

TONG TRIAL BEGINS AT HARTFORD

Defense May Try to Prove Unknown Man Committed Murder Here—First Wit- ness.

(Special to The Herald)
Hartford, Conn., May 2.—Indications that the defense in the trial of Ching Lung and Loo Hoo Wing, accused of the murder of Ong Jing Hem, of Manchester, on March 24, last, which swung actively under way here today, will be an attempt to show that some one unknown entered the back door of the Manchester laundry and killed the Chinese.

The state contends that one of the accused entered the front door of the laundry and shot Ong Jing Hem at the conclusion of a two-year truce in a Chinese tong war.

The defense plan came to light during the giving of testimony by George A. Johnson, of Manchester, civil engineer and surveyor, the first witness called today. He identified the laundry building from pictures and was immediately subjected to cross examination by Defense Counsel Francis P. Rohrmayer and Frank T. Healy. Johnson said he could not be certain regarding the back entrance and as he could not give the information required he was asked by the defense to secure it. He will be called to the stand again at a later date.

Hartford, May 3.—Joseph M. Casey is to have charge of the jury during the trial. Sheriff Dewey announced this morning and will be with them at the Heublen hotel, where they will spend their nights during the trial and until such time as they reach a verdict or fail to do so.

The witnesses for the state were called to the state's attorney's office a half hour before the regular hour of opening court but were not detained long. Before 10:45 this morning most of the jurors had arrived. They all carried bags containing extra articles of clothing, as instructed by the court yesterday, prepared to spend a few days as guests of the county.

There was much comment heard around the halls over the repeal of the five year law, which has prevented many of the men called in this case from serving and has run up a big bill against the state. As court opened at 10:37, the jury was called in by Francis P. Rohrmayer offered a motion touching on constitutional rights, on which the court had once overruled, relating to the right of bringing the men before the trial term.

Loo Hoo Wing's age was 13 years old, Mr. Alcorn said he doubted it, but Mr. Rohrmayer was appointed guardian.

MAKES $5,000,000 SELLING BOOZE

That's His Yearly Income Man Tells Canadian Custom Offi- cials.

Windsor, Ont., May 3.—Twenty years ago C. A. "French" Savard was a $14 a week messenger boy in East St. Louis, Illinois. Today he is involved in court proceedings in which he admits he is the leading figure in a $5,000,000 a year liquor business.

Savard's amazing transactions in liquor were made known when he appeared before the Ontario customs Commission investigating the failure of Canada to get a share of the taxes from the millions of dollars worth of liquor transported between Windsor and Detroit.

Only 34 years old, Savard, a well-dressed, big character, discussed his sensational rise, following the hearing, "I was born in Winnipeg, 34 years ago and went to East St. Louis with my parents," Savard said. "I became a messenger boy in East St. Louis when I was 16. I saved $100. Then I gambled and ran my $100 up to $1,500. I came to Windsor and started buying liquor on wholesale scale and selling it to whomsoever would buy it from me. I, personally, never took a drop of liquor across the river into the United States in my life."

ENTIRE TOWN ALMOST SUBMERGED BY FLOODS

This aerial photograph, taken by William Day, flying cameraman for NEA Service in the Mississippi valley, shows how the greatest flood in history has made a huge inland sea of rich farm lands and villages. The picture shows the town of Leland, Miss., with every house flooded. An additional rise of a few feet would have completely submerged the town.

Mrs. Snyder Resumes The Witness Stand

Quite Calm Today During
Cross-Examination—Says
She Knew When Gray
Came He Meant Business.

Courthouse, Long Island City, N. Y., May 3.—Wearily and defiant, but apparently unperturbed, Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder resumed the witness stand again today for cross examination in a desperate battle to save herself from the electric chair. The black garbed blonde and her lover, Henry Judd Gray, are accused of beating her husband, Albert Snyder, to death on the morning of March 20 last. It was her third day on the stand.

With narrowed eyes she surveyed the antagonistic cross examiner for the state, Charles W. Frossell, assistant district attorney, who almost shook his glasses from his nose as he shot questions at her.

She took the stand at exactly ten o'clock. She sat there quietly as Justice Townsend's scolders warned spectators to maintain decorum. The courtroom was packed, mostly with women.

Frossell then began his questioning. "Madam," he said slowly, "it was the early part of this year that Gray talked about getting rid of Albert Snyder?"

"Yes," she answered in a low voice.

WILL KEEP ON RAISING FLOOD RELIEF FUNDS

Red Cross Here Met Second Call Before Made But Hope to Send Still More to Sufferers.

With two thousand dollars of Manchester money already at work with the country's millions in the great humanitarian business of saving life and fighting suffering and pestilence in the vast Mississippi flood area, the local chapter of the Red Cross today set itself a new objective when the national body of the great rescue league called for more funds.

Following a proclamation by President Coolidge, declaring that a new goal of $10,000,000 must replace the original $5,000,000 objective—doubling the amount, of the first call—Chairman J. P. Lamb of the Manchester Red Cross chapter today received the following wire from the national headquarters:

The Message.
Washington, D. C., May 4, 1927.
To J. P. Lamb,
Chairman Manchester Chapter, Red Cross.

Upon recommendation Hoover and myself, just returned from distressed area, Central Committee of the Red Cross, in view vast increase in flooded area that the emergency situation now demands minimum ten million dollars. This means doubling original quota each chapter.

That there is not time adequately to study and discuss the bill before adjournment; that it is a radical departure "from our form of government when the powers of the Legislature are delegated to four or five men"; that it would lose to the state "valuable services of the members of the board of finance, and possibly a great many trustees of institutions."

Senator Alice Merritt says it only has one good point; is passed.

Hartford, Conn., May 3.—The threat of a super-government, which will put the legislative and administrative functions of the state in the hands of a few men was found by Senator Alice Merritt in a bill sponsored by Governor Trumbull creating a new department of finance and control. "ONE DAY'S PAY FOR HOSPITAL" DRIVE'S SLOGAN

Local Institution Needs $50,000— Campaign Here Next Week—Committees Make Inspection Tour.

"One day's pay for the hospital," a slogan suggested by Frank Ripplin, will be painted on the large bill board at Main and Park streets where each day will be told what advance is being made in the way of raising $50,000 for the Manchester Memorial hospital.

The board of trustees of the hospital has named N. B. Richards as chairman of the drive to raise the $50,000, this amount being needed for three purposes—the regular operation costs of the hospital above what is paid by the patients; $10,000 to meet a 1926 deficit, due to failure to raise money enough last year; between $4,500 and $5,000 for new equipment.

It is order those who are to take an active part in the drive might become thoroughly familiar with the hospital there was a gathering of about twelve persons at the hospital last evening when they were given an opportunity to inspect the building from the third floor down through into the basement.

FEAR 76 TRAPPED MINERS ARE DEAD

All Hope Abandoned—Have Been Entombed For Over 72 Hours.

Everettsville, W. Va., May 3.—Tests of air in explosion wrecked mine Number Three of the New England Fuel & Transportation Company here today showed the percentage of carbon monoxide gas so high as to cause United States Bureau of Mines officials to practically abandon all hope for the rescue alive of seventy-six miners still entombed.

The trapped miners will have been imprisoned without food seventy-two hours at three o'clock this afternoon. Mine experts say they could easily withstand the torture of entombment were it not for the presence of deadly gases. The latter, it is feared, preclude any chance of their coming out alive now.

SENATOR EXPLAINS STATE'S FINANCES

So Arranged That Next Leg- islature Need Not Resort To Bond Issues.

Hartford, Conn., May 3.—Description of the condition of state finances and a complete resume of the work of the appropriations committee of the Legislature was given by Senator Edward F. Hall, of New Britain, chairman of the committee, in a speech before the Senate today. Senator Hall showed that the total of $42,158,063.40 has been appropriated and that the figures of estimated income to pay these estimated appropriations is $42,178,700.

Pointing out that the immediate building program for the state's institutions has been arranged for and stating "with these projects behind us, we believe it will be possible for the next general assembly to construct whatever buildings are found to be necessary for Mansfield, and for the insane, without the need of resorting to bond issues," Senator Hall read in detail the budget and sources of revenue.

The items of estimated income he said which are figured conservatively and based on past experience. Income from new sources of taxation is placed at $425,000, estimated from the new tax on motion pictures. Senator Hall pointed out that the budget will allow completion of new buildings at the state colleges, Newington Home, Meriden School for Boys, Mystic Oral School, Storrs Experiment Station, State Prison, New Britain Normal School and armories at New Haven and Bristol.

"The actual income available for appropriations for the year 1925 and 1926 was $35,423,430. We believe that the board of finance estimate for 1927 and 1928 of $34,009,500 is a conservative estimate. The treasurer's estimate of the cash balance is $3,850,000. The estimated amount of appropriations that will not be used and will lapse is $1,000,000.

"The estimated receipts from the city of New Haven, $2,000,000 for the present armory site, in the event a new armory is built, is $275,000; receipts from state pier, $18,000; expense of motor vehicle department, paid out of fees, $1,166,200; state armory site at New Haven, $2,000,000; transfers from motor vehicle department to state for roads, $200,000 estimate income from new sources of taxation, $425,000; total $42,178,700.

NICARAGUANS FIGHT AND DISCUSS PEACE

While Parley Is In Progress Liberals Attack City and Are Later Defeated.

Managua, Nicaragua, May 3.—While peace negotiations are in progress here, there is stiff fighting in the field.

The Liberals attacked and captured the city of Nagarote, but were forced to evacuate it later when a train arrived bearing government reinforcements. During the fighting the government lost nine dead and two wounded.

Representatives of Dr. Sacasa, Liberal leader, have agreed with Henry L. Stimson on peace proposals and today these proposals were sent to General Moncada, Liberal military leader, by his decision, two United States Marine officers and an escort of fifty marines took the proposals to General Moncada.

London, May 3.—Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president, emeritus of the University of California, and one of the best known educators in the United States, is dead in Vienna, according to a dispatch from that city today. Prof. Wheeler was seventy-three years old.

CARPENTERS STAND PAT ON OLD WAGE

Decide Not to Make Demand For More Pay After Parley With Bosses.

Union carpenters in Manchester have decided to work this year on the present wage scale and not ask for an increase, it was learned today.

Recently it was stated that the carpenters planned to seek an increase but at the last meeting of the Local Union of Carpenters and Joiners, No. 757, held at Tinker hall, it was agreed to accept the present wages.

The carpenters now work eight hours per day and 44 hours a week at the rate of a dollar an hour.

MISS MARY THOMPSON SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS

Well Known Local Woman Dies At Hartford Sanitarium This Morning.

Miss Mary Isabelle Thompson, daughter of Mrs. Jennie C. Thompson of 618 Center street, died this morning at 9:30 at Miss Grace D. Fordham's convalescent sanitarium, 38 Girard avenue, Hartford, where she had been for the past few weeks.

Miss Thompson had been ill since January when she underwent a major operation at the Hartford hospital. She remained at that institution for five weeks and welcomed the visits of her pastor, Rev. Watson Woodruff, and a host of friends hereabouts. She was always cheerful and optimistic and talked of going to Florida to recuperate or to her cottage at Crescent beach. Her health continued to fail, however, after her return to her home here, and it was decided to place her under care and treatment at Miss Fordham's sanitarium.

Miss Thompson was born in Nashville, Tenn., but received her education in Hartford, where the family moved when she was a small child. She was educated in the public schools and took a course at one of the business colleges, entering the employ of the firm of Olds & Whipple, where she has been stenographer and confidential secretary for a period of 26 years. She had lived in this town between 16 and 17 years.

Miss Thompson was very active in lodge circles and was a member of Hartford Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, which was organized at her home in Hartford twenty-five years ago. She was chosen secretary of this year of Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, and was Noble Grand of Sunset Rebekah lodge three years ago. She is a member of the Trinity Past Grands association, and a member of the Center Congregational Church.

Miss Thompson leaves beside her mother, two brothers, Charles A. F. of Nantite, and Robert M. Thompson. Funeral arrangements at this writing are incomplete.

TONG TRIAL BEGINS IN HARTFORD TODAY

A. On the south side of Oak street.
Q. Did you notice the screens on the window?
A. Yes, they were a sort of gauze.
He was then shown a picture of the east section of the Watkins building. He also acknowledged taking a picture of the interior of the laundry with his camera in the southeast part of the front room. These pictures were taken on Friday, March 25. On March 24 he also took an interior view of the laundry.

Q. Did you also take that picture showing the dead man lying between the two doors, the one that was used only in The Herald?
A. Yes, it was taken on Friday, March 25. It was shown to the jury. His camera, he said, was inside the screen partition looking north. All of the pictures were entered as exhibits by the state without objection from the defense.

Hartford Driver Robert McKown, of Hartford, the next witness, was born in Hartford he said, twenty-five years ago.
Q. What is your business?
A. Driving cab.
Q. You were working on March 24?
A. Yes.
Q. What time did you go on duty?
A. At 7 a. m. on March 24.
Q. What kind of a car did you drive?
A. Black and White Dodge.
Q. Where were you located on March 24?
A. On the Central row side.
Q. Do you remember driving two men that morning to the railroad station? Did you notice any of these men?
A. Yes, Chinese.
Q. Do you recognize any of the men?
A. Yes, the one with the light hat and light coat.
Q. Do you remember talking to any of the men?
A. Yes, take me to the railroad station.
Q. Where did you leave them?
A. To the east entrance of the station and both got out.
Q. Were you paid?
A. Yes, 50 cents by the man in gray hat.
Q. Did you see two men enter the cab?
A. Yes.
Q. Who were Chinamen?
A. On being shown the hat and coat claimed by the state as worn by the men, under arrest, he identified all. Q. You saw them enter?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you see one of them with a paper?
A. Yes, the man with the light coat.
Q. Do you make out a report of your work?
A. Yes.
Q. Is this your report?
A. Yes.
Q. What time did you take them?
A. At 6:20.
Driver Sanzone was called.
Q. Were you working on March 24?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know Mr. McKown?
A. Yes.
Daniel McPherson, information clerk at the Hartford railroad station was called. A time table between New York and Boston and Hartford Springfield which he said was correct at that time was offered. He gave the costs of railroad fares between Hartford and Meriden and Hartford and New Haven.

John McGinn told the court that he is a patrolman. He was on duty March 23. He knew Sam, the laundryman.
Q. Are there any other laundries in Manchester?
A. Yes.
Q. Where?
A. On Birch street.
Q. On March 23 did you see any strange Chinaman in Manchester?
A. Yes, I met one in front of the postoffice.
Q. Do you know how he dressed?
A. He wore a brown coat and cap and walked along with his hands in his pockets.
Q. Is that man in the room?
A. Yes.
Q. "Can you point him out?"
McGinn walked from the witness chair to the table where Ching Lung was sitting and touched him on the shoulder.
"Identifying Ching Lung" said the state's attorney.
"A short recess" remarked the court.
Bazil Anzonia who drove the Buick taxi was the first called after the recess. He identified two views of his car.
Q. Were you on duty March 24?
A. Yes, north of the station on Union place.
Q. Was there another car?
A. A cream colored car.
Q. Many windows in the other car?
A. Yes. Windows all around.
Q. On March 24 were you on duty?
A. Yes, I was on duty when my horn blew. The short guy, pointing out at the same time, Ching Lung, called me.
Q. What did he say.
A. He said "Can you drive car."
Q. Speak good English.
A. Yes.
Q. What happened then.
A. He called me over to the fellow with a light hat and coat. He asked the cost to drive to Manchester and then to Meriden. He told them, he said, $20. They did not want to pay $20, but agreed on $15.
Q. What did he say then.
A. I asked him where to go in Manchester and he made no reply.
Q. What you reached Manchester what then?
A. The little guy pointed down the street and I kept on going and was attracted by a tap on the window. I turned around and just about Oak and Main street stopped. They both got out. The gray hat man said "Wait I'll be right back."
They were then on the wrong

ONE DAY'S PAY FOR HOSPITAL, IS SLOGAN

In a small frame half way up the stairs from the main floor to the second floor of the hospital which is a certificate, granted only to hospitals that are considered in the first class as to care of patients, medical staff and nurses, sanitary conditions and laboratory work. This is one part of the hospital which is a most in need of modernization is the X-ray department, the equipment of which is so antique that it no longer serves its proper function and must be replaced.

In the upper northeast corner is kept the operation room. The laboratory work is done in a room adjoining the X-ray machine. The room is used for emergency cases and for maternity work. All is spotlessly clean. A place for the doctors to robe and disrobe before and following an operation, a hot and cold washstand where the waiter is turned on by a pressure to preclude the need of touching the faucet with the hand. All of this is in keeping with up to date hospital technique.

The doctors' waiting room, the X-ray machines, now in need of replacement, is just to the southwest of the operating room. What was used as sleeping quarters for the nurses when the hospital was first built is now occupied by private ambulance attendants.

The second floor with its pleasant outlook to the east and west from the sun parlors and its baby ward on the northwest end of the building, was inspected, not entered, for visitors are not allowed here.

New Patron On Hand A brand new baby, which arrived yesterday afternoon was the only "exhibit" inside and was just being provided with its milk bottle for the evening. The porch to the west overlooks the Connecticut valley and is a place ideal, from its sun and air, for a convalescent.

It is on the ground floor that the wards are located. On the east end the men's ward is a sun parlor. Here the patients that were not too ill were sitting and had just had delivered to them their "Evening Herald." They like to keep in touch with the news and the nation's doings just as much as the well person. The meals were coming up from the kitchen down stairs. The patients not on special invalid diets were getting grape fruit, turkey, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, olives, tea, coffee or milk, with fresh made pies for dessert.

While the meals were being served the women in the party were shown through the house across the street used for the home of the nurses and also the one behind on Memorial street, which is much larger and also is a nurses' dormitory. Another house on Haynes street is occupied in part for a clinic for children.

Laundry Moved The removal of the laundry from the basement has been a big improvement. The space it occupied, in part is used as a receiving room; being located close to the north door where the ambulance brings patients and where, in emergency cases, they can be taken in or can be transported to the elevator and thence to any one of the three floors.

"No," she said she went upstairs to the bathroom.
Q. And while in there you heard "the terrific thud?"
A. Yes.
Q. You rushed out of the bathroom?
A. Yes.
Q. You grabbed him then?
A. Yes.
Q. She faints.
Q. He pushed me and I fell in a faint.
Q. And you found blood on your garments later?
A. Yes.
Q. And you gave them to Gray to burn?
A. Yes.
Q. Gave them to the man you had tried to drag off your husband?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you pull the covers off your husband all the way?
A. Just long enough—Oh, I don't know what I want to say.
Q. All you had seen or heard was the sound of the washwater on your husband's head?
A. Yes.
Q. When you came to, after fainting did you pull the covers off his head and see if you could help him?
A. No.
Q. Did Not Know He Was Dead.
Q. You knew what had happened to him?
A. No, I didn't.
Q. But went to another room and remained with Gray for a couple of hours. Didn't you know whether your husband was dead or alive?
A. No.
She insisted Gray left the bloody bedroom first, not quite a half-hour after she entered it. Yes, she admitted, Gray burned his bloody shirt, her night gown and her robe.

Q. Did you take off your night-gown and bathrobe in his presence?
A. Yes.
She couldn't recall how long Gray was downstairs burning the garments.
Q. Well then you were the one who got out that shirt for Gray from your husband's room.
A. No.
The court admonished Froessel to be less harsh.
Did Not Go to Cellar.
Mrs. Snyder then denied she went into the cellar with Gray when he was burning the clothes. No, she didn't look to see what she could do for her husband while Gray was downstairs. No, she didn't scream.

"Who took the wallet from your husband's pocket?" suddenly demanded the belligerent Froessel.
"I did," she admitted under more cross-examination that she went to her husband's room and got her jewelry and hid it.
"You were more concerned about your jewelry than your husband, weren't you?" shouted Froessel. "You protected your jewelry from Gray but you didn't protect your husband's pocket?"
"Yes," she said wearily.

Gray Leaves House.
Gray left the house at 5:30 a. m., about two and a half hours after the murder. She said "hawl" not "hail." She also says "Eyo-ather" for "either" which he was going to Syracuse.
Q. Gray bound you up in your mother's room?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you lie on your mother's bed for two and a half hours before you called your daughter?
A. Yes.
You didn't call your daughter to call the police?
A. No.
Q. The neighbors finally came, the police came and you lied to them?
A. Yes.
Q. You lied to the detectives, you lied to Police Commissioner McLaughlin, you lied to your mother, you lied to everyone you spoke to?
A. Yes.

BUS DRIVER SAVES PORTLAND MAN'S LIFE

Quick Action After Auto Crash Staves Off Death on Cobalt Highway.
Middletown, Conn., May 3.—A Joyce, driver of a New England Transportation Company bus, was given credit today for saving the life of Raymond Linahan, of Portland, after a truck Linahan was driving crashed into a fence on the Cobalt highway and flung Linahan to the road, fracturing his skull and causing internal injuries. Joyce came along just after the accident, picked up Linahan and drove speedily into Middletown. He left word for a call for an ambulance to meet him at the Middletown railroad station and there Linahan was transferred. An emergency operation followed and today Linahan is reported out of danger.

On the trip into town Linahan was cared for by Miss Isabel Dalquist and Mrs. Agnes McAlliff, passengers on the bus. Linahan's machine had collided with a farm wagon driven by George B. Miller as the wagon was turning into a barn yard.

HOSPITAL'S ANNUAL MEETING ON MONDAY The annual meeting of the Manchester Memorial hospital will be held at the High school assembly hall Monday evening, May 9 at 8 o'clock, it was announced today.

SUNNY CORNER A corner of a room that gets sunlight can be made the most inviting nook in the house by grouping an easy chair, lamp and side table there and introducing an animate note, such as a singing bird, some fish or growing plants.

ARMY-NAVY INTRIGUED BY HORSESHOE PITCHING

Club Organizing Tourney and Members Are Busy Getting Into Practice.
Interest in the Army and Navy club these days centers about the organization of a horseshoe-pitching tournament which will be started within a few days. Every night the court at the rear of the club house is crowded with ex-service men getting into trim.
The tournament will start next Monday night and members who wish to compete must sign before that date. Twenty-one have already signed. They are Yocco, Lamprecht, Anderson, Hope, McDonald, McCormick, Anderson, F. D'Amico, McCann, Gieson, Blanchard, Mallon, Brennan, Shields, Peterson, Kennedy, Rady, McCollum, Quish, Hartnett, Lamprecht and Wetherill.
The government recently spent $25,000 repairing a temporary office building damaged by white ants.

DOYLE LEADING LEGION CAMPAIGN Pfunder Is Close Second; Old Fashioned Party; Newsy Notes.

(Special to The Herald)

John Doyle holds the lead in the count of the week's accumulation of votes for the trip to Paris to be awarded by four of the local merchants to the American Legion today. The following is Monday night's count: Doyle, 1937; William Pfunder, 1861; H. Krause, 1356; Elmer Elliott, 914; P. Teabo 439; H. Dimock, 435; J. McNally, 417; M. Weber, 163; O. May, 113; C. Peterson, 84; F. Pienick, 29; Frank Czeklewski, 24; Brown, 18; E. Harding, 1; William Bartlett, 1.

Mrs. Laura E. Grist, aged 53, wife of ex-Mayor Joseph Grist, passed away at her home on Orchard street Sunday afternoon at 6:45 o'clock. She had been ill for many months and had been confined to the bed for the past four weeks.

Mrs. Grist was born in Trowbridge, England, February 3, 1859. She came to Rockville about thirty-three years ago. She was a member of St. John's church and a faithful worker and member of the Ladies' Aid society previous to her illness.

She is survived by her husband and a daughter, Mrs. Winifred Grist, Goldstraw, also her mother, Mrs. E. Hillman of Stonehall Kent, England, and her brother, William Keeping of Stonehall Kent, England, and John Keeping of Trowbridge, England; two sisters, Mrs. John Frances of this city and Mrs. Edward Riebro of Farmington, also several nieces and nephews.

The funeral will be held at St. John's Episcopal church on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Olmstead officiating. Burial will be in the Hill cemetery.

Old Fashioned Party The Catholic Ladies of Columbus will hold an old fashioned party in their rooms at Foresters' hall on Thursday evening. This is given by the "B's" of the society. Mrs. M. Burke acting as chairman. The members are requested to attend in old fashioned costumes and any member not so attired will be fined. An interesting entertainment has been arranged which will be followed by a social time and refreshments.

Fire Department Meetings The various companies of the local fire department will hold their regular monthly meetings this week.

On Tuesday evening the Hook and Ladder Co. will meet at the Prospect street house.

The Piton company will meet in the same room at Prospect street on Wednesday evening.

On Wednesday evening the Fitch company will meet at the center house.

The Hockanum company will hold their meeting on Thursday evening at their rooms on West Main street.

Notes Mrs. Leroy Drazil of Union street has returned from a twelve day trip to Bermuda.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Levick of Waterbury were visitors in town on Sunday.

Miss Maud Drayton of Prospect street has returned from Bridgeport where she spent the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sigfried have moved from the Gworek tenement on Union street to the tenement recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clift has purchased the Barnes' property on Orchard street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Olds have moved to the Zimmerman tenement on Ward street.

Howard West, local ice dealer, has moved his family from Brooklyn street to the old West home at West Bridge having just recently purchased this property.

CELLAR POSITION SEEMS CERTAIN IF LOCALS DON'T STOP

Someone has asked how Murphy's Girls fared in their state league match with the Meriden Straight in the Silver City Sunday afternoon. This question is sort of unnecessary because you know the local girls have lost something like ten or eleven consecutive matches—all by the two-out-of-three margin.

Sunday was the same. Manchester, falling to bowl over the century mark but once, that being credited to Katharine Tureck, lost the first two games by wide margins and then copped the last by 35 pins.

CENTER PARK HAS ON ITS SPRING TOGGERY

Dolled Up In Green and Yellow. Benches Painted and All Set For Summer.

The Center park is now ready for summer.

In a new coat of green grass and budding foliage, set off by the yellow blossoms of early flowering shrubbery, the park is beginning to present a pretty appearance. Park employees have begun to mow the lawns.

All the park benches, newly painted, have been set out in their accustomed places and the drinking fountain will be put back in commission today or tomorrow. The fountain was opened yesterday but it was found that the park water had been turned off.

Park employees are now engaged in grading and seeding down the lawn in front of the Town hall on Center street.

WORKING FOR CHAMBER AND COUNCIL ENTENTE

Manchester Secretary on Committee Planning Co-operation of Two Bodies.

George E. Rix, executive secretary of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, is in Hartford today attending a meeting with Henry Trumbull, Connecticut representative for the New England Council with the object in view of effecting closer cooperation of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce with the Council.

The New England Council is composed of the governors of the New England states and a number of prominent business men. Secretary Rix is chairman of the Connecticut Chamber committee of other members of which are William H. Corbin, secretary of the Hartford Chamber and Walker Matteson, secretary of the Waterbury Chamber.

In the administration of the estate of the late Richard J. Mommers, head of the velvet department of Cheney Brothers for many years, it is found that there is a residue of $10,618.55. This remains after bequests have been made. The administrator has asked the probate court to find out who the heirs are and to appoint a committee of three interested persons to apportion the amount.

DOG LICENSE TOTAL EXCEEDS LAST YEAR'S

Suspected, However, That Many Animals Are Due to Go to Pound.

The dog population in Manchester is on the increase, it figures on this year's dog licenses at the Town Clerk's office may be accepted as a standard of judgment. Town Clerk Samuel J. Turkington said today that there had been 1,140 licenses issued against something like 1,108 last year by May 1.

It has been estimated that there are almost 1,300 dogs in Manchester. If that is so, there still remain more than 200 to be licensed.

Owners who have not licensed their dogs face the alternative of paying an extra dollar for a license or running the chance of having their dogs taken by the dog warden and placed in the pound. It will be necessary to pay a fee for the release of any dog which is caught by the warden.

Yesterday was the last day for obtaining licenses.

Edward J. Holl, owner of the new blue-lined truck, which comprises the former John Proctor property between Center and West Center streets, has sold a lot there to Charles Bunzel of 587 1/2 Center street.

DANCE NUMBERS FEATURE REBEKAH'S 'MAY PARTY'

Wirtalla Pupils Entertain at Annual Festival—Description of Dances.

Sunset Rebekah lodge delightfully entertained their friends at their annual May party last evening in Odd Fellows hall, with a program of solo and group dances by pupils of Mrs. Walter C. Wirtalla, songs, readings and a pageant of the months of the year. Miss Mary Hutchison, chairman of the committee in charge, announced the entertainers and read the descriptive passages.

The hall was beautifully decorated with baskets of gerberas and other spring flowers. Gates entwined with artificial vines and flowers formed an artistic entrance way for the performers.

The first number was the dance of the "Cutie Kids," Virginia Armstrong, small granddaughter of Noble Grand Weeder, and Little Doris Cole. The children danced and sang a motion song and were loudly applauded. Mrs. Maude Shearer played for the dance numbers. Old Father Time was personified by Mrs. Minnie Smith, wearing flowing white robes and hoary wig and carrying an hour glass and sickle. January, the first month, was the baby son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wilson. He was dressed in white rompers and carried a sash with the words "New Year."

February the patriotic month in which occurs the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln, as represented by Miss Viola Greenaway in male attire. She held aloft the Stars and Stripes and resting on the other shoulder was a section of fence rail. March, the next month, was Miss Barbara Lawrence in the garb of a farmer, going through the motions of sowing the seed. April brought out Virginia Armstrong in red rain cape and umbrella, and with her Master Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Richmond. When half way around the hall Virginia paused to recite a poem on April rain.

The crowning of the Queen of the May was exemplified by Mrs. Jessie Wallace, Mrs. Ralph Coe and Miss Madeline Spies, in white silk dresses and flower garlands. Miss Spies wore the golden crown on her hair, and the trio ascended the platform. Still another scene for the month of May was the dance of the daisy chain, nine little girls in white, low petal dresses with bare feet, pupils of Mrs. Wirtalla, danced this gracefully. They were the Misses Dorothy Wirtalla, Dorothy Gess, Eleanor Robertson, Ada Robinson, Dorothy Brown, Myrtle Murr, Ida Whitman, Ruth Cervini, Jessie Hutchinson.

June ushered in the bridal party. Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Swanson, the bride and groom, were attended by Mrs. George Wallace, Marjorie and Madeline, dressed in white and carrying the United States flag. During their march around the hall the audience arose and sang the "Star Spangled Banner." August ushered in the natty vacation girl. Miss Evaline Pentland, in sport suit of green silk, parasol to match and large hat. The little dancers, Virginia Armstrong and Doris Cole reappeared in the dance of the "Village Belles" another very pleasing dance. September and its holiday "Labor Day" was represented by Miss Lillian Reardon, in house dress, work apron and dust cap and carrying a broom.

October, the harvest month, was set forth in a reading by Miss Ruth Porter, while Miss Mary Roberts paraded around in a dress much be decked with autumn leaves. For November, Miss Geneva Pentland was gowned in a dress of orange crepe paper with green trimmings for the month that brings us Thanksgiving.

December's interest, Christmas, was portrayed by Mrs. Cleon Chapman, with fur coat and arms full of Christmas packages. Little Eleanor Wallace recited a Christmas poem. After this scene all those who participated in the pageant of the months marched around the hall in order.

Additional numbers were beautiful solo dances by Miss Dorothy Wirtalla, and vocal numbers by Rudolph Swanson. Mrs. Shearer accompanied Mr. Swanson and Miss Mary McLean played the pageant music.

Miss Hutchison in behalf of the committee presented to Mrs. Wirtalla a basket of cut flowers and to Mrs. Shearer a bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

Fancy cakes and ice cream were served in the banquet room.

PEARL-HANDLED KNIVES. Never let pear or ivory handled knives sink into the dishpan. The blades should be wiped carefully, as water loosens and discolors the handles.

FURNITURE SERVICE. In selecting new pieces of furniture be sure to consider them in relation to the space in the room, usefulness and compatibility with other furniture and decorations of the room they will occupy.

Not So Slow The Cop: Were you speeding? The Girl: No, but I passed someone who was.—Answers.

ANDERSON'S LEAD IN VOTE RACE BIG

Has 200 Votes On Pentland; Cervini's Increase Is Best Yet.

With the first part of the "On to Paris" Popularity contest being conducted by C. E. House and Son, Inc., for the local legion, nearly over, Clarence Anderson holds the lead with a safe margin over Jack Pentland, who has been runner up for first place since the start of the contest. Anderson's vote now stands at 2071 and Pentland's at 1869. Frank Cervini made the big showing for the week just past with a total of 440 votes, nearly three times the number of the previous week, which boosts his total to 828 and takes him from sixth to third place. Earl Bailsieper goes back from third to fourth place. John Olson, who has been pulling a good vote for the past three weeks, hit the cobble for a setback as not hit the cobble was cast for him during the past week. Harold Olds also made a good run this week coming up from 4 to 197. This is the most phenomenal change in score for any one contestant thus far in the contest.

Following is the standing of the first fourteen in the contest: Clarence Anderson 2071 J. Pentland 1869 Frank Cervini 828 E. Bailsieper 816 John Olson 610 D. Heatley 448 C. L. Hansen 332 H. Howe 308 W. McClean 280 H. S. Olds 197 H. E. Swanson 182 E. Petersen 170 J. Breen 150 A. E. McCann 128

TUESDAY, MAY 3, 1927.

LET US ALL SHARE.

The expected second call by the President for Red Cross funds for the relief of Mississippi flood victims has come. It finds Manchester already prepared to meet it, and standing by for the third call. That third call would seem to be inevitable. It requires no great amount of imagination to conceive of it as again doubling the quota. Twenty million dollars looks more like the eventual requirement than ten. At all events it is as good as certain that more money will be needed from Manchester than has been subscribed, although the giving has been prompt and generous. Let us again be ready in advance.

This is a business in which the entire community should share. It is one, in fact, in which every unselfish citizen will want to share, to an extent in keeping with his means. There is no need for any person to give more than he can afford. Anyone, in a town like this, can afford to give something. It is well to remember that a twenty-five cent piece is not an insignificant sum—one from every household in Manchester would total more than a thousand dollars. A dollar is a useful contribution.

Let the money that is hereafter to go from Manchester to the flood sufferers come from all the people. It will buy no more food for the sufferers than if it came from one purse—but it will buy, for the folk of this town, the humanizing consciousness of having extended the helping hand.

NEEDLESS CONDEMNATION.

Since nobody, or next to nobody, wishes to dispute the declaration of Secretary Hoover and Major General Jadin, chief of army engineers, that no device will serve to take the place of a better levee system in preventing recurring floods of the Mississippi it would seem to be a little gratuitous on the part of those authorities to flout all suggestions that reforestation would be of important assistance in preventing future inundations.

Not even the most enthusiastic advocate of reforestation would suggest that his remedy be adopted to the exclusion of all others. Obviously, no matter how splendid a protection trees might prove, such a protection would not become operative for a good many years, even if such fast growing varieties as the cottonwood poplar and eucalyptus should be planted over very large areas of the Mississippi watershed.

But the importance of reforestation from any scheme of reclamation from flood dangers, no matter what more immediate steps might be taken, has advocates enough to make it deserving of respectful consideration even by such finalists in opinion as Mr. Hoover and General Jadin.

These gentlemen are justified in demanding an improved levee system. They are perfectly right in pointing out that it is the business of the United States government to provide that system. To whatever lengths they go in their advocacy they will find plenty of supporters. It does not particularly add to the force of their argument, however, when they jeer at the notion that plenty of trees would help immensely to keep the Mississippi from going on these rampages—because everybody knows the fewer the trees the worse the floods—Mississippi, Yangtze, Nile or anywhere else.

It is rather tawdry argument for such first class men to present that the worst floods on the Mississippi were in 1844 "when the Northwest was covered with forests." For they might have added that in 1844 there was no levee system save the scanty one provided by nature in certain spots.

Neither Mr. Hoover nor anybody else knows that the 1844 flood would have inundated as the one of 1927 has inundated had there been any such series of embankments as now exists.

UNFAITHFUL.

The determination of the Coolidge government at Washington to

GOING AHEAD ACHIEVEMENTS

BUILDING FOR BUSINESS This is the second of a series of articles on the way American cities have solved various municipal problems. Succeeding articles will appear daily.

By DON E. MOWRY Secretary, the American Community Advertising Association

Some cities sit still and adopt a purely passive attitude toward the setting of new industries. Others hasten themselves an go out after them.

Parkersburg, W. Va., is one of the latter cities. Its experience is instructive. "Keep your eye open for future business for your town," is their slogan. To go with it, they have raised a $600,000 industrial guaranty fund, and their efforts have already brought several new industries to Parkersburg. These have nothing to do with any joint punitive expedition, so-called—the real purpose of which would have been, of course, to denationalize the Yangtze valley and take it under the control of Europe, Japan and America—promises to result in complete failure of that outrageous piece of business. The impulse for such a movement was supplied by the British Chamber of Commerce at Shanghai and has been aided by the fact that both English and American diplomats have absorbed the spirit of conquest born in and fostered by that body of busy money makers.

The British government, unfortunately, fell under the influence of the Shanghai traders and their propaganda and committed itself to a "strong" policy which resulted in the sending of troops and ships ready for the planned conquest.

The government of Canada, Australia and New Zealand, however, are left completely cold by the jingo enthusiasm of Shanghai and Britain is learning that if she starts a war with China she will have to fight it, not only without the aid of the United States but without the help of her own colonies. Moreover Japan has let it be privately known that she finds nothing to her advantage in a renewed and increased European influence in the Orient.

British newspapers in China are frothing at the mouth, abusing the United States for spoiling the show. American diplomats and consular officers over there are following suit. They are giving no loyal support whatever to their own government. They act and talk as if their oath of allegiance were to the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce and as if that body were paying their wages. Mr. Coolidge will be well justified when he recalls Minister MacMurray and the consuls of half a dozen Chinese cities.

NEED OF CONGRESS.

The job of the moment, in the inundated Mississippi river country is to save human beings from drowning and from dying as the direct consequence of exposure and destitution. It is that object toward which the Red Cross, supplemented by such assistance as can be rendered by the war department in default of any special appropriation, is and must be directed. Only the actually present emergency has received the slightest consideration up to this time, or is likely to receive it in the near future. The Red Cross is essentially an emergency organization—and it is extremely fortunate, in this crisis, that such an organization exists—and functions with such splendid effectiveness. To take up the problems that must arise from the disaster is not the business of the Red Cross, nor yet of any other existent agency outside of government itself.

It is beginning to look seriously as though the map of a highly important section of the United States might be threatened with permanent change. Arable areas equal to two or three New England states are beginning to take on a debatable aspect—whether they shall be included in the dry land or in the shallow lake areas of the country. A number of persons which, in the end may prove to be equal to one individual out of every 400 in the whole country are victims of a dispossession which may not improbably become permanent.

There are problems not to be dismissed with a shrug. Here is a situation bearing on general business in the United States, on agricultural production importantly, on the home market, on new competition in the field of labor—for these ousted people must live somewhere and earn their livings somehow.

There is the problem of the seasonal shelling of the Mississippi, consequent on the destruction of vast sections of levee and the creation of countless spillways—to the industries' building programs are now under way, several more are in prospect—and, all in all, within five years there will be an investment of $15,000,000.

Most important of all, these new industries will employ approximately 7,000 men and women, adding $100,000 to the payrolls of the city every week.

Parkersburg realizes that hard-surfaced roads radiating from its center are business-getters. Bond issues and other means are being used to build them and keep them in shape.

In addition, the improvement of the Ohio river waterway is going to be a help. By 1930 Parkersburg will be able to take advantage of a nine-foot channel from Pittsburgh to the sea.

The human element is not neglected, either. Charitable organizations get a support equivalent to $3 per inhabitant.

and that river commerce may be seriously affected if not destroyed. These things are not for the Red Cross nor for any other organization except Congress to deal with. It would seem hourly more obvious that Congress should be called to deal with the Mississippi flood situation.

BREAKING TOYS.

Twenty-seven million dollars of the people's money went into the super-dreadnaught Colorado, warship with sixteen-inch guns aboard her, important unit of the Naval power of America. Then somebody tried to navigate her through New York harbor and struck her on a rocky ledge. "A tide current caught her and swung her bow around on to the shoal," it is explained. "That would be a perfect alibi if our naval officers got their training in Coventry lake, where there are no tides."

Whether the ship will ever be good for anything any more, or whether propping her nose on a rock while her enormous weight pulled and sagged at her backbone may have turned her into a chronic invalid of a ship, remains to be discovered.

One thing is perfectly certain, however: there was no proper care displayed in the handling of $27,000,000 worth of property when the Colorado, in fair weather, was permitted to hit a rock that is on every chart and known to every competent New York harbor pilot, and which had neither popped up unexpectedly as the result of volcanic action nor either increased or lessened its cloak of water, save for natural tides, since Henry Hudson nosed about those regions.

FISHERISMS.

Professor Irving Fisher has overlooked one bet. Within the last six months has broken all records for the earth and Mars in the variety of matters on which he has issued conclusive, incontrovertible opinions for publication—and all of them totally unlike anybody's else. He has not, however, told us what he thinks of Mrs. Snyder. It is our guess that when he does he will inform us that we are all wrong—that it was Mrs. Snyder who was killed and that the prisoner at the bar is Snyder, masquerading.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

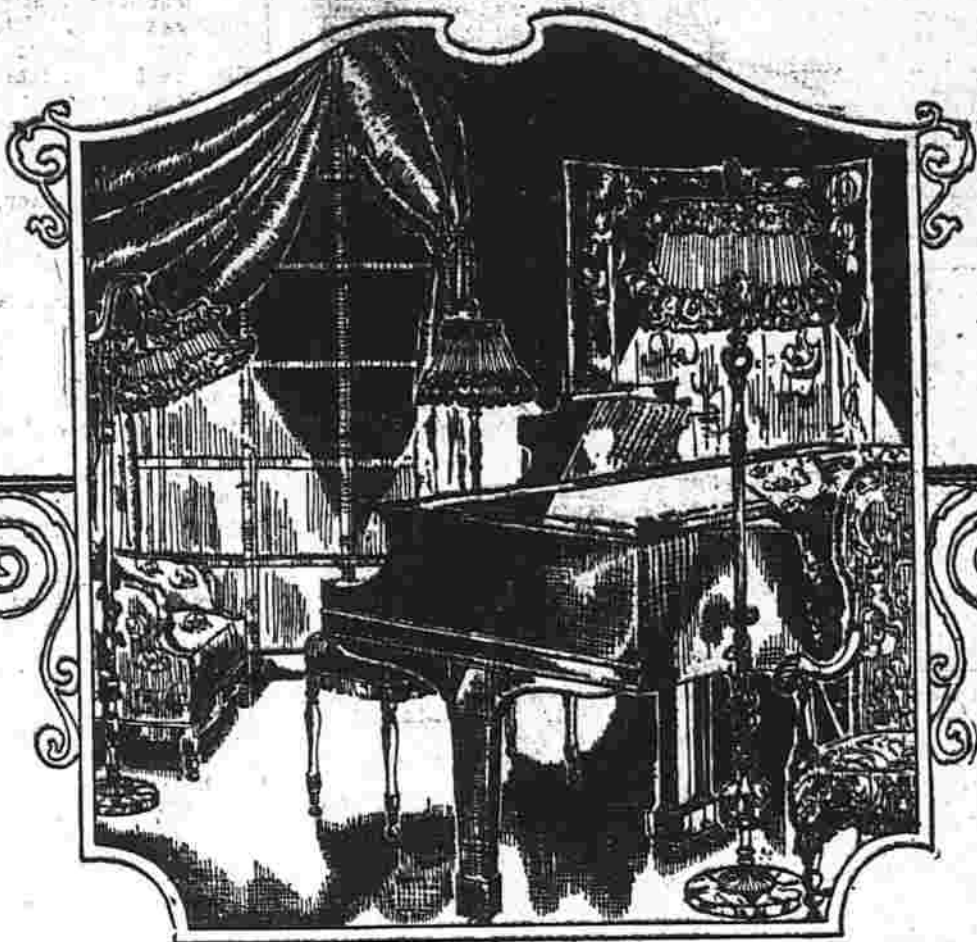

Washington, May 3.—A fairly reliable authority recently voiced the thought that Russia was working two foreign policies in lining up other nations beside her, one for countries which seemed ripe for communism and the other for countries where communism had a chance. It was said that the latter policy was being pursued toward China.

It is much, he says, as if a candidate were to run for the presidency and have one wet platform and one dry platform. Thus while one section of the British government, headed by Churchill and Birkenhead, rants and hollers against Russia, and all its works, the other and more moderate part of the same government goes right along building up trade relations with Russia so that business between the two countries continues to increase quite regardless of the anti-red vituperations from London.

New York, May 3.—Before Greenwich Village "lute commercial" he had a little shop in the green V-shaped building that now blazes with the bright colors of hatked gowns just beyond Sheridan Square. His shop combined a little bit of everything, but once you won his confidence he might take you upstairs to the little studio, the walls of which were plastered with sketches and paintings. Here was a sort of a personal "rogue's gallery" of all the Village characters. He had some slang name for them; I forget just what it was. Anyway he went on running a shop, but his heart was set on recording the people about him and manipulating new forms of expression. He wasn't particularly good shopkeeper; he was too good a Bohemian. He dabbled taking money from his fellows and in having seen many an artist walk out with brush of canvas and leave no pay behind. As I say, all this was before the village went commercial.

MORE AUTOISTS DRIVE DURING WINTER MONTHS

Further evidence of the growing popularity of the driving of motor vehicles in Connecticut is given by the quarterly statement of the state motor vehicle department for the first three months of this year. It shows that the registration of motor vehicles in the opening quarter of this year alone exceeded by approximately 1,500 the registration for the entire year 1923.

Both commercial and private cars figured in the gain, but there was a greater proportionate gain in the former class, of which there were actually 3,300 more registered for use at the close of the first quarter of 1927 than at the end of 1923. The registration of private cars for the quarter fell approximately 1,800 short of the full year registration of 1923.

TEACHERS TO ATTEND HARTFORD MEETING

Practically all of the school teachers in the Ninth School district are planning to attend the annual meeting of the Hartford County Teachers' association which will be held Friday afternoon in the Broad street auditorium of the Hartford Public High school. Schools will close at 2:30 in the afternoon.

There will be two addresses in the afternoon. Mary McSkimmon, principal of the Pieter school at Brookline, Mass., and former president of the National Education association will talk on "Putting First Things First for a While." She will talk at 4 o'clock and will be followed three-quarters of an hour later by A. J. Stoddard, superintendent of schools in Schenectady, N. Y., who will discuss "Educating the Richness of Living."

The business session comes at 5:30. The list of officers includes Clarence P. Quimby, principal of the local high school, as auditor. At 6 o'clock there will be a dinner in the Hotel Bond ballroom. Dr. Albert E. Meredith, commissioner of education for Connecticut, will preside. The principal speaker for the evening is to be Dr. Frederick D. Losey, of New York. Dr. Losey is a former professor of drama at Syracuse University and he will speak on "The Value of the Individual."

VERMONT'S NEW MARKETING LAW FARMERS' BOON

Provides Uniform System For Selling Products of Agriculturalists.

Montpelier, Vt.—To Vermont goes the distinction of being the first New England state to pass legislation which provides for uniform marketing of products raised by agriculturalists.

Under the terms of the legislation the Commissioner of Agriculture is authorized to establish grades and standards of farm products, the idea being that by cooperation between the states, such standards as are established shall be uniform throughout New England.

The legislation was proposed by the New England Council, and approved by the New England Marketing Conference, and endorsed by the Commissioners of Agriculture of all six New England states and the governors of those states.

Praised by Jardine. Such a program for New England farm marketing was praised by U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine.

E. H. Jones, commissioner of agriculture in Vermont, in commenting on the legislation said, "New England agricultural economists unanimously agree that the emphasis which has been laid upon increased production of agricultural products should now be superseded by an organized effort to place this product upon the market more efficiently. To this end, a plan was promulgated by the New England Council for the enactment by the several New England legislatures of a uniform bill for establishing grades and standards on farm products under which they may be marketed in an approved manner."

"The Vermont legislature recognized this opportunity to advance its agricultural interests.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Here after, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: John Jacob Astor (2)

John Jacob Astor landed at Baltimore and made his way at once to New York where lived his brother, Henry. For a time he was employed as a baker's delivery boy. Then an acquaintance impressed upon him the bright future of the fur trade. A basket of cakes often was enough to buy a valuable pelt on the wharves of New York.

Young Astor next was employed in a fur store, beating the furs to keep out the moths. He learned quickly about the trade.

The youthful immigrant was continually asking questions of the Indians and trappers about sources of more furs.

Astor soon was making trips to Montreal to buy pelts for his firm and later set up a little general shop of his own in New York. Indians were anxious to trade furs for tobacco or cotton goods. London was the goal of Astor's operations. Beaver skins that a pound of snuff would buy sold at profits of 400 to 500 per cent.

Distinguished Artist Defends Modern Music

This is National Music Week. Nearly 1400 American towns will observe this week with special concerts, radio programs, church services and community singing. The entire musical resources of each community will be used. NEA, in observance of Music Week, has had two special articles prepared by Beryl Rubinstein, one of America's most distinguished pianists and composers. Rubinstein heads the piano department of the Cleveland Institute of Music. He has appeared as soloist with the great symphonies of the world. His concertos and sonatas have received wide recognition. He is well qualified to write on the modern world of music.

BY BERYL RUBINSTEIN
American Pianist and Composer

A sentimental ditty about the moon and love; a tender little rhyme about mother being the best pal of all—such was the substance of what, twenty years ago, was called "popular music." Doggerel verse purporting to be humorous to the accompaniment of syncopated rhythm was the flower of ragtime. Then, somewhere, somehow, someone played a clarinet out of tune. The result was jazz. The only difference between ragtime and jazz is instrumental color. A piece of jazz, written today, and a piece of ragtime, written ten years ago, played upon the piano show no difference. Play a piece of ragtime, though, written ten years ago, with an orchestra composed of saxophone, muted trumpet and muted trombone, a mandolin and traps, and you have jazz. There have been many articles, profound as to intention, written on the subject of jazz composers, past few years. Jazz composers, reading them, must feel themselves important—apostles of a new art, and are encouraged, perhaps, to sit down to write new numbers, like "Girle, your hair is so curly".

Their labors are attractive because their product is amusing. Some of the jazz orchestral effects are charming. Jazz serves to distract hundreds of thousands of people. Incidentally it pours money into the pockets of the fortunate ing, but not progressing toward solution.

The thing most to be desired is that we lead a sympathetic ear to potential prophets of our own time. To condemn is the easiest expression; to criticize constructively is the rarest gift.

Effort should be exerted toward hearing and understanding new compositions, discouragement has withered many a flower of artistic eloquence. And there is no discouragement so great as unintelligent condemnation.

It should be remembered that harmonies used two and three hundred years ago were anathema to every great composer. A revolutionary to his contemporaries. Perhaps to realize that will make us, today, more tolerant.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. James Cole of 55 New Street, today announced the engagement of their daughter, Elsie May Cole, to Joseph J. Reinartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Joseph Reinartz of 173 Bush Hill Road.

Ruth's Lawyer Vaudeville Hit

His Act Has Everything, Says This Expert Critic.

BY BLAND JOHANESON
Expert Vaudeville Critic

Long Island City, N. Y., May 3.—The vaudeville stage lost a superlative one-man act when little Edgar F. Hazelton said, "Daddy, I want to be a lawyer when I grow up and defend all our very nicest murderers."

The raving, dynamic counsel for Ruth Snyder's defense has everything hokum trick of music hall entertainment at his command.

Ever since Hammerstein's Roof, it has become the general habit to examine every woman in a scandal case for her vaudeville possibilities. Each fair creature's lawyer takes good care to circulate the advice notice that his client is an expert dancer, or singer of hymns, or put-ter-up of jams.

Ruth? Not So Good
But "Ruthless Ruth" Snyder (so-billed by reporters) has appeared to add advantage as variety material. She has too much dignity—not the proper vivacity, faint air of injury, kittenish mannerisms, or public sympathy.

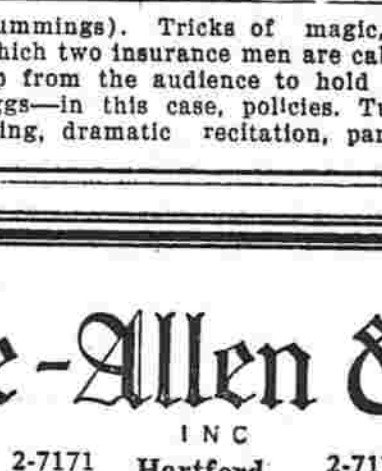

It is her counsel, Edgar Hazelton, who steals her prerogative by offering her jury and a courtroom packed with 1500 Broadway scouts a complete vaudeville bill, including juggling, acrobatics, magic, sob-stuff, even laughs, entirely and utterly in solo.

The stately Ruth contributes as little as the usual shapely girls who stand upstage against the cyclorama, leaping forward only to hand their masters the wash-tubs and piano-lamps.

One to Remember
Trial juries notoriously are susceptible to vaudeville shows. Hazelton gives the Snyder-Gray one a bill to remember. Hazelton, who presumes to know what the Queens County tired business men like, does his stuff and, in the hooter's vernacular, "has 'em laying out in the aisles."

His act includes everything. A typical Edgar Allen Woolf dissertation of mother love and "the little woman." A sad ballad of the city slicker. Juggling a scotch bottle. Off With the Collar! Tearing off his collar (a comedy bit he must have copied from Roy

Edgar F. Hazelton, the counsel for the defense who shines in Snyder case vaudeville

Cummings). Tricks of magic, in which two insurance men are called up from the audience to hold the eggs—in this case, policies. Tumbling, dramatic recitation, pantomime, and still more hokum. The headliner's hottest number was his final—"She didn't wanna do it—He had that certain something—She begged him but he wouldn't stop—Blue—ooo—ooz."

TOLLAND

George Luce of Colebrook and the Misses Eleanor and Mary Luce of Rockville were with Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Charter on Sunday.

The friends of Mrs. George Newman will be pleased to hear that she is able to leave the hospital and be at her home again.

Miss Bertha Place and Mrs. L. E. Hall, treasurer of the Red Cross, are glad to receive any money which people care to give to assist the sufferers in the flood area. Several substantial checks have been sent direct to Washington and New York headquarters by Tolland people who felt the need was urgent and wished to be prompt with their aid.

Mrs. Ada Rhodes and Miss Meta Hansen, teachers at 7 and 9 and Grant's Hill took children to the 4 H Roundup at Hartford Friday evening.

Mrs. James Rhodes and family visited relatives in Torrington on Saturday.

There will be an entertainment at the Grant's Hill school Friday evening.

There will be a meeting of the Federated committee at the parsonage on Wednesday evening.

Miss Ruth Ayers has returned from Washington where she has been with the senior class of the Rockville High school. All of the High school pupils returned to their school duties Monday after a week's vacation.

Mrs. Emma Crandall has returned from several days' visit with relatives and friends in Bridgeport and New York.

Mrs. L. E. Hall, Mrs. Bertha Place, Mrs. Emery Clough and Rev. W. C. Darby are a committee appointed to nominate officers for the Federated Sunday school for the coming year.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Marion T. Keating, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Keating of Rockville to Mer-ton Smith Tuttle of Manchester on February 19. Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle are now residing at the Centennial apartments.

It was believed during the Middle Ages that a child brought up without being taught any language would speak Hebrew spontaneously.

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative

—Not a "Physic"

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Ill. note for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

Beryl Rubinstein

one who hits upon a catchy tune. Beyond that, I question its value. Yet it fulfills a certain destiny, and therefore, needs no other defense or justification.

Terminology to the layman is in itself a drawback to sympathetic understanding of music. And the art of music, more than any other, perhaps, abounds in technical terms. To interpret the term, "modern music" for what the term itself stands, one can say only that it means music composed in our own period. To go further, however, with the explanation, one will find oneself in a maze of speculation for which there is very little logical solution.

To the artist an innovation in form is just as radical a departure as a new harmony. A composer can use Mozartian harmonies in a newly discovered form. His music will be modern. On the other hand, another composer can pour dissonances into the classical mold used by Haydn. His music can be regarded in a sense as being classical. It is all speculation, interest-

Can You Cook a Full Meal with Only 25 Minutes of Gas?

—or do you have to burn the gas six times as long? Can you prevent essential food products from going up in vapor? Can you improve the food you serve and at the same time cut its cost?

FREE TO ALL VISITORS

Whether you ever expect to cook this modern way or not, come in during this demonstration, see these marvels of cookery with your own eyes. Learn once and for all how to save as much as $125 a year on food and gas—and cook better meals than ever.

To repay you for your trouble, we'll give you, with our compliments, a splendid new cook book containing a number of appetizing menus and recipes and the actual facts about the new art of fireless cookery.

See It Done in Our Store TOMORROW

At 1:00 P.M. We are going to put this meal to cook on a Chambers Fireless Range—soup, meat, vegetables and a dessert.

At 1:25 P.M. We are going to turn off the gas—that's two hours sooner than you could turn off the gas on your present range! And for those two hours—or longer if we liked—that meal will require no watching, no stirring, no attention whatever.

At 3:30 P.M. All of the food will be taken out of the oven, deliciously cooked by heat that is ordinarily wasted. It will be done to a turn, superbly delicious, because all of the valuable food juices will be retained. You, yourself, can judge its superiority.

Schoolboy Baseball Season Makes Bow Here Today

COBB IS UP WITH THE LEADERS; HITTING AN EVEN .400 TODAY

His Record For First Three Weeks of Season Is Outstanding Features of Baseball.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
I. N. S. Sports Editor.

New York, May 3.—Just by way of keeping the record straight and possibly right a great wrong, or something, the writer wishes to call attention to the fact that T. Raymond Cobb, the man with a promising future, is hitting an even .400 today. Further than that, he is running amuck on the bases and is playing well enough to get by in the outfield, so it is possible in time to cease chanting the litany and begin cheering wildly at the slightest provocation.

The writer has held the notion that Cobb would finish the season as an Athletic regular and it may be that I will be right, just by the fact that Cobb's record for the first three weeks of the season is one of the outstanding achievements of all baseball.

Up With Leaders.
No man in the history of the game has given it so much of himself as Cobb has done in his twenty-three years in the major leagues; no man has suffered the physical and mental toll that Cobb has given in the pure sensationalism of his play. Yet today, well past forty, he is hitting with the leaders and, indeed, rapidly overtaking them.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Baseball writers of the town concede that Cobb is doing a lot of base running on his own initiative; that he is not getting the signs from Connie Mack on the bench in making this play or that. But they also say that Connie is satisfied to let him do it, since the Athletics are an uninspired ball club and he signed Cobb for just the sort of thing he is doing. His two steals of home were casual decisions by Cobb himself, it is said.

Numerous Changes Have Brought Stars Together

By BILLY EVANS

It is unusual for a ball club to boast one batting champion, a decided rarity to have two such athletes in the lineup.

Something like 40 major league ball players are seeing new scenery this spring as a result of the wholesale trades and sales of last winter. These many changes have brought about a lot of strange and unusual conditions.

Take the Philadelphia Athletics as example number one. Ten years ago, no one would have thought that Zach Wheat, star of the Brooklyn club and batting champion of the National League that season, would be sharing the outfield job on the Athletics with Ty Cobb of Detroit, who himself was batting champion of the American League in 1918.

SUNDAY BASEBALL MAY KEEP C. B. A. A. OUT OF STATE LOOP

Delegates from the Peetoxes of Southington, Hudsons of New Haven, Lenox of Wallingford, All-Kensington, Middletown Recreation, Meriden Inslicos and Cheney Brothers gathered at Meriden last night to discuss the prospects of forming a baseball league.

The Seminole Indians of Florida in recent times declined American citizenship and refused to live on a government reservation. The only reigning monarch under the American flag is the Sultan of Sulu, in the Philippine Islands.

NO HARTFORD BOYS ON C. B. A. A. CARD

Promoter Jenney Announces Probable Lineup of Bouts; McCavanaugh In Debut.

The probable arrangements of the bouts for the amateur boxing program tomorrow night at Cheney hall was announced today by Promoter Jack Jenney, Springfield, Waterbury, New Britain, Rockville and Manchester entries have been made. For the first time since the revival of the sport here, it is expected that the card will be staged without the appearance of any Hartford boxers.

Billy Laboc of this town will not box because of illness. The same holds for Joe Kody of New Britain. This leaves but two local entries. They are Al Dowd and Harry McCavanaugh. Dowd's past work speaks for itself. McCavanaugh is another of that well known family and is just about to make his debut in the amateur ranks having just attained the milestone which allows one to compete. Harry is very enthused over it and can't hardly wait for the gong that will send him into action.

The entry list will probably develop into the following card: 115 pounds—Dan Dorcille, Springfield and Joe Harmon, Waterbury.
112 pounds—Art Chapelaine and Ted Gauthier, Hartford and Jack Harmon, Waterbury.
120 pounds—Charley Pepe, Springfield and Eugene Gregory, Waterbury.
135 pounds—Angelo Morace, Springfield and Al Strzyb, Rockville.
155 pounds—Leo Larivere, Waterbury and Johnny Clinch, New Britain.
115 pounds—Harry McCavanaugh, Manchester and Del Poulet, New Britain.
125 pounds—Al Dowd, Manchester and Joe Dogrel of Waterbury.
160 pounds—Lucien Larivere, Waterbury and Dan McCarthy, Springfield.
133 pounds—Leo Ducharme, Springfield and Rollo Roland, Waterbury.

S. M. H. S. to Open Track Season With New Britain School

The local high school track season will open Saturday when New Britain High sends its athletes here to compete at the West Side playgrounds.

New Britain lost its first meet of the season last Saturday in Waterbury to Crosby High. The score was 57 1/2 to 46 2/3. Coach Pete Wigren said today that this schedule will include five or six meets. He expects to carry between 20 and 25 boys on the local squad. Billy Hall, senior, is captain of the team. The track schedule is as follows: May 7—New Britain here. May 14—Meriden there. May 21—Bulkley of N. L. here. May 28—Opake. June 4—C. C. I. L. meet. June 10—Chapman Tech of N. L. here. The highest body of water that is navigable is Lake Titicaca, in South America.

Both High School and S. T. S. Have Hard Schedules to Play

Rockville High at Mt. Nebo Today to Oppose Mechanics; S. M. H. S. at West Hartford Tomorrow; Bristol High Here Saturday; Both Schedules Announced.

By The Sports Editor
School boy baseball makes its 1927 debut to Manchester fandom today when the State Trade School entertains Rockville High at Mt. Nebo and tomorrow when the local High school sends its representation to West Hartford in play against the Mechanics. Both Manchester teams have tough schedules to play this season but are confident of making commendable records.

The High school line plays its first game at Manchester Mechanics street stadium Saturday afternoon against Bristol High. Coach Tom Kelley has selected the fifteen players who constitute the squad for the season but is not at all certain as to just what his opening lineup will be tomorrow at West Hartford. The infield combination and two out-field positions are filled but the battery and right field are question marks. Nino Doggini, Charley Bycholesky and Dave Kerr are the backstop candidates. Lefty Wiley, Jerry Holmes and Peterson all seek limelight as twirlers. Ernie Dowd, Louise Farr, Kerr and Luddy Hanson are fighting it out for right field. Ty Holland will play center with Ab Lupien in left. The infield will consist of Billy Dowd, first, Jim Foley, second; Ding Farr, short and Pop Winder, third.

High School Program
The high school schedule as arranged by Faculty Manager Edson M. Bailey, finds but one drastic change from the schedule of last year with Rockville High. The schedule follows: May 4—West Hartford there. May 7—Bristol here. May 11—Rockville there. May 12—Bulkley of N. L. here. May 14—Windham here. May 17—D. Hartford here. May 21—Meriden there. May 23—W. Hartford here. May 23—Bristol there. June 2—Meriden here. June 4—Windham there. June 9—D. Hartford there. June 11—Middletown here. June 16—Middletown there. June 17—Rockville here. The Trade school squad, which at the outset of the practice sessions numbered fifty, has been reduced by Coach John Echnallan to eighteen and will be cut still further after the first game of the season today. Coach Echnallan stated yesterday that his lineup for this afternoon's game, which was supposed to start at 3:30 would be as follows: Manchuck, 3rd; Connelly, ss; Adams, p; Thurz, c; Arson, 1st; Koplinsky, 2nd; Ramsey, cf; Clark, if and Travers, rf. Rockville High and the Trade School are rivals and it was expected that the opening game would be close and interesting.

Adams New Pitcher
Last year the Trade School completed an undefeated season turning in twelve victories. It was a record for the school, one that will probably stand for some time to come. Rudy Pospisil, star pitcher, who was instrumental in this record, has graduated but it is said Jimmy Adams looks fully as good in practice. However, today's game will give Coach Echnallan a much better slant on his real ability for Rockville has a fast team which includes some heavy hitters. The fact that the local high school plays Rockville high later in the season, makes Coach Echnallan all the more anxious for his team to win.

BRITISH GOLFING TEAM HAS HOPES OF WINNING U. S. CHAMPIONSHIPS

London, May 2.—George Duncan thinks that the British team of golfers has a good chance of success in the United States this summer.

"I wish," says Duncan, "the British golfing public were as keen about our visit to America as we players. We want the public to think that we have a chance of winning the international at Worcester (Mass.) and also the championship at Oakmont (Pa.)." Duncan has never played at Oakmont, but like St. Andrews, it favors the "draw" shot—the ball that swings in from right to left—as is particularly noticeable in the second nine holes.

"In the international an all-American team will be played against us. The Macdonald Smiths and the Hutchinsons who, as British pioneers have done so much to spread the gospel of the game in the new golfing world, are not being called upon this year. In the previous international, America has chosen these old British players, but less matches have been decided in Britain and now, on their home courses, they will rely on home players.

"As the American selection is confined to home-breds, I think we have an excellent chance of winning. Had they called on Macdonald, Bangs, Hays, Armour or any of the most improved players in the country—Cruickshank, and say, Jack Hutchinson, it would have been a different proposition.

An Ex-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE by PAUL ADAMS

A reconstructed mill at St. Gilles, on the Vesle. Nine years ago this water was flowing red.

This is the 21st chapter in the story of a former doughboy who is revisiting France as an advance guard of the "Second A. E. F."

CHAPTER XXI Only those are fit to live who are not afraid to die.

This is the inscription on the fountain at Chamery erected to the memory of Quentin Roosevelt. It stands at the left of the village street. A stream of water pours from the open mouth of a sculptured lion into the basin. The gurgle never ceases. Across the way is a huge barn. A peasant is unloading hay from a wagon, poking it through the window of a loft. Chamery is on the way to the Vesle. It only takes an hour now to make the distance, starting from Dormans or Jaulgonne. Through Coulanges, Cohan, Dravegny. Or off to the side through LeCharmel, Clerges, Serzy and Nesles. On to Chery-Chartreux, St. Gilles and St. Thibault (Santoli).

Nearly All Rebuilt The region is rebuilt extensively. The houses have been re-assembled, for they use all the stones of the demolished buildings, not wasting a single one. At St. Gilles the water of the Vesle splashes over the dam of the mill. A single car stands on the tiny siding of the narrow-gauge railroad in front of the depot. But the wind sweeps briskly over the heights above Fismes and Fismettes. What heights! Those high hills that were the impregnable machine-gun and artillery forces of the Germans. Americans in waves swept down the slopes, toppling here, toppling there. A foothold on the opposite bank of the river was gained only to be lost. Then at Basoches and all along the line the O. D. and mess-kitted soldiers swept over. When they took Fismes they broke the back of the Boche.

Bridge a Memorial The old city hall in Fismes, bearing many marks of shelling, is used as a postoffice. A postman rides up on his bicycle and dismounts. Villagers stand around, gossiping. The bitterness of that struggle of nine years ago is erased. Once there was a sign advertising automobile tires, pierced with a thousand bullet holes. It is gone now. And over the river the French laborers are constructing a bridge. It is a memorial contributed by the people of Pennsylvania. It will be a beautiful structure when it is completed. Fismes—The Vesle—Basoches. Once the boys made it from the Marne in forty days. Things were different then. The Legion's Second A. E. F. will do it in an hour or so.

Gaudet, Staff Pianist 10:45—Eighteenth of a Series of WTIC's Course in Music Appreciation for Public Schools JAZZ versus MUSIC Preparation: The rhythmic element in music is the simplest and the element to which the average person first responds. Dances in some form have been connected with the evolution of the race from earliest history. Practically all ancient tribes had their tribal dances. Remnants of these dances can be found even to this day where modern civilization has not been established. Even the Bible which records the events of 40 or 50 centuries B. C. tells us of dancing from the earliest times. Musical accompaniment has been an essential complement of the dance. The dance has been used to express various emotions, not only those of joy and happiness, but they have been used as religious ceremonials, as a stimulation to warlike activity and at times of grief. The American Indian had his war dance and preparatory to hunting expeditions their hunting dances and after a victory the thanksgiving or victory dances. In Europe we find in the period of the Renaissance the rise of the Folk dance and there are traces of these Folk dances even to this day. Ireland has always had its jiggs and reels and Scotland its Highland Flings, while in our own country there was the old square Cake Walk, the peculiar dances of the negroes and until recently the reels and other dances which, undoubtedly, brought from Europe. Twenty-five years ago the old square dances began to make way for the round dances of which the two-step and waltz were represented and now-a-days we have the fox trot and its many variations, and the waltz. To all of these there has always been musical accompaniment, always essentially rhythmic in character. The program will consist of an expression of the music of the classic dances in vogue 100 or 150 years ago including examples of the following: The Gavotte and Minuet, which have been explained in previous programs. To this group will be added the Pavane and the Saraband. A Pavane was a grave, stately dance which took its name probably from the Italian "Pavano" meaning a peacock. It was danced by princes in their mantles and ladies in gowns with long trains whose motions resembled those of a peacock's tail. It is in quadruple rhythm. In its general style, however, it is similar to a Saraband. A Saraband was said to be originally derived from the Saracens and was danced with castanets. It is in slow triple rhythm. The second note of each measure is usually lengthened which gives gravity and majesty to the movement. Following the classic dances there will be the music of the Irish jiggs and American reels. Of these "Turkey in the Straw" is a fair example and, of course, the "Irish Washerwoman." The Waltz was derived from the Minuet and is in triple rhythm. It moves faster than the classic Minuet. The word "Jazz" is not found in the dictionary. It was originally applied to the strongly syncopated rhythms employed by southern negroes in some of their dances. Strictly speaking the modern fox trot is not jazz. It is in straight-forward two-two time with very little suggestion of syncopated rhythm. However, many dance orchestra players, especially saxophonists, employ embellishments in their playing which create an impression of exaggerated rhythmic variations. Examples of this type of music will be played. In the past few years certain arrangers have arranged some of the classic melodies in modern rhythmic form for use as dance music. An example of this sort of work will be played.

al in the usual classic form. It is suggested that this program be furnished only to students of the upper elementary grades and high schools. They should be allowed to hear previous to the program examples of the classic dance forms mentioned above, of the jiggs and reels, waltzes, the more suitable of the modern fox trots of which the following are some examples: "Loneliness and Sorry," "Bye, Bye, Blackbird," "Yankee Rose" and "I'm Looking over a Four Leaf Clover." Or the classics they should hear such pieces as the "Anvil Chorus" and the "Miserere" from III Trovatore, the dance "Aria" and "March Slav" of Tschalkowsky, the "Pilgrim Chorus" from Tannhauser and the "Scent Dance" of Chaminade, because it will be from some of the above-named classics that rhythmic arrangements will be played following which the classic in its original form will be played. Program Part I Gavotte Saraband Minuet Pavane Part II Irish Jigs, Modern Fox Trots, Virginia Reel, Rhythmic Paraphrases of Classics, Waltz, Classics in original form Application For application it is suggested that students write compositions telling which composition or type of music in the program they liked best and why. To the student writing the best composition Station WTIC will offer a free trip to Hartford for the program of May 18 at which time he will be invited to read his composition. Compositions should be received by the Station not later than Tuesday, May 10. Judgment will be based on originality of reasoning and expression, as well as weakness, correct spelling and English. FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

When a girl starts thinking seriously about marriage, she has been married about a month.

SENSE and NONSENSE

"I got my start by picking up a pin." "Yes, I know. The merchant was impressed by your carefulness in picking it up, called you back and made you head of the firm."

The true test of fidelity in the home these modern days is not whether the husband and wife can agree on how to bring up a family but whether they can play a hand of bridge without quarreling.

TOPPER To be greeted every morning by four dirty little paws. To have to snatch expiring towels and fanfals from his jaws. To find in every motor car a devastating scene.

To wear a decent dress that isn't muddled all about. To hear a motor passing and not get up and shout. To see a chicken cross the road without an anxious start.

Excelsior competitor and you won't need to undersell him. An old favorite: They called the Baby Woolly Because He Shrank from Washing.

Here I sit All broken-hearted Paid my last dime And the show had started.

Even confirmed fools have their serious moments. Some girls look nobly in short skirts. Others look knobby.

NOW YOU Ask One

HARD—AND EASY

Some of the questions in today's list are easy and some aren't. The answers to all of 'em are on another page.

- 1—Who is William Cabell Bruce? 2—In what state is Mount Rainer? 3—On what river is Richmond, Va., built? 4—Who wrote the novel, "The Silver Stallion"?

"So you are the only survivor of that wreck. Tell me how you came to be saved."

Sunday school teacher: "Who commanded the sun to stand still?" Archie: "Mussolini."

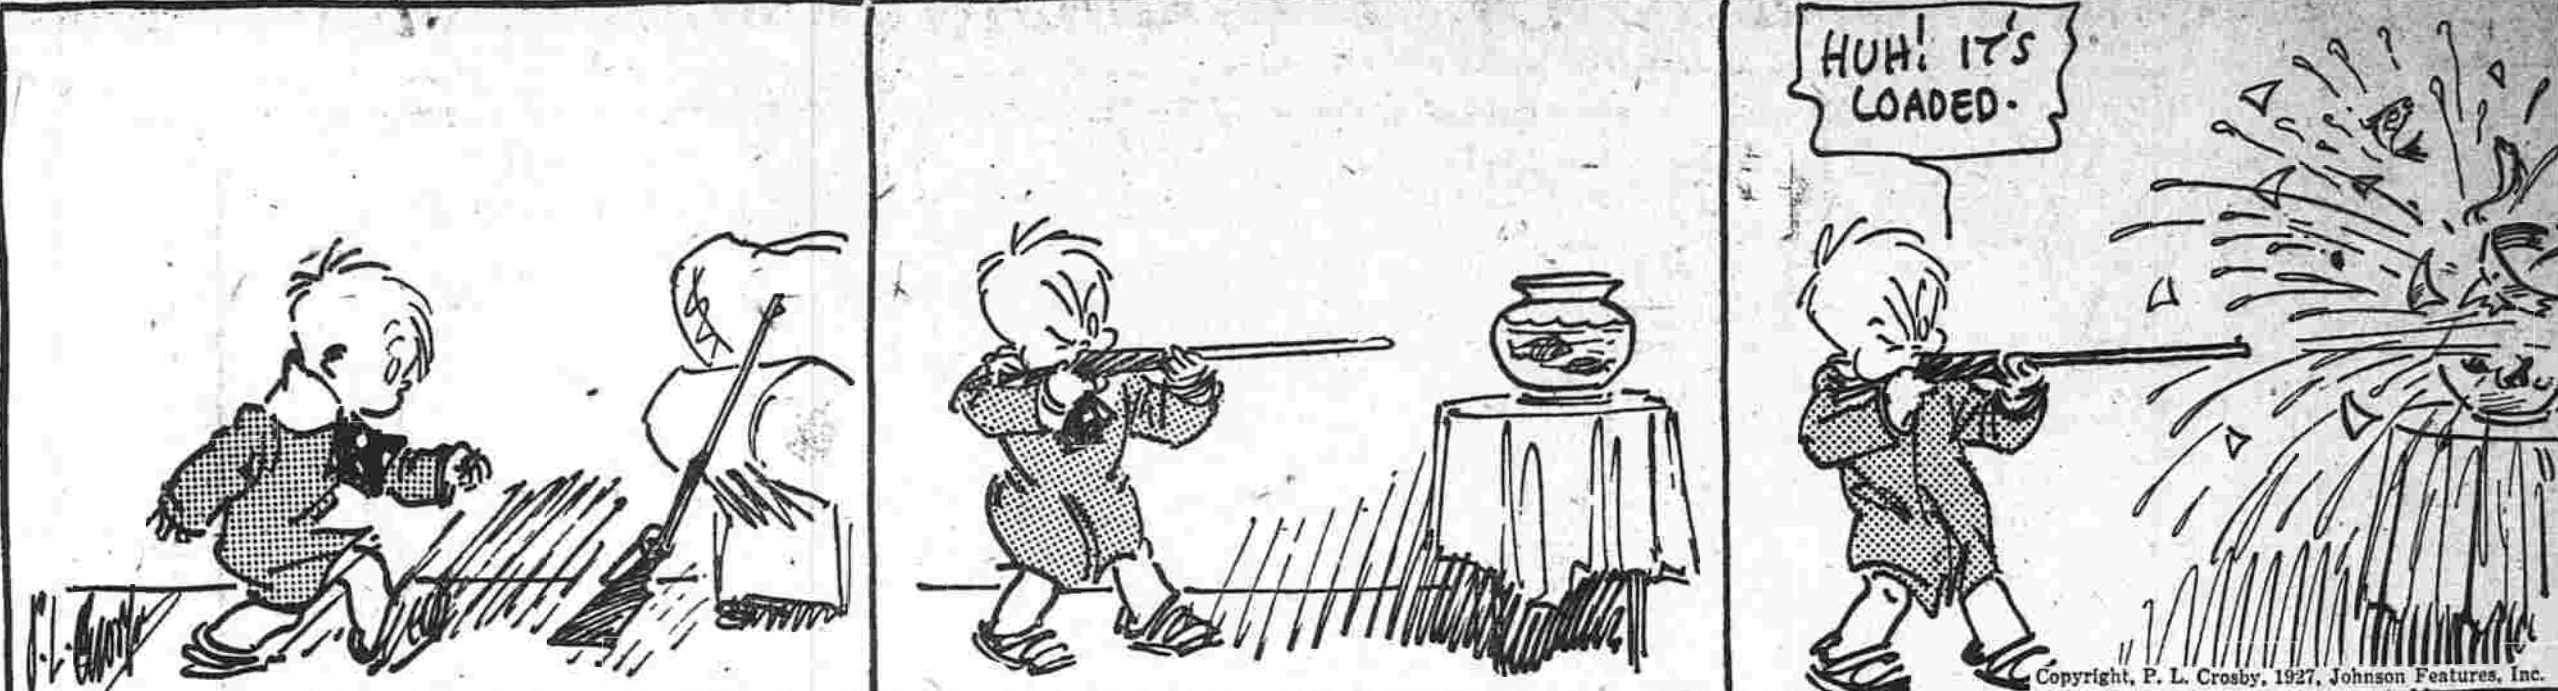

I know very little 'Bout physical laws! But if one has crow's feet There must be a caws.

A splendid winter use for m-lady's one-piece bathing suit would be as a sweater for the pekinese.

Health Note: Don't try to stop a fight between husband and wife.

ABOUT TOWN

Both the Woman's Home and Women's Foreign missionary societies of the South Methodist church will meet on Wednesday evening to arrange for the supper and entertainment to be given for the members of Drake Post, G. A. R., at the church this month. It has been the custom to have the Grand Army men guests of the church at a Memorial Day supper for the past 30 years.

Marshall Thompson, 33, colored, former north end resident, was refused pardon yesterday in Barrington. Thompson is serving a life sentence in Wethersfield State Prison for the murder of his wife.

Michael Krawski, of Union street, who was held by local police Saturday for examination, was found mentally unbalanced by Doctors D. C. Y. Moore and George A. F. Lundberg yesterday and committed to the Middletown State hospital.

It was learned at Police Headquarters today that Joseph Coleman, of Florence street, has decided to vacate his appeal of a 15-day jail sentence imposed by Judge R. A. Johnson yesterday when Coleman was found guilty of breach of the peace. He was to go to jail today.

All employees of the Southern New England Telephone company branch here will be the guests of the State theater on Friday evening at a showing of "The Telephone Girl."

MAKE FINAL PLANS FOR CATHOLIC CHURCH NIGHT

Final plans were made by representatives of St. James and St. Bridget's churches at the Rec last night for their annual church night which comes on Thursday evening of this week. The affair will be started off at 7:30 with a basketball game and a bowling match. In addition to the members of St. James' committee, the following members of St. Bridget's church were present at the meeting: Miss Helen Moriarty, Miss Mary McGuire, Thomas Moriarty, Oliver Bingham and Joseph Moriarty.

JERSEY COW COMPLETES RECORD

John E. Kingsbury of South Coventry is the owner of the purebred Jersey cow, Waid's Paoli 425448, which has completed a 305-day official test with a record of 536.77 pounds of butterfat and 11,823 pounds of milk. Paoli was started on this test at 7 years and 9 months of age and her milk averaged 4.71 per cent butterfat for the ten months. She carried calf for 168 days of the ten months. With this record she qualified for the Register of Merit of the American Jersey Cattle club.

Editor, The Herald: The enclosed Resolution is one that I am very happy to turn over to The Herald and add my word of personal appreciation for your courtesy and generosity of space in printing church news.

With all good wishes for the continued success of your paper, I am Sincerely yours, Rev. James Stuart Neill, May 2, 1927.

The following Resolution was adopted by the Executive Council of the Diocese of Connecticut, April 21, 1927:

Resolved: That the Executive Council of the Diocese of Connecticut appreciates the action of many newspapers in devoting a page to the work of the churches, and is grateful to them and to the business men who help to make this great contribution to the church life of Connecticut.
