

LET MANCHESTER GO TO THE RESCUE!

Appalling Disaster Has Fallen Upon the People of the Mississippi Valley. Vast Sums Must Be Used in Red Cross Rescue Work. We Must Do Our Part. Give to the Red Cross Fund NOW. Delay May Cost Thousands of Lives.

MANCHESTER RELIEF SLOW IN STARTING

Quick Response to Red Cross Call Expected However as Horror of Flood Disaster Is Realized; Tragedy Seizes on Sympathy of Nation and Reaction Here Is Certain.

MANCHESTER'S QUOTA $1,000
CONTRIBUTION HEADQUARTERS: Chamber of Commerce, Dewey-Richman building; The Evening Herald offices, Hilliard street at the North end, 10 Bissell street in the South end; Lucius Pinney, treasurer, Prospect street. Contribution boxes are located in the Manchester Trust Company, Home Bank and Trust Company and the Post Office.

Manchester did not awaken last night to the clarion call of the Red Cross for aid in the rescuing of scores of thousands of imperiled, sick and dying victims of the terrible Mississippi flood. The morning's mail brought to Treasurer Lucius Pinney of the Manchester chapter of the Red Cross only two subscription checks, though these were for substantial sums.

COMMANDER DAVIS KILLED IN CRASH

Lieutenant Wooster Also Dead After Fall In Plane; Were Testing Machine.

Manchester did not awaken last night to the clarion call of the Red Cross for aid in the rescuing of scores of thousands of imperiled, sick and dying victims of the terrible Mississippi flood. The morning's mail brought to Treasurer Lucius Pinney of the Manchester chapter of the Red Cross only two subscription checks, though these were for substantial sums.

Washington, April 26.—Lieutenant Commander Noel Davis and Lieutenant Stanton H. Wooster were killed early today in an airplane crash at Messick, Virginia, according to a dispatch to the Navy Department.

Will Respond of Course
It is, of course, inconceivable that Manchester will not respond, at once and to the full of the demand and more, to the summons for the only form of assistance that people at such a distance can lend—money.

In Test Flight
They were engaged in a test flight in the "American Legion" which they were preparing for a flight across the Atlantic to capture the $25,000 prize for the first non-stop flight from New York to Paris.

Agencies Established
Collection agencies have been established at the headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce and at the offices of the Evening Herald on Hilliard street and Bissell street. Donations may be left at either of these places or sent directly to the treasurer of the chapter, Lucius Pinney, of Prospect street. Checks may be made payable to Manchester Chapter, A. R. C.

Bombing Type
The plane, bombing type similar to those in use in the navy, made its first flight about three weeks ago near the factory of the Keystone Aircraft Company at Bristol, Pa. The plane had been fitted specially for the Atlantic flight with extra fuel tanks and re-reinforced structural supports.

ARREST WOMAN
Stamford, Conn., April 26.—Mrs. Violet Reek went over to Monroe on Sunday to attend a party and returned. She went back to Monroe today in custody of a state policeman, accused of having robbed the apartment of William Androlet and taking a large sum of money.

"I AM SO HAPPY" SAYS POLA NEGRI
Polish Film Star Looks Forward to Her Marriage in May to Prince Serge.
Cherbourg, France, April 26.—"The prince is the greatest love of my life and I am looking forward to the greatest happiness of my life."

City Drafts Men To Fight Floods

The remarkable airplane picture above shows Little Rock, Ark., where 1,000 men have been conscripted for levee duty by the mayor following refusal of 600 workmen to carry on an apparently futile fight against flood waters. In the city, which is virtually isolated from the rest of the state, 150 homes and store buildings in the eastern section pictured here, are under water, several hundred are homeless and 75 square blocks are flooded. Below, to the left, is shown what happens to flivvers left too near Bear creek at Pawnee, Okla. To the right is a refugee camp near Cairo, Ill., one of the many camps along the Mississippi where thousands of homeless are being cared for.

CHINAMEN WORRIED AS TRIAL BEGINS

Motion to Put Case Over to the June Term Is Overruled By the Court.
Hartford, Conn., April 26.—Worried and uncertain, Sin Lung Woo, 33, and Loo Hoo Wing, 32, in court here today, faced charges by the state which accuse them of the murder of Ong Jing, Manchester laundryman on March 24th, last.

STUDENTS TOLD HOW TO PRAY

Canadian Minister Gives 11 Rules to Potential Dominions at Yale School.
New Haven, April 26.—Rev. J. R. P. Slater, D. D., of Toronto, Canada, today told the potential ministers training in Yale Divinity School how to pray. "Plain thoughtfulness," he declared, has caused people to "turn to a liturgy" because it is "at least a safe guard against the vagaries of those who set out without compass, rhyme or reason, on the uncharted sea of orating to the Almighty in the quiet of prayer."

MCLAUGHLIN TELLS HIS STORY AT TRIAL

Ex-Police Commissioner Describes Scenes at House Where Editor Was Slain.
Court House, Long Island City, N. Y., April 26.—George V. McLaughlin, former police commissioner of New York city, took the witness stand today at the trial of Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray and related the circumstances which resulted in the alleged confession of Mrs. Snyder that she assisted her lover in the brutal murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, in the early hours of March 20.

100 CASES OF BEER FOUND IN BIG TRUCK

Liquid Still Warm So Police Are Trying to Locate Waterbury Brewery.
Canaan, Conn., April 26.—A desire for quick service between the brewer and the distributor seemed indicated today when state police today stopped a west-bound truck and found one hundred cases of alleged high powered beer. The police said that the beer was still warm when they found it, hidden beneath blankets and mattresses. State Policeman Stanton made the seizure, being curious to know what the huge truck might contain.

THREE ATTACKS ON U. S. WARSHIPS

Several Wounded In Penguin—Situation In Canton Reported Today As Acute.
Shanghai, April 26.—Three attacks on American warships were reported here today. The destroyer Paul Jones was fired upon by Nationalists near Kiangyin and returned the fire. The U. S. S. Ford was fired on seven miles above Nanking. Several were wounded aboard the U. S. S. Penguin which was fired on several miles below Kiangyin. The Penguin returned the fire. Reports from Canton state that the situation there is acute. Five Communists, including two girls, are reported to have been executed. The Moderates are retaining control of the city and the foreigners are gathered in Shameen where they are protected by warships.

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS

Memphis, Tenn., April 26.—The death toll from the southern floods soared today to around two hundred as the Mississippi river continued to overrun the banks of the lower Mississippi valley, inundating additional towns and claiming more lives.
Twenty-five persons were reported to have perished near Head, Miss., when their houses they took refuge in was burned to the water's edge. Three deaths were reported today from Leland, Miss., from disease. Helena, Ark., held its breath today as the levees showed signs of weakening. Helena to date is dry and protecting several thousand refugees but is surrounded by water.

FEAR FURTHER BREAKS IN VICKSBURG LEVEES

THIRD TERM ISSUE PUT UP TO PRESIDENT

Editor of Magazine Challenges Coolidge to Declare His Position on the Question.
New York, April 26.—One magazine having successfully drawn fire from Governor Smith on the religious issue, another magazine is today making an effort to draw a definite statement from President Coolidge on the question of a third term.

Do you believe that the tradition of American politics is hostile to a substantive third term in the presidency?
Do you believe that your reelection would be in harmony with the spirit of the common law which has given you your present power?

Secretary Hoover After Survey Thinks Situation Is Daily Growing Worse—New Orleans Menaced By Rising Waters—Funds Pouring In From Red Cross Chapters; Two Millions Already Raised.

Vicksburg, Miss., April 26.—Having whipped into shape in a single day the greatest peacetime relief organization in United States history, Secretary of Commerce Hoover arrived today in the heart of the Mississippi flood region. His first purpose was a firsthand survey of conditions in the Red Cross refugee camps which are caring for approximately 130,000 homeless in Louisiana and Mississippi. The great question is what will happen to the levees in the lower river with the arrival of the crest, Hoover said.

Greenville Hard Hit
Reaching Greenville, Mississippi, the hardest hit city in the entire valley, shortly before daylight the Chisca, government tug, halted only long enough for a hurried survey of the stricken area from meadows before resuming her journey to Vicksburg, the clearing house for rescue work for the entire flooded area south of Memphis. With the crest of the raging flood a little below Helena, Arkansas, at noon today, Hoover looked southward with apprehensive eyes. To the north the worst has passed. The Mississippi and its tributaries still are rising at isolated points but the great swell has subsided in every stream and threatens no further extension of the flooded area below Vicksburg, however. The situation grows more menacing hourly, with New Orleans, the fourth largest city of the nation, imperiled by the ever rising channels.

HOOPER'S OPINION

After survey of the Mississippi from the Chisca's wheel house of "virtually the entire distance of 252 miles between Memphis and Greenville, Hoover estimated today that a break in the levee below Vicksburg would flood approximately ten thousand additional square miles of land, or about as much as is already inundated throughout the entire region between St. Louis and New Orleans. Much of the threatened land is normally swamped by marsh and sparsely populated. Means of transportation from side-wheeled river boats to airplane. Machinery has been set in motion through the Department of Agriculture at Washington to rehabilitate destitute farmers. Funds are pouring in through Red Cross chapters in every section of the country with almost two million dollars made available since the appeal was broadcast Saturday afternoon by President Coolidge.

SPILT IN AUTHORITY
Under orders to move persons from the flooded towns by force if necessary, National Guard troops were enroute to these towns. These orders were sharply criticized by Red Cross officials in the field. The question will probably be decided by Secretary of Commerce Hoover who will make a report in Vicksburg today following his special tour of the area aboard the J. S. Chisca.

KIWANIS TO ACT ON FLOOD RELIEF

Called on By N. E. Body and Will Take Steps at Tomorrow's Meeting.
President William A. Knofia of the Kiwanis club today received a telegram from James Armstrong, governor of the New England Kiwanian district, asking the local organization to lend its support in aiding the thousands of homeless men, women and children in the Mississippi flood area. Other Kiwanis clubs in Connecticut have been similarly notified.

ISRAEL POUZZNER DIES

Hartford, Conn., April 26.—Israel Pouzzner, 67, of New Britain, died in Hartford hospital today after a two days' illness of heart trouble. Mr. Pouzzner was a prominent resident of New Britain. He leaves his wife, two daughters Mrs. Annie Camper, of New Haven, whose husband is former mayor of that city, and Mrs. Fannie Saxe, wife of Judge Morris D. Saxe of New Britain, and two sons, Daniel E. Pouzzner, assistant city attorney of New Haven, and Morris Pouzzner of Boston.

COME ACROSS! Manchester has been called on for a thousand dollars contribution to the Red Cross relief fund which is the only tangible hope of a hundred thousand refugees from the greatest disaster in all probability.

A BAD SPOT. There is one bad spot in the system of high wages in vogue in this country. The theory of the general system is excellent. It is that if the worker gets a sufficient share in the product of his labor he becomes a liberal purchaser, the general market is widened and deepened.

During the troubles that followed the end of the Diaz dictatorship in Mexico, when presidents were changed frequently and violently, there was one particularly tense period when it appeared that the United States might intervene.

THE WORLD'S GREAT AGE BEGINS ANEW. The golden years return. The earth doth lie a snake renew Her winter weeds outworn; Her winter weeds outworn; Her winter weeds outworn.

WE NEED TIMBER. Abundant timber of suitable quality at reasonable prices is essential for national development and high standards of living.

JUST LIKE THAT. President Coolidge would never make a novelist nor yet a playwright. He has no appreciation whatever of literary climaxes.

A THOUGHT. Be not righteous overmuch—Eccl. vii: 16. When you see a man with a great deal of religion displayed in his shop window, you may depend upon it he keeps a very small stock inside.

It be known that the Mexican president, through his envoy at Washington, had agreed that there should be no confiscation of American property under the operation of the 1917 constitution.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

A Puffer Fish—Inflated. AN AQUATIC SWELL. By ARTHUR N. PACK. One's first thought on viewing this picture naturally would be that this fish had cornered and unusual good feeding ground.

New York, April 26.—Manhattan snap-shots: the incongruously located Church of St. Francis of Assisi. . . . Crowded between the minarets of the new cloak and suit belt on 3d street. . . . One of its beautifully architected Spanish gateway walls has become imbedded in a tawdry brick printshop. . . . It clings tenaciously to its little garden where half a dozen firns manage to survive the dirt of the street and the terribly inadequate earth base for their roots. . . . They have grown gusty and anemic. . . . On either side of their narrow home rise the sheer walls of skyscrapers. . . . Now and then a priest appears upon the roof, pacing back and forth reading his litanies in the shadows of temples built to Mammon, chief god of business.

James Oliver Curwood, who writes of the northwoods, but spends his off-woods hours in Manhattan. . . . And he has been nursing a serpent bite, they tell me, suffered during a snake hunt in the everglades of Florida. . . . Naticha Rambova, once Mrs. Rudolph Valentino, dancing in a new dance club of the flirty-fifties. . . . Chestnut vendors appearing on the street. . . . Open cars on Broadway. . . . A man buying a bathing suit. . . . Two more men looking over golf stockings. . . .

Good Nature and Good Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Disease is transferred from one person to another by the passage of the germ or infectious agent. The infectious agents vary according to the disease concerned and as to the methods of transmission.

Avoiding Infection These include the frequent use of soap and water baths; the washing of the hands in soap and water after attending to any physical need, and always before eating; the keeping of the hands and of any unclean articles, particularly toilet necessities that may have been used by other persons, away from the mouth, nose, eyes, ears, or any other body openings; the avoidance of common drinking or toilet articles, such as towels, handkerchiefs, hair brushes, drinking cups and pipes, and finally the avoidance of close contact with persons who may be coughing, sneezing, laughing, or talking and thereby spraying infectious material from the nose and mouth.

By attention to the simple matters that have been mentioned one may avoid largely contact with infectious diseases.

A second important factor is limitation of the freedom of movement of persons or animal who have been exposed to communicable diseases for a length of time which will insure their freedom from infection. Such limitation is generally known as quarantine. It must be emphasized that it concerns restrictions of the action of persons who have not been exposed to disease and not those who are actually ill.

Killing the Germs

When a disease has terminated either by cure of the patient or by death, certain measures are necessary to insure that his surroundings and the materials associated with him will not disseminate infection. These measures include cleaning by scrubbing and washing with hot water, soap, or washing soda; disinfection by the use of chemical substances or by exposure to sunlight and fresh air; renovation by the removal of porous, painting or calcining; disinfecting by which insects and animals in the environment may be destroyed, and sub-classifications of the two latter procedures.

Miss Lillian Eichler, authority on matters of etiquette and good form, tells us a lot of interesting things in a recent article on people and the things they want to know.

The older I get the more convinced I am that what the world needs is a good course in silence. I verily believe that we could sidetrack some of our "ologies" and substitute therefor a concentrated course in keeping our mouths shut with very happy results.

I know men and I know women who irritate me the instant they heave in sight. I know that when I have left them they will not know a single word I have said (if I have had a chance to say anything) and they do not care that they know not. Their affairs, their ills, their adventures, their plans, their successes! Mine do not matter.

tell you that the people I have in mind are not of that genus homo. They are invariably so wrapped up in themselves and have their eyes so habitually turned in on their own importance that if they are self-conscious almost embarrassingly of the word, then I am unconscious this minute.

I know a man who has cultivated the grace of listening to a degree that is quite unusual. One finds oneself almost embarrassedly important. He listens attentively to every word with the attitude of listening eager, for the next. And he knows so much more than one does, all the time: I like to meet him and talk "with" him. (Don't be too hard on me, those who smile at my obvious preference for being heard myself occasionally.)

It is the old story of the great man being your audience while the little man makes you one. Silence always was and still is golden.

SENSE and NONSENSE

"Pa, you remember you promised to give me $5 if I passed in school this year?" "Yes, Tom." "Well, Pa, you ain't gonna have that expense." "But," protested the new arrival as St. Peter handed him a golden trumpet, "I can't play this instrument. I never practiced while on earth." "Of course you didn't," chuckled the good old saint, "That's why you are here." Not to Say Impossible. From many a chimney, many a stack. Is sooty smoke unfurled; 'Tis hard to keep one's self, alack, Unspotted from the world. A woman who was living in a hotel in San Francisco hired a Chinese boy. "What's your name?" she asked. "Fu You Tsin Mei," said he. "Your name is too long, I'll call you John." "What's your name, please?" he asked. "Mrs. Elmer Edward MacDonaid." "Your name is too long," said he, "I call you Charley."

A Mean Trick

(Read the Story. Then Color the Picture) Said Clowzy, "Let me rock the tot. 'Twill fall asleep as like as not. The rest of you can sing a song. Now that's a dandy plan. We have not got a rocking chair, but get those boughs, right over there and we will build a little one as quickly as we can." It didn't take the Tinies long to make a little chair, quite strong. They wisted lots of boughs about until the thing was done. It proved to be of worthy stock, as Clowzy started in to rock. And, as the others gathered near, a song was soon begun. 'Twas queer to hear the Tinies croon. The baby seemed to like the tune and very shortly went to sleep as peaceful as could be. Then Clowzy seemed to quickly stop. The funny rocking chair went flop, and down went tot and Clowzy. What a funny sight to see! Of course the baby was awake. When someone said, "For goodness sake!" That surely is my baby. Did it fall out of the tree? The baby's mother stood nearby and when the child began to cry, she turned to Clowzy, saying, "Kindly give the child to me." They told her of the sudden fall, and then she thanked them, one and all, and took the baby in her arms and quickly walked away. "I'm glad that's over," Scouty said. "Let's find the road and move ahead. I see a little house nearby. Let's hike to that and play." So Scouty led them on a roam that led right to the little home. They walked up to the doorstep just as quiet as a mouse. "Hurrah!" said Coppy, full of cheer. "That sign says Mother Goose lives here. They say that she is very kind. I hope she's in the house." WAUSUKAS CHILDREN IN INFIRMARY HERE

Birch Mountain Derelicts Brought to Almshouse, Mother Ill, Father Absconds.

Deserted by their father and their mother ill with diphtheria, the four children of Joseph Wausukas of Birch Mountain were taken yesterday by Holloran Brothers to the Manchester almshouse infirmary. The mother was removed to the Isolation hospital in Hartford for treatment.

Neighbors had been feeding them. The father has not been seen in Bolton since he was brought into court on a charge of non-support a week or two ago.

The children put up a spirited fight when they were being taken away and it was with difficulty that they could be placed in the ambulance. They will be held at the almshouse infirmary until blood tests are taken and the cultures returned from the state laboratories at New Haven.

Neighbors had been feeding them. The father has not been seen in Bolton since he was brought into court on a charge of non-support a week or two ago.

STRONG—MORGAN

Miss Mary Elizabeth Morgan of Garden street and Milton E. Strong of East Hartford were married at eight o'clock Friday evening, April 22. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold Burden at the parsonage of the Congregational church in Hookanum. They were attended by Miss Mary Klein of Charter Oak street and Richard Strong, brother of the bridegroom.

Mr. Strong and his bride stood in the same spot in the parsonage as his parents when they were married 25 years ago, April 23. Mr. and Mrs. Strong will be at home to their friends on Edgerton street after May 15.
