Hospital Fund Today Just Under $25,000; Increase Over Yesterday's Total Spurs Workers.

Contributions in the Memorial Hospital drive for $50,000 showed an increase today of nearly $2,000 over the total of contributions published yesterday.

Table with 2 columns: Team No., Total. Rows 1-10 showing cumulative totals.

Total $24,626.50 Total yesterday $18,626.50 Total for today over yesterday $7,280

This is the last day on which teams in the Memorial hospital drive will be restricted to work in their assigned territories.

Second Thought Within the last day or two a number of persons who thought they could not see their way clear to making donations when the canvassers called, or who made gifts smaller than their means would warrant, have sent checks to headquarters or have called there in person.

From four to five times as many people have given money to the hospital this year as did last year, when the amount collected fell short by $9,000, leaving a deficit to be made up this year.

Contrary to the impression that has been formed by some, the Disher Endowment fund of the hospital cannot be spent, and only the income from this fund, amounting to $6,000 a year, can be used.

Part of the fund is being paid directly into the hospital for the fund was created for the use of its income alone.

Few Desirable Rents Found in Manchester

Herald Man Covers Every Street in Town's Residential Section Checking Up Vacant Houses—What He Found.

There are only a few desirable tenements to rent in Manchester. There is no surplus of vacant houses. Contrary to an opinion that has been falsely formed here, the vacant houses, tenements, and flats are few and far between in Manchester.

A Herald representative has just completed a thorough canvass of the residential sections of Manchester. The inspection was inaugurated upon the suggestion of a local man who insisted that a mistaken impression carried in the minds of a great many people was actually hurting business here.

Here are the results: The town is growing in population despite opinions that differ with that assertion. More people would come here to live if there were more desirable rents. A great majority of the vacant houses here are vacant because they are in poor repair or because the rental fee is too high.

Following is the summary of the drive at noon today: Team No. 1 $2,725.13 Team No. 2 2,211.39 Team No. 3 2,675.39 Team No. 4 2,409.54 Team No. 5 2,047.89 Team No. 6 2,702.64 Team No. 7 2,389.89 Team No. 8 2,977.40 Team No. 9 2,595.44 Team No. 10 2,471.79

"Broadway Gets 'Em" But He Got Broadway!

Broadway has seen its success form via squarely reversed by Gene Buck, song writer and theatrical producer, who sticks out on the "big street" without ever going near a night club.

New York, May 13.—There's an old tradition that Broadway, like the Canadian Mounted police, sooner or later gets its man. To reach the Broadway peaks, they say, one must "play the town, night clubbing and all that." "Applause," said Gene Buck, who made his bow as a big producer this season, but whose name for many a year before was one of the most familiar on the "big street."

Gene Buck doesn't drink, he is practically unknown to the night clubs, he is modest and sentimental, he makes no flash pretensions, he likes to be home with his wife and youngsters—in a word he reverses the traditional Broadway formula. And yet he is one of the most important figures on the "big street."

"The trouble with a lot of the Broadway people is that they forget who they are," he commented, pleasantly drawing his words. "Now you like an actor, put him in a show, there he plays a millionaire. He's a stage millionaire for four months and when he leaves the theater, he is a millionaire. That is, he thinks he is and he tries to behave like one."

Gene's Start Who is this Gene Buck? Well, a little more than 20 years ago he was living in Detroit and going about with sightless eyes. Overnight his eyesight was recovered and he came to this town to tune in on Tin Pan Alley. Here he started by drawing those fancy covers of sheet music. He had something like $13 in his pocket.

He had a quick ear for tunes and while he couldn't jot down music he could whistle and hum compositions and get someone else to put down the notes. And soon were appearing such successes as "Hello, Frisco," "Blushing Rose," "Tulip Time" and a score of others written in collaboration with everybody from Victor Herbert to Mischa Elman.

He soon found that this thing of "being yourself" went considerably better than pretension—a rule conduct which other newcomers to Broadway well might apply. He's An Explorer. At any rate, when Buck had found out what Broadway was all about he moved into the Ziegfeld office and there, for many a year, he assisted materially in "glorifying the American girl"—and, also, American comedy; for he has a seventh sense for uncovering hidden laughmakers. He wrote seventeen Follies and almost as many Mid-night Follies.

WORLD'S PEACE DEPENDENT ON SIX COUNTRIES

Britain Is In Vortex of Jealousy and Bickering Says Peace Observer.

New York.—The British Isles are in the very vortex upon which centers all the jealousies, the bickerings, the ambitions and intrigue of European nations that lead toward war, as well as the center of the International Peace movement, according to Dr. Fred B. Smith, chairman of the Executive Committee of the World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches, after returning from a ten weeks' intensive study of political conditions, mainly in England, France and Italy.

A World Traveller Dr. Smith has crossed the Atlantic ocean sixty-six times, in connection with the promotion of some social welfare task of international importance. He has also crossed the Pacific ocean eleven times and has gone around the world five times on similar errands. While on the trip from which he has just returned, he spoke during the month of March in the City Temple of London, attended the National Convention of the Free Church Council, and the National Council of the Young Men's Christian Association, but mainly he interviewed large numbers of leaders in the countries he visited and made personal studies at the more important centers. His report says: "Great Britain, United States, France, Italy, Germany and Russia are the nations upon whom international peace chiefly depends. Britain, Dr. Smith found, desperately wants peace and is the balancing factor working toward that end."

We Want Peace "The United States also wants peace, and there seems to be an opinion on the part of leaders in almost every country that America has some mysterious power, which, if properly exerted, can prevent another war. While the European Powers may not agree with the political or economic programs of the United States, they have confidence in American strength and influence can prevent war."

France wants peace but fears war, and therefore maintains her preparedness for the latter. "Italy is definitely embarked on an expansionist-consolidation program and cares neither for peace or war. Italy is one of the uncertain quantities in the problem of Europe's peace."

Germany is disarmed and making rapid strides toward full economic recovery. Germany wants peace, but the very fact of her great economic and industrial activity, forcing her products into foreign markets, makes her an uncertain quantity. "Russia is the international question mark."

Washington, May 13.—The government's conspiracy case against Harry F. Sinclair and ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. OVER 300 BOXERS LICENSED IN STATE

Hartford, May 13.—Pessimistic reports of a decline in professional boxing are contradicted by figures issued from the State Athletic Department office here today, showing that fully one hundred more fighter licenses will be issued this year than were issued the first year the single-headed boxing commission was in operation.

Thomas E. Donohue, state commissioner, has issued 273 licenses to date and before the end of the fiscal year on June 30, the total will have passed the 300 mark, according to estimates by Miss Ellen M. McLaughlin, secretary. In the preceding year only 199 licenses were issued. The net revenue on the new crop of fighters is $2,730, as each person has to pay the state a license fee of ten dollars. Eighteen promoters' licenses have been issued to date. This is four less than in the preceding year, but more of this year's licenses have been put to use. The first year one promoter took out licenses to operate in seven cities and used only two, this bringing the active certificates to seventeen.

Licenses in force today cover New Haven, Hartford, Bridgeport, Norwich, New London, Stamford, Waterbury, Meriden, New Britain and East Hartford. It's a poor Welsh rabbit that doesn't make you regret having formed its acquaintance.

MYSTERY IN MADISON BAFFLES REPORTERS

Madison, Conn., May 13.—Coroner Ell Mix today started an investigation into the death of a local business man whose body was found in his shop here during the night. The name of the man is being withheld by the authorities "for the present" and they refuse to discuss the affair beyond saying an investigation is under way. "I cannot discuss the affair at this time," said Dr. Milo Ringold, medical examiner. "I cannot even make public the name of the dead man."

According to reports from unofficial sources the dead man is believed to have been slain by shooting. He was first reported, as having died from heart trouble, and no mystery was attached to the case. Constable Harry Bishop was called into the case and then the coroner was notified.

Few residents of the village knew about the case until queries from out-of-town newspapers began to flow in. Then the story spread until it was magnified into a murder mystery. This mystery Dr. Ringold resolutely refused to clear up.

NOT TO STOP FIGHT

New York, May 13.—Efforts of Walter Taylor, Cleveland sports promoter, to halt the projected Jimmy Maloney-Jack Sharkey heavyweight bout on May 19, met with failure today. Federal Judge William H. Goddard denied Taylor's application for an injunction to halt the fight until Maloney had lived up to an agreement to meet Johnny Risko in Cleveland on May 1. Taylor contended Tax Rickard, Dan Carroll, Maloney's manager, and the Boston fighter had contracted for the bout. Rickard, however, claimed a $1,000 guarantee he had posted had been forfeited, and that he was under no further obligation to hold the fight.

Milne Promoted to find a desirable place to locate here. For example, a Hartford man wanted a good six room tenement in a section of the town which was handy to cars, stores and post office. He was willing to pay a good rental fee. It was nearly impossible to find one that could even approach the point of desirability. A rent was finally located for him but the house was an old one.

Lives Elsewhere Another Hartford man wanted a single house in a good section. He was willing to pay from $35 to $45 per month, and, in order to make this town his home, he would consider a good flat. He canvassed every possibility—and he is now living in Windsor. That man and his family would be residents here if Manchester had a good selection of rents.

There are just under 5,000 homes in Manchester. Only two per cent of these homes are available for prospective tenants. As the local man who investigated this canvass by The Herald said, "What man in Manchester can do a satisfactory business on a two per cent surplus?" Manchester must have a stock from which to select if business men hope to see a greater trading population within the residential areas. A larger number of desirable tenements must be vacant and available in order to attract new residents.

Poor Repair the Cause In nearly all instances of vacancies in houses that have been accepted poor repair is the obvious reason for non-rental. Several vacancies were noted in four-family houses. The tenements were not in good condition, and in many cases the houses on the next lot was a four-family block, in good condition, and every tenement rented. It seems to be the case when a house is kept in good repair and the surrounding area is clean, that the house is quickly rented.

In the inspection trip taken by The Herald's representative it was noted that the desire to live in better quarters is leaving the poorly kept tenements empty. Families have lived in rents that are cheap, perhaps, but in a dilapidated condition. The children have grown up, are working, and want to live under better conditions. The family moves to another tenement, that is a little more, no doubt, but it is in good condition and of a higher quality. The urge to better one's surroundings is simply leaving the "old shacks" idle and undesirable.

Too few are vacant. That is where the vacant rents in Manchester are to be found—where few people want to live. Not all available rents in Manchester are undesirable, that is true, but the desirable and available number is much smaller than the undesirable. As a result of this careful investigation The Herald is satisfied that the opposite of the general impression is true—the number of vacant tenements in Manchester is too small to allow for a natural and healthy growth of the town.

I assure you that this government is doing everything humanly possible to assist in the search and I pray that this search may issue in success."

Gray by his attorney, William T. Millard, but they, too, were denied.

Justice Scudder first set the date of the execution for March 20 (the date of the murder) but corrected himself.

None of the relatives of the condemned pair was in the courtroom. Mrs. Snyder's mother remained in the Snyder home at Queens village where Snyder was beaten to death with an iron sashweight on the morning of March 20 as he slept.

Gray's mother, who attended the trial, also remained at home but she plans to visit her son in the prison tomorrow.

Jurors Present. The jurors who convicted the couple were in their seats in the jury box as sentence was pronounced, although Hazleton had requested that they be excluded during the proceedings.

When Gray was asked if he had anything to say, Millard spoke for him at once saying: "No."

The spectators, sensing the solemnity of the occasion, maintained absolute silence as sentence was intoned.

"Keep Up Hope." The proceedings were over quickly. As the judge finished his careful words, there was a moment of hesitation. Then Attorney Millard turned to Gray and whispered: "Keep up your hope."

WOMEN BETTER FITTED TO DETERMINE STYLES

Fashion Experts Says Too Many Men Are Passing On Designs Now.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 13.—Women are better fitted than men to determine the new styles in cotton fabrics, Miss Laurice T. Moreland, fashion expert, today told delegates here for the joint convention of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers and the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

"Too many men and not enough women are passing on or rejecting new designs in cotton fabrics before they are offered to the buyer in the retail store," she said.

The convention opened last night with a meeting of the board of governors of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

This afternoon both associations meet for a conference with representatives of other branches of the industry on merchandising and distributing.

FRIDAY THE 13TH BAD FOR GERMANY Panic on Berlin Stock Exchange as Stocks Fall—The Reason.

Berlin, May 13.—Friday, the Thirteenth was indeed an unlucky day for many Berlin stock exchange operators.

Something akin to a panic developed on the stock exchange, when stocks crashed an average of forty points as the result of credit restrictions imposed on banks by President Schacht of the Reichsbank.

DOUGHBOYS IN CHINA NOW HAVE NEW WOE LEARNING LANGUAGE

Washington, May 13.—New woes have been stored up for the doughboy officers stationed with the 15th Infantry at Tientsin, China. Now they must learn to converse in Chinese, and the difficulty of this task may readily be inferred from the fact that China has several hundred dialects and from the further knowledge that the major dialects have scores of worlds or characters in ordinary usage which have as many as five and six widely different meanings.

Heretofore only the language officers detailed with the regiment were required to speak Chinese, but because of the disrupted political and military situation of the country the commanding officer of the outfit has found it necessary to form a language school for the benefit of all the officers under his command.

TOOTHBRUSH AND COMB LINDBERGH'S BAGGAGE Mineola, Long Island, N. Y., May 13.—As casually as if he were planning a week-end trip to Atlantic City, Captain Charles Lindbergh, "The Kid Flier," "The Flynn Fool," sauntered today from Garden City hotel to Curtis field, greeted the men whom he intends to defeat in a race to Paris.

In his pocket was a toothbrush and comb—his total personal baggage.

Soft spoken and extremely boyish, Captain Lindbergh repeatedly depreciated the feat he is about to undertake, and said: "No Fuss" "I'm not making much fuss about preparations."

He dispenses with sextants and all other navigation instruments, and plans his course by "dead reckoning," or compass readings.

He has a habit flying alone, and on two occasions has been forced to jump for his life with a parachute when he was the only occupant of his plane.

SEE SEA SERPENTS Vancouver, B. C., May 13.—The notorious Ogopogo, supposed inland sea serpent, has been seen again in Okanagan Lake, according to reports brought in today by Mrs. F. V. Boyle and Mrs. W. A. Newton, residents of Kelowna.

REWARD FOR SEARCHERS. Washington, May 13.—A reward of $5,000 to any aviator who discovers the missing French flyers, Captains Nungesser and Coll, or their plane, the White Bird, was offered today by Raymond Orteig, who put up the $25,000 prize for a non-stop New York-Paris flight.

Announcement of the reward was made by W. P. MacCracken, Jr., air secretary of the Department of Commerce.

INDIAN PAGEANT BY BOY SCOUTS

State Armory at Hartford to Be Transformed Into Regular Wild West.

The great area of the State Armory, Hartford, will be transformed next Friday and Saturday into the broad plains of the West, for the production of the Boy Scout Indian Pageant and Exposition.

It is expected that the pageant, which will be under the immediate direction of Ralph Hubbard, second son of the late Elbert Hubbard, as well as the entire Boy Scout Exposition of which the pageant is a part, will attract thousands of visitors from Hartford and near-by cities.

The news that "Chief Black Hawk" is in the capitol city spread about and it is rumored that Scout troops are to march upon the city—in friendly guard of course—to view the jamboree.

Poteries, rugs, skins, and silver valued at several thousand dollars along with an almost unlimited equipment of authentic Indian costumes and an entire tepee village will, it is said, exercise the imagination into belief that the Ojibways, Senecas and Sioux with their impressive chieftains, have come to Hartford.

In the program of plains Indian dances and ceremonies, Reginald Laubin, a local boy, will play an important part. According to Mr. Hubbard, who is an authority on Indian lore, young Laubin, by means of exhaustive reading and diligent study of the life and temperament of the plains Indians has reached a marked perfection in interpretation of the dances and ceremonies.

A hundred Scouts, including some twenty-five Waterbury, where the pageant has been given with unusual success, will demonstrate the colorful and often weird dances and ceremonials at stated times on Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening.

On the program will appear such features as an excerpt from the Sun Dance, a plains Indian ceremonial said to be 250 years old. To quote Mr. Hubbard, who was taught the Sun Dance and many other ceremonials by Indians: "Originally the Sun Dance was strictly a religious revival nature, but since the advent of the white man on the North American continent, certain barbaric features have been introduced, which, witnessed by whites, have led to the common conception that the Sun Dance is primarily an initiation for the warrior into a tribe.

"About the only tribes left on the plains who are allowed to do the Sun Dance are the Utes and the Crows. Occasionally, the Arapahoes are permitted to carry on part of the festivities. In our pageant in Hartford, we shall not be able to picture the entire Sun Dance."

Second only in importance to the Indian Pageant, will be the two other divisions of the exposition. These include a demonstration of scouting in general, and a complete exposition of the Merit Badge plan

A New Way to Launch Boats

Launching of rescue boats was easy in this flooded district near Natchez, Miss. The boats were backed into the water and the boats floated from the flat cars. The boats were rushed to the flood area by the New Jersey coast guard.

which is the system of honors carried on parallel with the ordinary Scout requirements and tests.

The Trail of Citizenship which every Scout follows from the time he enters as a Tenderfoot, will serve as an illustration for the Scouts themselves, as well as the general public, which is aimed to help them visualize more clearly the bearing that Scout training has upon ultimate vocation.

The Hartford Council of Boy Scouts, under the supervision of Frederick C. Hill, in cooperation with the several Service Clubs/Industrial and business houses of Hartford has arranged for a series of booths along the Trail of Citizenship, demonstrating the many merits for which a Scout may receive recognition.

It is understood that Bill Tasillo's band of 20 pieces has been engaged to play from 7:00 to 10:00 on both Friday and Saturday evenings, and from 2:00 to 5:00 on Saturday afternoon.

The sale of tickets is going well, according to the latest reports from headquarters. About 4,000 are in the hands of the Scouts and accounts show that they are being sold. Approximately 3,000 tickets are in the hands of the Service Clubs and the members of the Executive committee of the Scout Council are selling, as well.

KING PUTS BELGIUM ON FEET AGAIN

Albert Shines as Dictator of Finance.

By MILTON BRONNER

Brussels, May 13.—If King Albert doesn't look out, he is going to be as popular in Belgium in time of peace as he was in time of war. It's because financial plans he devised bid fair to restore stability to Belgium's industry, health to the national budget, work and adequate wages to the country in general.

Last year the finances of Belgium seemed hopeless. The Belgian franc performed as wild gyrations as did the French franc. Then the Belgian Parliament did a thing unprecedented in the history of kingdoms. It practically made King Albert the financial dictator of the country. It gave him almost supreme power.

Crucial Period Near The king called in some of the best bankers and economists of the country as his advisers. They set to work.

The crucial period will come next fall when the budget for 1928 is prepared. But just at present things look rosy.

The Beiga, the new Belgian franc, has been stabilized at 175 to the pound sterling. Capital has flowed into the country to the tune of 6 billion francs. The major part of this capital has been American and German, the latter chiefly being invested in the metallurgical industries.

Living Cost Rise Due While in world markets the franc has been stabilized at 175 francs to the pound, inside the country the purchasing power has been about 125 francs to the pound. But with the march of time the tendency will be for these values to balance. Then industry will face its crisis. Higher wages will be demanded. At present the business barometer in Belgium is as follows: Textile and cement industries—condition very good. Metallurgical industries—satisfactory. Coal—depressed, like the coal business of all Europe. Glass—crippled by revolutions disturbing the Chinese market.

When the yellow streak begins to work out of some people they have a fit of the blues.

An Ex-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE by PAUL ADAMS N.E.A. Service

At the edge of the Argonne Forest is the Hotel de Metz, where Jean Grossette, proprietor, will serve a visitor with a dinner of pigs' feet and let him sleep in the room where Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette stopped during their flight—all this for $1.40.

This is the 30th chapter in the story of a former doughboy who is revisiting France as a correspondent for The Herald and an advance guard of the "Second A. E. F."

CHAPTER XXX

"Beautifla Kaytee, Beautifla Kaytee, Yure a ony, ony gurl zat I adoure—"

That song is familiar, but it sounds very strange in the streets of Dun-sur-Meuse. It prompts an immediate investigation. Standing at the end of the heavy bridge over the river, a line from a long bamboo pole dangling in the green water, is the singer. He's a young man—Paul Ambrose by name. He speaks "war English," which in France, compares favorably with "war French."

Doughboys Taught Him

But he managed to explain that he was seven years old when the Americans were in Dun. He hung around the O. D.-lad soldiers all the time. They gave him "chwingum" and "cigaretts pour mon papa." They also gave him white bread and beans on their feast days. And they taught him to sing two songs:

"La, ga she was zalulu Ever nich zalulu, Lulu, zat ul gel a mine."

Yes, the American soldiers did sing that song. Correct memories show that Lulu was quite a "gel," as "gels" go. But Paul knows the whole chorus of "Beautiful Katy."

He even puts in the stutters on "the cowshed" and the "k-k-k-kitchen door." He's not the black-smocked, wooden-shoed youngster that he was in the days when Dun had a wooden bridgehead that was put up under German machine gun fire and most of the houses on top of the high hill were in ruins.

They Haven't Forgotten
He's a young man, almost ready to step out and do his turn in the French military service. But he hasn't forgotten the American soldiers. And he says he will always be able to sing:

"Beautifla Kaytee, Beautifla Kaytee, Yure a ony, ony gurl zat I adoure—"

Which speaks well for the American influence. What song will the "Second A. E. F." leave behind?

Tomorrow: Monuments.

INTOXICATION IS SHOWN BY TEST

Cincinnati, O.—Cloves, peppermint or any of the much-advertised breath-sweeteners will not disguise the presence of liquor from vigilant wives who use a chemical test, invented by Dr. Emil Bogen of the University of Cincinnati. Nor can the husband "who carries his liquor like a gentleman" disguise the extent of his intoxication. The test consists of persuading the victim to inflate a toy balloon or football bladder with his own breath, then pass the air through a solution of potassium bichromate which changes from yellow to green in proportion to the amount of alcohol the breath contains.

Some men are constantly trying to lower the record for meanness.

BALLETS AND BOXING IN REC EXHIBITION

Seven Dancing Classes and Boy Athletes Give Colorful Show As Season Ends.

More than 200 people witnessed the final exhibition of the gymnastic and dancing classes at the School Street Rec last night. Seven classes took part in the exhibition, which was a colorful affair.

Particularly interesting were the numbers given by members of the women's dancing class, who interpreted the ballet, "Nola," an esthetic dance named "Joy Bubbles," and a scarf dance. The dancing classes had been working all winter under the direction of Miss Dorothy Hardy.

Other classes which figured prominently were the children's dancing group of the School Street and West Side buildings and their numbers included a scarf dance, polka and a Dresden doll dance.

The gym classes, which went through intricate tactical drills and calisthenic movements, showed the effect of their training under Miss Ruth Calhoun, instructor of the women. Chief among them were the tactical drills of the women's class while one of the interesting numbers was the apparatus work by the same group.

Small Boxers on Job

Frank Bush, instructor of the boxing classes, put on a sample day's work as a special feature. He brought four boys with him and went through muscle exercises, rope skipping and boxing. Two two-round bouts were seen, between Francis Klein and Robert McCormick, and Wilson McCormick and Robert McConnell. Mr. Bush himself went two rounds with Arthur St. John, one of his pupils, demonstrating the various blows and the methods of countering them.

All classes were in costume and unusual lighting arrangements enhanced the effect of the colorful uniforms. The exhibition was concluded with a Japanese lantern march in which all those in the classes took part. All lights in the gymnasium were put out and the only illumination during the march came from the lanterns.

Following the exhibition pictures were taken of the different groups by Maurice Pasternack of the Elite Studio. A chicken dinner, served by Osano, was given for the members of the women's gymnasium classes.

Piano accompaniment was played by Miss Dorothy Hanson. The exhibition was directed by Miss Calhoun and Miss Hardy, while the costume committee consisted of Mrs. Raymond Barrett and Mrs. H. Fraser.

CONVENTION HABIT

Hartford, Conn., May 13.—State Health Department officials are devoting their time, this spring, to attending conventions. Dr. Stanley H. Osborn, head of the department, is on his way to Washington for the conferences of the International State and Provincial Health Association and the annual meeting of state health officers with the United States surgeon-general. Dr. Millard Knowlton, head of the state bureau of communicable diseases, is attending a meeting of epidemiologists at Baltimore, Md., and Dr. A. Elizabeth Ingraham, chief of the state bureau of child hygiene, is just home from the convention of the American Child Health Association at Washington.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: P. T. Barnum (3)

Cheating was not uncommon then, although the Connecticut countryside wore the austere mask of strict blue laws. To the one meeting house in Bethel, young Barnum had to go every Sunday. The church never was heated, fire deemed "unnecessary to warm the zeal of the worshippers."

Barnum's father died insolvent when the boy was 15. The young man had lost all his savings through loans to his father.

"P. T." then took a job as clerk in a store at Grassy Plain, near Bethel, where he worked for $6 a month. Here he met Charity Hallett.

Charity was a seamstress in Bethel. Visiting at Grassy Plain, she feared to return home alone in the storm. Barnum, who was making the journey with a horse and buggy to spend Saturday night with his mother in Bethel, took the girl home. Thereafter he became a young man very much in love.

TIME FOR A PLUNGE.

The effort to bring up the list of subscriptions to the Memorial hospital to a point within striking distance of the $50,000 total by tonight's closing hour has become a breathless one—and the objective is still far off. Perhaps it was not quite fully realized how long it would take, and how much reiteration would be required, to bring home to the minds and the hearts of the people the great necessity that existed for giving on an unusual scale—we know that this newspaper, for one, did not altogether appreciate how great the need was going to be for the utmost presentation of the hospital's case.

But in any event it must now be obvious to a good many of the earlier contributors, who took the drive less seriously than they would have done on maturer reflection, that their contributions in many cases were not quite all that they should have been. "Really, if I had realized how difficult it was going to be to raise that money I could have given two or three or even five dollars instead of the dollar I did give." That is the reflection that beyond a doubt has come to some of us already.

It is a very sound reflection. But to let it go at that is not sound and will not be satisfying to the person who does let it go.

There is plenty of time to correct the inadvertence. It is the easiest thing in the world to correct. All that one has to do is to make another contribution. The headquarters is open. It can handle any number of gifts. This is an absolutely open game. You can play it as often as you wish. If you want to plunge you can plunge.

It would be a wonderful thing if some of those who have given really less than they now wish they had would plunge deeply enough to make up for merely dabbling at the beginning.

HOPE.

There is a growing support for the hope that Airmen Nungesser and Goll may still be alive, somewhere in the interior of Newfoundland, if they were not killed in a pancaking of their plane, heretofore it was of landing gear. The statement of half a dozen different persons, all of them in agreement as to time and direction, that the whir of an airplane, hidden in fog, was heard by them last Monday morning, is hardly to be brushed aside in any survey of the probabilities. There has been a checkup by the Canadian authorities with the result that no other plane is at all likely to have been flying in the vicinity in question at the time specified.

The time was right, the direction was right, for the aircraft flying in a fog over the Newfoundland terrain to have been the missing French plane. If the voyagers were in that locality at that time, and if they did manage to land in safety, such as the distance and the difficulties of travel, in the country toward which they were headed, that it would be surprising if they had been heard from as soon as this.

If it were not for the now almost certain fact that an otherwise unaccounted-for plane was flying over the Harbor Grace vicinity in Newfoundland last Monday morning there would be little to support the belief that the French aviators may still be alive. But with that fact substantially established there is something tangible on which to hang the hope that America may yet be able to greet these gallant if foolhardy adventurers in the living flesh.

KIDDING THE PAPERS.

If the allegations in the case are correct one William E. Skillman, a lawyer of Brooklyn, N. Y., undoubtedly in search of publicity on account of being a candidate for election to the state Assembly, forged the name of a port appraiser named Kracke to telegrams which he sent to four Brooklyn newspapers. The telegrams, which were identical, said: "It is reported that William E. Skillman, insurgent candidate for member of the Assembly from the 21st Assembly District, Kings county, is living with a woman not his wife."

Mr. Skillman's very cute idea, in starting this apparent libel against himself, was to come back at the accusation later with the revelation that the woman with whom he made his home was his mother. That was going to be an excellent joke on everybody, including the newspapers, and get Mr. Skillman into the good graces of the voters of his district as a bright and capersome chap.

As a matter of fact what it is getting for him is a trial under four separate indictments for supplying false information to a newspaper and if he is found guilty he may serve an indeterminate sentence in the pen for his good time.

The New York law for the protection of newspapers against fact fakers has not been in operation very long and Skillman's is the first case brought under it, but in several states in the West the well-known joke of kidding a newspaper has sent several smart alecks to prison—and the practice has died the death.

There is absolutely no sound reason why we should not have the same protection in Connecticut—save that the newspapers have never taken the time and trouble to put the idea over; which they should.

AT LAST.

For years and years we have been waiting for a bloodhound to catch a murderer. How many times it has been reported that "the slayer has taken to the swamps and bloodhounds have been brought here and put on the trail" we can't begin to remember. Apparently there are bloodhounds all over the United States. They must liberate like bears, or perhaps they are kept in safe deposit vaults, between murder hunts; because nobody ever sees them. Yet they always crop up, in the dispatches, when ever the desperado in the case takes to the tall timber.

And at last, down in New Jersey, the bloodhounds have caught somebody. They have even, it appears, caught the identical man the police wanted to catch. Before there is time for a denial of the story was hastily to congratulate that noble if snooty canine tribe which, ever since the days of the Roman empire, has in theory at least been a terror to escaping slaves and fleeing malefactors in many countries.

Continued and persistent effort in the face of perpetual defeat is a worthy thing. And nobody and nothing that we can think of has ever been such a chronic loser as the bloodhound—not even the deluded soul who draws to inside straight and three-flushes. Why, even Eliza Harris always got away from the mastiffs and cow-hounds in the Tom shows.

It must be a consoling thing to this secret Society of Hidden American Bloodhounds to know that one of its members—or was it two?—have really been able to stick to the trail of a criminal and dig him out of the hay. It is to us, anyhow.

THOSE IRISH BONDS.

Those lovers of Irish freedom who went the limit on that proposition and bought the bonds of the Irish Republic—of whom there are some in Manchester—may possibly see, if not the color of their money at least a faint tinge of it as the result of the outcome of the lawsuit for the possession of Irish Republic funds on deposit in a New York bank.

Under the decision of Supreme Court Justice Peters, in New York state, neither the Irish Republic, represented pretty exclusively these days by Eamonn de Valera, nor the Irish Free State, which claimed to be the successor and heir to the Republic, is to get the money, but it is to be paid to the persons who subscribed it—after the legal expenses have been deducted.

As about six million dollars worth of the Irish Republic bonds were sold in the United States, and as only about $2,500,000 remains in the New York bank, and as the legal expenses in such a case are likely to be good and plenty, the subscribers will probably be lucky to get back one dollar for every four they put into the De Valera bonds.

However, as it is likely that every such subscriber paid his money to back up his emotions and not his business sense a come-back of even twenty-five per cent will no doubt have the soft and gracious feeling of velvet.

PERJURY.

Conviction of a member of the Connecticut Legislature on a charge of perjury is extraordinary on two accounts. First it is an extremely rare thing for a Connecticut Legislator to commit a crime of any sort. Secondly a conviction for perjury is in itself sufficiently unusual as to be practically freakish. And yet there is probably never a day but what somebody, in some Connecticut court, swears falsely, knowing that his evidence is untrue and that he is violating his oath when he gives it.

The details of the case of the Salem legislator are not especially interesting, but it has attracted a large amount of attention merely from the fact that a person of some standing stood to be punished for an offense against society that is committed over and over again as casually as the offense of spitting on the sidewalk, and with no greater risk of prosecution.

If more judges would follow the course adopted in this case by Superior Court Judge Allan Brown, and take steps for the prosecution of perjurers it might soon come to be regarded as a less clever thing to swear to lies in courts of justice. The jails may be fairly well crowded but room could be found in them for the perjurers, even if a few drunks had to be let out to make it.

New York, May 13.—The catch-penny brigade of this man's town leaps avidly at any sensation as a means of earning a few hundred quick sickles.

Hardly had the Snyder-Gray trial been started before some bright young man had routed his sight-seeing busses to include all "the points of interest." Splendors were given upon passing the former Snyder residence and the courtroom. Sunday business became so great that three extra busses were commandeered.

Within a few hours of the time several Broadway plays had been halted by the stage censors copies of at least two were being "hoisted" in upper Broadway.

The death of Valentino was followed within 12 hours, by two mandolin songs and five paper-backed "life stories." Caruso was hardly in his grave before Tin Pan Alley was announcing a song, "They Took Caruso Away." The equal of this title is yet to be found.

Three motor trip agencies were operating to De Kusey's lane within a week of the Hall-Mills sensation.

For years a gag has gone around Broadway concerning a young man who crashed the gate at a performance of Sophocles' "Electra" by telling the doorman he was the author.

Recently the old Greek drama was revived. On the second night a young gate crasher appeared.

"Suppose you're the author?" suggested the now cynical doorman. "Oh no! No, indeed, I'm merely the collaborator," came back the young man.

And the amazing part of this tale is that the young man told the truth—at least in part—since he had worked on a modernization of the play.

If you would get a fresh slant on this very chaotic city question a newcomer!

During the recent convention of newspaper editors I asked a column writer, who comes here as often as once a year, for a few impressions.

He replied that he had walked up Madison to Murray Hill, and on the slopes of this spot, linked in tradition with the homes of the rich, had been accosted by two beggars. On the other hand, he had gone through the tenement belt, long associated with poverty, and seen couples, Fords and timousies parked in front of a large fraction of them.

How come? he asked. Oh well, a man must drink!

ACHIEVEMENTS

HIGH SCHOOLS

This is the eleventh of a series of articles telling how American cities are solving their problems. Succeeding articles in this series will appear on this page daily.

By DON E. MOWRY Secretary, the American Community Advertising Association

Nothing is much more important to a city than good high schools.

In particular, a good gymnasium where the health of the younger generation can be kept at par, is important.

But in these days of rising taxes, good gymnasiums often remain in the thought of stage.

New Albany, Ind., has 30,000 people. It wanted a new gymnasium for its high school. It adopted a unique way to get it.

Preferred stock was sold by a "Gymnasium Corporation" in three days. This brought in $75,000—ample for the building. The stock will be retired as profits from the receipts of games and other functions held in the gym.

Encouraged by this, New Albany decided to build a whole new high school plant. It now is doing it. The building will have cost half a million when finished and will be one of the most modern in the middle west.

Here is quite a record. A city much larger than New Albany might well hesitate before trying to build a $500,000 high school with a grade-A gymnasium as part of its equipment.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, May 13.—Foreign Minister Briand of France appears to have been crying in the wilderness when he proposed a treaty which would forever outlaw war between his country and the United States.

Thus far there has been no answering holler from any of our own statesmen and it appears likely that if any comes at all it will be heard in the next Congress.

Briand is quoted as saying: "France is willing publicly to engage itself with the United States to put war as between the two countries outside the pale of the law."

The significance of the signing of such a treaty seems to be confined to two main points:

1. This would be the first treaty of its kind between two great powers, though by no means the first such treaty affecting two smaller nations.

2. The so-called "crop of hate" which has grown up against us in Europe seems to center more or less nebulously on the debts of European nations to this country, of which the French debt is the biggest.

30 Treaties Signed

Some 30 of these treaties definitely outlawing war between the two contracting nations have been signed since Denmark began the good work with the Netherlands in 1904. These treaties cover all disputes of whatever cause or nature and leave none of the legal possibilities for war which remain in most other treaties between nations.

The United States is not a party to any of them. For the most part they are important only as demonstrating an enlightened state of mind and of being perhaps the beacon posts of a general program of international peace and abolition of war. No two major powers have got together on such a treaty.

The most powerful nations involved are France, which made outlaws war treaties with Uruguay, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland; Italy, with Denmark and Switzerland, and Great Britain, with Uruguay.

Uruguay has signed more such treaties than any other country, having signed up with Brazil, Bolivia, Peru, Great Britain, France, Colombia, Paraguay, Spain, Venezuela and Salvador.

Among others on record are Denmark-Netherlands, Denmark-Portugal, the Central American states, Bolivia-Colombia, Bolivia-Venezuela, Bolivia-Peru, Brazil-Peru, Estonia-Finland, Latvia-Poland (a treaty not ratified by Finland), Estonia-Latvia, Austria-Hungary, Switzerland-Poland, Poland-Sweden, Switzerland-Greece, Switzerland-Spain and the Scandinavian states.

Most Were Neutral Nations which were neutral in the World War figure importantly in these treaties.

Although the United States has not engaged in any of them, it is interesting to note that the pact affecting the most nations—that between the United States and Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua—was negotiated and signed at Washington under the auspices of the United States. The first Central American "outlaw war" treaty was that of 1907, which bound the republics to submit all differences to the Central American Court of Justice. The court expired in 1918 and the 1907 treaty was succeeded in 1923 by a new treaty which submitted all disputes to an International Central American Tribunal whose disputes are final.

Less Effective The 1923 treaty, however, was not as effective as the 1907 treaty because it excepted disputes affecting the "sovereign and independent existence" of any of the parties. It does not come under the head of an "outlaw war" treaty.

Exceptions of matters of "vital interest," "national honor" and "national sovereignty" from arbitration disputes is the fly in the ointment of most arbitration treaties. These exceptions can be made to cover a pretty wide field.

Incidentally, Mexico co-operated with the United States in fathering the two Central American treaties. It is symptomatic of the general situation that although Mexico and the United States long ago co-operated in persuading the small republics to the south to outlaw war between themselves, Mexico and the United States have been either unable or unwilling to negotiate such a pact.

A THOUGHT

Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old he will not depart from it.—Proverbs xlii:6.

I would not have children much beaten for their faults, because I would not have them think bodily pain the greatest punishment.—Locke.

If a woman isn't quite sure of her husband she always advertises for a plain cook.

Is This Your Child?

WHILE your child is acquiring those ideals on which character depends, piano study will lift her out of the commonplace into a happier, fuller, finer development. Poise, magnetism, charm, culture—these qualities go hand in hand with the ability to play the piano. Your child can be one of the countless unaccomplished, or one of the envied few. The opportunity, the OBLIGATION to decide, is yours. Present day methods of piano instruction are quick and pleasant. Never before has it been so easy—and essential—to own a good piano. Here at Watkins we can show you a wide variety of pianos, perfectly designed, beautifully executed, and conservatively priced. New pianos start at $250, while rebuilt instruments can be had for as little as $75. Stop in at our showrooms and let us tell you about our Plan of Easy Payments. There is no obligation, of course.

To Prove—the durability of seamless MASLAND RUGS we're testing one at the State Theater

YOU don't have to take our word for one thing we say about Masland Seamless Rugs! See for yourself their beautiful colorings, their rich designs and their durability. Tonight when you go to the State Theater you'll walk over one in the lobby. It's there to test its durability. In one week it will be subject to more wear than it would receive in your home in ten years! Street dust and dirt will march over it. In a week's time it will be thoroughly soaked and dirty. Still it will be good for many more years service in some home! We secured two special lots of these rugs at a decided saving. One lot consists of a discontinued pattern—the other of No. 1 Factory Seconds. Both are rich Oriental designs with a choice of two colorings. (No. 1 Factory Seconds are rugs that have passed the first mill inspectors and have had fringe sewn to their ends. Then in the final inspection some minute defect is found and they are marked as No. 1 Seconds.) These two lots of rugs, together with our regular stock, are now offered to you at a big reduction.

Psychology Makes Chorus Girl Poet

Melancholy claimed Edith Sheldon, Broadway chorus girl. A Freudian "release" solved it—made her a poet, and a gay dancer once more.

New York.—Psychoanalysis, for many a month the plaything of the intellectuals, finally has come to Broadway. There it has found a close relation of the vastly popular "inferiority complex," bred among the more sensitive and ambitious of Broadway's youthful femininity by the time-honored indictment that chorus girls are "beautiful but dumb."

The truly dumb girls don't mind this indictment, but those who have taken to the theater to "express themselves" suffer severely. They "get nerves."

Season upon season pretty maidens have been staging breakdowns at inconvenient moments. Being of Broadway, how were they to know about Freud?

Then along came Edith Sheldon, who at the giddy age of 19 found melancholy and depression dulling her big baby stare. Edith, in the vernacular of Broadway, was "getting hotted."

A Park avenue consulting psychologist analyzed her case. Out of his analysis has come the creation of a great stream of verse which one day may be known as "Broadway Ballads" or perhaps, "The Odyssey of a Gold-digger."

Edith needed a pen, pencil typewriter. That was her sole trouble, the psychologist found. Edith needed to break into verse. She did.

"Releases of this sort from a complex of one kind or another are not uncommon," observes the psychologist, "very professionally. Finding them, patients show rapid improvement."

In proof of which, Edith, between poems, once more dances as gayly as ever.

Much of the verse which Edith has done is "hard-boiled." But it is marked strikingly by the cynical, sentimental, self-conscious sian of the show girl. About some of it there is a wistfulness. Thus:

"God and the devil Fighting for a soul, The devil has so many ways By which to reach his goal. Shop windows, lovely things, Ermine wraps and pearls, Orchids, gowns and diamonds Worn by other girls."

Read on through Edith's manuscripts, and you come to this: "This is what you ask of me: To leave the book half read, To sacrifice what I long most, What will you give instead? Security and self-respect? A life that means content Away from all the 'iredness and tears the old life meant? You say there is no price that is too great for this! But how can I forget the sweet abandon of a kiss? The lips that were so soft to mine; I'm thinking of them yet You're right, I'll have to give them up! But how shall I forget?"

No Sympathy, Please!
There's a great deal to be read between the lines in this:
"I know they think I'm just as low As any girl can be. But don't start wasting Your sympathy on me. I'm not sorry for myself. Just want to be alone. So you mind your business And I'll mind my own. It doesn't matter any more, I know there was a day When I gave my kisses, too, But now I make them pay."

BITTER FIGHT ON ANTI-UNION BILL IN PARLIAMENT

Fight Over Government's Measure Stirs Unusual Labor Conflict.

London.—The fight against the Government's "trade union bill" is developing into one of the most bitter political conflicts that Britain has known for many years. The Labor Party, in conjunction with the trade unions, is prepared to go to almost any lengths to prevent its passage into law.

The bill declares a general strike illegal, and takes away many of the mostly hard-won privileges and rights of the labor union movement. According to the Trades Union Congress, the Bill imperils long established rights and legal powers, won by years of struggle and sacrifice. A dangerous attack, it is declared, has been launched upon the workers' organizations by the powerful employers' association and reactionary class influences which control the Tory Government.

Unions Are Feared
"Those who have grown wealthy powerful by the exploitation of the producers," it is stated, "hate and fear the unity and discipline of the trade union movement."
"They seek to destroy these organizations, not by frontal attacks, which the mass of wage-earners can understand and repel, but by means and malicious attempts to undermine the spirit that has united the workers."

From an entirely different quarter, an earnest appeal to the Prime Minister to drop the bill has been made by the National Industrial Alliance, a body formed to secure friendly relations between employers and employed.

Appealing to Mr. Baldwin, the Alliance says: "The Bill will seriously prejudice the movement for industrial peace and will hamper the revival of trade."

Appeal to Premier
The members appeal to the Premier to suspend progress of the Bill and to call a representative conference of employers and trade unionists to devise some means for securing industrial peace. If such a course were adopted, says the appeal, the Bill would not be necessary, because the objects sought for are more likely to be achieved by cordial co-operations than by legislative achievement.

According to Sir Henry Slesser, Solicitor-General in the recent Labor Government, the measure is a "Bill to re-introduce serfdom into Britain."

First Mike 50 Years Ago.

"Mike, the First" is the title of this little box-like instrument, guarded by its famous inventor, Emile Berliner of Washington. Now it's more popular as ancestor of the modern microphone.

BULLET-PROOF COPS THAT'S THE DOPE

Berlin.—Bullet-proof vests are all right in their way, but they weigh too much, authorities have decided. Now they are considering the adoption of entire suits of a material which not only stops bullets, but is impervious to knives and daggers. A suit of this material weighs only seven pounds while the steel vest alone weighs fifteen pounds.

During these months of Dal's absence Billy had practically withdrawn from the strange contest to ingratiate herself in the old man's favor, if indeed she had ever actively entered it.

"Young Men Make Love Best," Is Laura LaPlante's Verdict

By DAN THOMAS Hollywood, Calif.—What is the best age for a leading man on the screen? Laura LaPlante prefers them between the ages of 23 and 28.

Such, however, was not the case. Reggy was the sole recipient of Laura's kisses while the cameras were grinding. But when they stopped another man entered the scene—William Steter, the director.

Bill and Reggy should have changed places because it was Bill who really had captured Laura's heart—or was beginning to capture it. The climax came about six months ago when the radiant little star became Mrs. William Steter.

Many of the feminine stars believe the marriage is a certain handicap to their careers. Miss LaPlante takes the opposite view—and for good reason. She has just signed a new contract with Universal that will net her a cool million dollars during the next five years.

UNUSUAL PROGRAM AT STATE THEATER

Lew Wilson's Comedy Features—Zane Grey Picture Finishes Fine Bill.

By Member Herald Staff.

Lew Wilson's antics, his versatility, and his almost unlimited flow of good humor feature the vaudeville bill at the State theater the last half of the week. Jack Holt as the lead in Zane Grey's famous "The Mysterious Rider" gives a photoplay performance that is a real treat. The entire bill is good and the variety of talent displayed should furnish entertainment of some kind for the most critical eye.

The Three Dubois open the program. They are young men acrobats. Their stunts are new and they do some rather sensational tricks in hand balancing. Then come Walzer and Kuban. Walzer is the original "stuttering man" of the records and he makes all kinds of weird faces when he sings. Miss Kuban is pretty and all that's what she's in the act for.

Smith and Hart present a short comedy skit chock full of clever jokes and some neat dancing by Miss Hart. The act is a brand new one and the lines are fresh and clean. It is one of the neatest that has been on the State's stage this season.

Lew and Madeline Wilson are the fourth act, and Lew does everything anybody can possibly think of expecting from a comedian. Miss Madeline has a sweet voice and puts up with a lot of tomfoolery from her partner while she is singing. The act is one that may be termed "silly" by the cynical but it produced the laughs and got a big hand from a big audience. Lew and Madeline are the principals of the fifth act which is termed "Lew Wilson's Entertainers." The act introduces a six-piece jazz band, a sister dancing team that is very clever. Lew Wilson again is more versatile and Miss Madeline in "The Mysterious Rider" is a fascinating, dauntless cowboy, who trims the rich old man, steals his daughter, beats up the crooked lawyer, and rides like a leaf in the March wind—all that can be expected of a Zane Grey hero, but it's a thrilling picture just the same and rounds out very nicely a thoroughly entertaining bill.

Revenge is sweet only to the very small individuals. The palmer has no use for the man who is afraid to show his hand.

"With the Hoe"

Edwin Markham, of New Brighton, N. Y., noted as the author of the classic, "The Man With the Hoe," often had been asked to pose like this but refused. Then the photographer found "America's poet laureate" one day in the garden of his sister-in-law, Miss May Murphy, of Los Angeles, and Mr. Markham was "caught with the hoe" and couldn't very well refuse.

TRY TO SAVE SLAYER

Chicago, May 13.—Attorney Irving Breakstone telegraphed Arnold Harris, his partner, today that he was waiting at the Supreme Court building in Springfield to secure the certification of the writ expected to save Elin Lyons from the hangman's noose.

An airplane has been engaged by Breakstone to carry him to Chicago, where Lyons is in the death cell, scheduled to be hanged before sunset, unless the certified writ is placed in the hands of Sheriff Charles E. Graydon.

Lyons was convicted of killing Policeman Julian Bonfield during a hold-up last December.

COMMUNITY CLUB HITS HARD AND BEATS BON AMI 10 TO 1

Last night's baseball game between the Community club and the Bon Ami nine proved a good workout for Coach Bill Brennan's team and that's about all. The Community slugged its way to an easy 10 to 1 victory hammering Bill McLaughlin's fast ball for eleven safe hits, three of which went for extra bases.

Brennan shifted his team about several times in order to give his candidates plenty of opportunity to account for themselves. Charley Manion, Hartford lad, pitched the first four innings for the Community club and then Pop Edgar finished the game. Neither was touched up much although the Bon Ami batters made things uncomfortable for Manion several times. However, both Manion and Edgar were given air-tight support. Only one error was made.

Lefty St. John led the winners in batting with two solid drives to right, one going for a double, and two long sacrifice flies to right and center, each sending another Community run across the plate. Jack Linnell, Elmo Mantell and Manion also poked out two safe hits. The fielding of Edgar and Howard Keeney stood out while Jack Godek gave the fans many a thrill during the early part of the game with tremendous drives to deep left field that went foul by a few yards.

The Community club will play the Windsor Locks Advertisers at Hickey's Grove Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Last night's summary:

ON SUNDAY TOOD—

The first derby was held in 1875. It was won by Price McGrath's Aristides, with O. Lewis up. The race netted McGrath only $2850. That small prize mattered not. The derby grew in importance. It became more than a great race classic—it became the social event of the year. To the initial purse was added a few hundred dollars each year.

In 1894, the new Louisville Jockey Club was formed. Colonel Clark remained as presiding judge, although other officers were chosen. Approximately $100,000 was spent on improvements. The length of the race was shortened.

The next important step came in 1906 when Churchill Downs was purchased from the Churchill estate.

In 1907, the Jockey Club and the Douglas Park Jockey Club formed a holding company to manage the course. This lasted only for a few years before the agreement was broken.

They'll 'Hop' Off With a Kite

Undaunted by the Nungesser-Coll failure, Clarence Chamberlin and Floyd Bertaud (left) push preparations at Curtiss Field, Long Island, for their New York-to-Paris hop. With them is the huge kite to be used to pull aloft their emergency radio aerial should their Wright-Bellanca plane be forced down in mid-ocean. Below, Mrs. Bertaud (left) and Mrs. Chamberlin assemble their husbands' food for the flight.

Ghosts Will Walk At Derby Saturday

BY BOB MATHERNE

Into derby history, few years previous to this, had entered Matt J. Winn and Charles P. Grainger, the former as general manager and the latter as president.

Under their management, the Louisville Jockey Club thrived as never before. The purse mounted by the hundreds and thousands of dollars until today it is $50,000 added.

That, briefly, is the story of the Kentucky Derby.

That is why ghosts will walk on Derby Day. To many there, there will be no haunting romance, no poetry, no physical loveliness. It will be just another Kentucky Derby.

But to others! Memories of all those, humans and animals, will pass by in review to be duly honored for their part in making the Kentucky Derby the classic that it is today.

Horace racing, like pretty women and good liquor, became important to Kentuckians as soon as settlers were Kentuckians instead of Virginians.

Thoroughbreds thrived in Kentucky. Every person became interested in horses. The most famous race in ante-bellum days was the one between the prized horse of Kentucky, Grey Eagle, and the bride of Tennessee, Wagner. The most famous track was the old Oakland track in Kentucky.

During the strife between the states, horse racing died down in Kentucky, but was revived a few years after peace had been established.

Col. M. Lewis Clark, after studying courses in England and France, founded the Churchill Downs course in 1873, naming it after Henry and John Churchill, sons of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families in Kentucky.

When the track and stands were built, Churchill Clark formed the Louisville Jockey Club, giving membership in it only to Kentuckians socially and financially prominent.

The first derby was held in 1875. It was won by Price McGrath's Aristides, with O. Lewis up. The race netted McGrath only $2850. That small prize mattered not. The derby grew in importance. It became more than a great race classic—it became the social event of the year. To the initial purse was added a few hundred dollars each year.

CIRCLE PRESENTS TWO FEATURES ON SATURDAY

Tom Tyler and William Fairbanks Divide Honors in Double Bill; "Her Big Night" Playing Now.

Tomorrow is double feature day again at the Circle and for the edification of the Saturday audience the management offers Tom Tyler and William Fairbanks, the former in a fast Western and the latter in a crook play.

"Cyclone of the Range" is a mystery story laid on the romantic ranges, "out Sonora way." Tom sets out to find the slayer of his best friend but Tom, himself, is mistaken for the criminal, and arrested. At once a whirlwind of thrilling events begins.

Tom is captured by an infuriated mob, who are ready to hang him as the slayer of his friend. But with the courage of a soldier and daring of a knight of old Tom fights on. His friends with Frankie prominent enact a novel rescue and the real criminal is brought to justice. And then Tom goes back to the girl who had loved and remained true to him even in the face of all the convincing evidence. This picture certainly lives up to its name. It just throbs with romance—roars with comedy—bursts with speed and action.

William Fairbanks plays the part of a federal officer who masquerades as a crook to round up a gang of society smugglers. Fairbanks is still the big husky hero and he is supported by a cast including Vera Daniels and Eddie Borden. "One Chance in a Million" is a good entertainment of the kind that Saturday audiences like. It is full of thrills and complicated situations, the like of which have seldom been seen even in a Nick Carter story.

FLOOR SPOTS
To remove gray spots on waxed floors caused by water leaking around radiator, use a few drops of household ammonia on a moist cloth. Rub spots next with clean cloth and then refinish to match floor.

LADIES WELCOME MRS. WEBBER'S RETURN

A very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed at the meeting of the Ladies' Sewing Circle of Concordia Lutheran church yesterday afternoon, May 12th.

Mrs. H. O. Weber, wife of the pastor, who was obliged to be absent from the society for three months owing to a severe illness, was welcomed home by the members.

Refreshments were enjoyed and the president, Mrs. W. Schlack addressed Mrs. Weber in the name of the society, expressing good wishes for continual good health and presented her with a bouquet of choice flowers.

MARLBOROUGH

Miss Addie L. Taylor and Miss Bennett of Plainville were guests of Miss Mae Dickenson of the weekend.

The annual speaking and spelling contest for the town schools was held Wednesday evening. Frank Oloski of the North School came first in the speaking and Evelyn Chapman of the Northwest School came first in the spelling.

The annual Mother and Daughter contest which will be held in Willimantic in the near future. Miss Mae Hannon of Hartford spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Myers.

The annual Mother and Daughter banquet was held Saturday evening in the vestry of the Congregational Church. Mrs. Elmer E. Hall was a caller in Hartford recently. Miss Carolyn Zibley of Hartford was a caller in town this week. Miss Hilda Anderson and Miss Margaret Walcott were callers in Hartford Saturday.

POLICE DOG A PERIL TO DRIVERS OF AUTOS

Motorists who occasionally pass between Eldridge and Maple streets on Main street have been complaining of a big police dog which has been bothering them for several weeks. The dog runs out to the road and travels alongside the front wheels of cars, disconcerting drivers.

A day or two ago a woman driver nearly ran into a pole at the side of the road in an effort to avoid hitting the dog. Other motorists have had narrow escapes.

TWO BIG PICTURES ON RIALTO'S BILL

The two excellent attractions that have been featured on The Rialto program during the past two days are offered at popular prices for the last times this evening, at 7 and 9 o'clock. The productions are "The Pearl of Love," a beautiful story of old New England, adapted from Harriet Beecher Stowe's immortal story, "The Pearl of Orr's Island," and "Tex," a western play of an entirely new type, featuring Ruth Mix, the daughter of Tom Mix, together with her famous horse, "Man." There are other screen features on the same program.

Three features will be shown on the continuous triple feature bill tomorrow which runs from 2:15 until 10:30 o'clock. The bill includes "Tongues of Scandal," a thrilling story with Mary Busch and an exceptional supporting cast; "The Dude Desperado," a western comedy drama with cowboy pranks that will make you roar, and "What's Your Hurry?" a brand new laughfest made exclusively for laughing purposes only.

In addition Herbert Rawlinson, popular serial star, will be seen in the second installment of his latest serial, "Trooper 77," and there will also be other screen features.

A hero must die at the right time in order to acquire a monument.

WAPPING

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dudley F. Clapp, of South Windsor, on Sunday at St. Francis' hospital.

Mrs. Lumen Warren, formerly of this town, has returned to her home in East Windsor after spending some time with her niece, Mrs. Roy Clark, in Simsbury.

Mrs. Edith House is to have the cast removed from her ankle on Thursday and she will go to Warehouse Point to spend the week-end with Mr. House's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene House, on Saturday.

William Sullivan, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris D. Sullivan of this town, passed away on Wednesday at the hospital in Hartford at the age of 54. He was taken ill while at his work in Hartford and was rushed to the hospital, he suffered a shock. The funeral will be held at Ahern's funeral home on Saturday morning, and burial will be in Glastonbury.

Lester Adams, who has been sick with rheumatism ever since he moved to Vermont, is improving slowly.

NEW CUSHIONS

A couple of smart, new cushions, quilted like grandma's old patchwork coverlet, are quite the newest thing to live up the porch corner and add an attractive, old-fashioned note of hospitality.

CONSTIPATION WRECKS CHARM

NASH Leads the World in Motor Car Value

NASH has the power you need on the HILLS

Every Nash owner notices that he has very little gear shifting to do on hills, no matter how steep the grades may be. Nash is a very powerful motor car. There is nothing half-hearted or sluggish about its response—the motor never "talks back" at you—even though you are climbing mountains. One reason is the more than adequate power designed into every Nash motor car. Nash engineering has provided reserve energy for situations that tax the resources of other cars, and extend their engines to the point of strain. Another reason for the powerful performance of Nash is 7 bearings. 7 bearings in every Nash model, instead of 3 or 4, means that power is not thrown away by crankshaft "whip." Proper bearing support conserves energy that older motor types waste. Quick acceleration—powerful responsiveness—such as Nash provides, is a safety factor you cannot overlook. It is invaluable on the hills, very handy in traffic. When you select your next car, be sure to see how unfavorably the power and pick-up of other cars compare to Nash, before you decide! There are 26 models priced from $865 to $2090 f. o. b. factory.

Will Record Time of Old Rosebud Be Broken In Coming Derby?

Louisville, Ky., May 11.—Will Old Rosebud's record for the Kentucky Derby be broken Saturday? This sensational mark of 2:03 2-5, made in 1914, has weathered the years. Few Derby winners have even come close to it, although Bubbling Over missed it just two-fifths seconds last year. The purse has steadily increased for the Derby, but the time of Old Rosebud has refused to bow before the speed of the present-day thoroughbreds. Perhaps this is the year?

DENVER PLANS BENNETT RACE SEPTEMBER 10

Final Award of Event to Colorado City Waits French Sanction.

Denver.—With the guarantee of a proper gas supply, deposit by a citizens committee of sufficient funds to carry out the program and the consent of the National Aeronautical Association, plans were under way here today for holding the 1927 James Gordon Bennett International balloon races in this city. The monster balloons will get away probably from City Park, on Sept. 10.

Final official awarding of the big balloon race to Denver awaits sanction of the French Aeronautical Association, a mere formality, it was explained by the Denver committee in charge of the event.

Denver was selected as the starting point of the Bennett balloon races because of the comparatively few hazardous conditions that surround the Mile High City.

Fewed Rockies Detroit, at first considered for staging the races, was eliminated because of the dangers to be encountered in some 600 square miles of water surface exposed by the adjacent Great Lakes, and the extensive forest lands spreading over the country to the north and west of the Michigan metropolis.

When Denver was first considered for the race, it was feared that the nearby Rocky Mountains would form a barrier that would create a natural hazard that would endanger not only the balloons themselves but the contesting pilots. Investigation disclosed, however, according to balloon experts, that the mountains were so close to Denver that there would be no interference from this source.

In hopping off from the starting point it was explained, the big balloon pilots endeavor to rise as high as possible in the shortest space of time. Consequently, if the wind should happen to veer them in the direction of the mountains, 20 miles west, the balloons would be sufficiently high to sail over the rugged peaks before a landing was necessary.

The monster balloons obtain ordinarily, to a height of approximately 20,000 feet, and the highest Rocky Mountain peak is little over 14,000 feet.

Another favorable condition is the mile high altitude of Denver, according to the experts, and this altitude is also expected to result in the establishing of new world's records for the Bennett racers.

Elimination Contest The original trophy donated by James Gordon Bennett, in 1906, is now the property of E. Demyter, a Belgian flyer, who won the event three times in succession—1920, 1921, and 1922. The Belgian government then purchased a new cup.

The Bennett trophy, since its inauguration, has been won four times by Americans; four times by a Belgian; twice by Germany, and once each by France and Switzerland.

A national elimination contest will be staged in Akron, Ohio, May 29, from which three American flyers will be chosen to participate in the Bennett international race from Denver.

Demyter, four times winning Belgian of the race, is expected to enter this year, and entrants are also expected from France, Italy and other countries.

Maltop Malts

Highest Quality

"MALTOP MALTS" are worth going a long, long way for.

For seven years "MALTOP MALTS" have been steadily increasing their circle of malt boosters. Other brands have come and gone—new names, new labels, new claims.

"MALTOP MALTS" have nothing new to offer. The same original high grade malt made from the best matured winter barley, concentrated to a rich, creamy pure malt. Made in five varieties, "MALTOP" offers a brand for every taste—light, dark, porter style, hop-flavored and medium.

Why experiment with new, unknown brands that have just "dropped in." Better to tie up with a malt that has been giving complete beverage satisfaction for seven years. A tried and proven malt—"MALTOP."

And if you are fussy about getting a fresh, mellow "ace-high" hop, with the genuine tang, you will naturally want the famous "MALTOP HOPS."

10 to 1 your grocer sells "MALTOP MALTS" and "MALTOP HOPS"—if he belongs to the Better Grocer class.

Again We Quote

From Alice Burrell Irvine's articles on:

"Health From the Food You Eat"

She tells us that the organic oxalic acid obtained from plants such as rhubarb are not only healthy, but they act as eliminators of poisonous acids which might induce disease if permitted to remain in the system.

Rhubarb should not be classed as a vegetable. It is actually of the nature of fruit and should not be served with the meal but between meals, first thing in the morning or before retiring. When a too heavy meat diet has been followed rhubarb will be found exceptionally valuable in counteracting the acids which result.

Tomatoes contain natural oxalic acids and should be used frequently, especially in cases where the liver is sluggish and there is any likelihood of toxic-absorption. The tomato is neither a fruit nor a vegetable, but is a combination of both. Tomatoes have been called vegetable mercury because they are especially beneficial in diseases of the blood. They agree with practically everybody except those who are suffering from super-acidity of the stomach.

Citric acid, about which so much is said, erroneously, is of utmost importance to the body. It does not cause rheumatism—in fact is helpful in eliminating the poisons which produce this painful condition. Foods containing it can be taken at the same meal at which milk is used. Lemons, limes, citrons and oranges contain citric acid in abundance. All of the acids from these fruits are essential in keeping the body free of poisons. An acid fruit, taken the first thing in the morning clears the digestive tract and thus makes the work of the digestive fluids more effective. She suggests that we rouse our liver by eating plentifully of the so-called acid fruits and vegetables—lemons, lemons, grapefruit, apples and tomatoes. As in all other bodily difficulties, the prevention of liver trouble is easier than its cure. Even though at present you have no further sign of liver trouble than "spring fever," try a change in diet, using more fruits and vegetables, more milk and whole wheat bread.

CHANGES MADE IN HOSPITAL STAFF

New List Includes Honorary Staff Members With New Names; 19 Local Men.

Several changes have been made in the Memorial hospital doctor's staff, it was stated today. Revision of the staff was made necessary by the adoption of a new set of by-laws in January. The list of attending physicians, which includes the active staff, honorary staff, courtesy staff and consulting staff, numbers sixty-seven. The nominations were approved by the Board of Trustees at their regular monthly meeting. Nineteen of them are Manchester surgeons and physicians.

One of the changes made was the addition of an honorary division to the staff, to which physicians who have rendered meritorious service to the hospital over a period of years may be nominated. Such nominees are practically relieved from active duty. Doctors C. W. Goff and C. H. Harville, members of Cheney Brothers' Medical Association, have been named for service on the courtesy staff. Dr. Walter Gray Crump, of New York, an intimate friend and classmate of Dr. D. C. Y. Moore, of this town, was placed on the honorary staff. He rendered special aid in the organization of the hospital and was previously a member of the consulting staff. Three local physicians are on the honorary staff.

Physicians' Pledge. In accepting nomination members of the general staff must take the following pledge: "To abide by the rules and regulations of the hospital and to adhere at all times to the well recognized, lofty principles governing the reputable practice of medicine and surgery.

"Not to engage in the division of fees under any guise whatever, nor knowingly permit any agent or associate of mine to do so."

"To manifest to the best of my ability a constructive interest in the hospital, and to co-operate in continuing it a potent factor in the preservation of public health in this community."

To recognize, in the interest of the Manchester Memorial Hospital, and the welfare of all patients housed therein, that, in the care of patients, I must always show a willingness to consult with men of ripest years or wide experience.

"To display at all times loyalty to the hospital and to abstain from unjust criticism of it."

The complete list of general staff nominations approved by the trustees follows:

Active staff: Chief, Dr. D. M. Caldwell; first assistant, Dr. D. C. Y. Moore; Orthopedic, Dr. LeVerne Holmes; urology, Dr. C. Y. Bittsford; Eye, ear, nose, throat, Dr. A. E. Friend; dentistry, Dr. E. Honorary staff: Drs. A. M. Rowley, G. N. Bell, E. T. Smith, J. E. Root, Walter Gray Crump, New York; G. W. May, W. R. Zinker, T. H. Weldon.

PLAYMATE'S BLOW PROVES SERIOUS

Child Struck By Hammer In Bad Way From Blood Poison As Result.

Struck on the head with a hammer by a little boy playmate several days ago, Alice, seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Preston, of 21 Lilley street, is still seriously ill in Memorial hospital with blood poisoning.

When Alice was first injured, it was thought her injuries were slight. Her wound was washed with an anti-septic solution and for a few days nothing further was thought of the matter but when Alice complained of being ill, a doctor was called. He found that a serious infection had resulted from the scalp wound and a specialist was called.

The infection had suddenly developed in other parts of the body and the child's removal to a hospital was advised immediately. Alice's condition is very serious but hope for her recovery is entertained.

MOTHER OUT WARDEN GETS FIVE FOXLETS

Five baby foxes, caught by Dog Warden Fred Krahn, are on display in the window of the Blish Hardware Company. Mr. Krahn dug the animals out of their burrow but missed the mother of the litter. The animals caused a lot of comment and were seen by hundreds of people who passed up and down Main street this afternoon. People who did not look at the sign took them for everything from rabbits to police dogs.

WHITE VOGUE

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Men, who claim a more even temper than women, have even more.

SENSE and NONSENSE

The community that is successful is where the men are collectively going after the business. James—"Great heavens! When did you get that scar?" John—"Poker." James—"Cheating?" John—"No, flirting with the cook."

A peculiar form of paralysis has locked a California man's hands in an extended position about 37 inches apart. There is nothing he can do now except tell fish stories.

A colored lady in the Piano Dept. to Salesman: "Can you show me a Baby Grand?"

Salesman: "Here's one that has beautiful tone and is a bargain." Sits down to give a demonstration and forgetfully plays, "Bye, Bye, Blackbird." Exit: Customer.

The American people are divided into two great classes: those who think they are as good as anybody, and those who think they are better.

Tell Him Now.

If with pleasure you are viewing Any work a man is doing, If you like it or approve of it, tell him now. Don't withhold your approbation Till the parson makes oration, And he lies with snowy lilies on his brow.

For, no matter how you shout it, He can't hear a word about it. He won't know how many tears-drops you have shed, If you think some praise is due him.

Now's the time to give it to him: He can't read what's on his tombstone when he's dead.

More than fame and more than money Is the comment, kind and sunny, And the hearty, warm approval of a friend;

For it gives his life a savor, And it makes him stronger, braver, And it gives him heart and spirit to the end.

If he earns your praise, bestow it: Now's the time to let him know it. Do not wait till life is over, And he's underneath the clover;

He can't read what's on his tombstone when he's dead.

Nervous Youth—"Darling, you are the breath of my life." Gladys—"Well, why don't you hold your breath?"

"I want you to understand," said Young Spender, "that I got my money by hard work."

"Why, I thought it was left you by your rich uncle."

"So it was; but I had to work to get it away from the lawyers."

"I must compliment you on your peace officer," said a motor tourist in Pea Ridge. "He directed me so clearly and politely that I cannot help but speak in praise of him."

"Yes," replied Mayor-Numbers. "Our police force is a mighty good fellow."

An optimist is one who depends on the town clock when he has to catch a train.

NOW YOU Ask One

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

Today's list of questions includes a little bit of everything—it's a sort of hash. The answers are all on another page.

1—Re-arrange this list so that each city is grouped with the industry in which it leads:

- Fall River furniture
Minneapolis shoes
Lynn textiles
Grand Rapids steel
Detroit flour
Gary automobiles

2—What did Ponce de Leon try to find in Florida?

3—Who was Damon's famous friend?

THE TINYMITES

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture)

Old Daffydoe said, "Mercy me, that's just as fine as it can be. I never saw a diving board that looked much better, boys. You've used he hammers mighty well and made the thing turn out real swell, so I'll forgive you gladly, now, for making all that noise."

The Tynmites then went to bed, and Clowzy, very loudly said "Let's set up very early so that we can take a swim. I think we need some sleep tonight. Why, I'm so tired, I feel afraid. A very restful snooze will make us all right in the morn'g."

So, soon you couldn't hear a peep. The whole tired bunch was sound asleep. Old Daffy smiled to see the bunch. They looked so very small. Then Daffy, too, grew weary quite, as it was growing late at night. It wasn't very long until he heard the sandman call.

The next morning they were up and out, and all the Tynmites rushed about to hop into their bathing suits and take a cooling swim. They reached the dock that they had made, and 'round about it they all played. Old Daffydoe just smiled and said: "I never saw such vim."

Then out upon the dock they went and about an hour or so was spent in taking just a sunning bath which all of them thought fun. Then something happened very quick, and nearly made the Tynies sick. It really spotted their morn'g, 'cause it wrecked the work they'd done.

Some monstrous swordfish swarmed about and made the whole band loudly shout, "Oh, Daffy, can't you stop them? And you'll have to do it now." But soon the swordfish saw the dock and then the Tynies saw it rock and quickly fall. But all of them went swimming anyhow.

(The Tynies see a funny elephant in the next story.)

HEIGHTS WOODSHED MAKES QUICK FIRE

All Ablaze When Firemen Arrive But They Save Two-Family House.

Fire destroyed a woodshed at the rear of 22 1/2 School street, Manchester Heights, at 9 o'clock this morning. An alarm was turned in at Box 62 at School and Clinton streets, but when the apparatus arrived the shed was a mass of flames. Chemical and water lines were run out and played on the residence and nearby outbuildings. A chicken coop directly behind the woodshed had caught fire but this was extinguished quickly.

The whole building burned like tinder and is a complete loss. The property is owned by John Gleason, who lives on the west side of the house. The east side, behind which the shed was located, is occupied by Fred McCormick, a member of Hose Co., No. 4. The cause of the fire is unknown.
