members of the Second A. E. F. explore this terrain again. But they will recognize the local corner groceries. For out in front in a box, displayed so that all who pass may see will be those inevitable, immutable, ever-present dried herrings.

War or no war, since time began, there have been dried herrings at the corner groceries in France, lying stiffly in their boxes, their sunken eyes reaching up to meet the appraising gaze of the passants. "Poison" etc., read the silver plate. Canned? The frame cinquante centimes, of old coins. Paid complete, Madams, Jenny says good!

After ten years that store of army French is as jumbled as the herring in their boxes.

MANCHESTER MINSTRELS HEAD STATE VAUDEVILLE

After weeks of untiring effort, the final rehearsal, and the finishing touches, Manager Jack Sanson is to show his "Manchester Minstrels" at the State theater commencing tonight at the evening performances only. Jack Sanson needs no recommendation to his friends in South Manchester as a director and coach, and the many years' experience he has gained in his theatrical career will be expressed in the able manner he has arranged this minstrel offering.

It is no cinch to take a group of amateur entertainers and in a few short weeks drill them into a routine of songs and dances, and to give them that assurance and stage presence that a seasoned performer has, but Jack seems to have done the impossible and when you see local folk "spread their stuff" at the State this week all will appreciate them. He will feel proud of his work.

On this same bill will be seen the "Nine College Widows" an organization of nine clever misses, who present a scenic singing, dancing and musical offering, filled with action and pep. The six dancing girls with this company are pupils of the world famous dancing master Mons Tiller, originator of the "Tiller Girls" and the management is considering the idea of working a special number in with his minstrel revue just for this occasion.

Craddock and Shadney, two of the sweetest colored singers in vaudeville will be here after a return trip from Europe. They are exceptionally good. Wingfield and Jean, present a comedy skit called "Now you know what I came for." McCloskey and Peters cut up and down all over the stage. Both are clever comedians with a line of new gags and funny situations. The Ferch Trio presents a sensational perch act, where the lady member of the trio offers a daring balance on top of a seventeen foot perch, an interesting act from start to finish.

On the screen the State presents Gilda Gray in "Cabaret."

The first machine gun, invented in 1717 by James Ruckle, had variable chambers, "some for shooting square bullets against Turks, others for shooting round bullets against Christians."

5000 miles in 4909 minutes!
Studebaker Commander maintains mile-a-minute speed for 81 hours, 49 minutes

5 amazing records for speed and endurance established by Big Six

NEVER before has any automobile in America traversed 5,000 miles in less than 5,000 consecutive minutes.

A stock Studebaker did it—The Commander, a closed car fully equipped, including even spare tire.

In official tests under the sanction and observation of the American Automobile Association this stock Studebaker, identical with the car you can buy in any Studebaker sales room, not only established the amazing new record of 5,000 miles in 4909 minutes total elapsed time, but also set four other records.

2500 miles in 40 hours, 12 minutes, 54 seconds total elapsed time. An average speed of 62.16 miles per hour.
3102 1/2 miles in 50 hours total elapsed time. An average of 62.05 miles per hour.
3500 miles in 56 hours, 47 minutes, 32 1/2 seconds total elapsed time. An average speed of 61.62 miles per hour.
4414 miles in 72 hours total elapsed time. An average speed of 61.3 miles per hour.
5,000 miles in 81 hours, 48 minutes, 22 seconds total elapsed time. An average speed of 61.12 miles per hour. No automobile or other vehicle in America has travelled so far so fast. No stock closed car has ever approached this record.

Here is what these records mean to you

- 1 It is possible to purchase a truly great automobile at a moderate price. These records prove that The Commander has justly been called "the greatest post-war achievement of automotive engineering."
- 2 The Commander, because of the super-abundant power of its Big Six engine, will perform eagerly, easily, smoothly, with no labor or effort, any and all tasks placed upon it.
- 3 Studebaker has produced in these new models, cars which will excel even the staunch, dependable Studebakers of the past, in low repair and maintenance costs.

Any motor expert will tell you that 5,000 miles at more than a mile a minute is equivalent in strain and stress to 25,000 miles of ordinary driving. Yet in this terrible test the only replacements or repairs were three grease-cups, one spark-plug and one punctured tire. Only one pint of water was used.

NOW! Drive a Commander yourself. Know this great car through your own hands and feet. These shattering records merely dramatize the thrilling performance which Studebaker Commander owners everywhere are enjoying. They explain why the Studebaker Big Six is far out-selling the combined totals of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower. The exact duplicate of this record-shattering car is waiting for you at Studebaker show-rooms.

Commander Models and their One-Price: Sedan, $1585; Victoria, $1375; (with broadcloth upholstery, $1645); Coupe, $1545; (with rumble seat, $1645). Other Studebaker and Erskine models range in price from $945 to $2245. All prices f. o. b. factory

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Andrew Jackson (4)

Jackson's duel with Charles Dickinson also was the result of gossip about the unfortunate circumstances of his marriage. Dickinson, an expert with the pistol, declared he would put his bullet through Jackson's heart. They fought in a Kentucky rendezvous, about a day's ride from Nashville.

Dickinson fired first. His bullet struck Jackson, but the tall figure never wavered.

Deliberately Jackson pulled down his weapon and took aim. A bullet through his body, Dickinson fell, dying.

Dickinson's bullet had buried itself in Jackson's breast, near the heart. But Jackson walked off the field. "Old Hickory," however, was capable of forgiveness in any affair where his wife was not involved as his duel with the Benton brothers, later, was to show.

It was refreshing to see such altruism. "You don't know the half of it, lady," Billy felt tempted to blurt out in her old impudent way. "Of course you girls are the talk of the town," Mrs. Belcher went cheerfully, now that she had an enormous order ready for the rich man's K. K. "The pictures in the papers certainly don't do any of you justice. If Mr. Curtis had chosen you three youngsters by way of a beauty contest, he couldn't have picked lovelier girls. And I am sure you are all as sweet and good as you are beautiful. It will be a real pleasure to serve the Cinderella girls. And it will be a marvellous advertisement for my business, too."

A good recipe for frozen fruit salad is the following: 1 1/2 cups fruit cut fine (cherries, peaches, pineapple, or other fruits) 1 teaspoon gelatin 1 teaspoon powdered sugar 1 teaspoon cold water 1/2 cup mayonnaise

Run the dates, figs, apricots and coconut through the food chopper. Knead in the orange juice and rind. Divide the paste into four parts. Roll each portion with the palms into a long cylinder, one-half inch in diameter. Roll the cylinders in finely chopped nuts. Cut into logs one to one and one-half inches in length.

Allene Sumner's reference to Madame Harel and her cheese-making brought to my mind that I had clipped from one of the New York papers the following item, which may prove amusing reading: "Mrs. Harel used to make two kinds of Camembert; one was moulded from the first cow's milk in the morning, this being the richest milk, and one was made from the leftovers in the evening. The morning milk, being the creamiest, was called the Morning Harel, and was later taken over by Frank Munsey and combined with the Evening Telegram."

The shrivelled hide of a Camembert is a loathsome-looking sight and it should be disposed of as quickly as possible. "Now then, the proper way to eat Camembert: take a sharp knife and cut the hulk open, carve out the creamy inside, scrape the skin clean, being careful not to cut into it, and then throw the outside away. Then take the inside, slice it into thin strips, garnish it with parsley and throw out the window."

The season for bridge is nearing a close. The busy hostess may wish to serve only one course and some sort of a frozen dish will be acceptable these days. Strawberry short cake with ice cream, salted nuts and coffee is a good combination, or if the day is too warm, a tea punch will be relished. Another menu might include frozen fruit salad, assorted sandwiches, salted nuts, candies and something hot or cold to drink. Have the bread a day old if the sandwiches are to be cut in a variety of shapes, such as hearts, clubs, spades, diamonds, circles, crescents or triangles. Fillings for sandwiches to serve with frozen fruit salad might be cheese, nut, lettuce or olive combinations. Vary the breads, sometimes putting two or more kinds together.

Soak the gelatin in the cold water, dissolve, and beat it into the mayonnaise. Add the sugar to the cream and whip it, then combine with the mayonnaise. Stir in the cut-up fruit. Pack and freeze. The mayonnaise may be omitted from

On Tuesday, April 26, Girl Scouts from all the local troops will enjoy an all-day hike, with Miss Ruth Cheney in charge. The destination will be Howard reservoir on Porter street. Each girl is asked to provide her own lunch and to be at the Lincoln school promptly at 9:30. On account of the dryness, the Scouts will be unable to cook dinner. Don't forget the dates, everybody plan to go and be on time. Each troop is requested to appoint a scout to write an account of the hike and send it to Mrs. Hawley in time for the scout news in the Herald Thursday. That is, the best write-up will be accepted.

16,000 NEW GIRL SCOUTS According to the Girl Scout News more than 16,000 girls joined the Girl Scouts during the past year according to the annual report issued by the organization to its leaders, council members and friends of the Girl Scouts throughout the country. "The technique of the Girl Scout organization can be compared to the art of weaving," declares Mrs. Jane Deeter Ripplin, national director in her annual message in the report. "It helps the girl of today, the woman of tomorrow to weave strongly and well the texture of her character and happiness. "Girl Scouting, a world movement, strives toward the durability of strength, usefulness, honest workmanship and beauty," Mrs. Ripplin states. "The past year shows a distinct gain in the quality of work accomplished and in the number of weavers."

PRESERVING WILD FLOWERS "Anything that Girl Scouts can do to touch the heart, impress the mind and stay the hand of the thoughtless and ruthless marauder of field and wood at this season and throughout the coming months, helping to induce people to enjoy not destroy the wild flowers, will be doing a true and important patriotic and community service. "Love the woodrose but leave it on its stalk. "Touch a hundred flowers but not pick one." It is no longer enough that we observe this ourselves; we must be crusaders persuading and compelling others to do the same. A few of the wild flowers may safely be picked such as the violet and daisy, but even these should be picked carefully, sparingly, and never to waste and wilt on the way home. Most flowers have to be conserved because of past depredations. The Wild Flower Preservation society is back of us in this." (From the Girl Scout Leader).

Ambition

By Olive Roberts Burton. I have written on the good of hobbies, and the leavening quality of ambition other than the work we are doing. In "Tomorrow Morning," Miss Parrish's book, we have the girl who wanted to paint, whose ambition was to be a great artist. But humdrum everyday duties prevented. She painted the kitchen and other homely objects about the house because she must. The house was all the lovelier because she was an ambitious soul.

Clinch Slashes His Way To Well-Earned Decision

NEW BRITAIN BOXER AGAIN PROVES BETTER THAN VILLA

Johnny Clinch, popular New Britain boxer, and brother of the widely-known professional fighter, Jimmy Clinch, scored a well-earned three-round decision over the aggressive Pancho Villa of Hartford in the star bout of the final indoor amateur boxing tournament at Cheney hall last night. About six hundred fans, many of whom were in shirt sleeves because of the heat, watched the attractive fight. Promoter Jack Jenney says that the next tournament will be staged at the McKee street baseball park on Wednesday night, May 4.

One Knockout
With the exception of the weather, there was only one knockout last night. That came in the first bout when Art Pallowitzer floored Charley Newman, a novice, about half a dozen times before he was finally counted out at the end of the second round. Newman's lack of experience was his undoing, as he laughs for he would no sooner hit the floor than he would pop up without taking the badly needed count. He was game as they make 'em.

Hartford boxers fared best, winning three out of their four bouts. Springfield won two and lost two. Manchester split two bouts while Clinch's victory was New Britain's only win in four starts.

Clinch Still Superior
Clinch's victory over Villa, while not as decisive as the first time the pair fought here, was nevertheless both convincing and impressive. The New Britain boy did not show much ill-effects from his two-month layoff due to a broken thumb. Villa, on the other hand, used the jumping-jack style that always gives his opponents plenty to think about. He gave Clinch stiffer opposition than he did the first time but he was still far from being a winner, or even earning a draw.

Clinch carried the first two rounds by wide margins but the last one was nobody's. Villa wasted a lot of energy while Clinch made every move count. And when Clinch landed, Villa knew it. They were no love taps but hard socks that often made him beat a hasty retreat. Clinch never once showed ground. Villa was game to the final second, however, and often pierced Clinch's defense, especially in the third round. Most times Villa received hard head and body punches in return.

It was a crackerjack bout. Roberts is Popular
Mickey Roberts, popular Hartford boxer, was given warm opposition in his slug-fest with Charley Pepe of Springfield. Both men hit hard and often but Mickey landed the cleaner blows and played a better ring generalship. Mickey showed rare sportsmanship last night on several occasions and his happy-go-lucky manner made a big hit with the fans.

Al Dowd Wins
Al Dowd starred like a house on fire against Whitty Guido of Springfield but the latter managed to stay the limit and he gave Dowd plenty of opposition. Dowd floored Guido with a right cross, the very first blow of the fight, but Guido came back strong. Dowd's ability to hit harder and quicker, earned him a popular decision. The local boy carried the first and third rounds while the second was even. Dowd's chief handicap seemed to be lack of wind. Perhaps that is due to the fact that he hasn't been fighting much of late and may be a little out of condition.

Laboc Meets Master
Billy Laboc certainly showed his ability to take a beating when Tony Korman pasted him about the ring for three rounds having the Manchester boy on the verge of a knockout several times. Korman, however, was also in danger of kissing the canvass a few times but he was much the stronger of the two and kept pummeling Laboc with lefts and rights. Korman carried all three rounds. The fans sent up a howl in the second round when Korman fouled Laboc on a break but was not disqualified. The energetic Johnny Mastro's victory over Joe Kody was very decisive, the Hartford boy winning all three rounds with plenty to spare.

THE RESULTS
Following is the list of winners in last night's seven amateur boxing bouts at Cheney hall in the order of their occurrence:
1. Art Pallowitzer, Hartford, knocked out Charley Newman, New Britain, in second round; 143 pounds.
2. Al Dowd, Manchester, won decision over Jean Guido, Springfield; 128 pounds.
3. Art Chapdelaine, Springfield, outpointed Del Pauliot, New Britain; 112 pounds.
4. Johnny Mastro, Hartford, won a clean-cut victory over Joe Kody, New Britain; 120 pounds.
5. Tony Korman, Springfield, outpointed Billy Laboc, Manchester; 120 pounds.
6. Mickey Roberts, Hartford, outslugged Charley Pepe, Springfield; 120 pounds.
7. Johnny Clinch, New Britain, scored a well-earned victory over Pancho Villa, Hartford; 139 pounds.

2. Six and one-quarter ounces.

Barrow Plans N. Y. Stadium Will Seat Over 100,000

New York, April 21.—Baseball's modern millennium, the once visionary but now quite feasible project of 100,000 at a single game was more than a mirage on a chimerical skyline today. It became a probability of the more or less immediate future when Edward G. Barrow, business manager of the local American League club, informed the writer that, in all likelihood, the capacity of the Yankee stadium would be increased to 80,000 before the start of the 1928 season. The stadium, with a seating capacity of some 63,000 at present, is by many thousands the largest edifice dedicated to baseball's popularity and, as such, was deemed at its official opening in 1922 to be the final obsequy before the great god progress.

Talk of Additions
Yet, within five years, they are talking in terms of alterations, annexes, auto-chambers and additions. And the end is not yet. When they triple-deck all except a nominal section of the bleachers, a development that seems inevitable, the 100,000 goal will be more than achieved. It will be exceeded.

Work on the new addition probably will be started next October, Barrow intimated.

Conran-Canada Bowling Match

Postponed for Girls' Contest

SPLENDID BOXING BILL IN HARTFORD TONIGHT

The scheduled bowling match between Joe Canada and Tommy Conran for this evening has been postponed until next Monday night it was stated today. The two men were scheduled to bowl last night at the north end but because of the scheduled girls' state league match here tonight, a postponement was agreed upon by Tommy Conran and Canada's manager Howard Murphy.

COMMUNITY CLUB WANTS SOUTH END CANDIDATES

Manager Oakes states that there still seems to be a general misunderstanding regarding what players are eligible to tryout for a berth on the Community club baseball nine. He emphatically declared last night that anyone in town may try out which means south enders as well as north enders. No discrimination whatsoever will be shown by Coach Bill Brennan.

TENNIS COURTS WILL SOON BE USED AGAIN

Tennis courts at the Cottage street playground in the rear of the Nathan Hale school are being put into shape so that they may be ready for the season. The courts there have dried out quickly and will be rolled and marked as soon as possible. The courts in the rear of the high school are also drying out slowly because of their sheltered location. The system of issuing permits for the use of the courts will remain unchanged. These courts, and also the courts at the West Side playgrounds, are controlled by the Recreation Center of the Ninth district. Permits are issued at the offices of both recreation buildings.

MANCHESTER CHALLENGED

The Cardinal A. C. of New Britain would like to play any team in Manchester and vicinity that average 18 years of age. When writing please state guarantee you would allow us for some time. For games write F. Daley, 551 Main street, New Britain, Conn.

This modern age discriminates—and smokes Camels

THIS age is the hardest to satisfy—it's the most discriminating age ever known. That's why it goes to Camel for cigarette enjoyment. It takes real tobacco to satisfy modern smokers and Camels are made of the choicest tobaccos grown, marvelously blended. Smokers of today are right in demanding Camels; no better cigarettes are made, regardless of price.

To seek a real smoke is to find Camel—the choice of the modern world. Camels are a revelation of goodness, always mellow, smooth and mild. This age shows the way to smoke contentment—
"Have a Camel!"

NOW YOU ASK ONE

A LITTLE MUSIC

Today's list of questions deal with the world of music, both present and past. You'll find the answers on another page:

- 1—What well-known soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company is this?
- 2—What composer at his death left a famous "unfinished symphony," the theme of which was recently incorporated in a light opera air?
- 3—Who wrote the opera "Aida"?
- 4—What famous violinist served with distinction as an Austrian army officer during the World War?
- 5—Who is conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra?
- 6—Who is the best-known prima donna with the Chicago Civic Opera Company?
- 7—What composer is honored annually by special performances of his operas at Bayreuth, Germany?
- 8—Who wrote the popular "Pathétique" symphony?
- 9—Who wrote the opera, "Samson and Delilah"?
- 10—What German composer is famous for his oratorios?

When a man's wife chooses his stenographer, it may not indicate jealousy so much as a wish for him to succeed in business.

"Did you give the man the third degree?" asked the police officer. "Yes. We browbeat and badgered him with every question we could think of."

"What did he do?" "He dozed off and merely said now and then, 'Yes, my dear, you are perfectly right.'"

You think that I am so dumb that my ears grow together? Oh, no. I don't think there is even any connection between them.

Thinking lengthens life, says a physician. If you think quick enough.

SENSE and NONSENSE

"Hello, my dear fellow, how different you look without a beard or mustache. I wouldn't have recognized you if you hadn't had my umbrella."

People who have no rheumatism in their bones have to depend on unreasonable weather bureau for storm warnings.

"That girl reversed Darwin's theory," he commented, in talking to a friend. "Howzat?" "She makes monkeys out of them."

I will start anew this morning with a higher, fairer creed; I will cease to stand complaining of my ruthless neighbor's greed; I will cease to sit repining while my duty's call is clear; I will waste no moment whining, and my heart shall know no fear.

I will look sometimes about me for the things that merit praise; I will search for hidden beauties that elude the grumbler's gaze; I will try to find contentment in the paths that I must tread; I will cease to have resentment when another moves ahead.

I will not be swayed by envy when my rival's strength is shown; I will not deny his merit, but I'll strive to prove my own; I will try to see the beauty spread before me, rain or shine; I will cease to preach your duty and be more concerned with mine.

The only thing to worry about is worry.

A man was charged with having stolen a ton of lead.

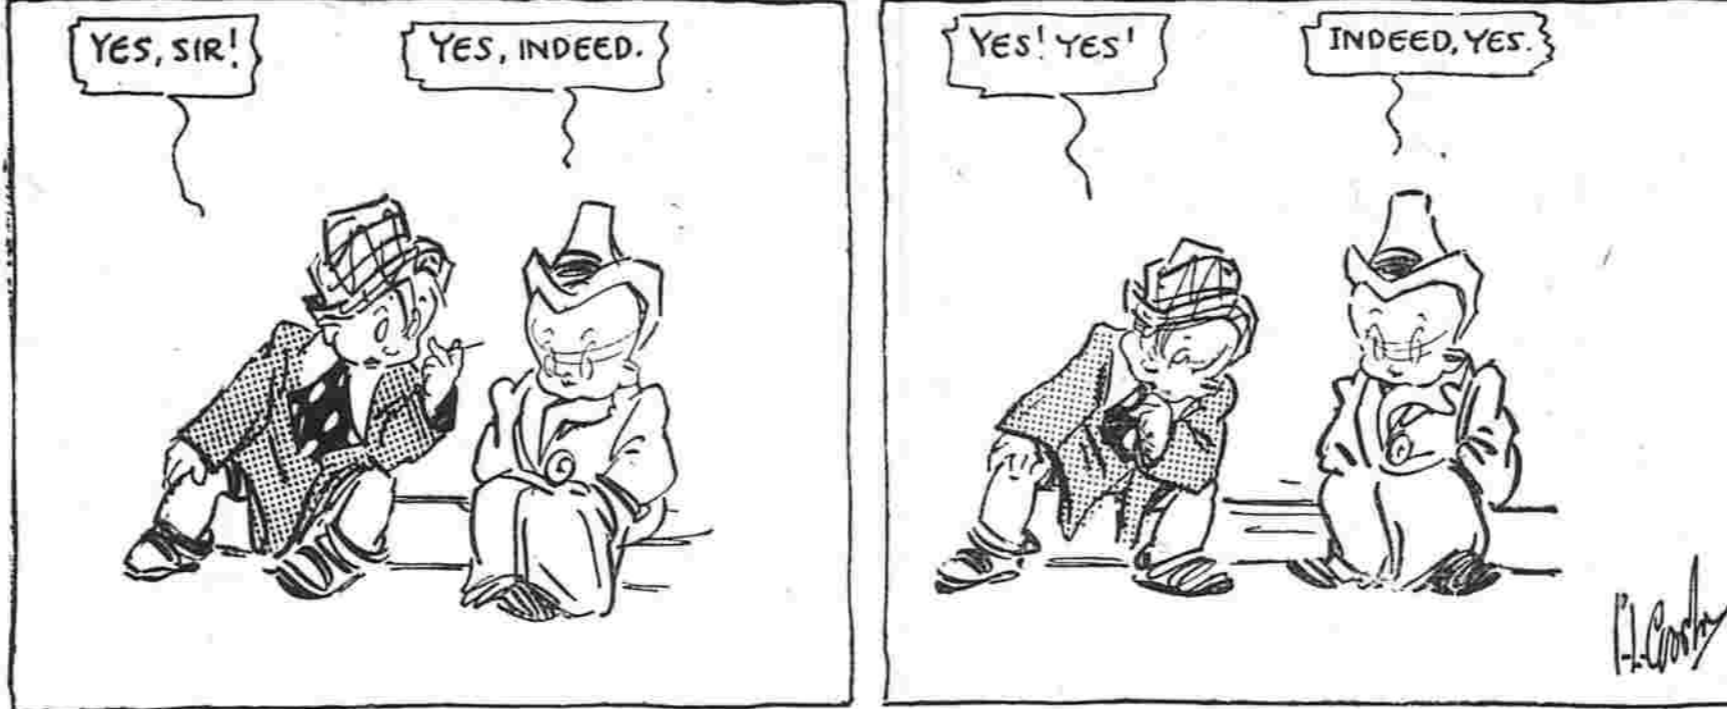

"Have you anything to say in your defense?" asked the judge. "Yes. I did it in a moment of weakness."

THE TINYMITES

(Read the Story. Then Color the Picture)

Then Scouty looked, and seemed to fear a funny man who crept up near. Before he had a chance to shout the man ran up, and then he grabbed some tarts right off the tray, and in a flash, was on his way. "Oh, me! Oh, my," the fair queen said. "There goes that knave again."

Then Scouty yelled, "I know that man. Let's run and catch him if we can. He's often stole the queen's nice tarts. It isn't fair, at all." So off they ran, as fast as they could, and very shortly late was good, for every Tiny jumped with pleasure as they saw him fall.

"Let go! I didn't do a thing," the scared knave yelled. "Don't tell the king. I'm sure that he will thrash me if you ever let him know." Said Scouty, "Give us back the tarts, and we will show you we have hearts. As soon as you have turned them back, we'll gladly let you go."

Of course the knave was glad to turn the tarts all back. "I hope you learn that honesty is best for you," said Scouty, with much scorn. Then Cobby added, "Oh, for shame!" The knave knew he was all to blame, and as he turned and walked away, he surely looked forlorn.

The queen then thanked the Tynmites, and gave them several more big bites. And then she turned and left the bunch all by themselves once more. They walked until they found a hut. They would have walked right in there, but they saw a scowling lady sitting just inside the door.

"Oh, that's Old Cross Patch, draw the latch. A peck of trouble we would hatch if we should enter," Clowny said. "So let's keep on our way." The Tines thought this hunch was good. They left as quickly as they could, and as the moon rose o'er the hills, they still were at their play.

(The Tynmites meet another character in the next story).
