S. M. DISTRICT'S VOTERS GIVE UP RIGHT TO ELECT

Fire and Alarm Chiefs to Keep Places, However, Under Appointive Plan; Fight Averted.

Changes in the by-laws recommended by the commissioners went through with only slight opposition at the annual meeting of the South Manchester Fire district in High school hall last night. An attendance of about 75 people, mostly firemen, re-elected Frank Cheney Jr., a commissioner for three years, voted to make the offices of chief and superintendent of the fire alarm appointive. Some of the $44,000 for expenses and voted to include within the district lines certain land in outlying districts.

Back Tax Account

William Taylor, collector of the district, reported that he had received $79,072.92 on the list of last year, and $74.41 in interest charges. He said that there was still a total of $994.24 in back taxes owing to the district, $600 for this year and the remainder going back as far as 1914. Some of this money makes for a system of work which might never be collected.

Urges Alarm Removal

L. N. Heebner, superintendent of the fire alarm system, recommended that the district remove its alarm headquarters from the wooden building of Hose Company No. 1 to a brick or fireproof building nearer the center of the district. He also asked for a system of communication between the fire houses, so that the telephone would not have to be depended upon. He recommended that alarm boxes in the future be placed on standards, so far as possible, and that the standards be situated back from the sidewalks, as a matter of protection.

Objects To Appointments

The meeting had run along smoothly until this time when the first sign of opposition came when James Rogers arose to oppose the motion to make the offices of the chief and the superintendent of the fire alarm system appointive. Mr. Rogers asked the voters to retain their right of franchise, and not to place too much power in the hands of three men.

VANDERBILT FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Cornelius Jr., Charges Mental Cruelty—Wife Also Files a Counter Suit.

RENO, Nev., Nov. 11.—Charging mental cruelty, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., of New York, today had a divorce suit on file here against his wife, Rachel Vanderbilt. They were married in New York on April 29, 1920.

Immediately after Vanderbilt filed his suit his wife, through her attorneys, filed a counter suit in which she denied the charges of her husband and asked that she be granted a divorce on the grounds of desertion. Her complaint said they had been separated for the past two years.

According to Vanderbilt's complaint, his wife was not in accord with his work and tried to discourage him when he was publishing tabloid papers at Los Angeles, San Francisco and Miami, Fla. The complaint said further that his wife wished him to give up this work in order that he could live a life of social ease and luxury, a mode of living which he said did not meet with his approval.

BRAVE VERMONT DIGGING ITSELF OUT OF THE MUD

Manpower Mobilized to Start Big Task of Repairing De- struction Caused by State's Worst Flood.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 11.—Manpower was mobilized today to begin the stupendous task of repairing the destruction caused by the New England floods.

Armed Day, the ninth anniversary of the ending of the World War, was dedicated in flood-swept Vermont to the work of reconstruction. Every able-bodied man in President Coolidge's home state turned out for a day of ceaseless toil with the exception of a two-minute pause at 11 a. m., for a silent tribute to the World War dead.

Jobs are waiting any man willing to work in Vermont. Unemployment has ceased to be a problem. Railroads, power companies, road builders and others were hiring a veritable "army of jobless" in Bellows Falls. Vagrants, however, were not wanted and were being locked up.

Planes Make Survey

Six airplanes were groomed for a reconnaissance over the flood swept regions of Vermont from Burlington. Questionnaires designed to reveal the actual conditions in isolated towns were prepared and arrangements made for signaling to the aviators by means of coils.

CLUB DRIVE NOW HITS $2,700 MARK

Substantial Additions Today To Community Club Fund; The Donors.

As a result of today's additions, the Manchester Community Club's Fund is now over the $2,700 mark. This is an excellent showing for the campaign thus far, but there are many more north end residents who have not yet been visited, and whose gifts will make a decided increase in the total.

ILLNESS IN TEAM NO. 3

Owing to the illness of the captain and two members of Team No. 3, there has been delay in covering a section of Main street, east side. Team No. 1 has kindly volunteered to assist in this work, and those who have not been visited on that street thus far will be visited this evening or tomorrow.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 11.—The tragic but unconfirmed story of the burning of a priest upon a pyre made of church property at Union De Tula, State of Jalisco, Mexico, by Mexican soldiers, was contained in a letter published in a Catholic newspaper in El Paso today.

NEW HAVEN'S OBSERVANCE

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 11.—The city celebrated Armistice Day with a morning parade, and the usual suspension of financial business. Yale University observed the day with a special service in Battal chapel where the deans of the various schools and the professors of military and naval science and tactics had positions of honor. Henry S. Graves, dean of the Forestry School, was the speaker in the chapel services. He declared that unless the United States took a leading part in the prevention of the causes of war, it will fail in duty to those who fought and who lost their lives in the World War.

Ought You Give

To The Community Club?

WHERE THERE'S NO PLACE TO PLAY
Oh, our playground is the surface of a grey and dirty street.
And the entry-ways where loafers smoke and stare;
We fight between ash-barrels and dodge the horses' feet,
And play at craps in gutters, with a swear.
No sorrow, sin or shame that our baby lips can't name,
Nor bit of sordid truth we do not share,
But if our ways are rude, and the words we use are lewd
Who's to tell us? Who's to teach us? Who's to care?
Yet we're children—children—children—
And in our wistful eyes
You can see the white, sweet dreams of us—
For neglect and greed enfold us,
And temptation soon will hold us—
We're the street-and-sidewalk product headed west.

Ought you to give to the Manchester Community Campaign? Ought you help the little children as well as the grown-ups get more recreation? You know the answer. We'll leave it to you what to give to the fund of the

Manchester Community Club

Is this good business? Cities have invested millions of dollars in school grounds and buildings which work only five hours out of the twenty-four. Any private business would fail under such conditions. Eighty per cent. of all the offenses against society are committed in the free hours between 6 and 12 o'clock p. m. Isn't it a good plan to invest something in a Community Center for afternoon and evening hours recreation.

Give What You Can

The Manchester Community Club is deeply grateful for the generous gifts thus far received in its campaign. Its thanks go out to all, and especially to those living outside the district served by the Community Club.
Onward we press toward that $5,000 goal! Every gift is needed, whether a dollar or fifty. Look at the long lists of names of givers in The Herald. See that your name appears in this list. Everybody is helping. If you haven't given, give today. Hurry in your contribution.

taking part and although it was raining when the hour of starting the parade arrived the marchers got underway promptly at 10:30. The line of march was up Elm street down Prospect street to Maple street where wreaths were placed on the memorial trees. Then there was a counter march back Union street to Park street, some turning in on Park Place and others disbanding after coming down Elm street from Park street. The reviewing stand was located in Central Park and after the town and city officials had taken part in the parade, laying a position well up in advance, Marshal J. R. Morin, brought the line to a halt until the city officials viewed the march from the stand. The judges of organizations on foot and also on the floats consisted of Mayor John P. Cameron, City Clerk Raymond Hunt and City Treasurer Parley Leonard. After the full procession was through the awards were made by walking down Prospect street.

The first marching organization prize went to St. Joseph's Polish society, who had fully 200 men in line wearing skull caps, a short coat and so formed that they made an American flag, with Uncle Sam marching in the lead. Both the numbers and for appearance the prize of first place was unquestioned. The Red Men, with their auxiliary lodge of women, dressed in Indian garb was awarded second place. For floats there was only one real float in the whole parade and that was by the Emblem club, the auxiliary to the Elks. Several other lodges took part, but they had mostly closed cars with red and white streamers. The Elks had a large float, simple in every way bearing a cross on which were the words: "Lest We Forget" and to the Elks went second prize for floats.

The rain had cleared by the end of the parade. In the line of march were members of the local American Legion, ex-service men in the khaki uniform, the blue suits and shining buttons of the Rockyville fire department, all in dress uniform gave that organization a good appearance. There was no overloading of the fire apparatus, two men being assigned to each driver's seat, while the chief walked with the men.

The pageant "War" was given twice this afternoon in Sykes Memorial hall this being necessary so that all might see it. Tonight the fireworks display on Fox Hill will bring to an end the day's celebration, the largest that Rockville has had in years.

All of the factories, the banks and the post office observed holiday hours and closed for the day. Most of the stores also closed and the confectionary stores were doing a rushing business as were all eating places in Rockville. The city had appropriated $1,000 for this day and it was all well spent.

Moving in Machinery
Yesterday afternoon the Somers Manufacturing Company started to move machinery into the Belding plant which they have just purchased. The machines which they are moving in are carding machines and they wish to have all the mill vacated. Today three winding frames, which have been kept in the mill were shipped out by the Belding-Hemingway Company to the Miller Silk Company in Winsted. This is another mill that the company started and later closed up.

No Predictions Possible
Both the Republican and Democratic ward caucuses held last night did not all their tickets and as a result they will be filled by the caucus. The Democratic ward caucuses made no nominations at all and only one or two of the Republicans made selections, without getting the consent of some of those who stayed away. As yet no candidate has been selected for Mayor, but stress is being laid to have Roy Martin forget his horses for a few years and take the job.

To Cost $55,000
It is estimated that the new concrete and brick building to be erected in the center of the city on the site, formerly occupied by Robert and Henry Liebe, will cost in the neighborhood of $55,000. The building will be two stories high and two feet from the street line.

Parley for Bride-Elect
Mrs. Emil Meyers of Union street entertained in honor of Miss Grace K. Van Kleec of Somers on Wednesday evening. Thirty-two of Miss Van Kleec's shopmates at the White, Corbin Co. were present. During the evening a mock marriage was enjoyed with the following taking part: Minister, Mrs. Esther Weber; bridegroom, Miss Elsie Pippin; bride, Miss Gertrude Sattler; ring bearer, Miss Anna Tucker; best man, Mrs. Mary Keeping; bridesmaid, Mrs. Martha Thummel; maid of honor, Clara Leonard; father of bride, Mrs. Beatrice Minner.

OLDEST RESIDENT OF THE TOWN DIES

Mrs. Ann McCann Yields to Infirmities of Years, At 98 or More.

Manchester's oldest resident died yesterday of old age. She was Mrs. Ann McCann, of 48 Winter street.
Mrs. McCann, who was more than 98 years old, was born in the little village of Derrykevin, on the outskirts of Portadown, County Armagh, Ireland. She came to Manchester with her husband, John McCann, 38 years ago and had been a resident of this town ever since. Her husband died some years ago at the age of 92.

Mrs. Ann McCann

Mrs. McCann was admitted to her family home in Manchester, where she had lived for many years. She was the subject of a feature story in The Herald of July 30th last. At that time she was bedridden and her mind had begun to wander.
She is survived by six children, 18 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. The children are David, John J., Edward, Miss Deborah and Miss Isabel McCann, all of Manchester; and Mrs. William Hoffman of Springfield.
The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. James Stuart Neill of St. Mary's church will officiate and burial will be in the East cemetery.

Miss Lottie Burke at Hospital Suffering With Scalp Wounds After Forest St. Crash.

Miss Lottie Burke of 88 Homestead street was removed to the Memorial hospital this afternoon suffering from a scalp wound and other minor injuries, the result of an automobile accident in front of the residence of Mrs. John S. Cheney on Forest street. Miss Burke was riding in a car driven by Mitchell Patricia of 91 Chestnut street, Hartford. It was about 1:30. The car was proceeding east on Forest street and skidded on the wet pavement, running into a pole by the side of the road. The automobile was only slightly damaged. Miss Burke was rushed to the hospital in Holloran Brothers' ambulance and at this writing the full extent of her injuries had not been determined. Traffic Patrolman Rudolph Wirtalla investigated the accident.

The following for the use of the canvassers in their visits:
"Modern working conditions make it imperative that the worker find expressive activities outside of work hours. Every normal being needs relaxation to offset the strain of his daily work—needs a share in the community's recreational life to satisfy his natural craving for companionship. For most of us work continues throughout the year. Play which recreates and throws off the fatigue of the day must go hand in hand with work, twelve months of the year.
"The boy who works for eight hours and then for two hours plays a good-snappy nine-inning baseball game in the evening is not going to hang around the pool room after ten o'clock. He is tired and sleepy from the exercise of hitting and running, and because his lungs are filled with ozone. Such a boy is a better worker the next day. There are fewer accidents, increased production, a more contented disposition and a keener liking for the town because it is doing something for him."

Real community service is done through both men and women; people of all creeds—in fact, everyone in the community can find the means which will permit them to function with no divisions. We are not merely men and women. The real life is the family tie. We are wives and husbands, mothers and fathers, sons and daughters, brothers and sisters. In our leisure time, political and religious differences can have no place. The welfare of each of us is in a measure dependent on the other, and in organized recreation all can unite for the common good.

Building Quality into Used Cars
Unusual facilities for reconditioning automobiles make possible the high value found in our dependable used cars.
In the first place, we can tell exactly what needs to be done to a car without long and expensive experimenting. Our mechanics are thoroughly competent—and, working with special tools, they accomplish a given task in the minimum time. Furthermore, we use only genuine parts for replacement purposes.
As a result, our reconditioned cars simply cannot be matched for value.

allow some incompetent to step in. Commissioner William J. Crockett replied to Mr. Rogers with the assertion that it would take the voters two years to oust a majority of the present commission and that in his opinion it was a hard job to pack a meeting two years in succession.

Change Is Voted The matter came to a vote and the "resist" was "doubled" by Mr. Rogers. The second vote, however, left no doubt in the minds of anybody and the motion was carried.

Proceeding to the election of a commissioner for three years, the meeting placed the name of Frank Cheney Jr. in nomination. He was elected unanimously and received a round of applause at the end of the voting period.

Officers Re-Elected As the meeting was running along smoothly, Robert E. Carney made a motion that the secretary cast the ballot for Daniel Haggarty as first assistant, chief of the department. Before this motion could be voted on a similar motion was made concerning all the other officers of the district, and this was carried without a dissenting vote.

E. L. G. Hohenthal, treasurer, reported that he had figured out a budget for the coming year which would amount to $43,000. Of this money $4,000 would be for new boxes, $2,000 for the installation of underground wires and $37,000 for other expenses. L. N. Heebner told Mr. Hohenthal that $4,000 would not be enough for ten new alarm boxes, and the appropriation for this was raised by the addition of $1,000, making the total budget $44,000.

Officials to Remain Although it was not said in so many words, assurance was given by the commissioners that Chief Foy and Captain Heebner would be reappointed to their offices of chief of the department and superintendent of the fire alarm. This was the assurance that was asked for by Mr. Rogers when he opposed the change in the by-laws.

Officers filling positions that remain elective are the following: Assistant superintendent of fire alarms, James O. McCaw; first assistant chief, Daniel Haggarty; second assistant chief, Joseph Chambers; collector, William T. Taylor; auditors, George H. Waddell and J. Howard Keith.

Contest Averted Firemen formed the biggest part of the meeting last night and more than 50 percent of them were members of Hose Company No. 2, Chief Foy's own company. It was conceded that if assurance of re-appointment were not given to Chief Foy and Captain Heebner, the meeting would have gone against the plan of the commission to have the change in the by-laws carried.

No Tax Laid As there is a balance on hand in the treasury Mr. Hohenthal said that no tax would be necessary this year. Petitions from residents in the South district, Highland Park, Keeney street, Center street and Middle Turnpike, asking for admission to the fire district, were read, and the meeting voted favorably on them.

Frank Cheney, Jr., explained the lines which would bound the district after the changes had been made. Following are the boundaries:

New Fire Lines On the east and south to include all property west of Gardner street and north of Springstreet, the line being to give protection to the houses on the hill southwest of the corner of Highland and Gardner streets, also to others on Spring street.

On the south to include property within about 500 feet east and west of South Main street, from the Fourth district school house to the Glastonbury town line, also a slight change to include the residence property of C. Elmore Watkins.

On the west, include some property on the south and west of Bidwell street and property within Spencer street to the East Hartford town line, also a change to include property east and south of a line starting near the Sixth district school on Olcott street and running through Olcott street, Love Lane and Center street to Middle Turnpike and thence easterly to and through Middle Turnpike and Adams street where the old fire district line is resumed.

SINGLE FIRE CAUSED 5-7 OF YEAR'S LOSSES

Only $2,000 Damage Done by 84 Blazes Aside From Gorman Block.

Chief Albert Foy of the South Manchester Fire department reported last night that the total fire loss in this district during the past year amounted to $13,917, in fires on property involving a valuation of $109,717. This is as against a loss of $4,900 last year.

The immediate occasion of the increase in loss, Chief Foy said, was the fire in the Gorman block on Oak street, which was damaged to the extent of about $10,000. In other fires the damage was held down to less than $2,000.

The department responded to 84 alarms, 24 fewer than last year. Of this number 12 were bell alarms and 72 still alarms. Chimney and gas fires were the cause of 41 alarms, and the damage in these cases was almost nothing. The largest fire occurred on Monday, March 7, at 8 a. m. in the building on Oak street owned by the Patrick Gorman estate. This fire started from a gasoline explosion in a vulcanizing plant and the damage amounted to $10,200 on the building and contents.

DAUGHTERS OF ITALY MASQUE TOMORROW

Eleanor Duse Lodge No. 1339, daughters of Italy, which was organized only two years ago and last season gave a very successful masquerade ball, will stage another social event of the same nature tomorrow evening at the Sub-Alpine Hall on Eldridge Street.

A prize of $10 in gold will be awarded to the best-costumed pair on the floor, and $5 will be given to the masquerader appearing in the most comical get-up, whether it be man or woman.

The committee of ladies in charge includes the following: Mrs. Mary Aceto, Mrs. Luigi Pola, Mrs. Josephine Pagan, Mrs. Assunta Agostinelli, Mrs. Lucy Pagan, Mrs. Antonette Agostinelli, Mrs. Mary Stendella, Mrs. Angela Mistretta, Miss Louise Squatrito, Mrs. Assunta Patricia, Miss Mary Garibaldi, Miss Ada Pagan and Mrs. Marie Belletti.

RUTH IS BACK, CROWDS CHEER AS SHE LANDS

contracts," she said in reply to a question. "Would you like to go in the movies?" she was asked.

"I don't think I have any movie ability," she replied. "How about the stage?" "I don't know that I could act," she said modestly.

Miss Elder smiled derisively as she denied a published story that she had crawled out on the wings of the plane while she was flying the ocean. "Impossible," was her comment. "I didn't crawl out of the plane until we came down in the water beside the tanker."

Wears Paris Gowns. Ruth looked as if she had stepped out of a fashion magazine. As the Maccom drove alongside the Aquitania, a smiling, pretty face was silhouetted against an open porthole. She wore the latest from Paris—a broadcloth black ensemble trimmed at the neck and bottom with "kit fox" fur, a black turban, suede long gloves, buttoned, fur-up colored stockings. Her cheeks were tinted pinker with excitement than the cluster of orchids she wore.

Haldeman appeared at the next porthole. They both shouted greetings and waved madly at their relatives and friends aboard the Maccom. It was a picture fit for a movie—and the camera boys ground until their arms ached.

"If Miss Elder wants to try it again I'll be tickled to death to go with her," declared Haldeman. "I have a new plane in mind," said Ruth. "A duplicate of the American Girl."

Reporters persisted in asking questions about the domestic relationship between the aviatrix and her husband. "There are no differences between Lyle and me," she finally said.

"Did he approve of your flight?" "He didn't disapprove," Ruth replied. "Will you go back to Panama with him?" "Not right away," she answered. Harry Riechenbach, newly-quired press agent for the two fliers, interrupted the interview to announce that commercial offers amounting to $250,000 had been made to Haldeman and Miss Elder. Riechenbach said the offers included the movies, vaudeville, lectures and endorsements.

"Paris was everything I thought it would be and more," said Ruth. She laughed at the story that she was returning with twelve trunks filled with Parisian finery. "I brought back just one trunk and two hand bags, no kidding," she said. "Where is my lucky lipstick? Oh, don't ask me about that again." "Were you afraid when your plane started to come down?"

"I really wasn't afraid," she answered. "I had faith—everything would come out all right." "How much of the time did you pilot the plane?" Miss Elder was asked. "Half the time," Haldeman put in. "And lots of that time was when we were in tough storms." "Between the man and woman fliers, they pieced together a history of their epic—the New York to Paris flight that nearly spelled death.

Haldeman: "The oil ran out and the bearings of our engine started to burn at midnight. We did not see the Dutch steamer that picked us up until four a. m."

Ruth: "I cut a hole in the fuselage as we were coming down and climbed out through it."

Haldeman: "I think that if we had not sighted a ship our radio kite would have saved us."

All members of the cast of the pageant of ancient Ireland which is being produced by members of St. Mary's church are requested to be at rehearsal tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock to be fitted for costumes.

Some 200 attended the annual Armistice Eve dance given by Dilworth-Cornell Post, American Legion, in Cheney hall last night. It was the most successful dance in the history of the legion, both socially and financially. The Dixie serenaders, an orchestra from New Haven, played for the dancing and the grand march. Luncheon was served in the dining room of the hall. John J. Pentland was chairman of the arrangements.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Green of Hartford will be pained to hear of Mrs. Green's sudden death yesterday. Mrs. Green was organist at the Unity church in Hartford for many years and formerly played the organ at the Center Congregational church here. Mrs. Green had a host of friends in Manchester. She and Mr. Green had been most generous in their assistance on many occasions at musical services in the South Methodist church. They were charter associated members of the Men's Choral club. Mrs. Green and Mrs. A. L. Crowell were classmates in the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

The election of officers of the local Scoutmasters, which was scheduled to have been held last night, has been postponed until next month.

SERVICE APPLIANCE STORE TO OPEN HERE

L. B. Pierson to Manage New Salesrooms at 517 Main Street.

Realizing the wonderful opportunities for the sale of electric home appliances in So. Manchester, the Service Appliance Company has opened a new store here at 517 Main street.

The Service Appliance Company is the largest retail home appliance concern in the world and sells washing machines, vacuum cleaners and other appliances for the home. The opening of the local store is only one of many to be opened in this state before January 1st. The company plans to cover the entire state with stores within a few months.

The concern now operates in 5 other states; New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Vermont.

The growth of the company is one of the most phenomenal in the electrical industry. The first store was opened at Schenectady, N. Y., on Aug. 6, 1923 and over 200 stores are now successfully established.

Its present program of expansion offers exceptional opportunities to young men of ambition, as the major portion of the Connecticut organization will be recruited locally in each place in accordance with the policy of the company. An estimate of the company's sales for this year will be about $8,000,000. Most of the company's stock is owned by employees and customers and assets are over $5,000,000. The general offices are located at Schenectady where the concern was originated by L. E. Cass, its president.

All stores in the Connecticut territory will be under the direct supervision of C. W. Zemer, who ranks as one of the outstanding sales executives of the company.

The local store will be under the management of L. B. Pierson, whose experience and sales record has qualified him for this position. Newspaper advertising consistently appears in over 300 publications where stores are operated as this company recognizes the benefits of such a medium, confining its publicity, practically, to the newspapers alone.

DELMAR'S "REVELS" ELABORATE REVUE

Chester Hale Girls and Beautiful Stage Settings Feature Show at Parsons.

Harry Delmar's "Revels" playing at Parsons theater, Hartford, the last of the week is one of the most spectacular revues ever staged. Mr. Delmar has attempted to outdo George White, Earl Carroll and even Flo Ziegfeld in obtaining dazzling effects. He certainly has outdone them all in a display of feminine pulchritude.

The outstanding feature of the show is the appearance of the 16 Chester Hale girls. These young ladies, all of the same size, do marvelous ensemble dancing on their toes. Prominent beauties in the show are Mercedes, Carolyn Noite, Vee Carroll, Helen Eby Rock and Jeanne Hackett. Frank Fay and Bert Lahr contribute plenty of comedy and the dancing of the Trado Brothers with Dorothea James makes a big hit.

"Allez-Oop!" Broadway's loudest praise when "Allez-Oop!" in which the favorite American stars, Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield, come to Parsons Theater for a brief engagement beginning next Monday, November 14, first startled the staid New Yorker from his mid-summer lethargy, was for its absolute novelty. Nothing like it had ever been seen even in the gay Metropolis, where new ideas come high. But J. P. McEvoy, who wrote "Americana" and who is famed to readers of the Sunday supplements as the author of "The Potters," solved the problem in "Allez-Oop!" So if you want something "different," as well as snappy, zippy, spicy and smart, here it is!

The lyrics are by Leo Robin, with music by Philip Charig and Richard Myers.

One point that should be heavily underscored is the promise of Mr. Lean and Miss Mayfield that, fortifying their own great popularity, they are bringing the entire Broadway cast, with all its galaxy of stars, absolutely unchanged in personnel. This includes Charles Butterworth, Evelyn Bennett, Valodia Vestoff, Catherine Grandall, Lon Hassall, Gladys Yates, Cliff O'Rourke, Edgar Gardner, Layman & King, Cuby & Smith, Rita Howard and Helen Fables, and a bewitching dancing chorus of fifty.

There will be a Wednesday matinee at popular prices, the seat sale for all performances opened Thursday.

EXHIBIT OF 'MUMS' HERE ON MONDAY

Lafayette Robertson Jr., Arranges For Unusual Flower Show.

A chrysanthemum show outside of the local florists' windows has never been held in town but through the efforts of Lafayette Robertson, Jr., of the program committee of the Manchester Garden club, an exhibit of sizeable proportions and extraordinary interest is to be held on Monday evening at the Manchester Community clubhouse on North Main street. The "mums" will be in position and the show will be open to the public at 7 p. m.

An urgent invitation is extended to all members of the club and all flower enthusiasts to view the exhibit and to attend the meeting of the club which will follow. Manchester people who have choice potted chrysanthemums or hardy varieties of different kinds have also been invited to bring them to lend interest to the show. There will of course be no competition or prizes. Mr. Robertson has personally interviewed Superintendent of Parks G. H. Hollister of Hartford, who has consented to loan for the exhibit all the choice varieties from the Elizabeth Park greenhouses that can be safely transported. Another notable exhibit will be from the extensive greenhouses on the Goodwin estate on Asylum Avenue at Woodland street. Through his acquaintance with the head gardener, Frank Roulier, this has not only been brought about, but Mr. Robertson has prevailed upon Mr. Roulier to give an informal talk on Chrysanthemums, illustrated with some of the very plants he has been experimenting with.

Mr. Roulier is a native of Switzerland, receiving his first gardening experience in Luzerne. He has also been engaged in gardening in Paris, Germany and England and is considered outstanding in his calling. Mr. Roulier will be ready to answer questions regarding chrysanthemums or on any other subject on which the members desire information.

HOP TO HONOLULU

FLOOD TROUBLES
Central Village, Conn., Nov. 11.—Flood troubles were felt along Moosup river again today. Summit bridge, just over the state line in Rhode Island, went out this morning and blocked an important highway. A new cement bridge in Oneco is reported as sinking and probably will be closed. Both bridges were weakened by the flood of last Friday.

RAIN FAILS TO HALT CELEBRATION PLANS

Armistice Day Parade and Exercises Expected to Proceed As Arranged.

While factory whistles, church bells and fire alarms sounded, Manchester paused two minutes just before 11 o'clock this morning to mark the ninth anniversary of the end of the World War in which 45 young men from this town made the supreme sacrifice.

Rain early today threatened to make conditions disagreeable for the parade tonight but it is expected to take place notwithstanding. The parade will form at the lower end of Main street and will start at 7 o'clock. Harry Maidment, former commander of Dilworth-Cornell Post, American Legion, will be the marshal. In the line will be a platoon of the Manchester Police Department, the American Legion, Army and Navy Club, Spanish War Veterans, Silk City Flute Band, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army Band.

The line of march will be along Main Street to Haynes Street where it will turn into Memorial Hospital. Principal C. P. Quimby, of the High school here, will be the principal speaker at the exercises on the lawn in front of the hospital. He will talk on the significance of the day. The invocation will be given by Rev. Marvin C. Stocking of this town. Otto Somnison will read the names of the roll call of Manchester's deceased World War veterans and as each name is called, an ex-service man will step forward and decorate a memorial tree with a wreath. Rev. Watson Woodruff will offer prayer and taps will be sounded by Bugler George L. Rose of Company G.

VERY BIG INDIANS HERE LAST NIGHT

Great Chiefs of Conn. Red Men Pay Official Call on Miantonomoh.

The great chiefs of Connecticut visited Miantonomoh tribe of Red Men here last night. With the chiefs were other members of Red Men's lodges in Hartford, New Britain and Putnam. Following are the grand officers who occupied the chairs: Great Sachem, A. M. Pohlman of Norwalk; senior, sagamore, Frank A. Sears of Naugatuck; junior, sagamore, Frank Haggerty of Greenwich; prophet, William F. Newport of Torrington; keeper of records, William Saunders of Waterbury; sash, Frank Firth of Bristol; mischenaw, Albert Genoa of South Norwalk; past grand sachem, Albert Kitzner of Waterbury; past sagamore, William Risley of Talcottville. Walter Gustafson, deputy over Nonowontic tribe of New London, will go to that town tonight to install the officers of the hayloft. He will be accompanied by William Schielde, Max Wagner, Joseph Conell, Sherwood Pfau and John Wilson. Other Red Men will go to Middletown to participate in the Armistice day parade.

On Tuesday night the local degree team will work the adoption degree for Arrowhead tribe of Hartford. The great chiefs will be present on that evening.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (132) The First Gas Light. The first American to light his home with gas was David Melville of Newport, Rhode Island. Baltimore was lighted in 1817 and Glasgow the same year.

Beautiful quality hose, of flawless weave, and finest texture. Absolutely full fashioned—a feature which is not always found in so-called "stop-run" full fashioned hosiery.

When the ends of the wires were brought close together a light appeared, but it was so hot that it burned the wires. Davy fastened pieces of charcoal on the ends and this was able to make a splendid light.

OPEN FORUM

INSPIRED TO POETRY IN FIGHT ON MOVIES

"No Surrender" Pleads For Action of Clergymen by Way of Verse.

The proposal to show motion pictures in Manchester Sunday afternoons has brought out a poet. A local man who believes evidently that the local clergymen are not taking action to prevent the theaters to open Sunday afternoons has sent in the lines below. The Sunday motion picture hearing will be held in the Municipal building Wednesday evening November 16. In defense of the clergymen it might be said that they requested the Board of Selectmen to call a hearing on the question. In the day of Latimer and Ridley, according to Fox. And then there was Wesley and good John Knox. They stood for the right against every foe. If it meant their death, then to death they would go. "No compromise" their battle cry "Rather than do this we sure will die." It led them to prison, torture and stake. They endured it all, for Jesus' sake. And as their spirits took their flight. The angels marveled at such a sight. These were the clergy of by-gone days. Who were not afraid their voice to raise. They didn't care what the people sought; They were serving God in deed and thought. And if God said "Remember the Sabbath Day And keep it holy," they sure would obey. Now what do we find in these modern days Of dance and movies and innocent plays? No word of remonstrance, the clergy are dumb. It's enough to make any good man feel glum. We go to church in the early morn— Is it only a custom, just merely a form? We ask God to help us, remember His day And then desecrate it in sport and play. I think that God on the final day Will say to the clergy "Where are they? The flock that I gave you to watch and keep?" Can you say to him, "Lord here are all Thy sheep. "We've taught them to reverence Thy holy day "And keep away from the indecent play. "We've warned them to flee from the wrath to come "And got them started for the Heavenly home. Ah! then 't will be well on that final day And methinks I can hear the Father say. "You've led them right. "You've helped them to victory in the fight." May Manchester's Clergy hear Him say "You have fought a good fight, you've won the day." NO SURRENDER.

ANDOVER

Mrs. Ellen Earl Jones entertained eighteen friends Tuesday. Guests were present from Hartford, Coventry, Willimantic and Andover. The evening was spent with music and a general social time. Refreshments were served late in the evening. Mrs. Ward Talbot called on relatives in Manchester Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Addison E. Frink spent Wednesday with her daughter, Mrs. Eugene W. Platt of Manchester. Mrs. Lewis Phelps visited Hartford Wednesday afternoon. On their way home Mr. and Mrs. Phelps called on Mrs. Platt. John Hutchinson attended the Grange and harvest supper in Wapping Tuesday evening. Mrs. Charles Bailey of Columbia is visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Merritt. The new road to the Andover Lake was somewhat damaged by the late severe rain. Workmen are busy repairing it. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Frink of Hartford were callers in town Wednesday evening.

UNION WILL CARE FOR FAMILIES OF STRIKING MINERS

Eviction Suits Begun By Operators May Dispossess Thousands.

Pittsburgh.—Regardless of the present controversy between the United Mine Workers of America and the coal operators in Western Pennsylvania, miners and their families will be taken care of by the union.

From all indications at present, it looks as though the union men will be forced out of their homes through eviction suits now in the state courts. It will result in the ejection of more than 1,000 families from company owned houses. But the United Mine Workers has undertaken to provide the ousted families with homes for the winter, and the duration of the strike.

Contracts have been drawn up by the union lawyers that provide for the building of barracks to house any families that are forced to leave their homes through eviction proceedings. Won Many Suits. The Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation has won more than 500 eviction suits against former employees since it renounced the closed shop policy and has begun to operate its mines with non-union labor.

A subsidiary of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation has won more than 500 other suits to evict union men no longer employed by it. A subsidiary of the Wheeling Steel company won 100 eviction cases.

These 1000 and more cases have been appealed to the state superior court, where they are now pending. The attorneys for the United Mine Workers arguing that union men still had a right to remain in the company owned houses.

But in the temporary injunction handed down by the Federal Court here, the union was forbidden to assist its members in fighting any future eviction suits filed by attorneys for the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation. In addition, the National Surety Company was restrained from furnishing bond for any further appeal by union miners.

To Build Barracks. Facing a situation where it no longer would be able to count on assistance of its members by fighting eviction proceedings in the state courts, officials of the United Mine Workers turned to the next best thing they could do for their men. The barracks will be built in time

NOGALES QUIET AS REVOLUTION BRINGS GLOOM

Death of Gen. Serrano and De La Huerta Give Natives Shock.

Nogales, A Sonora, Mexico.—The most recent Mexican revolution is over so far as Nogales is concerned.

Nogales lies drowsing itself in the sun today with that paradoxical temperament which allows the Latin to experience stark tragedy one day and tomorrow dance merrily the gay fandango.

With the news of the execution of General Francisco Serrano, near Mexico City, a shiver of apprehension of dire days to come shook the 22,000 residents of this city. "El General Serrano dead," it seemed impossible but official reports dispelled the doubt and made the situation more alarming.

A Touching Scene. At the home of General Alvaro Obregon former president of the republic and candidate for re-election to that office, Senora Maria Tapia Serano was stunned by the news. Friends of the family present when word of Serrano's execution arrived described the scene as a most touching one. Senora Obregon is said to have read and re-read the message and then realizing its full import broke into that protracted lamentation characteristic of the Latin race. General Pablo Maclas Sonora Division Commander with members of his staff planned a strategic campaign for the federal forces quartered in that sector. Mexican army intelligence officers reported that Alfonso de La Huerta, rebel chieftain, with General Medina Yaqul leader, had crossed from the American side of the line and were headed southward to take over command of no-mad Indian hordes reported at odds with the central government.

Death of De La Huerta. General Manuel Aguirre, heading 150 federal troopers, reported that he had encountered and slain De La Huerta and Medina and others of their party. He advised that the body of De La Huerta had been moved on horseback to a railroad point where it was loaded on a flat car for transport to Nogales.

Before dawn the next day the body of De La Huerta arrived here. Federal troops took charge of the remains in the railroad yards and immediately moved the body to the adjoining plaza. Here the body was trussed against a tree at a point but 100 yards from the American boundary.

A soiled canvas tarpaulin was wrapped around the lower portion of the body, while the head, chest and arms were left exposed. Numerous knife and bullet wounds brought home the tragedy of a "lost cause."

For several hours the mutilated body was left exposed to the gaze of hundreds who paused for a time and then turned away in scattered groups to comment. After midday De La Huerta, denied the usual honors of burial, was trundled in a police patrol for a trip up the "Big long trail," to the pantheon National, Potter's Field with no mourners daring to follow. Buried Face Down. Here without prayer or "taps" the insurrecto's remains were cast, face downward into a grave, as before a traitor to the republic," it was said. Then same tarpaulin served as both shroud and coffin. Beginning the next day, the grave, the eighteenth in a cosmopolitan row of Mexican, Japanese, Chinese and unknowns, became a shrine of those who expressed responsibility for De La Huerta and his convictions and who were courageous enough to brave official displeasure. They trooped to the cemetery foot and by motor car, past crumbling abode dwellings down a road where swins and goats roamed without leashes and finally through the reeking municipal garbage dump to the padlocked gate of the burial ground.

ARMISTICE HOUR

Nine years ago last spring this country and the countries of its war allies were filled with gloom. It seemed as if the high tide of German power would roll over the worn and thinned armies of France and England and Belgium before the thronging legions of America could come to their rescue.

In bringing about this stupendous change in the situation in Europe thirty-nine thousand Americans were killed in action, more than thirteen thousand died of wounds and twenty-three thousand died of disease, overseas. Disease, accidents and other causes incidental to mobilization took the lives of more than forty-two thousand on this side of the water.

It would seem that a thing bought at such a price might well be regarded as something deserving of serious consideration to say the least—that on the annual recurrence of this day, if at no other time, we might bestow something like a grateful thought upon those hundred and twenty-six thousand of our fellows whose lives ended untimely that there might be a victorious Armistice day to celebrate.

We are not at all sure that we should like to see Armistice Day become a general holiday—to be devoted, like our other national days of sacred memories, to football, sports, joy riding and every thought but a thought of the hundred and twenty-six thousand graves. But it would not seem to be too much to expect every factory wheel in the country were to halt for those three minutes at 11 o'clock, if every sale were to be postponed, if the whirl of our industries and our commerce and our daily affairs were to cease, just for three minutes, while we directed our thoughts to the culmination of that bloody task nine years ago—and to the youths who ceased to live.

PRIVATE DICKS

Whether the grand jury proceedings in the Fall-Sinclair jury tampering case ever result in the punishment of any of the offenders or not, at least one useful end will have been served in the shedding of a deal of light on the purposes and methods of private detective agencies.

These agencies constitute an activity that has escaped publicity to a rather surprising extent. And in the absence of any real information as to what they do and how they do it there has long been a tendency on the part of the public to regard them not only with respect but not a little awe. Middle aged persons can recall very distinctly the time when it was the common idea that if one had occasion to have a crime detected and the criminal hunted down the only really right thing to do, if you could afford it, was to engage the Pinkertons for the job; then it would be sure to be done with surpassing cleverness and indefatigability. And in more recent times the name of W. J. Burns has been one to conjure with.

It is entirely possible that there may be private detectives who are as respectable and honorable and clever as the entire calling used to be considered. But if so they do not by any means constitute the entire number of those who get their living and make their money by sleuthing for hire.

As a matter of fact there is a profound impression that more than one of the notable detective agencies that have held forth in this country during the last quarter of a century is a pretty dubious institution that would bear a deal of watching. Indeed, a thousand circumstances with which police and newspaper people have become familiar have long led toward the belief that some of the agencies are rather more likely, at any given time, to be serving lawbreakers than to serving the law. That they predicate their successes on a wide and intimate acquaintance with criminals everyone with a particle of sophistication knows, and that they recruit their operatives from the fringe of the underworld in many cases is just as thoroughly understood.

It is just as well that the public at large should have been let in on the proceedings of the Burns agency in this jury-trailing business, even if no other result is obtained.

VAN LOON'S BOGEY

Hendrick Willem Van Loon, author of a tabloid history of the human race and native of Holland, has written an interesting letter to the New York World in which he sounds a fire-alarm warning that Big Bill Thompson must not be giggled at because he is the most dangerous contender in the country for the Republican nomination for President of the United States.

Here is how Mr. Van Loon figures it out: During the war "millions" of perfectly splendid Americans of the great middle west, who had no love for England or of France, were hectoring and abused and spied on and generally all-mussed up by the rabid propagandists and pro-Franks of the East. They were such fine Americans, Mr. Van Loon says, that they fell all over themselves to support Uncle Sam in the war with Germany, gave their sons for the army and all that, but they still couldn't stomach either Britain or France. And they couldn't stomach being suspected and denounced and put upon by government agencies, and watched by Department of Justice sleuths because they couldn't see they got real sore.

Now, says Hendrick Willem, the canny Big Bill comes forward as the spokesman of these untold millions of nursers of ten-year-old gronches—and the grouch holders are going to make him the G. O. P. candidate, just to show the eastern Anglomaniacs where they get off.

Just how they are going to do it, Mr. Van Loon doesn't bother to tell us. He is almost as skeptical on this matter as he was when he carried mankind all the way through the protoplasm to the performer in calculus in one book. But he is quite positive.

Mr. Van Loon is a specialist in histories of the Dutch. Also he had the advantages of Munich education. Neither of these things, however, it seems to us, have exactly trained him as an expert in the psychology of the Republican party. Nor yet in its statistics; else he would know that not all the disgruntled pro-Germans of Chicago, Milwaukee and Cincinnati combined can make a noise in any national Republican convention comparable to the buzz of a gnat in the midst of a bombardment.

HARD COAL

John L. Lewis, mine labor leader, has spent but little of his time in the anthracite consuming sections of the country. If he had as much knowledge of the hard coal burner as he has of the hard coal digger he would never have told the operators that the so-called anthracite problem is not one of price but of quality and service to the public, as he did on Wednesday. Both Mr. Lewis, representing the miners, and Mr. Warriner, representing the operators, and everybody else connected with hard coal production might as well realize that price is going to have a very great deal indeed to do with the ultimate decision of the anthracite consuming states as to whether to keep on being anthracite consumers or to quit the use of hard coal altogether.

If Mr. Lewis is telling his followers that there is no limit to the price New England people will pay for hard coal and that therefore there need be no limit to the wages they can demand, then he is cruelly deceiving them.

The hard coal industry is more or less up against it already, what with the oil burner and the education as to substitute fuels that coal strikes have forced upon the people of the northeast. It will be up against it even harder if it does not soon begin to realize that the consumer is either going to get decent coal at a more reasonable figure than he has been paying, or he is going to walk out on the operators and let them leave their coal in the ground or eat it, as they see fit. And this within an extremely few years.

SHUT YOUR EARS Robert Dexter, an Australian newspaper man with Hollywood experience, has told a federal commission at Sydney that Australians are so far from being good looking that the best dressed man in that city of a million and a quarter couldn't hold down the job of a $5 a day extra on a movie lot, that there is only one man in the country handsome enough to use in a film—and that the girls are sloppy, don't know how to dress and have bad teeth.

Now if somebody in Australia will only get sober enough to talk without bicoughing we may learn precisely what Australia thinks of Robert Dexter.

SOVIET TAMMANYITE

Testimony in a New York lawsuit over commissions in a deal in Russian furs has brought out the fact that one of the litigants, while in Moscow four years ago, ran across a man named Kogan, then an intimate of the high Soviet commissars and in charge of Soviet propaganda, whom he had known in New York as a political expert boy for Charlie Murphy, late chieftain of Tammany Hall.

Now the question will arise, was Murphy learning things about Kogan or was Kogan learning things from Murphy? Our guess is that the silent man of Tammany had the less to learn of the two.

A New Yorker in Paris

London.—So this is London! Left-hand traffic. . . . Perhaps you can escape with your life since I did. . . . Piccadilly Circus at night. . . . semi-circle, the bright lights of which tell that Broadway has completely captured Europe. . . . Three English plays to every five American productions. . . . Sidney Howard, the playwright, introducing "The Silver Cord," which the Theater Guild did in New York last season. . . . And with his wife, Claire Ames, all over the lot. . . . And then down to the Strand, where an all-night church reception for the vagabonds who have no money for lodging. . . . The Thieves' Market. . . . Actually an open-air book shop. In years ago, they tell me, thieves actually peddled their ill-gotten loot. . . . Scotland Yard kept an open eye. . . . today the pawn brokers take their wares there and crowds gather to pick up bargains. . . . They tell me, also, that here come many once rich folk, who have fallen into poverty and offer for sale their silvers and baubles. . . . One may be purchasing parts of the household of royalty. . . . There slings to it a colorful mystery. . . . And one can buy anything from furniture to candelabras. . . . The trading is done directly from the pavement. . . . Everything is spread out and the bartering is fast and furious. . . . Prices frequently are suspiciously low. . . . And there is "Petticoat Lane" in Hellgate, where upon Sunday mornings the "ghetto" of London does its trading from wheelbarrows and barrels. . . . Seemingly it is my destiny to arrive late. . . . For they tell me the colorful costermongers are no more, though I defy anyone to understand their English. . . . French is a far easier language. . . . But their checkered shirts and many buttoned vests are no more. . . . They wear the clothing of Sixth Avenue, New York. . . . Only their talk betrays them. . . . In a careless moment, before leaving New York, I purchased some English tweed that I might feel quite at home in London. . . . Yet the first five people I met in London told me they knew me "as a foreigner" immediately by my American clothes. . . . "How come?" I inquired. . . . "Oh, come," they replied, "by your American tweeds. . . . "But," quoth I, "these are English tweeds. . . . And I proudly displayed a label in the coat lapel. . . . To which reply came only hearty laughs. . . . It seems that few Britishers actually wear tweeds. . . . And those flirtatious Scotch, Irish and English maids in Regent street. . . . It seems that, since women than men in London, and they are a bit desperate. . . . To those seeking easy conquest I would suggest an immediate trip to London. . . . French maids have those "oo. . . . lal la" eyes, but British maids openly smile upon you and wait on the counter for you. . . . Those old women who come to the pubs for beer in the morning. . . . And the very pretty blond maids who sit by themselves sipping porter in the evening. . . . The Victorian faces that flash down from the windows on Queen's road. . . . And those shawls, the like of which you haven't seen since grandma died. . . . The barmaids, quite the healthiest, female animals you are likely to see, not excluding the farmers' maids of Kansas, if any. . . . They greet you in a most friendly fashion, catch your American accent at once and then raise the price of your drinks by a sixpence or, at least a "tuppence." . . . And those London mornings in Kensington gardens with nurses in rubber boots, Russian boots and leggings, and those fascinating capes of green, blue and tan. . . . To say nothing of those red-checked English girls, rushing to the Kensington ponds with their miniature sail boats. . . . This is quite the fad among the elderly gents of Bayswater road and way streets. . . . The bootblacks with cockney accent. . . . The sign reading "Champagne 9 shillings." . . . The splendid looking girls in the world, with their knitted scarfs and tailored clothes.

GILBERT SWAN.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER Washington, Nov. 11.—One often hears that we, the people of the United States, are a dumb lot, incompetent to govern ourselves and hence allowing ourselves to be governed by an assortment of grafters, four-flushers and plutocrats. The fact seems to be, however, that when we get our hooks into an opportunity for more direct self-government, we generally hang on despite all efforts to loosen our grip. As voters, we may make mistakes, but when we know what we want we get it to the extent permitted us.

These references, of course, are principally to the initiative and referendum system and the direct primary.

Thirty-eight states nominate national or state candidates, or both, by the primary system. Since 1924, Montana and North Carolina have abandoned the presidential primary and Vermont, Iowa and Minnesota had discarded it previously. Courts have acted against the primary law in Alabama and Texas. But not one of the 38 states has thrown the primary overboard as a whole and it is becoming more and more popular despite the means of professional politicians.

Similarly, 18 states have the initiative and referendum in practical operation and none of them has abandoned it.

The primary allows the voters to choose party candidates instead of being forced to elect hand-picked men and the initiative and referendum allows them to initiate legislation which may be denied by an incompetent or corrupt legislature or to repeal legislation already passed.

Both systems, in operation for years, have shown weaknesses. They are susceptible even to corruption, but not dangerously so. They are sometimes influenced by heavily financed propaganda, especially if there is no effective altruistic muckpuck to reach the voters. But both leave the decision with the voters and not with a small group of politicians.

The primary has taken a seemingly more important part in the national scene than the I. & R., but it seems safe to predict that the latter eventually will become a much greater influence. Referendums are held on issues. Elections are held on men. Today there seem to be no real national issues between the two big national parties and the same condition is often reflected in the states.

Such issues as are mixed up in election campaigns only serve to complicate them to the end that it is often difficult to tell which issues the voters repudiated or endorsed, regardless of who was elected. Then again, many of the important issues are straddled because of their tendency to split parties—prohibition being a classic example, of course. It does seem likely that the people will decide more and more of these issues for themselves at the ballot box, instead of being forced to choose from two hedgepodge conglomeration of issues between insincere candidates.

Voters in 36 states voted directly on 194 measures last year, two-thirds of them proposals to amend state constitutions. Judson King, director of the National Popular Government League, who writes many of the state I. & R. laws, says that of the measures voted on during 1926 in I. & R. states:

"Thirty-six related to changes in the structure of government or the administration of government, or the processes of political action; twenty had to do with changes in the taxation system or the rate and methods of taxation; four related to public ownership or regulation of public utilities; ten dealt with education, including both the universities and public school systems, six were anti-prohibition; four were concerned with farm and labor legislation."

Voters have generally refused in these referenda to increase the salaries of public officials and show a strong tendency to improve bond issues. They voted progressively 39 times and conservatively 15 times in 1926, when the results could be so classified, according to King.

No one, apparently, has yet been bold enough to initiate a petition for referendum designed to abolish the I. & R. itself. But certain interests in Maine, identified with the "No" interests, assembled enough signatures to obtain a referendum on whether the direct primary should be abolished. The pro-insult folks wanted to nominate their own candidate for governor. The voters decided that they would nominate their own man and gave the proposal to abolish the primary a severe drubbing.

Friends of the I. & R. over the country are not always 100 per cent enthusiastic for it. This probably is because sometimes their measures win and sometimes the other fellow's are approved. But they all seem to agree that its principal value is a deterrent against legislation which would not meet popular approval. In Maine and elsewhere, the I. & R. is known as "The Gun Behind the Door."

SELECTIONALISM REPLACING 1928 PARTISANSHIP

Lack of Party Feeling to Be Feature During Next Campaign.

Tokepa, Kansas.—The lack of partisan feeling in the middle west was reflected in a statement by Ralph Snyder, president of the Kansas Farm Bureau, who just has returned from a tour of investigation which took him through the states of Nebraska, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas. President Coolidge's decision not to be a candidate for the 1928 presidential nomination has served to "let down the bars" and to obliterate partisanship among the farmers, Snyder asserted. There has not been a time in the past half century when so little partisan feeling was being manifested, he continued. "It is evident," Snyder said, "that this lack of party consciousness will continue through the entire campaign, until the November election in 1928, and that the vote at that time will reflect more sectionalism than partisanship."

Farmers Independent. Pointing to the possible independent farmer movement in the middle west and south, Snyder said: "The great mid-west section seems very positive that its chief industry—agriculture—has been betrayed by both parties, after a very definite promise for relief in both platforms. The South, while not the subject prior to 1926, has since become, if possible more thoroughly 'sold' on some form of farm relief legislation than has the west. Party lines stand a better show of being broken, or ignored in many instances, than has appeared in many decades." After talking with farm leaders in the majority of the middle western states, Snyder said of the Republican line-up appeared "to be either Hoover or Hughes, or Lowden or Dawes." "It is a forerun conclusion," Snyder continued, "that the eastern industrial section of the country will concentrate its forces behind either Hoover or Hughes, with the odds in favor of Hoover, and equally as evident that the west and south will favor Lowden or Dawes, with a slight edge for Lowden. Another unprecedented probability is that the Coolidge administration crowd will be unable to control the southern delegations." Spokesman for Agriculture. Snyder, who, more than any other farm leader in Kansas, is regarded as the spokesman for all the farm organizations, scoffs at the "favorite son" movement now underway in many states. His organization, the Kansas farm bureau, is understood to be strong

WANT HALF DOLLARS.

Washington. — Nearly 600,000 50-cent pieces were coined last month in the mints at Philadelphia, Denver and San Francisco, and the demand is still running ahead of the supply. Officials have been unable to account for the sudden demand, except that no half-dollars were made from 1924 to 1926.

SCHOOL, HEALTH TAKE REVENUES OF PORTO RICO

Education, Improvements and Maintenance Account For 60 Per Cent.

Washington—More than 60 per cent of Porto Rico's revenues are being spent for education, internal improvements and maintenance, and health, according to the annual report of Governor Horace M. Towner, which has just been published.

The public school system received by far the greater proportion of the appropriations in the fiscal year 1926-1927, its allotment being $4,076,721.52 or 37.38 per cent of the total. To Department of the Interior was given $1,418,522.53 or 13.18 per cent, and the Department of Health $1,148,259.03 or 10.67 per cent. Many New Buildings. — Rural schools were given particular attention by the insular government, 84 new buildings and four additions having been provided during the year. At the same time considerable improvement in the school equipment was noted.

High schools and other education institutions shared in this betterment, while the courses of study at the University of Porto Rico were increased. A college of business administration was opened by the university in co-operation with Boston University and a school of tropical medicine in co-operation with Columbia University. A system of evening extension courses was also inaugurated.

Enlargement of educational facilities in the island has resulted in the last 25 years in the reduction of illiteracy from 83 to below 40 per cent of the population. Department of Interior, funds were used during the year for the building of about 50 miles of roads and the construction of numerous other public works, including two university buildings.

Malaria A Menace. — The new capitol, insane asylum and penitentiary are nearing completion, the report said, as well as the children's building at the Insular Tuberculosis Sanitarium, the district hospital at Ponce and the district court house at Guayama.

Malaria continued to battle the health authorities of the island, but decreases were reported in the number of cases of all other epidemic diseases. An increase was noted, however, in the death rate, there being 1,213 more deaths last year than the year before. Deaths from tuberculosis, malaria, enteritis and diarrhea also increased.

A campaign is being carried forward, the governor reported, to overcome this situation by organizing public health units in all the municipalities and by health education in the public schools.

TALCOTTVILLE A son, Warren, was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Rivenburg on Thursday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Koch and daughter Jean are spending several days with relatives at Southold, Long Island. The local manufacturing plant closed on Thursday and will re-open on Monday morning. The Talcottville Fire and Drum Corps took part in the Armistice day parade in Rockville this morning. Miss Alice Doggart, who has been making an extended visit with her sister Mrs. Edwin Williams at Clyde, Alberta, Canada, is expected to arrive home on Sunday.

Miss Florence Pinney is the guest of friends in New Haven over Armistice day. One of the most successful entertainments ever held in Talcottville took place on Wednesday evening when a quartet of singers from Piedmont College, of Danvers, Georgia, gave a concert in the church assembly rooms. About one hundred and thirty attended and a collection of over forty dollars was taken up for the furtherance of work at this school. In connection with the entertainment a food sale and a sale of Japanese articles was held by the ladies of the church missionary society which netted them a good sum.

The BENSON MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE © CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

Characters of the Story PHILIP VANCE JOHN F. X. MARKHAM ALVIN H. BENSON MRS. ANNA PLATZ MURIEL ST. OLAIR MRS. PAULA BANNING ELISE HOFFER COLONEL BIGSEY OSTRANDER WILLIAM H. MORIARTY GEORGE G. STITT MAURICE DINWIDDIE ERNEST HEATH S. S. VAN DINE

THIS HAS HAPPENED Leacock confesses to the murder but Vance exposes the confession as a lie to shield Miss St. Clair. Vance tells Markham to come to his apartment and he will tell him who killed Benson.

CHAPTER LI MARKHAM read this preface through several times, he was fully 15 minutes at the task.

"Not a fancy legal document, that," remarked Vance. "But I think even a grand juror could understand it. You, of course, can rearrange and edit it, and be deck it with innumerable meaningless phrases and recondite legal idioms."

Markham did not answer at once. He paused by the French windows and looked down into the street. Then he said: "Yes, I think you've made out a case. . . . Extraordinary! I've wondered from the first what you were getting at; and your questioning of Platz yesterday impressed me as pointless. I'll admit it never occurred to me to suspect her. Benson must have given her good cause."

He turned and came slowly toward us, his head down, his hands behind him. "I don't like the idea of arresting her. . . . Funny I never thought of her in connection with it."

"And you yourself didn't think of her at first, despite your boast that you knew who did it after you'd been in Benson's house five minutes."

"Vance smiled mirthfully, and sprawled in his chair. "Damn it! You told me the next day that no woman could have done it, no matter what evidence was adduced, and harangue me about art and psychology and God knows what."

"Quite right," murmured Vance, still smiling. "No woman did it." "No woman did it!" Markham's gorge was rising rapidly. "Oh, dear no!" He pointed to the sheet of paper

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

"Are parents mere biological tools to be cast aside like old shoes as soon as their period of usefulness to the child is over?" Thus does a mother answer the cry of the modern girl that she has "a right to her own life and her own home."

And this bitterness of a mother is perfectly matched by the bitterness of a daughter, for mothers and daughters come in conflict on no subject so sharply as that of "a girl's right, married or single, to her own home."

The main point which girls who want their own homes stress when they come up against paternal bitterness at their feeling of their "right" for this very thing is their conviction, generally a true one, that not one word of censure would be spoken if they dodged any form of parental responsibility in order to be married.

Daughters who marry may forever shake off any sense of duty to their parents, and absolutely no question is asked, nor any word of reproach spoken.

But an unmarried daughter whose life may be three-fold as complex and worthwhile as that of her married sisters, is forced by family opinion to bear a burden, not only of economic obligation, but of responsibility to her parents' happiness and pleasures which should be evenly born by all her brothers and sisters.

It is so strong that it is bound to make trouble. All women, young and old, want their own homes—in many cases, want their own four walls, to dictate how that home shall be managed, is one of the strongest human instincts.

Walls of reproach such as the one quoted above seem to imply that parenthood should be glorified for what it has sacrificed and done.

How many mothers who censure their daughters aloud or in their hearts for wanting homes of their own, play fair enough to look back into the past and recall their own attitude when necessity demanded some sort of arrangement for either the parents of husband or wife?

Most of them have only memories of bitterness because their new home had to be disrupted by the entry of a third party, or of some practical money arrangement they made, which hired a housekeeper or practical nurse to live with the old folks.

"But that was different!" they will say. "We were married women. We had a right to our own homes and be alone, if possible."

Fiddlesticks! The instinct of home possession is exactly as strong in unmarried women as in married ones. The instinct to have the right to perfect privacy within one's own four walls, to dictate how that home shall be managed, is one of the strongest human instincts.

It is so strong that it is bound to make trouble. All women, young and old, want their own homes—in many cases, want their own four walls, to dictate how that home shall be managed, is one of the strongest human instincts.

Daily Health Service HINTS ON HOW TO KEEP WELL by World Famed Authority

MESSAGE OF HUNGER IS CONVEYED BY PAIN By DR. MORRIS FISHBAIN Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

In a recent series of essays on "Cultivating the Child's Appetite," Dr. Charles A. Aldrich gives an excellent resume of our present knowledge of the factors governing hunger and the desire for food.

Hunger, as defined by Professor A. J. Carlson of the University of Chicago, is a more or less painful sensation located in the general vicinity of the stomach. Secondly, it is associated with headache, feeling of emptiness, nausea and weakness.

Professor Carlson found also a state of increased nervous excitability and an increased pulse rate as regular features of the hunger sensation. It is interesting to notice how perfectly the famous Norwegian novelist, Knut Hamsun, describes the development of these symptoms in his remarkable novel, "Hunger."

Stomach Contractions During feeling of hunger there are vigorous contractions of the stomach. The pain of hunger varies according to the intensity of these contractions. The strength of the contractions is measured by having the patient swallow an empty rubber balloon. This is then pumped full of air.

When the stomach contracts the air is pressed upon and passing out of the tube that leads from the stomach through the mouth it can cause a moving finger to write on a revolving drum. At the same time the person tested records the hunger sensation by pressing a key. The contractions of the stomach and the hunger pains occur together.

The moment anything is put into the stomach the hunger sensations stop or quiet down. The sight of food, various pleasant emotions, or unpleasant ones, smoking, pressure on the abdomen, or high fever will lessen the contractions or prevent them.

Home Page Editorial Barriers of the Years By Olive Roberts Barton

"Why is it that one so seldom sees mothers and daughters together, unless it is on a shopping expedition for daughter?"

The woman who asked the question is a grandmother now. But, not so long ago, when her daughters were eighteen and twenty years old, she could have passed for their sister, and still could, I believe. She has always been their friend and companion.

Sometimes I believe that the older we grow, as a nation the less fine our customs become in some respects. One of our shortcomings is the age line we draw. Surely there is something wrong when human beings of different ages separate into groups, like salmon, and swim through life blindly satisfied with their contemporaries.

Contact with people of other ages or generations than our own is a source of great development. It gives us something not to be had from books, culture, or travel.

While the woman of fifty benefited from contact with her daughters or her daughter's children, probably the greater advantage was to her girls themselves, for youth has more to gain from contact with older people than older people have from youth.

Society divides itself into dozens of groups. Each faction segregates itself. Choose any group of intimates and very possibly ages in it will not vary six years, men and women included. They have little to do with those in either older or younger crowds than themselves.

The family is responsible. Social custom gets its impetus from family example. That is why the younger generation has become an invincible clan that recognizes not the prestige of its elders.

If parents saw to it that their friends were their children's friends, and vice versa, isn't it likely that cock-sure youth would recognize its callowness and incidentally absorb a few fine things that no college can give them?

OLD MEXICO FILM
COMING TO CIRCLE

"Rose of Golden West" Starts
Two-Day Run Tomorrow;
Mary Astor Stars.

Mary Astor and Montague Love divide honors in the feature, "Rose of the Golden West," which comes to the Circle theater tomorrow for two days. Another of the stars in the film is Gilbert Rowland, the handsome leading man.

A pulse-striving romance that rocked three nations and played a dramatic part in the winning of California to the United States 70 years ago is the theme of "Rose of the Golden West."

George Fitzmaurice, who gave the screen "The Dark Angel," "The Tender Hour" and other successes, offers the theater-going public a thoroughly satisfying and thrilling love story in a gorgeous setting, that of the rich country by the Pacific when it was ruled by the Spanish dons.

Gallant caballeros ride at midnight to keep trysts with starry-eyed señoritas. Hot-blooded patriots battle the intrigues of nations fighting for possession of the golden western empire. Adventure, hand to hand struggles between a handsome hero and his antagonists, a gorgeous moonlight festa beneath the cypress trees of Monterey, appealing love scenes between a handsome youth and a beautiful girl—these are some of the elements of "Rose of the Golden West."

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL
PLAYS RIALTO THEATER

Change of Program Tomorrow
With Another Double
Attraction in Store For Patrons.

Double feature bills are on the program for today and tomorrow at the Rialto theater. Today's program consists of Buffalo Bill Jr. in "The Galloping Gobb" and Joseph Schildkraut in "Meet the Prince." Both films are crammed full of plenty of action, comedy and each has an intriguing plot. Then there is a comedy, news weekly and another chapter of "Fighting For Fame."

While the title "The Galloping Gobb" might suggest a sea story the action or most of it, takes place on the western range and Buffalo Bill Jr. as a salaried who wins a ranch in a poker game, fights his way to the love and fortune he so justly deserves.

A graphic illustration of what happens to members of the deposed Russian nobility is shown in "Meet the Prince."

The picture opens on one of the palaces of the Grand Duke of Russia; then the scene is shifted to a modest home in Petrograd and finally to a typical Bowery tenement in New York with fire escapes, cheap furniture and empty milk bottles.

Joseph Schildkraut, who plays the prince, however, manages to get out of the tenement and in the final scenes he is well on the way to prosperity, once more.

Mr. Schildkraut, Marguerite De La Motte, Julia Faye, Vera Steadman and David Butler are featured. Helen Dunbar also is in the cast. Saturday's double feature program will include Leo Mahoney in "The Long Loop," Wallace Berry and Lewis Stone in "The Golden Share," Sunday comes Buster Keaton in "The General" and John Bowers in "The Heart of the Yukon."

CALDWELL OUT OF GAME, YALE BOARD DECIDES

After Long Discussion, Officials Decide That Star Back Can't Play Tomorrow.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 11.—"I'm out," said Bruce Caldwell yesterday. Today, after the most momentous meeting in the history of the board of control of the Yale University Athletic Association, the quiet, steady-eyed star from the Rhode Island milltown really was out.

He will not play against Princeton in the Bowl tomorrow. Nor ever again does that blue sweater with the numeral "48" tacked on its back.

They didn't fool Caldwell. Those powers that be in things athletic at Yale. For more than three hours and in ten thousand well-chosen words, they debated his case pro and con, but not once did the lad, waiting alone in his room in Harkness Hall for their verdict, hold out hope.

The Statement
"I'm out," he said. He was. Bruce knows his Yale. The statement issued to the press by Professor Nettleton, who presided, after the meeting follows:

The Board of Control of the Yale University Athletic Association deeply appreciates the generous initiative of both Princeton and Harvard in suggesting that Bruce Caldwell be permitted, if possible, to play in their coming games with Yale.

Both Harvard and Princeton clearly and courteously recognized that under our dual agreements final responsibility for determining all questions of eligibility rests with the university concerned under the existing rules.

Mr. Caldwell is clearly ineligible to compete in football against Princeton and Harvard, and it seems equally clear to us that no single university can change the rule themselves.

After careful consideration, our board has accordingly unanimously confirmed the decision already announced. With like accord our members unite in expressing their hearty appreciation of the gracious action of Harvard and Princeton and their belief that it confirms and strengthens our mutual friendship and regard.

Somebody in that meeting—perhaps it was Captain Bill Webster of the football team—fought long and hard for Caldwell.

Hardly had the news been announced when the odds on tomorrow's game were cut sharply to even money. Previously the Bulldog had been favored at figures as high as eight to five.

The members of the Yale team were a grim lot when they heard the decision.

Caldwell is extremely popular here, not only as a football hero, but also as a man, and many are of the opinion that he is being made to suffer unjustly.

That apparently is not the opinion of the majority of the Board of Control.

"What could we do?" demanded John W. Gates, athletic director, as he left last night's meeting. "Caldwell broke the rule."

There is no question about that, but friends of the barred halfback are pointing out that Yale also broke the rule. Caldwell, however, is doing all the suffering now. It may be different when the final whistle blows tomorrow evening.

Dissecting Grid Rules by O'Brien

NEW GRID RULE.

By E. J. O'Brien.

As you know, a touchdown is scored when the ball is declared dead, when in the possession of a player, any part of the ball being on, behind or above the opponents' goal line. There is an exception to this rule, however, but one which you seldom see enforced.

Section 14 of Rule 6 in the official guide reads:

"If a foul is committed by a player behind his own goal line when the ball is in possession of neither side and it deprives an opponent of an opportunity to recover the ball to the offensive side behind the opponents' goal line, it shall count a touchdown for the offensive side. If, however, the ball is in the air as from a kick when the foul is committed, it shall count as a safety against the team which committed the offense."

In way of explanation, I will cite a play. Suppose a ball is loose in the end zone of Team A, which is in possession, is in position to fall upon it. To prevent this, a player of Team B kicks the ball. This act prevents a player of Team A from gaining possession of it and the referee should rule it a touchdown even though he never touches the ball.

The same penalty should be inflicted if a player of Team B holds a player of Team A, so as to prevent him from getting possession of the ball. If, however, there is a loose ball in the end zone and no player of Team A is near enough to get possession of it, and a player of Team B kicks it, this should be declared a safety.

The giving of a touchdown to the offense depends on whether it was possible for a player of Team A to secure the ball, and if by an act palpably unfair committed by Team B said advantage is prevented.

In trying to get the Beethoven Glee Club out of pitch last night, the Cubs got out of tune themselves with disastrous results, the Swedish pinsters trimming them twice and grabbing of total pinfall for a well-earned three points. The Cubs had hard luck, 'tis true, but the Beethoven got the breaks and took advantage of them. Only four of the fifteen Cub scores were over 100.

The Masons, one of the strongest, if not THE strongest team, in the Herald Bowling League, notched their way four points upward at 1400. The first two games went the expense of Highland Park, a team that while beaten, kept pinning right to the finish. The Masons hit over 500 each game and had a team total of 1527. That speaks for itself.

The closest game of the first two sessions was between the St. Bridget's and the Knights of Pythias in which the former team won by one pin. The team total of 1402 against opposite ways by 17 pin margins and then the church bowlers eked out two pins ahead in the third to get three points.

The British American Club won two games from the Center Church but topped less pins so the four points were split. The West Side Rec won the third and deciding game from the Bon Ami to get three tallies.

The Cloverleaves and the Knights of Columbus engaged in a close match with the latter team bagging three points. The Knights won two of the three games. An argument arose as to the right of Jack Saldella, who had not participated in the match until the second game, to roll his first game alone after the conclusion of the match. He did and his score of 125 gave the Cloverleaves pinfall and an even break in points, but this score was ruled out by the president of the league because the league rules specifically state that no man may enter any game after the teams have topped the third box. In this instance, they had finished the whole match. The Cloverleaves, however, contend that they had Saldella on hand the first game but did not use him at their opponent's request that each team use only four men. Bill Kaminsky created a new high single record with 129. Frank Arvin set a new three string mark with 352.

YALE-PRINCETON
Against an animated corksiskin background, while cheers boom and reverberate, caught up and swung back from the crowded slopes of Yale Bowl, the Bulldog and the Tiger will clash tomorrow in what should prove the greatest of modern football games between these aged-old rivals.

For the first time since 1924, Yale looks capable of defeating Princeton decisively and yet so desperately do these young men in blue and orange and black fling themselves into these annual battles that all reasonable bets are made at even money.

Many a time the under dog—whether it was the Bulldog or the Tiger—fought through the unexpected victory in Yale-Princeton football games of the past. That is what makes tomorrow's contest at New Haven worth watching, even if you have no partisan feelings in the matter.

"Red" Jones has built a great team at Yale this year. Bill Roper always builds dangerous ones at Princeton.

The last time the Tiger came to Yale Bowl, it went away licking its chops and picking its teeth with splinters from the Eli goal posts. That was Jake Slagle's great year, when the "Flying Dutchman" and his mates swept back and forth across the gridiron, straying Yale tacklers behind them.

Last year, at Palmer Stadium, Yale fared a little better, but finished on the short end of a 10 to 7 score. That was the game in which the Bulldog displayed a new and disastrous form of backward pass, which went from the center to no one at all, the ball bounding about unattended until an eager young Princeton lad fell upon it.

Lack of alertness has cost Yale more against Princeton than any other defect. Princeton youngsters are always alert, and have won many a ball game for that reason. One recalls Sammy White, the Tiger end, who completely ruined an entire Saturday for everyone connected with Yale by picking up a loose ball and scampering the length of the field for a touchdown. And there have been many others in the long history of Yale-Princeton football.

The encouraging thing about this year's Yale team is that it is alert. In some way, Tad Jones has succeeded in persuading his boys not to fumble. The back carry the ball well and handle it well. And Charlesworth, the best defensive center in the East, pounces upon loose balls as though he had been attending Princeton all his life.

Another thing about Yale teams of the past which frequently proved discouraging was lack of judgment on the part of the various quarterbacks. Without going into particulars, it was most distressing to Eli admirers. Johnny Hoben, and Brillhardt, his substitute, have proved themselves brainy quarterbacks, particularly the former. Hoben's direction of this year's team has been a most important factor in its success. Thus Yale is prepared for Princeton in the manner most necessary to success. Of grit, strength and numbers, Yale always has had more than her share.

ARMY GAME WILL DECIDE IF NOTRE DAME IS THE BEST

If Irish Win It Will Mean They Are National Champions, Walsh Declares.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 11.—Notre Dame, far from having forfeited its chance at a national championship—in spite of lamentations to that effect by professing fans who mean because it got itself tied by another good football team, will move within a single victory of that title tomorrow or out of the portrait altogether. It will meet the Army at the Yankee Stadium in one of three big intersectional games which mean about as much as the victory or defeat, either will proceed onward and upward or downward and outward.

The remaining two intersectional meetings will introduce a ton or so of cornhuskers from Nebraska to an unbeaten Pittsburgh team and the Navy to Michigan at Ann Arbor. The latter contest being important only because of its intersectional complexion. Both have taken on the jowl this year and, usually once they do that, the merry populace starts looking the other way.

Yet as I see it, neither team can claim a real national ranking until after tomorrow's returns are in and then only in the event that Notre Dame stops one with the profile. As I see it, the Irish must lose a game before they can lose the championship.

The Minnesota tie of last Saturday merely caused the Irish to lose caste; it didn't affect their title chances. The tie, as a matter of fact and for the sake of an argument, was as good as a victory as far as Minnesota is concerned, for the Irish can point to their 19 to 8 victory over Indiana and Minnesota's 14 to 14 tie with the same team as sufficient evidence of their superiority over the Gophers. The fact that it merely is "paper evidence" means nothing; all you need in these national sweepstakes is plenty of room and the right to argue.

Picks the Irish
Anyhow, I am picking Notre Dame, tongue-lashed by Rockne into the proper frame of mind, to outscore the Army in a free-scoring game—provided the field is dry. In case of rain, it should narrow down to a fight in the forward lines and both of them are good. The Irish reserve strength probably a trifle stronger, however.

The loss of Caldwell must hurt Yale and, as to that, my hunch was Princeton. Caldwell or no Caldwell, it is the only sane way to pick this one, as the lines are almost equal and backfield tactics and possibilities almost parallel.

Pittsburgh, whose attack bogged absolutely down against W. & J. last week, will meet its biggest and probably its most arrogant opponent of the year in Nebraska and must get its ramming and passing reorganized to have a chance. However, you can't pick one like this since there is no comparison possible between teams separated by thousands of miles of territory.

W. & J. Unbeaten
W. & J. like Pitt, is still unbeaten and should have something of a "breather" in Bucknell, although I have a hunch that life is far from extinct in the latter. However, Minnesota surely gets a breather in Drake and so do the two coast leaders, Stanford and Southern California, who meet Santa Clara and Colorado respectively. I would like to say the same for Missouri but one never can tell about Missouri.

I wouldn't attempt to call the Navy-Michigan game nor that between Vandy and Tennessee. The latter is meeting its strongest opponent of the year, Vandy having been beaten only by Texas. In the latter district, by the way, those gifted Texas Aggies will play Rice and Southern Methodist will take on another live one in Baylor.

Unless Stagg has another surprise party lined up, such as he had for Grange in 1925, the Illinois would seem to have all the class over Chicago and should win. As for Penn State and New York University, the only thing I can say is that it is very hard to beat anywhere but particularly so on its own ball field.

Mullen To Make Attempt To Beat Out Rickard

here after the Illinois commissioner found a convenient answer to the question "when is a promoter not a promoter?"

Mullen reasons that a rule of this kind should work both ways. Rickard in Chicago? Why not Mullen in New York?

Mullen now boasts the backing of four Chicago millionaires. This, he argues, may not match Rickard's array of "big businessmen," but with the good will of Tunney behind him, Mullen avers, he is in position to dictate the destiny of a few big fights.

"When Chairman James A. Farley of the New York commission was here for the big fight he said there was nothing in the law to prevent an outsider from coming into New York," Mullen said.

Regarding reports that Rickard has been disclosed as the manager of Jack Dempsey, Mullen said:

"I intend to call on Rickard. Now that it has come out that Dempsey's manager, I am going to submit him terms for a fight in Chicago between Dempsey and Mickey Walker."

YANGER vs. McNAMARA.
Twenty-three years ago today, two famous lightweights clashed in the ring at Peoria, Ill., when Benny Yanger, "The Tipton Slasher," met Willie McNamara, the Chicago Newsboy champion, in a scheduled ten round bout. While the latter ranked high in fistie circles and was touted a comer in the lightweight ranks, he was no match for Yanger who knocked him out in the third round of fast fighting.

Cubs Also Playing at Home Week Before Town Title Game.

Manchester football enthusiasts will get their final chance to look over the Cloverleaves and Cubs before the town title game Sunday when they play at home.

The Cloverleaves are down for a tussle with the fast New Britain Pawnees at Hickey's Grove and the Cubs will exchange line bucks with the Holy Name Club of Hartford at the stadium. Both games will start at 2:45.

The New Britain Pawnees hold a victory over the crack All-Burnside eleven. In all probability, both the Cubs and the Cloverleaves will play a very cautious game Sunday, although each will be out to win.

Manager Bill Griffin announced last night that an out of town umpire and headlinesman would work with Referee Jake Moske in Sunday's game.

GETS HUGE SALARY
Helme Grob, who'll manage the Charlotte Sally League club next season, is said to have signed for the largest salary ever paid a manager in that league.

BUCKLAND PREPARING FOR CHRISTMAS SALE

Parent-Teacher Association Again Plans Big Social Gathering at School.

One of the most active organizations of its kind in town is the Parent-Teacher association of the Seventh District, Buckland, where for years the people of that community, men and women, young and old have worked together in harmony with the school officials and teachers for the benefit of the children and the betterment of school equipment and facilities. During the school year, hardly a week passes that there is not a social gathering of some kind in the assembly hall and the financial profits devoted to the work of the association.

For some years it has been the custom to hold a Christmas sale and entertainment in the assembly hall of the school, in which everybody had a more or less important part. These affairs have done much to promote sociability as well as to swell the treasury. The date set for the proposed Christmas sale is Friday evening, December 2.

The general chairman chosen is Mrs. Frank Smith, who will be ably assisted by Gustave Magnusson and Mrs. Louis Grant, while aprons and towels will be sold by Mrs. Henry Stanley and Mrs. John Jackson. Home-made foods in variety will be offered for sale by Mrs. Andrew Healey, Mrs. Albert La Chance and Mrs. John Derrick.

The fancy work booth will be presided over by Mrs. Arthur Seymour, Mrs. Gustave Magnusson and Mrs. Louis Grant, while aprons and towels will be sold by Mrs. Henry Stanley and Mrs. John Jackson. Home-made foods in variety will be offered for sale by Mrs. Andrew Healey, Mrs. Albert La Chance and Mrs. John Derrick.

The country store booth will be in charge of Miss Rachel Culver and Louis Grant, and candy will be dispensed by Mrs. Armand Hruby and Mrs. Minnie Ludwig. A grab-bag for the children will be provided by Miss Nellie Smith who will be attired in a Colonial dress of many pockets filled with gifts which she will exchange for a nickel or a dime.

GREEN COMMUNITY CLUB REPAIRS SCHOOL FLOOR

Lunt-Jillson Sanding Machine To be Used in Work—Activities to Begin.

Since the building of the new addition to Green school the activities of the Manchester Green Community club have been somewhat handicapped as the assembly hall of the school had to be used for school rooms and was not available to the club for their usual activities. Since the addition has been completed the hall is once more available and the club will renew its former endeavor to provide social recreation and educational entertainment for residents of the Green district.

The club is having the floor of the assembly hall refinished and the work is to be handled by the Lunt-Jillson Co., G. A. Chappell, manager of this company, will personally supervise the work and has extended an invitation to any one interested to inspect the work as it progresses. The floor is to be resurfaced with a Waywell-Chappell Sanding machine and work is to be begun Saturday morning.

As soon as this work is finished the club will enter into a series of entertainments and dances for the winter.

HOLD RUM RUNNERS. Darien, Conn., Nov. 11.—Patrick J. Flynn, a New York pugilist, and Miss Mary Sullivan, 17, of Everett, Mass., are being held here in default of bail of $1000 each to answer a charge of carrying liquor without a permit. They were going to Boston in Flynn's car this morning when Amos Anderson, leading catcher of rum runners, held them up and extracted 20 cases of Scotch whiskey from the car. Snagging springs put Anderson on the trail of the liquor.

SEES MERCY AS A QUALITY OF POWERS

Rev. J. T. Wardle-Stafford Links Sympathy With Might At S. M. E. Mission.

Rev. J. T. Wardle-Stafford preached on "The Mighty God" at the South Methodist church mission last night, taking for his text Job 36, verse 5, "Behold, God is mighty and despoth not any. He is mighty in strength and wisdom." "The Old Testament showed the might of God," Dr. Wardle-Stafford said, "but the New Testament showed his mercy. Genuine might is always merciful, but a little power is worse than no power at all. Sympathy is something that must be gotten from the strong, rather than the weak.

"Christ was sympathetic. He sympathized with the publicans, the sinners and the children. He was also strong. He was a greater than a good man, for a good man could not have saved the world.

"An understanding of God is a wonderful thing to have, but even when the understanding is, not there fully, it is no reason why God and his mercy should be despised.

Take for example Job, a man who never fully understood God, but whose faith never wavered for an instant.

The soloist last night was Thomas Magill, Mrs. Estelle Olson was the soloist this evening.

HERE, it strikes a beautiful woman—and in a few years her charm will have fled. . . Here, it grips a promising man—soon he will sink, with blighted prospects, into obscurity.

What a deadly affliction constipation is! Thief of youth. Robber of strength. Evil forerunner of disease and misery! It destroys health! It kills beauty!

What a blessing that there is relief from this dreadful scourge! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—promptly.

hardly enough to have any effect at all. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. Because ALL-BRAN is 100% bran.

Different from habit-forming drugs

And contrast ALL-BRAN with dangerous drugs and pills—which become useless unless the dose is constantly increased. ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Let it soak a few moments to bring out all its nut-like flavor. Serve it with other cereals. In soups. Recipes on every package.

Don't risk a part-bran substitute. Insist on genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants and cafeterias. On diners. Made by the Kellogg Company in Battle Creek, Mich. Write for free "Treatise on Constipation."

HIS CAR WRECKED AS HE DODGES RACERS

Alexander Tournaud Injured When Mad Drivers Force Him Into a Skid.

Alexander H. Tournaud, partner in the Silk City Filling Station at 653 Center street, had a narrow escape from possible death in an unusual automobile accident on Center street at 2:15 this morning.

As he was driving home from his work, Mr. Tournaud claims he met two automobiles. Both were coming toward him at a rapid rate, one on each side of the road, evidently engaged in a race, he said. Tournaud told police that he had no alternative but to drive between the two cars. Otherwise he would have struck one head-on.

Tournaud succeeded in avoiding the two cars by steering between them, but in doing so his own car skidded, jumped the curb, struck a telephone pole and came back onto the road facing in the opposite direction, he said. His Nash sedan was badly wrecked but he escaped with a deep cut on the wrist.

Sergeant John Crockett made the police investigation. Mr. Tournaud did not go to the hospital but was taken to his home on 115 Oak street.

Company G and the Howitzer Company, Manchester units in the 169th Infantry, are in Middletown today taking part in the dedication ceremonies of a memorial monument in that city. Tonight, the soldiers will attend a dance. The trip was made by trolley car.

THE RAW MATERIAL

THE FACTORY

GETTING eggs narrow down to making eggs. You have the food as the raw material, the hen as the factory and the egg as the finished product. The number of eggs you get is determined by the quantity and the proper balance of the egg-making materials you furnish in what you give the hen to eat and drink.

PROTEINS, which a hen gets from Chicken Chowder, goes to make up the white of an egg. Fat, supplied by Purina Hen Chow, makes the yolk. The minerals, part of which is furnished in oyster shell and grit, make the shell. Chowder also provides the life-giving vitamins so essential in eggs for hatching and food purposes.

You'll never know how many eggs your hens are capable of laying until you feed them Purina Poultry Chow. Put Purina to the test and find out the easiest way to get eggs when you want them at a lower cost of production.

R. W. WILSON HEADS

TRUST COMPANY CLUB

Robert W. Wilson of Arch Street was elected last night to the presidency of the Hartford-Connecticut Trust Company Club. Another Manchester man, Wallace Nelson, was chosen a member of the athletic committee.

Mr. Wilson, who is well known among the younger people in Manchester, has been prominent in club and lodge circles here for a number of years. He has been employed by the trust company since May 17, 1920.

He is president of the Epworth league of the South Methodist Church, secretary of the Sunday School of that church, and treasurer of St. Mary's Young Men's Club.

ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. McLagan of 48 Woodland street announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Ruth Elizabeth, to Dr. E. Victor Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon of 155 South Main Street.

Prizewinners at the whist held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Olds of 16 Church Street were: First, Mrs. Agnes Gaylard; second, Miss Josie Keating; third, Mrs. Jennie Sheridan and consolation, Mrs. Clarence Risley. The social was given under auspices of Mary Bushnell Cheney auxiliary, U. S. W. Y. for the benefit of the disabled soldiers in various Connecticut institutions. Assorted cakes, candy, nuts and coffee were served. Mrs. Olds was assisted by Mrs. Jere Maher and Mrs. James H. McVeigh.

Clarence Anderson, delegate to the recent American Legion convention in Paris, will speak of his trip at a meeting of the Men's club of the Swedish Lutheran church tonight. The meeting will begin at 7 o'clock.

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL AT THE STATE TODAY

"Barbed Wire" and "Painting the Town" on the Program For Today and Tomorrow; Song Reel Also.

Either Pola Negri or Pasty Ruth Miller is drawing card and enough for one evening alone, but when both of them are on the same program the program is bound to be good. Both are on the State theater program today and tomorrow in pictures of widely different types. "Painting the Town" is the title of the Pasty Ruth Miller success and in the supporting cast there is seen Glen Tryon, one of the most popular juveniles of the screen, among other notable names.

The story of "Painting the Town" has to do with one Hector Whitmore, a country town inventive genius and smarty who goes to New York to astonish the town with his inventions, principal among them being a frontwheel brake auto that will stop in its own length at any speed. He also wants to renew a chance acquaintance with Patsy DeVeau, a Follies beauty. How he is "framed" by Patsy's former sweetheart in his quick stop demonstration for the Fire Commissioner and how he finally gets the best of those conspiring against him, to win a big contract for his "wonder car" and also the heart of the Follies girl, is depicted in fast action abounding in laughs.

"Barbed Wire" approaches the war from behind the lines. It tells of first the hatred and then the love of Mona, a Normandy farm girl, for a German soldier in a prison camp. Clive Brook, Paramount leading man is cast as Oskar; Claude Gillingwater plays the Father; Einar Hanson is the Brother and Clyde Cook has the comedy relief. Gustav von Seyffertitz has the heavy role. Others in the cast are: Charlie Lane, Norman Paek and Ben Hendricks, Jr. The story is an adaptation of Hall Caine's famous novel, "The Woman of Knockaloe." The screen translation was made by Jules Furthman.

On the same program with these two excellent features will be the song reel, "By the Light of the Silvery Moon." Everybody is asked to sing.

On Sunday the great cross section of New York life, "East Side, West Side" comes to the State for two days, with the song reel, "Daisy Bell." The stars in the production are Virginia Valli and George O'Brien and the picture is called one of the big screen spectacles of the year.

Prices

on Used Cars probably never will be lower than they are today. Dealers throughout the city have cut their stocks to bedrock. The brisk sales of new 1928 models have brought a great influx of late model "trade-ins." Rather than put them into storage dealers have priced them for immediate clearance. Select the car suited to your purse and plan from the many offered under Classification 4.

WAPPING

Mrs. Ernest Strong and little daughter Emily of Hartford have been spending a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Collins.

Wapping Grange held their eighteenth regular meeting at the Center school hall on last Tuesday evening, and as it was impossible for Ellington Grange degree team to be present Wapping Grange degree team worked the degrees on a class of nine candidates. They were Mr. and Mrs. David Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davison, Mr. and Mrs. Wellman Burnham, Miss Esther Welles, Miss Charlotte Foster and Arthur Davison Jr. They also conferred the degrees on three candidates for Manchester Grange. They were Mrs. Anna Risley, Miss Catherine McCann and Miss Agnes Jort; also one candidate from Coventry Grange, Miss Bessie Strack. A Harvest Supper followed at the close of the meeting. There were visitors present from East Windsor Grange, Manchester, Arthur Ellington, Bolton, Coventry and two from Massachusetts Grange. After the supper, dancing was enjoyed for a while.

Martin McGrath of East Windsor Hill has returned from a trip to New York, where he spent a few days recently.

There were eight members of Wapping Grange who motored to Bloomfield last Wednesday and attended the session of East Central Pomona Grange, No. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Smith of East Windsor Hill spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Risley of South Lyme.

ENVOY NOT GUILTY

Bucharest, Nov. 11.—The American Legation today formally denied that United States Minister Culbertson had left a card for former Secretary of State Manoleescu, who is now imprisoned while being tried on charges of conspiracy.

The report that the minister had left a card for Manoleescu in jail arose through the error of a servant in delivering cards for the American minister on the occasion of a Rumanian day of celebration.

VETER GOLF

It's only ten steps, according to par, from CHECK to MONEY, but it's a lot of trouble, with some checks. If you can't do it in par or less, see the solution on another page.

CHECK

Grid for the word puzzle 'CHECK'.

MONEY

THE RULES
1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW TO HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

SENSE and NONSENSE SKIPPY

"If you wore garters around your neck, just think how long your socks would be!"

Did you ever hear that little girls are noddiest when they are sleepy?

I don't know whether this is original with M. R. or not, as he doesn't say, but I'm glad he sent it in:

A voice is calling, A star is falling, A babe is howling, A wind is squalling, A mouse is crawling, A fiver stalling— Somewhere in the world tonight.

Perhaps one reason why there is not much regard for law is the absence of great respect for the law makers.

A Jewish moneylender had been elected a member of an exclusive country golf club. The master caddy had asked him if he desired to have his name imprinted on his golf balls.

"And you'd put my name on a dozen balls at that price?" "Yes," was the response.

"And would you put on them my address, too?" "Yes."

"For do same price?" "Yes."

"Vell, den, for the same price would you mind putting on them too—Office hours, 9 to 5?"

Adam was not only the first man, he was also the first man to have no mother-in-law. That's how we know he lived in Paradise.

Many a man is on such good terms with himself that he never thinks of being pleasant to anyone else.

Strange how a man's tongue can make a woman think her trusty mirror a cock-eyed liar.

He Got the Job "I'll marry whom I please," said she. And tossed her little head. "Hurrah, you're mine, for certainly you do please me," he said.

A fool and his money stroll around Chicago.

Don't borrow trouble, the interest rate's too high.

You're only young once, but if you work it right, once is enough.

Once some pretty young thing said "Let joy be unconfined." And then they abolished the corset.

A plumber injured himself recently by falling off a ladder, and was taken to hospital. True to habit he is mending slowly.

We have often wondered how many girls have sung "Kiss Me Again" who were never kissed in the first place.

There seemed no way for them to stop the little jumping rope and top, and so the Finies stood and watched them quickly disappear. The jumping rope did funny jumps. The top went spinning over bumps. Then Clowny said, "What shall we do, now that they are not here?"

Jack Lockwill Back at Rocklake

by Gilbert Patten

"I think it is, sir," Jack confessed. "It's too bad!" "It certainly is!" agreed Professor Jamison, blushing as he held out the picture. "It's disgraceful! Scandalous! Take it!" Lockwill apologized profusely as he accepted the photograph. "I don't wonder you wanted to get it back!" said the old professor. "I advise you to destroy it without delay."

As Old Nemesis walked stiffly away, Darling came out. "That mermaid's picture gave the old boy a shock," snickered Willie. "I guess he read what I wrote on it."

"I must get the others back somehow," said Jack. "That gang can make me look cheap with the darned things." He strode away to search for the ink-bespattered jokers.

He had no trouble about finding the boys he was looking for, but all of them protested that they had thrown the picture away when the approach of Old Nemesis made them run. "Somebody must have picked them up," said Cub Maddox, whose face shone from a recent scrubbing. "We didn't suppose you'd take a harmless joke so seriously, Lockwill. Don't be a boob."

ABOUT TOWN

Manchester Girl Scouts of the different troops will meet at the School street Recreation Center this evening from 7 to 8 o'clock. Following the meeting, and weather permitting, they will parade from the Recreation building to the Center, accompanied by the drum and bugle corps. This is the only demonstration planned by Girl Scouts in recognition of Armistice day.

The Court of Honor of the Manchester Boy Scouts will be in session again on Friday evening, Nov. 25, at 7:30 in the School street Recreation Center. Applications for first class and merit badges must be in the hands of David Hutchinson of 83 Hamlin street not later than Monday, November 14.

A number of local women had the privilege of hearing Mrs. Josephine Whitney, New Haven's newly elected and first woman alderman, at Waterbury yesterday. Mrs. Whitney made a very favorable impression on her hearers, and her snappy little speech was right to the point.

Under auspices of the Lithuanian Alliance of America a dance will be held at Turn hall on North street at 7:30 tomorrow evening. Two prizes will be given for the best dances.

Miss J. M. Dickinson of Hockanum will give a talk before the children of the Second Congregational church school Sunday morning at 9:30. She will tell about the people of the Malay Peninsula which is south of China. Several of the children will appear in the costumes of the country. Adult members of the church have been invited to attend.

LOCAL FOLK HELD IN TRAP OF FLOOD

Manchester Party, Marooned in Vermont, Return in Two Days Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lacoss of Knighton street were two of a party of Manchester people who came face to face with the destruction wrought by the recent floods in Vermont and other parts of New England. They returned from Vermont yesterday, having spent two whole days on the return journey. The trip to Vermont was made more than a week ago in less than 12 hours.

Indescribable scenes of disaster and suffering all through the devastated region confronted the Manchester party on the way. Roadways were washed out, bridges carried away and whole towns laid waste by the rushing waters were some of the things that they saw.

Travel through Vermont during the days when the flood was at its height was impossible. Mr. and Mrs. Lacoss who went to Orleans to attend a funeral, found that they had to stay there because they simply couldn't get out. The funeral was held after the washing of the roads was set in and a corduroy road had to be laid all the way to the cemetery so that the automobiles could pass.

At the height of the flood Mrs. Lacoss says she saw the bodies of a woman and a child floating on the swollen La Moille river. Livestock, whole houses and parts of houses choked the flooded stream.

Mrs. Lacoss says that the return trip had to be made through New Hampshire because of the impassable condition of the Vermont roads. Practically every bridge in the flooded area had been wiped away and those which were still standing were pronounced unsafe and people who crossed them did so at their own risk.

A section of the return journey only 35 miles long, from Orleans to St. Johnsbury, took the Manchester party five hours to complete, and part of it was negotiated through fields. Most of the two days was taken up in getting out of Vermont. The rest of the trip home was comparatively easy and good time was made.

Others in the party were Kenneth LaCoss, Mrs. George LaCoss and Mrs. Henry Berdeck.

FOOTBALL TODAY

Boston, Mass., Nov. 11.—Armistice Day football was on tap in Providence and Rhode island today. At Waterbury, Conn., the evenly matched Colby and Bates elevens battle it out with Pine Tree state championship hanging on the result.

At Providence, R. I., Fordham was the favorite over Providence College.
