WILLIS BEACH SURRENDERS TO STATE POLICE

Found Talking to His Lawyer At Mays Landing, N. J.; Is Locked Up In County Jail.

BULLETIN
Mays Landing, N. J., Oct. 6.—A few hours after surrendering to the authorities, Willis Beach, South Vineland poultry farmer, was identified by three men today, according to the police, as the man they saw driving a blue coupe out of the Great Swamp lane on the morning of September 15, just before William Lillendahl was found murdered there.

Mays Landing, N. J., Oct. 6.—Willis Beach, Vineland poultry dealer, sought on a warrant charging him with aiding and abetting in the murder of Dr. William Lillendahl near here, three weeks ago, today surrendered to Captain William Carter of the state police here and was locked up in the Atlantic county jail.

Prosecutor Louis I. Repetto said today he was not certain whether Beach would be called to testify before the Grand Jury, which will meet this afternoon to consider evidence in the case.

The prosecutor said he was equally uncertain whether Mrs. Margaret Lillendahl, widow of the slain man, would be called to testify today, although she has been subpoenaed.

Police Meet Beach
Captain Carter and two other members of the state police met Beach, talking with his attorney, Edison Hedges, towards Mays Landing on the Weymouth road.

After a brief conference between Carter and Hedges, Beach was formally arrested on the warrant and taken to the county jail.

Beach had been missing for more than a week. State troopers and county detectives scoured the countryside for the elusive poultry dealer on a warrant issued soon after his disappearance from his Vineland home.

The disappearance on the day that three men from Morrisville, Pa., were to have faced him to say whether he was the man they saw driving a blue coupe out of Great Meadow land near Hammonton, soon after Dr. Lillendahl was shot.

NEW TELEPHONE BUILDING WILL START IN SPRING

May Be Another Year Before New Exchange Is Completed; Will Be Brick and Limestone.

Plans for the new home of the local branch of the Southern New England Telephone company to be erected near the present site at the Center, are now being considered by officials of the company in New Haven, and it was stated today by Exchange Manager L. C. Clifford that in all probability work on the new structure will be started in the early spring.

Mr. Clifford said that the sketches for the building had not progressed to that point where a detailed description of the building can be given, but he has been advised that it will be of a large and modern plant comparable with any central office in any city of like size in the state. The new building will be of brick limestone trim and will be generally in architectural harmony with its surroundings.

HOLL PURCHASES MCKEE ST. TRACT

Cheney Brothers Sanction Deal This Morning—To Be Cut Into Plots.

A thirty acre plot, owned by Cheney Brothers including the McKee street baseball stadium was sold to Edward J. Holl, Manchester real estate dealer this morning. Although negotiations have been under way for some time, it was not until this morning that Cheney Brothers definitely decided to accept Mr. Holl's offer. Papers were signed this afternoon.

The McKee street baseball field was erected by Cheney Brothers in 1923. It contains 650 feet square and has been used exclusively for sporting purposes. It is no secret that Cheney Brothers have lost considerable money on the proposition since the disbanding of the Manchester baseball club, the field has been practically idle except for High school sports. Recently, the Hartford Soccer club of the American League rented the field for its home games.

The change of ownership of the stadium means its passing as a sporting arena as Mr. Holl plans to develop the tract which will make about 120 regular sized building lots. However, there is a strong possibility that Mr. Holl will not develop the plot immediately and in such event, the field may still be used for sporting purposes.

The plot which Mr. Holl has purchased is bounded by McKee street, Hartford Road, Campfield street and on the north by house lots facing on Summer street. It is the west section of the large area which was developed by Cheney Brothers for tenements during the war.

YEGGS IN GUN DUEL WITH DEDHAM POLICE

Blow Safes and Then Escape Into Swamps—Posses After Them Today.

Dedham, Mass., Oct. 6.—Two Yeggs, believed by police to be the same pair who murdered Patrolman Alfred Hollis of Quincy, Tuesday morning, fought a running pistol duel today with Patrolman Archibald Campbell as he surprised them while they were breaking open the safe in the office of the Dedham Lumber Company.

Fleeing amid a rain of bullets, down the tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, the yeggs made for the four hundred acres of marshland in East Dedham.

Posses of police and citizens went over the swampy ground in an effort to discover the safe crackers, but they got away.

A short time before the lumber company safe was opened the Fisher-Churchill Coal Company's office was entered. Yesterday a Standard Oil Company office safe in the adjoining city of Norwood was opened by the same gang, police believe, as descriptions in each burglary tally.

Battle Is Imminent At Vera Cruz, Report

Laredo, Texas, Oct. 6.—Decisive movements on the part of the Mexican government and the rebel forces which it is attempting to stamp out by arrest of all concerned and execution of the leaders were expected today, according to reports from Mexico City.

Some reports stated that a decisive battle was imminent near Vera Cruz where the followers of General Arnulfo Gomez, named as one of the leading revolutionists, are reported strong. Rebel forces and loyal troops dispatched to disperse them are reported nearing each other.

Important Move
Another important move awaited is some official statement concerning the fate of General Gomez. Certain apparently official advice said Gomez had been captured near Fort Perote, on his way to Vera Cruz, and had been executed. These reports had not been officially confirmed today.

Conflicting reports reaching here from Vera Cruz, however, had Gen-

ALBANIAN BISHOP TO BE EXECUTED

Rev. Dr. Noli is Harvard Graduate and Lived Here 15 Years.

London, Oct. 6.—An Albanian court martial has imposed the death sentence upon Bishop Fan Stylilian Noli, former premier of Albania, and eight other Albanians because of their activities in circulating revolutionary propaganda, according to a Central News dispatch from Vienna this afternoon, quoting advices received from Tirana.

Dr. Noli, who was premier of Albania in 1924, was one of the most spectacular figures in the turbulent Albanian politics since the Little Balkan state was declared a republic. He is a graduate of Harvard and founded the Independent Albanian Orthodox church in Boston in 1908.

Dr. Noli spent about fifteen years in the United States. After the war he headed the Albanian movement which was set up in opposition to Premier Zogu. During his tenure of office Dr. Noli represented Albania at the League of Nations meetings and acquired wide publicity through his ironical speeches. His revolutionary activities compelled him to leave Albania, taking refuge in Continental Europe.

PILOT'S REPORT

Dessau, Germany, Oct. 6.—The Junkers plane which hopped off at Norderny on a trans-Atlantic flight, and which was forced down forty miles from Lisbon, was compelled to land by thick fog, but the machine was not damaged and the occupants were not injured, said a dispatch to the Junkers Works today from Fritz Loose, the pilot.

The German Junkers trans-Atlantic plane D-1230 which was forced down yesterday at Santa Cruz beach, forty miles northwest of Lisbon, was not damaged, and the occupants were not injured, according to information received here this afternoon.

The plane was compelled to land by fog which made navigation difficult. One of the passengers is a woman—Lilly Dillenz—an Austrian actress.

The Portuguese destroyer Guadana was ordered to Santa Cruz beach to aid the plane.

A report had been received earlier in the day that the plane was missing somewhere off Cape Roca and that three Portuguese warships were searching for it.

BOATLUGGER KING MURDERS HIS WIFE

She Was on Way to Court to Testify When He Shoots Her.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 6.—Climaxing several years of domestic strife and litigation with his wife, Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus, 38, George Remus, who gained nationwide notoriety as "King of the Bootleggers," pulled her from a taxi cab in Eden Park here today, shot and fatally wounded her, then surrendered to police. Mrs. Remus died at 10:45 a. m.

Mrs. Remus, shot once with a revolver through the abdomen, was rushed to a hospital, where an emergency operation was performed in a vain effort to save her life.

Dramatic Climax
The dramatic climax to the Remus domestic warfare came as Mrs. Remus was enroute to Domestic Relations Court, where a hearing of her divorce petition against the former bootlegger who served terms in the Atlanta federal penitentiary and later in the county jail at Troy, Ohio, for violation of the prohibition law was scheduled this morning.

Filled Divorce Suit
Mrs. Remus filed the divorce suit nearly a year ago, soon after Remus was released from federal prison.

Accompanied by her daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Remus had left her apartment hotel in a taxi cab, enroute to the court-room. As they drove through the park, Remus, in his own machine, driven by his chauffeur, overhauled the cab. The driver, after being warned by Mrs. Remus, who recognized her husband's machine in pursuit, fled from the cab just as the Remus machine pulled alongside.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 6.—After having been mysteriously missing from her home for ten days, Mrs. Anne Raney Forbush, wife of the Rev. Bascom B. Forbush, of Canandaigua, was found unconscious early today in the bushes alongside the Cherry Valley turnpike near Esperance, thirty miles from Albany.

Mrs. Forbush, revived at a nearby farmhouse, was unable to explain why she left home or where she had been for the past ten days.

Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 6.—With one shot of five to four calibre snuff into its bow, but still quite seaworthy, the low, rakish craft of the Pittsburgh Pirates sailed valiantly into battle with the New York Yankees this afternoon, bent upon wreaking vengeance.

Commander Donie Bush was on deck, breathing defiance and asserting in stentorian tones that no quarter would be asked or granted.

All Pirate guns were trained, cutlasses drawn and boarding parties ready. Vic Aldridge was in the turret prepared to man the main battery. The Waner brothers, most ferocious of Pirates, were primed for hand-to-hand action. Wright, Traynor and Harris emerged from the hold with fire in their eyes. "Never mind yesterday—this is another day," was the collective thought of the Pirates. They were in a nasty mood, and showed it.

The Pirates' first inning was a quiet one. The Yankees' first inning was a quiet one. The Pirates' first inning was a quiet one. The Yankees' first inning was a quiet one.

PAPER USING PLANES TO DELIVER EXTRAS

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 6.—Airplanes race with motorcycles over Worcester county today in a pioneer experiment of delivery of newspaper extras giving an account of the World Series from the wires of the International News Service.

The Worcester Evening Gazette rushing to the country towns by motorcycle as in the past, this season is trying out airplanes as an auxiliary.

Yesterday a plane bound to Southbridge and Webster developed engine trouble and did not reach its objective before the cycles.

"We are pioneering with the airplane as a circulation agency," said E. D. Dolhenty, circulation manager of the Gazette.

WORLD SERIES NOTES

Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 6.—Many fans missed seeing today's game because they were too smart. Believing there was no chance of getting inside the park unless they stood in line all night, the wise acres decided to stay at home and avoid the crush. As a result the bleachers were only half filled at 11:30 o'clock.

The skies of the smoky city were doubly dark, doubtless due to the pall of gloom which has enveloped the town following New York's victory yesterday. Even Nick Altrock, the prince of comedians, and his red-coated band failed to revive the crowd's drooping spirits.

The weather was balmy, however. Many fans in the bleachers shed their coats, providing a midsummer background for the October classic.

There were at least 1,000 coughs to a carload among the bleachers. They were so hoarse from yesterday's rooting that they didn't do much yelling during batting practice.

Ruth missed a terrific swing in practice. He swung so hard that an occupant of a nearby field box shivered in the breeze and quickly donned his topcoat.

"Squint" is the Pittsburgh player's private nickname for Manager Bush. When Donie posed with the team for a photographer, one of the Pirates yelled, "Squint, Squint, Squint."

Bush wheeled quickly, glowering at his men as he endeavored to spot the offender. All of the players looked as innocent as any schoolboy after beaming the teacher with a wad of paper.

The Pittsburgh dugout resembled a college football bench with former managers and players handing Donie Bush free advice like an old grand giving orders to the coach. Bill McKenzie, who blew up as the Pittsburgh pilot last season because he had too many bosses, was in there telling Bush how to win the series.

Earl Smith, the usually aggressive and talkative catcher, showed no more animation than an oyster today. Being fined $500 for "kayoting" Dave Bancroft, and being acclaimed as the official "goat" of yesterday's game, has crabbed Smith's style fearfully.

WALES LAUDS YANKS FOR PART IN CONFLICT

"We Can Never Forget How You Helped Us in Darkest Days," He Says.

London, Oct. 6.—"We can never forget you are part of the American troops who came to help us in the darkest days Europe has ever known," declared the Prince of Wales today in a speech formally welcoming 280 present and past state commanders of the American Legion to London.

The prince of Wales presided at a luncheon for the Americans at the Cecil Hotel, given by the British Legion. In paying tribute to the Americans the Prince added:

"You are as welcome now as you were ten years ago. We want to see that the lines of comradeship between American and British fighting men never become merely sentimental, but become stronger bonds in the interest of world peace."

CANCER CURE PRIZE BRINGS 1,500 LETTERS

But Majority of Suggestions Are of No Value, Says Doctor in Charge.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 6.—Despite the efforts of fiscal science to discover the prevention and cure of cancer, more than 1,500 ways to eradicate the dread disease have been proposed during the past six months by contestants for the two prizes of $50,000 offered for the prevention and cure of that disease by William Lawrence A. Saunders, of New York, according to a report presented to the American College of Surgeons today by Dr. George A. Soper, managing director of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

For the most part, the suggestions were valueless, Dr. Soper said, many based upon the writers' desire to separate Saunders from his money, and were almost exclusively from laymen.

The applications for prizes include Indian remedies, secret preparations passed down from one generation to another, treasured recipes resurrected from old cook books, cures revealed in dreams, and mystic rites which called for the favorable conjunction of the moon and stars.

RAISING OF THE DUTY WILL COMPLICATE MATTERS.

Paris, Oct. 6.—Officials of the ministry of commerce expressed belief today that the tariff negotiations between France and the United States would be complicated by the action of Washington in raising the duty on certain French goods.

One high official said he could not credit the news and believed that a mistake had been made in dispatches from Washington.

"It is difficult to imagine the United States customs authorities taking such a measure at this time," the official was quoted as saying.

POLAND'S LOAN

Warsaw, Oct. 6.—Despite a disagreement over terms, negotiations between Poland and the American bankers for a $70,000,000 loan are continuing, it was announced here today.

Bankers are demanding that the bonds covering the loan be issued at a price of 90. Poland insists that the price be 92. The bankers insist that the loan be ratified by Parliament, while President Pilsudski is opposing submission of the loan to Parliament.

FINGERPRINTS IDENTIFY SUSPECTED COP KILLER.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 6.—Over the long distance telephone from Woonsocket, R. I., today, Roscoe C. Hill, state fingerprint expert, identified fingerprint markings of a man picked up in that city as those of James J. Madden with a court and police record in this city. Police Chief Cole of Woonsocket described the markings by telephone.

The man under arrest in Woonsocket was said by police to say he knew of the killing of Patrolman Alfred Hollis of Quincy. Woonsocket and Quincy police were in telephonic communication.

The Woonsocket suspect was arrested following a conversation with a taxi driver. Discussions holdups and slayings, the man asked.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 6.—The Guilford-Chester Water Company brought its request for authority to increase rates before the Public Utilities Commission at a hearing today. About seventy persons from the six towns affected by the proposed increase were on hand, many to oppose the raise.

PARTY ARRESTED

Middletown, Conn., Oct. 6.—Nine men and five women gave bonds of five hundred dollars each after pleading not guilty in City Court today of liquor law violations. Twenty state and local police arrested the group during the night and confiscated wine, beer, cider and alcohol.

Audrey Thinks--Which Is Odd Note In Hollywood

By DAN THOMAS
Hollywood, Calif.—The Warner Brothers now have two "pets"—the vitaphone and Audrey Ferris. This story regards Audrey.

Although she has tried to act grown up since her entrance into the film colony a few months ago, Audrey still is just a beautiful child. Jack Warner predicts a great future for the girl and she seems to be fulfilling his prophecy.

When writing about Audrey, it is a great temptation to treat her much like Baby Peggy would be handled. True, she is a grown girl but her innocent mannerism fairly shouts of an extremely short career before the gridding cameras.

Why, Jackie Coogan acts much older than this auburn haired actress.

Enters Via Stage Door
Miss Ferris crashed into pictures through the same gate that was used by dozens of girls before her—the stage. She had been dancing for only a few weeks in a Los Angeles theater when she was discovered by Jack White, comedy producer. White signed her for feminine leads in several of his films.

Then came the chance with Warner Brothers as George Jessel's leading lady in "Sailor Izzy Murphy." She did things up so beautifully in that production that she landed a contract which eventually will land her as one of Warner's stars.

Audrey has two distinctions unusual in this hamlet. She still uses her own name and she thinks, "Just Imagine! Think! What is your favorite amusement?" I asked her during lunch the other day.

"Thinking" was the girl's startling reply. "I just like to sit and think—oh, about everything, my present work at the studio, what the future holds for me, current events and what my friends are doing."

"My principal interest now is my career. And besides, I don't like boys my own age. They seem to be so empty headed and useless in this world. The boys I know at school never did anything but play around. Every time I see them I wonder if they ever expect to do anything or if they are going to let their parents support them all their lives. I like to be with people who know something and from whom you can learn things."

FILM DIRECTOR FALLS TO DEATH AT PARTY

Others Do Not Know of Tragedy Until Notified by the Police.

New York, Oct. 6.—A gay party in the apartment of Miss Helen Greene, motion picture actress, at the exclusive Park Central hotel, came to a tragic climax early today when Paul Fairfax Fuller, 29, well-known motion picture director, fell to his death on the roof of a grandma nine floors below. Police believe that Fuller toppled out the window by accident.

His absence was unnoticed in the Greene apartment for an hour and a half.

Party Continues
While detectives below sought to solve the mystery of his identity and determine from whence he had fallen, Fuller's friends continued their celebration upstairs. They had met to congratulate Fuller upon his success in directing a new picture.

The party, consisting of motion picture actresses and men in the motion picture industry, learned of the tragedy only when police knocked on the door to make an inquiry.

Miss Greene became hysterical. She could give no explanation for the accident, except that the director might have gone to a window for air and lost his balance.

and killed. Beach owns a blue coupe.

30 Persons Subpoenaed
More than thirty persons have been subpoenaed to appear as witnesses before the Atlantic county Grand Jury when it meets here today.

The witnesses include the three men who alleged they saw a man resembling Beach drive hurriedly away from the vicinity where Dr. Lillendahl was found shot three times through the neck.

Other witnesses will be Mrs. Caroline Tamberlain, wife of the South Vineland postmaster, who identified Beach as the sender of the "Peggy Anderson" letters which were sent to Mrs. Lillendahl, and John Rosen, an automobile dealer who is alleged to have quoted Beach as saying when pressed for payment on his car, that he expected to have "plenty of money in a few days" and that he needed the automobile "for an important matter."

Another development came when it was learned Americans on this side of the border were believed to have been involved in the revolt. Their names, it was reported, will be laid before the American government. It was also said that arms and munitions and large amounts of money had been sent from the United States for the revolt. The funds were said to have been transported across the border by airplane.

ASSESSORS NAME SADLACK CLERK Meet Today — Ex-Service Men Must Apply For Exemption—Notes.

(Special to The Herald)

Rockville, October 8.—The board of assessors of the town of Vernon met this morning. But one of the old members remains on the board, one retiring and the other having died.

The man who remains is serving his second year and this was taken into consideration this morning when the two Republican members, W. O. Sanford and James Elliott, selected the older member, William V. Sadlack, as the clerk of the board.

Mr. Elliott, who is serving an unexpired term, was elected as chairman of the board. The whole board spent this morning in going over the grand list and the abstract and afterwards announced that they will start receiving lists tomorrow and that during the month of October they will be in session at the town clerk's office in the Memorial Hall building on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a. m. to noon and from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 5 o'clock. In the evenings the sessions will be held from 7 o'clock until 9 o'clock.

An Important Change In their notice of meetings they have also stated that this is the year that it will be necessary for those who have not already done so for all ex-service men to record some evidence with the town clerk of their being ex-service men. If they have already done so it will not be necessary again, but in asking for exemption they will be required to show some record from the town clerk that such a record has been claimed and proved correct, as it will not be allowed, under the new law, for the board of relief to exempt.

School Board Organized The regular meeting of the Vernon Town School committee was held in the office of the Superintendent of Schools last evening at seven o'clock. All members were present including the new member, Dr. John Elshert. The chairman of last year, S. C. Cummins, called the meeting to order and called for motions on reorganization. The following officers were chosen by acclamation: Sherwood C. Cummings, chairman; John G. Talcott, secretary; Francis S. Nettleton, treasurer. On motion of Mr. Hensig that the chairman appoint the committees, the following were appointed on the sub-committee on teachers, text-books and supplies, Mrs. Garvan, Miss Butler and Messrs. Talcott and Hensig. The sub-committee on buildings, janitors and janitors' supplies was made up of Messrs. Bradley, Nettleton, Bissell and Dr. Flaherty.

The reorganization completed, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The reports of the school nurse and trustee officer were read and ordered filed. Mrs. Garvan reported for the teachers' committee that Miss Della Dufee was recovering slowly but steadily, and gave a short account of a recent visit to the outside schools. Mr. Bradley reported for the building's committee briefly on the summer repairs.

In his report Superintendent Clough told of the substitute work being done this month. Mrs. Cady and Mrs. Quinn had substituted for Miss Holland who is ill, and Mrs. Cady and Mrs. Lovrin had substituted for Miss Della Dufee. The evening school has started with 124 pupils enrolled. It is necessary for us to return to pupils there the registration fees collected because of the recent decision of the State Board of Education to withhold state aid from schools charging less. It was recommended that classes not maintaining a minimum enrollment be discontinued as showing too little interest in such classes to make them worth while to continue.

Mr. Clough also brought up the matter of providing more seating accommodation for those attending dances and games in the gymnasium and this was left with the buildings' committee to investigate. He said that last Friday was observed as a day on which teachers were to visit other schools to get new ideas for their work and that with the exception of the annual state convention day in October, there would be no other breaks in school work until the Thanksgiving recess. On recommendation of the Superintendent, it was voted to have the sheet metal work installed in the Sykes school instead of the Old High school building as originally planned, as the instructor was confident that the noise from this work would not be such as to disturb the school materially. The meeting adjourned about half past eight.

Business Changes October 1 saw several business changes and new owners entering Rockville to take over different lines of business, leases being signed and changes in location of stores made. The store at the corner of Union and Ward street, long occupied as a confectionery store, has been leased by the A. & P., and they were opened for business today. Patrick Cratty has moved to the second floor of the Prescott building, giving the ground floor store that he had and this has been leased by the Economy Grocery Company, who started this morning to make changes in the front of the building to allow for a square front with a door opening in the center.

of the store rather than on the north side, as now is the case. Louis E. Le Wian, who for over twenty years conducted a jewelry business in Hartford has his store on Market street ready to open, but was not at the store today because of the holiday.

Henry Benheimer is in his new home on the east side of Market street and when he moved out, Charles Trapp moved into the store that he vacated and all were doing business today.

George Bokis, who recently purchased the Goode Shoppe on Market street has installed new fixtures and remodeled the store and will continue to conduct it as well as his places at Sandy Beach and Crystal Lake.

TWO FAMILY HOUSE IN PERIL BY FIRE

Fifteen Occupants Saved From Eviction By Quick Discovery and Fire Dept.

For a time early last night, fire threatened to destroy a Purnell Place double house in which lived thirteen children and their parents, but the speedy arrival of the fire apparatus prevented any serious damage. The fire started in a wood-box between the stove and the wall home at 11 of Purnell Place, better known as Keeney Court. The Genoff's were visiting friends on Charter Oak street when the alarm was turned in about 7 o'clock. Firemen think that perhaps a cigarette was thrown into the wood box.

Several young men in the vicinity saw smoke coming out through the crevices of the windows and broke into the house. Johnny Adams ran to the nearest fire alarm box, took off his shoe and with it broke the glass and turned in an alarm. Mr. Habern and William Mastrotello broke in the kitchen door with a sledge hammer. Jack Connelly and another youth smashed a window and entered the kitchen which by this time was full of smoke.

The fire was eating its way into the partition between the kitchen and the front room directly behind the stove. The firemen soon extinguished the flames with chemicals. The damage to the house, which is owned by E. J. Holl, will be small.

At about the time the fire started, seven members of the family of Pasquale Anillo were eating supper. Mrs. Anillo had just sent two of the younger children upstairs to bed when one of them cried: "Mamma, Mamma, it's all smoky up here!" All of the children were taken to a neighbor's house until the danger was past.

The Genoff family of seven did not learn of the fire until some time later. When he was told of it, Mr. Genoff started on a run from Charter Oak street toward his home, but collapsed at Eldridge street. He recovered later from the attack.

NEW 'PHONE BUILDING TO START NEXT SPRING

Company purchased land on East Center street about two blocks from the present office, on which to erect a new central office building. The approaching need for space to allow further extension of its central office facilities was apparent to the company officials because of the rapidly with which the number of telephones is growing here.

Break Ground in Spring Mr. Clifford stated that the schedule calls for breaking ground early in the spring. The house now on the East Center street site will be removed and when the construction is started it will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. It is expected that in the fall of 1928 the building will be so far advanced that it will be possible to begin the installation of equipment. This is necessarily a slow task because of the intricacy of the work and it will take some months to provide the new and added facilities which will meet the needs of the local exchange for several years to come.

The new office equipment probably will be put into service early in 1929 and while that date may appear some time ahead, the fact of the matter is that for the most part the apparatus has all been ordered and will be delivered just as soon as it is possible to begin the work of installation.

Appropriateness That the telephone building will be a distinct addition to the business blocks of the community, there is no reason to doubt for the company always cares for that detail when it builds in any city or town. But the announcement that the building soon will be started has greater significance than the mere fact that Manchester is to have a new telephone plant and one that will be modern in every respect. The need for a new building of this kind reflects the growth of the community as telephone development is a good barometer of the business and social trends in any community.

Back in 1883 there were 45 telephones in the Manchester Exchange. That hardly seems possible, but it is the fact and Manchester did not have 1,000 telephones until 1912. Since that year, however, the business growth of the community, the increase in its population and the more common acceptance of the telephone as a business asset and social necessity has resulted in yearly substantial gains in the number in service here.

In the three years following 1912 there was a gain of about 500 telephones here and the 2000 mark was reached in 1918. There were more than 3,000 in service in 1922 and the fourth thousand in this exchange was added early in 1925. The total is now well on the way to the 5,000 mark showing that citizens of this growing exchange are demanding more telephones and more service and the company plans a modern plant to provide the high standard of service which it strives to maintain throughout its territory.

RECEIVER APPOINTED New Haven, Conn., Oct. 6.—William S. Mason, of Bridgeport, has been appointed receiver for the Consumers Baking Company, of Bridgeport, by Judge Edwin S. Thomas, of the United States District Court, and has qualified in bond of $10,000. The receivership action was brought by Artemas G. Ganahl, of Springfield, Mass., a holder of twenty shares of stock worth $500, who contended that the company, which does a business of $230,000 a year, is in danger of being attached and sued, and that its assets may be wasted. The receiver is authorized to conduct the business.

GIBSON-FREDERICKS

Miss Pearl Fredericks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fredericks of Campfield avenue of Hartford, was married to George Joseph Gibson of 140 Center street of this town last night at 7 o'clock at the home of her parents by Rev. J. N. Lackey, pastor of the Baptist church of Hartford. The ceremony was beautifully decorated with garden flowers, palms, ferns and autumn foliage.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father was attired in light blue chiffon with silver trimmings and she carried an arm bouquet of lilacs-of-the-valley and sweetheart roses. The bride was attended by Miss Dorothy Kingston of Burnside as bridesmaid and she wore pink georgette and carried lavender asters.

The groom's attendant was his brother, Norman S. Gibson, as best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held, attended by the two families. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson were the recipients of 150 wedding gifts which included, silver, cut glass, linen and money.

The bridesmaid received a white gold bracelet with pink sapphires from the bride, and the best man received a silk necktie with handkerchiefs to match, from the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson left last night on the midnight train for Niagara Falls. After their many trips they will be home to their many friends at 232 Campfield avenue, Hartford.

OPEN FORUM

MORR TOWN PLANNING

Editor The Herald: Yes, town planning was turned down at the annual town meeting because the Board of Selectmen were opposed to it.

We have not forgotten however, that only a few years ago the Board asked the property owners on West Center street to relinquish their claims on certain lands which they had bought in good faith. The writer gave a parcel of land, 750 feet, gratis, while others gave more or less.

The land was given in order to re-establish the street lines and the Board of Selectmen admitted that no one knew exactly where the street lines were, showing that we have no system and no order, so far as town plan is concerned. The Chamber of Commerce wanted to establish a system but the Board of Selectmen could not see the benefits (or refused to see the benefits) from a town plan. If the Board calls upon property owners again to give land to widen and straighten streets, it may be as well to remind the members of the Board of Selectmen, that consistency is a jewel which they have thrown to the swine, when they opposed town planning.

Without a town plan, Manchester will be a moorland labyrinth and the map of the future town will resemble a spider web instead of a well planned town. Eventually, we will have town planning, but it is a pity that we will permit the laying out of more streets before we will have a system and a plan that will benefit the taxpayers in general, instead of only an individual developer of land here and there.

Yours truly, MATHIAS SPIESS. Thursday, October 6, 1927.

ASSESSORS URGE

EARLY LISTINGS Issue Appeal to Taxpayers To Make Prompt Returns; Evening Sessions.

The board of assessors, which begins its sessions on Monday of next week, issued an appeal today to property owners for the quick filing of property lists. The time allowed for the filing of these lists ends on November 1 and after that date 10 per cent additional will be added to the property.

Their way last year and this year in order to help the taxpayer get their lists filed in time. The hours of the board include evening sessions, which are not the general rule in other times. Service Men's Exemptions A member of the board said today in explanation of a new act of the legislature that ex-service men who wish to claim the $1,000 exemption on their property lists must have filed proof of their claim to exemption before the first day of October.

Another new law which is being brought to the attention of the public has to do with the power of attorney and agent in swearing to lists of other property owners. Formerly any person could file the lists of any other property owner, but the new law provides that attorneys or agents must first swear that they are the authorized agents of property owners before they are allowed to file the list under oath. Money on deposit and cash on hand are now exempted all together from taxation. Formerly taxpayers were asked to file their money at interest, cash on hand and money on deposit in their lists but very few of them did it. Only two of those who filed lists last year mentioned money on deposit and on hand.

SAYS HE LOST 23 POUNDS IN ONE FOOTBALL GAME

Jerry Fay of this town, who plays with the Pottsville, Penn., professional football team in the National League, writes home that he lost 23 pounds in a game with the Atlantic City Roses in Pottsville on Sunday last.

Jerry had been ill with erysipelas shortly before he left Manchester to join his team and while at Pottsville had been careful in training so that he would not lose too much weight at once. The Atlantic City game defeated his purpose.

Local hunters are preparing for the opening of the season on game birds and gray squirrels which opens on Saturday. Many licenses have been issued by Town Clerk Samuel Turkington at the Municipal building and through Barrett and Robbins and the F. T. Blish Hardware company.

Season for woodcock, partridge, ruffed grouse and male pheasants opens on October 8. The close season on the latter birds last from November 24 to the October date. Quail may not be legally shot until October 8, 1929 nor Hungarian pheasants until 1920. Hen pheasants cannot be killed. Gray squirrel may be shot after October 7 and the limit of a hunter's bag has been set at five each season. Squirrels may not be hunted in the limits of any city or borough unless they are damaging property.

The season for wild hares and rabbits opens on October 31 with a limit of three animals a day and not more than 30 in any year. This law, however, does not apply to European hares, Belgian hares or jackrabbits. Wild hares and rabbits may not be hunted with a ferret whilst here is snow on the ground in sufficient quantity so that the animals may be tracked to their holes.

FRADIN'S Fall Opening Friday and Saturday, Oct. 7-8. Dress Coats, Fur, Smart Frocks, Woolen Dresses, Sport Coats, Accessories, Junior and Children's Apparel. THE dawn of a new season—and every woman is asking, "What shall I wear?" As she turns from the flippant informality that is summer's to the more varied and defined requirements that belong to fall and winter, she will find her question fashionably answered in our display of the mode for fall and winter, 1927. A new note is struck in the fashions for this season—there's a decided trend toward formality and a freedom of motion about the new modes that indicates a very interesting attempt to break away from the tailored regime that has held sway for so many seasons. "EDUCATION"

George B. Cortelyou, member of the cabinets of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt and now closely identified with public service corporation work, makes the announcement that encroachment of government on private business initiative is to be combated by a nation-wide "public education" campaign waged by the joint committee of national utilities associations representing seventeen and a half billions of invested capital and private wealth practically equal to the national debt.

"Despite the fact that the country as a whole has endorsed the policy of private ownership," says Mr. Cortelyou, "ardent advocates of contrary policies appear with specious plans that would involve the government in vast expenditures, whereas every practical feature of their plans, if any, could be secured at infinitely less expense by development of existing private agencies."

"We believe that an informed public is a just public. We intend therefore to give the public the truth about the utilities, their aims, their hopes, their difficulties, their accomplishments. We shall try, among other things, to demonstrate that the entry of government, whether national, state or local, into this field, is constitutionally unsafe, politically unwise, economically unsound and competitively unfair."

Mr. Cortelyou and his associates have taken upon themselves a rather large order. It is to be hoped that they will not gungle the job they are undertaking, but if they don't they will be the first group defending private ownership of public utilities to avoid serious pitfalls.

The very great trouble with those who advance themselves as champions of private exploitation of public services is that they are strangely lacking in qualification for the task of "educating" the public in these very matters. They are usually almost childish in the one-sidedness of their own viewpoints and utterly incapable of adjusting themselves to the viewpoint of the average citizen. Too often they regard the average citizen as a mere chucklehead—and that in itself is a symptom of ignorance.

Two things would be absolutely essential to a genuine campaign of education concerning private and public control of the great public utilities. One of them would be a determination and willingness to stand or fall by the exact truth, with consequent avoidance of distorted facts and faked figures. The other would be an honest resolve to observe the golden rule. So far as our recollection serves neither of these limitations have ever been too closely observed by the antagonists of public ownership of public utilities—and failure to observe them has done the cause of private ownership limitless harm.

In our belief it is not only reprehensible for the public utilities people to hand out untruths about such experiments as have been made with public ownership—it is desperately unwise. Yet it has been done, over and over again. The crux of the situation is that the American people as a whole are not so-called-minded enough to be easily won to the theory of public ownership, and besides they have an inherent distrust of their own politicians. Right on that basis the utilities men can easily win their fight for continuation of their prerogatives if otherwise they do not stir up distrust against themselves. This, however, they are certain to do if they proceed to disseminate a course of "education" which, on its own face, is applesauce.

What is the effect of a pompously didactic lecture on the hopelessness of trying to run municipal electric lighting plants, for instance, upon the population of a town or city which already does its own and does operate its own electric plant—and makes money doing it while it gives an especially attractive rate? Does not such propaganda inevitably react in making such a population utterly distrustful of the whole theory of private ownership of utilities?

Yet the private ownership propagandist commit just such follies over and over again. He challenges discussion and dispute where none would otherwise arise by making ill-informed, untrue statements than which thousands of plain citizens know better.

Private ownership of utilities has a dozen sound arguments in its favor where public ownership has one. But it is ridiculous to pretend that the latter has none, or that nobody but a fool will listen to it. If there is to be a "campaign of education" it would be a first-class idea to put it into the hands of somebody clever enough to know what the people know and what they think about both kinds of ownership; to give respectful heed to the advocates of private ownership, which should not be beyond the capacity of real economists.

But above all, if the people are to be asked to put away altogether any thought of public ownership of utilities, let the plea be based on their own advantage rather than on the god-given rights of invested capital—and give them some guaranteed assurance that they are to be regarded as something besides the source of dividends.

Otherwise it would be very much better for Mr. Cortelyou and his friends to keep still like a mouse.

DEATH PENALTY

Since electrocution was made the penalty for first degree murder in New York in 1889, no less than 409 persons have been committed to Sing Sing prison for execution, according to Warden Lawes of that institution. Of these 261 were executed. The convictions of fifty-three others were upset on appeal, thirty-five being found innocent of the crimes of which they had been adjudged guilty and eighteen being convicted in a less than first degree. One man, who received commutation to life imprisonment within a few minutes of being strapped in the death chair was later found to have been positively innocent.

Warden Lawes, impressed by the fallibility of judges and juries as evidenced by the success of so large a proportion of the appeals, expresses some wonderment as to whether every one of the 261 persons executed was really guilty of his crime; pointing out that many of them had no money or friends to enable them to continue their fight for life beyond the original trial.

It is this spectre of possible error that causes so many thoughtful people to doubt the validity of the death penalty as a measure of law. Those of the elder generation may remember the notorious London "Whitechapel" murders of the '80's, and the boast of the then head of the New York police that no such crime could go undetected there for 48 hours. And then, all of a sudden, there was a veritable "Whitechapel" murder in an East River slum, the victim being a middle aged woman of the pavement.

An Algerian sailor, friendless and speaking no English, was apprehended, tried and convicted. Through some sheer freak of perversion the jury made it second degree. The Algerian served seventeen years. Then a New York tugboat man was convicted of another "Whitechapel" murder and also confessed the killing of the woman for whose death the Algerian barely escaped death.

Then there is the Sacco-Vanzetti case—and scores of others. After all, the balance seems to be finely drawn. And we rather lean to the belief that it will not be many years before the custom of legally killing murderers will be done away with.

BINGHAM'S PICK

Connecticut people have sufficient faith in the judgment and knowledge of Senator Hiram Bingham to be instantly convinced that of all possible candidates for the position of governor-general of the Philippines Wallace R. Farrington, governor of Hawaii, is the right man for the job; merely on the senator's say-so.

Very few of us, naturally, have any special knowledge of Governor Farrington. But his thirty years' experience in the Pacific is certainly a recommendation superior to mere political service by some individual who could not tell a Moro from a Patagonian nor a rice paddy from a buckwheat field, and the fact that Senator Bingham has a peculiar way of his own of frequently thinking about the public interest instead of always about immediate partisan advantage, combines to make fairly ardent rooters of Connecticut folks for the Hawaii governor whom they have never seen and never heard much about.

BAGGISH CASE

The Baggish case bears a sufficiently close resemblance to the Almee Semple McPherson mystery to lead to the suspicion that the Hartford lawyer, at the time of that celebrated affair, must have been a close student of the current news.

However, it makes some small difference whether the fadeaway is staged for the befuddlement of a county court in California or to outsmart the United States government.

It is important that the Hartford man should be brought back to Connecticut and put through whatever course of sprouts the authorities have in pickle for him—not nearly so much for its effect on him or on the bankruptcy case in issue as by way of example to such people as imagine that any good handful of lies is sufficient to guarantee immunity from the processes of United States law.

A New Yorker in Paris

Le Havre, Oct. 6.—Le Havre, Gendarmes in rain-soaked suits standing about and sitting on crates like movie extras waiting for the director's megaphone. Now I know what became of bicycles. The French gendarmes have them. Wherever one looks a uniform is coasting past on a bike.

A weary looking woman has taken her place at a rough board table in the "cafeteria." She is the inspector. Her eyes are heavy with sleep. Lethargically she half-disturbs the top layer of each suitcase and gives no heed to the rest.

Those husky porters who carry five suitcases in a cloth strap. American papers at the newsstands and a fellow who comes by with a push cart loaded with light wines and beers. The fat man from Manhattan remarks: "Gosh, what a business he'd do at Grand Central Station." You 'said it, mister!

The fellow at the news-stand hands you a card. The card tells you of the Casino in Havre where you will find a Broadway jazz band and New York entertainment. Great heavens, to cross the Atlantic and run into a Broadway "jazz" invitation. What's the use.

Eight a. m. The French countryside spins past. Those quaint two-wheeled cars dragging down the country roads. And women working in the field. The countryside is lush green, the houses are thatched and moss covered. At the tracks stand poor children begging. One sees poverty in America, but compared to those who stand beside the track the raggedest urchin of the East Side seems rich.

The train stops. A worker leaves his job to come to the window to bum a cigarette. The eloquent Senator Harrison is back hotter than ever for some effective farm relief, and even hotter for a real old-time, rip-roaring Democratic presidential campaign next year.

Some of Senator Pat's enemies have been accusing him of harboring hopes of running for vice president on a ticket with Al Smith, but charges of similar heinous ambitions have been leveled at most other important southern Democrats so it probably doesn't mean anything. Harrison tells of "one of the finest pieces of land in this country" down in old Mississippi which used to sell for $250 an acre and which was lately offered to him for $25 an acre. He cites other specific examples to show that farming doesn't often pay any more and then expresses the belief that the Senate can agree on a relief measure this winter which can be passed over the Coolidge veto if necessary.

He believes that the Democrats can wage a hot campaign on the issues of tariff reduction—which he believes vital to the farmer, corruption and special privilege, although he admits that the people may be too lethargic to get excited over these issues.

Senators and congressmen will be drifting back to their offices gradually between now and December. Perhaps a majority, especially over on the House side, will wait until the last minute and arrive, just for the opening, but many prefer to get on the job well in advance.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Oct. 6.—Washington the early bird gets the publicity. Which is to say that when senators get back to their offices early in the fall, they find themselves besieged by hungry correspondents.

When four such outstanding senators as Borah, Curtis, Pat Harrison and Nye all returned early the correspondent were very happy indeed. Thus, in the news dispatches out of Washington the Democratic viewpoint has been given in the golden words of Harrison, the progressive-farm bloc viewpoint from the inspired lips of Nye, the Republican viewpoint from the G. O. P. Senate floor leader from Kansas and the always interesting Borah viewpoint from the leonine and puissant senator from Idaho.

Not that anyone sent these senators back as advance guards, but their own interest in their jobs has been a distinct service to their colleagues who are far enough away to be virtually inarticulate.

Borah, besides resuming his interesting daily chats with the correspondents, has gone to bat against the plan for a new private loan to France; Curtis has declared against an extra session; Harrison has issued a call for party harmony and united support of a strong presidential candidate, and Nye has advanced the pregnant proposal for a combination of McNary-Haugen, Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam supporters to beat the presidential veto when and if the McNary bill again passes Congress.

Borah is up to his omnivorous reading again, this year fortified with a knowledge of Spanish, and the delivery boys from the Library of Congress are cursing at the extra burden imposed of them. Borah seems to be the most assiduous reader in either house and nearly all his reading comes under the head of research because it has to do with his big job as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

The last batch of books the senator ordered from the Library included such titles as "Mexico," "The Fascist Dictatorship in Italy," "Church and State in Mexico, 1822-57," "The American Secretaries of State and Their Diplomacy," "The Russian Revolution," "Thomas Payne, Prophet and Martyr of Democracy," "The Monroe Doctrine, 1823-26," "America's Foreign Relations," "The Problems of Security" and two Spanish volumes entitled "Fundamentos de la Moral" and "America," the latter by Arturo Capdevila.

The eloquent Senator Harrison is back hotter than ever for some effective farm relief, and even hotter for a real old-time, rip-roaring Democratic presidential campaign next year.

Some of Senator Pat's enemies have been accusing him of harboring hopes of running for vice president on a ticket with Al Smith, but charges of similar heinous ambitions have been leveled at most other important southern Democrats so it probably doesn't mean anything.

RUBINOW PLANS STORE ADDITION

Allan L. Hayes Gets Contract
To Add to Present Building.

Work will be started this week on an addition which will triple the floor space of William Rubinow's store in the Park building. The addition will be built on the rear of the present store and will measure 28 1-2 by 50 feet. Allan L. Hayes, has been awarded the general contract.

The grade in the rear has such a drop that the basement of the present store will be on a level with the first floor of the proposed addition. This will give the addition two floors for show purposes, the second floor on a level with the first floor of the store.

A small frame building which formerly stood at the rear of the Rubinow store has been moved away to make room for the addition.

Mr. Rubinow started in the women's ready to wear clothing business in the old Russell block on Main street in 1907 and stayed in that location until 1919 when he sold the business to S. L. Barabee.

He re-entered this business in 1923 in the store now occupied by W. H. Gardner, shoe merchant. He moved in 1925 to his present location at the corner of Purnell place.

The addition will have plenty of light, for three sides will contain lens-glass windows, which give light without shadows. The big show windows in front will help and natural daylight will be the thing all through the store.

CENTER CHURCH NOTES.

The Brownies of the Center Congregational church will start their fall and winter schedule with a picnic tomorrow afternoon. The members will meet at the church at 3:30 and the picnic will be held in the neighborhood of the church if it is pleasant, otherwise they will meet at the church. Parents may expect the children home at 5:30. The Brownies will meet every Friday at the church at 3:30, unless otherwise notified.

The Cyp Club has secured Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, who was an instructor at Storrs College this summer, as their speaker Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. All the members are urged to come and hear Rev. Wheelock. Frederick Edwards, violinist, furnish the music during the meeting.

The Lake View Parent-Teachers' association held its regular meeting in the South Main street school last evening with a good attendance. Miss Isabel Moore, school nurse of the Eighth District schools, gave a very interesting talk about the health work carried on in her schools. Following the business session and Miss Moore's talk, a committee served refreshments.

TOMORROW AND SATURDAY

Fall Opening will be observed at Fradin's women's and misses' apparel shop tomorrow and Saturday. The shop has been preparing for this annual event for many weeks, searching the markets for the newest and finest in apparel. Mr. Fradin has spent considerable time in New York viewing the new fall and winter modes and is now prepared to show them here.

The store has been rearranged to make room for new merchandise so that it can be readily displayed to a large number of customers. Fradin's offer a splendid line of merchandise for women in as wide a range of styles and prices as any one could wish for. All this new stock is priced at savings that are really worth while, due to good buying judgment.

Fradin's is one of the most popular women's shop in town and hundreds of Manchester women turn to it for the latest fashions. The window displays for this event are very attractive.

The average time consumed by telephone operators in answering more than 70,000,000 calls during a test in Ohio was 3.7 seconds a call.

A telephone that answers itself when the owner is out has been invented in Sweden. It operates like a phonograph, recording the message from the incoming call.

THIM, OF COLGATE

One of the few remaining regulars of the undefeated Colgate team of 1925 that was captained by Eddie Tryon is the field chief of the Colgate eleven this season.

He is Billy Timm, an end, whose home is in New York City.

Timm, a senior, played halfback in his freshman year, and was shifted to a flank position in his sophomore year and has remained there ever since.

Colgate looks for their captain, should he have another great season this year, to come in for plenty of attention from critics when they pick their all-star teams at the end of the season.

has been an important figure in Annapolis athletics ever since his first year there.

As a fourth classman, he played football, basketball and baseball.

The following year he was on the football and baseball teams. His third year there, or as they say at Annapolis, his second class year, he played football, made the "B" team of the cage quintet, but never finished the baseball season because of a broken leg.

This year he will captain both grid and baseball squads.

The Navy captain balls from Washington, D. C. and is 21 years old. He weighs 162 pounds.

Breaks Bigger Than Punch In Opening Says Evans

Grantham's Costly Error in 3rd Followed by Smith's Inexcusable Fumble at Home Gives Yanks 1st 5-4

Evans Calls First Game Drab and Poorly Played Affair In Which Two Star Hurlers Failed to Deliver as Expected.

BY BILLY EVANS

Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Penn., Oct. 6.—The break proved a far more positive factor than the punch in the first game of the opening series. New York got the breaks and won. Pittsburgh had the punch or power and lost.

In sizing up the series, I have constantly stressed the fact that the unexpected break has very often rendered power a negative factor.

The opening game of the series offered a convincing proof. The New York Yankees, here, perhaps the greatest aggregation of sluggers in the history of the game, scored three runs in the third inning to win the ball game on just a single by irrefragable Babe Ruth.

George Grantham provided the opening break, three others followed in rapid succession, to give New York a lead that was never relinquished.

Grantham, the Pirate second sacker, retired Combs, the first man up in the third inning, on a flashy stop of a hard hit ball, for which he went far to his left. Koenig followed with a slow rolling grounder, not nearly so difficult a play as Grantham had just executed, but he erred grievously and the Yank shortstop was safe at first.

That slip proved to be the undoing of the Pirates. It seemed to unsettle the usually iron-nerved Kremer. Ruth singled on the first pitch, sending Koenig to third. Two costly bases on balls followed, forcing a run over the plate and leaving the sacks still loaded. At this stage, Manager Donnie Bush showed that he has unlimited confidence in his pitching star, for he left Kremer on the rubber to work out his salvation.

A force out at second allowed another run to drift over the plate. A costly error, followed by two bases on balls with a hit mixed in, had given New York two runs. It seemed as if those three breaks were enough, but the most important one, was to follow, permitting the third soft run to score, just the margin by which the ball game was decided.

Catcher Earl Smith of the Pirates figured prominently in this play, first as a dead hero, then the goat. With Gehrig on third, Lazzeri at first, and Dugan up, Tony started for second. Smith faked a throw to that base, then cleverly whipped the ball to third, getting Gehrig off the bag.

Traynor who handled the ball, made a beautiful stop. The Pirate hurried throw. As Gehrig dashed for the plate, his avenue to third having been cut off, Traynor followed the dazzling pickup with a perfect throw to Smith. Gehrig would have been out 10 feet but the ball got away from the Pirate catcher and Gehrig scored. It proved to be an all important run.

The one inning tells the real story of a rather drab, poorly played World Series game, in which two of baseball's greatest pitchers failed to show their form. Both Hoyt and Kremer starting pitchers, were unsteady and failed at finish. The relief pitchers delivered. Johnny Miljus of the Pirates showed me one of the best curve balls I have seen in years. He was practically unhittable and will certainly be heard from later on, if he can continue that brand of hurling.

The use of Wilcy Moore to save the faltering Hoyt has upset Manager Huggins pitching selections a trifle. Prior to the start of the opening game he would use Moore in the second game, provided he wasn't called on as relief pitcher, following with Penneck in the third and opening game at New York.

Donnie Bush, courageous pilot of the Pirates, is certain to come back with Aldridge. The great success of Johnny Miljus' curve ball against the Yanks, has paved the way for Aldridge who also boasts a deceptive hook.

AIRPLANE MYSTERY

Hinsdale, Mass., Oct. 6.—This Berkshire hills town had an airplane mystery on its hands today.

With motor skipping and flying near the earth, a plane swooped down over the town last night.

Search of the underbrush and woodland continued today and arrangements were made to drag the lake.

SUSPEND OFFICIALS WHO ERR IN SOCCER

Scott, Walder, Murphy Banned Until Nov. 1 For Allowing Substitution In Last Eight Minutes.

For allowing illegal substitution in the Philadelphia-Boston game played at Philadelphia, September 24, 1927, Referee D. A. Scott and Linesmen John Walder and Joseph Murphy, who officiated at the game, have been suspended until November 1, 1927.

Following a conference in league headquarters, October 2, at which time Secretary Dave Scott discussed this case with officers of the Referees' association, disciplinary action against the above named officials was deemed necessary.

"For allowing a substitution in the Philadelphia team (Cochrane for O'Brien) to take place eight minutes before the finish of the Philadelphia-Boston game."

The suspension of these officials is regrettable, but in view of the fact that the officials were wholly responsible for this direct violation of American Soccer League by-laws on a substitution rule which has been in effect for the past two seasons, and further considering that the substitution rule was again brought to the attention of all members of the Referees' association before the opening of the season, we were reluctantly compelled to enforce this suspension.

Paddock Not Through; Will Try For Olympics

BY BOB MATHERNE

It seems as if Charley Paddock, who has been running for 14 years and who holds 13 world sprint records, would have enough of the running racket—or at least would be slowed down to such an extent that he couldn't be considered dangerous now against a strong field.

Stranger to say, Charley is not through. Neither does he think he is so terribly slow. Far from it, if he will only take note of his plans for next year.

The smiling young man who is generally termed "The Fastest Human," wants to make Uncle Sam's Olympic team and he wants to break Roland Locke's mark in the 220 before he calls it enough.

Paddock once held the record for the 220 that Locke now holds. That then was his 14th world record. And he prized it highly, as he came along in 1925 and covered the 220 yards in 20.5 seconds to shatter Paddock's mark.

From his home in Pasadena, Calif., comes word that Paddock is going to start an intensive training campaign in February for a place on this country's next Olympic team. Nothing, says Paddock, is going to interfere with his siege of training. Not even the movies.

A sprinter who has been keeping up with the best of them for 14 years, Paddock is still young, having celebrated his 27th birthday last August, but as a runner he is stamped a veteran.

His first race was in 1913. Like-wise, that first race was also his first championship—he won the southern grammar school championship. In 1915, he won the hundred in the Far-Western meet and from then on, until he enrolled at Southern California, he competed in high school meets with success.

In quick succession followed enviable marks in the inter-allied games in Paris, the 1920 Olympic games, and other important meets, until he began shattering world records as a Trojan runner at Southern California.

Paddock has created 32 records in his career, 14 world records and thirteen of the latter still stand. His marks cover distances ranging from 50 yards to 300 meters for turf as well as regulation tracks.

Between 1921 and 1924, he ran the hundred 11 times in 9.5 seconds. Paddock created his 9.5 mark for the hundred on May 16, 1926, just two years after a pulled muscle during the Olympic games had caused many predictions to be made that he was through.

But he's not through yet—and "The Fastest Human" hopes to prove it next year by again being a member of Uncle Sam's Olympic team and, perhaps, setting a new world mark for the 220.

Observation cars to be used on railroads through the Canadian Rockies will have glass roofs through which passengers can view the mountains.

EARLY ENTRY

JACK BILLY Here's one of the early entries in C. C. Pyle's coast-to-coast marathon run. He's Jack Billy of Wichita, Kas., who is training now by running from 15 to 30 miles every day. Billy holds all long-distance records for his state.

Pirates Are Not Discouraged Over First Game; They Expect To Even Up the Series Today

By JAMES L. KILGALLEY Staff Correspondent Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 6.—One down to the New York Yankees in the World Series but not at all discouraged, the Pittsburgh Pirates today were grimly determined to square accounts with the Yanks at Forbes Field this afternoon. With that objective in view Manager Donnie Bush indicated he would send the veteran Vic Aldridge in to pitch against Babe Ruth and the other New York sluggers.

John Gooch probably will catch Aldridge. George Pigras and Pat Collins will undoubtedly be the battery for the Yankees. Manager Miller Huggins announced.

Neither Manager Bush or the Pirates were discouraged by the five to four defeat of the Pirates in the opening game before 41,467 fans.

Bush's Prediction "I think it will be one victory apiece by nightfall," Bush declared this morning. "I think our pitchers can stop the Yanks."

The strategy of the Pittsburgh pitchers now seems to be to "curve ball" the Yankee sluggers. Almost two out of three balls so far thrown to the Yanks have been curves and while Paddock came out on the wrong end of the score yesterday, the Yankees were able to make only six hits, three of them by Ruth all singles except the first.

The Pittsburgh club is now convinced that the Yanks do not like curves.

Ruth's Opinion But the Yanks think otherwise. "It won't be long now," said Ruth this morning. "I feel 'hot.' I've got to hit some longer ones but I'm not kicking on 'those singles I made. I like Kremer's pitching. My first two hits clicked just right and I would have got another off Kremer the third time up, I think, if I hadn't slipped as I was swinging."

Ruth praised the Waner brothers, but he's not through yet—and "The Fastest Human" hopes to prove it next year by again being a member of Uncle Sam's Olympic team and, perhaps, setting a new world mark for the 220.

Moore And Miljus Stars In First Game Of Series

By LES CONKLIN Staff Correspondent Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 6.—Wilcy Moore, a big, rangy, easy-going Oklahoma farmer, and John Miljus, a World War veteran who had been hibernating in the minors for six long years unexpectedly found themselves basking in the World Series spotlight today. These two members of the pitching ensemble starred in the opening game of the series after Waite Hoyt and Remy Kremer, the featured and high-salaried performers of the greatest show on earth had faltered and were shelved off the landscape.

Stole Stars' Thunder The understudies stole the principals' thunder. Moore sank the Pirate craft with his sinker ball, and Miljus held the New York sluggers to one hit, an undernourished single by Ruth, in four innings. Ruth's hit caused no panic as Miljus immediately made the Babe look like a first-class sucker by trapping him off first base.

Moore, the greatest relief pitcher in the big show during the past season, is a horse for work and he knows his oats thoroughly. Miljus, with a name that sounds like a new brand of four per cent beer, and a brand of pitching that appears to be even better, was one of the greatest factors in Pittsburgh pennant-winning drive down the National League stretch.

Another Big Crowd Another capacity crowd was expected to turn out this afternoon to see the Pirates battle to turn the tide. The great crowd that packed every inch of space inside Forbes Field at the opening game was disappointed at the collapse of the highly-touted Kremer and the bangles of Grantham and Smith.

Catcher Smith's failure to get Gehrig when he had him trapped between third and home probably will keep him on the bench today and maybe for the series.

Paul Waner, one of Pittsburgh's idols remained on the pedestal of local fandom has placed him. His three hits one of them a double, furnished one of the few bright spots for the home town fans.

Waner and Ruth, the best publicized players in the series, are leading the batting averages, each with a mark of .750.

It isn't the cost of a diamond ring—it's the upkeep.

Home Page Editorial Marriage Romance Is the Most Worth-While By Olive Roberts Barton

"Married life ends romance!" So announces a terse paragraph written by one who is supposed to know more things than the rest of us. It's as true as history and we all know it—that pre-marriage romance and post-marriage romance are mere forty-second cousins. I am not asserting that post-marriage romance is not finer and better than the former, but I shall even go so far as to say that people who are barely more than indifferent before marriage have been known to fall violently in love afterward. You remember the story, "He Fell in Love With His Wife?" We are slaves of environment. We change with every change of setting. Our point of view shifts according to the thing we are doing. We feel broader minded at a party than when scraping skittles. We are more magnanimous when looking out over a cool mountain valley, than bent over a desk or a store-counter, with feet and backs and head aching. Psychology changes with environment, and marriage psychology changes most of all. It may not be a drop from the sublime to the ridiculous, but it certainly is a drop from the sublime to the real. I often think that really smart people can keep married romance as interesting as the other kind. Slushy love-making may be bromide. Its thrill has worn off perhaps. I should be stupid to recommend that; something deeper and finer should take its place.

Life's Niceties HINTS ON ETIQUET

1. How few courses can one serve at a luncheon? 2. What might they be? 3. Is coffee served in the drawing room after luncheon? The Answers: 1. Three. 2. Soup, or fruit or fish cocktail, first—a main course and dessert. Or, main dish, salad, dessert. 3. No. Luncheon should remain informal, with tea, coffee or chocolate served at the table. This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the various courses of study offered to Evening School students.

The Trade School evening machine shop course offers to the man having little or no knowledge of machine shop practice.

To the man who is classed as a machine hand, this course offers an opportunity to learn to set up his own work benches.

Unlike some vocational courses, the Trade School does not approve of practice work except in a very limited way.

Every piece of work done by the student, except the first one, which may be classed as a practice job, has a commercial value.

So, up the hill they promptly went and 'bout an hour or so was spent in looking all around the land for Clowny Tynymite. All of a sudden Carpy said, "Ah, there he is right straight ahead." And there, all the Tynies gazed ahead and saw an awful sight.

The cannibals ran 'round and 'round and staged a dance upon the ground. They loudly yelled and all seemed just as happy as could be. The Tynies saw what made them cheer. And then there came a big surprise which made them open wide their eyes. "Oh my, they've captured Clowny," shouted Copy. "He's not here."

My goodness, what were they to do? With Clowny gone they all felt blue. They thought and thought. Then Scouty said, "We'll have to crawl outside, and scamper to the hilltop near. If we're not seen, there's naught to fear. There must be lots of trees up there behind which we can hide."

The Tynies sure were scared to death. 'Twas hard for them to catch their breath. They ran on through the woods with all the cannibals behind. Said Scouty, "If we're caught I fear that we'll be sorry we came here. I wish there was some hiding place that we could shortly find."

"Keep running fast, and please don't rave," snapped Copy. Then they found a cave, and in the darkened doorway they were glad to scamper quick. "They'll never find us here," said one. "Those cannibals can surely run, but now I guess we're safe and sound. This place is mighty slick."

A bit of rest, they planned to snatch, and Carpy said, "Who has a match?" So Scouty promptly struck one and its little blaze brought cheer. And then there came a big surprise which made them open wide their eyes. "Oh my, they've captured Clowny," shouted Copy. "He's not here."
