

STATE RESTS TONG TRIAL CASE TODAY

Surprise Development
Comes When Loo Hoo
Wing's Fingerprints Are Shown on Murder Gun.

(Special to The Herald)
Hartford, May 5.—The first evidence that Loo Hoo Wing was an accomplice of Ching Lung in the murder of Ong Jing Hem in Manchester on March 24 was introduced by the state today in the trial which has been underway all this week at the Hartford county superior court. A finger print expert of Springfield, Henry Mar, testified that the print he found on the barrel of the revolver which was found in the laundry on Oak street was that of Loo Hoo Wing and that it did not at all compare with that of Ching Lung, who is charged with actually shooting Ong Jing Hem.

Another Delay
After the short recess today it was announced by the court that H. S. Bidwell of Glastonbury was called to the stand and adjourn until two o'clock. It was about 2:15 when the court resumed and the state called County Detective Hickey. Detective Hickey told about being called to Manchester by Chief Gordon. He went to Manchester, and to the scene of the murder. Then he went to Hartford with Chief Gordon, who is the driver of the "murder cab" was found.

The party proceeded to New Haven and at the police headquarters there Sam Ong pointed out Ching Lung as the murderer saying "You shoot my cousin! You shoot my cousin! You shoot my cousin!" Sam did not know Loo Hoo Wing. Upon the return to Manchester the gun was found and it was left in Manchester, being placed in a box. That night he got in touch with the finger expert, Mr. Mar, and the next day they fingerprinted the accused, Ching Lung told them at that time that he was a chef and he lived at 118 State street. Loo Hoo Wing said he was a waiter in New York and was living temporarily at 146 State street. He had been working in Newark, N. J. he said.

Mar, The Hand Print Expert
Took the stand and told about examining the revolver. He said that he had been a finger print expert for 15 years and that finger prints were infallible. He said that there were between four and five million prints in Washington and no two were alike. He explained the process by which a finger print was detected. He painted the revolver with a composition of chalk and chemical and then photographed the gun. He told the court that the finger print compared with that of Loo Hoo Wing. This came evidently as a surprise to all concerned since before this time no direct evidence had pointed to Loo Hoo Wing as an accomplice before or after the fact.

Roscoe Hill of Somerville, N. J., who was one of the experts for the famous Hall-Mills murder trial, was next called to the stand. Mr. Hill's testimony was practically the same as that of Mr. Mar.

George Johnson was called to the stand and testified regarding distances and measurements at the scene of the murder. He was cross-examined briefly.

State Rests
At 2:40 a short recess was declared and the state rested its case. Attorney Frank Healey for the defense told The Herald's correspondents that the trial would be resumed by the state today and that the defense would be Ching Lung. An interpreter will be used and he will

SACCO LOSING MIND

HIS FRIENDS ASSERT

Alienist Examines Him In His Cell—Refuses to Sign Petition.

Boston, Mass., May 5.—The mental condition of Nicola Sacco was causing his friends and supporters much concern today.

"I would not say that Sacco was on the border-line of insanity but his mind has lost the flexibility which enables a man to adjust normally to situations," said Abraham Myerson, alienist, who examined Sacco in his cell in Dedham jail. The mental state of Sacco was brought to light when his refusal to sign with Bartolomeo Vanzetti a petition asking Governor Alvan T. Fuller to set the defendants free from the death sentence imposed as the result of their conviction of the robbery of a South Braintree paymaster and the slaying of the man and his guard.

WOMAN 112 YEARS OLD, RISES EARLY, WORKS HARD

Jordanville, N. Y., May 5.—A big birthday cake, topped with 112 candles, had the place of honor in the farmhouse home of Mrs. Delina Haverick Filkins today as relatives and friends came from all over Herkimer County to wish her "happy returns of the day." She was born on May 4, 1815.

MORE CASH TODAY FOR FLOOD RELIEF

Manchester's Total Is $2,525—Money Still Being Collected Here.

Contributions amounting to $2,525 represent Manchester's aid to date for the Mississippi flood sufferers. Of this $2,000 has already been sent to the National Chapter of the American Red Cross. A drive has been conducted here for a little more than a week.

Even with the quota allotted to Manchester over-subscribed, the contributions are still being received by Lucius Pinney, treasurer of the local chapter. He reported a total of $58 received until noon today.

The campaign is not being concluded for it is expected that other calls for money may be issued by the National Chapter at any time for the relief of sufferers in the Mississippi valley.

SEN. HALL'S MOTTO IS COMMON SENSE

New State Commissioner Says There Will Be No Upsets In Departments.

Hartford, May 5.—A common sense administration is proposed by Edward F. Hall, senator from New Britain, for the period when he is in office as state commissioner of finance and control. Senator Hall announced his policy after he had visited the governor to accept in person the nomination to what is called the most important post in Connecticut's government.

"There will be no upsetting of established procedure in the management of state institutions or state departments," says Senator Hall. "A slow, orderly consideration of the work of the state will be undertaken without any attempt to interfere with the heads or personnel of departments. Nothing will be done to hamper their work, nor will anything be ordered or even suggested which might slow up the machinery of government and administration."

Use Common Sense.
"The same common sense that would be applied in a factory or other business must be applied in the state's business. It would be foolish to interfere with responsible and efficient department heads as it would be to disturb control by superintendents and foremen in a manufacturing plant."

"If interference were applied the entire personnel might be affected and the work of the state suffer enormously. The new department will go slowly and find sound reasons for recommendations before making them."

Three Citizen Members.
The new board of finance and control is still in process of formation. The state citizen members are to be named by Governor Trumbull some time between now and July 1. Meanwhile, starting today, the executive members of the board will hold regular meetings to direct state affairs. In the meeting today will be Commissioner Hall, Governor Trumbull, Ernest E. Rogers, state treasurer; Francis A. Pallotti, secretary of state; Frederick M. Salmon, state controller; Benjamin A. Aling, attorney general, and William H. Blodgett, tax commissioner.

COOLIDGE TO NAME DEMOCRAT, EXECUTIVE

Eugene Meyer, Jr., to Be New Head of Federal Farm Loan Bureau.

Washington, May 5.—President Coolidge has decided to name Eugene Meyer, Jr., a Democrat, as executive head of the reorganized Federal Farm Loan Bureau, it was learned today.

The appointment will be announced at the White House within a few days.
Meyer, who has served a decade as managing director of the War Finance Corporation, will succeed Robert A. Cooper as executive commissioner of the Farm Loan Bureau. The resignation of Cooper was reported to have been accepted by Mr. Coolidge, along with that of Commissioner Edward E. Jones.

DRIVE WORKERS MAKING PLANS FOR ZERO HOUR

Forces In $50,000 Hospital
Campaign to Get Final Orders
In War Council Supper
Tomorrow Night.

Like the council of war that precedes a great battle will be a gathering of all the workers in the big Hospital drive tomorrow evening when they meet at a supper to be held in the parish house of St. Mary's Episcopal church at six o'clock.

At that time the personnel of all the tent soliciting teams will have been established and will be made known. The territories and numerals will be allotted. Every little detail for the coming week's campaign will be smoothed out and scheduled. From that time until the zero hour for going over the top the business of preparation will be in the hands of the team captains, each of whom, like a lieutenant in the trenches, must arrange the several duties and tasks of his individual soldiers.

Ten of the eleven team leaders have been named and have accepted, as follows: Frank J. Ripplin, Mrs. Alexander Shearer (voluntarily given yesterday as Mrs. James M. Shearer), G. H. Washburn, Mrs. Harold C. Alvord, Arthur A. Knofer, Mrs. Ethel Davis, Mrs. Charles B. Loomis, Dr. R. J. Knapp, Mrs. Elbert Shelton, Miss Emily Church, Mrs. R. J. Smith, selected to head one of the teams, declined to take over a captaincy though willing to work in the ranks. This leaves one team command to be supplied. Each leader will report his or her team personnel at tomorrow's supper meeting.

4-Minute Speakers.

Chief Orator Verplanck has enlarged his corps of four-minute speakers since yesterday, the roster of that important branch of the drive forces being as follows: F. A. Verplanck, Rev. Watson Woodruff, W. S. Hyde, Rev. W. P. Reidy, Dr. Edward G. Dolan, C. E. Watkins, W. W. Robertson, Horace B. Cheney, W. G. Cheney, W. B. Rogers, W. W. Woodruff, Tuesday, 8:10, William C. Cheney. NEGRO IS LYNCHED AND BODY BURNED

Race Riots Follow In Little Rock, Ark.—Black Had Attacked Woman.

Little Rock, Ark., May 5.—Armed troops patrolled the streets here today to prevent a race riot following the lynching of one negro, the beating and threatened lynching of a second and the wounding of a white boy by mobs that took control of Little Rock last night.

John Carter, 38, negro, was lynched and his body thrown on a funeral pyre in the negro section, a second negro was found to be armed and was severely beaten only to be saved by a white man who pleaded with the mob to let him put him in jail.

White Boy Shot
Robert Love, 18, white youth, was accidentally shot by the mob while parading through the negro section firing indiscriminately.

Found hiding in a tree, Carter confessed to the mob that he signed earlier in the day attacked Mrs. B. E. Stewart and her daughter as they drove into Little Rock.

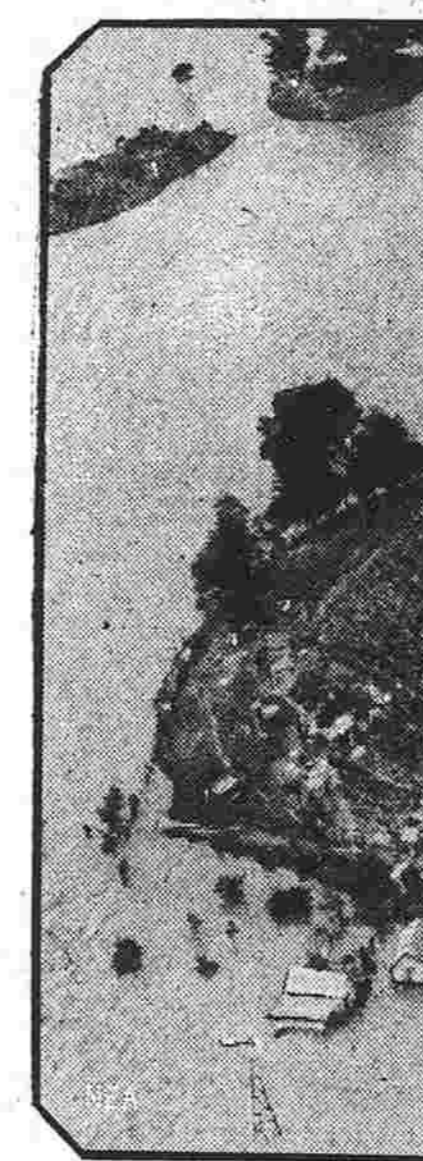

Mrs. Stewart was taken from the hospital by the mob, identified the feet and was hanged from a tree and riddled with bullets.

Body Tied to Auto
The negro's body was tied behind an automobile and dragged through the main section of the city and men through the streets for hours. The automobile was followed by more than a thousand members of the mob.

In the heart of the negro section, the body was placed on a bonfire and burned to a crisp.

Negroes tied as the mobs marched through the streets for hours. Governor Marteau called out troops and these were patrolling the streets today.

SCORES MAROONED ON BURIAL MOUND

Probably this NEA airplane picture reveals the tragedy of the Mississippi floods better than any photograph yet taken. It shows more than a score of people marooned on an Indian burial mound near Greenville, Miss., with the water steadily rising and threatening to inundate it. Hundreds of people were rescued by boats from these tiny islands in the great inland sea formed by the flood waters of the Mississippi. Note the live stock huddled on the island.

SCHOOL INCREASES REJECTED BY HOUSE

Debates on Minor Bills Slowing Up Action in Both Branches of Legislature.

Hartford, May 5.—A proposed increase in the amount given to towns for educational purposes by the state, as recommended by the commission on revision of codification of school laws, was rejected by the Lower House of the Legislature this afternoon after a long debate.

Debates on many minor bills is slowing up action in both Houses of the Legislature. Many calendar matters are scheduled for today but the slowness of action makes afternoon sessions appear a certainty. All matters coming into both Houses are being acted upon under suspension of rules.

DESIGNER OF "BOWL" REMEMBERED BY YALE

Bronze Tablet to Be Unveiled In Memory of Charles Addison Ferry.

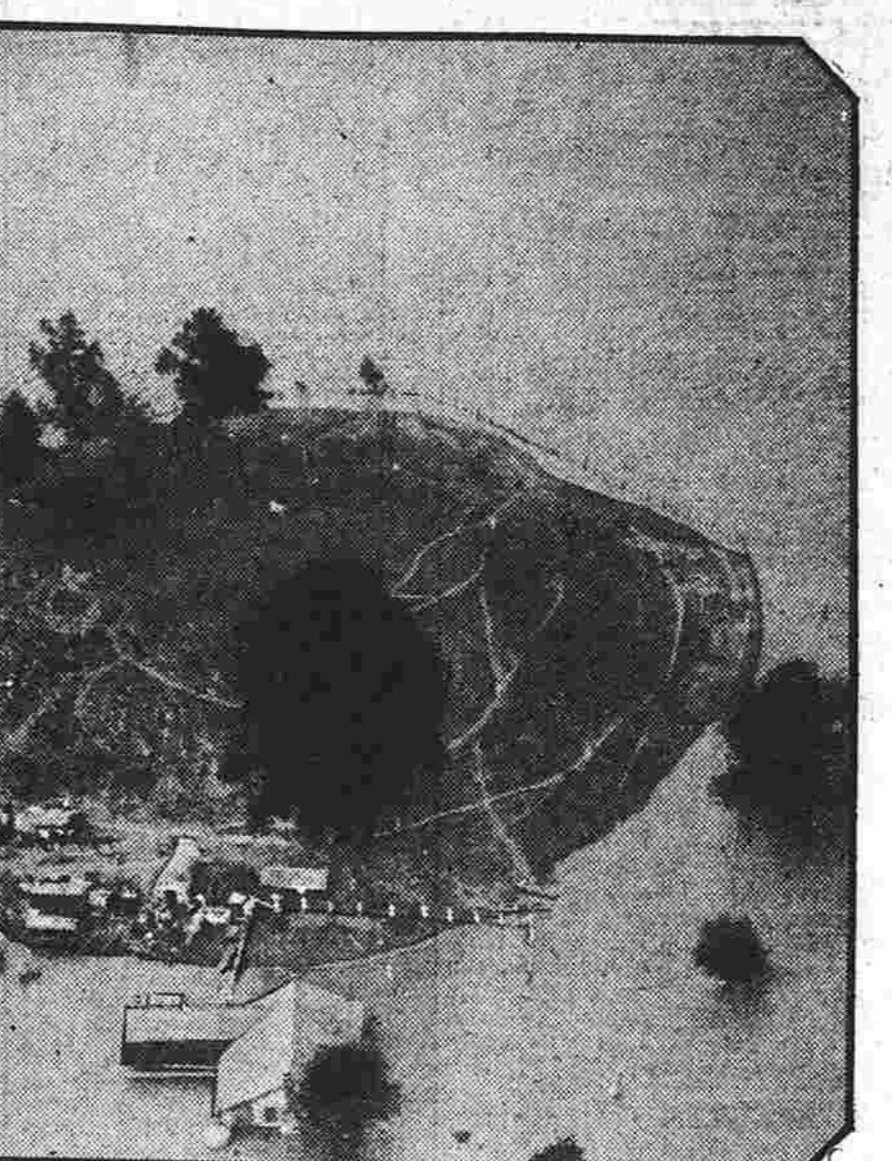

New Haven, Conn., May 5.—Yale is to honor the memory of Charles Addison Ferry, designer of Yale Bowl, by placing a bronze tablet above Portal Ten at the bowl during an announcement here today. Ely M. T. Ryder, of Danbury and New York, is head of the committee preparing for the memorial and will preside at the exercises to be held on Monday, June 20.

Miss Ruth M. Ferry, daughter of the designer, is to unveil the tablet. Smith F. Ferguson, of New York, will present it, and Prof. George H. Nettleton will accept it for Yale.

Mr. Ferry, a graduate of Yale, 1871-8, and a civil engineer degree in 1891, was an engineer for the New Haven Water Company for years. He conceived the idea of building a football stadium as a reservoir is built, throwing the excavated dirt about a huge hole and covering the bank with cement. His idea was submitted in competition and won. The Sperry Engineering Company of New Haven, builders of reservoirs, bid on the work as if for a reservoir and won the contract. Mr. Ferry became resident engineer in charge of construction of the bowl. He died here in 1924.

"This unique structure shall be his monument," the tablet is to read.

Gray Uses Weight To Re-enact Crime

Courthouse, Long Island City, N. Y., May 5.—Cross-examination of Henry Judd Gray, self-confessed slayer of Albert Snyder, was begun at 12:10 p. m. this afternoon by Dana Wallace, counsel for "the defendant Snyder."

Gray had been under direct examination for exactly ten hours, during which time he had related the grisly details of the brutal slaying of Snyder, implicating his co-defendant and former sweetheart, Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder. He said that he not only whacked the sleeping Snyder with the iron window weight, but that Mrs. Snyder dealt her husband the final blow.

This morning he told how, after the grisly deed was done, and Snyder lay dead, Gray and his paramour tried to "cover up" the murder and deceive the police.

Wallace shot his questions at Gray in a cutting tone.

Gray composed and apparently relieved after having told his bloody story, peered back at the cross-examiner through horn-rimmed spectacles and answered the questions slowly and clearly.

"Mr. Gray, when is the first time you removed your glasses on the night of March 19 in the Snyder home?"

Q. Shortly after they came back, about 2:30 o'clock.

Q. What room were you in when you removed them?

A. In her mother's room.

Q. How long before you struck Snyder with the sashweight did you take your glasses?

A. I don't know.

Q. Your glasses were off when you struck him?

A. Yes, they were on a tray on the chiffonier in her mother's room.

Q. Where was the sashweight?

Q. Did you take the glasses off because you were going to strike him with the sash weight?

A. No.

Q. Then why did you?

A. I thought there might be a fight.

Q. You were all prepared for a struggle?

A. Not necessarily.

Dramatic Touch
Then came a dramatic touch to this melodramatic trial. Wallace asked Gray if he would remove his glasses and take them to him, in which Wallace handed to him, in his hand and in a standing posture show the jury how he struck Snyder.

The spectators gasped. Some of the women turned their heads. Gray, his dark face blanching, stood up in the witness box and raised the weapon in both of his hands. Then he came down with a swish, demonstrating how he had whacked the sleeping art editor.

Mrs. Snyder, her face very pale, closed her eyes.

A shudder shot up the spines of even the most hardened reporters. Gray sat down, relieved.

Q. So you used both hands?

A. Yes.

Q. You remember very well how you did this?

A. I wouldn't say that.

Q. But you have testified that you remembered everything. You remember crying yesterday on the stand, don't you?

A. I do.

Q. You have the same emotions now.

A. No.

Not Feigning
Q. What were you doing yesterday, feigning emotion?

A. No, sir.

Gray made this reply with a slight emphasis.

Q. Your recital yesterday moved you, but your demonstration here today did not?

A. No.

Q. Tell us the first time you heard Mrs. Snyder propose getting rid of Snyder?

A. It was in January or February, 1926, at the Imperial hotel.

Q. After that you discussed it very often?

A. Yes, sir, a number of times.

Q. You say she kept hounding you with the suggestion?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And told of other attempts on his life?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you suggest any of these attempts?

A. No, sir.

Q. You say she made many attempts to kill Albert Snyder but it is a fact he was alive at the time you entered his room?

Q. No harm came to him until you went into the room and hit him?

A. No.

Gray maintained, under further questioning, that he entered on the plan to kill Snyder because Mrs. Snyder "dominated" him.

Q. Even though you fought against killing him, her power over you was so great you went "through" with it?

A. Yes.

Asked when she first got this power over him, Gray replied that it was a gradual thing.

Wallace wanted to know why, when Gray was reading the true parts of his confession this morning, he hadn't read the confession.

A. I probably don't care to tell you that.

He asked if that was true when Gray said:

"Not necessarily."

Changed His Mind
Justice Townsend Scudder interjected the remark that Gray "might have changed his mind since making the confession."

This caused laughter in the courtroom. The attendants glared at the spectators.

Q. (By Wallace) Her power over you was so great last May that she dominated you?

Q. Well, how do you know that?

A. It began with her giving me those sleeping powders.

Q. From then on you did everything she asked?

"In 1925 Mrs. Snyder asked me how much insurance I carried. I told her $20,000 and said that insurance was a safeguard every man should have," Gray said.

"She said she had difficulty in keeping up the premiums. I advised her to cancel the policy."

Q. Did she say she would?

A. No.

Gray denied that he had suggested to Mrs. Snyder, any way she might carry out the policy without her husband knowing it.

Q. You remember very well how you did this?

A. Yes.

Q. You remember very well how you did this?

A. Yes.

Q. You remember very well how you did this?

A. Yes.

Q. You remember very well how you did this?

A. Yes.

U. S. REFUSES TO DISCUSS MELLON NOTE

Letters to President Hibben,
Of Princeton Was Purely Domestic Argument, Kellogg Says.

Washington, May 5.—The United States informed the world today that the matter of international war debts is a closed book so far as Washington is concerned.

This is the practical effect of Secretary of State Kellogg's curt note to the British government, answering a formal communication from London which sought to make a controversy out of an exchange of letters between Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Dr. Hibben, president of Princeton.

Domestic Discussion
"The government of the United States regards the correspondence between Mr. Mellon and Mr. Hibben as a purely domestic discussion, and does not desire to engage in any formal diplomatic exchanges on the subject," said Kellogg's note.

For brevity and bluntness, this government's key rejoinder to the British communication is almost unprecedented in diplomatic exchanges between London and Washington. It is, in effect, a thinly disguised rebuke to the British foreign office for taking up something that was not addressed to the British in the first place.

Diplomatic Slap
It constitutes, as well, the second diplomatic slap that Washington has handed London this week, the other occasion being President Coolidge's advice to the American people to disregard much of the British colored news that is now emanating from London and the Far East concerning America's Chinese policy.

While the Kellogg note made it clear this government has no intention of arguing with the British people over the merits of the British-American debt settlement, the contentions announced by the British were promptly answered by Secretary Mellon in a public statement. He stood pat on his letter to Mr. Hibben, and using the same figures cited by Winston Churchill, the champion of the exchequer, showed that by next year Britain will be receiving from her debtors more than enough money to make the annual payments on Britain's debt to the United States.

MANY WILL MISS
OLD MAIL CARRIER

Big South End Shift Will Bring a New Face to Many a Door.

Postmaster Oliver F. Toop stated today that the revision of the entire city carrier service at the South Manchester Post Office, made necessary by the addition of much new territory, will go into effect next Monday. It was originally planned to put the new system into effect Monday of this week but unexpected difficulties caused a postponement.

The new territory to be covered by the ten city carriers constitutes the biggest change made at the South Manchester Post Office in many years. Because most of the new streets are located at opposite sides of the town, Postmaster Toop has found it necessary to completely revise the whole delivery service. Every carrier, with the exception of August H. Simonson, has new homes to deliver to. He uses Park street.

On the whole the changes will affect each carrier's route about fifty per cent.

15000 Are Affected
This means that in many cases the 15,000 odd patrons who receive mail by this system will find new faces calling at their homes daily. Approximately 5,000 homes are covered by the city carriers and with the 424 R. F. D. boxes this makes a total of about 16,000 or 17,000 persons who receive mail from the South Manchester Post Office, Mr. Toop said.

"The alteration to the various routes will cause a slight inconvenience to some of the patrons for a while," Mr. Toop said. "The

FASCISTS IN FIGHT WITH BERLIN COPS

3,000 Stage Demonstration; Riots All Through Night; Scores Injured.

Berlin, May 5.—Berlin police have been ordered to prepare for all contingencies and to remain in their quarters constantly during the next four days, as the result of a battle which lasted well through the night between 300 police and 2,000 Fascists.

May 8th has been set as the day for a demonstration by the "Steel Helmets," a reactionary organization of war veterans, and the police have reasons to expect that clashes may be expected.

Beat Up Reporters
The disorders last night are understood to have been occasioned by discovery of a National newspaper reporter and an evangelist at a meeting of the Fascists, called to plan raids on non-Fascist newspapers. It is alleged that the two were beaten into unconsciousness with beer steins. The police were called out and a general melee followed, which was only quelled after very serious fighting.

To cope with any emergencies which may arise during the next four days a special machine gun brigade of police and special rifle squads have been organized.

The "Steel Helmets" demonstration is allegedly for the purpose of forcing the Socialists to withdraw from governmental activities. They promise to have 80,000 demonstrators in Berlin.

Rockville

ROCKVILLE GIVES TWICE ITS QUOTA

Flood Relief Fund Oversubscribed; Church May Buy Motion Picture Machine.

(Special to The Herald)
Rockville, May 5. William F. Partridge, treasurer of the Rockville Chapter of American Red Cross, announces that Rockville has exceeded its original quota of $225 for the Mississippi flood relief and will make every effort to double its quota. The contributions so far amount to $1012. The campaign will, of course, continue.

Investigate Motion Picture Machine

A number of the men connected with the Union Congregational church, visited the South Congregational church in New Britain on Sunday evening to witness a demonstration of a motion picture outfit and to determine whether such a machine can be advantageously used in connection with a strictly religious program on Sunday evenings. David Hondlow, David Sykes, Leroy Martin, Frederick Holt, Edward Maynard, Frederick Cooley and Frank Condon were the men investigating this matter and were favorably impressed with the service stating that it was reverent and spiritual. The picture Sunday evening was "Broken Homes" which was preceded by a brief address by the pastor, Rev. George W. C. Hill. The visitors from the Rockville church were convinced that the machine is an acquisition to any church.

Shower for Miss Pitney

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pitney of Hammond street was the scene of a very pretty party Tuesday evening when the shopmates of Miss Beatrice Pitney tendered her a shower. The feature of the evening was a mock marriage which furnished amusement to all present, after which Miss Pitney was presented with a mahogany clock and candlesticks. She was also the recipient of many other beautiful gifts. Mrs. Pitney served a buffet luncheon, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Frank Tiffany of South Manchester. Miss Pitney will be married to Richard Graf of this city on June 1.

CIVIC ACHIEVEMENTS

NO 4—CASHING IN ON FUN This is the fourth of a series of articles telling how various American cities are solving their problems. Other articles will appear on this page daily.

BY DON E. MOWRY Secretary, the American Community Advertising Association Recreation may not seem important to a city's progress.

Coffeyville, Kas., which is Walter Johnson's home town, is one of these. Every year Coffeyville holds a three-day "Fal da Rai" at the end of April.

and sorrier still that the General Assembly did not have resolution enough to put the matter over till 1929. It looks to us as though a blunder had been committed—one that will make serious trouble in the management of a number of state activities.

BLOCKED BOOZIE.

Major Chester Mills, prohibition administrator for New York and Connecticut, told a club gathering in New York the other night that in the last year he had kept from the customers in his district ninety million quarts of liquor.

Next week Manchester must face its own intimate problem of raising $50,000 for the maintenance of its splendid Memorial hospital. It is going to take a straining effort to do that. It would be doubly unfortunate if in the midst of the hospital drive there should come a fresh cry for aid in the interest of the food sufferers.

HALF-COCKED.

It is to be doubted if ever before, in any American commonwealth, was a radical reorganization of the state's business system suggested, promoted and put into effect in less than a month from the birth of the idea.

WHAT'S THE ODDS.

Pola Negri is to be married on May 14. Well, what of it? Mae Murray, who married the brother of the man Negri is to wed, will go to Africa instead of going to the wedding. Well, what of that, either?

TEST ANSWERS

Here are the answers to "Now You Ask One" for today. The answers to the questions dealing with nature subjects are furnished by the American Nature Association. The questions are on the coming page.

1—The lotus. 2—A species of weasel, which in winter becomes white except for the tip of its tail. 3—Twelve to 14 years. 4—The eagle. 5—Chicago, from the Indian word, "Shegawk."

ONE AGAINST ALL.

One of the greatest newspapers in the world, the New York Times, by its course in the Chinese crisis, is laying the foundation either for new glories or for the utter destruction of its standing as a respectable and dependable journal.

WHERE ARE THE BANDITS

Possibly it is the inertia of spring fever, perhaps all the cult is happily busy preparing to move to Chicago to dwell joyously in the light of the countenance of Big Bill Thompson, perhaps "the boys" are spending their money on fishing trips, but for one or another reason the bandits seem to have gone temporarily out of business.

THAT AIR WAR.

We are constantly being told that the next great war, if any, will be "fought in the air." Perhaps so, but it may depend in some measure on how long such a conflict can be staved off. Presumably the American army is quite as far advanced in the theory and practice of air war, if not so lavishly supplied with material, as any other. At Fort Benning, Ga., a lot of bombing planes dropped TNT charges, aiming at a target twelve hundred feet square representing an ammunition dump.

town district in and near Convention hall. Twenty-four May poles are set up, to be wound simultaneously.

There is a fashion show, too; a fly casting contest, pageantry, Indian dances and a big time generally.

Along the same line but different is the winter carnival held each February in Manchester, N. H. The American and Canadian Snowshoe Unions convene during the carnival. There are winter sports galore—snowshoe races for the amateur championship of the world, swimming and diving stunts (despite the cold), a torchlight parade with some 2000 snowshoers in line in colorful costumes, and general tobogganing on the municipal slides.

Both of these cities know that stunts like these pay. They advertise a city—and they bring in visitors.

Mr. Millard, a man of many years experience in Chinese affairs and a peculiarly cool and level-headed reporter. He told the news he found it—and none knows how or where to find it, in China, better than he. His dispatches to the Times were illuminating. Moreover, as time passed, they proved themselves to have been intelligent, carefully considered surveys of facts and logical deductions therefrom.

The Times fired Mr. Millard and hired one Frederick Moore. It is on Mr. Moore's copyrighted cablegrams that the Times had elected to stand. If they are to any appreciable extent correct every other news source in China is either pitifully inadequate or intentionally deceptive. Moore is the yellowest journalist ever entrusted with a job of the importance of this one since the saffron appeared in journalism, or else he is a paragon of superior wisdom, discernment and enterprise.

Up to yet there has not been a single one of his lavishly offered forecasts which has not turned out to be exactly wrong, save those very recent ones for the testing of which there has been no time. There has not been an important news development which has not later proven to be wholly different from his representation of it.

WHERE ARE THE BANDITS

Possibly it is the inertia of spring fever, perhaps all the cult is happily busy preparing to move to Chicago to dwell joyously in the light of the countenance of Big Bill Thompson, perhaps "the boys" are spending their money on fishing trips, but for one or another reason the bandits seem to have gone temporarily out of business.

As a few months ago almost every day's news brought from one to half a dozen stories of payroll hold-ups and bank robberies running for into five figures and sometimes into six, for two or three weeks now there has been scarcely a crime of that character. It would be interesting to know just what the gangs are up to.

And here is a 5-tube Radiola built into a Victor cabinet with Orthophonic horn. Does not play records, $135.

Pick your Victrola from this big selection

HATS, clothing or Victrolas—you want to select yours where you have a big variety to choose from—where there is a price range large enough to include the sum you wish to invest—where you can compare features of the different models. That's one of the reasons so many people select their Victrolas, radios and pianos at Watkins.

Every lover of real good music wants one of the new Orthophonic Victrolas for no other instrument offers them the same true interpretations. If you thrill at an opera, a great singer or band you should hear them faithfully reproduced on the Victrola.

More music lovers than ever will have new Victrolas this week for this is National Music Week and special terms are in order here. You can have a whole year to pay for the Victrola you select!

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer This is the first of three articles analyzing the present "third term" situation. The second will appear tomorrow.

Washington, May 5.—The first real test of the third term issue as a factor in the 1928 presidential race seems likely to come in the Senate during the first session of the Seventieth Congress.

If the Senate should pass a resolution declaring against the acceptance of any president of more than eight years in office, it would create an intensely interesting situation. It might even prove decisive in persuading President Coolidge to disclaim such ambition, but not necessarily so.

While some extreme optimists insist that Mr. Coolidge would never go after the nomination if he had to fight for it, and would bow to the Senate's will, the president's advisers would surely urge him to disregard the Senate's action as an unimportant political maneuver unless they were convinced that to go on might be to court disaster.

Might Hurt the Senate And if the president should be renominated and re-elected in the face of such a resolution, the preside of the Senate would be still further overwhelmed.

All this is something more than idle speculation. It looks as if that next Senate would be a holy terror among Senators. You can't get the Democrats together on anything else, but you can always get them to agree that we ought to have a Democratic president.

And most of the Senate progressives are quite stirred up over the third term issue.

There will be 47 Democrats. Give Shipstead to the Republicans and keep Vane and Smith out at least temporarily and that leaves 47 others. But the second 47 includes such men as Borah, Norris, Brookhart, Howell, Frazier, Johnson, Nye, Brookhart, Blaine and La Follette. It includes some of the men most bitterly opposed to a Coolidge third term.

And it may include some Republicans, who, convinced that passage of the resolution was assured, would not quite dare record themselves as favoring fracture of the Washingtonian precedent.

The resolution voted upon presumably will be that introduced by La Follette in the last Senate, which died in the fifth year. La Follette plans to reintroduce it in the next Senate.

"I think if we could have got it to a vote we would have passed it in the last Congress," La Follette says. "I should think we would certainly fare as well if not better in the next."

"The test probably will come on the matter of referring it to committee. Of course some Republicans will contend that they are voting against it because it is a political maneuver, but on a direct vote it will be hard for many of them to vote against the resolution.

Sees Strong Opposition "I suspect that the opposition to a third term is ingrained in the minds and hearts of the people and I think it is an issue which will become quite important before November, 1928."

It will be recalled that La Follette's resolution is identical with that introduced by Congressman Springer of Illinois in the House during the second Grant administration. That was a Democratic House and most of the Republican congressmen stamped in to make the resolution's victory overwhelming. It broke the backbone of the movement to re-elect Grant to a third term.

If the Senate should pass an anti-third term resolution, the House of 1923-29 is hardly likely to follow suit. Beck of Wisconsin, in the Sixty-ninth Congress, offered a repetition of the Springer resolution to the House before La Follette used it and it died in committee. The resolution probably will die a similar death is reintroduced among so many Republicans.

Lowell Sherman is almost invariably cast as a villain, yet his small talk bristles with sophisticated wit. Charlie Chaplin is shy and illusive except among those he knows well, when his anecdotes become variously delightful and poignant. To the casual newcomer, however, he appears more well-mannered and gracious than funny. The impression he is most likely to convey is one of sadness.

Ed Wynne seldom clown before strangers, but when surrounded by fellow actors tries many antics. Harold Lloyd, of all the tribe, conveys least the suggestion of clowning. He seems a quite serious young man and, of all screendom, can pass unnoticed by his admirers more readily than perhaps any other.

Sophie Tucker struts her comedy for professional purposes but sit her down for a talk and she'll talk chiefly of that boy of hers who happens to be coming along in great shape. Tex Guinan tires of her eternal role of hostess but seldom gets completely free of the wisecrack influence.

Thomas Mason, who has edited such as Will Rogers, who works at it all the time, and any one of the Marx Brothers, whose wise cracks seem never to cease.

On the other hand there was Eddie Foy, at whom millions chuckled, but whose off-stage time was taken up largely with raising and training his large family. DeWolfe Hopper had some reputation as an after-dinner wit, but Fred Stone, one of the oldest and most famous of clowns, is quite serious and has even carried on evangelical work.

The other day when the third of the four Marx brothers was being married, the fourth of this quartet walked up to the reporters. "You can quote me as saying that three of the Marx brothers are now married and the fourth is still happy," said he.

It remains to be reported, also, that the most popular wag in the Broadway pelt is Harry Hershfield, a cartoonist. Harry has appeared at so many banquets where those gals-with flashlight photos are taken that he has won the sobriquet of "Flashlight Harry." His more-or-less fame began through his toastmastership of the "Cheese Club," an organization of Broadway press agents.

At a recent "annual gathering" which I attended Harry was called upon for a few remarks. Far too much "hip refreshments" had been going about and the great crowd had become unruly. Special attractions appearing upon an improvised stage could not be heard for the hubbub. Loud conversations, songs, whistles and shouts kept interrupting the entertainment.

Harry hesitated about making a speech and finally, looking the crowd over, began: "Say, fellows, can't you be just a little bit ruder? There's two prominent people back here you haven't insulted yet!"

This week marks the completion of four years of business for Fradin's, one of Manchester's most popular and growing business houses, catering to a large clientele of Manchester women.

During the four years that they have been in business in town their business and the town has seen numerous important changes. J. Fradin, who conducts his business under the name of Fradin's came to Manchester four years ago and purchased the business conducted by Morris Elman in the Johnson Block.

Fradin's new store gave them much added floor space and two fine large display windows. All this space has been filled with new departments and new lines of merchandise and today the store is none too large to handle the patronage that the business enjoys.

Mr. Fradin worked hard ever since he opened up in Manchester to make his business a success, to give the people of Manchester and vicinity what they want and to give the best of service to all their customers.

An Ex-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE

PAUL ADAMS
NEA Service

A view along the Scheldt Canal, where the Hindenberg Line was smashed.

This is the 23d chapter in the story of a former doughboy who is revisiting France as an advance guard of the "Second A. E. F."

CHAPTER XXIII

An old regular army sergeant, W. E. Moore, is the caretaker of the cemetery at Bony. There are about 2800 American soldiers buried here. Many Legionnaires will come here to kneel. The Americans can flag flaps idly from the tall poles in the center of the field of white crosses.

It was around Bony that fierce fighting occurred. Bony, LeCatelet, Montbreham, Broncourt, Fullimont Farm—two large barns are there now. Red-roofed, with weather vanes. A peaceful spot. Typically a rural French scene. But, once upon a time, one German shell struck where the barnyard is now—right over where a cow stands chewing a cud—and killed six cocks who were operating a field kitchen and trying to stew up some slum for their advancing buddies.

What, No Pictures?
Venhuille sleeps down in the valley. And up on the hill the guard at the northern opening of the Scheldt Canal says it is "defendant" to take any pictures with your camera. The rules are against it. But he softens under the application of a few cigarettes.

Over at LeCatelet the dry moat around the ancient chateau is filled with weeds and scrub trees. And on all sides, while most of the vestiges of war have been erased, there are landmarks that would easily be remembered. The ruined abbey at Mont St. Martin—a dismal ruin at the Jone de Mer farm near the Jone de Mer brook—the ridge at Cailion-Mazinghien where the right flank rested with the left flank near Bazeul.

Sacred Fields
Thus it goes all the way from the Scheldt to the Sambre—those tiny rivers, never heard of before the war, and now on the tongues of anyone who took a part. Here, over the rolling fields from Bellcourt through Nourou up to St. Souplet and LeCateau, Americans fought with the same gallantry that was displayed in the Argonne.

The heights of the Sambre were just as tough to take as the heights of the Ypres. And as the reels of the kilometers in a taxicab one pays due respect to memories! Those fields and hills are sacred.

Tomorrow: The Old Cafes.

5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS AT STATE TONIGHT

"Meet the Navy" Heads Bill; Feature Picture Is "Telephone Girl."

A rollicking bunch of sailors and a couple of beautiful girls will help the State audience to "Meet the Navy" in the principal of the five good vaudeville acts scheduled for the last three days of the week and commencing tonight. Meet the Navy is a musical comedy sketch having two scenes. The first is funny as the second. Both the boys and the girls are clever at almost everything, and all contribute their parts to the success of the bit.

Second will come the Shelton Putnam company, fresh from musical comedy. Shelton is the exact double of Bobby Clarke of the famous team of Clarke and McCollough of Music Box Revue fame. This is a snappy comedy act interspersed with songs and dances. Then Emma Raymond and company present a unique act with their feature an iron jaw. Claire and Michelle, the youthful musical genius, the sensation of the season, is the fourth act. The child has been on the vaudeville stage all through the East this winter and has been one of the really good acts. To finish up Donnelly and Claire will put on their fast singing and dancing act.

"The Telephone Girl," which is the feature the last three days, is adapted from a William C. De Mille play "The Woman in Brown" and the effect brings glory to the lady of the busy wires. Madge Bellamy plays the title role as Kitty O'Brien. Kitty innocently becomes the center of a web which has been woven around Matthew Standish, candidate for governor. His election or defeat are placed in her hands and she—well, you'll never guess what she does. Holbrook Blinn, Warner Baxter, May Allison and Lawrence Gray are co-featured with Miss Bellamy.

Pageant rehearsal at Old State House, Hartford on Monday, May 9 at 5:00 p. m. and again on Thursday, May 15 at 5:00 p. m. All Scouts taking part should be on hand. These are the last rehearsals before the big event. Carfare will be paid by the District—see your Scoutmaster.

How many tickets have you sold for the pageant? Report at once to your Scoutmaster.

Scoutmaster's meeting at School street Rec Thursday, May 5. Several important matters of business will be discussed. Scout Executive Hill will be present.

SMITH FRIENDS DISCUSS CHANGE FOR NOMINATION

Governor's Admirers See Name on Ballot in 1928; He Is Silent.

Albany, N. Y.—Governor Al Smith isn't talking for publication these days about his chances of winning the Democratic presidential nomination in 1928, but his friends at the State Capitol are.

It what close friends of the Governor say reflects his views in any way only one conclusion can be reached—that the Governor feels his chances of being nominated are immeasurably better than they were in 1924.

Since the Governor returned from a two weeks' vacation at the New Jersey seashore he has talked at length with his friends at the Capitol about the letter he wrote regarding the Catholic church in reply to one directed to him by Charles C. Marshall of New York, Episcopal church authority.

Church Attitude
The Governor is said to have told friends that before he prepared his answer to Marshall he sat down one night in his study in the executive mansion and for more than two hours he mentally reviewed his state and political activities of more than 20 years. In an effort to recall one instance in which the Catholic church has ever tried to influence him. He told friends that he could not recall one such occasion.

Friends of the Executive have declared there is no reason why he as a Catholic could not take the oath of office of President, if he could take virtually the same oath as Governor of New York state.

As an illustration that the Catholic church has never tried to influence Governor Smith, his friends point to motion picture censorship. Censorship Views
Although the Catholic church has never declared formally in favor of censorship of the screen, it has taken for granted for years, according to the Governor's friends, that the church favored the present New York censorship law.

Despite this fact, friends of the Governor point to the fact that each year the Governor, in his annual message has urged repeal of the censorship statute.

There seems to be a pretty well defined feeling at the Capitol that sometime this summer the Governor will be formally asked to state his views on prohibition.

Asked if he had any intention of expressing his views of prohibition, the Governor responded: "Not for the present."

In the meantime, the Governor is busy cleaning up a mass of state business which accumulated on his desk during his recent vacation.

Pile Sufferers

How Far Have You Gotten With Messy Ointments?

Don't be surprised that suppositories and salves haven't rid you of Piles. The most they can do is bring temporary relief. They never reach the cause—blood stagnation in the lower bowel.

Piles can be removed by an operation. Sure! But who wants to submit to the surgeon's knife when a harmless little tablet taken internally can banish the cause of Piles and bring real, lasting and honest-to-goodness relief?

Forget about an operation and stop using salves. Hem-Roid, the internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhardt, should quickly rid you of Piles the same as it is doing for thousands of others or costs nothing.

Get a package of Hem-Roid today at Packard's or Murphy's Drug store or any drugist. It is absolutely harmless and if you aren't delighted with the results you can have your money back.—adv.

"MILLIONAIRES" HAS FULL CAST OF STARS

Louise Fazenda, Vera Gordon, and Others Appear in Circle Feature Today and Tomorrow.

A real all star cast has been assembled for the production of "Millionaires," the feature picture at the Circle theater tonight and tomorrow. In addition to Louise Fazenda and Vera Gordon we see George Sidney, Helen Costello and Nat Carr, all cast in leading roles.

"Millionaires" is an entertaining story, full of comedy and drama in the right proportions. It treats of a Jewish tailor who suddenly makes a fortune in stocks and finds that he has let himself in for golf, horses and all the other luxuries. One can imagine a Jewish tailor in that position, but the story of "Millionaires" is something different from anything the imagination could conjure up.

Louise Fazenda in this picture is a ravishing brunette! Sounds impossible but it is true. The former comedy star has come into her own as a beautiful girl and she has been given an opportunity to show that she can appear like one of her own kind. Other pretty women in the cast are Helene Costello and Jane Winton.

The tale revolves about a kindly but poor old East Side tailor (her brother-in-law) whom Louise's slick husband inveigles into buying oil stock with the savings of years. Quite unexpectedly it makes him very rich, consequently engendering the most amusing situations. It is guaranteed to be absolutely fatal to the most inflexible solemnity to see Louise's efforts to "put on the dog" with New York's "Four Hundred."

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS.

At Montreal—Pete August, Bridgeport, Conn., knocked out George Flfield, Toronto, fifth round. Rene De Vos, of Paris, defeated Del Fontaine, of Winnipeg, ten rounds.

At Providence—Vic Burrone, of New York drew with Tony Mandell of Worcester, ten rounds; Ernie Mandell, of Providence, outpointed Billy Humphries of New York, eight rounds; Billy Tieran, of Providence, knocked out Jake Sombaty of Bridgeport in seventh round; Billy Ryan, Providence collegian, outpointed Larry Brignolla of Cambridge, eight rounds.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: John Jacob Astor (4)

The Northwest Fur Company, competing with Astor's company had spread its boundaries rapidly westward. In 1792 the mouth of the Columbia river had been discovered and trade with Canton, China was progressing. Lewis and Clark, in 1805, had spanned the continent and fur was not the least of the things they found.

Astor's dream was a string of fur trading posts stretching across the land, shipping from ports on the east and west coast.

Conciliating with the Northwestern company, Astor and the Northwest-ers bought out the Mackinaws, powerful rivals.

The Northwesters declined Astor's invitation to join him in a dash up the Columbia river to establish a post. They had plans of their own in that respect. So Astor planned alone, sent the Tonquin to sail to the mouth of the Columbia and found a settlement. It meant war. (To Be Continued)

England, Too, Has Poor Men's Sons Rearing Industrial Giants

London.—"The business shall prosper and one day the son of Ludwig and the son of John shall be at the head of the greatest combination in the British empire—a concern with three hundred million dollars capital."

It fifty years ago a gypsy had foretold this to Ludwig Mond, the German immigrant into England, and to John Brunner, the son of the Swiss pastor who also emigrated to England, the young men would have thought she was crazy. Three hundred millions, and they with very little resources outside their business brains and their chemical knowledge!

Yet today Mond's eldest boy, Sir Alfred Mond, is head of this world-challenging combine and Brunner's eldest boy, Sir John Brunner, is on the board of directors of the greatest romance in the history of British business—as romantic as any of the fairy stories connected with our newer land of opportunities.

A Small Beginning

When the Swiss pastor settled in Liverpool back in the forties, he put his 15-year-old son, John, to work with a firm of alkali manufacturers at Widnes. The factory was old-fashioned and it handled things according to antiquated methods.

In 1862, at the age of 23, Ludwig Mond, armed with diplomas from great universities in his native Germany, came to England. He had a process for the recovery of sulphur from alkali waste. He had a new method of making soda. He had a scheme to utilize the ammonia which was secured when coal was distilled for gas. He had a plan to get nickel out of a poor grade ore.

Chance brought him into contact with young Brunner. They decided to pool their slender capital and start a soda works at Norwich. It prospered beyond their wildest dreams. They soon had giant chemical works all over Great Britain owned by Brunner, Mond & Co. The Mond Nickel Company practically got a monopoly of the nickel of the world.

Both men died multi-millionaires. Their sons carried on the business and at the same time entered politics.

John F. L. Brunner sat in the House of Commons for 12 years. One of his daughters married into the continental nobility. Sir Alfred Mond, eldest son of the original Mond, was educated as a barrister, but forsook the practice of law to become the head of the chemical firm. He also entered Parliament and during the war entered Lloyd George's cabinet first as commissioner of works and later as minister of health.

The reigning sensation in the business world this year has been his coup whereby he brought about an amalgamation of Brunner, Mond & Co., the Nobel Industries Limited, the United Alkalies Limited and the British Dyestuffs Corporation in the new concern—Imperial Chemical Industries Limited.

Unites Big Concerns

The combine united all the big British chemical concerns. It enables them to present a united challenge to the powerful industries of the United States and Germany. It places capital at the disposal of British dyestuff which will free the British textile industry from any reliance on German products. Dyestuffs also mean explosives. The combine thus protects Britain in war as well as in peace.

Lord Reading, former lord chief justice, viceroy of India and ambassador to the United States will bring his keen legal brain; Sir John Brunner, his business ability; Lord Ashfield, head of the subway and omnibus systems of London, will bring his organizing ability, and Sir Joshua Stamp will bring his financial genius.

SHE LOVES HER BABE!

The big one is Babe Ruth and the little one is Charlene, and the photo shows how glad Charlene, who is just one of the many crippled kids at the Junior League home in Nashville, Tenn., was when the big Bambino visited the home before opening day. Babe has received many ovations, but the one he received from the youngsters at Nashville tops 'em all. Charlene, however, was the only one who really showed her affection—she gave him her biggest hug!

Mother Says Tanlac Is Best Remedy in World

Suffering from Headaches, Stomach Trouble, High Blood Pressure, Neuritis and Nervousness, Buffalo Woman Recovers Lost Health. Thanks Tanlac

The remarkable experience of Mrs. Harriet Grimes, 1073 Grant Street, Buffalo, N. Y., is the experience of thousands of others who after years of intense suffering have found grateful relief and new strength in this wonderful tonic and remedy.

Pain took its high toll and Mrs. Grimes found herself on the verge of becoming an invalid—her body wracked with pain, unable to eat without suffering from indigestion and gastritis, bothered by dizzy spells that made it dangerous for her to go out on the street, too weak to do her housework. Neuritis in right shoulder and limbs pained steadily for 6 months.

Mrs. Grimes says: "Long days of anguish and tormenting pain that I tried to hide with a smile, followed sleepless nights. The sight of food nauseated me. I ate very little and became so weak and run-down that I couldn't do my housework."

"I tried everything for relief. Waited, worried. Then my daughter suggested Tanlac. What a wonderful daughter she is! For Tanlac saved me.

"Pain vanished. I began to sleep well and get up in the morning refreshed. I took on weight and felt stronger. Blue spots caused by high blood-pressure disappeared from my face. Again I feel young. Tanlac is the best remedy in the world."

Benefit by Mrs. Grimes' experience. Let this marvelous tonic made from roots, barks and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula, rebuild your run-down body, drive out pain and poison, give you robust health.

Results after taking the first bottle will amaze you. Ask your druggist for Tanlac—today! More than 40 million bottles sold.

GRAY USES WEIGHT TO RE-ENACT CRIME

Q. In May, 1926, did you discuss any plot against Snyder? A. Only she thought of these powders and asked me to try them. Did Not Tie Wire Q. You claim you did not tie the picture wire around Snyder's neck the night of the murder? A. I did not. Q. After the striking, what did you do? A. I went to the bathroom. Q. Did you go back to the room to do anything to Snyder? A. No. Gray ignored Wallace's cross-fire of questions and replied in a calm, even tone. Wallace suddenly shifted his questions and asked Gray when he had told Mrs. Snyder there could be "nothing between them" because he was happily married. "Many times," replied the witness. "I told her I was married and she could be nothing between us."

Q. She didn't dominate you then, did she? A. No. Q. When she told how her relations with her husband were strained you did not break off with her? A. No. Night of Murder Wallace came back to the night of the murder. Q. Did you go over and touch the body? A. I did. Q. What did she say? A. She asked if he was still alive and I said I didn't think so. I felt his hands and they were cold. Q. Was there any wire around his neck then? A. I don't know. The upper part of his body was covered with blankets. Q. You wish to tell this jury that you had nothing to do with the wire? A. All I know is she said "he must be dead," and she left me. I did not see the picture wire around his neck. Q. You had this picture wire, didn't you? A. Yes. I had it for about two weeks. I brought it to Mrs. Snyder's home when I came over Monday, March 7. Q. You saw her that night? A. Yes, at the kitchen door. It was the last night I saw her before the night of the murder. Q. The night of the murder, the first time you saw the pistol was when she brought it to you? A. Yes. Q. Did you break it? A. Yes. Q. Did you press it in Snyder's fingers? A. Yes. Covered Sash Weight Q. You went down into the cellar and covered the sash weight with ashes? A. I did mechanically. Q. You washed your hands? A. Yes. Q. Did you think the revolver was under the pillow when you struck him? A. No. Q. Did you know well enough that it was not under the pillow because you took it out of the dresser drawer? A. No. Q. You were not afraid? A. I certainly was afraid. Q. When did you buy the picture wire? A. I didn't buy it. I got it in my office the evening of May 7. Q. When was the first time you talked over the plan of the murder that was carried out? A. Late in February or early March, at the Waldorf. Under a bombardment of questions, Gray insisted that he and Mrs. Snyder talked over a plan of concealing the crime from the police, meeting in a Jamaica restaurant on the afternoon of March 7. It was now one p. m., and court was adjourned for the luncheon recess with Gray on the stand. So far, the witness had stood up well under the merciless cross-examination.

RESUMES STAND.

Courthouse, Long Island City, N. Y., May 5.—Henry Judd Gray, self-confessed murderer, resumed the witness stand today to finish his melodramatic story of the vicious slaying of Albert Snyder. He sat calmly in the witness box, peering through horn-rimmed glasses, seemingly none the worse from his ordeal of yesterday when he described in dreadful detail the bloody killing of the art editor. The blonde Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, his co-defendant, whom he has pictured as a deliberate murderer who forced him finally to slay her sleeping husband, was pale and shaken at her counsel's table, watching her former lover's face apprehensively. Anguish was written all over her blanched countenance. All her old spirit and defiance were gone. Proceeds With Story. Gray, under questioning of his attorney, Samuel L. Miller, proceeded with his blood-chilling story in a clear voice. The courtroom was again packed. Most of the spectators were women. Miller continued the questioning. Q. Mr. Gray, last evening you told us about the burning of certain articles in the cellar of the Snyder home after the killing of Albert Snyder on the morning of March 20. Please proceed with what happened. A. I was in the room of Mrs. Brown (Mrs. Snyder's mother). Mrs. Snyder disappeared. She returned and said she had burned my shirt, her nightgown and bathrobe in the furnace. I put on one of Snyder's shirts, went downstairs and swept around the coal bin so that my shoeprints would not show. I also sprinkled ashes upon the sashweight in order to make it appear that it had laid in the cellar for a long time. Gray said that when he went into the cellar he had on buckskin gloves. "When we went upstairs," he continued, "she asked me if he was dead. I said I didn't think so. I started to mope up the room and she asked me to help her put some wire around his neck. I told her I was all through. But I did try to help her. But I was so shaky and intoxicated I couldn't do anything. Jurors Watch Gray The twelve jurors leaned over in their seats and peered intently at Gray. They were not missing a single word. "I went back to her mother's room," Gray continued. "And we mused it up. We went downstairs and stayed there until daylight. She said I would have to leave. We went upstairs to her mother's room. "She asked me to hit her over the head with every thing I could make it seem like a robbery," he went on. "I told her I could not. "She asked me to blind her up. I bound her ankles and her hands loosely tied the cheesecloth over her mouth. I covered her with her coat and went downstairs and left by the side door as she instructed me to."

Saw Policeman "I met an elderly man waiting for the bus," he said, "and we talked for a few minutes. I noticed that the policeman was waiting at a target." (This testimony corroborated evidence given by two state witnesses, the man who was waiting for the bus and the policeman.) Gray rode to the station at Jamaica, but as there were no trains to New York for some time, he rode to 59th street, New York in a taxi. "I asked the driver if he could change a ten dollar bill," Gray said. "He could not and I gave him what change I had. (This evidence also corroborated testimony previously given by the taxi driver, who said Gray gave him $3.50, $3.50 for the ride and a nickel tip.) Gray said he then took a subway train to Grand Central where he had breakfast. He boarded a train for Syracuse.

Could Not Read "I tried to read and then to sleep, but I couldn't," he said. Gray said that somewhere above Poughkeepsie he went to the vestibule and threw the briefcase he was carrying into the Hudson river. "I still had the bottle of chloroform and her watch she had given me because she said it had blood stains on the strap," he testified. "I threw the watch, the chloroform and sleeping powders down the toilet. "I was pretty much in a daze," he related. "I tried to sleep, but I couldn't. I kept thinking of what had happened."

Gray testified that when he arrived in Syracuse, about 4 p. m., it was snowing and he went to his room at the Onondaga. Miller asked him to tell everything he did in Syracuse on March 19, prior to leaving for New York to kill Snyder. "Drunk Considerable" The witness related that he had gone to bed between two and three a. m. Saturday. He had "drunk considerable." He went downstairs and had breakfast. He got a female. A man took him to his shop in the hotel to see the new addition he had made. He wasn't sure whether he then went to the office of his friend, Haddon Gray. At any rate, he had a luncheon engagement with Haddon. The little corset salesman then said he called on a customer, leaving about noon. He went "to a certain place" where he knew he could get something to drink. He had a couple of highballs. Around one o'clock Gray called at the hotel. They had lunch and he told Haddon he had an engagement with "Mommie" (Mrs. Snyder) in Albany. "I asked him," Gray testified, "if he would do me a favor by musing up my bed and mailing some letters and if he would hang out the 'don't disturb' sign. He left around two."

Gray went to his room, wrote some letters and had a few more drinks. After having a few more drinks on the way to the station, he took the train for New York, arriving shortly after ten o'clock. Q. Now tell us everything you did in Syracuse after you arrived back in Syracuse on Sunday (March 20.) Back to Syracuse. A. When I got back to Syracuse, I went to my room in the Onondaga and had three or four drinks to steady my nerves. I called Haddon Gray up and his wife said he was had two or three more drinks. Later, in my room I found a note on my table from Haddon. It said: "Perfect. Call me up later."

Gray was shown the note and identified it. Haddon called me up around 5:30 and asked me if I was coming to dinner," he said. "I said yes. He came down with another gentleman. Haddon and I had two or three drinks. I told him a story I did not recall until he told it again here on the stand—about hiding in the closet when burglars were there and leaving over Mrs. Snyder and getting blood on my vest. "I think I showed them (the bloodstains) to him. I gave him a black case with my hat, suit, pair of gloves and picture in it—also a briefcase. We went in this other gentleman's car to an office building and put the case on top of the bookshelf. Then we went to Haddon's and had some drinks. We left, went to the Syracuse Hotel to visit a friend. There we had some liquor and talked until one or two o'clock. Much Confused "I know I was very much confused and intoxicated for when I came out of the Syracuse Hotel I could not get my bearings and walked around 20 minutes, then asked a policeman where the Onondaga Hotel was."

Gray said he finally got back to the hotel and there finished a bottle of whiskey. He was partly undressed when three detectives came in about 2:30 a. m., and arrested him. He was taken to police headquarters and questioned. He was in a daze. He was taken to a cell. He couldn't remember some things, but he knew he was questioned. He asked if he could communicate with Haddon Gray and the police said no. He finally made a statement regarding his whereabouts on Saturday. Finally, New York detectives came and filled him. He said they told him his hand had left the imprint on the pillow and that they had seen his fingerprints. He asked to see a telegram he received on Saturday. A sandwich was brought into him, but he couldn't eat. Then he was led handcuffed to a patrol wagon and taken to the train. "There was a big crowd there and I was flashed every minute," he said. He wanted to go in a compartment and agreed to pay for it. "They told me in the compartment that Mrs. Snyder had confessed and implicated me and demanded that I come across," he said. "I got so confused and hazy that I finally told them that I had been in Queens Village that night. I don't remember if I told them the entire story then or later."

Sees McLaughlin He was introduced to Police Commissioner George V. McLaughlin on the morning of March 22. He said there were ten or fifteen men in the room and he was asked to tell his story in his own words, which he did. He was then taken "some place" and fingerprinted. He said he had not slept since Friday night. He was taken "some other place" and put in a cell. They took his belt away. Q. Did you see many people at police headquarters? A. Yes, they wore masks and I stood on a stand (this was at the police line-up in Elkton, Md. She referring to a conversation he had with Mrs. Snyder in January, 1926, Gray said: "I had received a clipping from the New York American about a marriage mill in Elkton, Md. She asked me about us going to Elkton to be married. I told her that was ridiculous—that that would be bigamy. Afterward she kidded me about this. Several times when he was intoxicated the question of going to Elkton came up and once he consented, he said, but got too intoxicated to go.

probably be the only witness the defense will use at this afternoon's session. (Special to The Herald.) Hartford, May 5.—There is little doubt, State's Attorney Alcorn, told the correspondent at the morning recess at 11:30 today, but what the state would complete presenting its evidence before the adjournment at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He has already produced his gun experts, two in number, both agreeing that the revolver used in firing the bullets found in the Oak street laundry were from the same gun. Both from the examination of the bullets in the revolver and from those they tested after shooting it themselves. The finger expert will be the next called and it is not likely that Nicholas Dellaferia will be called to the stand at all nor will the wife of the soda shop owner on Oak street. Juryman Better. Willis Hall, the jurymen who was unable to continue yesterday afternoon's session of the murder trial of Loo Hoo Wing and Ching Lung, has fully recovered from his illness and returned to the jury box with the other eleven men. Both Loo Hoo Wing and Ching Lung were seated at table with the jury lawyers and watched the jurymen go to the stand. Chief Gordon Called. Samuel G. Gordon, chief of police of Manchester was the first state witness called. He told of being called at his home at 7:25 on the morning of March 24. He went to the scene where he made a train survey and talked with Sam Ong and also the shoemaker, next door. Then he went to the police station and called up Edward Hickey and again returned to the laundry and talked with Nicholas Dellaferia. Soon after Mr. Hickey arrived he drove to Hartford where he met Mr. Arasoni, the driver of auto number 104, who was returning from Hartford to Manchester. At New Haven he saw both Loo Hoo Wing and Ching Lung. Loo Hoo Wing was wearing the light overcoat and Ching Lung the brown. Sam Ong accompanied the chief, Mr. Hickey, Sergeant Barron, the captain and Sergeant Connelly. Sam was asked if he knew any of the men and he pointed to Ching Lung. He replied, "I don't know. To the question asked Sam, "What did he do then?" he replied "He killed my cousin." Later they returned to Manchester and went to the laundry where they found the gun. It was inside of a larger box which was set onto a larger box near the entrance of the door connecting the wash room and the dry room. Finding Gun Sergeant Barron lifted it out by using a lead pencil to enter into the gun and laid it on the paper which Mr. Hickey had arranged, and returned to the stand. The jury for examination told chief continued his story. He said that the gun chamber was opened and three empty shells and three unexploded shells were found. The gun was left in his care and he locked up, and later turned over to him by the gun expert. He then told of being present when the bullets that were found to the northward of where the body lay about fifteen feet from where the body was found. It was a .32 caliber bullet. The Bullet The second bullet was found embedded in the casing of the north door which led to the kitchen. The bullet was found on the floor near the body. He told of seeing a newspaper lying on the floor about twelve inches south of the head of the man found dead in the laundry. This was "Daily News" of New York which did not arrive in Manchester before 3:30 in the morning. Cross Examined On cross examination Chief Gordon told how a question by Mr. Healey, told how it was turned over to Mr. Mar, the finger print expert. This ended his cross examination. The state next called Chapman Dugan of New Haven, who was duty at police headquarters when the two men were brought in by Officer Frank Connelly, who took charge of the men after being captured by officers William O'Connor, the traffic officer. The two men were not wearing their coats. After the two accused men put on the coats and Sam, the Manchester laundry man identified Ching Lung. The pictures of both men were then taken. "Taxi Loafers" When the men came to the detective bureau they said they had come to New Haven looking for work. "I told them it was unusual for men to come to New Haven from Hartford in taxi cabs looking for work." Sergeant Barron was next called. He told of being called about 7:25 and going to the laundry, where he met the chief, who was talking with Sam, the owner of the laundry. He stood there, listened and also remained in the laundry until Chief Gordon, who had gone out and talked with some of those in the vicinity arrived. When the chief came back he suggested that he, Barron, go to Hartford. At the police station he stopped to put in calls when he also received one from New Haven saying that a couple of Chinamen were being held there. He described the men wanted in Manchester and then went back to the laundry where he met the chief and Mr. Hickey and went to New Haven. He was in the place when Sam identified Ching Lung as the man who had killed his cousin. He also told of going to the laundry after his return to Manchester and of finding the revolver and later seeing one of the bullets that was found that night. He also told about getting the revolver owned by Sam, which was in the bottom of the box in his room near his bed and that the revolver was in a paper box. Mr. Healey asked him if he had got the gun before asking for it and Sergeant Barron replied that he had not. Pistol Experts William Fitzgerald, who testified for the state in the Shean case and Captain W. A. Jones of New York, who testified for the defense, were both used by the state in the identification of the revolver, the bullets and also the marks that were found on the bullets which they both said came from the revolver that the state produced as being found in the laundry. Mr. Fitzgerald said he has testified in over 375 cases, had been consulted in over 1,200 and has been in so many different places for pistol instruction or examinations that the court stopped him. He rattled off names and places like a train dispatcher. Captain Jones has been a fire arms inspector since 1895 and was instructor of the New York police department and has been engaged in cases all through New England and in about all of the district attorney's offices and also in New Jersey, and many other places.

SEVENTY-NINE ON S. M. H. HONOR ROLL Sixty-one On Credit Lists Are Girls; 25 Students Make the A Grade. Seventy-nine students are listed on the honor roll for the fifth marking period, which includes March and April. It was announced at the South Manchester High school this afternoon. This is an increase of 15 over the previous marking period and represents 12 per cent of the school enrollment, which is 660. The sophomores have most names on the list, 30; the freshmen are second with 26; the juniors, 15 and the seniors 8. Only 18 boys are included in the 79 names. Twenty-five students are on the A honor roll. The list: Seniors A—Louis Phelps. B—Mary Albani, Esther Carini, Gertrude Fish, Elizabeth Moriarty, Elin Nielsen, Margaret Parson, Gladys Rogers. STEAL GOVERNOR'S GUN. Hartford, May 5.—Governor Trumbull reported to the state police today that his personal .38 calibre revolver is missing from his desk in his office in the state capitol. The governor doesn't know whether the weapon was borrowed or stolen, but is almost certain it was not mislaid. If stolen, this is the second time a revolver has been stolen from a governor of Connecticut. When Everett J. Lake was governor a revolver was taken from his desk. IN BANKRUPTCY New Haven, Conn., May 5.—Isadore Wallace, a Hartford men's furnisher with a store at 527 Main street, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in United States District Court here today. He owes $16,063, while his assets total $1,925.

Waterbury, Conn., May 5.—The Grand Army of the Republic today has five hundred members in Connecticut, divided among forty-six Posts. Such was the statement made here today by James R. Young of Waterbury, commander of the G. A. R.'s Connecticut department, in an address to the Sixtieth annual encampment which opened this morning for a two-day session. Fifty members attended the encampment. Connecticut's G. A. R. had 538 members in 46 Posts at the beginning of this year but death has taken 38 members since then. Two Posts in the state surrendered their charters, and three other Posts are reduced to a single member each. White Commander Young did not name the Posts with one member each, he named Palmer Post of Winsted, and Redshaw Post of Ansonia, as those giving up their charters. Meeting at the same time as the G. A. R. the Connecticut Woman's Relief Corps opened its annual session in the First Congregational church. The two organizations were guests of the Lions club at the Elton this noon. Both bodies will elect officers late tomorrow morning. Fitchburg, Mass., May 5.—Lauri Relander, president of Finland, is critically ill and his recovery has become so doubtful that the government has been turned over to Vaino Panner, the Finnish prime minister, according to word received here today from A. Alto, Finnish chief consul at New York by Radio, Finnish newspaper. The illness of President Relander was not considered serious by Finnish residents in the United States until the announcement that he had relinquished control of the government. Prime Minister Panner is the leader of the Social-Democratic group in Finland. He has never visited this country and was accorded unusually enthusiastic receptions by his fellow countrymen, here, in Michigan and elsewhere.

STANDING GUARD ON OAK STREET LAUNDRY

Police Watch Place to Prevent Possible Removal of Murder Case Evidence.

When Sam, the Oak street laundryman was on the witness stand in the long murder trial at Hartford yesterday afternoon, Frank E. Healey, of defense counsel, that, after closing out the business he was engaged in for four or five months in Hartford, he took the books of the Loo Wing laundry. He also told him that the books were now at his laundry on Oak street, even going so far as to state exactly where they were. He said they were in his bedroom, in a large box where he also kept the revolver. When George A. Johnson of this place was called to tell of the location of the building, he was asked by Mr. Healey concerning a gangway in the rear of the laundry, the impression being given that the claim might be set up by the defense that a man could drive back of the laundry. This cannot be done because the laundry is at the extreme end of the building and there is a wire fence about the back door. Taking no chances on what might happen in the event of an attempt to get from the laundry any papers that might be of value in the case—especially after the letter written on February 8 and addressed to a relative in China had been shown in court—a careful watch is now being kept on the laundry. On Wednesday night Chief Gordon sent Officer Leeborg to the place and he spent the entire night there. The continuation of this guard will depend upon the developments in the presentation of the defense.

He conferred with Republican leaders from coast to coast. Butler submitted a report on his observations to President Coolidge at a White House luncheon.

STAMFORD ADVOCATE IS DAMAGED BY BLAZE

Newspaper Has Difficulty in Getting Out Its Edition This Afternoon. Stamford, Conn., May 5.—Fire this afternoon handicapped the Stamford Advocate in issuing its afternoon edition. The fire started in the Modern Electric Supply Co., adjoining the newspaper, and worked through the partitions to the business office of the Advocate. That department sustained heavy damage while smoke filtered through the other departments, making working under great difficulties. The damage by the fire will amount to several thousands of dollars. Other stores adjoining the electrical store were affected by smoke. Firemen were given a hard battle to subdue the flames.

SEEK MAN, WOMAN, ALLEGED ELOPERS

No trace has been found late today of a Manchester man and Rockville woman who are believed to have eloped Tuesday afternoon leaving ten children as well as their mates. The Manchester man is Joseph Wandzyz, 34, of 638 Parker street, who has a wife and seven children, namely: Victoria, 13, John 12, Walter 11, Sophie 7, Francis 6, Leo 4 and Edward 2. The woman with whom he is alleged to have eloped is Mrs. Agnes Czerwonka, 37, of 94 West Main street, Rockville. Until a few weeks ago, Wandzyz and his family lived with George Cwikla on Parker street and then he moved to the six tenement house in the association of her mother lived. For nearly five years, he had been employed as a beater-tender at the Colonial Board Company, according to John Gahrman, foreman, but on Saturday he quit his job. Monday Wandzyz got a job at the Hockanum mills in Rockville. The next day, he skipped with Mrs. Czerwonka, according to Rockville authorities. Rockville police are searching for the couple and have spread the alarm. Wandzyz is said to have had but $30 with him and his companion but $50 which she is alleged to have obtained by forging a check, payable to her husband by Morris Brown of Rockville. According to Victoria Wandzyz, the Rockville woman had associated with her father for several months. Mrs. Czerwonka has three children, Gladys 15, Josephine 13 and Chester 11. Josephine says she knows about the association of her mother and Wandzyz but feared to tell anyone. Mrs. Czerwonka was also employed at the Hockanum mills. Her husband works at the Springfield Mills. A few good misses in the chorus are apt to aid the opera in making a hit.

MUSICAL COMEDY DRAWS AT STATE, HARTFORD

Enthusiastic audiences have flocked to the State Theater in Hartford all the week to witness the musical comedy hit, "The Gingham Girl," which W. A. Ellis is offering as the first of a series of weekly presentations.

Ada Howard, as Mary, is flawless, and altogether sweet and charming. It will be surprising indeed if Miss Howard has not already established herself in the hearts of those who have had the opportunity to observe her work this week.

Every member of the cast deserves the highest praise. Jacob as the romantic Sonia Malson, Louise Carlyle as the snobbish Mrs. Trask, Charles Moran as the butler, Jeanne Diener as the jealous Mildred Rintey, Aiden MacClaskey as Silas O'Day, and in fact all the cast give entirely creditable performances. Particular mention should be made of the excellent scenic effects achieved by Horace Armistead, and of the splendid musical direction of Howard Collins, who came to the State especially to handle these presentations, after concluding 57 weeks as musical director for "The Big Parade."

In addition there is "Ankles Preferred," the picture that has broken house records at the new Roxy Theater, New York, starring Madge Bellamy and Allan Forrest.

The musical comedy attraction commencing next Monday, presented by Mr. W. A. Ellis and directed by Eugene Carey, is "Stubborn Cinderella." The picture attraction, in addition, will be one of the greatest dramas ever screened, "Mother," suggested by the novel by Kathleen Norris with Belle Bennett, brilliant star of "Stella Dallas."

In the cast are Crawford Kent and Julian Mabel Scott. The musical comedy is presented two times daily, at 3:00 and 8:30 with the exception of Saturdays and holidays, when three performances are given, at 3:00, 5:45 and 8:45. The

INOCULATING CROPS MAY SAVE FARMERS MILLIONS ANNUALLY

Madison, Wis.—Little colonies of bacteria injected into some of the growing crops will save the farmers of the United States millions of dollars a year at a cost of only a few thousand.

This is the remarkable promise made to the country's farmers by Ira T. Baldwin of the University of Wisconsin, where he is preparing cultures for just such use.

Legume inoculation is what Baldwin has found of especial interest for the present. Experiments he has made show that for the state of Wisconsin alone inoculation of alfalfa, among the legume crops, would save that state more than $4,000,000 a year at a cost of about $25,000.

Little nodules of bacteria inoculated into this growing crop take in the free nitrogen of the air, which the plants themselves cannot use directly, and turn it into the nitrates that are so useful to plant growth. For this the bacteria take the sugar that the legumes have converted within their leaves.

By this simple trade of sugar for nitrates, the bacteria prosper and the legume plants grow more healthily. Thus, Baldwin found, the additional nitrogen fertilizer gained by bacteria inoculation, increased the protein from 227.5 pounds in a ton of hay to 305 pounds. At five cents a pound the increased protein value is $4.37 a ton.

With an alfalfa crop of some 30,000,000 tons a year, the country would experience quite a saving, in that legume alone.

WAPPING

Mrs. William D. Woodward and her brother, Amos T. Gray, of Staffordville, moved to 121 Hollister street, Manchester, Tuesday. Mr. Woodward, who has been for five weeks a patient at the Stafford Springs hospital, hopes to be able to come to Manchester next week. Rev. and Mrs. Woodward are the parents of Rev. Truman H. Woodward, of this village. The senior Mr. Woodward retired from the active ministry last month.

Miss Harriett Sharp has been ill at her home for the past few days. Harry Files, Jr., spent the weekend at the home of his parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene House of Warehouse Point, were guests at the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Frank House on Saturday and Sunday.

The High School class of girls of the Federated Sunday School were entertained at the home of Miss Harriett Sharp Thursday evening.

The average attendance of the Wapping Federated Sunday school for the past four months has been for January $3, February $1, March $6 and April $108. The attendance for last Sunday, May 1 was 121.

East Central Pomona Grange, No. 3 P. of H. will meet with Hillstown Grange in Odd Fellows Hall, Main street, East Hartford, (instead of at Hillstown Grange Hall) on Wednesday, May 18. The morning session will be called to order at 10:30. Dinner will be served by the members of Hillstown Grange. The afternoon session will be called to order at 2 o'clock, standard time. It was necessary to change the meeting place from Hillstown Hall, to Odd Fellows Hall, as the Grange Hall at Hillstown is not large enough to entertain the number of members of Pomona Grange who will attend the meeting.

The Federated Workers will hold their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Alice Smith on next Friday afternoon, May 6, and Mrs. Alexander Burger will assist Mrs. Smith as hostess.

The Pleasant Valley Club will meet at the home of Mrs. George Moulton on Wednesday afternoon and Mrs. Erwin L. Furrey will assist Mrs. Moulton as hostess.

WEAK HITTING AND FIELDING TOO MUCH FOR JERRY HOLMES

He Pitches Good Ball But West Hartford High Defeats S. M. H. S. Nine In Opener By 6 to 2 Score.

By Staff Correspondent

Weak hitting and erratic fielding behind the pitching of Jerry Holmes, enabled West Hartford High's crack baseball nine to win its third straight game yesterday in West Hartford at the expense of the local high school. The score, after the dust had been cleared from the wind-swept field, was six to two. Manchester at times showed signs of the makings of a good combination but for the most part played mediocre ball. Nine errors were committed by the slick city athletes.

Jerry Holmes, stocky right-hander, twirled a steady game for the losers and although hit a few times in the pinches, nevertheless, showed much promise. He should prove a big help to Coach Tommy Kelley before many more games. His control was well kept perfect, only one batter working him for a free ticket. His support, however, sagged when it was needed most. Jerry caused seven of the West Hartford batters to drop their bats on strikes. This is quite a feat, considering the fact that West Hartford is rated as the hardest hitting team in the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League. It has already racked defeats on Meriden High and Bulkeley High of Hartford.

Manchester found Collier a mystery in the pinches and as a consequence fell at the wayside on several occasions when men waited anxiously on the bases for the necessary password to enable them to complete the circuit. Each team's men were left on the sacks. Manchester secured one of its two runs and the winners three of their six.

West Hartford also took advantage of Nino Boggin's late pegs to second. In eight attempts he was successful no less than seven times. Nino pegged swiftly but a trifle too late in each instance. Practice, however, will probably remedy this fault.

West Hartford scored a couple of unexpected runs in the second inning on a very unusual play. With one out and a man on first, Carey singled to left. The runner went to third on the hit and it was naturally to be expected that the batter would let the next pitch go by in order that the man on first might go to second. Holmes thought likewise, so he grooved his first pitch. Collier crossed even his own coach by driving out a long fly that sailed to the outfield in center field for a three base hit. Winkler's single to center, an error, a fielder's choice and a wild pitch, brought over the first Manchester run in the fourth and the other run came in the sixth when Bernie Dowd walked, took second on a wild pitch, and scored on Winkler's second single, a sharp drive to left.

Manchester's next game will be with Bristol High Saturday afternoon at the Memorial stadium.

Tunney Says He Would Rather Meet Delaney

Here's Gene Tunney and the four most prominent challengers to his crown. The heavyweight champion considers Jim Maloney, Jack Dempsey, Jack Delaney and Jack Sharkey, reading left to right, as the men from whom will come his next opponent. Of the lot, he says he would rather meet Delaney.

By JIMMY POWERS.

New York, May 5.—When someone writes a nice story about Gene Tunney—that's news, to reverse the gag about the prince throwing a horse.

Gene arrived in New York, bag and baggage, fresh from a coast to coast vaudeville tour of varying success. His last stop was Cleveland where he boxed an exhibition and departed with the box of some 6,000 customers ringing in his sensitive eardrums.

His return to the home village was not exactly a panic and he encountered himself at an uptown hotel where he boxed the clouting variety. Here is his newest bid for the favor of the fans. It rings with evident sincerity:

"At least I'm not lining my pockets with easy money pushing over sets. There are any number of heavyweights extant who, while they might not draw million-dollar bags, nevertheless, would make it worth a champion's trouble to enter the ring with them.

"I am a 'smart' business man in the sense that I could pick my foe and amass a fortune much quicker than the tedious routine of vaudeville bookings.

"I am a fighter by profession and I would like to fight at least every six months, but I intend to limit myself to one big fight a year.

"Take the current heavyweight elimination tournament. Has it ever occurred to anybody that each time these heavyweights draw down big purses fighting each other, indoors or out, for selection as my opponent next September, that it means a 'business' loss to me?

"I know I can go out and pick a few of the setups in the crowd and make money for myself instead of standing idly by. I would not be risking my crown because of their patent mediocrity. Understand, there are some mighty good men there—but if I wanted to be cagey I could select the setups."

And Tunney is right.

Even the popular idol, Dempsey, was not above picking a clump now and then to fill his wallet with sucker dough. Remember the hysteria over Brennan, Mike and that gorgeous false alarm, Georges Carpentier?

By the time the current crop of contenders get through eliminating each other, at so many thousands dollars per elimination, there is no gaudy prize the last man left will be the BEST heavyweight!

Gene isn't picking his stuffed shirts. And he's not exactly growing filthy with money in the meantime. He ought to get credit for that.

All the "high hat" hokey you hear is bologna soup. Gene is stationed at the Bryan hotel and he's easier to meet than even the genial Dempsey who had inner and outer guards.

"Whom do you rank as best contenders?" I asked him.

"Maloney, Sharkey, Dempsey and Delaney," he replied, "winning his even, white-toothed grin.

"Of the four I'd like best to meet Delaney."

Rickard And Jack Dempsey Are Not Yet In Agreement

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
I. N. S. Sports Editor.

New York, May 5.—After agreeing like a tenor and alto for upward of a week, I understand that Tex Rickard and Jack Dempsey have arrived at a slight misapprehension today relative to the extension of return to affairs of the belt. The difficulty arises simultaneously with Rickard's announcement that he had come to terms with Paulino on the details for the date for July ninth and the place as the Yankee stadium.

In dispensing this item of general interest, Rickard permitted himself to become a bit dubious about the sincerity of Dempsey's proclaimed comeback, merely guaranteeing Paulino that his opponent either would be Dempsey or the Sharkey-Maloney winner.

Rickard seldom tips his mitt but he did that time. He has had a difference of opinion with Dempsey according to my information, and the trouble goes back to monetary matters, as trouble often does and will.

$800,000 Guarantee.

Rickard reached an understanding with Dempsey last week through the medium of a message to the ex-champion, inquiring whether he would be interested in $800,000. It seemed that Dempsey wouldn't be surprised if he was; in fact, he still is and plans to be indefinitely.

The only trouble is that Rickard, they say, has begun to wonder whether he won't be talking about the gate and not Dempsey's and. Anyhow, the word is that he now fears that Paulino, having been taken for a ride by too many sport critics, won't be regarded with sufficient seriousness as Dempsey's opponent and that he, Rickard, will be left holding the old satchel.

Wants to Cut Price.

It is my information that he has communicated that fear to Dempsey; also the inferred suggestion that Jack take a shorter price, with the inevitable result, Dempsey, it is said, came back with an inquiry as to who started the talk about Paulino in the first place.

Dempsey has made no secret the fact that he doesn't think the offer is worthy of his attention; that he has just as well said that if he met the Sharkey-Maloney winner and then went on to Tunney. Seemingly taking it for granted that either Sharkey or Maloney was to be taken in stride.

However, there is too much money in the pot for the boys to miff the situation entirely over a difference of opinion. They will get together, as the fellow said about the muellage and the fly.

Rugged Waterbury Boxer Upsets Dope Al Dowd Triumphs Over Peter Oscina

No Knockouts or Knock-Downs But Last Indoor Card Provides Plenty of Good Scraps; State Middleweight Champion Disqualified.

Johnny Clinch met his master at least for the time being, last night when Rollo Rolland, stocky Waterbury boxer, won a close decision over Peter Oscina, Thompsonville, 126 pounds.

Joe Dignall, Waterbury, easily outpointed Oscar Bergstrom, Springfield, 130 pounds.

Jack Kelley, Waterbury, state amateur middleweight champion, clinched his abatement, Lucian Larivere, Waterbury, were both disqualified in the second round for not fighting.

7 Rollo Rolland, Waterbury, sprung a big surprise by winning a close but well-earned decision over Johnny Clinch of New Britain, 135 pounds.

Clewley champion, from Waterbury, made no attempt to do any real fighting against Lucian Larivere of Waterbury. Both were from the same stable and evidently had it all framed before they entered the ring. Referee Walter Vennart watched the men go through a round of make-believe fighting and then disqualified both early in the second round.

Eugene Gregory of Waterbury won the decision over Joe Brya of Hartford in the first bout of the evening in what proved to be more or less of a comedy affair and amazed the gathering greatly. Brya, a novice at the game, was willing to mix it up freely but his clumsiness was a big handicap to Gregory who found considerable difficulty in piling up much of a lead.

All orders for irregular insertions will be charged at the one-time rate. Special rates for long term every day advertising given upon request.

Ads ordered for three, four or five days will be charged only the actual number of times the ad appears, charging the rate earned, but no allowances or refunds can be made on six time ads stopped after the fifth day.

No "bill forbids" display lines not sold.

The Herald will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for publication. The advertiser or incorrect publication of advertisement or incorrect rectification only cancellation of charge made for the service rendered.

All advertisements must conform in style, copy and typography to regulations of the publishers. Publishers and they reserve the right to edit, revise or reject any copy considered objectionable.

CLOSING HOURS—Classified ads to be published same day must be received by 12 o'clock noon, Saturdays 10:30 a. m.

Telephone Your Want Ads

Ads are accepted over the telephone at the CHARGE RATE given above. As a convenience to advertisers, but as a CASH RATE will be accepted as PULL PAYMENT if paid at the business office on or before the seventh day following the first insertion of each ad, otherwise the non-responsible RATE will be assumed and their accuracy cannot be guaranteed.

NEARLY 2,500 SCHOOL CHILDREN BANK MONEY

Three Quarters of Manchester's Pupils Take Advantage of School Saving System.

Nearly three-quarters of the school children in Manchester contribute weekly to School Savings System, it is revealed in a list of the school standings sent out by the Manchester Trust company. The latest weekly report shows that out of 3,287 pupils in Manchester, 2,386 put money in this bank. This is 72 per cent. and fourth. The system, however, has been in operation much longer in the Eighth and outlying districts than it has in the Ninth school district and the latter has shown a substantial increase of late. Pupils seem more anxious to boost their schools toward the top of the ladder.

One of the most sensational increases of any of the schools has been accomplished by the pupils in the Barnard school which at the beginning of the year was at the bottom of the list with 16.8 per cent. Now it rates eighth and bids fair to go still higher.

The rooms of Miss Reed, Miss Munson, Miss Mahe, Miss Sweeney and Miss McLaughlin all had 100 per cent the last week of school and the others followed in this order, all under 100 per cent: Misses Wilson, McGuffey, Alden, Hawley, Eaton, Shea, Johnson, Clark, Krapowicz, and Kane. Strange to relate, the boys in the eighth grade are saving much more and also more consistently than the girls.

The saving system is not obligatory, it was explained by Miss Elizabeth M. Bennett, principal of the Barnard and Nathan Hale schools. Pupils may give any amount of money they wish starting from a penny. Bank day is Wednesday. The savings are recorded in the names of the pupils.

The standing of the schools in Manchester for the last period was as follows:

Pupils	Dep.	Pc.
Barnard	194	100
S. Main St.	81	100
8th. Dist.	570	82.5
Hollister	258	84.5
Buckland	113	87
Faney	85	70
Bunce	74	55
Barnard	430	89.8
Open Air	18	11
Washington	373	56
Nathan Hale	517	57
Lincoln	265	43
Total	3,287	2,386

7 MILLION MARK

Washington, May 5.—The Red Cross flood relief drive crossed the seven million mark today.

Total contributions tabulated up to ten o'clock this morning were $7,183,548.

The goal is $10,000,000, set by President Coolidge in his proclamation.

Miss Elizabeth Esparm of Malden, Mass., is spending a few days visiting Mrs. Francis Warren of 153 School street.

NOW YOU ASK ONE

SOME NATURE QUESTIONS.

A little knowledge of nature and its ways will help you in the first part of this quiz. The rest of the questions deal with matters of general information. The answers are on another page.

- 1—In the tomb of old King Tut, what flower was found used most often as ornamentation?
- 2—What is the ermine, whose coat yields the fur of royalty?
- 3—What would be considered extreme old age for domestic poultry?
- 4—What bird in ancient mythology was believed to carry the souls of the dying to their abode on Mount Olympus?
- 5—What American city derived its name from an Indian word meaning skunk?
- 6—What middle western city is building a building that, when completed, will be taller than New York's Woolworth building?
- 7—What modern novel, by whom, has taken the famous Chester Gillette murder of 21 years ago as its theme?
- 8—With what big league baseball team does Hubert Prueett play?
- 9—From whom, how and when did the United States acquire the Virgin Islands?
- 10—What is the third largest state in the Union in area?

The thing that keeps most people broke is trying to make other people think they're not broke.

It would be futile to try to interest the flapper in heaven by depicting it as a place of rest.

"Yes, we have a couple of positions open. Do you know anything about figures?"

"I could say I do. Why, I was life saver at Atlantic City for two years."

SENSE and NONSENSE

We used to believe that no man ought to kiss a girl until he is engaged to her. Now we believe that he should at least wait until the paint is dry.

"Ah, new car. How's the pick-up?"

"Haven't had much chance to try it yet. My wife rides with me most of the time."

Mother of Mine
(Mother's Day, May 8th, 1927)
"Mother of mine, through all the changing years—
Time's narrow bridge, that serves to span
The pass 'twixt two eternities—a man
Now grown to full estate, with hopes and fears
And joy and trials such as come to all.
Will ever shrine within his heart
The thought
Of your nobility, true and constant, freight
With helpful deeds and motives pure. How small,
How meager a return can I bestow
For all your loving thoughts, your tender care!
Unselfish ever! As I am I owe
To you, and so, dear, it is my prayer
That peace and joy be yours, and sorrows few.
With loved ones spared to bless and cherish you."

When you're caught, it doesn't help matters to get angry about it.

This week's "pome": He called her Lily, Violet, Rose and every other flower of spring. She said: "I can't be all of those, so you must Liliac everything!"

Rooster: The doctor says if I eat sweets I'll get worms. Now won't that be delightful?

Two negroes were arguing. "You ain't got no sense," said one. "No sense. Den what's dis head o'mine for?"

"Head? Dat's no head, nigger. Dat's jes' a button on top of yo' body to keep yo' backbone from unraveling."

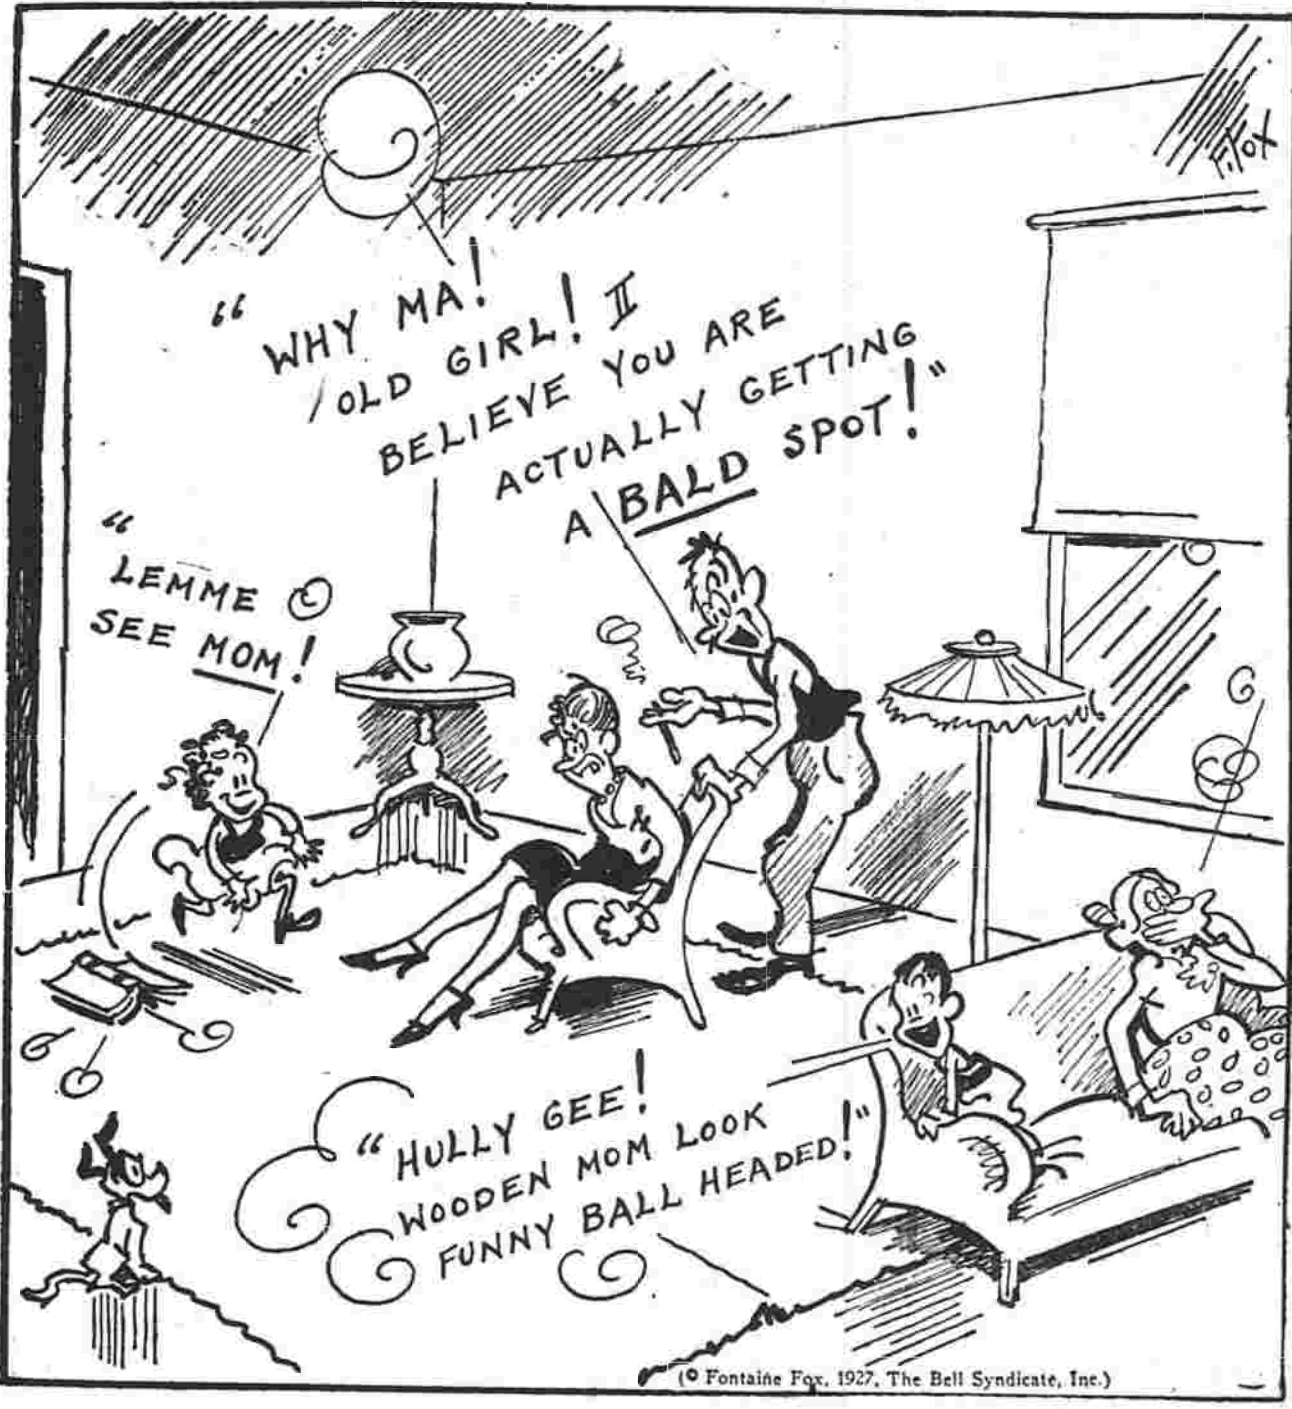

Mother

(Mother's Day, Sunday May 8th)
The red of the rose, the blue of the sky,
The white of the milky way,
The song of the lark in the morning hour,
The dove call at close of day;
The smell of the grass in the meadow,
The Glory of God on the throne,
The ripple of brooks in the mountain,
The love of Christ for his own;
The beauty of light at midnight,
In the star that illumines the sky,
The life of the world in the day time,
That comes from the sun on high;
This melody of glorious charms that dwell
In the sky and air and sea,
God-gathered together with infinite care and gave you dear Mother to me.

THE TINYMITES

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture)

The big graffe then turned around and, with a thumping, thumping sound, ran just as fast as lightning, and was soon far out of sight. "He'll ne'er come back to us, I fear," said Scouty. "But I'm glad we're here. I think when we have looked around we'll like this land all right."

The band began to run and play. Some hills were not so far away, and Clowny said, "Let's go and see what's on the other side. Perhaps we'll find a house just right for us to sleep in over night. Remember that there's nothing gained if nothing's ever tried."

So off they went, at break-neck speed, with funny Clowny in the lead. They ran past crazy looking trees that all grew up-side-down. Said Copy "Say, I think it's grand to be in such a crazy land. I only hope that we can find a really crazy town."

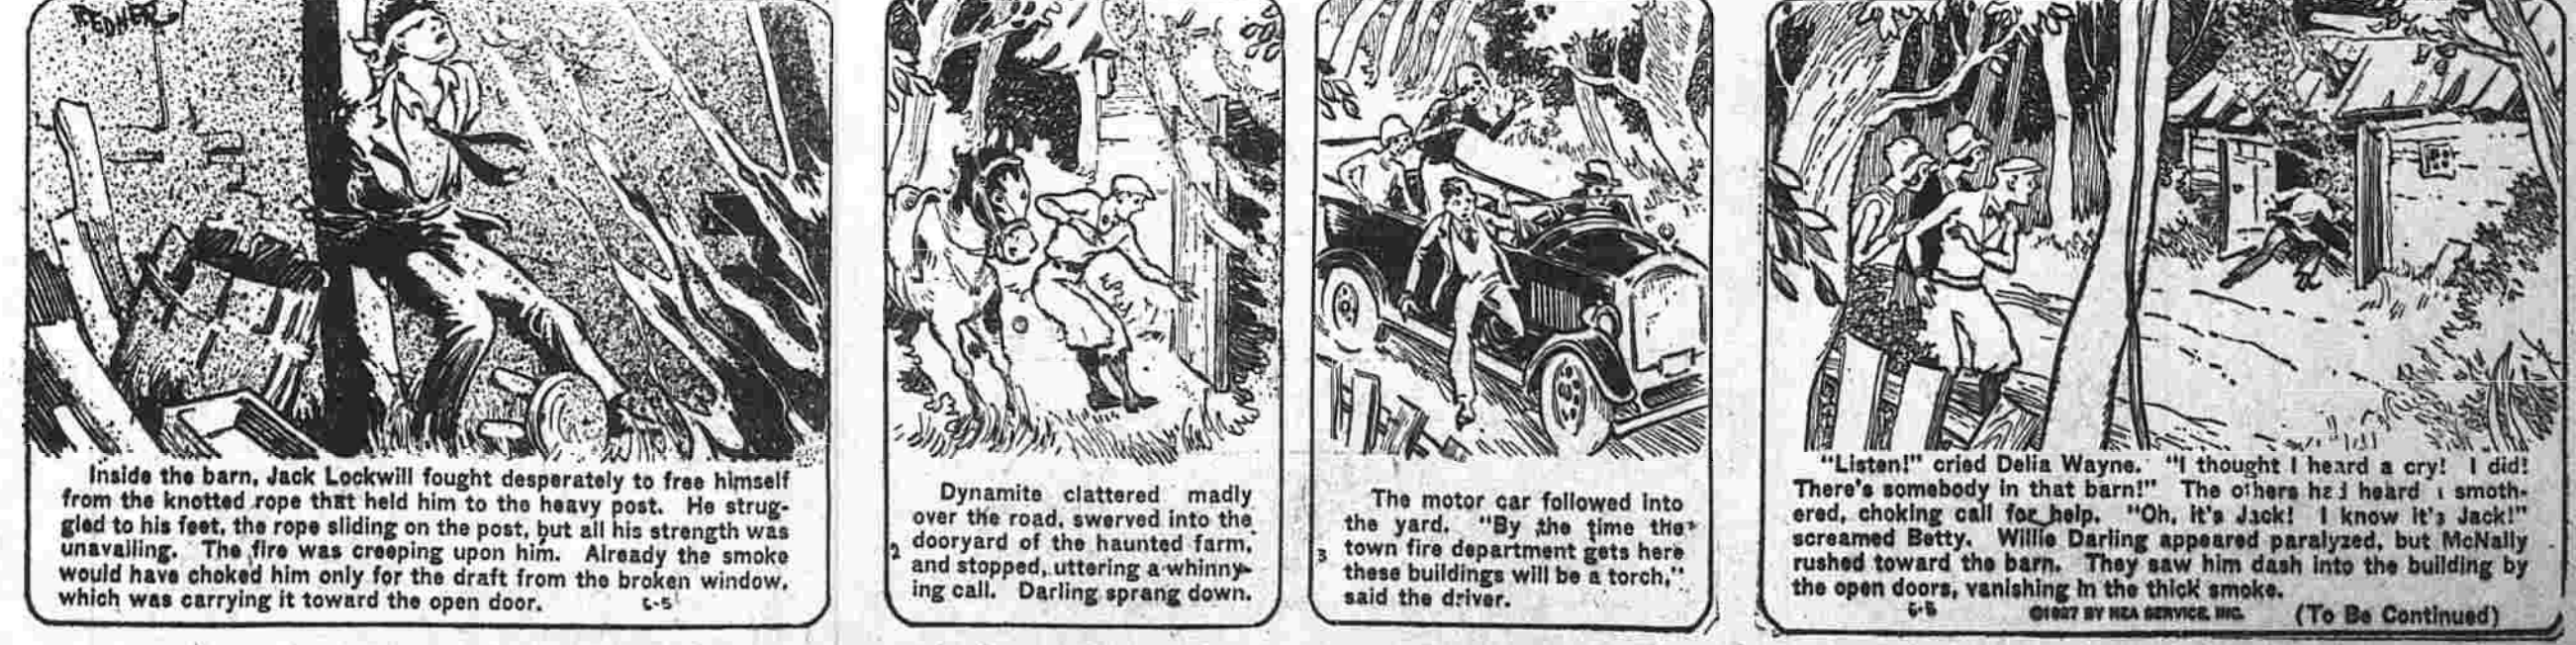

But, when they reached the old hill top, the bunch came to a sudden stop. "Oh, gee, there's nothing over there," said Copy, with a frown. "Just lots of rocks and things like that, so all our hopes have fallen flat. But, now that we have run up here, we might as well run down."

"It was easy running down the hill, but even so, they got their fill and when they reached the bottom they were tired as they could be. Then Copy pointed just ahead, and in a happy voice, he said, "I'm going to see if that's a cave. Come on and follow me."

It was a big cave, sure enough, made out of rocks and brush and stuff. "Oh, goodness," whispered Copy, "what a dandy place to hide. Let's fix it up and take real pains. 'Twill keep us dry when'er it rains." And then he stopped real short, and said, "Who's game to go inside?"
