

REPUBLICANS FACE 3 FIGHTS PRIMARY DAY

Contests Develop For Selectmen, Assessor and Constable; Johnson Becomes Assessor.

Three contests are promised for the Republican primary when registered voters go to the polls to nominate election candidates on Tuesday, September 13. Eight proposals have been filed for Selectman with seven to be nominated. Two proposals for the three-year term of Assessor have been filed and one can be nominated. Five proposals for Constable have been filed and but four can be nominated. No contestants have developed for the Democratic primary. All proposals for Democratic nominations were filed last night by Democratic Town Chairman Frank J. Quish. The Democrats endorsed three Republican candidates at present holding office. They are Town Treasurer George H. Waddell, Town Clerk Samuel J. Turkington and Town Tax Collector George H. Howe.

The Candidates

The eight candidates for the Republican nomination as Selectman are: E. L. G. Hohenthal, Jr., John H. Hyde, Albert T. Jackson, George E. Keith, William W. Robertson, Thomas J. Rogers, Robert J. Smith and Wells A. Strickland. The two candidates for the full term of Assessor are Samuel Nelson, Jr., and John Jensen. George A. Johnson is automatically nominated and practically assured of election as an Assessor since no one opposed him for the unexpired term. The five candidates for Constable are: Frank Edmunds, James W. Foley, Fred A. Kraus, Gerald R. Risley and William J. Shields.

Uncontested proposals for Republican nominations are as follows:

School Visitor, C. Alvord; Tax Collector, George H. Howe; Town Clerk, Samuel J. Turkington; Town Treasurer, George H. Waddell; and Registrar of Voters, Robert N. Veitch.

Democratic Nominations

The Democratic Town committee filed the following proposals for nominations which were uncontested: For Selectmen, Henry J. Brooks, Walter Sheridan, Thomas J. Spillane, Andrew J. Healy and William P. Quish; School Visitor, James Burke; Auditor, John F. Limerick; Assessor, Charles F. Balch; Constable, Frank J. Quish; William R. Campbell, and James Duffy, Sr.; Town Clerk, Samuel J. Turkington; Town Treasurer, George H. Waddell; Town Tax Collector, George H. Howe; Registrar of Voters, Louis T. Breen. The committee did not file a proposal for the unexpired term of assessor.

The eight candidates for the Republican nomination to the Board of Selectmen are all men who either have proved their competency by service on the board, reliable and conservative in their attitude, those who represent a group of taxpayers whose voices should be heard in town governmental problems. Although the candidacy of E. L. G. Hohenthal, Jr. was not endorsed by a vote of the committee, the committee was favored by some members of that committee. None of the candidates has "an axe to grind" in seeking the nomination, they have all at various times declared, and the campaign, far from being a contest, is a contest of ideas.

GEO. JOHNSON NAMED WITHOUT OPPOSITION

Will Serve Two Years Before Seeking Nomination Again; A Good Choice.

When the time limit ended at midnight last night for the filing of proposals for nomination to elective offices in Manchester, George A. Johnson, well known local civil engineer and surveyor, was automatically nominated by the Republicans and practically assured of election as an assessor. Mr. Johnson's papers were filed by the Republican town committee, for the unexpired term.

No other papers were filed for the Democratic town committee did not name a candidate. If the Democrats do not fill in the vacancy on their ticket Mr. Johnson is elected without opposition. It is not likely that the Democrats will oppose Mr. Johnson since no candidate was named previous to last night.

Mr. Johnson is considered a fortunate choice for the Board of Assessors. He is well acquainted with property values in Manchester and his knowledge will be a big help to the assessors in carrying out the information necessary for the Eider system. For many years Mr. Johnson was in charge of engineering work for Cheney Brothers and actually laid out the greater number of Manchester's first highways.

Finds Ringside Seats Anything Else But

Chicago, Aug. 30.—It may interest you to know that there are 38,000 alleged ringside seats for the Dempsey-Tunney brawl. If you don't believe it, you can wander out to the massive stadium and do your own counting.

And then you'll discover that although 38,000 seats will be sold for $40 each and will be called "ringside" seats the unvarnished truth is that there are no more than 5,000 or 6,000 actual ringside seats.

The others are located so far from the ring that if a fellow in the back row of the "ringside" section generated a wallop to the referee and fired a shot at him in the first round it would not hit the official until about six rounds later.

The ring will be about in the center of the stadium. Squared around it will be eight sections of 25 rows each. Those sections are 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 59 and 60.

If you get a seat in any of those sections you will know that you have an actual ringside seat. But if your seat is in any other section it means that it's at least 27 rows back of the actual first row—if not 100 rows back.

The seating arrangement for this battle is the trickiest that ever transpired and on September 2nd Chicago will be full of boozes who have seat on one row, section thirty-four or fifty-eight or twenty-two, who will think they are in the first row ringside and then come to know that they are scheduled to sit in the outskirts of Danville or Aurora or Elgin or Joliet.

SUCCESSOR TO GARY MAY SOON BE APPOINTED

Wall Street Names Seven Men Who Are In Field to Direct U. S. Steel Corporation.

New York, Aug. 30.—Who will become America's "steel king," succeeding the late Elbert H. Gary? In Wall Street where that question is today arousing no little speculation, seven names are being prominently mentioned as "possibilities" for the big job of chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation—if a chairman of the board is eventually selected. There is, indeed, a persistent report that no successor will be named, but that the position will be purposely left unfilled and that James A. Farrell, president of the corporation, and J. P. Morgan will be the "big guns" in the future affairs of the company.

CHICAGO FACING THEATRE STRIKE

350 Movie Exhibitors In Session Today—Strike May Spread Over U. S.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Chicago's strike and lockout of motion picture theater operators may become nationwide, it was indicated today. As the 300 of the 350 exhibitors of this city went into session to consider ways and means of reopening their theaters, threats were hurled by both sides that sympathy strikes and lockouts might be called in every large city in the country.

DOG LEADS SLEUTHS TO INCENDIARIES

Youths Confess That They Started Five Fires During Sacco Parade.

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 30.—Charged with arson, three young men faced arraignment in Municipal Court today in connection with the series of fires on Sunday that came at the time of the Sacco-Vanzetti funeral procession but responsibility for which Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizer have been exonerated.

61 CIVILIAN PLANES

Montreal, Aug. 30.—There are only sixty-one civilian-owned aircraft operating in Canada, the Department of National Defense announced today. These machines are exclusive of military planes and are used mainly for patrolling forests by lumber and paper companies, it was said.

FIRE CHIEF KILLED

Corinth, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Clotus J. Sweeney, fire chief of Corinth, died today when his automobile skidded on the Corinth-Luzerne road and overturned in a creek. Leo Sweeney came to Corinth recently from Milwaukee.

Mourners

Boston saw an impressive spectacle when the funeral parade for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti was held. The lower of these two photos shows some of the great floral pieces which were carried at the head of the procession. In the upper are a few of the mourners who trudged after.

SAM ONG JING BAIL IS NOW $50,000

Mysterious Efforts of Chinese to Get Witness Released Are Foiled.

Because of certain mysterious activities of a group of New York and Boston Chinese with relation to the release on bail of Sam Ong Jing, Manchester laundryman, jail held as a material witness in the long murder here last March, Judge Neff yesterday raised the bail of Sam to the amount, probably unprecedented in such a case, of $50,000.

HENRY A. NETTLETON IN GRAVE CONDITION

COMPETITION IN OIL COSTS U. S. BILLION

Secretary Work Tells Delegations That Overproduction Must Stop—Calls It 'Civil War.'

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Competition in the oil fields of the United States has degenerated to a state of "civil war" which last year cost the nation a cool billion dollars, Secretary of the Interior Work asserted today before the mineral law section of the American Bar Association.

Pointing to an over-production of approximately a million barrels a day throughout 1926, Secretary Work, who spoke also in his capacity as chairman of the Federal Oil Conservation Board, warned the industry that unless effective measures are taken to eliminate the present wasteful competition, the government will be compelled to step in to safeguard the public interest.

To Give Them Freedom

He served tacit notice upon the legal branch of the industry, however, that oil men themselves will be given the greatest latitude by the government in their attempts to set their own house in order.

Studying Crime

With the exception of some mineral law meetings, the tacit attention of the delegates was centered today upon the gathering of the section on crime and criminology, a distinct unit within the association devoting itself entirely to the problem of checking crime.

LAW OBSOLETE

"The psychology has come to feel," he said, "that the criminal law and methods of legal procedure are based upon concepts which are largely obsolete, and that the present methods as they exist are inadequate to deal with the problem of human behavior."

Case on Appeal

The case of Chin Lung and Soo Wing convicted of the murder of Ong King, cousin of Sam Ong, is on appeal to the supreme court, and in the event of a new trial being ordered the state would be largely dependent on the presence of Sam Ong Jing.

DOG LEADS SLEUTHS TO INCENDIARIES

A little white dog led to their arrest, a woman having reported seeing three men and a white dog drive up to the Anchor Welding Company's plant. Shortly after they drove away there was an explosion and fire. The dog also was taken in custody by police.

'ROUND WORLD PLANE LANDS AT BELGRADE

Missing U. S. Flyer

Paul Redfern, alone in his monoplane, is believed down somewhere in his 4500-mile air jaunt from Brunswick, Ga., to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. He is pictured above in his plane just before leaving.

U. S. Consuls Instructed To Search For Redfern

Washington, Aug. 30.—American consuls at three South American points in the line of Paul Redfern's attempted Georgia-to-Brazil flight were instructed today by the State Department to institute search for the missing aviator, long overdue at his destination. The consuls' facilities are limited, but they will take such as are possible, those being principally inquiry throughout the sparsely settled areas, it was said.

LEVINE MAY MAKE RETURN TRIP ALONE

Breaks Contract With French Pilot and Talks With English Aviators.

London, Aug. 30.—Apparently abandoning completely his play to fly back to America with Maurice Drouhin, famous French aviator, Charles A. Levine, New York millionaire, was up bright and early today rushing arrangements for a return flight in company with an English pilot.

FIRST SNOW STORM OF YEAR REPORTED

Enough Fell at Albany to Cover Ground—Hail Damages Fruit.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 30.—The first snow storm of the season for New York state was reported here today as an aftermath of a storm of wind and hail which swept eastern New York for the past two days. From points along the Cherry Valley turnpike came reports that enough snow had fallen last night after the hail, to cover the ground momentarily.

GET RUNWAY READY FOR OLD GLORY'S HOP

Fuel Tanks Filled and Food Placed Aboard—Wait For West Wind.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Scores of workmen and engineers worked on the runway here this morning in an effort to recalculate it for the hop-off of "Old Glory," the monoplane sponsored by William Randolph Hearst. The west wind predicted for this afternoon, it was believed that the start for Rome would be made late today.

SAVED BY A MIRACLE; TO ENTER PRIESTHOOD

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 30.—Convinced that a religious miracle saved his life when he was on the verge of death from injuries received in the World War, Robert J. White of Watertown, assistant district attorney of Middlesex county, will enter the priesthood.

Schlee and Brock Leave Munich For Constantinople

But Encounter Bad Weather—To Hop Off Again Early Tomorrow Morning—Plane In Splendid Condition.

London, Aug. 30.—The round-the-world airplane "Pride of Detroit" enroute from Munich to Constantinople, landed at Belgrade at 12:06 o'clock today, according to a Central News dispatch from that city.

U. S. Consuls Instructed To Search For Redfern

When the armmen in the Pride of Detroit—Edward F. Schlee and William Brock—left Munich they stated they would try to make a non-stop flight to Constantinople, but would land at Belgrade if they encountered bad weather or their fuel ran short.

MOVE LIKE CLOCKWORK

Munich, Aug. 30.—With the same smooth assurance and meticulous punctuality that has marked their record-breaking flight thus far, Edward F. Schlee and William Brock left here at 6:27 o'clock this morning for Constantinople on the third lap of their conquest of the world by air.

BROCK AND SCHLEE ARRIVED AT FLYING FIELD AT SIX O'CLOCK

The "Pride of Detroit" the gilded monoplane which carried the fliers to this ancient city from Newfoundland on two hops, made a perfect getaway from the Oberwiesenthal flying field. After circling the airport once, the monoplane sped into the sky toward its goal, a distance of 1,111 miles.

TO HALT AT BELGRADE

The fliers explained they would halt at Belgrade about noon only if the weather was poor, otherwise they planned to push ahead for the Turkish city, arriving in the neighborhood of five o'clock this evening.

EXCELLENT WEATHER LIES AHEAD

Memorandum stations between here and Vienna report the atmosphere clear and windless.

BEFORE THE TAKE-OFF THIS MORNING

Lufthansa experts examined the engine of the "Pride of Detroit" and declared it "like new."

Rockville
LOSS OF SILK MILL
HITS GRAND LIST
Belding Shut Down To Decrease Total Assessments By at Least $100,000

(Special to The Herald)
 Rockville, August 30.—The grand list of the town of Vernon and the city of Rockville will both show a falling off of at least $100,000 this fall because of the closing of the Belding silk mill and on top of this the county tax is also to show an increase after the cost of the murder trial has been added. The income will not be as great from other sources as in former years due to the cut in the amount that is paid to the town and cities of this state under the state stock tax, which is cut to six mills this year, divided between the town and the city according to the grand list of each. The Belding company, which was held in large lots locally last year, is not now being held in the amounts that was the case this time a year ago and the value is not as high.
 When the Belding mill closed a year and a half ago there was a falling off of about $150,000 in the grand list, but the machinery was not removed from the mill as is the case of the Belding-Hemway Company. The mills are not so important as cost of construction jobs, but there was a big figure that was paid on machinery, finished stock and stock in course of manufacture, which does not exist now that will mean a big cutting in the value. The fact that building in Rockville has not been sufficient to offset this loss will mean an increase in taxes.
 The fact, too, that provision made in the last two bond issues, the refunding bonds for the city of Rockville to pay for sewer work done thirty years ago and which was for $54,000 and only $14,000 was paid on this amount, is now a serial bond which provides for interest and a retirement of certain amounts of the bonds each year.
 Mr. Frank Harlow of Woodside, N. Y., is now a serial bond which provides for interest and a retirement of certain amounts of the bonds each year.
 The selectmen in their budget last year asked for $10,000 as the town's share of the new road. The state has not sent a correct bill and the selectmen have not paid the bill. On this there has been a saving of over $400 made for the town, but they will ask for budget the same amount in their new budget. In the city department where there has been a part saving in the money that they had figured for the superintendent of roads, which will leave a small balance in that department, although the employing of extra local men have taken up part of the money.
 To Become a Nurse
 Miss Josephine Gregus, daughter of Mrs. Mary Gregus, of Talcott avenue will leave her position with the Hockmann Company this week and will enter the New Britain General Hospital to study to become a nurse. Miss Gregus has all the qualifications to make an exceptionally good nurse, both in build, education and a many other things that are necessary for the position that she is studying for. She is a graduate of the Rockville High School and since her graduation has long felt that nursing was her calling.
 She is well and favorably known to many in Rockville, being active in the work of the Union Congregational church and the Rockville Girls' Club, being willing at all times to help in the interests of the club and the church and in any of the organizations that she is connected with.
 Her decision to take up this work comes as a surprise to many of her friends, but to those who were informed of her decision today there was but one reply: "She will make a good nurse as she has the disposition that will be sure and add cheer to any sick room."
 Fair Opened
 Today was the real opening of the Rockville fair. Everything was in "apple pie" order when the different exhibitors arrived this morning and there is a whole lot more room being added to the exhibits. The Coleman shows, who have the chief section of the midway are producing a clean cut show and their four rides were in demand from the opening of the gates this morning and gave promise of being busy all through. The automobile exhibit is also given more space than in former years and the manufactures, merchants and farmers exhibit in the hall under the grand stand. The horses are bringing in many old time horse men which after all is what makes the fair.

"PRIDE OF DETROIT"
USES VALVOLINE
 Representatives of the Valvoline Oil company in Manchester and surrounding territory were unusually well pleased with the showing of the "Pride of Detroit" the big automobile which made the hop last Saturday. The reason was the fact that the "Pride of Detroit" is burning Valvoline motor oil on her trip around the world.
 During the flight of 2530 miles the plane used but two gallons of Valvoline oil, thirteen of the fifteen gallons originally placed in their tanks being left upon landing. At all the stops the "Pride of Detroit" will make a large supply of Valvoline awaits them.

SHOW DEATH MASKS
OF RADICALS TODAY
 Guarded in New York by Six Men Wearing Flaming Red Shirts.
 New York, Aug. 30.—The waxy death masks of Sacco and Vanzetti against a background of black velvet surrounded by a guard of six men in flaming red shirts.
 An endless line of sympathizers of the two executed radicals filed past this weird tableau at Stuyvesant Casino today.
 Mrs. Nicola Sacco, widow of the shoemaker, brought the death masks from Boston. They were placed in a miniature mausoleum which had been intended for the ashes of the convicted murderers.
 The crowd cheered the widow lustily and accepted without demonstration the information that Sacco and Vanzetti's ashes were to be mixed, one half to be buried in Malden cemetery in Boston and the other half to be taken to Italy by Miss Luigia Vanzetti, sister of the fish peddler.
 A mourning party numbering thousands which escorted Mrs. Sacco bearing the masks from Union Square to the Casino, became riotous in its excitement and engaged in a spirited battle with police. Forty men and women were slightly injured by nightsticks and police horses' hoofs before the surging mob was dispersed. Placards, "Sacco and Vanzetti are innocent," were waved. The placards were on a charge of criminal anarchy.

OIL INDUSTRY'S WORLD FAIR TO TALK AVIATION
Col. Lindbergh Present At Tulsa Exposition To Stimulate Interest.
 Tulsa, Oklahoma.—Aviation will come into its glory at the Fourth International Petroleum Exposition, when it will be feted by the industry which first made flying possible.
 The directors of the exposition, which has been quite properly termed "The World's Fair of the Oil Industry," have sensed the great interest being universally manifest in aviation and are centering their activity on plans to make all lines pertaining to aeronautical developments the foremost attractions at the exposition this year.
 Headlining the aviation features will be the coming of the world famous "Vee"—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, and his "Spirit of St. Louis." Probably the greatest reception the distinguished aviator will receive on his transcontinental tour is being prepared for him when he arrives here September 29.
 Spectacular event
 The city of Tulsa, and the State of Oklahoma are determined to make the occasion one of the largest and most spectacular events in the history of the state. Officials already are making predictions for a gathering numbering in the hundreds of thousands. The famous young American will spend an entire day at the show, conferring with oil men about fuels and lubricants.
 A second aeronautical attraction will be the coming of a fleet of commercial planes owned by oil companies. The giant de Luxe tri-motor plane "Stanolind" will bring a group of officials of the Standard Oil company to the show. The Texas company officials will fly from Houston, Tex., in a big Ryan monoplane; The Phillips Petroleum Corporation will send its Traveler plane from headquarters at Bartlesville, Okla.; The Manhattan Oil company will bring another Traveler air plane from Fort Worth; while the Skelly Oil company will have a plane here. Several other companies also are contemplating making the flight here, while a number of aircraft manufacturers will bring their wares to the show.
 Added Attraction
 As an added attraction, Lieutenant Colonel J. A. Pagsel of Scott Field, Illinois, will fly an army "biplane" to the exposition, and thus two distinctive types of aircraft will be shown.
 To further center interest in aviation, plans for making extensive tests of special aviation gasoline to determine their relative efficiency have been announced. These tests will be conducted by officials of the National Aeronautics Association. A number of manufacturers of gasoline for aircraft are expected to enter their products in the tests.
 Oil men see in the great progress being made in reducing the immense surplus of oil, which has gutted the market during the past year, "A hundred thousand airplanes flying in the United States would be a surplus." President W. G. Skelly of the board of directors of the exposition, has declared.

ABOUT TOWN
 Samuel E. Gaylor of Russell street who sustained a fracture of one of his ankle bones is able to be around on crutches although it will be a couple of weeks or so before he is able to return to his work. Mr. Gaylor who is employed at the Eastern Dairy company's Hartford branch turned his foot on a curb in stepping off one of the trucks and the injury to his ankle resulted.
 A board of relief consisting of a selectman, a member of the school committee and an assessor, will sit at the Buckland school Wednesday evening from 7 to 8 o'clock, day-light saving time. This board has the same rights with regard to the school district assessment as the town board of relief has to the town list.

EXPLORER IS READY TO AID IN SEARCH
 Richard O. Marsh Knows Country and Indians Where Redfern May Be Down.
 Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Richard O. Marsh of Brockport, explorer and discoverer of the white Indians of Panama, today offered his services to head an expedition to search for Paul Redfern, missing Georgia-to-Brazil aviator.
 Marsh wired Paul Verney, at Brunswick, Georgia, as follows: "I offer to organize experienced tropical explorers and scientists to search for Redfern, if no news is received soon. Plan to land expedition from Orinoco south to Rio, making contacts with Indians and receiving their cooperation."
 Marsh, who has traveled most of the territory over which Redfern probably flew, is acquainted with the natives of the region and enjoys their friendship to a greater extent than any other white man. If Redfern has flown over this territory news would pass with astonishing rapidity among tribes and his course could be accurately traced, Marsh said.
 Such expedition would take three or four weeks to reach Orinoco Marsh said. He is ready to start at once.

TULSA PLANNING TO BUILD LARGE ZOO
 Tulsa, Okla.—A zoological society has been organized in Tulsa, with the announced intention of establishing a large zoological garden near the city.
 According to present plans, construction work will be started on the zoo immediately. Both summer and winter quarters will be provided for virtually all mammals, large and small, which are able to survive in the North American climate.
 "We realize that it will take many months and perhaps years before we have the zoo which we are planning," W. O. Doolittle, superintendent of Tulsa Parks, said, "but we are greatly encouraged by the interest being manifest in the project. It will some day be our pleasure to offer to the southwest, and to the United States one of the largest zoos in the country," he said.
 SWIMMERS GIVE UP.
 Cape Gris Nez, France, Aug. 30.—All five swimmers who set out from the French shore early today in an effort to swim the English Channel were later compelled to abandon the attempt due to rough water and cold. Two of the aspirants were women—Miss Ivy Hawke, of England, and Miss Edith Janssen, of Denmark.
 WOMAN KILLS SELF
 Montreal, Aug. 30.—Mrs. Frank Pender, 35, is dead today by her own hand following a novel form of asphyxiation. She took the contents of three boxes of aspirin tablets and inhaled a small bottle of ether.

3 FIGHTS AT PRIMARY
 concerned will be a gentlemanly one. Assessor Fight
 Not so, however, is the contest for Assessor Samuel Nelson Jr., is opposing John Jensen for the three-year term on that board because he attributes lack of harmony on the Assessors board last year to John Jensen's presence. Mr. Jensen strove to keep Mr. Nelson's name out of the race, even offering to file Nelson's papers for the unexpired term.
 Mr. Jensen did not want to oppose Mr. Nelson for the office of Assessor because he said Mr. Nelson was a friend of his and that they had worked well together as Assessors last year. Mr. Nelson's opinions differ with Mr. Jensen, however, since Mr. Nelson maintains the three assessors who constituted last year's board had agreed to resign together. S. Emil Johnson and Mr. Nelson resigned, but Mr. Jensen did not resign. Thus, Mr. Jensen insists, Mr. Jensen was largely responsible for the loss of Mr. Nelson's job as Assessor.
 Jensen Blamed
 Mr. Nelson believes that most of the trouble on the Board of Assessors was caused by Mr. Jensen's desire for more money as pay for the job. Mr. Jensen was elected as an Assessor two years ago knowing that the pay was $500 a year. He had not served on the board long because he insisted that the work was too much to do for such a small salary. He carried his fight to the Board of Selectmen and they refused to consider the demand. Because they had no jurisdiction they maintained that the Town Meeting alone could increase the Assessors' pay.
 When the question of a permanent clerk for the Board of Assessors was up, Mr. Jensen maintained that he was capable of handling the clerks' work and that he could operate a typewriter and do all the work the job necessitated. The Selectmen felt that this attitude hardly coincided with Mr. Jensen's assertion that the job was too hard to do for the salary it gave. Samuel Nelson, Jr., was in line for the permanent clerkship and Mr. Jensen's attitude also deprived Mr. Nelson of the appointment, the latter maintains. For these reasons Mr. Nelson is opposing Mr. Jensen for the nomination.
 The Constable Candidate
 Fred A. Krahn who is the town dog warden is a newcomer among candidates for the office of constable. There is no salary to the office and all remuneration is through the fee system. Gerald R. Risley, Frank Edmonds and James Foley are present Constables and William J. Shields was a candidate for the office of constable last year losing the office by a narrow margin. A newcomer among candidates for Constable on the Democratic ticket is James Duffy, Sr. Mr. Duffy who is the dispatcher for the Connecticut Company at its local office has a number of spare hours during the day and can be easily reached by attorneys desiring to have papers served.

REPORT THAT REDFERN
SIGHTED; UNCONFIRMED
 Rio De Janeiro, Aug. 30.—Hopes were revived here today that Paul Redfern, missing Georgia-to-Brazil solo flier, may still be alive.
 Government and municipal authorities continued their efforts to locate the flier, who was reported to be in a plane resembling the "Port of Brunswick," in which Redfern hoped to be the first man to make a non-stop flight from the United States to Brazil, had been sighted over the Bay of Guanabara, about 100 miles from the northern Brazilian border.
 Another unconfirmed report has been received here that Redfern's plane was sighted over the delta of the Orinoco river.
 In an effort to determine the authenticity of these reports, the National Telegraph Bureau has queried its stations in Venezuela and Guiana, and definite word was anxiously awaited today.

MEETS HIS BROTHER
AFTER 28 YEARS
 Detroit, Mich., Aug. 30.—Reunited after a separation of 28 years, Joseph Neary, of Buffalo, and his brother, James Neary of this city were today enjoying reminiscences of the distant past.
 James Neary was standing at the entrance of a local hotel, scanning the faces of Spanish-American war veterans who are meeting in annual encampment here, he saw a familiar face, approached it in amazement and the brothers recognized each other. They had not met since Joseph, a boy of 29, left the supper table of his home in Edwardsville, Penna., to join the army for service in Cuba.
 The brothers will leave for Buffalo tomorrow to meet Joe's wife and children.

PASSED BAD CHECKS
 Stamford, Conn., Aug. 30.—Joseph Hubin, of Wildwood, N. J., is being held by police here to answer a charge of passing worthless checks after driving from Trenton, N. J., in a taxicab with Francis E. Gaffney and two women and offering the driver a check for fifty dollars drawn on a Providence, R. I. bank.
 When the taxi driver became suspicious and notified the police, they learned he had an overdrawn bank account at Providence and was wanted there, and in Wildwood as well. Gaffney was held for investigation while the two women were released. Hubin declared he was an actor.
 About 15,000 students from India are studying in schools and colleges of Great Britain.

SEARCHING HOSPITALS
FOR MURDER SUSPECT
 Streator, Ills., Aug. 30.—Doctors and hospitals throughout the country were ordered today to search for Harry Hill, 22, wanted for the murder of his mother, Mrs. Eliza Hill, 53, whose body was found buried in the basement of her home August 22.
 Hill, it was learned, was suffering from ulcers of the stomach and was in need of medical treatment at the time he fled Chicago a week ago today, one hour ahead of police.
 Dr. H. O. Hill, wealthy physician who led the search which disclosed the body, has announced he will defend Harry to the limit.
 "Harry is my son and I do not believe he is guilty of the murder," said Dr. Hill. "If he is in any way responsible it must have been an accident. I am confident he will be exonerated. His action in burying the body, if he actually did it, was the action of a panic-stricken boy."
 Authorities believe Harry, who has been accused of forging a large number of checks on his mother's account, shot her through the head during an argument over his conduct.

MRS. JUDD DIES
 Stamford, Conn., Aug. 30.—Mrs. William H. Judd, wife of a prominent local business man, died at Stamford hospital today after a two weeks' illness, aged 76 years. Mrs. Judd was prominent in charity work here. She is survived only by her husband. Funeral services will be held from St. John's church Thursday afternoon.

AMERICANS STILL BESIEGED
 Washington, Aug. 30.—The situation at the American-owned Amparo mines, in Jalisco, where eighteen Americans were reported besieged by Mexican revolutionists, is still precarious, according to a dispatch to the State Department today from J. C. Satterthwaite, American consul at Guadalajara.
 The consul forwarded a telegram received from the mine which stated:
 "No troops of rescue arrived, nor is any other visible protection being given. Armed radicals still control the camp and issuing threats. Although the tension is less at present, situation still serious. Work is stopped, and can see nothing to prevent more violence."

ANOTHER POPULAR FURNITURE NIGHT
MORE PRESENTS THAN EVER

TO BECOME A NURSE
 Mrs. Mary Gregus, daughter of Mrs. Mary Gregus, of Talcott avenue will leave her position with the Hockmann Company this week and will enter the New Britain General Hospital to study to become a nurse. Miss Gregus has all the qualifications to make an exceptionally good nurse, both in build, education and a many other things that are necessary for the position that she is studying for. She is a graduate of the Rockville High School and since her graduation has long felt that nursing was her calling.
 She is well and favorably known to many in Rockville, being active in the work of the Union Congregational church and the Rockville Girls' Club, being willing at all times to help in the interests of the club and the church and in any of the organizations that she is connected with.
 Her decision to take up this work comes as a surprise to many of her friends, but to those who were informed of her decision today there was but one reply: "She will make a good nurse as she has the disposition that will be sure and add cheer to any sick room."
 Fair Opened
 Today was the real opening of the Rockville fair. Everything was in "apple pie" order when the different exhibitors arrived this morning and there is a whole lot more room being added to the exhibits. The Coleman shows, who have the chief section of the midway are producing a clean cut show and their four rides were in demand from the opening of the gates this morning and gave promise of being busy all through. The automobile exhibit is also given more space than in former years and the manufactures, merchants and farmers exhibit in the hall under the grand stand. The horses are bringing in many old time horse men which after all is what makes the fair.

ROTARY

Al Lavery of Bridgeport, who was once a politician of the best sort and who is now associated with a luxuriously profitable public service corporation, is one of the most quotable men—and that goes even for Rotarians. So it was somewhat surprising to learn of the ruby-headed language that the suave and genial Al applied to "those damned intellectual reds" who have been poking fun at Rotary, when he made a speech at a state Rotary gathering at Hartford yesterday.

Al is actually hurt, he says, when Booth Tarkington "accepts the misconception of Rotary (the reds' misconception) and spreads it as he does in 'The Plutocrat'."

If Brother Lavery—who is a reformed newspaper man—had stopped one little moment to think it over he wouldn't have used the Tarkington illustration as tending to show that it is redism to jeer mildly at Rotarianism. Tarkington is about as red as a blue April sky or the sea on a cloudy November day.

Rotary is supposed to have a sense-of humor. Perhaps it is too subtle a sense for the ordinary citizen to grasp. Perhaps Brother Al was kidding us all. We wonder.

LEVINE

Charles A. Levine, the stormy petrel of aviation, now says that if he can't find a pilot who is willing to hop to America in any kind of weather that happens along he will act as his own pilot and navigator and make the jump by himself.

Those who have doubts about there being such a thing as consistent luck, good or bad as the case may be, which follows certain individuals, should contemplate the case of Levine. Without anything like an adequate experience in flying, without a map or a compass, he grabs his plane at the Paris field, insists on his right to do as he pleases with his own property, and goes up. Knowing hardly more than that London lies in a general northerly direction from Paris he heads that way; and after frightening the spectators at Croydon half to death with the blundering manner of his approach, he brings his plane "and himself to earth without a crackup."

Personaly we would much rather have Levine's luck than his money. The money would come and nothing on earth could keep it away.

MYSTERY IN MURDER

If the young New York patrolman, Graham, did not kill and rob the engineer-paymaster Pratt, then he is the victim of the most monstrous and fantastic extenuation, of circumstances that ever beset an innocent person within our knowledge.

Evidently the New York police regard this case as "in the bag"—no mystery at all. We don't agree to that. It seems to us to be an unfathomable mystery. Not as to who committed the crime, if we accept the apparently damning evidence against the policeman, but as to how a young man, born and brought up in New York and of sufficient intelligence to get on the police force—and not only get on the force but for three years to make good on it and become particularly favorably known—could be so incredibly stupid in the commission of a crime for which his life must pay the forfeit if he is convicted.

If there is anything that a big city policeman must become it is sophisticated. Unless he is an especial dolt he learns to see through pretty fairly good lies. Yet this policeman seems to have invented, by way of preparation for his crime, a string of falsehoods that a six year old apple snitcher should be ashamed of telling, so certain were they to be detected. And he conducted himself, after the crime, in such a manner as to render his conviction a mere matter of form.

The mystery in this case is how such a Simple-Simon of a feather-weight criminal ever got on a police force where, whatever their morals, every last man is supposed to be at least more or less "wise." And it would seem to have no solution.

TOO GOOD FOR US?

One William Shelloose, writing to the New York Herald-Tribune, contends that Fondations in Quebec constitute an adequate answer to those who insist that the legitimation of the sale of wine and beer would necessarily bring back the saloon.

Not a cocktail nor a highball or any drink compounded with alcohol can be bought, says this American who has just returned from the Canadian city, nor yet a glass of wine or beer. But a bottle of wine or a bottle of beer may be served with a meal. There are no saloons.

Liquors may be bought in the government stores by the bottle to take home. They are pure and the government monopoly cuts the ground from under the bootlegger's feet.

"There is no army of dry agents to fatten on bribes, or bootleggers to develop from grubs into millionaire butterflies, or fleets of government ships to turn an honest penny now or then, or Coast Guards to collect toll," says this observer. "And best of all there is no by-product of gunmen and holdups."

We have considerable admiration for Canada, and much respect. But being American we fail to see wherein Canadians are so much better than we folks on this side that they should have the benefits of so much sener a law and so much more decent a handling of the liquor question than we have. Being as good as the Canadians, aren't the American people entitled to as good a temperance law?

Or would the dries contend that we are not so good?

UNWISE

Says the London Referee: "For no consideration on earth will England consent to surrender the right and the power to protect her own empire by the means by which it was won. She was born of the sea, and she only will determine the limit of the sea power needed to discharge that task."

This is the fibre of which wars are spun—challenge and blather.

New York, Aug. 30.—Rapidly, it would seem, we begin to take on a few more of the customs of the Parisians.

In the Quartier Latin in Paris, the writer is presumed to know a great deal concerning the arts and the visitors sit over their wine cups chatting with the "garcons" about the latest futuristic movements. Bob Coleman, columnist of a morning tabloid, reports that he went to a certain popular cafe where a group of young writers, dramatists, critics and such were gathered over their coffee. They began debating the usual subjects of drama, the movie, books and what-not when suddenly he noticed that Renee—the hat check girl—had wandered over and was intently listening.

Suddenly she attracted attention by thrusting herself into the conversation. "While you're discussing these modern youngsters, don't forget Louis Brunfield," she hurled at them, while all the debaters on belies letters all but fell from their chairs.

About a year ago I had been lunching in the Algonquin with Count Ilya Tolstoi, son of the great Leo. Count Ilya had come to America to superintend the making of certain pictures based on his father's works.

As we left the dining room, I noticed him stop to talk for several minutes with the hat check girl. He came away smiling. "That girl knows more about my father's works than half you writing folks," he told me. "When I first came she began to talk with me about 'Resurrection.' She fairly swamped me with intelligent questions.

A few hours later I met a group of New York movie critics. Half of them knew little or nothing of that novel, or any other of my father's novels. And the young man who checks hats with her, so I found out, is just about as well informed. Thus, do the customs change. The hat check girl becomes tutor to her clients. Whereas to date the most animated discussions between customer and servant I had heard were those that went on in a certain Harvey House luncheon, when I reported railroad news in San Bernardino, Calif. These concerned the perennially popular subject of forthcoming dates between the pretty waitresses and the husky young man from the roundhouse.

Once more Greenwich Village can point with pride to its "poets." In the meetings are held by candle-light and, while the candles sputter in their sticks, they rise to read their latest contribution to the muses.

Recently someone decided that since artists have exhibitions, there seemed no good reason why poets couldn't do the same. Wherewith for the price of one dime, a poet was allowed to hang his verses upon the "old house" wall. Within a week the walls were almost covered for the first exhibit on record.

PROCRASTINATION

Isn't it peculiar why people will put off ordering coal until the last minute when they could just as well have their bins filled before the cold weather arrives? It's human nature to put off until tomorrow what can be done today, but every sudden cold snap keeps us busy writing orders, each order stating "must be delivered at once." All of which leads us to ask, have you ordered your winter supply of coal?

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD—IT PAYS

Daily Washington Letter

This is the first of two articles describing the requirements and limitations of a licensed aviator in the United States.

By RODNEY DUCHER
Washington, Aug. 30.—Government licenses to pilot airplanes are obtained from the Department of Commerce. If you want a pilot's license, write the department here and it will send you application blanks, along with information about the examinations.

The first thing to do, however, is to find out what sort of a license you require. You must have a plane at your disposal, for the examination includes practical flying tests.

Anyone over 16 and physically fit does not require a license if he merely intends to fly for pleasure, although his plane must carry visible identification marks.

Whenever one intends to enter commercial flying which will take him over a state line, that is, to fly for pay—he must be 18 years old and must have a license. He must pass mental test, physical test and practical flying test. This is because all planes engaged in interstate commerce must be licensed and flown by licensed pilots.

The classes of pilot licenses are, "Transport," for pilots who may carry passengers or freight wherever they desire; "Limited Commercial," for pilots carrying passengers only from one designated field; "Industrial" for non-passenger carrying commercial pilots and "Private or Student."

The requirements for a "transport pilot" license are the stiffest, of course.

One should pass his physical and mental tests before bothering with the practical flying tests. With those passed, a man who can fly alone can obtain a private license if he can turn figure eights and make three successful landings. Student licenses are easy to obtain, but the student may fly only while receiving instruction.

Fifty hours of solo flying is required for an industrial pilot license and the pilot must make a 60-mile cross-country hop. He is permitted to carry freight, perform agricultural aviation work and other aerial odd jobs.

The limited commercial pilot is generally the exhibition pilot who operates from a given field and takes folks up in the air at so much a ride. He, too, must have 50 hours solo flying and the requirements for him are a little stiffer than for the industrial pilot, but he is not permitted to do cross-country flying with passengers.

The transport pilot must have had 200 hours of solo flying. The examination requires him to glide from an altitude of 1500 feet to a spot on the ground within 300 feet.

TAKE PHOTO OF SUN IN DAY LIGHT NEW PROBLEM OF SCIENCE

London.—Whether or not the corona of the sun can be photographed in ordinary daylight is the problem which Dr. W. H. Stevenson, president of the British astronomical Association, has set himself to unravel.

Since discovering during the recent eclipse of the sun in England that he was able to see the mysterious flaming corona for over three minutes after totality had ended, Dr. Stevenson has given the problem his whole attention. He now proposes to take his instruments to the summit of a 10,000 feet high mountain at a point near the Italo-Swiss frontier, and attempt to photograph the corona in broad daylight.

It is conceded by British scientists that should he be successful a tremendous step forward will have been taken towards probing the secrets of the corona and of the sun itself, so far a virtual closed book to man.

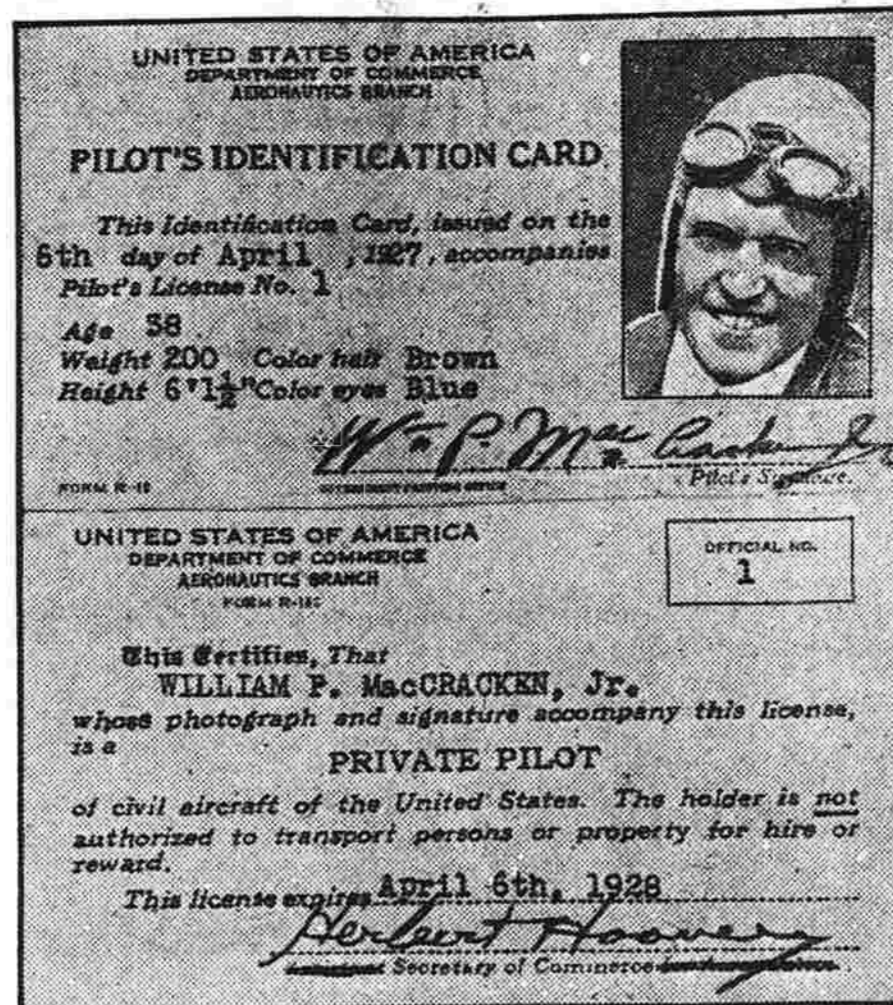

Dr. Stevenson is of the opinion that, in clear air at an altitude of 10,000 feet, when the sun is high in the sky, the lowermost and brightest part of the corona should be able to be photographed if certain precautions are taken. He will use a circular disc, which will shield the plate from the sun's actual image, and he will reduce the diffuse sky-light by the use of colored light-discs or filters. Further he will reduce to a minimum the diffusion of light as it passes through his photographic apparatus employing a simply spectacle lens instead of a complicated photographic lens, and plain glass surfaces instead of silvered-glass mirrors.

Should Dr. Stevenson succeed the study of the corona, instead of being limited to five or six minutes very few years, will be able to be carried out every fine day.

of a designated line, and he must glide, with the option of using his motor when necessary, to within 100 feet of a mark, to prove first that he can function properly if his motor goes dead and second that he can land properly under normal conditions.

At 800 feet he must make five figure eights over two marks 1500 feet apart and must perform such emergency maneuvers as spirals, sideslips and stalls to show that he knows how to get out of them.

To show his ability at landing in strange fields, he must fly a triangular or rectangular course of at least 100 miles within a given time and make two landings en route.

STUDY GAS DEFENSES IN FEAR OF NEW WAR

London.—The issuance of a little booklet, entitled "Defence Against Gas," which has been published by the government, makes it apparent that a feeling is prevalent among officials of the British Government that there is no doubt but the world will have another war.

"In the event of a failure to obtain an agreement from enemies on the outbreak of war not to use gas, His Majesty's Government will be free to take such action as circumstances demand," says the book. Dealing with training in the various measures to be adopted, and giving details of gas effects and of remedies, the booklet is a startling indication of the development of modern warfare.

One of the methods of gas attacks, according to the publication, will consist of spraying a liquid poison, such as mustard gas, from tanks carried by aircraft, when it falls like rain.

BILLY DOVE BACK IN TOWN TONIGHT

Plays Leading Role in "The Stolen Bride" With Lloyd Hughes; Filmed in Hungary; Furniture Night Tomorrow.

Billy Dove who has probably won more admirers in Manchester in recent years than any other screen actress, is back again for a two day's visit at the State Theater in "The Stolen Bride," a First National Picture in which Lloyd Hughes plays a major part. Those who saw her in "An Affair of the Follies" need no further inducement. The fact that Billy Dove is included in the cast, speaks for itself. The picture shows here tonight and Wednesday.

The story is a comedy-drama staged with an eye for color and the atmosphere of that picturesque country, Hungary. In the days before the World War, the picture gives Hughes an opportunity to escape from the role of a "typical young American," which he despises because it prevents him from showing his versatility as an actor. But in "The Stolen Bride" Hughes portrays a young Hungarian who returns to his native land in pursuit of his sweetheart only to discover, when he steps across the border, that he cannot depart until he has served three years in the army under the compulsory military service system. The plot that follows is both thrilling and unusual. It grips you and holds you spellbound to the finish. Hughes, playing the role of Franz Rab, son of a Hungarian peasant, becomes involved in an altercation with Baron Von Helmsberg, the captain of a Huzzar regiment who in order to gain revenge, makes Rab his orderly. To tell any more, would spoil the story for those who will see it tonight and tomorrow night.

"The Stolen Bride" was written and produced by Carey Wilson and directed by one of Europe's foremost directors, Alexander Korda. In addition to Billy Dove and Lloyd Hughes, others in the cast are Lilyan Tashman, Armand Kaliz, Frank Beal, Cleve Moore, Winston Miller, Bert Sproutte and Yola d'Avril.

Thursday night will again have the name "Furniture Night." The patrons who draw the lucky numbers will receive many useful household goods. There will also be by the department's fourteen inspectors in the field. The inspectors travel from place to place, making the tests. Just now, they have much more work than they can attend to and the majority of pilots are operating on temporary permits. Something like 300 applicants have received permits and about 2000 more applicants are to be attended to.

The physical examinations are given by the nearly 200 physicians authorized to do so. Tomorrow's story will tell about these physical exams.

CHICAGO SELLING FIGHT TICKETS BY PUNCHBOARDS

You Pay a Dime For a Chance and Are Liable to Win a Forty Dollar Seat.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH, I. N. S. Sports Editor.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Mr. Woolworth, please call a cash girl! There seems to be a lot of ten-cent customers in the house, Yes, Mr. Woolworth, I said ten cents, the smallest bit of silver from the mint, exactly one cent less than eleven, in fact, I understand you have heard of the sum before.

There may be many, in fact, as five thousand of these customers on the premises of the night Gene Tunney fights Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship and they will be sitting in forty-dollar ring-side seats, exactly $39.50 to the good on their investment.

The answer? Ask me another. There are, according to conservative estimate, as many as five thousand punch boards in operation around the loop and environs today and for the slight detail of laying one thin dime on the line, you are privileged to take puncher in hand and mutilate the surface just once. If you are crazy, you toss dime after dime, at your host and he learns to love you. If you are lucky, you toss one and, thereupon, he gives you by main force one ticket for the fight, as sounds of anguish issue from his beard.

Five Lucky Numbers. The system calls for five lucky numbers to each board. The first entitles you to a forty-dollar seat, the second is good for thirty dollars at the box office and so on down the line. With five thousand boards in operation, the cut price clients can not help but be many.

Nor is that all. A local dog track is advertising daily that, out of the goodness of its great big heart, it is giving away eight seats to the fight each night to holders of lucky numbers that appear on tickets purchased at the track. It further promises that at least two of these seats will retail respectively at forty dollars and thirty dollars.

Getting Suspicious. Local observers have come to look askance at these maneuvers, claiming to see in them some evil device that Mr. P. Rickard is not selling his tickets in the style to which he has been accustomed and that the 160,000 seats will not have 160,000 occupants. When the matter was called to Mr. Rickard's attention this morning, he sneered very politely and said that every-

A quartet of Manchester's foremost amateur golfers are expected to seek qualification for the annual Hartford District golf title this week at the Hartford Golf Club course. They are John F. Cheney and his two sons, Ben and John P. Jr., and "Bud" Geoghegan, who won the 1926 title.

Geoghegan, however, has been unable to flash his best form this season owing to injuries and it is possible although not probable, that he may not enter. The three Cheneyes were expected to go to Hartford today.

SAYS HEIGHTS CAN'T "TAKE A BEATING"

Sports Editor: If you will permit me the use of a little of your space, I would like to give an Andover player's view of Sunday's game with the Heights. Both umpires declared Sam Hewitt out so why did they call the play illegal? If anyone got a poor deal, it was Andover.

It seems a fact that the Heights can't take a beating without crying. Both umpires called Hewitt out so why change their verdict as for leaving the field why shouldn't we. The game was over and we won. I can't see just where their argument comes in. Thanking you for the space.

I remain FRED BURKHARDT, Andover Baseball Club.

WES WARNOCK AGAIN WINS FROM ED MARKLEY, 18 TO 11

Once again young Wesley Warnock, fifteen-year-old swimming marvel, has demonstrated that he is the champion of his class when it comes to water sports although in this person of Eddie Markley, 16-years-old, he finds a most competent opponent. These two youths staged as thrilling a race for top honors in the 14-16 division last night in the annual Globe Hollow aquatic meet as one could hope to see. Two or three hundred persons watched the water carnival from the banks. The air was very chilly, not to mention the water, and the contestants were shivering from head to foot as they stood waiting to be called. The evening's program got under way about 6:15 and lasted until darkness. Eleven events were held in the afternoon and twelve at night.

By winning yesterday, young Warnock has practically assured himself of a similar honor next summer inasmuch as Markley will "graduate" into the senior class next season. The turning point of the competition between the two youths came in the 100 yard free-style which went to Warnock by a hand's length. Markley had counted heavily on his ability to win the sprint and this setback hurt his chances considerably. Just before that, Markley had won the 50-yard free-style by a half-yard.

Then Markley cracked in the fifty-yard back-stroke, Warnock pulling up to the finish fully four yards ahead of him in the only one-sided race between the pair. This made the score between the two boys 2 to 1 in events or 13 to 11 in points with Warnock ahead. Diving was the next event and Markley needed this to tie the Warnock. The latter was supposed to be better which made Markley's chances somewhat slim although it had been said that Markley was a big improvement over last year and might take the diving event. The outcome was not decided until the final of the seven dives, which was optional.

Warnock elected "once-and-a-half" off the big plank and the judges (Miss Mary Drew, Samuel Massey and James Dowd) gave him nine points. Not wishing to select an easier dive, Markley, too, selected the somersault and was given eight points. The total point score of diving was: Warnock 53, Markley 58.

In the senior class, Leslie Buckland of last year's S. M. H. S. team has things to his liking and won easily with twenty points against seven for his nearest competitor, Bernard Sheridan. Others who competed in the senior events were Eric Crawshaw, Art McKay, Francis Hicking.

One of the most exciting events of the entire 21 was the duck chase. Three ducks were turned loose from the raft and a group of about a dozen swimmers plunged into the chilly waters in attempt to catch them. And it was not without considerable effort that the ducks were finally caught, one by one. In many instances a swimmer would get his hands on a duck only to lose it when it splurted. Elliott Knight, Arthur McKay and Coleman are the lucky ones who are eating roast duck tonight.

The competition in the 12-14 division was won by Christopher McAle, Jr., with his rival, Leonard Hicking second. The score, 11-8. The point scoring in the various classes was as follows: Boys under 12: Thomas Tedford 11, Martin Vuillermet 8, Fred McCormick, Jr. 7. Boys 12-14: Christopher McAle, Jr. 11, Leonard Hicking 8, Edward Lithwinski 7.

Girls: Ida Anderson 10, Josephine Blanchard 7, Stella Arsen 6. Novice under 12: Stillman Keith. Novice 12-14: Roy Fraser. Novice Girls: Josephine Blanchard. Boys 14-16: Wesley Warnock 18, Edward Markley 14.

Boys 16 and over: Leslie Buckland 20, Bernard Sheridan 7. The complete results of all events: 25 yard novice boys under 12: Stillman Keith first, Harold Cleveland second. 25 yard novice, boys 12 to 14: Roy Fraser first, Robert Holmes second.

25 yard novice, girls: Josephine Blanchard first, Maud England second, Elizabeth Waskewich third. 25 yard free-style, boys under 12: Thomas Tedford first, Martin Vuillermet second, Fred McCormick, Jr. third. 25 yard free style, boys 12 to 14: Leonard Hicking first, Edward Lithwinski second, Christopher McAle, Jr. third.

50 yard free style, boys 14 to 16: Edward Markley first, Wesley Warnock second.

50 yard breast-stroke, boys 16 and over: Bernard Sheridan first, Arthur McKay second, Leslie Buckland third; time 43 seconds. 25 yard free-style, girls: Ida Anderson first, Stella Arsen second, Josephine Blanchard third. 50 yard free-style, boys 12 and under: Martin first, Thomas Tedford second and Fred McCormick, Jr. third. 50 yard free-style, boys 12 to 14: Christopher McAle, Jr. first, Edward Lithwinski second, Roy Fraser third.

100 yard free-style, boys 14 to 16: Wesley Warnock first, Edward Markley second. 100 yard free-style, boys over 16: Leslie Buckland first, Bernard Sheridan second. 50 yard free-style girls, Ida Anderson first, Stella Arsen second, Josephine Blanchard third.

440 yard swim, over 16: Leslie Buckland first, Bernard Sheridan second, Eric Crawshaw third. Wesley Warnock first, Edward Markley second. 50 yard back-stroke boys 14 and over: Leslie Buckland first, Arthur McKay second, Eric Crawshaw third.

Diving boys 14-16: Wesley Warnock first, 59 points, Edward Markley second, 53 points. Diving boys over 16: Elliott Knight (only entry). Diving boys under 12, Fred McCormick, Jr. first 20 points, Thomas Tedford second, 17 points, Stillman Keith third, 15 points.

Diving boys 12-14: Christopher McAle, Jr. first 34 points, Leonard Hicking second 33 points, Edward Lithwinski third 31 points. Duck Chase: Elliott Knight, Arthur McKay, and Coleman were the winners.

TODAY IN FISTIANA By DOC REID

August 30th, 1900 CORBETT VS. MCCOY

Twenty-seven years ago today, two of the most picturesque ring gladiators in modern ring history clashed in the roped arena at New York City, when Jas. J. Corbett, ex-heavyweight champion of the world, and Kid McCoy, the middleweight title holder, were pitted against each other in a scheduled 25 round event.

The affair created wide spread interest and with the principals ranking as the most clever boxers of all time, a great exhibition of the manly art was expected. Instead however, the men tore into each other like a couple of tigers and standing toe to toe, slugged until in the fifth round when Corbett slipped over the knockout punch that ended the fray.

BAND CONCERT AND ATHLETICS TO ATTRACT THROG TOMORROW

Program of Senior Events Starts at 6 O'Clock; Rivalry Between East and West Sides; Expensive Band.

With the annual Globe Hollow Swimming meet a success, the Recreation Center authorities today turned their entire attention to the big track and field twilight meet to be held at the West Side playgrounds. No stones have been left unturned in the attempt to make the affair a rousing success. It is expected that the band concert will prove very popular and draw a large throng of people. It is the principal event of the playground season and brings the summer season to a close insofar as major events are concerned. It will start at 6 o'clock sharp.

The New Departure Band of Bristol which will provide music during the evening, is recognized as the best of its kind in New England and it is costing the Recreation Centers considerably to bring them here. However, it is felt that a concert by a band of this caliber will prove a magnet to attract a large crowd. Competition between the East and West Sides of the town will be the principal sporting event. Both sections of the town will be strongly represented. Each has practiced hard for the affair and is well prepared.

Following is a list of the entries for the evening's program: 100 yard dash: East Side—Joe Brozowski, Bill Shields, Jack McCavanaugh; West Side—Red Sheridan, Walter Runde, Ed Jolly and Ernie Dowd.

Broad Jump: East Side—Bill Shields, Joe Brozowski; West Side—Red Sheridan, George Krause.

Half-mile run: East Side—Lefty Bray, Ted Chambers, Jim Quish, Hayes, Smith; West Side—Jack Stratton, Walter Runde, Benny Schubert, Charles Giffith.

Fat man's race: East—Elde—Red Happeney, Paul Cervini; West Side—Bill Brock.

Mile run: East Side—Joe and John McCluskey, Jim Quish, Mike Suhle; West Side—Jack Stratton and Walter Runde.

High jump: East Side—Jack McCavanaugh, Joe Brozowski, Smith; West Side—George Krause.

Mile relay: East Side—Lefty Brozowski, Bill Shields, Jack McCavanaugh, Lefty Bray, Hayes, Chambers; West Side—Ernie Dowd, Benny Schubert, Red Sheridan, Walter Runde, Bob Dougan, Jack Stratton.

Volley-ball: East Side—Fred Phaneuf, George Gibbons, Joe Mahoney, U. J. Lupien, Mike Suhle, Henry Lange; West Side—Fritz Taggart.

THE SUN NEVER SETS ON CHESTERFIELD'S POPULARITY

[Popular in all 4 corners of the Earth...]

in London... where fine tobacco is a part of fine living

EVER since Sir Walter Raleigh brought the first tobacco home from America, the Londoner has made fine tobacco a part of fine living. So it is only natural that he should be quick to appreciate the pure natural tobacco taste and fragrance of Chesterfield. By his preference, London takes its place among the world capitals of Chesterfield's popularity.

Chesterfield

BEGIN HERE TODAY

VERA CAMERON shows herself to be transformed from a plain business girl into a beauty by JERRY MACKLYN, her boss, and advertising manager of the Peach Bloom Cosmetics Co. who proposes to use her photograph in his advertising booklet. She plans to spend her vacation at Lake Minnetonka, because the man she loves, but whom she has not yet met, SCHUYLER SMYTHE, is vacationing there.

"Kidnaped! Oh, Lord!" he groaned, "What a sell! What a sell!"

It posed as Vivian Crandall after all my warnings! Oh, Lord! But he had little time for groaning. His eyes raced down the heavily-leaded, two-column "lead" of the sensational front-page story: "Miss Crandall, as she prefers to be called since her Paris divorce from the prince, left the hotel at 11:30 p. m. last night in the company of another guest, Schuyler Smythe of New York. According to Smythe, who had been extremely attentive to the heiress since her arrival at the hotel on Sunday, the couple were eloping to be married."

Crandall, multi-millionaire society leader, is the story that Schuyler Smythe tells of his interrupted elopement with the heiress. Smythe asserts that he has known and loved the beautiful Vivian, heiress to 40 million dollars, since he met her at Palm Beach five years ago, and that their apparently sudden romance is not sudden at all. He refused to comment, over long distance, on his own social and financial standing, but it has been learned that he is a private secretary to Arthur Bainbridge, retired capitalist, of No. — East Fifty-Fourth street, and now summering at his camp in Maine. No answer to this newspaper's wire to Bainbridge, asking for information on the allegedly successful suitors of one of America's richest heiresses, has been received.

It was only eight-fifteen, he discovered, as the taxi crossed Madison avenue. Within 45 minutes the entire office force of the Peach Bloom Cosmetics Company would be comparing notes, and arriving at the amazing truth which had, until this morning, been his secret and Vee-Vee's. He was in a cold perspiration when he rang the bell of Flora Cartwright's apartment. He expected little help from Vee-Vee's frenzy of worry and indecision he recognized Flora's right to be consulted before he notified the Crandalls or the police that the girl who had been kidnaped was not Vivian Crandall but Vera Cameron.

This And That In Feminine Lore

At the Old Wood Shop, Pitkin street, Mr. Hughes has collected a variety of wrought iron pieces, sconces, candlesticks and decorative articles as well as useful objects so extensively used just now by leading interior decorators, chiefly Art Colony products.

One center slice of ham cut 1 inch thick, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons boiling water, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 oranges, 2 lumps sugar, 1 lemon, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Use seedless oranges if possible. Peel oranges, cut in very thin slices crosswise and divide each slice in quarters. Wash lemon and rub lumps of sugar over rind. Squeeze juice from lemon and dissolve sugar in juice. Add salt and pepper and pour over prepared oranges. Let stand while preparing ham. Par-broil ham for fifteen minutes. Drain and wipe dry. Trim to one inch border of fat and broil to a delicate brown. Cook first one side and then the other. Remove from broiler to hot platter and pour over lemon juice mixed with the water and sugar. Let stand in a warm oven for five minutes and turn ham in sauce. Surround with prepared oranges and serve.

For the schoolboys the headline raffle in the fall wardrobe is the raccoon fur coat. This fall they are not as bulky as in previous seasons. They will be moderately long, double breasted-three-buttoned, with warm high collar. An imitation of the real raccoon that Raku is being made up into coats for juniors and sells at $50 and even less. Loud sweaters, ties and belts are out. The boy at school must have a single or double breasted blue serge suit, a gray woolen suit for dress wear, a dark woolen sweater, several pairs of knickerbockers and golf stockings, a couple of serviceable caps and a felt crush hat.

Crepe satin, with its two rich sides, one lustrous and one dull is particularly effective in the deep toned fall colors and it is predicted will predominate for formal daytime or evening dresses for the early autumn. Sometimes the dull side of the fabric is used for the main portion of the gown and against this background the stitched belt of velvet is effective. However, the satin side is as much used as the dull.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

I'm fed up on sloppy workmanship! I'm fed up on paying for service I don't get. I'm fed up on paying that shoddy material, for the blasted seams! I'm fed up on slipshod management which makes me waste hour after hour standing around for other people's mistakes to be rectified! All in all, you may guess that I am in far from an amiable mood, which is positively and absolutely correct!

It began a minute ago when I gazed upon my watch. Something seemed all wrong. No wonder. Gazing at the office clock I learned that the watch had gained one hour within an hour. Now it is only seven. I got my watch from the jeweler to whom I had taken it to rectify this very fault, discovered when said watch had been in my possession one day after being held in the repair shop two weeks. Which means that today's trip to the jeweler will be the fifth within two weeks, though I was assured that the $5 paid for the overhauling had taken care of everything for a year.

Afternoon Sandwiches You may be so tired of peanut butter that saying it fairly makes you yammer but for sandwiches worth a heap o'praise try mixing it with the juley raisin. Wash one-half cup raisins and chop, thump, thump (Scald them slightly to make them plump.) Take one-quarter cup of the peanut goo; hot water, one tablespoon, mixed well through. Beat until creamy and very light. Stir the raisins in when it looks just right. Spread between slices of thin-cut bread buttered, of course, more bread to be said. Zippiest sandwich you've ever tasted. Try 'em once, not a one will be wasted.

Paris fall styles make much of flaring skirts, flaring tunics on sleeveless flared jabot collars on coats for formal wear. NOVEL COAT The black-white vogue is interpreted for winter in zebra fur, with the black and white stripes running cross-wise for the top of the coat and horizontal for the skirt portion.

EAT BRIMS

Autumn brims take new turns to chic—some of them have wide sides with little black or front and others are octagonal shaped or scalloped in points.

TUBERCULAR TEST URGED FOR CHILDREN UNDER 15 BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine. The Massachusetts department of health for three years has been trying to determine the relationship of underweight to disease, and to complete a ten-year program pointing toward the building up of strong citizens. Fifty thousand children have been examined, the examination including weighing and measuring, the recording of the temperature, and careful study of the nose, throat and lungs. If suspicious signs were found, additional examinations, including the tuberculin test and X-rays of chest, were made.

Home Page Editorial "Aw, Forget It" Is Good Advice For Touchy Folk

By Olive Roberts Barton One of the most unfortunate people in the world is the touchy person who takes offense at his own shadow. Nothing causes so much misery as super-sensitiveness. Really, it is an exaggerated form of conceit, that sounds unkind and it is not meant to be so. The super-sensitive person does little harm to anyone except himself usually. The misery is all his. I should like to quote from an article by a certain psychiatrist, if it does not sound too preachy. "Things hurt only to the extent we let them in." They say that jealousy causes more crimes than any other emotion. But I have little doubt, seeing more hatred is engendered by super-sensitiveness than all the jealousy in the world! A woman thinking of whether to take the south-bound car to her mother's or the north-bound car to do some shopping, falls out with her neighbor. The neighbor tells her husband how deliberately she has been snubbed. Thereafter she goes out of her way to show the erring one how little it matters. By ignoring the whole business and letting bygones be bygones? No. She has never glanced her direction since and purposely says a party so that she might leave her rude neighbor off her list. Now the offended lady may not be quite so dreadful a person as she may seem. There is nothing that hurts like wounded pride and it is quick to retaliate. Little things lead to big ones, and the first thing you know there is real trouble. The world would be happier in general if people would become a little more tolerant. Those who look for trouble generally find it. If a woman has no friends she is to be pitied. Ten to one, it is all her own fault, for taking offense too quickly at little things that amount to nothing. The boys have a cast iron code that ladies of tender feelings might do well to emulate to teach to their children and to over-touchy husbands. Did you ever hear the boys say, "Aw, forget it?"

Our Three-Fold Responsibility In the task of furnishing telephone service to the people of Connecticut, we recognize our responsibility to three groups:— To the public: to render a service as reliable as it is humanly possible to make it; adequate to meet not only to-day's needs but the demands of the future; courteous beyond the saying of "please" and "thank you", as expressed in fair and cordial treatment to all; at as low rates as will enable us by rigid economy and operating efficiency to meet expenses and earn a fair return on our property. To investors: to direct the operations of the business in such manner as to safeguard the investments of the thousands of men and women whose money has made and will make possible the building of the property required for the provision of service. To employees: so to manage the business that it can pay good wages, afford healthful and agreeable working conditions, and provide opportunity for advancement in keeping with ability. In the face of a decreasing return upon our property at present exchange rate schedules, our obligation to these three groups forces us to seek increased revenues through a rate revision without delay. THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (70) Peary, Discoverer Up to the day when Robert Peary marched across the Pole, the nearest man ever had reached was a point within 240 miles of the goal. Cagni, the Duke of the Abruzzi, in 1900, after a terrible sledge journey, set this mark. His path and that of Nansen are compared in the map above. c. Robert Edwin Peary was born at Cresson, Pa., in 1856. He engineered for the navy a survey through Nicaragua for a projected canal. He explored the north of Greenland in 1891, marched across the great glacial fields and discovered and named Independence Bay. He suffered a broken leg in a country where no medical comforts could be had, but the ache barely was banished when, in 1893, he was back again for two years of work and study among the Eskimos of Smith Sound. He learned their ways of living and schooled himself for the great dash that was to come.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

SENSE and NONSENSE

Doctor (to patient who claims to be nervous wreck): What are your symptoms? Patient: I jump when I hear a telephone, the door-bell sends me into hysterics. Any stranger coming to the house frightens me out of my life, and I'm afraid to pick up a newspaper. Do you know what's wrong with me? Doctor: Yes, My wife drives a car, too!

We Can Sing the Old Songs Jack and Jill went down the hill At fifty miles or better Engine stalled, a traffic cop bawled: "Just watch me roll down and get her."

Little Jack Horner shot around a corner At a speed of thirty-nine; A concrete wall broke his fall. And the doc says he's doing fine.

Little Miss Muffet has her tufted For a seat in a rattling Ford; A spider-legged sheik has the rest of the seat, And neither one is bored.

Hi do diddle, the cat and the fiddle. His car jumped over the moon; The flapper said, This suits me fine— It's a darn good place to spoon.

Little Jack Spratt could eat no fat, His wife could eat no lean. She and her ma used the front seat, And Jack squeeze in between.

Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater. Had a Ford, a small two-seater; Peter's wife sat in the back And told him how to drive the hack.

Monkey, monkey, bottle of beer, How many monkeys are there here? One full man and two full moons. Hark! He's singing old time tunes.

A traffic policeman at a busy crossing saw an old lady beckon to him one afternoon. He held up a dozen motor cars, dray and two cabs to get to her side. "What is it, ma'am?" he said rather impatiently. The old lady smiled and put her hand on his arm. "Omer," she said in a soft voice. "I want to tell you that your number is the number of my favorite hymn."

The New Efficiency He—The roadster's running a little badly tonight— She—(cynically) Yes-es! A cylinder is going to miss in a few minutes, and we are going to just have to stop by the bend in the river up yonder, and no, I haven't any objections to just one little kiss occasionally, but not from you, and no, I'm not interested in the I-got-back-this-summer Scotch you have on your hip, and yes, I'm sometimes a prude, and no, I don't love you just a wee, wee bit, and yes, I know my eyes are attractive and I realize you don't say this to everybody... However, I will take one little drink and let you park for just a few minutes.

NOW YOU Ask One HOW'S YOUR GEOGRAPHY?

Several of today's questions have to do with geography. The answers are printed on another page. 1—What is the longest river in Europe? 2—From what is coal derived? 3—From what is linen made? 4—What goats are famous for their long hair? 5—Of the rivers which bound the United States, which bounds it for the greatest number of miles? 6—For what is the city of Dresden famous? 7—Where is the Sahara Desert? 8—On what river is Newcastle, England? 9—Who was Joseph Pennell? 10—In what city was President McKinley shot?

He thought his car could never skid; He left behind a wife and kid.

Said Scouty, "Now where can we go? That big black bear is down below. I'm sure he's going to stay there just as long as we are here. We'll have to stay up in this tree. That won't be hard, but goodness me, it won't be very long until we all crave food, I fear." "Well, let me think," said Coppy loud. "It's up to me to save this crowd. There surely must be some good plan for us to sneak away. If we just had a piece of rope, I'm sure, then, there would be some hope. We'd tie the bear up to the tree and there we'd make him stay." The big black bear then growled aloud and, goodness, how it scared the crowd. Wee! Clowdy took a sudden leap and reached a higher branch. "I feel much safer here," said he. "Away high up's the place for me. I guess the bear can't reach you there, but I'll not take a chance." Then Coppy cried, "Oh, listen, bunch. I think I have a happy hunch. We'll bend that longest limb down low. and it will span the stream." "Well, well," cried Carpy, "that thought's rare. I guess we're going to fool the bear. In fact your hunch's so very good, it's almost like a dream." "You bet it is," brave Coppy said. "And now we ought to go ahead. Will someone go out on the limb and see if it will bend." Then Scouty did as he was told, 'cause he was very brave and bold. He scrambled slowly on the limb until it reached the end. "Course he was glad that he had tried. The limb reached to the other side, and Scouty dropped down on the shore. "I'm safe and sound," said he. "The rest of you just come along. It seems that nothing can go wrong, if you just hang on tight, and are as careful as can be." (Clowdy is left behind in the next story.)

Jack Lockwill at Summer Camp

by Gilbert Patten

Judge talked privately to Saunders, later in the day. When Buke came out, he still wore a sullen air. "Didn't know but the old fool would fire me out of the camp," he said to two of the boys; "but, instead of that, he said he'd give me another chance. Give me a chance—when his pet tried to drown me! What d'ya think of that?" Making no answer, the boys left him.

After that, the bully found himself shunned by the young campers. No one paid any attention to him, and, blaming Lockwill, he brooded over it bitterly.

Being sent to coventry was too much for Buke to endure. He disappeared two days later. "I saw him going off that way, alone," a boy told Jack Lockwill.

When night came, Saunders was still absent, and he failed to answer the roll-call in the morning. In the afternoon, Jack went into the woods to look for the missing fellow. Following up the course of Laughing Brook, he came to a small waterfall, a mile from camp. There he halted, holding his breath, his eyes fastened upon the Indian girl, Twin Rose, sitting on a ledge. TWO PARTIES A DAY FOR CONTEST WINNER

Post Office Workers and Group of Friends Honor Legion Trip Champ.

Clarence O. Anderson of Jackson street who leaves next week for Paris to attend the American Legion convention was pleasantly surprised on Saturday, first by his fellow workers at the South Manchester post office and later by about 30 of his friends at an outing at Coventry Lake.

Upon reaching the post office Saturday morning, Mr. Anderson was very much surprised when he found the entire force gathered, and Postmaster Oliver F. Toop, in their behalf, presented to Mr. Anderson a handsome traveling bag.

Saturday afternoon, Mr. Anderson left for Coventry Lake to attend the outing of the Swedish Gym Club of which he has long been a member, and when he reached the lake found that it was really a farewell party for him. The gym club numbering about 30 spent the week-end at the Danaher cottage. The committee arranging the affair was headed by Herbert Johnson of Garden street and every one attending voted it one of the best outings the club has ever had.

Mr. Anderson in whose honor the party was held received a purse of money.

Mr. Anderson was the winner of the free trip to Paris to the American Legion convention offered by C. E. House and Son in their recent "On to Paris" popularity contest. "Whitey" as he is better known among his many friends saw service over seas with Company A., 301st Machine Gun Battalion of the 76th Division.

HUNDREDS AT DOUBLE RITES FOR FATHER, SON

Funeral of Michael F. and John J. Sullivan Very Largely Attended Today.

Between three and four hundred persons this morning attended the double funeral services of Michael F. Sullivan, who died Friday night, and his son, John J. Sullivan, who died on Saturday night, without knowing of his father's death. Services were held at the home, 263 Main street, and at St. Bridget's church. Many persons came from out of town.

Solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. C. T. McCann, assisted by Rev. D. S. Baker of East Hartford, deacon and Rev. John Casey of East Hartford, sub-deacon. Each casket was covered by a blanket of roses. At the offertory, Mrs. Margaret V. Shea sang, "Ave Maria" at the end of the mass, "One Day Nearer Thee" and as the bodies were being borne from the church, "Beautiful Land on High."

The bearers for the father were John Kelley and Patrick Kelley of Newport, R. I., David Harrigan of Rockville, Thomas F. Peckingham, of this town, all delegates from the Bricklayers' Union, and Daniel F. Sullivan and John H. Gill, of this town, delegates from Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus.

The bearers for the son were Henry Mutrie and Holger Bach, contractors, Edward F. Moriarty, Thomas Shea from the local lodge of Moose and L. P. Fitzgerald and Ernest Brown, all of this town.

There were 25 automobiles in the funeral cortege which went to the St. Bridget's cemetery.

John Bantly of Walnut street and son Ernest of the Center Auto Supply have returned from a 2,000 mile auto trip through the western states, visiting all of the large automobile manufacturing factories.
