HAYS EXPLAINS SINCLAIR GIFT TO REPUBLICANS

Ex-Chairman of National Committee Says He Got Gift of $75,800 and $185- 000 Loan.

Washington, March 1.—Harry F. Sinclair, lessor of the Teapot Dome oil field gave the Republican national committee $260,000 in Liberty Bonds in 1923. Will H. Hays, former chairman of the Republican national committee, testified today before the Senate public lands committee.

The Sinclair donation included a gift of $75,800, and a loan of $185,000 Hays said. Both sums were in government bonds.

Hays declared Sinclair was repaid $100,000 of the $185,000 loan so that the oil king's gifts totaled only $160,000, all in government bonds.

Whether the bonds were from the Continental Trading Company Hays said he did not know.

Some more light on the Republican national committee's high financing was furnished by William Wallace, Jr., of New York, counsel for William Boyce Thompson, the New York multi-millionaire, who was chairman of the Republican Party's ways and means committee during the 1920 campaign.

Thompson's loan
Thompson loaned the committee $130,000 during the campaign, Wallace testified, and later gave the committee $60,000 toward paying off the loans. Both loans were made through other people so that the record would not show Thompson's connection with them. One loan of $100,000 was made in the name of H. E. Dodge, a Thompson employe, and one of $60,000 in the name of Margaret T. Schultze, his daughter.

Wallace denied that Thompson had used Liberty Bonds in these transactions. He said Thompson severed all connection with the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Company in 1922.

Wallace said the loans were made in October, 1920, and payments on them were made in Jan. 21, 1922 and Jan. 13, 1922.

Hays declared the original Sinclair gift of $75,000 was turned over to the Empire Trust Co. Of the $185,000 borrowed from Sinclair, Hays said, $60,000 was turned over to Fred W. Upham, of Chicago, western treasurer of the Republican national committee, $25,000 was sent to former Secretary of War John W. Weeks, of Boston, to be used to pay off a deficit in New England, while $50,000 was given

ALL ITALY MOURNS PASSING OF DIAZ

Commander of All Italian Armies During War Dies In Rome.

Rome, March 1.—This city was shrouded in sadness today as thousands of mourners paid homage at the bier of Marshal Armando Diaz, the man who commanded all the Italian armies during the World War.

Among the first to pay his respects to the departed warlord was King Victor Emmanuel. He was received at nine o'clock this morning by the generals comprising the mounted guard of honor about the coffin, in which the renowned soldier's body, fully uniformed and bedecked with all his decorations, lay in state.

Prior to his visit to the bier, the king had sent an emissary to convey his condolence to the family of the late marshal. Premier Mussolini similarly sent a special emissary.

Mussolini at Bier
Premier Mussolini and Governor Potenziani, of Rome, visited Marshal Diaz's bier at noon. Immediately afterward it was reported that the body would be removed to the Unknown Soldier's tomb, there to lie in state in public to allow the people to view the remains.

Today Mussolini will deliver an eulogy in honor of the man who was held in the hearts of all Italians in a place comparable only to that held by General Pershing in America and Marshal Foch in France. During the World War, Marshal Diaz became renowned as the general who stemmed the Austrian tide after the disaster of Caporetto and later launched the Italian offensive which brought Austria to terms a week before Germany signed the Armistice.

HAD BUT $7; NO WEDDING

Bride-to-Be Starts for Home When Police Search Her Sweetheart's Pockets.

Stamford, Conn., March 7.—The elopement of Max Gerber, 25, of 65 West 181st street, and Sonia Israel, 21, of 872 East 162nd street, New York, ended suddenly today when Miss Sonia went back to New York by train and Gerber drove his car back alone.

Police, suspecting the pair might be in a stolen car, halted them early this morning and took them to headquarters, called New York and Gerber told police he was a "butter and egg man" in the city, that he and Sonia had started from New York late at night to be married at Greenwich, and landed at Stamford without realizing they had passed Greenwich. While Gerber was talking, police searched him and found seven dollars in cash as well as the money he had.

Meanwhile, when everything had been straightened out, Sonia accepted another escort to the depot and boarded a train for home. She insisted she hadn't proposed though the elopement started on "Leap Year Day."

MOTHER OF LINDY TO BE DECORATED

For Once the "Lone Eagle" Will Not Be Center of At- traction.

Boston, Mass., March 1.—Seldom perhaps never before in history, have so many persons sought tickets to a schoolteachers' convention as today were clamoring for pasteborders admitting to the concluding session this evening of the annual convention of the National Education Association.

Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh is to be cited for "characteristics of modesty and idealism, an outstanding work in the teaching profession." And her son, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the idol of the nation, is to watch the educators at the convention today, a moment which will honor his beloved mother.

Twenty thousand delegates are here for the convention and Mechanic's building—the convention hall—seats only 8,000. Aside from attending the regular various sessions of the convention today, a number of delegates swarmed about S. D. Shankland, secretary of the department of superintendence, to whose unlucky lot fell the work of ticket distribution.

Elaborate Plans
Under Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley, the police department had drawn up elaborate plans for handling the crowds who want to see "Lindy" and his mother. Superintendent Crowley assigned 325 patrolmen to protect the mother and son from over zealous admirers.

The dark and misty forenoon found a squad of police stationed at the airport awaiting the arrival of the "Lone Eagle" from Schenectady, New York.
"Lindy" for once is not the star of tonight's affair. His mother is to be honored by her fellow-craftsmen. In tonight's ceremony, Mrs. Lindbergh will receive a certificate and gold key, signifying life membership in the National Education Association. This is a gift from the Department of Superintendence, for which the treasury of that department is paying the association the usual fee of $100 for life membership. The citation to Mrs. Lindbergh with the announcement of

FEAR MORE DEATHS IN COAL MINE FUED

Pittston, Pa., Virtually Under Martial Law Following Double Murders; Expect Trouble.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 1.—One short word held the embattled mining community of Pittston in a grip of fear today. Authorities were openly apprehensive for the safety of officials of the United Mine Workers of America. Fearing that friends of Alex Campbell and Peter Soudargus, slain in a recent strike, might seek the lives of union administration officers.

Pittston was virtually under martial law while authorities stood ready for the first outbreak of hostilities in the feud torn town. Public gatherings are forbidden—the town waits hopefully for an answer from John L. Lewis to the appeal of Mayor William H. Gillespie that the mine union president come here to bring peace to the warring factions. Four men have been killed in the bitter struggle, a fifth wounded, and a long visit of bombings have resulted.

POLICE GIVE OUT NAMES IN TORCH MURDER

Photographs of Two Men Identified As Friends Of Miss Brown—One a Doctor.

New York, March 1.—The identities of two men, both of foreign birth, wanted for arson in connection with the past of Margaret Brown, whose body was burned near Barnardsville, N. J., ten days ago, were announced today by police.

One is Dr. Louis Clement, a mysterious figure whose claim to a discovery of a "gasoline substitute," stirred the scientific world some time ago. He is said to have met the slain governess about five weeks ago through an accident.

The other is Harry Seigal, 39, alleged fugitive from justice from Bayonne, N. J., where he is said to face charges of larceny.

The photograph of Dr. Clement, who is also well-known as Agas Schmidt, is said to have been shown to friends of the late Miss Brown by Inspectors John D. Coughlin and Arthur Carey and identified as the man in whose company she had been seen several times before her disappearance.

All Traces Lost
All trace of the man has been lost. Early this month he was registered under another name in Allentown, Pa., the police say. This is the last record of him.

One of the first of this month he was in Bethlehem, Pa., where he attempted vainly to interest the Bethlehem steel Corporation in his fuel invention.

The man is supposed to have left Allentown on February 12, leaving a California city as his forwarding address, but telling friends that he was coming to New York first.

His last known address in New York was at 185 Madison avenue. Here the agent said today he did not know Clement, but identified his picture as the man who had been the Good Oxide Company in the building a year ago and received his mail. The company which later changed its name to that of the National Industries, Inc., moved to somewhere in New Jersey, the agent said.

5 O'CLOCK TODAY STRIKE DEADLINE

If No Agreement is Reached At That Hour Subway Workers Will Quit.

New York, March 1.—Five o'clock this afternoon is the deadline at which officials of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway employees will take action unless peace overtures are made by the Interborough Rapid Transit.

At that time, unless the company indicates a willingness to take back the twenty union men discharged by the executive committee stated it would call a general meeting of the amalgamated members for tomorrow or tomorrow night. This meeting, it was said, in all probability will result in the voting of an immediate strike.

Police officials have taken concerted measures to prevent disorders and facilitate the daily travel of the city's millions during the emergency.

Many private concerns are hastening plans to transport their employes by bus.

Princess's Husband
IN MORE TROUBLES
Man Who Wed Sister of Ex-Kaiser Now Said to Be a Bigamist.

Berlin, March 1.—While Princess Victoria Zu Schaumburg-Lippe, was denying today that she would divorce her 27-year-old husband Alexander Zoubkoff, rumors of fresh scandal gathered about the name of the Russian emigre.

Mrs. Coogan Named in Suits

Mrs. Lillian Coogan, mother of Jackie Coogan, the million-dollar movie boy, has been named as co-respondent in a divorce suit filed by Mrs. Corabel Bernstein of Los Angeles, wife of Arthur Bernstein, business manager of the Jackie Coogan Pictures Corporation.

The film juvenile's mother also was made defendant in a $750,000 alienation of affections suit filed by Mrs. Bernstein. Mrs. Coogan, who has announced she will fight the case, is shown at the top with Jackie and her husband, and below with Priscilla Moran, the little girl the Coogans adopted several years ago.

Boston Terrier Welcomes Arrival Of Mrs. Coolidge

Northampton, Mass., March 1.—"peans," the presidential Boston terrier, barked and danced a welcome to Mrs. Calvin Coolidge when she returned home today to visit her sick mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, 78.

The White House terrier was on the front lawn of the modest Coolidge home on Massachusetts street when Mrs. Coolidge drove up from the railroad station in the automobile of Ralph Jager, local business man, escorted by two mounted state policemen.

LAND CONDEMNED TO SECURE PARK

160 Acres Added to Mt. Carmel State Park in the Town of Hamden.

Hartford, Conn., March 1.—The attorney-general's office here today started condemnation proceedings on behalf of the state park and forest commission to secure seven pieces of land, totalling 160 acres, to be added to the Mount Carmel state park in the town of Hamden.

Court action was necessary, the attorney-general's office announced, because the property owners and the state park and forest commission could not agree upon a price for the land the commission needed.

The attorney-general expected to send an assistant to New Haven late this afternoon to ask Judge Isaac Wolfe, of the Superior Court, to sign the order necessary to start the proceedings. Judge Wolfe is sitting today in Waterbury.

Property owners involved in the affair are Major Phelps Montgomery, Judge Livingston W. Cleveland, Irene W. and Ernest Brackett, and John Joseph and William Dwyer, of New Haven; Caroline T. Mann, and Howard H. Bradley, of Mount Carmel, and William H. Avis, of Whitneyville.

N. Y. SEWER SCANDAL
Albany, N. Y., March 1.—Supreme Court Justice Townsend Scudder today was disqualified as an investigator in the Queen's county sewer graft scandal, under a decision handed down by the Court of Appeals.

LOST PLANE'S MOTOR FAILED WITNESS SAYS

Fisherman Declares He Heard Engine Skipping Over Bay But Did Not See Machine.

Washington, March 1.—Hope for the rescue alive of Commander T. G. Ellyson, executive officer of the airplane carrier Lexington, and his companions, Lieut. Commander Hugo Schmidt and Lieut. Rogers Ranshousen, wanted today among Navy officials as the third gigantic aerial searching party returned unsuccessful.

The waters of Chesapeake Bay and the coast of nearby states have been searched for the fliers who left Hampton Roads, Va., Monday morning at 2 o'clock for Annapolis. An oil slick on the waters of the Bay near Horn Harbor, was thought to be a trace of the fliers, but the dragging of the bottom failed to reveal whether the big amphibian plane sank there.

Heard Motor
Irvine Hudgins, a fisherman, reported at Norfolk, Va., that he heard the motor of an airplane at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning approximately three miles from where the slick was found. The motor of the plane was missing, he reported, but after passing him the engine picked up and a few minutes later the drone of the machine ceased to be heard.

Mrs. Hugo Schmidt, of Brooklyn, wife of Lieutenant Commander Schmidt, notified the Navy Department she is offering a $1,000 reward for definite information leading to the recovery of the plane or bodies of the three officers. Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations, already had offered a $100 reward.

Many Searchers
About 46 aircraft, including two army blimps from Langley Field were in the air at one time today as there was the slightest hope of finding the men or their bodies the search would be continued.

Direct Admiral Robert E. Coontz, directing the search from Hampton Roads, reported to the Navy Department that three witnesses had been found, who said they heard the missing motor of an airplane at about 2:30 o'clock Monday morning in Horn Harbor, and that shortly after sounds of the machine stopped. He advised that he had decided to concentrate the search on the harbor, and that the water would be dragged over a reasonable area as soon as possible.

NO MOTOR BUS LINE FOR QUIET STREET

New Haven Residents Win Fight Before Public Utilities Commission.

Hartford, Conn., March 1.—"Comforts and property" rights of the individual desiring quiet residential surroundings should be protected against invasion of public enterprises," the Public Utilities Commission today declared in handing down a decision refusing to permit a motor bus line to operate through Prospect street, New Haven.

Both the Connecticut Company and the Orange Street Bus Line Inc., sought a franchise to operate between Chapel and Temple streets, New Haven, through College and Prospect streets to the Hamden town line.

John Day Jackson, New Haven newspaper publisher, fought the lines. In commenting on the situation, the commission says: "Testimony presented at the formal hearing and letters filed both before and after established the fact that by far the greater number of residents on Prospect street, which is the principal portion of the route, were opposed to the service and would not patronize it if a franchise were granted and the route established."

The commission pointed out that the opponents desired to live in peace on Prospect street and then ruled that "comforts of the individuals should be protected."

BISSELL REAPPOINTED
Bridgeport, Conn., March 1.—Harvey P. Bissell, of Ridgefield, today started his second consecutive four year term as collector of customs for the Connecticut district. Justice John W. Banks, of the Supreme Court of Errors, went to Collector Bissell's office in the federal building and administered the oath of office. There was no ceremony in connection with the event.

INSTITUTE DEMOLAY CHAPTER SATURDAY

Ceremonies at Masonic Tem- ple Beginning 4:30 p. m.; Masons Can Attend.

John Mather chapter, Order of DeMolay, which is being sponsored by Manchester lodge of Masons, will be instituted here Saturday afternoon. The ceremonies will take place in the Masonic Temple beginning at 4:30 p. m. Saturday and any Master Mason is welcome to attend.

The waters of Chesapeake Bay and the coast of nearby states have been searched for the fliers who left Hampton Roads, Va., Monday morning at 2 o'clock for Annapolis. An oil slick on the waters of the Bay near Horn Harbor, was thought to be a trace of the fliers, but the dragging of the bottom failed to reveal whether the big amphibian plane sank there.

Institution ceremonies will be first on the program and will be conducted by Deputy C. M. Gerdenier of Bridgeport as grand master, members of the Order of DeMolay chapter, and the rest of the chairs filled by past master councillors of Charter Oak chapter of Hartford. The institution of John Mather chapter will be followed by the installation of the first officers of a Manchester DeMolay chapter.

George Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nelson of Middle Turnpike East, who has been master of Charter Oak chapter of Hartford, has been transferred to John Mather chapter and will be the local chapter's first master councillor. Mr. Nelson will be remembered by Masons as the young man who occupied the chair during the DeMolay work in the Masonic temple on Friday, Nov. 18. The rest of the officers will be announced later.

A luncheon will be served the visiting officers of the Order of DeMolay, members of the Hartford chapter, and local members at 6:30. Manchester lodge of Masons is to serve the luncheon to the boys.

Work Degrees
At 7:30 Saturday evening in the main lodge room the initiatory and DeMolay degrees will be worked on a group of Manchester candidates. The newly installed officers of John Mather chapter will confer the initiatory degree and the officers of Charter Oak chapter, of Hartford.

POWERS WOULD TIGHTEN CHINA'S ARMS EMBARGO

Despite Treaty, Machine Guns, Pistols and Planes Are Being Shipped These Days.

Peking, March 1.—Continued shipment of arms and munitions into China for use by the factional armies engaged in warfare led to predictions in diplomatic circles today that the arms embargo signed in 1919 may be reconsidered and tightened.

The powers that signed the arms embargo convention were the United States, Great Britain, Japan, Italy, France, Russia, Spain, Portugal, Netherlands, Denmark, Belgium and Brazil.

After nine years of operation the embargo is being denounced as a failure, for civil war has steadily increased and it has been waged with arms and munitions shipped from abroad.

Five Killed and Eight Wound- ed When Sandino's Men Surprise Them in Jungles; Machine Guns Sweep Ma- rines as They Carry Sup- plies to Comrades—List Of the Dead and Wound- ed.

Managua, Nicaragua, March 1.—Get Sandino!
This cry rang through the hills of Nicaragua today as the United States marine forces redoubled their efforts to capture the guerrilla leader whose latest sally against the "Devil Dogs" resulted in the death of five men and the wounding of eight others.

Airplanes zoomed from the valleys to the mountain tops and flew low over the jungles while observers scoured the countryside with field glasses for clues to the whereabouts of the rebel band responsible for the latest American losses.

Scouts penetrated deeply into the jungle over little-used trails in a wide search for General Sandino and his followers.

Meanwhile the wounded were being rushed to Condega. The dead are believed to have been buried near Darail where the bandits fired from a ranch house upon a pack train commanded by Lieutenant Edward F. O'Day, of New Hampshire, and consisting of 36 marines, six Nicaraguan muleros and ninety miles with provisions of another outfit.

The attack occurred Monday afternoon but the names of the dead and wounded were not ascertained until today.

The dead
Private John C. Pump, Council Bluffs, Iowa.
Private George E. Robbins, San Antonio, Texas.
Private Albert Schlauch, Jamestown, N. D. Schlauch was not killed instantly but died the day following the ambush after desperate efforts had been made to save his life.

Private Curtis J. Mott, Trenton, Washington.
Corporal Cicero D. Austin, Crockett, Texas.
Wounded in Action
Private L. M. Davis, Nixon, Texas, condition serious.
Sergeant Wilbourne E. Cristian, Northport, Alabama.
Sergeant Charles Hisham, Longmire, Washington.
Private Lewis E. Ballard, next to kin, his mother, Mrs. Ada A. Turner, Troy, N. Y.
Private Raymond B. Carter, Payson, Utah.
Private Peter C. Crum, Omaha, Neb.
Private Linton C. Maynard, Ranger, Texas.
Private Clarence E. Philane, Portland, Col.

The Latest Ambush by Sandino's forces now brings the total number of marines killed since last May up to twenty-one.

First News of Attack
The first word of the ambush was brought to Yall early Tuesday morning by two marines sent back by Lieut. O'Day. The commanding officer at Yall promptly sent out a panel signal which Captain Robert J. Archibald, a marine aviator, picked up while on daily patrol.

The news was brought here yesterday by marine aviators who flew over the survivors of the pack train, which was proceeding to Condega.

Reinforcements were rushed from Yall but in the meantime, Captain McNulty, commanding a detachment of 35 marines, going east from Condega over the same road on another mission, met Day's outfit and rendered assistance.

Carrying Supplies
O'Day's pack train left Bitell last week with supplies for the Yall detachment and was returning to Condega when attacked.
Machine gun fire from a farm house at the top of a hill near Darail took the marine detachment entirely by surprise. The men which pack trains before they had a chance to find cover.
Just such an attack had long been feared at marine headquarters because it is impossible to protect such outfits from being ambushed in the mountainous regions through which pack trains supplying outlying detachments must pass.
The exact whereabouts of Sandino can only be guessed at. He was last reported seen going toward the river Coco, with his chief of staff, General Montoya, a Honduran, and two hundred guerrillas, in the middle of February.

TICKETS OUT FOR "HAUNTED HOUSE"

Town Players to Give Second Production of Season at the Circle March 14.

Tickets have been distributed for the second play of the Town Players for this season, "The Haunted House," which will be given at the Circle theater on Wednesday evening, March 14, under the auspices of the Manchester Girl Scout Council.

"The Haunted House" is a three-act play by Owen Davis, noted author of several Broadway successes, and enjoyed a long run in New York a few years ago.

It is the story of a young married couple who come to a Southern Connecticut country cottage on their honeymoon and who experience a number of queer experiences in the place, which is supposed to be haunted.

In the cast are several Town Player favorites who have been in other three-act offerings of the organization. Leonard Johnson has been cast as the country policeman Raymond Tilden as the milkman Raymond Bellamy is the tramp. All three were members of the casts of "Minnick," "Seven Chances" and "Dulcy," former successes of the Players.

Others in the cast are Franklin Richmond, also of "Dulcy" and "Minnick" who plays the part of the father of the young couple, Miss Alice Marshall and Miss Beatrice Armstrong of "Seven Chances" and "Minnick." Newcomers to be cast are Crombie Donaldson and Walter McCreary, the latter formerly of the Emerald Players of Tompseoville.

The play is to be given under the direction of Louis Smith, who directed the three previous plays of the club. Miss Ruth Calhoun, director of the Town Players, is production manager and supervisor.

ONCE RAIL MAGNATE WORTH $300,000,000 NOW SOVIET WORKER

Moscow.—Once one of the richest men in Russia, a railroad magnate with a pre-revolutionary fortune estimated at $300,000,000, Nikolai Carol von Meck is now getting $200 a month as technical advisor for the Soviet government in the construction of the Volga-Don canal.

Von Meck, who since the Soviet regime has dropped the "von" from his name, is 64 years old and acknowledged as the greatest transportation genius in the country. Through every bit of his business and personal property was confiscated, Meck elected to remain in Russia and face the new music. Recognizing the value of his services, the Soviet government employed him in various expert capacities in connection with the railroad and timber administrations. His job on the Volga-Dan canal directs the destinies of the largest Soviet transportation job. The canal costing $50,000,000 will give shipping on the great Volga river a direct outlet to the Black Sea through the river Don.

Before the revolution Meck owned in his own name and directed the operation of the entire Kaniak railroad from Moscow to Turkestan with a trackage of more than 10,000 miles. He owned an immense amount of property in Moscow, including three summer and winter residences. Now he rents two rooms from the government in what used to be his own 40-room mansion. The GPU raided his rooms a total of 23 times up to 1922 in the belief that he was carrying on royalist propaganda. He was arrested eight times, but always released for lack of evidence. He lost two sons in the war. His wife died during the civil war in Russia. A only daughter is living in a eubby-hole of a room in another one of her father's former residences.

300 Year Old Medicine Cup For Kids' Museum

Among the relics which have been turned over to Mathias Spiess, recently for the Children's Museum is one which is of extraordinary interest. It is a quassa medicine cup which was brought over by the second bands of Pilgrims under the spiritual leadership of the Reverend John Davenport, who settled at New Haven in the year 1637.

The cup was owned by William Biggs, one of the founders of New Haven, and for many years it was used by all that were sick in the community. It is made from quassa, the medicinal and sacred tree of Atrielan tribes, and although three centuries have passed it still retains its bitter wormwood taste.

When the early settlers of New Haven began to spread out to other parts this cup was taken to Long Island and still later to New Jersey, where it remained for many years and was treasured by the descendants of William Biggs, not only as a relic but for its powerful curing properties. A few years ago, it found its way back to Connecticut. Mrs. Anna M. Wade of 14 Union street, this town, who is a direct descendant of the original owner, brought it back and recently presented it to the Children's Museum.

From the jungles of Africa, the wood of which this cup is made, was taken to England, where it was turned into the cup. From England it traveled again into a wilderness, this time the wilds of America, where its bitter flavor was the panacea to all that were sick. Tradition has it that the bitter water drunk out of the cup, has never failed to cure.

YOUTHFUL SLAYER IS BACK IN STATE FOR ITS HOME TRIP

Hartford, Conn., March 1.—Philip Rausch, youthful alleged slayer of a Cheshire guard, was taken to Waterbury this afternoon where Lawrence L. Lewis, state's attorney, was to request a bench warrant for immediate arraignment of the youth on a murder charge.

Rausch came back to Connecticut late last night in custody of Captain Frank M. Nichols and Policeman Paul Lavin, of the state police force. He was brought here from Jacksonville, Fla., where he was captured last week, and came through on an uneventful trip.

Rausch waived extradition when the state policemen reached him. Both recognized the youth at once. Rausch dropped out of sight nearly five years ago after a guard at Cheshire Reformatory, under whose direction Rausch was cutting wood, was found dead opposite the reformatory building.

Manila, P. I., March 1.—Escorted by a squadron of destroyers and twenty airplanes, the liner President McKinley, bearing Col. Henry L. Stimson, the new governor-general of the Philippine islands, steamed into Manila harbor today.

In honor of Col. Stimson a legal holiday had been declared and 20,000 people gathered at the historic Luanta to listen to the inaugural address of the new administrative head of the islands. The address followed a water parade at the head of which Col. Stimson rode in a launch.

The new governor general was accompanied by his advisers, Brigadier-General Halstead Dorey, Col. Blanton Winship, Major Parker Hitchens and Commander Jones.

ford, will confer the DeMolay degree. Both degrees are very impressive and it is expected that a large number of local Masons will be present to see the work.

John Mather, chapter will have between 40 and 50 members when instituted Saturday. It gets its name from the man who was the first Worshipful Master of Manchester lodge of Masons. The institution of a chapter here is largely the result of the work of William Walsh, a past master of Manchester lodge. Mr. Walsh is a firm believer in clubs and fraternities for boys. He believes the Order of DeMolay to be one of the best fraternities for young men and has worked incessantly to have a chapter started here. Each chapter must have a "Dad" who is a Master Mason and is appointed by the lodge which is sponsoring it. Because of his good work in getting DeMolay started here, Mr. Walsh has been named the "Dad" of John Mather chapter.

ARTHUR W. FOX DEAD

Hartford, Conn., March 1.—Arthur W. Fox, vice-president of the Billings & Spencer Company, died at Hartford Hospital today of heart trouble after an illness that began in November.

Mr. Fox was born in New Haven forty-five years ago, the son of Simon and Margaret A. Fox. He was educated at Hopkins Grammar school in that city and after completing his course came to Hartford.

For many years he was with the Johns-Fratt Company here, going to the Billings & Spencer firm as an executive three years ago. For two years he had been a member of the Hartford Board of Education.

Mr. Fox leaves his mother and two brothers, Edward L., of Hartford, and Farnham of Bayside, Long Island.

to John T. Pratt of New York for a like purpose. Hays said $50,000 of the $185,000 loan was immediately returned to Sinclair.

Later, Hays testified he had paid the remaining $85,000 to Sinclair out of his own fortune, but Sinclair gave it back to him.

"Mr. Sinclair," said Hays, "should not be credited with a personal contribution of $75,000 and an additional $85,000. This brings the total of his final contribution up to $160,000."

Hays first told of leaving the Republican national committee in 1921 and the Cabinet, where he was postmaster general, in 1922.

"I responded to a request from the treasurer of the committee in 1923 to aid in the liquidation of the indebtedness of the Republican national committee," said Hays.

MOTHER OF LINDY TO BE DECORATED

the award by Secretary James W. Crabtree, of the N. E. A. states that it was for "characteristics of modesty and idealism, an outstanding work in the teaching profession."

It is because the Detroit school teacher is "Lindy's" mother that she is to be honored for the American public have for the particular satisfaction in the way she played the part of the mother of the hero of the nation.

In the past many mothers of heroes have not played prominent parts in history but the educators said today they were determined that Mrs. Lindbergh's name should go down to posterity along with that of her distinguished son.

President James R. Angell, of Yale University, and Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, superintendent of the Los Angeles city schools, said to be the highest paid school superintendent in the country, held the center of the stage at the superintendence's meeting today.

Others of prominence were William M. Davidson, superintendent of Pittsburgh schools, and Beatrice Ensor, of England.

COURT BUSINESS

PICKS UP AGAIN

Marchuk Guilty of Selling Intoxicants—Three Other Cases.

Business which has been a bit slack at the police court during the month of February, started out with a rush the first day of March, when four cases were heard before Judge Raymond A. Johnson this morning.

Three of the offenders were taken to jail to serve their sentences or await trial in the Superior Court.

Michael Marchuk, charged with keeping intoxicating liquor with intent to sell, pleaded not guilty. He was found guilty and paid a fine of $100 and costs.

Marchuk lives on Autumn street. He has a wife and three children and is employed at the Rogers Paper mill. Yesterday afternoon Lieutenant Barron, Sergeant Crockett and Patrolmen McGinn, Wirtalla, Galligan and Prentice visited the Marchuk home and found a three gallon still in operation, three oil stoves, two gallons of liquor, two quart jars of liquor, a ten gallon barrel of mash as well as a tub of mash.

Bad Reputation Chief Gordon told the court that the place had a reputation of being one where intoxicants could be bought. A Kensington street woman had complained to him about her husband getting liquor there. Men in the habit of drinking had been seen going in and coming out of the house.

Marchuk claimed that he never sold any although he admitted that he made the liquor for his own use. He also admitted that he made beer regularly. He said he works nights and when he gets home he drinks a little of the stuff because it makes him sleep.

Prosecuting Attorney Hathaway said the evidence was strong enough to convict. He thought the man was not telling the whole truth. Judge Johnson was convinced that the amount of liquor on hand, together with the ingredients for making the stuff, was not all for home consumption. The fact that a direct complaint to the chief was made convinced him the man was guilty.

Another Boozie Seller Harry Krupin also of Autumn street was before the court on the same charge, keeping liquor to sell. The police visited his place yesterday afternoon and found a ten gallon still, tester, oil stove, box of jars containing liquor as well as two bushels of barley. In the house they found Frank Warren who is known as "The Hermit of Highland Park" very drunk. Krupin apparently learned that the officers were after him and he did not reach home until nearly midnight. However, when he arrived he found Patrolman McGinn waiting for him.

In court Krupin pleaded not guilty. He maintained that the liquor was for his own use and that he never sold any. However, it was brought out that he had worked for the past three months. Yesterday afternoon while Patrolman McGinn was in the house, Louis Custer paid a friendly call. He knocked at the door for admission and was just a bit frustrated when he found that the voice bidding him to come in was that of Patrolman McGinn. Custer later admitted to McGinn that the purpose of his visit was to buy a pint. The judge thought the patrolman was not a good salesman. Custer told McGinn that he had paid Krupin as high as a dollar and a half for a pint of the stuff.

Frequenters From the evidence of the police north enders visit the place. Peter Happeney of North Main street was a frequent visitor there. Thomas Morrison of the south end was another frequenter. Krupin denied that he knew any of the men with the exception of Morrison.

Judge Johnson found Krupin guilty and imposed a fine of $150 and costs and a jail sentence of 10 days.

Frank Warren, a well known character of Highland Park, was given a jail sentence of 15 days for intoxication. He was found in the home of Frank Krupin, whose home was raided yesterday afternoon in the case of John Anello, charged with a serious crime committed on a girl under 16 years of age, probable cause was found and he was bound over to the March term of the Superior Court which opens in Hartford next Tuesday morning.

Anello was unable to furnish a bond of $2000 and was taken to jail to await his trial.

Paul Krupin, brother of Harry Krupin of Autumn street, whose place was raided by the police yesterday afternoon, was placed under arrest this morning for having a shot gun in his possession. He is an alien. The gun was one of several pieces of firearms found in the house by the police. He will be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

NO TRACE OF FLYERS Washington, March 1.—Convicted the three naval aviators who became lost while flying on Sunday night from Hampton Roads to Annapolis fell into Chesapeake Bay and were drowned, the searching party today was dragging the bay within a five-mile radius of Horn Harbor. This is 25 miles north of Hampton Roads.

The flyers, Comdr. T. J. Elysson, Lt. Comdr. Hugo Schmidt and Lt. Roger Ranshousen, pilot, were rushing to the bedside of Elysson's 12-year-old daughter.

Three witnesses reported to officers in charge of the search that an airplane was heard over Horn harbor at 2:30 a. m., last Monday. Two army blimps and 43 army and navy planes were continuing the search today.

THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1928

DEMOCRATIC STUFF Democratic papers are about the only ones which see anything genuine in the feeble continuance of the draft-Coolidge agitation.

There is, in this, an assumption which seems to us to be wholly without warrant. The assumption is that Mr. Coolidge would receive more votes in these three states than Mr. Hoover.

President Coolidge has given the country an excellent administration but it must be admitted that its greater merit has lain in negations, and negations create no enthusiasms whatever.

been planned when the Wilbur program for seventy-one vessels was under discussion and when there seemed to be some remote possibility that the big-navy militarists might get the bill passed.

The value of public opinion lies in its pressure being brought to bear in emergencies; it is destroyed by nagging. The original purpose of the churchmen was laudable. Their persistence in it after all occasion for it had vanished was nagging, pure and simple.

There is this difference between the Wilbur scheme and the scheme now under consideration: The former was a militaristic, war-mad incitement to trouble. The present plan is scarcely more than a routine measure.

There is this difference between the Wilbur scheme and the scheme now under consideration: The former was a militaristic, war-mad incitement to trouble. The present plan is scarcely more than a routine measure.

The value of public opinion lies in its pressure being brought to bear in emergencies; it is destroyed by nagging. The original purpose of the churchmen was laudable. Their persistence in it after all occasion for it had vanished was nagging, pure and simple.

the Commodore Hotel in New York and actually succeeds in getting into the New York papers its official catalogue of a "gentleman's" wardrobe for the spring of 1928, with prices. The total foots up to $2,283.

There are not many men in Manchester who will spend $2,283 on a spring wardrobe this year. But there are probably just as many in Manchester as there are in New York.

We call this rotten advertising for the clothing business. If the Cutters club did induce anybody to believe that the "well dressed man" must have twelve suits, of clothes, four overcoats and $120 worth of new shirts, it would necessarily be some poor stomp who would promptly be so utterly discouraged that he would exclaim "What's the use," use his saved-up $15 installment on two quarts with which to drown his grief, and keep on wearing the same old suit.

New York, March 1.—Of all the varied adventures offered by Manhattan, that of roaming through the speakeasies offers the greatest number of surprises and colorful experiences. Starting out on such a tour, one encounters everything from an old-fashioned home to the tricks of the melodrama thriller.

Starting on a little exploration of my own, I first found myself in what had the appearance of a tasteful and well-appointed home. Two charming and unusually intelligent women of middle years, dressed in evening clothes, welcomed me at the door and led me to a roaring fireplace. All about on divans and sofas, under soft lights, sat a quiet, well-behaved company. I sat with the hostess for a time and talked books, and art, and life and finally burst out: "How in heaven's name did a woman with your background ever get into the speakeasy racket?"

She laughed merrily: "Because I'm a widow with two children and what am I going to do? I tried to apply my intelligence to ordinary professions, but I couldn't bring up my children decently on the pips they offered. And I'm not used to living in poor circumstances. So, with my friend, I opened this little place. We conduct it very carefully and have a very select list of customers."

And there are speakeasies disguised as "bootblack parlors and as brownstones, mansions, as lunch counters and as hardware stores, and thousands that are not disguised at all. As Harry Herschfield once said: "There are 9,100 filling stations in New York—not counting those that sell gasoline."

Incidentally one of the most flourishing manufacturing plants in lower New York is a bar-making concern. The proprietor tells me that orders are heavier now than at any time in its history. Scores of the orders come from private homes who want "nice little bars" that can be put in the basement, or hidden away in a dining room. But a large fraction of the orders are for "old-fashioned" bars of healthy dimensions. He was about to turn his business into a general furniture-making outfit.

Obviously there is only one alternative for us in Nicaragua. Either we must continue to have our Marines killed by the Sandinists, who seem to have the delusion that they are fighting for a principle, or we must send down there a regular little army and kill them all. Retreat from the position into which we have allowed ourselves to drift seems to be regarded as a possibility only by a tiny minority.

Then, after we have killed all the revolutionary Nicaraguans, we can perhaps establish our own justification.

After having devoted years of his life to making as much of an issue of Volsteadism as he possibly could, wringing wet Jim Reed, now that he is seeking the support of dry Democrats in getting the nomination for the Presidency, suddenly discovers that "prohibition is on the statutes and until the law is changed by the people there it is, and of course, it must be enforced."

"The first issue," shouts Jim, "is to get rid of the crooks and scoundrels who are running the government."

Jim often talks about getting back to the good old ways of the good old days. That's doing it, with a bang. Getting back to the free and generous use of the good old billingsgate, Jim would have fitted into the Taylor-Cass-Van Buren campaign.

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT Compiled by the CONNECTICUT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

(79) Connecticut Raises Many Fruits. Among the agricultural interests in Connecticut, pomology is one of the most important. The temperate climate of the state which is the very center of the best markets of the world makes it possible to grow successfully a large proportion of the most delicious fruits common to North America.

The commercial value of Connecticut's fruit crop is approximately $4,500,000 annually. During 1909 it was $1,000,000. Connecticut stands eleventh among the fruit states, having an average of 275 fruit bearing trees and 91 trees, not of bearing age, per square mile. The apple, of which an estimated 1,900,000 bushels were gathered a year ago, is the most important fruit.

Connecticut produces more grapes than all the rest of New England, 1,275 tons being picked a year ago. The total for New England was 2,284 tons. More peaches are produced in this state than in any other New England state, Connecticut's 1926 production being estimated at 255,000 bushels.

During 1926 there were 57,000 bushels of pears picked in the state which ranked 33rd in this respect among all states. Small fruits—strawberries, raspberries, loganberries, blackberries, cranberries and currants—also are grown with great success in Connecticut.

Tomorrow—Worsted Goods. up a new era of things if he makes the grade. His Democratic opponent is likely to be a governor or a senator.

Coolidge was a governor, owing his first presidential job to Harding's death. Harding was a senator. Wilson was governor of New Jersey. Taft, who was neither senator or governor, stepped from his job as secretary of war to the White House only through Roosevelt's influence.

Roosevelt was a governor buried in the vice presidency only to be elevated by McKinley's assassination. McKinley was governor of Ohio. Benjamin Harrison was first a soldier and later an Ohio senator. Cleveland was governor of New York. Arthur was given the vice presidential nomination in a political deal and would have been no more had not Garfield, a soldier and a senator, been shot.

Hayes was governor of Ohio and Tilden, who beat him in all but a final count, was governor of New York. Grant, of course, was a soldier and Andrew Johnson had been governor of Tennessee. Lincoln was a congressman. Buchanan had been successively minister to Russia, senator, secretary of state and minister to England. Pierce was senator and soldier. Fillmore had been a congressman, a state official in New York and a vice president. Taylor was a soldier. Polk speaker of the House. Harrison a soldier and senator, and so on back to Washington.

POLICE CAN 'MUG' CRIMINALS NOW

Manchester Department Now Equipped to Photograph and Fingerprint Crooks.

The Manchester police department is now fully equipped to photograph criminals who are caught in Manchester as well as fingerprint them. The apparatus is set up in the police station in what was once the vault used by the town clerk. It is made up of a portrait camera with proper lighting effects and background. The department has already the necessary devices for making a good imprint of the fingers and hand. Hereafter when a man or woman is brought to the police station charged with a criminal offense of a serious character, he or she will be photographed and fingerprinted.

In addition Chief Gordon has secured a supply of cards on which the criminal's complete record will be written and filed for future use. A duplicate of the record card containing all the necessary data, with a photograph of the criminal, will be sent to Washington where it will be kept on file by the Criminal Bureau.

This method of securing the records of criminals is being used by all the larger cities of the country and has proved to be of great value in the detection of crime.

The apparatus has not been a great expense to the town for the reason that Morris Pasternack of the Elite Studio who is interested in such work has donated the camera to the police department for its use. Chief Gordon in some of his spare time has been working for keeping the records and other material to be used. With this latest addition the department is now as well fitted for such work as that of any city the size of Manchester.

CHICAGO PORTRAYED IN STATE FEATURE

"Chicago After Midnight" Here Tomorrow and Saturday; Two Features Today.

The fight between the gangsters and the bluecoated guardians of the law; conflict between the forces of good and evil, and the conflict of love and hate. That is "Chicago After Midnight," the massive spectacle which is one of the two features at the State theater tomorrow and Saturday. The other film is "Feel My Pulse," starring Bebe Daniels.

Characters of the underworld have a code of ethics just as persons in the upper strata of life, according to police authorities, who daily deal with these people who dwell in the city's shadows. They hate squealers and double-crossers and they demand fair play among those of their own kind. This code is vividly pictured in "Chicago After Midnight," a powerful melodrama of the night life in the Windy City. In this production fore-pricing this picture, the director, has faithfully shown the movements of gangsters and their environment. He spent several weeks in night clubs and cabarets in New York and Chicago just before producing this picture, getting the atmosphere and undercurrent of the lives of these people, who prey upon the elite of society for their living. "Chicago After Midnight" is ample proof that he was a keen observer for in this picture he has shown the terrible revenge that is brought down upon the "stool-pigeons" of the underworld by the leaders of the gangs. When a man turns traitor to his crowd he is a hunted outcast and lives in constant fear for his life. This element of the code is strongly emphasized in this gripping picture.

"Feel My Pulse" is another of those whimsical comedies in which Miss Daniels is always so good. The features at the State today are "The Garden of Allah," starring Alice Terry and Ivan Petrovich, and "Let 'er Go, Gallegher," with Junior Coghlan, Elinor Fair and other stars.

PILES DISAPPEARED RABALM ENDED MY SUFFERING

"About twenty-five years ago I had a successful operation for piles and have never been troubled since until about a month ago when they came on again. My only thought was an operation, but under the circumstances this was impossible owing to the expense. So I delayed and suffered terribly until about two weeks ago I saw an advertisement for Rabalm. The second application gave me relief and after the third day I haven't had them at all, and no pain now—am like a new man." (For obvious reasons, we cannot give here the name of the man who wrote this testimonial. But we will supply his name and address on request. His letter was entirely voluntary and was not solicited by us.)

If you too suffer from piles (hemorrhoids) you also can find relief without an operation by using Rabalm. Buy some today and start using it tonight. Two sizes, 50-cents and $1.00 containing 3 times as much. RABALM is for sale by all druggists.

BO MANCHESTER SCOUTS HOLD CAMPFIRE SCENE

Something different in the form of a meeting was held by the scouts of troop 6, Tuesday night. In the gymnasium a campfire scene was very cleverly laid out with a campfire in the center and a tripod with a kettle hanging over the fire. On one side of the council ring the investiture table was placed with twelve small candles placed on the stand representing the scout laws and three large ones representing the three parts of the scout oath. Thirty-one scouts, two recruits and seven visitors were seated around the campfire. Mr. Burr, troop committeeman, gave a very interesting and instructive talk taking as his subject, "A Model Troop".

The scoutmasters association will hold its monthly meeting tonight at the school street rec. Many important matters are to be brought up and every member should endeavor to be present. Mr. Beebe, deputy commissioner from Hartford will be present.

SECOND MURDER CHARGE

New York, March 1.—Raymond Westervelt, former prize fighter, faced a second charge of murder today following the death of his father-in-law, John Reubach, from bullet wounds.

Westervelt shot Reubach at his home in Ridgewood, a suburb. He also killed his young wife, from whom he had been separated.

When the former boxer was held for action of the Queens county Grand Jury by Magistrate Gresser on a charge of murdering his wife, his attorney said the tragedy was caused by Westervelt's "punch drunk" condition, the result of years of ring pummeling.

MacNAMARA AND COHEN AT RIALTO TONIGHT

Comedy Team of "What Price Glory" Here in a New One; Also Vaudeville.

Ted MacNamara and Sammy Cohen, those two laugh-getters who created such a world-wide reputation in "What Price Glory", will be seen at the Rialto tonight only in "Upstream," their latest William Fox special production. This picture is a most unusual one. There are unusual laughs, unusual thrills and in fact, even the title is unusual for a comedy-drama. Besides Cohen and "Mac" the cast includes Earle Foxe, another popular film funster.

The vaudeville bill, which scored such a tremendous hit with patrons last evening will be repeated again tonight at 8:30. There are three acts, with Tom Stanga, famous impersonator of Al Jolson, as the headline attraction.

For tomorrow and Saturday Manager "Bill" Campbell is presenting another of his popular week-end double feature programs. The performance on Saturday is continuous from 2:15 until 10:30. Reginald Denny, Manchester's most popular film idol, will head the bill in "Fast and Furious," his latest and greatest picture. Local theatregoers who remember him in "What Happened To Jones," "The Cheerful Fraud," and many other successes know what to expect from Denny.

The companion feature will be Buddy Roosevelt in "The Phantom Buster," one of those tip-roaring western thrillers.

The final chapter of "Hawk of the Hills" and an Our Gang Comedy, "Tired Business Men," will complete the bill—one of the best that Manager Campbell has ever offered.

ELEVEN CASES DROPPED.

New Haven, Conn., March 1.—Eleven of thirty-eight cases on the United States District Court docket at the opening of the February term have been dropped either by agreement of counsel or because of being outlived, according to the clerk's office. The oldest standing case was that of Roman Gruber, administrator, against Chase Company, Waterbury, in which damages of $7,500 were asked because of the death of Edward Gruber, 14, on August 4, 1920. The boy had gone after cows in the Buck's Hill district and climbed a electric power line tower on Cliffe property when he received a shock that killed him. Because of the length of time unclaimed, the case was stricken from the docket by Judge Edwin S. Thomas.

He was dishonorably discharged but later enlisted again under his own name. When he found that his case was being investigated and was about to be again arrested he beat a quick retreat and came to Connecticut where he has held various odd jobs. He was an excellent musician and while here organized an orchestra, and made a favorable impression. He voluntarily surrendered to the authorities and said he was anxious to clear his name.

Magnificent four-piece Bedroom Suite, exactly as shown above. New design...fine construction...superbly finished in Antique Walnut

THERE is probably nothing extraordinary about $195 as a price for a suite of furniture. You could always buy plenty of suites at that figure . . . or under it. But it is seldom that a suite of such fine quality is offered at this price . . . an excellent value at $275. That's the difference . . . and it's a big one. It's the difference between buying a suite built up to a standard of quality and a suite of no particular quality. Here is a suite that conceals its price, but displays its quality. It is made of genuine American walnut in combination with selected cabinet woods. It is of durable construction. Dustproof throughout. Finished in finely grained antique walnut, enhanced by dignified decoration. Comprises a spacious dresser, chest of drawers, full size vanity and bow-end bed. Nowhere will you find such a fine suite at this price.

Custom-Built 3-Piece Jacquard Suite At An Unequaled Low Price

STOP THE FAT AND GET THIN

The way to reduction is to stop the formation of fat. Modern science has found that way—by turning your food into fuel and energy—by supplying a natural element that helps do that. It is much better than starvation. That modern, scientific method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now the results in slender figures, new beauty and vitality, are seen everywhere.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So you know the effects are beneficial, and why they all occur. Learn what so many have learned in 20 years about it. Do it now. Ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola and learn what it means to you.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS
PHILO VANCE, District Attorney of New York County
MARGARET ODELL (THE "CANARY")
CECIL SKEEL, a manufacturer
KENNETH SPOTSWOOD, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANIX, an importer
DR. AMERIGO, a fashionable neurologist
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELEY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau

THE STORY THUS FAR
 Skeel's anger against the murdered Margaret Odell, but Vance does not believe him. He will tell the truth about the murder. The truth comes out that Manix had been calling on a young lady in the apartment adjoining the "Canary's"; that Cleaver had been in the building shortly after midnight; and that Dr. Linquist, knowing Spotswood was in the building, jumped into a cab. Skeel committed the murder, and Manix, Vance and Heath wait for him in the district attorney's office.

CHAPTER XL
 A FEW minutes later Heath used the elevator and went out into the hall. We could hear him calling to Snitkin down the elevator shaft, but when he came back into the office his expression told us that as yet there was no news of Skeel.

"I'll call up the bureau," he decided, "and see what Guilfoyle had to report. At least we'll know then when the Dude left his house."

But when the sergeant had been connected with police headquarters he was informed that Guilfoyle had as yet made no report.

"That's damn funny," he commented, hanging up the receiver. "It was now twenty minutes past ten. Markham was growing restive. The tenacity with which the Canary case had resisted all his efforts toward a solution had filled him with discouragement.

He pushed back his chair nervously and, going to the window, gazed out into the dark haze.

"I'll give my friend until half past ten," he said grimly. "If he isn't here then, Sergeant, you'd better call up the local station-house and send a patrol-wagon for him."

There was another few minutes of silence. Vance lolled in his chair with half-closed eyes, but his notes on the street and the book in his hand, though he was not smoking, his forehead was puckered by a frown, and he was very quiet. I knew that some unusual problem was occupying him.

As I watched him he suddenly sat up straight, his eyes open and alert. He tossed his dead cigar into the "receiver" with a jerky movement that attested to some inner excitement.

"Oh, my word!" he exclaimed. "It really can't be, y' know! And yet"—his face darkened—"and yet, by Jove, that's what it is. What an ass I've been—what an unutterable ass! . . . Oh!"

He sprang to his feet; then stood looking down at the floor like a man dazed, afraid of his own thoughts.

"Markham, I don't like it—I don't like it at all," he spoke almost as if he were frightened. "I tell you, there's something terrible going on—something uncanny. The thought of it makes my flesh creep. . . . I must be getting old, and sentimental," he added, with an effort at lightness; but the look in his eyes belied his tone. "Why didn't I see this thing yesterday?" . . . But I let it go on.

We were all staring at him in amazement. I had never seen him and with hair hanging in strings over her shoulders, emerged suddenly from a rear door and came toward us unsteadily, her bleary eyes focused on us with menacing resentment.

"Say!" she burst out in a rasping voice. "What do youse mean by bustin' in like this on a respectable lady?" And she launched forth upon a stream of profane epithets.

Heath, who was nearest her, placed his large hand over her face, and gave her a gentle but firm shove backward.

"You keep out this, Cleopatra!" he advised her, and began to ascend the stairs.

The second-floor hallway was dimly lighted by a small flickering gaslight at the rear we could distinguish the outlines of a single door set in the middle of the wall.

"That'll be Mr. Skeel's abode," observed Heath.

He walked up to it and, dropping one hand in his right coat-pocket, turned the knob. But the door would not open, and he knocked violently upon it, and placing his ear to the jamb, listened. Snitkin stood directly behind him, his hand also in his pocket. The rest of us remained a little in the rear.

Heath had knocked a second time when Vance's voice spoke up from the semi-darkness.

"I say, Sergeant, you're wasting time with all that formality."

"I guess you're right," came the answer after a moment of what seemed unbearable silence.

Heath bent down and looked at the lock. Then he took some instrument from his pocket and inserted it into the keyhole.

"You're right," he repeated. "The key's gone."

He stepped back and, balancing on his toes like a sprinter, sent his hands crashing against the panel directly over the knob. But the door swung drunkenly inward.

"Come on, Snitkin," he ordered. The two detectives hurried themselves against the door. At the third onslaught there was a splintered and a tearing of the lock's bolt through the moulding. The door swung drunkenly inward.

The room was in almost complete darkness. We all hesitated on the threshold, while Snitkin crossed warily to one of the windows and sent some light streaming up the hallway. The yellow-gold light filtered in, and the objects of the room at once took definable form. A large, old-fashioned bed projected from the wall on the right.

"Look!" cried Snitkin, pointing and looking more of her shiver over me.

We pressed forward. On the foot of the bed, at the side toward the door, sprawled the crumpled body of Skeel. Like the Canary, he had been strangled. His head hung back over the foot-board, his face a hideous distortion. His arms were outstretched and one leg trailed over the edge of the mattress, resting on the floor.

"Thugge," murmured Vance. "Lindquist mentioned it. Curious!"

Heath stood staring fixedly at the body, his shoulders hunched. His normal roddiness of complexion was gone, and he seemed like a man hypnotized.

"Mother of God!" he breathed, awe-stricken. And, with an involuntary motion, he crossed himself.

Markham was shaken also. He set his jaw rigidly.

"You're right, Vance." His voice was strained and unnatural. "Something sinister and terrible has been going on here. . . . There's a fiend loose in this town—a werewolf. I wouldn't say that, old man."

Vance regarded the murdered Skeel critically. "No, I wouldn't just say that. Not a werewolf. Just a desperate human being. A man of extremes, perhaps—but quite rational, and logical—oh, how deuced logical!"

MARYE and MOM Their Letters

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Dearest Marye:
 Betty called me up this morning and asked me to come over and see the layette you sent her.

Dear, it's just too sweet! Betty says she doesn't know how she's going to thank you and if she has a girl she's going to name her after you.

I stayed to lunch and helped Betty fix a peach cobbler. It would have been a lovely time but Florence came in all upset about some trouble at the store. She wouldn't go back to work and pretty soon she had poor Betty so nervous she didn't know what to do.

I asked Florence if she would not come home with me and stay to supper with us and she said she'd like to.

As soon as we were out of Betty's house she burst out with the whole trouble. It seems that Mr. Martin got fresh with her, as Florence expressed it. She told him and walked out. I was dumfounded to think of Mr. Martin doing a thing like that so I asked Florence how it happened, thinking maybe she had understood him. She said he had tried to "paw" her.

Well, Marye, I looked at her and I guess she needn't have put all the blame on Mr. Martin. She had on a blue chiffon dress and from all outward appearances she couldn't blame a man for taking liberties with her. She said any decent man was too used to seeing girls' legs to get excited about them.

That's another idea you young people have that amazes me. You think that the biggest part of the world is moving as fast as you are, and when you find someone who doesn't act like you expect him to, you're surprised.

Don't you believe you will get the same treatment from all men just because they all live in the same world and maybe ought to feel the same about some certain things. I hope you have to respect for Alan, if not for yourself, Marye, to dress as some girls do.

Dearest love,
 MOM.

Home Page Editorial Women and War

By Olive Roberts Barton

The French government evidently believes in the saying, "In time of peace prepare for war!" It has been making an effort to pass a bill conscripting women as well as men when the time comes for service.

The chamber which corresponds more or less to our House of Representatives passed the bill almost unanimously. The senate, composed of older men, "after a great deal of gallant oratory," rejected it.

France seems to be in much the same situation regarding the feminist movement as we are in the United States. Only one may say in passing, their men have been us to it as far as war work goes. For the number of men who voted for the bill in spite of its rejection was so much greater than the ones against it, it would appear that la belle France is taking its women quite seriously.

After all, why not? For it is an indisputable fact that during the last war, although most of the women in all countries engaged were patriotic to the point of martyrdom, it is also true that there were slackers among them.

Our concern, like that of France, is with woman's responsibility in regard to the next war, which God willing, we shall never have.

Even as far back as 1920 when women were dying for their own cause in hunger-strikes and other militant suffrage demonstrations, I heard more than one woman say, "Which women can fight a war, and enforce the laws they are so anxious to make, then, and then only have they the right to vote?"

It sounded then, and it sounds now, heartless, but there is in it the truth that lies behind most exaggeration. If a woman votes, she is as responsible for her country's welfare, and for her country's mistakes, as any male citizen.

If the need comes to keep out a bloodthirsty foe, she may not be expected to shoulder a musket or operate a machine-gun, but there are a thousand ways she may be useful, unless she can claim exemption for the same reasons that a man does, and one other—if she has small children. Otherwise I see no reason why woman should not serve her government under orders.

WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

How'd you like to live in a store window all day long? That's what Edna Kuby did in a department store window in Atlanta, Georgia, the other day. Edna, who is pretty, jumped out of her pretty bed from under a pretty mound of spread and blankets just as the shade on the big window was raised when the store opened.

WHAT EDNA DID.
 As the crowd gathered, Edna, clad in a delicious negligee over adorable pajamas did her exercises. Then she dressed more or less in view of the spectators, who were by now almost a mob, cooked her breakfast over a model gas range, washed her dishes in a model sink, sewed a little at a model machine, played the radio and phonograph while she worked a model cleaner, rested in a soft chaise longue while she turned the pages of some new books from the store's library, and so to bed.

The store pronounced it a great advertising stunt and did a grand day's business from the crowds thus lured. Perhaps this is a new field for all the pretty girls who can't "break in" in Hollywood.

POOR SARAH!
 "Do read 'The Bonny Family' by Ruth Suckow, if you like a poignant, simple story of home life and family relationship! There's one heart-breaking chapter or so, especially the one wherein Sarah,

Which may be just one answer to parents who "can't understand" why their girls who are comfortable enough at home, must get out for "this career business."

"BABY STAIR."
 Speaking of Hollywood, didn't you love the story of Mrs. Margaret Mann, 69, who, after starving about the studios for 10 years, got her chance when she was chosen to play the mother role in the new picture of "Baby Face" and has simply "walked away" with the show?

Here's wagging that as many 67 and 70-year-old "girls" got movie-struck when hearing of Mrs. Mann's victory as 15 to 20-year-olds when they hear of a new Gloria or Mary. My own mother looked at Mrs. Mann's picture and read her story and wondered if "it might not have a chance." Some thing must be done to guarantee the continued career of the socks of working daughters!

SANE DIET MEANS GOOD HEALTH—GOOD LOOKS

All Normal Women May Reduce, Says Marjorie Dork, Health and Beauty Expert.

"Tell me how to reduce and keep my weight below 130 pounds!" I can't begin to estimate the number of women who have approached me with that plea.

"Can every woman who is overweight reduce without injury to her health?" is invariably the next question.

Certainly she can! Any normal woman between 25 and 60 years of age, who is overweight, merely because she is the victim of bad food habits and insufficient exercise, can come back to normal on scientific diet and proper exercise.

But any woman whose fat is caused by glandular difficulty, or any woman with high blood pressure, say over 150, any one who has had abdominal incisions, or any specific internal difficulties should never follow any diet or exercise system except under a doctor's supervision.

Another very common question is—"Isn't it dangerous to the health to diet? And isn't this reducing business just a fad that is ruining most women's health?"

My answer to the first question is that sane dieting does not injure, but rather improves the health; but starvation diets, and limited diets do harm the system.

As to the "fad" for dieting, it is easily explained. Almost every woman today is fighting flesh because the accumulation of an extra chin or of a roll of fat about her abdomen are not at all to her liking and are incompatible with style. It is well to remember here, that while women of today are doing infinitely less physical work than they did fifty years ago, they are all eating, or trying to eat as they did when they converted more food into energy.

Made Little Difference Then
 Before we had elevators, automobiles, and all the mechanical devices that save labor in the home, and before so many women were emancipated from housework, the average woman needed more food than she does today. She could eat more starch and sugar without injury to her figure, because she burned it up in energy.

Consider, for instance, the difference in expenditure of energy of the old-fashioned housewife, who cooked all the meals for her family, did the washing, ironing, sweeping, scrubbing and marketing, and who ran up and down stairs 50 times a day, with the modern stenographer who gets on the car, rides to her office, sits at her desk most of the day, except when she goes out for an hour at lunch, and who rides home in the evening.

Works Just as Hard But—
 The stenographer puts in just as full a day as the woman who used to do all the work. But she does not begin to do the physical labor. Isn't it reasonable to suppose that she would require much less food to keep her body nourished than the active worker?

Many of us who lead comparatively sedentary lives are still eating as heartily as if we were doing physical work. And that we don't need in energy, nature just stores up for us in fat. But we aren't like the bear or the camel, and we don't need to store our food in our own bodies. It isn't pleasant or beautiful to carry a week's extra provisions on our own abdomens. And no sensible woman wants to make a storage plant of herself.

In her next article, Miss Dork tells how to begin proper dieting and exercise.

ARTIFICIAL LUSTER FOR THE HAIR.

Hair that is dull and dry is anything but good looking. So women that possess that must find a remedy.

The reason for this dryness lies in the fact that the oil glands are not functioning properly, or that the natural oil has been removed in the process of washing and shampooing. Soaps which contain an excess of alkali, combine with and extract the oil of the hair, and for days afterward the locks suffer for want of natural dressing.

To replace this oil with something similar until nature has had time to manufacture more of her own brand, try rubbing in a plain oil such as olive, petrolatum, or still better a brilliantine, which is easier to apply on account of its thinner consistency.

Brilliantine, you know, is made by combining a certain amount of alcohol in the proportion of one part oil to two parts grain alcohol.

A very nice and also an economical method is to put the brilliantine in an atomizer, and spray it on the hair. This gives an instant and uniform application and the hair has a lovely, lustrous appearance when it is dressed.

 HINTS ON HOW TO KEEP WELL
 by World Famed Authority

SPINE CURVATURE LEAD TO INCORRECT POSTURE
 BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
 Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

A little boy's definition of the backbone is that you sit on one end of it and your head sits on the other.

The backbone is composed of 33 or 34 bones which are placed upon the other and separated by cartilages. They are held together by ligaments or bands of tissue like rubber.

In addition, great muscles run up the sides which aid in the movement of the back as well as in holding the bones in place. The extreme limit of movement is fixed by processes of the bone which extend from the rear of the main disks and come into contact with similar processes of the next bone.

Flexibility
 The flexibility of the spine is limited in this way, although it is much more flexible in some animals than in others. The spine of a cat is especially flexible. Usually the spine is curved in four places. These curves are balanced so that when one curve is increased another is decreased. If the person moves, his center of gravity changes.

When these curves become over-curved or when the spine is thrown into improper curve, the person is said to have curvature of the spine. However, some curving is absolutely normal. If a person stands invariably in a bad position, a constant strain is thrown on the muscles and the ligaments so that the rubber wears out exactly as it does in an overused pair of suspenders.

Overstretched Ligaments
 It is usually impossible to restore the flexibility to the suspenders, which are dead material, and if one waits too long, it may be impossible to revive the flexibility of overstretched ligaments. In such cases a competent physician provides braces to assist the worn-out ligaments in doing their work.

Exercises for the back are planned primarily with a view to keeping the tissues flexible and full of the blood which provides them with their nutrition.

If a person stands or sits improperly, extra strain is thrown upon all of the organs and the result is general fatigue and illness.

(Special to The Herald.) Plainfield, Conn., March 1.—Close to eleven hundred spectators saw the Plainfield Pros go down to defeat before the World Colored Champions, the New York Renaissance Five, here last night in a fast and well played game, the final score of which was 56 to 35.

The colored players did not exert themselves in the first half during which Plainfield played well with the result that halftime found the home team trailing only three points, 25 to 22. However, in the second half, the record breaking crowd pleaded for the visitors to "show their stuff" and the response was a treat to watch. Their pass-work was dazzling and invariably it ended with a man all alone under the basket much to the amusement of the crowd and bewilderment of the Plainfield players. Ricks and Jenkins were the outstanding stars for the visitors while Brusso and Benson went best for Plainfield. The latter made six out of seven foul tries.

A delegation of more than fifty Manchester persons motored here to see the exhibition. Most of them came in a large New England Transportation Company bus arranged for by Samuel Houston. The Plainfield club realized a profit of nearly $200 on the game, charging fifty cents per person. Most of the weeks ago, the Renaissance played here before a crowd of about 400 winning by eight points. A dollar admission was charged for that game.

In the preliminary game, the West Side Rec team of Manchester beat the Plainfield Buddies, 36 to 32, overcoming a 21 to 14 lead at halftime. Bobby Metcalf's floor-work was exceptionally good. He scored 17 points. Bissell also went well. The defeat was the first the Buddies have tasted on their home floor this season.

LLOYD HAHN DEFEATS CONGER AND ZELTZER

Ahead by 20 Yards at Finish; Comes Within 1 Second of World's Record. By LES CONKLIN, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

New York, March 1.—Lloyd Hahn, the Nebraska speedster who sports the colors of the Boston A. A. stood unchallenged today as America's greatest middle-distance runner. The widely heralded "Mile of the Century" race here last night between Hahn, Ray Conger and Dr. Otto Peltzer resulted in an overwhelming victory for the sturdy Nebraskan. He ran Conger into the ground and beat him to the tape by twenty yards, while Peltzer trailed the Illinois A. C. crack by fifty yards. Hahn led all the way and was never threatened with defeat.

While Hahn was elated today over his triumph, he was disappointed because of his failure to break the record held by Paavo Nurmi and Jole Ray. He failed by only one-second, however. His time of 4:13 was the fourth fastest mile ever run on an indoor track. Revenge was sweet for the winner. He avenged his defeat by Conger in Kansas City on February 18, when the Iowa star beat him at 1,000 yards, and snapped the Nebraskan's winning streak of 31 victories. Conger had a chance last night

DELANEY RULING FAVORITE STILL

Will Step Into Ring That Way; Local Fans May Get Result Through W.J.Z.

By DAVIS J. WALSH, I. N. S. Sports Editor. New York, March 1.—Blandly playing the qualifying round all over again because there is no medalist to date, Jack Delaney and Tom Heeney, just a couple of boys, will fight fifteen rounds at the Garden tonight for the apparently unobtainable right of taking issue with Brother Tunney in June. Brother Tunney, you know, is the just but firm padre of the flock and it seems that he must, as a matter of discipline, chastise some one publicly at least once a year.

For some reason or maybe none, the cloak and suit men again are clamoring at the portals for admittance to the party. They did much the same for Delaney's meeting with Jim Maloney and saw nothing. They were even more insistent in the case of Heeney's essay against Jack Sharkey and saw even less. But the Garden knows its minute men, so-called because of the admitted birth rate, and accordingly is preparing for a $150,000 house which is almost a record at $20 ringside prices.

May Be Worth It. It may be worth it, at this, if only to determine, finally and for all time, whether Delaney really is a fighter of the north, a Beau Sabreur, a deadly duellist whose thrust is a message of sudden death. These characterizations, make for romance, an impression that the man's truly regal bearing and his occasional one-punch killings hardly have served to dissipate.

Most of that money is following Delaney into the house and Heeney, the poor but honest heavyweight, merely is an obscure but necessary part of the act, from a box office standpoint, what he will be after the fight actually begins may be another matter. Delaney, the darling of the gallery, ruled a steady favorite this morning at odds of eight to five. Why this should be is not for my message. Heeney, however, is a poor heavyweight sometimes is better than a fair light heavyweight and Delaney has yet to prove he is anything better than that.

Delaney's Weight. He weighed a bit more than 175 pounds for the commission gushers the other day and probably won't be more than 178 for the official showdown at two o'clock this afternoon. Heeney probably will range in at or around 195 pounds and, if you think this makes no difference, you are herewith found guilty of having a frayed cuff in your family closet.

The matter of weight and durability is one of Heeney's advantages. The distance, fifteen rounds, is another. Delaney is a sharpshooter and Thomas can be hit. But he is an earnest soul and those kind can become very tiresome to some one who likes to win early and finds he can't.

Delaney will have his big chance in the early rounds. He will hit this specimen from "down under" many times and oft and it is distinctly up to him to make all his pot shots count. The only trouble about this is that Delaney has yet to prove that his punch is really effective upon heavyweight epidermis.

Thomas only has been on the floor twice in his life and then he got right up. Speed and ring guile are Delaney's advantages but he will have to use them in the early minutes of play. Jack proved against Paulino that he cares little for the rugged school of playful tag, particularly when it is sustained over a period of time.

Delaney has neither flair nor stomach for infighting. Heeney simply dotes on it. Therefore, the fight has only two questions to answer. Can Delaney beat Heeney coming in, as he did Berlenbach and Flowers? Can Heeney accept those punches and still come in? Quite a lot of smart boxing men think he can and will.

until the eighth lap, when Hahn increased his short lead to ten yards. Hahn's margin was fifteen yards at the ninth lap and twenty at the finish. Conger sprinted gamely on the last lap, but could not gain on the flying Hahn.

Dr. Peltzer was always last. Unused to indoor tracks, the holder of four world's outdoor records was out of his element. The German champion showed his courage by finishing the race, although hopelessly outdistanced.

A record crowd of 20,000 spectators witnessed the classic, which was the feature of the Knights of Columbus games.

This Leap Year the poor bachelors who are overlooked can have something to be thankful for, anyway—there won't be anyone around hiding their handkerchiefs and socks.

Both Divisions Play Basketball

Both divisions of the Community Club junior basketball league swung into action last night. Division Two played at the K. of C. hall, the Liberties beating the Olympics 52 to 34 and Highland Park winning from the Polish A. C. 51 to 24. The game played last week between the Liberties and the Polish A. C., and won by the latter team has been ordered replayed by President William William McGonigal because an ineligible player was used by the winning team.

In Division One at the Harding gym, the Warriors romped to a 64 to 27 victory over the Cardinals, and the Bulldogs winning from the Woodland A. C. 29 to 22. A real battle for first place looms between the Warriors and the Bulldogs. Following are the leading standings and the summaries of last night's games:

FALCOS OF HOLYOKE PLAY REC TEAMS SATURDAY NIGHT

Middletown High Plays Here Tomorrow Night in Final Home Game; Bissell to Start With Rec Five.

Manager Ben Clune announced today that he had booked the strong Falcos of Holyoke to furnish the basketball attraction with his Rec. Five here Saturday night. The Rec Girls will play the Falco Girls in the preliminary encounter. Tomorrow night, the High school will close its home season when Middletown High comes here. A week from Friday, the local schoolboys close their season at Willimantic, that is, unless they are selected to go to Yale.

The Falco teams are coming here with fine records. The Holyoke boys have won fourteen out of seventeen games and the Holyoke girls, eight out of eleven. Included in the Falco boys' list of wins are such teams as the Diamond-Match of Springfield, Easthampton, Eagles of Pittsfield and numerous other high caliber combinations. The Falcos are the winners of the Industrial league in Holyoke also. All of which tends to prove that the Rec will have to step to win either game.

Kaminsky Beats Gardner In Final Rack 100 To 91

Gallup Eliminates Senkbeil 100-72 and Coughlin Wins From Dunn 100-59; Two Matches Tonight in Second Round.

Bill Kaminsky, considered to be the best pool player entered in the town championship elimination tournament being conducted by The Evening Herald sports department, was forced to exert himself to score a nine-point victory over Johnny Gardner in their first round match last night at the School street Recreation Center. The boys' final rack, but Kaminsky managed to win 100 to 91.

The other two matches were played last night, both in the second round. Judd Gallup eliminated Senkbeil, the score was 100 to 72. The other match resulted in a 100 to 59 victory for Joe Coughlin over Walter Dunn. Both Gallup and Coughlin are now entered in the third round. Gallup's next opponent will be either Cecil England or Jack Nelson. Coughlin will meet the winner of the Charlie Schaub-Jarle Johnson match.

Paul Ballsieper and "Blink" Carney are scheduled to play at 7 o'clock tonight and Johnson and Schaub will probably also play at the same hour. There will be no 8:30 matches tonight. Tomorrow night at 7 o'clock, Paul Dougan and Mac MacDonald will finish the Elles, rg 0 0 0 first round matches and Bill Kaminsky and "Ducker" Carlson will

TONIGHT'S MATCHES

At Conran's Brit. Amer. vs K. of P. Cubs vs Center Church. At K. of C. St. Bridget's vs Masons.

At Murphy's High Park vs K. of C. Cloverleaves vs Bon Ami. W. S. Rec. vs Beethoven. The Center Church team faces an acid test in The Herald bowling league tonight when it tackles the Cubs. Sam Nelson's tribe have won 19 out of the last twenty points and at present are the sensations of the league. However, in the Cubs, they face strong opposition. What makes their task even more difficult is the fact that the Cubs need four points badly to keep in the running with the league-leading Masons who are four points up.

The Masons tackle the St. Bridget's who haven't forgotten the three point victory they scored over the Masons in the first round. The church team also realizes that it needs to win to keep out of Highland Park's parlor. One of the important matches on tap for tonight is the one between the Cloverleaves and Bon Ami. Feeling between these two teams runs high and a hectic battle is due. The Cloverleaves want four points badly in effort to overtake the Masons and Cubs.

The Herald League has been a complete success to date, not a single postponed match having resulted. None of the teams want to be the first one to cause a postponement. The race for last place is also fully as interesting as the penultimate chase.

LATE NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At Milwaukee—Tommy Freeman, Cleveland, outpointed Al Van Ryan, St. Paul, 10. At Akron, Ohio—K. O. Christner, Akron heavyweight, stopped Johnny Urban, New York, 6. At Yonkers, N. Y.—Johnny Gross, Mount Vernon, N. Y., heavyweight, won decision over Pietro Corris, of Austria, 6. At Toledo, Ohio—Eddie Shea, Chicago, awarded newspaper decision over Joe Ryder, Brooklyn, 12.

His Presence Would Put Rival Quintets On A Par

That Is, Providing Jerry Can Get Into Condition; He Weighs 231 NoW; Must Lose About Dozen More Pounds.

BY TOM STOWE

During the past few weeks, many fans in town have probably figured that the town championship basketball series between the north and the south which will take place the latter part of next month is sure to result in an easy triumph for the Rec Five. All because, the Community Club hasn't looked any too hot in its past few games. But don't go laying any foolish bets. What this writer wants to bring out is that when the ball is tossed up at center at the start of the first inter-sectional basketball series Marcherster has had in many years, the teams will be far more evenly matched than the average fan realizes. How come? Well, prepare for an unexpected bit of news.

The possibility that Jerry Fay, coach of the Community Club, may don a uniform and jump center for his team in the series is very good. The writer has this information from the best of authority, Jerry himself. If Jerry plays, it means that George Stavitsky, who is temporarily hors de combat with a sprained knee, will probably play a running guard position. Unless I am greatly mistaken, the addition of Fay to the Community Club with Stavitsky also playing, would improve the north end outfit fully seventy-five per cent over the aggregation which took the floor night before last and also against the Yankees.

The only thing that can keep Jerry Fay out of the lineup is inability to get into condition. Fay has been working out daily with the writer at the School street Rec in an effort to bring down his poundage to the proper level. Just at present, Jerry tips the scales around 230. If Fay can get down anywhere near the weight he was when he started for Grove City College, he'll be a thorn in the side of the Rec Five all through the series, and an extra sharp one, at that. Those who have seen Fay working out at the Rec gym are amazed at his eagle eye for the basket from all ranges. Several times, he has hooped eight out of ten long shots from just outside of the foul circle and from the foul line, averages around twenty. The writer sought to beat him in a shooting exhibition the other day, but it cost him something like eighteen milkshakes. Fay's advantage in height and experience should be a big asset to the Community Club. He probably will be able to get the tap from Roy Norris at center and should be a bear on the defense. His presence in the lineup should steady the Community team beyond measure. The preceding statements do not mean that the writer believes the Community will beat the Rec but they do bear out the apparently conclusive fact that the Rec should have no walk-a-way as many fans now believe.

CELEBRATED MURDERS EXPLAINED

No. 2—Marat

Marat was slain by Charlotte Corday, July 13, 1793. The killing took place in his bathtub. The stubs of many cigarettes were found about the floor. They were of a very inferior grade. A statement signed by Miss Corday has just come to light. It reads: "I had a room nearby and his coughing was unbearable. With a coughless brand on the market there was no excuse for it. I just had to kill him. He deserved it."

PERSONAL ITEMS

Minnie Smith and Ed. Latham are to be married. It was a case of love at first smoke, Old Golds being the brand of both.

PRINCE WINS RACE.
 Tetbury, England, March 1.—Riding over a dangerously swampy course, the Prince of Wales today won the point-to-point Beaufort hunt race of the Welsh Guards. This was the third point-to-point race the Prince has won within a year.

The Prince of Wales entered the contest as a colonel of the Welsh Guards riding a horse named "De Gomme." It was a hazardous undertaking as there were thirty obstacles in the 1-1/2 mile course including several cliff edge jumps and a turf topped stone fence which has often brought expert riders to grief. The course was so slow it was like a quagmire.

Fire others participated in the race. The Prince showed excellent horsemanship and an utter disregard for danger as his mount took the hurdles from a muddy footing.

DIVORCE CENTER.
 Chicago, March 1.—Chicago has become the divorce center of the country, according to Thomas O. Wallace, circuit court clerk. His statistics show that divorces are granted here at the rate of one every hour.

HEAVIES' BOUT TONIGHT
 EASY TO GET BY RADIO

Manchester people interested in the heavyweight elimination boxing bout between Jack Delaney and Tom Heeney which is to take place in Madison Square Garden tonight, should have little difficulty in getting the returns of the fifteen-round bout over the radio.

The fight will be broadcast from the ringside by the National Broadcasting Company through Station WJZ and its associated stations, Graham MacNamee will be at the "mike" to give a blow-by-blow description of what takes place. Station WJZ is one of the easiest stations to get on any set. WJZ will cut in on the Garden preliminaries at 9:30 p. m. and the big bout is due at ten o'clock.

ACCIDENTS MORE SERIOUS
 Hartford, Conn., March 1.—There was a material increase in the seriousness as well as in the number of automobile accidents in the United States last year. Victims of automobile mishaps were laid out for longer periods of time and one out of every eight men hurt by automobiles died, while only one out of every 125 disabled by all forms of non-occupational accidents died.

Such facts were revealed today by the Travelers Insurance Company when actuaries completed a preliminary survey of claims paid for disabilities and deaths under personal accident insurance carried by 250,000 business and professional men.

MOVEMENT IS STARTED TO OUST FRANK GOODWIN

Boston, March 1.—Machinery was starting today for the removal from office of Frank A. Goodwin, nationally known registrar of motor vehicles and "stormy petrel of Beacon Hill."

The ousting was forecast by the registrar's reply to the ultimatum of William M. Williams, state commissioner of public works—that Mr. Goodwin retract statement he made concerning Governor Alvan T. Fuller or be removed from office.

In reply to Mr. Williams, the registrar stated that he stood on his original statement.

Some time ago Governor Fuller called the registrar and Mr. Williams to his office and told Mr. Goodwin to keep out of matters not concerned with his office. The registrar had been active in the movement to secure salary increases for state employees.

Dr. Emil Ludwig says America's four greatest people are Thomas Edison, John D. Rockefeller, Orville Wright and Jane Addams. And he never even mentioned Bossy Gillis!

BOLTON SCHOOL LINES
 STILL A QUIET SECTOR

No Armistice, But Miss Lipovetsky Is Teaching, Pending Resignation Date.

Although there is no indication of any formal armistice, no major engagements have taken place along the front line trenches in the Bolton school battle. Miss Doris Lipovetsky is still teaching in the north school and whether or not she will terminate her services next week Tuesday, when her resignation is supposed to go into effect, remains to be seen. The school committee has requested her not to resign.

The latest news from the battlefield is that supporters of the school committee are laying the blame for the whole affair on Mrs. Adolph Exell for a physical chastisement her son Ralph was given by Miss Lipovetsky last October. Mrs. Exell says this suggestion is ridiculous, that although the whipping was unjust, she held no ill feeling against the teacher because of it. "If I had, I would have started something long before this," she said today.

Asked why Ralph was given a whipping by the teacher, Mrs. Exell stated that one recess the children were having a lot of fun throwing burdock burs. During the course of the "battle" pretty Teresa Giglio's curls got all snarled up with burs. She did not complain, but one of the boys "squealed" to the teacher that Ralph was responsible. After being whipped, Ralph was made to pick the burs from Teresa's hair.

Mrs. Exell said that the teacher afterward sent word by one of the children that she was sorry she had whipped Ralph; that she was all nerved up with trouble she had had with other children that morning and punished the boy on the impulse of the moment.

BUICKLEY FOUND GUILTY.
 Boston, March 1.—Charles E. ("Charley") Brickley, who once dropped field goals for Harvard from beyond midfield, today was found guilty of four counts of larceny and one count of keeping a "bucket shop."

A Suffolk county Superior Court jury, which heard the case, deliberated most of the night.

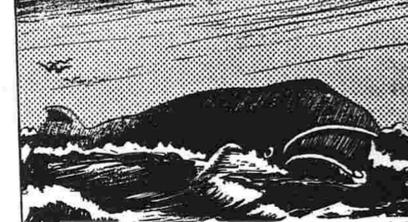

The larceny charge was the result of stock transactions, the money being given by Mrs. Georgianna Boynton, of Marlboro, and Patrick Callahan, of the south end. Sentence to the former crimson football hero will be pronounced on March 12th, it was announced.

18 MINERS KILLED
 Recklinghausen, Germany, Mar. 1.—Thirteen miners were killed instantly here today when the pit-cage which was lowering them down to work in a mine crashed to the bottom of the pit. Forty-eight miners were injured.

The tragedy was caused by the snapping of the ropes to which the pit-cage was attached.

Recklinghausen is in the state of Estphalia, in the heart of the Ruhr district, which is the most important coal mining section of Germany.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE
 (225) Sea Monsters
 Sketches by Bessey; Synopsis by Braucher

Whales are the biggest creatures in the world. Above is shown a Baleen whale which has no teeth. Its mouth is fitted with whalebone with which it catches its food as in a fishing net. The whalebone in a whale's mouth may weigh a ton and a half and is worth $10,000 a ton. The whale's oil also is very valuable.

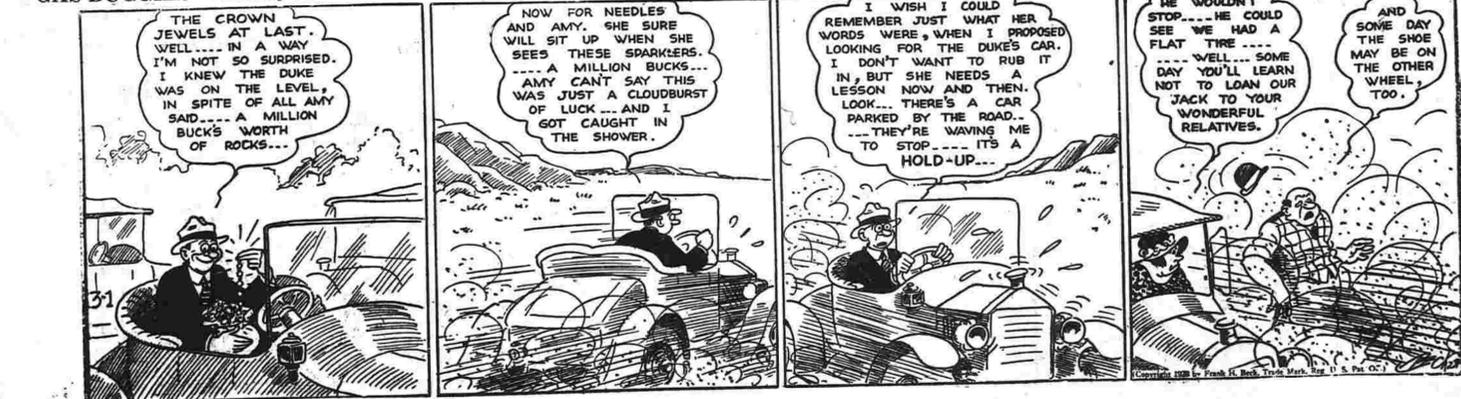

These whales have two nostrils on top of the head. Sometimes the animal pours out its pent-up breath under water, shooting a column of spray into the air.

As the whale steams along, water pours into its open mouth. The water is strained out through the whalebone, but the food remains.

This is a Cachalot or Sperm Whale. It has fifty teeth in the lower jaw, but none in the upper. At the back of its head are stored tons of oil from which we get spermaceti for ointments and the best candles. We get ambergris from the Cachalot, which is made into perfume worth from $10 to $30 an ounce.

The girl who should reduce, but doesn't want to, generally has her own weigh.

THIS ONE HAS A MORAL

—after you have the COIN. Par is four and you may be able to do better. One solution is on another page.

THE RULES

- 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. This is done by changing one letter at a time.
2—You can change only one letter at a time.
3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.
4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

"How did the Smith wedding go off?" "Fine—until the parson asked the bride if she'd obey her husband." "What happened then?" "She replied, 'Do you think I'm crazy?' and the groom, who was in a sort of daze, said, 'I do.'"

If you can't say No, you can't expect to live within your income.

The rubber boot kept on its flight, and Clowny hung on very tight. He feared that he might hurt himself. That's why he didn't jump. "Come on you Tines. Pick up speed," cried Clowny. "Help is what I need. I'm being jarred to pieces as this boot goes thumpy-thump." "Oh, please be patient," Scouty said. "Don't yell at us, or lose your head. We all are running just as fast as we know how to run. But your old boot runs faster still. Be careful you don't take a spill. We'll chase it till we lose our breath. This isn't any fun." "So, o'er the hill the whole bunch went. Of course it was their kind intent to catch the little rubber boot and turn poor Clowny free. The boot looked back. They heard it brag, "Say, this is like a game of tag. I am the one who's it, and all you Tines can't catch me." "Don't be too certain," Copy cried. "We always do things that are tried." And then the speeding

The superintendent was examining the children at a certain school. "Who wrote 'Hamlet'?" he asked.

A very frightened little boy rose and said, "Please, sir, I didn't." The superintendent was later relating this amusing incident to members of the school board.

The patient who had been put on a diet of eggs and port was asked by his doctor how he liked his daily fare.

"It would be all right, doctor, if the eggs were as new as the port, and the port as old as the eggs."

The barber asked the grouch if he wished lilac, rose, or violet on the face when he had finished shaving him.

"None of them things for me," snarled the grouch. "If I went home with perfume like that on my face my wife would say I smelled like a sink of iniquity."

Then a man with the wide grin got into the chair.

"When it comes to the finish," he chuckled, "you can put all those nice smells on me. My wife doesn't know what a sink of iniquity smells like."

ABOUT TOWN

King David Lodge, No. 31, I. O. O. F. will hold its regular meeting in Odd Fellows' hall tomorrow evening. Noble Grand Frank Montle and his associate officers will work the initiatory degree on a class of candidates.

Mrs. N. P. Hanley of Monson, Mass., who has frequently visited her sisters, Mrs. George W. House of Benton street and Mrs. Edwin Baker of Vernon Center, died at her home in Monson yesterday and the funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.

The American Insurance Union which has a large membership in Manchester, will have a chicken dinner at the Hotel Sheridan this evening at 6:30. Stephen Beebe will act as toastmaster and W. B. Rogers will be one of the speakers.

The P. of H. Whist club will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Charles B. Warren of Cooper Hill street.

Mrs. E. B. Inman and children of Woodbridge street left today for Willimantic where they will spend the remainder of the week with relatives.

Prices at the regular weekly meeting of the Chumiate club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henry of 46 Starkweather street last night were won by Mrs. Henry at Morrell and Mrs. Henry at bridge. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday evening of next week at the home of Mrs. William Schober of 152 High street, Rockville.

Doorways in the State theater building are being repaired and re-laid with tile by Morris Sims. Some of the tile had become loose and in one of the doorways a number of them were out all together.

Harold Howe, John G. Pentland, Joseph Wilson and Earl Miner left yesterday for New York where they will attend the Heaney-Delaney fight tonight. They made the journey by train.

Ray Barrett was high man again yesterday at the shoot of the Manchester Rod and Gun club at the Rainbow range. Most of the scores were low and there were few gunners at the traps.

Miss Dorothy Holland of Hartford road, who was operated upon at the Hartford hospital for appendicitis on Monday, is making good progress toward recovery. Miss Holland is a senior in the Manchester High school and a lieutenant in one of the Girl Scout troops.

Mrs. John Moriarty of East Center street delightfully entertained the Octet Bridge club at her home yesterday with a luncheon bridge. The table decorations were in pink, green and white, with frezias used as the centerpiece. Mrs. Walter Hoffman and Mrs. Robert Lathrop were the prize winners.

Manchester Camp, Royal Neighbors, expects to have a large class of candidates for the class initiation which is to take place at the Hotel Bond, Hartford, in May, when the supreme commander from Kansas City is to be present. Capitol City camp of Hartford and a number of other camps in this section of the state are to be represented.

Aaron Cook, aged 85, well-known Manchester Green resident, is still confined to his bed at his home on East Middle Turnpike. He is under the care of a trained nurse. Mr. Cook, who suffered a shock and was not expected to live more than a few hours, has been ill for about four months.

ENTERTAINS PYTHIAN SISTERS OFFICERS

Mrs. Herbert Alley of Washington street entertained a party of the past and present officers of Memorial Temple, Pythian Sisters, last evening. It was the regular monthly meeting of the Past Chiefs' association, and as it was also the twentieth wedding anniversary of Mrs. Frances Chambers, all the present officers were invited. The affair came as a very pleasant surprise to Mrs. Chambers, who was remembered with a sterling silver pencil.

A number of snappy games were played including the "Auction of Spark Plug." Mrs. Chambers was the lucky bidder and the winners in other games were Mrs. Lena Kearnes and Mrs. Gladys Clark. The hostess served fruit salad with whipped cream, rolls, home made cake and coffee.

POURING CONCRETE TODAY ON MAIN-BIRCH ST. BUILDING

Workmen of the Manchester Construction Company were pouring concrete today for the foundation of the building being erected for the F. and W. Leasing corporation at the corner of Main and Birch streets. The sidewalk abutting the lot has been roped off while the concrete machine is working. Officials of the company said yesterday that the work would go as far as possible without interfering with the proposed new building line of Birch street. This matter is now hanging fire and will be decided at a town meeting on Monday.

The lot was transferred to the F. and W. company by Devey & Richman with the understanding that it is subject to a pending new building line.

LEAP YEAR BIRTHDAY PARTY ON MRS. MUNSIE

Mrs. James Munsie of 123 Center street is one of the few Manchester women whose birthday occurs only once in four years, the 29th day of February. Her friends here and elsewhere usually make up for the dearth of birthdays by remembering her with flowers, cards and in other ways. Yesterday afternoon her associates in Manchester Camp, Royal Neighbors, surprised her and in the evening her daughter-in-law, Mrs. James Munsie, Jr., entertained with a family party in her honor. The Royal Neighbors called on Mrs. Munsie for the purpose of a conference on affairs of the order, but the committee meeting turned out to be a real party. The ladies brought salads, cakes—all the essentials for a bountiful spread, which all enjoyed, as well as the games, music and stories which filled in the remainder of the time. Mrs. Margaret Griffin in behalf of the camp, and as a token of its appreciation of the loyal service given for years past by Mrs. Munsie, presented her with a fine gold fountain pen.

CENTER SPRINGS ICE UNSAFE FROM THAW

But Skaters Will Meet at Rec Tonight to Organize Club, Just the Same.

The ice on the Center Springs pond was declared unsafe today as a result of the thaw yesterday. Weather forecast may help the situation today, for colder weather is predicted.

Skaters who are interested in forming a skating club of Manchester are asked to meet tonight at the School street Recreation Center. Members of the Hartford Skating club, a successful organization, have promised to help the local skaters in forming a similar club here.

TRUAX STILL HEADS RED MEN'S BUILDING ASS'N
 Claude Truax was re-elected president of the Red Men's Building Association at its annual meeting held last night. So much business was waiting for transaction that after the election and some of the business had been gone through the meeting was adjourned until March 12.

Other officers elected are William C. Scheldge, secretary; Frank Diana, treasurer; William Leggett, Joseph Barto, Walter Gustafson, Irving Keeney, George L. A. Bailey, James Foley and Jacob Lauffer, directors.

FUNERAL OF MRS. ABBEY

Simple but impressive funeral services for Mrs. Esther K. Abbey were held at the home of Walter M. Saunders at 29 Linden street at 2:30 this afternoon. Rev. Joseph Cooper, pastor of the South Methodist Episcopal church, officiated. Burial was in the family plot in the East Cemetery. The bearers were William Dougan, William Walsh, William Keith, Thomas Humphries, Fred Bendall and Fred Carpenter.

The Hiding Place

Are your valuables protected—or merely hidden?

Putting away your important papers and other valuables in secret places gives little assurance against loss.

Use our vault as a safe, permanent depository.

Rent a Safe Deposit Box

The old fashioned idea of security was a hiding place. Things were hidden away in secret nooks and corners with the illusion of security.

Actual security requires more than concealment and secrecy. It must combine accessibility with permanent safety and privacy.

In our modern safety vault your valuables are accessible to you alone, and always secure from being stolen, burned, forgotten or mislaid.

 A Bath a Day Keeps You Fit Every Way

Seems as though "Paw" is out in the garage all the time since he lined it with Sheetrock and made it cozy and comfortable. Working in his shop all the time—and the old car never ran as well as it does now. SHEETROCK—the fireproof wall-board, is easy to apply—saws and nails like lumber—big broad sheets that cover the space quickly (standard building sizes). Stop and look at a sample, or telephone—
