

FAMILY WIPED OUT WHEN CAR BREAKS BRIDGE

Father, Mother and Five Children Drowned at Nor- wich As Motorcycle Hits Their Automobile.

Norwich, Conn., Jan. 24.—Police and firemen were still searching today for the bodies of two members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Whitaker, who were drowned when their automobile dropped over a wooden bridge, East Main street, last night and sank in a deep pool of the Shetucket river. The entire family was wiped out by the tragedy, the victims being Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker, and their five children, Allen 10, Dorothy 9, Lucille 7, Herbert 3, and Elaine 6 months. The bodies of Allen and Herbert are missing, probably swept down the Thames, according to police today.

The accident occurred when a motorcycle ridden by Harrison Preston, 19, alongside the car driven by Whitaker, struck the Whitaker car, and caused it to speed diagonally across the roadway to the fence, through that barrier into the stream after a drop of nearly forty feet.

Preston was flung from his machine by the impact and was taken to the hospital with a crushed thigh. Spectators sent for police and firemen. A derrick was rigged and the automobile hoisted just above the water. The bodies of the father and two daughters were found in the machine. The body of Mrs. Whitaker, her arms clasping the baby, floated from the car and sank but both were recovered in a short time. The boys' bodies were not sighted. Searchers worked their way along the stream and the Thames into which it flows, without success. A theory that the current had taken the boys' light bodies rapidly away led the searchers to seek them far from the spot where the accident occurred.

After the bodies had been taken from the car last night the car was lowered into the river. Today workmen removed a net work of wires that crossed the river beside the bridge so that the car could be taken out of the river.

Denial
Dr. C. C. Gilderaleve, medical examiner, acted officially in the case as soon as the bodies were recovered. Death was due to drowning, he declared. Coroner J. J. Desmond was awaiting the recovery of the bodies of the boys before setting a time for a formal inquest though he started an investigation at once.

The Whitakers lived on Corning road. Mr. Whitaker was head gardener at a Preston market farm. He was driving to the farm when the accident occurred. It is believed.

Riding with Preston in a side car on the motorcycle was Ralph Jennings, 19. Jennings told the authorities that he had his face buried in his coat collar until the crash occurred. He did not see the Whitaker machine until then. He glanced up and saw the automobile going through the rail. Jennings was not injured.

ASKS NATIONAL PROBE OF AMERICAN TEL. CO.

Sen. Johnson, of California to Be Asked to Present a Bill to Congress.

San Francisco, Calif., Jan. 24.—A formal request for a nationwide inquiry into the organization and practices of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company was being prepared by John J. O'Toole, San Francisco city attorney, for early transmission to Senator Hiram Johnson of California, who will be asked to present it to the Senate.

The request, in the form of a bill, was sponsored by the California Railroad Commission yesterday. If granted by Congress, it would launch a sweeping investigation of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and its subsidiaries to determine if the provisions of the Clayton Anti-Trust Acts and the Interstate Commerce regulations are being complied with.

The action of the California Railroad Commission, in approving the bill, was the outgrowth of a hearing before that body on an application filed by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, subsidiary of the American Company, for permission to raise rates in the San Francisco metropolitan area.

BAR SUNDAY DANCING

Miami, Fla., Jan. 24.—Miami, which has known no restrictions when it came to amusements, will have no more Sunday dancing, and night clubs. Orchestras must stop playing at midnight Saturday, according to an edict of County Solicitor Robert R. Taylor.

DEATH PUZZLE GIVEN "FOX"

"Noose" and Other Grim Words in Cross Word Puzzle Sent Him.

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 24.—William Edward Hickman, confessed kidnaper and murderer of Marion Parker, sat in his cell today and played with a cross word puzzle entitled "Death on the Gallows." Within 2 1/2 hours he will go on trial for his crime.

The crossword puzzle was sent to the "Fox" by an anonymous writer, who apparently wished to tease Hickman.

"The world's first kidnaper" was the description given in the puzzle for the word to fit a horizontal row of squares. "Slang word for Sah Quentin," was another.

Others were:
"The Lower End of a Rope?"
"A Strong Cord Used Frequently in Penitentiaries."

TRIAL OF HICKMAN OPENS TOMORROW

"Fox" Cries When He Meets His Mother in Los Angeles— Alienists Gather.

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 24.—Tomorrow in Judge Carlos S. Hardy's Superior Court, William Edward Hickman, the "Fox" will come to trial on charges of kidnaping and murdering 12-year-old Marion Parker.

All of the resources of the defense will be thrown into the effort to prove that the Kansas City youth knew not what he was doing when he murdered the banker's daughter, dismembered her body and tossed part of it at the feet of her father in return for $1,500 ransom money.

The state will endeavor to batter down the plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity" and send Hickman to the gallows.

Alienists To Testify
Four psychiatrists, hired by the defense, will adduce data to support the contention that Hickman is insane. Seven psychiatrists hired by the state, will adduce data to support the contention that Hickman is sane and that the crime to which he confessed, was cold-bloodedly deliberate and not the result of insanity.

The fathers of the two principal figures in the tragic crime, Thomas Hickman of El Paso, Texas, father of Hickman, and Perry M. Parker, father of the victim, will be present at the trial.

Mother Present
Whether Mrs. Eva Hickman, William Edward's mother, will testify during the trial, was still uncertain. It is believed that she will appear when the trial opens tomorrow. She and another son, Alfred Hickman, arrived in Los Angeles from Kansas City yesterday.

The meeting between Mrs. Hickman and William Edward, took place in the office of the state yesterday. Alfred, older than the prisoner, was present. All three wept. Young Hickman's composure collapsed. He buried his head in his mother's bosom, and she ran her fingers through his hair and kissed his hands.

LEADERS TO DODGE LE BOEUF REPORT

Charges Against Mrs. Knapp Loaded With Political Dynamite, They Say.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24.—Convicted that the Le Boeuf report, which charged Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, with forgery and grand larceny in her administration of $1,200,000 census fund, is loaded with political dynamite, leaders of both major parties in the legislature have decided to let it alone.

Despite the fact that Moreland Commissioner Randall J. Le Boeuf, Jr., in his report, made a bitter attack upon the legislature, characterizing the 1925 census legislation as "sloppy." The legislative leaders reached the decision after several secret conferences, that it would be better for both political parties if the report was not brought up for discussion on the floor of either house.

As a result, the Le Boeuf report may go down in history as the first document in which the legislature was assailed without bringing a reply from the legislative leaders.

TRAIN GIVEN UP

Middletown, Conn., Jan. 24.—Passing of the line of a passenger-carrying medium was announced here today. A bus line making three round trips a day between New Haven and Middletown will replace the rail passenger service on the first of the month. The route to be a part of a regular New York-Boston run. At present only a mixed train operates over the line, and even this will be given up under the new plan, the train to carry nothing but freight.

This odd-shaped airplane, designed along the lines of a sea gull, is to have a test flight soon at Curdsville, Long Island. The man who planned the "Bonney Gull" studied the sea birds in flight.

PRESIDENT SCORES PLUNKETT'S SPEECH

Rear Admiral Said Our Next War Would Be With Great Britain.

Washington, Jan. 24.—President Coolidge today verbally spanked Army and Navy officers and others who have been seeking increased military appropriations through inflammatory statements about the possibility of war.

His official attitude was outlined in clear and emphatic language. He told callers he had no sympathy whatever with the "Jingoists."

The President mentioned names, but left the inference that his remarks were called forth by a statement attributed to Rear Admiral Charles Plunkett that war with Great Britain "is inevitable."

Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, has already replied to Plunkett.

Although he does not feel there is anything he can do to offset the influence of the military propagandist, the President believes that the press has the responsibility of not taking such talk seriously.

His Reasons
Mr. Coolidge is certain, for his own part, that there is no reason for any action that might be regarded as "muzzling," but he feels that the public interest requires more discretion than is normally exercised by Army and Navy leaders when seeking appropriations from Congress.

The executive pointed out that in every session of Congress the post office appropriation measure, one of the largest of the money bills, passes without any inflammatory propaganda as to what might happen should the departmental program be curtailed. He sees no reason, therefore, why appropriation bills for the military establishment should bring forth from quarters interested in national defense an avalanche of war talk.

LUCK—BAD AND GOOD

Both of Them Come to a Postman.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 24.—When you're only a substitute mail carrier, none too well off and the sole support of a widowed mother and some sisters, it's rather tough luck suddenly to find yourself owing the Uncle Sam $1100 because of the loss of one little registered package.

It happened to Charles Gaffney, 28, of the Newark postoffice force. The lost package contained a watch and bracelet, both diamond-set. But Gaffney feels better now.

Postoffice Inspector Robert Aldous was assigned to investigate the loss. A few days later he received a note signed "The Fox." The note said the author had found the package and pawned its contents for $25. The name of the pawnshop was given.

Aldous called on the pawnbroker along with a representative of the New York firm which mailed the package. The watch and bracelet were recovered. And Gaffney doesn't have to make good the $1100.

ASKS FOR INVENTORY OF PRESIDENT'S BONDS

Also Holdings of Congressmen As Authorized in Bill Offered By Senator.

Washington, Jan. 24.—A public inventory of the stocks and bond holdings of the President of the United States, all Cabinet officers, all Senators and Representatives would be authorized under a joint resolution introduced in the Senate today by Senatorrazier, Republican of North Dakota.

The resolution was aimed particularly at learning what Senators and Representatives own stocks and bonds of electric companies, grouped within the so-called "power trust," which a Democratic-Insurgent coalition is attempting to investigate. It would apply, however, to "all industrial, railroad, banking, shipping, mining, oil and all other corporations, firms and partnerships" owned within the last two years.

The resolution would order those affected to file an inventory of their holdings with the Federal Trade Commission before March 31.

GEN. SANDINO'S ARMY IS BEING BROKEN UP

Marines Follow Scattered Bands in Jungles—No Serious Battle Reported.

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 24.—Definite headway is now being made towards suppression of the revolt led by General Augusto Sandino, despite the wild and difficult country in which operations are being carried on, according to United States marine officers today.

The 1,000 marines being sent up to the front to reinforce the patrol already on the line, will be used to run down scattered bands of rebels. Couriers report that Sandino's main force is breaking up into small bands.

A few rebels remain in the El Chipote district, where Sandino was recently reported wounded during an aerial bombardment by marines, but their numbers are insignificant.

Brig. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, who was appointed by President Coolidge to supervise the Nicaraguan national election in October, is conferring with representatives of the government.

Isolated encounters between marines and little detachments of Nicaraguans are reported, but there have been no pitched battles.

CAPE COD IS COMBED ON SMITH GIRL CLUE

Capt. Ayers Explains Why Girls Leave Home

New York, Jan. 24.—Mysterious disappearances of young girls are on the increase, Captain John M. Ayers, head of the Bureau of Missing Persons, declared today as he directed the local search for Miss Frances St. John Smith, the missing Smith college student. The increase in such conditions are not congenial at home, they are seized with the spirit of adventure or they become "boy crazy."

"The unadjusted home is responsible in most cases," he asserted. "The number of persons reported missing in New York City during 1927 was 21,800, an increase of 600 over the previous year. The ratio of increase applied to girls as well as others."

Parents Responsible
It's a pitiful fact that the parents themselves are responsible for most girls running away from home," said Captain Ayers. "Too often they do not understand their children. They will not accept the new ideas of today. They are too rigid in their attitude toward their girls, too intolerant of the ideas of the modern youth. They try to force their will upon the growing girl and often the result is disastrous. The girl leaves home."

Spirit of Adventure
"The spirit of adventure takes second place as the cause of girls and boys leaving the family circle. They seek new worlds to conquer."

WIFE OF DOCTOR STILL IN JAIL

Judge Will Not Reduce Bail; Dr. Guilfoyle to Be Charged With Murder.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 24.—Mrs. Harold N. Guilfoyle, wife of the veterinarian who was wounded in his own apartment here last Wednesday night when Mrs. Max J. Gaudet, of New Haven, was shot and fatally wounded, must remain in jail at least until Thursday unless a habeas corpus writ is issued by some Superior Court judge before then. Judge John Bonee, of the City Court, refused today to reduce Mrs. Guilfoyle's bond from $10,000 to $500 and so give her a chance of liberty.

Judge Samuel Rosenthal, counsel for Mrs. Guilfoyle, appeared in City Court this morning and asked for the reduction in bail for his client who is held as a material witness in the shooting. Judge Bonee, who had been informed that the state is ready to charge Harold N. Guilfoyle with murder, in connection with the death of Mrs. Gaudet, has made no formal finding in the case as yet, the judge felt it to be the best interests of the state to keep the bond at the amount originally set.

Case Continued
Following the conference, Judge Bonee ordered Mrs. Guilfoyle's case continued until Thursday morning with the same charge of breach of peace against her, and the same bond of $10,000 necessary to release her.

State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn has announced that he is ready to hand the case to the March Superior Court Grand Jury and ask that an indictment of first degree murder be returned against the veterinarian.

HARTFORD TIMES HAS NEW OWNERS

Capital City Newspaper Sold To Frank E. Gannett, of Rochester N. Y.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 25.—The controlling interest in the Hartford Times, Connecticut's largest newspaper, has been acquired by Frank E. Gannett, of Rochester, N. Y. The consideration is estimated to be between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000.

A statement issued today in behalf of the new owners declares there will be no change in either the management or the personnel of the Times, and that the ideals of the Gannett newspapers will be continued here.

The statement also names the other papers in the Gannett chain as follows: Rochester Times-Union; Utica Observer; Elmira Star-Gazette; Elmira Advertiser; Elmira Telegram; Ithaca Journal; Newburgh News; Beacon News; Olean Herald; and Plainfield, N. J., Courier-News.

The Times was started in 1817 and now has a claimed circulation of 60,000 a day. The sellers of the paper were Everett C. Wilson, Clayton F. Chamberlain, C. W. Rowley, James M. Linton, Francis F. Murphy, Clifton L. Sherman, and R. F. Andrew.

IRISH EXECUTIVE LAYS WREATH ON TOMB OF THE UNKNOWN SOLDIERS.

Washington, Jan. 24.—With a simple, unaffected ceremony, William T. Cosgrave, President of the Irish Free State, today paid tribute to America's hero dead of the World War.

The Irish executive motored to Arlington national cemetery with his entourage this morning and laid a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, remaining in silence at the tomb for several minutes.

Then, returning to the city, President Cosgrave was taken to the White House, where President Coolidge tendered him a state luncheon. No ladies were present. The entire Cabinet, ranking members of the House and Senate foreign relations committees, high ranking Army and Navy officers and a number of other prominent government officials, attended.

Hotel Man and Waitress at Wood's Hole, Mass., Re- port They Saw Missing Heiress—Fifty Troopers Sent to Scene—Girl in Paris Not Lost Student.

Woods Hole, Mass., Jan. 24.—Fifty state troopers today searched Cape Cod for Miss Frances St. John Smith, missing freshman-heiress of Smith college.

The search was started following information given to Brigadier General Alfred E. Foote, commissioner of public safety, that a girl closely resembling Miss Smith stopped for four hours at a Buzzard's Bay hotel a week ago today and then boarded a train for this town.

Chief of Police Thomas Leonard of Buzzard's Bay notified General Foote that the girl answering Miss Smith's description was at a Buzzard's Bay hotel, stopping to rest before boarding the 3:07 p. m. train for Woods Hole. The report concerning this girl was made to Chief Leonard by George Christopoulos, proprietor of the hotel.

Mr. Christopoulos said the girl was well educated. He said he took her to the sun parlor after she had lunch at the hotel cafeteria. She remained in the sun parlor until just before the train left for Woods Hole.

Waitress Talks
Miss Mary Marston, waitress who served the girl stranger, told Chief Leonard that the girl answered in every way the general's description of Miss Smith. She said the girl appeared to be extremely tired, dark circles showing under her eyes.

Before the arrival of the state troopers, private detectives had searched the hotel and questioned Charles R. Crain and the late Winthrop Murray Crane, with whose families the Smith girl was said to have been a guest on several occasions in the past. Special Officer William Hemenway also assisted in the search. No evidence was found to indicate that any person had stayed there recently or that any person had sought peace near the sea. A caretaker is constantly on duty at the Crane estates.

Train Crew Questioned
Members of the train crew of the 3:07 p. m. train were questioned today. This train is the one that makes the connection with the steamboat from the mainland to the island of Martha's Vineyard. From the mainland the search leads to that island and to the neighboring island of Nantucket as well as the obscure island of the southern New England coastline.

Five state officers came here from Boston on orders from General Foote to assist in the search. Several lodges on the Crane estates were visited. The woods in the long stretch of coast were combed.

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 24.—Charles A. Paul, former manager of the United Illuminating Company's Bridgeport division, left an estate valued at $438,927.50, according to a report filed in Probate Court today by the appraisers.

TONG WAR IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 24.—As a result of the latest Tong war in British Columbia, the provincial government here today entertained a request, filed by eighty prominent Oriental merchants of Victoria, asking that steps be taken for the immediate disarming of all Chinese residents of that city and that suspects be rounded up and forced to leave.

PARENTS AND SONS BURN

Rock River, Wyo., Jan. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. John King, and their two sons, Neal, 9, and Donald, 7, were burned to death in a fire at McFadden, an oil camp, northwest of here, today.

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT YOUR HOME TOWN

Well, well, we're always learning something new. For instance: In this week's issue of a detective story magazine, the hero: "Jumped into a bus in front of the Tati Hotel in New Haven and in a half hour arrived at South Manchester, Conn., where he immediately went to the home of Albert Osler, world famous radio inventor."

Ten Cent Bottle of Bay Rum Or Witch Hazel Does the Trick Regally.

The sale of Jamaica ginger has been prohibited as coming under the Prohibition laws.

Now they are drinking ten-cent bay rum.

A reporter visited chain stores in Manchester yesterday.

"Yes," the salesgirl said, "we keep bay rum but we haven't any."

At the next store no bay rum was displayed on the counters and the store assured the reporter that the girl did not carry it at any time.

This is the stuff the reporter was able to buy a small bottle of bay rum.

A fair sized "bum" now costs these economists just one thin dime.

MISS FROST DELIGHTS HER AUDIENCE AT RECITAL

Australian Organist Displays Remarkable Powers at South Methodist Church.

About two hundred delighted music lovers listened to the organ recital given at the South Methodist church last evening by Miss Lillian Frost.

From the first strains of the gradual "Crescendo" of Cesar Franck to the varied interpretive measures of the "Festival March" by Lennox, which culminated in the recital, there was not an uninteresting moment nor a note of mediocre performance.

To the average hearer perhaps the most fascinating number was the "Londonquerry Air," an ancient Irish theme whose origin is lost in the mists of antiquity.

Brilliantly effective were the allegretto and andante movements of Sonata No. 1 by Basil Harwood, with their contrasts of stormy power and infinite tenderness.

The most remarkable number, technically, was understood to be the "Toccata in F major" by Bach, in which the most extraordinary pedaling is demanded.

HIT-AND-RUNNER'S JAILING SUSPENDED

But Britzits Pays $200 For Running Down Ingraham; 15 Day Sentence Waits.

John Britzits of North Main street who has already been six days in jail awaiting bond on charges of drunk-driving and evading responsibility growing out of a main street accident in which Arthur W. Ingraham of 31 North School street was badly injured, was found guilty on both counts in a trial here today and fined a total of $200 and costs and given a fifteen-days suspended jail sentence.

Britzits, who is 22 years old, was defended by Attorney William S. Hyde, who told the court Britzits claimed he did not know that his Ford roadster had struck and knocked down Mr. Ingraham as the latter stood waiting for a trolley car near Brainard Place.

Drunk is Testified. Motorman Thomas Tomlinson, who was operating the cross-town trolley car immediately behind the scene of the accident took the license number of the Ford with the result that Sergeant Crockett was able to locate Britzits at his home shortly afterward.

The club now has a membership of 235 and is one of the oldest to strive for a membership of 500.

Following the business session "hot dogs," doughnuts and coffee will be served.

Features of the anniversary celebration will be a turkey dinner at 8:30, grand lodge speakers and professional entertainment.

NEWSPAPER CAUCUS

So far as we know there is no precedent in the history of American journalism for the action of the Scripps-Howard newspaper editors in caucusing on a Presidential candidate in advance of the conventions

Undoubtedly there may be aspects of the matter which do not at once suggest themselves, but in principle the statute providing for the calling to account of prosecuting officers who sneer at the laws they are under the duty of enforcing is one to applaud.

The Wilton grand juror, it seems, has been a thorn in the side of the state police in their efforts to enforce the motoring laws in his town because he persisted in declaring their cases "unimportant" and in declining to sign warrants.

There is far too much of this sort of thing throughout the state. It is especially true of cases of drunk-driving. There probably isn't a day in the year when scores of cars are not driven in Connecticut by thoroughly intoxicated persons—on summer Sundays it is safe to put the number at hundreds—yet an arrest for drunken driving, if the driver has the good luck to escape a crash, is well nigh unheard of.

It is a grave mistake, in handling this matter of automobile regulation, to permit the concrete consequences of the offense to be the measure of the offense's gravity. Yet the Wilton grand juror has only carried to an extreme a very general disposition on the part of police, prosecuting officers and even judges.

So far as the self-contained majesty of the small town grand juror is concerned, the automobile laws are not the only ones that have been trampled under the feet of many of these individuals. For years the enforcement of the fish and game laws of the state was rendered almost impossible because local country prosecutors and justices were out of sympathy with the conservation statutes and likewise without any real understanding of their sworn duty.

On the whole, this is the biggest boost the Hoover candidacy has had—or, in our opinion, could possibly have so far in advance of the convention.

Most interesting, however, is the question: Will this newspaper caucus in 1928 lead, possibly, to other and bigger newspaper caucuses in other years, for the determination of support either of political candidates or great public measures? Are newspapers just beginning to learn how to wield the power that is in them?

TOO BIG CITIES The Connecticut River diversion squabble, which is attracting widespread attention in this state and in which the state Chamber of Commerce has decided to take a hand, belongs to a class of economic problems which, before many years, ought to bring about a crystallization of sentiment in this country against the badly mistaken tendency of the people to live together in cities too large for practical use.

fifteen or twenty million, Boston its three or four or five, and so on. But cities cannot grow that way without absorbing not only populations but resources and facilities that would infinitely better be more widely distributed, both from a social and an economic standpoint.

If Boston, for instance, cannot grow any larger than she now is without the business of supplying her with water becoming a nuisance to the rest of New England, then she had better grow no bigger at all. If New York cannot grow any larger without turning her populace into a squirming mass of human maggots in her subways and business streets, and hundreds of square miles into sub-division developments, then she had better cease to increase in size.

And there is absolutely no right, and no economic sense, in stripping the country, for hundreds of miles around one of these masses of humanity, of the natural facilities for the maintenance of reasonably organized communities. For a long time we have had visions of a League of Smaller Cities in this country, calculated to consolidate the strength of the best communities in resistance to the aggressions and pretensions of the overblown metropolises.

GRAND JURORS

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT Compiled by the CONNECTICUT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

(47) Connecticut in Minor Wars. As Connecticut has borne her share in the major wars which have engaged the attention of military America, so has she carried out her allotted part in the lesser or shorter conflicts.

Connecticut is credited with furnishing 600 officers and nearly 10,000 men for the state militia for the second war with England, as well as 1,600 men and 156 officers for the regular army. Stonington was bombarded and the British maintained a blockade of Long Island Sound for over two years.

Although the Mexican war met with the disapproval of the people of Connecticut, the legislature in 1847 adopting a resolution declaring unconstitutional the action of the president in sending troops into Mexico, a goodly number of Connecticut citizens enlisted at a call for volunteers.

All state organizations offered themselves for duty at the beginning of hostilities in the Spanish-American war. The first regiment, one of four from Connecticut seeking to be the first on the field, one light battery and two heavy batteries, were sent on the first call. The third regiment went on the second call. Two hundred men in the naval battalion of Connecticut were mustered into service. The total expense for the state's part in the war during 1898 was $175,648.36.

All state organizations with the exception of a regiment of coast artillery, a negro infantry company and the naval militia reported at Nogales in 1916 to begin training for the Mexican border frays. The majority of the commands were later stationed at Nogales, Ariz.

ries of anti-Jap speeches on the Pacific coast during the last Presidential campaign. But it is to be observed that the great forty million dollar airplane carrier Lexington has hardly gotten her keel wet before she is promptly ordered to proceed to the Pacific ocean.

Before the admirals and the secretary come before the people in a choral demand for a billion dollars worth of ships it might be a good idea for them to agree among themselves as to who it is we are going to have to lick.

ARMS The shipment of many carloads of rifles, machine guns and other war munitions from Italy to Bavaria, Hungary and Bulgaria, with the cars labeled as containing corned beef, oranges, etc., if actual as alleged by Jugo-Slavia, Czechoslovakia and Rumania, is interesting because, of course, Signor Mussolini's government knows nothing about it. The Duce has the reputation of being well nigh omniscient, but whenever anything like this arming of Central Europe comes up, it is discovered that the Italian dictator is, after all, only human and can't possibly know about every little thing going on.

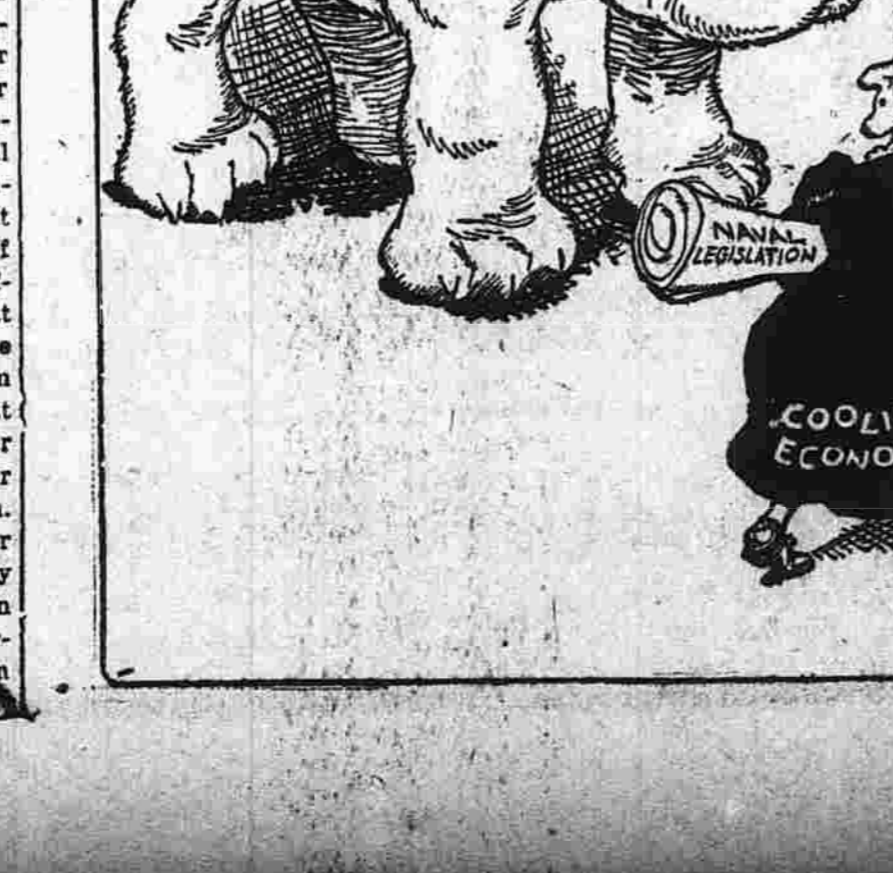

ASK SPECIAL HOSPITALS FOR POTENTIAL HICKMANS. Cleveland.—Cleveland has some "potential Hickmans" and a special hospital is the proper place for them, James P. Kirby chief probation officer of Common Pleas court here stated recently.

Kirby said he was acquainted with a young man who is a "potential Hickman." "The offense for which he was brought into court did not warrant sending him to a reformatory," Kirby explained. "This would not be the proper place for him anyway. And he cannot be called insane. A special hospital of a type which we do not have is the proper place for him."

"The time is coming when 'Hickmans' will be detected at an early age, instead of after they have committed an atrocious crime."

Mother Hubbard Went to the Cupboard—

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER Washington, Jan. 24.—It is bruited about in these precincts that there is one place hotter in June than Kansas City, the same being Houston. The chambers of commerce of those two happy cities probably can—and will—issue temperature tables proving that this is base slander, but many northerners in both parties expect to steam and stew for the ideal of party prospects which led them out of the north.

It is suggested, rather stupidly, that the Houston heat will wear down the opposition to Smith. Even though ignorant concerning the June Climate in Texas or elsewhere south, one suspects that if there really is heat down there the southern delegates, backbone of the hostility to Smith, are quite used to it and that Smith northerners might be first to yell "Uncle!"

In 1924, heat only appeared to make the Democrats hotter. And, as Major John S. Cohen of Atlanta replied when asked about Houston's heat, if any: "Who ever heard of anything hotter than New York in 1924?"

"Who," asked the governor of one western state during the Democratic committee meeting here as he looked toward the committee man from his state, "ever gave that fellow the money to come down here?"

Most of the ladies and gentlemen of the national committee wanted to go to San Francisco, despite Houston's early victory. Memories of 1920 combined with a possibly common sentiment expressed by one member:

"The farther I can get from where people know me, the better time I have."

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi: "If I'd known they were ever going to let the south have anything, I'd have put in a bid for Gulpport."

as many as three society affairs a night and get $100 or better for each appearance. A card trick specialist, who found this sort of entertainment getting him little from the theater learned that it's just what they want at the stage and the socials. He cannot fill the engagements offered him.

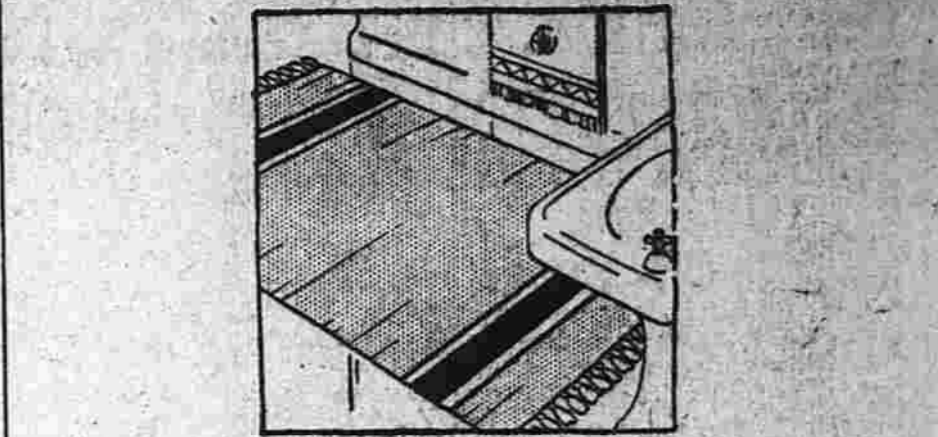

The same is true of a young lady who danced with indifferent success in the theater, but gained much publicity through an appearance which shocked a gathering of wealthy folk. Thereafter she found many of the Park Avenue set at their salons.

Ticket scalpers have now appeared at the Broadway movie houses... a critic has been barred from a chain of big theaters... 40 productions have closed within a single week... the still-walking "sandwich man" has disappeared from the "big street"... Otherwise all's well with the world. GILBERT SWAN.

$875 4-Door Sedan, f. o. b. Detroit Full Factory Equipment

Six months on the highways of the world have established this car's right, beyond dispute, to the title "America's Fastest and Finest Four". If mile-a-minute performance, lightning acceleration, custom beauty, and limousine comfort, were all it possessed, the story would not be half so impressive.

In Dodge Brothers Four these are simply the outward expression of exceptional inward fitness. No Dodge Brothers Four in thirteen years of quality building has been built so well.

Materials are selected with every advantage of Dodge Brothers vast purchasing resources, and fabricated with minute precision. Every point that sustains excessive stress is fortified by the finest metals that the world's markets afford.

The performance, comfort and style you get in Dodge Brothers Four are not therefore the fleeting attributes of gaudiness. They are deep-rooted in the car's structural quality—the surest guarantee of long and dependable service at low cost. Now equipped with Steeldraulic 4-wheel brakes at no extra cost.

THE STORY THUS FAR

The key to the closet door was always kept on the outside, Margaret Odell's maid and police the morning her mistress' strangled body was found in the apartment. That this day the maid came to work Margaret Odell was dead. A baffling mystery. Vane declares a devilish one. "And, Markham, those fingerprints you found have nothing whatever to do with the murder."

CHAPTER VIII

HEATH shot Vance a curious look. Then, after a moment's frowning contemplation of the knob, he waved his hand to the detective who had brought the maid in.

"Take her back to the reception-room, Saitkin, and get a description from her of all the Odell jewelry. . . . And keep her outside; I'll want her again."

When Saitkin and the maid had gone out, Vance lay back lazily on theavenport, where he had sat during the interview, and sent a spiral of cigar smoke toward the ceiling.

"Rather illuminatin', what?" he remarked. "The dusky demagogue got us considerably forlorn. Now we know that the closet key is on the wrong side of the door, and that our lady of joy went to the theater with one of her favorite lovers, who presumably brought her home shortly before she took her departure from this wicked world."

"You think that's helpful, do you?" Heath's tone was contemptuously triumphant. "It tells you hear the crazy story the telephone operator's got to tell."

"All right, Sergeant," put in Markham, impatiently. "Suppose we get on with the ordeal."

"I'm going to suggest, Mr. Markham, that we question the janitor first. And I'll show you why." Heath went to the entrance door of the apartment, and opened it. "Look here for just a minute, sir."

He stepped out into the main hall, and pointed down the little passageway on the left. It was about ten feet in length, and ran between the Odell apartment and the blank rear wall of the reception-room. At the end of it was a solid oak door which gave on the court at the side of the house.

"That door," explained Heath, "is the only side or rear entrance to this building; and when that door is bolted nobody can get into the house except by the front entrance. You can't even get into the building through the other apartments, for every window on this floor is barred. I checked up on that point as soon as I got here."

He led the way back into the living-room.

"Now, after I'd looked over the situation this morning," he went

"Now, Jessup," continued Markham, "there are things connected with last night's tragedy that you can tell us."

"I figured that our man had entered through that side door at the end of the passageway and had slipped into this apartment without the night operator seeing him. So I tried the side door to see if it was open. But it wasn't. Mind you, but bolted."

"And it wasn't a slip-bolt, either, that could have been jimmied or worked open from the outside, but a tough old-fashioned turn-bolt of solid brass. . . . And now I want you to hear what the janitor's got to say about it."

Markham nodded acquiescence, and Heath called an order to one of the officers in the hall. A moment later a stolid, middle-aged man, with sullen features and high cheek-bones, stood before us. His jaw was clamped tight, and he shot his eyes from one to the other of us suspiciously.

Heath straightway assumed the role of inquisitor.

"What time do you leave here at night?" he had, for some reason, assumed a belligerent manner.

"Six o'clock—sometimes earlier, sometimes later." The man spoke in a surly monotone. He was obviously resentful at this unexpected intrusion upon his orderly routine.

"And what time do you get here in the morning?" "Eight o'clock, regular."

"What time did you go home last night?"

"About six—maybe quarter past."

Heath paused and finally lighted the cigar on which he had been chewing at intervals during the past hour.

"Now, tell me about that side door," he went on, with undiminished aggressiveness. "You told me you lock it every night before you leave—is that right?"

"Ja—that's right." The man nodded his head affirmatively.

"You're sure you bolted it last night?" The question was almost ferocious.

"Ja, ja. Sure, I am. I do it every night. I never miss."

The man's earnestness left no doubt that the door in question had indeed been bolted on the inside at about six o'clock of the previous evening. Heath, however, belabored the point for several minutes, only to be reassured doggedly that the door had been bolted. At last the janitor was dismissed.

"Really, y' know, Sergeant," remarked Vance with an amused smile, "that honest Rheinlander bolted the door."

"Sure, he did," sputtered Heath; "and I found it still bolted this morning at quarter of eight. That's just what messes things up so nice and pretty. If that door was bolted from six o'clock this morning, I'd appreciate having some one drive up in a hearse and tell me how the Canary's little playmate got in here last night. And I'd also like to know how he got out."

"Why not through the main entrance?" asked Markham. "It seems the only logical way left, according to your own findings."

"That's how I had it figured out, sir," returned Heath. "But wait till you hear what the phone operator has to say."

"And the phone operator's post," mused Vance, "is in the main hall half-way between the front door and this apartment. Therefore, the gentleman who caused all the disturbance hereabouts last night would have had to pass within a few feet of the operator both on arriving and departing—eh, what?"

"That's it!" snapped Heath. "And, according to the operator, no such person came or went."

Markham seemed to have absorbed some of Heath's irritability. "Get the fellow in here, and let me question him," he ordered. Heath obeyed with a kind of malicious alacrity.

(Tuesday, September 11, 11 a. m.) Jessup made a good impression from the moment he entered the room. He was a serious, determined-looking man in his early thirties, rugged and well built; and there was a squareness to his shoulders that carried a suggestion of military training.

With proper handling, the amount of crippling in this disease may be greatly diminished.

He was quiet and reserved, and his eyes were steady and "It gave Markham at once motioned him to a wicker chair beside the closet door, but he declined it, and stood before the district attorney in a soldierly attitude of respectful attention. Markham opened the interrogatory with several personal questions. It transpired that Jessup had been a sergeant in the World War, had twice been seriously wounded, and had been invalided home shortly before the Armistice. He had held his present post of telephone operator for over a year.

"Now, Jessup," continued Markham, "there are things connected with last night's tragedy that you can tell us."

"Yes, sir. There was no doubt that this ex-soldier would tell us accurately anything he knew, and also that if he had any doubts as to the correctness of his information, he would frankly say so. He possessed all the qualities of a careful and well-trained witness."

"First of all, what time did you come on duty last night?"

"At six o'clock, sir. There was no qualification to this blunt statement; one felt that Jessup would arrive punctually at whatever hour he was due. "It was my short shift. The day man and myself alternate in long and short shifts."

"And 'd' you see Miss Odell come in last night after the theater?"

"Yes, sir. Every one who comes in has to pass the switchboard."

"What time did she arrive?"

"It couldn't have been more than a few minutes after eleven."

"Was she alone?"

"No, sir. There was a gentleman with her."

"Do you know who he was?"

"I don't know his name, sir. But I have seen him several times before when he has called on Miss Odell."

"You could describe him, I suppose."

"Yes, sir. He's tall and clean-shaven except for a very short gray mustache, and is about forty-five, I should say. He looks like an understand me, sir—like a man of wealth and position."

Markham nodded. "And now, tell me, did he accompany Miss Odell into her apartment, or did he go immediately away?"

We shall change the pronoun permanently to "she" for when we think of it, in all the dozens of times I have been annihilated by looks and remarks as I sought sanctuary for my body and mind at a movie; the offenders have been women.

No one likes to have a break in the show just when the identity of the villain is about to be disclosed, but we are all in the same boat. Everybody has to take his turn at letting others pass. Typical of life, too, isn't it! The stand-patters often yell at small inconveniences.

I have seen various lists of nuisances published from time to time. There is the person who won't return your lead in bridge, the person who slams up his receiver when you answer your phone and he discovers he has the wrong number, the stranger on the train who persists in conversation, the tier of loose bundles that reach you in pieces.

I believe the complete list is 2000. But almost invariably the list-makers leave out the Grand Lama of all nuisances, the person we come across perhaps more than any other, and who will sooner or later be neatly murdered by some long suffering victim of his caustic tongue—or hers—I should say, for the offenders are mostly women.

This And That In Feminine Lore

The ideal gift shop—Fred's velvet, chiffon or even straw. Flow-ers are to be tried out as a trimming this spring and there is no reason why they should not take when the mode is more feminine than for years past.

The veil is gaining ground every day. It is still only a nose veil and little more than a wisp of tulle; but another concession to more feminine styles.

Working women of New York, where one out of every three women works for wages, give these interesting statistics. There are 3,690 women barbers, 5,006 actresses, 1,000 authoresses, 3,120 artists, 12,192 trained nurses, 637 women editors, 5,200 musicians, 20,000 telephone operators, 69,000 clerks, 75,000 stenographers, 39,000 bookkeepers, 23,400 salespeople and 1,000 sprinkling of paper-hangers, plumbers, stevedores, taxi-drivers, piano tuners, glass blowers, flagmen, cobblers, and at least one woman representative of every trade and business and profession known.

According to an article in the American magazine, Miss Clara Sandberg of Minneapolis has made a signal success of her collection agency. She employs both men and women, who try to give understanding and help, real service to debtors, not many of whom mean to be grafters but get in so deep they just flounder hopelessly. When they find she is really trying to help them out of a bad hole she usually gets satisfactory results.

Prune and Marshmallow Pudding. One-half pound prunes, 2 cups water, 1 tablespoon gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 12 marshmallows.

Scrub prunes well. Cover with water and let stand twenty-four hours. Simmer in the same water for one hour. Remove stones and cut in small pieces. Add to juice.

Soften gelatine in cold water for ten minutes and stir into reheated prune pulp and add sugar, salt and lemon juice. Cut marshmallows in quarters and when gelatine is beginning to set, stir in the marshmallows. Turn into a mold to chill and become firm. Serve with whipped cream or boiled custard.

Gold wristlets that stretch like elastic are worn at the bottom of long, tight sleeves. At bridge or tea they'll add new chic to the simplest frock.

Nice to serve some day at your bridge luncheon are shrimps in tomato sauce, with celery hearts, olives and tiny pickles, a fruit sherbet or ice with sponge cake for dessert.

Shrimps in Tomato Sauce. One cup canned shrimps, 1 cup hot boiled rice, 1 cup cream, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1-4 teaspoon minced onion, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup tomato catsup, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 6 triangles toast, parsley.

Break shrimps in pieces. Melt butter, add onion and cook over low fire for five minutes. Sift over flour and stir until thoroughly blended. Add shrimps, rice and cream and stir lightly with a fork. Make very hot and add salt, catsup and pepper. Serve on triangles of toast and garnish with sprigs of parsley.

Madame Grete Stueckhold, the Metropolitan opera house, says the German woman does not starve herself. She eats heartily, but she makes a religion of her daily doses, and the result is that there has been a decided change in the figure of the German woman in the last fifteen years, and the German women who wish to bring about a change in proportions put in about an hour or even more daily in hard gymnastic practice, and combine it with showers, long walks, swimming and tennis. The madame is a fine tennis player, expert with oars and a good horseback rider.

Women wear such sensible clothing nowadays, they say, but Cleveland, Ohio, estimates that high heels cost it about $50,000 a year or that more than one half of its personal damage cases result from "falling-pot" of stove and broom.

A kitchen is a valiant room. Of homely tasks, of dreams and plans. Nurtured over pots and pans. Life's richness other rooms adorn. But in a kitchen home is born! —Constance Frazer.

Underneath the brim and close to the face seems to be the correct place for flowers which will blossom on the new season's hats. Some of these flowers are made of benzoin. Benzoin is highly prized the world over for its beneficial effect on the skin, and has been used centuries by the beauties of the Orient as an astringent tonic and gentle bleach for face and hands. The gum is mixed with alcohol, and in this form we recognize it as the well known tincture of benzoin.

A few drops of tincture of benzoin in the rinsing water has a tonic effect, stimulating and lightening the skin it bathes, and thus preventing the formation of wrinkles. But our concern is chiefly with its use in lotions for the purpose of whitening the hands.

On account of the resinous nature of benzoin, care must be taken in combining it with other ingredients. Benzoin will be thrown down as a gummy precipitate. The formula which follows is for a benzoin lotion that will maintain the hands in soft and white condition. Apply freely as though washing the hands and wipe off excess moisture with a fine towel.

Tincture of benzoin—1 dram. Glycerine—1 1/2 ounce. Rose water—1 1/2 ounce.

The Woman's Day

As usual, I NEEDED Carrie Chapman Catt's most recent oration before the annual meeting of General Pershing. Mrs. Catt always pleases so far. She never hops all over a person just because she disagrees with one or more of their sentiments. She hands a most fragrant bouquet of gallantry to the general before ridiculing him for his slogan "the way to obtain peace is to prepare for war."

Mrs. Catt, of course, believes that "the way to obtain peace is to prepare for peace." Even she realizes, though, that it's asking a great deal to expect any human being to blacken their own job for which they have spent a life-time in preparation, and what would all the generals do if there were no war?

HAZZES MOTHER'S PIES. Here's a brave man! Heywood Brown comes right out in meeting to slam "mother's cooking" and giggle at the traditional compliment implied in the description—"like mother used to make." He admits that his own mother can bake a good three or four, but he says he cannot honestly deny that he could stop into any good pastry shop and buy a better pie. It is not for "home cooking," says Heywood, that "one puts on his coat and goes out into the night," he gives thanks to high heaven that modern architects are eliminating kitchens from apartment houses, and that specialization, which consumes the time and energy of all of us, sends us forth to eat of the art of another specialist, the art of cooking.

EAT ALONE. Brown praises solitary dining, too. He recalls that a dog goes off alone with his bone. He asks for "tiny cubicles of solitary diners. There might be a few accompany-dating room, three or four. Beyond that, any number is too many." And what can one add except to heartily agree?

This tradition of the superiority of cooking is just another "joke" created by aim to women in self-defense. All of us must see that altars are erected to our own talents, if we live, and the stay-at-home woman naturally liked her altars like the rest of us. So grew the traditions of her mightiness as mother, wife and cook.

JOHN DRE. John D. Rockefeller has become mellowed and softened and beloved in his old age down in Florida where he spends his winters, the help pass out the hymnals, and makes a special point of shaking hands with the strangers within the gate. But somehow this seems more pathetic and infinitely less costly, vigorous old men who grow old rebelliously and cantankerously.

BEAUTIFUL GOLOSHERS. Golosher, says some beauty expert, or other, are beautiful "if worn at the right time." For Pete's sake, when? If there's any object more ugly and grotesque and disgusting and clodhopperish and altogether a blot on the family "scutcheon" than the average foot and leg in a golosh, I wonder what and where it is?

1—What is meant by unblocking? 2—When is it advisable to throw the lead? 3—When you hold J 10 X X X, how many outside quick tricks are required to bid it initially?

The Answers. 1—Giving up a card to help partner make remaining tricks in his hand. 2—When you desire to have opponents lead up to you. 3—Three.

BENZON LOTION FOR WHITE HANDS. There grows in India and on a few nearby islands a tree belonging to the botanical family, Syria. It is the source of the resinous balsam, known as gum benzoin.

Benzoin is highly prized the world over for its beneficial effect on the skin, and has been used centuries by the beauties of the Orient as an astringent tonic and gentle bleach for face and hands. The gum is mixed with alcohol, and in this form we recognize it as the well known tincture of benzoin.

A few drops of tincture of benzoin in the rinsing water has a tonic effect, stimulating and lightening the skin it bathes, and thus preventing the formation of wrinkles. But our concern is chiefly with its use in lotions for the purpose of whitening the hands.

On account of the resinous nature of benzoin, care must be taken in combining it with other ingredients. Benzoin will be thrown down as a gummy precipitate. The formula which follows is for a benzoin lotion that will maintain the hands in soft and white condition. Apply freely as though washing the hands and wipe off excess moisture with a fine towel.

Tincture of benzoin—1 dram. Glycerine—1 1/2 ounce. Rose water—1 1/2 ounce.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax six children to take this harmless, "fruity laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on

"Ideal Fashions"

Jean Belle Hamilton

Belts Mark The Almost Normal Waistline

The frock of simple lines retains its fashion importance and is a favorite with women for many daytime occasions. Pleats are introduced at the sides of this frock as a means of providing a widened silhouette. A detachable cross-over vest of pique, has a trim collar, a significant feature in these days of the collarless necklines. The sleeves are light-fitting, and a leather belt that is a part of all sports frocks, is worn much higher than for many seasons. This frock could be made from jersey or the wool crepe, as well as silk and the geometrically printed fabrics. It is designed in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust, and size 32 requires 4 yards 53-inch material. Price of pattern is 25 cents.

Do you want to express your individuality through your clothes, wearing the styles, colors, and fabrics that become you? Best $15 cents for our Fashion Book today.

BIG SCHOOL CLIMBS INTO 100 PER CENT COLUMN

Every One of North School's 580 Pupils Becomes a Saver Under the "System."

Another member of the "hundred per cent depositors" has been added to the group at the top of the weekly summary in connection with the School Savings System. The new addition is the North School street school, which had an attendance of 580 for the week ending January 17. This school's feat in reaching one hundred per cent from an enrollment viewpoint at least is almost equivalent to the efforts of the other five schools combined.

With the exception of the Lincoln school, all were over 70 per cent. The average for the total number of depositors is 84 per cent.

JACK LOCKWILL'S HELPING HAND

by Gilbert Patten

The school buzzed with it the next day. The co-eds told their stories, all of them lauding Lockwill and Sinnott as heroes, much to the distaste of the pair. Cub Maddox, with some of his cronies around him, called to Jack on the campus: "When are you going to move into Vesper Hall, where you belong?" cried Cub. "When you move where Piper's going," retorted Jack.

But Piper's father came on, made a settlement and took the misguided fellow home. That same day, the town boy, Mousse, inquired the way to Jack's room and knocked.

"Trigger flew the burg," said Mousse, after he was admitted. "The judge scared the other 'red birds for gambin'." I told him I didn't know who you guys was."

"Well, bunkie," said Jack to Jerry, when the town boy had taken his departure, "I guess we ought to thank our lucky stars we came out of that jolly old mess the way we did." "You'd never been in it, only for me," reminded the Leaping Kangaroo. "I've had my lesson. I've thought it over, and I'm through gambin'." "After of kidi!" Jack cried, gripping his hand.

THE END.

quately. It was suggested that a building might be purchased and moved on to the church lot if not thought advisable to erect a new one.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur V. Payne and two sons, of East Hartford, also Mrs. Mary E. Lord of Wethersfield were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Lord.

A feature at the morning service at the Congregational church on Sunday was saxophone playing by Roger Porter and Robert Preston, in accompaniment with the organ. The Christian Endeavor meeting in the evening was led by the Rev. John Deeter, pastor, the subject being on the theme of Sunday observance.

Some difficulty with the furnace presenting itself, the morning service and Sunday school session on Sunday at St. Peter's church, were held in the vestry room. The rector, the Rev. T. D. Martin, dispensed with the usual sermon to present a chapter from Bishop Fiske on the higher criticism and proper interpretation of the scriptures.

Miss Eunice Porter was home for the week-end from Hartford. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ward and two children were also Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. Ward's parents, Miss Eunice returning with them to Hartford.

SOUTH AMERICAN FLIGHT

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 24.—For the primary purpose of introducing American-built aircraft in South America, Captain Ralph A. O'Neill, World War ace, will leave Seattle next Friday for New York, enroute to Rio de Janeiro, according to the Boeing Airplane Co., sponsors of the tour.

From Rio, Captain O'Neill plans to fly to every South American capital, on an itinerary that will rival, if not outdo, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's.

THE TWO "RASPBERRY BOYS" AT THE STATE TODAY AND TOMORROW.

This Is A Nice Home

Six rooms and sleeping porch, steam heat, gas, 2 car garage, nice corner location in the Green sections. Price only $7,500. Cash $500 or more. A rare chance. Pitkin Street, Green Hill Terrace, new single of seven rooms, tile bath, fireplace, all up to date in every detail. Can be inspected at any time. I have ten building lots all together on one street that I can sell for $100 each. Gas, city water and electricity available. Easy terms if desired. A handy place for garden poultry. Building lot on Bigelow street, close to Main street. 74x239 feet, perfectly level, nice shade trees, walk and curbing and hard road.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

These days the right hand does not have to wonder so much what the left hand is doing...

SENSE and NONSENSE

The Sad Story About Joe Cross crossings cautious, Joe saw the train, But wouldn't stop.

The magistrate bent stern brows on the defendant. "You are charged with exceeding the speed limit last night," he declared.

If all the back-seat drivers in the world were laid end to end motorists would gladly run over them.

Motorist: I'm afraid that old tire is going to give out any minute. Friend: I'll hold up all right—we're too close to a garage for a blow-out.

Headlines You'll Never See: "Man sells Ford to pay debts." "Local banker makes hole-in-one." "Keeps fact a secret."

Dumbbell Rhyme: Go hand the prize To Gladys Seals, To toul her engine She stripped her gears.

One who lives in a house by the side of the road finds difficulty in being a friend to the man who breezes by at 11 p. m. doing 45 with his cut out open.

Most cars transport alcohol since the weather has grown cooler.

The Flivver: A dub there was and he wanted to spin (Even as you and I.) In his secondhand tub that was made of tin.

Oh, the oil and the gas and the tires, alas! And the hell of a noise he made; And the work on that junk that would not go.

LETTER GOLF

A SHORT WAY: From LAND to JAIL the way is short, and to land there, all you have to do is break the law. Four strokes are required, according to par solution on another page which you may find can be beaten.

Letter Golf grid with words LAND and JAIL.

THE RULES

- 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

The two "Raspberry Boys" at the State today and tomorrow.

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The cracker cop seemed very kind. Said he, "I'm sure that you will find that riding horses slower is as good as riding fast. You will admit there is no need for you to try and show much speed."

SKIPPY

Dear Skippy, You started something when you wrote about that Maggie kid, cause us Orioles got lots of letters from people an checks for Oriole A. C. Hospital Fund for poor children.

They's $32.50 we got already not countin are Oriole A. C. Treasury whats got $1.44 for Hospital usements because each of us sez weel give 5¢ extra from the 39¢ we got off deus.

The committee in charge of food at the North Methodist Church bazaar request that those who are donating food have it at the church by one o'clock on each of the days of the bazaar.

The three-night bazaar will open at the North Methodist church tomorrow afternoon at 4:30. A cafeteria supper will be served each evening and an entertainment given each night. Booths for the sale of refreshments and all sorts of merchandise will be in charge of the different organizations of the church.

N. B. Richards, George Glenney,
E. L. G. Hohenthal, Jr. left for Boston today to attend the Lumbermen's convention which is being held in Boston this week. They will return home at the end of the week.

Earl Roberts Lodge, Sons of St.
George will hold a whist party in Tinker hall tomorrow evening at 7:45. Mr. and Mrs. John Albiston will be in charge. Prizes and refreshments will follow the playing.
Members of the lodge and their friends, also Lady Roberts' lodge members and friends have been invited. The men's lodge will hold a short business meeting previous to the card party.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Keeney of Buckland who spend their winters at Bradenton, Florida, were pleasantly surprised the other evening when a party of friends and neighbors called to help them celebrate the forty-sixth anniversary of their wedding. About three years ago they built a home at 2111 Sixth avenue and since they have been going there have seen the town grow into a flourishing city.
Mrs. Emma Keeney and her daughter from Brooklyn are also living in Bradenton.

Tomorrow evening at the Buckland school hall the Ways and Means committee of the Parent-Teacher association will give a "dance." They have engaged Wior's orchestra to provide music and Louis Beebe to call off the old fashion dances. The dance is open to the general public in and out of the district.

LOCAL GRANGE TO MEET IN ODD FELLOWS HALL

Manchester Grange, P. O. H. will meet tomorrow evening for the first time in Odd Fellows hall. The business will begin promptly at 7 o'clock in order that those who desire to do so may attend the meeting of Ellington Grange.
On Friday evening of this week
the meeting will be held at Tinker hall for the installation of officers.
The high priest of Demeter, Charles M. Gardner of Westfield, Mass. will be present to install the officers. He will be assisted by Mrs. Alice Corbit of Glastonbury, past lady assistant of the State Grange. Visitors are expected from neighboring granges. A social get-together with refreshments will follow the ceremony.
Mr. Gardner will install the officers of Wethersfield Grange evening and a number of local Grangers are planning to attend.

American Legion, will hold its annual banquet in the K. of C. hall on Bissell street, Wednesday evening, February 15 at 6:30. A chicken and spaghetti dinner will be served followed by professional entertainment and speakers well known to Legion members.
The executive committee of the post met last night at the State Armory and made plans for the annual gathering as well as for the next meeting of the post which will be held on Monday evening, January 30. At the next meeting John Reinartz will address the Legionnaires on his north pole experiences illustrating his talk with stereopticon views. He will also exhibit his collection of souvenirs.
The committee voted to enter a bowling team to represent the post in the Hartford County League of the American Legion. Howard Murphy of this town is president of the league and will be a member of the local Legion team. The other members will be Frank Cervini, Carl Hansen, Ernest Wilkie and Harry Mathiason. The first match the local team will bowl will be in Thompsonville Friday night.
