STRANGE DEATH OF WEALTHY MAN PUZZLES POLICE

Found Dead With Five Bullets In Body—Police Think It Murder—Victim Relative Of Mark Hanna.

New York, Feb. 18.—Mystery today surrounded the death of Robert Livingston Ireland, 60, wealthy ship owner and "coal baron," in his apartment here.

Although the medical examiner pronounced the case a suicide, detectives suspected foul play. They pointed out that five bullets entered Ireland's body and that he would have had to use his left hand to pull the trigger.

Two revolvers were found on a dresser at the foot of the bed, upon which Ireland was lying. One revolver had not been used recently.

The body was found by the victim's wife, Mrs. Esther Wood Ireland, upon her return from a shopping tour. She told detectives her husband might have killed himself, but could not advance any reason for his act except the fact that he had been despondent because of heart trouble during the past year.

Police were puzzled because Ireland left no farewell note. They expressed the opinion that if he contemplated suicide, he would have written such a note to his wife or to his children, Robert L. Ireland, Jr., and Elizabeth Ireland of Cleveland, Ohio.

Ireland was for years one of the outstanding figures in American shipping, having brought about in 1899, in conjunction with others, consolidation of all the shipbuilding interests on the Great Lakes, the combination being known as the American Steam Building Co.

He was born in Stratford, Conn., and at Newburgh, N. Y., and finished his education at Yale in 1890.

In 1894 Ireland married Kate Benedict Hanna, niece of Mark Hanna, and the couple were divorced a year before his marriage to Miss Wood.

In 1903 he resigned his shipping post to become a member of the Cleveland firm of M. A. Hanna & Co.

MORE QUESTIONS FOR CANDIDATES

Congressman La Guardia Wants Answers to Questions Put By Wets.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Representative La Guardia, Republican of New York, a House wet leader, today addressed a new type of prohibition questionnaire to two avowed candidates for the Republican presidential nomination—Senators Curtis of Kansas and Willis of Ohio.

The same questions will be put to Secretary of Commerce Hoover as soon as the secretary replies to the recent prohibition letter sent him by Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, a staunch dry.

La Guardia's chief idea is to place the candidates on record whether they would favor amendment of the volstead act if it should be found "after a fair trial that enforcement is impossible."

His questions follow: 1. "Will you enforce prohibition equally and uniformly in all the states?"

2. "Will you faithfully and vigorously enforce prohibition regardless of the number of men that it requires and the cost?"

3. "If, after employing 100,000 agents and spending $25,000,000 or more a year, you would realize that the law cannot be enforced and would not be enforced, would you then, after a fair trial, officially state and recommend an amendment to the law?"

In replying to Borah, Curtis and Willis pledged themselves to vigorous enforcement.

FLAPPER RUM RUNNER LATEST AT LONG BORDER

Washington, Feb. 18.—The flapper rum-runner is the latest variety of prohibition law violator that has been called to the attention of the federal dry office.

Reports today showed that a considerable number of young women, short-skirted, bobbed-haired and wearing fur coats, are smuggling liquor into the country along the Canadian border.

They are employed by smugglers on a commission basis, furnished with high power automobiles and so far have been fairly successful in eluding the border patrol.

The practice is said to be most prevalent in the Detroit sector.

The treasury has a force of 450 border patrolmen along the Canadian line. The patrol is motorized with about 500 cars, most of which were captured from smugglers.

CHICAGO GANGSTERS BOMB JUDGE'S HOME

No One Injured But Residence Is Wrecked—Garage Also Dynamited.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—A fresh campaign of bomb terrorism was feared today following attacks on the home of a municipal court judge and on a garage which is said to be the hangout of alcohol peddlers and gangsters.

A building housing the undertaking establishment of Sbarbaro & Co., over which lives Municipal Judge John A. Sbarbaro, a partner in the firm, was damaged to the extent of $10,000 by a powerful dynamite bomb, set off shortly before midnight.

Judge Sbarbaro and his wife, occupying the second floor apartment, were thrown from their beds by the concussion. They escaped serious injury.

Garage Bombed The bombed garage, located 17 blocks from the Sbarbaro place, was destroyed by a similar charge of dynamite. Surrounding property was also severely damaged.

Judge Sbarbaro was unable to advance any motive for the attack on his place, other than possible enmity he had incurred through his work in the bench.

"I have been handling some criminals roughly in my court," he said. "Perhaps that had something to do with it. I have been making a conscientious effort to stamp out gambling in my section and have been giving both proprietors and customers heavy fines."

Other Attacks It was just three weeks ago that similar attacks were made on the homes of two other men high in the administration ranks of Mayor William Hale Thompson—City City Comptroller Charles C. Fitzmorris and Dr. William H. Reid.

Several days ago Isadore "Nigger" Goldberg, a lieutenant for the Skidmore-Zuta faction was shot in the back, presumably by a rival gangster. While he lay near death in the Bridwell hospital, a mysterious telephone caller told the Skidmore-Zuta headquarters "if Nigger Goldberg dies your place will be blown up."

Nigger died yesterday, breathing defiance to police and maintaining the grim grin of gangland by refusing to name his slayer.

The bombing of the garage, a Skidmore-Zuta stronghold, was the fulfillment of the telephone threat, police believe.

CENTER OF SNOWSTORM IS OVER CONNECTICUT

Hanging Now Over Long Island Sound—Nearest to State In Many Years.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 18.—A storm center that at eight o'clock this morning was hanging over Long Island Sound was producing snow from St. Louis to the Atlantic and down into lower Georgia and Louisiana, according to Leonard M. Tarr, head of the Federal Weather Bureau's local office.

More than an inch of snow had fallen here at nine o'clock, and indications were that the first really heavy fall of snow of the winter would come before night.

With the coming of the storm all chances of the winter setting a new record for lack of snow went glimmering and the 7.3 inches of the winter of 1918-19 still held the boards.

Storm center over Long Island Sound was the closest such a condition has approached in many years. As a rule storm centers usually pass north or south of the path of the present one.

SHORTAGE OF FOOD Moscow, Feb. 18.—Due to shortage of food and clothing, the government trade department today ordered rationing of potatoes, flour, rice, butter, eggs and textiles.

MOTHER THINKS SON MURDERED; SCOUTS SUICIDE

Wealthy Mrs. French Who Is In France Gives Her Theory of How William Met His Death.

Nice, France, Feb. 18.—William Barton French, son of a former partner in the J. P. Morgan Co., did not commit suicide but was killed as an act of revenge by his enemies, his mother, Mrs. Seth Barton French declared today.

French was found dead in the home of a friend recently at Santa Fe, New Mexico. He was pronounced a suicide by the police.

Mrs. French is recuperating at her villa at Rocca Marinella from a severe illness brought about by her son's death. She believes that French did not take his own life and blames prohibition for the entire incident.

"I do not believe for one minute that William committed suicide," Mrs. French said.

Act of Revenge "I think it was an act of revenge done by his enemies and the police should do everything possible to find the murderer."

But, she said, when French returned to America, he drank heavily with enemies all about him.

Two British Cruisers Sent to New Zealand

Trouble With Natives Feared; Police at Wellington Powerless to Stop Disorders.

Wellington, New Zealand, Feb. 18.—The cruisers Denedin and Diomedea have been sent to Samoa to aid in quelling continued unrest among the native chieftains. It was officially announced today.

The warships were sent at the request of the British Administrator Richardson, who declared his position was serious and that it was impossible to enforce law and order. The police Richardson said, were powerless.

The government statement said the cruisers were sent as a precautionary measure.

It was also reported that the native unrest was spreading to American Samoa.

Father Kills Daughter While Playing Soldiers

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Alice Ferwerda, 18, happy and light hearted, sat playing the piano while her father, Richard, World War veteran, and her two smaller sisters played soldier in their home here last night.

Mrs. Ferwerda smiled from her chair by the window.

Mr. Ferwerda halted the soldier company, commanded them to take aim and fire. The little girls took the brooms from their shoulders and pointed them at Alice.

But the little girls wanted their father to aim so they could hear the click of his old rifle. He pressed the trigger. There was a blinding flash. Alice fell forward from the piano stool.

"It couldn't have been loaded," stammered the father.

"It's all right—Daddy," Alice sighed as he bent over her. Summoning all her strength she threw her arms around him and kissed him. She died in her father's arms.

CHICAGO TIED UP BY BIG SNOWSTORM

Snow Falls All Night—Autos Stalled in Streets and All Train Traffic Blocked.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—After seventeen February days of spring mildness, Chicago today trudged to work in eight inches of snow and in the teeth of a northwest gale that sent the mercury well below freezing.

The blizzard—the second worst of the winter—struck Chicago yesterday noon. Snow which began falling at that time continued throughout the night.

Thousands of laborers worked all night in an effort to keep the lanes of traffic open.

Hundreds of automobiles were snowed under at the curbs and could not be moved. Elevated trains and surface cars had difficulty in handling the crowds of early morning workers.

Many suburban street cars became stalled in drifts and had to be dug out.

Traffic Accidents Traffic accidents of all kinds resulted from the storm. One man was killed and several injured in a collision in the switching yards of the belt line, the blinding snow obscured the vision of the engineers.

Several pedestrians were knocked down in the streets by automobiles while the blizzard raged at its height.

Two street cars and a taxicab were partially demolished in a three-way collision at a street intersection.

The chauffeur and three passengers on one of the street cars were injured. Snow clogged tracks derailing another street car, throwing 75 passengers into a panic.

The blizzard and heavy snowfall was general over the midwest. Train and air-mail service in some sections were completely tied up.

Many of the trans-continental trains in the west were reported far behind schedule.

The Pacific coast to Chicago were reported forced down at Rock Springs, Wyo. Flying was particularly hazardous owing to the high winds and low visibility.

Colder weather will follow in the wake of the blizzard, according to the local forecast bureau.

The mercury is scheduled to drop to 10 degrees above zero in Chicago, by tonight.

WIDE BIRCH ST. DECISION UP TO TOWN MEETING

Selectmen Refer Much Discussed Problem to Voters; Birch Street Talk About Evenly Divided.

Birch street property owners appeared to be about evenly divided, on the question of the widening of that highway when they gave their opinions to the Selectmen last night at the formal hearing on the proposed new layout of the street.

Of the 27 property owners on the street 19 were either present or represented. Of the 19 whose opinions went on record last night 10 were definitely opposed and 9 were in favor, although of the 9 in favor some were hesitant about being willing to pay anything toward the improvement.

Board's Stand Chairman Hyde informed the property owners present at the hearing that the Board of Selectmen had no interests in the proposition other than doing something they believed a public necessity and an improvement that would be greatly appreciated in years to come.

The Selectmen, he said, have no desire to force the widening of the street upon the town. Nor do they desire to add expense wherever it can be avoided. However, the board believed it was better to widen the street now since work had already been started in preparation for a building on the remaining Main street corner of the street.

The first property owner called was Albert F. Dewey representing the property on the north corner of Main and Birch streets which is now under a bonded agreement to the corporation of New York City.

Mr. Dewey said that he believed the lot at the corner would be more valuable as a 45 foot building site than 38 feet wide as the new layout called for.

John Wright, Sr., estate favored the widening of the street but believed the improvement was one the town as a whole should pay for. He did not want to see one-way traffic on Birch street.

Hays Opposed Archie Hays was not present but he had asked Earl Seaman to represent him. Mr. Hays is opposed to the widening. Mrs. Christine Foligno representing Antonio Foligno was opposed to the widening.

Angilone Del Guercio was opposed as was Mrs. Julia P. Reese. Philip Farr speaking on his own behalf and for his wife Therese P. Farr said he would like to see the street widened but he would not give any land if he had to pay any money. He went on record as favoring the widening.

Robert Chambers was recorded as favoring the widening of the street. He, however, did not believe that the corner property's sale should influence the widening and thought the town should assume more of the cost.

BIG WAVE ENGULFS A CROWDED FERRY; 6 THOUGHT DROWNED

No Accurate Check Yet Completed—5,000 on Big Vessel in San Francisco Bay; Exactly What Happened No One Seems to Know.

San Francisco, Calif., Feb. 18.—Death clutched at 5,000 homeward bound ferry passengers here and today is believed to have dragged six of them beneath the waves of San Francisco Bay.

Out of a maze of conflicting reports this was the conviction of federal and state investigators as they opened a searching investigation today into the tragedy that nearly overwhelmed the Key System ferry 'Lerita' last night.

Jammed with chattering thousands bound for the supper tables of a thousand East Bay homes, the 'Lerita' suddenly plunged deep-deep into the tide-wracked depths of Goat Island, a mile from her Oakland slip.

Wave Engulfs Vessel. A crashing wave of salty foam engulfed the forward end of the ship. Thirty men and women, it is believed, were engulfed and hundreds more, soaked by the surging wash of waters, screamed and fought in panic to escape the doom that threatened.

But the Paralta righted, sloshed off the tons of water that swept half-way through the lower deck space, and staggered to a stop as rescuers fumbled in clumsy haste to launch lifeboats.

Exactly what happened no one seems to know. Shroud of Mystery. Baffled by a shroud of mystery thrown over the whole affair, investigators throughout the night were able to gain little more than the mumbled, fear-distorted tales of survivors.

On an official statement, issued by the Key System, that only 14 of 20 persons known to have been in the water are accounted for is today's presumption based that six are missing, perhaps drowned.

Out of the mass of homecoming commuters that nightly crowd the 2:15 trip of the Key System line, no accurate check could be made of the missing unless a super-table gaps testified mutely of the disaster. It was at first feared that 30 homes would feel the blow.

Out of the list of thirty names accumulated through a night of seemingly endless checking, Inter-Navy Service today had found six unaccounted for.

Independent checks and the announcement of Key System officials supported this report.

SEARCH FOR MISS SMITH SWITCHES TO THE WEST

Woman Answering Description Seen in Chicago Station Buying Ticket For California.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—The search for Francis St. John Smith, missing New York heiress and college student turned with startling abruptness to Chicago, today.

Three men, who observed a girl in or about the Southern Pacific depot here, declared they are positive she answers the description of the "hair-haired beauty" who vanished January 13 and has been the object of a nation-wide hunt ever since.

The girl, described as nervous and very much upset when she observed a newspaper photograph of Mrs. St. John Smith, mother of the missing co-ed, bought a ticket for Sacramento in an electric depot late yesterday.

She alighted from a Southern Pacific train, idled around the room and told curious attendants she was waiting for her husband, "C. N. Lee." Later she asked the way to the stage depot, but finally purchased an electric line ticket.

Whether or not she took the train could not be established.

TO STUDY POISON GAS Washington, Feb. 18.—While the War Department has announced it will extend training in chemical warfare to every branch of the Army, it does not mean that the U. S. government has given up hope of ratification of the Geneva protocol for the outlawry of poison gas in battle, according to State Department officials.

CATHOLIC SOCIETIES IN JOINT CARD PARTY

Ladies and Knights of Columbus Working to Make Monday Night's Affair a Big Success.

Everything points to a record crowd of card players at the whist, bridge and setback party to be given Monday evening at Knights of Columbus hall. Large committees from both Gibbons Assembly, Ladies of Columbus, and Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, have been working enthusiastically on plans for the affair. This is the first time the two lodges have worked together on any project and they are bent on making it a social and financial success of large numbers of tickets have been disposed of. A door prize of $2.50 in gold will be given and 18 additional prizes.

Playing will start at 8 o'clock and an entertainment will follow with refreshments and a social hour. The committee in charge of the program has secured well known local entertainers who never fail to please an audience. Among them are Miss Arlyne Moriarty, talented pianist and singer; Leo Gillis, who will also give vocal solos; little Mary Breen in recitations and popular songs and Arthur Keating will sing.

DRYS TO KEEP OUT OF PRIVATE HOMES

But Agents Will Raid Night Clubs and Speakeasies Without Warrants.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Prohibition authorities have no intention of invading private homes or starting a war against home brewers and wine makers. It was explained at the treasury today following an announcement by Assistant Secretary Seymour Lowman that dry raids can legally be made without search warrants under internal revenue laws.

Lowman's statement gave rise to the report that the government planned to conduct an entirely of the use of search warrants and intended to make dry raids indiscriminately on mere suspicion of law violations.

The New System

The new system will be applied only to commercial bootleggers, distillers, night clubs and speakeasies. It is the opinion of legal advisors to the prohibition office that raids on these establishments do not necessitate search warrants.

This revolutionary change in enforcement policy is expected to arouse the ire of Congressional wets, who already have assailed the prohibition authorities for alleged invasion of the sanctity of the home. Within the last few days dry officials have made a formal apology to the Rumanian minister for a raid conducted in New York, while dry agent has been tried at Baltimore for murder as the result of a killing that occurred during a raid where no search warrant was used.

Need No Warrants

Administrator Maurice Campbell and United States Attorney Robert Tuttle, of New York, have conferred with Department of Justice officials, as to the drive against New York night clubs and speakeasies. They were advised that dry raids could be conducted under the internal revenue laws without search warrants.

Lowman explained that the internal revenue laws originally were used chiefly in southern states where prior to prohibition moonshining, to evade federal whiskey taxes, was a common practice. Search warrants were never obtained in the moonshine raids, according to Lowman and he said that now this system could be extended to prohibition operations in all states.

Prohibition Commissioner J. M. Doran explained that the revenue laws would be invoked only in cases where the operation of commercial bootleggers formed an evasion of federal taxes.

WIDE BIRCH ST. DECISION UP TO TOWN MEETING

Prachey favored the widening but he, too, didn't believe that the property owner who was giving land for widening should also have to pay for some benefits.

Seaman Favors

Earl G. Seaman, representing Genney, Fitzman and Seaman, owners of the Tinker block favored the widening, but would not go on record until he had learned the estimated assessment. The board figured it would cost this property $1,075 and this was considered reasonable by Mr. Seaman. Hyman Chappick whose assessment would run around $900 according to estimates favored the widening and was decisively opposed to one-way traffic.

Jack Davis, owner of the Princess block, was not present and no one represented the South Manchester Sanitary and Sewer district at the meeting. Michael Heckler favored the widening and Edwin A. Standish and Nicholas Waskelewicz were not present. Robert Hathaway of the Savings Bank of Manchester represented the interests of the estate of Hugh Morison but did not care to express an opinion for the estate. Louis Andieo, Wasil Marchuk and Mrs. Annie E. Macomber registered opposition.

Sto Damage

The property of Lucy Farr and Selestine Cervini was not represented and Tony Borowsky registered opposition. Paul Correnti representing Mary Correnti favored the widening of the street but not if it was going to cost him a large sum to remodel his store. Building damages had been figured into the assessments Mr. Correnti was informed. Miss Julia Reardon speaking for the estate of her late husband, Gordon property favored the widening.

In executive session the Selectmen voted to carry the proposed layout to a town meeting for a vote but they also recommended the F. W. Leasing Company told the Selectmen that his company was waiting to go ahead with their building and preferred the 45 foot frontage on Main street. Albert T. Dewey known as the board that the F. W. Leasing Corporation was due to take permanent possession of the property next Friday.

Dudley Street

George Leggett, Herbert Leggett, Henry Frelheit, Henry Cambria, Louis Hess and Patrick Moriarty appeared at the hearing on the acceptance of Dudley street. They all favored it and urged that the town do something immediately so that the highway can be used by automobiles. M. J. McDonnell spoke for two of his brothers-in-law and urged that the street be put in good repair. The board voted to recommend the acceptance of the street to the next town meeting.

Francis Donahue, Charles Lashinske, Oscar Schuetz and Andrew Raguskas appeared before the board and asked that something be done about the storm sewer problem on West Center street. They said that after every storm their property is seriously flooded. The highway committee will investigate and try to remedy the trouble immediately. Kar Sasiella told the board that he had property on the upper end of Birch street that could be developed if the street was extended. This matter will come before the next town meeting.

Objects to Line

John Jensen objected to the lines established on Jensen and Jordt streets and another hearing will be called to reopen the building line question as regards the north side of the street. The other streets will remain as previously decided.

The board decided to attend the Chamber of Commerce banquet Monday night in a body. The Rogers Paper Company acknowledged the Selectmen's letter on paper waste on Charter Oak street and said that every thing possible would be done to prevent a recurrence of the trouble.

A letter from the South Manchester Fire district favored the widening of Birch street as a safety measure. The Connecticut Company communicated with the board relative to the renting of the building being used as a dispatcher's office.

FAMILY UPSTAIRS CAST HONORED AT RECEPTION

Guests of Young People's Dramatic Club at Concordia Church; To Repeat Play.

Miss Lella M. Church and the cast she coached for "The Family Upstairs," the comedy successfully presented at Cheney hall Wednesday evening, were guests of honor at a reception last night at the Concordia Lutheran church. The party was given by the Young People's Dramatic club, under whose auspices the play was produced for the purchase of new colored glass windows for the church. Miss Marie Zwick headed the committee of arrangements. She was assisted by Miss Edna Anderson and Miss Louise Roth.

The decorations of the table and room were appropriate to St. Valentine's day. Red candles were lighted and as the young folks gathered around the tables the electric lights were extinguished. The cast with Miss Church were seated together and were surprised when a big cake was brought in and placed before them. The decorations proved to be the initials of each one of the cast with those of Miss Church in the center. Miss Elsie Somers and Miss Marion Sheehan acted as waitresses.

After the meal, Rev. H. O. Weber, pastor of the church, expressed his appreciation of the faithful work of the young people had put into the play and warmly congratulated them for the success they had made of it. Miss Church lauded the cast also. By popular request the club has decided to repeat "The Family Upstairs" but as they observe Lent the date of the second performance has been set tentatively for the Wednesday following.

ABOUT TOWN

Sunset Rebekah lodge will open its regular meeting in Odd Fellows hall at 7:30 Monday evening, to allow for the public whist at 8:15, which the lodge gives each year in February for the benefit of the flower fund.

The regular Saturday afternoon shoot at Bolton by the Manchester Rod and Gun club will be postponed today on account of the weather.

Wednesday, Washington's birthday, at 6 o'clock the boys of Troop 101 of the Scouts, with their fathers, will banquet at the Second Congregational church. Scoutmaster Joseph Deap has secured several good speakers for that evening, among them Scout Executive Frederick Hill of Hartford.

FUNERAL OF EDWARD F. PAISLEY

The funeral of Edward F. Paisley will be held at the North Methodist church at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. M. S. Stocking will officiate. The bearers will be Albert Harrison, Benjamin Wilson, Leon Holmes, John Spaford and Fred Paisley. Burial will be in the Wapping cemetery.

JIM TAYLOR TO "REPEAT" FOR THE KIWANIS CLUB

Noted Vermont Speaker at Chamber to Stay Over; Not Same Talk, However.

The Manchester Kiwanis club has secured as a speaker for its meeting Tuesday noon James J. Taylor, secretary of the Vermont State Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Taylor is to be one of the speakers at the annual local Chamber of Commerce banquet Monday evening in Cheney Hall and will remain in town to be the guest of the Kiwanians at their weekly meeting. Those who hear him at the Chamber banquet Monday night will enjoy hearing him again and all others will want to be on hand at the Tuesday meeting and luncheon. It will be a "repeat" engagement but he won't repeat the same speech. The attendance prize will be a box of fruits from California—another reason for attending Tuesday's meeting. It will be a gift from Clifford Burr who is spending some weeks on the Pacific coast and that is, if it arrives in time.

EDDIE FOY'S BODY DUE IN N. Y. TODAY

New York, Feb. 18.—Stage folk say the greatest comedian is at last the greatest tragedian—if so, Broadway should weep freely today when Eddie Foy comes home.

Eddie, who reigned on the American stage for years and years as the greatest clown of them all, res so far from the lights of the great white way—at New Rochelle.

Accompanied by Mrs. Foy and six of the "Seven Little Foy's," the actor's body was secured to arrive at Pennsylvania station, and crossing over Broadway, will be transferred through the Grand Central to a New Rochelle train.

It will lie among his old neighbors at the Foyer, Eddie's residence. Funeral mass for the actor, who died Thursday in Kansas City, may not be sung before Tuesday.

The Lambs, Friars and Players the National Vaudeville Association Clubs, the Catholic Actors Guild, and the Elks plan to be at the obsequies.

FRED BLISH HONORED BY STATE HARDWARE DEALERS

Fred T. Blish of the Manchester Plumbing and Supply company, retiring president of the Connecticut Hardware association, was chosen a director for three years at the meeting of the association held yesterday. The meeting, held in the Hotel Bond in Hartford, was followed by a banquet at which Mr. Blish presided.

POLICE BENEFIT NETS $500.

The police benefit at the State theater last Sunday netted about $500 for the association. This is not as much as last year, as not only were fewer tickets sold, but the expenses were greater.

Skidding autos during a snow storm in Cleveland cost the city $1,700 in smashed whiteway poles and fire plugs.

Notes

The Cornelia Circle will meet Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John M. McClellan of Davis avenue. The reader will be Mrs. Wright B. Bean of Stafford Springs. The subject will be "Augustus Saint Gaudens."

The Trinity Past Grand Association will hold a meeting with Sunset Rebekah Lodge of South Manchester on Monday afternoon, Feb. 20th.

Several Rockville people are planning to attend the Rosa Ponelle concert Sunday in Hartford.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church will serve a public "Jiggs" Supper on Saturday, Feb. 25th.

Miss Muriel Filloitti of Hartford is the guest of Mrs. Frank Hall of Brooklyn street.

Mrs. Mary Hatch and Mrs. Hattie Newberry of West Hartford were the guests of Mrs. Edwin Sims of Union street Friday.

Miss Mary Gregus of Talcott avenue and Misses Marjorie and Julia Bolger of East Main street are spending the week-end in New York City.

Mrs. Lena Otto entertained the Forget-Me-Not club on Wednesday afternoon. Following the meeting a salad supper was served.

A dramatic club was formed Thursday afternoon at the Rockville High School. The club being open to all students who have passed three subjects and who have an average of 80 or over in English.

WITHDRAW CHILDREN AS TEACHER REMAINS

Miss Lipovetsky Sticks to Bolton School; Some Parents to Send Pupils Here.

The latest report from the Bolton school committee is that Miss Doris Lipovetsky will withdraw her resignation as requested by the school committee and resume her duties Monday morning. Coupled with this report comes another to the effect that at least two parents in the community will pay tuition and send their children to Manchester Green if she continues as teacher.

Mrs. Charles F. Sumner, chairman of the school committee declined to make any statement about the matter other than that she does not know whether or not Miss Lipovetsky will return Monday. The teacher was at her home in New Haven today but Mrs. James Connors, where she boards, said "certainly she is coming back. She's one of the best teachers we've ever had here and only a few are opposed to her."

Mrs. Lida Anderson, the only member of the school committee in favor of Miss Lipovetsky's discharge, said that if she remained the children of Mrs. Adolph C. Broll and Mrs. Fred Dresser will go to the Green School in Manchester. Arrangements to that effect were made with Supt. A. F. Howes yesterday, she said. Other families are said to be contemplating similar action.

YALE STUDENTS ARRESTED

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 18.—Charles B. Mallory and Stanley Percy, young New Milford residents, were arrested here today charged with liquor law violations, and held under bail for hearings on February 23. Mallory, a student in Yale law school, is accused of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and gave bail of $300. Percy, charged with intoxication, gave $100 bail.

COUNT FOREFEITS BAIL.

Darien, Conn., Feb. 18.—Count Boudou De La Combe today forfeited bail of $500 when he was called to answer a liquor law violation charge in town court here. Floyd Trumbull, arrested with Boudou ten days ago while carrying a machine load of wine through the town, was fined $100 and costs and sent to jail for thirty days. Trumbull had been in jail since his arrest and the ten days so served were permitted to count on the sentence.

FLYING IN SNOWSTORM

Curtiss Field, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flyer, left here at 7:30 a. m., today in a Sperry Messenger biplane for Macon, Ga., on the second leg of his flying lecture tour. He said he might stop at Philadelphia and Washington.

Chamberlin left here during a heavy snowstorm, when visibility was very bad. He expects to complete the tour in five weeks.

NEW OFFICERS OF BLACK PRECEPTORY INSTALLED

Officers of Star of the East, R. B. P., were installed last night by Preceptor Henry Tedford in Orange hall. Following are the new officers: Frank McGeown, worthy preceptor; William Stratton, deputy preceptor; James Vennard, chaplain; Thomas Stratton, treasurer; Henry Tedford, registrar; James McCollum, first lecturer; Joseph Blinks, second lecturer; David Neville, first censor; Ephraim Macaulay, first standard bearer; Thomas Wary, Thomas Tedford, Joseph Kennedy, Alexander Crockett, Joseph McDon and Joseph Benson pursuivants.

A supper was served and a program of songs, speeches and musical numbers was given by members of the local preceptory and guests from Hartford.

In a reply today to La Guardia, Borah said:

"I do not agree with the relevancy of some of your suggestions. But, Mr. La Guardia, if you believe they are relevant—as I have no doubt you do—there is no reason why you should not address these questions to the respective candidates. I think, looking at this matter from different viewpoints as we do, it might be helpful if more took an interest in presenting the questions in the coming campaign."

POWER FOR PEACE PICTURED BY THE STILLING OF A STORM

The International Sunday Lesson for February 19, "Two Miracles of Power"—Mark 4:35; 5-20. The wind was violent. The sea was in the hinder part of our hulls. No, not asleep, for God never slumbers; but He seems asleep because we are asleep as to His close presence and omnipotent power: to save. We awoken the Lord when we awake to the fact that He is in us, and with it, if we rightly call upon Him, deliver us from our afflictions, and give peace. He is awakened, His magic power is quickened in us, when His Divine Human essentials, His concern in us, His personal love and will to bless us, are sincerely acknowledged, that is the key to it all. No power can come from God when He is through to be afar off, an abstraction, diffused intelligence, or a pervading ether. We are created in His likeness that His Divinely human nature may come into us, giving understanding, love, power, and satisfying the soul's needs. Call upon Him, and he will do this. That is the manner of man He is. Doubtless you have seen that miracle wrought many times. A mother in her delightful home is stricken. Disease ravages. Death confronts. At first the soul is wrenched with agony. The Lord is called upon. Peace diffuses through the mind. One such, in physical depletion, called to lay down the heart's sweetest treasures, cries, "I am calm. I am full of joy. This is the manner of man to do that for you. The wind was violent. The sea was in the hinder part of our hulls. No, not asleep, for God never slumbers; but He seems asleep because we are asleep as to His close presence and omnipotent power: to save. We awoken the Lord when we awake to the fact that He is in us, and with it, if we rightly call upon Him, deliver us from our afflictions, and give peace. He is awakened, His magic power is quickened in us, when His Divine Human essentials, His concern in us, His personal love and will to bless us, are sincerely acknowledged, that is the key to it all. No power can come from God when He is through to be afar off, an abstraction, diffused intelligence, or a pervading ether. We are created in His likeness that His Divinely human nature may come into us, giving understanding, love, power, and satisfying the soul's needs. Call upon Him, and he will do this. That is the manner of man to do that for you.

THE MANNER OF MAN HE IS By GEORGE HENRY DOLE. International Sunday-School Lesson Text, Feb. 19. What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey Him?—Mark 4:41.

HEBRON 16,401 DAYS IN JAIL FOR DRUNK DRIVERS

That's Not a New Law But It's the Total Spent by Convicted Persons in 1927. Courts of the state sentenced motorists convicted of operating motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor to spend 16,401 days in jail during 1927. The total cost of the penalties, or 4,490 days, according to reports made to the State Motor Vehicle Department. This penalty was offset, however, by the cases of other offenders prosecuted on the same charge who were forced to serve 10,290 days in jail because they could not pay imposed fines. Fines in all such cases amounted to $149,800.00 during the year, and the costs of court, reached $24,152.51. Of the fines, $17,992, or about 12 per cent, was remitted. Only sixty-two operators among the 1,739 before the courts charged with driving while intoxicated were found not guilty. Ninety-four cases were nolleed unconditionally for various reasons, eight were nolleed on payment of court costs and judgments was suspended in nine cases. Fines were imposed or sentences passed in 1,556 cases, or 90 per cent of all such cases tried in court. Fifty-eight of those found guilty and ordered sent to jail spent more than a year in jail, and 112 higher courts from the sentences and fifty-two appealed in cases where fines were imposed. In 634 cases fines only were imposed, amounting to $67,095, while in 201 cases jail sentences totaling $4,490 days and fines of $1,715 were included in the penalties. Seventeen persons were sent to jail though part of their fines were remitted and 102 were made to pay fines they did not pay fines. One driver was sent to the State Reformatory, eight were bound over to higher courts on serious charges and fourteen forfeited bonds amounting to more than $2,000. Fines and jail sentences in 293 cases and jail sentences suspended in 158. Operating under the influence of liquor increased during the year in every county in the state except Windham, according to the departmental list of suspensions, which automatically follow court convictions for this offense. In Windham County the decrease from the previous year was only seven cases, or from sixty-three suspensions in 1926 to fifty-six in 1927. Increases in other counties brought the state total of suspensions for driving while intoxicated to 1,615 for the year, 259 more than in 1926. Suspensions of Hartford County operators increased from 539 to 591 during the period; New Haven from 235 to 326; New London from ninety-six to 111; Fairfield from 233 to 342; Litchfield from seventy-one to eighty-five; Middlesex from thirty-three to sixty-three, and Tolland from twenty-eight to forty-one.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS Search others for their Virtues, and thyself for thy Vices.—Fuller. I find that the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving.—Oliver Wendell Holmes. Could we with ink the ocean fill, Were the whole world of parchment made, Were every blade of grass a quill, And every man a scribe by trade, To write the love of God above, Would drain the ocean dry; Nor could the scroll contain the whole, Though stretched from earth to sky.—Anon. A friend is one with whom you can walk for an hour, neither saying a word and yet both being helped.—Thoreau. Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep His commandments, for this is the duty of man.—Ecclesiastes 12:13. If you do not shine at home, If your father and mother, your sister and brother, If the very cat and dog in the house are not the better and do better for your being a Christian, It is a question whether you are really one.—J. Hudson Taylor. The stars shine over the land, The stars shine over the sea, The stars look up to the mighty God, The stars look down on me: The stars will live for a million years, For a million years and a day, But God and I shall live and love When the stars have passed away.—Anon.

ANCIENT YALE BUILDING WILL BE REPLACED BY BIG OFFICE STRUCTURE New Haven, Conn.—The Exchange Building that has overlooked the central green here for a century is about to make room for an office structure. Louis K. Liggett, Boston financier, has bought the old building which was erected one hundred years ago and since then has housed the offices of many men of national repute. Once the largest building in town the Exchange building was built for about $30,000 while now it is valued at $2,000,000 or more. The city surrounding it has grown from a college town of 10,000 to a place of 200,000 since the building went up. The highest chimney in Great Britain is to be demolished. It is "Townsend Stalk" in Glasgow, containing 1,300,000 bricks and standing 483 feet high.

ing free trade between the nations of this hemisphere—perhaps fifty, perhaps a hundred. Possibly we are twenty-five or fifty or more years ahead of the times in demanding that European states which have developed hatreds and jealousies and fears of each other for centuries should brush them all away at the waving of a wand.

VERY CONSIDERATE
 A British film company has been making a war picture based on the tragedy of Edith Cavell. Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, refused to view it but condemned its whole idea, declaring that it would "revive war time animosities." They pay O'Connor occupies a position in British filmdom something like that of Will Hays in this country. He is an "unofficial censor" chosen by the film industry. He has accepted Sir Austen's dictum and it is said the film will not be released.

In this country we had a terrible civil war. For many years thereafter the most popular play was "Uncle Tom's Cabin," as scathing an indictment of the people of the south as "Dawn" can possibly be of the Germans. We had "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh," we had "Held by the Enemy," we had Libby Prison plays and every kind of a play with "rebel" villains and "federal" heroes—and if they ever did any harm it wasn't much; yet these things were about our own people, members of our own nation.
 All in all, Germany never paid much of a price for her part in the war, save what she paid on the battlefield, and that was up to her. If she were to pay a little through the "revival of war animosities" it wouldn't hurt her.

If "Dawn" is any good as a picture it may perhaps find a market in this country. We are a little more hard boiled on this side than are the British politicians.
FREE CONTEMPT
 The once famous Don Mellett murder case finds its way again into minor public notice through a peculiar circumstance. Very little attention was being paid to the second trial of Serenus A. Lengel, deposed chief of police of Canton, O., accused of complicity in the killing of Editor Mellett, until Floyd Steltenberger, now serving a life sentence for participation in that notorious crime, refused point blank to give the evidence on which the state depended for the conviction of Lengel.
 Here, then, is a class of persons for whom the law of contempt of court has no terrors—the lifers. There is nothing that a court can do to a lifer. He may refuse to give testimony; he may sit in court and make remarks about the personal appearance of the judge, or his intelligence; he may give all law and all authority the razzberry—and what can anybody do about it?
 It had never occurred to us before, but the only human being in this country who enjoys entire freedom of expression, concerning a court, is the lifer. There are moments when he is to be envied.

BACK ON THE JOB
 Dr. Marna S. Poulson, New Jersey state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, who was convicted of criminal libel against three New Jersey judges whom he accused of being "in the game" of protecting lawbreakers, and who escaped a prison sentence, according to the trial judge, only because conviction itself should prove an especially severe punishment for a clergyman, coolly declares that he is "going right back on the job."
 It remains to be seen, perhaps, whether this plan agrees with the ideas of his employers. We do not pretend to any great amount of sympathy with the methods of the Anti-Saloon League, but there are many estimable people in the organization and it is not easy to imagine them either as knowingly willing to be represented by a convicted liar or so obstinately blind that they would refuse to admit the validity of the court's verdict in this case.
 There are plenty of rascals on the wet side of the prohibition question. Any conscientious objector to prohibition will admit that without controversy. If the dries would recognize, on their part, that there is an occasional rascal or fool on their side, and that not absolutely every dry is a paragon of both wisdom and virtue, the reasonable people on both sides would be in a better position to do something effective for the cause of temperance.

UNANIMOUS VERDICTS
 The jury in the Hill murder case stood for many hours eleven for conviction to one for acquittal. The will of one person prevailed, in effect. The will of the eleven was nullified. It is improbable that young Hill will be tried again. If that proves to be the outcome of this trial, then who can say that the vote of one juror for acquittal was not of more weight than the votes of eleven for conviction?
 Obviously there is something rotten in Denmark when any system works like that. And the questions

(69) Chickens and Eggs
 Poultry raising is a fast-growing agricultural industry in Connecticut. Increasing the poultry flock on hundreds of farms has added to the farm income. Many farms previously devoted to other lines of agriculture have been entirely given over to poultry and many new specialized poultry farms have appeared. The greatest revenue from the poultry farm is derived from the sale of eggs. Chicken eggs in recent year totaled 11,774,725 dozens, the value of which was placed at $5,887,365. The same year 2,670,099 chickens raised on Connecticut farms were worth $3,417,727. Several thousand turkeys, ducks, geese, guinea fowls and pigeons raised annually on Connecticut farms add materially to the income of the poultry farmer.
 Only Massachusetts and Maine of the New England states raise more poultry than Connecticut. The value of the chickens raised in Maine, however, is about $500,000 less than the value of the smaller number raised in Connecticut. The eggs produced in that state also are worth less than a smaller number of Connecticut eggs.
 Poultry raised in Connecticut in 1927 was valued at $984,207, and eggs produced that year were worth $1,523,819.
 Hartford county is the biggest producer of eggs in Connecticut, with the other counties following in this order: New London, Fairfield, New Haven, Litchfield, Windham, Tolland and Middlesex. New Haven, however, produces the most chickens, with the other counties ranking as follows: Fairfield, New London, Litchfield, Hartford, Windham, Tolland and Middlesex.

WASHINGTON LETTER
 BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Feb. 18.—Probably everyone who ever wrote a story about the tariff wondered whether anyone else would read it. The doubt has discouraged many tariff stories which haven't been missed. Recent developments, such as the Senate's passage of the McFadden resolution, however, indicate that some day the tariff may be put on a business basis. Meanwhile there may be more tariff stories to read. The question is tied up with such important matters as prosperity, commodity prices, wages and international relations, so why not?
 The key to the tariff situation is that those interests which don't benefit from the tariff don't want a tariff and all they can get. These two classes no doubt will clash endlessly, with occasional compromises.

Perhaps one way to make a tariff story more or less interesting is to tie it up with some particular commodity. Present efforts for legislation by the beet sugar industry come to mind and it has been cited before for the earth, and its arguments concern the national consumption of sugar, which nearly all of us have eaten at one time or another.
 The world eats 25,000,000 tons of sugar a year. About nine million tons of it is beet sugar. The United States consumes 6,000,000 tons a year. Half of that is Cuban cane sugar, a sixth is domestic beet sugar and most of the rest comes from Hawaii, the Philippines, and Porto Rico, with 50,000 or 60,000 tons of cane from Louisiana. Beets furnish nearly all our domestic sugar production.
 Hawaiian, Filipino and Porto Rican sugar is imported free of duty. Other foreign nations are subjected to a tariff of $2.20 a ton, except in the case of Cuban sugar, on which the duty is $1.76.
 Lately the sugar industry has been cursed with overproduction. Beet sugar factory earnings have been low in recent years as a result and some factories have been closed down. There are, incidentally, 19 such factories operating in 19 states.
 The beet sugar companies want some curb put on Filipino sugar. Up to 1913 Filipino sugar was duty free up to 300,000 tons, which never was reached. In that year, restriction almost completely stopped the annual importation from the islands to 500,000 tons, an increase of 800 per cent since 1912. The beet sugar industry wants the duty free importations limited to 500,000 tons, recalling that the Cuban production once doubled in three years.
 Congress is being informed that the government is now sacrificing a domestic industry for a possession 7000 miles away; that Filipino sugar is raised by a cheap tenant farmer system which has some of the most atrocious peonage, whereas American beet farmers are paid at a fixed rate, an aggregate of $55,000,000 a year.

The beet sugar industry hopes to develop to the point where it may supply half the domestic sugar consumption. It has no hope of obtaining any bars against the Hawaiian and Porto Rican cane sugar crops. Contending that the home industry should be developed it recalls the time when dependence on Cuban sugar cost Americans 24 cents a pound for the stuff.
 The beet pulp, after sugar has been extracted, is used for cattle feed, along with the tops of the vegetable. An acre of beets, in this manner, is supposed to produce as much human food in the form of meat as an acre of corn and the industry claims to create 240,000,000 pounds of meat a year by disposal of the leavings. It has made Denver the world's greatest sheep feeder market.
 This being the plea of the domestic sugar industry, Congress will have to determine whether it deserves to be helped.

HARD COAL INDUSTRY FACES BIG PROBLEMS BEFORE PROSPERITY

Scranton, Pa.—There are several problems the anthracite industry must attend to before it can regain its old prosperity, according to Rabbi Bernard Heller, one of the nation's leading Jewish clergymen. One of these is the apparent need of hard coal at reduced prices, if the operators hope to compete with hard coal substitutes, the rabbi said.
 He made the following suggestions for restoring the industry to its former status:
 1. Enact state pure coal law, guaranteeing a better grade of coal.
 2. Retain the present miners' wage scale, but have the men assist the owners to increase the tonnage without adding to present operating expenses, through the use of mechanical equipment.
 3. Reduce railroad freight rates on anthracite. (He explained that at present the freight on a ton of buckwheat coal from Scranton to Boston exceeds the actual cost of the fuel itself.)
 4. Cultivate a better spirit between miner and operator by permitting the former to buy stock in the firm.
 While making it clear that he does not favor abrogation of labor unions, the rabbi said that fewer strikes would result if the miners were permitted to share in the profits of their companies.

COP TURNS BELL-HOP
 Columbus, O.—Posing as a bell boy, Patrolman Griner broke up a poker game that had been in progress in a local hotel for two days. Hammering on the door and crying "ice water," Griner was admitted and placed the players under arrest.
JUST AS GOOD.
 Movie Star: "I can never marry you, Joe, but—"
 He: "But what?"
 Movie Star: "If you'll come around at the studio tomorrow I'll introduce you to my double.—Everybody's Zeckly."

New York, Feb. 18.—Believe it or not, there's a sign in a Bronx store window that reads: "Watch for our fire sale next week!"
 Two months ago she was juggling pancakes in a restaurant window. It was one of those restaurants where tired show folks go when they're tired of entertaining the tired business man. And Paula was a bit pleasant to look upon. And how she could catch a hotcake on the rebound was nobody's business. He might be a casting director came in. He took one look at Paula and asked her if she could dance. Could she dance—and how! Anyway it's another of those stories of Broadway accidents. Paula doesn't toss pancakes about any more. Paula Pierce is on the "who's who" of Ziegfeld's merry crew.

Now, on the other hand—he was a New York newspaperman when the movies got him. And, less than 10 years ago, Larry Semon signed a contract for three years that was rewarded with $1,200,000. A few years ago it was said he had earned $3,000,000—or thereabouts. But you haven't heard much of Larry the last year. A wire dispatch on my desk tells me of Larry's being brought into debtor's court. He was someone a couple of hundred dollars. And the intimation is he'll be floating back to Manhattan one of these days.

And, then go back to the silver lining—they now line half a block deep to the young choir girls who came from Heloise, Tenn., and who gave the Metropolitan one of the thrills of its old age the other night when she made her debut. She won't have much trouble getting along from now on. If you can believe her concert manager, she has been engaging in a little legal defence of opinion with her, Marion Talley has earned $334,892. And several of the critics, and at least one non-critic who conducts this column, seemed to prefer the voice of the newly arrived Grace Moore.

They tell me that the Manhattan Theater ushers are getting a bit tired of being insulted by partially or totally liquored patrons who arrive well after curtain time and then make themselves objectionable by talking in loud tones and demanding to be seated immediately. There are other little difficulties that make the life of an usher other than the trail of roses it might be. Wherefore, I have heard, the ushers are going to form a union and demand—among other things—their rights.

Otto Kahn's latest contribution—and all New York has tried to get a few of his dimes at one time or another—is an apartment house in the "Village" where artists, poets and creators of one sort or another live with their families. The "staring-in-a-garret" vogue, having gone out of fashion a bit, an old tenement has been fitted out in modern dress and a co-operative method of rental has been arranged. Since the "literary center" of Manhattan, and since rentals in that section have climbed to considerable heights, the sons and daughters of struggle can find berths that actually include bathrooms and heat.

BULL PLAYS 'POSSUM

Put-in-bay, O.—Rattlesnake Island, off Lake Erie coast here, was without beef recently, because a "dead" bull injured the butcher and forced him to retreat to the mainland. In winter the island stores its beef on the hoof and hires a butcher to do the slaughtering. On this occasion, Mr. Butcher shot Mr. Bull and the animal fell apparently dead. But as the knife descended for the "bleeding" Mr. Bull scrambled back on the hoof and chased Mr. Butcher back to his boat and the mainland.

BOYS AND GIRLS AID FUNDS FOR 'CONSTITUTION'

Charleston Navy Yard, Boston.—American school children have already contributed nearly $500,000 to the fund for the rebuilding of the United States Frigate Constitution, victor in forty-two naval battles and the ship that more than any other single unit in the Navy, made the present prosperity of the United States possible.
 Practically $300,000 more must be raised before it will be possible to finish the work that has already begun on the wooden ship that earned the title "Old Ironsides" because the iron shot of the enemy's guns caromed from her wooden sides as if they were made of iron.
 Navy officers have taken charge of the work of raising the money, as agents of the children of the United States and in the past two years have sent out over 1,110,000 colored reproductions of Gordon Grant's painting of "Old Ironsides" Selling Souvenirs
 A large sum of money has been realized from the sale of these reproductions, although the price of each one was only 25 cents. Wood and metal from the frigate have been made and carved into tiny nautical mementoes and sold to many citizens.
 It is the intention of the naval authorities to re-build the Constitution as nearly as possible according to the lines of the original ship as she was sent down the ways of Boston shipyard in 1797.
 Her length over all will again be 204 feet and her breadth of beam, 45.6 feet. Her displacement will be 2,500 tons. The wood used in the re-building will be brought as the original wood, from as many of the states as possible and when the work is completed the Constitution will be the nation's ship, a true representative of all the forty-eight states, not only by the bonds of school children's affection but also in the very material used in her from bottom to mast.
 To Have Regular Crew
 Leaving her berth in the Navy Yard, the Constitution, when she is re-built, will be placed in charge of a regular crew of navy officers and navy men and will start a tour of the United States.
 "Old Ironsides" will swing down the Atlantic Coast from Maine to Florida, Florida to Texas, Lower California to Alaska and finally if it is possible, the ship will visit even the Great Lakes ports, entering from the St. Lawrence River.
 In every port at which she visits, the Constitution will be open for inspection and the school children will be given every facility to visit and see the many relics of a struggling nation that the ship represented in the early years of the nineteenth century.
 For seventeen years, 1777 to 1815 the Constitution was the American representative on the seven seas. The suppression of the French privateers in the West Indies was her first commission.

R-rr-up! Toot! Toot! We're Off On Old St. Mary's Excursion

"Come On Mary. Got Your Ticket? Where Is That Kid? Hurry Up. Let's Get Into This Car, No This One. That's Full. Run Now. Where's That Kid. Thank Goodness We're Settled at Last But Where's That Kid?"

"The old order changeth and all things become new." That quotation is found in the Bible or somewhere, but the truth of it is evident all about us. The automobile has almost made the horse take a back seat and scientists are telling us that in a few years it will be utterly bad taste to ride in automobiles. All the riding will be done in airplanes.

A fellow who loves horses now is considered a reversion to type and people are patronizingly kind to other people who still live in what they call the good old days. This age of speed won't allow for a great deal of reminiscence and those who try to bring back to mind the things of yesterday are smiled at, if not openly ridiculed.

Manchester institutions have suffered just as have those of every other town. Civilization and progress, harsh words to the ears of the old folks, have taken their toll of the old customs which formed as a rival that will in time absorb it. The sleigh ride of yesterday has passed into oblivion and the old fashioned kitchen dance is unheard of. Nobody rides in buggies any more and trips to the shore are as common as a trip to the store.

And that is what this story is about—the collapse of a Manchester institution which was once as strong as the town government itself. This affair was as regular as the seasons and looked forward to as eagerly as Christmas, a wedding anniversary or the day for the probating of a will.

Our Excursions It was the annual excursion to Savin Rock and Lighthouse Point, New Haven, conducted by St. Mary's Young Men's club.

The frolics of the Friars club and the gambols of the Lambs in New York were never looked forward to with the eagerness that Manchester people awaited the coming of the annual excursion.

Here was one day when the five hundred odd people wealthy enough to afford a dollar and thirty cents could make their escape from the home town and strut on the sands in a three piece bathing suit, have their pictures snapped at a tintype gallery or a shore diner.

Saved for Event Many families in this town scrimped for weeks so that they would have enough money for the trip and a few cents left over. To be left out of the excursion after attending it for a couple of years was to be pushed into the uttermost depths of gloom and weeks were required to get over the shock.

Here Are Some of St. Mary's Famous Ball Team

St. Mary's Young Men's club produced a fast amateur baseball team some years ago and many who played on that nine are prominent in civic affairs in Manchester now. Selectman Thomas J. Rogers, Police Captain Herman Schendel, Joseph Wright, president of the Manchester Community Club, William Garvin (deceased), Leo J. Schendel, local business man, Thomas Finnegan, (deceased), William Rogers (deceased), front row, left to right, Alfred Smith, Cheney mill foreman, John Duffe, Martin, Providence business man, John "Dusty" May, pizzeria fancier, Albert T. Dewey, chairman of Police Commission, Al Fox, chief of Fire Department, William McGonigal, head linotypist on The Herald, John H. Hyde, town's mayor and Cheney mill executive.

Yes, Sir, a Young Tammany Hall in Town and Nobody Knew It.

St. Mary's Young Men's Club, while primarily a church organization, has been likened by some to Tammany Hall of New York. Asked for an explanation of this, one person said recently:

"The club has among its members more prominent men in Manchester than probably any other organization." Asked to explain himself he replied: "Your Judge of Probate, William S. Hyde, is also the chairman of the Republican Town Committee. Robert J. Smith is a State Senator and a member of the Board of Selectmen. John H. Hyde is Mayor of Manchester and Thomas J. Rogers is also on the Board of Selectmen. "In addition to that, Albert T. Dewey is chairman of the Board of Police Commissioners and Herman Schendel is captain of the police department. And finally, Albert Fox is the first paid chief of the South Manchester Fire department."

Can you beat that?

In so many words but in looks. At the station there were still more people. Thousands sometimes would gather at the north end depot to watch the train pull out and there would be more there in the evening to see the train come in. "You would have thought it was a trip to Europe or one far west to see the people who used to come to the station," a member of the long-suffering committee said recently. "They were there to see their friends and families safely off and they came at night to see that they were home safely."

He went even further than that and said that if he were to hire an ocean steamer today for a trip across the water and invite Manchester people in general it would not stir up as much interest as the excursions did.

No Vacations Then "Vacations hadn't yet come into vogue. Few people owned cottages at the shore or lakes and even if they did own cottages and they were any distance away they couldn't get to them every week. There weren't any automobiles to speak of and the train fares were such that the ordinary family could not afford them every week or even every two weeks."

Thus the old timer summed up the situation. He pointed out that luxuries weren't as common as they are now and wages were low. The people who went on the excursions to the shore were made up mostly of workers who had to lose half a day in the silk mills to make the trips.

As another of the old timers said, "If I had enough money to pay the fare, buy a shore dinner, and get a picture taken I had enough for a whole day of it." He mentioned that the fare included that of his wife and he says that he used to get out of it with a good time for about five dollars. Shore dinners cost 50 cents at that time and 50 cents was enough to buy a set of tintypes for both of them.

were repeaters. Those who had been on a previous excursion always counted on by the committee and a certain number of tickets were reserved for them. One family used eight tickets every year and when the estimates of how many were going were being made this family was always counted in for every member.

Children who could not get acted up though the summer had ended for them. Children who could go were in their seventh heaven and they lored it over their less fortunate playmates for weeks before hand.

Many a man and woman in Manchester is still secretly proud of a number of old tintypes taken in Savin Rock. The day wasn't a day unless numerous tintypes were taken in the various galleries that flourished everywhere in the White City.

"The most popular pose showed a group in an old automobile," said the old timer. "The automobile never ran, of course, for they had been in the galleries for years, but the majority of people who went on the excursion were not in an automobile once in a year and to have a picture taken in one was something new."

A Real Relic The picture reproduced herewith is that of an old Knox car, one of those that were steered by means of a crossbar. In the picture can be seen Senator Robert J. Smith, Mayor John H. Hyde, Jack Flavel, Selectman Thomas Rogers and Chief Albert Fox of the South Manchester Fire department.

They still make tintypes, although the custom is dying out. It isn't so many years ago that the tintype seller followed the water and the summer resorts with his camera, his little can of water and the old ballyhoo, "Your picture for a dime."

The tintypes were always negatives, for the piece of tin on which the picture was made was on a plate, which corresponds to the film on which pictures are taken now. As a result, any printed matter on the tintype always appeared reversed.

Fast Movers That was only a minor thing, however, and the tintypes at Savin Rock were among the fastest selling things there. Everybody had to have a tintype, if he had the money for it. In fact, many were in which he could be taken. If he was a teetotaler or temperance man he could be photographed leaning against a dummy bar with an imitation schooner of beer in his hand.

Some of the tintypes were not of the lasting kind and in a few weeks the bright faces of the group faded from view. But the one which is shown here has lasted for it is a picture which has lasted for many years and is today as good as it was when it was taken.

But all excursions have to come to an end some time and it was usually by a sign or word from the committee that an unpleasant pang on the part of the rest of the excursion that the word to pack up and start for home was given.

"STUDENT PRINCE" LIKE AN OLD SONG

Haunting Melody Runs Through Famous Picture Which Comes to State Tomorrow.

The haunting loveliness of an old song—the fragrance of a romance sweeter than its native Edeleweia—a love story of a boy and a girl caught in the grip of the iron fist of tradition—with the background of a whole great nation—that is "The Student Prince."

It is a story of the soul of Europe—and the soul of humanity. The great Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spectacle, coming to the State tomorrow, is more than a triumph for Ramon Novarro and Norma Shearer, who play its principal roles. It is more than a triumph for Ernst Lubitsch, that master of direction who wove together the threads of the huge dramatic tapestry. It is more than a triumph for the technicians who built its gigantic settings—who constructed entire towns, huge, majestic castles—for its great background, for the screen as a whole—for it marks another step forward in the advance of the screen to its ultimate destiny as an art.

"The Student Prince" has done more for the screen than any single thing in years. Ramon Novarro, as Karl Heinrich, a role immortalized on the stage by Max Baer, and Norma Shearer, as the great luminaries of the spoken drama, is superb. His triumph in "Ben-Hur" was spectacular; in "The Student Prince" it is the triumph of sheer artistry, for he makes his complex character live and be loved. He touches the ultimate in acting art.

Norma Shearer is an adorable Kathie—she plumbs the very depths of emotion—and still casts an irresistible spell that charms the spectator even while that spectator is marveling at the sheer art of her portrayal.

Jean Hersholt as Juttner, the tutor, and Edward Connelly as the Prime Minister, play two opposite characters with convincing clarity, and comedy is touched by George K. Arthur, Bobby Mack and Otis Harlan. Edythe Chapman, Philippe De Yacy, Edgar Norton, Lionel Belmore and the rest of the great cast are wonderfully chosen.

And—among the greatest of the players is the crowd—two thousand people who seemed as inspired by the mighty romance as were the principals.

WAPPING

Mrs. Joseph Anderson of this town returned to her home here on Thursday afternoon, from the Manchester Memorial hospital, where she underwent an operation, February 8.

Mrs. Ruth Burnham was given a very pleasant surprise party last Saturday evening. The affair was arranged in honor of Mrs. Burnham's birthday. She was presented with a beautiful floor lamp. Refreshments were served.

The choir of the Federated church met at the home of Sidney Stoughton for a rehearsal on Thursday evening.

The burial of Joseph Carrier who lived in Pleasant Valley took place at the Wapping cemetery on Friday afternoon. Rev. Truman H. Woodward officiated at the funeral which was held from Watkins Brothers general purveyor, Frank Moore of Oakland street, but who for many years lived in this place, was a half brother and the only relative left.

Mrs. Wallace Hayes of Pleasant Valley is confined to the house with a grip cold.

Rev. Simpson of Long Hill street is having his house wired for electric lights.

"SINGED" IS PICTURE AT CIRCLE TOMORROW

Blanche Sweet Stars—Two Features Today.

For its usual Sunday show the Circle Theater, beginning its first week of everyday programs will have "Singed" with Blanche Sweet as the star on the bill. This picture will be held over for Monday, also.

The play was adapted by Gertrude Orr from Adela Rogers St. Johns' original story in Cosmopolitan Magazine.

Blanche Sweet was a favorite on the legitimate stage before entering motion picture work, she appeared recently opposite Lois Wilson and other screen favorites.

In this production she is cast as Royce Wingate, a handsome philanthropist who comes into great wealth through the medium of oil. Wray, incidentally, directed Miss Sweet in her first great feature, "Anna Christie." The picture was given an elaborate setting, with scenes in San Francisco and other California centers.

The two features at the Circle theater today are "The Land Beyond the Law," starring Ken Maynard, and "Birds of Prey," in which Priscilla Dean makes a triumphal return to the screen.

Priscilla Dean, noted screen star, requires no double for the Beau Arts sequence in "Birds of Prey." During this scene Miss Dean, who is an accomplished dancer, keeps a vast audience enthralled with her grace while her confederates make a sensational "haul" of lavish fur coats at jewelry.

From the age of four until she went into pictures, Miss Dean was a stage actress particularly noted for her exquisite dancing. While she has not danced professionally for many years, she has never let herself get out of practice. The art stands her in good stead in her latest starring vehicle.

"The Land Beyond the Law" is another one of those thrillers in which Ken Maynard is at his best.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF "THE BENSON MURDER CASE"

CHARACTERS
PHILO VANCE, Attorney at Law, District Attorney of New York County
MARGARET ODELL (THE "CANARY"), a Manhattan beauty
KENNETH SPOTSWOOD, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIK, an importer
DR. AMBRIDGE, a physician
TOMMY SKEEL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator
FRANKEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Southside Bureau

THE STORY TILL FAR
The jewel case in the apartment of the murdered Margaret Odell had been opened with a steel chain after a futile battle with a poker. This leads Vance to the theory that Skeel did not do the murder, but that he was hidden in the closet while the stranger did his work. Vance, who informs him that he has a picture of the man who was with her the evening of the murder, shatters out with the girl's name and she was murdered, asks to be allowed to visit her apartment again.

CHAPTER XXX
"I THINK it's easily understandable, don't you know," remarked Vance, with a sympathy I had rarely seen him manifest. "Your attitude toward me is not surprising. History and fact are filled with the same situation, and the protagonists have always exhibited sentiments similar to yours. Your most famous prototype, of course, was Odysseus on the citron-scented island of Ogygia with the fascinating Calypso. The soft arms of sirens have gone snaking round men's necks ever since the red-haired Lilith worked her devastating wiles on the impressionable Adam. We're all sons of that racy old boy."

Spotswood smiled. "You at least give me an historic background," he said. Then he turned to Markham. "What will become of Miss Odell's possessions—her furniture and so forth?" "Sergeant Heath heard from an aunt of hers in Seattle," told him. "She's on her way to New York, I believe, to take over what there is of the estate."

"And everything will be kept intact until then?" "Probably longer, unless something unexpected happens. Anyway, until then."

"There are one or two little trinkets I'd like to keep," Spotswood confessed, a bit shamefacedly. I thought.

After a few more minutes of desultory talk he rose, and, placing an engagement, bade us good afternoon.

"I hope I can keep his name clear of the case," said Markham, when he had gone.

"Yes, his situation is not an enviable one," concurred Vance. "It's always sad to see a man's name in a moralist would set it down to retribution."

"In this instance chance was certainly on the side of righteousness. If he hadn't chosen Monday night for the Winter Garden, he might now be in the home of his family."

Vance glanced at his watch. "And your mention of the Winter Garden reminds me. Do you mind if we dine early? Frivolity beckons me tonight. I'm going to the 'Scandals'."

"We both looked at him as though he had taken leave of his senses. "Don't be so horrified, my Markham. Why should I not indulge an impulse? . . . And, incidentally, I hope to have glad tidings for you by lunch-time tomorrow."

(Friday, September 15, noon)
Vance slept late the following day. I had accompanied him to the "Scandals" the night before, utterly at a loss to understand his strange desire to attend a type of entertainment which I knew he detested. At noon he ordered his car, and instructed the chauffeur to drive to the Belvedere Hotel. "We are about to call again on the allures' Alys," he said. "I'd bring 'posies' to lay at her shrine, but I fear dear Mannix might question her unduly about them."

Miss La Fosse received us with an air of crestfallen resentment. "I might've known it!" She nodded her head with sneering perception. "I suppose you've come to tell me the cops found out about me without the slightest assistance from you." Her disdain was almost magnificent. "Did you bring 'em with you? . . . A swell guy you are!—But it's my own fault for being a damn fool!"

Vance waited unmoved until she had finished her contemptuous tirade. Then he bowed pleasantly. "Really, you know, I merely dropped in to pay you my respects, and to tell you that the police have turned in their report of Miss Odell's acquaintances, and that your name was not mentioned in it. You seemed a little worried yesterday on the score, and it occurred to me I could set your mind wholly at ease."

The vigilance of her attitude relaxed. "Is that straight? . . . My God! I don't know what would happen if Louey'd find out I'd been blabbing!"

"I'm sure he won't find out, unless you choose to tell him. . . . Won't you be generous and ask me to sit down a moment?"

"Of course—I'm so sorry. I'm just having my coffee. Please join me." She rang for two extra services.

Vance had drunk two cups of coffee less than half an hour before, and I marveled at his enthusiasm for this atrocious hotel beverage.

"I was a belated spectator of the 'Scandals' last night," he remarked in a negligent, conversational tone. "I missed the revue earlier in the season—How is it you yourself were so late in seeing it?"

"I've been so busy," she confided. "I was rehearsing for 'A Pair of Queens'—the production's been postponed. Louey couldn't get the theater he wanted."

"Do you like revues?" asked Vance. "I should think they'd be more difficult for the principals than the ordinary musical comedy, wouldn't you say?"

"I should imagine so," Vance sipped his coffee. "And yet, there were several numbers in the 'Scandals' that you could have done charmingly; they seemed particularly designed for you. I thought of you doing them, and—'I've known'—the thought rather spoiled my enjoyment of the young lady who appeared in them."

"You flatter me, Mr. Vance. But, really, I have a good voice. I've studied very hard. And I learned dancing with Professor Markoff."

"Indeed! I had never heard of her name before, but his explanation seemed to imply that he regarded Professor Markoff as one of the world's most renowned ballet-masters." "Then you certainly should have been starred in the 'Scandals'." The young lady I had never heard of rather indifferently, and her dancing was most inadequate. Moreover, she was many degrees your inferior in personality and attractiveness. . . . Confess: didn't you have just a little desire last Monday night to be singing the 'Chinese Lullaby'?"

"Oh, I don't know," Miss La Fosse carefully considered the suggestion. "They kept the lights awfully low; and I don't look so well in cerise. But the costumes were adorable, weren't they?" "On you they certainly would have been adorable. . . . What color are you partial to?"

"I love the orchid shades," she told him enthusiastically; "though I don't look bad in turquoise blue. But an artist once told me I should always wear white. He wanted to paint my portrait, but the gentleman I was engaged to then didn't like him."

Vance regarded her appraisingly. "I think your artist friend was right. And, you know, the St. Moritz scene in the 'Scandals' would have suited you perfectly. The little brunette who sang the snow song, all in white, was delightful; but really, now, she should have had golden hair. Dusky beauties belong to the southern climes. And she impressed me as lacking the sparkle and vitality of a Swiss resort in midwinter. You could have supplied those qualities admirably."

"Yes; I'd have liked that better than the Chinese number, I think. White fox is my favorite fur, too. But, even so, in a revue you're on in one number and off in another. When it's all over, you're forgotten." She sighed unhappily.

Vance set down his cup and looked at her with whimsically reproachful eyes. After a moment he said:

"My dear, why did you fib to me about the time Mr. Mannix returned to you last Monday night? It wasn't a bit nice of you."

"What do you mean?" Miss La Fosse exclaimed in a frightened indignation, drawing herself up into an attitude of withering hauteur.

"You see," explained Vance, "the St. Moritz scene of the 'Scandals' doesn't go on until nearly eleven, and it closes the bill. So you couldn't possibly have seen it and also received Mr. Mannix here at the same time—Come. What time did he arrive here Monday night?"

The girl flushed angrily. "You're pretty slick, aren't you? You should be a cop. . . . Well, what if I didn't get home till after the show? Any crime in that?"

"Not whatever," answered Vance mildly. "Only a little breach of good faith in telling me you came home early." He bent forward earnestly. "I'm not here to make you trouble. On the contrary, I'd like to protect you from any disturbance of other. You see, if the police go nosing round, they may run on to you. But if I'm able to give the district attorney accurate information about certain things connected with Monday night, there'll be no danger of the police being sent to look for you."

Miss La Fosse's eyes grew suddenly hard and her brow crinkled with determination. "Listen! I haven't got anything to hide, and neither has Louey. But if Louey asks me to say he's someone else, that's just what I'm going to say. . . . That's my idea of friendship. Louey had some good reason to ask it, too, or he wouldn't have done it."

"However, since you're so smart, and I've accused me of playing unfair, I'm going to tell you that I didn't get in till after midnight. But if anybody else asks me about it, I'll see 'em in half before I tell 'em anything but the half-past-seven story. Get that?"

Vance bowed. "I get it, and I like you for it." "But don't go away with the wrong idea," she hurried on, her eyes sparkling with fervor. "Louey may not have got here till after midnight, but if you think he knows anything about Margy's death, Margy's year ago. Why, he hardly fool gets the notion in his head that Louey was mixed up in the affair. I'll alibi him—so help me God—if it's the last thing I do in this world!"

Be Tolerant of Your Child's Troubles

By Olive Roberts Barton

When boys or girls get into serious trouble it happens almost invariably that when they seek help, if they seek it at all, it is from people other than their parents. They will go to the veriest stranger, and not always an honorable stranger at that, rather than let their parents know they need assistance.

EYEBROW PENCILING IS A TRUE ART.

Let us consider the eyebrow that is either too thin or too light in color for beauty. The eye needs to be framed in lovely dark brows and lashes in order that its own sparkle and luster may be enhanced. So if the eyebrows are scant, straggling or too light in color for emphasis, the eye seems cold and lacks expression.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER
In all the shouting and tumult about "the new woman," "the careering mother," et al, surprisingly little attention is given one phase of the "new woman's" children as a problem. Plenty has been said about the difficulties of having the progeny well cared for if their mother works, but now a newer note is struck with the question, "what are the children of modern efficient mothers going to say to her when, grown up, they look back upon their scheduled, efficient life necessitated by the arduous routine of their 'career-mother'?"

PANCAKES TO TIGHTS

Here's another slip of romance. Miss Paula Pierce came from Montreal to New York and got a restaurant window. Among the crowds which gathered to see the pretty girl slip and flop her trousers was a dramatic critic. He enthused at the figure and face so fair of the girl who flipped pancakes, and when a calloused dramatic critic who sees more pretty girls a year than an old soak sees bottles, enthuses, it means that Ziegfeld must hire her. He did. New Miss Paula stirs the stage dust instead of pancake batter.

WHAT'LL THE KIDS SAY?

In other words, if a woman "gets away with both job outside and inside the home, her children and all inmates of that home are victims of her exact routine and schedule. They must rise, be bathed, eat, be petted, dressed and undressed right on the dotted line if mother handles her two jobs right. As one writer asks:

OUR ROMANCE

How the world does love its romance! Which explains the attention given the latest "discovered Princess Anastasia" story. Ever since the czar's family was murdered, story after story has sprung up to the effect that this princess wasn't really killed but is living in the person of this supposed peasant or other.

SYNTHETIC SENTIMENT

A flapper asked a certain big radio broadcasting station to put on lots of love tunes one night because my boy friend will be over, and such tunes makes him sentimental. The company obliged with "Kiss in the Dark," "I Love You Truly" and other ditties added to please.

HINTS ON ETIQUET

1. Is it proper to thank a girl's mother as well as herself when one has enjoyed hospitality in a home?

2. In writing "bread and butter" notes, to whom should you address them, to your girl friend or her mother?

3. In polite circles, who issues invitations, a girl or her mother?

The Answers
1. Certainly.
2. Both.
3. The mother, until the girl is of age. Even then the mother deserves consideration on all occasions when thanks, regrets and so on are sent.

CHANGES IN TEMPERATURE BRING TOGETHER REACTIONS

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, The Health Magazine

In 1919 several American students of infectious diseases stressed the importance of chilling in catching a common cold.

When the mucous membranes are chilled they lose blood supply and thereby resistance. Breathing air in a room which has been over-heated causes congestion and hyperactivity of the mucous membranes, with fatigue of their cells. All sorts of germs have been found associated with common colds and modern investigators are inclined to put more and more importance on physical factors in relationship to infection.

Pneumonia and Rheumatism

The great eastern, founder of our modern science of bacteriology, made studies of the effects of heat and cold on experimental infections.

In one series of experiments conducted recently the investigators found that mice could be infected more easily with pneumonia germs after they were exposed to cold.

E. C. Roschow, a distinguished student of the habits of bacteria, found that more animals developed infections of the joints when inoculated with the germs of pneumonic infection, if they were exposed to cold.

Other investigations revealed that certain infections could be aborted in their early stages by the taking of hot baths, not through any direct effect on the germs, but by increasing the blood circulation in the capillary blood vessels.

In order to understand properly the way in which temperature changes may affect the reactions of the body against infections with germs, it is important to realize that not only the body cells but also the germs are living organisms.

Growth of Germs

The germs have favorable temperatures at which they grow more rapidly than in unfavorable temperatures. When the germ attempts to become implanted and to grow in the human body it is fought by cells in the blood, by secretions thrown out of the mucous cells, and by other body activities.

All of these activities of the human body are likewise affected in various ways by temperature

2—With a score, in determining whether to take out a no-trump, how is a minor treated?

3—When you hold K Q X X what outside quick tricks are needed to bid that suit?

The Answers
1—Failure to note the absence of the 9 and 10.
2—Same as major.
3—At least one and one-quarter preferably one and one-half.

Rec Five And Watertown Clash At School St. Rec

Ludlow Team Cancels; Cap Bissell Signs With Rec Five; Rec Girls vs. Aetna Fire in Preliminary; Dancing Afterwards.

Sherwood "Cap" Bissell, at one time considered about the best running guard in the state signed to play with the Rec Five last night after a consultation with Manager Ben Clune. He will not be in the lineup tonight but will play the remainder of the season which means he will take part in the north-end south-end series for the town championship next month.

It was also announced last night that the game with Ludlow, Mass., has been called off and that Watertown will appear in its place. The act of Manager John T. Hunt of the Ludlow team in canceling the game was one of real sportsmanship. It appears that the board of directors of the Ludlow team decided not to finance any more home games for the team because it had not been paying. Rather than come here for to-night's game and then tell Manager Clune afterwards that he could not give him a return game, Manager Hunt informed him immediately. About one in ten managers would have taken that action.

DELANEY SEEKS DEMPSEY FIGHT

His Manager Starts For West Coast to See If Bout Can Be Arranged.

New York, Feb. 13.—Billy McCorney, associated with Joe Jacobs in the management of Jack Delaney, hopes to match the Bridgeport heavyweight with Jack Dempsey, former champion, McCorney leaves today for Los Angeles, where he will propose the bout to Jack Doyle, millionaire promoter of that city. If Delaney lands Dempsey, he is willing to get out of Tex Rickard's elimination tournament.

FRESHMEN WIN 29-13

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At New York—Ace Hudkins, Lincoln, Neb. welterweight, won decision over Sergeant Sammy Baker, New York, 10; Maxie Rosenbloom, New York middleweight, outpointed Jack McVey, New York negro, 8. At Detroit—Corporal Izzy Schwartz, flyweight champion in New York, won decision over Billy Shaw, Detroit bantamweight, 5; Joey Ross, New York flyweight, outpointed Frenchy Belanger, of Toronto, former N. B. flyweight champion, 8; Palsy Ruffalo, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., won decision over Jackie Johnston, Toronto, 8. At Boston—Jack De Mave, Caldwell, N. J., heavyweight, won decision over Jack Humbeck, of Belgium, 10; Battling Levinaky, Philadelphia, outpointed Jack Gagnon, New Bedford, Mass., 11; John Brown, Philadelphia, won from Homer Robertson, Pittsburgh, 10; Hagen Hasen, Peabody, Mass., outpointed Jack Smith, New York, 6. At Hollywood, Calif.—Armand Emanuel, Jewish heavyweight, knocked out Leo Mitchell of Los Angeles, 2nd. At San Francisco—Lefty Cooper was given the decision over Willie Greb of Seneca, Pa., when the referee stopped the fight in the fifth, Greb was accused of stalling. At St. Paul—Al Van Ryan, welterweight, won decision over My Sullivan, 10.

Brothers, Hockey Stars, Play With Rival Teams

The elder Mr. Boucher must be a hockey fan and a proud one because he has three husky and handsome sons who are among the best players in the big time hockey league. They might make up a large part of a championship team right at the family, but they play for different teams. George (left) plays with Ottawa. Frank (center) plays with the New York Rangers and Billy (right) plays with the New York Americans. The girls probably will give the medal to Billy because of the swell uniform and the face above it.

Conran's Bowling Title Placed At Stake Tonight

It will be remembered that Murphy held an 87 pin lead over Conran the last time they met in a championship match but that the champion overcame this big advantage and was leading by seven pins at the end of the second game. Conran rolled 148 and 120 against two scores in the eighties. If Conran gets in one good game against a poor one tonight, the 71 lead will look like a snowball in a kettle of boiling water. The match should be worth watching for more reasons than one. There will undoubtedly be considerable excitement. There always is when the north and south clash and this surely is no exception. Fans at the south end last Saturday had horns, whistles and other paraphernalia left over from the Cubs' football celebration. So it is ready to see that Murphy is in for a fine "reception" tonight. Let's hope that north end rosters don't use any of their "celebrating ammunition" left over from football, for they were none to fresh then. The match is scheduled to start at 8:30.

Hudkins Defeats Baker In Most Bloody Battle

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Editor
New York, Feb. 13.—Nothing stood between Ace Hudkins and the world's welterweight championship today except the closing of a title bout, which seems to be a formalized and the determined consent of Joe Dundee, which seems to be nothing of the kind. The story the day before yesterday was that the stand-between elements included the title chance, if Dundee and Sergeant Sammy Baker, named in the order of their importance. The story last night was that Hudkins gave the sergeant the beating of his young life. Baker was the only serious contender to Hudkin's progress toward the title chance and the sergeant, deposited twice upon the floor for counts of nine and cut up about the face like a tenderloin, no longer can claim that distinction. The writer could allow him only two of the ten rounds and only in the fifth, when he twice belabored the Ace with hard right hand crosses, could he be said to have scored effectively. Hudkins, on the other hand and, in fact, both of them, carried five rounds clearly and the other three were even. Bloody Affairs It was the third of the slaughter house series between the pair and this time it was Baker whose gore was spilled all over the premises. The first meeting saw Hudkins bleed so profusely that a tender-hearted referee stopped the show. The next time out, both applied a lot of carmine over the scene with Hudkins winning. Happily and for the sake of fastidious butchers in the crowd, last night's activities just about closed the ledgers. Baker may want more but it hardly seems necessary to see that he gets it. Hudkins doesn't have to make a life work out of beating Samuel up. It is a good bet he can now do it seven days a week. Takes Count Twice Sammy clearly indicated the approach of an interlunary in the sixth round when he went down claiming foul from a left to the pit of the stomach. He got up at nine, however, when the referee paid him no heed and it goes without saying that a routed fighter usually gets up the next day and then only in the case of a fire in his bed room. The other knockdown Hudkins scored came in the second as a result of a short right hand to the jaw, coming out of a clinch. Samuel took a nine-count that time, too.

Local Sport Chatter

The Community Club Basketball teams will play their home games on Wednesday next week instead of Tuesday. The change has been made because of other big events in town on Tuesday. The Hartford Yankees are the chief attraction.

Saidella and Chappell will meet Benche and Giorgetti in a twenty-game bowling match for a purse of $50 starting Tuesday night at the Casino alleys. The final ten games will be rolled Wednesday night at Murphy's alleys.

Paul Ballsper is confident he will beat Louis Chagnot in the return pool match at the School street Rec next Wednesday night. The latter's unfamiliarity with the East Side table is expected to prevent him from playing such a successful "safe" game.

Many entries are coming in for the town championship pocket billiards tournament to be run under the auspices of The Essex at the School street Rec. As yet, however, no north end men have forwarded their names. The north end is said to have some crackerjack players and three or four entries from this section of the town are expected to add color to the tournament.

SETBACK TOURNEY

Another sitting of the public setback tournament being conducted at the Recreation Center will be held Monday night. Considerable interest has been worked up over the tournament and an increased number of players is looked forward to. The list of scores at the last sitting was as follows: Brock 148, Thayer 149, Fields 145, Angell 145, Schields 137, Gibbons 137, Irwin 138, Stevenson 133, Senkbell 132, Schelbenflug 132, Russell 130, Young 130, McCulloch 128, Robinson 126, Rowell 124, Johnson 124, Koch 123, Canade 120, Jacobs 114, Ritchie 114, Boyle 113, Saunders 113, Moriarty 112, J. Ritchie 112, Campbell 112, Cervini 112, Durfee 107, Ferrie 107, Wiganow 106, Wilson 106, McClelland 104, Olds 104, Shortz 97, Muldoon 87, Farr 95, Olson 95, C. Custer 85, Laine 85, Hunt 81, Brennan 81, Wuerdig 81, Gustafson 81.

"SUGAR" HUGRET LEADS MATES TO 29-15 WIN OVER LOCALS

Largest Crowd of Season Watches Teams Battle; Local Scrubs Fail to Score Field Goal.

Number signals were first used in football in 1884. Word signals were first used to designate the ball carrier. Jack Jones is credited with defeating Patsy Tunney, no relation to Gene, in 276 rounds at Cheshire, England, in the year 1825. Walter Hagen, in 1922, was the first native born American to win the much prized British open golf title.

"Doc" Keeney watched Hugret closely at the start of the game but this cost him a chance to finish the game when Dick Dillon waded him out on personal fouls in the second quarter. V. Boggini finished the game at center, but Hugret kept on scoring every now and then until the book closed sideways and goals and six out of eight fouls. Billy Dowd played a fine game for Manchester, but he too, eventually was forced out on an overdose of personal fouls. Billy scored three field goals in the first half which found Manchester down 13 to 7. Meanwhile the clever Zetarski was held to two hoops. Ernie Dowd who succeeded Billy, didn't allow "Tug" any more either. In the second half Dick Kerr opened with a beautiful long shot but all Manchester got the rest of the half was another field goal and four from the free throw line. To make a long story short, Bristol's defense was so nearly perfect that Manchester was seldom able to get through to a scoring position. The Bristol players all stood with their arms outstretched sideways and on a narrow floor like the Rec gym, it looks like a million dollars. The summary of the second team game in which our boys scored ten points, all from the free throw line, follows: Bristol Seconds (10) B. F. T. Roberts, rf ..... 2 0-0 4 Goodrich, lf ..... 1 1-1 2 Senake, rf ..... 1 3-3 5 Becker, lf ..... 1 0-0 2 Allertall, lf ..... 0 0-4 0 Bergoff, c ..... 1-3 2 Hugret, c ..... 0 0-2 0 Kinsplay, rg ..... 0 0-0 0 Gaultte, rg ..... 0 0-0 0 Karnastli, lf ..... 1 0-0 2 La Pointe, lg ..... 0 0-0 2

"Sugar" Hugret, Bristol High's clever pivoting center led his mates to its second victory of the season over Manchester High last night before a packed gym at the Rec. The score was 29 to 15. The local second team was trounced 19 to 10, failing to score a single field goal. Tonight both local teams will play in Middletown. Although Bristol High finished strong, the game was not one-sided at any stage. The visitors held the upper-hand all the way, but the score was close. The largest crowd of the season watched the contest which was fast and exciting throughout. At halftime, the score was 13 to 7. In winning, Bristol conclusively proved it has a much better team than Manchester this season. Manchester's chances of victory faded when local players failed to break up Hugret's pivot play. The mistake the home team made was to allow the pivot play to be formed. Hugret was not guarded close enough when his mates had the ball. Had he been played closely before the passes were shot to him, Hugret would not have been able to work the pivot play so successfully.

"Honeyboy" Finnegan, Boston boy, lost a fight in Boston. Just a case of not being able to say it with flowers. Paul Berenbach, upon whose fist career Jack Delaney, in December wrote "end of the line, this car returns to Union Depot," now comes out as a wrestler. Don't utter, people; remember the Wright Brothers once were giggled at.

The New York Boxing Commission wants softer gloves so there won't be so much blood spilled. The commission would rather see the feathers fly. Darrow lost his debate in Cleveland on "Is Man a Machine?" but he probably got O'Coofy's wire too late to act on the recommendation that he mention Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Darrow never would have lost if he could have brought Babe Ruth along and had the Bam render a few saxophone selections during the intermissions.

The judges would have voted for Darrow if he had just spoken about Rube Waddell's overweening desire to die of eating animal crackers.

AMERICANS AS TACTFUL AS THEY ARE GENEROUS. SAYS DUC DE TREVISE

Paris—"Americans are as tactful as they are generous," writes the Duc de Trevis, President of the Societe des Sauvageurs de la francsais, in a recent article of a prominent art review of the capital. "When they have full confidence in any organization, they do not demand a share in its control," he goes on to say. "Thus it was that in 1926, the Society of which I am President, formed fifteen committees in the United States and obtained more than a million francs, without any request from America for participation in the direction of this Society."

The Duc de Trevis finds that special mention should be made of Mr. Bosworth, architect to John D. Rockefeller, who, on the very day of his election to the committee, learned that the ancient fief of Bois-Rame, should be saved.

Repairs were speedily made on the charming XVIII century dwelling and as rapidly paid for.

VATICAN IS MOTORIZED

Rome—Transportation at the Vatican, including the Apostolic Palace, the grounds and gardens and other Vatican holdings, has been motorized. All horse-drawn vehicles have been replaced by smart cars of both European and American manufacture.

COOPS IN THE AIR

Syracuse, N. Y.—Municipal officials of this city have proposed the purchase of an airplane to aid the police force in running down criminals. The cost of the plane would be around $2000. In addition to police duty, it would serve other municipal organizations in survey work.

GILBERT AND RINTY AT RIALTO TODAY

Both Starred in Two Fine Features—Double Bill Again Today.

John Gilbert and Rinty Tin Tin—one a famous screen lover, the other a famous dog star, will divide honors at the Rialto Theater on Sunday and Monday in two separate features, both of which are highly recommended to Manchester theatergoers. There will be two shows on Sunday evening at 6:45 and 9:15. Romance and adventure along the Mississippi during the early '70's forms the colorful background for "Cameo Kirby," the picture starring John Gilbert. This is a brand new re-issue of the picture that Gilbert made three years ago, under the William Fox banner. New prints have been made and the entire production was re-edited and re-titled. "Cameo Kirby" tells in a vivid and thrilling manner, the heroic adventures of a young gambler and his love for the daughter of a wealthy Virginia tobacco planter. The part of the pretty daughter is played in the hands of Gertrude Olmstead, one of the screen's most beautiful girls.

Rinty Tin Tin is seen at his very best in "A Dog of the Regiment," his latest starring vehicle, at Warner Brothers. The action and scope of this absorbing drama takes place in France during the great World War conflict and gives the famous dog star ample opportunity to again display his talents. Supporting Rinty in the cast are Dorothy Gulliver and Tom Gallery.

Today's continuous show features a big double bill. Jack Hoxie is seen in his latest Universal Blue Streak Western, "Men of Daring," a picture that is equalled only by "The Covered Wagon." The second feature is "Getting Gertie's Garter," a sparkling comedy-drama starring Marie Prevost and a big supporting cast including Charles Ray.

On Tuesday and Wednesday Manager Campbell will again offer another of his gala stage presentations. Three acts of unusual vaudeville talent has been secured.

REAL TRAGEDY

Tonawanda, N. Y.—Patrolman Charles W. Devar has lived long enough to father eleven children and then see the grim spectre of death sweep them all away. His son, Russell, the last of his offspring, drowned recently while trying to pull a Christmas tree from a canal.

Angered by this lack of respect the Maharajah temporarily ordered him to bring his bride back to the Dewas palace. Upon refusing, the prince was virtually kept a prisoner in Dewas, being allowed no correspondence with his bride or his mother's people. Attempts to have him released proved fruitless, and at one time it was reported the prince had been poisoned.

Prince Escapes.

At last the prince found an opportunity to escape and fleeing to the British Government's Political Agent for the state, sought his protection.

Under the escort of the Political Officer, the prince has arrived in Bombay, where he is staying at his mother's residence.

An appeal has been lodged with the Viceroy of India by the lad and his mother against their treatment by the Maharajah, and sensational developments are expected.

The State of Dewar is divided between two branches of the ruling family. The total population is about 150,000.

A WORM FARMER

New York—"We've heard a lot about the various ways of earning our daily salt, but Richard Rowden, worm farmer, takes our prize. He susses forth in the middle of night, equipped with a flashlight and bucket, to snare the lowly earthworm. He sells them to medical students for dissection and makes a good income at 15-worms for 20 cents.

TELLS EPWORTHERS OF TWO PRODIGAL SONS

One Indulges in Sins of Flesh, the Other in Pharasism, Says Rev. T. H. Woodward.

The second meeting of the winter institute of the Nutmeg Trail Epworth League Circuit was held last evening in the East Hartford Methodist church, of which Rev. O. E. Tourtelotte is the pastor. Rev. J. Garfield Sallis, of Rockville, the institute dean, had charge. About a hundred persons were present from the Manchester, Rockville, Burnside, Hockanum, South Manchester and East Hartford leagues.

The instructor of the hour was Rev. Truman H. Woodward, of Wapping, whose theme was the familiar parable of the Prodigal Son. The speaker contended it should be The Parable of Two Lost Sons—the younger son being lost in sins of the flesh, while the elder brother was lost in the sins of the spirit, Pharasism and cruelty of judgment, ending by asking if the class thought either of these young men were really happy in the courses they had taken.

Rev. Frank W. Gray, of Burnside, gave an excellent address on Solomon's magnificent temple, entitled "Six Steps to the Throne," which he averred were conviction, determination, courage, sincerity, purpose, and self-control. The final hour from 9 to 10 o'clock was spent in recreation in the vestry. Prior to this Dean Sallis had conducted a devotional period of worship in the church auditorium.

The ladies of the church provided a salad and bean supper. The next meeting will be held in Rockville Methodist church Friday evening, February 24.

200 STATUES OF FAMOUS MEN AND WOMEN GRACE SMALL AREA IN LONDON

London—Two hundred famous men and women of yesteryear have statues commemorating their memory within five miles of Charing Cross, the Times Square of London. Within the same distance two hundred and fifty persons of both sexes have memorial tablets honoring their name.

This striking fact is revealed in a newly-published work, "The Outdoor Monuments of London," by Queen Victoria has four statues, most of the other Kings and Queens one each, and practically every statesman, poet, soldier, sailor, or author of nation-wide fame.

Charles Dickens, the famous Victorian author, has no statue, but he is commemorated by six bronze plaques fixed to houses in which he resided.

FRENCH SPORTS-WOMAN TO PRESENT 'GOLD-BOOK' TO COLONEL LINDBERGH

Paris—To prove that the memory of Lindbergh is still green in the hearts of many Frenchmen, Madame Germaine Gosselin, well-known sports-woman, will soon land in America to present a handsome "Gold-book" to the hero-aviator.

Madame Gosselin arranged the book herself. It contains tributes and signatures of prominent French people who saw the American aviator land at Le Bourget last spring. All classes are represented, senators, representatives, artists, aviators, surgeons, businessmen, actresses, boxers, etc. Madame Gosselin has written a full page and signed it in her usual manner, "from the Mama of Nungesser."

Citroen, the "Ford" of France, has also put in a few lines. Louise Abemba, the great friend of Sarah Bernhardt, is sending a glowing tribute. Lindbergh will undoubtedly be proud to have the book.

Besides the Livre d'Or, Madame Gosselin is taking with her several souvenirs for Mrs. Lindbergh, among them a fine painting by Jonas, a silver tray incrustated with pearl and some hand-painted beads. These are gifts of admirers of Lindy.

The provinces of Alsace and Lorraine were restored to France by the peace treaty following the World War.

PRINCE'S FLIGHT MAY AIR SORDID INDIAN SCANDAL

Bombay, India.—A drama of intrigue in one of India's princely palaces has been disclosed by the precipitate flight of Prince Vikram Singh, heir apparent to the Senior Maharajah of Dewas State, in Malwa, Central India, from the palace of his father, to Bombay.

Prince Vikram Singh, a handsome youth of eighteen and a brilliant student at the Christian College at Indore, which he attended daily from the palace twenty miles away.

Mother Sent Away.

While a boy of six he was forcibly separated from his mother, the Maharajah under the influence of the British Government's Political Agent for the state, it is alleged by the Maharajah under the influence of the Maharajah, a dancing girl who is said to be virtually now the Maharajah's.

Prince Vikram Singh married last December a beautiful Indian girl, the daughter of the Chief of Jath, and following her complaint of ill treatment at the hands of the Maharajah, the prince discreetly had the girl sent back to her father's state.

Angered by this lack of respect the Maharajah temporarily ordered him to bring his bride back to the Dewas palace. Upon refusing, the prince was virtually kept a prisoner in Dewas, being allowed no correspondence with his bride or his mother's people. Attempts to have him released proved fruitless, and at one time it was reported the prince had been poisoned.

Prince Escapes.

At last the prince found an opportunity to escape and fleeing to the British Government's Political Agent for the state, sought his protection.

Divorces Decrease in Paris Courts, New Figures Show

Paris—Divorces are apparently on the decrease in France and the Paris courts are having less work to do.

During the first nine months of 1926 divorces in France numbered 14,629, and in the corresponding period of last year, only 13,384. The proportion which was 70 per cent in relation to the number of marriages, thus descended to 60 per cent within twelve months.

A number of reasons are given for this downward tendency, among them the high cost of law suits. Divorce in France today costs any thing from $400 to $600, without the added expense of alimony afterward. Many unhappy couples prefer to make the best of matters rather than incur this expense.

Others prefer to put up with cross-patch wife or a brutal husband rather than disclose certain family secrets to the public.

Undoubtedly one of the main factors in keeping couples together these days is the lack of houses and apartments. One must think twice before breaking up, for he will be obliged to remain on the streets. And it is generally the wife who has the hard luck in this case, for French laws are still patterned after the Code of Napoleon.

On the other hand, there are those who take a more optimistic view of the situation and attribute the decrease in divorces to a revival of the French family spirit and a growing desire on the part of married couples in France to adopt the principle of give and take for the sake of the family.

GAS BUGGIES—Last Call for Luncheon

THERE GOES THE NOON WHISTLE... HE'S OUSHT TO BE COMING BACK SOON. THE IDEA OF HIM STALKING OUT OF HERE IN A HUFF, AND LEAVING ME STRANDED WITHOUT A CENT TO GET LUNCH WITH—

I'M HUNGRY, AUNT AMY. I THINK YOU COULD ALWAYS GET IN A HOTEL.

"HE'S PROBABLY SULKING DOWN IN THE LOBBY. HE THINKS HE'S GET HUNGRY. COME DOWN AND MAKE UP... HERE HE IS NOW... OH, NO... IT'S SOMEONE ELSE COMING BACK FROM THEIR LUNCH. IF HE DOESN'T SHOW UP BEFORE THAT DINING ROOM CLOSES—"

GEE... I'M STARVED, AND I CAN SMELL COOKING

MEANWHILE, WITHOUT TELLING ANY, HE'S STARTED OVER TO BAGDAD TO ATTEND A SHERIFF'S SALE OF OLD AUTOS, ONE OF WHICH HE SUSPECTS CONTAINS THE LATE DUKE'S CROWN JEWELS.

GOSH, IT'S SLOW GOING IN THIS SAND. I THOUGHT I'D BE BACK BY NOON... OH, WELL... AMY WON'T HOLD UP HER LUNCH FOR ME. SHE KNOWS THE DINING ROOM CLOSING AT ONE.

At the end of twelve months the trout is about three inches long and is then a perfect miniature of its parents. It feeds on worms, insects and other small creatures and grows bigger and bigger for several years. Trout, like salmon, swim from placid waters out to the ocean, later returning to their nursery grounds.

The Men's society of the Swedish Lutheran church met last night to hear an essay by Rev. P. J. O. Cornell on Sweden's most northern congregation. A luncheon was served after the meeting. The Boy Scout committee also met to draw up plans for the coming year.

3 STUDENTS FACE FIRING FOR THEFT

Charged With Stealing and Selling Tickets to H. S. Basketball Game.

Three High School boys accused of a "Get-Rich-Quick-Wallingford" stunt in connection with last night's basketball game between Manchester High and Bristol High, face at least a severe reprimand and possible expulsion from school if found guilty.

The boys are accused of stealing a batch of twenty-five cent tickets for last night's game from a teacher's private lockers and selling them to the students for whatever price they could get. Two boys are said to have stood on guard at the doorways of the room while the other stole the tickets.

Just how many tickets they were able to sell, or what profit they made, is not known. When the loss was discovered, the serial number of the tickets for the Bristol game was changed in order that it might be easy to check up on the pilferer's accomplices as they were handed pastebards as they were handed in at the entrance to the gym.

In less than ten minutes a holder of a stolen ticket showed up and he on being questioned told who sold him the ticket. Soon afterward one of the trio is said to have broken down under a quiz and confessed who his accomplices were. All three were escorted out of the Rec by Patrolman John McGilgan and told not to come back.

The three youths were to report to Principal Clarence P. Quimby's office late this morning at which time a hearing was to be held. If the boys are found guilty they will be dealt with as principal Quimby sees fit.

Boxes of candy have also been reported missing at the school from time to time but the guilty persons have never been found, so far as is known publicly.

When the news of the ticket scandal spread among the student body and others at the game last night, amazement was expressed how the boys could have believed they could "get away" with a stunt of that kind. It required little effort to establish their identity.

WADSWORTHS TO VISIT MANCHESTER FRIENDS

Former Pastor and Wife, Long Residents of Chateau Thierry, Plan American Vacation.

Rev. Julian S. Wadsworth, former pastor of the South Methodist church, and Mrs. Wadsworth, are planning to leave France, where they have been living for many years, on April 3 for a three months' visit by their home-land. While in this country Mr. Wadsworth will attend the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in Kansas this spring. Their many friends in Manchester will be glad to hear it is their intention to pay a visit here and renew old friendships and acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Wadsworth have been in charge since the World War, of what is known as the Community House of Friendless, at Chateau Thierry, which was founded and continues its service under the direction of the Methodist Episcopal church of America. The American flag which floats over the building was the gift of friends in Manchester, and was presented to Rev. Mr. Wadsworth by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Crowell of this town during their visit there last year. A number of other local people who have been touring Europe have called on the Reverend and Mrs. Wadsworth since they have been stationed at Chateau Thierry.

CALL 'DOC' MONDAY AT CHAMBER DINNER

Fourteen Physicians Will Be At Phone 2381 For the Evening—Other Parties.

The telephone call for Manchester physicians next Monday evening will be 2381. This is the phone number of Cheney Hall, where fourteen members of the medical profession will be dining with the Chamber of Commerce. Secretary Rix announces that arrangements have been made for an operator to be near the telephone at all times so that any of the doctors can be reached.

In addition to the doctors' group of fourteen, many special tables have been made up. These specials include a table of eight for the Manchester Herald, a table of eight for the J. W. Hale Company, a table of eight for the Selectmen and Town Officials, a table of eight for the Manchester Trust Company and a table of six for Watkins Brothers, a table of eight for A. L. Brown's Depot Square party, a table of eight for Scott Simon and friends, a table of eight for Pritchard & Walsh party, and a table of eight for C. E. House and party.

In addition to this many smaller groups have been made up. Never before have the table reservations been so largely taken care of by the diners themselves, which has made it easier for the committee and pleasanter for the banqueters. The committee believes that the reservations are practically all in and list necessarily closed this noon in order to give the caterer and printer time to do their work. Oliver F. Toop, captain of waiters, has asked that all waiters and
