

NAME OF DODGE STARTS TROUBLE AT REMUS TRIAL

Clash Between Bootleg King and Prosecutor When De- fendant's Questions Pros- pective Jurymen.

Court House, Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 17.—Mention of the name of Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., at the trial today of George Remus, former bootleg king, for the murder of his wife, Imogene, provoked a bitter legal battle in which the spectacular Remus, acting as attorney for himself, took an active part. Dodge is the man who Remus alleges caused the affections of his wife and caused her to "double cross" him.

The clash came during the examination of George Awrey, a prospective jurymen. Awrey testified he was 57, a former oil operator, and upon being questioned by Remus admitted that his son was a judge at Ann Arbor, Mich., for many years.

Prosecutor Charles P. Taft objected to Remus framing a question in this manner: "Mr. Awrey, in view of the fact that young Dodge's father was a prominent and respectable business man of Lansing, and well-known around the state capital, would that influence you in any way with reference to young Dodge?"

Taft interrupted. "I object. That is a prejudicial question and should be excluded."

Judge Chester R. Shook ordered the question stricken from the record.

Another Question Remus then asked: "Would the fact that my life is in the balance prejudice you in any way? Would the fact that I am an ex-bootlegger, ex-convict, and that I have been disgraced as a lawyer, affect your judgment, if selected as a juror?"

"I would be fair about those matters," answered Awrey.

Remus then asked Awrey: "Would the fact that my life is in the balance prejudice you for or against me?"

"No," declared Awrey emphatically.

Taft is angry. Taft, incensed, leaped to his feet and objected to Remus's question. Judge Shook asked that the question be read to him privately. The court ruled with Remus.

Remus won his point and his question was allowed to stand. He was still questioning when court was adjourned until two o'clock.

During the examination Remus asked Awrey if he would take into consideration all the facts and circumstances surrounding the case. This precipitated a hot discussion. Taft wanted the jury excluded during the argument but the judge over-ruled him.

Remus persisted in addressing the court and finally Judge Shook was forced to remonstrate with him.

You will have to abide by the rulings of this court if you want to continue as a lawyer in this case," said Judge Shook.

"Very well," said Remus politely. All forenoon was taken up with the examination of telemen for jury duty. Twelve tentatively accepted jurors were in the box and both sides were exercising peremptory challenges.

FEAR BRITISH FLIERS LOST IN WILDERNESS

Were Expected at Delhi, India Early This Morning—Trying For Record.

Upavon Airdrome, Wiltshire, Eng., Nov. 17.—Anxiety over the fate of Aviators Robert McIntosh and Bert Hinkler was felt here this afternoon. Up to 1:30 o'clock nothing had been heard of the aviators since they hoped on Tuesday to attempt a non-stop flight to India in the British plane "Princess Xenia."

A dispatch from Delhi, India, said that Royal air force headquarters in that city had received no news of the "Princess Xenia."

The supply of gasoline should have lasted until 11:30 a. m. today, but it was estimated that, if the aviators had been able to maintain their schedule they should have reached Karachi at 8 a. m.

Anxiety has been increased by the fact that the aviators followed an unexplored route via Warsaw, Odessa, Afghanistan and the Himalayas.

Another Widow Claims Body During Services

Highlands, N. J., Nov. 17.—The body of Herbert Meisterknecht, inventor and former naval officer who was murdered in his workshop here Monday, is not yet to know the peace of burial.

His remains, taken abruptly from funeral services yesterday, were placed in a vault today until the two widows who loved him can settle their differences.

The funeral services being conducted yesterday by Mrs. Sophie Meisterknecht, of Yonkers, his second wife, were halted when his first wife, who now claims never to have been divorced, appeared with legal documents ordering the body placed in her custody.

The officiating pastor paused in the midst of his burial services.

MEXICO FINANCED GUATEMALA 'REDS'

Calles Provided Money to Spread Bolshevism in Central America.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Russian Communist agitators were financed by the Mexican treasury to go into Guatemala and other central American countries and spread the doctrines of Bolshevism, the Washington Herald asserted today in the fifth of its series of articles describing the anti-American activities of the Calles government.

The Herald reproduces documents said to have been secured from the secret files of the Mexican foreign office to support the charges. One Pablo Palovich, described as "a propaganda expert connected with the Russian legation," was permitted to draw $35,000, the documents show, for the purpose of "propaganda expenses" among the Indians of Guatemala, and among the school children of Mexico. The facilities of the documents printed by the Herald bear the signature of President Calles.

Order For $25,000 One order, for $25,000, states that it is to go for "Communist propaganda directed by Mr. A. B. Palovich, secretary of the Russian legation in Mexico."

"Order this sum to be paid in gold by the Bank of Mexico without the usual signed receipts, and that no entry of this payment be made on the books of the controller's department," said the order.

Palovich, said another order, was to be given $5,000 for "expenses in printing books of Socialist propaganda for the Communist schools of the young, of this capital (Mexico City)."

The Herald asserts that the Communist campaign was undertaken by President Calles in close cooperation with the Soviet government of Russia, and that one of the objects was to overthrow the Conservative government of Nicaragua and set up in that country an anti-American administration that would frustrate the construction of the proposed Nicaragua canal by the United States.

ANTI-WAR CAMPAIGN

Amsterdam, Nov. 17.—A new peace-time offensive against war—this one conducted by women—was launched here today.

Feminists from America and Europe will take part in the conference of the International Alliance of Women for Suffrage and Equal Citizenship, which opened in Amsterdam to study the causes of international unrest and attempt to find a solution.

Among the well-known women who are attending are Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and Miss Ruth Morgan, of the United States.

$1,200 WEEKLY FOR CLOTHES

Mrs. Leopold Says She Cannot Get Along on Less and De- fend Title.

New York, Nov. 17.—As Mrs. Tillie Loeb Leopold blasted the bankrupt of her quarry magnate husband out of $100,000 yearly in order to defend her title as the "Best Dressed American in Paris," she sees no reason why her alimony shouldn't be sufficient to maintain the reputation.

That's the plea Mrs. Leopold was to reiterate today in Supreme Court in her alimony hearing. She seeks $1,200 weekly and $25,000 counsel fees from Joseph Leopold, millionaire stone and granite man.

In their separation suits, each charges the other with excessive drinking. In setting out her alimony needs Mrs. Leopold itemized her expenditures as follows: Dresses $10,000; hats, $1,500; shoes $2,000; furs, $5,000; cosmetics $1,000.

KILLED FOR GEMS, SLAYER HIMSELF

Police Identify Victim of Hold-Up as Gangster Wanted in Buffalo, N. Y.

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Chief of Police James W. Higgins, of Buffalo, N. Y., today informed Sheriff Thomas V. Underhill of Westchester county that he believes Joseph Koebler, of Paterson, N. J., who was murdered near Bedford Village early Sunday, was a member of the gang that killed a bank messenger and a guard in one of the most sensational payroll holdups in Buffalo.

After scrutinizing photographs and fingerprints sent to Buffalo by the Westchester authorities, Chief Higgins said he believed Koebler was the man for whose capture a $10,000 reward had been offered.

The Buffalo holdup occurred on October 19, 1925, just before Koebler was known to have left the city. Richard Reese Whitmore, who later paid for his many crimes when he was executed at Baltimore, was charged with participation in the holdup and tried, but the jury disagreed.

Koebler's body was found in a stream by two girls who were visiting a camp nearby. He had been killed by a bullet that pierced the upper part of his head, and his body had been thrown into the stream.

He was at first thought to have been the victim of a bootleg feud. Police, however, now think he was the victim of a holdup, because he was always in the habit of wearing flashy diamonds.

WIDOW FINED $57,000 FOR SMUGGLING GOODS

Mrs. Adolphus Busch, of St. Louis Declared on Only $300 Worth.

New York, Nov. 17.—The widow of America's richest and most famous brewer has been fined $57,000 for attempted smuggling. It was stated today at the Customs House.

According to customs officials, 38 trunks belonging to Mrs. Adolphus Busch of St. Louis and her two daughters, Mrs. Ednee Greenough of New York and Mrs. Nellie E. Loeb of Chicago were impounded for examination after the liner George Washington docked November 4th.

Although the party declared only $300 worth of foreign purchases, customs officials said they found valuable foreign-bought wearing apparel and jewelry in the baggage.

The fine of $57,000 included the domestic value of the goods plus 100 per cent. penalty for smuggling. It was understood the fine was paid today.

BALDWIN STOPS TALK IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Uproar Breaks Out When Dis- cussion Over Unemployment Is Ended by Premier.

London, Nov. 17.—Uproar broke out in the House of Commons this afternoon when Premier Stanley Baldwin announced that no further time could be afforded for discussion of the unemployment situation in the coal fields. This was an answer to the demand of the Laborite Socialist group that opportunity be given for further debate before there is a vote upon the motion censuring the government for its handling of the coal situation.

Laborite and Socialist members shouted criticism of the Premier's decision and Ramsay MacDonald, former Laborite Premier and leader of the Laborite-Socialist opposition, announced that he would make formal demand for time to discuss the action of the government and the responsibility of the Premier.

NO AFTERNOON SUNDAY MOVIES HERE, IS EDICT

Churches, Salvation Army Oppose New Hours, Only Willard Rogers Approves; Selectmen Unanimous.

Manchester will not have Sunday afternoon moving pictures.

Following the hearing on the subject last night at the Municipal Building, the Board of Selectmen unanimously voted to deny a petition asking permission to show moving pictures between the hours of 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. on Sunday afternoons.

Under the law the proponents of Sunday movies have recourse to the decision of a town meeting by presenting to the Selectmen a petition signed by 20 voters, but it is understood that those in favor of pictures on Sunday will not take this action.

The meeting, which produced considerable argument for and against the moving pictures, was attended by nearly 100 persons, mostly members of churches and the Salvation Army.

Rogers Sole Advocate Willard B. Rogers was the only speaker in favor of the movies and in his first statement declared that the meeting had been "packed" by his opponents.

Mr. Rogers talked at some length on Sunday movies stressing the argument that they take people off the streets, thereby making it easier for the police to keep order. He said that Sunday evening movies had been no contributor to lawlessness, rather they had been a recreation, an education and an enjoyment.

Mr. Rogers asked for an honest opinion on the part of the board, and one not swayed by sentiment or a mass vote. He asked for no demonstration either for or against, and furnished his own. He could pack the High school hall with proponents of the Sunday movies at 7 o'clock any night.

"It is not so much a commercial idea on the part of the theater owners," Mr. Rogers said, "as it is a money-making machine. Neither the Rialto, nor the State and Circle have made any money for years, and the Circle is operating at a loss."

Heavy Loss at Circle Henry Needles, manager of the Haven Theatre, said that the owners of the State and Circle, said that the loss at the Circle theater was heavy, and that the company was holding the property with the idea that the town may in time grow so that it will make the theater pay.

"There should be no differentiation between Sunday evening and Sunday afternoon movies," Mr. Rogers went on. "There is no difference in the two of them, and the effect they have on the town is the same. They are educational and recreational. Some of our greatest medical authorities have said that they are the ideal form of recreation."

VERMONT NEEDS CREDIT, SEC. HOOVER DECLARES

Red Cross Will Take Care of Relief But Industries Suffered Big Loss.

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 17.—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, who as an expert in rehabilitation is cooperating with Vermont leaders in an effort to put the Green mountains state back on its feet, continued his survey of flood devastated regions today.

Vermont's physical loss will total approximately $21,500,000. Mr. Hoover was informed. This was divided as follows:

Highways and bridges $7,500,000; industries $7,000,000; railroads $5,000,000; agriculture $2,000,000.

People of Vermont have been so self-reliant—too proud to ask for help—that Attorney General John G. Sargent, a Vermont native, has difficulty in getting the Federal Government to take charge of the Vermont industries with the Red Cross taking care of relief matters, in the view of Mr. Hoover, who set with Vermont leaders at the Capitol last night.

DEMOLAYS TO VISIT MASON TOMORROW

Hartford Chapter With Man- chester Boy at Head to Work Degrees Here.

The first demonstration of the work of the Order of DeMolay in Manchester will be given tomorrow evening in the Masonic Temple.

The Hartford chapter of the Order of DeMolay will come to town tomorrow evening to work the two degrees of the order upon a group of candidates. The degree work will be performed in the main lodge room of the Temple and will begin at 7:30.

27 Candidates Today it was reported that about 100 members of the Order of DeMolay from Hartford and surrounding territory would be here for the ceremonies. The degrees will be conferred upon 27 young men, all between 16 and 21 years of age. Of the group to receive the degrees 25 are from Manchester. One of the candidates is from Rockville and the other is a Hartford boy.

New England Holding Business Parliament

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 17.—New England's "Business Parliament" holds its third annual session here today and tomorrow.

The New England Council presents to representatives of the business organizations of the New England states its report for the past year and outlines activities for the year to come in promoting the growth and prosperity of this section.

Like its predecessors, the third New England conference consists of delegates chosen by agricultural, commercial and industrial organizations of New England, all the major economic interests and activities of the six New England states being represented.

With the gathering of this "New England Town Meeting" much progress had been made toward defining problems common to the New England states, the working out of their solutions and the machinery set in motion for developing the task.

Today's Program The opening session today was preceded by registration of delegates. Following a meeting of the executive committee of the council came a luncheon of New England governors and the New England Council.

An address by Major Floris C. Parker, and a response by President John S. Lawrence of the council were in order.

Reports reviewing the activities of the Council in agriculture, recreational resources, public relations, community development, research and power were to be followed in the evening by a New England harvest supper.

Group meetings were scheduled for tomorrow forenoon with the final session of the New England conference in the afternoon.

Friday afternoon will be devoted to the consideration of ways and means of giving assistance to communities whose industries were wiped out or seriously damaged by the floods. Reports were being received today from Chambers of Commerce in various flood-swept areas of the New England states.

DEMOCRATS WORRY OVER JACKSON DAY

Hope For Harmony at Ban- quet But Wets and Drys May Upset Plan.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The Democratic campaign of 1928 will be formally inaugurated in Washington in mid-January with a revival of the famous Jackson Day dinners that have been productive of so much party fireworks in other years. Its sponsors hope it will be a "happy dinner."

Clem L. Shaver, chairman of the Democratic national committee, said today it had been definitely decided that the dinner would be held, and that it would be of the harmony variety. There is, however, no unanimity of opinion as to having the dinner, and there is a wide range of opinion as to the program that should be attempted.

Program a Worry The program is the chief source of worry. Any Jackson Day dinner

POLICE THINK YOUTH KILLED SWEETHEART

Shoots Himself After Driving Eight Miles With Body on Auto Seat.

Waltham, Mass., Nov. 17.—Joseph F. Buckley, 23, was under police guard at Waltham hospital today and if he lives he must face a charge of first degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting of his fiancée, Grace Mills, 19. With the dead body of the girl at his side, Buckley drove into Waltham Square in his automobile yesterday morning and tried to take his own life.

The story of the youth—that there had been a suicide pact, that Miss Mills shot herself and that when she did not die he fired to end her agony—was called "incredible" by Dr. Thomas Morton Gallagher, associate medical examiner, after an autopsy. Dr. Gallagher said that either of two wounds in her left breast would have rendered her unconscious and that she could not have said a word after the first shot. Both shots were fired by the same person, police were told by the doctor, who added that Miss Mills could not have done the firing.

The police theory today was that the young couple quarrelled over Buckley's plans to go to Nova Scotia and that Buckley, a youth with a police record for eccentric acts, killed his sweetheart and then attempted suicide after driving eight miles with the body on the seat beside him.

Appraisals Made Before making their offer to the town the Connecticut Company had four appraisals of the property made. These appraisals ranged from $30,000 to $50,000. The Board of Selectmen last year made an appraisal of the property and the opinion at that time was that if the property could be secured for less than $30,000 it was a bargain.

Connecticut Company Sets Price on Property at Cen- ter—Selectmen Recom- mend Its Acceptance; Consider It a Bargain.

The Board of Selectmen voted last night to recommend to the next Town Meeting that an offer of the Connecticut Company to sell its so-called "car barn property" here to the town be accepted. The price that the Connecticut Company asks and the price that the Board of Selectmen recommends be paid for the land is $27,500.

Consider It a Bargain The Selectmen were unanimous in the belief that the town could not afford to let such an offer go unaccepted. It was generally known that the Connecticut Company preferred to sell its property here to the town and it has been a general belief here that the town should acquire it. However, it was assumed that the price the Connecticut Company would demand for its holdings would be beyond the price the town could afford to pay.

The offer of the Connecticut Company reached the Selectmen several months ago, and came from J. K. Pufferdier, the Connecticut Company's general manager. The offer was known only to the members of last year's Board of Selectmen, Connecticut Company officials, Town Treasurer G. H. Waddell, and a Herald representative. All agreed to keep the offer secret until the Selectmen voted either to accept or reject the offer.

The Property The "car barn property" lies just west of Manchester's new Municipal building and is a very irregular piece of land. The frontage on Center street is 74.82 feet and its greatest depth is 400 feet. It contains between one and two acres of land and abuts six different properties.

The boundary line is described as follows: north 325 feet from Center street, east 87.2 feet, north 75 feet, east 277.64 feet, south 76 feet, east 65 feet, south 16 feet, west 203 feet, south 48.83 feet, then diagonally 263.37 to Center street and then 74.82 feet to the pole of starting point. The land extends to the rear of the present Municipal building and over to the headquarters of Hose Company No. 2 along the Center Springs Park to the houses fronting on Trotter street then back to the car barns and out to Center street.

Includes Barns The offer made by the Connecticut Company includes the car barns and the branch office of the company. Neither of the buildings on the land are of much value to the town but they were used as a garage company which it is understood made an offer for the property.

Voters in Manchester will be asked to sanction the purchase of the Connecticut Company property at the special town meeting which will also consider the purchase of the Cheney owned, high school building. It is the Selectmen's plan to have the High school purchase and the Connecticut Company purchase be taken care of in one bond issue. Thus taxpayers will not feel the extra cost in any one year. The entire Connecticut Company property will probably be spread over 20 years.

Protect Municipal Building The selectmen feel that the Connecticut Company property should be acquired as a protected site at the $190,000 Municipal building at the Center. If the property should be sold as a site for an apartment house, an automobile garage or a business block the new City Hall would be not only injured as far as beauty is concerned but its extension would be hampered.

Furthermore, the property would make an ideal site for a school building, a public library, or, if held for the future growth of the town, it could be used for additions to the Municipal building or for a new police headquarters. Some have suggested that the property should be purchased so that a good entrance to the Center Springs Park could be secured to the town. However, the Selectmen's idea in recommending the purchase at such a low price is to protect the Municipal building.

Appraisals Made Before making their offer to the town the Connecticut Company had four appraisals of the property made. These appraisals ranged from $30,000 to $50,000. The Board of Selectmen last year made an appraisal of the property and the opinion at that time was that if the property could be secured for less than $30,000 it was a bargain.

If the purchase of the property is sanctioned by the voters, the town would secure a right of way

SUIT OF DUCHESS ENDS ABRUPTLY

Judge to Receive Briefs Next Tuesday When He Will Decide Case.

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 17.—"The Torlonia case is ended," said Judge John Richard Booth, of Superior Court, when he announced coming cases from his bench today.

The divorce action brought against the Duke of Torlonia by his wife, the former Elsie Moore, of Greenwich, is coming up again next Tuesday, either with more testimony or else with attorneys ready to file briefs with the judge who is presiding.

The hearing of the divorce action came to an abrupt end last evening. William H. Comley, attorney for the duchess, had nothing to say about the case today but when the session closed yesterday he was to have his client produce in court next Tuesday, her conscript secured in 1925, copies of her income tax returns, and trust certificates affecting ownership of the Torlonia palace in Rome.

If the duchess appears in court with the required documents next week, she will be cross examined by Mr. Calhoun. If she does not have the documents the briefs will be called for, and when they are secured Judge Booth will prepare his decision.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS HEAR GEORGE GOSS

George Goss, state Y. M. C. A. director of athletics and a Springfield College, was the principal speaker at the special assembly at the High School here this afternoon. Mr. Goss spoke on "Sportsmanship in Interscholastic Contests."

The assembly was in the line of a football rally for the annual clash with Windham High of Willimantic which will be played at the McKee stadium Saturday afternoon.

Captain George Keeney of the local football team also spoke at the assembly in effort to arouse more school spirit for the game.

Stamford, Conn., Nov. 17.—A burglar, presumably started a fire that early today did damage of $2,500 in the paint and wall paper store of Meyer Wise, 28 Pacific street, according to police who found that a rear window of the store had been forced before the fire.

RUSSELL CHENEY TURNS TO SOMBRENNESS IN ART

Paintings Shown in Hartford Depart From Local Man's Former Style.

Art critics remark the radical change in style of Russell Cheney, Manchester artist, a number of whose paintings are now on exhibition in the studio of Curtis H. Moyer at 252 Trumbull street, Hartford.

Many of the paintings are examples of work done on the coast of Maine during the past summer by the artist. What seem to the average eye to be ugly and unattractive buildings, silhouetted against lowering clouds, are the themes of several of them.

MANCHESTER MARE FIGURES IN SUIT

Stenberg's Horse Kicked Butcher Gibson Who Wants $7,500 Damages.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 17.—Defense of the character and reputation of a nameless black mare that once ran wild with destructive results while hitched to a Manchester butcher cart, occupied the attention of Judge Alfred C. Baldwin and a jury in Superior Court today.

Gibson contends that the black mare ran away with him, kicked him three times and broke his left leg in two places. He further contends that he was laid up six months, paid a hospital bill amounting to $600 and lost $400 worth of business, all because of the black mare's doings.

Stenberg refuted the mare's reputation, saying that the horse always had been the utmost in reliability and would have worked well on Gibson's cart if only Gibson had used blinders on the mare's harness.

Mt. Holyoke, Mass., Nov. 17.—As one youngster to another, John Coolidge, son of President Coolidge, and Miss Sarah Kunsig, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., a student in the sophomore class at Mt. Holyoke College here, are exchanging compliments.

"John is a perfect peach," was her remark in an interview on the subject. "He is so very polished and smooth, and he dances divinely. They talk about his being shy and reserved, but—well, anyhow he is a peach."

Peaches? Sarah comes under that category herself.

and that this idea of "getting into the open" is the bunk.

"If there is anything that should be prohibited on Sunday, it is driving automobiles, in my opinion. That is the most dangerous of all the things allowed by the law, and the movies would tend to decrease automobile traffic on our streets."

Rev. Watson Woodruff, speaking for the association of ministers, said that he agreed with Mr. Rogers in several of his arguments. As the spokesman for the eight ministers who are in the association, however, he opposed Sunday afternoon movies.

Harold Turkington of the Salvation Army talked of the advertising signs on the billboards on Main street, saying that they were not quite the right thing. He said that the children were being drawn away from Sunday school by the movies. Speaking of the profanity and obscenity at Sunday games which Mr. Rogers mentioned, Rev. Joseph Cooper of the South Methodist church asked Mr. Rogers, who is a police commissioner, why profanity and obscenity, which are misdemeanors, were not curbed by the police.

Churches' "Work Day" "The theater has six days in the week. The church has one," said Mr. Cooper. "That is our work day and we should be allowed to retain it without the opposition from the moving picture theaters."

Rev. James Stuart Neill, at the meeting with an attack of laryngitis, spoke through Rev. Stocking. He seconded all that the opponents of the movies had said.

In rebuttal Mr. Rogers said that one good thing that the "No Surrender" letters had done was to bring the ministers to a decision on the question. He was interrupted at this time by Rev. Allen, who said that the ministers had not said anything for or against the movies in their meetings.

Sees Strength in Theaters "I hope that the theater and the church may never be pitted against one another," Mr. Rogers said, "for in that event we might just as well close the churches."

He scored the ministers, who, he said, were not so frank in the meeting as they were when talking personally to him.

The last word was said by Rev. Mr. Stocking, who answered Mr. Rogers by telling him that the ministers were not divided, but were unanimous against the Sunday afternoon shows. Following the closing of arguments for both sides the selectmen went into executive session to vote on the matter.

The Past Matrons of Temple Chapter, O. E. S., will have a rehearsal in the Temple Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. This is in preparation for Past Matrons' night which falls on Wednesday, November 23.

John Lyons, who said he was the "No Surrender" of two Open Forum letters in The Herald, asked the ministers why they did not come out before against the moving pictures. He took the movies to task for the "smut" that is contained in the picture, the bigger the theater audience. He was against them on general principles, mostly because of their influence on the children.

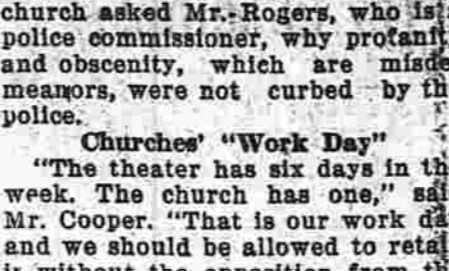

Ministers Misunderstood "The assumption that the ministers were in favor of Sunday afternoon movies is all wrong," said Rev. Marvin S. Stocking of the North Methodist church. "We are against them, and my church has gone on record as being unanimously opposed."

For himself as a movie fan, he said that he was one who could appreciate the moving pictures. He appreciated the help that the theaters had extended in allowing groups of his church to hold benefit shows there. But he gave two reasons for the prohibition of the Sunday afternoon shows: "The movies are too commercial, and the majority doesn't want them. They have been a privileged industry, for they are allowed to open for business on six days and seven nights of the week, while other business men are open only six days. They have enough privileges now."

"I think it wise to safeguard our American Sabbath, instead of allowing it to degenerate into the Sunday of Europe. We must look out for our children, and the modern day as a general thing is not fit for children to see."

Dangerous for Youngsters "The audiences on Sunday afternoons would be composed mostly of children, in my opinion, because children have only one other opportunity in the week, Saturday afternoon. The theater makes no attempt to get pictures for children, but puts on lurid stuff which is all right for adults, but dangerous to the younger people."

A GOOD BUY

The development that the Connecticut Company has offered to sell to the town of Manchester all its real estate holdings on Center street occupied by the abandoned terminal plant of the trolley concern, for the sum of twenty-seven thousand five hundred dollars, should be viewed by the people of the town as one of those business opportunities which come to a municipality too rarely to be either rejected or dickered over.

Ever since the possibility of the purchase of the property by the town has been discussed, there have been floating about, in the imaginations of the public, price figures differing more or less widely; but it is perfectly safe to assume that nobody at all ever imagined that the property could actually be bought for less than thirty thousand dollars, and there was a very general impression that the company's asking price would be nearer forty thousand.

At the figure now quoted the car barn property is a bargain. And as every good trader knows, when you are offered a bargain the thing to do is to grab it, and not to outsmart yourself by fishing about for still better terms till the vendor suddenly puts his bargain back in his pocket and walks out on you.

Manchester needs that piece of property, very urgently, not only for the protection of the Municipal building from the possible proximity of some utterly incompatible neighbor like a great garage or industrial plant, but as the potential site of some future public structure such, perhaps, as a library; for the permanent beautification of the whole Center region; for an appropriate entrance to Center Springs park, and quite particularly, to make possible those long deferred arrangements whereby the Center Congregational church can and will yield to the town the ground necessary for the widening of the Main and Center streets roadway intersection.

There should be no quibbling and no hesitancy over this purchase. It is a good buy.

TWO KINDS OF VICTIMS

In the respectable American city of Beloit, Mich., a federal liquor sleuth made his way into the home of a resident whom he expected of running a speakeasy and asked for whiskey. Receiving the liquor he flashed his badge. The seller of rum struck at the glass in the sleuth's hand, hoping to destroy the evidence. The government agent pulled a gun and shot him dead.

This makes, according to the figuring of Assistant Secretary of the State Lowman, one hundred and seventy-six persons killed by prohibition agents in the course of Volstead law enforcement. Mr. Lowman said, just prior to this murder, that the number of such victims was not 200, as maintained by Senator Edwards, but only 175.

Probably not all of the killings have been as inexcusable as this one at Beloit, but a good many of them have been. What seems to us to be the most sinister aspect of this business of shooting down violators of this particular law—who expect by new and special statutory provision would not be law violators—is not even the killing themselves but lies in the fact that it is impossible to get any prohibition advocate to admit that such murders are crimes at all. The most that can be expected from such a quarter, in reference to one of these cases is: "Of course, it's quite dreadful, but—always the but—he should not have broken the law."

A boy stealing apples from a neighbor's yard is breaking the law. He commits, not only a statutory crime but a common law crime. He is guilty of an act that has been criminal from time immemorial, not an act that was valid yesterday and only made criminal by legislation. Yet the person who would reach for his gun and kill an apple stealing boy would not only be punished for the killing, he would be utterly condemned by the same worthy citizens who refuse to be even slightly shocked by the killing of rum law violators or suspects of rum law violation. This controversy over liquor laws, awakened many evil passions. Not alone in the breasts of greedy, avaricious, habitually unscrupulous persons willing to sell anything in the way of poisonous alcoholic concoctions for a profit, but in otherwise gentle, humane, well disposed citizens, whose hearts are suddenly turned to stone by any opposition to the regulations they fancy should be imposed on their fellow men.

Not the least of the victims of prohibition are those once kindly people who have learned to shrug their shoulders in justification of murder done to enforce fanaticism. They are becoming spiritually warped and morally perverted.

ATHLETES' DEATHS

The death of "Tiger" Flowers, Negro boxer and former middleweight champion, after what is described as a minor operation for a growth over one eye, accentuates the largely entertained belief that athletes often lack that grip on life which is possessed in many instances by persons of immensely inferior physical development.

Of course the exact circumstances of the death of this particular athlete are wrapped in more or less mystery, due to the reticence of the surgeon who operated; it is of course possible that the cutting was followed by a resulting embolism, in which case it would make little difference whether the vital spark were strong or weak. And again it must be remembered that the Negro, with all his native muscular strength, is traditionally less tenacious of life under severe stress than is the white man. But nevertheless too many athletes, and especially pugilists, have dropped out of life subsequently to slight operations and ordinary illnesses; in the last few years, for the fact not to take hold of the imagination.

A fighter who really fights, like this highly religious deacon in a Georgia church, staging a dozen or twenty ring contests in a year, burns up a tremendous lot of vitality; and so, by the same token, do tennis players, football men, sprinters and the devotees of numerous other sports. When there comes a call on the reserve, the reserve is very likely to be missing.

IMMIGRATION LAW

Strange and wonderful are the consequences of slovenly drawing of a potentially splendid law. Apparently there are more bars and roughage on the edges of the present United States immigration act than ever before were permitted to cling to any federal measure after it had passed the stage of rough draft.

The newest manifestation of the slovenliness of the law is the attack by defense lawyers, on the right of the American divorce applicant, the Duchess Torlonia, former Greenwich girl, to be in a Connecticut court, or any other American court at all, or to be in America on any other status than that of an Italian visitor.

Surely the immigration law was never intended to deny asylum to native born Americans who, temporarily alienated through marriage or expatriation for any cause, desire to return to their own land and their own people.

It is not, of course, at all sure that this American woman will be denied sanctuary in Connecticut or refused the right to return to her allegiance. But it would seem as if the law should be so very clear in such matters that it would be impossible for any attempt to be made to deny her the protection of the courts in her own country.

Revision, not amendment, of the immigration law is becoming most urgent. If it is not revised by its friends, sooner or later it will be wrecked by its enemies; and all these tags ends of injurious faults with which it is decorated will be weapons in the hands of those enemies.

GOING UP

Huey P. Long, Louisiana Public Service Commissioner, is 34 years old and not very big. Former Governor Jared R. Sanders is quite big but he is 65 1/2 a day. Both are Democrats and Southern gentlemen, such because of political differences little Mr. Long surprisingly smote big Mr. Sanders on the jaw in the crowded lobby of a New Orleans hotel. Which was what, as befits a Southern gentleman. Then he ran as fast as his little legs could carry him. Which was less valiant but more discreet. Surprisingly big Mr. Sanders, for all his bulk and his 65 years, sped after him. More surprisingly still he caught him. The place of capture was an elevator car and two men and a woman—a Southern lady, suit—were bumped and knocked about in the proceeding. Then Mr. Sanders mauled Mr. Long and Mr. Long mauled back. And finally, to the vast relief of both, there came interposition. Quite obviously the South is moving along. It is not so many years ago that both these gentlemen would be out of politics in a jiffy for such an affair as this. Not for fighting—no, no, but because one did not shoot the other or both do mutual murder with derringers. When Louisiana politicians get to the stage where they merely cat-and-dog it all over the place, in the presence of the idolized Southern women, even barking the latter's noses in the process, a real advance in civilization can be said to have come to their part of the Union.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—The blow-up of the Fall-Sinclair trial turned the spotlight on more peculiar situations and circumstances than any incident in Washington since the Teapot Dome, Doherty and Daugherty scandals were first uncovered. For instance, it brought that most astonishing person, William J. Burns, back into the columns majority. Only one brief sequence of events is needed to show that the Burns career has been with parallel. In 1912, it was revealed that Burns had been involved in the picking of a jury which convicted a man named Jones. In pardoning Jones, President Taft accepted the conclusions of Attorney General Wickersham about Burns' activities and referred to them as "the most barefaced and unfair use of all the machinery for drawing a jury" which he had ever encountered.

W. J. Burns (top) "the eye" and founder of the Burns Detective Agency is shown here with his son, W. Sherman Burns, also a member of the famous agency.

Yet, when Harding became president and Daugherty was named attorney general, Burns was put in an extremely important position of trust as head of the investigation bureau of the Department of Justice.

Now we have Burns, again a private detective, involved as an employer of men whom the government charges were used in a plot to influence the Fall-Sinclair jurors.

Burns never was a respecter of persons. The attempts of his bureau to "get something on" senators who sought to expose corruption in the Interior and Justice Departments should be recalled. Investigation of Department of Justice files during the Senate inquiries revealed some hair-raising sidelights on methods and results of the Justice Department's attempts to "get something on" others, little of which was never publicly exposed because of the prominence of persons concerned.

Now, as a grand jury investigates the Fall-Sinclair trial fiasco, the government reveals that a Burns man shadowed and reported on an assistant attorney general of the United States while his comrades were trying to establish contact with jurors. It is charged that one of Fall's counsel used another department official to investigate this assistant attorney general!

The question continues to be asked why as many as 16 men were trusted with the very delicate job almost shadowing, with apparent disregard of the possibility that one or more might spill the beans. It seems obvious that if anyone was trying to tamper with the jury, such a method would indicate either sheer desperation or indifference as to whether or not a mistrial were declared.

Your correspondent talked for half an hour with Henry Mason Day, now under $25,000 bond as an alleged fixer, before he went before the grand jury. Day is a tall, almost swarthy, apparently powerful and sartorially immaculate man of the world, not cultured but suave. He seemed alternately steely or penetrating and boyishly naive. One felt that one would rather have Day as official title than as vice president of the Sinclair Exploration Co., an organization of Sinclair geologists. Day is not a geologist; he is much more.

One gathers that Day is commander-in-chief of Sinclair's foreign forces—fixer, as it were, who has mixed with cabinet members in various parts of the world where there is oil or interest in it. He has represented Sinclair in the latter's bids for vast fortunes in oil. For instance, Sinclair left him in Russia in 1923 to negotiate a huge concession from the Soviet government. Until a few days ago, Day was better known in Europe and Asia than in the United States. He is devoted to Sinclair.

If the government proves any of its jury-tampering charges against Sinclair or Day, the question will promptly arise as to what the jury-fixing rates would have been had the plot gone through. Day hired a chauffeur for Sinclair at wages of $27 a day, and when taken into consideration along with the large sums paid for wages and expenses of the detectives, that fact would indicate that plenty of money was available for one purpose or another.

New York—Stay away from Manhattan two months and it takes you six months to catch up with what's happened.

Stay away from Manhattan two months and it takes you all Sunday morning just to read the ads of the new Broadway productions that have been born. It takes you the rest of the day consulting friends regarding what is worth seeing. It takes you until midnight to go over the list of new cinema attractions, new art exhibitions and new museums. By that time you take one glance at the mountain of books that has piled in the corner—merely the first installment of the "winter list"—and you fall in to bed to toss through the night in the throes of confused nightmares.

In the morning you are ready to admit that things happen just a little too fast in Manhattan. But, at least, they happen. By the following morning, after a hectic plunge into the night-life you know that Broadway is the gayest, maddest, noisiest, snappiest, jazziest place upon this earth. By contrast, the joy spots of Montmartre are soporific. Broadway has gone over the world and come back with both the bawdy and genteel gaiety of every other land in its pocket.

In London, it took little effort to take stock of the drama. There were a few new things by British playwrights—the rest were American importations. Returning to Broadway, I found all the new London plays already arrived on this side and enough American products to keep London playhouses going for two seasons. I found the bright young London and French writers

Beverly Nichols and Andre Maurois—lecturing in our market places. I found the most eminent London prowl, Stephen Graham, deserting his native Soho for our colorful corners and rushing to press in America with a volume he dubs "New York Nights."

And, from the pen of this author of "London Nights" and "Under London" and innumerable essays on by-ways of merry England, I read: "Broadway is the mother of Broadway, all over the world, mother of the lights of Piccadilly Circus and of the Place Pigalle and the Teatralny Plotschad. The Great White Way is the greatest white way."

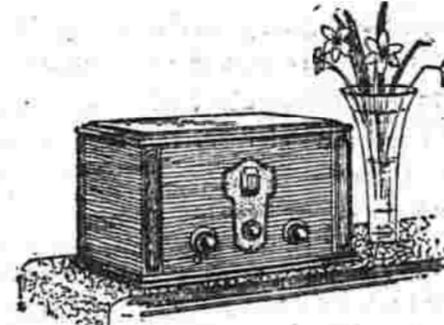

New York columnists could do no more. Away from Manhattan just two months and I come back to find that the hand of the wrecker has reduced to a jagged ruin my favorite Fifth Avenue structure—the Oriental-architectured Jewish synagogue, with its priceless mosaic and its intrusion of the far away upon the close at home. . . . I find that Ethel Waters has opened a night club and Texas Guinan has moved into the basement of the Century Theater; that Nora Bayes now sings for Major Boles' Capitol Theater and Ed Wynne is once more the biggest laugh in town; that Louis Bromfield has dramatized one of his books and "Harlem's smartest rendezvous" has opened; that the Theater Guild has knocked Broadway silly with its production of "Porgy" and Horace Liveright has brought "Dracula" to town; that the New York Symphony has started its season and Eva Le Galliene has won a prize for theatrical enterprise; that two new literary magazines have started and every one has written a book; that a horrible new skyscraper now towers completely over Washington Square and the subway wreckers have just about finished with all that was left of the old Greenwich Village; that Pauline Lord is still after a good play and the musical hits to date are "Manhattan Mary" and "Good News"—But why go on? REV. DAVID KELLY TELLS ABOUT JOURNEY HOME

Rev. J. S. Neill Receives Interesting Letter From Recent Clerical Visitor.

Rev. James Stuart Neill, rector of St. Mary's church, received a letter yesterday from Rev. David Kelly, formerly curate of the church, who has returned to his old parish in Donegal, Ireland.

The letter follows: The Rectory, Donegal, Ireland, November 1st, 1927.

My dear Mr. Neill: I was sorry to leave you all; but as you know, I was under obligation to return here.

I had quite a pleasant trip. The train journey to Montreal was a little fatiguing, but the Green Mountains of Vermont were worth seeing. We toured around Montreal for a few days and visited friends of my former landlady of Limavady, Derry. Our visit coincided with that of the Prince of Wales, whom we saw there. It so happened he led the way for us to Ottawa.

We took a hurried view of this capital, where the most impressive buildings seemed to be those of the Houses of Parliament and the Chamber of Commerce where the Prince was to stand in the afternoon. We also saw outside the draped statue of Laurier awaiting the liberating touch of the King's son. A quick lunch in a cafeteria and we were off by train to Carleton Place. I phoned the person we were going to visit (a former Donegal parishioner). A buggy came for us and after a three mile jaunt, we arrived at a fine farm residence on the edge of a wood. We spent the night there; next day returned to Ottawa.

I called to see a young Donegal lady who was secretary to the Member of Parliament for Ottawa. Off we were again to make ready for the Prince in Toronto. Having "done" Toronto as far as time permitted, we took shipping and came to Niagara; I almost had written in grief, because we failed to disembark on the Canadian side at Queenstown. We had been on the upper deck admiring the scenery; and suddenly becoming aware that we ought to be disembarking we hastened to the gangway but our effort to retrieve our suitcases in time was hindered by a bevy of people who were boarding the steamer. The gangplank was gone and I wanted to hop onto the quay but was forbidden.

What "a kettle of fish!" Here I was with no passport into U. S. A. territory. I had left it in Montreal for renewal, of course I was asked, at Lewiston, by the customs official to stand aside. After interrogations and explanations, I was graciously permitted to proceed.

It was worth having made a mistake to get that trolley ride along the gorge. We took the "Maid of the Mist" trip. I returned to the Falls and in the building provided, having divested myself of all clothing, of the Winds; cooling and refreshing. Visited the museum and saw the "barrels" that famous adventurers hurled over the falls in. Walked across the bridge to the Canadian side and was able to satisfy the customs official that I was a Britisher. Saw the falls illuminated at night—a wonderful sight.

Motored back to Toronto. Going along one of the principal streets one night, I heard a voice from a shop door shout "Hallo! Davy!" Turning round I saw a Belfast chap named Dawson whom I had not seen for fifteen years. Had supper with him that night. Heard Canon Cody preach on the Sunday. Monday afternoon I was aboard the Lake steamer bound for Montreal. Up at 5 a. m. to view the Thousand Islands.

We transferred into the Rapids boat at Prescott. "Shooting the rapids" is not as thrilling as a scenic railway. Visited a Donegal family in Montreal and then stayed a night at St. Agathe's in the Laurentian hills. Finally, my course lay to the docks to board the "S. S. Athenia."

The passage to Ireland was pleasant, nothing very exciting happened. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, of Portadown, who had been on a visit to U. S. and Canada, were on board. I arrived home on Saturday. My mother met me at the door. The rest of the family were holidaying in Portrush. On Monday I went to Limavady to report to my former landlady that I had visited her relatives in Canada as I had promised her. Tuesday night I was back in Belfast, and on Saturday went to Portadown. Visited an aunt, whom I had not seen for about fifteen years. I met my uncle in the street; he recognized me. So he determined to play a joke on my aunt.

New Way to Relieve Tired, Aching Feet

Did you know that you can instantly take the sting out of burning tired feet by simply bathing them in hot water to which you have added a little Sypho-Nathol—one teaspoonful to a quart? Entering the house, he introduced me as "Mr. Thompson." The introduction worked; but seeing a smile crossing my face she at once recognized me as her "long lost" nephew and rebuked my uncle for trying to fool her.

Rev. M. Hallahan was not at home, but I met his curate, Rev. Mr. Rennison. I preached on Sunday morning in Drumree church and in the evening at Tartaraghan. At Drumree was a young lady who formerly lived in Limavady and used to play the organ at our country service at Aghanloe. At Tartaraghan service was a man who had been born in Donegal town.

On Monday I visited some of the folks whose addresses I had been given in Manchester. On Tuesday I returned to my old parish, Donegal. That night I got a hearty welcome back but it was petty in comparison with the magnificent send-off given me by the parishioners of St. Mary's. I have been quite busy since I came back; have been away preaching at four Harvest Thanksgivings, going to preach at another another next week, and on Nov. 11th I am preaching in St. Augustine's, Derry, at a special Armistice day service.

On December 18th, I have promised to preach at St. Mark's, Portadown, at special Children's services. Last week I attended the Synod meeting in Derry. The dean and the archdeacon were asking me about you.

Please convey my heartfelt greetings to all my friends at St. Mary's. I hope the pageant is a success. With sincere good wishes to you, Mrs. Neill and the family. Yours ever, David Kelly.

Old Master's

O go and sit with her and be o'er-shaded Under the languid downfall of her hair: She wears a coronal of flowers faded Upon her forehead, and a face of care; There is enough of withered everywhere To make her bower—ahd enough of gloom; There is enough of sadness to invite, If only for the rose that died, whose doom Is Beauty's—she that with the living bloom Of conscious cheeks most beautiful Res the light; There is enough of sorrowing, and quite Enough of bitter fruits the earth doth bear— Enough of chilly droppings for her bowl; Enough of fear and shadowy despair. To frame her cloudy prison for the soul. —Thomas Hood: From Ode to Autumn.

BUTCHER SHOP STARTS AT THE STATE TODAY

Fun and Novelty Promised; "Blood Ship" and Other Features Tomorrow and Saturday.

Fun galore is promised at the institution of the Butcher Shop in the State theater tonight. This is a departure from the usual Thursday night program. Thursday evenings having been given over to furniture night for the past few months.

The feature picture is "The Mystery Club" the story of six men who went out to commit the perfect crime. They committed the crime and then the fun began. The cast includes Matt Moore, Edith Roberts, Mildred Harris and Warner Oland.

A real crime is committed and members of the club are suspected of crime. Of course, they are innocent, but when five more are perpetrated in rapid succession, throwing suspicion strongly on the club members, they are frantic with uncertainty and fear.

Added to this are the apparent criminality of the heroine and the activities of the hero to clear himself from suspicion and the result is the most thrilling photoplay ever screened. It would be unfair to divulge the original and unusual ending, which sends the audience away satisfied that it has witnessed a motion picture that will be a standard of mystery pictureizations for a long time to come.

"The Blood Ship" said to be the mightiest of all sea dramas, comes to the State on Friday and Saturday. Hobart Bosworth, Jacqueline Logan, Richard Arlen and Walter James are the featured players. This is one of two features, the other on the program being "One Woman to Another," with Florence Vidor in the leading role.

"The Blood Ship" is the story of the "Golden Bough," a hell ship which mariners dread. Captain Swope, played by James, is the toughest and most brutal skipper on the seven seas. His brutality extends itself to his daughter, but things change when Bosworth, in the role of an ex-convict, appears on the scene.

"One Woman to Another" is the latest of Florence Vidor's light comedy successes. The girl with the wonderful eyes is better than ever in this feature.

On Saturday afternoon Manager Sanson will distribute 1,500 lollipops to the children who attend the show.

GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction without starvation diet or burdensome exercise, often at a very rapid rate and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practicing physician and have made a careful study of the physiological requirements of the human body. This has enabled me to select such ingredients and in such proportion as in my opinion will produce not only a loss of weight without harm and an improvement in health, but with it an alleviation of all of the troublesome symptoms which frequently accompany and often are a direct result of over-tousness, such as shortness of breath on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, etc., not to speak of the relief from the embarrassment of being too stout. Stout persons suffering from such diseases as Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Eczema, Asthma and high blood pressure are greatly relieved by a reduction of their superfluous fat.

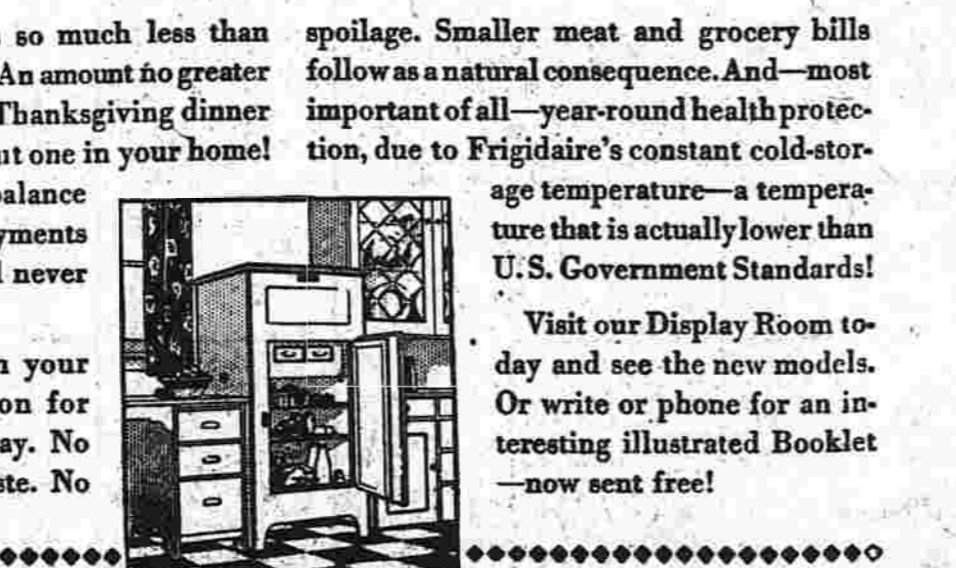

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you the renewed energy and vigor which come as a result of the loss of superfluous fat. If you are over-tout do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my FREE TRIAL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE if you so desire. DR. R. ANNOUNCES

NEW RATE REDUCTIONS

EFFECTIVE DEC. 1, 1927

SCHEDULE B-1 COMMERCIAL LIGHTING

- 1—Maximum Rate of 11 cents reduced to 10 cents per K. W. Hr.
2—This Reduction will effect substantial savings to the greater majority of our Commercial Lighting Customers, whose use of current is comparatively small.

SCHEDULE B-2 OPTIONAL COMMERCIAL LIGHTING WITH MISCELLANEOUS SMALL POWER.

- 1—An alternative to Schedule B-1.
2—A Two Part Rate, i. e., a Flat Rate plus Meter Charge
3—New to Manchester, and popular elsewhere.

IT COMBINES

- 1—Meter Consumption of Lighting with accompanying Small Power. i. e., Motors and Appliances.

Schedule B-1 Commercial Lighting MONTHLY CONSUMPTION

- For the First 200 Kw. Hrs. $1.10 per Kw. Hr.
For any part of the next 800 Kw. Hrs. .09 pr Kw. Hr.
For any part of the next 1500 Kw. Hrs. .07 per Kw. Hr.
For all excess .06 per Kw. Hr.
Minimum Monthly Bill $1.00.

DISCOUNT FOR LONG BURNING HOURS.

- 2% for over 100 Hours use of installed load per month
5% for over 115 Hours use of installed load per month
10% for over 140 Hours use of installed load per month
15% for over 165 Hours use of installed load per month
20% for over 195 Hours use of installed load per month

The Long Burning Hours Discount will be figured by dividing the meter Kw. Hrs. by the Customer's installed Load as follows:
(A) All Lamps at Rated Wattage.
(B) All appliances, small motors, etc. connected to the Lighting System, at one half the name plate wattage.
(C) All empty sockets at 25 watts each.
(D) Customers must advise the Company when changes of load are made. The Company will also make Inspections.

LAMP RENEWALS UNDER COMMERCIAL LIGHTING SCHEDULE.

The Company's Regular Lamp Renewal Policy.

Schedule B-2 Optional Commercial Lighting with Miscellaneous Small Power

This Schedule is offered to Commercial Lighting Customers, as an option to Regular Commercial Lighting Schedule B-1, subject to the following special conditions: (1) This Schedule is available for a Single Alternating Current Service only, for the total requirements of the Customer's premises, for Commercial Lighting; Appliances and Miscellaneous Small Power. (2) Customer shall arrange wiring for one or more meters as directed by the Company, the readings of all meters to be added together for billing purposes.

COMBINATION FLAT RATE AND METER.

- (1) FLAT RATE, payable monthly: $45 per Kw. per year for the 1st. 5 Kw. of Demand. Minimum Annual Flat Rate Charge, $12.00.

$39 per Kw. per year for the next 95 Kw. of Demand.

- Plus (2) ENERGY CHARGE, payable monthly: For the first 500 Kw. Hrs. $.05 per Kw. Hr. For any part of next 500 Kw. Hrs. $.04 per Kw. Hr. For any part of next 1500 Kw. Hrs. $.03 per Kw. Hr. For all excess $.025 per Kw. Hr.

THE ESTIMATED DEMAND IN K. W. shall be based upon a count of the Connected Load represented by all permanently wired Lighting Equipment, appliances and motors. Empty Sockets counted at 25 Watts; appliances at their K. W. Rating; one H. P. of motor is counted as 1 K. W. Portable devices not exceeding 600 Watts capacity, operated on detachable cords are not counted.

THE BILLING DEMAND is the sum of the Light and Power demands after the following percentages are applied to the count.

LIGHTING DEMAND

- 100% of the first Kw. of Counted load, or any part.
85% of the next 4 Kw. of Counted Load, or any part.
75% of additional Kw. of Counted Load.

Its Very Low Energy Rate

—OF—

5 cents, or Less, per K. W. Hr.

Will Prove Very Attractive To Those

- 1—Who are now burning their installed Lighting Load freely.
2—Who desire to make a more extensive use of their present Lighting Equipment, than they are now doing.
3—Who would like to install modern, up to date, Store and Window Lighting, and burn the same more freely than they could afford to, under the old 11 cent Block Schedule, or under new Commercial Light Schedule B-1.

SCHEDULE A-3

Optional Combination Lighting and Cooking Schedule for Residences.

This Schedule is for Private Residences who desire to use Electric Ranges or other large Electric Units.

The 4 cent per K. W. Hr. Energy charge enables a customer to operate an Electric Range at a much lower rate than is obtainable on our regular 5 1/2 cent Residential Area Schedule.

Call at our new office, No. 773 Main Street, and let us explain these New Rate Reductions.

POWER AND APPLIANCE DEMAND.

50% of Kw. of Counted Load, except that in no case, shall this be less than 75% of the largest Single Unit.

LAMP RENEWALS UNDER SCHEDULE B-2.

For Customer's whose demands do not exceed 100 K. W., Lamps will be renewed as in Regular Commercial Lighting Schedule, B-1.

EXAMPLE

SHOWING THE METHOD OF FIGURING

BILLS ON SCHEDULE B-2.

The bill is made up of two parts: The Flat Rate, and the amount based on the meter readings. Assume that the customer has 3 K. W. of Lighting Load and 1 H. P. in several motors. The Billing Demand would be made up as follows:

Table with columns for Lighting and Power, and rows for different load categories and total billing demand.

The yearly Flat Rate would be: 3.2 K. W. at $45 a Year—$144, or per month $12.00

To this is added the amount determined from the Meter readings.

Assume this customer used 480 K. W. Hrs. for Light and 100 K. W. Hrs. for Power.

This would amount to: 500 K. W. Hrs. at 5. .... $25.00 80 K. W. Hrs. at 4c. .... 3.20 $28.20

Total Monthly bill, Light and Power under this New Rate .... $40.20

The Customers Combined Light and Power bills under the Old Rates would be .... $46.67

Saving to customer who uses his installed Load freely .... $6.47 per month

Schedule A-3 Optional Combination Lighting and Cooking

Schedule for Residences

This Schedule is available only for Private Residential use, as an option to Regular Residential Lighting Schedule A-1, for Lighting and the usual small household appliances, when combined with an Electric Range, Refrigerator, or other large Current Consuming devices, subject to the approval of the Company as to sizes and types.

COMBINATION FLAT RATE AND METER.

- (1) Flat Rate, $1.08 per year for each 100 Sq. Ft. of Floor Area, payable monthly. (Same measurement basis as in Residential Lighting Schedule A-1.)

Plus (2) 4 cents per Kilowatt-Hour, by meter.

LAMP RENEWALS UNDER COMBINATION LIGHTING AND COOKING SCHEDULE.

The Company's Regular Lamp Renewal Policy.

TWO PICTURE BILL AT CIRCLE THEATER

Constance Talmadge and Ken Maynard Star—1,500 Lollipops on Saturday For Children.

The Circle theater presents two big features for its Saturday and Sunday program this week. "Venus of Venice," that much-heralded starring vehicle of Constance Talmadge, is the principal of the two and the other is "The Devil's Saddle," with Ken Maynard in the leading role. On Saturday afternoon 1,500 lollipops will be given away.

While "Venus of Venice" attains brilliant dramatic heights, the picture is for the most part in the lighter vein in which Miss Talmadge excels. Its setting, in modern Venice, is one that breathes romance and adventure. The "Water Rat's" doubtful activities in the canals of the Italian city also give Constance an opportunity to display aquatic attainments which she is not generally known to possess.

Appearing opposite Miss Talmadge in the role of the romantic American artist, is Antonio Moreno. And Marshall Neilan's direction of the picture further establishes him as a master in the screening of stories of the "Constanceque" type.

"The Devil's Saddle" is a Western picture typical of those which Maynard has been making for some time now. Most of the scenes are taken in and around Flagstaff, Arizona, where lies the Hopi Indian reservation.

The picture has the first actual scene of an Indian tribal ceremony, photographed by the permission of the government and the chief of the tribe, and this part is a novelty in itself.

Maynard has surrounded himself with a capable cast, including Kathleen Collins, Earl Metcalfe and Francis Ford.

YOU JUST CAN'T BEAT
NORTH END RE-PAR-TEE

One of those city slickers was over at the railroad depot yesterday. "Kidder," he called, "I'm patting about their railroad from the north to the south end which had often been described as 'the shortest railroad in the world.'"

"Is that a railroad?" asked the slicker. "Why it's only a mile long." "But its just as wide as any of the others" was the quick rejoinder of a native.

"That's the one," slicker said, to admit that he was beaten in the exchange.

ents Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hutchinson Sunday afternoon.

Miss Doris Hutchinson of Waterbury spent the week-end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hutchinson.

Mr. Alfred H. Post, Mrs. Elizabeth P. Hills and Mrs. Charles Fleh were visitors at Mrs. Louis Twining's in Hartford, Monday.

The Grange held its regular meeting Tuesday evening. The Wapping degree team conferred the third and fourth degrees on a class of eleven. As the Andover Grange had a class of five ready to receive the third and fourth degrees, the master was invited to present his candidates for initiation. A vote of thanks was extended to the Wapping degree team for their very excellent work. A bountiful supper was served after which dancing was indulged in. The attendance was as follows: Wapping Grange, 16; Andover Grange, 13; Manchester Grange, four; Hebron Grange, 38.

A son was born Monday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barrasso. The Central Connecticut Light and Power Company have offered to put electricity into the town, if each house owner from Amster to the end of Gilead street will sign up to pay the company $50 towards the expense and after the lights are installed pay the regular rate.

Miss Mildred Stone of Hartford was a week-end guest at Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Peck's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hutchinson of South Manchester visited his parents.

SETBACK PLAYERS AT HALF-WAY MARK

Session at Community Club Tonight—Not to Play Thanksgiving Week.

The half-way mark has been reached in the Community Industrial Setback tournament. Tonight's session promises to be a warm one. With but a few points separating six teams anything is liable to happen. The schedule tonight follows:

Carlisle Johnson vs. Gastonbury Knitting Mills.
E. E. Hilliard Co. vs. Improvement Club.
Bon Ami vs. Business Men.
Company No. 1 vs. Talcott Bros.
Conn. Sumatra Co. vs. Gammons, Holman Co.

The games scheduled for November 24 will not be played, owing to a vote taken by all teams, on account of Thanksgiving. The teams will resume playing December 1st, after tonight's schedule of play.

START DANCES AGAIN AT THE GREEN SCHOOL

Community Club Hopes Popularity of Two Years Ago Will Be Revived; Hart's Orchestra to Play.

It has been decided to hold dances at the Manchester Green school on Saturday evenings again this winter for the first time in two years, it was announced today. The first dance will be run Saturday night of this week.

Both old-fashioned and modern dance numbers will be played. Hart's five-piece orchestra will play for the opening night. The promoter has not yet been secured. When the dances were held at the Green School two years ago, they proved very popular and the committee which consists of Peter Baldwin, chairman, Ora Sherwood, Ray Moonan, Miss Helen Griffin, Mrs. Francis Baldwin and Miss Virginia Talbot, hopes the popularity will be revived.

At the meeting were Miss Ella Washburn, Mrs. F. T. Elish, Mrs. James A. Irvine of the Educational club, and the officers of the Town Players.

It was agreed that the Educational club will engage the theater, take care of advertising and handle the printing of the program. Tickets will be issued immediately and placed in the hands of members of both of the organizations.

PRODUCE "MINICK" ON DEC. 7, PROBABLY

Wednesday, Dec. 7, was set last night as the tentative date for the presentation of "Minick," the three-act play which will be given by the Town Players for the Educational Club. The executive committee of the Players met last night with a committee of the Educational club to complete plans for the presentation.

At the meeting were Miss Ella Washburn, Mrs. F. T. Elish, Mrs. James A. Irvine of the Educational club, and the officers of the Town Players.

PATROLMEN INCREASE

Will Treat Cases Individually; Purchase New Automobile For Department Use.

The Board of Police Commissioners last night voted not to increase the salaries of the Manchester patrolmen in a group. The night policemen and all of the supernumeraries recently asked for a wage increase amounting to from $4 to $6 per week. The commissioners denied the petition advising the patrolmen that they would consider increases individually only and not in groups.

The commissioners voted to dispose of the Studebaker touring car now in the possession of the police department in a trade-in for a Buick sedan. The present automobile has been in the department five years and has about outlived its usefulness to a police department.

Several offers were made the department but the Buick bid was the best and was accepted.

The commissioners went on record favoring Sunday afternoon movies and Commissioner Rogers was instructed to convey the vote to the hearing before the Selectmen last night. The Manchester Improvement club asked the board to revert to the former patrol schedule.

THIS NURSE
JUST COULDN'T STOP COUGHING
Specialists Didn't Help

For slight ordinary coughs almost any sweet cough syrup will do, but if you have one of those tough, old timers, that hang on and die hard and that won't yield to common remedies and often keeps you awake at night then your one best bet is Broncholine Emulsion.

Often a dozen doses forces the most stubborn cough to yield and loosen up and you are better almost before you know it.

There is no sugar, chloroform or dope in Broncholine Emulsion, it's a wonderful medicine for people who are getting over a heavy obstinate cold or an attack of Flu.

A New York nurse coughed for weeks—just couldn't stop coughing even after consulting specialists—yet one half bottle of Broncholine Emulsion did stop it—Completely.

Magnell Drug Co. has a big demand for this REAL cough medicine and so do dealers everywhere.

Secretary.

A favorite Personal Car with Big Car Owners

You would be astonished to know how many owners of two or more cars leave their larger cars at home, to drive the Essex; for they sacrifice no comfort or performance their larger cars can give, and they enjoy definite advantages in driving ease and handling. And these same advantages appeal to every owner, no matter what his previous car experience. Essex ownership is a progressive discovery of satisfactions and enjoyments that grow with possession and of which performance is but an item.

Essex is engineered and balanced to a riding ease that seems to erase the ruts and ripples of the road, and operation ease is so simple and effortless that the lightest gesture controls it.

The Essex Super-Six high-compression motor converts waste heat to power, developing more than 2 1/2 times the power its size ordinarily rates it. In performance brilliancy it achieves a new high mark even for Essex. In its sustained stamina, smoothness and durability you see but one of many advantages for which the Super-Six principle accounts.

Here you have 50 miles an hour all day long—far greater speed if you want it—flying smoothness in action—dynamic appeals that win you in a ride. This amazing Super-Six performance and quality are economical to buy and engineered to lowest operation and maintenance cost.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (137) Tungsten

Edison in America and Swan in England were engaged in producing a fine wire of carbon which would glow brilliantly with the heat produced when an electric current passed through it. They were working toward the same end at the same time, unknown to one another. These very fine carbon wires were known as filaments and held the field from 1880 to 1904.

Wonderful possibilities were opened up in 1907 by the German scientist, Nernst, who invented a new lamp of astonishing brilliancy.

The Nernst electric light was like an incandescent gas-mantle concentrated into a tiny stick which conveyed the current, raising it to white heat.

In the meantime the chemists had been busy and found that a metal called Tungsten would withstand enormous heat and glow with a very brilliant light. In 1906 a drawn wire of Tungsten was made by the General Electric Company and when sealed into a little glass bulb, the wire gave a purer white light than any other known.

HEBRON

Leonard Porter of Willimantic, a former resident of this town, spent Monday here as the guest of his nephew, Clarence E. Porter.

Mrs. Mary E. Cummings, who has been confined to her bed with an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, is reported as improving, but is not yet able to resume her work as teacher at the Pine Street School in Columbia. A substitute teacher is taking her place in the school.

Winthrop Porter has so far recovered from his recent illness of infantile paralysis as to be able to make a trip to his father's place in Hebron Center. He walks with a cane but is improving daily.

Tax Collector J. Banks Jones was at his office in Gilead Tuesday, Nov. 15, to receive personal taxes from the people of that section. He will meet the tax payers of Amston at the Amston Railroad station, Dec. 15, from 10 a. m. to 12 m. He will be at the town clerk's office at Hebron Center on the same day, from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m. All persons neglecting the payment of said taxes more than 60 days after they become due will be made liable to the addition of $1.00 to the tax, according to the requirements of the law.

Albert Hilding was the leader of the Christian Endeavor Society at Hebron Center Sunday evening. The topic had to do with "The Power and the Mystery of the Cross." Mr. Myers, a returned missionary from China, was present, having preached at Gilead in the forenoon. He spoke on the improved conditions in the receiving of news in China from this country. In previous years, he said, the news received through foreign countries, was apt to be unreliable and highly colored.

Mrs. Howard C. Champe writes from the mission field of Mazatlan, Mexico, that there are some very curious customs among the Mexicans in the celebration of All Saints' Day. The day is made one of festivity and among other odd ways of keeping the departed in mind, a thriving business is done in the selling of miniature coffins containing corpses in effigy. These tokens are made of different materials, in some cases being made of candy and supposed to be eaten.

The selectmen of the town and some of the business men were present at a recent meeting of the officials of the Central Connecticut Power & Light Company held at East Hampton. Besides the selectmen those representing this town were Edmund Horton, J. Banks Jones, Robert E. Foote and William J. Warner. An effort will be made to secure a sufficient number of subscribers to make it possible for electricity to be introduced into the town. Electricity will be brought into Amston through Colchester regardless of whether Hebron and Gilead get it. Poles are already being placed from Colchester to Amston.

Sherwood Griffin caught a cock pheasant, which was feeding with the hens on the Edmund Horton place on Tuesday. He caught the bird in his hands and shut it in with the hens and other poultry. Mrs. George Mitchell caught a pheasant in the same way some weeks ago. It has been feeding with her flock of poultry and was very tame. She has kept it with her hens for several weeks. It flew away once but came back of its own accord and has stayed with the poultry since that time.

Guests at "Manor Manor," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Henry Raymond on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Raymond and family of New Britain, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Kibba of Somers and Mr. Bonney of Hartford.

Mrs. Helen White and her daughter, Miss Daisy White, were recent visitors in East Hampton, of Mrs. Whites brother, Alphonso A. Hills, who is seriously ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. P. Maples. On Sunday Mrs. White and her daughter entertained at their home Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keate and two daughters, of Gilead, also Mrs. W. A. White of Montville.

Thelma Cummings of this place, a daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Cummings, was one of the cup winners of the Dairy club and sewing club in Hebron. Other Hebron members receiving honorable mention are Ruth and Leroy Kinney, Richard and Henry Ives, and Ruth Raymond.

The Misses Clarissa and Susan Pendleton and Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert attended the reading given by Miss Edna St. Vincent Millay, the celebrated poetess, at Hartford, Monday evening. Miss Millay read from her own poems to a large and appreciative audience at the Central Baptist church.

Announcements and descriptions of the acts will be made as usual by Jim Clancy, manager of the theatre. The Capitol presentations, which have been featured by the Travelers' station the last two years, have been noted for the manner in which Mr. Clancy conveys to the listener the atmosphere of the theatre, and the way he sketches the acts. The program to be broadcast will provide entertainment of an hour and a half to WTIC's audience.

GROUCH CURE GIVEN PATRONS AT RIALTO

"Sailor Izzy Murphy" Guaranteed to Make You Laugh Whether You Want to or Not; Today, Tomorrow.

If you've got a grouch tonight and want to get rid of it, come around to the cozy Rialto theater. Manager All has a crackerjack comedy booked that he guarantees will chase away your grouch and send you home laughing. It is entitled, "Sailor Izzy Murphy" in which George Jessel plays the leading role. The feature will be shown tonight and tomorrow only.

Prominent in the cast are the piquant Audrey Ferris, Warner Oland, John Miljan, Otto Lederer, Theodore Lorch and Clara Horton. Henry Lehrman directed the production, which is probably the most hilarious sea story ever done on the screen. It recounts the adventures of a young and amorous perfumery salesman—George Jessel—who being kicked out by the father of his intended wife, serves papers on her papa, and finds himself suddenly with the two, aboard their yacht, which has been manned by escaped lunatics. He himself pretends to be nutty, in order to get aboard, and then goes through some ludicrously hair-raising adventures, among which are being appointed Lord High Admiral, Lord High Executioner and Coal-Stoker. Extraordinary! It will get you going!

"Sailor Izzy Murphy" is one of the funniest farces ever screened. It is rough-house de luxe, slapstick extraordinary.

The Misses Clarissa and Susan Pendleton and Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert attended the reading given by Miss Edna St. Vincent Millay, the celebrated poetess, at Hartford, Monday evening. Miss Millay read from her own poems to a large and appreciative audience at the Central Baptist church.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Thursday, November 17.

Every moment filled with interest and entertainment is promised to radio listeners who tune in Thursday night. The first big highlight is scheduled for 8:00 o'clock when the Philadelphia chapter of the Red Cross radiates a concert through WTIC. In this program the city's foremost artists will appear before the microphone. Twenty minutes later WOR will feature a recital by the New York Philharmonic orchestra with William Mengelberg, conductor, and Rudolf Ganz, piano soloist. At 8:30 the Hoover Sentinels' male quartet, augmented by an orchestra and male duo, will be heard through WEAF and the Red Network. The Maxwell hour, through WTIC and the Blue network, will go on the air at 9:00. In this concert will be featured songs and music by the Maxwell mixed chorus, the woodwind trio, the male quartet and the ladies' trio. WTIC and the Blue network at 10:00 will broadcast a portion of Leoncavallo's opera "I Pagliacci" (The Clown) for the third of the Chicago Opera Company's radio presentations. Fans not interested in grand opera will have two other highlights to choose from at this time. They are entertainments by the Smith Brothers, famous harmonists, through WEAF and the Red network, and Niagara Falls band through WMAK.

STUDEBAKER THE GREAT INDEPENDENT

You are interested in The Dictator's records of mile-a-minute speed for 24 hours, because:

When the Studebaker Dictator, running under the supervision of the American Automobile Association, established 11 new records for stock cars listing under $1400, it proved that:

- ...you get the highest quality of steel and other materials in a Dictator
...you get marvelous precision manufacture in a Dictator
...you get the most painstaking and expert workmanship in a Dictator
...you get brilliant but sound design in a Dictator
...you get vast excess power in a Dictator

And the above records prove that these features have been so combined that The Dictator will give you:

- ...thrilling performance
...long life
...economical operation

So well built is the Studebaker Dictator that every car may be driven 40 miles per hour from the day you buy it new! After the first thousand miles the motor oil need be changed only at 2,500-mile intervals. The chassis need be lubricated only at 2,500-mile intervals. Get behind the wheel of a Dictator today—drive it an hour and you'll know you have found the world's greatest motor car value. And back of every car is 75 years of honest manufacturing and selling.

The REGIMENT of NAMELESS HEROES

One Unknown Soldier
Lies Buried in Arlington
But Ninth Armistice Day
Finds 1600 of His Comrades
In French Graves and They May Never Be Identified

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

ANOTHER Armistice Day finds the United States Army, through its Graves Registration Service, still recovering bodies from the land of nowhere and even often setting the minds of American fathers and mothers at rest by snatching fallen soldiers from the ranks of the unknown and giving them names again. Officers in the Registration Service have given themselves to the great task of caring for the dead with all the zeal and thoroughness with which all its officers prosecuted the war.

America's Unknown Soldier, sleeping in lonely majesty at Arlington, is the man who came home.

Sixteen hundred of his comrades remain in France, a small regiment of those who surrendered not only life but identity itself. Today these nameless men lie under long rows of snow-white crosses in the eight beautiful American military cemeteries of Europe. Before another Armistice Day has passed, those crosses will all be of marble. On their bars, instead of the inscriptions which identify the bodies of 29,000 known dead in these cemeteries, will be engraved the legend:

HERE RESTS IN HONORED GLORY
AN AMERICAN SOLDIER
KNOWN BUT TO GOD.

Every day of the year large processions or little groups or lonely devotees cross the Potomac and climb the hill to the Unknown's tomb. He is the symbol of the young men who went away in uniform, disappeared in awful battles and were never heard of any more except when grave-diggers picked up what was left and assigned a number for want of a name. The Gold Star mothers whose sons were never mentioned on a list of the dead look to Arlington.

There is another class of unknowns—the missing, who outnumber the more than 1600 unknown dead by more than 3000. Some of them were killed in action and buried no one knows—or remembers—where. Some were annihilated when German guns or airplanes scored direct hits—when a caisson exploded or a bursting shell covered them with tons of dirt and debris. A few perhaps deserted or lost their minds and wandered off.

In the past year, 99 more bodies were recovered from European soil. In the five years preceding, the annual numbers of recoveries, beginning in 1921-22 were 312, 64, 23, 182 and

152. In the six-year period, 1166 identifications were made.

Although new bodies were found, the number of the unknown dead dropped in those six years from 1879 to 1623. As the war recedes farther into the past, each year sees fewer identifications. But although the comrades of the man at Arlington will in the great majority of cases sleep on unmolested, a few will surely yet gain a name.

Thus the work of finding the missing and identifying the found goes on.

LAST June the remains of seven soldiers were found in an isolated shell hole in the Bois des Ogons at Nantilleuse in the Meuse region of France. One of these men was Lieut. William A. Sheehan of Company F, 315th Infantry, who was killed in the Meuse-Argonne offensive in September, 1918. The relatives and friends of Sheehan had requested the location of his grave, but a prompt search failed to produce it and the search had to be extended for nine years. The Registration Service checked such records as communal lists, burial reports, Red Cross Searchers' reports and maps. Letters were written to Sheehan's former officers and comrades. Some of these drew pencil sketches which were used by the Paris office of the Graves Registration Service for a physical search and investigation which was finally successful in locating Sheehan and the six men who died with him. They were found where they had been buried by the Germans, without shoes but still with their identification tags.

Three corporals and a private were reported to have been buried near each other at Mont St. Pere after being killed by a shell. As illustrating the persistency with which the Army seeks the recovery of such men, one was found in 1919, another in 1921, a third in 1925 and in April, 1926, the fourth—Corporal Ralph L. Alexander—was found under the bank of a small stream in a grave covered by eight feet of sand and stone, doubtless hurled upon his grave by other shells.

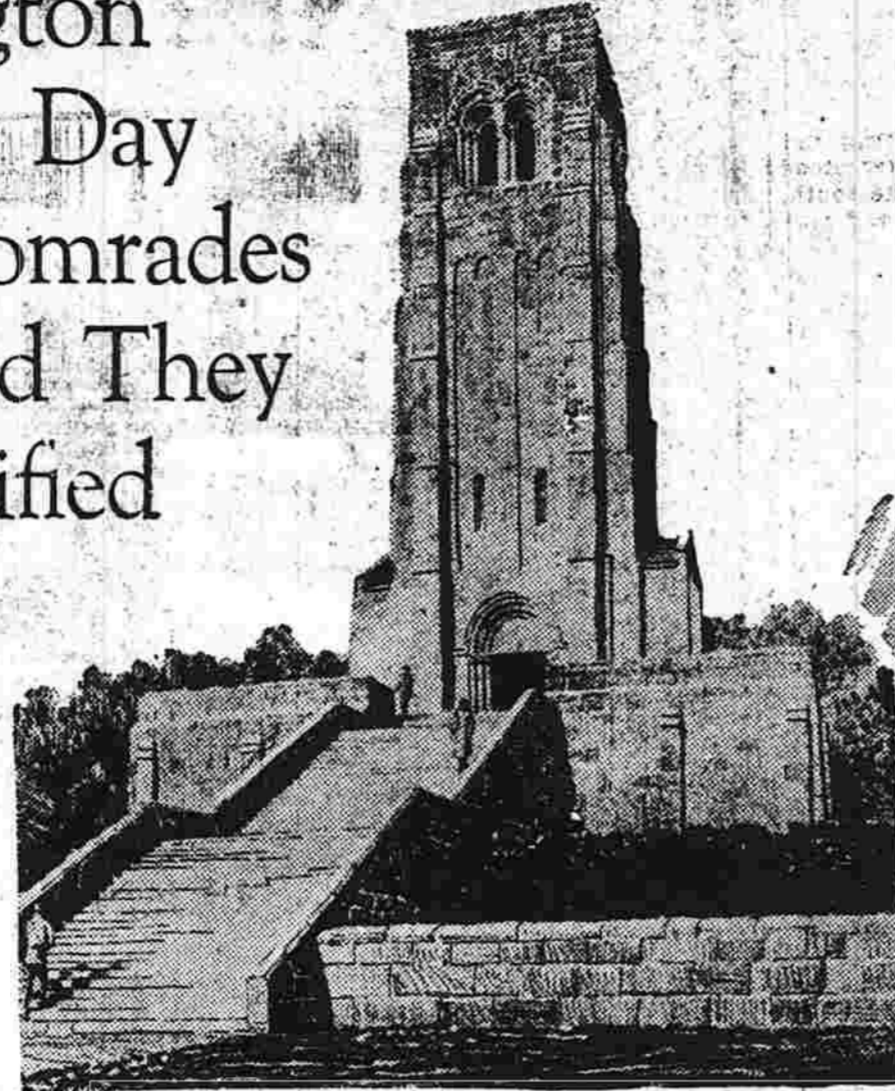

Such instances seem to be typical. Less spectacular, but often the most important events in the world to parents of the unknown dead, are the occasional identifications achieved by similar methods.

Once a father traveled thousands of miles to France before he would accept the Army's identification of his son. The whole case hinged on a single tooth, in the father's opinion, and after he had studied the tooth he exclaimed:

"There can be no longer any doubt. It was worth the trip!"

DENTAL charts are one of the principal methods of identification where there are no identification tags, but of course the searchers must have the original specifications from the soldier's former dentist or some other reliable source. Sometimes a search has been narrowed down by the discovery of a foreign language newspaper in the unknown's pocket. In one instance this proved the deciding clue, for only one man with a Polish name had been lost in the vicinity where a body was found with part of a Polish newspaper.

Blurred words on water-soaked paper several times have been deciphered to achieve identification. Once, when a soldier was exhumed in the Somme, there were found the tattered remains of a slip of paper on which someone had written a poem. It was the only clue, but it did the job when someone studied the scrap and found that the soldier's sweetheart had written him an acrostic and that the first letters of each line spelled his name.

Graves are opened again and again, as often as it appears that exhumation may aid the identification work. Constant reference is made to such personal effects found on bodies as pen knives, card cases, snap shots, shaving kits and newspaper clippings.

You may ask why, when all troops were equipped with identification tags, the work of identification should so often present so many difficulties. There are several reasons why identification tags were frequently missing. Sometimes they were lost; sometimes they chafed a soldier's neck and were thrown away; sometimes orders were given to remove those tags to keep secret the positions of troops; sometimes they were blown away as the wearers died. Once, too, a welfare worker collected all the identification discs from a group of the dead and forwarded them to headquarters instead of burying one disc with the body and attaching the other to the grave marker.

Recovery of bodies and identification of them has reached an amazing ratio as compared with the record of other warring nations. It is to be remembered that temporary burials were sometimes made under the fire of the enemy; that they often had to be marked only by a rifle or an improvised cross or a stick in the ground. Sometimes whole burial parties were wiped out as they did their perilous duty.

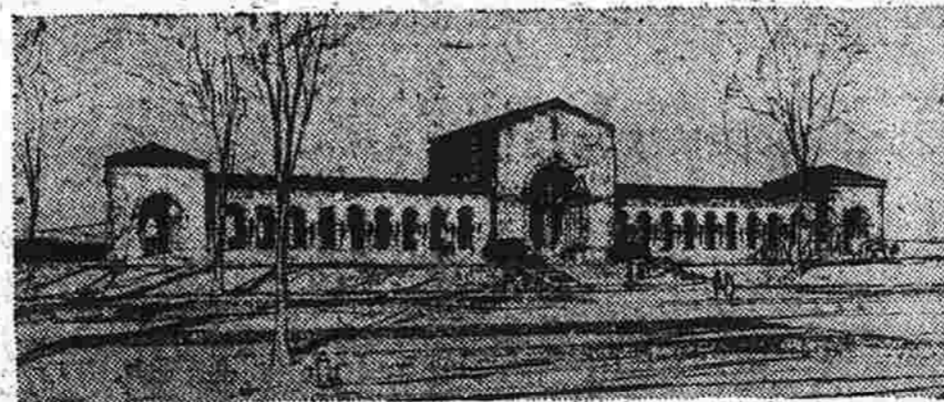

It was reported that in the French army some 500,000 burials completely disappeared, during a long stretch of fighting over the same area in which the terrain was altered by shell-fire.

Records of the Graves Registration Service tell of some prodigious operations performed by its searchers and engineers to recover its own. In the Forest of Parroy, the Americans constructed a dugout 70 feet below the surface which was supposed to be immune from bombs and shells. One night, while it was occupied by an officer and 13 men, a German air bomb penetrated the hillock for the astonishing depth of 50 feet, exploded, and buried the 14 under tons of earth and debris. To recover the bodies a shaft 30 feet square was sunk 50 feet. The shaft was fortified with heavy logs and equipped with five platforms. It was then necessary to sap in all directions, but the 14 were finally recovered.

"But it is impossible to locate the remains of all men who have been reported missing," explains Col. Hampton. "The work now in progress can never attain complete success. You have but to consider the circumstances of war, realizing the men who were blown to bits by direct hits from enemy artillery; the men who were shot down fell into pits, canals and rivers,

HERE RESTS IN HONORED GLORY
AN AMERICAN SOLDIER
KNOWN BUT TO GOD

THIS story about America's Unknown Dead calls attention to the thousands of Americans who will never definitely know what became of friends, relatives and loved ones who went to the war. For such as these there is not even the full measure of the consolation contained in the wartime verse which was inscribed at the entrance to the old temporary American cemetery at Aisne-Marne:

When the war will be over
We'll seek for the wonderful one
And maiden will look for her Lover
And mother will look for her Son
And there will be end to our grieving
And Gladness will gleam over loss
As—Glory beyond all believing,
We point—to a name on a cross.

Younger selected the one which held the Unknown. Under the most careful guard, the casket was sealed and inscribed "An Unknown American Soldier who gave his Life in the World War." It was draped with the Stars and Stripes and brought to this country with unprecedented pomp, honor and ceremony.

THERE are 606 unknown dead at Oise-Aisne and 457 at Meuse-Argonne. At Suresnes, where the American Legion recently held tributary ceremonies, there are only two.

The legionnaires found Suresnes as the other cemeteries will look when all the handsome marble crosses are erected within the year. These crosses, which will stand more than four feet high, are being made in Italy as the cost of purchase here and transport across the Atlantic would have been some 500 per cent higher. In the case of Jewish soldiers, the cross is replaced by the Star of David atop the shaft. The crosses are laid in long rows, firmly embedded in trenches of cement so that they can never waver or fall.

Officers and privates lie side by side, for there is no rank in death and no attempt has been made to separate or distinguish them. Some bitterness has been expressed by the consistent refusal of the Registration Service to allow relatives to erect special monuments, but the Army believes its position is sound.

Plans have been drawn for imposing memorials which will in time be erected at all the cemeteries. At Chateau Thierry, and Montsec, colonnades 60 feet high will be built on rises of ground overlooking the burial grounds. At Montfaucon, a monument 165 feet high has been planned, while chapels will be built at Aisne-Marne, Romagnous, Waerghem and Thiencourt.

Originally it was estimated that the American dead lay in at least 2000 separate burial places. First the Service concentrated them to 700 cemeteries and in a second stupendous operation brought all the fallen to their last concentration camps in the eight official burial grounds. In these the known and the unknown lie together.

And THE Unknown at Arlington accepts our tribute for them all.

and many other last burial places which will forever remain unknown to man.

When an unknown body is found, the investigator checks the records of the various organizations in the area at the time. All men missing who might conceivably have been lost in that section then pass through a detailed checking process.

As for the 1623 dead now classified as unknown, the Graves

Registration Service has records of the description of each body and its location when found and it is willing to exhume the remains for a study of the teeth whenever that is necessary.

There is only one man known to be dead for whom there are no such records and that is the Unknown Soldier himself. This was one of the four bodies brought from the Aisne-Marne, Meuse-Argonne, Somme and St. Mihiel areas to the Hotel de Ville at Chalons-sur-Marne—four bodies which bore absolutely no indication as to name, rank, organization or date of death. There were four alternate bodies prepared in case any evidence of identity were revealed, but these were unnecessary. Each body was conveyed by an officer to Chalons and the records covering their original burials were burned. The caskets were shuffled and in the presence of high officers Sergt. Edward

DECISION
Of the Selectmen of the Town of Manchester, Conn., upon the proposal of Selectmen for the establishment of building and veranda lines on the east and west side of Henderson Road between Center Street on the north and West Center Street on the south.

Upon proposal of Selectmen for the establishment of building and veranda lines on the east side and the west side of Henderson Road, between Center Street, on the north, and West Center Street, on the south, the Selectmen of the Town of Manchester, Conn., acting under and pursuant to Section 9 (44) (House Bill No. 1049), Special Laws of Connecticut, 1913, and Sections 1-5 (452) Special Laws Conn. 1917, entitled "An Act amending an Act concerning the nomination of candidates for public office, and the number, powers, and duties of town officers in the Town of Manchester," approved April 9th, 1913, and October 1st, 1917, having caused a copy of the proposed order designating and establishing building and veranda lines on Henderson Road, a highway within said Town of Manchester, to be filed in the Town Clerk's office in said Manchester, and published at least twice in a newspaper in said Manchester, at least five days before date of said hearing, and deposited a copy of said proposed order, together with a notice of time and place of said hearing, in a Post Office in said town, postage paid directed to the person or persons interested at his or their last known address, five days before said hearing—for the purpose of designating and establishing building and veranda lines, appraising the damages and assessing the benefits caused by laying out said building and veranda lines under said petition and proposed order by the provisions of said Sections,—met at the Municipal Building in said Town of Manchester on the 14th day of November A. D. 1927, at eight o'clock in the afternoon,—the time and place designated in said notice, and having viewed the premises and heard all the parties present and interested,—deem it for the public good to designate and establish building and veranda lines on said Henderson Road under said petition and proposed order, and it is ORDERED:—That from and after the 14th day of November, 1927, building and veranda lines on said highway known as Henderson Road be, and they are hereby designated and established as follows, to wit:—

EAST SIDE.
The building line on the east side of Henderson Road is to be the street line from the south line of Center Street on the north to a point 100 feet south of the south line of said Center Street, and from said point to the north line of West Center Street on the south the building line is to be ten (10) feet east of and parallel to the east line of said Henderson Road.

The veranda line on the east side of Henderson Road is to be the street line from the south line of Center Street on the north to a point 100 feet south of the south line of said Center Street, and from said point to the north line of West Center Street on the south the veranda line is to be ten (10) feet east of and parallel to the east line of said Henderson Road.

WEST SIDE.
The building line on the west side of Henderson Road is to be the street line from the south line of Center Street on the north to a point 100 feet south of the south line of said Center Street, and from said point to the north line of West Center Street on the south the building line is to be ten (10) feet west of and parallel to the west line of said Henderson Road.

The veranda line on the west side of Henderson Road is to be the street line from the south line of Center Street on the north to a point 100 feet south of the south line of said Center Street, and from said point to the north line of West Center Street on the south the veranda line is to be ten (10) feet west of and parallel to the west line of said Henderson Road.

C. B. A. A. Will Stage Amateur Bouts In Rec Gym

First Show To Be Held On Next Tuesday Night

Amateur boxing tournaments conducted by Cheney Brothers Athletic Association will be held in the School Street Recreation Center gymnasium instead of at Cheney Hall as last winter. The first show will be staged next Tuesday night. They will be continued at two week intervals unless popular demand deems it advisable to run them weekly.

The purpose of staging the bouts at the Rec instead of Cheney Hall is because the latter is much more centrally located and because it will accommodate about twice as many persons. It is estimated that 1,200 persons can watch the bouts at the Rec as compared to 750 at Cheney Hall. The Rec is located only a half-minute's walk from the trolley line and will no doubt meet with much approval from the fans.

The tournament next week Tuesday will start at 8:30 prompt. The doors open at 7:30. There will be seven bouts on the program. Although arrangements have not been fully completed, it is expected that boxers from Springfield, Hartford, Manchester and Rockville will grace the card. One good thing about running the shows on Tuesday nights is that they will not interfere with the tournaments staged by the Massachusetts A. C. at Foot Guard Hall in Hartford Thursday nights.

John L. Janney, the popular promoter who arranged many a fine card for Manchester lovers of the amateur boxing game last winter, will have charge of the same work this season although he will be relieved of many of his other duties. Arthur Anderson will have charge of the equipment, for instance, and Franklin Dexter and Ray Bidwell will look after the tickets and posters. Matthew Macdonald will have charge of the officials and personnel. Previously, Promoter Janney had to do all this work in addition

APPLICATION BLANK

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

I hereby apply for reserved seats for the amateur boxing bouts to be held at the Rec next Tuesday night (Nov. 22) under the auspices of Cheney Brothers Athletic Association.

To secure the boxers, Director Lewis Lloyd of the Recreation Center who has arranged his schedule so that the C. B. A. A. could use the Gym floor on Tuesday nights, will do all in his power to make the sport an even bigger success than last year.

All this was decided at a meeting of the directors of the A. A. held last night at the School street Rec. It was decided also that the price for general admission will be fifty cents and seventy-five for reserved seats. General admission tickets will be sold at the door only. The first row of seats around the gallery and 150 seats on the gym floor will be reserved.

Applications for reserved seats should be made by filling out the accompanying form and handing it to a mill director or to the Recreation Center office. Applications will be received until Saturday and the tickets will be distributed Monday. The same officials that handled the bouts last year are expected to work again this winter. They are Walter Yennart, referee; Ed McCarty, announcer; Harry White, timekeeper; Walter Moske, Jack Copeland and Herb Bissell, judges.

MANCHESTER HIGH DETERMINED TO STOP WINDHAM ON SATURDAY

JONES' ARGUMENT Several Players Quit Team But Coach Kelley Is Still Optimistic; Long Workouts This Week In Preparation For Game.

"There are many fault-finders to my system, but there are answers for all criticisms," says Howard Jones.

"Why not let the four backs carry the ball?" some ask. "Simply because I have found it more efficient to make specialists of my men. Any ball-carrier who leads interference is subconsciously prone to save himself. Interference leaders should not have to worry about carrying the ball."

"Many ask me why I don't have a halfback call signals instead of the quarterback. Interference leading is the most difficult task in football. The man doing this duty is forbidden by rules to use his hands or arms in taking out a huge lineman who comes toward him permitted by all rules to use his hands. It takes a crash to dispose of the opponent and an interference runner has enough to think about without pondering over what play to use next."

"The ball carrier's job is simple compared to that of the interference leader's duty. The quarterback is the logical man to call signals. Since he carries the ball he is behind his entire team. He knows what plays are working. He alone can tell which men are failing in their duties and which opponents are tackling him. He can see what opponents are out of position."

"This is the age of specialization and the interference leader suited to that work has no business trying to carry the ball. Some say this gives lee-way for no deception. If the quarterback or fullback is a triple-threat man you have all the deception needed. Also if every man is an expert at his duty on a certain play and completely his task, I'd be willing to let any team know just where we are going. The play would work because of efficiency. After all, specialization does not make for individual stars, but when co-ordinated properly, forms the most complete teamwork."

"I have had some howl to me, 'Why don't you give that poor quarterback a rest from carrying the ball?' My answer is always 'Why not give the poor fellow leading interference and taking the jolts a rest?'"

Manchester's starting lineup for the game will be Farr and Lupien, ends, Spencer, Healey, tackles, L. Cheney, Welles, Johnston, guards, Mercer, Hansen, quarter, Gill, E. Dowd, Treat, Shannon, halfbacks, Keeney, fullback, Willmantic is said to have a strong team and is confident of winning over its arch rival.

Howard Jones Is Called Henry Ford Of Football

COACH HOWARD JONES UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

BY BILLY EVANS

"The Henry Ford of Football!" Such is the title given Howard Jones, grid coach at the University of Southern California.

Just as the Ford system of constructing automobiles requires each man to do one specific piece of work and do it expertly, so Howard Jones makes his "workers" in building a football offensive become specialists.

No man is merely a backfield performer or a lineman with Jones. Neither is he just a halfback, end, tackle, etc. A member of the backfield, must specifically be either a right or a left tackle, guard or end.

The Trojan right guard and left guard have vastly different duties under Jones. One man cannot alternate from one position to the other. It is the same with the tacklers and the ends.

For instance, one of Jones' guards must be a powerful man, a "stone-wall" type who stands the brunt of both offense and defense. The other must be fast so he can slip out to lead interference. One guard is a crasher who can take "socks" and who swings into a guard position at times. The other is always tricky, fast and elusive, a man who can catch passes and can slip through an opponent's line. One end is usually big while the other is the pass-receiving expert. The center plays a roving game. The most pronounced specialization under Jones' unique system is found in the backfield. Here only two men carry the ball, the others doing nothing except interference work.

The ball carriers are the quarterback and the fullback with the major part of the work falling on the former, who also calls signals. But even the duties of the two luggers and the two trail blazers are different. Whenever the quarterback takes the ball, he darts for the open field, around end or off tackle. The fullback plugs at the line. The latter need not be big; usually he is as light as the quarterback. But the fullback's charges are nearly always for short distances unless he gets the benefit of a good break, while the quarterback does more ground covering in his journeys.

The halfbacks are called "outside" and "inside" halves. The former is the right half. He is at the "long side" of the unbalanced line and with the guard and fullback does most of the way-paving for the quarterback who carries the ball. The inside half is at the left or short side of the line. He must be rugged for to him come more hard knocks than to any other member of the backfield. He is protection and he must "get" the man who steps through the line when the play forms.

That, in brief, is Jones' system which has been evolved from 13 years of mentorship at Yale, Syracuse, Ohio State and Trinity College before the Trojan coach came to Southern California.

teriously. As far as putting into the question of who should start the game over North is concerned, Vendrillo was wrong. That is up to Dwyer. He alone is responsible for the fate of the Cubs. Dwyer's hand has been closed all season, but it will have to open Sunday.

TIGER FLOWERS PASSES AWAY FOLLOWING MINOR OPERATION

His Death, Most Surprising In Ring History—Was Training to Regain Middleweight Title.

New York, Nov. 17.—The Georgia Tiger is no more. Almost on the eve of what the great negro was fond to regard as his "big chance to come back"—his return crack at the middleweight title—Theodore "Tiger" Flowers lay dead today.

His death, one of the most surprising in ring history, came early last night when he suffered a sudden relapse after undergoing a minor operation on his nose earlier in the day.

The sinking spell was unexpected, Dr. Wilfred Fraleigh said. He attributed the death to a condition of Status Lymphaticus, evident in the operated region above the right eye.

The operation was intended to clear the scar tissue, the result of many years of fighting.

The fact that Flowers was under observation at the Fraleigh hospital for three months dispelled the general opinion that the operation was an emergency one.

His Lost Fight Following his return from a southern jaunt Flowers engaged in his first northern fight in Harlem last Friday when he knocked out Leo Gates in four rounds. A lull in ring engagements, caused purposely to allow him to spend a month in the hospital, started yesterday, and the operation was attempted at 3:05 p. m.

Practically unconscious from the time of the operation, Flowers had his best hour immediately preceding his death. But he began to sink fast, and Dr. Fraleigh was summoned to his bedside by an assistant.

"The Tiger" otherwise known as the "Georgia Deacon," was born in Camille, Ga., on August 5, 1895, and took up boxing while employed in the shipyards during the World War. He was discovered by his present manager, Walk Miller. Miller brought him along at a fast pace which culminated in winning his way to the championship. Flowers' good nature, his perpetual smile, his almost obsequious sportsmanship in the ring, and his many quaint oddities of conduct had endeared him to the hearts of ring followers. The deacon never began a fight without first kneeling for a moment in prayer.

New York, Nov. 17.—Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion of the world, felt keenly the death of Tiger Flowers, former middleweight champion, who died early last night as a result of an operation. Tunney sent a telegram of condolence to Flowers' wife and six-year-old child and added he would be present at the funeral.

New York, Nov. 17.—The death of Tiger Flowers last night as the result of an operation, the right one to remove a growth there was unusual in that under similar circumstances Harry Greb, from whom Flowers won the middleweight championship, also passed away after undergoing an operation several months ago. Flowers and Greb were both on the road to recovery when a sudden relapse caused their deaths.

FAST PRELIMINARY TO TITLE CONTEST

North Ends to Take On Speedy Mohicans of Meriden at Hickey's Sunday.

The North Ends have completed arrangements with the Meriden Mohicans to play the preliminary next Sunday at Hickey's Grove. Play will start at 12:30.

The Mohicans have one of the best junior teams in the state. They have lost but two games this year, one to the North Ends by the score of 7-6 and the other to the heavy St. Stanislaus of Meriden by the score of 12-0. The Saints and Cubs battled to a scoreless tie. Last year the Mohicans came to Manchester twice and beat the North Ends both times by the scores of 2-0 and 6-0. This year the North Ends avenged themselves by beating the Mohicans in Meriden although they admit they were outplayed but not outwitted.

It is expected that Mike Sacherek will be in Sunday's game for a few minutes although he was ordered not to play anymore the rest of the year. His shoulder has improved greatly, however.

NORTH END CHEER SECTION TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the cheering section of the North Ends tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the North End. James Copeland has been elected cheer leader and will have Leo Moriarty and Daniel Flynn as assistants. Copeland announces that the North End will have some real organized cheering at the game.

What We Think In Sports

By THOMAS W. STOWE

Anyone who gives odds on the outcome of Sunday's championship football game between the Cubs and the Cloverleaves is taking a big chance. It's an even bet anyway you look at it—no more. Both teams have shown that they are about on a par in their games with the Wallingford Eagles. Many have asked who I think will win the game. That is very hard to say. To be absolutely frank it looks like a great battle with either team liable to win by a touchdown margin. I would not be surprised at a tie game, but don't think either team will cross its opponent's goal line more than once. A field goal might do the trick and in this respect the Cubs would have the better chance. On aerial attack the Cubs seem most likely to score while if a touchdown is made through line plunging, the Cloverleaves' "Four-Horsemen" seem to have a better chance to push it over.

The breaks may decide the game and in this respect, it should be borne in mind that the team that plays wide awake football every minute usually gets the most breaks. All of which tends to prove that the better team ought to win. Allis will be entirely out of order. The team that wins will get the credit plus all the net receipts which may amount to close to a $1,000. The coming contest has aroused a keen interest than any other inter-sectional game in the history of Manchester and close to 2,500 persons are expected to pack the sidelines.

The team that goes into the game with the idea that it is going to play alert and clearly should profit greatly. Although the keenest rivalry possible exists between the rival teams, the player who keeps his head and thinks of his team's cause and not individual glory, will be the biggest asset to his club. Naturally the boys will be nervous up and it may not require much punk to make some of them explode in a manner disastrous to their own cause. Play hard, but clean, is a good moral for the players to heed.

The most abused words next Sunday night when the boys start to play the game all over again will be "If so and so had only done this, or that, it would have been a different story," and "I told you so." The first phrase will be offered by the sympathizers of the losing team and the latter by those who favored the winning team. Among those who voice the latter will be many who were skeptical about betting before the game but who are anxious to join the "bandwagon."

One of the most uncertain questions in connection with the game is how the teams will fare under strict officiating. Many are of the opinion that the Cloverleaves will be penalized more than the Cubs but this is entirely problematical. The Cloverleaves played under these conditions Sunday and were penalized less than their opponents. Their playing, however, was not up to the standard and may have been affected by their endeavor to avoid penalties. If competent officials handle the contest, as expected, it would not be surprising if a total of one hundred yards or more was charged to the two outfits.

Under existing conditions the game will be played regardless of weather. To my idea of thinking, this is extremely foolish. Both teams claim they seek the town title and don't care a hang about the money. This is fine spirit but when it is possible to get both, why throw one away? True last year's poor weather spoiled the game, the Cloverleaves being willing to play and the Cubs refusing to do so, but there is absolutely no sense in playing the game in a downpour of rain. There are hundreds of fans who will come out to see the teams play under ideal weather conditions but who will prop themselves up by the fireside with a book, if the weather is bad—and read about it in The Herald the next day. But under existing circumstances, it is going to be difficult to postpone the game because the officials come from such distant points. Under such circumstances the game would have to be called fully five hours before playing time in order to prevent the officials from reporting. So, it looks as if the game will have to go on regardless of the elements and about all we onlookers can do is pray for sunshine.

Many are sympathizing with "Red" Vendrillo, ex-manager of the Cubs today, because he has been "dumped" as manager of the Cubs on the very eve of the big game. True, Vendrillo had his faults, but, for that matter, we all do. It is too bad some other way could not have been conceived to remedy the situation. Without a doubt, Red Vendrillo is one of the "hardest working men to ever manage an athletic team in Manchester. His whole heart and soul were wrapped in the attempt to organize a team that would beat the North End. However, one thing led to another, and the matter came to a head night before last when Vendrillo objected to Coach Dwyer's policy of changing his players about so mys-

When In Doubt Advertise

Advertising is the safe remedy for all business ills. Little troubles are always coming up to bother you. It may be lack of sufficient help at home or in the office; or you may have a surplus of potatoes or cider; or an apartment or room that is not drawing money; household articles to sell or a hundred other little things.

A Herald Want Ad will get the thing done-it will banish the worry from your mind. You will find the solution to a great many of your problems in the Classified Columns. Make use of them.

LETTER GOLF

From BABE to RUTH is par five. Like Babe, beating his record, though, it's possible (maybe) to better par solution. Par is printed on another page:

Letter golf grid with words BABE and RUTH.

The Rules

- 1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW TO HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

Doctor-You have been at death's door and only your strong constitution saved you.

Our sympathy was appropriately expressed recently to one of our most corpulent acquaintances who had gone to a doctor about his weight and had been ordered upon a 4-day fast.

Visitor: Well, I suppose you'll be happy when your sentence is over.

Prisoner: I'm not so sure about that. I'm in for life.

Waitress-Did you order this sundae, sir?

"Atta ol' kid!" cheered Darling. "But it's too bad you had to give up the film of the Anti-Lockwill Dubs."

Darling groaned. "Oh, you dumbbell!" he shouted. "Now she'll never believe me!"

The freshman football meeting was held in the Gym that night, and Stan Coburn was chosen to manage the team.

Coburn immediately issued a call for candidates, and set a time for them to appear on the field. They came out in all kinds of patched-up football togs.
