

PESTILENCE, STARVATION, FROM FLOOD

Cold Adds to Suffering of 55,000 Homeless—Mem- phis Threatened; Relief Parties Begin to Arrive.

FAMINE AND PESTILENCE threatened thousands of refugees today as the Mississippi river continued to break flood records in its surging flight to the gulf.

NEAR-FREEZING temperatures through the upper valley added to the sufferings of the approxi- mately 55,000 who have been driven from their homes, many of them with little more than the clothes on their backs.

RELIEF HAS BEGUN to pour into the stricken regions, although the vast area affected and the regional shortage of boats has left many thousands virtually without shelter, food and ade- quate medical attention.

FROM ONE END of the valley to the other authorities were send- ing all their energies toward bolstering crumbling levees and adequately caring for the refu- gees.

MANY of the northern tribu- taries of the Mississippi were re- ported slowly receding today and veteran rivermen believed the crest of the flood might hit Mem- phis, Tenn., by Saturday.

TOWNS AND VILLAGES along the Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisi- ana banks of the river were pre- paring for record-breaking water stages.

ALONG THIS AREA it was feared the river might inundate whole counties left virtually untouched by former floods.

18 DROWNED Helena, Ark., April 22.—Officials today were investigating the sink- ing of the government launch Pel- can, near Knowlton's landing, yes- terday, when eighteen persons are believed to have been drowned.

Don Palmer, engineer, and Jim- my Hawkins, pilot, were drowned along with sixteen white flood refu- gees, they were rescuing, according to word brought here by R. W. Clark, an eye-witness to the tragedy.

Clark procured a boat and risked his life to cross the river to tell of the tragedy.

Red Cross Pre- Red Cross officials, here on the flood situation, boarded the steam- er Chise which immediately set out for Knowlton's landing to investi- gate the disaster.

Anglo-American Pact Would Bring On War

Manchester, England, April 22.—The United States is definitely opposed to any formal Anglo-American alliance, Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton declared here today in a speech before the Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

"The ambassador, who was believed to be speaking under instructions from Washington, declared that a formal Anglo-American alliance would turn the rest of the world against the United States and Great Britain and would result in another World War.

"An Anglo-American alliance has its attractive details, it seems at moments to offer an easy way to obtain the results we all desire, but I believe the idea is wholly false.

CHORAL CLUB'S FINAL CONCERT REAL TRIUMPH

Local Singers and Boston Symphony Ensemble Set High Mark for Future; De- light Big Audience.

Its forty voices marching like an army with banners through the tremendous impassioned measures of the "Hail Native Land" from "Aida," to the uplifting accompaniment of Theodorowicz's magnificent Boston Symphony Ensemble, the Men's Choral Club, in the final number of its program last night, pegged up a sheer triumph as the high mark of its career, for future emulation.

Club Sings Well Never before in a public concert has the Choral Club sung so well. Perhaps the circumstances that Director Archibald Sessions was freed from his customary work at the piano and could therefore direct in full view of his singers had something to do with it. But in any event the singers were not only in uncommonly good voice but there was the most complete response to every delicate shading, every demand for virulent attack in the director's skilled interpretation of the music.

Fierce Battle Near Scene of Raid—Catholic Episcopate Denies Responsibility.

CAMPERS IN DANGER Washington, April 22.—Even refugee camps, holding thousands of persons driven from their homes by the raging floods of the lower Mississippi valley, are being reach- ed by the highwaters, and the situ- ation is steadily becoming more acute, according to advices to na- tional headquarters of the Ameri- can Red Cross here today.

NEW PREMIER EXPLAINS Tokyo, April 22.—Premier Tanaka outlined the need of counter- ing Communist influence in China in a strong statement issued this afternoon.

Japanese remain indiffer- ent," Tanaka said, "as it is direct- ly and deeply affected by the re- sults of such activity. Japan is ready to co-operate with the pow- ers, confident her stand will be un- derstood by her friendly neighbor, Russia."

GAS MAIN LAYING ABOUT FINISHED HERE

Little construction of gas mains is planned for the near future by the Hartford City Gas Light company. It was said today, Manchester is almost fully covered by mains and there are only a few places in the more or less outlying sections which are left unsewered.

DEATH OF JOHN W. PURTILL

The death of John W. Purtill, prominent Glastonbury citizen, which occurred yesterday at the home of his daughter in Middletown, recalls to older residents here the fact that Mr. Purtill was at one time manager of the mill at Parkville, at the time that it was owned by the Parkers of Dobsonville. He later became owner of the property and formed a partnership with Thomas Plunkett, whose name is unpleasantly linked with the closing of the Union Gingham mills at the north end. It was while Mr. Purtill was absent on his wedding trip that Plunkett fled to Mexico. Mr. Purtill later sold out his interests and water privileges to Lydall & Foulds, who previous to that time had only the mill at Lydallville.

ABOUT TOWN

Paul Packard, senior student, will represent the local high school in the Hartford County oratorical contest at the West Hartford High school tonight. Packard represented Manchester last year but was eliminated in the county contests.

R. I. STATE SENATE PARDONS BURGLARS

Freees 13 During Session; "Pardon Mill" Yell the Opposition in Legislature.

Providence, R. I., April 22.— Passage of a bill by the Senate to two men serving terms in jail for burglaries featured the closing hours of the 1927 Legislature early today.

During the session thirteen pardons were granted, six of them to murderers and one a Bristol gang leader.

The pardoning was termed "a pardon mill" by speakers who flayed the reprieve system. Others defended it. The conduct of a Superior Court judge in one case was assailed.

Passage of a bill regulating the fish trap industry broke a deadlock in the House and cleared the way for an adjournment order, previously adopted by the Senate.

Highlights of the accomplishments of the Legislature were: Senate redistricting. Abolishment of property qualification for voters in cities. Absentee voting revision. Two cent gasoline tax bill. Bond issue of seven million for new state buildings. Women permitted to serve on juries if they desire. Commission to study state's criminal statutes. Penalties for intoxicated drivers increased. Judicial council created. Arson law strengthened and fire prevention regulated.

TO PLAY WAR GAME ALONG OUR COAST

U. S. Fleet and Army to Fight Sham Battles During May 16 Week.

Boston, Mass., April 22.—Headquarters of the First Army corps area was humming with activity today in preparation for the big war game to be played off the southern New England coast during the week of May sixteen.

The United States battle fleet will represent the invading forces known as "Black." The United States army forces will represent the defenders and will be known as "Blues."

All army men in the First corps area, a skeleton staff of the National Guard and reserve divisions allotted to the First corps area will make up the defenders, which will be supported by certain naval forces under command of the admiral commanding the first naval district.

RAIN ENDS MENACE FROM FOREST FIRES

Ban on Entering Woods May Be Lifted Today by Governor Fuller.

Boston, Mass., April 22.—Rain today ended the forest fire menace.

The ban on entering the woods and on fishing may be lifted by Gov. Fuller.

Thunder storms accompanied the rain in western Massachusetts. The largest fire extinguished was at Longmeadow. It swept up from Enfield, Conn., and burned over ten square miles of timberland.

Another fire near Huntington destroyed a $25,000 dining hall owned by the Springfield Y. M. C. A. summer camp.

Forty state fire wardens and hundreds of firemen and volunteers who had been battling forest, woodland and brush fires for over a week, welcomed the showers.

Removing the Scars on "Peaches"

These intimate and exclusive pictures show Frances "Peaches" Heenan Brown as she underwent an operation at the hands of Dr. Henry J. Schreiner of Chicago for the removal of disfiguring scars on her face. The scars from acid burns, mysteriously sustained shortly before her marriage to "Daddy" Browning. Above Mrs. Heenan, "Peaches" mother, is shown looking on as Dr. Schreiner works on the scars. At the left is an unusual closeup of "Peaches" showing the scars. At the right "Peaches" is looking into a mirror reflecting her bandaged face—and wondering if the scar will be gone when it's all over.

INDIANA SPENDS $9,000,000 FOR CONCRETE ROADS

To Build Great Bridge Over Ohio River From Evansville.

Indianapolis—With the paving season barely started, Indiana is planning to lay approximately $9,000,000 worth of concrete on her state highways this year, besides starting preliminary work on a $3,000,000 bridge over the Ohio at Evansville, John D. Williams, director of the state highway commission says.

Although the expenditure, has been planned, the state will not go in debt for the construction of its roads, Williams said. The state gasoline tax and automobile licenses will pay for the construction work, the director said.

Under the Indiana laws, the state cannot issue bonds for any purpose. But these are unnecessary, Williams said.

Enviably Position The Highway Commission Director showed that Indiana holds an enviable position among other states in hard surfaced roads. This state has more maintained mileage under the federal 7 per cent system than any other in the Union, Williams said.

Williams expressed a belief that Indiana would construct more concrete roads this year than any of the states surrounding it. Several of the neighbors, Williams said, are out of funds for construction work, although some are making plans to lay more mileage than Indiana.

The Director said Indiana Commission has a hang over from last year, of $5 miles, contracted for, but unopened. So far this year contracts have been let for the construction of 150 miles more, and bids will be asked for the construction of 150 miles additional before the end of the summer.

$3,000,000 Bridge Besides this work, the Commission is making arrangements to start building the $3,000,000 bridge over the Ohio River at Evansville.

The last legislature made provisions whereby the state commission could undertake the work. Although the work will be done by Indiana, and paid for by the state, Vanderburgh county, in which Evansville is located, will be assessed one fourth of the cost. Kentucky will be asked to share the other fourth of the expenses, leaving the State to hear one half of the total cost.

Construction of the bridge at Evansville is expected to open up a large territory in the western part of Kentucky.

Apiarist Finds Method For Improving Bee Stock

Alfred N. Yeggs—Eugenics has been applied to bee-keeping.

Prof. L. R. Watson, here, has found a method for combatting the polygamous nature of queen bees and putting the process of mating under scientific control.

The habit of the queen bee to mate high in the air, often with inferior bees, has defeated all former efforts of apiarists to develop a select, high-grade stock.

For years scientists have worked upon the problem of control of the mating of bees, but Prof. Watson's efforts appear to be the first successful results of this work.

Prof. Watson has been closely connected with beekeeping work for a number of years and has been conducting his investigations at his experimental apiary here.

He has explained the process of his method to college specialists who have been convinced of the success of his work.

While Prof. Watson's matings are not yet perfect he has made possible race improvement that has long baffled scientists and may also have opened the door to successful experiments in artificial breeding in other lines.

FINED $400 AND COSTS

Willimantic, Conn., April 22.—David Caya, nineteen, of 19 Jackson place, was fined $400 and costs in City Court here today following a raid on his home. A still and some liquor were confiscated. Caya pleaded guilty to selling and possession of liquor. A jail sentence was not imposed, the court said, because Caya was a first offender.

ASKS FOR RESPIRE

Boston, Mass., April 22.—Attorney William G. Thompson, counsel for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti today asked Governor Alvan T. Fuller for another respite for Celestino Madeiros, of New Bedford, condemned to die in the electric chair next week.

Gov. Fuller, it was stated at his office, had the request under advisement.

SEARCHING FOR MAN

Palermo, Me., April 22.—Police and townspeople were conducting a search today for Raymond Gove, 52, a native of Illinois and once a resident at Missouri, who has been missing from his home here since April 4. Suicide, it is believed, was contemplated by the missing man.

With his brother, Albert, Mr. Gove has lived in this town for several years. Both were unmarried and considered wealthy.

Some scientists think petroleum is the result of purely chemical action on inorganic substances, others that it results from animal remains, and some think it originally was vegetable matter.

Measure providing for area tests of cattle, which will become a law in the near future. The department is faced with the task of handling large annual reimbursements of cattle owners and is admitted to be burdened with the necessity of strict impartiality and fairness in making these payments. The work is considered the most important and most difficult in the agricultural duties of any state department.

Nine Veterinarians Dr. George T. Crowley, of New Britain, has been added to the force of full-time state veterinarians, while Tracy Swem, of West Haven, has been made full time inspector in the poultry division, and Daniel Stone, of Putnam, a part-time inspector.

Office changes in the domestic animals' department announced by Commissioner Whiteley today are: Miss Helen A. Hoben, of Hartford, executive secretary in charge of office accounts; Ralph E. Collins, of East Windsor, chief clerk; Miss Dorothy B. Corwin, in charge of office accounts; Miss Helen V. Hitch, of Hartford, in charge of checking reactor cattle and salvage; Miss Marguerite C. Hoben, of Hartford, in charge of dog and poultry importation records; Miss Cecilia Rooney, of Windsor Locks, in charge of records of state and federal tests, check-ups, and certification of herds; Miss Helene Labury, of East Windsor, additions to herd herds; Mrs. Doris Sparks, of Plainville, private test records and permits.

DODGE MYSTERY

San Francisco, Calif., April 22.—The reconciliation reported between Horace E. Dodge, Jr., millionaire Detroit automobile man, and his wife, under an Hawaiian moon, remained a mystery today when the Dodges arrived here on the President Madison.

Fainting when questioned, Mrs. Dodge denied the reconciliation. Her husband was "not around" when the vessel arrived. But a secret passenger list revealed millionaire Detroit who flew to San Francisco from Los Angeles to catch a boat to Honolulu, had sailed from Honolulu on the boat.

DON'T BE TOO WISE JUDGE TELLS BOYS

Manchester Students, Visiting County Courts, Get Judicial Advice.

Members of the freshman civics classes at the High school have been taken on several occasional trips lately in connection with their vocational study. Vice Principal Ralph W. Proctor made known today.

Members of the boys' civics classes under the supervision of Thomas F. Malloy, judge of the court, of common pleas, the students were shown about the building. It so happened that during their visit the party saw the two Chinese who are accused of murdering a Manchester Chinaman and who will stand trial starting next week Tuesday. The prisoners were in States Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn's office, evidently being questioned. Several detectives and officers stood about them.

Judge Malloy spoke to the twenty-five Manchester students for 20 minutes, following which the students went into the Superior Court room and listened to cases for the rest of the afternoon. During Judge Malloy's talk, he advised the students to "stay in nights" and "don't be wise guys" among other things. He added that eighty per cent of the present day criminals are so-called wise guys.

The girl members of the civics classes have paid four visits to the local branch of the Southern New England Telephone company where Miss Katherine Cannon, chief operator, explained the various details of the work. Another class went yesterday afternoon.

"Heard about the big accident?" "No, what?" "Car just ran over a peanut and crushed two kernels."

ABOUT TOWN

The missionary societies of the South Methodist church will sponsor on next Friday evening, a talk by Mrs. Gertrude Abbey, who will describe her recent trip around the world.

Raymond E. Hunt, proprietor of the Waranoke Press, is now settled in his new location in the Selwitz block, 625 Main street. Heretofore Mr. Hunt had his printing shop in his own home, but with increased space he will be better fitted for the work as he specializes in—printing of the better quality.

Mary C. Keeney Tent, Daughters of Veterans, held its regular meeting in the state armory last night, which was followed by a short entertainment and social hour. A drawing was held on a handsome electric bed lamp and the holder of the lucky number was Frank Carlson of Pleasant street. The lamp was donated by Mrs. Azalia H. Humpal and the drawing, for the benefit of the piano fund.

Tomorrow afternoon from three to five o'clock the children of the Center church Sunday school, who are members of the primary department will enjoy a party arranged by their teachers.

The schools in the different districts, including the High school closed this afternoon for the Spring vacation.

Nine tables were filled with players at the whist given last night for the benefit of the Pythian Sisters. The hostesses were Mrs. Ada Peckham and Mrs. Letting Caverly, and the social was held in the club rooms of the Knights of Pythias in the Balch and Brown building. The first ladies' prize was won by Mrs. Sadie Smith, the second by Mrs. Walter Smith, of Talcottville and the consolation fell to Mrs. A. Markham. Oscar Strong captured the first men's prize, Louis Chagnot the second and Don Hattin the consolation. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

The Ladies of Columbus will hold a meeting at the K. of C. hall this evening at 8 o'clock. There will also be a meeting of the banquet committee at 7:30.

The meeting of the committee on arrangements for the Catholic church night on May 5 was not held last evening but will be held on Monday night in the School street Rec at 8 o'clock.

The married men and the single men bowling teams will meet tonight at the K. of C. alleys in a special match which starts at 8 o'clock sharp. There is much rivalry between the teams. Edward Taylor leads the single men and Jack Tierney is captain of the married men.

Winford White, of Bissell street, was discharged from the Memorial hospital yesterday.

A reunion of Manchester young men who have at one time or another enjoyed the privileges at Camp Woodstock will be held at the School Street Rec on Friday evening, May 6.

The annual YD banquet will be held Saturday night in Glastonbury. A chicken and spaghetti supper will be served. About twenty-five men are expected to go on the outing.

Cary D. Carpenter, well known Bolton farmer, who does business in Manchester, is still forced to get about on crutches as the result of the injury with which he met here several weeks ago when his horse ran away, being frightened by a steam train. Mr. Carpenter's left leg was badly sprained.

Frank, the boy speaker and message bearer, will be in charge of the Spiritualist meeting at eight o'clock at the home of Mrs. Emily Marks, 21½ School street.

In the list of High school honor pupils announced recently the name of one member of the honor roll was omitted through a clerical error, Miss Elin Nielsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Nielsen is one of the 15 per cent group who headed the class in scholastics.

At a meeting of the Memorial Day committee held last night George H. Waddell's name was withdrawn as marshal of the annual parade. Although Mr. Waddell was not present the withdrawal was authorized by John Jensen who is a member of the committee. Captain William Newman was appointed marshal to succeed Mr. Waddell. Committees reported progress last night and the next meeting of the committee will be held Thursday, May 5.

BIG TELESCOPES SCAN MILKY WAY IN MAPPING SKY. Make Two Year Study of Stars to Find Limits of Our Universe.

Tucson, Ariz.—A stupendous endeavor to penetrate the most baffling mystery in science—the extent and organization of our universe—will be made during the next two years, when every major telescope in the country will be trained on that band of conjecture, the Milky Way, held by many astronomers to be the boundary of the Galactic system of which our sun and planets are a part. This announcement was made here by Dr. Edwin F. Carpenter, acting director of the Steward Observatory of the University of Arizona. According to Dr. Carpenter the leading observatories of the country will band together, each studying a special zone of the heavens, and at the end of a two year period, will bring all their data together for study and calculation. Great Undertaking. The Arizona observatory, situated in a climate where atmospheric conditions are peculiarly suited for work with delicate astronomical instruments, will take a leading part in the research project, which is termed the most extensive astronomical undertaking in the history of the science. Dr. Carpenter declares the work of mapping the sky will prove of particular value in determining the make-up of the universe. Many astronomers believe that beyond the Milky Way, in the regions so far distant that the human mind cannot conceive the vast extent of space involved, lie other universes, of such magnitude, perhaps, as to dwarf the system bounded by the Milky Way. Expect New Data. They point to the spiral nebulas, many of which have been located and photographed, as possible universes. The data secured by the nation-wide research effort will get far toward solving the problem of other universes, Dr. Carpenter believes. The Arizona observatory has been noted for its contributions to the science of the skies. The director, Dr. A. E. Douglass, absent now on sabbatical leave, has done remarkable work in applying the sunspot variations to plant life variations. The researchers of Dr. Douglass have shown that the years in which the sunspots increased activity result in unusual growth of plant life and he has measured the thickness of seasonal growth rings on trees to show the connection.

YOUNG BANKER HEADS GIANT MOVIE MERGER

Joseph P. Kennedy, Former Massachusetts Boy, Proves To be a Business Marvel.

By GENE COHN
New York, April 21.—Barely more than a year ago he appeared in the film world—
Yet Joseph P. Kennedy, who was hailed at 25 as a "business genius" has steered the course of his company through channels that brought it up the other day in one of the greatest theater-film mergers in motion picture annals.

Involves Huge Sum
This merger, which concerned the business end of the cinema industry far more than it interested the average fan, involves, I am told, a flotation of half a billion dollars and a film tie-up with a chain of theaters including the Keith-Albee, the Orpheum circuit in the west, the West Coast Theaters, the Stanley Company interests, North American Theaters, Inc., and others. Distributing and producing interests include First National, Producers Distributing Corporation and Film Booking Offices.

It is over F. B. O. that Kennedy reigns and the presence of some of Wall Street's most eminent names in financing the deal may, perhaps, be at least partially due to Kennedy's financial history.

Joseph P. Kennedy

In January, 1926 this young man still in his thirties—purchased F. B. O.
He had come from Boston where he was born. His father was P. J. Kennedy, a former state senator from Massachusetts. At Harvard he made some slight athletic rep as first baseman on the college ball team.

When he left Harvard he took a political job as state bank examiner and a couple of years later found himself the youngest bank president in America. He was then 25 and headed the Columbia Trust Company.

Befitting a typical American "success story," he married the daughter of the Boston mayor, Rose Fitzgerald. Thereafter he was variously general manager of a Fall River shipbuilding concern and of another business corporation.

Kept Eyes on Films
But his eyes were on the films. "When we lived in smaller Massachusetts towns we went often to the picture theaters," he recalls. "For, after all, they were the chief source of entertainment—almost the only place left for the majority of people."

He began studying the films, their operation and production. Suddenly, to the surprise of film-land, he appeared as the purchaser of F. B. O.—a complete newcomer to cinemadom and one of the youngest of the powerful figures, for he is still under 40.

SCANDAL RAMPANT IN DUCK FAMILY

Chicago.—Oscar was just a duck and not a very forward one at that. He lived in Lincoln Park Zoo with twelve other ducks, six of them flappers, six of them chicks. When eating came around Oscar discovered that he had habits or some for he was left without a w. He moped, sulked, grew angry. Daily he began fighting with other ducks, little mates, who primly repulsed him and told their husbands about it. The outraged males united and went after Oscar. It was six to one and Oscar couldn't duck them. He was buried quietly to avoid scandal in zoo society.

IT WILL "STOP ON A HANDKERCHIEF"

From a sea-gull, Leonard W. Bonney obtained inspiration for design of his airplane. If proved successful by forthcoming tests at Mitchell Field, Long Island, he hopes that it will revolutionize airplane construction. By means of a hydraulic appliance, the angle of incidence of the wings may be changed at will. One advantage this affords is that by turning them to a vertical position as the plane touches the ground upon descending, it "can be stopped on a handkerchief."

SCOTS TO SNUB KING

CIRCLE PRESENTS TWO GOOD FILMS TOMORROW

William Fairbanks and Art Acord Divide Honors In Good Program.

William Fairbanks is more daring than ever in his new picture, "Flying High," an aviation epic which will be one of the two features at the Circle theater at a continuous show tomorrow afternoon and evening. To back up this film the management also presents "Set Free," with Art Acord, famous Western star, in the leading role.

Not only is "Flying High" crammed full of aerial adventures but there is also an elaborate production with a high grade acting cast headed by Alice Calhoun, the noted emotional star. The story is a melodrama with the trailing of a band of air pirates by a navy ex-army aviator.

Roy Cummins is an ex-army aviator who is earning a meager living with an old passenger plane at a summer resort. He unknowingly assists a crook to transfer a package by aid of the plane and this puts him on the track of a band of air pirates who have been robbing the air mail and express companies. How he becomes the hawk of the air and runs to earth the robbers forms the basis of the picture.

A man, a horse and a dog are the principal actors in "Set Free," the companion feature. Art Acord is assisted by his horse Rex, and Raven, the dog and all three have the big parts of the film.

Rapid action, fierce fights, daredevil rides, dangerous stunts performed with great nerve—all these combine to make "Set Free," the Art Acord starring vehicle at the Circle theater a most satisfactory entertainment.

there is probably no man better able to arouse the sympathetic understanding of the audience than Acord. There is no man more capable of injecting the real life of the cowpuncher into the five reels of film that constitute a feature and there is probably no other girl than Olive Hasbrouck who could have been so wistful, so sweet, so desirable as she.
Arthur Rosson, recognized as a meritorious director of all types of pictures, has made an unusually entertaining tale from the script and story by Harrison Jacobs, authors of more than a score of Westerns that have proven popular wherever shown.
"The Monkey Talks," picture from the stage play of the same name, is playing for the last time at the Circle tonight. This is one of the big mystery stories of the year and is thrilling from start to finish.

DO THEY WANT TO GO BACK JUST READ! Vets Win Legion Prizes With "Second A.E.F." Essays

With 1000 competing, these three World War veterans won the prizes in a national American Legion contest for the best essays on "Why I Want to Go to France With the Legion in 1927" that won a prize of $350 for Robert McKinnis, of New Brighton, Pa. McKinnis, an infantry private in the World War was wounded and captured by the Germans.

Following is the essay on "Why I Want to Go to France With the Legion in 1927" that won a prize of $350 for Robert McKinnis, of New Brighton, Pa. McKinnis, an infantry private in the World War was wounded and captured by the Germans.

By ROBERT MCKINNIS World War Infantry Private

I want to go back to the land of romance once more—to march down the sweltering roads again with the memory of a carefree gang of doughboys tramping along to the songs of "Hinky Dinky, Parley Voo"; "Goodby Broadway, Hello France," and dear old "Madelon."

shoulders; noisy mess wagons with clanking pans rolling along in the rear; a passing outfit of "Frogs" trudging out of the lines for a rest; ambulances jammed with muffled, bloody, grinning Yanks going back to "Blighty," and the distant boom of big guns banging away over the hills in front of us.

I'd like to crawl back into a certain cramped and water-soaked dugout up near Toul and watch it rain, rain, rain. I want to lie once more in a wheat field below the old chateau in Conde Embré and watch for Jerry heads popping up and down in the trenches across the Marne. I want to live again the night of July 14, when they poured up through the field to wipe us out, and to see if the same little trench is still there where we found Ed and Charley four days later, leaning over their rifles on top of the parapet just as the Jerries had knocked them off.

I want to live all the nights again; to see the bursting shrapnel and to hear it whistling for its victims; to hear the frantic cries of "gas" repeated down the line; to lie listening to the dismal moan of the "G. I." cans going over to wake up the boys from Berlin. I want to crouch there in my dugout listening and wondering. Listening to the dull, heavy boom of far-away cannon rumbling through the night. Listening to the drip, drip, drip of the everlasting rain out in the darkness. I want to lie there wondering—always wondering—what it's all about.

I want to see French hills, French fields, French sky, French people once again. I want to see the kids—to know that they've learned to smile since the war. I want to go back to France once more—not to seek new joys or thrills, but to revive the dreams of old that are fading with the years.

Headlights At Top Inventor Says Present System On Autos Is Continuation Of Old Buggy Days

Cleveland.—Present methods of automobile headlighting is all wrong, and as long as we contemplate improving these lights in their present position, the system will remain all wrong.

With this conviction, Arthur B. Nock of this city has decided to tackle the problem in a revolutionary manner. He has stripped the car of its headlights at the front, and devised a double light to be placed directly above the windshield.

Nock has tried out this light in all sorts of ways, and has decided it's the perfect form—giving good illumination to the driver and helping, rather than hindering, the approaching motorist. "Automobile lighting," says Nock, "has developed from the point of the barn lantern beneath the family pig."

Lists Ten Advantages The advantages of his new form of light, Nock lists as follows: "1. It gives a soft diffused strong light, showing roadway and curb for a distance of 200 feet." "2. It does not have the usual effect of eye strain on the driver." "3. The power of this light to penetrate rain, smoke or fog is greater than any yet known for automobile lighting." "4. Due to its elevation and dif-

The front of the car is lighted so that oncoming drivers can distinguish it easily." "7. The correct angle of lighting is assured, eliminating use of dimmers." "8. Glare is practically eliminated." "9. Variation of loads, spring action, hills, and so on, have no effect on the light beam." "10. The light is out of harm's way in case of accident." "11. Elimination of front headlights reveals the full sweep of body lines."

MORATORIUM FOR JAPAN.

Tokio, April 22.—Fighting financial panic, the Privy Council approved this afternoon a 21-day moratorium, beginning Monday, for all banks in the empire.

Deposits can be withdrawn only to meet government debts, labor payrolls and personal expenses under 500 yen. Meanwhile all banks are closed. The council approved also the calling of an extraordinary session of the Japanese Diet, or Parliament, to approve use of government funds in relieving the crisis. The Diet cannot legally convene before May 4.

EXCITING PICTURE COMES TO RIALTO

Marshall Neilan's production "Diplomacy" which heads the program at the Rialto theater tomorrow is said to be one of the most interesting pictures ever thrown on the screen. The story is exciting and well told. It holds one's interest and, beside the beautiful romance that runs through it, has a finish there's a mystery theme that's more intriguing than any heretofore filmed. The tale briefly told concerns some missing papers of worldwide interest. Everyone in the east could easily be accused of stealing them and the climax is startling to say the least. Blanche Sweet, Nell Hamilton, Matt Moore and Arthur Carew are only a few of the stars appearing in this exciting photoplay.

Another feature appearing on tomorrow's program that deserves particular mention is "The Trail of Treckery" a virile outdoor drama starring Edmund Cobb. In addition to these two mentioned attractions to another chapter of the current

His appointment as a judge of the Supreme Court of Tennessee followed. In 1812 he retired to his plantation. Two thousand responded and Jackson marched for the Mississippi, bound for New Orleans. (To Be Continued.)

MISS RAND, IT SEEMS, CAN POACH A VERY MEAN EGG, ON OCCASION

Sally Rand

BY DAN THOMAS

Hollywood, Calif., April 16.—What can a movie star do? Few can do more than act—some can't even do that. Among the small group of the really talented who are capable of doing things away from the studio is Sally Rand—young, vivacious, blond. I recently had the good fortune to spend an entire day with Sally and was amazed at her resourcefulness.

Sally really should quit the movies, marry and settle down. It's a shame to keep such a good "mother" on the screen. Because she loves children and because she wants to do some good for somebody, Miss Rand has adopted an 8-year-old girl and is raising her.

This young celluloid star knows how to keep house, too. No wise clerk slips anything over on her when she goes marketing. She gets what she wants and then prepares it skillfully. She is famous throughout the DeMille studio for her cooking.

Sally also is a skillful dancer—dancing being her first love. If newspapers and movie magazines are to be believed, 50 per cent of the girls in pictures are former dancers. Sally is one of the few who still can perform with any agility. Whenever photos are wanted of a cinema dancer, she is invariably Hollywood's first choice.

There is no doubt that Sally Rand is becoming popular with movie fans. Her weekly average of more than one hundred fan letters proves that. Yet she is not getting the "breaks" at the studio. Good roles that should be hers are bestowed elsewhere. Why, it is difficult to say. Perhaps Cecil B. DeMille himself is responsible.

The DeMille studio is a one-man organization. DeMille must pass on every action before it is made, every story before it is filmed and every picture before it is released. In addition, he directs certain big productions. The duties are too much for one man and something must suffer.

Sally is one of the unfortunates. But she has ability, beauty and perseverance—and she's come out on top with big roles.

WAPPING

Miss Winnifred Jennings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jennings of this place, who is attending the State Normal school at New Britain, is spending the Easter vacation of a week at her home here.

The Pleasant Valley club held their semi-monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Burnham on Wednesday evening and Mrs. Ernest Hack was the assistant hostess.

The Federated Workers will serve their supper this evening from 6 to 8 o'clock, and following this will be the entertainment given by the members of the Sunset Rebekah Lodge, No. 23, I. O. O. F. of South Manchester. They will present their play entitled "Johnny's New Suit," under the direction of Mrs. Henry Nettleton. The cast for the play is as follows:

Mrs. Silas Larkin, mother of a growing boy. Mrs. Henry Lowd John Larkin, the boy
Irene Powers
Mrs. Albert Spencer, a neighbor
Eveline Pentland
Miss Miranda Brown, president of the Choral and Rhetorical society
Mrs. H. Nettleton
Arathusia Pettengill
Lillian Reardon

Matilda Green
Mrs. Jessie Wallace Deacon Wright, the judge

36 PER CENT ACCIDENTS COST OVER $100 MARK

Property damage, only, resulted from 63.7 per cent of the 24,326 motor vehicle accidents reported to the state motor vehicle department in the past year. And in 36.9 per cent of those accidents, the damage amounted to $100 or more.

The minimum damage required to be reported, under the state law is $10. In 2,775 accidents, or 14.1 per cent of the total for the year, damage of $10 to $24 was reported; in 4,448 or 22.8 per cent, damage of $25 to $49; in 3,169, or 16.1 per cent, damage of $50 to $74 and in 1,983, or 10.1 per cent, damage of $75 to $100.

The accidents which resulted fatally to persons totaled 1.2 per cent of all reported; those fatal to animals amounted to 1.1 per cent.

In 15.9 per cent of the accidents, personal injury, only, was caused and in 17.1 per cent both personal injury and property damage was done. The extent of damage done by 1 per cent of the accidents was not reported.

The estimated property loss in Connecticut resulting from the use of automobiles has been increasing from year to year, and for 1926 the total was $2,391,346. The property damage loss for the previous year was $2,130,377. General accidents increased from 22,558 in 1925 to 24,326 in 1926, but the number of fatal accidents decreased from 341 to 3099.

NASH
Leads the World in Motor Car Value

You can see why Nash has extra power

The extra power that makes Nash a more capable car to drive, particularly on the hills or in dense traffic, is directly due to extra-efficient design.

The Nash Straight Line Drive, for instance, diagrammed above.

Nash power flows directly from the engine to the rear axle in a straight line. There are no angles along the route to waste energy, as there would be if the motor were mounted parallel to the frame, as the ordinary motor is.

The Straight Line Drive accounts in part for Nash aggressiveness—for the powerful pick-up at low speeds (where you need it most). You will always notice it is the Nash that gets away soonest when the traffic starts.

The Straight Line Drive also avoids wear on the universal joints, and thereby prevents noise and looseness.

Of course, it takes a little longer and costs more to build Nash this better way—
—But any Nash owner will tell you it makes a lot of difference in the results he gets.

Drive a Nash, before you decide which car to buy!

FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1927.

MORE OF IT.

After five weeks of the time of a federal court had been consumed, after the litigants had incurred expenditures for that period amounting far into the thousands every day and after a huge amount of testimony had been taken, to the extreme inconvenience of a large number of persons, the federal judge, conducting the Sapiro-Ford libel suit suddenly scraps the whole business because a woman juror talked and because newspapers printed the substance of certain motions, supplied by counsel, before they had actually been submitted to the court.

There had been hints that the woman juror in question had been approached by representatives of one of the litigants and bribery in view; but Judge Raymond and Department of Justice investigators absolved both the juror and the lawyers of any such intrigue. If there is anything in the fact that the juror did talk to somebody, to indicate that she was thereby rendered incapable of arriving at an honest decision on the case, it has not been disclosed. If there is anything in the slightest degree bearing on the capacity of the court to continue a fair trial in the fact that a motion for a mistrial was prematurely printed, it is denied to the brain of the plain citizen to comprehend it.

There is something very wrong with a system of courts where such performances as this are possible. If somebody breaks some stuffy regulation handed down from ancient times, if somebody dares to infringe on the unhealthy sensitive dignity of some judge, if there is the slightest departure from utter slavish obedience to majestic dicta which are founded on the traditions of the dark ages—then the high and mighty personage on the bench makes no bones about chucking out of court the most important and costliest of suits, with a perfectly ruthless disregard for the wastage of money and time involved.

Some day the people of this country are going to demand—and get—an overhauling of the judicial system in the course of which an enormous quantity of the rubbish of hokum will be swept out onto the ash heap. There is no slightest reason why they should forever tolerate a burden of pompous inefficiency and insane extravagance in the administration of justice which they will not think of tolerating anywhere else.

Here in Connecticut we are a thousand miles ahead of the great majority of the states in the practical side of court practice, and twice that far ahead of the federal system. And yet we could probably do three times as much court business with the same establishment in the same time if the courts were stripped to the bone of all their superfluous and waste technique.

BIGGER THAN CONNECTICUT.

If the empire state of Connecticut, from the Massachusetts line to the Sound and from New York state to Rhode Island, were to be suddenly covered with water to the depth of many feet the inundated area would still be considerably smaller than that which has been submerged by the floods in the lower Mississippi valley.

When it is considered that the inhabitants of the affected region are in many cases not the most robust types that America produces, and most of them very poor into the bargain, the extent of the disaster may be partially realized.

Reports say that in Arkansas especially measles has appeared in the refugee camps, along with mumps and whooping cough. These things do not sound so very formidable to us, perhaps. But measles, as a camp epidemic, is a virulent and deadly disease—it killed unnumbered British soldiers during the Boer war—and the other two ailments are viciously communicable if not so frequently fatal.

If there has been any disposition on the part of the more fortunate parts of the South to regard relief work among the hundred thousand refugees as a sectional responsibility there is no intimation to that effect. It looks as if the National Red Cross were going to have the job of caring for close to fifty thousand hungry, sick and homeless people. It is gratifying to the country to know that the Red Cross is equal to the task. And it must be gratifying to the Red Cross in turn to know that whatever the need of backing, in this great work, the people will supply it.

DEATH PENALTY.

After a New London man has served eighteen years in state prison for murder, the star witness, without whose testimony the accused could not have been convicted, recants and admits that he lied under oath. Now a movement is on foot to obtain the liberation of the prisoner.

The most striking feature of the case is that the prisoner was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged, that the supreme court could find no error in the trial when it heard the case on appeal, and it was only through the lucky interposition of the Board of Pardons that the convicted man did not go to a felon's death long ago.

It is this factor of remotely possible error which has always made us receptive to the idea of doing away with the death penalty altogether. That, and the lack of any real proof that the death penalty, in prospect, is any more effective a deterrent of capital crimes than is imprisonment for life.

We have, on certain occasions, protested strenuously against extraordinary efforts to save murderous criminals from death, but that has been because we did not believe those particular criminals to be entitled to any immunity from the extreme penalty, whatever it might be.

There is no incompatibility, that we can see, in demanding that the law be executed while it stands, and at the same time in favoring an amelioration in the extreme penalty itself, for all offenders alike.

It is doubtful if any murderer ever yet killed because he expected to be able to swap the gallows or the chair for a life-long cell.

If this New London man had been put to death there would have been nothing that any power in the world could have done for him. Now some scant measure of justice, at least, is possible.

IN THE SAME SHIP.

A new French liner, the Ile de France, just now nearing completion, is to have a twenty-nine foot bar and, connected with it, a sidewalk cafe, just like the boulevard cafes of Paris. And she is to run between New York and Paris. Surely this ought to keep out of her many of the godly. But stay; there is another fact about the Ile de France. She is to have, also, a sea-going church, the only one in any ship. Somewhere in the interior of the great new liner is to be a two-story chapel, with pews, altar and organ. Not even our own perfectly dry shipping board ships make such provision for the religious leanings of potential passengers.

Perhaps the idea of the French ship owners is that they will permit those who wish to go to church to go to church and those who wish to patronize a bar to patronize a bar, without insisting in either instance that those who do not wish to visit the place must do so. Perhaps they may even have the notion that an occasional person might have use for both establishments—or neither.

At all events it is a bit refreshing to know that somewhere in the world, if not in the United States, there are folks who can conceive of a Christian and a bar patron living side by side without doing violence to each other—the Ile de France has not been provided with an electric chair nor yet with a court room.

SEE THAT CHIP?

More than ever has Manchester reason to be proud of its Men's Choral club. Recognizing the point of the ancient saying that "Our geese are all swans," and making allowances for its possible application here, we folks in this little community are, nevertheless, moving fast toward the conviction that any other town or city anywhere near similar size, that can produce a musical organization of equal capacity and equal promise, has got to step some. In other words we are getting darned cocky about it, and we'd like to see somebody knock the chip off our shoulder.

CHINESE HORDES.

For the first time since there has been talk of foreign intervention in China some glimmering of the strength of the forces that would have to be disposed of in such event is being acquired. A recent estimate of the number of troops immediately available to Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the Nationalist armies, with particular relation to any conflict with the red Hankow government, is three hundred thousand. And such a force, though far more than sufficient to overwhelm the communist army, cannot by any means represent the whole of the armed strength of the Nationalists, because they have troops spread clear across mid-China.

It is extremely probable that Chiang could command, if compelled to face a foreign enemy, considerably more than half a million soldiers.

It is a very idle thing to imagine that the foreign troops now in China could chase this great army about at will. If there should be a war of invasion in China it would be one of the bloodiest in modern history.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

SUGAR FROM A TREE

By ARTHUR N. PACK President, American Nature Ass'n. One of the first secrets the white men in America learned from the Indians was that a certain tree grew in the forest from the sap of which a most delicious sirup and sugar could be made. This was the hard, or sugar, maple.

Among the Indians the maple sugar was of far more importance than with us. They not only sweetened their cakes of ground maize meal with it, but put it into their soups and even seasoned their meats with it.

They first traded it to the white men for beads and other trinkets, and then the settlers came and their red neighbors showed them how to gather the sap and boil it until only the sugar remained in the evaporating pan. We have had maple sugar ever since.

There was another maple tree in the forest which the Indians said did not yield enough sugar to pay for gathering the sap. This was the red or soft maple.

French Canadians doubted the tribesmen's word. They tried for themselves and found that the Indians had not lied. Later other sugar-makers followed in their footsteps with like results.

However, if the soft maple does not furnish sugar, it does contribute the vivid red maple leaves to the autumn woods, blending well with the golden leaves of the hard maple, and, both varieties yield timber that is highly prized in furniture making.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, April 22.—It is hard to recall off-hand whether or not Emily Post, the authority on which olive fork to use for ripe olives and how many petals to remove in denuding an artichoke, wrote anything about dallyhooning some personage as the flagship of one's party before inviting said personage.

If not, Emily must have considered such warning superfluous. It has been the habit of numerous small-time New York social clubs to advertise that some celebrity or other would be guests of honor at the club's next shindig. Whereupon the tariff would be boosted to $1.25 a couple instead of the customary 75 cents.

Perhaps the merleque of the more manicured port of Washington society is not to be compared with the ladies and gents of Mulberry street or the Twenty-second Ward Beef-Steak and Black Bottom Associates—perhaps, we say. But it is now certain that the Spanish ambassador, Don Alejandro Padilla Y Bell, and the Spanish ambassador's wife, Senora Dona Carmen Satrustegui de Padilla, are neither taking lessons in social etiquette from these social organizations nor lessons in Spanish social customs from the aforesaid merleque.

All of which is part of the hitherto unwritten history of the swiftest Mi-Careme fiesta recently promoted by the queens of the local jungle. This fiesta was what is often known as a ball, or dance, and the surprise to everyone was for a few timbers to prop up the roof of decrepit Monticello, one-time abode of Thomas Jefferson, toward which all devout Democrats face as they kneel to pray for another honest Democratic president in the fall election.

Wouldn't it be just too picturesque for anything to have a real Spanish fiesta, someone suggested. You bet it would, and let's call it Mi-Careme because Mi-Careme was the occasion when all good dons and senoritas came up for a breath of air in mid-July. So everyone began to feel very Spanish; there was much humming of stray bars of "La Paloma" and "That Wonderful Kid From Madrid," and in a burst of enthusiasm it was announced that Senora Don Padilla and Senora Dona Padilla would be the guests of honor. Yes, indeed, they would occupy a specially decorated box.

In a moment of extreme mental activity, someone thought to break the news to Senora Dona Padilla. And then Senora Dona Padilla broke some news to the committee.

"Mi-Careme? How lovely! But really, that isn't a Spanish custom. It's French. It is true that some people do dance in Spain during lent, but no one I know. So sorry! I've never been to a mid-lenten dance in Madrid, and really I couldn't do it here."

"Mi-Careme is simply the French word for mid-lent. Spain says it differently."

The ambassador himself was appalled to see the privacy of his boudoir has been laughing about it ever since. But the social Jones must possess the hide of a rhino if she would lead the pace. Nobody wanted to wear French costumes. The fiesta had been named Mi-Careme and that was all there was to it. Perhaps Senora Dona Padilla would consent to adopt the mantillas for certain favored ladies and see that just the right amount of lace hung shaft. Oh yes, certainly—which meant that there would be something Spanish about it all after all. So the French ambassador, M. Paul Claudel, was roped in as the guest of honor; full advantage was taken of the fact that some of the Latin-American diplomats will go anywhere where refreshments are served and an allegedly Spanish dancer was imported from New York.

Whether the French ambassador grouped for smiling salts when he arrived and found himself surrounded by Spanish costumes for Mi-Careme has not been revealed. He probably muttered: "Carrauba!"

Ask Me Another. YOUR HONOR WHEN DO I GET A DIVORCE? ASK CONGRESS WHEN THEY'RE GOING TO PASS THOSE COAL REGULATIONS.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The hardy tourist, who sets out to see all of New York's "sights" in two days' time, seldom fails to get on one of the lantern-bedecked busses and take a trip through Chinatown. There the barker regals him with fearsome tales of the dark and sinister practices that the inscrutable Celestials indulge in behind the frowsy fronts of the dingy Mott and Pell street tenements. The tourist looks about him, observes that the neighborhood differs from other neighborhoods only in that it is rather more peaceful, and concludes—rightly—that the barker is kidding him. Yet, for all the exaggerations of the bus-barkers, New York's Chinatown is at times a highly picturesque place, bizarre with that peculiar color which a Chinese colony in a strange land always acquires. In proof of this remark might be cited the recent peace festival of the On Leong and Hip Sing tongs, in which the rival leaders celebrated their latest burial of the hatchet after their most recent war. Immediately after the peace agreement had been reached, a white flag with red border, inscribed with Chinese characters, was raised on a flagstaff on the roof of Hip Sing Tong headquarters on Pell street, while a similar flag fluttered up on a similar mast atop the On Leong Tong headquarters on Mott street. These were flags of peace, telling all Chinatown that the war was off. At the same time a notice was pasted on an old bulletin board which hangs at the intersection of Pell and Mott streets—the deadline during a Tong war. Pell street is Hip Sing territory in war time and Mott street is On Leong territory, and the neutral Chinaman passes from one to the other in fear and trembling when there are hostilities afoot. This notice apparently told of the armistice; for presently Chinese began to tiptoe up and read it, turning away to dive into nearby houses to spread the tidings. Presently Chinatown became imbued with a festive air. Once more the streets became populated. From within the houses could be heard the music of those strange Chinese musical instruments which, they say, no white man ever learns to admire. Rice wine began to flow, and the odor of ceremonial roast pig floated in the air. Furthermore, and most important, Chinamen who are members of the two Tong began to unlock their front doors. The police for several days refused to trust too implicitly in this armistice, and continued to send triple patrols through Chinatown. "You never can tell about the Chinese," said one police captain. The peace, incidentally, came just too soon for one Chinese. This man, who reached New York on the day the armistice was signed, is a famous killer but belongs to neither Tong. When a Tong war is on he recruits a force of hatchetmen and hires out to the highest bidder. He came to New York from Chicago expecting a harvest—but they signed the peace treaty just about the time he was getting off his train. GILBERT SWAN.

AVERAGE INCOME 11 CENTS A MINUTE. New Haven, Conn.—Every time the minute hand of the clock moves up a notch, the workers of the United States have pocketed $50,000, declares an enterprising statistician of a cloak company here. The average income of the American citizen gainfully employed in a regular eight-hour day is 11 1/2 cents a minute. He also figured that President Coolidge receives 50 cents a minute as chief executive; Will Hays gets a dollar a minute; and Judge Landis makes 43 cents. Douglas Fairbanks leads the list with $6.67 a minute. A single second wasted by American workers would cost $9,950.

An Ex-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE

Bouresches as it looks today—with all of the damaged buildings repaired except the church.

This is the 12th chapter in the story of a former doughboy who is revisiting France as an advance guard of the "Second A. E. F."

Hill 204 is over there in the distance—the gravestones in the cemetery at Bouresches are shattered—a group of villagers are working at the repair of a house in Vaux—along the road a French peasant has a straw stack in a field—and mounted on this straw stack is a scarecrow—to frighten away the birds—and the scarecrow is made of an American army blouse and a German helmet!

Cyclists are peddling up the hills, over the roads where Americans crept in their slow but relentless advance—a woman walks along with an umbrella—the church at Bouresches has never been rebuilt—it is "capit"—new signboards have replaced those which were destroyed—Vaux 217—the automobile coats swiftly down the Avenue de Paris and through the avenue of trees past the one factory of the town into Chateau Thierry again.

Out on the other side through Brasles, Mont St. Pere, Chartèves and into Jaulgonne. Jaulgonne is on the hill above that famous turn in the Marne—"Jaulgonne Bend" where the 38th U. S. Infantry repelled the Germans. In this little theater at the neck of the Surmelin Valley there was, in 1918, one of the greatest conflicts of all time.

But the evidences have all been erased. A beautiful new concrete bridge spans the river. Coming up the stream there's a huge barge, towed by two mules driven along the tow-path by a young girl. The elderly skipper of the barge drops his mast to go under the tiller. His wife, wearing a black bonnet and apron, handles the tiller. Slowly, at scarcely more than a snail's pace, the clumsy craft slides upstream and around the Jaulgonne Bend.

And in the lowland over there rises she could expect in the staff room and the particular servant needed is thus immediately and silently notified. At another hotel, baths have been especially fitted to fill in eleven seconds and empty in four.

The energetic "Come to Britain" movement has had, in all certainty, a wonderful effect, and London hotels and shopkeepers are looking forward to a record season of prosperity from the expected great influx of American visitors.

Europe And The High Seas On Harold Lloyd's Mind

BY DAN THOMAS

Hollywood, Calif., April 22—Harold Lloyd is growing up.

The funny "youth" of filmland is going to desert the small towns for New York, London, Paris and other places—that is, cinematically speaking. In other words, Lloyd is now planning to make his next picture one of those rambling films that will start in Hollywood and wind up in Rome.

"I want to make a comedy that is entirely different from anything I have ever done before," Lloyd told me. "That is why I chose this travel idea. It is not only different from anything I have ever done but also entirely new in comedy fields as far as I know.

"According to our rough plans the story will take us to New York, where we will board the Leachian for Europe. Then we will visit London, Paris, Berlin and Rome. Some of the picture will be made in each city as well as aboard ship going over and returning.

"Ted Wilde, who directed 'The Kid Brother,' John Grey and Lex Neale are now working on the story with some logical reason for making the journey. The film must be more than a travelogue."

The production, as Lloyd plans it, will cost in the neighborhood of a million dollars and will require anywhere from seven to nine months of actual "shooting". If the story can be completed, work will start in about a month or six weeks.

Most of the comedian's pictures have had their settings in small towns. This one won't even have a suggestion of a small town in it. "I will have to take a whole company with me," explains Lloyd. "And even with my own men around me, it will be a handicap to be so far from our base. We can't possibly have the equipment we have here at the studio. When we want something here, we get it quickly. We may not have such luck in Europe."

CALOON IN TREE STUMP

Blandford, Eng. —California may have trees so large that people can live in the hollow trunks, but this town boasts the only stump that ever housed a saloon. It is "Damory's Oak," a stump 26 feet in circumference with a hollow space 15 feet wide and 17 feet high inside. For many years it served as an ale house.

LONDON TO GIVE U. S. TOURISTS BIG WELCOME

1927 Visitors Will Find Transformed City During Coming Summer.

London.—A great welcome will be staged by London this summer for American visitors.

Travelers from the United States will find what, in many ways, might be described as a "transformed London." All the great building operations that have been under way during the past four or five years have, almost in a night, reached the stage of completion. In many places London looks like a new city.

The transformation of Piccadilly Circus, the hub of the city, is practically complete. The gigantic operation of transforming Regent street, the city's greatest shopping way, from an eighteenth century atmosphere into the finest and most modern street in the world, is now finished. The old-fashioned air of dinginess has departed. In place of a beautiful curve of palatial buildings all in glistening white.

Old Places Gone Similarly, in Oxford street, Piccadilly, Bond street, even Fleet street, a transformation has taken place within the past two years. The old-fashioned houses and buildings—so dear to Londoners—have gone. In their places are the most up-to-date structures that the combined skill of British and American architects have been able to produce.

Three new hotels have been opened in Mayfair—the heart of aristocratic London—during the past three months. They have aimed deliberately at excelling the standard set by the premier American fashionable hotels. Even in moderate priced suites one finds baths or onyx and jade alabaster set into marble floors in rooms the walls of which are of black glass inlaid with silver.

In every room, wardrobes are fitted with double lighting sets, showing clothes as they appear in the daylight and under artificial light.

Expect Big Season Mayfair hotels have certainly set themselves to give the most fastidious American woman all the luxuries she could expect in the staff room and the particular servant needed is thus immediately and silently notified. At another hotel, baths have been especially fitted to fill in eleven seconds and empty in four.

LOCAL SOCCER CLUB IDLE NOW TILL FALL

Manchester has concluded its soccer season and unless an exhibition game is played, will be inactive until next fall. Manager Jimmie McCollough said today. There is one more scheduled state league game with the Bridgeport Swedes but that will not be played and a disposition of the points will be settled at a meeting in the Park City Saturday afternoon. The other Bridgeport team, the Clan Campbell, forfeited both of its games to Manchester and these four points puts Manchester in second place in the league, the championship of which was won by the Hartford Thistles.

Other Soccer News Manchester fans, however, are interested in soccer news from other parts of the country. Information received today was that the Holley Carburetor F. C., successful western candidates for soccer honors, is marking time against the playing of the Eastern Final which game will determine its opponent for the final contest of the annual series for possession of the magnificent Dewar trophy, emblematic of the national soccer championship of the United States.

The Holley eleven, which hails from Detroit, recorded a real upset by eliminating the powerful Sparta Club of Chicago last Sunday in the western final which was staged in the Windy City by the odd goal in three.

The Detroit team, making its first appearance in the National tourney, has courageously fought its way to the final stages. Led by their Holland International, Gerrit Visser, they have amassed a total of 31 goals to date in the series, for 21 of which Visser has been directly responsible.

Providence Game

The Bethlehem Steel F. C., five times winner of the national championship, will be called upon to meet its strongest contender for the title Sunday at Kinsley Park Providence, R. I., when the famous Steelworkers will clash with the crack Fall River club in the eastern final. The last time these titans of the soccer world met in the national competition was in the season of 1923-24 in which contest the New England representatives were the victors and carried on to annex the National Cup by defeating the Yeager Bulck F. C. at St. Louis. The winner of this game will meet the Holley Carburetor of Detroit in the grand final on Sunday, May 1st, at a place to be announced later.

In their quest for the national amateur soccer title, the LaFlamme Cobblers F. C., of New Bedford, eliminated the McLeod Council F. C. of Jersey City in the eastern final by 5 goals to 2. By virtue of their victory over the New Jersey team, the Cobblers have qualified to meet the Heidelberg club from Western Pennsylvania for the national amateur title. The Heidelberg club reached the final last season only to lose to the Defenders F. C., of New Bedford. Clinched Pennant The Bethlehem Steel F. C., eastern finalist in the national cup series, have clinched the championship of the American Soccer League. The Steelworkers have registered 61 points of the 78 possible in the major soccer circuit. They can afford to lose their remaining five games and still retain their leadership.

The New Jersey State Football Association has announced that William J. Patrick, secretary of that body for the past 12 years, has been suspended sine die. Mr. Patrick was replaced in that capacity, some few weeks ago, by Hugh McGuire, 214 Ingham avenue, Trenton, N. J.

DAUGHTERS of MIDAS

by Anne Austin

THIS HAS HAPPENED

T. Q. CURTIS, millionaire department store owner, selects three girls from his establishment to come into his home as wards for one year, because he believes that they have worthy ambitions which he wants to help them further.

BILLY WELLS, who wants to become a concert pianist, is the only one of the three that is earnest. NYDA LOMAX and WINNIE SHELTON accept only the generosity under false pretences.

A MRS. MEADOWS is hostess for the wards. Her nephew, DAL ROMANINE, cleverly "plays" Billy, Nyda, and Winnie, much to the despair of Billy, who is infatuated with him.

Billy overheard Mr. Curtis say he is going to adopt one of the girls for his daughter when the year is up, and in order to have an unfair advantage, she tells the other girls what she has heard. A battle immediately begins for the prized place. Billy is disgusted with the obvious deceit of Nyda and Winnie and would drop out of the contest but for the realization of the fact that to be adopted by old Curtis would give her an advantage with Dal.

Billy is in a hateful dilemma as to which girl to choose. But though there lingers the tender memory of CLAY CURTIS, with whom she has been in love, Clay, son of her benefactor, has abandoned himself and is heading with Billy's mother, in the poor section of the town, working in an automobile factory the daytime and writing music at night.

Because of her infatuation for Dal, Billy begins to lose interest in her music. She is so sure that old T. Q. definitely remarks that his temporary adoption of the three girls has caused a drop in morale in his store. Nyda suggests that the employees are feeling out with false aversion, asks what she can do to help "dear Daddy Curtis."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIX

"Not angry with me, Mignon?" he asked softly.

HAVE the girls in the store been talking about us, Mr. Curtis?" Winnie asked in a small, aggrieved voice.

"I'm not blaming you—any of you," T. Q.'s stern face softened.

"What do they say about us, Mr. Curtis?" Billy cut in. "It happens that I haven't had much money to shop with, because of what I give to my mother and the high cost of becoming a pianist. But I noticed that the girls didn't seem any too pleased to wait on us. Not that I blame them," she added honestly. "I'd loathe it, if I were in their position."

"They apparently do," T. Q. said.

"Miss Simmons says the general complaint is that you girls ritz them, high-bat them, I believe their very expressive term is. I'd rather not go into unpleasant details but I believe all of you had better be seen at the store as little as possible. I never thought, I'd be advising customers with cash in their pockets to shop elsewhere, but I believe it's best in this case. You get another month's allowance tomorrow, and I suggest, just to save unpleasantness, that you do your shopping anywhere but in the Curtis Store. Nothing to cry about, little girls. He checked Winnie's quivering chin with awkward kindness. "Now, let's forget it. Suppose you play for us after dinner, Billy. You've been putting me off with excuses too many evenings."

She had been practicing that afternoon in the music room and when she obediently went to fetch her violin, Dal Romaine, who had arrived just as coffee was being poured, followed her.

"Not angry with me, Mignon?" he asked softly.

"Didn't Winnie give you my message yesterday?" His black eyes brooded upon her with a shadow of hurt in them. "I telephoned, she answered the phone, and said you were not in, that you had left word that you would be at your mother's all afternoon. She asked if I would take her for a drive instead—and I did, wishing all the while that it was you, Mignon."

"I was in, waiting for you," Billy protested, her blue eyes wide with misery and doubt. "She simply lied, if she told you I was at mother's. Then when I asked me to go driving with him, I accepted. I saw you drive up, saw Winnie get into your car. I didn't know what to think," she added in a low, shaken voice. "Oh, sometimes I wish I were out of this house. Nyda and Winnie hate me, and they hate each other. The whole house seethes with intrigue. It's like a nightmare, with T. Q. being made a fool of."

She stopped short, her eyes widening with a sudden, cold fear that she had told too much.

"Let's run away from it for just one day," he flashed that miracle-making smile of his. "I didn't cheat out of our drive yesterday. Let's make a whole day of it tomorrow, Mignon, please."

"I've got a music lesson in the morning," she forced herself to confess, though her whole body sang with joy at the thought of a day alone with him. "And I've really got to do some shopping in the afternoon."

"Listen, Mignon, cut your music lesson this once. You've been working too hard. We'll shop in the morning. I have excellent taste in women's clothes, though I suppose," he smiled at himself, "all men think that of themselves. And just today I saw a dress which you positively must have. It was made for you. No, I won't tell you where I saw it. Come, Billy, don't be such a conscientious little darling. We'll shop in the morning, drive to Cliff-ton for lunch, then on to and on, wherever our fancy leads us, until we find a little rendezvous for tea. Then back in time for dinner, unless I can persuade you to give me the evening, too. Will you, Mignon?"

She gave in suddenly, her conscience deserting her as he took her hands in his, as if he knew that the magic of his touch could plead with her more effectively than words.

"Mr. Curtis is waiting for you," Nyda appeared in the doorway, her black eyes gleaming hatred.

Billy played surprisingly well that evening, for the ecstasy that quivered in every nerve was communicated to the bow and the strings of her sensitive instrument.

Nyda watched her sullenly. Winnie's eyes were cold. When Billy had played two selections, Winnie ran to perch on T. Q.'s chair, running her tiny fingers through his hair.

"I can't play the fiddle, Daddy Curtis," she told him in a sweet, wistful voice, "but I'm learning to play the typewriter like a real private secretary. Like this."

Nyda drummed rapidly and lightly upon his head with twinkling fingers. "And I can take dictation if they talk real slow."

"Now what scheme have you got buzzing about in your funny little head?" T. Q. twinkled at her affectionately.

"I want you to let me be your private secretary here at home," she confided in a pretty rush of words.

"Pshaw, child!" T. Q. protested, but he was enormously pleased and touched. "You don't want to devote your evenings to a cranky old man while these two gadabouts"—he glanced at Nyda and Billy—"hit from party to party. You're a mighty popular little girl with your new friends, and if I let you slave for me in the evenings, I'd be mobbed by a score or so of your admirers."

"You make me laugh!" Winnie gurgled. "I don't like any of them as well as I do you. Won't you let me help you two or three evenings a week anyway? There's always time after dinner before we have to go to a dance or anything."

"Now, I ask you, is that fair?" Nyda could stand it no longer. "We like Mr. Curtis, too, and you shan't shut him up in the library and have him all to yourself. We won't stand for that!" she said. "Billy?" She was forced to ring in Billy as an aid. "I don't think Billy would mind." T. Q. gave Billy a keen look. "I don't see much of her as it is. The Bradleys and the Trumans and the Krugers seem to have taken a mortgage on her evenings. This is the first time we've had the pleasure of hearing her violin for more than a week. But I want all of you to have a good time in your own way. I'll be mighty glad to have your help, Winnie," he conceded, with a whimsical smile. "If you want to donate your services to the old man, but I'll have to learn to slow up my dictation."

"If you don't care how your letters look, it ought to be a swell arrangement," Nyda thrust maliciously. "Winnie got 300 spelling tests. I saw her paper—by accident."

"Oh, Nyda, you're jealous!" Winnie mourned, cuddling closer to T. Q.

"No need for any of my girls to be jealous," T. Q. laughed merrily. "I'm proud of all of you. But I've got a surprise for you, Nyda. Reckon we better tell her now—show her, Mrs. Meadows?"

"Why, yes, I think it's finished. The last of the workmen left today. Shall we go up now?" Mr. Curtis has planned a delightful surprise for Nyda. I am sure she will be very happy."

Wonderingly, the three girls followed T. Q. and Mrs. Meadows up the stairs to the second floor, on which T. Q. had his own apartment. Dal Romaine, smiling a little cynically at T. Q.'s failure to invite him to share the surprise, remained in the drawing room.

"This was my—Clay's room," T. Q. opened the door into a room across the hall from his own bedroom. "Or, rather, his sitting room. His bedroom is just beyond. I haven't disturbed that. Well, Nyda, what do you think of it?"

The piano, the shelves of books and the wainscot had been removed. The walls had been tinted a pale, lovely apple green, and stencilled lavishly with scenes from fairy stories. The three bears and Goldilocks, Little Red Riding Hood, the dwarfs and Snowwhite, all the beloved of children, marched in a deep frieze about the walls. A big hand mirror and a modern cabinet filled with every apparatus for kindergarten work, another cabinet of toys, gave unmistakable evidence of the uses for which the room was designed.

"Your love for children, Nyda, and your desire to teach them and play with them, gave me the idea for fixing up a little kindergarten in my own home. The cook's little girl, Beatrice, and Mrs. Moore's little grandson, Tommy, named for me, by the way, will be your pupils. The Bea is five and Tommy four. Do you like it, my dear?"

Nyda made a valiant effort. In the next minute she proved herself an actress of consummate skill. The blank, dismayed look which had betrayed her for a second was erased by a glowing rapture. Her deep contralto voice vibrated with joy and a suggestion of tears.

"How perfectly dear of you, Daddy Curtis!" she cried, using Winnie's name for him for the first time. "Then she would her lovely arms about his neck and kissed him on both cheeks. "How good you are to me! Will they—dear little kiddies, I mean—come every day?"

Billy turned away, sorry for the girl in her ludicrous predicament.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Why are women such fools? "Plain fools" is what George Reme, a French gentleman burglar sentenced to prison for 10 years, calls 'em. This Raffles has received nearly 2000 marriage proposals from the charming girls since he began serving his sentence. Any warden of any penitentiary anywhere will tell you of prison morale shattered by maudlin women sympathizers who make the prisoner believe he is a much-abused, wronged soul. Sometimes, though poets in such raves about this very "maternal instinct" rather than "plain foolishness."

Reformer Endorses Fags

The rector of our city's most exclusive church, the moneyed, blue-book church, has a member of his church to task who, as employers, save girls in their hire. He says, does this rector, that it's perfectly atrociously awful the way poor girls labor all afternoon long with no time out for tea and a cigarette. He advocates 15-minute afternoon recesses for working girls. Moreover, he believes that the employer should furnish the tea and cakes and fags. Just wait until the National Woman's party hears this. How'll they fume, unless the divine means that "male employes also should have their tea and fags!"

Fair Oyster Farmer

Betsy Ann Herold will soon have her degree which means Doctor of Oyster Farming. Miss Herold is the only girl among 5000 students in the college of fisheries at the University of Washington, which T. Q. had his own apartment. Dal Romaine, smiling a little cynically at T. Q.'s failure to invite him to share the surprise, remained in the drawing room.

"This was my—Clay's room," T. Q. opened the door into a room across the hall from his own bedroom. "Or, rather, his sitting room. His bedroom is just beyond. I haven't disturbed that. Well, Nyda, what do you think of it?"

GAY POTTERY FOR JADED APPETITES

Upper left, Italian putty-colored tea set of unique squatness, with unusual handles and gay yellow birds; upper right, practical and decorative, this brilliant yellow Spanish cup; lower left, octagonal Quimper ware enlivened by quaint Breton figures, and, lower right, an Italian milk pitcher, decorated with a medieval castle, and a blue porridge bowl, topped with a gay cover.

Perhaps the most popular of foreign peasant pottery is the Quimper ware, fashioned in Brittany. Each has a tiny Breton man or woman's figure on it, dressed in characteristic colorful costume of red, green, tan, yellow, purple and black.

The basic color of Quimper pottery is a rich, buttery cream and the little figures always stand in a crude setting of black and red lines suggesting Breton woods. Some of the smaller sized sets come in square shapes which make them pleasing to children for nursery use.

Spanish pottery looks to its native land for color and design too. The Spanish poppy is a universally motif, with perhaps a crude poppy in the center of the design and petals, leaves and soft green stems surrounding it in conventional patterns. Blue flowers and sometimes old Castilian paintings, all crude and interesting, give suggestions for patterns too.

The brilliant yellow sunshine of old Spain gives its color, intensified, to this pottery. Black lines and green set off the gayness.

Spanish candlesticks, saucer will liven up a sick tray as few things can. Spanish candlesticks, vases and odd pitchers or other pieces are almost as decorative to a table as flowered themselves.

Italian pottery shows the imagination of the dreamy temperaments of the native women and children. A variety of designs decorate it. It's shape too, shows imagination. Squat round tea sets will have the top of their cups flare like flounces or grow octagonal. Handles are rarely just handles. They rise abruptly or curve out or take some unusual shape that makes them not only easy to hold but distinctive for their oddity.

Originality Rural

A variety of designs decorate it. Most of this pottery was originally made far from the cities, perhaps along streams in mountain stretches, and a certain little yellow bird, reminiscent of our canary, and a haunter of mountain streams, is a popular design on much of it.

Then, too, looking towards the hills, the women have glimpsed old mediaeval castles in the mountains and have transported the image to decorate china. Some of the most interesting pieces have such castles roughly sketched on a soft gray-blue or cream background. Colors are not so gay perhaps, on Italian pottery as on Spanish, but the combinations are really lovelier. A putty colored pottery may have a gay yellow bird, and then both blue and green edging its cups, saucers and plates.

Look Around—You'll Find It

A half century ago, Americans had to make special tours to Europe and trips by carts out into the country to secure these pretty things. But so pleasing were the samples thus brought back and so universally have they appealed, that today practically all china stores carry a wide variety of European peasant pottery. Some countries have capitalized the demand and now have factories turning out imitations. But the real Quimper ware of France and the real crude peasant ware of Italy and Spain can still be had and reasonably in the housewife just looks around.

To bring cheer and inspiration on dark days and to give stimulus to lagging appetites, no single thing could be more valuable!

God Nature and Good Health

STARVATION FAD IS REAL MENACE TO HEALTH.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Of all the people of the world, Americans are apparently more addicted to and the most victims of food fads of one type or another.

The explanation lies, no doubt, in high-pressure advertising methods and "eat more" campaigns planned primarily for the promotion of single items of diet, when a diet should actually be widely assorted and well balanced.

The most victims of all of the food fads, strangely enough, is the starvation fad. Undoubtedly most Americans overeat. The obvious corrective is to eat just enough food to satisfy the body's needs.

Investigators have estimated that a man at hard muscular work requires 4150 calories; a moderate worker, 3400; a desk worker, 2700; the person of leisure, 2450 calories per day. A child under one year requires about 45 calories per pound of body weight, or about 900 calories per day.

The number is reduced from the age of six to 13 years to about 65 calories per pound, or 2700 per day. From 13 to 25 years, it is still further reduced to about 25 calories per pound, or 3500 per day.

At 30 years one may have 2750 calories per day if he weighs about 152 pounds; at 40 years, 2500 for a weight of 154 pounds; at 60 years, 2300 calories for a weight of 150 pounds; at 70 years, 2000 calories for 134 pounds, and at 80 years, 1750 calories for a weight of 133 pounds.

These figures indicate the importance of calories to sustain body loss during the time of greatest energy, the gradual reduction of food intake with increasing age, and the importance of the reducing of weight after 40 years of age in relation to longevity. Of this more will be said later.

Nevertheless, at every age the human being requires a certain amount of food to sustain his physical mechanism. An occasional starvation period may be worth while in relation to disease, but long continued fasts or starvation as a routine is merely a fad and should be severely discounted.

Hard Knocks!

By Olive Roberts Burton

Upon being congratulated over the completion of a lovely new home, a woman replied indifferently that she had wanted and wanted so long that it meant nothing to her now. "I've lost my zest for things," she said. "If I can't have things when I want them I don't want them at all."

In comparison to this is the story of the woman whose husband took his family to a southern state and there built a beautiful house for them. The woman was homesick—she disliked the place with all her heart, and later the lovely new home and everything about it. She pined for days on end to go back.

Her husband died and it became a serious matter whether she could keep any home at all for her children. Added to her other troubles there came a storm. Then how she worked to save the house! All around them buildings were crashing, but by superhuman effort she managed to do enough things to give it the extra support it needed.

After hours of work that tested her endurance to the snapping point, the storm abated—and the house was saved. When word came a short time later that it was possible for her to take her boys and go north, nothing on earth would induce her to leave. The house she had had to fight for was not the house that had been given to her. She had paid a price for it.

Isn't it true of human nature? People usually set a value on things they get for a second, but cost them in effort, suffering, or patience to get those things.

I often think that people do not appreciate their blessings as much as they might if they did not get them so easily. "Come easy—go easy" is not any truer than "Come easy—take easy!"

Anything that costs a price has more value than a free gift. The self-educated man or woman gets more results from that education.

Anything we get from the school of hard knocks is usually treasured.

TIME SAVER

Clothes, folded carefully when taken from the line, will iron much more easily. A big time saver is to sprinkle the clothes immediately and fold up for ironing.

 Miss Anne Dix went to Norwalk Friday to attend the funeral of her aunt.
 A car driven by a Polish man from Brick Row, Willimantic ran into a car driven by Mrs. W. Macht at Millers Corner shortly before noon Thursday. Both cars were somewhat damaged, but no one hurt. The matter will be brought into Town Court Friday evening at the Town hall.

 Ellis Bogue, 21, was tried before the Columbia court Tuesday on the charge of operating an automobile without the owners permission. He owned to the charge, and was fined $25 and costs, amounting to nearly $50. As he could not pay the fine and could find no one to do so, he was taken by Constable Harvey Collins to the Tolland jail to work it out. Young Bogue had been borrowing the car belonging to Edward Dubois for joy rides nights, and running it until the gas tank was empty. Monday evening he miscalculated the distance and got stuck in the hill above T. G. Tuckers place and left the car parked on the left side of the road for the rest of the night.

DEMPSEY MUST DECLARE SELF OR BE LOST IN THE SHUFFLE

Billy Gibson Says Rickard Is Sick and Tired of Telephoning to the Ex-Champion.

(INS Sports Editor) New York, April 22.—Jack Dempsey, once the big hook and eye man, a hook to the jaw and an eye to business—must declare himself on the heavyweight situation within a period of two weeks or suffer the possible consequence of being read out of the party, according to the views of Billy Gibson, freely aired today.

William didn't think Dempsey was doing right by our Nell and said as much or even more. Like an old fashioned father of an old fashioned girl, he wants to know whether Jack's intentions are strictly honorable, so to speak.

Gib Spouts "Dempsey must know, by this time, whether or not, or not," quoth Gib. "Why doesn't he declare himself, one way or the other? Frankly, I'm beginning to suspect that he doesn't intend to try a come back."

"Why, do you know that Rickard must have spent $500 in telegrams and long distance calls to Dempsey since the first of the year? I don't blame him. He has to know what his line-up of fighters is going to be and make his plans accordingly, if Paulino can't fight Delaney, then it must be Dempsey or the winner of the Sharkey-Maloney fight but those sort of things can't be done overnight. They are big fights and have to be prepared for months in advance."

Will Be Forgotten "The way I see it, if Dempsey doesn't come out in the clear in a couple of weeks, Rickard simply will have to forget him."

As far as that crack goes, the writer suspects that it may be a case of forgive but never forget. They need Dempsey for that $1,800,000 harvest they expect to reap again this fall.

Rickard himself will reach town before the passing of another day and will decide, among other things, whether the Madison Square Garden corporation will go to court about the boxing commission's edit on the Paulino-Delaney fight and, if he does, the bet is right on the line that Dempsey will be washed up, Rickard would have little use for Delaney, except in a light heavyweight title fight, if Dempsey and Paulino were ready to go.

In meantime, the Sharkey-Maloney matter has been clarified to some extent by the withdrawal of Tom Goodwin, Boston promoter, from the scene. His claim on Maloney apparently was squashed yesterday, leaving Walter Taylor, Cleveland man, as the main impediment confronting the May nineteenth date. It seems that Jim the Penman signed with Walter, too.

MURPHY'S GIRLS MEET ONE MORE "2-OUT-OF-3" DEFEAT

Billy Evans Says

OPPORTUNITY IN SPORT They say that opportunity comes but once in a lifetime in any line of endeavor.

If that holds true for sport, Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight fighter, has had the big chance and failed to take advantage of it.

If mere physique, courage and a love of the game was all that was needed to be a champion, Johnny Risko would be at the top of the heavyweight division today.

However, a keen mind, the ability to wage a battle that will combat the style of mulling of an opponent, and cleverness, play a part in the modern fight game.

Johnny Risko in this respect knows but one thing, fight, and he turns on the same brand of stuff for the clever boxer or the rugged mixer.

His plan of battle is to keep forcing the light, throw punches from any and all angles and never back up.

That system is all right for the spectator, because it insures him plenty of action but only a very few fighters have reached the top through such methods.

Three Sensational Bouts Just one year ago at this time, Johnny Risko was just about the most talked about fighter in the country.

At Madison Square Garden he had decisively beaten Gene Tunney the fight of his life. Tru Tunney beat Risko all the way, but he had to fight every minute and show all his stuff to do it.

I also had witnessed the New York bout between Jack Delaney and Risko. Delaney was given the decision, but I thought Risko earned a good draw.

A great fight against Gene Tunney, who later defeated Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight title, a whale of a showing against the dynamic Jack Delaney and a victory over Champion Paul Berlenbach.

Certainly those three fights within the short space of about six months entitled Risko to one of the big outdoor attractions in New York.

Wilted Before Cleverness It probably would have been a wise move to have saved Risko for Paul Berlenbach. Such a meeting at the Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds in New York, would have played to capacity after the way Risko had pasted Paralyzing Paul all over the Garden ring.

If there is one style of fighter who makes Risko look bad, it is the clever performer. After the Berlenbach conquest, that style of fighter should have been studiously avoided.

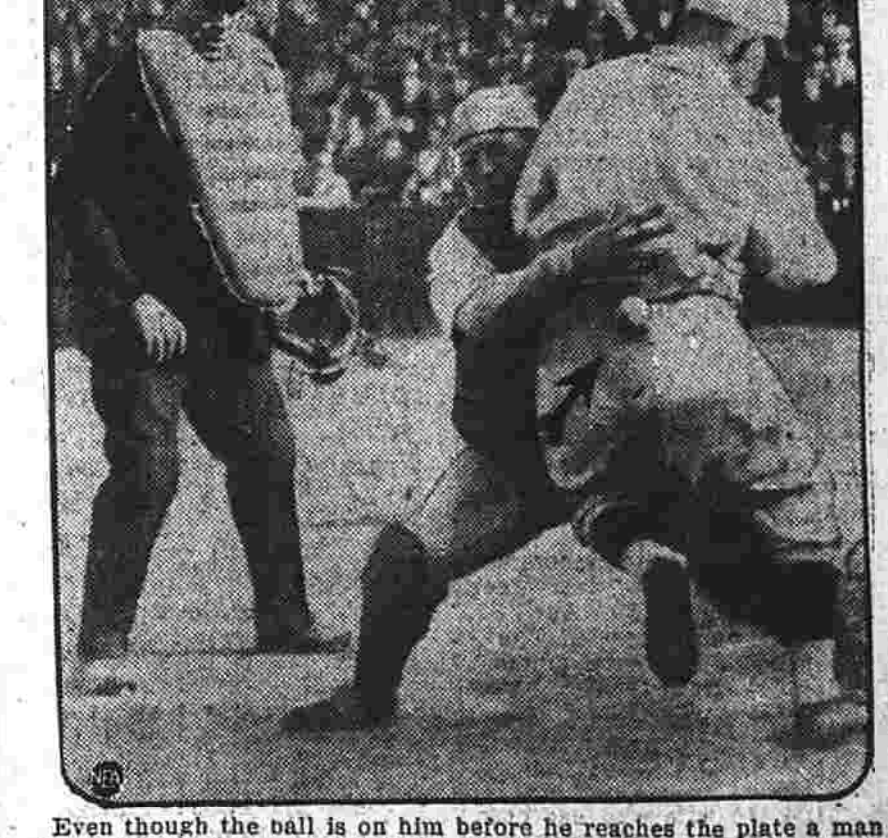

Instead, Risko agreed to take on Mike McGuire and "Young" Stribling, two of the cleverest light heavyweights in the game. The result of those two meetings is history. Risko was decisively outpointed.

Those two defeats, coming right after the sensational Berlenbach victory, practically wiped out all the glory of that success. It killed Risko as a "big shot" for an outdoor attraction, carrying a guarantee of $50,000 or more.

Johnny Risko is not a champion. He's a rugged trial horse. Yet his case is one of those unusual ones in which an unexpected victory suddenly thrust opportunity in front of the conqueror. Risko had the big chance but failed to make the most of it.

Fingerprints as a means of identification were used by the Chinese as early as 400 B. C.

As the Camera Saw It

Even though the ball is on him before he reaches the plate a man is not necessarily out. Look here! The pill beat Leach of the Dodgers, home by a mile but Philadelphia and Dutch Henlin, the Phillies' catcher, tagged him cold. BUT—Henlin dropped it and Leach was safe. See the ball!

Murphy's Girls bumped into their usual two—almost three—defeats last night in a return state league bowling match with Rogers Rec Girls of New Britain. This makes about a half a dozen consecutive "two-out-of-three" defeats for the Manchester girls who are dropping rapidly toward the cellar position.

Mediocre bowling was responsible for the defeat. Ten of the fifteen games rolled by the home team were in the eighties and none was over 100. Manchester made one strike and thirteen spares against one strike and sixteen spares for New Britain. Manchester lost the first game by 23 pins and the second by 20 mainly because the Hardware City players played better.

The third game was marked by a sensational finish by the anchor girls for each team. Entering the final two boxes trailing by three pins, Manchester depended on Jennie Lucas to come through—and she did. Jennie's first ball proved a strike and she filled it with a spare and then got eight on the second mark for a total of 37 pins in the two boxes.

Miss Scharf got an eight box and then made a spare with ten on it for 28 pins, Manchester winning by six pins.

HEBRON

Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Porter have moved to the Joel Wilcox place on the Amston road. Mrs. Della Porter who has spent the winter with relatives in Columbia, will occupy the place with her son and daughter-in-law.

Miss Florence E. Smith, teacher at the Seymour school in West Hartford is spending her Easter vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Smith. Miss Smith and her mother were guests on Monday in New London of Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. Rilla Barrows. They also visited Waterford, Niantic, and Giant's Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smith and family of Norwich were recent visitors at the Smith homestead.

Cards have been received lately from Mrs. Minnie Sumner Preston, a former resident and native of this town, now the wife of the Rev. Charles W. Preston, at one time pastor of the Gilead Congregational church. The Prestons are now located in Casadero, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nye and two sons, of Fitchville, were guests recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Miner.

The Rev. and Mrs. T. D. Martin entertained on Wednesday at the rectory the Rev. Donald Alexander, rector of St. John's Church, Worcester. Mrs. O. M. Walker and daughter, Miss Mildred Walker and Mrs. George Ladd, all of Worcester. The party spent part of the day at Mrs. Martin's old colonial cottage, built in 1751.

A load of goods belonging to the Rev. and Mrs. Lillie were shipped to Willimantic early this week. Mr. and Mrs. Lillie expect to move to Willimantic later in the season, but will remain in Hopevale until after the close of school.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Broome and son, also Miss Estelle Broome, of South Lancaster, Mass., were week end guests at the home of Paul Broome, senior.

Mrs. Helen Fitzgerald, widow of the former rector of St. Peter's church, spent Easter Sunday with her son, the Rev. J. H. Fitzgerald, in Bay Ridge, N. Y.

Charles Phelps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Phelps, was home from Yale over the week end.

School in Hopevale opened on Tuesday after a ten days vacation. The teacher, Warren Knowles, spent his vacation with friends in Bridgeport.

The Lenten offering collected in the mite boxes by the children of St. Peter's Sunday school, and opened on Easter Sunday, amounted to more than $12. It had been hoped that as much as $10 might be realized. At this school is not large the rector regards this offering as very creditable. It is the highest point reached by the school in its offerings.

Lewis Phelps of Andover received a telegram from Benjamin H. Bissell, from Los Angeles, California, stating that Miss Caroline E. Kellogg has left the hospital where she has been confined by illness for several weeks, and that she has started on her trip east. She is expected to arrive in Hartford on Saturday. Mr. Phelps has made arrangements to meet her on her arrival.

WAPPING

Several from this place went to East Hartford yesterday where over two hundred members of East Central Pomona gathered for the April meeting. The fifth degree was conferred on a large class of members from East Hartford, Suffield, Enfield, and Granby Granges. Dinner was served by members of East Hartford Grange. The afternoon program was in charge of Mrs. Caroline Bidwell of Glastonbury, the subject of which was "Home." The address of welcome was given by Charles Hathaway, Master of East Hartford Grange. The response was given by Henry J. Bridge, Chaplain of Pomona.

A talk on "Railroads" was given by Charles T. Corbit of Glastonbury.

Recitations were given by several members.

Definitions of what home means were given by a member of each Grange as the roll of Granges was called.

An essay entitled "A House or a Home" was read by Mrs. Gillette of Suffield.

Neighbors' Night was observed last Tuesday at Wapping Grange, when Ellington, Enfield and Hilltown Granges were present and furnished the following program: A reading by Mrs. Arora of Ellington Grange, entitled "Betty at the Baseball Game"; a comic duet by Edward Stimpson and Ellis Gordon from Enfield Grange, entitled "Sparkie" Peggy Jane," with encores; recitation by Edward Pease, also from Enfield Grange; a playing and singing quartet by Ida Burrbank, Emma Gallant, Laura Pease and Clarence Martin, all from Enfield, with encores; a comic duet entitled "Just Married," by Herbert Wycomb and Bernice Wycomb from Hillstown Grange, with encore.

Claire Brewer of Hillstown then delivered a dandy sermon with many local hits, after which Wapping Grange furnished refreshments. There were over eighty present.

As daylight saving time goes into effect next Sunday morning at 2 a. m., the Grange voted to open their Grange meetings at 7:30 p. m., standard time, after this until Sept. 27.

The Federated Sunday school will hold their next social next week Friday evening instead of April 22, on account of the Federated Workers' supper and entertainment which is to be given tomorrow evening at the Wapping School hall.

ANDOVER

Marvel Hunt returned home the last of the week from the Hartford hospital where he has been treated for a broken leg caused by an automobile accident about five months ago in Manchester. He was in the Memorial hospital in Manchester about sixteen weeks. Then he was transferred to Hartford where he could have Dr. Swett to attend him. Mr. Hunt is to be home for six weeks, then he will return to the Hartford hospital for further treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lewis, Burton Lewis and John Goodman spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Colburn in Willington.

The Ladies' Benevolent society meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Emily Cobb, Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

Mrs. L. J. Merritt, who underwent a very serious operation in St. Joseph's hospital three weeks ago, is expecting to be able to return home the last of the week.

Mrs. Alfred Keller has entered the Charter Oak hospital, Hartford, for a major operation.

HELPFUL YOUTH
Johnny was unusually gleeful at breakfast.

"I've done my good turn for today," he said.

"What, already?" inquired his father.

"Yes. I was at the gate and heard Mr. and Mrs. Brown say they were doubtful whether they could catch the 8:15, so I set the bulldog after them and they arrived in time."—Tit-Bits.

proves a tire's value

EVERY NEW TIRE LOOKS GOOD.

Dunlops not only look good, but they make good—over rocks and gravel, and ruts and sand.

Thirty-nine years of experience has shown Dunlop how to design a tread that gives maximum traction and slow, smooth wear.

This Dunlop tread is the toughest development of rubber known. And this same tough tread-rubber is carried clear around the sidewall to give maximum protection against rut wear.

You get the full benefit of all this extra tread-mileage because each Dunlop is built with the famous trouble-free cable-twist Dunlop carcass, to provide the high-strength and elasticity so vital to long tire life.

10 TO 25 CALLS DAILY GRIST ON N. Y.-LONDON LINE

Trans-Oceanic Telephone Service Settles Down to Normal Basis.

New York.—Trans-oceanic telephone service has settled down to a normal routine basis which is gradually being developed, an official of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company said today.

New York to London calls are being made at the rate of from ten to twenty-five each day.

Other some points, such as Kansas City, New Orleans, Minneapolis, San Francisco and Cleveland are doing a "normal" although not heavy business.

No longer are "curiosity calls" being put through. The calls now being made have to do with actual business or are of a social nature.

A daily business between cotton exchanges in New Orleans and Birmingham, Eng., is being done in "satisfactory volume."

Fighting Static
The telephone people are striving to eliminate static and report progress in this direction. Of course a great deal depends upon the atmospheric conditions on the day the call is put in.

Officials of this company were reluctant to discuss the possibility of any immediate decrease in rates, saying they are concentrating their attention on improving the service. The present rate from New York to London is $75 for three minutes and $25 for each additional minute. Westward in the United States the price made between $3 steps until the Pacific Coast is reached where the rate of $87 for the first three minutes and $29 for each additional minute.

With the spring travel season on there has been a notable increase in calls from this country to ports such as Southampton and Liverpool.

The service was inaugurated on January 7, this year, and reached a stable basis about the first of April. Recently one hour was added to the daily service period between New York and London. Heretofore calls between New York and London had been made between 8:30 a. m. and 1 p. m. On April 10 the service was started at 7:30, closing at 1 o'clock.

The telephone company is also working hard to develop commercial possibilities for "television," "seeing over" the telephone, a demonstration of which was made not long ago when persons in New York saw and talked with persons in Washington.

To Use Television
Officials of the company say that the first commercial use to which television will be put probably will be the broadcasting of prize fights. It is believed that some time in the future it will be practical to exhibit, for example, a Chicago or San Francisco theater or hall, a championship fight as it takes place in New York.

There is, however, the possibility, that inauguration of such a service might result in legal difficulties as in some cases transmission of the fight pictures over the telephone might violate interstate laws with reference to the traffic in fight films.

The work of development of television is largely under the direction of Dr. Herbert E. Ives. There is some talk of the company ultimately establishing "television stations" in a few leading cities of the country and gradually extending the list. Dr. Ives said the company though there must be "plenty of people willing to pay for the privilege of seeing the person they talk to," and that the general reason behind the television research now under way was the corporation's policy of doing everything possible to further communication between the people.

bits as "A Brown Bird Singing" and "If I were as Tall as a Tall Brown Tree," to the rollicking chanty "Rolling Down to Rio," on through the sunburned brownness of "After Many a Dusty Mile," shifting to the dulcet but difficult "Sonnet from the Portuguese" by Gaud, to the first part conclusion, the prancing titillating finale from "The Gondoliers," the chorus met all these marked changes in spirit and character with a confidence, sureness of harmony and, on proper occasion, volume and power which told as plainly as a painted sign of the many hours of intensive training that has been given to the work.

Incidental Solos
In the "Tall Brown Tree" incidental solos by Edward Taylor and Robert Gordon were handed, in the first instance with Mr. Taylor's usual felicity though possibly not in his very best voice, and in the second instance with an improvement over any of Mr. Gordon's past performances with the Choral club that was gratifying to every admirer of his charming voice.

The Symphony Ensemble's choice of program was as delightful as that of the singers. Anyone who has ever heard the full Boston Symphony Orchestra play the Peer Gynt symphonic suite by Grieg and who heard Mr. Theodorowicz's dozen artists render the same suite at the opening of last night's concert realizes that the Manchester audience skinned the very cream from the milk. Its four highly contrasting movements were marvelously done.

Other Numbers
The Ensemble's second number in the first part, the Godard Barcarolle, was new to many of the listeners, and it is doubtful if its sheer throbbing beauty was ever better emphasized than by the group of artists who played it. The third number, "Invitation to the Dance," gave the audience an opportunity, in its introductory and final movements, to once more listen to the magic "cello tones of Hazel Theodorowicz, whom Manchester has learned to love for her artistry.

One of Theodorowicz's quick and effective transitions was displayed in the number that he elected to give as an encore at this point, "The Musical Snuff-box," by a Russian composer, Liadov.

After the intermission the Ensemble gave its most technical number of the evening, "The Wheel of Omphale," by Saint Saens—a ruthless story in music of the slavery of Hercules to the Lydian queen, at the spinning wheel. This was followed by another contrasting encore, "Mock Morris," by Percy Granger—which in the hands of the musicians became a masterpiece of orchestral capering.

Delightful Roar
Two difficult choral numbers without accompaniment, "The Wild Ride," and that old, old and almost forgotten bit of vocal sweetness, "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes," both amazingly well sung, were followed by "The Good Ship Robador," as fine a bit of nonsense-to-note, and as titillating, as ever figured in any program. It was deliciously roared.

Then the glorious finale, with Director Sessions directing both ensemble and orchestra. After that the congratulations. It was a wonderful night.

There were a few vacant seats at the very front of the High school assembly hall, but only a few. Those who might have sat in them missed the treat of the year.

Mr. Sessions' customary and complicating duties as accompanist were taken over, very satisfactorily, by Mrs. Burton Yaw.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN MAIL DELIVERY

pointment. Thomas J. Donnelly will assume Morden's present duties, which consist of four hours of collecting and four hours of parcel post delivery.

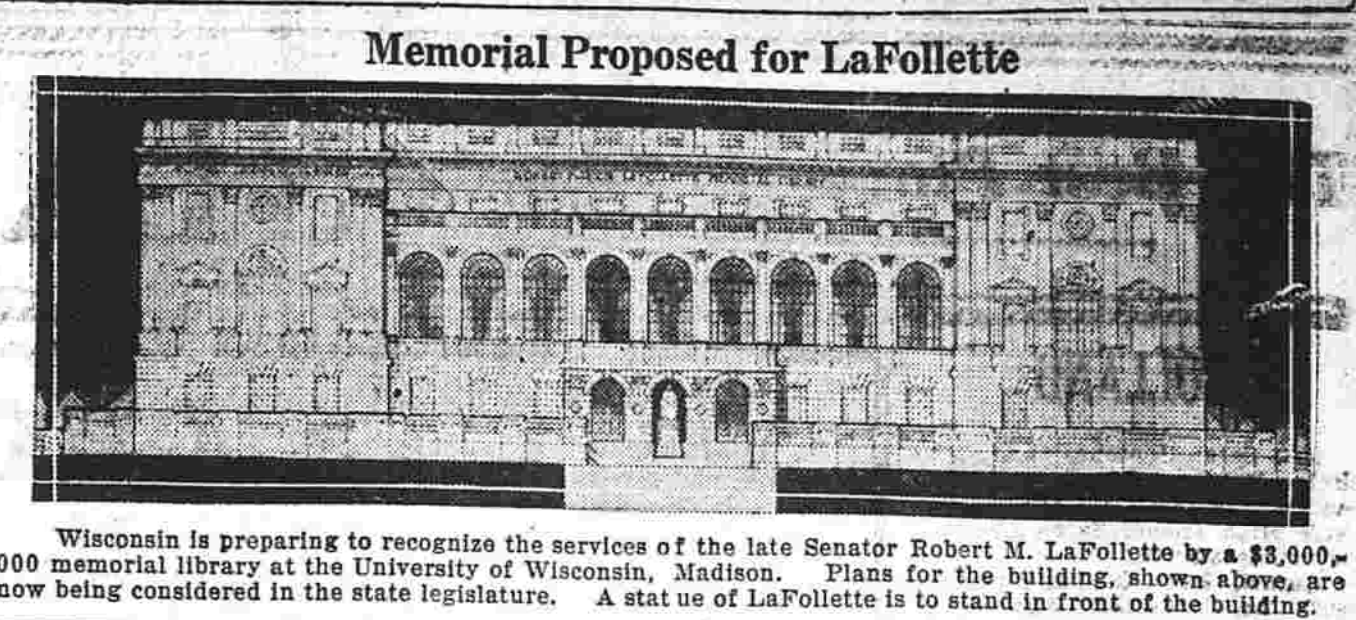

The change in routes will mean that many of the 3,900-odd patrons who now receive mail from city carriers will hereafter find a new postman calling daily. In some cases the routes will be only slightly altered but on the whole the changes will be sweeping. The ten city carriers who will find different beats awaiting them when the new changes go into effect next month are, in accordance with their length of service: Richard Allen, George E. Smith, August H. Simonson, Joseph F. McVeigh, James L. Rogers, Louis F. Cornet, Charles H. Rogers, Ernest P. Anderson, Luther J. Chapin and Clarence O. Lather.

Territory Affected.
The extensions of territory to be covered by the new changes as authorized by Washington officials are as follows: East Center street from the Rich homestead to 502 East Center street; Pitkin street; Elwood street; Porter street from Pitkin to the East cemetery; Walker street; Monroe street; Green Hill street; Benton street from No. 149 to 167; Brandford street from Wadsworth street to Durkin; Center street from John Stone's home to Adams street; north side of Stone street; Lilia street extension from No. 27 to 43. Practically all of this territory is covered now by R. F. D.

The work of altering the entire city carrier delivery service has required many hours of hard work and in many instances Postmaster Toop has worked into the wee hours of the next day figuring out the thousand and one details which must be furnished to the authorities at Washington. The number of stops each mailman makes; the distance he covers; the percentage of buildings of the streets; of lights; of house numbers, of street signs—all these have to be compiled and forwarded to Washington.

Receipts Compulsory.
A warning was issued at the post office today to all persons who will receive mail by city delivery in the new territory that they must exact suitable mail receipts or door slots before May 1 if they are to receive mail. Otherwise, the mail will be placed in general delivery which will make more inconvenience for them than the R. F. D. Patrons cannot go back to the R. F. D. delivery after once accepting the city carrier service.

Plans for the building, shown above, are now being considered in the state legislature. A statue of LaFollette is to stand in front of the building.

TOLLAND

Miss Sarah Chorges and Miss Helen Meacham are Tolland students on the honor roll of the Rockville High school. Sarah Chorges is double starred.

Cornell Green, Jr., has a position with the Connecticut Agricultural College in the Extension Department of sheep raising.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carpenter of Hartford have been at their summer home here for a short time.

Harold Clough of New Jersey and Miss Hazel Brown of Windsor spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. A. Esten Clough.

Aaron Pratt of Windsor has been spending his vacation with his grandmother, Mrs. C. H. Daniels. Miss Bernice Hall returned Wednesday to her work in Springfield, after a short vacation spent with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nuttall and son, Harry, visited Mr. and Mrs. Myron Sparrow and family of North Woodstock, recently.

Rev. W. C. Darby left Tuesday to attend the Southern New England Conference, which is being held in New Bedford, Mass., this week. It is expected that Rev. Darby will be returned to the Tolland Federated Church, it being the request of his parishioners.

The Easter Pageant entitled "The Ever-living Christ" was given Sunday evening, by the young people of Mrs. West's class, assisted by the junior department and children from the Buff Cap Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. Raynell of Long Island were visitors at the home of William Ayers, Jr., over the holidays.

Miss Florence Meacham is spending her vacation at her home here this week.

Brainard Bridgeman and friend are spending their Easter vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Simpson. Harvey Clough of Flushing, L. I., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Clough during his vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tomphson and family are spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lührsen. Mr. and Mrs. William Porter of Hartford, spent the week-end with Mrs. Porter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Senk, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood of New Britain have been visiting Mrs. Wood's mother, Mrs. Mary Ryder, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doyle.

Miss Alice E. Hall returned to Storrs Wednesday noon for the Spring term at C. A. C.

A call for aid was received last week when a fire in Bolton caused some excitement for a time. Assistant Chief Howard Ayers of the Tolland Fire Department took some of the men that were available and did creditable work in directing them. First Selectman Harry Morganson also took several men. Other towns responded and after quite a territory was burned over the fire was brought under control in spite of the fact that the wind blew very hard.

Mrs. Harry Bartlett and daughter, Margaret, of Hartford were in town Tuesday. Miss Margaret has purchased a new Ford touring car.

The regular Grange meeting was held Tuesday evening. After the business was transacted the grange was said to be at rest by the worthy Master and Mr. and Mrs. William Ayers, Jr., came and gave the program, which has been announced as a surprise. Mr. Ayers gave a very interesting paper and talk about various important personages he had come in contact with due to many business dealings, and the Lecturer's hour proved to be a most pleasing and interesting one. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ayers by the patrons of the grange.

ANDOVER

Mrs. Frank Hamilton, Mrs. Thomas Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Percy, and the Misses Evelyn White and Mildred Hamill and Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Hyde attended the meeting of East Central Pomona Grange held at East Hartford on Wednesday.

Charles White visited Manchester Wednesday.

Mrs. Fred Bishop and Miss Annie Mathewson spent Thursday in Willimantic.

Mrs. A. E. Frink spent Wednesday with Mrs. E. H. Frink in So. Manchester.

As an Easter gift to his sister, Mrs. Lela Phelps, the Rev. John H. Fitzgerald of Bay Path, New York, ordered to be sent to her from Bermuda, five stalks of beautiful Easter lilies. There are between fifty and sixty buds and blossoms on the five stalks. Such glorious plants are rarely seen here, even in the greenhouses. Mrs. Phelps received her gift on Good Friday morning, and it will retain its loveliness for some weeks.

Mrs. E. W. Platt spent Thursday with her parents in town.

WINDHAM GIRL WINS

Willimantic, Conn., April 22.—Miss Natalie Burnham, of Windham High school, has been selected as the winner in the local contest to secure a candidate to enter a national oratorical contest. Miss Burnham, contesting against pupils of Killingly, Putnam and Windham High schools, won $50 in cash and later will go to Hartford to take part in the state finals. Five judges were unanimous in deciding her talk on the constitution was the best delivered here.

Maltop Malts

Highest Quality

"MALTOP MALTS" are worth going a long, long way for.

For seven years "MALTOP MALTS" have been steadily increasing their circle of malt boosters. Other brands have come and gone—new names, new labels, new claims.

"MALTOP MALTS" have nothing new to offer. The same original high grade malt made from the best matured winter barley, concentrated to a rich, creamy pure malt. Made in five varieties, "MALTOP" offers a brand for every taste—light, dark, porter style, hop-flavored and medium.

Why experiment with new, unknown brands that have just "dropped in." Better to tie up with a malt that has been giving complete beverage satisfaction for seven years. A tried and proven malt—"MALTOP."

And if you are fussy about getting a fresh, mellow "ace-high" hop, with the genuine tang, you will naturally want the famous "MALTOP HOPS."

10 to 1 your grocer sells "MALTOP MALTS" and "MALTOP HOPS"—if he belongs to the Better Grocer class.

LOCAL KITE FLYERS BATTLE SATURDAY

Great Contest at 10 a. m. at Steve Pearl's Aviation Field—Rules of Events.

Final plans have been completed for the Kite Flying contest to be held on the property of Steven Pearl on Woodland street on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Joseph Dean, chairman of the construction committee, stated today that the entries in the contest had been large and that more than unusual interest had been shown by the youngsters in anticipating the contest. Director G. H. Washburn announced the rules and regulations today that are printed below:

Class A. 100 yard dash, plane surface kites or tail kites; kites start on signal; may be run out in any manner desired to end of 100-yard cord, and must be wound back to hand of flyer. Starter to station himself under kite, as it is wound back to the flyer's hand, to catch same when it falls to ground after being brought down. At finish of event, flyer must be stationed on starting line.

Class B. 2. Altitude race: Tailless kites or bowed kites. Kites to be started at signal, and run out to end of string and worked up to the highest possible altitude. At end of five minutes flyers must have returned to starting line, and those at lower elevation will be eliminated and ordered brought down, until judges determine by process of elimination the kite flying at highest altitude.

Box Kite Contest. 3. Pulling contest: Box kites to be run out to end of measured string. Spring scales to be used, measuring pull for two minutes; maximum pull to be recorded during that time, and kite exerting greatest pull to win. Pulling contest open to all types of kites except box kites. Pull determined as above.

Class B. Novelty competition. Judges to determine most novel kite. No restrictions as to type of kite. Flyers to line up with kites on starting line, starters holding kites for inspection of judges and grading of kites as to novelty of design and construction, appearance, material, etc.

Class C. Messenger race: This race may be run with any type of kite, but equal lengths of cord must be used. The messengers may be an device, subject to the option of the contestant. It may consist of a cardboard disk having an eyelet through the center on which to slide, as driven by the wind from the ground up to the bridle or kite attachment strings; or it may be a plain sheet of heavy paper with a hole punched through the center.

Object of event is to start the messenger from the hand of the starter, and let it slide with the wind up to the bridle of the kite. The first messenger reaching the kite bridle wins the event.

With the kite in the air, flyer standing on a starting line the starter is permitted to take hold of the cord with the messenger mounted on it, and walk not more than 25 feet from the flyer drawing the cord down out of its former position so that when released on signal, the cord will fly back into the air resuming its former angle, thereby elevating the messenger into the air sufficiently to catch a breeze, if the wind be not strong enough to start it from the hand of the flyer.

AMARANTH CELEBRATES ITS 5TH BIRTHDAY

Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, celebrated its fifth birthday with a supper last evening in Odd Fellows hall, preceding the regular meeting. Guests were present from Hartford, and each one of the five royal matrons and patrons of the chapter were present and were called on for speeches.

The diners found their places in the banquet hall in a novel way. Sweet peas in four different colors were distributed, which corresponded with the color scheme at the four large tables, red, blue, yellow and pink. In the center of each table was a large paper rose in the prevailing color, with tall candles and favors to match. The effect was very pretty and Mrs. Anna Robb and her corps of workers on the supper were complimented for the delicious meal and attractive tables.

The birthday cake with its five tapers was donated by Mrs. Adele Bently. It was cut and everybody received a slice. Mrs. Bently was the first royal matron of Chapman Court and instrumental in organizing the chapter, which was named for the late Mrs. George Chapman, first matron of Temple Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star and a charter member.

Chorus singing of favorite songs was indulged in and after the business session was over, games were played.

TWO BIG HYDRANTS FOR DEPOT SQUARE

With the laying of the new 12-inch main the Manchester Water Company is planning to install two more of the large hydrants of the same type as those already on Depot Square. One of them will be placed at the corner of Main and Woodbridge streets, near the trolley terminus and will be connected directly with the 12-inch main. The other will be placed on North Main street at a point near W. E. Hubbard's store. This will provide a greater water pressure than ever before obtained.

Depot Square is without doubt the most hazardous fire district at the north end. If a serious fire should break out there outside assistance could be brought in and there would be water and pressure enough to quench it. These hydrants are put in by the Water company but will be maintained by the district.

TWO SWIMMING CLASSES HAVE REC STUNT NIGHT

Members of the intermediate and advanced swimming classes at the Recreation Center wound up another course of lessons last night with a stunt program and social at the School street building. The first part of the evening was given over to water sports in the tank and later the party went to the club room where hot dogs, coffee and cake were served. Miss Ruth Calhoun, instructor of the class, was given a handsome present and a bouquet of carnations. New classes in swimming and lifesaving will start this week.

DRINKS FOR PA, MA and ALL THE FAMILY

Thousands of people have come to know and like the now famous PILSER Malt Syrup and its choice Hops. The PILSER NO COOK is also in great demand and no small wonder at that when you consider its uses and virtues.

Equally as popular as the PILSER, is the famous ALT HEIDELBERG Malt Syrup, which is made by a formula used in Germany for many years. You will enjoy this for its imported flavor and taste.

For your health's sake, try "My Buddy" Sweetened Malted Milk, chocolate flavor—all prepared. This is delicious and healthful, and is just as you get it at the fountain. Makes the kiddies drink more milk. This Pure, fresh malted milk is a child's best food particularly in hot weather when heavy foods are heavy to digest. "My Buddy" is the very best obtainable, and it can be purchased at the dealers listed below.

BANK CLOSED.

Bridgeport, Ohio, April 22.—With a reported shortage of $200,000, the Bridgeport Bank Company today was closed with state bank examiners in charge, while William E. Thomas, cashier, was in the county jail at St. Clairsville. Thomas, while admitting his responsibility for the shortage, declared it was caused by carrying bad notes in the bank and not through embezzlement.

HOLD NEGRO SUSPECT

Stamford, April 22.—Raymond Reynolds, 63, colored, is being held here without bail on a charge of highway robbery. Two young women reported being held up, one fighting off a colored man and the other looting her pocket book. Reynolds answered the description. Police say he has a record in Bridgeport, New Haven and Hartford.

PINES GO, HOUSES IN PERIL IN FIRE

$25,000 Worth of Cheney Bros. Timber Burns; Watkins Home In Danger.

Watershed timber—pine trees planted by Cheney Brothers some years ago, were destroyed in a fire which swept more than 50 acres of woods in the Taylor Brook hollow west of Main street near the icehouse pond yesterday afternoon. Four companies of the South Manchester fire department answered an alarm to assist Fire Warden Griffith's force of men.

The residence of C. Elmore Watkins, which stands on the hill south of the icehouse pond, was in danger for a while as was the icehouse owned by L. T. Wood. The firemen fought to keep the fire from spreading in the direction of these places and a hose 1,000 feet long was laid from the pond to the fire line.

Fire Fighters Driven Out
Warden Griffith's men were driven out of the woods by the intensity of the flames so they began on the other end of the area to backfire. The pump of Hose Company No. 1 was used with hose from No. 2. No. 3's pump was held in reserve in case it should be needed.

The firemen were helped out somewhat when the wind died down, allowing them to place the blaze under control.

Damages said to reach $25,000 was done by the fire.

ORFORD CO. TO BUILD GARAGE FOR EMPLOYEES

Manchester Construction Co. Gets Contract For Structure On Hilliard Street.

The Manchester Construction company has been awarded the contract for the erection of an eleven-car garage for the Orford Soap Company at the Barnard school. The garage will be for use of the employees. It will be built on the south side of Hilliard street, close to the factory.

The final grading on the Andover dam has been completed by the company and the work is ready for official inspection Saturday, William Knofo, head of the construction concern, said today.

The Manchester firm is also figuring on the large grade school which is to be erected in Simsbury shortly.

NEW ASSISTANT FOR THE BARNARD SCHOOL

Miss Hazel P. Lutz of Rockville has been appointed to succeed Miss Bessie Hatch as principal's assistant at the Barnard school for the remainder of the school term and may be retained next year. Miss Elizabeth M. Bennett is principal.

Miss Hatch resigned the first of the month and is at her home in Danbury. Miss Lutz graduated from Boston University in January and has had teaching experience gained before she went to college.

GAS BUGGIES—Safe at Last

IT'S THE HOTEL CLERK AND THE HOUSE DETECTIVE, MADAME, WHO DON'T LIKE TO DISTURB YOU, BUT A WILD MAN WITH LONG WHISKERS HAS BEEN ENTERING THE WINDOW OF YOUR ROOM FROM THE FIRE ESCAPE.

IF YOU'LL OPEN THE DOOR, WE'LL SEARCH THE...

YOU BACK AGAIN! I TOLD YOU NO ONE CAME IN HERE. GOOD NIGHT.

THAT'S THE RESULT OF YOUR STUBBORNNESS, HEM. I WANTED YOU TO BRING THAT CHEST BOLDLY INTO THE HOTEL, BUT NO, YOU BEING SO BRAINY, INSISTED ON SNEAKING IT UP THE FIRE ESCAPE. NOW THE WHOLE PLACE KNOWS ABOUT IT.

I WAS ONLY TRYING TO GIVE ANYBODY THE SLIP WHO MIGHT'VE SEEN US DIGGING UP IN SHOPS BACKYARD, AND FOLLOWED US HERE. HERMAN WARNED US IN HIS WILL TO WATCH OUR STEP.

ALL I HOPE IS THAT THIS PART OF YOUR LEGACY IS MORE USEFUL THAN THAT COMBRESSE AIR CAR HE LEFT YOU. THIS CHEST WILL HAVE TO BE FULL OF DIAMONDS TO REPAY ME FOR ALL I'VE GONE THROUGH TONIGHT.

YOU DON'T SUPPOSE HE WENT TO ALL THIS TROUBLE JUST TO HAND US A THRILL, DO YOU? HEAR THAT, CLINK!

MY STARS! STOP PUTTERING AROUND, AND OPEN IT UP... LET'S SEE IF IT'S ANOTHER ONE OF HERMAN'S JOKES OR NOT...

DON'T GET EXCITED... I'LL NEED A HAMMER TO OPEN THIS BABY... WE'LL HAVE TO WAIT TILL MORNING.

DOG OWNERS SLOW ABOUT LICENSING

Only 350 Out of 1,300 Have Registered Animals, With But 10 Days to Go.

Although there are only 10 days left in which Manchester people may license their dogs, Town Clerk Samuel J. Turkington reports today that only 353 licenses have been issued. This is only a small percentage of the number of dogs in town, which is estimated at 1,300.

Mr. Turkington started to license the dogs on the first of April but he says that there has been no rush at the office. He warns dog owners that if their licenses are not paid within the time limit, they are liable to an extra charge of a dollar, and that the also risk the chance of having the dog placed in the pound.

Because the first day of May this year falls on a Sunday the town clerk will continue to issue licenses on Monday, May 2. He expects a rush this week and next.

More than 200 eighth grade pupils in the Barnard school are expected to take part in a big program which is being planned for Wednesday evening, May 25, to be given in the high school assembly hall by the Freshman Dramatic club. Those who will not take part in the acting will be included in the glee clubs, or orchestra.

The program, which Principal Elizabeth M. Bennett has planned, with the assistance of Miss Hazel P. Lutz, her assistant, will deal with a comparison of modern schools and those in the days of yore. The first scene will be that of a colonial schoolhouse of 1750. All the actors in this scene will be boys, for the girls were not allowed to attend school at that time. The second scene will be that of the little red schoolhouse of 1830 and third the modern school. Lastly will come the pageant entitled "The Children of Old Glory."

Whole Personnel of Barnard Eighth Will Participate in May Affair.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Love letters speed up the males.

SENSE and NONSENSE

The perfect husband is the only one who knows how to apologize gracefully when his wife is really at fault. The boss employed two negroes, and one morning one of them failed to show up for work. "Where is Sam?" he asked the one that came. "In the hospital, boss." "In the hospital? How did that happen?" "Well, Sam, he done been tellin' me every mornin' foh ten days he gwine lik his wife cause o' her naggin'."

Initiative alone differentiates men. Cultivate it and you'll make your own opportunities. The bedside manner. Though pain and anguish wring my brow, And I am in the grim of flu, I can't help realizing how extremely kind it is of you to come and sit and hold my hand, and chatter so persistently, especially as I understand it bores you just as much as me.

I must appreciate the skill with which, in quite a natural way, your conversation turns at will from soft and low to bright and gay. And when at last my guest is told 'time's up, and joyfully escapes, I like to think that she's consoled by pinching nearly all my grapes. Mrs.: "Does my gown look like it's slipping off my shoulders?" Mr.: "No, let's go." Mrs.: "Well, you'll have to wait. It's supposed to look that way."

It is just as well to remember that old flames are apt to flare up when they are turned down. Grocer—"This is the best brand of peaches on the market; your husband will like them." Wife—"The peaches my husband likes are not in cans." Grocer—"What are they in?" Wife—"Bathing suits!"

From a want-ad column in a S. C. paper: NOTISS Vernon Vayhinger has removed his market from vere it was to vere it iss now.

The Time Has Come What is less rare than a bride in June? Then, if ever, each maid sets sail On the blissful sea of the honeymoon With some unfortunate, hood-winked male.

"How would you define tact?" "Well, say, if you fell right that time stands still when you look in her eyes, that's tact. But if you tell her that her face would stop a clock, that isn't tact."

Jazz is murdered music.

NOW YOU Ask One

THE ROLLING SEA

The sea has figured large in the history and the literature of all nations, including our own. Today we have a list of ten questions dealing with the sea and the men who have sailed on it. The answers are on another page.

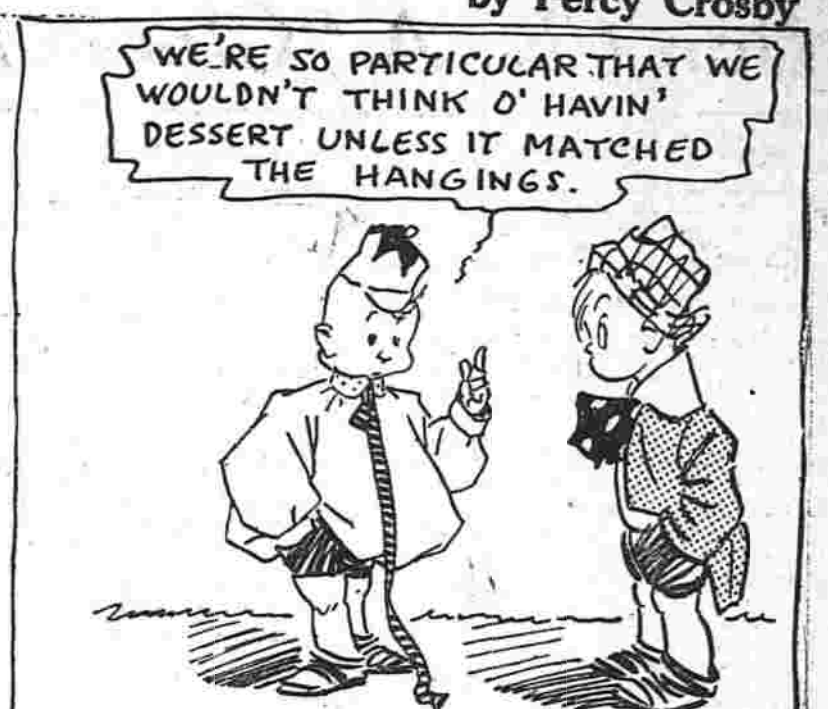

- 1-What island town south of Cape Cod was, a century ago, a great center for American whaling vessels? 2-Who wrote "Moby Dick," epic of the whaling industry? 3-For what is Richard Henry Dana, Jr., remembered? 4-In the old days of sailing ships, what were "crimps"? 5-What did the old-time sailors mean when they spoke of a seaman taking the "Shanghai passage"? 6-To what did the expression "Rounding the Horn," refer? 7-Naval vessels nowadays are painted gray. What was the prevailing color for American naval vessels at the time of the Spanish war? 8-What was the first warship to mount heavy guns in a revolving turret? 9-What American playwright has written a number of dramas dealing with the sea and sailors? 10-Who is William McFee?

Customer—"No-no! I simply couldn't walk a step in shoes that pinch like that." Assistant—"I'm sorry, madam, but I've shown you all our stock now. These shoes are the ones you were wearing when you came in."

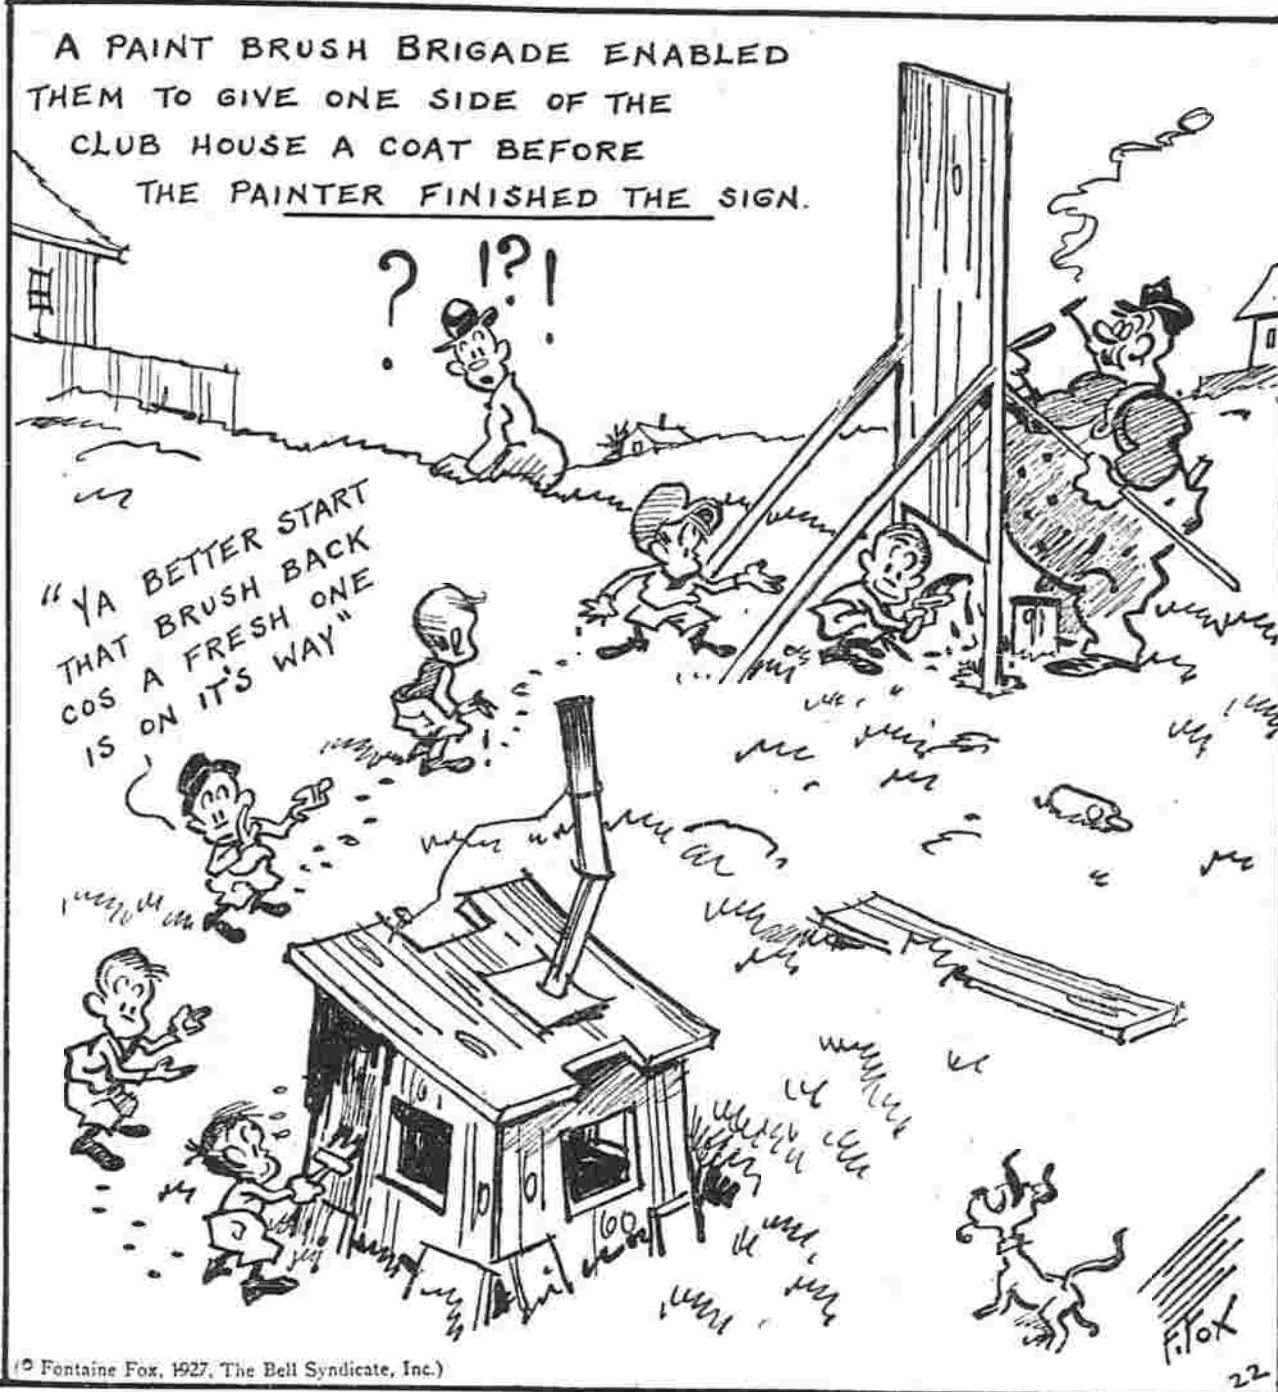

They call him Bacon, because "some one's always bringing him home."

So many people taking themselves seriously is one reason for the humorous side of life.

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture)

Said Scouty, "What a wondrous night. The brilliant moon makes things look bright, and if I didn't know that I was wrong, I'd think 'twas a day. We've lots of time that we can lose. Let's find a place where we can snooze. No hay stack, though, 'cause I am tired of sleeping in the hay." "Oh, gee," snapped Clowny. "Let's sit out and watch the bright stars shoot about. In turning in to sleep right now there is no real good sense. We seldom have a night like this, and cannot let it go amiss. Let's find a comfy place to perch. Oh, there's a picket fence." They perched upon the fence real quick, and Coppy said, "Gee, this is slick. This sure is pretty country-land. I wonder where we are." "Oh, my, what difference does that make?" asked Clowny. "Why, for goodness sake, we're safe and sound, so let's not fret. An, there's a shooting star!"

the sky an hour. Then Scouty said, "Well, I have really had enough of this. My head's so tired it pains. That wagon is the place we'll stop and get our sleep. It has a top and we'll be safe and sound till morning, even though it rains." They crawled into the wagon then, and soon were fast asleep again. When morning came they all hopped out and found a nearby well. They washed themselves and got a drink. Then Clowny said, "Well, lads, I think that we were wise to take that sleep. I'm really feeling swell." Not far away they found a boy who sang as if filled up with joy. They walked right up to listen, and they all kept very still. "To see you I am very glad, I'm Tommy Tucker," said the lad, "I'm singing for my supper. You can join me, if you will."

MOOSE MINSTREL IS BIG SUCCESS

Heads Bill at State—College Widows Fine; "Cabaret" Feature Film.

(By Member Herald Staff) Manchester Moose presented their big minstrel show at the State theater last night in conjunction with the five regular acts of vaudeville and feature picture.

The minstrel show which was the sixth act on the vaudeville program, was without a doubt the feature of the program. It opened with three songs by the large chorus, followed by a snappy drill by the end men.

Manager Sanson was given credit by the principals of the Moose show for the success of the affair. Not only was his work as inter-ductor exceptionally good, but his experience was of great assistance in putting the minstrel in shape.

The five vaudeville acts on this week's show are of the usual high State theater standard. The College Widows presented a fine singing and dancing revue. All are pretty girls with plenty of talent.
