Even Toys Must Keep Abreast Of The Times

"Lindy" Airplanes, the Newest Autos in Demand - Riot of Colors in Home Furnishings.

The little toy dog is covered with dust. But sturdy and staunch he stands. And the little toy soldier is red with rust. And his musket moulds in his hands.

Hale's during this Christmas season - color. It's a colorful store, colorful in the sense that it's a pleasing place.

When you're on Main street looking in Hale's windows the toy display on the right with a bunch of kids always gathered around and no doubt attract you first.

SLEUTHS AND GUNMEN IN PISTOL BATTLE

20 Detectives and Two Gangsters Fight - Gunmen Are Both Wounded.

Elizabeth, N. J., Dec. 9.—Two alleged gunmen were shot and wounded here early today in a running gun battle with twenty detectives by pistol bullets.

NEW STATE OFFICIAL

Harris Whittemore, Jr., of Naugatuck, was today named a member of the state park and forest commission by Governor Trumbull.

Co-incident with the appointment of Harris Whittemore, Jr., to the state park and forest commission, the resignation of the death of the elder Mr. Whittemore.

How to make good coffee. THERE are many ways to make coffee—in an old-fashioned coffee pot, in a percolator, in a tricolator, in any one of the various cleverly made coffee urns.

YUBAN is unmatched in flavor. At the first whiff of its tempting fragrance you will know that here is a coffee unlike any other in the world—as individual as its name.

MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE. Boston, Mass., Dec. 9.—Police said today they were baffled by the suicide of Daniel Curtis Rogers, 22-year-old Massachusetts Institute of Technology freshman and son of a Highland Park, Chicago, physician.

LUMBERMEN KILLED. Montreal, P. Q., Dec. 9.—Five lumbermen engaged in releasing beams above the big dam on the Gatineau river here, met death when one of their number released the cables prematurely.

CHINESE CITY FALLS. Hong Kong, Dec. 9.—The Sixth Nationalist Army has captured Yochow, it was reported today, and is continuing its offensive with Cheghsha as the objective.

865,000 Students of the Piano! THE charming Gulbransen Model—small in size—fits almost any room. Full keyboard and with a volume and quality of tone that wins the praise of musicians. Built to quality ideals, but, due to big Gulbransen production, priced at $295. Others $350 to $440.

Yes, toys move onward as fashion compels, but they are not alone affected by the varying moods and fancies of the people who buy. Take a walk through Manchester's big Christmas store—Hale's.

GIFTS for MEN. Practical, wearable gifts always make a big hit. We offer these suggestions.

Socks. Silk, Silk and Wool and All Wool. Neckwear. All new patterns. Combination Sets. Garters, Belts, Suspenders, Arm Bands, Socks, and Neckwear.

Lounging Robes. Ideal for the radio fan. Suits. Overcoats.

Geo. H. Williams. Incorporated. Johnson Block, South Manchester and 8 Park Place, Rockville.

Speaking of kids let's go down in the toy department first to look around. Hale's is finding it difficult to keep this department confined to the quarters it has occupied since the last two years.

Leaving the "nuts" to stand around to see if some kid isn't going to get that "pippin' auto", you go through the kitchenware department. Here are the standard gifts in aluminum, the always welcome pyrex ware and electric appliances of all kinds.

On your way out of the kitchenware department you notice that the books department has come downstairs. A big assortment of the latest fiction and the popular copy-fights will be found in Hale's right near the Self-Serve grocery department.

Some changes are evident in the layout of Hale's many departments as you roam around the spacious main floor. The garment department is all located on the main floor now.

The Baby Shop. Changes have been made in Hale's famous Baby Shop. This department formerly carried articles for children up to 12 years of age.

At the rear of the dry goods department will be found ladies umbrellas. It is interesting to note the changes in umbrella styles. Two modern umbrellas can be placed end to end in the same compartment that one of the old-fashioned "rainsticks" occupied.

Frank H. Anderson, general manager of the Hale company, has just placed an order for a stock of novel cigar humidors which make ideal gifts for men.

Self-Serve Store. In those two important departments of Hale's the Self-Serve grocery and the Health Market special displays are planned for the Christmas shoppers.

WINTER HITS NEW YORK AND NEW ENGLAND

On the Tonawanda towpath were flooded by rising waters.

At Niagara Falls the gale reached a velocity of ninety miles an hour, and was accompanied by a blizzard. The Niagara river rose ten feet, submerged Canner's Island and caused damage along the river front.

The waters of Long Island Sound were whipped up two feet above high-water mark. Highways in New England were flooded and steam and electric transportation was tied up. New England rivers rose rapidly.

Lake steamers, buffeted by the gale, were racing to port as freezing set in. Three steamers are reported foundered in the lakes, with the fate of their crews unknown.

Continued cold was forecast by the Weather Bureau for this vicinity today, but warmer weather is predicted for tomorrow.

IN MIDDLE WEST
Chicago, Dec. 9.—A let-up in the record December cold wave, which during the past 36 hours has paralyzed Chicago and the midwest with its zero grasp, was promised for today by the local weather bureau.

Eight deaths in Chicago and twenty more in other sections of the affected area, were caused directly or indirectly by the severe cold. The frigid wave caused more suffering than usual because it caught so many people unprepared and followed quickly on mild weather.

Cattle and live stock over the midwest also were trapped by the suddenness of the blizzard, which rode in mountainous banks of snow and sent temperatures down to zero and in some sections to twenty degrees below.

IN CANADA
Montreal, P. Q., Dec. 9.—Shipping was crippled today by the zero gale which struck the St. Lawrence valley at sundown yesterday, registering a drop in temperature of almost forty degrees in four hours.

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 9.—With its losses estimated at more than three quarters of a million dollars, Buffalo today was recovering from the blizzard and high gales that swept down on the city in the worst seasonal storm on record.

Shipping was hard hit but details of several lake disasters were still wanting today. Although the missing freighters were believed safe, other vessels had been reported foundered and smashed, the fate of their crews unknown.

Six Men Rescued
Six men, marooned by the gale and pitching waters on Port Chicago pier, moments in danger of being swept into the windlashed lake, had been rescued today after hope had all but been abandoned for their survival.

The greatest single item of damage here was the wrecking of the Curtis Condor bombing plane, the only one of its kind in existence and built at a cost of $175,000. The plane was ripped from its moorings and practically demolished.

The MOVIE PEOPLE

Hollywood—Of the many millions of persons who go to the movies every week, probably one hundredth of one per cent of them ever stop to figure out just how the characters they see on the screen are conceived. They just take it for granted that the screen folk will be there and think no more about it.

Yet these people themselves are really the parents of most of our screen characters. Scenario writers, who are paid almost unbelievable salaries for evolving screen stories and characters, spend a great deal of their time studying humanity, always on the alert for new faces and types.

Take for example Bebe Daniels' recent portrayals in "Senorita" and "She's a Sheik". Lloyd Corrigan and John McDermott decided upon this type of girl after weeks of observation, during which they discovered that nearly all the girls of today are intent on doing something big. They don't want to be just beautifully effeminate. So Bebe was given a masculine characterization.

Can you eat with ease? Can you laugh naturally? If so, you already have won half the battle of screen technique, according to Fred Niblo. "The true test of an actress is not her impressive dramatic power but her ability to act naturally," says Niblo. "I have often delayed a production for several days just to get the players to relax and be themselves. Few persons under-act, but many of them over-act."

At last Mary Philbin is doing something worth while again. After being practically killed, cinematically speaking, through the wrong kind of pictures and being kept off the screen entirely, she was loaned to D. W. Griffith for "The Drums of Love." And Griffith declares that everybody will be talking about her again as soon as the film is released. According to the director, Mary has done some really remarkable work in this picture.

Ever since she stepped in front of a movie camera for the first time, Rita Carewe has wanted to play opposite a real English actor. And now she's getting her chance. The blond actress has been cast with Percy Marmont in "The Stronger Will." By the time the film is completed, it's a safe bet that Rita will be spoken of as playing the title role.

There's a standing rule among "Our Gang" that every member must give three days' notice prior to an illness—thereby preventing much sickness. However, Bob McGowan, the director, received the following letter the day before Thanksgiving:

"Dear Uncle Bob—
"Thursday is Thanksgiving. I am hungry for turkey and everything that goes with it, so I am telling you now that I am going to be very sick and unable to work Friday and Saturday.
"Your fat boy,

CONSTIPATION IS THE ENEMY OF HEALTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings prompt, natural relief!

Rid your system of constipation and help yourself to health. Headaches, bad breath, insomnia, muddy complexion are only a few of the symptoms of this widespread evil.

Constipation is the actual cause of more than forty diseases. No wonder good health is impossible when it is present. Guard against it! Protect your health!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Two tablespoonfuls eaten daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend Kellogg's because it is 100% bran. Because it works as no part-bran product can do.

Delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Mix it with other cereals. Use in cooking. Sprinkle over soups. Recipes on the package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served by restaurants, hotels, caterers. Sold by all grocers.

New York, Dec. 9.—Young Glenway Westcott is bearing up well under the weight of many laurel wreaths which have tumbled suddenly upon his brow.

Heralded as a "youthful genius," established as a major literary figure, enjoying a sale of some 150,000 copies and thus assured of economic independence, this 27-year-old product of Wisconsin has reappeared in New York to gather the rewards of quick fame and success.

The penalties in America of such achievement, he finds, include radio talks, radio debates, endless interviews, innumerable invitations, and a notebook filled with engagements. All of which seems to amuse the young man whose story of his hardy pioneer ancestors. "The Grandmothers," won the annual Harper's prize.

Westcott whipped up his sense of comedy to prevent his New York reception from being taken too seriously.

"Perhaps," he honestly admitted, "one reason I have been able to give plenty of time and attention to my writing is that I never really have worked. I mean in the sense that so many have to face the economical struggle. It seems to me that people always have been trying to look after me in one way or another. Anyway circumstances allowed me to be a vagabond. I have never before had money. I lived where I lit, whether it happened to be an unlighted garret as a luxurious apartment.

"Finally I wound up in Villefranche, just out of Nice, France, and since it was so cheap there, and since I prefer champagne to gin, I settled there to write. I wrote about my hardy pioneer ancestors because it was the story I knew best and I think we are inclined to make our first books out of things closest and best known to us. Now that that's over I feel better."

Now, said Westcott, he's going to find out whether he is anything like the great discovery the critics have made him. He's going to cut loose the family theme and build a novel out of his ideas and observations.

It is going to concern a fabulous family, all American millionaires with everything in the way of luxury and opportunity one could ask for.

"Not a person in the book will have had every advantage that money and brains can bring. And I'm going to figure out what happens to them and how they are defeated in spite of everything."

Which seems, offhand, to be a large and brave order.

Not long ago, in one of these weekly letters, some attention was given to Eugene O'Neill's "Lazarus Laughed" (Bont-Liveright) as a piece of writing and a theme, rather than as a potential play and as a prophet of what may be coming to the American theater.

Disregarding for a moment the theme, which has largely to do with the saving power of laughter and the intense fear of death, it becomes important to note the changes that have crept upon the man who is pointed out as the greatest playwright. America has produced and one of the theater's immortals.

With each play O'Neill has seemed to sound a note of coming change in the play world. He has been intent on casting out all past familiar formula and contriving dramas that would project the theater more and more toward movement and sound.

In his construction of "Lazarus Laughed" he has cast aside the customary conversational dialogue and returned to the declamatory method of the ancient miracle plays. A study of his scenes will show how greatly he has come to depend upon mass movement and mass sound.

This can be found, to a lesser degree, in that other late O'Neill play, "Marco Millions."

Here he breaks his play into innumerable brief scenes, each requiring a change of setting although the action is often limited to a couple of minutes. General production under such circumstances becomes almost impossible under present theatrical conditions. Some may take this as an influence of the moving picture with its fast shifting scenes; others as more color and movement.

Certainly a long trail has been hewn by this versatile dramatist since "Beyond the Horizon" presented its conflict of the artistic and material on since "Desire Under the Elms" presented its grim picture of rural tragedy. Such efforts stamped him among many as an apostle of gloom. But, even as pessimism underscores his lines, O'Neill has shown in his last two plays that he can cast laughter into his scenes and that he can cry loud for life, as in "Lazarus Laughed;" that he can weave a pageantry and musical sound into his lines and that he can get away from individual dramas into a search for truths that are universal.

Flash eyes are considered a great delicacy in the West Indies and Eastern Asia.

McLEAN SPEAKS

When Senator George P. McLean of Connecticut takes the floor of the Senate he is listened to. He is listened to with attention and respect, because what he has to say is fully, deeply considered, is the result of application of high intelligence and absolute rectitude to the problem under discussion, and because he has an exceptional gift for forceful, convincing expression.

The kind of speech he made in the Senate yesterday afternoon, attacking the scheme to deny their seats to Vane and Smith, is the kind which, if such a thing can ever be done, is likely to affect senatorial votes.

Of peculiar force is the contention of the Connecticut senator that in such an affair as the present one it is impossible for the accused senator-elect to get a disinterested hearing, "under the Constitution we all love, respect and sometimes obey."

He might have enlarged on the extent to which the spirit of the Constitution is obeyed, in precisely this same relationship to the employment of money in obtaining Senate seats, by those senators who seek re-election or by new men who seek entrance to the body, in practically every instance.

Would the highly outraged Jim Reed, who is so unspeakably shocked about the Illinois and Pennsylvania Senate contests, like to be compelled to take his solemn oath that his own seat in the Senate was obtained without the expenditure of money—and would he like to swear, as on his death bed, that he knew that every dollar of that money was spent in strictest conformity with the law and with the purest of ethics? Would any of the Southern senators like to be compelled to take such oaths?

The principal difference between Vane and Smith and many of those senators who are pulling long faces over their sins, is that down South they buy their senatorships in a cheap market while Vane and Smith dealt in markets where the demand is competitive and dollars are plenty.

COMPETITIVE NAVIES

Even the wisest and most painstaking of persons sometimes fall into the traps laid by our vernacular. Even President Coolidge. "Competitive building of navies" are terms that have been employed so often in a special way in recent years that it is the most natural thing in the world to give them these special meanings, and these special meanings only. When the President expressed himself as fully opposed to competitive cruiser construction, but in favor of the obviously necessary building of more cruisers, he employed current and technical vernacular. It might completely confuse the reader of history fifty or a hundred years hence.

As a matter of fact there is no such thing possible as a navy that is not, in a very real sense, competitive. Even if intended solely for national defense, what must a navy defend, the nation against? Against sunspots? Against earthquakes, or tidal waves, or pestilence, or hard times—or what? Why, against other navies, of course. And if ours is to be of any effect it is not self-evident that it must be able to compete, in action, against the feet of the potential enemy? Isn't a navy, in its nature, a competitive proposition? If not, what else is it?

Of course everybody knows exactly what the President meant—what is always meant when the term "competitive naval construction" is employed. It means spectacular, rushing, large-scale competitive construction. That is what the President meant. To be sure.

But all this is mere vernacular. And a non-competitive navy is impossible.

VERDICTS AND LAW

Conviction of that precious pair, Willis Beach and Margaret Lillendahl, of the crime of manslaughter, after the development of a clear case of plotted, premeditated murder as could be imagined, provides as good an illustration as could be had of the fantastic state into which public sentiment if not public opinion with relation to homicides has fallen in this country.

Of course the definitions of manslaughter, various as they are under the common law and under the statutes of the different states, can none of them apply to the kind of crime for which Beach and Mrs. Lillendahl were tried. There was absolutely nothing in the defense which even remotely suggested manslaughter. The defendants gambled wholly different defenses against a straight murder conviction. Their denial of any participation in the death of Dr. Lillendahl was one of two things, either the truth or an acknowledgment that he came to his death as the result of a sheer homicide to which they could not confess without risking their lives.

And yet the jury finds that this man, who was certainly lured to his death as the result of a deliberate plot if these defendants or either of them killed him and if both were concerned, was the victim of manslaughter, a felony which, above all else, must lack the quality of premeditation. It is a most extraordinary verdict.

And yet such is the frequency with which juries acquit in cases fully as convincing as this, that there is a feeling of considerable relief that the seven men and five women, after 23 hours deliberation, convicted the killers of anything at all—that they made it possible for the court to send the plotters to prison for so long a time as ten years. Really, the common reaction to this outcome will be, probably, one of gratitude to the jury for not turning the "manslaughterers" loose altogether.

THE FARMER'S "EDGE"

Announcement of revenue car loadings for the week ending November 26, made yesterday, contains one curious fact. While the total loadings for the week, 840,803 cars, show a decrease of 97,041 cars as compared with the corresponding week of the previous year, and while there is a more or less relative decrease in all but one of the major divisions into which the loadings are ordinarily separated, there was an actual increase in the movement of grains and grain products, the total loadings in this division being 42,645 cars, or 3,734 more than for the same week of 1926.

Here is a definite, though not serious falling off in the movement of miscellaneous freights, of coal, of stock, of forest products, of ore and of coke—yet more business was being done in grain and grain products than in a year when general business was better.

This suggests a thought that too seldom arises and is too lightly dismissed when it does arise—that the farmer, after all, and despite his tendency to be dissatisfied with his lot, is the chap with the surest and most stable market of the whole lot. People may build fewer skyscrapers or houses, they may cut down on the number of their purchases of clothing, they may buy fewer automobiles—which they certainly have done this year. But they must buy grain and its products if nothing else on earth.

So that the farmer, in one respect at least, has the edge on all other occupations. He has hardly the right to expect the edge in every way and at all times, good, bad or indifferent.

WHAT PRICE POISON?

Finding that the street atmosphere at some points shows a carbon-monoxide content as high as 34 parts in a million of air, the New York health authorities are beginning to wonder how long it will be before the automobile becomes a source of serious poisoning of the people of the city. When a content of 400 parts per million is reached it is recognized that carbon-monoxide enters on the danger zone. And at no stage is it in the least beneficial to health.

However, nobody will pay very much attention to the peril of poisoning by automobile fumes in the open so long as there is still a safety margin of more than a third remaining. And who knows but what the race of cliff dwellers will develop immunity to this particular form of death as it goes along? New Yorkers long ago reached the point where they could survive indefinitely without sunshine. Many of them have learned to thrive on smoke and dirt particles in lieu of air; wooden liquor now kills only an occasional weakling among them. We may with some reason expect the people of the big town to presently grow plump and pink and husky while breathing out of the exhausts of their own cars.

AL GOES SILLY

It might be pretty good fun to try and find out from Governor Al Smith's plan to take the sentencing of felons out of the judges' hands, whether the often original and sometimes bizarre Al thinks the

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT

(9) How Many Persons Per Square Mile?

Connecticut today, with an estimated population in excess of 1,636,000, has 340 persons for every square mile of land area. One hundred years ago the density of population in Connecticut was only 81 persons per square mile.

The last official census shows that Connecticut with a population of 1,380,631 had a density of 286.4. Only three states, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Jersey, are more thickly settled. The former had a density of 566.4 in 1920; Massachusetts 479.2, and New Jersey 420. New York, with a density of 217.9 came fifth in the tables. The average density for the United States is 35.5; the average for New England 119.4.

Of the eight counties, New Haven was the most thickly populated, while Tolland was the most sparsely inhabited. The density for counties was as follows: New Haven 688.6; Fairfield 508.6; Hartford 460.9; New London 158.7; Middlesex 128.9; Windham 105.6; Litchfield 82.4; Tolland 67.4.

Tomorrow—Less Land—More Dwellings.

Judges are too hard or too easy on the crooks. So far we have been utterly unable to deduce anything from the idea of a state sentencing commission, unless it be that the commission, with its salaries of $25,000 per person, would be a mighty nice club to belong to.

Either the governor of New York is altogether too far advanced for us or else his scheme to put it up to a board of politicians to say how long a crook shall serve for a murder or a holdup is completely fantastic.

Psychiatrists and students and experts in criminology would make up the board, the governor suggests. As for the experts in criminology, we rather fancy there are New York politicians who know as much about crimes as anybody can find out; and as for the psychiatrists—they started in with the Shaw case and have bedeviled criminal jurisprudence in this country ever since until now we have such ghastly parodies as the Remus trial.

Ordinarily the next Democratic candidate for President at least talks like a grown up man. In this scheme for a sentencing commission he is simply silly.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Calvin Coolidge will be everything or nothing in the next Republican convention, and the game these days is to guess which.

The president's continued refusal to make his position clear beyond all doubt is making life miserable for various other candidates for the nomination and their families and friends, for thousands of federal job-holders and, last and no doubt least, for hundreds of newspaper correspondents.

In the last month or two, it has driven many politicians back to the White House steps, if only for the simple reason that they dared not scurry elsewhere. This now seems to be the most important of all political developments this fall.

The other two important developments affecting the presidential situation are the growing strength of Governor Al Smith in the Democratic party and the steady increase of favorable talk about Vice President Dawes.

The surface Dawes boom is likely to mean very little unless the expansion of the revived Coolidge boom is checked in one way or another, but leaving the president out of it, the opinion of the majority seems to be that Dawes, for all his sudden exultation of the violet, is out in front. This means that most politicians at this moment are not taking Lowden's chances of winning the nomination very seriously and that they will only let Hoover grab it from over their prostrate corpses.

On the other hand, there is a new tendency to suspect that Lowden will enter the convention with more delegates than has been commonly supposed, to whom Dawes will eventually fall heir.

The artificial respiration is applied to the Hoover boom. Hughes can be considered out of the picture. So can most of the dark horses.

In looking at Hoover, Dawes and Lowden, it is interesting or significant or both to recall that these three, hitherto out of the fight for the Republican nomination, were before, notably in 1924.

Hoover entered the scene in 1920, although five months before the convention he did not know his political affiliation. Hoover failed to carry any state in the primaries, and Lowden only picked up Illinois. But Hoover's peak strength was only 9 1-2 votes and Lowden once lit the field, his peak being 311 1-2. In other words, no one paid any attention to Hoover. Now the politicians must pick on him, but they all recall the time when Hoover didn't know whether he was Republican or Democrat.

Lowden's stock has since gone down and Hoover's up. In 1924 if they could fight for was the vice presidency Hoover wanted it and Lowden's got it. Lowden got it and announced he didn't want it. (Their friends, of course, did the fighting.) Hoover didn't enter the voting until the third ballot, after Lowden had turned down the honor, and it was on that ballot that Dawes ran away with the show.

Much the same thing may happen to the presidential nomination in 1928, except that no one who gets it will turn it down. The same old crowd will be there to pick its man. Assuming that Lowden finally drops out without being nominated in 1924, and that Dawes becomes his legatee, Dawes and Hoover will fight it out.

The chimney sweep, the chestnut roaster, the horse doctor, the old seasons' grinder and the match peddler are other relics of other days caught in the city's welter and, seemingly, quiet content to ply their quiet trades.

Old Masters

Poor soul, the center of my sinful earth,
 Pressed by these rebel powers that thee array,
 Why dost thou pine within and suffer dearth,
 Painting thy outward walls so costly gay?
 Why so large cost, having so short a lease,
 Dost thou upon thy fading mansion spend?
 Shall worms, inheritors of this excess,
 Eat up thy charge? Is this thy body's end?
 Then, soul, live thou upon thy servant's loss,
 And let that pine to aggravate
 thy store:
 Buy terms divine in selling hours of dress;
 Within be fed, without be rich
 no more!
 So shalt thou feed on Death, that feeds on men;
 And Death once dead, there's no more dying then.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE AT CIRCLE TOMORROW

"Breakfast at Sunrise" and
 "Hands Off" Are Features
 On the Program.

Constance Talmadge in "Breakfast at Sunrise," showing at the Circle theater on Saturday and Sunday, is still her winsome self and is the same old light comedy artist.

 She has done many a picture, but it is doubtful if any of them has ever been as good as this new one.
 The scene of the story is France and the gay atmosphere of the Riviera and Nice. It is a sophisticated farce and in it the heroine out-franchises the French. She is Madeline Wateau, wealthy daughter of Paris, who falls in love with the headwaiter at the hotel, incidentally a nobleman who has been broken at the wheel of fortune.
 There are two girls and two men and when they both start out after the ones they want the fun begins.

 Madeline and Pierre have a hard time keeping their jealous lovers away from them but in the end they are able to sneak away and be married.
 The second feature on the program is the western picture,
 "Hands Off," starring Fred Hume, popular Western actor.
 The story concerns the adventures of a cowboy prospector, who has temporarily forsaken his profession of chaperon to beaves on the roof and has set out in search of the stuff they use to make the coin of the realm. Accompanied by his two partners, a couple of old "squar-doughs," he is on his way to locate a mining claim at the scene of a great gold strike when he runs into the opportunity to play the part of hero to the girl.

 Helen Forster makes a very appealing leading woman for Hume, while George "Buck" Connor and Nelson McDowell assist the star in leading the comedy element to the picture.

Friday, December 9. 7:00 - WTIC, HARTFORD-560. Santa Claus and his gnomes will tell of the joys of the Christmas season in a program through WTIC to be the first highlight for Friday night at 7:00 o'clock. With Santa as master of ceremonies and the little gnomes who labor in his workshop as attractive to young and old alike will be presented. The Royal hour at 8:30 will consist of classic instrumental by the Royal orchestra and ballads sung by Helen Clark, contralto. This is a regular Friday night feature of WTIC and the Blue network. Cap'n Kidd and his wild buccaners will digport themselves on the other waves of WTIC and the Purple network stations at 10:00 with a concert featuring male choruses and instrumental selections. At the same time a group of musical compositions inspired by history's famous women will tempt the distance traveler to KOA. Other highlights are scheduled by WBZ, WJVA and WLS.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

The 38-year-old woman who recently wed her seventh husband, itemizing four previous ones who were accidentally killed, one who died in his bed, and a sixth from whom she was divorced, is just a sample of the thousands of "modern women" who would rather be dead than be single, and who can imagine no life but the married one and its accompanying job of housekeeping. They are the answer to the alarmists who wonder "what this world is coming to with all the women out of the home."

Home Page Editorial Beware Too Much Self-Sacrifice By Olive Roberts Barton A girl was hurt by a fall at a time when life looked most beautiful. An older sister was engaged to be married. The younger one, the pet girl of the family, had not decided which of her many suitors she would accept. As it happened she accepted none, for she became partly paralyzed after her accident.

HAIR—SUPERFLUOUS AND OTHERWISE By superfuous hair we do not mean that soft down that appears on the face and which is hardly apparent to the eye. Yet it is the thing that girls worry over just that little thing. And some have gone so far in order to remove it as to use an advertised depilatory, or have resorted to the electric needle. The entirely unnecessary and uncalled for. That soft, fine, almost invisible growth needs no treatment. It is like the down of the peach, and is in no way disfiguring. My advice is to let it alone. It is usually light in color, even on brunets. If it should be a trifle dark, that is, noticeably so, an occasional washing with water in which a little peroxide of hydrogen has been placed, will bleach it till it is practically invisible.

BASEBALL PARLEY AT DALLAS DID NOT ACCOMPLISH MUCH

All of the Teams Must Settle Disputes Among Themselves Before the Next Season Opens.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Editor
New York, Dec. 9.—Having done nothing at Dallas except swallow their knives in public, the Major Leagues simply must stop themselves out and indulge in some vulgar business at their own annual meetings next week, this reasoning being based on the understanding that a pair of treys either are in or out of the ash tray with the rest of the dead ones. The New York Yankees won 111 games in the American League last year. The Pittsburgh Pirates, 1927 National League champions, already have retired their yard for 1928.

These two facts tell the story of what must be done by fourteen or fifteen managers before the bell rings or they may take the consequences. It is to be pretty generally agreed that neither will be with an American League club next season and the silence from the National League thus far has been almost deafening. Still, there are a lot of clubs that could use either or both, the restraining influence being found in the fact that the clubs in question have not yet discovered what they are going to use for money.

Meanwhile, there are other questions to be answered, including that hardy annual as to whether the Yankees will trade Bob Meusel to the Chicago White Sox. Another is the future destination of George Slaughter, it being the general understanding that he will go to the Browns. Will the Pirates call it a ball club or will they try to get the left hand pitcher they need possibly from Philadelphia or one of the weaker clubs? That also will come down to a decision, as will the question of what Joe McCarthy, of the Cubs, intends to do about his infield.

Keeping Butler
Joseph has been keeping Johnny Butler in the league by refusing to waive on him. Possibly he will be able to do some business with the Dodgers, who, in all truth, should be willing to do anything except claim the pennant. Lafayette Thompson has been disappointed with his lot in Philadelphia. Perhaps McCarthy will be able to pursue his way with both pleasure and profit into this phase of the proceedings.

Then there is that old story, probably long deceased, whereby McGraw was to trade Lindstrom and a pitcher to St. Louis for Rhem and Bell. The understanding is that he still is interested in Rhem, whose interest in Alexander's demerol seems to have lapsed. Bredon, the latter probably is willing to go in there gambling again, which may be all for the best. The Cards were a fighting second last year but the outfit gave indications of becoming passé.

The Reds are understood to be ready for anything, including the passing of George Kelly, and the Pirates are said to contemplate with great restraint the possible departure of Earl Smith. And somehow, nobody expects Stanley Harris to take the collapse of the Senators sitting down.

Of course, the new managers, Shotton and Slattery, will be expected to make haste to get the team they abdicated, some six months ago by Charley Phil Rosenber when he found he could no longer make the weight of 118 pounds. At that time "Bud" Taylor, Baldock and Cannoneri looked into the featherweight class.

In a recent victory over Johnny Vacca of Boston, twice conqueror of Fidel La Barba, Bell showed plenty of class and became a contender for the bantam honors.

RISKO IS REAL TITLE ASPIRANT

Conqueror of Uzcudun and Scott Once Fought Gene Tunney and May Again in Near Future.

By WERNER LAUFER
Make way for the Rubberman! Just a tip from Dan Dunn, manager of John "Rockem" Risko, Dempsey, Sharkey, Heeney and the powers that are handling the annual elimination tournament in New York these days.

By virtue of his slashing with over Paulino Uzcudun, and Phil Scott's scowling, the Cleveland baker has wedged himself firmly into the mad scramble for the chance to meet Gene Tunney.

Risko has been a long time getting there, having threatened to enter the first ranks of the prize-fighters several times only to be temporarily sidetracked. John would run up a string of victories and just when recognition seemed around the corner, up would pop the bad fight that would curb his climb to the better currency.

But at last, the Rubberman has arrived and from all indications this news should not be so welcome to the erudite Tunney, maharajah of all the big fellows. Back in 1925, when John was just a "palooka," the present champ had the "pleasure" of making his acquaintance in a two-round ring.

Although Gene copped the final nod, the big Austrian had his moments. The Rubberman put up a great battle, never asking quarter and dealing out an occasional thump that would send Mr. Tunney's eyes blinking. No doubt the memories of that fight are still with the champ and should Johnny be eliminated without further ado in the coming series of brawls, there should be few tears for him from the present titleholder.

As a result of the West Side Rec's whitewash victory, matters here much more on an even basis in the league standing today. The Masons still lead, but only by the slim margin of one point. Several teams are very close behind them.

COMING CHAMP
It is said John has annexed over $150,000 in the ring, which seems to be a tidy sum even in these golden days of giddy game receipts. Nevertheless, the way our John is going, he should annex many more frogskins and with what championship matches are bringing these days, who knows how high the Clevelander will run his string.

The advance of the Masons in the Herald bowling league was completely checked last night at Conran's alleys when the West Side Rec set them back three straight games and picked up four valuable points. For a time it was feared that no team could defeat the Masons in a match and they were away to a fine start winning eleven out of a possible twelve points. The defeat of the Masons tightens up the league race and makes it more interesting.

The masons lost the first game by only seven pins. A double strike by Dick Shea helped the Rec team considerably in this string as did the creditable score of 128 turned in by Joe Canade with two strikes and three spares, the second game was even closer, the West Siders emerging victorious by only four pins. The Rec team's scores were all under 100, but two Masons, Stevenson and Cole, slipped down into the eighties. In the third game, which was won by the Rec, by fifteen pins, the winners had three men in the "over-100" class while Wickham rolled 78 and Cole 86. Murphy hit 132 with four spares and a strike. Met-half hit 92 without a mark in the third game. This game gave the Rec the total pinfall by 26 timbers.

As a result of the West Side Rec's whitewash victory, matters here much more on an even basis in the league standing today. The Masons still lead, but only by the slim margin of one point. Several teams are very close behind them.

AFTER LEADING FIRST HALF, LOCALS FALTER, LOSE 26-18

Billy Evans Says

MEMORABLE BATTLE
"The Yale-Princeton game of this year was one of the greatest I was ever seen," was my greeting to Coach Tad Jones of Yale as I bumped into him at the Notre-Dame-Southern California game at Chicago.

"I can get that viewpoint now," remarked Jones, "but it didn't strike me that way until about the last 10 minutes of play, for up to that time Princeton was leading 6-0.

Princeton and Yale put two remarkable teams on the field that day. Seldom did I see Yale as an inclined to think he will continue in that capacity for another year at least.

High Opinion of Caldwell
Jones has a mighty high opinion of Bruce Caldwell, the star who well deserves the title of "Blue" to the Princeton game, being lost to the Blue in that important game as well as Harvard.

Not given to openly expressing his enthusiasm, the superlative well made it appear he thought mightily well of the barred Ell back.

Trick Play in Reserve
Incidentally, I got the lowdown on a play that has had me guessing since the finish of the Yale-Princeton clash. It was the play that really decided the game, the pass to Fishwick, that resulted in a touchdown.

GIANTS PICK CITE

Knights of Lithuania of Hartford Rally In Closing Chapter to Beat Fast All-Manchester Five.

The All-Manchester basketball team suffered defeat last evening at St. Joseph's Hall in Hartford dropping a fast played game to the Knights of Lithuania by the score of 26 to 18. The Knights made a great comeback in the fourth quarter.

In the first half, both teams played very good basketball. Manchester had the edge on its opponents in this half and showed good passwork and accurate shooting. Manchester was leading at half time 13 to 12.

The Knights came back strong in the second half and swept the locals completely off their feet. The passwork and "cutting" for the Knights which the locals displayed in the first half was missing. Manchester played a cautious game in this half and very seldom were there any Manchester men under the basket to follow up the long shots.

DELANEY-BERLY AT CHI TONIGHT
To Meet For the Fourth Time; Connecticut Boxer Rules the Favorite.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Further proof that history repeats itself, not once but several times, will be offered an earnest group of pugilistic researchers by Professor James Mullin at his coliseum laboratory tonight.

The materials in this experiment will be Jack Delaney, a self-effaced ex-champion of the light heavyweight division, and Paul Berenbach, another ex-title holder, whose placement was not so voluntary.

It will be the fourth time this pair has met. They are scheduled to box ten rounds, to a decision, at catchweights. Neither will weigh over 175 pounds.

HARTFORD HIGH CONFIDENT OF REVENGING 46-16 LACING IT TOOK HERE LAST DECEMBER

OUR BOYS FURNISH TWO BEST BOUTS

Al Dowd and Bill Horn Give Hartford Boxing Fans Big Thrill.

Al Dowd, local boxer, did something that few fighters have done in this state and that is defeated Johnny Mastro, of Hartford. He did it in a decisive manner last evening in the opening round of the Massasoit Club card at Foot Guard hall before a packed house which included several hundred local fans.

Mastro, a port-sider, has an awkward style and few boxers have ever been able to get within his long reach. Dowd, on the other hand, Mastro retreating and won every round. He got much applause just because of the fact that Mastro is seldom defeated. Dowd in his twenty odd bouts in the ring has lost but one decision.

It speaks well for Manchester that the two best fights on the card were furnished by local boys as Bill Horn, of Rockville belongs now to our sporting family. Horn showed gameness that is seldom seen in the ring and his despite the fact that sport fans have an idea that the sturdy Rockville boy can't take it. Horn was knocked down twice in the second round and took a good lacing from Palowitz who is a set up for no man of his weight in the state, but in fact, Horn came back with a rally that brought the fans to their feet. It has been many days since such a scene was enacted in Foot Guard hall. Horn hit Palowitz after he was knocked groggy, such a terrific blow that it sent the East Hartford crowd across the ring. Johnny Drew, the professional, who was at the ringside, remarked that this was the hardest blow he had ever seen struck in his life. However, the second round counted against Horn and he lost the decision.

The feature bout of the evening between Billy Taylor and LeRoy Carley, of Worcester, was a flop. The judges gave Taylor the decision but Carley should have gotten it according to the sport writers at the ringside. At any rate the exhibition was poor and the fans did not care which way it ended. There were not two decent bouts struck in the three rounds. The boys wrestled three quarters of the time and made false motions for the remainder.

There are the complete results of last night's bouts: Al Dowd, Manchester, won the decision over Johnny Mastro, Hartford; 140 pound class, Phil Desovich, Newington, won on a technical knockout the second round over Elmer Bresson, Stafford Springs; 135 pound class, Zeke Mazur, Hartford, won the decision over LeRoy Bouncey, Hartford; 145 pound class, Art Followitt, Hartford, won the decision over Bill Horn, Rockville; 115 pound class, John Villa, Worcester, won the decision over John Guista, East Hartford; 135 pound class, Pancho Villa, Hartford, won the decision over Tommy Flanagan, Worcester; 150 pound class, Vic Morley, Hartford, won on a technical knockout in the second round over Tommy Foy, Worcester; 155 pound class, Harry Seechee, Hartford, won the decision over Jack Dowd, Worcester; 147 pound class, Billy Taylor, Hartford, won the decision over LeRoy Carley, Worcester.

Large Crowd Expected to Watch Clarke's S. M. H. S. Outfit in 1927-28 Debut; Game Starts at 8:30; Dancing Afterwards.

Queen Basketball will move into the throne of sport limelight tonight when Manchester High and Hartford High usher in the 1927-28 season at the School Street Rec gymnasium. There will be a preliminary game between the second teams of both schools at 7:30. The main encounter will start at 8:30. Dick Dillon of Hartford will be the eleventh man on the floor. Dancing will follow until a late hour.

It is expected that there will be a large turnout of fans to see tonight's game. Everyone is anxious to see what kind of a team is going to represent Manchester High this season. Two veterans only remain from last season's varsity five. They are Billy Dowd and Nino Boggin, regular guards. Coach Wilfred J. Clarke will have to place three new men at the "offensive" positions.

Last season, Manchester came within one solitary field-goal of annexing the state championship at the Yale interscholastic tournament, losing to Bristol High by one point in the semi-finals with easy opposition awaiting it in the finals.

Coach Wilfred J. Clarke, who has coached some very commendable basketball outfits to represent Manchester in past years, has been working hard in getting his 1927-28 combination whipped into shape. For several weeks, he has had a large squad at work. It is quite probable that Optzi and Campbell will start at the forward berths tonight with George "Doc" Keeney of football fame at the pivot post. Danny Renn, Ernie Dowd and Terrance Shannon are liable to be summoned for duty before the first half ends.

SKETCHES BY HENNEY SYNOPSIS BY DRACHERL

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (155) The Story of Wool

When we see a picture of a savage clothed in a leopard skin, or of a lady wearing a sable coat, it is easy to realize that both these people are clothed in the coats of animals. But when we put on our ordinary clothes in the morning, it does not occur to us that we also are putting on part of an animal's coat.

Wool is a product of the sheep. Though we can imitate its appearance, we cannot find a real substitute for it.

Wool really is a living part of the sheep; it is produced by the epidermal cells. Wool is only a little different from hair.

ARCHIE BELL
Archie Bell looks like the one best bet to succeed in the mad throng abdicated some six months ago by Charley Phil Rosenber when he found he could no longer make the weight of 118 pounds. At that time "Bud" Taylor, Baldock and Cannoneri looked into the featherweight class.

Eddie Huffman, Pacific coast lightweight, is planning a return to the wars after a lengthy rest in his native heath.

TRIBE STILL LACKS PILOT

The Cleveland Indians are still without a playing manager, being unsuccessful in their attempt to land Buckey Harris, Washington pilot, or Eddie Collins of the Athletics.

CONTRACTS LET FOR REBUILDING OF STATE ROADS Highway Dept. Awards Go to Lowest Bidders on Eleven Pieces of Work Totalling 30 Miles.

Contracts for the reconstruction of approximately 30 miles of Connecticut highway were awarded by Commissioner John A. McDonald today. There were eleven contracts covering work in eleven different towns, the award being made in each case to the lowest bidder. Advertisement of the new reconstruction work a few weeks ago brought in a record number of 102 bids when the sealed estimates were received at the department headquarters on November 30. Several important stretches of Connecticut trunkline are included in the 23 miles of reinforced concrete and seven miles of macadam covered by the contracts. The list of the successful bidders is as follows: Town of Newton, 20,130 ft. of 8" reinforced concrete pavement on the Newton-Bridgeport road, J. E. McCormick, East Providence, R. I., $132,958.71; Town of Milford, 7,000 ft. of 9" reinforced concrete pavement on the Boston Post Road, Silliman & Godfrey, Bridgeport, $133,617.90; Towns of Danbury and Ridgefield, 73,786 ft. on both sections, 8" reinforced concrete pavement, Silliman & Godfrey, Bridgeport, $141,016.36; Town of Norwalk, 1958 ft. of 9" reinforced concrete pavement on North Ave., Lane Construction Co., Meriden, $31,039.35; Town of Washington, 7285 ft. of 8" waterbound macadam on two sections known as Hotchkissville road and Washington Green Hill road, Arborio Road Construction Co., New Haven, $54,364.70; Towns of Clinton and Westbrook, 12,986 ft. of 7" waterbound macadam on the Clinton-Westbrook road, Eugene L. Gobielle, Worcester, Mass., $80,011.35; Towns of North Branford and North Haven, 23,975 ft. of 8" reinforced concrete pavement on the Middletown-New Haven turnpike, Lane Construction Co., Meriden, $238,757.25; Town of Glastonbury, 28,977 ft. of 8" reinforced concrete pavement on a section of the Glastonbury-

Portland road, Amos D. Bridges & Son, Hazardville, $181,677.84; Town of Haddam, 15,184 ft. of 8" reinforced concrete pavement on the Middletown-Saybrook road, The Valerio Construction Co., New Milford, $204,904.25; Town of Mansfield, 15,742 ft. of 7" waterbound macadam on the Warrenville road, John Arborio, New Haven, $67,198.40; Town of Guilford-sheet steel pile bulkhead and dredging at the Guilford Sluice, The Holbrook Co., Westbrook, $12,735.20.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Football letters have been awarded to the following players: Captain Keeney, Shannon, Radding, Cheney, Robertson, Welles, Hansen, Spencer, Gill, Treat, Dowd, Farr, Mercer, Healy, Lupien and Manager Boggini. Next Monday evening the members of the team will enjoy a banquet in their honor at Hartford.

The Wesleyan Glee Club, champion college glee club of this county, will give a concert Saturday evening at the High School hall. The concert will be held under the auspices of Robert Carter's Washington Group.

The second marking period ended today and for the past weeks the periodic examinations have been held. The next system seems to be much preferred by the students in place of mid-years.

The following awards have been made in the commercial department: K. Foley, 53 net words; E. Dzaidis, 51; L. Goyk, 50; E. Benevento, 52; H. Lyons, 43; and Ruth Congo, 41.

In order to stimulate enthusiasm in writing humorous stories and sonnets a prize of $2.50 gold piece will be given to the student writing the best work in either type. These prizes have been offered by Somanhis Events and this material must be in before the printing of the Freshman issue.

A play was given at the assembly yesterday by Division 8 of Junior English. The play "The Boy Comes Home," was written by A. A. Mirra and the players were coached by Miss Estes. The cast of characters is as follows: Philip, Raymond; Derain; Mary; the maid, Edward; Laidley; Aunt Emily, Philip; Wadcoll; Mrs. Higgins, the cook, Robert Sturgeon; Uncle James, John Joaston.

South Manchester High school will open its basketball season tonight, playing Hartford High. The complete schedule calls for 16 games 10 of which will be played at the Recreation Center. Last year the team made an enviable record missing the state championship by one point and tying Bristol for the championship of the Central Connecticut Inter-scholastic League. Nino Boggini and Bill Dowd are the only remaining veterans of last year's first squad, but Coach Clarke is sure to turn out a team that will well uphold the fine reputation that the teams have gained in previous years.

"She's a Sheik" Playing at State Today and Tomorrow With "Nevada."

Beebe Daniels is really a sheik in her picture of that name which is one of the feature attractions at the State theater today and tomorrow. The character which is given the popular actress to portray is that of the daughter of a sheik in the Arabian desert, and she portrays it well.

Gorgeous costumes, ranging from chic riding outfits to voluptuous Turkish gowns and ensembles, are the rule of the picture and Miss Daniels wears all of them as if she were to the manner born. Her sheik costumes are the best, however, for in them the girl appears ten times more beautiful than she has ever before been seen.

The story has to do with the sheik's daughter and a wild tribesman who swears he will marry her by hook or by crook. He nearly carries out his threat but the girl is the one who outwits him, aided by two funny American young men who are seeking adventure in the desert. There is a lot of comedy, some good drama and clever acting all through the piece.

As a companion feature the State will present that famous western story of Lane Grey, "Nevada," with the popular Gary Cooper in the leading role. Nearly everybody who keeps up with the novels of that day has read the story and will want to see the picture.

Gary Cooper, as the hero, starts out under somewhat of a cloud, being too hasty with a pair of six-shooters, but he puts his shooting ability to good use in a just cause before the picture is over. A scene of intense excitement comes in a battle between two large armed forces, a sheriff's posse on one side and a band of desperadoes and cattle thieves on the other. The love story is handled differently than in most Western stories, for Cooper treats Thelma a little roughly at first, while Powell, later unmasked as a scoundrel, plays his cards with gentleness and savvy.

"Nevada" is first rate entertainment.

YANKEE ENTERPRISE IS AROUSING EUROPE

People Envy Us Our Prosperity and Fear We Will Take Their Markets From Them

This is the fifth in the series of six articles by Milton Bronner, European correspondent for The Herald and NEA Service, analyzing the European situation.

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Writer

London, Dec. 9.—Not long ago a fairly well-known writer for an American weekly went home with a "great discovery" that Americans are not loved in Europe. It handed a laugh to every person informed about Europe; his "discovery" has been an open secret for years.

When the interests of two countries march together for war or peace, for mutual trade, for mutual profit, all is well. The moment interests clash, friendship ceases. It is a paradox that the country in which Americans probably are the most popular today is the one we helped lick—Germany.

We took no colonies from Germany, demanded no reparations and we gave the fallen foe a hand. Feared, Envid America is both feared and envied in Europe. The European with his high taxes, his impoverished conditions, his country shot to pieces by the war, his unemployment, his industrial depression, sees across the Atlantic a continental domain stuffed with all the good things of the earth except rubber, tin, coffee, cocoa and tea, a nearly self-contained country both as to food and raw materials.

He sees 120,000,000 busy people with a general average of well-being never before witnessed in world history. He sees a country which has more working men owning their own homes, own gardens, own automobiles, own pianos than history has ever before recorded. And he envies us. He sees a country so highly industrialized that by mass production we are invading his home markets and taking away from him world markets. And he fears us. Therefore, he is apt to hate us.

United Europe

The old nationalisms, the old the old jealousies, the old racial rivalries still exist. But Europeans look around and see that they are all in the same boat. The allies owe us huge sums. They must give a large part of their work to pay us interest and principal. Large sums of our money have gone into their industrial enterprises. They feel their future is mortgaged to us, and they are preparing to fight it. The barriers of frontiers and tariff walls are going to be overlapped.

The industrial United States of Europe is going to be formed by means of trusts or cartels, as they prefer to call them over here. Captains of industry in European countries are pooling their resources. They propose to reduce general expenses by creating mutual buying and selling organizations, reducing cost prices, developing technical staffs.

They have an ace in the hole in lower wages than we have. First they will be on the defensive. Afterwards they will go on the offensive. First they will try to conserve for themselves the European market. Afterwards they will seek trade in China and Russia and South America. They believe Americans are making themselves hated by the Latin republics, because of interference in the affairs of Haiti, Nicaragua and Mexico.

The Potash Trust

French and German potash kings, forgetting the war, formed a potash trust.

In September, 1926, a great steel cartel was constituted, taking into its folds the great producers of Germany, France, Belgium, Luxemburg and the Star Valley. Thus German coal and French iron ore were brought into combination.

An east European steel cartel has been formed, comprising the Czechoslovakian steel men, the Austrian Rothschild and Steeg groups, the French Schneider group's mills in eastern Europe, the German Mannesmann group in the same territory, the British group which controls mills in Rumania and various other organizations in Rumania and Jugoslavia.

Then there is a European Rail Makers' Association, a German chemical industries combine, a similar one in France, a German electric combine and a European aluminum cartel comprising German, English, French, Swiss, Austrian and Norwegian firms.

There is a proposal for a Pan-European Industrial Union which would be a trust of trusts, linking up all the powerful cartels into one giant cartel for mutual action.

It is not insignificant that while German and French statesmen still make disagreeable speeches about each other, negotiations about a French-German commercial treaty are approaching a successful conclusion. Practically the whole range of exports between the two countries is covered.

United States of Britain

So far England has held aloof from these continental schemes. But in Great Britain itself Sir Alfred Mond has formed a great chemical trust. Furthermore this multi-millionaire, who was formerly a member of the British cabinet, visions another United States under the British flag, an Empire Economic Union to keep foreign goods out by tariff walls.

It is not an idle dream. This new economic British United States has 27 per cent of the world wheat supply; 66 per cent of the rice; 53 per cent of the cattle; 51 per cent of the sheep; 77 per cent of the wool; 87 per cent of the tin; 42 per cent of the gold produced; 42 per cent of the tin; 88 per cent of the nickel; 15 per cent of the silver; 30 per cent of the zinc, and 23 per cent of the lead.

Last year $135,000,000 of British goods entered Australia duty free. Had they been of foreign origin, they would have paid 10 to 12 per cent ad valorem. Australia, with 6,000,000 people, buys more British goods than the 85,000,000 people of South America and than the 94,000,000 of France, Belgium and Holland.

TOMORROW: Europe's Greatest Question Marks.

OPEN FORUM

PRAISES PLAYERS

Editor, Herald: Please allow me, through the columns of your paper to express my appreciation of the wonderful performance of the Town Players given in "Minick" at the Circle theater on Wednesday evening. I feel that the Players are deserving of the greatest credit in the world for the play was one of the best ever seen in Manchester, regardless of whether the actors were amateur or professional.

I have been in the theatrical business for a good many years, as an actor, a director and manager, but I have never been my privilege to witness a better presentation of any play by a group of amateurs.

It was immense! It was a revelation and it was a pleasure to be one of the audience.

The actors were more like professionals than amateurs. They bore none of the characteristics of the ordinary amateur actor. Their picking up of difficult cues was a delight to one who watched the play from the viewpoint of a critic.

Particularly do I speak of Miss Eugenia Walsh, Leonard Johnson and Albert Addy. Miss Walsh was as natural as any professional and a whole lot more so than some. She made a big thing out of her part and her clever work kept the play going at top speed all of the time. Mr. Johnson might have been an old man, so natural was he.

Mr. Addy was one of the important characters in the production and it is to his credit that he kept up even tenor throughout. He was ideal in the part of the pitiful old man. I must not forget the production manager, Miss Ruth Calhoun, who was largely instrumental in bringing the play to its high state of perfection.

Manchester is exceedingly fortunate in possessing an organization like the Town Players. The actors receive no money, give of their time freely and their only reward is the enjoyment they get out of it. As a theatrical man I may say that sometimes there is little of that.

Louis Smith, director of the play, is to be heartily congratulated on his work. The cast showed the results of painstaking direction and intensive drilling.

Manchester must support the Town Players. They are almost too good to be true. But they are true and they are going ahead only at the pleasure of the public.

May they go ahead still further and more power to them! Thanking you for your space I remain,

Very truly yours,
JACK SANSON,
Manager, State Theater.

WILL BE SPECIAL MUSIC FOR DR. DURKEE SERVICE

Visit of Pastor of Plymouth Church to S. M. E. Made Notable Event.

The second of the series of union services which the Protestant churches of Manchester are sponsoring during the winter will bring to the South Methodist church on Sunday evening Dr. J. Durkee of Plymouth Congregational church of Brooklyn, N. Y. Dr. Durkee is pastor of the church made famous through the pastorates of Henry Ward Beecher and Lyman Abbott. He was formerly pastor of the Campello Congregational church of Brockton, Mass., and was for five years after that president of Howard University, Washington, D. C. He has been pastor of Plymouth church for the past years, having been called from his post as the head of Howard University. Dr. Durkee is a graduate of Bates college and while there was a member of the 1897 debating team, the first team of that kind in the college. Ex-Governor Charles E. Milliken of Maine was on the same team. Bates graduates in this town, of which there are a number, will be interested in Dr. Durkee's visit to Manchester. A number of local ministers will take part in the service on Sunday evening in various capacities. The choir of South Methodist church under Archibald Sessions will give a special program.

MEATS OF PINEHURST QUALITY

Try Pinehurst Meat tomorrow. Come to the store or phone 2000. In either case you will be more than pleased with your meat purchase.

Roast Beef

Always a favorite for Sunday dinner. We will have some especially nice cuts—lean, juicy and tender—of Pinehurst quality roast beef priced at from 25c to 42c a lb. We will bone and roll or cut these roasts short as you specify.

Vegetables—Cauliflower, White Onions, Mushrooms, Parsnips, Carrots, Iceberg Lettuce, Spinach, Celery, Sweet Potatoes, Spinach, Green Peppers.

FRESH PORK

Pork should be thoroughly cooked. Long slow cooking is necessary to develop flavor. In roasting pork 25 minutes to the pound should be allowed. Pork baked in pineapple juice and with pineapple slices is delicious. Spinach, Turnips or Cauliflower makes good vegetable combinations with pork.

Fresh Lean Pork to roast.

Lean Fresh Shoulders, 4 to 6 lb. average, which we will bone and roll or fix to stuff if you tell us.

THOUSAND RECEIVE

SANTA-PAL NOTES

Letters Go to Known Givers To Swell Fund For Christmas Cheer.

One thousand letters, the largest number ever sent out at one time by the Manchester Chamber of Commerce are carrying an appeal for the Chamber Community Christmas fund this week. They ask those who receive them to become Santa-Pals to some needy family in Manchester by contributing to the fund.

The mailing list was made after a survey of the lists of contributors to the Red Cross, Memorial Hospital, Manchester Community Club and Boy Scout campaigns and includes the largest contributors to those funds. Replies are expected to arrive in the Chamber headquarters before the end of this week.

To Go To Needy Each letter contains an appeal for funds, an addressed envelope and a card on which to fill in the amount contributed. Checks or money may be inserted in the return letter to the Chamber.

This money will be turned over to Nathan B. Richards, treasurer of the fund, who will dispose of it to George H. Wadell, town charity commissioner, and Miss Jessie N. Reynolds, who will use it in the purchase of food and clothing for needy people.

The chairman of the fund, Scott H. Simon, believes that Mr. Wadell and Miss Reynolds are in the best position to know where the money will do the most good and they will be given a free hand in its disposition. This custom has been followed in previous years.

Through the fund many destitute or "hard up" families in Manchester cheer this year where they would otherwise spend a holiday without the good things that go to make Christmas what it is supposed to be. Manchester is urged to respond generously to the appeal.

ABOUT TOWN

CUBS TO CELEBRATE

VICTORY BY BANQUET

The sale of needlework, fancy articles and Christmas gifts conducted by the Women's Home League and the Young People's League of the Salvation Army on Wednesday and Thursday evenings was brought to a successful conclusion last night. The two organizations realized a considerable amount of money from the sale.

There will be a meeting of a special committee appointed by Director Lewis Lloyd of the Recreation Centers at 5 o'clock tonight to arrange plans for forming two pool tournaments for Class A and Class B players. The committee consists of Director Lloyd, William Brennan, Samuel Houston and Thomas Stowe.

The Cubs Football Club, winners of the 1927 town championship, will hold a banquet at the Wapping School Hall tomorrow night.

Invitations have been sent out to sixty persons. In addition to members of the team, there will be many "outsiders" who, in one way, or another, have assisted the team during the past season.

A roast turkey dinner served by Manchester premier chef, Urbano Osano, will be served. Guests have been requested to meet at the School street Recreation Center before 9 o'clock.

On Monday evening, the High School team will hold its banquet at the University club in Hartford.

ABOUT THE BEST WAY to bring down the price of any commodity is to NOT buy it. At the present time beef is at about war-time prices. On the other hand fresh pork products are more than reasonable. Why not buy more pork and less beef.

Remnants of Recent Snowfall Turn to Ice When Thermometer Slumps

Members of the town highway department were busy today clearing away the ice from the gutters along the west side of Main street. The snowfall of last Sunday was followed so closely by rain and a cold spell that the snow was frozen into a hard mass before the department could proceed very far with its removal.

The rain of Thursday morning had the effect of doing away with most of the snow, but the piles on the side of the street, left there by the snowplows, were so compact and large that they resisted the rain and the accompanying warm temperatures.

All the big piles of snow at streets intersecting Main street had been removed previously and most of the east side of the street has been cleared. The snow and ice on the other side of the street is so hard that pickaxes are being used to break it up.

FOUR GO TO PRISON

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 8.—Sheriff Simpson today took four Bridgeport men to Wethersfield to be turned over to state prison officials. In the group were Henry A. Holmberg, former bank teller, who is to serve two to three years for embezzling the bank's funds; George E. Smith and Charles King, to serve five to eight years for robbery while armed; and Raymond Boardley, who must serve six to eight years for a statutory offense.

BOY'S BLINDED EYE, INJURED, IS REMOVED

First Shot, Then Hit by Stick, Ralph Strickland Loses Useful Optic.

As the result of an accident four years ago when he and his brother were playing with an air rifle, the right eye of Ralph, fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Strickland of 17 North street, was removed late yesterday afternoon at Memorial hospital.

At the time of the accident, Ralph and Charlie were playing with the air rifles at their home, then on Summit street extension. The weapon was discharged and the shot struck Ralph in the eye.

The sight of the eye was destroyed but his loss apparently did not hamper him much where school marks are concerned and his physician said he was gifted with "double sight" in the other eye.

Six weeks ago, while Ralph was helping an uncle chop wood a flying stick struck him in the blinded eye, causing a hemorrhage. Since then, Ralph has been unable to attend the Robinson school, where he is an eight-grader. On Monday, he was taken to Memorial hospital and at five o'clock yesterday the operation of removal was performed.

A pair of pigeons and their offspring consume 100 pounds of feed a year.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Patients admitted at Memorial hospital yesterday were Henry Tilden of 53 Summit street; Mrs. Helen C. Buckland and William Cowles of Woodbridge street. Vincent Kondrat of 82 North Main street was admitted today.

Mrs. Frank Hillery and infant daughter were discharged.

An operation was performed yesterday for the removal of the right eye of fourteen-year-old Ralph Strickland of North street who was injured several years ago by a air rifle "bullet."

COMMUNITY SETBACK

With the last two weeks in sight to play all the teams are making a determined fight for first place in the Community club setback tournament. Carlyle Johnson still maintain first place after last night's battle. The Business Men slid into fourth place from second. Gammons, Holman went into second from their place at fourth of last week. E. E. Hillard Co. rallied their pinch hitters Newbury and McConnell and held third position, after the smoke cleared away.

The standings:

FOURTH DOWN

It's fourth down, with the goal in sight. You should be able to change FOOT to BALL in four downs. If you can't, refer to the par solution on another page:

Word search grid with 'FOOT' and 'BALL' highlighted.

THE RULES

- 1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW TO HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
2-You can change only one letter at a time.
3-You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.
4-The order of letters cannot be changed.

Paradise

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN - PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies gazed up in the sky and watched the scooter float on by. "Oh, my, it isn't going to stop," cried Scouty, in despair. "I know that it would stop, if only we could meet that little toy. I'll bet that he's a soldier who patrols the open air."
The giant then said, "Have no fear, I'm sure that he will come down here. I guess he's merely doing tricks to try and please you all. Just watch him glide, and see him swoop. He sure knows how to loop the loop. Now wouldn't it be terrible if he should take a fall?"
The Toy Tot kept on flying round. He'd sail down right close to the ground, and then he'd swing back up again and sail just like a bird. The Tinies all were so surprised, they merely stood with open eyes, and watched the funny antics. No one said a single word. They stood and stared an hour or more. Then Cloway cried, "My neck is sore from looking upward toward the sky. I wish that he would land." "Oh, look," said Scouty, mild as a puss. "I think he's looking down at us." And sure enough, the queer Toy Tot leaned out and waved his hand.
And then the Tinies gave a cheer. The scooter dipped and landed near the bunch, ran up to greet the toy, who shouted, "Howdy do!" "Hello, there, soldier lad," said one. "You've treated us to lots of fun. We're mighty glad you've landed safe. But, tell us, who are you?" The soldier toy then said, "Well, I came from a place up in the sky. It's known as Santa Land, and it is filled with wondrous toys. Old Santa sent me down to see if you would all go back with me. He needs a lot of help, this year, in making all his toys."
(The Tinymites start for Santa Land in the next story.)

"At this rate, you'll have the whole school against you." "Maybe you're right, sir," admitted Jack, to the surprise of them all. "I should have explained about that cane."

Then he told them he had been taking the cane to Darling, to whom it belonged. "I know I should have said so before," he added, "and I apologize for what I did."

No one was more surprised than Cannon. "Though that doesn't fully excuse you, it shows you have some sense," he said. "Aw, he's a yellow quitter!" sneered Maddox.

Maddox and Hargen had been greatly pleased to see Lockwill in trouble with the seniors. Now they were annoyed by his cleverness in soothing the feelings of the cane-slashed upper-class men. "Of course, he'd show the white feather!" put in Price. Jack smiled. "Maybe I'd resent that if you and Maddox weren't traitors to your class," he said, with an air of disdain. (To Be Continued)

ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hampton of 123 Summer street entertained ten little friends of their daughter Inez at a birthday party on Wednesday. There were games and singing and the children had the "kindergarten polka" Marion Weir gave the Charleston. Miss Hampton received a number of gifts.

Gibbons Assembly, Ladies of Columbus members are urged to be present at the business meeting this evening at 7:30 sharp. A Christmas party will follow the business session.

William J. McKee, local Christmas tree dealer, has received word that his supply of trees is being hauled to the railroad in Vermont and expects to receive them here the latter part of next week.

The entertainment committee of Manchester lodge of Moose will meet on Monday evening at the home of Walter DeVarney of 12 Doane street to make plans for the big Christmas party which the lodge will hold on December 19.

The Rockville lodge of Elks will serve a roast beef supper for its membership on Saturday evening. This is the second of a series of weekly suppers and the committee in charge of this one is headed by Jack Doyle.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal church plans to cater to a large number this evening at the parish hall when they will serve a roast beef supper. In connection with the annual Christmas sale and entertainment.

Past Matrons of Temple Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. David Husband of Church street. The officers elected for the ensuing year are Mrs. Anna Barber, president; Mrs. Nellie Packard, vice president and Mrs. Elizabeth Heebner, secretary and treasurer. Temple Chapter was organized 25 years ago and of the 20 past matrons now living, 16 were present at the meeting last night. Following the business the hostess served a dainty lunch and an enjoyable social time was had by all.

Miss Flais Grant, Royal Matron of Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, will entertain her officers as well as the past matrons and patrons this evening. They will gather in the small lodge room of the Masonic Temple.

Manchester had but two cases in the December term of the Superior court, Victor Lozeau, a farmer in the Hillstown section, charged with bigamy and Tony Prete for intoxication. Judge Raymond A. Johnson imposed on Prete a jail sentence of 30 days for intoxication. It was his sixth time before the local court. Prete took an appeal from the decision and in the Superior court was allowed to go on the payment of costs. The Lozeau case has not yet been heard in the Superior court.

The Manchester Improvement club will hold its monthly meeting at the Community club headquarters this evening. O. E. Bailey the president has sent out an urgent appeal to every member to be present. A number of important matters will come up for action.

The Good Will club, the Parent-Teacher association in the Fifth district will have a whist social at the City View dance hall this evening. The usual prizes will be awarded the winners and refreshments served. Dancing for those who wish will follow.

Clan McLean, Order of Scottish Clans, will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 tonight.

ANYWAY IT WAS SOME KIND OF A SHOULDER

No, it couldn't have been a Manchester woman. Guess she came from Birch Mountain. Anyway she was riding with her husband when she saw a State Highway Dept. sign reading "Soft Shoulders." "Let's stop here and buy some of that country ham," she remarked. But this one did come from Manchester. She was in Watkins Brothers store before the elevator. She stood there for a half hour. A clerk asked her what she wished. She said she was waiting for the "down" elevator. She was standing in the basement.

CUPID LAYS OFF AS HOLIDAYS APPROACH

Marriages Here, Shrink Two-Thirds in November From October Record.

Marriages in Manchester fell off more than two thirds in November as compared with the total in October, it was learned at the office of the Town Clerk today. November saw only ten marriages here and one out of town in which a local couple figured, while October had 30.

June, usually the biggest month of the year in marriages, was three behind the total of October this year. It is considered unlikely that the December marriages will approach the totals of any other month of this year.

There were 15 deaths in Manchester during November and two deaths of Manchester persons out of town. The total of births reported so far has reached 31, about the average. Some births have not yet been reported to the Town Clerk and a final total will not be available until they have been filed.

MIANTONOMOH TRIBE NOMINATES OFFICERS

Miantonomoh Tribe of Red Men nominated officers at a meeting held in Tinker hall last night and will elect these officers on December 22. At the same time the adoption degree will be worked on a class of candidates by either the Collinsville or Torrington teams.

The officers will be installed in January and the Compounce degree team of Britol will come to Manchester then to work the hunters and warriors degree.

On Saturday night a committee consisting of Max Wegner, William G. Schiedge and Frank Diana will serve a Dutch supper of frankfurters, sauerkraut and incidentals. This is the third of the weekly Saturday night supper being given for Red Men in the club rooms on Esplanade place.

FAMOUS HISTORIAN AND HIS SUBJECT

Historians Are Still Seeking Knowledge Of Washington

Noted Student of Life of First President Tells of New Discoveries Amid Roots of Washington Family Tree.

December 14, the 128th anniversary of the death of George Washington, finds students of his life still dissatisfied with their knowledge of the first president's career, character, and antecedents. Rupert Hughes and other authors have stirred America with research into Washington's personality. In the following article, Albert Bushnell Hart, Harvard professor and famed historian, tells of recently made discoveries regarding the great Colonial patriot's lineage, which now has been traced back through 17 generations. One of these discoveries was that the name "Washington" evolved from Wessington. Prof. Hart describes plans to continue the work of making the popular memory of the "Father of His Country" more vivid and comprehensive.

BY ALBERT BUSHNELL HART
Historian of the United States
George Washington Bicentenary Commission

(Written for The Herald and NEA Service)
Everybody knows that George Washington was a great real estate man. He bought lands, held lands, sold lands, exchanged lands, cultivated lands, and built up the beautiful estate of Mount Vernon, which is one of the nation's most valuable heritages. A life of Washington might be written, based on the places that he owned and the estates upon which he lived at one time or another.

Seventeen Generations of Them
It is the same way with Washington's ancestors of whom we now have an established line, father to son, for seventeen generations, from Robert Washington, Lord of Milburne, to George Washington, proprietor of Mount Vernon.

About three years ago the present historian of the United States George Washington Bicentenary Commission undertook to see what could be done in the way of connecting the Washingtons in the direct line of ancestry with the places in which they lived and the estates and lands which they owned or occupied. Of late years many Americans have visited Sulgrave and Brington and Brazenose College at Oxford, England, and a few other places directly connected with the Washington family.

Their Realty Dealings
A systematic search, carried through parts of two summers, into the light somewhere from thirty to fifty houses, or churches, or abbeys, or colleges, or estates, or fields, which were either owned or occupied, or bought, or sold, or willed, or inherited by one or another of Washington's direct ancestors.

The first places to look for were those called Washington, of which there are several in the United Kingdom and Ireland. The Irish and Scotch Washingtons, so far as now ascertained, seem to have been named by admirers of George Washington during or after his lifetime. A Washington in Sussex, not far south of London, is a parish with a church and centuries of history; yet so far nobody has been able to connect it with people named Washington.

By far the most important Washington in the world, outside the District of Columbia, is the "town" of Washington, between Newcastle and Durham. It is a wide parish in which in the year 1187 William de Herburn acquired lands and took over the name of William de Wessington (then pronounced Washington). There can be little doubt that this is the cradle of a direct line, father to son, of about twenty generations of Washington ending with our George.

Easily Accessible

To reach the most famous Washington places in England is not difficult. Sulgrave and Brington, both near Northampton, can be visited in an auto or bus from London in one long day; and both contain churches with Washington tobs, and houses inhabited by direct ancestors of Washington. Sulgrave has been bought by the Sulgrave Association of England which is restoring and caring for it beautifully with the aid of the income from a fund of $100,000 provided by the Colonial Dames of America.

Washington apparently knew nothing about his English ancestry except that they came from the north of England. Recent researches have revealed many Washington places in that region. At Selby near York is a beautiful glass coat of arms bearing the three mullets (mistakenly called stars) and two bars, which were engraved on the signet ring worn by George Washington. The same arms are found on the front of Hylton Castle near the town of Washington mentioned above—another proof that this is the cradle of the Washingtons.

The biggest Washington find in that part of the world, however, is the recent discovery that seven generations of Washingtons in the direct line lived in or near Warton, near Lancaster, and on Warton church again you find the George Washington arms.

What the Commission Plans
It is the intention of the United States Washington Commission to complete this search into the Washington places, and also to make a list of all the places in America in which George Washington lived or which he visited. These places are not the exclusive property of the people who live in them. They belong to the people of the United States, and it is the expectation of the commission to make them available to the people of the United States.

Before long, routes will be laid out and arrangements perfected by which the traveler and the tourist in America or in England may have the opportunity of visiting such Washington places as he desires under convenient and moderate means of transportation, lodging and guidance.

OTHO O'SULLIVAN DEAD
Willmantic, Conn., Dec. 14.—Otho O'Sullivan, for many years a town official in Stonington where he was superintendent of the Atwood Machine Company, is dead at St. Joseph's Hospital here today after a long illness. He was 74 years old.

Mr. O'Sullivan was the last member of his family. His brother Lieut. Col. Daniel O'Sullivan died at Noroton Soldiers home a year ago. Mr. O'Sullivan retired from business thirteen years ago and came here to live. He was a charter member of Nina Council, Knights of Columbus.

ALL KINDS OF LIGHTS USED DURING TRIAL
Hartford, Conn., Dec. 14.—Daylight, electric light, candle light, all were ineffectively in deciding an automobile liability suit in Common Pleas Court here after Judge Thomas J. Molloy had tried all in three in the course of hearing the suit, which involved a small amount.

Judge Molloy dismissed the jury today after a total of nine hours had been used. The case started in daylight in the country court house yesterday and at dusk the electric lights were turned on. The lighting system failed and candles were brought into play. In course of time, as the jury still deliberated, the case was adjourned until today and then the jury was dismissed.

WET AND DRY FIGHT AT MICHIGAN ELECTION

Washington, Dec. 14.—A wet-and-dry fight, which will be, in effect, a referendum on prohibition, is in prospect in Michigan's forthcoming Senatorial campaign, according to reports in political quarters here today.

Rev. Clarence J. McLeod, Republican of Detroit, is expected to declare himself a candidate for the Senate nomination soon after the first of the year. Similar declarations are expected from Rev. Grant M. Hudson, of East Lansing, one of the dry leaders of the House, and from ex-Governor Chase M. Osborne, also a dry. McLeod will base his campaign on "a liberal platform." It is said.

McLeod is only 32 years old. He was elected to Congress when he was 25, being the youngest member ever elected.
