BLIND THIRTY YEARS, WOMAN SEES AGAIN

Scolds Daughter Because She Has Bobbed Hair and Wears Short Skirt; Physi- cians Puzzled.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Thirty years ago—back in 1898—in a different era, in a different life, after forty years of happiness in her simple home, the light went out for Mrs. Carrie Sillery of Carpentersville, Ind., and she became blind—stone blind.

Years passed—thirty of them—long and torturous—and suddenly her prayers were answered and Mrs. Carrie Sillery could see.

She was sleeping of an afternoon, sleeping upon a couch from which she saw only darkness. She awoke. A piercing scream brought her husband, Charles Sillery, into the room.

"Charlie—Charlie—I can see," she muttered incoherently in her joy.

But Mrs. Sillery stopped. It wasn't Charlie before her. His man had white hair, was a little stooped about the shoulders, was old. She remembered him as a robust man with bushy dark hair. Now his hair was white. Mrs. Sillery looked into a mirror. Her own hair was white and a different face stared out at her.

Asks For Children

She asked for the children—babies she called them—for when she "went to sleep" they were babies but now grown into young men and women. One was hastily summoned from Hammond, Ind. Another was called from Indianapolis.

A reunion was held today. Mrs. Sillery gazed at the house, the yard, the chickens and the sun. All had changed. In a shocked voice she reprimanded her daughter for having bobbed hair and short skirts. Of course she knew the girl's habits had changed. She had "felt" it but seeing it was different.

A Mystery

Mrs. Sillery did not know how she regained her sight. Neither do physicians. It is as much a mystery as it is in the manner in which she became blind.

"No I have never seen a movie. I want to see this Charlie Chaplin and that young man Valentino—dead?—oh, the children didn't tell me. I want to see an airplane. I have heard them.

"I want to see automobiles and pretty dresses, and colors—lots of colors. I want to see bright things. I want to see the Grand Canyon, mountains. Oh, I just want to see and see and see. I have been dead for years. Dead in this little house."

Twenty Men Killed IN MINE EXPLOSION

One Hundred Men Rescued; 35 Injured—Gas Caused the Blast.

Jenny Lind, Ark., Feb. 24.—Twenty miners are believed to be dead in a mine explosion early today which entombed 125 men.

Rescue crews blasting their way to the entombed men, reported shortly before noon that 105 of the imperiled miners had been rescued. About 25 of these were injured in the explosion and others were suffering from the effects of gas, they said.

A statement from the mine offices said the explosion was caused by escaping gas. Of the 125 men working in the mine twenty were trapped, but 105 escaped through an entrance blasted out by volunteer rescuers.

The twenty are feared to be dead.

Torch Murder Trail Leads to Newark, N. J.

Officials Say They Know Fiend Who Burned Up Miss Brown—Arrest Ex- pected Soon.

New York, Feb. 24.—Search for the fiend who callously murdered Miss Margaret Brown, cultured governess, by burning her to death when she resisted his advances, centered today in "The Swamp," the slum section of Newark, N. J., and a rendezvous of criminals and dope fields.

The identity of the "torch slayer" hidden in his letter of confession, which he enclosed with the two $1,000 bonds and one $500 bank note he sent the police yesterday, is believed to be known and his arrest only hours away.

He is a drug addict who comes from a well-to-do, if not wealthy New York family, according to the New Jersey constabulary. They say his fondness for narcotics was engendered while he attended a college of medicine in Greater New York and that he flunked out of the university while within sight of an M. D. degree.

Captain's Statement

"Within 24 hours he will be under arrest," Captain John J. Lamb, of Troop B, New Jersey State Police, declared this morning.

"The man who committed this crime is known to us. You reporters will be amazed when you learn who he is. He's a man spooled by dope. Lately the Jersey police got to be pretty wise to him."

Broadway's bright places knew the man shortly after he dropped out of college, according to the New Jersey police. He was then known as a drinker, but later took to dope. The next step was downward to the back alleys, where the confirmed addicts lurked.

On glory to greet now come hither, With eyes full of love to the brim, May the wreaths of our heroes ne'er wither.

Nor a star on the banner grow dim.

Representative Fletcher W. Lawton asserted that it should have been read:

The wine cup, the wine cup, bring hither, And fill ye it up to the brim, May the wreaths of our heroes ne'er wither.

Nor a star of our banner grow dim.

Representative Mrs. O'Neill, Democrat, challenged the correctness of the Lawton version. Other verbal clashes followed, the upshot of the matter being the appointment of the committee, which today was delving into the question.

Ten crews of trained men are to be stationed at strategic points about the state, ready for instant service. Three large motor pumps, each with 2,500 feet of hose, are to be maintained ready to rush to the aid of the crews in serious situations. The pumps are to be stationed at Lebanon, Cornwall and the suburbs of New Haven.

BREAD, COFFEE IS ONLY FOOD OF PA. MINERS

"Sometimes Potatoes" Sen- ators Are Told While Probing Conditions in the Coal Fields.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 24.—Another story of squalor, hardships and privations was unfolded before the special Senate coal investigating committee during an inspection today of the Moon Run mines and camps of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

As in all districts where the operators have evicted striking miners from company houses, the United Mine Worker has built unpainted shacks, called barracks, to house its dependents. Approaching the camp from a distance the barracks looked like hen-houses in some farm yard.

Cold Homes

A chill wind blew up a fitful snow and strikers and their families hung out of windows and doors to talk to the committee members. The houses were cold and dark, but spotlessly clean. The mud underfoot came up to the ankles.

The committee found an unusual degree of hopefulness among the strikers. The women especially were cheerful although they have to pinch and scrape to prepare meals on the $6 a week that is allowed each family by the union.

What They Eat

"What do you have to eat?" Senator Gooding, Republican of Idaho, chairman, asked one woman whose brood of ragged children tugged at her skirts.

"Bread and coffee, sometimes potatoes," she replied with a smile. The non-union workers in the mine reported that they were receiving 58 cents a ton for mining coal, and often, at the end of two weeks, drew less than $5 in cash wages, drew less than $5 in cash wages, drew less than $5 in cash wages.

The committee will go Sunday

PLAN TO PROTECT STATE'S FORESTS

Fire Fighting Crews to Have Fixed Posts in the Various Counties.

Hartford, Feb. 24.—A forest fire fighting service comparable with fire fighting service in the largest cities of the state is being developed in Connecticut by the state forester and his aides. Austin F. Hawes, who watches over the plants of the state, today announced that during a series of meetings with county fire wardens beginning next week, he will lay down the details of the new plan for fighting forest fires.

Ten crews of trained men are to be stationed at strategic points about the state, ready for instant service. Three large motor pumps, each with 2,500 feet of hose, are to be maintained ready to rush to the aid of the crews in serious situations. The pumps are to be stationed at Lebanon, Cornwall and the suburbs of New Haven.

Meeting Places

The state forester and fire wardens will meet as follows: New Haven county, at New Haven on February 27; Fairfield county at Danbury, February 28; Hartford and Middlesex counties at Middletown on March 7; Tolland and Windham counties at Willimantic on March 14; New London county at New London on March 9. The Litchfield county meeting date is yet to be set.

A fire fighting crew already in existence at Essex will demonstrate at Middletown during the coming week; a Ridgefield crew will exhibit at Danbury. A third crew is located at Addison in Glastonbury.

U. S. DOES NOT WANT $5,000,000 FROM SOVIETS

New York, Feb. 24.—It is not often that gold goes a-begging but that is the case with $5,000,000 in gold that has just arrived here from Soviet Russia. Owing to a government ban against Russian gold, the precious metal was not taken to the assay office which is a formality before it can be received by the federal reserve bank. The gold is lying in the vaults of the Equitable Trust Company and the Chase National bank awaiting a special ruling by the treasury department. In the meantime the Soviet government is losing about $700 daily in interest on the gold.

HOOVER'S ANSWER VERY SHREWD ONE

Neither Wets or Drys Can Complain Over the Secre- tary's Note.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Herbert Hoover appeared today to have accomplished the seeming miracle of stating his position on prohibition without mortally offending either the fanatical dries or the wringing wets.

Neither side is entirely satisfied, but neither side is entirely disappointed. Hence the practical politicians of Washington were ready today to accord the palm to the cabinet candidate for the presidency for shrewdness in handling an explosive subject.

The Dries publicly professed themselves satisfied with Mr. Hoover's association that he did not favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and that he was in favor of the "efficient, vigorous and sincere" enforcement of all laws enacted thereunder.

The Wets proclaimed themselves satisfied with the fact that Mr. Hoover conspicuously did not endorse the divine wisdom of the Volstead Act, nor did he state, as Senator Borah invited him to state, that he would oppose the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Thus he refused to mortgage his future on the broad question of modification.

Down deep, the Dries are a little worked out constructively. This was regarded by some cynical politicians as almost as enigmatical as Mr. Coolidge's "I do not choose to run," for the question that Mr. Wets and Dries were asking themselves was "in what way lies construction?"

GAS KILLS WOMAN

Lynn, Mass., Feb. 24.—Gas escaping from a hot water heater in a dwelling house on Ocean terrace was responsible for the death of one woman and the application of four other persons early today.

Mrs. Minnie Shanahan, 45, was dead when the gas was discovered.

Radio Board Wages Total Just 000000

Washington, Feb. 24.—All records for economy in federal government have been captured by the Federal Radio Commission.

Three members, O. H. Caldwell, H. A. Lafont and Sam Pickard, are donating their services to the government—unwillingly, however, because of failure of the Senate to confirm their nominations.

Only E. O. Sykes, acting chairman, is on a salary basis. Since the 69th Congress adjourned without providing funds for its operation, the radio commission "borrowed" personnel, such as stenographers, clerks and experts, from other departments.

Some funds were secured from the radio division of the commerce department, while a considerable volume of old equipment, discarded by other governmental units, was pressed into service.

MCCORMACK IS MADE COUNT BY THE POPE

Irish-American Tenor Honored For His Generosity to Catho- lic Causes.

London, Feb. 24.—John McCormack, the Irish-American tenor, has been elevated to the Papal peerage with the title of count, the Catholic newspaper universe announced today.

The honor was bestowed by the Pope in recognition of the singer's "eminent position in the world of art, together with his lifelong ardent devotion to his faith and his Holy See and his munificent generosity to Catholic causes in the old and new worlds."

McCormack is already a Knight Commander of the papal orders of St. Gregory the Great and of Saint Sylvester.

Papal titles are usually conferred with a remainder to male heirs, provided they are Catholics.

ATTEMPT TO STUMP HOOVER AT FLOOD PROBE A FAILURE

SCAR TO PROVE BERSIG SLAYER OF QUINCY COP

Hartford Bandit to Be Exam- ined By Police—Slayer of Cop Was Wounded During Gun Duel.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 24.—Police are seeking the mark of a bullet wound that is supposed to be on the left hand of George F. Bersig, or Stephen Hoppe, alleged escaped convict wanted in Maine. By finding the wound, police will connect Bersig definitely with the slaying of a policeman at Quincy, Mass., last October.

Detective Captain Frank N. Santoro, of the local police department, today told the story of the bullet wound for the first time. The man who on October fourth, last, shot the Quincy policeman was wounded in the hand by the policeman. The man came to Hartford and was treated by a local doctor who was told the man shot himself while hunting. Police are withholding the doctor's name.

Woman Tells of Wound

A woman was living with Bersig in the Ambassador apartments on Farmington avenue until the capture of Bersig on Monday. That woman has informed the police that Bersig had once been wounded in the hand. Her name is being kept a secret.

Captain Santoro had expected to go to St. Francis hospital this afternoon and look Bersig over again. His visit was postponed because of the illness of the man.

The man, who is still in the hospital there, if he recovers strength, surgeons will operate to recover the bullet. At present he is too weak for an operation though today he showed slight improvement. His condition is recorded as "still serious" at the hospital today.

Bandit's Career

Additional details of Bersig's career were revealed by Hartford police today. Bersig was arrested in Boston on January 28, 1925, as a suspicious character. He was then probationed for a year. Before the end of the year he was arrested in Quincy, Mass., on a charge of breaking and entering. Again he was put on probation. In Quincy he gave his name as Stephen Hoppe.

Bersig fell into the hands of Boston police on October 2, 1924. He was arrested as a fugitive from justice at the request of Maine officials. He was sent back and on February, 1925, was tried and sentenced in Maine. He served just three months and nine days, and escaped.

THOUGHT IN PRISON, WALKS INTO COURT

Bridgeport Man Was Paroled But His Guards Did Not Know It.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 24.—Charles Frost, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., who last year was being tried for arson in the Superior Court here, walked into the court room today to the surprise of his former guards. Frost was sent to state prison for arranging to set fire to the Exclusive Auto Trunk factory at Bethel, and he was eligible for parole on December 24, last. Court attendants supposed his parole was to be protested.

Frost today appeared to answer a suit brought by Abraham Wotsey Stamford lawyer, for $5,000 damages. Wotsey claimed Frost failed to pay him $2,500 for defending him in the arson trial. Frost today contended he had agreed to pay Wotsey $2,500 and that Wotsey had promised to wait till Frost could get the money.

The case was entered for judgment in Superior Court when Frost entered the room to express a desire to contest it.

"RED" SAVAGE GUILTY.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 24.—George "Red" Savage early today was found guilty by a federal jury which deliberated nearly 18 hours on the $250,000 Pawtucket post office robbery case, the largest post office robbery in the United States. "Fawtykes Johnny" Conley, implicated with him, was found not guilty.

Conley was acquitted on all six counts in the indictment brought against him, while Savage was found guilty of four of the six counts.

Cabinet Candidate Fails to Step Into Trap Set By Poli- ticians to Embarrass Him; Suggests Compromise Plan For Financing River Program.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Herbert Hoover, leading Republican presidential aspirant, met the political test on the flood control issue today when he appeared before the Senate commerce committee and recommended a compromise plan for financing the Mississippi river program. He was asked to be "embarrassed" by the questions propounded to him by Senator Willis of Ohio, a member of the committee, and is said to have been instrumental in bringing Hoover before it.

Reason For Appearance

His friends predicted he being summoned before the committee was for the purpose of "embarrassing" him by making him choose between President Coolidge's plan of saddling 20 per cent of flood control cost on the localities affected, and the southern states and the west plan of having the federal government pay it all. The politicians argued that if he endorsed the Coolidge plan it would cost him votes in the south and middle west, while if he favored the other he would be in the position of opposing Coolidge's policies, which, in a recent letter, he announced, he would support as a presidential candidate.

Hoover, neatly side-stepped the issue by proposing his compromise plan, which he said originated with President Coolidge, and had his approval.

He refused to comment upon the engineering aspects of flood control, saying he is a mining engineer, not a hydraulic engineer.

While the federal commission is working out the details of the flood control plan, Hoover said, Congress can go ahead and appropriate money for the work as it is needed. The construction of spillways and safety devices can be started at once.

The compromise was offered in response to a question by Senator Hawes, Democrat of Missouri, who asked whether he favored the Jadwin plan.

"At Little Rock," Hawes said, "you said flood control was a national problem which should be treated as such. Do you believe now that these states which already have been bled white should contribute further?"

"I do not believe you can construe my Little Rock statement as a commitment on the matter of local contributions," Hoover replied. "Contributions is a complicated problem and requires much study."

"Do you believe now that the states should contribute?"

"I do not believe we have enough information as yet on that point to formulate a definite answer."

"You said last summer," Hawes continued, "that Congress should be able to act on flood control within six months after the session started. The session is well along and we are called upon to write a law. The matter of local contributions must be written in. I know of no one so competent as you to give us advice on this problem."

Brooklyn Policeman Keeps Pledge That He Would Follow Her to Grave.

Rob Bank N. J., Feb. 24.—True to his pledge that he would follow his wife to the grave, Jesse C. Murfit, former Brooklyn policeman, lies dead today of a self-inflicted bullet wound.

He shot himself in his home at River Plaza, after returning from the funeral of his wife, Sarah Bedell Murfit, at Fairview cemetery. The shot was heard by the widow's sister, Anna Belle Murfit, of Brooklyn, who was keeping house for him since the death of his wife Monday in Monmouth Memorial hospital, Long Branch.

EUROPE AIRMEN PLANNING 1928 OCEAN FLIGHTS

London—European airmen, undeterred by the ill-fated results attending the majority of last year's attempts to emulate Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and accomplish the crossing of the North Atlantic Ocean by air, already are planning trans-ocean flights for this year.

At the moment, at least seven flights are in prospect from this side of the Atlantic. Of these three are British, two are French, one is German and one Austrian.

W. G. E. Hinchliffe, the English civilian pilot who attracted attention last year by piloting Charles Levine's Miss Columbia here, will make the attempt in a Stinson Detroit monoplane with a Wright Whirlwind engine. His machine is similar in type to that in which Brock and Schlee, the Detroiters, flew from Newfoundland to England and thence two-thirds of the way around the world.

To Take Passengers Hinchliffe will be accompanied by two passengers, including an unnamed woman who is stated to be a fully qualified pilot and with considerable flying experience.

The second British attempt will be made by Captain R. H. McIntosh in the Pinner-Bristol monoplane Princess Xenia. This is the machine on which he made an unsuccessful Atlantic trip last year, when he was driven back by bad weather after only just passing the Irish Coast.

The third British attempt will be made by Captain Frank Courtney, one of the most skillful of British pilots and also a test pilot for several of the large aircraft manufacturing corporations.

Courtney's craft this year will be a larger replica of his previous machine and in many ways his attempt is likely to prove the most important of all.

He emphasizes that his attempt will not merely be a spectacular dash from one side of the Atlantic to the other, and unless weather conditions are exceptional favorable it may not even be nonstop.

"Seek Worthy that provided an engine will keep running for any time between thirty and forty hours, an airplane can cross the Atlantic," Courtney said in discussing his flight. "But that helps in no way towards the Atlantic regular service."

"What we do want to find out is whether a properly seaworthy flying-boat, equipped with radio and the requisite number of navigating instruments, manned by a competent crew, will fare under normal conditions."

Meanwhile, although the matter has been frequently discussed, no official move has been made to see that future Atlantic flights are properly conducted and that all possible precautions have been taken to guard against disaster.

inal and is in a remorseful frame of mind. He said so in his confession. If he admits to the truth made in his letter, he will commit suicide when arrested is imminent. He is the owner of a blue Stutz sedan and he wrote the police that he "will drive it to hell" if necessary.

The confession was mailed Tuesday, which would give the fugitive ample time to get a good start on the authorities if he has left Newark. He said he met the governor in New York City, drove to the Lovers Lane, alongside Woodland grove, a New Jersey hot dog park, and when she resisted his advances, struck her on the head. Thinking her dead, he poured gasoline on her unconscious form and put a match to it while she was still alive.

Other cities in New Jersey, including Hoboken and Jersey City, were being searched for the desperate fugitive.

SEE CHALLENGE TO BRITAIN IN U. S. ALIEN BILL

London.—Harsh British critics of United States policies pretend to see in the new Watson Immigration Bill which has the support of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis a direct challenge to the British policy of promoting emigration within the Empire.

AMERICA'S EFFORTS TO LIMIT immigration to persons of more than average intelligence are interpreted as a sinister move to tempt the best brains of Britain to settle in the United States rather than in Canada, Australia or South Africa.

Call It Inspired Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, ever critical of American motives, admits that the Watson Bill is probably inspired by "a genuine humanitarian desire to improve the immigration laws and to do away with the scandals and brutalities involved in the forced separation of men from their families."

"In the cross currents of American politics," says a Daily Express authority who, after a great respect for the opinions of mankind are never altogether absent. But, as in this case, they are usually allied at the same time with a shrewd self interest.

Washington realizes that the future of America depends on her building up among her people strong reserves of British, Irish and German stock. They are the immigrants who create, who are law abiding, who bring strength and stability to the commonwealth.

Seen As Challenge "This is a direct challenge to the whole movement for promoting emigration within the Empire. Every family that leaves Britain for a non-British country is a definite loss to the Empire."

Incidentally the Daily Express blames Premier Baldwin and Minister of Colonies Amery, both recently returned from trips to Canada, for not devising effective means for filling the empty spaces of Canada and the Empire "from the surplus population of this island."

HIGH PRICES KEEP AMERICAN PLAYS OUT OF LONDON THEATERS London.—Big prices asked by American managers are stated to be responsible for the reduction in the number of American plays being produced in London.

The two much-discussed American plays, "Coquette" and "Paris Bound" are said to have been offered to Sir Alfred Butt on the following terms: "Coquette" $2,500 bonus, $500 a week to Jed Harris, the owner, plus $250 a week to Archie Slewyn, plus the author's royalties.

"Paris Bound," 10 per cent royalty, plus 50 per cent of the profits, plus $10,000 advance on account of profits.

"I am not rich enough to compete on these terms," says Butt. "I think American managers are losing sight of the fact that London audiences will not—and for the most part do not afford to pay the enormous prices that New York audiences are prepared to pay for successes."

"It is only reasonable that when a manager has produced a play and created a success he should reap his own benefit. It is really absurd for American managers to ask substantial bonuses, profit royalties, and, in addition, a large proportion of the profits. Unless one wants to produce plays for mere glory such propositions are commercial madness."

AMERICAN MANAGERS ARE GOING to persist in this policy they will, in my opinion, certainly kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS Washington, Feb. 24.—The Senate's search for new traces of the Continental Trading Company's mysterious $3,080,000 Liberty bond "slush fund" was centered today upon the accounts of the Republican national committee in the Continental and Commercial trust company at Chicago.

BAKED WILL FILED

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 24.—The will of Clara Louise Baker, widow of F. G. Baker, a former official of the Acme Sheet Co., filed for probate here today, disposed of an estate estimated at upward of $200,000 and makes bequests of $7,500 to Detective Captain John H. Regan, of Bridgeport; and gives $7,500 each to the police and fire department sick benefit association funds.

Other bequests are: Mrs. Anna Bradstreet Lemon, of Thomaston, $12,500; Miss Lena Turner, superintendent of the Bridgeport Boys Club, $7,500; Associated Charities, $7,500; Park Street Congregational church, $7,500; Boys Club, $33,000.

ARTIST SEEKS DIVORCE

Westport, Conn., Feb. 24.—An artist's colony today received word that Mrs. Mabel Augusta Briggs Fay, nationally known illustrator, has brought suit for divorce from Clark Fay, member of the Artists Guild and Authors League, and also an illustrator of note. Mrs. Fay charges infidelity but does not name a co-respondent.

Mrs. Fay still lives here with three sons. Her husband's home is 16 West Tenth street, New York. Mrs. Fay says her husband has an estate worth more than $25,000 and asks alimony beside custody of her children.

The Fays were married March 25, 1917, and came here to join the colony soon afterward.

24 Hours Ends COLDS

A "common cold" may result in grippe or flu. At the very first sign, go to a drug store and get a box of HILL'S. Take promptly. HILL'S breaks up a cold in 24 hours because it does the four vital things at once—stops the cold, checks the fever, opens the bowels and tones the system. Red box, 30 cents.

HILL'S Cascara - Bromide - Quinine Elizabeth Blackwell, first woman physician in the United States, received her M. D. from Geneva College in 1849.

Some women age so young. You've known them... women who start out in life radiantly fresh and alive... Then something happens. Almost before you know it—their bloom and freshness have gone... Youth without health! What a pathetic thing it is! Pinched, wan cheeks and pain-dulled eyes when, by every right, they should be just beginning to live! Constipation wrecks health and happiness for thousands of women and men. Stealing beauty. Thieving vitality. It is the cause of untold disease and suffering. And more's the pity when it can be so surely prevented. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation safely. To prevent it ever beginning its deadly work. SIGNS SHOULD HAVE ONLY ONE MEANING, SAYS PSYCHOLOGIST Baltimore, Md., Feb. 24.—Psychology in automobile driving will make the world safer for motorists and pedestrians. That is the advice of Dr. Knight Dunlap, professor of psychology at Johns Hopkins University.

Standardization and simplicity, two names for driving psychology, is urged by Dr. Dunlap as a panacea for traffic problems and accident prevention.

For instance, the monotonous run of "dangerous curve" signs on gentle curves tends to make the driver of an automobile less cautious when approaching a really bad curve. Standardization of these signs would serve to keep the driver constantly on the alert for bad curves. He could relax when the signs told him that things were comparatively serene ahead.

The simplifying of traffic signals would make driving of an auto a Dr. Dunlap.

Red, he says, can easily be misunderstood in traffic lights for the reason that that color does not always indicate stop. Detour signs are red. Danger signals are red. Signals set up to indicate road repairs are red.

"Drivers will never be trained to the point of an automatic, unreflecting 'stop' on the red light so long as other uses of red in signals are retained," says Dr. Dunlap. "Fatal accidents have occurred from use of red lanterns on road obstructions."

"But the more important factor in such cases is that the misuses of signals prevent the proper training of the motorist and are therefore conducive to accidents at other points. It is entirely feasible to do away with the use of red for all traffic signs not meaning 'stop.'"

Now, Let 'Em Come!

Speeders taking the curves of some of New York state's highways recklessly may thank the inventor of these sturdy guard rails for escaping with only a few bruises. The cable gives first under the direct impact and the heavy springs permit the stanchions to fall back with the car. It's the invention of Joseph Ramsey of Albany.

How's She Hitting?
Hints on Car Care

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

It isn't until we are annoyed by the squeaks from the brakes that we give these appendages any notice.

Then, most likely, it is too late to prevent poor braking, for with squeaking brakes goes an uneven, imperfect system of control.

Twelve causes for squeaking brakes are listed by Motor Age, in a recent issue. They are:

- 1—End of band touching drum.
- 2—High areas of unequal pressure.
- 3—Sand between brake drum and lining.
- 4—Twisted bands.
- 5—Unequal adjustment.
- 6—Worn anchor pins.
- 7—Bands frozen on anchor pins.
- 8—Twisted anchor pins.
- 9—Exposed rivets.
- 10—Glazed or hard lining.
- 11—Eccentric or distorted drum.
- 12—Loose wheels or wheel bearings.

The cure for all these may be bunched into one or two items. One is the necessity of maintaining a true adjustment between lining and drum. Another is the maintenance of a clean and well lubricated braking system.

Any inequality in the surface of the drum will cause a squeak. An unequally worn brake lining will cause squeaking. Protruding rivets also are only another result from an unequally adjusted and unequally used braking system.

Dust and grime collecting in the brakes and neglected there cause much of the trouble from squeaking brakes. The bands must be removed and the lining thoroughly cleaned to correct this difficulty.

It must be remembered, that there are moving parts in the braking system and that these occasionally need lubrication. When bands are frozen on another pins, interfering with the free action of the brakes, it is good practice to oil these points thoroughly, or remove them and give them a thorough cleaning.

Then these points should be replaced and lubricated.

Sometimes it is even good practice to apply a few drops of thin oil to the brake shoes or drums about every 2000 miles or so. This will keep a smooth surface on the lining.

PRESENT CARS BEST
The present automobile is 250 per cent better than the motor car in vogue before the World War, according to W. L. Velle, Jr., vice-president of the Velle Motor Corporation. Besides, he says, the present car of $1200 is as good as the car of 12 years ago costing $4000 or $5000.

BERLIN TRAFFIC COURTS HAVE ACCIDENT SCHOOL
Berlin.—About one hundred Berlin judges and prosecutors will be given free lectures and lessons in motorcar driving to enable them to improve their judgment of automobile accidents dealt with by Berlin courts.

Berlin police headquarters will follow the courts' example and instruction in motorcar driving, all policemen who may be called upon as witnesses in automobile accidents.

NO GAS ON SUNDAY
Through a ruling by the South Carolina state supreme court, gasoline cannot be sold in that state on Sunday. This law grew out of the old Sunday "blue laws" of South Carolina.

NICE PRIZE FOR WINNER
A prize has been offered by Sir Charles Wakefield, British oil manufacturer, to the driver who beats Major Seagrave's speed record of 203 miles an hour. The prize is an income of $5,000 a year until 1930, or until the winner is beaten, and a gold trophy valued at $5000.

The ACCORDIAN PLAYER SOLVES THE PARKING PROBLEM

A Level-Bodied Truck

No matter how rough the going, this tractor-truck keeps level. That's because the axles are joined to the chassis in such a way that the wheels follow the uneven dips of the roads while the body is unaffected. This was shown recently at the Olympia show of commercial motors in London.

LUMBER DEALERS START CAMPAIGN

Retailers In Hartford County Organize to Co-Operate With U. S. Association.

Retail lumber dealers of Hartford county, it was announced today, are organizing for cooperation with the National Retail Lumber Dealers' Association in a nationwide movement to promote the ownership of homes and the keeping of present structures constantly in repair as well-improved property. The county and state organizations all over the country will be supported in their work by a national newspaper advertising campaign which is to run for four years and which, it is estimated, will cost $40,000,000.

B. E. MacKeen, of the Hartford Lumber Company of Hartford, has been appointed chairman of the organization for this county, by L. P. Lewin, of Cincinnati, president of the National Association. Mr. MacKeen will appoint committees to carry on the movement in this county within the next few days. The County organization will operate under the direction of John C. Barry of Portland, chairman for Connecticut.

Make Up Slogan
"Build Now With Safety" is the slogan for the campaign, Mr. Lewin said in announcing the plans and purposes of the national association.

"The slogan, which will be the central theme of one of the largest advertising campaigns ever conducted in the history of business, contains two messages which we expect to present to the American people for the next four years," said Mr. Lewin's announcement. "One is the message of the freedom and security which ownership of a home brings to every family. Contentment, a large measure of freedom from worry as to the future, the joy of ownership, the building of a better family life and a better community life, all come from possession of a home of your own. The value to the nation of the 'own your home' movement is recognized everywhere by economists, social workers, statesmen, for it promotes thrift and order and makes better citizens. Our industry proposes to give this movement a tremendous impetus.

"Coupled with this advocacy of home owning will be the thought of keeping that home at its best—of keeping it constantly in repair and of making improvements where these are dictated by prudence and the thought of increasing the value of the property. Thousands of houses in this country could be made far more livable and pleasant, and far more valuable, with a proportionately slight increase in the investment.

Second Message
"That is our first message. The second is contained in the 'With Safety' half of the slogan. We hope to bring to all the millions of prospective buyers of homes, to the vast number of owners of homes that are in need of repair or improvement, and to all the industrial builders, a realization that safety and economy in buying building materials can best be obtained by dealing with reputable, well established retail lumber firms. To that end we have set up in our association a plan for the issuance of buyers of building material of 'Certificates of Safety.' These will guarantee to the purchaser, by a bond underwritten by the association, that the material he has bought conforms in grading with standards set up by the national association of manufacturers of that material, and in quantity with the dealers' invoice.

"In order that the buyer may know the dealers who are authorized to issue these certificates of safety, the association will supply to all co-operating dealers an electrically illuminated sign bearing the slogan 'Build Now With Safety,' and colored metal emblems, likewise bearing the slogan, to be attached to the sides of their delivery trucks.

"It is one of the established principles of modern business that this is the age of competition between industries. The National Retail Dealers' Association is sponsoring this campaign of education because it believes the cumulative effect of this tremendous volume of advertising will directly benefit every lumber dealer in the country by increasing the demand for the commodities he sells. There will be no lessening of the normal competition within the industry, but its individual units will co-operate to meet the competition of other businesses."

SOCIAL WORKERS TO HOLD PARLEY

State Conference to Be Held In Stamford From April 22 to 25.

The committee in charge of the program of the Connecticut Conference of Social Work which is to be held in Stamford from April 22 to April 25, inclusive, are rapidly completing their work and the Conference promises to be one of the best ever held in the state. On Sunday afternoon, April 22, the annual meeting of the Diocesan Bureau of Social Service will be held under the auspices of the Roman Catholic church. This will be followed by a supper for the American Association of Social Workers and an inspirational address in the evening. On Monday, April 23, two round table conferences will be held. One will deal with the Family and will consider the subject "The Responsibility of Public and Priate Agencies for Long Time Relief Cases" and also the "Widows' Pension Law. This section will have a luncheon meeting with Miss Margaret Rich, of the American Association for Organizing Family Social Work. Her subject will be "The Intangible Aspects of Case Work."

In the afternoon the round table will deal with "The Family Budget" or "Intelligent Spending of the Family Income." H. J. Mahew, of the Family Welfare Society of New Haven, will be chairman, and ten minute speeches will be made on the following subjects: "The Home Economist," by Miss Lucy Gillett, of the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor; "The Psychiatric Social Worker," by Miss Henrietta F. Thacher, of the Connecticut Society for Mental Hygiene; "The Insurance Company," by Miss Elizabeth Guilford, of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company; "The Point of View of Industry," by Henry Schenk of Stamford; "The Point of View of Health," by Miss Elizabeth Van Patton, of the Visiting Nurse Association of New Haven.

The second round table of the conference on Monday will deal with Delinquency and Prevention, and Miss Arthur F. Ellis of Waterbury will act as chairman. During the day luncheon and supper meetings will be held by the following groups: The American Association of Social Workers, Children, the Boys' National Clubs, Social Service Exchange and the Connecticut Committee of Social Legislation.

Monday's Speaker
Monday night the general session will commence at 8:00 o'clock and the speaker of the evening will be Jay B. Nash, Associate Professor Physical Education Department, New York University, who will speak on "The Value of Recreation to a Community." Following his talk there will be an hour of social recreation for the entire conference, under the direction of Miss Frances Hale, Director Board of Recreation Commission, East Orange, N. J., and Mrs. Chester G. Marsh, Director Westchester County Recreation Commission.

Announcement of the program for the latter part of the conference will be made at a later date. It will include an inspirational address on Tuesday by Dean Charles Reynolds Brown of Yale Divinity School.

RAILWAYS WILL NEED AIRWAY BRANCHES TO AID RAPID TRANSIT

Minneapolis, Minn.—The belief that railroads will be forced within the next decade to establish airway branches of their service in order to meet the public demand for more rapid transportation was expressed by Captain Eddie V. Rickenbacker, ace flier of the World War while in the Twin Cities.

Not only in mail and passenger transportation does Captain Rickenbacker expect tremendous advancement, but also in the field of light freight hauling. Because of the rapidity in air transportation merchants are reducing the size of their stocks and are ordering more frequent shipments by air freight, Rickenbacker said.

Railroad companies by constructing decks over their tracks in railroad yards would have excellent landing field opportunities, he pointed out.

"Airplanes as 'angels of peace' in bringing about an intimacy of contact between nations are one of the greatest agencies for preventing war we have ever known," Captain Rickenbacker declared.

Automobiles and the construction of super-highways between adjacent countries offer another means of creating international good will, according to the war ace. With an increase of automobile traffic and a breaking down of international boundaries, he said, closer harmony between nations will result.

NEW YORK THEATER LETTER

SIR HARRY LAUDER, THE HEART WARMER

He's Farewelling Us Again, and Getting as Enthusiastic a Welcome as Ever.

By LEONARD HALL For NEA Service.

New York, Feb. 23.—Bandy-legged little Sir Harry Lauder again has proved a Broadway theatrical sensation.

Read the reviews and you won't hear much about him, for the merry lads and lassies of Times Square ever are chasing after new gods. But the Scotsman is scoring a triumph, none the less—even though there is no band before his tent in this mad carnival.

Sir Harry was engaged to play a four-week engagement at the Knickerbocker theater here—an unprecedented New York stay for the veteran comic. Then the stopover was extended a fortnight—Lauder's people wouldn't let him go!

When most performers speak of "their publics," there usually is more than a little hope, and some hoopy, in the use of the phrase. But in Lauder's case it is literal, tremendous, and faithful.

That magic name brings thousands into the theater who would leave the heartside and the radio on no other provocation. A Lauder crowd is one such as no other playhouse holds. It is middle-aged, for the most part, and staid—only the great little man can bring down their emotions and shake them to cheers.

Harry Lauder—the everlasting trouper.

They cry with him—such a gathering is more like a household of dear friends than an assembly daring an actor to amuse it. They sing with him, they laugh with him.

It doesn't seem to make a particle of difference what Sir Harry does up there, and as a matter of fact he is doing just about what he always has done. He has a power over his people that defies description and eludes analysis.

Seemingly, he is everlasting. His farewell tours are beginning to rival Patti's. Recently he lost his beloved wife. His one adored son fell in the World War. And yet he goes on and on—bolder and graver, but no less ardent in the pursuit of his life work. The older and sweeter Lauder's songs are, the more they are enjoyed. He is the everlasting trouper who has made his millions happy.

It would do your heart good to see these quiet family folks pouring into the Knickerbocker and coming out amused and delighted by the presence of an old friend. They know what they're going to get when they enter. They get it, and are happy. They'll tell you that he can farewell for them just as long as he's able to totter. And the chances are that he will.

MONEY RAISER McCABE PASSES MARK AGAIN

Gets $114,000 in a $100,000 Drive For Masonic Temple at North Adams.

Eldred McCabe of this town, envoy in the Southern New England division of the Salvation Army, and organizer and director of financial campaigns, has recently concluded a successful campaign for the Masonic association of North Adams, Mass. As a token of appreciation of his work the association, at a meeting held a short time ago, gave Mr. McCabe a gold watch and a Masonic charm.

The association asked for $100,000. It received this, and more, for one of the additional gifts was a $10,000 pipe organ. The total of contributions, including the organ, reached $114,000 and money is still coming in. The drive lasted for about three weeks.

The money which was raised in the campaign will be used for the erection of a new Masonic temple in North Adams and the gift organ will be installed there.

WASHINGTON TRIPPERS TO SEE BIG LEAGUERS

High School Party Invited to Attend Baseball Game on April 30.

The hundred or more persons who make up the Senior Washington Party from the High School have been invited to attend an American League baseball game while in Washington.

This became known today when Principal Clarence P. Quimby received a letter from Clarke Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, inviting the Manchester group to attend the game between the Senators and the Yankees at the capital Monday, April 30.

This will give many of the Manchester party their first glimpse of a major league baseball game and a chance to see the two home-run kings, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in action. A special section will be reserved for the Manchester party. This will be the first time in the history of the school that the group has had an opportunity of this kind and school officials are appreciative of the invitation.

PLAN FOR REDUCING LONDON BANK RATE DEFERRED TO APRIL

London.—The recent rise in the New York rate of discount broke all hopes of a reduction of the British Bank rate for some time to come.

The immediate effect in London of the rise in New York was a fall in the sterling-dollar exchange from 4.87 5/8 to 4.81 5/8.

It is now regarded as probable that any movement here will be deferred to April, when the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill, is expected to make an announcement that the Treasury and Bank of England note issues are to be amalgamated.

Preparatory to this announcement the Bank of England hopes to obtain some gold to supplement its reserves and the Governor will not endanger this prospect by making money cheaper in London.

In the interests of industry which needs the cheaper money it is to be regretted that hopes in this respect are once more to be disappointed, but the trend of events in America are unmistakable and cannot be ignored.

The rise in the Federal Reserve Rate will, of course, entail a revision of rates in London in order to retain the American balances at present employed here, but so far, the market has not adjusted itself to the new conditions.

An immediate tightening up of money and discount rates is looked for, while the Treasury will probably have to pay more for its usual weekly accommodation on Government Bills.

WIPES OUT INSULT

Stamford, Conn., Feb. 24.—Edward Brown, a young colored man, tried to "wipe out an insult to my race" by knocking out Louis Manos, owner of a small restaurant. Brown told the police, when he gave $500 bail that after he drank a cup of coffee in Manos' restaurant, Manos smashed the cup on the floor.

SEEK BURIED GOLD IN NEW HAMPSHIRE WOODS

Nashua, N. H.—Times may be hard in New England generally but right here in Nash-u-ay folks are quitting work for treasure trove.

The old fashioned treasure hunt will start as soon as the snow leaves the ground in the spring. There is a paltry sum of $61,190 extant in this city and many persons believe that it is buried in the woods nearby.

John Andrews, his son, Michael, and another are serving 25 year sentences at Atlanta as a result of a train robbery at Salisbury two years ago. In the robbery, the trio secured $64,000, of which nearly $8,000 was recovered at the time of arrest and conviction.

Where the remainder of the money is, no one is exactly sure. Many persons, though, testify that Andrews was seen in the woods near the city on several occasions prior to his arrest and that has led to the sudden desire of local citizens to dig in the mud and dirt of the New Hampshire woods.

Here's the New Lizzie of the Air

Here is pictured Henry Ford's new flapper plane, a tiny bird of the skies with 20-foot wingspread and a two-cylinder, 30 horsepower motor. It carries only the pilot. The plane recently was flown by Pilot Harry Brooks from Detroit to Asheville, N. C. Brooks soon will attempt a non-stop flight from Detroit to Miami, Fla., and says it will take less than $10 worth of gas.

FRENCH FLIERS OFFER DATA ON AIR PIONEERING

Paris.—Taking advantage of the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the first official airplane flight over a prescribed course of one closed kilometer, French aviation enthusiasts are bringing forward data to show that French airplane constructive genius owes nothing to Orville and Wilbur Wright.

On January 13, 1908 at Issy les Moulineaux, Henry Farman, pilot of a plane constructed by Charles and Gabriel Voisin, first piloted a lighter than air machine over a distance of one kilometer, taking off at a prescribed point, flying 500 meters, turning and returning to his place of departure. The flight was completed in one minute and twenty-eight seconds. The pilot won a prize of 25,000 gold francs for this officially controlled exploit.

Charles Voisin has been dead fifteen years, killed in an automobile accident in 1912. Since the famous flight of 1908 Gabriel Voisin has been living in almost complete obscurity. But he came in for his share of praise during the celebration of Farman's feat.

Voisin is bitter. Because of the lack of recognition of his contribution to French aviation, Gabriel Voisin is bitter, a feeling he did not hesitate to reveal in an interview with International News Service.

"On December 7, 1924 I made a tour of the first French Aviation Salon," he said. "French aviation was symbolized in three images, the first representing a glider, the second a Wright airplane and the third the Voisin airplane in which Henry Farman flew the first closed kilometer in 1908."

"To my surprise, on reading the plaque under the third image, only the name of the pilot, M. Farman, an Englishman," was mentioned. Furthermore the name "Voisin" had not been reproduced on the image of the plane my brother and I built for M. Farman.

"French aviation was thus presented to the public in the form of an American and an Englishman."

"Ask any ten men at random the mark of the first plane to fly a closed kilometer and their replies will be invariably 'A Wright.' No Help From Dayton.

"Wilbur Wright undoubtedly was flying in America at the same time we were carrying out our successful experiments here. But French aviation was born on French soil, with no help whatsoever from the men of Dayton.

"Wilbur Wright came to France eight months too late. His airplane surprised no one. Its first flight in France was one of one minute and thirty-five seconds.

"French airplanes already had flown successfully 80 meters, 771 meters, one kilometer, in a closed circuit, three kilometers in a closed circuit, twelve kilometers and eight kilometers."

M. Voisin described the scenes at Issy les Moulineaux on the morning in 1908 when his plane won its first record. Among the spectators were Louis Bleriot, later to be the first man to fly across the English Channel.

Charles Voisin stepped off the circuit of one kilometer. Gabriel Voisin twirled the propeller of his first crude plane which set the motor in motion. Gabriel Voisin remained at the takeoff point watching Farman's record making flight.

When Farman climbed out of the place after his flight he was immediately surrounded by crowds of spectators who had watched the performance.

"The crowd disregarded me," said M. Voisin. "In their eagerness to congratulate the pilot I was not noticed. Already I had taken the place which has since been my lot, in oblivion."

SUDDENLY STRICKEN BLIND. New York, Feb. 24.—"I can't see!" This exclamation from a 20-year-old youth today started passengers on a Third avenue elevated train which was just pulling into the Brooklyn bridge station.

The youth, Joseph Suchie of Mt. Vernon, was assisted by several men into the emergency room of the "L" station.

At the Beekman street hospital, where Suchie was taken, physicians said he was totally blind but were unable to advance any reason for the affliction.

NEW BUILDING PLAN FOR NAVY ENDORSED

Washington, Feb. 24.—America's newest building program as drafted by the House naval affairs committee was endorsed by Republican leaders today and its adoption by Congress predicted.

Although some dissatisfaction was expressed because the program does not bring American naval strength to parity with Great Britain, it was characterized as "a step in the right direction."

The building of 15 cruisers and one aircraft carrier, all to be laid down in three years and completed in six at a cost of $274,000,000 would round out the present badly balanced navy, exponents of the program said.

The door is still left open for President Coolidge to carry out much of the Wilbur $740,000,000 program, it was declared. Authority exists under the 1916 Act for the President to seek appropriations for nine destroyers, leaders and three submarines.

"I think there is little question but that the program will be adopted by Congress," said Speaker Longworth. "It probably is about all that could be expected in the present session."

Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, Republican leader who deserted President Coolidge last year to join the "Big Navy" forces, said the program was "a forward movement."

"The program is not essentially inconsistent with the President's ideas," said Tilson. "It provides for fifteen cruisers in three years and the President suggested 25 in five years."

MUST PAY PENALTY Springfield, Ill., Feb. 24.—Charlie Birger, former leader of an outlaw gang that caused a reign of terror in southern Illinois, must pay with his life on the gallows for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, the Supreme Court ruled today in handing down its opinion upholding the verdict of guilty and sentence of death imposed by the Franklin county circuit court.

Date of execution was set for Friday, April 13.

OCEAN RACE BY TINY CRAFT TO DRAW MOTORISTS

Boston.—With the announcement of plans by the board of governors to sponsor the longest ocean marathon of the tiniest motor craft of the racing game, in competition with the New York Outboard Motorboat Association, the 1928 racing schedule of the New England Outboard Motorboat Association, while still incomplete, assumed national interest today.

The proposed race of 261 miles will have its starting point Saturday, June 15, (weather permitting), from City Point, Boston Harbor, and the race will finish at the New York Athletic Club.

Previously outboard motorboat marathons have been confined to rivers and inland waters, the one exception being the recent Catalina Island race of California over a course of 32 miles. The speedy little craft measuring from eight to 13 feet in length and ranging in weight from 35 to 125 pounds is declared to furnish one of the most thrilling sports of the warm weather season.

Several of the boats to participate in the proposed marathon will be exhibited at the Boston Motorboat Show in Mechanics Building, the week of February 6, which will be held under the personal direction of Chester I. Campbell, who is an honorary director of the Association and an official in the coming races at Worcester and Lake Winnepegaukee, as well as the open sea competition.

Entries for the big race of the season have already begun to reach the Association officials from various parts of New England, some of the earliest applicants including: Commodore H. Ross Maddocks, of Cambridge, Col. Slater Washburn of Worcester, Thomas T. Parker, Detroit, Thomas Humes, Providence, R. L. Alton T. Buffington, Fall River, Douglas Yule, Herbert

Merrill and Douglas Haskins of Boston.

Must Have Convoys. Contestants are required to hold memberships in either the New England or New York Outboard Motorboat Association.

The racing boats are required to have a convoy of a larger boat. One of the stipulations of the contest is that no contestant shall for a period of time, save in an extreme emergency, run in the lee of the convoying boat. Each convoy boat will have aboard an official observer for the regatta committee and his decision will be final on all matters during the race. The racing will continue from sunrise to sunset. The race committee has set a time limit of two days.

Appropriate trophies (donated by Walter H. Moreton of Boston, to be exhibited at the Boston Motorboat Show) will be awarded to the first three outboards finishing at the New York A. C. and medals will be awarded to all completing the race.

Cats, dogs, and racoons are all color blind.

NEW INCOME TAX LAW FOR RICH PEASANTS PASSED BY SOVIETS

Moscow.—A new income law directed against the "rich" has been passed by the Central Executive committee. The rate on incomes of $2,500 a year and over is increased by 2 to 10 per cent. It rises so high that a person who might make to earn more than $12,000 virtually would work to pay the tax.

The decree is seen as another "blow" of a plank from Trotsky's platform in which he charged that a new capitalist class of kulaks (peasants employing hired labor) and nepmen (private traders) was growing up under the very noses of the proletarian dictators.

On an income equal to the United States exemption limit of $3,500 for married men or women, a Russian business man (nepman) now has to pay $550 or 16 per cent. The proletarian laborer, employee, including officials of government trusts, and pensioners will have to pay only $175 on the same amount. But few if any earn anywhere near $3,500 a year. The exemption for single or married persons is $500 for all classes, but a man or woman with two dependents is allowed more dependents unless his income exceeds $175 a month. Above that figure no deduction for dependents is made.

Commissioner of Finance N. P. Briukhanov estimated the total income tax receipts of the nation in 1923 at $150,000,000, or $1 per capita. The figure also indicates that between 80 and 90 per cent of the people pay no income tax because they earn less than the exemption limit of $500 annually. The income tax is only the fourth largest source of revenue, indirect taxes making up about 70 per cent. The vodka tax heads the list.

The carrot once grew wild in Greece, where it was used only as fodder for cattle and food for bees.

FRIDAY, FEB. 24, 1928

HOOVER OR RITCHIE

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and wet Republican of much impatience with pussyfooting on the prohibition question, does not exactly agree with Governor Fuller of Massachusetts in the latter's conviction that the next President of the United States will certainly be either Herbert Hoover or Al Smith.

Dr. Butler would be very likely to employ the enforcement appropriations, as they are made, in protecting the dryness of states which really want to be dry, instead of wasting it in futile attempts to enforce the law in states where the people are opposed to it and where it is unenforceable without an expenditure fifty times greater than at present.

That is what Governor Smith would probably do, if he were elected—and it would be all that he could do. It would just as probably be what Governor Ritchie would do, were he elected. It would just as probably be what Herbert Hoover would do, were he President—because it would be the only thing he could do to cure the existing demoralization.

So that, with Hoover the candidate, the Republican party would have nothing particular to fear from either Smith or Ritchie in the wet states. While with a fanatic dry candidate, or one who could be scared into keeping up the existing futile bluff at enforcement in wet centers, there would be a great deal of fear, especially from Ritchie.

There is something almost frantic in the comments of the larger newspapers over the probability that the contempt of court sentences on Sinclair and Burns will be delayed or enforcement for at least a year, and most of them bitterly admit that there is small reason to believe that the jail sentences ever will be served.

Yet, none of the big fellows, which so frequently bewail the ineffectiveness of the law's operations wherever offenders are able to employ brilliant lawyers, ever so much as suggest that there must be a way of reforming court practice so that the courts themselves cannot be used to confuse, muddle and defeat the administration of justice.

If men form governments and found them on lucid, definite principles; if they provide for legislative authority and executive authority and judicial authority as machinery for making those principles effective; and if then one of these agencies sets about the business of making inoperative the lucid and definite principles which are the foundation of the government, it would seem as if it might be within the authority and the rights of the people—and a matter of very simple common sense—to take that particular agency by the scruff of the neck and shake it into a sense of its responsibilities.

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT

(74) Men's and Women's Clothing. Although not among the states leading in the production of women's clothing, Connecticut annually has an output of men's and women's clothing, men's furnishings and shirts worth many million dollars. In several lines of clothing Connecticut's production has been gaining, both in value of product and in percentage comparison with the entire United States.

Women's clothing (not specifically classified) produced by Connecticut factories during 1925 was valued at $6,107,842, or 4% of the total for the United States which was $1,293,705,391. All but $268,000,000 of this total amount was the value placed on women's clothing turned out in 4,365 New York factories. Connecticut ranked 10th. More than 2,000 wage earners were employed in Connecticut factories during 1925.

Connecticut also produced 4% of the total men's clothing (not specifically classified) manufactured in the United States during 1925. Her product was worth $5,400,260. New York again was first. Connecticut was 19th. During 1914 Connecticut's output, worth $483,793, was 1% of the total. An average of 1,143 wage earners worked on men's clothing in 1925 in Connecticut.

Connecticut ranked seventh in 1925 in the production of shirts and eighth in the output of men's furnishing goods. The value of the former was $5,734,885, or 2.5% of the total, and the latter $2,958,124 or 2.4% of the total. The respective value of Connecticut's product in 1900 was $680,342, or 1.3% of the total, and $100,273, or 2% of the total. New York led in both.

ate will still exist. Prohibition cannot be really enforced because Congress will not—and dare not if it would—appropriate the enormous sums necessary for actual enforcement. So that any enterprising and energetic president, who wishes to do the best he can, in this matter, will be very likely to employ the enforcement appropriations, as they are made, in protecting the dryness of states which really want to be dry, instead of wasting it in futile attempts to enforce the law in states where the people are opposed to it and where it is unenforceable without an expenditure fifty times greater than at present.

There are a great many people who for one reason or another do not care to announce their ages to the public. This, of course, is especially true of women. And until there arises an occasion when the number of the years of such a person becomes a matter of public concern, there would seem to be no reason why this preference for personal privacy should not be respected—and every reason why it should. There is no excuse for the state of Connecticut making itself offensive in this relation any more than there is for an individual in prying and gabbling.

Yet the Motor Vehicle Department, in mailing license cards, uses open faced envelopes which display not only the name and address of the recipient but his or her age, boldly type written, for anyone who happens to glance at the envelope to see.

Every postoffice employe, every country postmaster, every rural carrier, every office boy or stenographer or messenger or clerk who has the handling of mail matter, has full opportunity to avail himself of the data which the Highway Department so brazenly throws to the winds.

We would suggest to the highly efficient commissioner of motor vehicles that, should he ever come before the electorate of Connecticut for such an office, say, as the governorship, there are already a number of thousand women who, by reason of this casual treatment of their pet secret, would be extremely likely to go to the polls and vote against him with a relish, not to say with shouts of delight. And each year adds to the number.

3-Piece Colonial Grouping $199

What kind of furniture shall I use in my Colonial living room? Has that question ever puzzled you? Then here is one solution. Three distinctive pieces have been assembled in a group. The chair to the left is a Martha Washington, with complete frame, excepting back legs, of solid mahogany; the chair to the right is an authentic Watkins reproduction of an early New England chair with mahogany-finished frame—and the sofa is in the modern tuxedo style with the same square tapered legs as the other pieces have.

for 3 Colonial Bedroom Pieces $149

Here is a delightful group of Colonial pieces for the bedroom. The poster bed is full size with genuine mahogany plywood headboard and solid gumwood posts and rails. The Salem chest is 40 inches wide and is also made of mahogany plywood and gumwood with old brasses, while the 36 inch lowboy, to be used as a dressing table, is of solid mahogany throughout.

Watkins Reproduction

How often have you heard that term—everywhere in the state—but have you ever realized that many of these authentic pieces, some copied exclusively for Watkins Brothers, can be had for the same prices you would regularly pay for ordinary furniture? Imagine the charming Martha Washington chair at the top of the page for only $36—the solid mahogany lowboy to the right at $49 and the braced-back Windsor below for $5.75.

But Not Colonial Bedding!

A far cry from the old rope spring and the feather mattress are the modern pieces of luxurious, sanitary bedding. While we copy accurately the old cabinet designs, we would no more think of using the old time bed equipment than to go back to kerosene lamps. The ideal—and by that we mean the most comfortable—bedding outfit you could select would be an Ace coil spring with its 99 spiral springs and a Beautyrest mattress with 335 soft resilient springs (pictured below.) Like floating on air is your first night's rest on this comfort combination.

6 Colonial Dining Pieces $149

This is one of the many interesting dining groups of Colonial design you can assemble from our many authentic reproductions. The buffet, exactly as pictured only 54 inches long, is made of solid mahogany. The gateleg table with eight legs is 35x50 inches when closed but when a hidden leaf is raised it extends to 62 1/2 inches. The chairs are like the sketch only with braced backs, finished in red mahogany over birch.

WATKINS BROTHERS, INC.

EXCLUSIVE REPRESENTATIVES FOR CRAWFORD AND CHAMBERS RANGES

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Feb. 24.—When you come to think about it, what an awful lot of trouble is caused in this world by Suspicion!

There is good reason to suppose that Congress would be happy to pass a law abolishing Suspicion if there were any way it could be enforced. Chances are that it would not be vetoed.

If someone hadn't begun to smell something unusual, one or all of Mr. Kellogg's various explanations of our Nicaraguan policy still might be accepted by intelligent citizens.

If it hadn't been suspected that some of Sinclair's liberty bonds had paid off the 1920 campaign debt, it wouldn't have been proved that they did.

The friends of Suspicion and its enemies are fighting this year in the Senate, harder than ever. When last counted, there were 20 resolutions demanding the investigation of something or other.

There are always senators to scoff at the suspicions prompting the resolutions and others to claim them justified if not already verified. Here's an incomplete list of senators and what they want investigated:

Broadway lights as deeply as any stage struck damsel of the ribbon counters. Many luminaries of the Manhattan stage have stepped out of salons and drawing rooms, to toil in rehearsal and struggle for a place in the spotlight as feverishly as the poorest pursued Cinderella.

And there have been many others. While innumerable stage beauties have married into the aristocratic and rich old families. Not the easiest job in New York is that of Manhattan's "official" welcomer.

with important visitors swarming in from every land and clime, this is no small order. He does not dare get tired. For, does he dare be absent from any important function. He is presumed always to represent the mayor—since the job was created to give mayors a little rest—and he can expect to be called out at hours as irregular as a fireman's.

Once, after a particularly arduous week, however, I heard Manhattan's official greeter, with inquiry inquiring the whereabouts of a quiet South Sea Island. GILBERT SWAN.

Growing Trade Demands U. S. Merchant Marine Writes Senator Johnson

Editor's Note: Necessity of an American Merchant Marine to handle our growing trade abroad has become one of the issues of the day. Here are presented the views of Senator Hiram Johnson.

By SENATOR HIRAM JOHNSON, Of California.

Washington.—If America is to retain her prosperity and maintain her ideals, she must possess a merchant marine which can handle the bulk of her foreign trade. We have become the greatest producing nation in the world. We produce more than we consume. If we allow our ships to disappear from the seas our foreign trade and the disposition of our surplus products—in other words, our prosperity—will be at the mercy of the shipping interests of those nations with which we face most strenuous competition for world markets.

About the necessity of an American merchant marine there can be no question. Argument centers on whether this merchant marine is to be owned and operated partly by the government or entirely by private interests.

Without a Subsidy. With no fixed shipping policy, the percentage of American trade carried by vessels flying the American flag has steadily declined since the war period. Our private shipping interests have been unable to compete with the cheaper building and operation costs of the subsidized interests of foreign nations. Meanwhile, it has been impossible to obtain a subsidy for our shipping.

If we cannot have an adequate merchant marine under private ownership, we must have one under government ownership. It will be far cheaper to spend a few paltry millions for its maintenance than to imperil both our foreign trade and our national security. We must first have a merchant marine to carry our goods abroad and we must have a navy big enough and efficient enough to preserve and protect it. The two must go together.

If we do not act, our flag, according to estimates, will disappear from the seas within 15 years. While our trade volume has increased our shipping tonnage has gone down. Before the World War Britain's trade exceeded ours by 50 per cent. Today we are about equal and tomorrow we will lead. Rise and Fall of Nations. Throughout the centuries, the inexorable rule of history has been that sea power and the rise and fall of nations have been closely linked.

Because we had no adequate merchant marine when we entered the World War, we were forced into the feverish, wasteful and extravagant expenditure of $3,000,000,000 to answer the desperate cry for "Ships! Ships, and more Ships!" The time will come—and I omit discussion of the possibility of war—when we cannot safely rely on other nations to carry our goods and expand our trade. If we are not prepared, we will face disaster, hardship and privation.

The American people here face an issue involving the future and the perpetuity of this nation. The dominant business interests, con- sidered with the dollars and profits of tomorrow must realize that commercial supremacy is likewise at stake.

Even if we were to do the unthinkable and disregard such vital matters, we should be more than justified in demanding a merchant marine to act as a complement to the national defense and to preserve our economic welfare.

Coastwise Trade. Our coastwise trade offers another cogent and incontrovertible reason. This coastwise traffic essentially ocean-going and depended upon by many of our major industries, is actually internal domestic trade. Nothing can compare with it except overseas trade between the various ports of the British empire upon which the British based their argument for naval supremacy at Genoa. But British sea lanes are no longer than our coastwise trade is more than half as great as all of Britain's foreign trade.

If we look into the past and read the lesson of history and look forward to the fulfillment of this nation's glorious destiny, we must make such laws as will provide a merchant marine big enough to maintain for all time the supremacy by American grit, courage and enterprise.

WAPPING

The Quarterly Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church met at the parsonage last Tuesday evening with Rev. Myron E. Genter presiding. It voted to ask Rev. Truman H. Woodward to return for another year.

A son, Edward was born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Zeik recently of East Windsor Hill. Frank Lyons who is very seriously ill at the home of his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Strong, is reported as "condition unchanged."

Rev. Truman H. Woodward will teach the study class in the Parasables of Jesus at the Nutmeg Trail Epworth League Institute to be held in the Rockville Methodist Episcopal church on Friday evening of this week.

BLAME LOVE PLAYS AS INJURIOUS TO MORALS; JAPANESE DECLARE BAN

Tokyo.—Plays portraying illicit love are injurious to the morals of Japan if not to New York, so the Tokyo police have forbidden the production here of "Desire Under the Elms," Eugene O'Neill's drama of New England farm life. The play was to have been presented here by the New Drama Association, an organization of Japanese interested in the modern stage.

Japanese actors had been selected to impersonate the horny-handed, nasal-tongued Yankees and several weeks when the police, after reading the script submitted by the producers, put down the ban.

DOUBLE FEATURES AT RIALTO TONIGHT

Big Week-End Program at Campbell's Playhouse; Two Wonderful Features.

To round out a week of glorious entertainment, Manager W. R. Campbell of the Rialto theater is presenting a double feature program of unusual merit for tonight and Saturday. The performance on Saturday is continuous from 2:15 until 10:30.

The first feature will be "Back to God's Country," a Universal-Jewel production starring beautiful Renee Adore. "Back to God's Country," is taken from that famous novel of the same name written by James Oliver Curwood and has for its locale the barren wastelands of Northern Canada—the kind that Curwood has written so much about. Action, mystery and suspense are crammed into the story; Renee Adore, the star, can be remembered for her acting with John Gilbert in "The Big Parade."

The companion-features presents Tex Maynard in "Wanderers of the West," a drama replete with daring stunts and fast-moving episodes. Maynard, who is a brother to Ken Maynard, also a cowboy star, is supported by the Rayart Ranch Riders throughout the picture. Allene Ray and Walter Miller are seen in the current chapter of "Hawk of the Hills," that thrilling serial, and a Mickey McGuire comedy will round out the bill.

NEWSPAPER CAMPAIGN FOR TEABERRY GUM

D. L. Clark Tells Why He Believes in Small City Paper Advertisements.

Because all kinds of people, and not selected groups, are reached through the newspapers, D. L. Clark, president of the Clark Bros. Cheewing Gum Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., has decided to go into newspapers to advertise Teaberry Gum, the chewing gum with the flavor of the mountain tea shrub. During the next six months nearly five hundred newspapers in all parts of the country will carry Clark's Teaberry Gum advertising.

Mr. Clark first broke into newspaper publicity when at the age of seventeen, he was employed at ten dollars a week by a candy distributor to peddle candy to dealers from Pittsburgh to Beaver Falls. During a winter snow storm his four-horse team, wagon and self slipped over a hill resulting in a bad accident and one-half column of good newspaper copy. Although this was the second time within a year the boy with corduroy suit, seal cap and boots had brought his horses and wagon to the same unhappy fate it was but another twelve months before from his savings and bank credit he had bought out the business which employed him and in addition started a candy factory. Meantime his salary had gone up to fifteen dollars and he had only his mother and sister to support. This was in 1887 and the candy company was the parent of the Clark Bros. Cheewing Gum Company, which today operates one of the largest chewing gum factories in the world.

Mr. Clark further believes in a wide distribution of national newspaper advertising. In his Pittsburgh office today he said: "Every one wants fresh news about his own town or city. For that reason all classes are reached through the newspapers. And the smaller the town, the more interested the people are in their home newspapers. I know for I have lived in a small city, McKeesport, Pa. Most people in a town of that size ($5,000) buy two newspapers, one from a larger city, but those who buy but one, buy the local paper—and that's the paper you need to advertise in if you want to sell your goods.

"People feel close to their local newspapers. They know the editors and reporters and the things of which they write. And when an advertiser comes into their paper he has joined the home news. He belongs into newspaper advertising—to localize a national advertising program."

As president of the Clark Bros. Cheewing Gum Company, and of the D. L. Clark Candy Manufacturers, Mr. Clark gives all his time to the advancement of these two concerns which recently put up a million dollar addition to plants which already covered more than a city block.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

THE STORY THUS FAR
 VANCE believes Skeel innocent of the murder of Margaret Odell and that he lay hidden in a closet while the strangled girl worked her way to the door. The theory that VANCE is unshaken. He shatters Cleaver's alibi of being out on Monday night, and tells the truth. Cleaver's alibi of being out on Monday night, and tells the truth. Cleaver's alibi of being out on Monday night, and tells the truth.

CHAPTER XXXV
MARKHAM sat glowering into space. "I don't at all like the Cleaver end of this affair," he said. "There's been something damned wrong about him ever since Monday."

"And I say," put in VANCE, "doesn't the gentleman's false alibi take on a certain shady significance now, what?"
 "You apprehend, I trust, why I restrained you from questioning him about it at the club yesterday, I rather fancied that you could get Manx to pour out his heart to you, you'd be in a stronger position to draw a few admissions from Cleaver. And behold! Again the triumph of intuition! With what you now know about him, you can't chivy him most unconsciously—eh, what?"

"And that's precisely what I'm going to do," Markham rang for Swacker. "Get hold of Charles Cleaver," he ordered irritably. "Phone him at the Stuyvesant Club and also his home—he lives round the corner from the club in West 27th Street. And tell him I want him to be here in half an hour, or I'll send a couple of detectives to bring him in handcuffs."

For five minutes Markham stood before the window, smoking absently, while VANCE with a smile of amusement, busied himself with The Wall Street Journal. Heath got himself a drink of water and took a turn up and down the room. Presently Swacker re-entered.

"Sorry, Chief, but there's nothing doing. Cleaver's gone into the country somewhere. Won't be back till late tonight."
 "Hell! . . . All right—that'll do," Markham turned to Heath. "You have Cleaver rounded up to-night, Sergeant, and bring him in here tomorrow morning nine."
 "He'll be here, sir!" Heath paused in his pacing and faced Markham. "I've been thinking, sir; and there's one thing that keeps coming up in my mind, so document that was setting on the living-room table? It was empty; and what a woman generally keeps in that kind of a box is letters and things like that."
 "Well, now, here's what's been jammed open—that box wasn't locked with a key. And, anyway, a professional crook don't take letters and documents. . . . You see what I mean, sir?"
 "Sergeant of mine!" exclaimed

Simple, Happy

Clean, simple lines and the absence of garish decoration give a pleasing aspect to "The Westhaven."
 The severity of this rather sizeable home is mitigated by a charming window arrangement—the broad front ones, widely spaced, do much to break up the extreme width of the living room, with a deep fireplace surrounded by built-in bookcases and a long wall space on one side of it for a davenport and cozy corner.
 For the big family, there are bedrooms enough to go around and some to spare. One downstairs, three up, an extra sewing room which might be converted and a sleeping porch that would house several children and allow great space besides are all supplied.
 Each room, incidentally, takes its own clothes closet and with an extra linen closet there can be no doubt about storing space. This spacious home, with so many unusual features, costs from $8,000 to $10,000.

Home Page Editorial Efficiency Where Are You?

By Olive Roberts Barton
 We are fearfully and wonderfully made, for a fact, not only physically but psychically. Let us say "mentally" and be done with it, although there is a shade of difference in the meaning.
 Do you know that many people are not up to efficiency unless they get mad? Another kind of person can't do his best until he becomes so busy he doesn't know where to turn. The saying "as you want any thing done take it to a busy man" is as true as gospel. Then there is another kind of anomaly who lozes around and does not amount to a hill of beans until he gets sick or out of commission in some other way, and the latent amount of energy he suddenly develops would keep a dynamo going.
 It is hard to explain the reason why a characteristic such as rage should have its uses but it does. Anger will make a hero out of a coward for instance. "The Patent Leather Kid," if you've seen it, illustrates such a case. The boy who turned yellow didn't turn white until, maddened with rage, he did a magnificently brave deed.
 I've heard dozens of men say they can't play golf until they get as mad as hornets and don't give a damn. And boys who play football and basketball and hockey. Why is it? Are we chuck full of inhibitions and caution to such an extent that we have to have a sort of brain explosion before we can work without being mentally hamstringed?
 Then there is the busy man who works best when he's busiest! Either the process is similar to that one just mentioned or he learns a clever disregard for detail that enables him to take on a bigger load. Work to him becomes a sort of stabilizer.
 The sick person who generates sudden energy, far beyond that which he normally possesses, must not be peevish when I assert that it is just pure cunningness. That's the way our nervous systems work. Put them up against a handicap and they will strain every fibre to overcome that handicap.
 Where, say you, has the writer developed such "dom"? By personal experience, sisters, personal experiences. I am all of these things and so are you.

MARYE and MOM Their Letters

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES
Marye, My Dear:
 Your letter troubled me until I read between the lines.
 Dear, perhaps you don't realize how harshly you sounded toward Betty but I know that you didn't mean it that way or you wouldn't have been so anxious for me to see her. I understand you too well to believe you wanted me to pry. At first I was afraid Betty might think that was what I came for but I went anyhow.
 Fixed up a regular, old-fashioned basket of goodies that had the bon voyage baskets that you write to friends beat all hollow. I don't think that was what I came for but I went anyhow.
 Betty surely enjoyed my basket. Poor child, she looks pretty peaked. There's another baby coming, and Clyde is sick with arthritis. Betty called it, but I guess she means plain rheumatism. I'm sure you'll know this, Marye darling, so if Alan complains about the money you spend you mustn't blame him because you know you wouldn't want him to turn his back on his own kin.
 Your father helped his family for years after we were married and I don't see that it set us back were spendthrifts or wouldn't work it would be different but Betty was trying to get along without help, looking after Clyde and Junior and hardly able to be on her feet.
 If I know you, I'd surprise her with a nice layette. She hasn't got anything ready yet. I'm going over as often as I can and help her out. Florence is working for Shotwell and Martin and so there isn't much that she can do for her sister.
 Florence is a little provoked with her for wanting a family when she's married to a poor man but I think Betty's right. She may be having a harder time right now but after all Clyde's a nice boy and when her children grow up she'll have something to be thankful for that a lot of women will wish they had when they're older.
 That's a mistake I'm afraid you're going to make, Marye. You ought to have a family before you get to thinking that children would be a nuisance. I'd like a grandchild. With much love,
 MOTHER.

"Ideal Fashions" DAUGHTERS OF LIBERTY PLAN 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Daughters of Liberty No. 125 L.L.O.L. are making elaborate preparations for the celebration of their 25th anniversary. Mrs. Elizabeth Cavely, general chairman, and the various committees are bent on making the event which is scheduled for Friday evening, March 16, the most notable in the history of the Manchester branch of the organization. They have invited the members of Washington lodge to be their guests on this occasion and it is expected that many of the members of the organization will number several hundred.
 Distinguished guests expected include Mrs. Mary Henry, supreme grand mistress of the L.L.O.L., and her staff, also Mrs. Christina Milligan of Boston who instituted the local lodge.
 Miss Annie Tedford heads the committee who will put on a turkey supper in the banquet hall at 6:30. Mrs. Jennie Stratton will supervise the dining room arrangements and waitresses. Mrs. Ellen Bulla will have charge of the decorations. The reception committee will be formed of all the past mistresses of the lodge since its organization, under the leadership of Mrs. Sarah Tedford. Miss Martha Tedford is the present worthy mistress and ex-officio a member of all committees.
 Miss Margaret Turkington, chairman of the entertainment committee has not disclosed its plans beyond the announcement that Mrs. Ada N. Merrifield's Plectral orchestra has been engaged to provide music, and an excellent program will be presented.

Bows Lead to Chic In this one-piece frock of printed crepe, simplicity reaches perfection. Crisp bows on the blouse and at the wrists add to its chic. The shirred panels set on the skirt give unequalled softness. No. 1414 is designed for ladies in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 inches bust. Size 36 requires 5 1/2 yards 39-inch material. Price of pattern 15 cents.

HOME BUILDERS

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Wood of Miami Beach, Florida, have lived for three years in a little home-made 2 1/2 story house under the jack-knife bridge which Mr. Wood tends. They don't mind the surging traffic overhead, nor the water just 13 inches below their porch, nor the considerable publicity given their shower bath on the back porch.
 This is the old story of home-making. One's own home, planned and built by oneself, is home anywhere and forever. Just try budging the Woods, and see what happens!

FATHERS AND DAUGHTERS

The father and daughter theme "Petting" is utterly necessary if a girl is ever to have more than one date with the same boy, according to co-eds of the University of Iowa in a recent questionnaire, and, no doubt, according to co-eds everywhere. Why is it that, despite all our modernists who prattle about "the girl's independence," this petting question looms as large as in the days when no "nice girl" kissed a man unless there is some protective influence she was engaged to him? Can it stinct that even reason cannot remove?

The WOMAN'S DAY

Business women are unreliable, so much hashed and rehashed by the psychoanalysts these days, work as long as they feel like it, or it is personally necessary, and take time off or quit to take a trip or a rest or write a book whenever they can swing it, regardless of what happens to the employer or his business. If they do, and I guess they do, it's probably because they can. A man would if he could, but he generally has too many dependents. He works on, not through any more loyalty to the business, but because of personal necessity.

BIRD ORNAMENTS

A close-fitting beige ballbunt hat with deep crown has five tiny dark brown birds atop its turned-up narrow brim.
 Black smartness is achieved on a white ballbunt mushroom hat by a wing fashioned of wired-grograin ribbon.
 HALF-N-HALF
 For novelty a rough straw hat in natural straw has the smoothest of felt for one whole half of it, the dividing line running through the center front and back.

Laced Leather

A wide red leather bracelet trimmed with brass nailheads is a chic new note for sports. It laces on the inner side with leather thongs.

Daily Health Service HINTS ON HOW TO KEEP WELL

by World Famed Authority
PUPIL'S LUNCH IS IMPORTANT.
 By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN.
 Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.
 One of the questions which most disturbs mothers whose children go considerable distances to school is the provision of a satisfactory luncheon.
 Many mothers wish their children to come home to a hot lunch, but this is not always practicable, particularly in places where only thirty to forty-five minutes may be allowed for the lunch period. If the lunch time is so short that the child has opportunity only for dashing home, snatching a hasty meal, and returning at once, it is undoubtedly better to carry a suitable lunch and to eat it leisurely.
 What Experts Say.
 Nutrition experts give the following advice:
 When lunches must be carried to school it is wise to purchase some kind of thermos bottle or container in which one warm food can be carried. This hot dish may be cocoa, milk soup, vegetable stew, macaroni and cheese, stewed lima beans, or other similar easily prepared nourishing dish. In addition to a warm food the lunch should provide each of the following:
 1—Milk. At least one-half pint and butter. Milk. Ripe peaches. Cup cake.

 It must be remembered that merely packing the right lunch is not sufficient. Provision must be made at school for a suitable place and the right atmosphere in which to eat it, else the meal may be as hurried and unsatisfactory as before.

STATISTICIAN GIVES OUT DOPE ON "THE CIRCUS"

They Used Plenty of Stuff in Charlie's Latest, at the State On Sunday.

Some idea as to the physical magnitude of Charlie Chaplin's production, "The Circus," which comes to the State theater on Sunday may be had from figures compiled by George Webster, general statistician at the Chaplin studio.

Livestock housed at the Chaplin plant in Hollywood for a period of more than a year included elephants, lions, tigers, horses, mules, monkeys, pigs, dogs, cats, ducks, pigeons and geese. To properly feed and care for such an assortment of guests the commissary department was required to handle for many months a food bill that totalled more than sixty thousand pounds, the greater bulk of this being in beef and tons of hay, corn, carrots, potatoes and bread.

During filming of scenes under the circus tent and surrounding grounds, in some instances where 2,000 women, children and men were gathered, the necessary "fixings" for an assemblage of this character called for 3,000 gallons of lemonade; 3,622 bottles of soda pop; 2,662 bags of peanuts; 276 rolls of popcorn; 276 rolls of toilet paper; an equal number of rolls; 1,517 sticks of chewing gum; 1,282 lollypops and 1,806 pretzels.

Additional figures show that 23,000 yards of canvas; 1,900 tons of sawdust; 7,000 yards of rope; 42,000 feet of lumber and 14,000 gallons of water were required.

When this statement of facts was placed before Charlie for his scrutiny, the comedian dryly remarked, "A statistician's work must be most interesting. But I note we didn't use any butter!"

DOUBLE FILM BILL IS RULE AT CIRCUS

Two Today, Tomorrow and Sunday—All First Run Films.

Two features today, two tomorrow and two more on Sunday and Monday are scheduled for the little old Circle theater on Oak street. "The Gingham Girl," starring Bill Wilson and George K. Arthur, and "Shooting Irons," with Jack Luden in the leading role.

The lively "floor show" in a gay New York cabaret is shown in all its entrancing details in "The Gingham Girl."

A so-called "gold digger" is shown at work, but she is selected as her prey a "wise" young smart Aleck from a country town, and their battle of wits goes to make some of the most hilarious scenes ever shown on the screen.

The New York atmosphere of the production is further enhanced by many scenes of the notorious Greenwich Village, dealing not only with the futuristic artists of the district, but with the wild revels of a "studio party."

"Shooting Irons" from the pen of J. Walter Ruben and Sam Mintz, introduces a new Western star, Jack Luden, a six-foot Viking of the Lindbergh type, who "rides like a whirlwind, fights like a tiger and acts like a Barrymore."

It also introduces on a leading woman, Sally Blair, a member of Paramount's youngest and prettiest contract players, who was Wallace Beery's leading woman in "The Big Sneeze," and has been seen briefly in "Rollie Stockings" and "Service for Ladies."

PLANNING BIG CHANGES IN BROADCAST SYSTEM

Washington, Feb. 24.—Sweeping changes in the radio broadcasting system of the nation will be forced if Congress enacts the new radio bill of the House merchant committee, Rep. Davis, Democrat of Tennessee, said today.

The biggest changes would be required in the first zones, including New York and New England. That zone now has 35 per cent of all radio broadcasting power and this would be cut to 20 per cent under the bill, he said.

Having agreed to recommend passage of the Senate bill extending the life of the commission for one year, members of the merchant-gaine committee planned to ask for early consideration on the floor. Unless action is completed by March 16, the Radio Commission will become an appeal board and the Department of Commerce will take over its active work.

Close Scores Feature Opening Pool Matches

Ballsieper, Senkbell, Schaub and Nelson Win First Matches; Four More Tonight; Nelson's Score 100 to 97.

The opening matches in The Herald's first annual town championship pocket billiards tournament brought out a large gallery and resulted in some very keen competition. All four matches were decided by comparatively small margins.

The closest match of the evening found Jack Nelson, proprietor of the Park Billiards nosing out Bill Brennan 100 to 97 in a long drawn-out match which both men had several chances to win before Nelson finally did.

Charlie Schaub also had an interesting match with "Red" Jarvis, West Side Rec player. Both players missed several easy shots. The first fifty points of the match were fairly close but Schaub drew steadily away from his opponent as they went down the home stretch.

Tonight's matches bring together "Ducker" Carlson and Rudy Johnson in one match at seven o'clock and Louis Chagnot and Sam Herron in the other. At 8:30, or as soon as the first two matches are over, four others will take the tables. Their matches had not been arranged at this writing but will be during the day.

POOL TOURNAMENT

Editor, The Herald: In regard to the elimination pocket billiards tournament for the championship of the town we would like to see it right in our minds as to how it can be considered fair to the players who have not played on the tables being used. We think that the town championship at pocket billiards should be settled by a home and home match the same as The Herald bowling league—playing over north as well as over south the same night.

The Boys from God's Country over the Tracks. Editor's Note: This point was considered in arranging the tournament but since one defeat eliminates a contestant it is obvious that so-called "home and home" matches are out of the question. Upon going over the entry list it was decided that the tables at the Recreation Center which are used in the tourney are the closest to "neutral tables" that can be found in town.

Poquonock Stops Wapping 29 to 23

Poquonock turned back Wapping in the first of a series of three games last night on the latter's own floor. The score was 29 to 23, giving evidence of the hotly contested game that ensued.

Jerry Allard, former Connecticut Aggie star, was the big noise for the winners. He sunk six field goals and two fouls. Some of his shots were of the long variety. Owing to the strong defense which each team offered, many long shots were taken by the players.

The score at the end of the first half was 18 to 14 in favor of Poquonock. Johnny Boyle was the high scorer for Wapping. Next Thursday, Al Hubbard's Five of Hartford will play in Wapping.

The Masons sure got revenge from the West Side Rec in The Herald Bowling league last night, winning all three games and therefore all four points. When the teams met in the first round, the Rec won by the same margin in a surprise victory but last night, the league-leaders hit over 500 in every game. Seven pins decided the first game but the other two were not so close. Clarence Wickham led the Masons, Murphy et al, with scores of 114, 132 and 106. The 132 was high for the night.

Meanwhile the Cubs were suffered a shock when they were able to get only one point from the Knights of Columbus on the latter's own alleys. The stroke was a severe blow to the Cubs' pennant chances. They now trail the Masons by four points, but meet them the last night of the league. The Cubs, however, in order to have a chance, we must hang a defeat on West Hartford at the Rec gym tonight. Another victory over New Haven Commercial in that city tomorrow afternoon would make the chances very good. Teams are selected for the Yale tournament on a point basis. There are a possible 48 points. Manchester already has 40. A win tonight would increase it to 44 and that's the number which was sufficient to admit Manchester to the Yale Tourney last year. Whether it will this season or not, remains to be seen. It depends upon how many points other teams get. The first eight victories are counted for the points and in case of a tie in points, the ninth victory is brought into use. If Manchester wins tonight, it will be the eighth victory. Points are awarded according to the classification of a school. Home victories count one less point than those played away. In class A and B schools, the pass C and D, 4 and 3 are given. Manchester and West Hartford are class B teams. Manchester won over W. Hartford earlier in the season 18 to 14 on its own floor but the West Hartford team was without the services of several of its regulars. They will be in uniform tonight. All of which means that a large crowd will probably see the contest.

OFF IN CAMPS. New York, Feb. 24.—Headed by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, the first detachment of the New York Yankees leaves here today for training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla. The other members of the advance guard are catcher John Grabowski, Leo Duracher, St. Paul infielder who played with Springfield, Mass., last year, and Bill Eismann, former Syracuse University catcher. The home run twins are reporting early to improve their batting crbs. Other members of the Yankees and the Brooklyn Robins are enroute to their respective training camps today from various points. The Yankees plan to have 23 men start work on Monday, while Brooklyn expects 18.

Expect A $85,000 Gate At McLarnin-Terris Go

Despite Former's Record, the Odds Are With the East Side Boy—Jimmy Hard Put to Make Weight.

By DAVIS J. WALSH I. N. S. Sports Editor.

New York, Feb. 24.—Street merchants gibbered above the roar of the elevated as a baby boy came in to the world some 20-odd years ago in a gas-flat of the lower East Side and they called him Sid Terris. At or about the same time, a low-back car, coming out of the mists of the distant past, rattled over the cobbled streets of Belfast, Ireland, the music of its wheels played an obligato to the plaintive protest so unmistakable of the newly-born. Then all was still, even the dread cry of the pangs.

For the baby that was Jimmy McLarnin lived more or less happily ever after and even saw the day when he came to America, probably with the half-formed notion that the police force needed at least one more good man. But, happily, it didn't.

Nor did the streets of the East Side really need another business man, although by circumstance and environment Sid Terris seemed destined to grow bearded and modestly rich at the helm of his own push cart. But, happily, the streets didn't and Sidney didn't and so there will be 18,000 people at Madison Square tonight to see two careers, begun thousands of miles apart, bisect at 1800.

An $85,000 House They will meet under the glare of the ring lights in a ten round bout for the right to challenge for the world's lightweight championship and, if romance really is dead, then my story is a vain one, indeed. For these young men, so lowly of origin, now are of a rank sufficiently exalted to attract a matter of $85,000 into the house and one of them may yet know the day when a world's championship is his.

Terris, the East Side's own, generally is regarded as the man who will do this. This town is ever skeptical of the product who is so ill-advised as to do his winning elsewhere and so McLarnin's fight with La Barba, Villa, Fields, Sangor, Kaplan and Wallace apparently have not been accepted at face value. Neither have Terris' visitations upon the floor of the "best of Goldstein, Wallace and McGraw in recent fights."

They expect Sidney to outdance and outbox the invader and all week long have been backing their judgment at odds of 8 to 5, but it wouldn't be surprising if dollar for dollar prevailed when the two principals go to bat.

Outside of Terris' right hand, the only thing that may hurt McLarnin is the business of weight-making. He will have to do 135 pounds at two o'clock this afternoon and if may not be altogether a pleasure.

RAIN AND BOXING Every Thursday many local boxing fans go to Hartford to attend the bouts at Foot Guard hall. It has rained or snowed every Thursday night since the fights started. Last night it neither rained nor snowed. But there was a reason. There was no boxing show in Hartford.

SETBACK TOURNEY

The Business Men had the high score in last night's sitting of the Community Club setback tournament with 174 points and jumped from sixth into second place. Patterson and Heiser of Gammons-Holman Company were high individual scorers. The team total scores follow:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Points. E. E. Hilliard 821, Gammons-Holman Co. 782, Conn. No. 1 Firemen 777, Bon Ami 777, Conn. Sumatra 749, Glastonbury Knitting 737, Carlyle-Johnson Co. 724, Talcott Bros. 721, Improvement Club 557.

Tonight's schedule in the Community Club volley-ball league is as follows: E. E. Hilliard vs. Co. No. 2 7:00, Bon Ami vs. Business Men, 7:45, Conn. Sumatra vs. Co. No. 1, 8:30, Carlyle-Johnson vs. Gammons-Holman Co., 9:15.

RICKARD BACK HOME

New York, Feb. 24.—Tex Rickard here today after a vacation in Florida, said that whether Gene Tunney defends his title in June or later depends on the outcome of the two elimination bouts next month. If one of the winners disposes of his opponent by a knockout, Tunney will meet that man in June. If neither fight produces a sensational winner, the two survivors will meet in May.

Rickard is still guessing about Dempsey. He says Jack has retired but evidently believes he can be coaxed back for one more crack at Tunney next fall.

BENEFIT FOR BERNSTEIN

New York, Feb. 24.—Joe Bernstein, former ring idol now crippled by illness, will be given the gate receipts of a benefit boxing show held at the Broadway arena in Brooklyn last night. A series of four round bouts was put on for 2,000 spectators. Tony Canzoneri, featherweight champion, outpointed Pete Passanara and Corporal Izzy Schwartz, New York flyweight king, won the decision over Benny Hall, of St. Louis.

RISKO PUTS FORFEIT.

New York, Feb. 24.—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, has posted $5,000 with the New York Boxing Commission, as an appearance forfeit in his match with Jack Sharkey here on March 12. Italian Jack Herman and Jack Demave, of Caldwell, N. J., have agreed to act as sparring partners for Sharkey, who has started training in Boston.

NEW WOMEN'S RECORDS.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 24.—Two new world's records for women were made at the women's Metropolitan indoor track and field championships here last night. Miss Ethel Emmons of Paterson, N. J., leaped 8 feet 2 inches in the standing broad jump. Miss Mable Traver, of Brooklyn, hurled the shot 32 feet 6 inches in the 8-pound shot put.

COOKE AND GUARD

HEAD STATE BILL

Famous Comedians in "Legionnaires in Paris" Today and Tomorrow—Poia Negri, Too.

Al Cooke and Kit Guard, heroes and villains of many a two-reel comedy, have come into their own in a five-reel epic which will probably establish them in stardom for some time to come. This effort of theirs in "Legionnaires in Paris," one of the two features showing at the State theater today and tomorrow.

As two ex-doughboys sent abroad as delegates by their buddies in their local Legion post, Cooke and Guard trace a trail of fun and laughter through the French capital in their efforts to escape from a general who only wishes to decorate them for valor.

The comedians are supported by an excellent cast of popular screen players, including Louise Lorraine, Virginia Sale, John Aason, and others.

A strict portrayal of the spirit of the famous convention is assured by the fact that Cooke spent several weeks in Paris studying the actions of the Legionnaires on their return to the city of their former glories. The story is from the facile and humorous pen of Louis Sareky.

Poia needs no royal garb in which to display her emotional talent. In "The Secret Hour" she appeared first as a waitress and no one will deny that even a waitress may love and be loved. Her romance has its blossoming on the green and golden acres of an orange grove where she is wooed by Jean Harsholt and won by Kenneth Thomson. Harsholt is said to have a tremendous characterization in the production while Thomson wins new honors as a leading man.

The continued rise of the star of Negri is being watched with interest all over the world. Each succeeding picture eclipses the last and her latest is declared to be entertainment of a most interesting variety.

EDUCATORS GATHER

Boston, Mass., Feb. 24.—Educators to the number of 10,000 started today an invasion of this city. The 58th annual convention of the National Educational Association will open tomorrow and continue to March 1.

Over 300 speakers were scheduled to address the delegates at the 82 sessions in Mechanics Hall and the various high school and hotel auditoriums of the city. At the closing ceremony of the convention, Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh of Detroit, mother of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, will be made a life member of the organization and will be presented with a special medal. Col. Lindbergh will be in Boston at the time.

MOVIE STAR ILL

Hollywood, Calif., Feb. 24.—Suffering from what is declared to be a form of auto-intoxication, Alice Calhoun, motion picture actress, is facing the surgeon's knife at the Hollywood hospital, it was learned today. Her condition is said to be extremely serious.

LINDBERGH CONTINUES

HIS MYSTERY FLIGHT

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 24.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his party of four St. Louis businessmen were to take off today, weather permitting, from Selfridge Field on another mystery hop.

Secrecy envelopes Lindbergh's plans, although it is rumored that today's trip is a continuation of the undisclosed mission that brought him to the government field near Mt. Clemens for a conference with Major Thomas G. Lanphier, commandant of the first pursuit group and others.

Speculation today connects Lindbergh's mission with the report a new airway line is to be opened by Stout Air Services, Inc. one to carry express, mail and passengers from Chicago, to Albany, by way of Milwaukee, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse. Connection, it is said, is to be made at Albany with planes flying directly to New York.

Lindbergh and his party, consisting of Harry F. Knight, president of the St. Louis Flying Club; Major William B. Robertson; Harold M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and B. F. Mahoney, who built the "Spirit of St. Louis," left Selfridge Field last night to attend a banquet, the whereabouts of which were undisclosed.

BERLIN'S PALAIS DE DANSE GOES TO BANKRUPTCY

Berlin.—The "Palais de Danse," most luxurious dance hall in the world and for two decades the focal point of Berlin's night life, has announced bankruptcy. With its passing the German capital puts a punctuation mark at the end of an historical epoch.

Located in the Behren Strasse, at almost the geographical center of the city, the "Palais de Danse" was a sign of the importance of that section of the city. Today its bankruptcy, almost exclusively to be ascribed to the movement of business toward the West, is the death knell of the old Berlin "Zentrum."

It may safely be predicted that within another two decades the "Zentrum" with its world famous Unter den Linden, Brandenburger Tor, its still popular luxury hotels, and all the familiar scenes which fill the postcard albums of tourists, will be as dead as some of the forgotten boulevards of old Moabit. Streets Are Magnets

The great thoroughfares radiating from the Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial church are like magnets drawing business, visitors and money away from the old streets in the "Zentrum."

Farsighted merchants of the "Zentrum" have already established branches in the West, most of them on Berlin's new "Main Street," the Kurfurstendamm. None of the business men with headquarters in the "Zentrum" dare to spend much money on renovations and new buildings. All anticipate sooner or later being forced to move "out West to Charlottenburg."

The change was at first so gradual that few persons noticed it but in the last two years the movement westward has attained a velocity which brings it into the daily conversation of the Berliner. It has been remarked that if Charlottenburg had only waited another thirty or forty years it might absorb Berlin instead of the other way around. Certainly the tourist of 1940 will be better acquainted with Kurfurstendamm than with Unter den Linden.

Meanwhile the "Palais de Danse" momentarily in the public eye as chief sufferer from the westward migration, is being mourned by thousands who remember the days of its pre-war glory. Twenty years of its pre-war only drank champagne in the "Palais" and they only wore evening clothes. A man in a "Tux" would have been barred. It had to be swallow tails with a white tie and vest.

Known Over Europe

And twenty years ago the "Palais" was known throughout Europe for the beauty, sobriety, modesty, good manners, and yet vivacious friendliness of its 100 "Palais ladies," there to furnish dancing partners to the wealthy but single young bloods of the Guards regiments, and it was a rare party of Potsdam sports which did not end up within its halls.

Financial magnates, landed squires, foreign diplomats and aristocrats of every rank from the simple Baron to an occasional reigning Prince, were the guests who made common cause against boredom with the lady entertainers of the "Palais."

But Charlottenburg has put Berlin in the shade. Today it is the "Casanova," or the "Florida," the "Columbia," or the "Pi Pa Po," and nobody thinks of the poor old "Palais" which lost $500 a day during the holidays, and now, if the own-

NEW EXPEDITION TO SEEK PIRATE GOLD HID AT COCOS ISLAND

San Francisco.—Doubloon, pieces of eight, Cocos Island, the treasure trove of the Spanish main, formed a rene, ed topic of conversation on the waterfront here today as Captain Elmer Peterson of the fruit steamer Limon brought back the tale of another expedition bent on revealing the secret of the tropics.

Peterson bringing his ship from port Limon, Costa Rica, said that a group of adventure-seeking treasure hunters were equipping a craft with Cocos Island, a palm fringed dot 400 miles off the Central American coast as their objective.

"Cocos," according to maritime tradition is the supposed hiding place of an immense treasure cargo taken from Lima, Peru a couple of centuries ago on the schooner Mary Dyer, wrecked there," Captain Peterson said.

"Revolution threatened Lima. As a safe sleeping measure gold from the city's treasury was cached on the schooner in the harbor for safe keeping. The crew mutinied and weighing anchor, sailed away. The gold of Cocos, according to stories of deep sea men, claimed the hull of the Mary Dyer. The fate of its crew and cargo of golden coins has become a legend."

GAS LAW ILLEGAL

Springfield, Ill.—Feb. 24.—Illinois motorists won their fight to have the two cents per gallon gasoline tax erased from the statutes, when the State Supreme Court today handed down an opinion declaring the law invalid.

EUROPE HOPES NEW GASOLINE IS SAFETY FUEL

London.—Aviation and motor circles throughout Europe are greatly interested in a new type of gasoline, invented and perfected in France, which is supposed to be almost entirely non-combustible.

Experiments have shown that it is impossible to set fire to the liquid with a naked flame, nor does it ignite when it is splattered upon a red-hot metal surface. It is conceded that the discovery will have a tremendous effect in reducing the danger of fire both in aviation and in motoring, and the British Air Ministry is taking immediate steps to obtain full details with a view to ascertaining the possibilities of its use in the Royal Air Force.

French Discovery

The fuel is the discovery of M. Ferrier, an official of a French Government Department, who immediately handed over his patents to the French Admiralty. It was tried in French planes on flights of considerable distance, and found to be fully as useful as ordinary gasoline, with none of the latter's hazards.

Motor experts in London have experimented with the new gasoline and found that when a match was applied to the liquid, it was immediately extinguished. It was found that blotting paper soaked in the liquid would burn, but it did not flare up with explosive violence, as ordinary gasoline does.

The new "safety fuel" as it is called, is causing something of a sensation.

Increases Safety

Aeronautical experts point out that one of the greatest hazards of flying is the danger of fire, either in mid-air or in the case of a crash, and if the new gasoline lives up to its promises, this danger would be practically eliminated. A machine using this fuel might crash, the tanks might burst, and the fuel pour all over the hot engine and exhaust pipes without there being any risk of fire.

It is estimated that the British Government may attempt to use the new fuel in the engines of the giant dirigible R 100.

KILLS BOY IN DARE

Grand Haven, Mich., Feb. 24.—A bullet through the heart was the answer to Mary Plomondon, 10, to the challenge of William Schinn, 17-year-old high school student and football player, that she could not hit him with a .22 calibre rifle.

The shooting was accidental, according to coroner Henry J. Boer. He said there would be no inquest.

STRIKE IN SWEDEN

Stockholm, Feb. 24.—The employers' federation has decided upon a general lockout of all workers in sawmill and sulphate industries in Sweden on March 5 as the result of a three days' strike over wage demands, it was learned this afternoon. More than 20,000 pulp workers and iron ore miners already are on strike.

CONTINUED DRUG THEFTS CAUSE GREAT ANXIETY TO SCOTLAND YARD MEN

London.—Perpetual thefts of dangerous drugs from doctors are causing great anxiety to police headquarters at Scotland Yard.

Care belonging to doctors who undoubtedly being continuously shadowed by a gang, and should the doctor leave his car unattended for a moment, anything contained in it is almost certain to be stolen, just on the chance that drugs may be there.

In addition, many doctors' houses have been mysteriously robbed recently, and anything in the shape of drugs stolen.

Since the police tightened up the system, so that the smuggling of drugs into England from the Continent had become almost impossible, drug addicts have been ready to pay almost any price for the dope required.

W. B. ROGERS REPLIES TO BOARD OF RELIEF

Editor, The Herald:
"A hit bird flutters."
And, then, there is that old French adage: "He who excuses himself accuses himself."
The esteemed Board of Relief will find consolation in either expression.
And what a brave Board of Relief. Having decided to rise up in defense of its work the Board bravely votes to sign its self-applied "Whitewash." "The Board of Relief."
Oh, thanks for the compliment. If I really dominate Albert T. Dewey and Edward J. Murphy, the other two members of the Board of Police Commissioners, I am surely entitled to great credit. But, my genial friends, drop around some pleasant evening and try and sell either Mr. Dewey or Mr. Murphy a viewpoint with which they are not in absolute accord. The one who contributed that paragraph to the literary masterpiece in The Herald should meditate over saying: "Oh Lord how little we know about those things about which we think we know everything."
As to the criticisms which were chronicled by fingers manipulating typewriter keys, and not from a "Bombastic pen," they were not original with me. Rather, they were passed on to me by town officials who happen to know that working people have complained that sessions of the Board of Relief are held to a large extent when people are at work.
If you are right in holding practically all of your sessions during the day, why does the board of selectmen hold all of its public meetings in the evening and not at 6 p. m. either but at 8 p. m.?
Now as regards your work, it is just possible that I will personally check up upon some of your decisions and discuss them. If your estimable board is functioning efficiently how is it that complaining taxpayers have had reason to appeal to the board of selectmen?
So get together again boys and write another defense article and be sure and sign it "The Board of Relief." Else, the taxpayers might know who comprises what is supposed to be an impartial board.
Just an after-thought, I am wondering if such words as "disparagement," "Bombastic," "meteculous" and "Phraseology" emanated from any member of the Board of Relief or if Papa wrote the letter?
I wrote the above and unashamed of it I am signing it with just an ordinary and not a Bombastic pen.
WILLARD B. ROGERS.

"ARMY-NAVY" PLAN

Editor, The Herald:
To correct an apparent misunderstanding in regard to the conference of merchants Tuesday morning in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, I wish to state that it was called simply for the purpose of allowing the merchants to gain a clear understanding of the method of operation of the Association of Army and Navy Stores, Inc.
No representative of the Dilworth-Cornell Post, as such, was invited to be present.
An attempt was made to get a representative of the Association from the Hartford office to attend the conference and explain the workings of their plan. On being unsuccessful in this attempt, Frank E. Zimmerman was invited to sit in with the merchants and explain the methods and workings of the Association.

NEW HAVEN COMPANY IS SUING STAMFORD

Stamford, Conn., Feb. 24.—Lathrop & Shea Company of New Haven, today brought suit against the City of Stamford for damages of $16,000, the suit growing out of the building of sanitary sewers on West Broad street and Rachelle avenue after a contract signed November 24, 1925.
The Lathrop & Shea Company claim $5,580 because of extra rock encountered on the job, declaring that they had to blast out 1,116 yards more than the specifications furnished by city engineers showed. The balance is claimed because of "an unreasonable and unwarranted number of men on the job" and because of "an unreasonable and unwarranted amount of time put in because of the demands of inspection, and was present as a representative of the Association, and NOT of the Legion."
The plaintiffs contend that the city engineer and his assistant assured the contractors that any extra work put in on the job or any extra time would be paid for by the city.
David E. Fitzgerald, former mayor of New Haven, brought the suit.

WOMEN TO CONTEST IN ENDURANCE RIDE

Denver.—For the first time in seven years, the endurance ride to be held next September at Broadmoor, will have two women contestants. Mrs. A. C. Thompson of Chicago, who captured many prizes in the 1928 National Western Stock Show in Denver both in the riding and driving events, will ride her own mount. Josephine Wickles, college girl of Colorado Springs, who won honors at the frontier days exhibition at Cheyenne, Wyo., last summer, also has entered.

The endurance race at Broadmoor has been held annually for the last seven years under the auspices of the United States Army Remount Service.

The ride, lasting for five days, covers a distance of sixty miles per day in the minimum time of nine hours, with a minimum load of 200 pounds on the horse, including the saddle. The first prize is a silver cup and $300.

WRANGLE IS READY TO FIGHT THE REDS

Commander of White Army Says He Has 40,000 Men at His Call Now.

Brussels, Feb. 24.—Baron Wrangle, who commanded one of the White armies which tried to overthrow the Russian Soviet government, told International News Service today that he is only awaiting another opportunity to return to Russia at the head of an army of 40,000 men under his command. He says they are scattered over Europe but will unite when he gives the command. Baron Wrangle says he is "patiently waiting until the Russians rise up against Bolshevism and they rise against Carlism." He claims that his fight is not actually against the Soviets "but is to give the Russians their liberty."

Baron Wrangle broke his silence of nearly ten years when he received the correspondent at his villa in Uccles, near Brussels, where he has been living in seclusion writing a history of his White Army.

HUNGARIANS REFUSE TO OBEY THE LEAGUE

Geneva, Feb. 24.—Hungary has refused to comply with the request of the League of Nations Council that the machine guns shipped into that country from Italy be held as "evidence" for the League investigation next month, it was learned this afternoon. It is not certain whether the Hungarians have sold the machine guns or ordered them destroyed. There were between 500 and 600 cases in the shipment.

The incident has aroused a great deal of criticism.

It is felt in League circles that Hungary's action will force the League as a whole to act. Hungary has weakened her middle European position. It is understood that the support she has been receiving from Germany and Italy has been withdrawn.

SUES FOR INJURIES IN FALL OFF TEETER

Buckland District Blamed By Father For Providing Apparatus.

Papers have been served on the officers of the Seventh school district in Buckland by counsel for Truman W. Annis, who is suing the district for $5,000 damages for a broken arm said to have been suffered on the Buckland playground by his daughter, Madeline, 7 years old. The suit is returnable to the superior court on the first Tuesday in March. So far, no property of the district has been attached.

The accident, according to officials of the district, occurred last September when the girl fell off a teeter-board at the playground. She suffered a broken arm and it is alleged in the complaint that the disability resulting is permanent.

The plaintiff's claim that the committee, in purchasing the apparatus and turning it over to the children at the playground for use, is liable, it is not asserted that the teeter-board was defective.

Papers have been served on the committee, Andrew J. Healy, David Armstrong, Edward P. Stein, and on the clerk and treasurer, Charles J. Balch.

They were picked up in Hartford this morning and the Coleman boy was returned to his home.

LOSES HIS HOME HERE BY SECOND RUNAWAY

Johnny Flynn, Roamer, Takes Small Pal With Him; Found In Hartford.

Johnny Flynn, ten-year-old orphan boy, robbed himself of a good home here yesterday, when he skipped away from school in the afternoon and stayed away all night. He was found in Hartford this morning by police of that city but has been "recalled" by the Wisconsin Bureau of Social Service at Hartford. He will either be kept there or another home will be found for him.

Johnny had made his home with Mr. and Mrs. John Tierney at 59 Park street, who took him at the request of the Diocesan bureau, and he attended the Parochial school. He proved to be of the type that likes to roam and do about as it pleases. Yesterday was the first time he had run away from home for no special reason at all.

Yesterday, he and George, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Coleman of 78 Maple street, who also attends the same school, decided they would play hockey for the afternoon. They didn't return to their homes and as a consequence the police were notified. They in turn notified Hartford police because the Flynn boy has an aunt living in West Hartford and it was thought that the boys might have started in that direction.

They were picked up in Hartford this morning and the Coleman boy was returned to his home.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (220) Dragons of the Deep

Sketches by Bessey; Synopsis by Braucher

Long ago men wrote weird tales of dreadful sea-serpents. Most of the stories were inventions and many of the beliefs about sea-monsters which our forefathers held in the Middle Ages were like the superstitions held by savages today. The picture above is a copy of an old engraving, showing a sea-serpent attacking a ship.

LETTER GOLF

ONE FOR YOUR SHOEHORN

It's hard to make a 4AAA shoe fit a 6B foot in the shoe store, but on the letter golf links sizes don't count. Any SHOE fits any FOOT after three gentle tugs. One solution is another page:

Word puzzle grid with letters S, H, O, E, F, O, O, T.

THE RULES

- 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
2—You can change only one letter at a time.
3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.
4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

THE TINYMITES STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

When all the rubber men were through with doing tricks, one said, "Now you can come with us 'cause you've been nice and treated us real well. We're going to walk through rubber town, first up one street and then right down the next. And things you want to know, we'll very gladly tell."
"O-h, thank you," said the Tinymites. "We're always glad to see new sights. We will not ask too many things for fear we'll tire you out. 'Twill be real fun to trail along, for all of us are feeling strong."
And then the little journey started off with merry shout. One rubber man said, "There's a tree that is as limber as can be. Why, you can bend the branches till they reach down to the ground. It's made of rubber. That is why."
Then Scouty said, "I guess I'll try." And when he let the branches go, they snapped back with a bound. And then they met some rubber bands with whom the Tinies all shook hands. "My goodness me, but you are thin," said Clowny, with a smile. "Of course we are," one small band said. "I haven't even got a head, but with my little body I can stretch about a mile."
This made the Tinies laugh out loud. The rubber bands were very proud, and off they walked, and left the Tinies standing in the street. Just then a rubber man yelled, "Say, someone is coming down our way." A water bottle was the next the Tinies had to greet. They found the water bottle kind. "In me," it said, "I'm sure you'll find a very friendly playmate. I will gladly lend a hand, in helping you to sleep tonight. Now tuckle up to me. That's right." And soon the little Tinymites were all in slumberland.

SAFETY RESEARCH

John B. Lamenzo, of Walnut Street, Chemist For Hartford Insurance Company.

The Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company of Hartford, Connecticut, has just issued a booklet called "Spray Coatings—Its Hazards and Safeguards." This publication is the result of a comprehensive investigation into the health and property hazards connected with the use of spray lacquers conducted by John B. Lamenzo, of 11 Walnut street, this town, a chemical engineer in the company's research department. Frederick C. Russell of Hartford, whose popular articles on the automobile and radio industries have appeared in hundreds of newspapers throughout the country, collaborated with Mr. Lamenzo.

John B. Lamenzo

The company explains its object in issuing the booklet in the following foreword:

"Believing that a development as meteoric as spray lacquering warrants special consideration by those actively engaged in it, and convinced through recent events of the need for public recognition of the special hazards involved in this popular process, we have prepared the following brief account of the nature of lacquer and the special care required in its use.

"The subject, in all of its details, is one that cannot be covered in the brief space of this booklet but it is our thought that, based as it is upon the research and special investigation made by this Company, the message of the following pages should provide for employers, employees and property owners a simplified yet authoritative guide to safer and more profitable activity in this new and growing branch of the paint industry."

The booklet contains a number of interesting illustrations including a chart which shows that the production of lacquer has increased tenfold in three and a half years. All are the results of the local chemist's research work.

In calling attention to the dangerous properties of nitro-cellulose prior to its conversion into lacquer as well as when atomized from a spray gun, the authors refer to the fact that one kilogram of nitro-cellulose with 13 per cent nitrogen content is capable of doing 38 per cent more work than an equal amount of black powder. "In other words," to quote the booklet, "if a ven amount of black powder could blow down a 41-story skyscraper, an equal amount of nitro-cellulose would theoretically do away with a building 66 stories high."

Both charts and photographs are used to show the proper construction of spray booths and the correct arrangement for these booths for continuous spraying operations such as are necessary in the coating of automobiles.

Each booklet is accompanied by a poster containing twenty useful suggestions to concerns using the spray lacquering process. These suggestions will not only be helpful to property owners but to their foremen and workmen.

Readers of The Herald are asked to write to the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company, Hartford, Connecticut, if they wish to receive a free copy of the new booklet.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Freshman issue of Somanthis Events was distributed yesterday. This issue was dedicated to Raymond McIntosh of the class of 1931, who died November 15, last. The issue also contains the prize-winning sonnet "The King" by Albert Eels and the prize winning humorous story "Swallowing a Fly" by Lucille Clarke.

successful season. Helen Dalton has been awarded a silver Royal award for typing 44 net words per minute. Although official reports have not yet been issued it is expected that the proceeds from the carnival last Tuesday will amount to more than $600. Much credit is due to the various group leaders and clubs for putting over the affair. It was the most successful venture ever put on in the history of the school.

The third of a series of plays was presented yesterday by the Soc and Buskin club. The play, "The Patriot," by Katharine S. Burgess was also presented Wednesday at a D. A. R. meeting. The cast is as follows: William Gower, an old man, Raymond Benson
