HOSPITAL DRIVE
OPENS PURSES
ON FIRST DAY
Ready Responses Come as Teams Begin $50,000
Campaign; First Totals to Be Given Tomorrow.

Manchester's hospital drive which, it is hoped, will net the local institution $50,000 by the end of this week, got started today
when the ten teams began canvassing their allotted districts. At two o'clock only five of the ten captains
had been able to glean any information from their workers. Ready responses were reported, however,
and N. B. Richards, drive chairman, is enthusiastic.

The first totals will be announced
tomorrow noon when all team captains must report the results of their first efforts. The first donation to be recorded at drive headquarters
in the Dewey-Richman building was a check for $50 from the Manchester City club.

Four-minute speakers opened the Manchester Memorial hospital drive
last night in local theaters, appealing to the public to give at least a courteous reception to the 100 workers who started their house to house canvass today. Willard B.
Rogers spoke at the State theater,
W. W. Robertson at the Rialto and
C. Elmore Watkins at the Circle theater. All explained the needs of the hospital, asking for the well known Manchester response to the appeal for funds.

This is the first day of the hospital drive. Teams of workers numbering 100 persons began their canvass of Manchester in the interest of the campaign. From now on the results of the canvass will be published daily. Those at the head of the drive are confident that Manchester
will put the total of contributions
well over the $50,000 mark
before the end of the campaign.

Where Money Goes
Interesting statistics were given
today by hospital authorities, showing where the money goes and that the equipment and personnel of the local institution are worthy of the A1 rating, given by the National Hospital Association.

PRETTY PUSSY CAUGHT IN CAN; NOBODY HELPS.
People who had occasion to drive through Talcottville this morning were surprised to see a skunk running about in the open lot nearly opposite the old Smith Talcott place. Those who took the trouble to get near enough saw that the animal had his head caught in a tin can.

CHINESE TRIAL
OFF FOR WEEK
Sick Juror Has Flu—Jurymen to Be Locked Up at the Heublein.

Hartford, May 9.—The Chinese murder trial has gone over for a week and eleven members of the jury are locked up in Hotel Heublein
for that period. Judge Newell
S. Jennings took such action today when physicians reported that W.
W. Hall, of Marlborough, a juror, stricken last week with influenza,
could not report for duty for some days.

Hard to Get Another.
Judge Jennings announced today that he believed it would have been more difficult to obtain a new jury to try the two Chinese accused of slaying a Manchester laundryman, than it was to obtain the original jury. He declared that in his judgment the only thing to do was to lock up the jury. Members of the jury who live in rural districts will be permitted to go home on occasion, always under guard of a deputy sheriff.

Several delays have stood in the way of completing the trial. It was the intention to bring the case to trial on March 29, but Attorney Francis Rohrmeyer, appeared for both sides and asked for a continuance claiming that there was a witness, then in California, that was to be returned east. This request was made only after the court, which is being presided over by Judge Newell Jennings, had refused the motion that it could not be heard in the March term as the case when bound over in Manchester was to the June term. As soon as they were bound over State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn had them arrested on a bench warrant and brought before the March term
which was then in session.

Two witnesses examined.
The state's case was examined and the story of the entire trip of the men was learned.
On Tuesday when the court convened for the examination of witness who had been drawn it was evident that there was going to be trouble in selecting a jury as many claimed that they were opposed to capital punishment, which means death in this state.

Chicago Store Collapses During
Bargain Sale—Few Details
Available.
Chicago, May 9.—Between thirty-five and fifty women were entombled today when a four story
general store building suddenly collapsed during a bargain-day rush.
Cries of the injured filled the air
as police, firemen and volunteers dug into the ruins.

No Word of Captains Nungesser and Coli;
Paris-New York Plane 'Somewhere At Sea'

The sky route of the trans-Atlantic flyers is pictured in this splendid drawing by Artist Kroeson of The Evening Herald from NEA Service. The 3600-mile course skirting Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, Ireland and England is 200 miles shorter than would be a direct flight from New York to Paris—this because the route shown takes advantage of lesser curvature in the earth's surface.

'White Bird' Overdue—According to Schedule
French Flyers Should Have Reached New York
at 1:20 Today—Only Unconfirmed Reports Received; Snow Storm Over Atlantic.

'The White Bird' is overdue.
Captain Nungesser and his comrade Captain Coli, had they adhered rigidly to their schedule in their flight across the Atlantic, would have arrived at the Statue of Liberty today at 1:20 p. m.
At the hour set for their arrival only unconfirmed reports had been received from St. Pierre, Miquelon, and Cape Race, N. S., reporting the sighting of the French plane.
In view of the headwinds which they encountered no surprise will be evinced in aviation circles if the men do not arrive in New York until late in the evening.
Reports from abroad indicate that Paris and London are accepting all reports. One report circulating in Paris announced that Nungesser had reached Boston and a Central News Paris dispatch circulated in London announced the arrival of the French fliers in New York at noon.
Premature reports that Nungesser and Coli had landed safely in New York at noon spread throughout the city this afternoon.
The newspapers prepared to publish extra editions announcing the arrival of the fliers, "according to private advices" from New York.

PIND NO TRACE
Boston, Mass., May 9.—Captains
Charles Nungesser and Francois
Coli and their Paris-to-New York
biplane were "lost" in the silence of the rain-swept Atlantic this afternoon.
Search of the seaboard, from Newport, R. I. to Halifax, N. S. by radio and shore lookout failed to reveal the whereabouts of the trans
Atlantic "White Bird."
Steamships in the various lanes
of the Atlantic had all reported that visibility was only little over a mile and that the Nungesser-Coli plane had not been seen. One ocean greyhound queried seven ships in her vicinity but all reported
"no sign of plane."
A plane reported this morning
over Newfoundland from the land and then off Nova Scotia by the coastguard cutter Modoc was believed to be the "White Bird," but identification was not certain.
Ships reported a snowstorm blowing off Cape Race.

THE START
Paris, May 9.—Captain Nungesser and Captain Coli took off from Le Bourget flying field at approximately 5:17 a. m. Sunday morning, (Paris time). If he had been able to maintain his schedule 100 miles an hour, Nungesser would have been due to arrive in New York at noon today or thereabouts.
While there is great interest in Nungesser's progress, as yet no fears are held as regards the lack of officially confirmed reports
as to his being sighted.
Strong Headwinds.
The one element that has caused some conjecture among aviation experts is the fact that headwinds are reported in the Atlantic which may have reduced the speed of "The White Bird" from 100 miles an hour to 85 or 90 miles an hour, if the flight is held down to this speed there are some doubts whether the gasoline supply will be sufficient to carry Nungesser to New York.
Prior to the departure Nungesser reduced his fuel supply from 4,000 litres to 3,500 litres, feeling that he could afford to lighten his load
by this much because of following winds which have made it possible for the plane to gain two hours flying time during the first 300 miles.
This gain, however, may have been entirely offset by headwinds in the Atlantic, making it extremely doubtful whether Nungesser's fuel supply can last to New York.

PRIVATE REPORT
Mitchell Field, Mineola, N. Y.,
May 9.—Private advices received at the air force headquarters here
this afternoon stated that Captain Nungesser's "White Bird" passed
Boston at 1:30 this afternoon.
REPORTS UNCONFIRMED
Portland, Me., May 9.—A canvas
of the entire Maine coast today failed to reveal the whereabouts of the Nungesser-Coli trans-Atlantic biplane. Rumors that the plane had been sighted at various places, including this city, were found to be untrue.

Lawyers Make Pleas

ing her, but also forcing its terrible wrath on this man.
"The inevitable result followed.
You have seen something of human life and you know the inevitable result."
Gray listened intently, his head bowed.
Millard told the jury if they wanted to see a real picture of "this unfortunate Ruth Snyder," he would read a letter that had been introduced in evidence. He read it:
"Would that I could get lit and put out this blaze which is so much brother to me."
Millard paused. Then solemnly:
"Think, gentlemen, of her writing that to Judd Gray. She used her body to ensnare him."
She brought up the plans to kill her husband when whiskey was getting the better of Gray, said Millard.
She had Gray enslaved, he said,
"controlling him like a human magnet." He reminded the jury that she "had tried to kill her husband
several different times."
This serpent-woman kept suggesting to Judd Gray to help her kill her husband," Millard continued. "At first, she told him he probably would think her 'terrible'
if she told him she wanted to get rid of her husband. He told her 'certainly she was terrible' to do such a thing. She waited but never abandoned her plan."
"Then she got him more and more in her power. She knew that by the sapping of vitality and the constant resort to drink she could make any suggestion an act him to do most anything for her."
"Human Fiend"
"Was a cold, calculating, remorseless, conscienceless, inhuman planning of a human fiend! She finally succeeded."
"She kept at it until she had him
just as dull as one under hypnotic spells. She got his mental condition so sapped that she lured him into a false atmosphere and got him to the point when she merely said: 'I want it so,' and that was enough
for him."

Wallace ended his summation at 1:45 this afternoon when lunch-recess was declared.
Courtroom, Long Island City, N.
Y., May 9.—Dramatic attempts to the jury to save Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray from the electric chair were made by their lawyers today in a court room packed to its capacity with a great throng of men and women from all strata of life.
Pleading with the jury as he would for his "own son," William J. Millard, gray-haired, fatherlylooking attorney for Gray, "solemnly" asked the jury, as he put it,
to find "this poor, human victim
of a woman-serpent's wiles guilty only of manslaughter. This, he told the jury, he sincerely believed
"would meet the ends of justice."
Dana Wallace, nervous, energetic attorney for Mrs. Snyder, followed Millard with an appeal for "justice" for the blonde woman defendant.
"Is it simply a question of whether you believe Mrs. Snyder's confession or Gray's confession," Wallace shouted. "If you believe hers, she should be acquitted. If you believe his, there is an argument for reasonable doubt concerning the truth of his confession. I trust to God that you will see that this woman is given justice."

BREAK IN LEVEES
IS FEARED TODAY

100,000 More Added to the Population of Camps In
the Flooded Districts.
New Orleans, La., May 9.— Churning the wreckage of four weeks disaster in a muddy inland sea, the Mississippi flood swished ominous forebodings of a new disaster today over the levees topping wall shielding west central Louisiana from inundation.
Seven parishes with a total population of more than 200,000, lie beyond the water soaked levees along the southern boundary of Avoynes.

Break Inevitable
A break in the Bayou region is regarded as inevitable by state and federal engineers and hundreds of rescue boats have been concentrated along the southern boundary of Avoynes.
From five to eight feet of water is sweeping down from the Mississippi crevasses north of Natchez. As the Mississippi overflow crushes into the Bayou bulwark from the east,
the Arkansas backwaters converge
from the north to build up the finale of the nation's most devastating flood.

Barrel of Cider
Causes 2 Deaths

Another Dying In Norwalk
Hospital—Barrel Breaks
Gasoline Tank—Sets
Autos Afire.
Norwalk, Conn., May 9.—A barrel of cider was the indirect cause of an automobile tragedy which,
occurring here early Sunday morning, took two lives and probably will cause still another person to die. The dead are Stephen Agocs, 24, of Georgetown; and Paul Igo, 35, temporarily of Noroton. Dying in Norwalk hospital is Labano Gonsabos, 45, also temporarily of Noroton, where he was employed with Simo on a road construction gang.

Cars Burn Up
The three men were riding south
from Georgetown in a small truck carrying a barrel of cider. Frank Ancone, of Georgetown, was driving north. The two cars collided.
The barrel of cider plunged forward as a result of the impact, and broke the gasoline tank. The two cars were destroyed by fire.

Is Dying
Gonsabos had his nose torn from his face. He received other head injuries and was hurt internally. Norwalk hospital this afternoon expected the man to die at any moment. Agocs died from burns and Simo from internal injuries.

Another automobile victim reported by Norwalk hospital as in critical condition this afternoon is Miss Mary E. Griffith, of Southington, president of the Westport League of School Teachers. She was run down yesterday by a car operated by Frank Smith, of Stamford. Smith gave bail of $1,000
pending the outcome of Miss Griffith's condition.

DE PINEDO PLANE
DOWN AT NORWALK

Italian Forced to Drop Into
Sound By Fog—Starts
Wild Rumors.
Norwalk, Conn., May 9.—A plane
supposed to be the "White Bird," arrived from a trans-oceanic flight from France but which ultimately developed to be the DePinedo Italian plane on its flight across the New England states, was forced down in Long Island Sound off Tokeneke today by a heavy fog.

The plane barely averted crashing into a ledge near the shore.
Members of the crew made their way to the shore and telephoned here for means of being towed into the harbor. Then Commander De Pinedo telephoned to New York.

Takes Crew Ashore
Policeman Amos Anderson of the Darlen police force happened to be within a short distance of the water when the plane came down, and he took the crew ashore in a row-boat.
Commander De Pinedo afterward explained that he encountered a fog bank and was forced down. He intended to drop on the land but saw he had a dangerous terrain. Then the commander rose, swung outward, and dropped into the sound.

Commander De Pinedo announced
after coming here, that nothing was wrong with his plane and he would go on as soon as possible.
Speaks for Guest Commander De Pinedo and his crew of two men had lunch this

Same Old Story, Only This Time Fire Gets Into Woods and Gives Trouble.

The School street dump caught on fire again Saturday night and burned for more than three hours before firemen could get it under control.

CHINESE TRIAL OFF FOR WEEK (Continued from Page 1) "No," the court would then have to excuse.

Jury Difficulty. New talesmen were called, but the above questions had a telling effect and then the fact that the first man who did pass the required questions to be on the jury, was under twenty-five years and was excused.

Cost Mounting. Cost of the state in the work so far will go well over $5,000 and it is expected that at least $10,000 will be spent on the trial.

Courtroom Packed. The court room was packed to capacity. Most of the spectators were women, who stood six deep around the walls.

LAWYERS MAKE PLEAS AT THE SNYDER TRIAL

"Did Gray prepare his alibi in the way the criminal prepares an alibi?" Miller asked the jury. "Never!"

Millard recalled the night of the murder in Queens Village, March 19. "When this woman went to a party with her husband that night, she was shamming and planning his death. Isn't that the libellous mind of a fiend?"

Poison in Bottle. Millard reminded the jury that Gray got to the Snyder home at about midnight and that, waiting for him was a sashweight, pliers and a four-ounce bottle of whiskey. "Remember that bottle," said Millard.

Nearby was another quart of whiskey, said Millard. "I sat on the floor. What was in that bottle? It was you what I think. I think the quart bottle counteracted the effect of the poison in the small bottle."

"When Snyder jumped up in the bed and fought, grabbing Gray's necktie and nearly choking him, Gray called, 'Momsie, for God's sake, help me.'" She picked up the sashweight Gray had dropped and she struck Albert Snyder and he never grappled again.

"Gray may have thought he killed Snyder, but the medical examiner testified here not one of those blows had fractured Snyder's skull. Do you remember how Gray showed questions to all the jury how he held the sashweight? Why, a blow as he held it in his shaky hands would not have fractured the man's skull."

Wire Around Neck. "Judd Gray was so totally ignorant of the wire around Snyder's throat that he did not even see it there. And when the wire was found around the throat a gold lead pencil belonging to Gray was with the wire. I will tell you why that was there."

"Do you suppose she was going to take the chance of leaving a surviving witness of her crime to travel around the country? No. She thought that after her husband would be killed, the police would have its effect on Judd Gray and he, too, would pass away. She would have an absolute alibi. There would be no suspicion. He would be there, his pencil used, the court excused $37. Of the 415 that were called the state paid to each man $4 and his travel. The Sheriff fee on each one of these besides the cost of drawing the notices will equal another $4 each or a total of over $200. In addition to this is the cost of witnesses that have been called in and released and experts to pay high money for waiting.

Cost Mounting. Cost of the state in the work so far will go well over $5,000 and it is expected that at least $10,000 will be spent on the trial.

FOR YOU.

When a hospital asks for money there are always persons who shake their heads and say: "Well, I don't know. Seems to me that they could run it a whole lot cheaper."

There is not the least doubt that almost any hospital—absolutely any hospital that is worth while—could be run more cheaply than it is.

They could use bargain day laundry soap instead of the green soap they do use in the everlasting washing of doctors, nurses and attendants' hands—or they could use less of it.

They could use bargain day laundry soap instead of the green soap they do use in the everlasting washing of doctors, nurses and attendants' hands—or they could use less of it.

In short, they could run a hospital on the basis of a cheap boarding house, scrimping here and there, using inferior equipment and methods, putting the pecuniary thought first and the good of the patient afterward.

The one big idea in the conduct of any first class hospital is service, the welfare of the patient. Sometimes it costs more than twice as much to give twice as good as indifferent care to a sick person.

It is unfair, it is untrue to talk about "waste" in connection with hospital work. One does not consider how much the water costs that puts out the fire in his home—yet beyond a doubt a good deal of it is "wasted"—has to be "wasted."

It is unfair, it is untrue to talk about "waste" in connection with hospital work. One does not consider how much the water costs that puts out the fire in his home—yet beyond a doubt a good deal of it is "wasted"—has to be "wasted."

Manchester's memorial hospital is a noble institution, splendidly managed. Its policy is liberal and broad and infinitely humane.

enough to pay its maintenance. It doesn't want to charge nearly enough to pay its own way—for that would be a hardship imposed on those least able to afford it, the stricken patients themselves.

So Memorial hospital goes to the people of Manchester this week asking them to meet the deficit—the difference between what is paid for its service and what that service costs. The sum asked for is large.

It is almost as if a man, or two men, set out to traverse the interplanetary ether—to brave "the winds that blow between the worlds."

It is not given to the ordinary human being to do these "things"; it is not even given to him to understand the spiritual make-up of those who can do them.

How about it—does the Hospital get that day's pay? Tell the team solicitor.

TOO MUCH LUXURY. A 15-year-old New Jersey boy, son of a wealthy business man left home the other day and went out to seek his fortune.

There are very few boys who ever run away from home because the parental roast is too luxuriously padded. Likewise, there are very few of our older ones who would ever take flight from the ease of riches.

Luxury such as great wealth makes possible doesn't hurt a grown person. But, after all, it is hardly the best environment for a growing boy.

Nor is this a problem which need concern only the rich. The rest of us folk of moderate—or less than moderate—means can ponder on it for a while with profit.

So all of us can bear that in mind, even though we aren't rich. Without thinking we try to give our children too much luxury. It is wiser for us to spend our time teaching them how to meet difficulties, not how to avoid them.

WHY EMBARRASSING. Referring to the organization in Hartford of a committee to combat the influence of the Committee in Opposition of the Eighteenth Amendment, and the likelihood of all communities being thus presently divided against themselves, the Meriden Journal expresses the view that pretty soon everybody will have to make his position with relation to prohibition known, "which is very embarrassing."

INCOMPREHENSIBLE. As this is written, the eyes of the world are fastened on the wastes of the Atlantic, watching for those intrepid Frenchmen who, yesterday morning, took off at Paris in an attempt to fly, without stop, to New York.

It is not that they brave death, for countless millions of men and women have done that, splendidly. The stark courage of the transoceanic flier lies in the fortitude with which he contemplates the unspeakable loneliness of the spaces through which he is to pass.

It is almost as if a man, or two men, set out to traverse the interplanetary ether—to brave "the winds that blow between the worlds."

It is not given to the ordinary human being to do these "things"; it is not even given to him to understand the spiritual make-up of those who can do them.

From too much love of living, From hope and fear set free, We think with brief thanksgiving Whatever gods may be, That no life lives forever;

Then star nor sun shall waken, Nor any change of light; Nor sound of waters shaken; Nor any sound or sight; Nor wintry leaves for vernal; Nor days nor things diurnal; Only the sleep eternal.

NO. 7—GETTING VISITORS This is the seventh of a series of articles telling how American cities are solving their problems. Succeeding articles will appear daily on this page.

By DON E. MOWRY Secretary, The American Community Advertising Association

The old saw about how the world treats a beaten path to the door of the man who makes the best mouse-trap is probably all very true, but it never hurts for the man to do a little advertising to let 'em know his invention.

IN NEW YORK New York, May 9.—The poor little rich folk who dwell in those eminently exclusive apartment hotels on Fifth Avenue and Park Avenue are now denied even the slender comfort of eating a home-cooked meal.

Boozed breakfasts will soon become more than an alliterative phrase in the three-hundred-million dollar worth of buildings in Manhattan's most fashionable district.

Yet their presence, under the Manhattan laws, puts the highest priced places in all New York in the class of tenements and makes them liable to the same regulations of the meanest east side fire trap.

Broadway boasts about as peculiar an assortment of odd jobs as may be found anywhere off the carnival ground. In fact, there are many points of similarity between the "main racket" and the traveling tent shows.

Now, concerning the curious means of employment; there are those fellows who stand at a window hour upon hour pointing to objects therein in order to attract the attention of others.

Many a man who declares his opinion has none.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington, May 9.—The old army game of peacetime preparedness is saving innumerable refugees from death by drowning or exposure in the great Mississippi flood area.

The army has thrown in everything from steamboats and generals to tent pegs and mess cooks. Its donations of supplies run into the millions. Its officers in flood sections have constantly been reporting conditions and need for supplies to their commanding generals and the War Department.

Barge Line Also Helps. The Inland Waterways Corporation is also on the job. It is directly under the War Department and General T. Q. Ashburn, operating 137 boats on the lower Mississippi.

Along with the tents went proportionate supplies of planes, coats, stoves, blankets, raincoats, sandbags, vaccine and rolling kitchens.

Other military personnel on the job includes a few troops, national guardsmen from all affected states and a large contingent of army cooks.

Small incidents of human interest and drama develop as the army goes on with its important humane work.

"IT" PLAYS AGAIN AT RIALTO THEATER

"It" Elinor Glyn's fascinating cinematic revelation of Miss 1927, with Clara Bow and Antonia Moreno as the stars, will be shown at the Rialto for the last time this evening. The program will be presented at 7 and 9 o'clock at popular prices of 19 and 20 cents and there will be other attractions in conjunction, including an added feature play, "An Arizona Whirlwind" and the Fox News and a two reel comedy.

Two exceptional screen plays are promised by the Rialto for tomorrow and Wednesday. Heading the program is "The Night Owl," with Reed Howes and an all star cast. Here is a story of Broadway and its life beneath the lights—a truly great picture with all the glamor of the "Roaring Forties."

The co-feature is also of exceptional merit, for it offers three of the screen's best stars Wallace McDonald, Eva Novak and Earle Williams in a stupendous and sensational melodrama, "Red Signals." Here is a production that has enough action, thrills, suspense and mystery for three ordinary screen attractions.

And in addition to these two features, each of which are worth the price of admission, the Rialto offers additional screen features such as a two reel comedy and late pictorials.

ADAPTS NEW BRACE FOR TROLLEY POLES

A pole mount, or brace for wire-bearing poles, has been placed at the base of one of the Connecticut company poles at the Center as a sample of similar braces which are expected to be installed on the south side of Center street from the Center to Cooper street in the future.

The brace, which is of cast metal, is in two pieces, one on each side of the pole, both pieces bound together with three heavy bolts. It is located at the base of the pole. When they are installed permanently the braces will be bolted to concrete piers sunk six feet in the ground.

The one at the Center is located on a pole east of the police station. It has not yet been anchored.

The regular meeting of Campbell Council, K. of C. will be held this evening at 8:30. The members of the lodge will discuss prominent speakers they plan to bring to a meeting in the near future.

FLOOD OF FLOWERS FOR MOTHERS' DAY

Florists Shops Emptied as Demand Exceeds That of Easter.

"Mother's Day is becoming a much bigger day than Easter, at least as far as we are concerned," said John G. Pentland, of the Park Hill Flower Shop today. "We do a rushing business at Easter but Mother's Day has become a much busier time."

"I have no doubt that at least 15,000 carnations and 15,000 roses were sold in Manchester for Mother's Day. This does not include a great number of plants. It was impossible to supply enough carnations. We sold out practically all of our stock by 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, patrons coming in from early Friday night until late last night."

The flower shops spoke for themselves today, practically all of them being almost barren. Nearly fifty telegrams were received in Manchester, sending best wishes and ordering flowers and at least as many flowers were telegraphed out of town. Some of the distant points where telegrams were received from and sent to were California, Florida, the Dakotas and Canada.

Churches in Manchester were also well attended yesterday, all the pastors speaking on a subject appropriate to the occasion.

Mother's Day services at the Salvation Army were conducted by Mrs. Lieut-Colonel Hodges of New York City. In the afternoon the band gave a greatly enjoyed concert at Memorial hospital. The service in the citadel at 3 o'clock was entitled "Tributes to Mother" and a program of singing and readings was given by the young people under the direction of Mrs. William Addy. Mrs. Hodges gave the address. She told how her mother in England was left a widow with a family of six children, five girls and one blind boy, and not only did her mother raise the family but did her duty as a soldier of the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Hodges was assisted in the services by Mrs. Major Bates, Mrs. Field-Major Bartlett, Mrs. Adjutant Pickering who took part in the days program.

PLAN "GYPSY FETE" AT NORTH END CHURCH

Gypsy Music, Gypsy Fortune Tellers, to Feature Indoor Affair May 18.

The Gypsies will get you if you don't look out!

It has been many years since a band of gypsies has encamped in town, but long ago they were wont to do so annually, locating on the south side of the wide highway at the top of the hill east of Manchester Green. Crowds of people came to interview these curious people. Announcement is made today that a band will encamp in the vestry of the Second Congregational church at 7:30 on Wednesday evening, May 18. They will not be the crafty, horse-trading migrants, who were said to kidnap little children and pillage neighborhoods, but the harmless "home-grown" variety, they being, in fact, our own friends and neighbors, who will entertain at a "Gypsy Fete" held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the church. They will sell at booths, fancy aprons, decorated pillow cases and other household articles and from baskets, candy, fruit and popcorn. One group will manage the food "shoppe" where one may rest and eat, or purchase to carry home.

Of course a fortune teller travels with all bands of gypsies but with this one there will be the added attraction of a famous Hindu snake charmer, for the amusement of the children.

A varied program will be rendered at 8:30, which will complete a unique and novel evening's entertainment which will be held to raise funds to finance the church calendars.

HE DISILLUSIONED AMERICA!

A LITTLE more than 100 years ago a young Connecticut Yankee was completely duped.

Disillusioned he stood and surveyed with disappointed gaze the property that his practical joking grandfather had boasted was to be his heritage—Ivy Island—a bog full of snakes.

That young Yankee was Phineas T. Barnum. Disillusioned, he was the boy who a score of years later was to dazzle and disillusion America.

He was the man whose "woolly horse" was to become a tradition in circus exploitation.

It was he who was to capture and dangle before the eager eyes of a gullible New York the famed and fabulous Fejee mermaid.

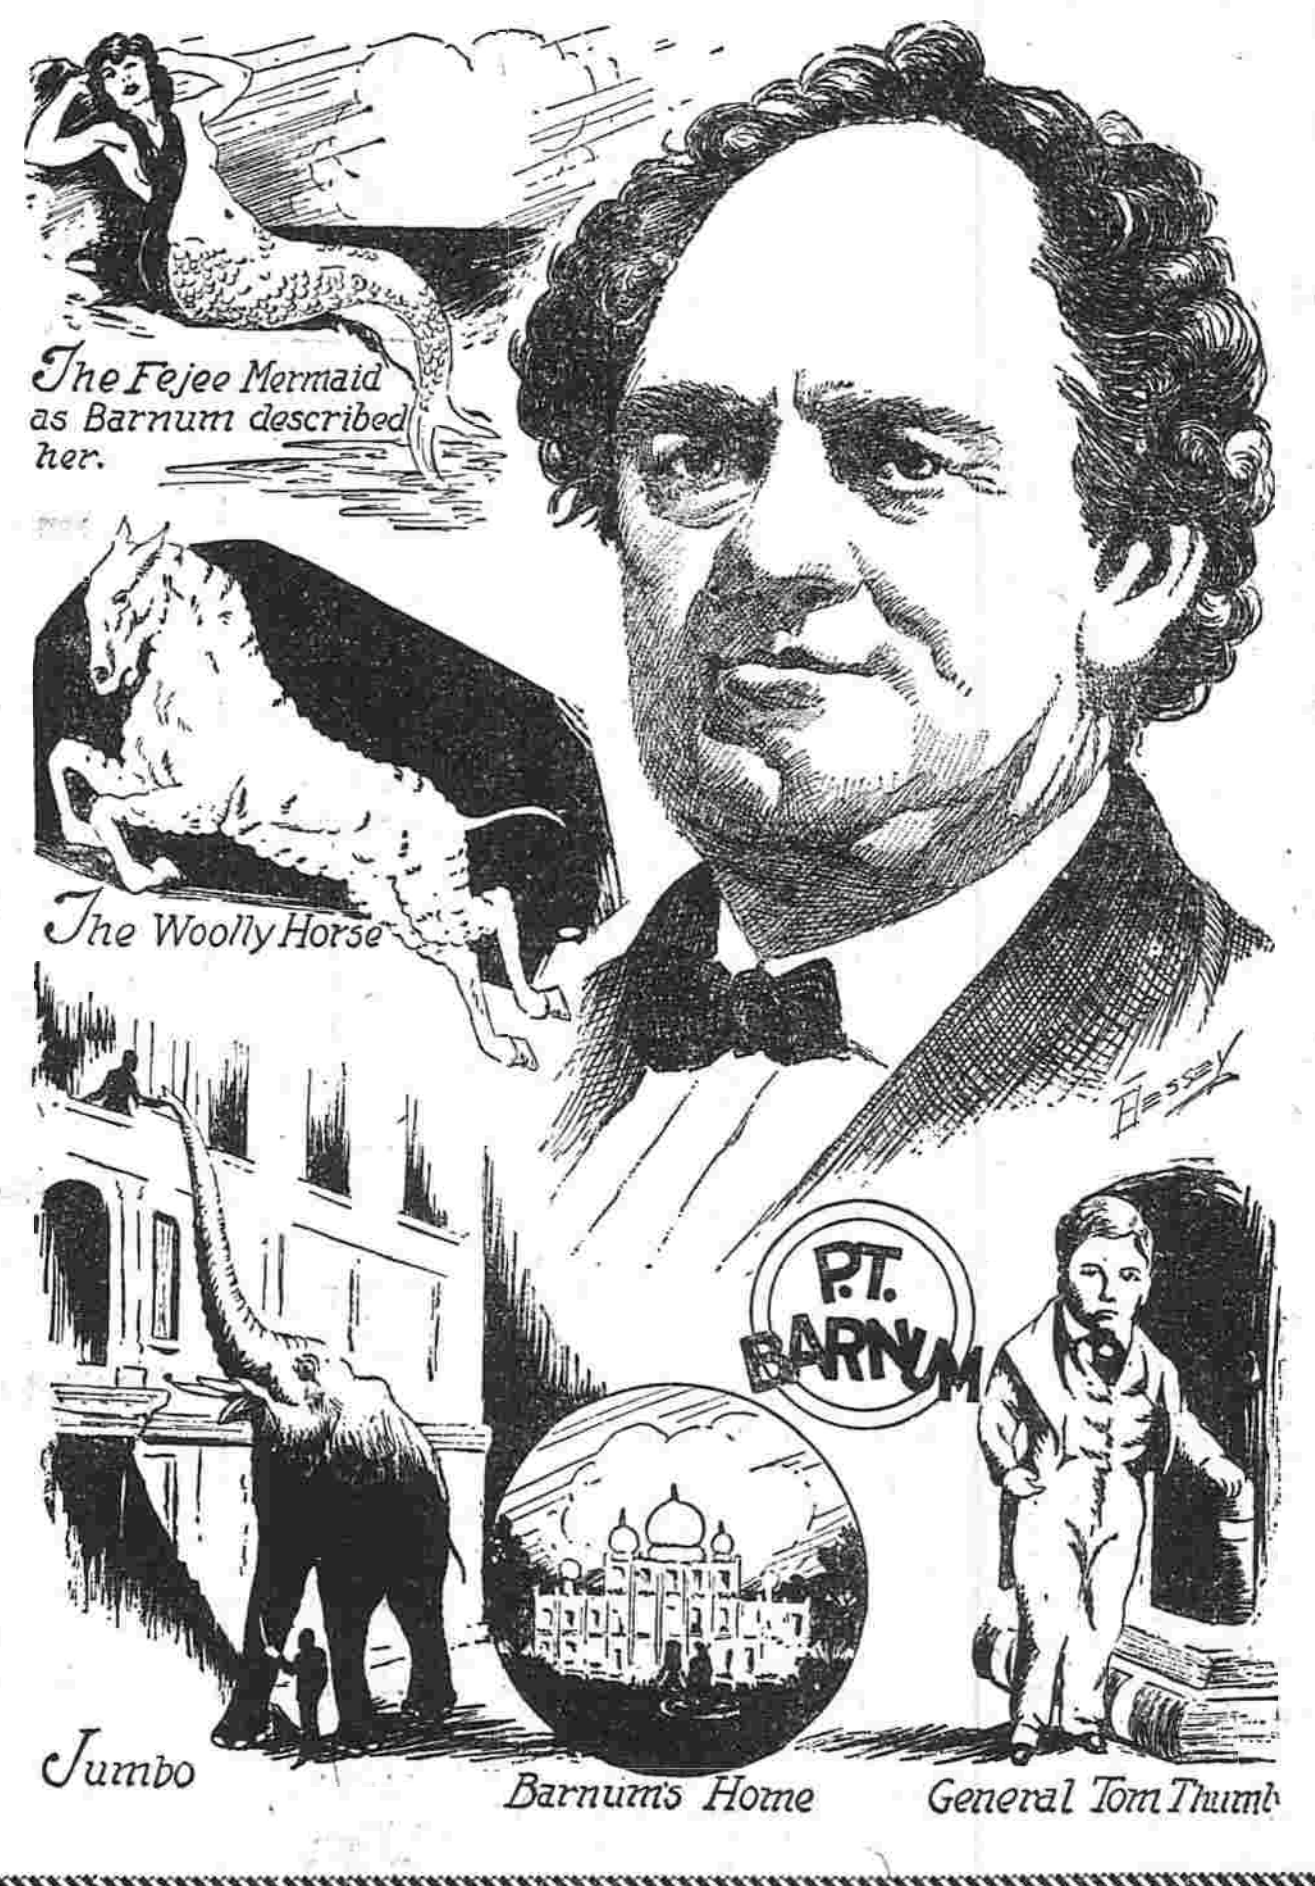

Jo-Jo, the dog-faced boy, was his, and Jumbo, the "synonym for all that is stupendous."

Catering to a country's curiosity he was to set the continent agape—with a whole lot of press-agency and very little freak.

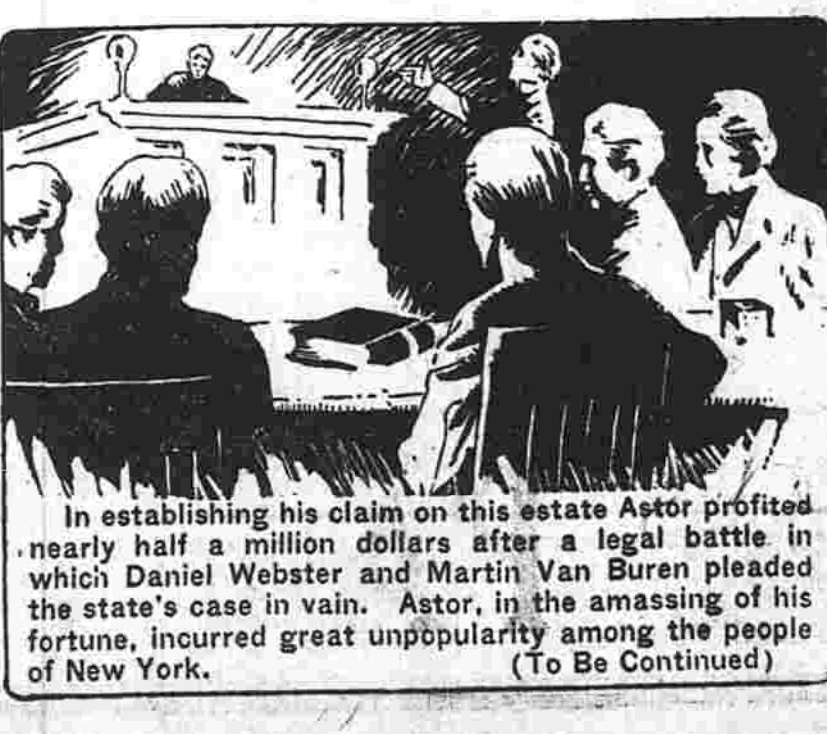

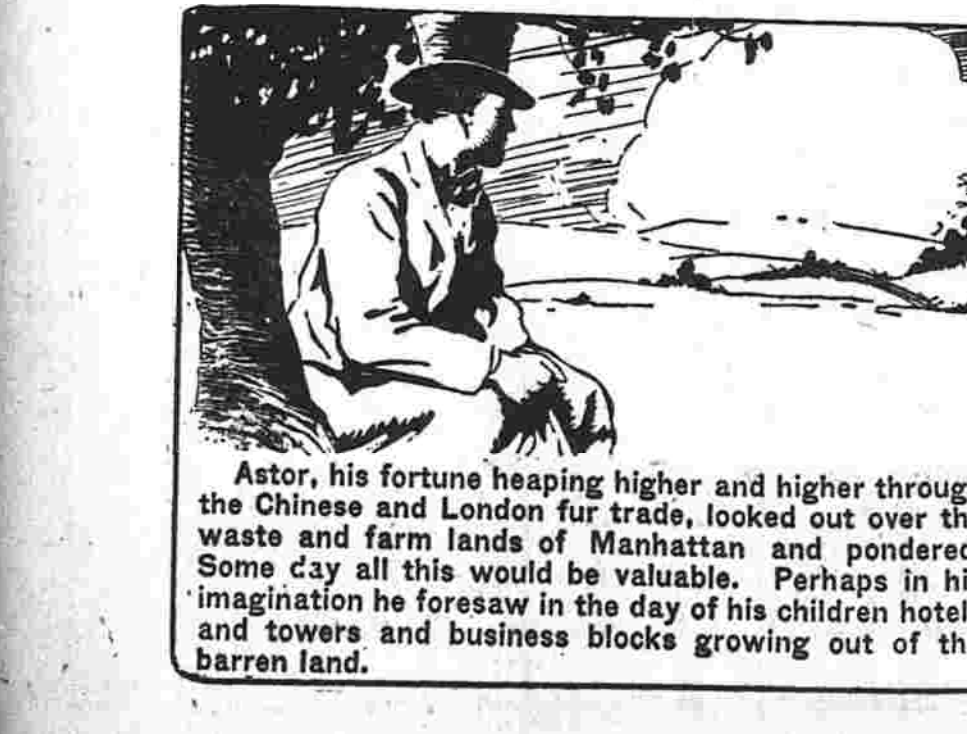

The story of America's upbringing would not be complete without a chapter on the originator of the famous phrase, "There's one born every minute."

Barnum, the jester, the prankster, the barker! The man who set for the world a style of showmanship. The great-granddaddy of hullabaloo!

Read the amazing story of his life. It is a part of "the Romance of America," the illustrated story of the men and deeds that have gone into America's making, which appears in The Herald. The story begins Wednesday, May 11th. Don't Miss It!

OBSERVES SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Between 80 and 100 friends and relatives helped Mr. and Mrs. Frederick LaChapelle of 72 Oakland street celebrate the 25th anniversary of their wedding yesterday. The party was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. LaChapelle guests being present from this town, Hartford and Rockville. An enjoyable day was spent, games and music being enjoyed. Music was furnished by a five piece orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. LaChapelle received a number of silver pieces as well as silverware and cutglass from their guests.

Dempsey's eyesight is failing him, according to report. Well, he'd have to be blind to miss that gold bridge work in Paolino's mug.

A half million dollars, it seems, will wipe out a multitude of chins.

What a "back" trail is well beaten, brethren. They all come back—but not far.

COVENTRY

Mrs. Edgar Storrs and Mary Storrs of Springfield were Sunday guests at Mrs. Storrs's son, Gilbert H. Storrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hall and family of East Hartford were weekend guests with Mr. Hall's mother, Mrs. Flora Hall.

Vincent Ingraham of Hartford spent the week-end at Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson.

Rev. Edward Ayres of Branford preached the "Mothers' Sermon" yesterday morning. There was special music by the choir. After the morning service the dedication of the community pulpit in memory of Miss Leona Bradford took place. The church was asked to hold this service at 12 o'clock, standard time. At the same hour seven others were being dedicated at Enfield, Granby, Groveland, Plymouth, Seltuate, Tyngsboro, Mass., and Danby, Vermont, all of which were churches where Miss Bradford had attended. The reason for the dedication taking place on Mothers' Sunday was because it was the nearest Sunday to Miss Bradford's birthday, same being May 9. The audience at the morning service were asked to stand around the community pulpit while all united in singing "America the Beautiful." Scripture passages, Matthew 5:14, 15, 16 were read by the pastor, Rev. J. N. Atwood, followed by these remarks from M. F. Blanchard, who presented the pulpit to the church. "The community pulpit ministers to the multitudes of our fellowmen by a dignified and effective outdoor bulletin service of every day and every hour, preaching to everybody as they pass. This pulpit is named for Miss Leona M. Bradford. Her life is her own best memorial and this expression is but one appreciation for her helpfulness and inspiration. Her thoughtfulness, kindness and high faith were so beautiful. In the words of dear friend, she was a ministering angel, all unawares, loved by all who knew her.

"We hope the ministry of this memorial Community pulpit will be far reaching in winning many to the Christian life. At this same hour the same kind of a memorial to Miss Bradford is being dedicated in seven other towns." The memorial was unveiled by two children.

The entire congregation repeated after the pastor this pledge:

"We dedicate this Memorial Community pulpit to the strengthening and brightening of human life, to the feeding of the multitudes, who pass our way and to a better community life here and elsewhere. In the spirit of Jesus, Amen. We pledge an active and allegiance to society, and to the fuller neighborliness to which it calls, one community indivisible, with welfare and co-operation for all and by all." Prayer chaplain of the Senate followed with the Lord's prayer in unison. Benediction by Rev. J. N. Atwood.

This pulpit will have the scripture verse changed every Saturday morning according to the wishes of Mr. Blanchard.

FLOWERS FOR MOTHERS AT HOSPITAL, HIS GIFT.

C. R. Burr's love of flowers prompted him to do an unusually thoughtful deed yesterday. Mothers' Day.

On Saturday he telephoned John G. Pentland of the Park Hill Flower Shop, and asked him to ascertain how many mothers were at the Memorial hospital. He ordered a bouquet of roses for every mother at the institution on Mothers' Day.

INSURANCE RESEARCH DONE BY LOCAL MAN

George W. Quinn Completing Thesis on "Group Insurance" at Wharton School, U. of P.

George W. Quinn, of 20 Henry street, has completed a study on "Group Insurance," for the Research Department of the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania. Quinn, who is the son of William M. Quinn, and a brother-in-law of Charles J. McCann, is engaged in the final writing of his thesis which is a requirement for graduation from the Wharton school, each member of the senior class being obliged to do a piece of original business research before receiving his diploma.

The senior research is one of the most important phases of the Wharton school curriculum and marks a definite attempt to give the graduating students a taste of practical business problems. This year over 500 students carried on research, 70 per cent of whom were engaged in field work. Over 206 manufacturing and business establishments co-operated with the Wharton school by opening their plants to the students. Many of these have availed themselves of the results of the studies to improve their method and equipment, and each year increasing numbers of concerns are asking for Wharton research students in connection with one or another of their difficulties. In addition to research, business institutions, studies have been made for the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia and various state and municipal bodies.

The average time spent on research of the type which Quinn is doing is eight hours a week over a six-month period. Studies are made with the supervision of faculty members and the heads of business concerns, thus insuring a practical approach to the problem. Senior research has been so successful in the past that this year the Wharton school is establishing a special research library for the use of students engaged in research activities.

Quinn is a graduate of the Hartford High school.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the North Methodist church will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Community club and not at the church as was announced Saturday.

SCIENCE MUST BE SURE

Science must be sure. In these days of fast developments there must be found and truly found the cause of the illness. No longer the timing of the pulse, the counting of the heart beat, as in the old days, but blood tests must be taken. There is no fooling the microscope. It shows all and when a peek through the top develops different indications, it tells the truth and from this the doctor in charge is sure of the steps necessary. Such is the case in the Manchester Memorial Hospital.

It is not far back to the days of the Prussian profession of physics, Wilhelm K. Rontgen, accidentally discovered the X-ray, not known just what it was, called it X-Ray. He had no idea what it meant nor what it could do, but today its equipment has become part of every hospital. But the discovery was not all. The use of the X-Ray while not affecting the patients, the constant use by the doctors did and ulcer after ulcer formed upon the forearms and hands. They understood and many who have given their life to bring it to the proper use before it was found that let alone would not be penetrated.

The changes have become rapid in both of these branches and it is for the additional and restoration of these equipments that the $6,000 is needed.

THOUSANDS OF FLOOD REFUGEES REACH VICKSBURG.

The pictures above show refugees from Greenville, Leland, Arkansas City and other flooded Mississippi valley towns reaching Vicksburg. Above is a river steamer towing a barge literally jammed with people. Nearly a thousand refugees are on the barge. A large group of the homeless are shown crowded on the landing at Vicksburg, waiting for relief workers to care for them. At the lower right is a striking picture showing the height of the river at flood stage along the concrete river wall at Vicksburg. It makes it appear that the steamboat is on dry land. A break in the gate shown in the center would mean a disastrous flood for the wholesale district of this city.

Billy Evans Says

TUNNEY'S TITLE CONTENDERS.

Will Jim Maloney or Jack Sharkey get a chance at Gene Tunney's crown? These two Boston heavyweights are now rated among the leading contenders for the heavyweight championship.

Umiring in Boston while the national amateur ring championships were being staged, I made it a point to take in the battles between the simon-pures and saw some great miling. Around the ringside I bumped into many of the leading fistic characters in New England. This section, by the way, has always been noted for the classy ringmen it turns out.

"In two meetings between them Sharkey has had a decided edge. He recalls it with a boast, while Maloney also seems to remember it rather vividly. 'Sharkey thinks he is the greatest fighter in the world, Maloney is a much better fighter than he really thinks he is. It has taken much persuasive talk on the part of Maloney's manager to impress it on him.'"

Those not in a position to see where the full force of the blow landed thought Roberts was taking a dive, yet he was badly hurt. POLITICAL DIET. Stamford, May 9.—Frank J. O'Hara, 47, former Democratic politician in the Second Ward, died today from pneumonia which developed suddenly on Saturday afternoon. O'Hara leaves nine daughters.

How's She Hitting?

The car has to be cranked for starting. The lights burn out mysteriously. The ammeter doesn't seem to be working. Something's gone askew, obviously, in the ignition system. But the battery registers full charge. The engine works smoothly once it's started. So there's nothing wrong with the distributor, nor the generator.

The fault must lie somewhere between the generator and battery. In fact, it does. A sure sign is the rapid extinction of good headlight or other bulbs. This shows a closed circuit between the generator and the lights, but one that takes all the juice from this part of the system, instead of only part of it.

Ordinarily the generator supplies power to the battery, while the engine is running, keeping the source of the ignition system fully charged. But when the battery refuses to hudge, and the lights seem to take all the generator's juice by burning out so quickly, there is a sure sign of a broken circuit between the generator and battery.

These must be cleaned and re-tightened. That needn't be a loose wire in this part of the system. It may be a broken terminal on the battery, or one so covered with corrosion that it can't work. The battery terminal of the generator, also, may be so covered with oil or grease as to be rendered useless.

A cracked or broken battery terminal may be discovered by jerking it back and forth. It must be tight. If loose, the battery needs repair. A cracked or broken terminal is caused by careless disconnection of the battery wires. Sometimes an irresponsible garage mechanic will disconnect the terminal by jerking and pulling, until it comes off, when he should use a simple instrument called a puller, designed for this purpose.

AND THE GIRL AT THE WHEEL TODAY

An Ex-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE

"Trench of the Bayonets," near Fort Duomo. Hundreds of pollus were buried here by a bomb, but their bayonets show above the ground.

This is the 26th chapter in the story of a former doughboy who is revisiting France as an advance guard of the "Second A. E. F."

CHAPTER XXVI Verduin has always been a key city. Today it is the starting point of all tours into the Argonne.

The French are erecting a new monument here in which they will place the bodies of seven unknown soldiers.

Where French held. Regardless of the urge one may feel to plunge into the Argonne where America's greatest battle was fought.

Vaux is a wreck of masonry. Two soldiers, with little iron torches, act as guides. You may see, in the underground passages, where the defenders lived and where the carrier pigeons were kept.

For miles around the hills are churned by shell-fire. All the way over to Fort Duomo. There a new "ossuare" is under construction.

It stands near the "Trench of the Bayonets" in which several hundred pollus were buried by a bomb.

Tomorrow—in the Argonne.

"FRISCO SALLY LEVY" AT STATE TOMORROW

Sally O'Neill in Leading Role Of Funny Comedy—Eddie Cantor Leaves Tonight.

Sally O'Neill, that black-eyed Irish vixen, makes her second appearance at the State theater within a week when she is seen in "Frisco Sally Levy," the feature at the big theater on Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Frisco Sally Levy," Sally O'Neill's most vivid triumph since "Mike," is the latest idea in Jewish-Irish screen stories.

That hilarious comedy, "Special Delivery," with the famous Eddie Cantor in the leading role, is showing for the last time at the State tonight.

In love with the waitress of the Dutch Lunch, who is none other than Jobyna Ralston, Cantor surprises everybody and himself by capturing the notorious Blackie Morgan after the latter had handed him out a sock in the jaw.

In one part of the picture Cantor gives a perfect of his famous Black Bottom dance.

ATHLETE HALL IS WITH THE BIG FLEET

Former Local Marathoner and Church Worker Pays Flying Visit to Old Home Here.

Leonard Hall, former Manchester track athlete, who has been living in California for the past four years, was a visitor at the home of his brother, William Hall of Orchard street, yesterday.

Mr. Hall is now with the United States fleet in New York harbor and is in charge of the Y. M. C. A. Army and Navy entertainment department and puts on all entertainments for the sailors of the fleet.

He goes on Friday to Boston with a section of the fleet, from there to Philadelphia and other eastern seaports, and will be back at his home in San Diego on June 3.

While living in Manchester Mr. Hall was one of the town's most prominent athletes, participating in the annual marathon from Wethersfield to Hartford, which a Manchester team won two years in succession.

A farewell party was given in honor of Mrs. Margaret Adams at the home of Mrs. Ruth Greenaway of Center street Friday night.

Mrs. Adams has made a host of friends since coming to town and Friday night 25 of them sat down to the supper at Mrs. Greenaway's home.

Mrs. Adams received a beautiful string of pearls as well as a friendship ring as a reminder of the occasion, the presentation being made by Thomas Smith of Lake street.

Many a seemingly successful man owes it all to his wife's father.

THREE NEW SCHOOL RECORDS ARE MADE WITH NEW BRITAIN

But Hardware City Athletes Win From S. M. H. S. 54 1-2 to 49 1-2; Relay Race Decides Meet.

Three scant yards separated Manchester from winning the relay race and also enabled New Britain High, by virtue of that victory, to carry home the track and field meet Saturday afternoon at the West Side Playgrounds. Manchester High was defeated 54 1-2 to 49 1-2. Prior to the relay race, the two schools were practically deadlocked. A large crowd watched the 50 odd athletes show their wares.

Three records set by S. M. H. S. athletes since the revival of track in 1921 were shattered by Coach "Fete" Wigren's charges "Butch" Kittel had the honor of breaking two of the records, the shot-put and discus throw. "Little Joe" McCluskey broke the mile record.

Coach Wigren was well pleased with the way his new material placed in the various events. Spencer, Hayes, Scarlotta, Johnson, Olson, Cervini and Tomlinson, all scoring points for Manchester. New Britain was benefited by the fact that its baseball team was not playing Saturday else it would have been minus the services of several of the athletes who scored points.

Ted Chambers' victory in the half-mile was one of the features of the afternoon's program. Chambers ran the last eighty yards on sheer nerve to finish ahead of Zehrer, both runners being exhausted.

Following are the results of the events which lasted more than three hours and a half. Fifty one hundred yard dash: 1, J. Szabo, New Britain; 2, L. Buitand, Manchester; 3, B. Sheridan, Manchester. Time, eleven and one-fifth seconds.

220 yard: 1, B. Sheridan, Manchester; 2, C. Yam, New Britain; 3, J. Szabo, New Britain. Time, twenty-five and one-fifth seconds.

440 yard: 1, G. Carlson, New Britain; 2, H. Schick, New Britain; 3, C. Cheney, Manchester. Time, fifty-nine and two-fifths seconds.

880 yard: 1, T. Chambers, Manchester; 2, F. Zehrer, New Britain; 3, Hayes, Manchester. Time, two minutes, nineteen fourths seconds.

Mile run: 1, J. McCluskey, Manchester; 2, H. Derrick, New Britain; 3, M. Tomlinson, Manchester. Time, five minutes, twenty and four-fifths seconds.

McCluskey (broke) record of five minutes, four seconds made in 1924.

High jump: 1, tie between R. Gordon and J. Reid of New Britain at five feet, five and a half inches; 3, tie between W. Hall of Manchester and A. Rickart, of New Britain.

Broad jump: 1, C. Yam of New Britain, seventeen feet, nine inches; 2, W. Johnson, of Manchester, sixteen feet, six inches; 3, tie between W. Hall and F. Scarlotta of Manchester at nine feet; 3, B. Sockinsky of New Britain.

Discus: 1, W. Kittel of Manchester, 103 feet, seven inches; 2, Mattula of New Britain, 103 feet, five and a half inches; R. Spencer of Manchester, ninety-seven feet, four inches. (Kittel broke the Manchester High School record of ninety-eight feet, ten and a half inches made in 1926 by Henry Madden.)

Javelin: 1, Mattulus of New Britain, 153 feet, seven inches; 2, J. tain, 153 feet, Manchester, 150 feet, two inches; 3, T. Chambers of Manchester, 132 feet, eight inches.

Shot put: 1, W. Kittel of Manchester, thirty-eight feet, three and a half inches; 2, A. Riskert of New Britain, thirty-seven feet, three and a half inches; 3, F. McGrath of New Britain, thirty-five feet, eight and a half inches.

New Britain won the relay in a close race, the winner leading by three yards at the finish. Distance 704 yards; time, one minute and twenty seconds.

The Manchester team was composed of Cheney, Trent, Buckland and Sheridan; while New Britain used Linder, McGrath, Zehrer, and Szabo.

THE TINYMITES STORY BY HAL COCHRAN - PICTURES BY KNICK

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture) The Tinies watched the zebra race and gallop all around the place. Then Clowzy said, "I'm game to ride. Just help me on his back. There really is no cause for fright. He has two heads. I'll hang on tight." Then, after he was seated, they all heard a big whip crack. Old Daffydoe stood right nearby. "Come on! Giddap!" they heard him cry. And then the zebra started off and Clowzy yelled, "Hurrray!" The zebra then gave one big bound, and tossed poor Clowzy all around. He shortly found that riding was a heap more work than play. The other Tinies laughed aloud. To see him hang on made them proud. Then Daffydoe came running forth, and in a voice quite shrill, said, "That will be all for today." The zebra promptly came his way, and gee, before they knew it, he was standing very still. Wee Clowzy slid off safe and sound, and fell much better on the ground. No other Tynie cared to ride, so Daffydoe said, "Well, let's go to yonder patch and see what berries we can snatch. If there's enough we'll have a meal. That surely will be swell." He had some baskets at his side, and as they started, Copy cried, "I'll fill a basket up ahead of everyone. Let's have a berry-picking race. Old Daffydoe can set the pace. And say, no matter who may win 'twill be a lot of fun." They all began to pick real fast. An hour or two went floating past. Then Daffydoe said, "We've enough. Your strength you'd better save. We've packed a lot of baskets tight, so we will have a feast tonight." And soon the very happy bunch were hiking toward the cave. (The Tinymites' feast is interrupted in the next story.)
