Give to your HOSPITAL As You Would Have It Give To Others

Serving Your Neighbor The people of Manchester give their Hospital hearty moral and financial support because it is a strong GRADE A1 HOSPITAL rendering inestimable service to the sick and injured of the entire community.

Below Cost to the Patient No public hospital operates without a deficit. If Manchester Memorial Hospital were to attempt to run on a self-sustaining basis and make no appeal to the public for funds it would be obliged to collect from every patient admitted $5.43 a day. This would practically destroy its usefulness in a community like ours.

Table with 4 columns: Patient Costs the Hospital Per Day, No. of Beds, Patient Pays Per Day, and Loss/Gain. Rows include Ward, Semi-Private, and Private rooms.

The above table shows that only the occupants of three private rooms pay the Hospital what it actually costs to care for them.

Opportunity to Help

This difference between what a patient pays and what he costs in service, laundry, equipment, food, etc., makes up a deficit of $2,800 a month. And the Annual Drive for funds is simply an invitation to the public of Manchester to benevolence toward their neighbors, who are or will be in misfortune. This may mean you!

Improvements and Extension of Service

This year the Trustees are planning some alterations in the Dietary Department, some alterations and new equipment in the X-Ray and Operating Rooms. They wish to install a Refrigeration System which will enable them to buy perishable food in large quantities at lower price.

HAS BEEN FORTY YEARS WITH SAME CONCERN

Andrew M. Clemons, Sr., of 108 North Elm street, today completes forty years service with James Pullar & Company, well known Hartford firm makers of wagons and automobile supplies, where he is at present foreman.

Mr. Clemons learned his apprenticeship as a carriage maker in Denmark. He removed with his family to this country in 1882. His first work in Manchester was with Hem Maloney on Starkweather street as a sleigh and wagon builder. Later Mr. Clemons erected a shop on North Elm street where he built carriages and wagons.

On May 7, 1888, he went to work for the Pullar firm at their old establishment on Mechanic street in Hartford, building a home on his carriage shop site. He has been foreman of the entire Pullar shop for twenty-five years.

SMITH'S NEW TRACT HIVE OF INDUSTRY

Elizabeth Park Tract Being Rushed Into Shape For Development During Summer.

Another section of the town which is a hive of industry and indicates that developers hold much faith in the prosperity of Manchester during coming years is the Elizabeth Park tract owned by Robert J. Smith on North Elm street in the north end. Steam shovels and trucks are at work leveling off ground to make streets possible.

These will connect with Henry street, North Elm street, and also Manchester Green road. There will also be cross highways that will run off North Elm street which have already been named. One is Tanner street after John Tanner, who was one of the early settlers in that section of North Elm street. Then there is Bowers street, named after the late Senator A. E. Bowers who sold Mr. Smith the land. Mr. Smith plans later to extend the section to Parker street with connections to Middleturpike. In all there will be 237 building lots and Mr. Smith intends to start the development with the erection of houses for himself and for others who have shown a desire to locate there. The whole development will take in over sixty acres.

PHONES Pinehurst "GOOD THINGS TO EAT" ETHICS If we talk a lot about the difference between old time ways and present day methods in the food business, it's because the difference is so marked, in so many ways. Take the ethics of competition for example. Time was, if Grocer Jones' cousin dropped into town, a stranger, and happened to stop at Grocer Brown's to enquire the whereabouts of Jones' store, Brown would have been more likely than not to snap: "Follow your nose and find out."

Today saw the re-opening of the public schools in Manchester. The 111 High school students who went to Washington during the vacation had returned in time to get rested up. Many of them had seen the Irish-German filars.
