British Ships Land Troops to Protect Mission—American Cruisers Are Anchored Near the City.

London, Sept. 29.—A Cantonese warship has opened fire on the city of Swatow, necessitating the landing of British troops to protect an English mission there, according to dispatches from Hong Kong today.

The Cantonese vessel opened fire Wednesday, later landing one hundred troops which were scattered by rifle fire from the peasant army which has occupied Swatow.

The British warships Bluebell and Sirdar were struck by bullets during the exchange of shots, and a party was immediately despatched from the Bluebell to protect the British mission.

Desultory firing between the Chinese factions is continuing. The American cruiser Asheville is anchored in the river of Swatow to protect American lives and property. The Navy Department at Washington has been informed in an official dispatch which describes the conditions there as "chaotic."

REYNOLDS AGAIN "LOSES HIMSELF"

Leaves Train Between Belleville, Ill., and Chicago; Uses False Name.

Belleville Ill., Sept. 29.—Richard Joshua Reynolds, 21-year-old heir to a fifty million dollar estate, is lost somewhere between here and Chicago.

That Reynolds had stopped off in Belleville was partially confirmed today by the statement of a hotel clerk who claimed a man answering Reynolds' description had registered last night under the name of "J. S. Graham," the alias under which the tobacco heir registered in St. Louis where he was found after a nation-wide search.

With Reynolds in this city was a man who from appearances was thought to be Edward Crenshaw, a friend. Both men told the hotel clerk they had proceeded to Belleville from St. Louis to "make telephone calls." Reynolds telephoned from a public booth, the destination of his call was not learned.

Message Received
A St. Louis detective agency received the following telegram dated at Belleville and signed "Reynolds":

"Today I had some long distance telephone calls to make and did not wish to be disturbed. I have completed my plans and am off for Chicago and New York."
Crenshaw, too, has disappeared. One report indicated the pair had taken a train for Madison, Ill., and thence to Chicago, since there is no direct railroad connection between Chicago and Belleville.

NOTED D. A. R. DEAD

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 29.—Miss Jennie M. Kent, former regent and charter member of Putnam Hill Chapter, D. A. R., is dead today at Kent House, Belle Haven, after a short illness.

Miss Kent was a daughter of the late Theodore and Sarah M. Kent, once prominent locally. Her brother, with whom she made her home, has for many years conducted Kent House, a fashionable hotel on the shore.

Funeral services will be held at Second Congregational church, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

Unearth Plot To Start Yugo-Slavia-Greece War

Bootleggers are dealt with harshly in Berlin, Sept. 29.—A daring plot to provoke strained relations between Yugo-Slavia and Greece has been thwarted by the arrest of three Bulgarian members of the Macedonian revolutionary committee in Salonika, according to dispatches from Athens today.

The three plotters, according to the dispatches, have confessed completely in a plot to blow up the Yugo-Slavian consulate at Salonika and the Greek consulate at Skopjio for the purpose of precipitating sev-

GERMAN BOOTLEGGERS FINED HALF MILLION

Hamburg, Germany, Sept. 29.—Bootleggers are dealt with harshly in this country when they are convicted.
Seventeen members of a huge German "bootleg trust" were sentenced by a Hamburg court today to $550,000 fine and eighteen months in jail for smuggling 1,700 gallons of alcohol into Germany from Holland.

INVITED SOVIETS TO VISIT BOSTON

Lampighter Puts Hub Officials in a Quandary by Writing Many Letters.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 29.—A humble city lampighter, who sought to carry a torch of "Peace on earth good will to men" around the world, faced "World Cities." This fifty-year-old man with five children and a wife to support has been sending out invitations to prominent persons of the governments of cities and countries at the rate of four a day.

Conceiving the idea of making the City of Boston's tercentenary a monster world-wide peace meeting, William A. Ryan organized a "League of World Cities." This fifty-year-old man with five children and a wife to support has been sending out invitations to prominent persons of the governments of cities and countries at the rate of four a day.

When acceptances began arriving at the office of Mayor Malcolm Nichols—acceptance from Moscow, London, Berlin and elsewhere over the globe—city officials thought that a new "Lafayette Mulligan" had sprung into being.

"Lafayette Mulligan" had sprung into being. Inviting the Prince of Wales to call at City Hall during the reign of Mayor James M. Curley. Later the invitation writer was found to be a local newspaperman.

Discovery was made, however, that the peace invitations were sent out by Ryan. City officials were in a state of perplexity. Not only what to do with the lamplighter, but what to do about the tercentenary invitations.

Staff of Frisco Theater Brought to Court as Fight Pictures Are Shown.

TO ARREST RICKARD FOR SHOWING FILMS

San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 29.—With the arrest of eight persons on the staff of a local theater which was showing motion pictures of the "Tunney-Dempsey" fight, the United States government today prepared to press charges in what it claims is a conspiracy to violate the law prohibiting inter-state transportation and showing of prize fight films.

A warrant has been issued in San Francisco for the arrest of Tex Rickard, promoter of the fight. Government agents were also trying to determine whether Tunney and Dempsey were financially interested in the pictures. If they are, the agents said, they will be arrested and tried.

For the first time since the anti-prizefight picture statute was enacted, officials in such cases are facing a felony charge rather than one of misdemeanor. In the event of conviction the defendants are open to a maximum penalty of $10,000 fine in addition to two years in prison.

The manager of the theater, W. P. Cullen, and the operator, Tom Merritt, were required to post bonds of $500. The other employees were released on their own recognizance.

C. N. HALL RETIRED
Hartford, Conn., Sept. 29.—The State Board of Finance and Control today voted to retire Charles N. Hall, of New Milford, an employee of the State Board of Education for the past 21-2 years.

RICH RUSHING TO NEVADA TO SEEK DIVORCE

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Kip Rhinelander and the Famous Mrs. Ward, Now at Reno.

Reno, Nevada, Sept. 29.—Like stars that shoot across the sky, lending an added touch of brilliance to the heavens, the great and the near great pass through Reno's divorce mill, each having his brief place "in the sun" in this haven of the disillusioned.

Today the divorce colony's "first citizen," socially speaking, is Cornelius Vanderbilt, scion of one of America's wealthiest families and former publisher of tabloid newspapers in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Yesterday it was the famous Mrs. Walter S. Ward of New York. Tomorrow, says Dame Rumor, it will be Kip Rhinelander, coming with his moot color line to add a bit of radiance to the divorce settlement. Kip, who lost the judge's decision in the "colorful" battle of White Plains, N. Y., is reputed to have booked lodgings at one of Reno's "dude ranches" in the back country.

Young Vanderbilt
Young Vanderbilt, whose newspaper slogan was "The Public be Seated," has modified his motto somewhat. With only thirty days to go, he's preparing to serve his wife with divorce papers.

Vanderbilt is not found at Reno's gambling tables, or at his night club. On the other hand, he makes hay while the divorce graminates, writing a series of magazine articles on Reno.

Unlike many of the fashionable divorce hunters who make their headquarters in Reno apartments or at the new Riverside hotel, Vanderbilt is located in the "dude ranch" near Pyramid lake.

When he comes to Reno for a visit he spends the greater part of his time at one of the newspaper offices.

FORMER LOCAL MAN IS HELD IN ROBBERY

Frank Lombardo of Hartford Charged With Big Raid on a Crap Game.

After a vigilant two-months' watch, Hartford police arrested Frank Lombardo, former Manchester man, and Oscar Raffrino in connection with a recent holdup of a crowd of crap-shooters in a Middletown pool room and the theft of $3,000.

Unbranded and unscratched from his fight with Jack Dempsey, Tunney left his book long enough to tell what it really means to him; to be world's heavyweight champion;

Lombardo, who is well known in Hartford as an alleged bootlegger, and whose name was connected with a gang of hi-jackers who figured in a bootleg feud which led to the killing of Carmelo Trivlongo by Cesare Bergeri in Hartford about a year ago, used to manage a store on Oak street here.

The pool room robbery for which Lombardo and Raffrino are held, was done so quickly and smoothly that it had apparently been well planned.

Five men walked into the basement of the building at 3 o'clock on the morning of July 31 last and, guns in hand, ordered some fifty odd gamblers to "throw up your hands." Two of the men kept the crowd covered while the other three collected the money, watches and other valuables.

No complaint of the robbery was made to the police at the time because the gamblers feared publicity. Police said they expected to make other arrests soon. They refused to divulge the clues which led to the arrest of Lombardo and Raffrino, but it was learned that Hartford, New Haven, New Britain, Waterbury and Middletown police had been working on the case for two months.

ACCUSE LAWYER

Bridgesport, Conn., Sept. 29.—The grievance committee of the Fairfield County Bar association today filed a presentment against G. Frederick Stark, a Stamford lawyer, with the Superior Court here. The presentment charges embezzlement of $765 from a client and issuing worthless checks. The grievance committee is composed of Sanford S. Stoddard, Louis J. Curtis and John F. Pullman.

Gene Tells Woman Scribe All About His Ambitions

Champ Says His Title Is Only a Stepping Stone; Is Looking to the Future—Hopes He Can Stay in Ring Until He Is 35.

By Allene Sumner

New York, Sept. 29.—Some day, James Joseph Tunney, champion heavyweight fighter of the world wants to doff his white cotton ring shorts for the satin knee breeches worn at the court of St. James.

This does not mean that the heavyweight champion of the world has a wild hankering to be presented at court. Rather, he hopes to do a little presenting himself in the role of U. S. ambassador to the court of Britain.

Gene Tunney, the Adonis, Beau Brummel, Lord Chesterfield, Euripides, Shakespeare and Whom Have You of the prize ring, would exchange his right to the title for which most of the masculine world would sell its soul, for a "more dignified and lasting title," such as ambassador, statesman, senator, famed archeologist, or a name meaning financial wizardry.

Unbranded and unscratched from his fight with Jack Dempsey, Tunney left his book long enough to tell what it really means to him; to be world's heavyweight champion;

STUDENTS STRIKE IN GARY'S SCHOOL

1,267 Quit Studies Because 24 Negroes Are Allowed In High School.

Gary, Indiana, Sept. 29.—Civil war loomed in Gary today between the negroes and whites as 1,500 pupils of the Emerson high school, with boos and jeers, walked from the auditorium and unanimously rejected any compromise pleas until twenty-four negro students are ousted from the school.

At the same time Superintendent of Schools William A. Wirt issued a drastic ultimatum that all students who are not in their classes by 8:15 a. m. tomorrow morning will be expelled for the remainder of the semester.

Ominous rumblings heard in the large negro section of Gary sent hurried patrol wagons and detective bureau cars loaded with machine guns to prevent race riots.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 29.—With feeling running high as a result of the strike of 1,267 Emerson high school students in a protest against having twenty-four negro students assigned to their school, police were on guard here today against possible outbreaks.

At the same time six of the students, members of the Students' Council, conferred with Superintendent of Schools William A. Wirt on ways and means of effecting peace.

Handling the situation has been left squarely up to the students, it was indicated. The situation last night became

KING FIGURES IN DEFEAT OF A CANDIDATE

He and Queen Mary Opposed Sir Harold de Courcy Moore Because of Scandal.

London, Sept. 29.—His sensational divorce in 1923, when he named his chauffeur co-respondent probably cost Sir Harold de Courcy Moore the high office of Lord Mayor of London today. Sir Charles Batho was unanimously elected.

While there were four candidates in the field it was generally agreed that Sir Harold could have been elected as he was the logical successor to the office.

King Opposed
Sir Harold announced his withdrawal just before the election, with all its ancient ceremonies, began. It was understood that he pursued this course owing to the opposition of King George and Queen Mary to divorced persons holding conspicuous public office, especially in circumstances where the divorce case was marked by sensational evidence.

19-Year-Old Co-respondent
The Moore divorce case was heard in November, 1923, at which time Sir Harold, the plaintiff, was an Alderman of the city. The co-respondent, William Harvey, was only nineteen years old, it was testified, when the incidents alleged by the petitioner took place.

A pathetic letter from Harvey was read into the testimony in which he complained that Lady Moore had wrecked his life. The divorce was granted and the next year Sir Harold was married to Miss Mary Cuthbertson.

what he plans with his title, and what he hopes for.
An Horatio Alger Hero
Listening to Gene Tunney, one wonders if he can be real or if he is an Horatio Alger hero come to life—an ambitious boy "willing to do anything for the sake of my future."

"Boxing can never be my life work or profession," says Tunney. "It's just a good job—a business into which circumstances drew me. I am not a prize fighter from real inclination; things just broke that way."
"I was offered a million-dollar job—a job for which I never really learned or prepared. But if I can hold the job, wouldn't I or any one be foolish to turn down an opportunity to put one on one's feet and leave one in a position to put through almost any life program?"
There, in a nutshell, you have it: Gene Tunney will "earn his pile" and then begin to do the job he really wants to do.

Gene Tunney is no born fighter

NO TIME LIMIT ON TAX RETURNS

Officials Announce That Government May Collect at Any Time.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Without time limitation the government may take steps to recover back taxes wherever fraud was involved in the preparation of returns, the Bureau of Internal Revenue announced today.

A. W. Gregg, solicitor of the bureau, held that the former requirement that fraud must be discovered within three years of filing of the return is not applicable and that "it is proper for the tax to be assessed at any time after fraud is discovered."
No Limitation.
Officials explained that fraud must be detected within six years of the filing of the return to make criminal action against the offender legal. Persons who made returns for the purpose of evading taxes, however, are never safe from collection proceedings.

Many tax returns of bootleggers, smugglers, gamblers and others involving large sums of money due the government are said to be under study by the treasury. Gains accruing from unlawful occupations are held taxable, although losses resulting from the same occupations cannot be deducted for the purpose of computing taxable income.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN KILLED BY AUTOIST

Greenwich Police Arrest Driver Who Refuses to Tell How He Broke Arm.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 29.—An unknown man was struck and killed at the foot of Byram Hill, on the Post Road here today by a car driven by Nicholas Granfrancisco, of 409 Ellendale av. nue, Port Chester, N. Y. Granfrancisco drove away after the accident and was arrested at his home. He had been to the Port Chester hospital where he was treated for a broken right arm.

Injury a Mystery.
Investigation after the accident disclosed that Granfrancisco's car had received a dented fender and door by the impact of the man's body, but just how the driver received his injury has not been determined.

Brought back to Greenwich, Granfrancisco was placed before James R. Mead and held in bail of $5,000 pending the coroner's inquest.

The dead man appeared to be of Polish descent, about 45 years old.

SENATORS FAVOR MORROW AS ENVOY

Leaders Say They Will Confirm Nomination If He Cuts From Morgan.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Dwight W. Morrow will be confirmed by the Senate as ambassador to Mexico if he proves he has severed all relations with the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company, it was declared today by senatorial leaders.

Democratic endorsement of the appointment of Morrow swept away fears of some administration leaders that his nomination would lead to a prolonged battle in the Senate.

"I think Mr. Morrow will be confirmed," said Senator Duncan Fletcher, Democrat of Florida. "He is a man of great ability and I understand he will retire from all business to devote himself to public service. He can be a very valuable man in Mexico. His capabilities fit the position."

Others in Favor
Senator Edward I. Edwards, Democrat of New Jersey, also championed Morrow's appointment, as did Senator Henry F. Ashurst, Democrat of Arizona, and Senator Kenneth McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, a leader of the Progressive wing of his party.

The lingering opposition to Morrow's confirmation probably will come from a handful of insurgents and Democrats, who oppose naming a Morgan banker to Mexico while the controversy there over land titles is unsettled. Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi, one of those opposing the appointment, merely said he would "not vote for confirmation."

ROYALTY SEEKS DIVORCE

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 29.—The divorce action of Elsie Moore, Duchess of Torlonia, against Marino, Duke of Torlonia, Italy, is to be re-assigned, because of the absence of Philo C. Calhoun, attorney for the duchess.

The case was to have been tried by Judge Alfred C. Baldwin October fourth. A date about one week later will be set, according to court officials today.

Reported Seen In Hotel But Leaves Before Detectives Arrive—At South Vineland, N. J., Ku Klux Klan Burns a Cross In Front of Mrs. Lillendahl's Residence and Are Unmolested By State Trooper.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 29.—A squad of detectives and police rushed to a downtown hotel today when a tip was received that a man resembling Willis Beach was in the lobby.

The man had disappeared when police arrived and a lookout for him was sent to all police stations. The man had inquired about a road map to southern points.

All roads are being watched. Police believe the man has left in an automobile.

Beach is wanted in New Jersey as a material witness in the murder of Dr. William Lillendahl, 72, retired physician.

South Vineland, N. J., Sept. 29.—While detectives were searching in Baltimore for Willis Beach, 52-year-old poultry farmer wanted in connection with the murder of Dr. William Lillendahl, 72, retired physician, a spectacular demonstration was staged early today in front of the home of Mrs. Margaret Lillendahl, the slain man's widow, held under guard as a material witness in her husband's shooting.

Shortly after three o'clock this morning five unidentified men drove up to the Lillendahl home here, and placed a five-foot wooden cross on the lawn, the cross was ignited, and the bright light of the blue stone into the darkness windows of the house. Mrs. Lillendahl arose, switched on a light in her bedroom, took a brief look at the fiery cross, and then extinguished the light.

Klaxers Not Bothered
The state trooper who was assigned last night to guard the home of Mrs. Lillendahl, who is ostensibly free under $25,000 bond as a material witness in the case, did not bother the five men. They drove up the driveway, silently lifted the cross from the back of the car and inserted it in the soft earth. When a torch had been applied, and the cross blazing fiercely, they climbed back into the car and drove off.

The Ku Klux Klan is known to have been active for some months past in this section of New Jersey, but as far as is known, no demonstrations have been staged in South Vineland.

One Missing Link
"One missing link," according to Prosecutor Louis Repetto, prevents him from presenting the case to the Grand Jury today. The prosecutor stated he expected to have his chain of evidence complete shortly, however, and would ask the Grand Jury for indictments as soon as possible.

Beach, meanwhile, had successfully eluded his pursuers. The white-haired poultry farmer, who had admitted carrying on a clandestine correspondence with Mrs. Lillendahl, left his home early Thursday morning. He was under $5,000 bond as his client only when a warrant was now out charging him with "aiding and abetting" the murder.

Edison Hedges, Beach's attorney, continued his assertions today that he will produce his client only when ordered to do so by a court of law, or if an indictment is returned against him. Assistant Prosecutor S. Cameron Hinkle, although refusing to say whether any action would be taken against Hedges, told newspapermen that "obstructing justice is a misdemeanor in this state, punishable by a $1,000 fine or three years in jail," and inferred that Hedges was laying himself open to prosecution on this score.

Seen in Baltimore
A report received at state police headquarters intimated that Beach, or a man closely resembling him, had been seen at the Hotel Armistead in Baltimore. Two clerks employed at the hotel were reported to have furnished a description of the man over the telephone to the state trooper headquarters, and furnished the information that the man had purchased all available newspapers, carefully clipping out the stories of the Lillendahl murder. Detectives are searching for this man in Baltimore.

Seven persons who were in the vicinity of the isolated road where Dr. Lillendahl was shot to death on September 15, were to be interviewed by Chief of County Detectives Frank J. Harrold today. These persons, who were working in a cranberry bog nearby about the time the murder occurred, are said to have heard the voices of a man and woman calling "yoo-hoo" back and forth about noon on the day of the murder.

C. OF C. MEMBERS GET LETTERS ON PLANNING

Lists Some of the Chamber's Arguments For Proposed Change in Town Charter.

The Chamber of Commerce, in an effort to have Manchester adopt the town planning statute, has sent each of its members the following letter, signed by Austin Cheney, its president:

"The members of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce have for years been interested in Town Planning for the Town of Manchester, and voted on January 28, 1924 to approve Town Planning. Since that date the directors of the Chamber have endeavored to bring it before the voters of Manchester, and the question is coming up for vote by a special petition to the Board of Selectmen at the annual Town Meeting on Monday, October 3 at 8 p. m., in the High School hall.

The directors of the Chamber urge you most strongly to come to the meeting and express your opinion on Town Planning.

"Some of the arguments in favor of Town Planning are as follows:

It gives a definite plan to build and grow to.

It furnishes a graphic reference available to all so that there will be no misunderstanding of future plans.

It stimulates and guides new development by giving assurance to prospective developers that their interests will be protected.

It discourages or prohibits undesirable types of development.

It plans through thoroughfares to avoid traffic congestion, makes comprehensive plans for parks, playgrounds, public buildings, etc.

It appraises our latent community resources so that each and all may be utilized to the full—not some at the expense of others, but each to the benefit of all.

It eliminates the expense of more than one plan for the several municipal officers and outside organizations.

It should not increase the town expenses.

"The above are only a few of the many benefits derived from Town Planning.

"The directors desire your hearty support at the Town Meeting on October 3.

"Yours for Town Planning,
AUSTIN CHENEY."

GET-TOGETHERS PLAN THEIR FIRST MEETING

Charles Cheney to Discuss "Problems Facing the Silk Industry" on Oct. 13.

Cheney Brothers' Get-Together Club will hold its first meeting of the season at Cheney hall on Thursday evening, October 13. President Sidney Elliot has made arrangements to have Charles Cheney, one of the charter members, speak on "Problems Facing the Silk Industry."

The following committee representing the Broad Goods Weavers, Throwing and Ribbon departments will provide the supper and entertainment: Edward F. Taylor, Michael Sheridan, Frank Cervini, Crombie Donaldson, Albert T. Tedford, Leonard Berry.

The committee promises an exceptionally fine entertainment put on by the best talent to be found in the above departments—an entertainment that will be remembered for years to come.

The supper to be served under the supervision of the committee will be as follows:

Baked Virginia ham, candied sweet potatoes, spaghetti, mashed potatoes, rolls, butter, ice cream, cakes, coffee.

Mr. Elliot is urging all members to attend the meeting and start the season with all of the old Get-Together club enthusiasm.

YOUTH IS SENTENCED TO 20 YEARS IN PEN

Convicted of Assault and Robbery—Other Charges Are Also Brought Against Him.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 29.—Convicted of assaulting and robbing, John Barker, filling station operator in Ashland, Va., "Browale" Katusack, 19, of Buffalo, N. Y., today faced a term of twenty years in Virginia penitentiary.

It took the jury but a few moments to arrive at that sentence. The youth is wanted in Buffalo for jail breaking. He will be tried next for stealing an automobile here a few hours before he staged the Ashland job.

Louis Kumrow, another Buffalo youth, is being held here on suspicion of having stolen an automobile in which he was motoring ahead of Katusack. He is also wanted in Buffalo for jail breaking.

ABOUT TOWN

L. T. Wood of this town has bought the old Porter farm in Coventry, consisting of about 75 acres of hay land, from G. E. Willis. Mr. Wood intends to put the farm into pasture land and hay.

Harry E. Anderson of 1075 Main street was operated on at the Hartford hospital this week for an abscessed appendix and hernia. He was taken to the hospital on Tuesday. Reports from the hospital today indicated that Mr. Anderson passed a restful night and that his condition is considerably improved.

Miss Minnie Sargeant, garment purchaser at the J. W. Hale Company, is in New York City today on a business trip.

Frank H. Anderson is in New York city today on a business trip and tomorrow will go to Boston, where he will attend the New England Aviation Conference as a representative of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

George E. Rix, executive secretary of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, who has been confined to his home for nearly five weeks with a severe attack of neuralgia, may return to his office next week. He continues to show improvement.

PLAYERS TRYOUTS FOR "MINICK" NEXT MONDAY

Cast of Fifteen to Be Selected For Kaufman-Ferber Comedy Drama; New Members Invited.

Tryouts for "Minick," the three-act play which the Town Players will put on early in December, will be held Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the School Street Recreation Center. Invitations have been extended to all the active and associate membership of the club and also to people who desire to become members.

The cast of "Minick" will be composed of nine women and six men, including three character parts. It is the aim of Miss Ruth Calhoun, director of the organization, to have all the available talent of the club present at the tryouts.

"Minick" is by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber. It is a play of contrasts, between the old and the new, the past generation and the generation that is coming up. It is full of humor and pathos and is one of the best efforts of these two well known playwrights.

Letters will be mailed this week to all members of the Town Players, advising them of the tryouts.

Louis Smith, formerly of the Poli Players, and director of two plays for the Town Players last year, is expected to direct "Minick."

GIRL ATHLETES PLAN AN INITIAL SUPPER

Cheney Mills Association to Open Season With Supper on Monday Evening.

The Girls' Athletic Association of Cheney Brothers, which has a membership of about 250 young women, will usher in its fall and winter season activities with a harvest supper next Monday evening at Cheney hall.

It is the policy of the organization to hold an affair of this kind each fall to stimulate interest in the social and athletic program which is to follow. A large attendance is anticipated. The principal part of the menu will be vegetable with spaghetti.

After the supper, there will be a program of entertainment, the feature of which will be a one-act comedy entitled, "In a Little Red Schoolhouse." Fifteen persons will constitute the cast. Their names will be announced later. Schedules for the bowling season will also be distributed at the get-together.

Miss Mildred Wright is president of the Girls' Athletic Association and Miss Mildred Aitken is recording secretary. The executive secretary and treasurer is Miss Emily Kissman.

CHENEY BALL PLAYERS TO CELEBRATE WINDUP

Manager George E. Hunt, Jr., manager of Cheney Brothers' baseball club, announced this morning that the team will celebrate the closing of the 1927 season with a banquet at Gillman Pines in Oakland next Saturday afternoon.

The twelve players who finished the season with a record of 10 wins and 10 losses, will sit down to a roast chicken dinner at 1 o'clock. Anyone else interested in baseball in town may also attend the banquet by making arrangements with William Brennan, Matthew Macdonald or George Hunt.

The Cheney Brothers' team had a fairly successful season, winning eleven games and losing a dozen. Many games were played away from home.

CHENEY ADVANCES MORE ARGUMENTS

Says Wide Main Street Resulted From Careful Town Planning.

Editor, The Herald:

As Manchester grows, increased transit facilities must be provided to care for the increased population. New bus lines are intimately tied up with adequate street widths. The new trolley or bus lines may come in ten years, more or less, yet these street widths are being determined now without regard to them.

More population means more schoolhouses, more playgrounds, and more parks. Are these to coordinate and be developed with reference to the greatest good they can do to the greatest number, or is their provision going to be left to blind chance?

Who, in the last year or two, has at any time entered Hartford, or indeed, any of our leading cities when they have not found it almost impossible to find a place to park a car, even for a few minutes? The streets of Hartford are narrow and many of the principle thoroughfares it is absolutely impossible to park cars on both sides of the street and leave room for two automobiles and trolley cars to pass at the same time.

Manchester is unusually fortunate in her Main street from the Center south, due to a plan which was made over a century ago by those who started the Town of Manchester and planned that the Main street should be sixteen rods wide. From time to time after the original plan was made, property owners bordering on the old highway, encroached on the public highway. Their encroachment, because it was not objected to at the time, finally gave them property rights, which in places has narrowed down the width of Main street from sixteen rods to fifty feet.

Main street, East and West Center streets are the only wide streets we have in town and sooner or later it is going to be necessary to make another cross street in each direction to take care of the traffic as it increases. This should be most carefully done and considered from all angles and a sufficient plan made to take care of future requirements.

Manchester is one of the best communities in the state but had we paid more attention to her development it would be an even better community. The past is past, but for the future, our hopes lie in the fact that the sooner we begin to plan, the fewer will be the mistakes committed hereafter; our inspiration in the thought that the earlier we begin to retrieve past mistakes by conscientiously studying our needs, the sooner shall we be free from some of our most troublesome and perplexing problems.

The time has come when Manchester can no longer afford to do without a town plan. The day was when, though we did nothing, we were no worse off than other towns and cities because they, too, did nothing. But now this has all changed. Other cities on all sides of us are ambitiously planning for the future.

We shall come to planning some day—the competition of other towns will ultimately compel us to fall in line, so why should we not plan NOW?

BAR GOOD WILL CLUB FROM 5TH SCHOOLHOUSE

Organization Has to Hire Dance Hall For Activities as District War Result.

The Good Will Club, refused the use of the Fifth District schoolhouse by the committee of the district, will conduct its activities in the City View Dance Hall, an advertisement in The Herald of last night announced. The club, according to one of its prominent members, will continue to carry on despite the adverse ruling of the committee.

Arthur E. Loomis, who is head of the Loomis faction in the district, said today that he could see no reason for the ruling, which was made recently by the committee, unless it was actuated by personal motives. A majority of members of the committee at present are sympathetic with the Manning faction, and it is generally known that the Good Will club is composed of members of the opposite faction.

Didn't Abuse Property.

Asked if the Good Will club had abused the school in any way during the time in which its activities were carried on, Mr. Loomis said that the club had taken good care of the property. Regarding janitor service, Mr. Loomis said that the janitor had never put in any bill for his work.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "we always had to sweep out the schoolroom before we started our parties because it was so dirty. And we swept it out again after we were through."

FALLS 3,000 METRES, UNHURT

Berlin, Sept. 29.—Herr Udet, famous German war ace, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury today when the motor of a giant Rohrbach hydroplane he was testing in Copenhagen Sound failed. The plane fell three thousand metres, but Udet escaped uninjured.

The plane, which had been christened "Robbe" was being primed for a trans-Atlantic flight, probably to be made next year. According to the officials of the Rohrbach company, the plane was not damaged by the crash.

MORROW AS SECRETARY

The Boston Herald's Washington correspondent, Robert B. Choate, forecasts the eventual succession of Dwight W. Morrow, just appointed ambassador to Mexico, to the post of secretary of state before the end of President Coolidge's present term. This correspondent has made some exceptionally shrewd guesses before this, and it would not be at all surprising if his prediction that Mr. Kellogg will step out and Mr. Morrow step into the state portfolio within six months or a year should turn out to be very good forecasting indeed.

It appears that Washington circles have mapped out a rather sensational program for Mr. Morrow, reckoning that the big New York banker who has turned to a career of diplomacy will be able not only to straighten out all our misunderstandings with Mexico in half a year but that he will succeed within that time in putting the United States on a new and highly desirable footing with all Latin America. After that, they anticipate, Mr. Morrow will be sent to France to bring about an amicable settlement of the debt question, and from that they even have a vision of his becoming the first American ambassador to the Russian Soviet Union—the biggest job, if it ever develops, that any United States diplomat has ever tackled.

It will strike most folks that the flight of fancy has gone a bit astray in this last adventure. Mr. Morrow is still a comparatively young man at 54, but it is much to be doubted that he will not be an old one by the time the United States recognizes the Soviet Republic. It is entirely conceivable, however, that he may get the job of straightening out the French debt tangle if he is half as successful in Mexico as it is generally expected he will be.

It is remarkable how nearly universal is the pleasure of the people in the appointment of Morrow to the Mexican post in place of Ambassador Sheffield. There is a very general feeling that all risk of trouble below the Rio Grande, is automatically done away with by the change in our representation there. And if it should indeed come to pass that Mr. Kellogg should retire from the cabinet and Mr. Morrow, take his place, there would almost certainly be much the same feeling of relief and assurance of better things.

HOAXING

Boston may be bespectacled and solemnly grave—that part of it, at least, which is not rummy and disorderly—but as a city it is fast coming into a stellar reputation for practical joking on a major scale.

Two or three years ago the Prince of Wales, then in the United States, received a formal invitation written on beautiful monogrammed stationery and signed by "Lafayette Mulligan, social secretary" to the then mayor, James M. Curley, inviting His Royal Highness to visit the mayor. If Jim Curley's adoring South End constituents had ever caught him entertaining the Prince of Wales or any other representative of England they would have pinned his hide to the roof of the bandstand on Boston Common and thrown bricks at it for a week. When His Honor received the polite regrets of the Prince he was as near to a connotation as he ever came in his public life.

For many days the identity of "Lafayette Mulligan" was diligently sought by every agency at the mayor's command. It was not discovered. The affair made some corking news stories.

Now Boston's city hall has been thrown into an uproar by the receipt by Mayor Malcolm Nichols of an acceptance of an "invitation" to the Soviet government at Moscow to send a delegation to the tercentenary celebration of the city of Boston in 1930.

Whether the fine hand of the same two hundred and twenty pound innocent of a newspaper reporter who was the real "Mulligan" penned the Soviet invitation, or whether some one else has emulated his example, Boston has added another big stone to its monument as the home of the modern hoax. Probably the next thing that will emanate from the Hub will be a declaration of war on Mussolini—just to see him jump.

FASCIST AGAIN

It is reported from Washington that a demand has been made on the Department of Labor that Count Ignazio Thaon Di Revel, President of the Fascist League of North America, be debarred from the United States as an undesirable alien, and it is further reported that members of Congress stand ready to propose Legislation before the next session of Congress which would make the expulsion of Count Di Revel and other Fascist legally possible.

Every day this campaign against Fascism proceeds in this way, yet the Department of Labor still fails to elucidate, for the benefit of the public, just what it has discovered, if anything, to justify the exclusion or deportation or revocation of citizenship of persons who have taken the "mysterious" Fascist Oath.

Absolutely this paper holds no brief for Fascism as it can be judged from what we learn of its operation in Italy. But we do believe that if there is something about the obligations incurred by members of that organization which would make it impossible or improbable for them to become good Americans, and if the Department of Labor has any real knowledge as to what that thing is, the information should be made public.

There is a certain amount of secrecy, of under-cover stealth about the anti-Fascist movement in the Department which is calculated to unsettle public confidence and breed suspicions that may be altogether unworthy. There are too many dark hints and not enough facts.

THE PERMIT SHUFFLE

There seems to be a difference of opinion between Senator Bingham and some of the prohibition enforcement authorities as to whether the order removing the permit division of the Hartford prohibition bureau to Boston has or has not been suspended. Mr. Bingham says it has. Dr. Doran, prohibition commissioner, says it has not. We are betting on Senator Bingham.

As a matter of fact the prohibition authorities seem to have a rather vague and indefinite idea of how much of the permissive authority was to have been taken away from the Hartford bureau, anyhow. As another matter of fact most of the operations of the prohibition authorities seem to partake of much this same muddled, indefinite and kaleidoscopic quality. The shuffling that goes on among the enforcement units after each new head comes into command is more like the shuffling of a deck of cards than anything else; it is as if the ripping and cutting were for the purpose of making any plan or program impossible.

Senator Bingham, however, has a perfectly clear idea of what he is trying to do. He is trying to prevent Connecticut industries and business from being subjected to unnecessary, injurious and inexcusable handicaps. That he will entirely succeed may be taken for granted.

SMOKING

Judge Fred Latimer, who writes a column for the Hartford Times with his right hand and one for the New London Day with his left, displaying therein an amazing literary ambidexterity, has just taken a fall out of that western physician who, a few days ago, declared that sixty per cent of the babies who are born to mothers who smoke die within two years of birth—and that nobody ought to smoke, anyhow. Judge Latimer concludes his argument with this suggestion:

"Those who do not smoke have two natural advantages. They can spend their money some other way and they smell sweeter. But if they lived any longer or any weller the insurance companies would have written their policies accordingly."

With this proposition we agree unhesitatingly, save for that part about the smell. We have never forgotten the first lecture we ever received on the horrors of the smoke evil. It was delivered at very short range by a school mat' who was so laden with patchouli that it made us ill. If she had been smoking shorts in a black T. D. we could have stood it, even at that tender age.

FIGHT FILMS

In order to prevent federal law from being further discredited and made more ridiculous than necessary it would be little short of inspiration if Congress, during its next session, would amend the Interstate Commerce act by doing away with the clownish provision of that act which prohibits the interstate transportation of fight films.

If anything could be sillier than a situation where millions of persons listen to radio broadcasting of a prize fight, where newspapers can legally carry as many pictures of such an event as they please, where there is absolutely no limit on the publicity given to the affair, and where it is then made a crime to transport reportorial films that could be legally shown in a majority of the states, we can't imagine what it is.

We are not lost in admiration of the prize fight as a major interest of an entire nation nor as a cultural proceeding, but we do believe that the prohibition of transportation of fight films is utterly nonsensical and calculated to bring federal law into contempt.

BLOOD WILL TELL

We had always supposed that President Mustafa Kemal of Turkey was a thoroughbred Macedonian Turk, as the records show him to be a native of Salonika, of native parentage. But somehow, somewhere, there must be in him some strain of the same blood as is dominant in South Carolina, Kentucky and Alabama. He has prepared a speech which is to be put on the radio at Ankara on October 15 and which will "hold the air" for four solid days. There are 400,000 words in that speech. Nobody can tell us, in view of the length of this oration, that Mustafa Kemal and the majority of our Southern congressmen are not, however distantly, related.

Aboard the S. S. Paris. Somewhere at Sea.—Whether aboard the flyer to Chicago, the "Lark" to San Francisco, the "Century" to New York or a liner to Europe, the traveling man is in preponderance.

On a liner he, or she, is a "buyer," but with that same air of being completely at home, of accepting travel with a most casual gesture and of seeming quite unaffected by surroundings, as the riders of the railroad lines.

Buyers, they tell me, are the most prolific ocean voyagers. Whereas the average sea-goer will bore you with accounts of trips here and trips there, the buyer casually will comment: "Oh, yes, I was over three times last season." And he wags his tongue together quite a bit and talk about next season's styles in women's clothes and the prospect of the season after!

Since every Main street store that pretends to be anything displays goods that "came direct from Paris" or is a copy of something from Paris, the buyer is a national institution.

I asked one of them how come America had never produced creators who could compete with the style and taste of the Parisians. He gave me a distressed look, registering impatience.

"What if they did?" he replied. "If there isn't a French name on it or a label that it is a French creation—who's look at it a second time?"

I asked him why French traveling men didn't come over with their trunks and satchels and, in the progressive Americano fashion, show us their wares instead of making us go over to look at them. Again he flashed distress.

"Don't you know that the American business men could never stand for that? Don't you know that he wants to say that it came from Paris and that he himself selected an exclusive model? Let the French bring their samples over and the illusion would be gone. They're wise. It's good psychology."

WASHINGTON LETTER

"Who will succeed Wayne B. Wheeler?" has become the question of the hour. This is the second of five articles discussing the situation faced by the Anti-Saloon League in selecting the man.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Sept. 29.—"I hope we can get Senator—over in the primary," Wayne B. Wheeler once remarked to a close friend.

"He'll be drunk most of the time, but he'll be sober enough to vote dry."

This jocular remark, which referred to a recently departed senator whose manory is so venerated that it would cause a fearful row to mention his name, was indicative of Wheeler's methods.

To Wheeler the cause of prohibition justified any means necessary to its success. Poisoned alcohol, double jeopardy, defeat of distinguished and valuable senators in favor of publicly "dry" but personally "wet" nonentities—Wheeler firmly believed that all these methods were ethical. He never expected a majority of personal drys in Congress and didn't worry about it.

Until the end, Wheeler devoted his great talents to defeating those senators, congressmen, governors and other officials who weren't "right" with the league. Instances were innumerable.

He forced the distinguished Senator Underwood of Alabama into private life when Underwood refused to bow before him and repudiate his convictions. He tore Underwood's machine to pieces and made his withdraw.

When Senator Stanley of Kentucky attacked the league, a few blasts from Wheeler were enough to crumple his machine and elect the very dry Barkley, much to Stanley's astonishment. So with many others.

The league's oratorical "Battalion of Death" was always ready to tear into a candidate's district and annihilate him. Often Wheeler went himself and told the church folks what a bad, wicked man their representative was.

More often than not, such drastic measures weren't necessary. "All we ask is your support on this one question," Wheeler would say to his quarry. "We don't care how you vote on anything else. Your constituents are dry. They want this legislation to pass. We know them better than you do. If you're with them, they'll be for you; and if you're against them, they'll defeat you. Remember, all we want is your support on this one great moral issue."

Then, if the fellow wasn't convinced, a wire was sent back to the league's representative among his

I fear I never shall understand business. Simple solutions have no little demand.

They tell me of a certain "old man of the buying trade," he's been over and back something like 250 times. Paris is but a commuting point, and Vienna and London. It's something out in his back yard. He can call every purser by his middle name and compare for you at great length the virtues of the hors d'oeuvres on certain ships.

Invariably the buyer is a pinocchio shark and a free spender . . . he is not traveling on an expense account?

The crew will tell you that, of all the passengers, he complains the least and generally has a good reason for a kick when he makes one. Having been about a lot he knows what to expect.

Yet, in spite of all his goings and comings he never fits into the definition of a cosmopolite. He probably knows more about Europe than half the so-called cosmopolitans, but his air is thoroughly Yankee and he makes no pretensions.

Only One Jaunting Car For Hire In Portadown

A copy of the Portadown News, published in Portadown, Ireland, recently received by a Manchester family, carries a story to the effect that there is only one jaunting car still plying there for hire. The motor car has superseded the old Irish institution, and although there are many of the jaunting cars still owned by private families, there is only one which may be rented in the town which has so many representatives in Manchester.

LADIES AID MEMBERS "GO TO SCHOOL" AGAIN

Sit in Rows and Mind Teacher As They Answer Roll-Call at North M. E. Church

Playing at "school again" passed the time merrily for members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the North Methodist church yesterday afternoon. The September group, headed by Mrs. Ruby Thresher, entertained the society, every member of which was present save two, and two guests made up for their absence. For some weeks the members have been using a quarter of a dollar loaned them by the committee for the purpose of making more money for the aid work, with the 25 cents as a nucleus. The member earning the most was to be the guest of honor at yesterday's party. Mrs. T. J. Shaw led the others with nearly $9 to her credit.

The third membership of the board created at today's meeting will be selected in the near future, according to Samuel M. Vauclein, president of the corporation.

NEXT CONVENTION CITY

Washington, Sept. 29.—The Board of Directors today selected Cleveland as the 1928 convention city of the National Council of Catholic Women. Mrs. W. C. Bannon of Cleveland was elected first vice president and Mrs. G. F. Satory of St. Paul was elected third vice president. The board decided to supplement the council's ban on bathing beauty contests with a movement looking toward greater modesty in dress and against moving pictures, magazines and books, "which lower the dignity of the Christian girl and Christian mother."

RAILROAD BLOCKED

Haverstraw, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Miles of express and freight cars lined the sidings along the West Shore railroad tracks here and passenger service is severely crippled owing to a huge rock fall in the West Shore tunnel between Haverstraw and Congers today. The present blockade has caused a complete tie-up of the service through the tunnel. The fall, it is believed, was caused by blasting.

KITTEN KILLS THREE

New York, Sept. 29.—The opening of a gas jet by a kitten crawling over a stove was believed by police today to be responsible for the deaths of three persons. When a gas-filled basement apartment was forced open, the bodies of George Knight, 73, superintendent, his wife, Mary, 45, and their son, John 14, were found. Near the door, a kitten was found gasping—but alive. The gas jet on the stove was partly open.

The Nut Cracker by Joe Williams. Quaint. The experts laughed at Eugene Tunney. They termed his training methods "funny," they said, "he's quite 'Just look,'" they said, "he's quite 'He did his training sitting down.'"

PARALYSIS EPIDEMIC IS ON THE DECREASE

Massachusetts Reports 97 Cases Against 106 For the Previous Week. Washington, Sept. 29.—Reports to the United States Public Health Service today from 36 states showed that 545 new cases of infantile paralysis had developed during the week ending September 17. Massachusetts reported 97 new cases as against 106 for the previous week. Other states reporting included California, with 43 cases as compared with 66 for the previous week; Pennsylvania 42 and 48; Texas, 25 and 16; West Virginia, 18 and 13.

STUDENTS STRIKE IN GARY'S SCHOOL

CYCLONE WIPES OUT AN ARKANSAS TOWN

Fort Smith, Ark., Sept. 29.—One woman was seriously injured, a dozen people were slightly hurt and sixty school children narrowly escaped with their lives when a cyclone wiped out the village of Rudy, fifteen miles from here, today. The schoolhouse was completely destroyed, twelve of the town's thirty-eight residences were completely blown away, eight other houses were badly damaged and the Frisco railroad depot and freight house, twisted to pieces, were demolished. Twenty children on the second floor of the brick schoolhouse and 40 on the first floor were thrown into a panic when the cyclone struck the building. As the roof above their heads was blown away, the children rushed for the doors. While the walls of the building crumbled around them, all are reported to have escaped safely although a complete check-up has not been completed, all the children escaped it will be considered miraculous as the school was demolished.

MIGHT BE AVIATOR

St. John's, N. F., Sept. 29.—The sighting of the body of a man in Conception Bay was reported to Magistrate Power at Belle Isle today by J. Kelly and his son. Possibility that the body was that of one of the members of the crew of the ill-fated trans-Atlantic plane "Old Glory," or of one of the planes which disappeared on the disastrous flight attempts from Europe to America was indicated by the fact that the man said the head was covered by what looked to be an aviator's helmet.

DONATE LAND TO STATE

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 29.—A tract of 480 acres known as the Shade Swamp in Farmington, has been given to the state and will be used as a game preserve, according to the State Board of Fisheries and Game today. The donors of the land are Alvin C. White of Litchfield and Walter W. Holmes of Waterbury.

CHEN DENIES RUMOR OF RECENT MARRIAGE

Chinese Leader Says Report Is Silly—Madame Sun Also Denies It.

Moscow, Sept. 29.—Eugene Chen, former foreign minister of the Nationalist government of China, emphatically denied today reports circulated in the United States and Europe, that he had been married recently to Madame Sun Yat Sen, widow of the founder of the Southern Chinese government. "I wish to deny most emphatically the absurd reports of my marriage to Madame Sun Yat Sen," declared Chen, who is visiting Moscow as a member of a delegation from the Nationalist Chinese leaders. "The only relation between me and Madame Sun is that I am a member of the same delegation," he added. "The report is ridiculous." Madame Sun's secretary also denied the report.

POLAND BREAKS OFF BOND NEGOTIATIONS

American Bankers Were All Ready to Float 70 Millions Worth Here.

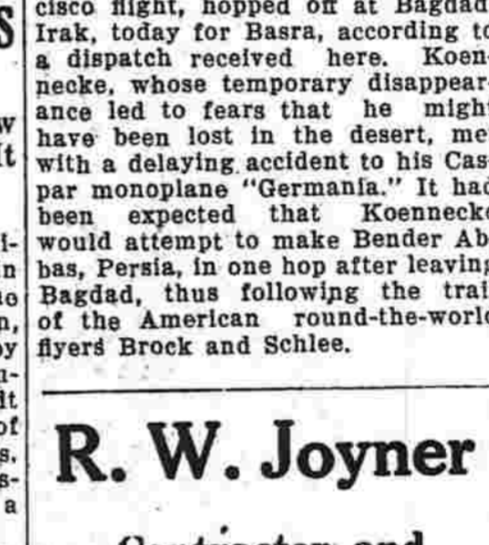

Warsaw, Sept. 29.—The Polish government has broken off negotiations with American bankers for the floating of a $70,000,000 Polish rehabilitation loan in the United States, it was announced today. It was understood that the government and the American bankers were unable to agree on the net price at which the Polish bonds were to be sold. The government was willing to agree to a price of $97 but the American bankers were not willing to go above $94. The announcement of negotiations being broken off followed closely the news from Washington that the American State Department would grant its approval of the loan.

FORGES BANK CHECK AND GETS 60 DAYS

Was Only For $30 and New Britain Man Must Make It Good.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 29.—Reginald E. Pickhardt, of New Britain charged with forging a check on the Home National Bank of Meriden, was sent to jail for sixty days by Judge John Richard Booth, in Superior Court here today. Pickhardt made restitution of the amount of the check, which was thirty dollars, a condition which the judge imposed before he would hand down a sentence. Edward Langevin, of Meriden, was sent to jail for two months after a plea of nolo contendere on a charge of reckless driving. He was involved in an accident at Berlin on August 22nd when two persons were killed.

FURNITURE GIFTS AT STATE TONIGHT

"What Happened to Father" With All Star Cast—Two Films Tomorrow. Tonight is Furniture Night at the State theater and with the gifts of furniture will be presented the funniest picture of them all "What Happened to Father" with Warner Oland in the leading role. For Friday and Saturday the State offers two of the best programs of pictures of the year, Gene Stratton Porter's "Laddie" and "Running Wild" with W. C. Fields. The two films present a contrast, the former being a human interest story of American family life while the latter is a comedy in which Mr. Fields is allowed to do considerable clowning. Millions of readers of the late Gene Stratton Porter's works have been anxiously awaiting the film version of her greatest novel, "Laddie" under the direction of Leo Meehan. Mrs. Porter's son-in-law, F. B. O. has produced a magnificent picture from the story. John Bowers as Laddie and Jess Flowers as Pamela give superb interpretations of the leading roles. Eugene Gilbert, Neil Neely, Arthur Clayton, John Fox, Jr., and the novelist's granddaughter, little Gene Stratton, compose the balance of the cast.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (95) Mail and Wire

Mail and telegraph lines speed the world's news to the waiting press. Nearly every newspaper has a world's wire service at its disposal, and it takes only a few minutes for a story to speed around the globe. The wire services have correspondents with leased wires at their disposal in the world's important cities.

Feature services mail their matter and rely on the airplane and telephoto to expedite important news pictures.

These news pictures are usually mailed from a central point and hundreds of papers throughout the country receive matrices so that a newspaper could print pictures of the flyers the day after they landed.

The recent Hawaiian flight furnishes an example. Pictures were sent by radiophoto across the Pacific. Then telephoto speeded them across the country to a central point where matrices were made. Airplane mail services expedited these shipments so that a newspaper could print pictures of the flyers the day after they landed.

BASEBALL SEASON IS NEARING END

Battle Lines in National League Pennant Race Are Drawn Today.

By LES CONKLIN
New York, Sept. 29.—Battle lines in the National League pennant race were drawn today in Cincinnati, where both the Cardinals and Pirates hope to make a football out of the Reds. If the west Cincinnati playing field is in fit condition, the Cardinals will play the Reds today while Pittsburgh and New York are idle. Beginning tomorrow, the Pirates will clash with the Porkville boys in a three-game series.

Pittsburgh, St. Louis and New York all have three more games to play. The Cardinals, who beat the Phillies in the only National League game played yesterday, can tie the Pirates by making a clean sweep provided the Bucs lose all their remaining games. St. Louis, one game ahead of New York but two games behind Pittsburgh, can tie the Pirates by winning three straight if the Corsairs lose two of their three games with the Reds.

REEVES HAS MAKINGS OF GREAT SHORTSTOP

By BILLY EVANS
"He has the makings of a great shortstop, a world of natural ability and a keen mind. Once he learns the tricks of the trade there is no keeping him out of the headlines."

Roger Peckinpaugh, one of the game's greatest shortstops, ventured the above opinion about Bobby Reeves of Washington, after I had broadcast my belief that he looked like a great prospect.

Unless you are a baseball fan who follows the box scores closely, the name of Bobby Reeves may mean little or nothing to you. So here is the low down on the young man who appears to have a bright future in the big leagues.

Two years back, Bobby Reeves was a student at Georgia Tech. How much book knowledge he absorbed at that famous Georgia institution of learning I cannot say, but I know he made rapid strides to the front in a baseball way. He was a big sensation in southern collegiate baseball circles.

One of the Washington scouts who were favorably impressed and before Reeves said goodby to his dear old alma mater his name was affixed to a Washington contract. I am told that a bonus of $500 completed the deal. If so, Nationals secured a great prospect at a bargain price.

For almost a year, Reeves sat on the bench awaiting a real chance to make good. He would occasionally fill in for a game or two but always returned to the bench when the regular was able to resume play. Fear was expressed in the few trials he received that he would not be able to hit big league pitching consistently.

Fortunately for Reeves he had a chance to learn some of the finesse of properly playing shortstop from Roger Peckinpaugh, a past master in the art of fielding. He profited greatly thereby.

This year when Peckinpaugh was sold to Chicago, it was on the assurance that "Buddy" Myer would fill the vacancy. He faltered and in turn was traded to Boston for the veteran Rigney. For a time Rigney did well enough but when a bad slump hit him, Reeves fell heir to the job, largely because there was no one else to experiment with.

Within a very short time Reeves had qualified for the position of regular shortstop and one of the big worries of Manager Stanley Harris had been eliminated. He is improving with every game.

Reeves is a six-footer, built very much on the lines of Pittsburgh's brilliant shortstop, Glenn Wright. Reeves can go to his right or left with equal ease. He is very fast on his feet and has one of the greatest arms I have ever seen. Incidentally he is going to hit big league pitching quite well enough, thank you.

At present the most glaring weakness of Reeves has to do with his throwing, despite the fact that he has a marvelous arm. There is one thing that he must learn in order to steady his play, the proper timing of base runners. He throws fast and slow runners out with the same speed, which means that he hurries every throw.

Most errors on the part of infielders are caused by hurrying the throw which cuts down on accuracy. On the slow runners it is possible to steady one's self and so throw the ball that it gets the runner by a comfortable margin. In a majority of cases, proper timing means throwing the fast or slow man by about the same margin.

When Reeves learns to time each runner and the manner in which the ball comes to him, he

Ruth Now Facing His Big Moment

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Editor.
New York, Sept. 29.—Starting today, George H. Ruth, the well-known baseball player, faces the great moment of his professional life. With three games to play, he can hit three home runs and become the hero of the 1927 campaign and all others or he can hit one or two or none and become the man who wanted to but didn't. Life is filled with those kind.

Three home runs for Ruth before the end of the current campaign will make him the hero of the season, tying his record total of 1921. Can he do it? Off hand, I would say that there are very few things this young man cannot do with a baseball.

However, I am not speaking in my most sensationally offhand fashion. There are several factors that may prevent George from doing what he would and at least one or two of them may be on the payroll of the Washington club. Suppose, too, it rains today, tomorrow or the next day. The game will be out and so probably will be George's record.

All to Gain
He is in the painful position of having all to gain and plenty to lose.

As a matter of fact, fate wasn't with him when it brought the Senators here for the final series of the year, a series that will have no bearing on anything except as to whether Ruth's home run total will range ahead to a new record of sixty, equal his old record of fifty-nine or remain where it is at fifty-seven. Fate, anyhow, could have named an easier clinch, so to speak, than the Washington pitchers.

They have limited Ruth to six home runs all year, a total which, if apportioned strictly among the other clubs of the American League, would have given the young man a count of forty-two for the season, instead of fifty-seven. Senatorial pitching has been very firm with the boy friend this year.

Only Four Homers.
In fact, George has made only four homers off members of the staff who operated throughout the year and three of them were made off a gent, Hollis Thurston, who no longer counts himself a first stringer. The other two were made off the delivery of Tom Zachary while he was pitching for the St. Louis Browns.

The left hander, having worked a shutout against the Browns several days ago, probably will get the nod from Stanley Harris to open fire on the Yanks and Ruth today. This isn't the worst break in the world for George. He has faced Zachary many times and oft, and in addition to his pair of homers this year, he has smitten the gent for quite a few home runs in his time. Zachary is by no means immune to the Ruth influence.

The other Washington pitchers who are likely to appear are Handley, Lisensbee, Marberry and Johnson. Hadley worked yesterday, which should bring him back as a starter for the finale on Saturday. Ruth has hit exactly no home runs against his pitching. He has one for the season to show against Lisensbee, who may start tomorrow. He has none a debit against Marberry and Johnson, the latter, so far as I know, having failed to face the Yanks this season. Ruth's breaks with Johnson on their life time record have been reasonably even.

Of course, a hitter like Ruth is likely to get three in three games or, like the shoe polish, he may even get two in one. The point is that, if he gets the record, he will have earned it, for he must beat the men who have troubled him most. And, as to that, if he doesn't get it he will have earned plenty. Any man who hits fifty-seven home runs in a single campaign, after hitting fifty-four and fifty-nine in two previous seasons, just about wins the marbles without further contest.

will have cured his one bad fault, hurrying the throw, resulting in many wild pegs.

Only recently in a game with Cleveland, Reeves demonstrated his ability to cover ground by accepting 13 assists, breaking the American League record of 12, made by Norman Elberfeld in 1901 and being within one of the record made by Thomas Corcoran of the National League in 1903.

Washington has boasted of great shortstops in players like George McBride and Roger Peckinpaugh and seems to have another future great in Bob Reeves of Georgia, huh!

Hartford's Defense Rates High In Soccer League

Although admittedly lacking a "scoring punch," the Hartford Soccer Club has one of the most rugged defenses in the twelve-men circuit. To date, Hartford has played four American League games and has won one, drawn one and lost two, but has scored in all but one of the games. The highest number of goals, its opponents have been able to register in a single game, is three. The Brooklyn Wanderers, who have drubbed the New York Giants, Fall River and New Bedford, are the ones to perform this feat. And they had no easy time doing it. In all the games played, many words of praise have been spoken regarding Hartford's strong defense.

Harry Cowan and Andy Bain, backs, and Tommy Blair, goalie, made a trio which has proved a complete puzzle to many wingmen so far this season and is expected to continue to prove a thorn in the side of any offense. Blair's work in the goal has been especially effective and his saves at times have been nothing short of spectacular. Cowan and Bain have also been clearing well. But while Hartford's defense has been as good as any in the league, its offense has not been as good as wished for. In fact, Hartford has scored less goals than any other team in the loop, averaging one a game.

As a result of the Philadelphia substitution being allowed within the final fifteen minutes of the game, Hartford was able to tie the Quakers of a 3 to 2 victory, Brooklyn is now tied for first place with the Hub City eleven, each having won all of its games. Brooklyn, however, has won one more contest, and, incidentally, is tied with the lowly Fall River Club for scoring the most goals, 15 in number. Fall River and the New York Giants have been scored against the most, seventeen drives having come to a rest in each team's net. Boston has only been scored against once.

Following is the revised league standing with the Philadelphia-Boston game ruled out:

| Team | W. | L. | D. | Pts | P. C. |
|-------------|----|----|----|-----|-------|
| Brooklyn | 4 | 0 | 0 | 8 | 1,000 |
| Boston | 3 | 0 | 0 | 6 | 1,000 |
| Providence | 3 | 1 | 1 | 6 | 750 |
| New Bedford | 3 | 1 | 1 | 7 | 700 |

All-Meriden Eleven Plays Here Sunday

Manager William H. Griffin of the Cloverleaves football team announced late yesterday that he had secured the fast All-Meriden eleven to furnish the opposition for the opening game of the season which will be played at Hickory's Grove next Sunday afternoon. The Cloverleaves are practicing hard for the opening game and have high hopes of getting away to a flying start. The team will take the field with the same lineup which went through the season undefeated and unscored on last year. The exact lineup will be announced Saturday.

College Captains

MOESSER, OF PRINCETON
An Ohioan captain the Princeton Tigers this fall.

He is Charles Row: Moesser of Cincinnati, who has played end regularly for two seasons on the Tiger team.

Moesser was rated one of the best ends in the east last season and should run well for All-America honors this year.

The Princeton captain weighs 250 pounds. He is shy one inch of being a six-footer, but is shy very little in real ability at playing his flank position.

The Tigers have a schedule this season that cannot be called as tough as one of other years, but enough games are listed to make them worry a bit. Ohio State, Cornell and Yale should provide tough opposition.

Foster Sanford, Penn's star pitcher, wants to land a berth on the Penn football team.

MANCHESTER'S FUTURE GOLFERS SHOW THEIR WARES SATURDAY

Thirty Youngsters to Compete in 18-Hole Handicap Caddies' Tournament at Country Club.

Manchester's future golf stars, thirty in number, will make their public debut Saturday morning when they participate in the first Caddies' Tournament ever to be staged at the Manchester Country Club. Ranging from eight years up, the boys who during the long summer season have served their employers faithfully, will have a chance to swat the balls around the eighteen-hole course to their heart's delight.

There will be two divisions, one for boys twelve years and older and the other for those under twelve. The older group will play eighteen holes and the other, nine. Both will be played in foursomes and will be having the lowest net in each division will be crowned the winner. There will be prizes, golf clubs, bags, balls and other paraphernalia in addition to a $15 to be split up.

Since the announcement by the tournament committee that a Caddies' Tournament would be staged, great interest has been aroused among the youngsters. Many of them have already started practicing hard for the event which will mean as much to them as the national title did to Bobby Jones.

Here is a list of those who will compete in the 12 years and above class: Stanley Murra', Joseph Muraski, Albert Anderson, Einar Anderson, Fred Ubert, Tommy Tedford, Johnny Dupont, Herb Fraser, Jimmy Duncan, S. Rockmore, Al McBride, Milton Bo. T. Roy Fraser, Billy Mack, Billy Smith, Andy Binock, Joe McClurey, Leonard Hicking, Dana Cowles and Harold Civello.

Those under twelve years are Johnny Hutt, Davy Str' pean, Frank-

Football Fundamentals

As Told by Famous Coaches TO BILLY EVANS.

GRIPPING THE BALL

Proper gripping of the ball is most necessary in order to obtain accuracy when making a forward pass. There are a number of correct ways to handle the ball, coaches differing on this feature of the play. However, I have found that a great many favor the method of gripping as I am about to explain.

The passer grips the ball from the rear end as far down toward the center as the size of the hand will permit. In throwing the ball, it is propelled from the rear with a slight downward pull to the outside of the ball with the fingers. The thumb merely guides the ball, while the whole palm of the hand lies flush against the leather.

Coaches differ slightly as to the position of the laces. Some maintain that the lace detail has no great bearing on the pass. However, if there is sufficient opportunity to adjust the ball before making the pass, it is well to place the thumb as illustrated, with reference to the lacing. This is not really necessary in order to set off a good pass. Arrange the hands in the most efficient possible position on receiving the ball so that there will be a minimum of delay in getting off the play.

The passer should remember that when he puts his fingers on the laces, it usually causes the ball to describe a curve that makes the receiving of it more difficult.

The woman raised her eyes inquiringly. "Perhaps you have sufficient evidence to accuse me of the murder?"

THIS HAS HAPPENED
 A woman's gloves and handbag are found at the scene of Benson's murder and a large gray automobile is reported to have been standing outside at midnight. Markham tells Vance he has traced the handbag to Miss St. Clair and Vance insists she is innocent. Markham agrees to let him be present in his office when he interviews the girl.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV
 "ANY news of the car?" asked Markham.

Heath granted his disgust. "Not a word. And that's funny, too, seeing all the advertising it got. Those fishing-rods are the only thing we've got. . . . The Inspector, by the way, sent me the post-mortem report this morning; but it didn't tell us anything we didn't know."

"Translated into human language, it said Benson died from a shot in the head, with all his organs sound. It's a wonder, though, they didn't discover that he'd been poisoned with a Mexican bean or by an African snake, or something, so's to make the case a little more intricate than it already is."

"Cheer up, Sergeant," Markham exhorted him. "I've had a little better luck. Tracy ran down the owner of the handbag and found out she'd been to dinner with Benson that night. He and Phelps also learned a few other supplementary facts that fit in well; and I'm expecting the lady here at any minute. I'm going to find out what she has to say for herself."

An expression of resentment came into Heath's eyes as the district attorney was speaking, but he erased it at once and began asking questions. Markham gave him every detail, and also informed him of Leander Flye.

"I'll let you know immediately how the interview comes out," he concluded.

As the door closed on Heath Vance looked up at Markham with a sly smile.

"Not exactly one of Nietzsche's supermen—eh, what? I fear the subtleties of this complex world bewilder him a bit," he knew. . . . And he's so disappointed. I felt positively elated when the bustling led with the thick glasses announced his presence. I thought surely he wanted to tell you he had at the conclusion that the gloves were mine?"

Markham looked sharply. "Do you mean to say the gloves are not yours?"

"Oh, no." She gave him another winty smile. "I merely wondered how you knew they belonged to me, since you couldn't have known either my taste in gloves or the size I wore."

"They're your gloves, then?"

"If they are profuse, size five-and-three-quarters, of white kid and elbow length, they are certainly mine. And I'd so like to have them back, if you don't mind."

"I'm sorry," said Markham; "but it is necessary that I keep them for the present."

She dismissed the matter with a slight shrug and considered. "Do you mind if I smoke?" she asked.

Markham instantly opened a drawer of his desk, and took out a box of Benson and Hedges cigars.

"I have my own, thank you," she informed him. "But I would so appreciate my holder. I've missed it horribly."

Markham hesitated. He was manifestly annoyed by the woman's attitude.

"I'll be glad to lend it to you," he compromised; and reaching into another drawer of his desk, he laid the holder on the table before her.

"Now, Miss St. Clair," he said, resuming his gravity of manner, "will you tell me how these personal articles of yours happened to be in Mr. Benson's living-room?"

"No, Mr. Markham, I will not," she answered.

"Do you realize the serious construction your refusal places upon the circumstances?"

"I really hadn't given it much thought." Her tone was indifferent. "It would be well if you did," Markham advised her. "Your position is not an enviable one; and the presence of your belongings in Mr. Benson's room is, by no means, the only thing that connects you directly with the crime."

The woman raised her eyes inquiringly, and again the enigmatic smile appeared at the corners of her mouth.

"Perhaps you have sufficient evidence to accuse me of the murder?" Markham ignored this question. "You were well acquainted with Mr. Benson, I believe?"

"The finding of my hand-bag and gloves in his apartment might lead me to assume as much, mightn't it?" she parried.

"He was, in fact, much interested in you," persisted Markham. She made a face, and sighed.

"Alas, yes! Too much for my peace of mind. . . . Have I been somehow indicative of levity, that this gentleman paid me?"

Again Markham ignored her query.

"Where were you, Miss St. Clair, between the time you left the Mar-selles at midnight and the time you arrived home—which, I understand, was after 1 o'clock?"

"I am simply wonderful!" she exclaimed. "You seem to know everything. . . . Well, I can only say that during that time I was on my way home."

"Did it take you an hour to go from Fortlie Street to Eighty-first and Riverside Drive?"

"Just about, I should say—a few minutes more or less, perhaps."

"How do you account for that?" Markham was becoming impatient.

"I can't account for it," she said, "except by the passage of time. Time does fly, doesn't it, Mr. Markham?"

This And That In Feminine Lore

From many foreign lands come those oddly attractive things which are a source of pride to their owners. Pottery, quaint and unusual, the handwork of other nations, cameos and jewelry for personal adornment, rare pictures, brass and copper goods, and wedding, birthday or bridge prizes these are sure to be appreciated. Fred Hughes is showing them at The Old Wood Shop, Pitkin street.

In military there is a noticeable return to ribbon bows and loops and intricate velvet designs applied on felt, as well as hats of all velvet. They are feminine without being fussy and withal youthful.

Very new for evening is the necklace of colored stones to match the gown, often worn two or three times around the neck. Frequently bracelets are worn to match.

Rayon or any material which has rayon in it must be handled carefully when wet. It is only about half as strong as real silk ordinarily but when wet loses about 70 per cent. of its strength. Lukewarm water and pure soap should be used and the garment not tightly wrung but spread out flat, gently pulled into shape and left to dry. George H. Johnson in a book entitled "Textile Fabrics" says: "The lifelong ambition of many nineteenth century chemists was to discover a method of producing silk artificially. To date these ambitions have not been realized, although as a result of the early studies and experiments made now has Rayon, a new fibre that is somewhat similar to silk in appearance, but entirely different otherwise. Rayon originally was known as 'artificial silk,' but the term was a misnomer since it implied that the fibre was silk produced artificially. In reality Rayon bears no chemical relationship whatever to silk and resembles it only to a certain extent in a physical way.

Mountain air is very light; especially heavy the appetite. Though this, without a doubt, you knew from staying in the mountains blue. Most people go there for a rest, but eating's what they do best. Always hungry! For goodness' sake! Just try this Adirondack cake. Two tablespoons of sugar, white; two tablespoons of butter, until light. Butter, two tablespoons; melt a bit. Salt, one teaspoon; then add with it. Flour, one pint that's been well sifted. One pint sweet milk, and if you're gifted you can add these two without a flurry. Just "ir" them well and don't try to hurry. Mix alternately until all used and only the flour lumps will be abused. Before you bake (have the griddle hot), add baking powder, the best you've got, two heaping teaspoons; and then, we're told, that into the batter one must pour with a little stirring, as one can do the stiffly beaten egg whites, too. When cakes are baked a golden brown take maple sugar that's been shaved down. On plate pile cakes, about five high, and spread the sugar between them dry. Fresh butter now with the sugar blend. The two will mix and be good no end. So eat 'em north or eat 'em south, they'll fairly melt inside your mouth. Beat griddle cakes, if beat you can, to satisfy the inner man.

Cook Book Carols.

Black isn't always a wise color choice for those women of advancing years. It looks best on the young person who has good coloring and skin. The older woman looks much better in colors, that is, not vivid colors but soft shades of blue, gray and rose. One of the most stunningly beautiful women in New York is a dowager of sixty odd years who dresses to her wonderful white hair.

The WOMAN'S DAY

GRANDMA MARTIN'S JOY IN HER "OWN ROOM"

Rooms figure in both stories and life. Tragedies and joy are made by rooms. G. B. Stern, one wrote a book called "The Room," about a woman who in the vernacular, "went wrong" because that was the only way she could get a room of her own. Conventional, decent, family living had always been too thick. She had to "double up" in any room she ever had.

Grandma's Room

Thyra Sauter Winslow, in her collection of the best short stories written by anyone, bar none, in years and years, called "People Round the Corner," tells the story of "Grandma Martin's room." Grandma lived with her son, David, his wife, Mary, and their two children, Isabel and Ralph. Isabel got married. In fact, grandma sort of engineered the match because the room Grandma had in the dining room for twelve years.

A Dining Room Bed

"In the dining room was a davonport, bought especially for Grandma, and covered with shining leatherette and of course it had to be made up when you opened it, and the pillows and covers had to be brought in from the hall closet, and that is not easy when one is 78. And when one sleeps in the dining room one has to wait until all of the other members of the family have gone to bed before one can go, especially in an apartment all on one floor.

"The was a living room in front, and then a hall on which opened two bedrooms and the bath between them, and at the end of the hall was the dining room. You had to pass through the dining room to get to the kitchen, and you know how young people always want to get into the dining room or the kitchen about the last thing at night. When the children had company in the living room Mr. and Mrs. Martin stayed in the dining room, so Grandma could not go to bed as soon as she felt sleepy; she did not have a great deal of privacy."

When Grandma went to son David's they had jocosely said, "Well, Grandma, when Isabel marries, you'll have her room." Isabel was 16 then. Grandma waited 12 years, then took a hand, and to shorten the tale, Isabel got married.

The First Day

"She woke up with a start the next morning, and then remembered. It was the day she was going into her own room! It was still early; she didn't hear anyone stirring. She was glad of that. She liked to be all dressed before anyone had to pass through the dining room. It was rather awkward being caught still in bed or not completely clothed. Grandma hurried and made the bed.

"It was delightful cleaning up her own room. She made the bed, putting on her own two sheets; she'd used the top one only two days. Then Grandma brought in her possessions. From the buffet, hidden under towels and napkins, came the morning dresses, aprons and decent, thick underwear. From the back partition of the knife-and-fork drawer came Grandma's comb and brush of imitation ivory that Ruth had sent her the year before for Christmas.

"These and a silver-plated mirror discarded by Isabel when her

POISONING FROM GASOLINE AND COAL OIL INCREASES BY DR. MORRIS FISHER

Editor Journal of American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

With the extensive use of coal oil and gasoline for heating purposes, for cleaning and for driving vehicles, the number of cases of poisoning due to drinking or swallowing considerable amounts of these substances is increasing.

Gasoline consists of the lower boiling hydrocarbons. When the vapors are inhaled symptoms of headache, nausea, giddiness, shortness of breath, blueness, and even unconsciousness appear.

Drowsiness is reported as a prominent symptom in gasoline poisoning. In case large amounts of gasoline are swallowed unconsciousness comes on in ten to fifteen minutes. The symptoms are especially severe in children. One case is reported in which a girl, 20 years old, died in five hours after drinking an ounce of gasoline, although some people have survived after taking larger quantities.

When coal oil is swallowed the effects are similar to those of alcohol but there is much irritation of the bowels. There are few deaths reported as the result of drinking gasoline since it is not so poisonous as benzine or gasoline.

Of course the first thing to do when a poison is swallowed is to get as much as possible of it back out of the stomach. Vomiting may be brought about by any of the common methods such as putting a finger down the throat, taking lots of salt water, or by having a physician inject drugs that invariably produce vomiting.

If the patient has collapsed he should be put at rest and kept quiet. He should be kept warm by the application of hot water bottles or electric heating pads. Coffee may be given as a stimulant. A physician may produce stimulation by the injection of more powerful drugs and treat the various symptoms as they develop.

GOOD TEMPER —AND AN APOLOGY!

By Olive Roberts Barton

I have watched him for years, the little conductor who boards the interurban trolley car at the city line, and comes to the city.

I have a wager up with myself that some day I am going to catch him. Some hot day when people won't move up and he can't push his eighty odd pounds of skin and bones through the crowds, I'm going to see him lose his temper and say terrible things. He'll forget all the sugar talk to boys and girls, too, and that's what my wager is about mostly.

Now my acquaintance with the conductor began about the time I began to remember things. He had a little thready beard then. He has it now. It seems never to have grown, it seems never to have been trimmed, and yet thirty years—may forty years—have elapsed since he used to lift me up from the street to the car platform and pull the rope for the mules to resume their journey along the cobblestone track.

He does not know me. Why should he? He has no speaking acquaintance over eight. You lose the right to his brass-buttoned favors the minute you go into the second reader.

That is why he isn't president of the road by this time. By all rights and privileges he should be.

Last week on a hot crowded car he got on at the city line and began to ring up fares as usual. He looked very tired and very trail. I decided my wager was off for the trip—the odds were too much against him. Anyone had a right to lose his temper on such a day.

But I had taken too much for granted.

In the middle of the car a woman with a little boy as paying her fare. She asks for a quarter's worth of tickets and handed him a dollar bill.

The conductor gave her the tickets and then held a handful of silver toward the little boy. "Twenty-five out of adollar, captain," he said. "Can you count the change?" With his help the pleased little fellow picked it out.

The conductor gave it to the mother. He looking quite gravely at the child he remarked in admiration, "You're a real banker, you are, sir, and soon as you start your bank let me know and I'll put in a million dollars."

My wager is off. I owe him an apology. Here it is.

Troop 5 Troop 5 held its meeting Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday on account of the Glee club rehearsal on that night. The meeting opened with the salute to the flag followed by a short marching drill. Inspection was awarded to Patrol 3 as they were adjudged the best appearing patrol in the troop. A few games were played and then instructions were given in the various tests including first aid, signaling and pathfinding. Ronald Hillman from Troop 6 visited us during the evening. He is starting a Bugle Corps and everyone who has a bugle or can get one should attend the rehearsals Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. As he had his bugle with him he played some of the scout calls which were received with much applause. After he had played Call to Quarters one of the boys asked him why he was so disappointed when Mr. Hillman said he did not know it. The meeting closed by repeating the 12 scout laws.

Hike Notes Last Saturday Troop 5 held a very successful picnic at their camp at Glastonbury. By 6 o'clock in the evening we succeeded in selling all the hot dogs and soda and most of the coffee. Everyone who saw the camp were much impressed with its location as there is a wonderful view of Hartford and surrounding sections. There were 21 present from the troop including officers. Patrols 1 and 3 were tied for first place with 6 boys present from each patrol. During the afternoon everyone was busy trying to see how many hot dogs and soda they could put away without getting sick. There is still much doubt as to who was the winner of this unofficial contest. Leonard Bjorkman of Patrol 2 won first place in the water-boiling contest getting the water to boil in record time. Those who had not partaken of the "dogs" got busy on their supper and many odors, tempting and otherwise, were carried away on the gentle breeze. As it got dark early the campfire was started almost immediately after supper. Everyone took part and there were many songs, sung as well as jokes and stories that were told by the boys all at the same time, making it sound as if an army of chattering monkeys had invaded the camp. The most popular song was, "Oh, You're in the Army Now." After singing this 15 to 20 times the boys' vocal cords wore out and after trying a few other numbers, with terrible results, it was given up as a bad job. Although it was still quite early almost everyone decided to go to bed. Much time was spent trying to find a good soft spot on the floor where one could rest in comfort. Almost half the night was spent in this way but no one reported finding such a spot. A short time after the lights had been extinguished someone came in looking for a place to sleep and it was so dark he had to light a match to see where he was going. A few seconds later he had to light another one to see if the first one was lit. It took some time before everyone got settled comfortably but after a while the boys began to doze off to sleep. Silence reigned, but as there was a roof on the cabin no one got wet. The only disturbance during the protesting against the weight it was bearing, caved in with a crash, throwing its occupant to the floor where they decided to remain until morning. Just after daybreak the boys were all out of bed and after a quick meal were ready to start for home. On the way home the Eagle Scout in the Otter Patrol was razzed considerably because he was able to make up a pack correctly. A hike will be held this Saturday and everyone who is planning to go should bring plenty of blankets as the nights are very chilly at this time of the year. As the officers of the troop will be away over the week-end the hike will be in charge of Carl Dahlman who will be assisted by Lawrence Anderson.

HERA'S NARROW ESCAPE Boston, Mass., Sept. 29.—Miss Theron Rasche, flying fraulein, was having the propeller of her plane repaired today following a thrilling descent at Quincy in which she skillfully avoided a crowd of two thousand persons, risking her own life. Her motor stalled two thousand feet up and Miss Rasche was forced to glide to the marshes. She escaped injury.

Frigidaire prevents the unseen mold that imperils health

NOT for a minute would you think of risking the health of yourself and family by serving food on which mold appears. But do you realize that mold is often present from ten to twelve hours before it is visible to the naked eye? The microscope reveals that this is true.

The only protection against this unseen danger is to keep perishable foods in a dry atmosphere and in a refrigerating temperature of less than 50°. Frigidaire electric refrigeration meets both these requirements.

With all its advantages, Frigidaire is low in price. It can now be bought for as small a sum as $180 f. o. b. Dayton. And terms are so convenient that it is easily within your family budget. See a demonstration now.

No Difference of Opinion When Supremacy is so Outstanding

In its repertoire of brilliant abilities, the New Hudson Super-Six asserts its supremacy in vivid performance facts that stand free and clear of opinion or debate. Here is a new power in motordom—totally different in development and expression—totally new in range and efficiency—the smooth and mighty power of the steam engine delivered with silky ease and vivacity. The high-compression motor is eliminated, and ordinary gasoline gives the performance results sought through special and higher-priced fuels. It is receiving the greatest public reception in Hudson history, because in all ways it is the greatest Hudson Super-Six ever built.

'KING OF KINGS' CALLED 'PICTURE OF PICTURES'

There is a reason why Cecil B. De Mille's "King of Kings" has been called "the picture of pictures." Availing himself of all the magnificent resources and technique of the motion picture are acquired in the last thirty years, Mr. De Mille has selected the greatest theme of history and is said to have reproduced it in a manner worthy of all praise.

CARNIVAL TONIGHT AT RAINBOW DANCE

In addition to the usual modern and old fashion dance program at the Rainbow on Thursdays Frank Pinney has planned a Carnival Night for tonight. Special attractions and novelties will break up the usual program. Al Behrend's orchestra will play for the dancing. Pinney's new ideas at the Rainbow are attractive to the crowd larger than those that attended last season. The refreshments are served within the dance hall this year and the dancers do not need to go to the adjacent inn for ice cream and sandwiches. The same large parking area right off the state road is still a feature at the Rainbow.

This test amazed us

On a roof exposed to the mercies of the weather for a year, Devoc Mirrolac Enamel proved its resistance to the effects of water, cold and heat. BUT please don't get the idea that Mirrolac Enamel is merely durable and waterproof. It's the most beautiful enamel we've ever seen—made in 22 lovely, glossy colors. We recommend it especially for outside use on porch furniture, automobiles, bicycles, canoes, toys, etc. And it's just as good inside on walls, woodwork and furniture.

HIGGANUM GRANGERS TO PRESENT PLAY HERE

To Act "A Poor Married Man" At North Methodist Church Tomorrow.

North Methodist Epworth League has invited members of the Higganum Grange to present the three-act comedy, "A Poor Married Man" in the social rooms of the church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The committee in charge of the entertainment includes Mrs. Carl Erickson, Mrs. Sarah Walker, Miss Marion Tyler, Howard Fish and Harold Hanna.

The comedy which occupies a full evening proved highly entertaining when the cast gave their first performance recently in Higganum. There are eight characters, who in the order of their appearance are as follows:

Billie Blake, a college boy, David Lundgren; Rosalind Wilson, a college reporter, Dorothy Viten; Juppeter Jackson, a black trump, Arthur Skinner; Mrs. Iona Ford, some mother-in-law, Mrs. Paul Priest; Zoje, her charming daughter, Mrs. Richard Johnson; Prof. John B. Wise, a poor married man, Leon Burr; Dr. Matthew Graham, a country physician, August Carison; John Graham, a freshman at College, Emma Viten.

The scene of the first and second acts of the play is a small country town in the Adirondack West. In Prof. Wise's pretty little bungalow. The third act, two years later, a charming little home—"after the storm comes the calm."

Momme-made candy will be on sale.

BARGE SUNK
Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 29.—With canal traffic blocked, divers and cranes were at work today attempting to raise the O'Doyne line barge, sunk after colliding with a Standard Oil tanker near Henrietta. The barge carried a cargo of sulphur.

Girl Scout News

The officers association met recently with the president, Miss Jessie Stave. A very interesting and active program has been planned for the girls this year.

Mrs. J. L. Winterbottom, who was to represent the local organization at the National Girl Scout convention in New York, now being held at the Waldorf Astoria, was unable to attend and Mrs. G. H. Wilcox is taking her place.

The Drum and Bugle corps have resumed their weekly practice under the direction of Mr. Richardson and Mr. Von Deck.

Troop 1 held their first meeting Saturday afternoon in the form of a hike.

Troop 2 will meet for the first time Monday night at the Barnard school at 7 o'clock. Marie Jamroga has given up work with this troop to assist with the newly organized troop at the Buckland school. Mrs. Olin Crough will be the new captain and she will have as her attendants Miss Estelle Crough and Miss Nellie Crough.

Troop 6 will meet Monday afternoon at 6 o'clock at the Green school. Miss Esther Lord who is to be married Saturday afternoon has Mary Wilcox in Boston at school. Miss Dorothy Stave will be acting captain this year, with Miss Tibbets as her assistant.

Brownie Pack No. 2 will have its first meeting Friday at Center church. The troop, which is under Mrs. Park's direction is planning a hike.

About 20 girls from Manchester attended the New London Girl Scout camp, Winohela, during the six weeks it was open. They all made a splendid record. Mary Wilcox was made a first class scout, Lois Wilcox and Emily Andrews won the camp letter "W" for being all round good scouts.

Notices of scout activities should be telephoned to Mrs. E. F. Hawley not later than Tuesday of each week. Scout news appears in The Herald Thursdays.

CLEMENCEAU'S BIRTHDAY

Paris, Sept. 29.—"I am too young to express opinions, but I am willing to listen to anything you have to tell me."

M. Georges Clemenceau, France's war-time premier, said this in an interview with a reporter. He expressed the aged statesman's feelings as he entered his eighty-seventh year today.

M. Clemenceau received scores of friends and well-wishers in the home of a friend here where he is staying. He told one interviewer that he planned to return by automobile to his home at Vendee, St. Vincent Sur-Jard next Monday or Tuesday, where he will probably remain several weeks.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

SENSE and NONSENSE

Women are often criticized for devoting so much thought and time to clothes, but personally we wish they'd devote more, all they have in fact, to that subject and not have any left for salads, and we don't have to share their clothes.

"Mother," said little Evelyn, "may I go out and play with the other little children now?" "You may play with the little girls but not with the boys, for they are too rough."

Some folks seem to go to church in the summer only to sleep and in the winter only to cough.

"Married men have better halves." "Unmarried men have better quarters."

There are two kinds of business men—those who wait for prosperity, and those who go after it. The last piano playing contest was won by the man who played "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

What's become of the old-fashioned man who used to think a girl's cheeks were that way because she was healthy.

A phonograph company announces a new record entitled: "The Mississippi Flood." But we understood the flood had broken all records.

It might be worse. Even the fancy writers never say the hero and heroine sat down to "discuss" a hot dog.

Ditch Contractor (to applicant): "Do you think you are fit for really hard labor?" Hard Case: "Well, sor, some of the best judges have thought so."

Our Mary Mary, Mary, quite contrary, Why are you frowning so? "Dad painted the swing. The mean old thing. When he knows it's the night for my beau."

Wife—What did the boss say when you told him you sat up all night with the baby? Hubby—The darn fool asked me what her name was.

Beneath the sod lies Willie Brown. He tried to reverse a merry-go-around.

The Turks have a long waiting list. They are months behind with the nations wanting to fight them.

Everybody is a fool some of the time, but he is a double fool who is a fool all the time.

Staying up all night may make you as wise as an owl, but owls have no sense during the daytime.

Servant—"The doctor's here, sir." Absent-minded man—"I can't see him. Tell him I'm sick."

Sad, but true. Many a beautiful photograph loses its charm when you are introduced to the original.

JACK LOCKWILL THE LION TAMER

by Gilbert Patten

"Lay-dees and gan-teel-men!" bellowed the ringmaster from the narrow platform between the doors of the cages. "You are about to witness a daring and astounding deed. Before your very eyes, the youngest lion tamer in the world will enter the cage of King Leo, the Man-killing Mon-ark of the Jungle! Jack Lockwill, the young lion tamer!" Jack ran up the steps.

Not far away, Camille, now wearing a long cloak over her riding trappings, was watching anxiously. She pressed her hands to her bosom to still her wildly beating heart.

As the ringmaster was about to admit Jack to Leo's cage, a clown, who looked like Lopard, ran up to the platform and pretended he wanted to go into the other cage.

"Get out of this, you fool!" cried the ringmaster. But the clown, chattering and laughing, yanked the door open. In an instant he had seized Jack with a powerful hand, flung him into the cage with Snarleyow, and slammed the door shut. In an instant the boy had recognized the clown as Red Saunders, made up to resemble Lopard. Behind the boy, a padlock clicked on the door.

BETHOVEN SINGERS TO MAKE AN EARLY START

Will Leave Here at 5 a. m. Tomorrow on Tour Taking in Three States.

Approximately 30 members of the Beethoven Glee club will leave tomorrow morning at 5 o'clock for East Orange, N. J., where they will give a concert at Upsala college. The trip will be made by bus and will be a part of the tour which the club is to make through New Jersey, New York and Connecticut.

It is planned to arrive at the college in time for the chapel exercises and if the time can be made the club will sing several numbers in the chapel. In the evening a concert will be given in the Lutheran church at East Orange. On Saturday the club will go to New York where a sightseeing trip has been arranged. Headquarters will be in the Hotel Belmont, as previously arranged. On Sunday morning the club will leave to complete its itinerary through Connecticut.

The remainder of the members of the club will meet where they will be in Meriden on Sunday morning and will finish the trip. Miss Eleanor Willard, soloist of the South Methodist church choir will accompany the club on its trip. Miss Eva Johnson is to be the accompanist. All concerts will be under the direction of Helge Pearson.

JOHNSON-PELLETIER

Miss Emily Pelletier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pelletier of Paris, France, and Ernest Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Johnson, of 122 Maple street, were married yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bridegroom's parents by Rev. J. A. Anderson of the Swedish Congregational church. The young couple were attended by Miss Violet Pelletier, sister of the bride as bridesmaid and Edwin Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, as best man.

The bride wore tan georgette with hat to match and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's dress was of dark blue georgette with hat to match. Her arm bouquet was of pink roses. Following a reception for the relatives and close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a wedding trip to Philadelphia, New Jersey and Niagara Falls. On their return they will occupy their newly furnished home at 124 Maple street.

The bride has been a stenographer at Cheney Brothers' main office for some time and the bridegroom is employed also by that firm.

HONOR FORELADY

Miss Nellie Sheridan, formerly forelady of the finishing department of the Glastonbury Knitting Company at Manchester Green, was honored by a surprise party at her home, 3 Hollister street last evening, by her associates. A pleasant evening was spent and a dainty lunch was served. Her friends presented Miss Sheridan with a silk umbrella and a basket of beautiful roses.

STRIKES MATCH ON GAS SOAKED SUIT, BURNED

Fellow Worker Suffers Scorched Hands in Rushing to Aid Accident Victim.

Jerome Cook of 34 Grove street and Hugh Hewitt of 179 East Middle Turnpike were treated for burns at the Memorial hospital following a peculiar occurrence at Campbell's filling station on Main street yesterday.

Hewitt, who was wearing oil-soaked overalls, was about to light a cigarette by drawing a match across the seat of them. The match ignited the overalls and in a second or to they were blazing. Cook went to Hewitt's assistance and attempted to put out the blaze.

He had his hands more or less severely burned in the process and when the blaze was finally extinguished both men were taken to the hospital.

At the hospital Cook's hands were dressed and he was allowed to leave. Hewitt, whose burns are more severe, may be in the hospital until some time this evening.
