

BOTH TONG SLAYERS GUILTY; HANG NOV. 1

Verdict Returned Shortly After 10 O'Clock This Morning—Jury Out 2 Hours 28 Minutes—Appeals Filed.

Hartford, Conn., May 18.—Judge Newell Jennings this afternoon sentenced Loo Hoo Wing and Ching Lung, convicted by a jury this morning for the murder of Ong Jing Hem, a Manchester laundryman, on March 24, to be hanged in Wethersfield prison before sunrise on November First. The two Chinese received their sentences stoically and without emotion.

Neither had anything to say when questioned by Judge Jennings as to whether they had any reason why sentence should not be pronounced. Keen emotion was shown by Harry Dow, Chinese interpreter who has worked through the trial.

About 150 persons were in the court room when sentence was given.

(Special to The Herald)

Hartford, Conn., May 18.—Loo Hoo Wing and Ching Lung were found guilty of murdering Ong Jing Hem, of Manchester, on March 24, last, by a superior court jury here today. The jury was out two hours and twenty-eight minutes. A verdict of murder in the first degree was rendered.

A motion to set aside the verdict is to be filed this afternoon by counsel for the Chinese. Francis T. Rowmayer and Frank E. Healy, former counsel for the Chinese, will appear in court this afternoon. The motion will be made on a bench warrant that the verdict was against the weight of evidence, probable questions of jurisdiction, and a question as to whether the jury is "a real jury," fully qualified to act in view of the illness of one of its members, Willis W. Hall, of Marlborough, who suffered an attack of pneumonia during the course of the trial. If the motion is denied it is expected the sentence will be passed late in the afternoon.

Court Annals
Jurymen Hall was the last of the twelve men to arrive. He looked better. He had just reached the jury room when Judge Jennings took the bench. The jury was called out and polled. Judge Jennings informed the men that should any matter arise in which they felt that they needed help they were at liberty to call on him.

As the men returned to the jury room a recess was declared. To a question asked by the judge as he was about to return to his room concerning the date of sentence he replied that he would pass sentence as soon as a verdict was returned, but it was hard to tell just what the jury would do. If they should reach a verdict which would provide for a sentence, he would not postpone the sentence until another day, but will deliver the sentence today, clearing up the case.

Case's History
The case has been before the court since March 27, when the men, bound over from the Manchester town court on March 24, the day of the murder were brought before the court on a bench warrant by State's Attorney Alcorn. Francis Rohmayer, who appeared for both men at that time set up the claim that the case should be heard in the June term and when this was denied, he then asked for a further continuation until a witness from California was secured.

This was granted and the case was continued, but no witness from California was presented.

Selecting Jurymen
When the jury resumed four weeks ago yesterday a full week was consumed in selecting a jury. Mr. Rohmayer for Loo Hoo Wing was allowed twenty-five challenges and he used the last one about a half hour before the last man was selected.

Former Attorney General Frank Healy, who represented Ching Lung had but one challenge left. The state had but ten of their fifty left. Four hundred and four men had been called, 375 examined before the last one was accepted.

Jury Comes In
It was just one hour lacking two minutes when the knock on the jurymen's door announced that the jury was ready to report. The court officials were notified and at 10:12 Judge Jennings took the bench and Sheriff Dewey rapped for order. The officials had been around the court and had to be called.

The jurymen came in, taking their seats. Willis Hall was the chairman of the jury.

Clerk Campbell polled the jury and each answered to his name. "Gentlemen of the jury" he asked, "have you agreed upon a verdict?" he asked.

"We have," was the answer of the jurymen.

"Gentlemen of the jury, what is your verdict as to the charge of murder in the first degree against Ching Lung?" the clerk asked.

"Guilty" came the reply of Foreman Hall.

"Gentlemen of the jury, do you

SAW PLANE WING FLOATING ON SEA

Coast Guard Ships and Planes Search For What May Be French Machine.

Boston, Mass., May 18.—Penetrating the haze that clung over the Atlantic today, a small fleet of United States coastguard patrol boats and other craft engaged in an intensive search for the battered floatsam sighted one hundred miles out by an incoming freight steamship and thought possibly to be the wreckage of the missing "White Bird," the Paris-to-New York biplane of Captain Charles Inglesser and Francis Coll.

At the same time airplanes were in Boston, Gloucester and Provincetown preparatory to the start seaward to join in the hunt for the wreckage of what captain and crew of the shipping board steamer Belleplaine thought was the broken wing of the missing French trans-Atlantic flyer.

Patrolboats cruising in the vicinity of the spot where the wreckage was sighted reported by radio shortly before ten a. m., that nothing had been seen of the floatsam but that the search continued.

Two seaplanes, neither equipped with radio, went out of Coast Guard Base No. 7 at Gloucester to engage in the search via the air route.

Captain G. C. Carnine, coastguard commander for the New England district, pointed out that it might take many hours to find the wreckage, which had been tossed about by wind and sea since the evening of May 16th when sighted by the men of the steamship Belleplaine.

Headquarters of the coastguard service in this district and central headquarters in Washington were in close touch with the searchers by means of radio.

The larger coastguard patrolboats on regular run patrol off the coast were rushed to the area where a jagged and splintered object was observed floating in the sea. Two other craft were diverted from their course. At dawn patrolboats 155 and 158 under full draught steamed out of Gloucester.

The airplane searchers tuned up at Gloucester, Squantum and Chatham.

Use Every Agency
Every agency of the government in this vicinity was at work to locate the wreckage and possibly solve the fate of the Intrepid Nungesser and Coll.

Captain S. F. Inge of the Belleplaine reported to federal authorities here that the floating object sighted in Latitude 42:24 north, Longitude 68:54 west was the shattered wing of an airplane. The Belleplaine tried to reach the floatsam but darkness over took the vessel.

The statement of the captain and officers of the Belleplaine was coupled with a statement given to Commander Carl C. Von Paulsen of the Gloucester coastguard station by an ex-aviator, whose name is being withheld. This man said that he sighted a plane off Cape Sable at 7 a. m., May 9th. The wings, he said, were laden with heavy sleet and snow. The plane's course was south by west and would have brought it into the area the wreckage was seen by the officers of the Belleplaine.

Men on a run running schooner, which put into Lynn, reported sighting the same plane.

NO FEDERAL MONEY; NO MAY TERM HERE

For First Time No Juries Have Been Summoned For Connecticut Trials.

Hartford, Conn., May 18.—For the first time in years a May term of the United States District Court will be opened here without either a grand or petit jury being summoned. Judge Edwin S. Thomas will open the court term next Tuesday morning and devote his time to hearing some civil matters.

Lack of funds in the Connecticut Federal District has led to an unusual situation and until money can be provided no trials of any sort can be held. The district lacks money to pay Jurors or witnesses and will be tied up in such matters until after the first of July when the new fiscal year of the government begins.

All cases now pending before the court, in which juries are needed, have been put over until the fourth Tuesday of September and then will be presented to the court which opens at New Haven. Any criminal matter which any United States commissioner in Connecticut may have sent along for a court hearing also must be postponed.

FEAR "ENEMY" WILL ATTACK COAST TODAY

Actual Contact Is Imminent; No Word Early From "Blue" Plane Scouts of "Black" Warships.

Camp Meade, Newport, R. I., May 18.—Actual contact between the invading "Black" fleet and the "Blue" defenders, the New England coast is imminent.

The "enemy" in this bloodless war is slowly approaching the coastline and it is only a matter of hours until the invaders strike. When, and at exactly what point, was the subject of considerable conjecture by the "brains" of the defending force today.

"Blue" leaders because of the fact that no word has come from the "Blue" scouting fleet that went to sea 36 hours ago for the purpose of sighting the enemy and reporting back their positions.

Concern was manifested by the "Black" fleet because of the fact that no word has come from the "Blue" scouting fleet that went to sea 36 hours ago for the purpose of sighting the enemy and reporting back their positions.

The "Blacks" Superior will fight an attack along the coast in the vicinity of Cape Cod or stake all in one blow at what they believe to be the most vulnerable spot, with the plan of landing a theoretical force of 75,000 men, was what was puzzling the "Blue" command today.

Whether the "Blacks" will feint an attack along the coast in the vicinity of Cape Cod or stake all in one blow at what they believe to be the most vulnerable spot, with the plan of landing a theoretical force of 75,000 men, was what was puzzling the "Blue" command today.

Watchful Waiting
On land, meanwhile, a "watchful waiting" policy was adopted. The five divisions of troops, the 55th

ROOKIE POLICEMAN SHOT IN GREENWICH

Stopped Gang In Stolen Auto; One of Them Fires at Him From Behind.

Greenwich, Conn., May 18.—Joseph McCormack, a "rookie" policeman in the Greenwich department, is to undergo an emergency operation here this afternoon to relieve the pressure caused by a bullet which lodged in his spine. He was shot in a stolen automobile during the night by members of a gang of young men operating in an automobile which they had stolen.

While surgeons are bending every effort to save McCormack's life, police of New York and Connecticut are hunting for his assailants. McCormack and Oliver Bridge, also a recruit to the police department, were patrolling Old Church road in an automobile when a sedan bearing four rough-looking men approached. The policemen halted the car and three of its occupants fled in the darkness. McCormack held the driver and sent Bridge to a nearby box to call for aid.

Another Car Arrives
While Bridge was on his errand another car approached, bearing three men and stopped. One of the men asked McCormack if he needed aid and he replied by ordering them on. The car moved on, stopped and three men returned. One moved as if to strike McCormack who promptly knocked the man down.

One of the party stepped behind McCormack, pressed a gun to his back and fired. Bridge heard the shot and ran back. Meanwhile the strangers ran to their car, taking McCormack's revolver which he had dropped. At least one shot more was fired as the machine sped away.

Bridge drove his companion to the hospital where it was found the bullet had passed through his lung into his spine.

Wedding Soon
McCormack was soon to have been married to Miss Katherine Cullen. She and McCormack's mother spent the night at his bedside.

Within a few minutes after the shooting Greenwich policemen and citizens were swarming in search of the gang, and every city in Connecticut as well as throughout Westchester county and the New York police had been notified. Captain Patrick Flanagan, armed with descriptions of the gang, went to New York at an early hour to look over pictures at headquarters there.

Investigation revealed that the car in which the gang escaped before Magruder Dent, who lived on Old Church road, and had been taken from his door yard apparently a short time before McCormack was shot.

Subs, Best Defence Says Admiral Sims

Battleships Are Just Secondary In Importance to Guard Coasts of the United States.

Editor's Note: This is the second of two exclusive interviews with Admiral William S. Sims on the naval policy of the United States, a timely subject in view of the Army-Navy maneuvers now in progress.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
Newport, R. I., May 18.—"The submarine is the best naval weapon devised for the protection of the United States in the event of another war."

This statement was made today by Admiral William S. Sims in an exclusive interview in his home in Newport, as he talked. Narragansett bay, a stone's throw from his home, was alive with ships preparing to resist the attempt of an "enemy" armada to land troops on the New England coast as part of the annual Army-Navy maneuvers to test the defensive strength of the North Atlantic coastline.

Distance Best Defense
"The most indefensible defense the United States has against attack by any foreign power is distance," said Admiral Sims. "The enemy would have to come 3,000 miles to attack us and when it got within reach it would have no naval base to fall back upon—no place where ships could put in to be refueled and re-conditioned."

"The submarine has clipped the wings of sea power and has made it a difficult matter for any foreign power to traverse such a great distance as entirely across the Atlantic and attack our shores."

Could Split Fleet
"A fleet of submarines could split such an attacking fleet and, with the aid of airplanes, virtually

50 CHILDREN KILLED SCHOOL DYNAMITED

Bath, Mich., May 18.—Fifty to seventy-five persons are believed to have been killed here today in the Consolidated school when dynamite, supposedly planted by a maniac, wrecked the kindergarten wing. Twenty-six bodies have been recovered and rescuers are searching the ruins for more.

The injured number fifty to one hundred. A farmhouse and barns were destroyed a few minutes after the school blast is sought.

Bath, Mich., May 18.—At least 50 persons were killed and fifty to one hundred others injured when a dynamite blast under his car lifted him through the roof and blew him to bits. Huycck had opened the school and was leaving to visit another school.

There were at least 150 persons, most of them pupils, in the schoolhouse when the explosion occurred. It is believed that in addition to the 50 bodies brought from the ruins many more will be found.

As fast as the injured were taken from the building they were pushed to Lansing in automobiles. Doctors, nurses and ambulances

TO CO-ORDINATE STATE'S MOTOR VEHICLE LAWS

State Wide Plan to Make Ordinances Uniform All Over Connecticut — Meeting Next Week.

Hartford, Conn., May 18.—First steps toward state-wide co-ordination of motor vehicle law enforcement and uniformity of court action on various types of offences will be taken at a meeting of justices of the peace and grand jurors of Litchfield county at Norfolk, next Wednesday, May 25.

Between fifty and sixty court officials will be at the conference which has been called by Captain William M. Foord, practicing lawyer and justice of the peace in Litchfield. Similar meetings in other counties will follow, it is expected.

Dept. to Cooperate
The state motor vehicle department will co-operate under authority given Commissioner Robbins D. Stockell in a law recently passed by the General Assembly. This act specifies that the commissioner shall bring to the attention of officials and officers, from time to time, statistics in connection with enforcement and urge the desirability and necessity of uniform practices.

A permanent organization is planned for the Litchfield group, and at least four conferences a year will be held, Mr. Foord says. At the first meeting only motor vehicle question will be discussed, but later it is planned to take up other problems such as liquor law violations. Differences existing in various towns in punishment imposed for offences of similar types will be pointed out as examples of necessity for uniformity. Court practices in setting fines and jail sentences vary widely, the statistics show.

To Educate Justices
The new plan is entirely a co-operative effort on the part of the justices and grand jurors themselves, Mr. Foord says. It has been found, he says that the average small town justice is not called upon more than once or twice a year to consider cases involving the more serious offences. As most of the criminal statutes are fairly well "scattered" and many of the justices are not trained in law, their line of conduct is not always clear. The justices feel, he adds, that by active co-operation through group meetings, where all types of offences and punishment are discussed, better understanding and more equitable working of the statutes will be accomplished.

Under the general theory, which has set the project in motion, speeding, reckless driving and like offenses merit just as severe sentences in one town as another, town borders so far as motorists are concerned being a mere non-existent.

Fairly wide scope is given the motor vehicle commissioner by the new law to attempt to co-ordinate enforcement and unify volunteer effort for highway traffic safety.

Phil Curtis, the novelist, a justice of the peace in Norfolk, will preside at the first business meeting, Wednesday, which will be at the Norfolk Club, following a luncheon at noon at the Hotel Martini.

Pass Resolution
The following resolutions concerning the anniversary of Bishop Brewster, which will be celebrated

MAN KILLS HIMSELF IN SIGHT OF WIFE

Takes Cyanide of Potassium In Backyard After Telling What He Was Going to Do.

East Hampton, Conn., May 18.—Harry Smith, for years a foreman in Bevan Brothers Manufacturing Company's plant here, committed suicide in the door yard of his home here early today by taking cyanide of potassium that he had secured in the factory a short time before. Smith told his wife what he intended to do and then moved so rapidly she was helpless to react.

Smith spent the afternoon and evening in Middletown, returning home just before midnight. After telling his wife he intended to kill himself, Smith went to the plating department of the factory and helped himself to the poison, returning to his door yard to take it. Dr. John Milburn and Dr. George M. Lawson, medical examiner, were called into the case and arrived too late.

Coroner L. A. Smith of Middletown, investigated the case today. No reason could be assigned for the suicide.

CLINE CASE SHIFTS TO ROCKVILLE NOW

Willimantic Murder Was Committed In Tolland County, Officials Discover.

Willimantic, Conn., May 18.—While the body of Wilfred P. Irwin, writer, who was shot and fatally injured on Wormwood Hill, Mansfield, Sunday evening, is being shipped to Lexington, Va., this afternoon for burial, his friend, Leonard Cline, playwright and author, will be presented before George H. Andrews, justice of the peace at Mansfield, on a charge of first-degree murder.

Thomas F. Noone, of Rockville, state's attorney for Tolland county, checking up on the case, the plans for Cline's arraignment. The proceedings will precede the formal indictment by coroner Arthur G. Bill. The coroner announced today that his decision would be ready in less than a week.

Goes to Rockville
With Cline's arraignment the affair will be transferred from this district to Rockville, several miles to the west, the seat of the county where the shooting occurred.

Cline, who gave his blood to aid Irwin after the shooting, has improved in St. Joseph's hospital here to such an extent that he will be able to leave the hospital for the hearing which is scheduled at three p. m.

House Visited
State police who had guarded the house carefully following the shooting, today permitted newspaper men to enter the premises. According to the conditions at the house, five shots were fired during the affair that led to Irwin's death. Two were fired from outside the house apparently at a figure mounted inside. One shot was aimed at a second-floor window and another at a ground floor window. Both

FIGHT OVER FLIGHT GROWS MORE BITTER

Seems Today As If Columbia May Not Participate In Atlantic Hop.

Mineola, N. Y., May 18.—The squall at Roosevelt flying field between Aviator Lloyd Bertaud, one of the pilots of the Bellanca monoplane Columbia, and Charles A. Levine, the financial backer of the flying inside, threatened today to rival the squall hovering over the North Atlantic.

The three airplanes held at Roosevelt and Curtiss flying fields for the trans-Atlantic flight are in readiness for the hop-off as soon as the weather permits, but there were indications today that the Columbia may not participate unless the Bertaud-Levine trouble is adjusted.

Levine was reported to be seeking another aviator to supplant Bertaud as co-pilot with Clarence Chamberlin in the Bellanca monoplane.

Weather permitting Commander Richard E. Byrd will make his final test of the Fokker monoplane America this afternoon.

Captain Charles Lindbergh is impatiently killing time until the weather clears over the North Atlantic.

He hopes to be the first to get away when flying conditions permit a hop-off.

Only Two Parishes Spared On West Bank of River; Village of 1,500 Under Water—4,000 More Refugees Added to Camps; New Sections Ordered Evacuated.

Baton Rouge, La., May 18.—The spawning flood waters of the Mississippi joined today with the Atchafalaya backwater pushing northward from the grand lake to complete the formation of a great inland sea blanketing 7,000 square miles of central Louisiana from the Arkansas border to the Gulf of Mexico.

With the converging of the Bayou Des Glaises waters from the north and the Atchafalaya basin water backing up through Iberville and St. Martin parishes the state's flooded area became an unbroken sea more than 100 miles long. Only two west bank parishes within fifty miles of the Mississippi have been spared.

Flood Came Quickly
So rapid is the southward sweep of the devastating flood that new evacuation warnings were issued today by State Relief Dictator John M. Parker for new sections of St. Martin, St. Mary, Iberville and Assumption parishes, where it is now feared that the overflow from Grand Lake will flood lands hitherto deemed secure.

More than 4,000 refugees from Avoyelles, St. Landry and Evangeline parishes have arrived in Red Cross camps at Alexandria, Opelousas and Baton Rouge during the last 24 hours, bringing to more than 16,000 the number of homeless brought to concentration centers since the opening of the Bayou Des Glaises levees last Friday.

Thousands At Work
A force of 2,000 men meanwhile is engaged in a desperate struggle with the Atchafalaya at McRea, on the east bank fifteen miles north of Melville, and 1,200 defenders of the Morganza section still wage the tugging warfare with the Mississippi along the west bank levees of that channel.

Melville, a village of 1,500 population, is completely under water. Every street was flooded within six hours yesterday directly from the gap in the Atchafalaya levee, and today the Texas base waters rolled down from the north to spread new layers of disaster upon the submerged village.

Approximately six hundred residents who failed to heed evacuation warnings were carried off by the rescue fleet without the loss of a single life, said wireless reports.

ODD FELLOWS ADD $45,000 TO ASSETS

State Lodge Now Has Over a Million Dollars, Treasurer Reports.

Norwalk, Conn., May 18.—The Connecticut Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., adds the sum of $45,000 to its assets in the past year and now possesses $1,378,810.33, according to the report submitted to the annual grand lodge convention here today. Total invested funds are $1,081,983.84.

Leo Davis, retiring grand master, reported one new lodge organized as well as one Rebecca lodge during the past year. William Hutchinson, grand secretary, reported 172 new members during the year, 53 admitted by card; and a total of 94 subordinate lodges with 28,680 contributing members.

Sidney W. Challenger, grand treasurer, showed that the year's transactions gained $899.32 in cash balance, largely due to the demands on the order's infirmity.

Mary E. Johnson, secretary of Rebecca assembly, reported a net gain of 117 members during the year, with a total of 14,586. Funds of this order showed a net loss of $1,194.87 in the year.

DOCTORS TO FIGHT LAW
Washington, May 18.—The American Medical Association decided today to hear the prohibition lion and make an active fight to repeal the law which limits the amount of whiskey a physician may prescribe for a patient. The present limit is a pint in ten days.

The association's House of Delegates unanimously passed a resolution at the morning session denouncing the law, and authorizing the board of trustees to co-operate with government officials in presenting a bill to the next Congress repealing the present restrictive act.

Burpee W. R. C. will hold a regular meeting tonight in G. A. R. hall at 8 o'clock. At this time each member of the corps is expected to turn in a dollar which she has earned. At 6 o'clock a member's supper will be served.

There will be a conference of mothers in the society room of the Union Congregational church on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock to discuss the organization of a Union Church Mothers' club.

The regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters will be on Tuesday evening, May 23 at 7 o'clock. D. S. T., instead of 8 p. m. on account of the anniversary to be held on that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Francis of Merhyr, South Wales, arrived in New York last week on the S. S. Majestic. They will spend three months in Rockville at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Francis of Prospect street.

Mrs. Max Berger of Elmwood is spending two weeks as the guest of her father, Julius Petschke of Vernon avenue.

John McCartin of High street who has been seriously ill for several months is able to walk out a little each day. This will be pleasing news to his many friends.

RUNAWAY FORD JUST MISSES 3 CHILDREN

Birch Street People Excited When Coupe Makes Dash Toward Main.

Four persons, a woman and three children, had a narrow escape from a serious accident last night when an automobile ran wild down Birch street. In the Ford coupe was a woman and it was evident that she knew nothing about driving an automobile, for instead of stopping the car, she made matters far worse by accidentally turning on the gas. The car was parked near the intersection of Spruce and Birch streets while the driver went into a house on business. Evidently he was a salesman or bill collector for he parked the car hurriedly, failing to turn the wheel to the curb or put on the brakes tightly. He even left the switch on in his haste. A woman was seated alone in the car. All of a sudden the car started rolling down the street. In her excitement, the woman evidently turned on the gas for the car suddenly shot ahead with increased speed. It zig-zagged one side of the road to the other, being turned toward the opposite side of the street each time the wheel struck the curb. Once it narrowly missed three small children who were sitting playing on the sidewalk and was about to strike a telephone pole when the right front wheel broke, halting the car. The husband in the meantime had come out of the house in time to see the car rolling wildly down the street. He tried to catch up to it so he would jump on the running board but the car was going too fast. No one was injured.

"G" TO DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Desire to Fill Ranks Before Annual Summer Encampment at Niantic.

In an effort to secure more members, Company G, C. N. G., will stage a month's recruiting drive, it was decided at a meeting of the organization last night at the State Armory here. The purpose is to increase the personnel of the company before the annual encampment at Niantic. The company will be divided into two sections to conduct the drive. Lieutenants J. Quish and E. M. Thompson will be at the head of each group. The group securing the most enlistments will eat a supper at the other's expense after the drive. There are a number of vacancies in the company at the present time and it is up to any young man who desires to help the local company hold the high standard it has always maintained to call around at the Armory and talk over the matter with Capt. H. H. Bissell, or either of the other two officers.

Company G, or Manchester Rifles as it is sometimes designated has always been regarded as one of the leading companies in the Conn. National Guard, and some of the most prominent men in town can look back with pride with the thought they have served their hitch in Company G. At one time it was not a question of being asked to join, it was a question of asking and then being voted on before a man could be enlisted. In order to be assured of the new Army in town it was necessary to raise another militia company which has made it a little harder to keep the two companies up to the required strength.

The local company is scheduled to leave for the annual summer encampment at Niantic on July 10th for two weeks. The two weeks encampment is planned or divided into different phases of military life so as to make it the most instructive and at the same time not monotonous for the soldiers. The morning period until noon is generally spent with the routine drill of calisthenics, close order and extended order. After noon the men are free until 4:30 when each day there is a ball game with formal ground mount weather permitting. After retreat at 5:00 the men are permitted to do as they wish, excepting of course unless on duty, until 10:00 at which time all men are supposed to be in camp so as to make it the most restful and quiet. With the regular hours and good healthy food obtainable the period is a means of building up men who at home keep no regular hours and do not eat regularly.

Any young man over 18 years old who is healthy and strong enough to pass the physical requirements of the National Guard is urged to take advantage of the present vacancies in Company G and sign up with the veteran organization of the town. Company G is out to get some men so if you have the proper spirit, step over to the office some night to the Armory and start your service to your State now.

UNNGESSER MESSAGE (?)

Falmouth, England, May 18.—A French wine bottle, containing what purports to be a message from Captain Nungesser, has been picked up by a fisherman off the seaport village of Port Houstock. The message, which bears the signature of "Nungesser" states that the French almen were forced to descend 75 miles off Ireland due to engine trouble. The message has been handed over to the police. Its authenticity is not yet established.

GOLDBERG FREED

New York, May 18.—Walter Goldberg, 17-year-old high school boy, charged with the shooting of his 18-year-old school girl sweetheart, Anna Harris, in the dining room of her home in Brooklyn on March 15, was freed today by order of Supreme Court Justice Townsend Scudder before the case went to the jury. Goldberg had been on trial for murder for the last three days.

SCOT CLANS TO GATHER IN HARTFORD SATURDAY

Clan McLean lodge of this town will be included in the gathering of Scottish clans from this state and Massachusetts in Hartford Saturday. The Manchester members are to report at Foot Guard hall later than 2 p. m. The Manchester Kilties band will head the McLean gathering. The Ladies of Helen Davidson lodge have also been invited from Manchester and may bring their friends. Trip same applies to the Clan McLean members.

The program begins at Foot Guard hall at 2:30 with the opening of the Clan Moot, class initiation and addresses by the Royal Officers. At 5:30 there will be a monster street parade of all the clans with their Kiltie Bands. Supper will be served at 6:30 and at 8 o'clock there will be a program of entertainment followed by dancing and a drawing of the lucky ticket holder for the free trip to Scotland.

DONNELLY—THRASHER
Robert Donnelly, son of Mrs. Mary Donnelly of 689 Main street and Miss Thrasier, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Clarence A. Thrasher of 99 Laurel street, were married this morning in St. Mary's church by Rev. James Stuart Neil.

They were attended by Miss Alice Thrasher, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Edward Agnew, a cousin, as best man. The bride wore a gown of blue georgette with hat to match and her bridesmaid was attired in pale pink georgette also with hat to match.

After a short wedding trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly will live in their newly furnished home at 115 Benton street.

SAM BERNARD DEAD
New York, May 18.—Sam Bernard, famous comedian, died at sea from a sudden attack of apoplexy last night, according to word received by his family and friends today. He was 64 years old.

Bernard was sailing for Europe for a pleasure trip after finishing an engagement with "Told You So." Lester Allen, star in "Lemaire's Affairs," was accompanying Bernard and cabled word of his death.

"FIT TO PRINT"

The New York Times, chief propagandist in the United States for intervention in China, and whose motto is "All the News That's Fit to Print" seems to find quite different kinds of news from the Orient suitable for its columns.

Until the Coolidge Administration made it very clear indeed that it did not propose to get mixed up in the serious business of interfering in a situation which might speedily involve us in a first-class expeditionary war, the Times' Shanghai correspondent, Frederick Moore, outdid even the most rabid of the agents of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce in his description of the ferocity and reckless blood-thirstiness of the Chinese soldiery.

That was one kind of news that the Times considered fit to print. Now we are getting another kind. This time it comes from the Peking man, Walter Duranty. Although he is stationed a good many hundred miles from the theatre of war Mr. Duranty is telling us all about it.

HOW DRY IS BAKER.

With Edwin T. Meredith of Iowa tooting his horn for Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, for the Democratic nomination for President next year, it does really begin to look, at least, as if it had dawned on William Gibbs McAdoo that neither the country nor his party is actually keening to elevate him to the White House.

to be safely put forward as a dummy for the purposes of McAdoo strategy.

Baker is, however, being boosted as a dry, in hope of landing a candidate of that persuasion sufficiently strong to beat Al Smith in the convention. If Baker is dry, according to the McAdoo crowd's understanding of the term, then it must be admitted that he is the ablest man and the best bet that the dry wing of the Democratic party can produce, not excepting Senator Walsh of Montana.

But how dry is Baker? It is news to most folks that he is dry at all. Perhaps Meredith and McAdoo are jumping to a conclusion that a little later will prove unwarranted. If Newton D. Baker is dry enough to run for the Presidential nomination on the basis of bone dryness, then the planet Mars is the glow from a piece of Fourth-of-July punk—that is our guess.

BREAD BECOMES HIGHERBROW.

Amateur philosophers are called upon ever and anon to remark that life, for all its apparent sweetness, smoothness, softness and simplicity, is really growing more and more complex.

Attention to this state of affairs is drawn again by the announcement that the baking industry has an official Department of Nutritional Education.

The work of this department is, to quote an official of the American Institute of Bakers, "certification of the wholesomeness of ingredients going into baked stuffs, stimulation of laboratory research, and strengthening of the appreciation of the nutritional value of foodstuffs."

All of which is no doubt good and true, and the best thing possible for the development of a healthy race. It is, in its diction, however, a far cry from the simple carefree times when bread was the most ordinary thing in the world, baked on Saturday mornings in home kitchens over that tortured man, Walter Duranty.

From Bible times there was the assertion that bread was the staff of life—a neat phrase easy of understanding.

From folk lore there was the still more simple truth that bread was "nihil", or, more colloquially, that "bread and butter was the best eatin' yuh ever 'et."

For the edification of a doubting childhood, there was the suave generalization that bread crusts made the cheeks rosy.

Into this homely picture, however, has stumbled the exact burbling of the chemist and the dietician. Bread is no longer bread, but a conglomeration of nutritive elements which must perform have a Department of Nutritional Education to press-agent and brandish and blandish its life-giving attributes.

It is all for the best, as asserted heretofore, but as we grow better educated, and better nurtured because we are better educated, it is not out of place for old-timers to shed a passing tear for the halcyon times when bread had only for its press agent an odor that filled the house on Saturday morning and drew in trusting youth for an indigestible slice of hot crust with real butter and perhaps a dash of jam.

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has coined a new phrase for the sentence of "more business in government and less government in business." Hoover calls it "Government by Co-operation."

It works out in this way: Instead of having congressmen spend years passing ponderous and complicated laws to regulate and hamper the coal, or the lumber, or the oil industries, leaders of the trade are called in and asked to regulate their business to conform with public interest. . . . The saving to the public and the industry itself by this government by co-operation is obvious.

AFTER NEW GOLIATHS.

Like the Sampson of old, there has arisen in the University of Michigan a new strong man—strong of brain and of brawn. He is a captain of his university's swimming team and has a nearly perfect record in scholarship. Aply enough his name is Paul Sampson.

HONOR THE CLOWNS.

The French government has just bestowed a decoration and a medal upon one of its clowns—Coco. At first glance, the idea appears to be good. The country's heroes—its soldiers and explorers and statesmen—deserve all honor, but their work does not come close to the heart of the average man. It is the mimic and burlesquer who takes the sadness out of life who really does most for the great majority. Only when we look about for potential recipients of clown honor does the plan seem doubtful. Would the nation as a whole favor a Congressional Medal of Honor for Chaplin, or Harold Lloyd, or Fatty Arbuckle?

EVILS IN EDUCATION.

In Philadelphia, a professor of philosophy bewails that a "top-heavy civilization" is being produced and that it must fall unless a new system of education be devised. In Princeton University, two educators debate the value of higher degrees for teachers. In Amherst, Mass., student representatives from fourteen colleges discuss the evils of student life.

All of which is proof that education is still suffering from growing pains. There are undoubtedly ills in the educational system. For the evils of education, prescribe more education.

New York, May 13.—The jazz palaces of Harlem's "great black belt" have long since "gone tourist."

While a year or so ago Harlem "slumming" was the fad of the Bohemians and jazz explorers, today sight-seeing buses draw up at night and let out their crowds.

Formerly a few white couples might be seen scattered about in the cellar crowds, but now Saturday night finds buyers from Kokomo, college boys from Yale and butter-and-eggers from everywhere dancing about. Mixed dancing has become a commonplace.

Small, which was the first to taste tourist prosperity, has moved from its snug basement on Fifth Avenue into Broadway, and has grown quieter and vastly more respectable. The walls now are covered with gold embroidered Chinese hangings and the air of carnival and revelry is gently subdued. But for the jazziness of the negro band and the entertainers, it might be almost any cabaret.

Recently I took a visitor to a place where, when I was last there some six months ago, three young darlings from Chicago were singing songs a bit naughty in nature.

Now their repertoire is made up of spirituals. "That's what they want now." "One of them told me. 'So we learn a new one every week."

Whereas the ballads about "Dear Old Girl" and "My Old Pal" used to make the boys maudlin after the sixth hipshot, they find that "Swing Low" and "Deep River" are now vastly more popular and just as effective.

Which would seem to mark a great rise in public tastes.

Prosperity seems to have touched most of the out-of-the-way dining places in the "foreign quarters."

When I first began penning this column I often dropped into a little Russian place on Second Avenue to hear the balalaika orchestra. It was an obscure, little one room place then.

Going back the other night for the first time in a year I found the walls torn away to double the seating space, chromo Russian paintings on the wall and signs everywhere telling how the music could now be procured on phonograph records. A hat-check concession had been added and Russian cigarettes cost fifty cents a package.

CIVIC BODY HOMES

By DON E. MOWRY Secretary, the American Community Advertising Association. The benefits of a Chamber of Commerce building to house not only the commerce body itself but all civic and welfare organizations of a city are too often overlooked. Rochester, N. Y. offers an excellent example of what a city asset can be made of a Chamber of Commerce building of this kind.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, May 13.—Silk stockings and cigars are two principal factors in one problem of international relations which the American people seem to know little about.

The two nations who are parties to this momentous bit of dickerings are Cuba and the United States. There is no danger of a war, of course, but just the same there is an "issue," and diplomats love "issues."

The question was formerly, "Shall the Cuban flapper have in expensive silk stockings, or shall she not?" It was settled amicably and the brown legs of the seeress may now be made as sheer and shiny as those of her American cousin at just about the same price.

That was that, but events came to pass, and one thing led to another till the "issue" is now stated in these terms: to the Third Pan-American commercial conference in Washington. The United States and Cuba some time ago negotiated a parcel post convention to extend some of the benefits of the great parcel post system to the smaller republic. Today we send almost everything to Cuba by parcel post except automobiles and apartment houses, which are too large.

Your correspondent owes his information on this burning question to delegates to the Third Pan-American commercial conference in Washington. The United States and Cuba some time ago negotiated a parcel post convention to extend some of the benefits of the great parcel post system to the smaller republic. Today we send almost everything to Cuba by parcel post except automobiles and apartment houses, which are too large.

There was also a Hungarian place in the upper nineties where could be heard a little fellow who played the cymbalom with great skill.

Returning after a long absence, I learned that a "bigger and better" place had been opened two blocks away and had been given some fancy name. A liveried doorman opened the taxicab door and inside were half the motion picture and theater cliques of Broadway. A snappy limousine waited across the street for the proprietor.

A year ago one had to venture in a dark hallway and grope for a door to reach the entranceway of the "place where it began."

The small Cuban merchant is Thomas W. Lamont told a story at the annual dinner of the American branch of the International Chamber of Commerce which will bear repeating partly for itself and partly because it came from the great Lamont, member of the House of Morgan and one of the world's biggest financiers. A 100 per cent American married a 100 per cent Englishwoman and they lived in England and had a little girl. Whether the kid would be British or American was a great concern to both parents. Time came when they were to go to the United States and on the night before departure the mistress emerged triumphantly from the bedroom and announced that little Lucy, in her prayers, had said: "Goodby, God. We're going to America!" Lucy's pop rushed to the bedroom and soon emerged. Lucy, he shouted, had been misinterpreted. She had said: "Good! By God! We're going to America!"

FIRM RENTS TWO STORES; KEEPS OUT COMPETITOR

An unusual condition exists in the north end at depot square, where a chain grocery store has decided to pay rent for nearly two years on an empty store to keep away competition.

As soon as the new store in the Cowles Hotel block is ready, the Economy Co., will occupy one of the stores. They are moving from the Coughlin building, a few doors to the east.

The Economy store has a lease still to run for nearly two years and so, to keep out competition, it was said today, the company will pay the rent for that period for their old store.

LOCAL GIRL'S ESSAY IS COUNTY WINNER

Margaret Korngiebel of Henry Street Awarded $5 In Gold By W. C. T. U.

At the Hartford County convention of the W. C. T. U. held in the East Hartford Methodist church yesterday, a prize of five dollars in gold was awarded Miss Margaret Korngiebel of Henry street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Korngiebel, for the best essay, written by seventh and eighth grade children throughout the county.

Miss Korngiebel is in the seventh grade at the Hollister street school in the Eighth District and received a prize of two dollars a short time ago as the same essay was considered by the local judges the best of the 700 contributed by the children here.

About a dozen from the local W. C. T. U. attended the convention yesterday. E. L. G. Hohenthal's address on "Europe As I Saw It" was very much enjoyed. Mrs. Margaret Hood of Chestnut street who is superintendent for mission and relief work reported for the county.

Miss Korngiebel's essay "Why the United States Prohibits the Sale of Beer and Wine" follows: "The Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution forbids the manufacture, sale or importation of intoxicating beverages. The Volstead Act defines as an intoxicating beverage any beverage containing more than one-half of one per cent. alcohol. "We want to come back," plead Beer and Wine, through their spokesman, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. "We are not to be classed with the intoxicating liquors referred to in the Eighteenth Amendment. We never cause drunkenness, or any other evils that follow in the train of stronger liquors."

Most all intelligent people say that whiskey and brandy are bad and should be prohibited, but there are still some people who believe there should be saloons and urge that the laws be amended so that beer and light wines may be sold.

"More than ninety per cent of the alcoholic liquors consumed in the United States before national prohibition were beer and wine. The police courts of the big cities were filled with men intoxicated by these liquors. A Boston policeman, after forty-one years of service has said, "My experience is that beer drinkers become more gluttonous, more degraded and often more brutal than any other kind of drunkard."

"Every drunkard has begun with wine and beer and what Vance Thompson calls their 'rural brother,' older. These drinks create a drinker for stronger liquor until the drinker gets where he cannot stop. Miss Willard said, "There are two chapters in the life of a drinking man. Chapter one, the time when he could have stopped if he would. Chapter two, the time when he would have stopped if he could."

The alcohol injures the digestive system, it circulates in the blood, and is carried with the blood to the brain, nerve, and other cells, often causing alcoholic insanity. In Italy, where wine is a common drink, alcohol insanity is a common thing. It is the same in Bavaria, which is one of the beer-producing countries of the world. Since the prohibition law went into effect, every where there are figures telling of waning drunkenness, vice and crime, emptying hospitals, asylums, and jails, rapidly accumulating savings, over-flowing schools, sturdier, happier children, better and more prosperous homes, increasing and more wholesome recreation, healthier social life and increased fruits of human labor.

Ex-president Taft, chief justice of United States Supreme Court, says about wine and beer, "I am not in favor of amending the Volstead Act in respect to the amount of permissible alcohol in beverages. I am not in favor of allowing light wines and beer to be sold under the Eighteenth Amendment. I believe it would defeat the amendment."

The Eighteenth Amendment is one of the greatest means of maintaining peace and order, and its thorough enforcement will do much to eliminate the disease, discontent, and idleness which curses the present generation.

This vetoed the proposal of former President Theodore Roosevelt to lead four volunteer regiments to the Western front.

TO BUILD NEW CHURCH
Norwalk, Conn., May 18.—St. Paul's Episcopal church, one of the oldest in the country, is to have a new $140,000 home on the Green here in the near future. St. Paul's vestry today awarded the contract for the structure to Max A. Durrschmidt, of Derby.

St. Paul's parish had the first consecrated church in America. Its first structure was erected in 1740 and burned by the British in 1770. The second church was consecrated by Bishop Samuel Seabury, first bishop of the Episcopal church in America. The present structure was erected in 1840 of wood and is to be razed. The new building, the fourth to house the church will be of Gothic style.

INTO PORTO VERDE CAME VILAK

INTO Porto Verde came Vilak, a man of action.

A Strange man. In his veins flowed a mixture of American and Oriental blood; on his features was the indelible stamp of his Tartar ancestry—the high cheek bones, the slanting eyes, the tawny skin. His eyes were the blue of the Anglo-Saxons and his eyebrows, in striking contrast to his black hair, were blond. A man to remember

It was perhaps a curious fact that Elise Marberry should fall in love with him. Elise was beautiful and wealthy, Vilak unhandsome, repellent looking, more or less of an adventurer.

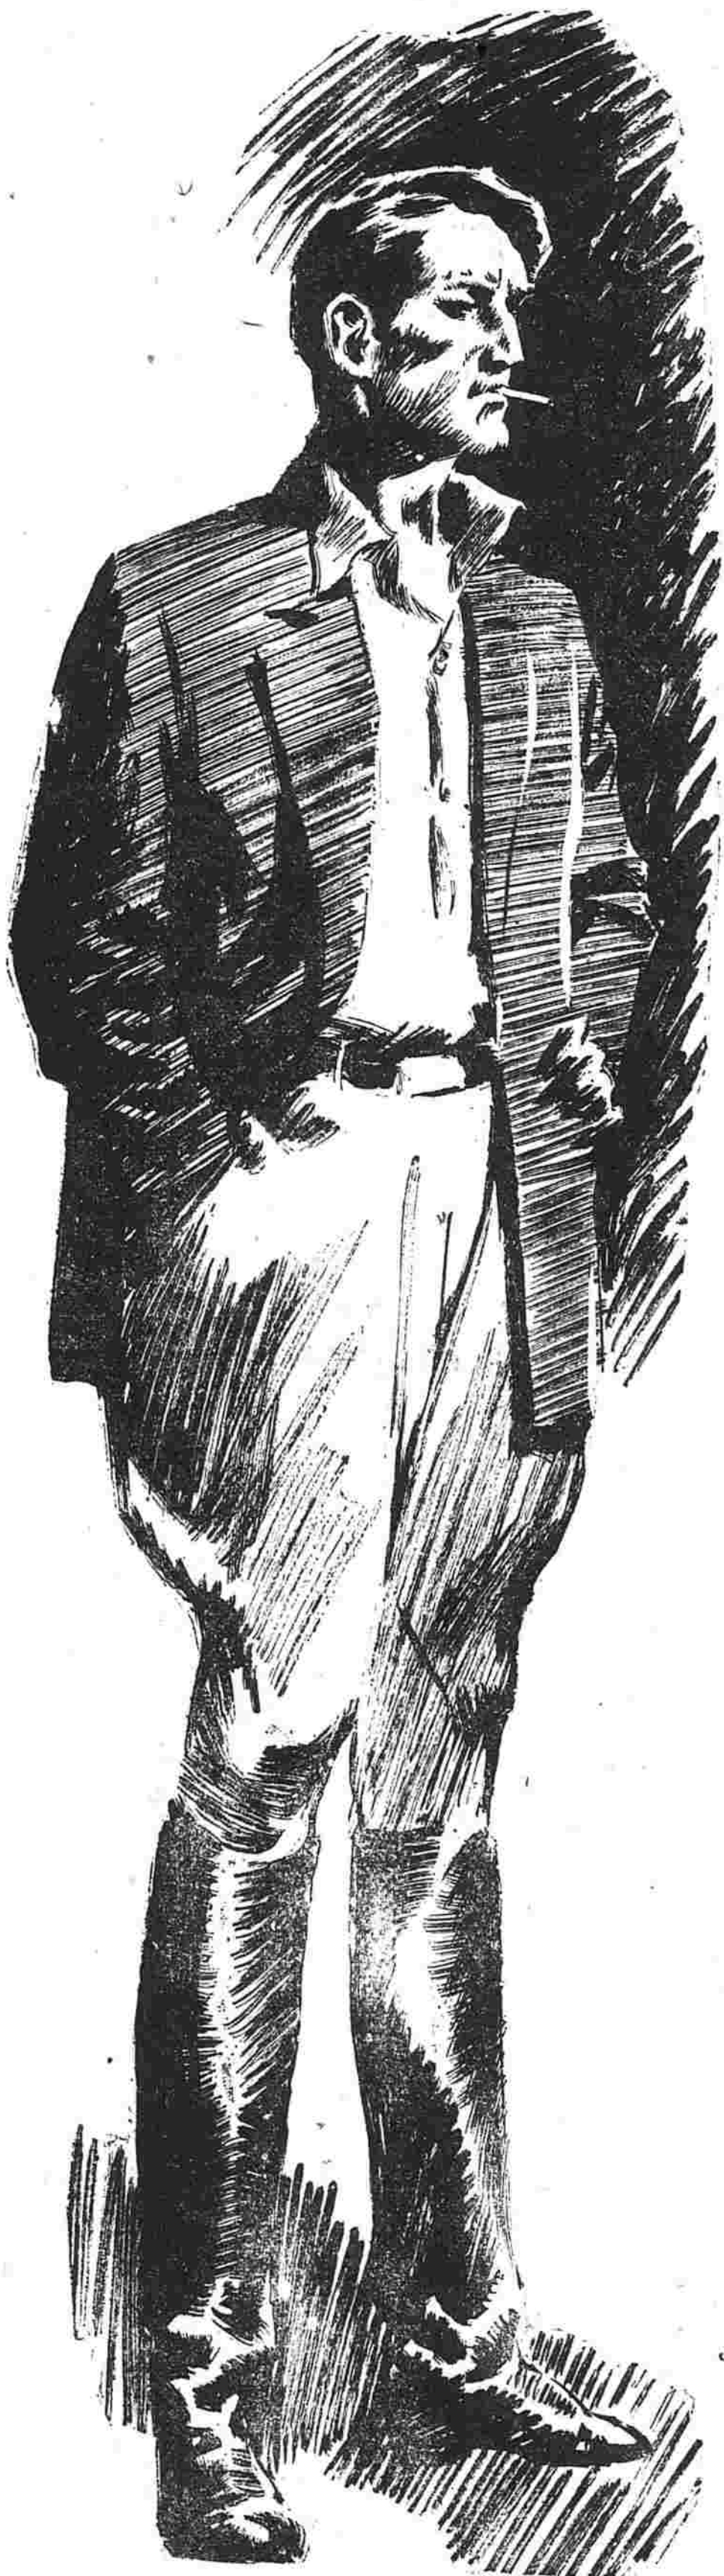

But they possessed one thing in common—courage. Together they dared the threats of a murderous clique and stayed on in Porto Verde when to stay was to invite death in shudderingly horrible form.

They stayed, and Vilak, matching his wits against those of the most powerful of all enemies, the enemy unseen, solved the mystery of Porto Verde.

You will meet Vilak in "Jungle Breath," the great new adventure story by Ben Lucien Burman. You will thrill at the exploits of this modern Sherlock Holmes and his romance with the beautiful Elise Marberry. If you miss this story you miss one of the big fiction treats of the year.

WHAT STYLISH YOUNG MISTER MAN WILL WEAR

Young Mr. Man loses his self-consciousness in this trim single-breasted, three-button lounge suit of Continental blue worsted...

By JULIA BLANSHARD. Scanning the social order today and realizing what importance children occupy in the thoughts of educators, one conclusion crystallizes: This certainly is the Age of Youth.

Children's theaters, children's art exhibits, children's scientific playgrounds! And of course children's clothing have an important place in the realm of style.

Paris dictates fashions for women. But the correctly informal note of English sports wear sounds style again and again in the clothing for "Sonny." For the boy over six the smartest and most sensible wear allows three choices: the sack suit with two buttons and correctly-cut full "shorts"; the single-breasted three-button lounge suit of soft materials, preferably English tweeds; and separate shorts or knickers with pull-over sweater, worn either with a shirt with sports collar or without a shirt, worn over the underwaist.

The Materials Materials for the boys' suits are homespuns, kasha, serge and other of the usual suitings and wash fabrics which prove very satisfactory. Blues are good this season, grays follow and browns from tan to deep hue are favorites, especially if they are blest with a novelty stripe, check, or invisible pattern.

Sweaters range from angoras of light but strong colors to heavy wools in sporty geometrical figures and stripes. The sweater necks vary, too. But the "quarter turtle neck" on a pull-over type sweater is best.

The fannel sack suit calls for an Elton cap or a soft Panama hat for summer wear. Sailor's berets are good for boys up to 12. Caps, Amer-

Coach Kelley To Remodel Our High School's Lineup

Team Fields Poorly as Brewer Pitches East Hartford to Win

Visiting Hurler Fans 12 Bringing Season's Total To 89 But Locals Hand Them Runs On Platter Several Times.

Several radical changes are expected to be made in the lineup of the local high school baseball team before the game with Meriden High in that city Saturday afternoon. Coach Tommy Kelley made known this fact yesterday afternoon after the Manchester outfit had made an unsatisfactory showing against the East Hartford nine, losing a league game by a 7 to 3 score.

Strikes Out 89!

True, Buddy Brewer pitched good enough ball to win for any team but Manchester contributed another large collection of errors, eight in all, which went a long way toward aiding the East Hartford cause. Brewer retired 12 on strikes bringing his season's total up to 89 for six games, an average of nearly 15 strike outs per game. Manchester bumped him for nine bingles, but few of them came when needed the most. Nino Bogzini, Ernie Dowd and Ding Farr each nicked Brewer for a base hit. Bogzini got a timely double and Winkler smote a long triple that did no harm. Ernie Dowd having been picked off first after singling just before him in the eighth inning.

Jerry Holmes pitched seven innings and was given poor support, both by himself and his mates as the error column will attest. He allowed two East Hartford tallies to cross the plate by errors of judgment followed by wild pegs to first base. Wiley, who replaced him after Kerr had been sent in as a pinch hitter, proved a complete puzzle to the visitors in the two innings he worked. Not a man reached base, not to mention getting a safe hit. Wiley will pitch in Meriden Saturday afternoon.

Few Earned Runs

Although East Hartford collected ten good hits off Holmes, all of their runs were helped along considerably by misplays on the part of the Manchester team. Two of the seven runs the visitors tallied were really earned. The same number were earned by the home team.

Coach Kelley says he will probably change his entire infield with the exception of Jimmy Foley in the Meriden game. The infield may be Hills, 1b; Foley, 2b; Ernie Dowd, ss; Ding Farr, 3b. The outfield will probably be the same with the exception of right field where Winkler may be tried out. Kelley is not at all satisfied with the manner in which his team has been fielding and feels that it cannot be weakened by alteration.

Local Sport Chatter

Jack Copeland, one of the men who judge the amateur boxing bouts for Cheney Brothers' A. A., is the authority for the statement that the stable of Providence boxers is a crackerjack. He says he saw them in action in Holyoke and that they easily cleaned up the Paper City boys. Jack thinks that if they are given good opposition here when outdoor boxing is opened next Wednesday night, that the best tournament of the series will result.

The baseball game originally scheduled for yesterday afternoon at Middletown between the Trade School nine of that city and the local S. T. S. team has been postponed until this afternoon. Friday afternoon, the locals go to Rockville for a return game, Manchester was the first of the annual home series. The score was 9 to 4.

Tomorrow is the date set for the eighteen-hole handicap golf tournament at the Manchester Country Club. Entries close at this noon. It was expected that in the neighborhood of fifty club members will vie for honors.

Manchester High's baseball nine will journey to Meriden Saturday afternoon for a league encounter. There will be a meeting of the representatives of the Hartford County baseball teams Friday night at the office of the Hartford County Y. M. C. A., Room 16, on 17 E. Y. M. C. A., John E. Rand, of Manchester, is athletic commissioner for baseball. It is possible that teams from the Orford Soap Company and Highland Park may enter.

The Orford Soap Company baseball nine will entertain the Rockville A. A. Saturday afternoon on the Community grounds. Last Saturday, the Bon Ami team beat them in Rockville.

Bat Battalino is going to turn professional after his next amateur bout at the Velodrome, Ed Hurley says. Many predict a great future for the Hartford featherweight champ of the country but there are others who claim he will not find his path strewn with roses. Last night Battalino knocked out Paul Vulture, of Lawrence, Mass., in a return bout at the Velodrome in exactly 47 seconds.

It appears that the approaching annual baseball game between the High school and Trade school faculties at the Hebron Game Club is going to be a corker. Both teams are keeping their personnel a secret but it is understood that each will have a strong representation on the field.

Bulkeley High of New London has a runner who placed fourth in the recent Yale Intercollegiate track meet and he will come here Saturday afternoon with his team to compete against Manchester High at the West Side field.

The North Ends will hold a meeting tonight at seven o'clock sharp. The following are requested to be on hand: Sachere brothers Evans, Taylor, Galias, G. Wilson, Crockett, Mitchell, Powers, Kroil, McCann, Hamilton, Melon, E. Wilson and Chatter.

FAIR SEX SHOWS MEN A FEW THINGS ABOUT BOWLING ART

Who said men are superior to women in sports? Last night at the Ladies of Columbus to temple one more pin than the Ladies of Columbus in the first three games of a six-game match. The men won 1519 to 1513. The two teams will roll the final three games Friday night at the K. of C. alleys at 8:15. Dave McCollum acted as cheer leader for the Knights and was instrumental in the victory for his team because also actions kept the fairer sex from giving full attention to their work. Sue Coleman was the cheer leader for the ladies and she did her utmost to throw the men off form and succeeded to the extent of a one-pin margin. Jerry Sweeney was scorekeeper and Barney O'Neil kept his eye on the foul line, or was supposed to.

Burghley Predicts Great Future For World Sports

WHO IS BURGHLEY?

Lord David Burghley is an unique figure in international sports limelight. He is the son and heir of the Earl of Essex and his family dates back to the 13th century British nobility.

Lord Burghley, whose full name is David George Brown-Cecil, is a familiar and popular figure at all world-wide track meets. He is single, 22 years old, and attends Cambridge University. The flaxen-haired British peer is England's hurdle champion and following his initial appearance at the Penn relays, which was marked by a triumph, he returned this year after a trip from a track meet in Athens, Greece, to be nosed out by Johnny Gibson, Fordham, in the 400-meter hurdles the first day.

He came back strong the second day and despite treacherous footing, ran anchor on a team which so far outclassed the Yankee combinations in speed and skill that there never was a question as to the ultimate victor. Yale was a poor second and Pennsylvania ran third.

This pertinent story by Lord (Cecil-Me-De-De) Burghley is exclusive to The Herald.

At a special meeting of the baseball directors of the Manchester Community Club last night, it was voted to continue the season with a team composed of players from both ends of the town, and Harold Clemson, former Shamrock manager, was named to succeed "Babe" Oakes, who resigned as manager after last Sunday's game.

Another meeting will be held Friday night after practice and the players will be measured for new suits. It was also announced that Sammy Kotsch has been signed to play with the Community Club nine and that Pete Partons, another south end star, will also be in the lineup in the next game, Coach Bill Brennan feels that these additions will bolster his lineup considerably.

Bill Mantell, St. John and Kotsch in the Community Club nine and that Pete Partons, another south end star, will also be in the lineup in the next game, Coach Bill Brennan feels that these additions will bolster his lineup considerably.

The scheduled games for tomorrow night and Monday have been cancelled and Manager Clemson is now attempting to book another game for Sunday to be played at Hickey's Grove.

The following players are requested to report for practice at the Community grounds Friday night: Mantell, Farrand, Frantic, Jim McLaughlin, Linnell, Hunt, Edgar, Warnock, Varrick Kotsch, Mantell, St. John.

Boysden Unable to Speak Here

Dr. Leavitt of Brookline Secured For Joint Meeting Tomorrow Night.

A slight change in the program of the joint Chamber of Commerce Get-Together club meeting has been necessary because of the inability of Headmaster Frank L. Boysden of Deerfield Academy, to attend. The change however, will not be regretted as the Rev. Ashley D. Leavitt of Harvard church, Brookline, Mass., has been secured as speaker for the evening.

Those who attended the joint meeting last year will remember Dr. Leavitt as the speaker on that occasion when he made a most favorable impression on his audience of more than two hundred. With Mr. Leavitt as the speaker, the Deerfield Academy Glee club to render the musical program and the fascinating outdoor fishing film, "Fish Tales," the program is bound to be one that will appeal to everyone.

Members are urged to bring their wives and friends. The time of the meeting is 7:45 p. m. tomorrow in Cheney hall.

The Cyp club will hold a food sale in Hall's basement on Saturday at 2 o'clock. All members are urged to contribute as the club is trying to raise funds to send delegates to Storrs college this summer.

SHIRLEY MASON STARS IN "WRECK" AT CIRCLE

Here Tomorrow and Friday: John Gilbert in "The Show" Tonight.

A man's lies and a woman's sacrifices are the main points in "The Wreck," Shirley Mason's new picture, which is the feature attraction at the Circle theater tomorrow and Friday. In the film the star is supported by Malcolm McGregor, Francis MacDonald, Barbara Tennant and others.

"The Wreck" tells of the adventures of a trusting, clear-eyed girl who has been fooled into matrimony by a sweet tongued rogue, but her innocent manner may assist him in his crooked schemes. When she is hurt in a train wreck, and taken to the beautiful home of a wealthy man because she is mistaken for his wife, more exciting things happen for the heroine. His mother becomes very fond of her, the man himself falls in love with her, and all the time she thinks she is the wife of a crook and being sought by the police for a robbery he had committed. The climax is said to be totally unexpected and an exciting one.

Shirley Mason plays the trusting bride, and Malcolm McGregor the wealthy man whose love saves her from the misery into which her false marriage had led her.

John Gilbert and Renee Adoree finish up their engagement to tonight in "The Show," the drama of circus life in which both have done as good work as any they have ever produced before. "The Show" is a story to conjure with the director of the piece has put his best occasion when he made a most favorable impression on his audience of more than two hundred. With Mr. Leavitt as the speaker, the Deerfield Academy Glee club to render the musical program and the fascinating outdoor fishing film, "Fish Tales," the program is bound to be one that will appeal to everyone.

Life and the Elements
When storms of live are bearing down
And rain is filling up the cellar,
'Tis then my sad soul yearns for town
Whereat I left my new umbrella.

How to Live Happily The Married-Man wants night job, woman wants day work. Mad. 809-W.

Emancipation
The gentler sex is gaining ground
As ne'er it gained before;
Since Gramma's had her neck shaved round,
I think she's sweating more.

SENSE and NONSENSE

A Spring Song
The back gate is a saggin',
The barn-yard is a sight—
The chicken house needs mendin',
The fences don't look right.

The fruit trees need a sprayin'
The flivver's shors of paint—
The gray mule wants a shoelin'
It's enough to try a saint.

The most helpless man in the world is the one with a new pair of gloves when there is a tire to be changed.

Lee: "Hear about that man they buried last week?"
Johnny: "No. What was wrong?"
Lee: "Nothing; he was dead."

The modern girl was talking to an old-fashioned man "Next week I'm going to Paris for some clothes," she said.
"Ah!" he replied in a relieved tone. "I wonder where you'd left them."

Work
If you are poor—work.
If you are rich—continue to work.
If you are burdened with seemingly unfair responsibilities—work.
If you are happy, keep right on working.
Idleness gives room for fears and doubts.
If disappointments come—work.
If sorrow overwhelms you and loved ones seem not true—work.
If the health is threatened—work.
When faith falters and reason falls—just work.
When dreams are shattered and hope seems dead—work.
Work as if your life were in peril. It really is.
Whatever happens or matters—work.
Work faithfully—work with faith.
Work is the greatest material remedy available.
Work will cure both mental and physical afflictions.
A life size statue was found under an old bath tub during some recent excavations. Someone better give it a gentle nudge, it might be a plumber at work.

Tourist—"I've been out enjoying the moon with your daughter.
Mountaineer: "That gal's too dog-goned careless. Some day she'll give some of that stuff to a revenue officer."

A mouse is afraid of a man, a man is afraid of a woman, and a woman is afraid of a mouse.

What is worse than to pour your heart troubles into the ear of some beautiful girl and then have her to say, "Huh?"
Some men's only creed is greed.

THE TINYMITES

(Read the Story, Then Color the Picture)

As Clowny sat out in the stream, the others started in to scream. They simply shook from laughing 'cause 'twas funny as could be. Course Clowny took it all in fun, and shouted, "I'm the only one who now can have a dandy swim, unless you all join me."

boys, I think my hippopotamus is coming down your way. Just don't be scared. He's very kind. He'll join with you, if you don't mind. You all can hop right on his back, 'cause he knows how to play.

ABOUT TOWN

Manchester Division No. 1, A. O. E., will initiate eight candidates into membership tomorrow evening in St. James' hall at 8 o'clock. Reports from the banquet and hall committees will be heard and a social time will follow.

The Recreation Committee at its regular meeting yesterday approved the appointment of James Dowd as playground instructor in the Ninth District during the coming summer. A full attendance of the committee was not present and another meeting will be held within a week.

The American Insurance Union will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening at 8:15 in Tinker hall, to be followed by setback. Six prizes will be given and Miss Lotie Orr, chairman will be in charge. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Winifred Lennon, of Charter Oak street, will lose partial sight of one eye as a result of being struck by a chip while chopping wood at her home recently. She is now in the Memorial hospital.

Marshall Osella, of Birch Mountain Road, is rapidly recovering from a broken nose and other injuries he suffered in an automobile accident recently.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin, of 113 Wells street, yesterday.

Alfred Palozic of 234 Oak street, was admitted to Memorial hospital yesterday. He is ill with pneumonia.

The Young People's society of the Concordia Lutheran church will be entertained by the St. John's society of young people of the First Evangelical Lutheran church in Rockville tomorrow evening. Those planning to go should plan to be at the church ready to leave at 7 o'clock sharp. The trip will be made in buses.

The field day program to be given by the children of the Buckland school on the playgrounds this afternoon has been postponed until tomorrow afternoon at 1:30.

REHEARSING PLAYS

The Town Players are still in rehearsal for the two one-act plays which they will give next week for their active and associate members. The plays were scheduled for last week but illness in the cast made the postponement necessary.

The plays are "The Shoes that Danced" and "Punk," the former a fantasy and the latter a farce. The first play is being directed by Mrs. S. C. Hale and will be a colorful affair. The second is an absurd comedy and depicts a rehearsal of an amateur play.

The Enfield Players of Thompsville will come to Manchester in June for the annual banquet of the local thespians and will give a one-act play, "My Tailor."

BOSTON, MANCHESTER
ARTISTS IN CONCERT

Copley String Quartet and Edward F. Taylor to Assist Beethoven Glee.

Boston and Manchester artists will assist the Beethoven Glee club in its second annual concert which will be given in High school hall on Thursday evening, May 26. Edward F. Taylor, who has sung with the club several times this year, will be the principal vocal soloist of the evening, and the out of town artists will include the Copley String quartet.

In addition to these artists the audience will have the pleasure of hearing Nicholas Slonimsky, pianist, and Verne A. Powell, flutist, also of that city. Both are leading artists on their instruments and the latter is now solo flutist with the Boston Chamber orchestra. Mr. Powell replaces George Laurent who will be unable to appear.

One of the features of the Beethoven club is the fact that every number is completely memorized before any public performance. This insures the concentration of the members on the director so that nothing will distract their attention.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased from any member of the glee club or at Watkins Brothers or at C. E. House and Son.

Chapman Court, O. of A. will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Odd Fellows hall. The initiation of candidates will take place followed by the annual memorial service.

SURPRISE SHOWER

A surprise miscellaneous shower was given last night at the home of Mrs. Thomas Gannon of Main street in honor of Miss Alba Fracchia, who is to be married next month to Anthony Casali of South Glastonbury.

A mock marriage was performed in which Mrs. Edwina Burrell was the bride, Mrs. Rudolph Wadas the bridegroom, Mrs. Anna Modan the bridesmaid, Violet Henselbrook the best man and Margaret Scott the minister. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games. Miss Fracchia received a number of gifts.

You Needn't Apologize for Comfort for this new Grover cut-out tie is just about the smartest looking shoe you could find in a day's journey, and yet it is the last word in comfort.

It is one of the very latest of the new Spring styles, and there are indications that it is to be one of the most popular numbers that we have ever had.

It comes in Black Kid or Stroller Tan Calf, and is a decidedly attractive shoe in either leather.

Let's Get Acquainted

HALE'S DAYS

Too many people, to satisfy us, are wont to think of our store as a place for procuring the necessities of life—and view it as nothing else. Whereas we like to think of our store as a friendly place, to which people enjoy coming—for the special little services we are so well equipped to give.

As we'd like to establish a friendship between you and our departments we have set aside two days, Friday and Saturday as HALE'S DAYS. Every buyer has something unusually good to offer you during this two day event. Come in Friday or Saturday and let's get acquainted.

Tea Will Be Served

Free to all our customers who participate in this big event Friday and Saturday afternoon from three to five o'clock by Mrs. Ann Waddell, buyer of our Millinery Department. This is just one of the many services we will extend to you during Hale's days, Friday and Saturday.
