JUDD GRAY AND MRS. SNYDER TO BE SENTENCED ON MONDAY

Woman Collapses as She Hears Verdict of Guilty; Man, With Prayer Book In Hand, Is Calm.

Long Island City, N. Y., May 10.—Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder who, with her lover, Henry Judd Gray, is to be sentenced next Monday to death in the electric chair, was today in a state of collapse.

The woman who had been called the "icy blonde" because of her cold self-possession for days in court lay semi-conscious in her cell in Queens County jail, suffering from the effects of a hysterical spasm that was diagnosed by physicians as an epileptic fit.

Breaks Down She broke down completely last night when a jury returned verdicts of guilty against her and Gray for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, in her home on March 29.

"Oh my God!—I never thought I'd get this," she cried.

Gray, prayer book in hand, accepted the verdict stoically.

Under Drugs Mrs. Snyder was kept under the influence of morphia and chloral this morning to prevent a repetition of the emotional outbreak that followed her conviction. Physicians summoned to her cell found her unconscious.

Fear was expressed that Mrs. Snyder may develop into what is termed a mal-epileptic, as she has suffered other epileptic attacks. In that event she would escape the electric chair, but would be sent to an institution for the treatment of mental diseases.

Reads Prayer Book Gray, meanwhile, sat quietly in his cell reading his prayer book and resigned to his fate. He said he had "made his peace with God."

Justice Townsend Scudder by law must sentence both Mrs. Snyder and Gray next Monday to die in the electric chair within six weeks from the time of conviction.

Each of them, however, is entitled to an appeal. This automatically stays the death penalty until the Court of Appeals passes upon the case. If the conviction should be reversed a new trial would be ordered.

The only other alternative the pair have of escaping execution would be commutation of sentence by Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

The jury convicted Mrs. Snyder on the first ballot. There was a misunderstanding on the Gray ball and the vote was taken again and all twelve voted "guilty."

Weeps in Courtroom Mrs. Snyder wept as William E. Young, foreman of the jury, announced the verdict. Gray looked directly at the jurors and accepted the verdict with head up, shoulders squared.

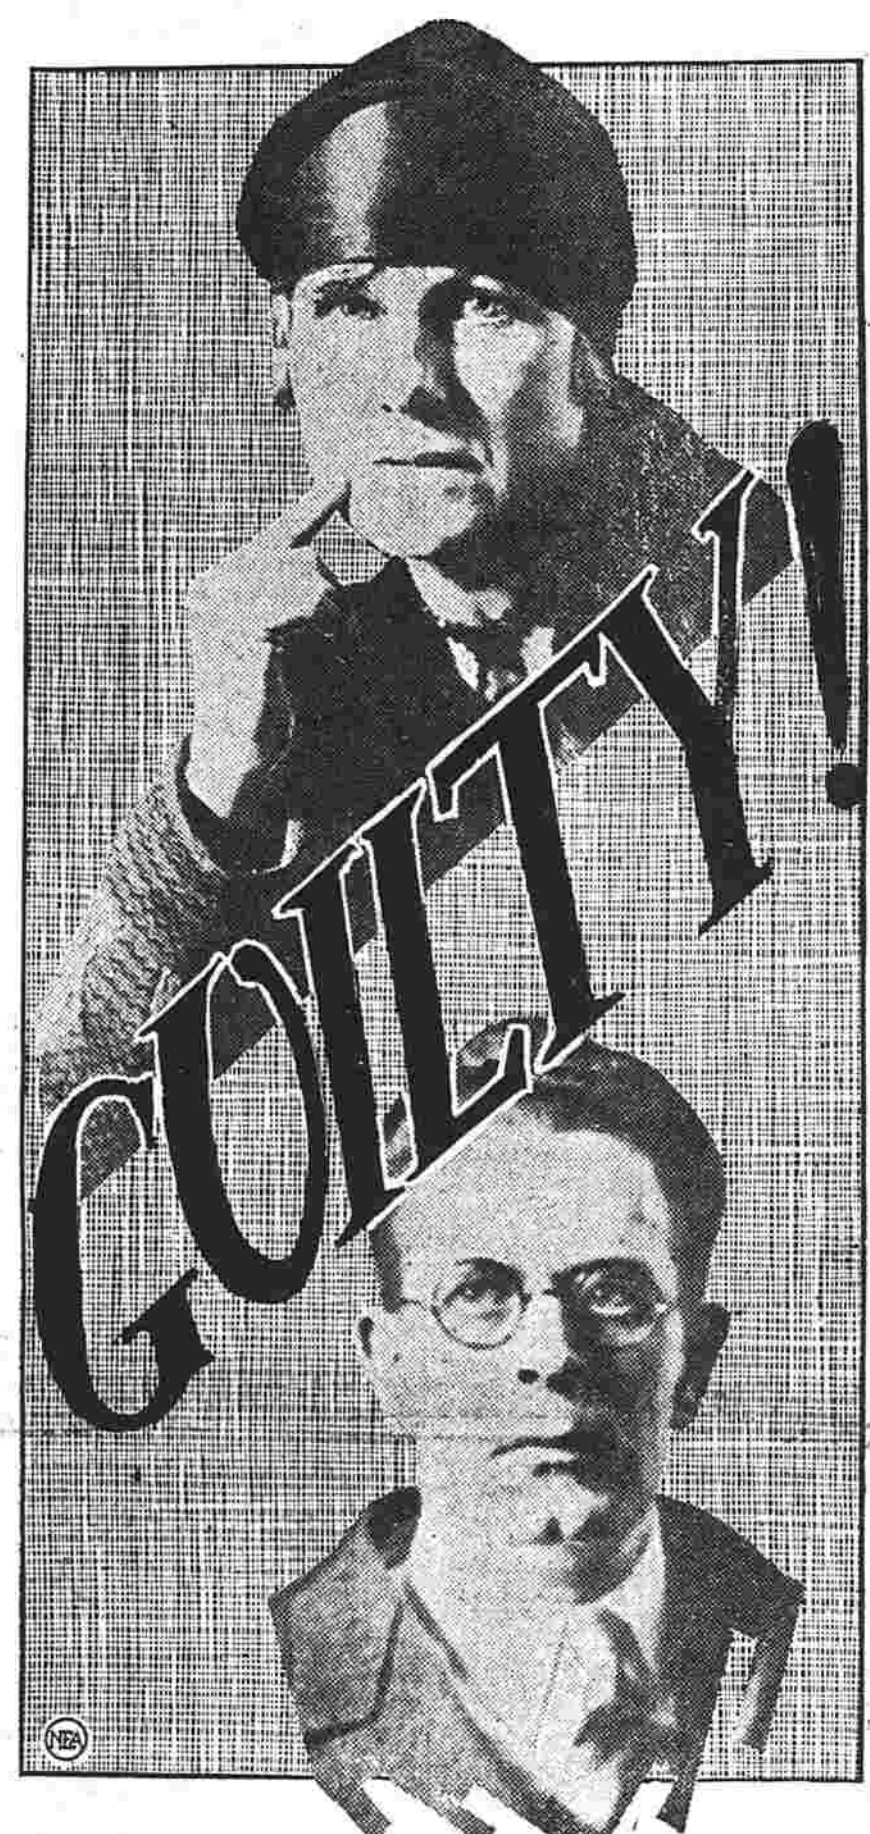

Mrs. Snyder buried her face in her arms.

When Mrs. Snyder reached her cell she fell faint. She had been sobbing hysterically.

The conviction of Mrs. Snyder and Gray was almost a record for speed in Queens county. The murder was committed seven weeks ago last Sunday morning in the Snyder home in Queens Village.

Mrs. Snyder was beaten unconscious by one or both of the accused. Chloroformed and finally choked to death with picture wire, Mrs. Snyder and Gray were brought to trial within a month.

Fear Suicide Attempt So depressed has Mrs. Snyder become that officials at the jail took precautions against a possible suicide attempt.

TWO HUNDRED DEAD IN WESTERN STORM

Several Thousand Injured; Millions in Property Loss; Six States Hit.

From Texas in the southwest to Michigan in the northeast, erratic winds which assumed tornado proportions in various sections, mowed down houses, burying hundreds of victims, razed and left devastation and suffering in their wake.

Illinois reported six dead, four of them in Chicago where electric transportation along the fashionable north shore was paralyzed for several hours.

Chicago, May 10.—Two hundred dead, several thousand injured and property damage that will run into millions.

States Hit Missouri, Arkansas and Texas were the hardest hit, the estimated dead in these three states reaching a total of 175. A score more were killed in Kansas and Illinois.

BEFORE THE HOP-OFF

This is a picture of Captain Charles Nungesser and his companion Major Coli just before they started on their trip.

Paris, May 10.—Anxiety over the fate of Captain Charles Nungesser and Captain Francois Coli, trans-Atlantic fliers, deepened today as the hours passed and no authentic information concerning them was received.

RESIGNATIONS OF ASSESSORS MAY BE ASKED

Because of two cases of unwillingness on the part of Manchester's Board of Assessors to correct what are believed to be clerical errors in property assessments, the Board of Selectmen last night was faced with the problem of how to give the property owners affected fair treatment and at the same time remain within its legal rights.

Haynes Opposed The candidacy of Haynes, long a stalwart of the Anti-Saloon League, suffered a setback when both water and dry spokesmen opened fire on his qualifications for the commission.

Two concrete cases brought to the attention of the Selectmen at their regular meeting last night. Alfred Kirscheifer of Stonington and owner of property on West Center street opposite E. J. Hill's new tract, asked the Selectmen to help him correct the obvious error made in his property assessment.

Portsmouth, N. H., May 10.—With ceremony fitting to the occasion, the keel of the latest submarine for the United States Navy, the V-5, was laid at the Navy Yard here today.

PARIS GIVES UP HOPE

American, French and English Warships Combing Atlantic in Search.

New York, May 10.—Anxiety over the fate of Captain Charles Nungesser and Captain Francois Coli, trans-Atlantic fliers, deepened today as the hours passed and no authentic information concerning them was received.

Up to eleven a. m., no trace had been obtained of the daring French aviators who took off from Paris at 12:17 Sunday morning to fly to New York without a stop.

Dispatches from Paris stressed the national gloom over the tragic disappearance of the aviators.

In this country, all along the New England and New Foundland coasts vessels were putting out to sea in an effort to sight the plane "White Bird".

Radio stations all along the coast are keeping in touch with the ships at sea, hoping for word which would immediately dispatch commercial planes, now held in readiness to the scene.

COBB SUSPENSION LIFTED BY JOHNSON

President of American League To Make Formal Statement Tomorrow.

Chicago, May 10.—Suspension of Ty Cobb and Al Simmons, Philadelphia outfielders, was lifted today, effective immediately, by Ban Johnson, president of the American League.

Additional information on the row at the Philadelphia-Boston game last Thursday, received from C. D. Owens, officiating with Umpire Emmett Ormsby, who banished Cobb and Simmons from the game, was the basis for Johnson's decision.

BODY IN A TRUNK MYSTIFIES LONDON

Corpse Cut In Pieces and Checked at Railroad Station Last Friday.

London, May 10.—The gruesome discovery of the mutilated body of a woman in a trunk here today furnished Scotland Yard with what promises to be a baffling murder mystery.

United States Coast Guard cutters and ocean-going tugs are engaged in the hunt over the storm tossed, fog bound reaches of the North Atlantic.

Warships to Search It is understood that French warships and possibly British warcraft will join the search, thus making a great international quest for some vestige of the missing airplane.

FRED PATTON GOES TO METROPOLITAN

Former Manchester Boy Engaged By America's Greatest Opera Company.

Fred Patton, former bobbin boy in the Cheney mills here, who has risen to the position of one of the leading baritone soloists in the country, was engaged yesterday by the Metropolitan Opera company of New York for its season which will begin on October 31.

Fred Patton

Patton has had a career that rivals those of Alger Hiss heroes. He began life in South Manchester in the Cheney silk mills as a bobbin boy when 12 years old and years afterward moved to New York.

Mr. Alvord said it was impossible to estimate how many Second Liberty bonds were owned by Manchester people. He said many earlier bonds have been probably lost.

At His Own Figure. That Patton went into the Metropolitan at his own contract figure is known from a statement he made to a Manchester man two years ago.

Mr. Patton said he would not accept it at the figure named.

He had also been offered an engagement by Walter Damrosch, retired leader of the New York Philharmonic orchestra to appear at the Paris Conservatory of Music but the offer was not taken up by Patton.

Although it is not generally known in Manchester, Fred Patton has done considerable opera singing.

S. M. H. SINGERS IN INTER-SCHOOL CONTEST

Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs to Compete in Vocal Tourney at West Hartford Tomorrow.

On tomorrow afternoon the Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs of the South Manchester High school will go to the William H. Hall High school of West Hartford to participate in the Central Connecticut Inter-School Glee Club contest.

The local glee clubs were organized last year by Miss E. Marion Dorward, supervisor of music in the high school.

This year the clubs have reached a higher degree of excellence in choral work than last year.

On Saturday night both glee clubs and the school orchestra broadcast an ambitious program from WTIC.

Compliments were received from all over Connecticut, and even from Massachusetts and New York state.

In the contest tomorrow afternoon each glee club will render two numbers. One of these will be a song which every club will sing.

The other may be selected by each organization.

The local Boys' Glee club will sing as its own selection, "Mary of Argyle." The selection required of each boys' club will be "Duna" by McGill. The Girls' Glee Club will sing "Stealing O'er the Golden West" as its own selection.

NO 8—CIVIC ACHIEVEMENTS

This is the eighth of a series of articles telling how American cities are meeting their problems. . . Succeeding articles in this series will appear daily.

BE LIEF IN TREES.

Long before the Mississippi river flood reached its present appalling stage this newspaper ventured the opinion that the most effectual of all possible means of preventing such catastrophes in the future lay in systematic reforestation of the immediate valleys of the Mississippi and its major tributaries. Here and there some other small voice was raised in support of the same idea. But the big fellows pooh-poohed the notion that the planting of trees would do anything important toward stopping the great river from stopping over. Mr. Hoover was one who couldn't be bothered with any such theory. The chief of Army engineers was another.

Wherefore it gives us some satisfaction to note what is said on this subject by E. A. Sherman, associate forester of the Forest Service, who expresses the belief that "Reforestation and forest protection will unquestionably enter into any plan for the future control of the Mississippi. It is idle to say that millions of acres of forest land within this basin have no relation to the flood problem. The plans for preventing a recurrence of a flood of this magnitude must, as one of their essential factors, include the reforestation of the headwaters of the Mississippi and its tributaries. Although excessive precipitation is a major cause of the present flood, many of its tributaries have contributed their own floods. Extensive deforestation on the headwaters of the Mississippi and its tributaries is partly responsible for rapid melting of snow and for the rapid run-off of snow water and rainfall.

"Extensive reforestation in the long run, by retarding the run-off, will supplement the artificial engineering work. Every dollar expended in reforesting denuded land will return with interest through the sale of forest products and water power and stimulation of industry. Flood prevention will come as a by-product without actual cost."

UNFORTUNATE JURORS.

It is something of a question, nowadays, whether it is worse to be the defendant in a criminal case, or a juror. One is almost led to the suspicion that there is a sort of tacit conspiracy on foot to make the business of jury service so unpalatable as to bring about the abandonment of the jury system altogether.

It is no longer possible for a citizen to serve on a jury in a capital case, provided the defense has money enough to put up a stiff legal fight, with any degree of physical comfort, let alone peace of mind. In almost any such case Juror No. 1, whoever he may be, is automatically sentenced to practical imprisonment for a number of days, even before the trial begins, waiting for the rest of the panel to be made up, with most of his reinforcements similarly sentenced for shorter periods.

CRIME IN THAT EVENT.

What he needs is not the inside of a jail but—despite his twenty-five years and his status as a husband—a spanking.

BLESSED BONES.

With the news that "Connecticut River shad are running" there is due the lamentation of the shad lover over the quantities of bones that must be swallowed or hazarded by those who would indulge in this gustatory creature.

Imagine the figure that could be successfully demanded for shad, if that aristocratic cousin of the lowly herring had no more bones in him than a squid. Carried them all in two pieces, on the outside, like an oyster. Would two dollars buy a shad in that event? Would five—or ten? Not so. They would all the shad go to the oil barons, the lottery kings and the bootleggers. Navy one would the artisan, the professional man or the storekeeper get his teeth upon.

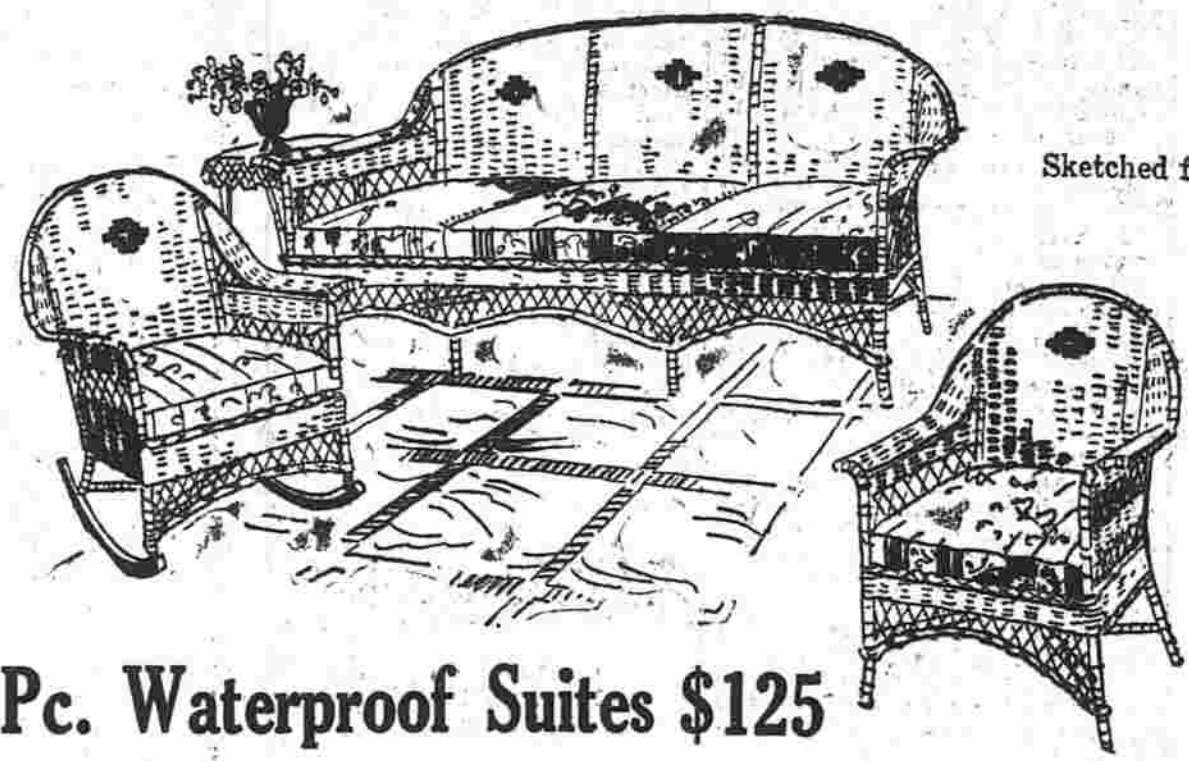

NEWS STORY.

One thing about the Navy that gets our goat is the calm placidity of it in the presence of a news story. Here we have the Navy's cable between Seattle and Ketchikan, Alaska, discombobulated for a month, with the Navy's cable ship hunting trouble, all followed by the revelation that the ship, the Delwood, had finally managed to bring up the cause of the wreckage, a dead whale. The whale wasn't dead when it got tangled up with the cable, not by a lot. It was so lively that it bit through first the iron armor of the cable, then through the heavy gutta-percha sheathing and then through the cable core, in no less than eight different places.

WASHINGTON LETTER

This is the first of a series of three daily articles telling just what happens when the president of the United States decides to go somewhere on the train.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, May 10.—When John Gooch obtains his wife's permission to go to New York he buys himself a ticket and boards a train. But when Calvin Coolidge takes the same trip it's a major operation in railroading.

The story of what happens when the president goes traveling is all the more interesting because it is a man of simple tastes and puts on a little dog. Although no new gold-plated rails are laid and eastern railroad trains do not stand at attention for hours like automobiles when the fire wagons dash by, the president gets more real service than a drunken millionaire at a waiter's convention.

color scheme that the company bought last week. Perhaps this ace of locomotives is in Chicago. If so, it's promptly ordered to Washington. So is the latest and best of all compartment-observation cars, and of dining cars. The same method is used in selecting the personnel.

On a short trip like that to New York during which President Coolidge addressed the United Press dinner, some 35 or 40 persons generally go along of whom about 20 are correspondents. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge are always accompanied by Dr. John F. Coupal, Colonel Sherwood A. Cheney and Captain Wilson Brown, respectively the presidential physician, military aide and naval aide.

of a conductor, rear flagman, two telephone and telegraph linemen, a car inspector and two mechanics, a sergeant of railroad police and two of his men. The linemen are ready to hop off the train and tap a wire in event of trouble, the car inspector and his men are ready to cope with draw-head, air line, steam line or hot box difficulties and the railroad cops will help keep the crowd away if a stop is forced.

Meanwhile every precaution has been taken along the way. The engine and the president's car have been thoroughly overhauled in the first place, of course. On ordinary trips over eastern lines, no pilot engine is needed to precede and test the track, as the railroad always has another regular passenger train a few minutes ahead traveling on schedule.

And then Grandma Danced

"We were quite alarmed about mother. She wouldn't eat, was terribly constipated, bilious, and seemed to be fading fast. We thought it due entirely to her 86 years of age. But a neighbor brought over a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and it was really remarkable how she picked right up, and now she can even dance around with her grandchildren. Now we are never without Syrup Pepsin in the house." (Name and address furnished upon request.)

Regulates Bowels of Old Folks

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is so palatable, sets so well in the stomach, works so easily, so gently, so kindly with old folks as to accomplish its purpose without gripe, pain or other distress. For biliousness, sour stomach, coated tongue, constipation, and the lassitude, weakness of children, parents or those in the evening of life, Syrup Pepsin is recommended everywhere. It is sold by all druggists.

An Ex-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE by PAUL ADAMS

A Gold Star Mother decorating the grave of her son in an American military cemetery where thousands of warriors died while fighting in northern France and Belgium.

This is the 27th chapter in the story of a former doughboy who is revisiting France as a correspondent for (Your Paper) and an audience guard of the "Second A. E. F."

CHAPTER XVII

At Romagne—in the Argonne. The road winds between two rolling hills. On the right is the caretaker's house. On the left a sweep of white crosses flashing clean in the sunlight. Every state in the Union is represented by its crosses here, for here rest the remains of those soldiers of the First A. E. F. who fell in the battles for this almost impenetrable region.

Three women, dressed all in black, are walking slowly, in single file, up a lane among the crosses. They are French widows. Two of the women lost their husbands in battles along the Somme. One lost two sons in the Champagne sector. They have no graves to visit because the casualties that have affected their lives are listed as "Unknown." But, on two occasions every year, they make a pilgrimage to Romagne—a pilgrimage of reverence.

American Caretaker Walter B. Shields, once of Richmond, Va., is the caretaker at Romagne. He keeps a daily record of all his visitors. The names of countless Americans are written on the pages of the great book in the lobby. The last name recorded was that of Capt. J. M. DeWesse of Louisville, Ky., "on leave from Honolulu and reporting to Cheyenne, Wyo." But Shields keeps no personal records of the French who come to Romagne. They do not sign the register. Their visits are recorded only in numbers. "February 1, 1927—(26)," "February 2, 1927—(38)," "February 3, 1927—(16)." A Shrine This Year Thousands of French people come every year, pay their unostentatious respects, and depart. Many are dressed all in black, as the widows today. Romagne is a sacred objective still. Romagne is in the Argonne, not far from Exermont, and Sommerance, and Buzancy, Dannevous and Dun. To its 14,000 graves will come thousands of the American Legionnaires when they arrive in France this September.

HEBRON

The Young Women's club held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Ira C. Turshen in Amston. The program was appropriate to Mothers' Day.

Of pupils from Hebron attending the Windham High school, four names are listed as standing on the honor roll, maintaining 80 per cent or over in four subjects. They are: freshmen, Anna Monay; sophomores, Frank Garlich, Homer Hills; juniors, Charles Garlich.

An error recently in this news column made it appear that the hour for opening the library Tuesday afternoons had been changed. The hours are as usual, from 3 to 5 p. m. on Tuesday afternoon, the only change being that the library will be closed Tuesday evenings and Friday afternoons until further notice.

The name of Billy Hudak was omitted from the list of those representing the schools of the town in the recent spelling contest. Billy was the best speller from the Center district.

Miss Helen Gilbert spent the week-end at her Hebron home. Mr. and Mrs. George Hardy who have spent several months with Mr. and Mrs. Hart E. Buell have returned to their home. The improvement in Mr. Buell's health continues.

E. Austin Warren, an instructor in English at Boston University, spent the week-end with friends here.

Miss Clarissa Lord spent the week-end at her Hebron home, returning to Storrs' college Sunday afternoon. E. Austin Warren officiated as organist at St. Peter's church on Sunday and led the singing. Mr. Warren, who is dean of St. Peter's school, made his visit here at this time in order to make arrangements about the school for the present summer. It has been practically decided to have it open on Sunday, the 19th of June and continue for two weeks. The schedule of studies has not been definitely decided upon and will be announced later.

Mr. Warren will sail for Europe after the close of the school, to spend the rest of the summer. On account of his plans it was necessary to hold the school earlier in the summer than usual. The Congregational church in the Center has fallen into line and is now holding its services on daylight saving time. A vote having been taken by its members to that effect with only one dissenting voice. This is the first year since the daylight saving ordinance came before the public that the church has taken a favorable stand on the subject. The sexton, wishing to be early enough rang the first bell at 7:30 standard time, rousing some people from their Sunday morning naps to wonder where the fire was. The bell has usually been rung at 9:30 and should have been rung an hour earlier to comply with the changed time. The sexton explained that so many kinds of time confused him.

New York

New York, May 10.—See-sawing up and down Broadway I saw Harry Lander in a supper club. And some was related the tale that Sir Harry had arrived and, picking up the bill of fare and noting the $2 cover charge, commented in his best Scotch: "If yer na mindin', I'll hae my dinner wi'out any cover."

But then they're so many such tales about Sir Harry. Saw Ed Howe in from Kansas to be banqueted by prominent Manhattanites. . . And, somehow, in the formality of exclusive hotel atmosphere it seemed anything but a birthday party, though all made every effort to push informality through the gilded doorways.

Saw Charles Journal stepping from a fine looking car and sauntering into a certain cafe. . . And if you have never heard Charles' name before, know then that he is "some punkins" about Broadway, being the highest priced and best known head waiter in this man's town. . . Which means, of course, that his income is doubtless considerably more than that of many of the guests. . . And they tell me this maestro of the dining halls started a place of his own last winter and defied all traditions, in that he had no music, no dance floor and served no liquor, returning to that fine tradition of dining for the purpose of eating, and that he did a mighty business with this innovation.

Saw Senator Capper, whose several publications are mighty in the mid-west, stepping about the annual newspaper convention and, they do say that nine out of ten New Yorkers when questioned on the subject have never heard of the Capper publication. . . Yet had the senator or any of his state folk confessed to knowing nothing of the New Yorker, let us say, Manhattanites would scornfully refer to them as "hicks" and such. . .

Saw Maxwell Anderson, whose play, "Saturday's Children," they tell me, will get the Pulitzer prize, and I hope so for here is a young man who has long devoted himself to worthy creation. . . And I remember the time out in San Francisco when he was writing editorials for an afternoon newspaper and a most conservative paper it was. . .

And Anderson one day put some liberal thought into the columns and met with dignified rebuke, whereupon he kissed the place farewell and came to Manhattan with his family.

And for a long while it was "not so good," since his esthetic impulses took him to editing a poetry magazine. Just try to raise a family on a poetry magazine. . . So he took to writing editorials on The World and there he met Laurence Stallings, who was running a book review column, and together they wrote, "What Price Glory" a play for which, it seemed to me, the Anderson half of the combine never

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging.

Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1876.—Adv.

"WINGS OF THE STORM" IS FULL OF THRILLS

William Russell and Dog Star
In Circle Theater Picture.

Probably the most picturesque kennels ever seen in a motion picture provide the locale of one of the most interesting and amusing sequences in "Wings of the Storm," which is the feature at the Circle theater tonight and tomorrow.

Featured in this picture are William Russell, Virginia Brown Faire and Reed Howes. Russell is well known to followers of he-man pictures, for he has been one of the screen favorites for many years. His supporting cast is excellent, it having Virginia Brown Faire, who endeared herself to millions as the fairy, Tinker Bell, in "Peter Pan."

The photoplay centers about Thunder, who is the runt of a litter of puppies born to a blue-ribbon winner in the kennels of Anita Baker, a noted sportswoman. The action of the story unfolds the character development, as well as the physical development of the weakling, after he goes into the forests. He lives in the open, finds his mate in a beautiful white police dog, and becomes the father of a litter of fine puppies.

With the advent of the puppies, Thunder seems to realize his responsibilities and becomes a leader among his own kind, fearless and alert.

"FRISCO SALLY LEVY" IS A ROARING FARCE

Humor and Drama Combine to Make State Picture One of Best—Sally O'Neill Stars.

Winsome Sally O'Neill, as Irish as the lakes of Killarney, has one of the most unusual roles ever given an actress in "Frisco Sally Levy," in which she is showing at the State theater tonight and tomorrow. She is cast as the daughter of Irish-Jewish parents, and has two lovers, one of them of the tribe of Abraham and the other a boy whose forefathers fought with Brian Boru.

Sally O'Neill as the pliant little daughter of a Jewish father and Irish mother, has one of the greatest roles she has played since her hit in "Mike." She's hoydenish, tomboyish, captivating—and still with the capability of intense emotion, as the remarkable scenes showing a tailor shop, he mingles screaming comedy with some very remarkable bits of emotional expression; in fact, his role is one of the most difficult ever attempted, and his long career with Bertha Kalish and Nazimova stood him in good stead.

Roy D'Arcy plays a role new to him as Mr. Gold, the rather sheikish stock broker, and Charles Delaney is the young Irish traffic policeman.

Another member of the cast who more than distinguishes himself is Tenen Holtz, the character actor, playing her father. As the humble proprietor of a tailor shop, he mingles screaming comedy with some very remarkable bits of emotional expression; in fact, his role is one of the most difficult ever attempted, and his long career with Bertha Kalish and Nazimova stood him in good stead.

Roy D'Arcy plays a role new to him as Mr. Gold, the rather sheikish stock broker, and Charles Delaney is the young Irish traffic policeman.

CUT TOWN AUDITS INTO TWO PERIODS

According to Francis G. Lee, one of the two town auditors, the books will be audited in a different manner this year. Instead of auditing the entire year at one time, the auditors will make two jobs of it, taking six months at a time. The purpose is to insure a very complete check.

Mr. Lee and John Limerick, the other auditor, will start on the account of the first six months of the fiscal year Thursday. The other auditing period will be in August.

COOLIDGE AND EMBASSIES PICK SUMMER HOMES

Foreign Representatives
Pick New England For Vacation Sites.

Washington.—With summer just around the corner, members of the diplomatic colony here are busily engaged just now making their plans for the heated term.

A goodly number of the embassies and legations will be closed and temporary summer domiciles will be established at Eastern resort colonies. The intensely torrid weather that marks Washington from mid-June to mid-September is too much for most of the diplomatic set and all those who can conveniently get away for the most of that season do so.

Furthermore, with President Coolidge spending his summer at a camp, probably in the Lake region near Chicago, but certainly at some point in the mid-West, and with Secretary of State Kellogg probably going to his old home in Minnesota for his vacation, there will not be the urgent necessity for the diplomats to stick close to Washington to keep in touch with the activities of this government. They can do it just as well in New England as here.

Massachusetts Popular
Massachusetts seems to be the drawing magnet for the diplomats.

Announcement has just been made that the German government has leased a spacious house at Manchester, an hour's ride from Boston, as a summer embassy and that Ambassador Maltzan will move his staff there immediately after his return in June from his present trans-continental tour. Last year the German embassy at Magnolia, Mass., not far from Manchester, but were unable to obtain the old quarters there this summer.

Ambassador Howard, who also is now on a trans-continental tour, will transfer the British embassy to Manchester shortly after his return from the West. The British have made their summer home at Manchester for several seasons.

Minister van Reijen, the new Dutch envoy, likewise has chosen Manchester for his summer domicile. Thus there will be quite a little diplomatic colony there.

Minister Cretzlane has leased a villa at Newport, Rhode Island, for the Rumanian legation's summer abode.

The Danish legation will summer at Bar Harbor, Maine, where Minister Bruu has been going for several seasons.

Minister Smiddy of the Irish Free States plans to spend the summer "seeing America" on a trans-continental tour.

French Are Waiting
Summer plans of the French embassy are awaiting the return from France of Ambassador Claudel early in June.

The Belgian embassy will remain in Washington but it is probable that Ambassador de Cartier will go to Belgium for the summer.

Minister Peter of Switzerland already has returned to his home country for the summer. The legation staff will remain here.

Count d'Almeida, the Portuguese minister, will go abroad, but the legation staff will remain in Washington.

Ambassador Padilla of Spain who came here only last fall, will go home for the summer, leaving the embassy staff here.

Minister Bostrom of Sweden will sail in June for the homeland, leaving his legation staff in Washington.

Ambassador de Martino of Italy will probably take his stag to Saranac Lake, New York, where the embassy had its summer quarters last year.

The Latvian legation will be closed for the summer, Minister Seva sailing for the homeland May 7. The New York Consul general will look after consular matters from the New York Office.

The Lithuanian legation also may be closed for a season, as Minister Bizauskas will be leaving Washington permanently in a short time and several weeks probably will elapse before his successor arrives.

Summer plans for the Hungarian legation are uncertain.

Why Firestone GUM-DIPPED TIRES Wear Longer

WE recently were given the tremendous advantage of having the mammoth Firestone factories brought to us. In Tire Educational Meetings we were shown, by means of motion pictures, charts, tire samples and complete engineering data, the details of Firestone tire design and construction—and how Firestone and Oldfield tires and tubes are made in the world's most efficient and economical rubber factories.

Firestone pioneered the original low-pressure tire and made it practical by Gum-Dipping. The motion pictures showed us how the cords of the carcass are dipped in a rubber solution, thoroughly saturating and insulating every fiber of every cord with rubber. Simple demonstrations and tests illustrated the great advantage of this process, which supplies the extra strength to withstand the extra flexing strains of low-pressure construction—one of the reasons why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are establishing such unheard-of mileage records.

Low Cash Prices OLDFIELD TIRES

30x3	Fabric.....	$5.85
30x3 1/2	Fabric.....	6.85
30x3 1/2	Cord.....	7.35
29x4.40	Balloon.....	8.40
32x4	Cord.....	13.40
31x5.25	Balloon.....	15.35
33x6.00	Balloon.....	18.35

Oldfield Tubes are also priced very low
Made in the great economical Firestone Factories at Akron and carry the Standard Tire Warranty

We learned why the Firestone Balloon Tread gives extra safety, comfort and long wear. We were shown why Firestone, from the very beginning, designed and continue to use the round Balloon Tread, minimizing "shoulder breaks", so destructive to tires. Excess rubber at the edges of a Balloon Tread is wasted—actually detrimental to tire mileage. In the Firestone Tread the small units and sharp projections are scientifically placed to permit easy flexing, resulting in extraordinary riding comfort.

Come in and let us put a set of these Gum-Dipped Tires on your car—you can forget about tire trouble. Quality is higher than ever before—prices are lowest in history. Buy now!

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: John Jacob Astor (8)

Astor, in his later years liked to have celebrities at his table. He befriended Washington Irving, Fitzgreen Halleck, the poet, and other literary men in a day when writing in America was one of the poorest paid pursuits. He enjoyed his beer, a little music and the theater.

Astor pensioned a man to live with him in his old age and speak German to him.

Toward the last Astor suffered infirmity. His exercise is said to have consisted of being rolled easily in a blanket.

Astor died March 29, 1848, leaving a fortune estimated at $20,000,000. Of this $18,000,000 went to his son, William, and he bequeathed gifts to his native town of Waldorf, Germany, the city of New York and various charitable institutions. (Next: P. T. Barnum)

Votes at House's.

C. E. House and Son's "On To Paris" popularity contest is now one third over. "Whitey" Anderson holds first place with a total vote of 2740 and Jack Pentland is still pushing him for the lead with a vote of 2471. Frank Cervini stays in third place but has piled up a nice lead over the next man, Earl Balleseper. Cervini's total now stands at 1186 whereas that of Balleseper is 856. John Olson, who got off to a good start in the first three weeks of the contest, is standing still. Harold Howe and Walter McClean who both started off with a small vote are climbing but they have got to show more speed to get in the final running. Peter Frey, E. Swanson and J. Breen, all of whom started off with a good vote the first week have been practically at a standstill since the start.

Following is the standing of the first fourteen contestants:

Clarence Anderson	2740
Jack Pentland	2471
Frank Cervini	1186
Earl Balleseper	856
John Olson	615
David Heatley	495
Harold Howe	390
C. L. Hansen	348
W. McClean	323
H. Olds	249
Peter Frey	182
E. Swanson	176
A. E. McCann	157
J. Breen	150

It has been decided by the judges that all names not registering 100 votes or more at the counting next Monday will be eliminated from the voting from that time on to the finish to the contest. The contest is now more than one third over and there are dozens of entrants who have a few votes registered in their name and have gained none since. It is apparent now the names of the ones who are in the running and it is believed that with the elimination of many entrants who have few votes the voting will center upon the leading candidates.

A New Doorway

to a 73 Year Old Landmark

Once again, and for no less than the fourth time in four years, Garber Brothers' furniture establishment has outgrown its physical limitations. And this magnificent new entrance is a fitting outward example of one of the greatest expansion programs in the history of Hartford, now practically completed. Garber Brothers is now more than twenty times as large as it was in July, 1923 . . . when this institution was started.

To have made this great stride in so short a time has been no mere accident of circumstances. To have grown from so inconspicuous a beginning into such a large institution has been no mere freak of chance. It has been due in large measure to certain ideas and ideals and to the high spirit of our co-workers, and in a far greater measure has it been due to the splendid response and loyalty of the public.

This plain structure, which houses the entire Garber Bros. organization, was built in 1854, just 73 years ago, or seven years before the Civil war, by the now great Cheney Silk Mills. It has, since the Cheney's outgrew it, been occupied by several manufacturing organizations . . . and therefore has played no small part in the progress of Hartford.

We chose this building four years ago in which to begin our business, for economical reasons. Occupying then only 3,000 square feet. In the fall of the same year it became evident that this space was insufficient for the growing business.

Growth is an expression of public confidence

We then added 4,000 square feet more; in 1924, 8,000 square feet more; in 1925, 15,000 square feet more, making a total of 30,000 square feet . . . and now we occupy the entire twin buildings of which 60,000 square feet alone is devoted entirely to display.

Little does one dream, when looking at the unassuming appearance of the exterior . . . that the interior is one of the largest and most attractive furniture show rooms in America. Many people who remember this building in years gone by have marveled at the change. The change has been amazing! It has been thrilling to see this old landmark modernized from day to day.

BOOK OF THE WEEK
The Herald recommends as the best book of the week, and one of the most important books of the year, Thomas Mann's "The Magic Mountain" (Knopf), a two-volume study by Germany's greatest writer—profound and thought-provoking and, hence, advised to the discriminating reader.

Crowning an American poet laureate and wrangling over the Pulitzer prize awards are sufficiently exciting events for any literary week.

Doubtless many a snicker will go up at the idea that affairs in the world of writing can be exciting; it depends entirely on the point of view. We have seen thousands cheer the stupidest and most one-sided of prize fights.

Never, it seems to us, was there a more irritating Pulitzer literary award. Louise Bromfield took it with "Early Autumn" (Stokes). But where, oh where, was this prize committee when this same young man wrote "The Green Bay Tree"? They wait until the young author has admittedly plunged into an American saga and is some two volumes deep in it before they make their presentation for a novel that shrieks of the Galsworthy influence to such an extent that the author is in Paris intent upon new styles.

This in a season that produced "The Time of Man" or "The Romantic Comedians" or "The Orphan Angel"!

The surprise of the award list was the selection of Paul Green's tragic and moving play of negro life, "In Abraham's Bosom" (McBride), for dramatic honors. This was brought out in book form about a year ago, following this author's short plays also written for negro casts. Green is a young and thoughtful dramatist and, we are told is writing a novel with the Abraham of the play as the leading character. He hails from South Carolina.

The poetry prize went to Leona Speyer's "Fiddler's Farewell" (Knopf). Mrs. Speyer was a former violinist of note, giving up music to write and then transplanting her music in her verse. She is a woman of wealth and her salon on Washington Square is a gathering place for artists and writers. Her talent runs largely to musical verse, though in some of her ballads there is fine fantasy and humor. She long since has been accepted as one of our leading poets.

As this is written there are innumerable critics prepared to award Edwin Arlington Robinson's "Tristram" a place beside the greatest poems in the English language. There are others who will say that "Tristram" is the greatest poem to be written by an American. And there is some justification for all claims. Robinson, whose place for some years has been secure, is engaging the present public clamor largely thanks to one of those enterprising new book distributing concerns.

It happens that "Tristram" is the third selection of the Literary Guild of America and that—heaven be praised—a book of noble blank verse, of great lyric beauty, will be forced into the hands of fifty thousand or more readers. Through such happenings may come that long-argued renaissance of general taste. And some readers, their appetites whetted by this meeting with Robinson, may turn to his New England notes, which we happen to prefer since they are more essentially American and seem to us of greater depth and importance than the recasting of that romantic Tristram-Islet, retold through the ages.

Were it not that we hail with joy any burst of beauty in a tawdry careless age, we would be inclined to protest this or any other presentation of the sugary-romantic viewpoint of the "nines nineties" . . . but why quibble? Robinson creates moods and pictures that are classic and puts great imagination into his characters.

He is one of the great poets, doubtless, though we would prefer to have him live in his day and his country. And, again we bow to his New England poems.

TALK TO REPAIR MEN TO HEAR ABOUT TIRES

"If you really want to know tires, talk to the men who repair them." That is the advice of Dave Housen of Housen's Service Station and Garage.

"You can puncture any tire, for there are many sharp objects much harder than rubber, which can be forced through it. But some tires puncture much easier than others because of poor construction. This often leads to quick and costly failure of the tire. Moisture penetrates the hole, rots the plies and the tire soon gives way."

Think! The Hospital Asks You For The Gift Of One Day's Labor To Help It For 365 Days

Remember the Success of this Plan Depends Upon Every Individual Doing His or Her
Part in Order to Raise $50,000

What They Eat

There were 97,080 meals served which means that 33% of the town could be furnished three meals a day on what is given to the patients at the hospital.

There were 8,759 loaves of bread used, and allowing only 10 inches for the length of each loaf, if placed end to end would reach from the Center to Forest street, or sufficient to five one-third of a loaf to 30 per cent of the town's whole population.

There were served 541 dozen of rolls.

This would give an additional roll to forty per cent. of the town's population.

There were 2,620 dozen eggs used or sufficient to provide every man, woman or child in Manchester an egg for three meals each day.

1,174 oranges were used. This would be sufficient to furnish an orange a day to sixty per cent. of the whole town's population.

There was 297½ dozen of lemons used. This would be enough to furnish a glass of lemonade twice a day to all the people in Manchester during the four summer months of the year.

Butter to the amount of 1,885 pounds were used. This would give each person in town 1 4-5 ounces of butter a day.

There was 15,969 quarts of milk used. This would give each person in Manchester over a pint of milk each day.

There was 4,028 pounds of sugar used. Or enough to give every person in Manchester a fifth of a pound a day.

There were 278 bushels of potatoes used. This is better than 4 ounces to each person in Manchester a day.

There was 12,472 pounds of meat and fish served. This would allow 4½ ounces of meat or fish a day to all in Manchester.

What Is Behind Each Case

The Manchester Memorial Hospital has cared for 1,384 patients during the year: 568 male and 816 female.

Has any of your relatives been among them?

There has been an average of 47 patients a day.

Their average daily stay has been twelve days.

Their total daily care has been 17,105.

Do you know what this means?

It means that at home you would have a person ill for four years and three months.

The hospital has done this all in one year.

There has been 710 operations performed.

This is at the rate of two a day.

There has been 4,464 laboratory examinations.

This means that there has been twelve of these examinations a day.

They may take fifteen minutes, an hour or two hours. Could your doctor give his time to this? If he did it would take eighteen hours of his time each day.

When could he call?

The hospital takes care of these tests and the doctor takes care of you.

These are the days of specialists.

A specialist does the work.

There has been 449 X-Ray examinations.

Each picture must be read.

Men who make this their life work does this.

All is furnished in addition to bed, clothing and nursing.

How It Can be Done

This looks big, but just consider:

A Cigar costs 15c a day
A deck of Cigarettes cost 15c a day
A College Ice costs 15c a day
A Milk Shake costs 15c a day

This means 15 cents for 365 days, giving you only one of these items, a total of $48.75 a year.

All that is asked is "one day's pay for the hospital."

QUOIT PITCHING TO PROVE POPULAR DURING THE SUMMER

Army and Navy Tournament Gets Under Way With 13 Teams and Tommy Weir Plans Another One at West Side.

(By the Sports Editor)

Expectations are that horseshoe pitching will create far more interest in Manchester this summer than in many years. Last year, the sport gained considerable headway but it bids fair to surpass that mark this year. Already one tournament is in progress and another is planned. And this won't include the numerous games that will be played on the private courts which have been staked out in the backyard of many homes about town.

The Army and Navy club tournament got underway last night and Tom Weir is planning to organize another circuit at the West Side Rec which will include many of the best players in Manchester.

18 Teams Entered

There are thirteen teams in the ex-service men's tournament and either one will be added or one dropped to make an even number. The latter seems the most probable. In all probability the twelve teams will then meet each other once in the first tournament. Then the partners will be shifted and a new tournament staged. There are two courts staked out at the rear of the clubhouse and a large crowd watched the matches last night. Owing to a late start and darkness, the games last night were limited to fifteen points. There was a liberal contribution of "ringers" and general all-around good pitching.

The Results

The results of last night's games were:

- Shields and Kennedy beat Blanchard and McCann. The scores were 15 to 4; 15 to 1; 15 to 6.
- C. Anderson and Mallon defeated D'Amico and Hartnett by scores of 15 to 11; 15 to 10; 15 to 6.
- T. Anderson and Peterson won from Rudy and Sheeky; 15 to 15; 15 to 10 and 15 to 2.
- Hope and Brennan defeated McCaughy and Chambers 15 to 13; 12 to 15 and 15 to 9.
- Tomorrow night Teams No. 3, 4, 6, 7, and 12 will swing into action at 8:30.

The Teams

The pairing of the players on the thirteen teams is as follows:

- Team No. 1—Frank McCaughy and Earl Chambers.
- No. 2—William Sheeky and John Rody.
- No. 3—Michael J. McDonnell and John McCollum.
- No. 4—Harry McCormick and Frank Blanchard.
- No. 5—Joseph McCann and Frank Blanchard.
- No. 6—William Lamprecht and John Mannise.
- No. 7—Reinart Lamprecht and Clarence Wetherell.
- No. 8—Theodore Anderson and Clarence Peterson.
- No. 9—George Kennedy and William Shields.
- No. 10—Frank D'Amico and John Hartnett.
- No. 11—Thomas Brennan and Fred Hope.
- No. 12—Edward Quish and Thomas Gleason.
- No. 13—Carl Anderson and George Mallon.

Local Sport Chatter

Horseshoe-pitching bids fair to be one of the most popular of the minor sports in Manchester during the summer months. A tournament has already been formed at the Army and Navy club and another is to be organized under the supervision of the West Side Recreation Center management. The sport provides plenty of fun for those who watch it as well as those who indulge in it.

Both the high school and the Community club baseball nines have a busy slate ahead of them this week—three games.

The State Trade school baseball nine plays at Meriden tomorrow afternoon against the Trade school of that city and on Friday afternoon meets Springfield Vocational school at Mt. Nebo.

The baseball game between Rooms 23 and 24 in the Freshman inter-room league was postponed yesterday afternoon because of the rainy weather and will be played Thursday afternoon. This afternoon Rooms 13 and 14 are slated to oppose each other.

Director George H. Washburn of the Manchester Community club makes no denial of the fact that he will oppose his team entering any triangular town league of which Cheney Brothers are a member unless a change is made in the coaching situation. He does not hold any ill feeling against the mill team but insists that a league could not be formed with Bill Brennan coaching both the Community club and Cheney Brothers as he does at present. George says Brennan will have to drop one or the other team.

It would be quite a complicated situation, come to think about it, to have one coach know the signals of two different teams in a league, wouldn't it?

Wonder who is going to be the first player to register a hole-in-one at the Country Golf club this season, if a real one. Simpson holds the club record in this respect.

Young Ernie Dowd, the only Freshman regular on the high school baseball team, has the earmarks of a real corner. He holds his position in right field nicely, bats well, and above all, knows how to use his "bean." And he does. Try Holland and Jimmy Foley are two other players about whom the same might be said.

The S. M. H. S. track team will invade Meriden Saturday afternoon for a meet with the Silver City high school athletes. Manchester was noted out by New Britain High here Saturday 54 1-2 to 49 1-2.

The Plainfield Community club basketball club is planning to hold a banquet shortly. It was scheduled for a week ago but was postponed because of the death of the manager's father.

Judging from the popularity Frankie Busch gained as boxing instructor, he ought also to make many more friends when he assumes his new duty of life guard at Globe Hollow shortly.

To Admit Girls Free When Outdoor Boxing Starts Here

The first outdoor amateur boxing tournament to be conducted at the baseball stadium on McKee street by Cheney Brothers will not be staged until Wednesday evening, May 25, it was decided last night at a special meeting of the board of directors of the association. It had been originally planned to start the outdoor tournaments on the previous Wednesday but because of an unusually large attraction at the Hartford Velodrome where a Philadelphia team of boxers is to show its wares, it was deemed advisable to postpone the local outdoor boxing debut one week.

While plans have not been entirely completed, it is the plan to allow the ladies to witness the first outdoor tournament here free. It is hoped that this offer will cause the fairer sex to turn out in large numbers and to become steady patrons.

TWILIGHT BALL STARTS TONIGHT

Cheney Brothers and Fuller Brush Company of Hartford play at Stadium at Six Bells.

Twilight baseball will be ushered into Manchester tonight when Cheney Brothers and the Fuller Brush Company of Hartford play an exhibition game at the stadium. Play starts at 6 o'clock.

The lineup of both teams is more or less problematical due to the fact that it is to be an exhibition game. Both managers will undoubtedly use most of their players. Sammy Hewitt, local boy, is expected to be in the Fuller Brush lineup.

Manager Jack Jenney said today he was trying to book the Belding-Hummelway nine of Putnam to open the season here on Saturday afternoon.

Manager Wilfred Bulla stated this morning that he had as yet been unable to book a twilight game for his team to be played Thursday night. He has been negotiating with the Hartford Colored Stars and went to Hartford last night seeking a game. The Saints will practice tomorrow night at the West Side Playgrounds at 5:30 and all candidates must report.

THREE GAMES THIS WEEK FOR S. M. H. S.

Rockville Tomorrow, New London Thursday and Wilimantic Saturday; Kelley Has Four Pitchers.

A busy week confronts Coach Tommy Kelley's S. M. H. S. baseball nine. Three games on the slate, two of them to be played at home.

Tomorrow afternoon, the local outfit goes to Rockville to renew relations with Rockville High after many years of "silence". Thursday afternoon, Bulkeley High, of New London, will play at the McKee street stadium and on Saturday afternoon, Windham High comes to town hoping to avenge for the basketball defeat it suffered here.

Coach Kelley has a quartet of twirlers awaiting nomination for the three assignments and it is quite probable that Herb Wright, a newcomer, hailing from the north end, will get the call in Rockville with Jerry Holmes and Wilfred Wiley twirling the home games in the order mentioned. Albert Peterson also may be sent to the hill during one of the three games.

Manchester High has played two games to date losing to West Hartford High at West Hartford 6 to 9 and winning from Bristol High here 13 to 2. In the first game, the locals did not play good but in the second they were a greatly improved ball club. There was as much difference as between day and night. And in no small way, this was due to the efforts of the coach who is working hard to make a strong nine.

GILL HITS HOMER AND TWO DOUBLES

The Warriors defeated the Polish Americans Monday evening by the score of 9 to 7. Coe, a south-paw, pitched a fine game, striking out 14 batters and also made two hits. Gill, Wells and T. Chambers also batted well, Gill getting a homer and two doubles. For the losers, Hank, Falkowski and Parckiehl were the best. The Warriors play the Hilliard street nine Thursday at Hickey's Grove and Sunday they travel to Newington to play the town team of that place.

It took six years to set a Whitney horse down in heat at the Preakness and it has been all of twelve since Regret, the filly, carried the colors over the line at the Derby. But anything is possible with a horse that can run around its field to win in the closing strides. As only a good horse can, and Bostonian did this yesterday. The time 2:01 3-5, wasn't fast but neither was the track.

BOSTONIAN WINS PREAKNESS; SHIPPED TO RUN IN DERBY

"Play the Whitney Entry" Slogan Paid Well Yesterday—Whiskery Finished Third In Race.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
I. N. S. Sports Editor.

New York, May 19.—"Play the Whitney entry," said the grandfather of the Emperor Nero the first time he took the boy violinist out to the Applin Way to see what made the wheels go around. And so it has been on every first-class race track these number of years, the advice having proved to be sound and withal reasonably remunerative.

It might have been more so, except that it was many a semester before the notion paid off after a running of the Preakness and Derby, and the number of citizens who simply met a number of dollars on these races are equally surprising. But all things come to an end, including the opposing tackle, and that "Play the Whitney" slogan paid off plenty on Bostonian and Whiskery after the thirty-seventh running of the Preakness at Pimlico yesterday.

Go to Derby.

Today, both colts were to be consigned, F. O. B. Churchill Downs, for the race of races on Saturday next. At least, James Rowe announced before the Preakness that, win or lose, both would go to the Derby. They won; that is Bostonian won by a half length in the final fifty yards and Whiskery, the pet of the string, finished third behind Sir Harry, the Seagram horse, in a driving finish.

Took Six Years.

It took six years to set a Whitney horse down in heat at the Preakness and it has been all of twelve since Regret, the filly, carried the colors over the line at the Derby. THE INSIDE BASEBALL BY BILLY EVANS

THIS TELLS IT

2. Sixty feet, six inches.

The Preakness was so truly run that not a horse, jockey, trainer or owner was in a position to post-mortem the situation today. Black Panther might be excepted from that statement but the rest were without a rejoinder of any kind.

But L started out to talk about the Whitney horses and Scapa Flow. Very well; I'll finish with them by offering these thoughts: If a Whitney horse wins the Derby, that sportsman will be so far in front as a winning owner that the other won't catch him during the season with apoplexy. If Scapa Flow can't move his weak ankles in the soft going at Pimlico, what will be if the Downs are dry, as they are likely to be?

THE TINYMITE STORY BY HAL COCHRAN - PICTURES BY KNICK

"And now," said Daffydoe, "I'll fix a table, just one of my tricks. You Tynmites trim the berries of their little stems and such. It really isn't hard to do, so hurry now, and please get through. I seem to get more hungry, every berry that I touch." So all the Tynmites sat right down, and spread the berries on the ground. Then Daffydoe brought out a plate and said, "We'll put them here. Get water from the nearby well, and wash them till they look real swell, and then when we are eating them, of dirt we'll have no fear." A great big stone stood right nearby, and Daffydoe exclaimed, "Now I will fix a lot of places on this stone where we can eat." He found small rocks around the place and, as a smile spread on his face, he said, "Each one of these, of course, will answer as a seat." The Tynmites fixed the berries most...

and spread them out upon the plate. And then they all sat down to dine, all almost starved to death. Scouty, as he swallowed fast, said, "My share of berries will not last so very long. I hardly stop to take a real good breath." Just then the bunch heard Clowny yell, and everything just went pell-mell. The dishes on the table soon were flying here and there. A funny cat, with monkey face, went o'er the table on a race. It caught the Tynmites with surprise and gave them quite a scare. "Hey, cut that out," said Daffydoe. "The Tynmites knew he meant it, too. He reached and grabbed the monkey by its long and dangling tail. The cat-faced monkey seemed real proud till Daffy lectured him aloud, and then he knew that being bad was quite to no avail. (The Tynmites meet a hippopotamus in the next page.)
