

AVIATOR WHO SAVED NOBLE, DOWN HIMSELF

Swedish Plane Wrecked When Tornberg Returns to Carry Away Other Members of Italia's Crew.

Rome, June 25.—The situation of the five remaining members of Gen. Umberto Nobile's expedition, party upon an Arctic ice of Foynen Island, is serious because the ice has begun to break up, said a radiogram from King's Bay this afternoon.

In fact, there are six persons marooned upon the ice, as Lieut. Tornberg, Swedish aviator, became a refugee himself when his plane was damaged while making a second landing.

After rescuing Gen. Nobile first on account of his injuries, Tornberg flew back from Hinlopen Strait to pick up Natale Ceccione, motor chief of the Italia. Owing to the uneven surface of the ice the plane was capsized in landing, but the aviator escaped injury.

Nobile's Request

Upon returning to Hinlopen Strait after his first trip to the rescue camp, the Swedish pilot of the Italia said Nobile wanted him to rescue Ceccione first. However, in view of the fact that Nobile was in worse physical condition than the mechanic and because of the latter's weight, Tornberg insisted that Nobile be the first to leave. Upon his second flight after Ceccione, he left his own mechanic behind to lighten the seaplane.

SEVERELY INJURED

London, June 25.—The seriousness of the injuries of General Umberto Nobile who was rescued from his isolation on the ice-north of Spitzbergen by Capt. Tornberg, the Swedish aviator, were described today in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome.

Nobile suffered an incomplete fracture of the right shin and his foot was completely dislocated at the ankle. In addition he suffered a severe contusion of the right thigh which caused him to lose much blood.

His injuries are very painful and it is feared complications may set in because of exposure. The surgeon of the City of Milano stated that it would be at least forty days before the noted explorer recovered.

Just how Nobile sustained his injuries was still unexplained. It is believed, however, either crushed when the gondola of the Italia crashed to the ground on the morning of May 25, or his foot was caught between the ice-floes while he was awaiting aid.

NOBLE'S OWN STORY

London, June 25.—General Umberto Nobile's own story of his rescue was received this afternoon in

TENTATIVE PLANK ON DRY QUESTION

Wets and Drys Will Be Able to Agree on Prohibition, Experts Say.

Houston, June 25.—The Al Smith forces have agreed upon a tentative prohibition plank which seeks to harmonize the differences between the militant Drys and Wets. It was learned today.

The gist of the plank follows: Denounces the Republican party for failure to enforce properly the 18th Amendment.

Blames the Republicans for a virtual reign of terrorism in enforcement methods.

Pledges the Democratic party and its nominees to enforce rigidly all provisions of the constitution.

In this outline of the plank no mention is made specifically of enforcement of the 18th Amendment. The Smith leaders argue that it is not at all necessary as naturally any presidential nominee would pledge himself to enforce all laws on the statute books even should he favor modification or repeal of some particular provision.

Should Suit Drys

Such a plank, the Smith leaders declared today, would not embarrass Gov. Smith and should suit all the Drys except that militant group which is seeking an out and out endorsement of the "moral uprighteousness" of prohibition.

Members of the Smith camp have been burning the midnight oil in trying to evolve some plan to soothe the omnipresent prohibition row. The latest arrivals in the New

THEY AID IN DEMOCRACY'S CAUSE

Here are some of the women Democrats who are expected to play a part in the convention at Houston: (1) Mrs. Woodrow Wilson; (2) Mrs. Peter Olson, of Minnesota; (3) Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, Missouri; (4) Gertrude Atherton, the novelist; (5) Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York; (6) Mrs. Nellie Ross, former governor of Wyoming; (7) Mrs. Clem Shaver, wife of the chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Women To Play Bigger Part At Houston Than At K. C.

Washington, June 25.—The Democrats treat their women better than the Republicans.

There will be something like 150 women delegates sitting in the Democratic national convention at Houston this year and about 250 women alternates. As was the case at Kansas City, there are fewer women seated than in 1924, a reduction from about 500 to 400 among some 2000 delegates and alternates.

The Republicans had less than half as many feminine delegates and a few less alternates.

Many of the ladies will split their votes with men, so that their actual voting power will be somewhere around 100 votes.

For some reason or other, the women at the Democratic conventions are considerably more independent than their Republican sisters.

SEN. ROBINSON RUNNING MATE TO GOV. SMITH

Minority Leader in U. S. Senate Prominently Mentioned for the Second Place if Smith is Nominated.

Houston, June 25.—A fast moving and ever growing vice presidential boom for Sen. Joseph T. Robinson, minority leader of the United States Senate, today overshadowed the spirited race for second place honors on the Democratic presidential ticket.

Although a dozen prominent and nationally known Democrats were in the vice presidential picture, the Robinson boom appeared to be the best organized and the most widely promoted. It was being quietly whispered in the hotel lobbies that Robinson had the personal endorsement of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, and that if Smith won the presidential nomination, Robinson would be his running mate. Friends of the Arkansas Senator openly predicted his nomination on the first vice presidential ballot.

Reed Mentioned

In the inner council chambers, however, another name was whispered—that of Sen. James A. Reed, now a vigorous candidate for the highest honor. Some influential party leaders said Reed could have the vice presidential nomination by merely signifying his willingness to run with Smith, should the New York governor become the presidential nominee. Such a combination would parallel the action of the Republican convention, which named Sen. Charles Curtis for the second place post after Herbert Hoover defeated him for the presidential nomination.

There were a good many dissen-

HOUSTON DELEGATES CLAMBER ON THE SMITH BAND WAGON

Pres. Wilson's Widow A New Joan Of Arc MAY BE NOMINATED ON FIRST BALLOT

Houston, June 25.—Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, widow of the World War president, may become the Joan of Arc of the Democratic convention should internal strife threaten success of the party's political warfare.

She stood out today in the convention throngs as an exponent of harmony and a united front in the November offensive.

Having recited the greatest popular acclaim of any incoming notable, Mrs. Wilson apparently was in position to wield great power over contending forces.

The spirit of Woodrow Wilson, already in evidence in pre-convention activities, raced through the convention hordes with her arrival.

Displaying reticence when questions concerning the presidential nomination fight, she did express the hope that the convention will be harmonious.

Is For Smith

Close friends indicated that she was agreeable to the nomination of Gov. Al Smith and might openly declare for him should the anti-Smith coalition force a "bitter-end" fight in the convention.

She, too, was said to look with disfavor on the candidacy of Sen. James A. Reed, of Missouri, who fought the League of Nations covenant which Woodrow Wilson presented to the Senate.

The popularity of the late President was personified by his widow, was first shown when more than 1,000 people waited over three hours for the arrival of her private car.

TROLLEY STRIKE ORDERS CANCELLED; A NEW VOTE

New Haven, June 25.—Trolley-men of the Connecticut Company lines who were to have met tonight to receive orders for conducting a strike to enforce their demands for higher wages, and improved working conditions, will hold a poll, instead, to decide whether they go out on strike. Meanwhile the strike order, set for midnight tonight, has been definitely cancelled.

"Some of the men thought they were voting to sustain the committee instead of voting for a strike," declared John T. Riordan of Worcester, Mass., a national official of the trolleyman's union, in a brief comment on the situation today.

Misunderstanding

Trolley-men throughout the state had previously thought the strike vote was yet to come. They supposed that after the center committee in charge of negotiations with the Connecticut Company had approved the strike movement, each local must then confirm the strike. Many of the men today say they were astounded at the strike call.

Meanwhile the Manufacturers Association of Connecticut have announced their intention of aiding the company if a strike comes.

The first news of a possible suspension of the strike order came in the middle of Sunday afternoon when the general committee met with President John K. Pufferford in his office here. They were in session for hours and when they adjourned they issued the statement that the strike call had been suspended.

Meanwhile the locals had been called to meet tonight, and that meeting will discuss the issue. A vote is likely tonight, the men say, though it may be put over until next Sunday.

POLICE SEARCH FOR JAILBIRDS IN THREE STATES

Bridgeport, June 25.—Police of three states have been hunting for days to capture Wallace Garry, of Orange, Mass., and Stamford, and Pellegrino Donna of Bridgeport, who escaped from the county jail here a week ago today and who have left a surprising trail of crime behind them. Garry, at least, is to face serious charges when he falls into the hands of the law again, including assault on an aged woman and robbery while armed, according to officials here.

The two men sped from the jail and picked up a car which took them to Waterbury. There they may have separated, Garry, it is said, went westward to Danbury, where he was arrested by police. He was moved on to Bridgewater.

A tale from Bridgewater reached state police on Friday which set their machinery into speedy action. Mrs. Jane Berry, living alone in an isolated section of Bridgewater, told of a strange man who knocked at her door at eight Thursday morning and asked to buy some eggs. Mrs. Berry turned to get the eggs and the man pressed a revolver against her.

Tale of Horror

Mrs. Berry related a tale of horror extending through the day. She was forced to get breakfast for the man. While she cooked, he ripped the telephone from the wall. After eating, he locked her into her bedroom and himself slept most of the day. At 4 in the afternoon he released her and forced her to cook his supper.

According to Mrs. Berry the man assaulted her three times during the day.

Late in the afternoon the man

AMUNDSEN LOCATED SAYS PARIS REPORT

Russian Icebreaker in Communication With Norwegian Explorer.

London, June 25.—Captain Roald Amundsen, missing Norwegian explorer has been located by the Russian ice breaker Krassin and plans are being made for the rescue of himself and his companions, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris this afternoon quoting an unconfirmed Moscow report printed by the newspaper "Information."

The Moscow report said that the Krassin had been in wireless communication with Amundsen and that Russian aviators on board the ice breaker were preparing to hop off in a Junkers plane.

Amundsen, Lieut. Lief Dietrichsen and Rene Gullbaud have been missing since they hopped off at Tromsø, Norway, one week ago today to try to aid Gen. Umberto Nobile and his stranded companions. They flew in a French seaplane equipped with wireless.

Smith On Second Ballot, Gov. Ritchie's Prediction

By Gov. Albert C. Ritchie

Houston, June 25.—I think Gov. Alfred E. Smith will be nominated by the Democratic convention on the second, if not the first ballot, and that he will be elected President of the United States next November.

Gov. Smith will be nominated because party success depends upon party unity and Gov. Smith is the man who offers far and away the best chance for unity.

The Democratic party is not going to have another Madison Square Garden. We do not want any dissension that can be properly avoided. Gov. Smith gives the best assurance of victory and that is what this convention wants.

Gov. Smith will be elected because the campaign will be between an efficiency expert on one side and the people on the other. Gov. Smith has proved himself a great administrator and he knows government.

Government deals with more than charts and blue prints and mechanics. It deals with human beings as well. Gov. Smith knows humanity, and the American people will be for the man who stands for human rights.

Opponents of New York Governor Give Up Hope of Defeating Him as Envoys Arrive in Convention City; Southern Delegates Swing His Way—Sen. Reed, Gov. Dan Moody, Sen. George and Dan Roper Only Ones Left of Anti-Smith Leaders—Still Battling Over Dry Plank in Platform.

Houston, June 25.—The desperately struggling anti-Smith leaders in the Democratic national convention conducted a new count of noses today, 24 hours before the gavel falls and then gave up all hope of stopping the New York governor.

A number of conferences was followed by a morning of figuring, and in no direction could the bitter-enders find any hope of holding off Gov. Smith's nomination beyond the third ballot, although they even go over on the first ballot, although his managers do not claim it nor particularly desire it.

The cold figures, checked and rechecked by the opponents of Smith, showed that there were only 42 votes for the first ballot, although the Arkansas and Louisiana delegations and four from North Carolina.

To Get Southern Votes

As the great mass of delegates poured into Houston today by train, boat and motor there were rumblings that indicated Smith may get a good many scattering votes from southern states that his managers have regarded as a handy territory. Six of Virginia's 24 votes for example, were reported ready to go to Smith on the first ballot, or whenever the governor's managers want them called in. Eighteen of the delegates were said to be ready to go for Smith as soon as released by Evans Woollen, the Hoosier favorite son.

The road seemed to be opening up for a band wagon movement that threatened to sweep anything in front of it, just as at Kansas City, where the Hoover band wagon would hardly provide space for all who wished to clamber on.

Few Hwals Left

Only Sen. Jim Reed of Missouri, Gov. Dan Moody of Texas, Sen. Walter F. George and Dan Roper of North Carolina were left this morning to carry on the fight against the nomination of Smith if it all. They constituted themselves the four horsemen of the anti-Smith movement, but they admittedly were making little headway. Figure as they would, they could not count on more than 270 votes that could be counted on to oppose Smith after the first ballot. And that figure is generous by perhaps 705 votes, according to a careful calculation.

The fight against the nomination of the New York governor was in a state of utter collapse this forenoon. There remained only the hope of jettisoning the Smith craft in the platform committee through the adoption of a dry plank so radical that Smith might refuse to run on it. But this, too, appeared a forlorn hope for, as the Smith managers quickly pointed out.

The fight against the nomination of the New York governor was in a state of utter collapse this forenoon. There remained only the hope of jettisoning the Smith craft in the platform committee through the adoption of a dry plank so radical that Smith might refuse to run on it. But this, too, appeared a forlorn hope for, as the Smith managers quickly pointed out.

The battling against Smith will be continued, but there wasn't much heart in it this morning. The figures are too cold, too overpowering and too non-elastic.

MURDERER IS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Torrington, June 25.—No inquest will be necessary in the deaths of Frank Sinischelch, shot in a local road house (and of Jack DiAmbrosio, owner of the road house, who was killed when his auto crashed through a fence near his business place directly after the shooting, which took place last evening.

Coroner Samuel A. Herma has been notified that DiAmbrosio shot and killed Sinischelch and was himself in the auto accident.

Fatsy Rezzulla, a patron of the roadhouse, was wounded in the shooting, but will recover.

A dispute between the three men led to the shooting, the police say. DiAmbrosio, trilled over the turn of affairs, tried to escape and in his wild dash by auto lost control of the machine.

Smith will have a clear majority of votes on the first ballot, and probably two-thirds of the convention on the second or third ballot. Figure as these would—and did—the anti-Smith people could not get around it.

Opposition Leaders

Leadership in the final drive against Smith seemed to rest today with Daniel C. Roper, and old McAdoo lieutenant, who was in-ternal revenue commissioner in the Wilson administration, an ardent dry and skilled politician. Roper's room in a downtown hotel was the mecca for all the anti-Smith elements. To it at various times during the past 24 hours have gone the Anti-Saloon League people, numerous friends of McAdoo—and even Sen. "Jim" Reed, of Missouri, who stands next to Smith in delegate strength, and in whom rests whatever real hope the so-called "allied" have of ultimately stopping Smith.

The aim, the purpose and the goal of the dissenters was expressed by Roper himself this morning as follows:

"The elements of the convention which are convinced of the necessity of saving the Democratic party from nullification of the 18th amendment, and from Tammany control of the Federal, are in agreement upon the course of procedure to be followed in the fight."

The nature of that "agreement" and the course of procedure was not divulged, either by Roper himself or by Senator Reed, who left a conference at 2 a. m. The Missouri man was in a belligerent frame of mind as he climbed into a taxicab with several of his managers.

Reed's Comments

"I have entered into no coalition, combine or combination," he snapped, in reply to questions. "Missouri is here for the only one thing—to get all the votes we can."

"We are entering no 'deals' involving the presidency, possibly cabinet posts or anything else."

This last remark referred to the activities of the Smith managers. While "the Allies" have been busy cooking up trouble for the New York Governor his friends have not been idle. They have been doing some convincing themselves in the last 24 hours principally with regard to the vice presidency. It was reported they offered second place to Reed and that he refused to consider it. It was also reported that Smith offered it to Sen. Joe Robinson of Arkansas, who was more amenable to it than his Senator colleague. Bets were being made about the lobby of the Rice hotel this morning that the ticket to be named four or five days hence will be Smith and Robinson.

Reed vehemently denied he knew anything about any coalition.

The Roper statement, he said, spoke for itself. He refused to elaborate upon it, declined to state what was meant by "the elements of the convention" mentioned by Roper, and refused to say how far Missouri will go, if at all, in combining with the bitter enders against Smith for a last ditch fight.

Reed's Position

It is one of the ironies of politics that Senator Reed is forced to look for support here to the very elements of the party with which he has so long been at odds. The ardent dries, the Wilson idolizers, the League of Nations Democrats, the old McAdoo crowd all combined to bar him from a seat in the Democratic convention at San Francisco eight years ago. Today in Houston Senator Reed is conferring with them and they are rallying behind him to "stop Smith."

In a room adjoining that in which Roper and Reed had their early morning conference sat an official of the Anti-Saloon League. He greeted the Missouri Senator cordially as the parley broke up. Only a year ago Senator Reed was anathema to the dries. He exoriated the League off the floor of the Senate and he gave a merciless grilling to the late Wayne B. Wheeler when he appeared as a witness before Reed's committee in Washington.

Reed as the champion of the prohibitionists and the ardent dries, is a

DRYS ARE NOT ABLE TO BLOCKADE SMITH
Van Namee, A's Manager, Says His Man Will Get Nomination Early.

Houston, June 25.—Claims by the drys that they have more than enough votes to block Gov. A. Smith's nomination today were characterized by George R. Van Namee, the governor's pre-convention manager, as "ridiculously exaggerated."

"Nothing can stop Gov. Smith's nomination," Van Namee said. "He will have more than 650 votes on the first ballot, but how many more I do not care to say at this time. If Gov. Smith is nominated on the first ballot I feel certain that all who now are opposing him will give him their undivided support."

Fred W. Johnson, of Wyoming, who was in charge of the A. S. Smith Special from nine western states, predicted the nomination of the New York governor on the first ballot.

New Yorkers Arrive
With the arrival today of New York's delegation, things will begin to hum at the Smith headquarters. The New Yorkers will caucus tonight with the election of Mrs. Caroline O'Day of Erie, Westchester County, as chairman of the delegation. Mrs. O'Day is vice chairman of the state committee and served as chairman of the delegation at Madison Square Garden four years ago.

Leaders of the Smith forces are not expected to reach a final decision as to who will represent the delegation on the resolutions committee until just before the caucus. It had been expected that either United States Sen. Robert F. Wagner, or John W. Davis would be named to this post but it was indicated today that a switch might be made at the last minute.

Mayor James J. Walker of New York, who is due here today is not expected to represent the Empire state delegation of any committee, but probably will act as one of the Smith force managers.

Accompanied by several members of her family, Mrs. Smith, wife of the governor, is scheduled to reach Houston late today.

LOCAL CHORISTERS VISIT FORMER PASTOR HERE

A party of the North Methodist church people occupying four automobiles, went to Putnam yesterday and attended the service of the Methodist church there of which Rev. John E. Dunne is pastor. In the party were 13 of the 15 members of the Junior choir of the church here which Mr. Duxbury organized about three years ago.

The Misses Beatrice and Bernice Lydall, Leon Holmes, Harold Hanna and others accompanied the girls. The choir sang one anthem at the church service and one at Sunday school, wearing their robes. Miss Bernice Lydall accompanied them on the organ.

Mrs. Duxbury was at her cottage at Arnold's Neck, R. I., so Mr. Duxbury lunched with the Manchester party in the church and all enjoyed themselves though it was planned to have an out-of-door picnic lunch. The return for home was made at 4 o'clock.

WILSON'S WIDOW MAY BE DEMOS. JOAN OF ARC

Thronged lined the streets to catch a fleeting glimpse of her as she was wheeled off to meet many engagements already arranged. She dined with Gov. Dana Moody, Will Rogers and Jesse H. Jones; stood before 15,000 people dedicating the convention hall and heard the name of Woodrow Wilson cheered to the echo; helped open Houston's convention hospitality house and met scores of Democratic leaders.

Mrs. Wilson came to Houston with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wallace and Admiral Cary T. Grayson, former White House physician. On the train were Bernard Baruch of New York and Gov. Ritchie of Maryland.

A box in convention hall has been reserved for her.

KIWANIANS HEAR DR. LYALL RADER
Chemist-Evangelist Speaks at Meeting at Country Club Today.

About 40 members of the Manchester Kiwanis club attended the first meeting at the Country club headquarters this noon. Tables were set on the enclosed porch on the lake-side.

The speaker today was Dr. Lyall Rader of Maywood, N. J. He is a chemist and has been following that profession for 26 years. His subject was "Chemistry in Business." Waste and its recovery through chemistry, he said, was a proposition that had attracted the minds of men for the past fifteen years. Today it is attracting more attention than ever. He referred to the various by-products of some of the greatest factories in the country. His talk was illustrated with a number of well known facts regarding the redemption of waste. He told the story of the spruce chips gathered in the woods of Maine, which through chemistry are made into beautiful artificial silk or rayon.

Dr. Rader became interested in the work of the Salvation Army in New York 13 years ago. He is known as the "Chemist Evangelist" and has spent most of his time since then in telling large audiences throughout the country of the great waste in the lives of mankind. The work of redeeming men's souls, he feels is of infinitely more importance than redeeming waste in the industrial world. He described the work of the Salvation Army in a graphic manner and for half an hour held the close attention of his hearers. He attracted attention as he is a man weighing 350 pounds. He has a voice to correspond with his size.

Arthur Hulman won the attendance prize today, donated by Al Grezel. It was an electric humidor. Arthur, chairman of the ladies' night entertainment, reported an attendance of 155 members with their wives and friends, from Hartford, New Britain, Winsted and this town. It was one of the most successful Kiwanis events of the year.

Plans are being worked out for the care of Manchester's underprivileged kiddies at the Hebron camp during the month of August. Lloyd Russell, who has been director of the camp for the past two years will again be in charge, and Mrs. McIntosh who was out there last year as cook will take care of the youngsters' meals this season.

CONFER MASTER MASON RANK TOMORROW NIGHT

Four Prominent Manchester Men to Receive Third Degree in Last Meeting of Season.

Manchester lodge of Masons will confer the Master Mason degree on four prominent local men tomorrow night at a regular communication in the Temple here. The meeting will be held in the main lodge room and lodge will open at 7:30 p. m.

The officers of Manchester lodge will occupy the chairs and the meeting will be the last one until the fall season. Since all four men who are to receive their third degree tomorrow night are well known in town a large attendance is expected.

HIGHLAND PARK CLUB HOLDS ANNIVERSARY

The Highland Park Community club celebrated its seventh anniversary with a birthday party Saturday evening at the clubhouse. Arrangements were in charge of the Ladies Sewing Circle. Dancing was enjoyed with music by the Imperial orchestra and Cornelius Foley to the accompaniment of the old-fashioned dances. During intermission at 11:30 everybody descended to the lower hall where refreshments were served.

The decorations were a profusion of seasonal flowers and evergreen boughs. Twelve attractive booths were arranged around the hall each one representing a particular month of the year, and each one having a birthday cake with seven lighted candles.

The candles and paper decorations at each table were in keeping with the month and at each table was a member of the club to act as hostess, dressed in colonial costume. The anniversary which was in white, Mrs. Nina Benson, hostess; February, Valentine day, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell; March, St. Patrick's day, Mrs. George Beer; April, spring with daffodils and narcissus, Mrs. Anna Sinnaman; May, Mother's Day, Mrs. May, May, May; June, roses, pink and white, Mrs. Ruth Wilson; July, patriotic, red, white and blue, Mrs. Annie Risley; August, vacation time, lavender, Mrs. Katherine Kish; September, autumnal brown and gold, Mrs. Catherine Sinnaman; November, Thanksgiving, pumpkins and turkeys, Mrs. May Lewis; December, Christmas reds and greens, with a Christmas tree, Mrs. Chris Erickson.

Sandwiches, cakes, ice cream, coffee, nuts and candy were served at the tables. The old well was presided over by the Misses Alice and Helen Fredericksen and here punch was served to all.

Mrs. Robert Dougan, president of the Sewing Circle had charge of the arrangement and was ably assisted by the members.

Tornberg, however, refused, saying he had orders to rescue me first as I was needed to give suggestions for the search of the others. Tornberg firmly insisted and, as my companions concurred, I yielded unwillingly. Before leaving I entrusted Viglieri with the leadership of those left behind. The moral of my companions is the highest. I hope soon to embrace them. I hope that some Providence will enable me to see the others, again, also. WOMEN TO PLAY BIG PART AT CONVENTION

Samuel Ralston, widow of the late Senator and Mrs. John W. Kern, whose husband was one of Bryan's runningmates and a great progressive fighter.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is expected to attend the convention, but not as a delegate. It has been reported that Mrs. Wilson favors the Smith candidacy, possibly because Reed is Smith's principal opponent.

Among the anti-Smith women is Mrs. William R. Pattangall, national committee woman from Maine. She had the courage to oppose Smith, and met with defeat similar to Mrs. Blair's.

One hour, by the way, that quite a few Democratic women avoided posts as delegates in order to avoid the expected wet-and-dry fight.

Gertrude Atherton, the novelist, is a delegate from California. Among the others to be seated—al delegates unless otherwise stated—are:

Mrs. Anna Dickle Olson, an alternate-at-large from Minnesota, is a delegate from the United States Senate.

Mrs. Emily Smith Warner, daughter of Governor Smith, from Albany.

Miss Gertrude Ely of Pennsylvania, leader in the League of Women Voters.

Elizabeth Marbury, Democratic national committee woman from New York.

Mrs. Henry Morgenthau of New York, wife of the former ambassador to Turkey.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, who has been active in the Smith pre-convention campaign in the west.

Mrs. Leroy Springs of South Carolina, who spoke for McAdoo at New York in 1924.

Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, national committee woman from Wisconsin.

Mrs. Ralph Stafford, a woman's leader in Kansas City.

Mrs. Bernice Pyke, national committee woman from Ohio.

Mrs. Walter H. Jobe of Detroit, prominent and influential in Michigan politics.

Mrs. Isabel Ahearn O'Neill, member of the Rhode Island state legislature.

Congresswoman Mary Norton of New Jersey.

Mrs. Clem Shaver, wife of the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is a leader in the Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League which will demand a dry plank.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

Mrs. Flora B. Atherton
Mrs. Flora B. Atherton, for forty years a resident of this town, died yesterday at the Amesbury Hospital in Amesbury, Mass., after a lingering illness. She was the widow of Josiah Atherton and about 75 years old.

For many years, Mrs. Atherton made her home with Miss Elizabeth Griswold of East Center street, who at that time lived on Laurel street. A few years ago, Mrs. Atherton removed to the home of her son, Fred Freeman, in Amesbury and lived with him until the time of her death. His son, Charles, is her only other survivor.

The funeral will be held at Watkins Brothers, 11 Oak street, at 10:30 tomorrow morning. Rev. Watson Woodruff, pastor of the Center Congregational church, will officiate. Burial will be in the East Cemetery.

FUNERALS

Joseph Schwarz
The funeral of Joseph Schwarz, of 156 Eldridge street was held at 11 o'clock this morning with a service afterward at St. James's church. Rev. James P. Timmins celebrated a requiem high mass and also officiated at the grave. The bearers were John Hewitt, Charles Garrow, Frank Chetelat, Peter Lawless, Joseph Lawless and John Pallean. Burial was in St. Bridget's cemetery.

ABOUT TOWN

The directors of the Manchester Realty company will hold a special meeting tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the office of Attorney William S. Hyde in the bank building.

A number of the members of Mary C. Keeney Tent, Daughters of Union War veterans will go to Gloucester tonight for the supper at 8:30 a meeting of the new lodge there.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Walton of Wellesley, Mass., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Walton of Strong street.

Rev. Joseph Cooper of Trinity Methodist church, Norwich, was in town today transacting business preparatory to leaving for Europe early in July. Mrs. Cooper and their daughter who accompanied him went on to Hartford today.

William Buckley of Manchester Green and E. P. Walton of Strong street, both teachers at the Hartford High school, will spend the next ten days in New York where they will take part in the college entrance examinations board. Mr. Walton in biology and Mr. Buckley in history. This is the second year they have served in this capacity.

departed. He wore a suit belonging to a son of Mrs. Berry who did not live at home. He left behind clothing that are decidedly similar to those worn by prisoners at the jail here. The suit in which the man fled was much too large for him.

After the man departed his car broke down within a few miles of the place and picked up another car as soon as he had the chance. Those who took up the hunt, believe the man fled into New York state by back roads and reached some safe place before warning of the affair was broadcast.

Garry was sent to jail from Stamford after he had been arrested in Orange, Mass., his home town, for taking a car from Stamford. He waived extradition and was given a sentence of ten months for the affair. Donna was sent to jail from Bridgeport.

The break at the jail did not have any effect on the estimated expenditure for Ninth district schools including the high school $258,317.

ROBB-LOOMIS.

JOINT SCHOOL BOARD MEETS THIS AFTERNOON

Appropriations for First Eight School Districts are Recommended by Committee.

The June meeting of the joint school board, at which estimates for the cost of schools in Manchester for the years 1928-1929 were made was held in the selectmen's office this afternoon. The selectmen were represented by R. J. Smith, G. E. Keith and John H. Hyde. The fact that Mr. Keith, since becoming a member of the board of selectmen, has given much thought and study to the cost of schools, made the meeting this afternoon of more interest than in past years.

A year ago the estimates as passed upon by the joint school board awarded to District No. 1, $1,700; No. 2, $17,500; No. 3, $5,450; No. 4, $5,500; No. 5, $5,300; No. 7, $8,300; No. 8, $60,500. For special appropriations there was estimated costs of $3,800 for superintendence; $689 for clerk; $100 for office expenses; hygiene, $3,300; dental hygiene, $1,350; music, $1,500; drawing $1,900; physical culture, $1,200, attendance officer, $325; substitute teachers, $5,500; transportation, $400; light and power, $700; textbooks and supplies $7,800; incidentals, $215.

This made a total of $123,000 in the First to the Eighth Districts. In the Ninth District, which a year ago included the high school, the estimated cost was $226,550, and for evening schools $7,000, while $5,000 was estimated as the amount necessary for the trade school. This made a total of $406,550.

At this afternoon's meeting the estimates were as follows:

District No. 1	1,850.00
District No. 2	17,000.00
District No. 3	7,500.00
District No. 4	5,500.00
District No. 5	5,450.00
District No. 7	7,650.00
District No. 8	61,000.00
Superintendent	3,800.00
Clerk	760.00
Office Expenses	100.00
Hygiene	3,300.00
Dental Hygiene	1,350.00
Music	1,500.00
Drawing	1,900.00
Attendance officer	400.00
Physical Culture	1,200.00
Transportation of special teachers	200.00
Substitute teachers	5,500.00
Light and power	1,500.00
Text book and supplies	7,000.00
Incidentals	200.00
Light and power figures are omitted from the tables because that item is being figured in against each district's appropriation. The total appropriations for Districts 1 to 8 figure $123,250, a very small increase over last year.

In discussing the question of the number of pupils per teacher in the national councils of his party, a Protestant, a dry, a middle westerner by geography and yet actually the son of a southern state. His value to the ticket, it was argued, would be his power to hold the border states in the Democratic column, to pacify the south in spots where Smith's candidacy was unwelcomed and to balance the ticket in the same way the Republican Party did.

There were two thorns in the Robinson "bed of roses." First, his candidacy was based entirely on Smith winning the presidential nomination, and second, on the complete elimination of "Jim" Reed. Robinson headquarters could see no alarm in the situation, however, as Sen. T. G. Caraway, the Arkansas junior, predicted Robinson's selection.

CAPT. BRONSON DEAD

ters, including some of Smith's closest friends, to a Smith and Reed ticket. It was protested that such a ticket would be too wet and would fail to recognize the following of Woodrow Wilson.

There was a large field of active candidates, however, in the race for the running mate honors. Of these, the names of Rep. Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, Evans Woolley, of Indiana, Gov. Vic Donahey, of Ohio, former Sen. Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Nebraska, and Rep. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois were the most frequently mentioned.

Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, George L. Berry of Tennessee, Louis G. Stevenson of Illinois, son of the late Adlai Stevenson, running mate for Grover Cleveland, and Rep. W. A. Atres, of Kansas, were boosted by active followers. So, too, were William J. Bulow, of South Dakota, former Gov. Smith W. Shallenberger, of Nebraska, Gov. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, House- Thompson of Colorado, Rep. W. Hastings, of Oklahoma, former Sen. James Hamilton Lewis and Supreme Court Justice Lloyd E. Thompson, both of Illinois.

Woman in Field
One woman was in the picture, too—former Gov. Nellie Taylor Ross, of Wyoming. The champion for Mrs. Ross was being waged on the ground that she was a successful political leader, and that it was time for the Democratic Party to blaze the way for recognizing women on the presidential ticket. Her boom, like numerous others, appeared doomed after a brief span of life in the hotel corridors and lobbies.

The Robinson boom really was significant. According to a reliable authority, it was said, Robinson was acceptable not only to Gov. Smith himself, but to such outstanding Democratic leaders and Smith supporters as John W. Davis, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, George W. Brennan and George W. Olvany, head of Tammany Hall. It actually appeared that if Smith won the presidential nomination, the whole Smith organization would be thrown to Robinson.

The talking points used to promote Robinson's candidacy is that the Senator is a staunch Democrat, known far and wide to the rank and file of the party, long prominent in the national councils of his party, a Protestant, a dry, a middle westerner by geography and yet actually the son of a southern state. His value to the ticket, it was argued, would be his power to hold the border states in the Democratic column, to pacify the south in spots where Smith's candidacy was unwelcomed and to balance the ticket in the same way the Republican Party did.

There were two thorns in the Robinson "bed of roses." First, his candidacy was based entirely on Smith winning the presidential nomination, and second, on the complete elimination of "Jim" Reed. Robinson headquarters could see no alarm in the situation, however, as Sen. T. G. Caraway, the Arkansas junior, predicted Robinson's selection.

BASS SEASON OPENS SUNDAY.

Manchester anglers are anxiously awaiting the opening of the bass season and already many reservations have been made with boat renters at Coventry, Bolton, East Hampton and other nearby lakes.

The black bass season extends from July to October 31. The legal length is ten inches and the bag limit is ten fish.

Local sportsmen report poor fishing lately. Perch have finished spawning and haven't been biting nearly as freely as a few weeks ago. Troutling is about played out for this season and the early opening of the bass season is looked on as a boon.

HOUSTON ENVOYS RUSH FOR SMITH BANDWAGON

spectacle that is causing smiles behind many hands in Houston. "The Allies" have only the faintest of hopes of "top Smith." Publicly they are keeping up a bold front, but privately they concede the nomination by default, that is; abandoning the thus far futile efforts to get a last ditch coalition to concentrate instead of writing into the platform a honorary plank so drastic that Smith might refuse to stand on it.

Prohibition Planks
There are almost as many prohibition planks being carried about Houston as there are delegates and visitors. They protrude from every pocket, and they range all the way from the out-and-out wet kind to the drier-than-dust variety.

The Smith supporters profess not to be perturbed at all over the prospects of the platform fight on prohibition. Gov. Smith is expected to be entirely willing to stand on a plank pledged to enforce the 18th amendment by name. Law enforcement, they say, has always been Governor Smith's credo. His friends would rather have general law enforcement, than a plank without naming names, but they are not prepared to fight for it to the point of making real trouble.

"They can draw as drastic a law enforcement plank as they want," said one Smith spokesman. "We don't care for law enforcement, and we do the party. A plank endorsing prohibition as a morally righteous and desirable thing, is, however, another matter."

Which ever way the plank is framed in the resolutions committee is likely a minority report will be brought out against it, which would ensure an airing of the prohibition question with the whole country constituting a radio audience.

Gov. Dan Moody of Texas and Senator Walter F. George of Georgia mentioned today as representatives of the southern drys who will carry the fight into the convention itself unless the plank agreed upon meets their wishes.

Other Candidates
A tour of presidential headquarters in hotel lobbies and state delegations revealed the chances of the other candidates, about as follows: Hull—Boosted as a Protestant dry, southerner, favorably known to party workers and a vote-getter. Seriously hurt by his demands for a reduction of the tariff, on which the Smith forces prefer silence.

Woolley—Boosted as a Dry Protestant, likely to sweep Indiana into the Democratic column. Seriously hurt by his defeat in the last Indiana Senatorial election.

Barclay—Boosted as a Dry Protestant, capable of swinging the border states into the Democratic safe.

Rainey—Boosted as a Dry Protestant from a doubtful state, favorably known to party workers, likely to provide a balance to the Democratic column.

Donahey—Boosted as a Dry Protestant, likely to swing Ohio Democratic. Seriously hurt by factional divisions in his state, with one group openly opposing him.

Hitchcock—Another Dry Protestant, boosted as a friend of agriculture and as a staunch lieutenant of the late Woodrow Wilson. Hurt by his age, 67.

Stevenson—Urged on the ground he could help Smith win the Midwest, including Illinois, just as his father helped elect another New York governor, Grover Cleveland.

Ayres—Urged as a Dry Protestant, favorably known by midwestern farmers as a means of offsetting the naming of Curtis as Republican vice presidential nominee. Hurt by lack of support in East.

Huston Thompson—Urged as Dry Protestant, certain to aid ticket in west.

Hastings—Urged as Dry Protestant—Urged as meeting need for a great orator as running mate for Smith.

F. E. Thompson—Urged on ground ticket needs jurist in second place. Eliminated by division in Illinois.

Berry—Urged on record as veteran of Spanish-American and World Wars and because of his great labor record. Hurt by belief of Smith leaders that Robinson best man from southern states.

HOUSTON HOSPITALITY

By Rowland Krebs
Houston, June 25.—It seems that Houston doesn't care so much who is nominated just so every visitor is sent away with a proper conception of southern hospitality. The city very properly centered some of its heaviest hospitality guns on the visiting newspaper correspondents. That's right, too. Newspapersmen are so used to their luxuries, what with the life they lead—talking with the President, getting free tickets to the circus and meeting all the actresses and prize fighters. It wouldn't do to send us away in a frame of mind where we'd give the town a black eye.

No more than my yacht tied up in the harbor, my Japanese, Kim, was hustled off to be entertained at the Japanese-American club. I haven't seen the beggar since. Hospitality is all right and all that, but this morning I think of all my tub and hunt around for my other collar.

Met by Bands
When the private cars of the different newspaper correspondents arrived in a flock, they were met by bands making whoopee. The high pressure writers, who had planned to fatten on the luxury of the nearest Child's depot, were hustled off and a meal like they used to feed Carranchos on Sunday night was tilted into them.

Someone, who had the wrong idea entirely, asked what trolley line took one to such-and-such-a-place, he planning to use the street cars

TRICK GETS GIRL REPUTE AS BRIDE

Jackie Mader, Contest Dancer, Reported Married, But Explains It All.

Miss Jackie Mader of 62 Hamlin street this morning denied a story of her supposed marriage to Tony Bernardino of Rocky Hill printed in an out of town paper.

She had entered the marathon dance contest at the Palais Royal, Hartford, and just before the contest members of the Humane Society questioned whether Miss Mader was of age.

A few minutes later a reporter called at Palais Royal and wanted to see the entrance blank of the girl that had just been married.

Miss Mader and her partner stayed through the 24 hours of the contest and won fourth prize, which was ten dollars for the couple.

York delegation, some of whom have recently talked to Gov. Smith, brought out the suggested plank.

As a gesture of the Wets, some of the New York leaders close to Gov. Smith are planning to make a fight for liberalization of the Volstead act.

These leaders pointed out that Gov. Smith, in his speech of acceptance, will pledge himself to law enforcement and at the same time reiterate his views for modification of the Volstead law.

From the camp of the Drys came today a prohibition plank proposed by Senator Caraway of Arkansas, which is understood to have considerable support.

But in good faith the Democratic party pledges itself not only to uphold the 18th Amendment and all laws made pursuant thereto, but likewise the constitution and all other laws of our nation.

Still another plank, calling for repeal of the 18th Amendment, is being framed by the military Wets. No hope is held for it.

As a result of numerous weekend conferences the platform committee is anticipated over the farm relief plank. The corn belt leaders are jubilant over the prospects.

The plank, as proposed by agricultural representatives and approved by a number of influential party leaders, will condemn the Coolidge administration for failure to enact proper remedial legislation.

Peek has conferred with Sen. George, of Georgia and Sen. Reed of Missouri, both presidential candidates, and with Sen. Wagner of New York, close friend of Gov. Smith.

Col. Clarence Ouseley of Dallas, assistant secretary of agriculture in the Wilson administration, is helping Peek round up friends for the plank.

LT. QUISH TO TEACH AUTOMATIC RIFLEMEN

Has Charge of School at Camp Trumbull, Niantic, Again This Year.

First Lieutenant Thomas G. Quish of Company G, 169th Infantry, C.N.G., will again be in charge of the school for automatic riflemen when the regiment goes to Camp Trumbull, Niantic, for its annual summer encampment next month.

This will be Lieutenant Quish's third year in charge of this work. He will be assisted by Sergeant John Beat, D.E.M.L., of Hartford, a regular United States Army officer.

The school will be held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the first week. The second week of camp, Lieutenant Quish will go back with his company.

Salvatore Reale, of 29 Oak street, was found guilty of assault on Constable James Duffy and fined $10 and costs in the police court this morning.

Richard Novicki, of 12 North Elm street, was before the court on the charge of reckless driving.

Ex-Sen. Hitchcock of Nebraska has a farm program calling for substantial endorsement of the McNary-Haugen principles, but, instead of the equalization fee, proposing a form of sales tax to bear the burden of surplus control.

Word has been passed down the line to make the platform short and snappy. Sen. Pittman of Nevada, who is slated to be chairman of the resolutions committee, arrived with a tentative draft of the entire platform in his pocket.

Double Wedding. A very pretty double wedding took place Saturday afternoon at the First Evangelical Lutheran Church when Miss Emma A. Gerstenlauer and Burton E. Monette were united in marriage.

Miss Feleda Danke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Gerstenlauer of Hammond street, was picked up by Sergeant John Crockett on Autumn street last Saturday night, helplessly drunk.

Leroy Phelps, a 17 year old boy, who lives on Middle Turnpike was brought into court for discharging fire crackers on a day other than the Fourth of July or a public holiday.

Clifford Whitehouse was found guilty of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested by Traffic Officer R. H. Wirtala about 12 o'clock Saturday night.

Whitehouse claimed he was not intoxicated at the time of his arrest and that he was in the town of Glastonbury. He denied that he was intoxicated but admitted that he had three drinks of whiskey afterwards.

Miss Phyllis Lisk of Union street left Sunday for Boston where she will spend her vacation. Mayflower Rebekah Lodge will hold a meeting Tuesday evening.

The Ladies auxiliary of the A. O. H. will hold its regular business meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in St. James's parish hall.

Carl Bengston, Irving Carlson and Chester Mudgett of Bloomfield left yesterday for a week's automobile tour through New England.

Memorial Temple Pythian Sisters will meet in Odd Fellows hall tomorrow evening promptly at 8 o'clock. All officers and members of the degree team are urged to be present for rehearsal.

MONDAY, JUNE 25, 1923

HOUSTON

Tomorrow, at Houston, the Democratic party will meet in National convention in the hope of selecting candidates for President and Vice-President and framing a platform, all so appealing to the people of the country that the party will be returned to office. It faces an apparently hopeless task.

In the first place the Democracy is a minority party. It lacks four or five million votes of an even break with the Republican party. It has elected but two Presidents since the war of the Rebellion, both in consequence of Republican disaffection. It cannot hope to elect its candidates this year without winning hundreds of thousands of Republican votes in key states.

At best, its job is a staggering one. It must preserve party unity, retain all its potential strength at the ballot box and in addition convince a vast army of Republican voters that their interests demand that they join the opposition.

Under existing circumstances such an achievement would be miraculous. The party is divided up and down and across. In the North it is essentially urban, wet and, in religion, largely Catholic. In the South, where lies the bulk of its strength in electoral votes, it is preponderantly agricultural, pretentiously dry and in considerable part violently anti-Catholic.

It has no economic issue. It cannot unite on any issue, either economic or social. It has a picturesque and personally likable possibility in the way of a chief candidate—who has had no national experience whatever, whose name is anathema in the mouths of half the party, and to nominate whom would be to court a bolt in the convention or at the polls.

Opposed to the choice of the Houston convention—or possibly conventions—will be the Republican party, numerically overwhelming, buttressed by the spectacularly prosperous period and presenting one of the world's outstanding geniuses as its entry in the Presidential race.

Whatever happens at Houston, the convention is doomed in advance to be a futile gesture.

NO STRIKE

Apparently there will be no trolley strike. The determination of the men to take another vote tonight would appear to be tantamount to a decision to reverse their action favorable to a walk-out.

They are well advised. A strike could do them nothing but harm. Against them would be aligned all the political, financial, industrial and moral forces of the state—absolutely regardless of the merits of the controversy between employer and employing company; because the time has arrived when the strike, as an abstract thing, is in utter disrepute and even those who have but little patience with the methods of the Connecticut company would set their faces against disruption of the transportation service of the state through a labor quarrel.

The strike is an archaic weapon. It is all out of style. The time when men can be expected to drop job and pay envelope at the command of a walking delegate is past. This is an age of rapidly developing mutual understanding between employers and employed. Public service corporations which do not realize this are as sure as fate to be brought to such a realization before long, if not through dawning intelligence within them by processes of legislation and of economic pressure from without. While as strikers—when their strike brings injury to the public they no longer receive any measure of public sympathy whatever.

FUTILE LAW

There will probably not be much done and probably not very much said about the killing of two Y. M. C. A. athletes from Worcester, walking watchfully on the left side of the road in Windsor, early Sunday morning, by a hit-and-run motorist of whom the police at this writing have no clue. There is likely to be little or nothing done because there is little or nothing that can be done. There is likely to be little said because there is little that can be said so long as the preponderance of public and newspaper opinion favors the operation of automobiles at speeds in which there is constant hazard to life.

To permit an automobile to be operated at any speed within the limits of its motive power, by day or night, and then to expect that a person unlucky enough to kill a fellow being through such operation will report himself to the authorities when he sees excellent opportunity to escape, is to assume the possession of qualities by the motorist which are quite beyond him in a large proportion of cases.

It is a fact that any person who sets foot on a Connecticut highway in the night time—and at many points either day or night—does so at his own risk. There is no effectual law for his protection, and will not be so long as vehicles are permitted to travel at more than railroad speed on what are supposed to be the common roads of the state. It would be, we seriously suggest, a more effective safeguard to life, though outrageously unfair, to forbid, on penalty of imprisonment, the use of the highways to pedestrians on any occasion or for any reason.

JIM REED

There is one possible outcome of the Houston convention that would bring delight to the souls of a large number of American citizens, and not all of them in one party. It is entirely within the moral capacity of Senator Jim Reed of Missouri to accept a rump nomination from a bolting minority in case the convention nominates Al Smith, and probably within his political capacity to get it. There are very few men in the United States whose identities are known outside their own counties who are so completely unfitted to be President of the United States as Jim Reed. And there are very few of any degree who are so grimly determined to sit in the White House if by hook or crook he can get there.

There is a very definite reason for this. Jim Reed believes himself to be the greatest American. That this is a belief shared by numerous crackerbox orators who have never seen a railroad and by a definite percentage of the inmates of lunatic asylums does not affect the degree in which it is held by Jim Reed.

And because he has been able to stay in the Senate through the votes of Missouri mudsills, he has been enabled to inflict his ambition and his methods for its achievement on the country for years. It has been impossible not to notice Reed, just as it is impossible not to notice Hedin. And there are a great many thousands of those who have perforce had to listen to Reed, who would dearly love to have him up on a ticket as a Presidential candidate—and watch what would happen to him.

FARMERS

The American farmer has not been enjoying the extreme peak of prosperity in recent years. That fact has surely been drummed home during the last few months. Yet one is tempted to wonder, sometimes, whether the American farmer is not, after all, considerably better off than the farmers of other lands.

The Gleaner Combine Harvester Corp., of Independence, Mo., recently sent a solid train of 135 cars, all loaded with combine harvesters, to dealers in the Nebraska cities of Sidney, Ogallala and Chappell. The entire shipment was worth considerably more than $200,000.

Farmers abroad may be doing very well. But they at least aren't buying $200,000 loads of farm machinery at one time.

CONTRAST

A law that is meant and a law that is not meant operate in different days. Mrs. Kate Evelyn Merrick, both of whose daughters are married to British peers, has been sentenced to six months in prison for selling liquor without a license at her celebrated London night club. The club was ordered closed for five years.

This is in England, where there is no prohibition but where the sale of liquor is subject to laws which are meant. In America, where Mrs. Merrick's act would have been a violation of the concession and consequently, on the face of it, a far more serious matter than in England, where a simple statute was infringed, has anyone the slightest notion that she, with high social and political connections, would have gone to jail even for a minute?

YOSEMITE THREAT

The Yosemite National Park, in California, is one of the most beautiful and popular of our national monuments. More than half a million people visited it last summer; the number this year will be greater.

Yet, contrary to popular belief, not all of the land there is national property. There are more than 11,000 acres of privately owned land within the park; these lands can be cut over, used for hot dog stands or otherwise exploited so as to mar the natural beauty of the park.

The National Park Service wants to make this private acreage national property. It can do so by trading to the owners certain other park lands and paying about $2,000,000 in cash. An act of Congress is necessary before this can be done. Congress must act at the next session, for lumbering operations are expected to be started next year.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

Dr. McCoy will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Herald. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

FOOD MINERALS (Part I)

Mineral elements have been neglected by the older school of dietitians, but recent investigations have proven that though only used in small quantities, mineral elements are essential to life itself. Thinking that it might be interesting to my readers, I have decided to give a list of these elements and their uses, together with the foods which contain the largest amount of each.

Some of these minerals, as they are found in the chemical shop, are exceedingly poisonous, but after they have been absorbed and made use of by plants, some changes take place in their structure and they become useful elements. While every natural, unrefined food contains all of these elements in some proportion, it is convenient for dietetic purposes to group those together which are richest in special elements. It would be well to clip out this and the following article for reference.

Phosphorus is a stimulator of growth and activity. This tendency must be curbed by the presence of sulfur and alkaline elements of which there will be a tendency to tumor-irritability, and bony exudates. Some phosphorus is essential to the thinking processes. It does not mean that you can eat phosphorus and develop an enormous brain any more than eating meat will develop enormous muscles. Only the actual work of thinking can make the brain use phosphorus. The foods which are richest in phosphorus are kale, brain, liver, truffles, radishes, pumpkin, pike, cucumbers, cheese, Swiss chard, lettuce and egg yolk.

Sulphur is an intestinal antiseptic, and it gives the skin and hair a luxuriant pliability. It acts as a brake or damper to the oxidation of phosphorus in the body and in this way preserves the nervous vitality. The absence of sulphur leads to irritability, nervousness, insanity, tumors and some skin disorders. The foods which are richest in sulphur are watercress, kale, Brussels sprouts, horse-radish, spinach, raspberries, string beans, cabbage and turnips. Silicon is used in the formation of the muscles, blood, nerves, skin, hair and nails. It forms a sort of tissue framework, and a lack of it causes falling hair, brittle nails, softened teeth, and possibly diabetes. Since silicon is found mostly in the skins of fruits and the bran of cereals, one may deprive one's self of this valuable element by discarding these parts. Silicon is found in asparagus, cucumbers, lettuce, bran, dandelion, parsnips, fruit skins, strawberries and beets.

Chlorine increases the body's resistance to tissue parasites and is necessary for the digestion and assimilation of protein. A lack of it may result in uremic poisoning and indigestion. It is found in quantities in oysters, cheese, lettuce, egg whites, spinach, celery, parsnips, cabbage, radishes and watercress. Iodine is used by the thyroid gland to form thyroxin which regulates body metabolism. The medicinal iodine treatment is based upon the fact that crude iodine is a gland atrophier. The danger of its administration is that an atrophy of other body glands may result. Many cases of sterility can be traced to this. By taking iodine as it is found in food, this danger is averted. The foods richest in iodine are: gray shrimp, crab, lobster, herring, oysters, carrots, green lima, pineapple, mushrooms and kelp.

Questions and Answers

Question: Mrs. P. writes: "Please advise me what to do to help my mother who is seventy-seven years old. The doctors say it is just old age, but she is falling so fast. I feel something could be done to give her back her strength, at least so she could walk around the house unsupported. She has no fever, but very little appetite, and oftentimes would not eat anything unless almost forced to do so." Answer: Let your mother have her way about not eating much. Just prepare the proper kinds of food for her and she will eat enough if she is really hungry. If you follow your urging to eat when she is not hungry, you will be forcing her to do something which will shorten her life.

Question: E. S. J. asks: "What

TOES AID DIGESTION

London.—If you walk with your toes turned in, you don't suffer from indigestion. If you walk with the feet digits turned upward, however, according to Capt. Lowry, English osteopath, your digestion is impaired. Toes pointed outward cause the body to be thrown out of alignment. That affects the hip bone, which in turn articulates the spine. Trouble at the back of the spine affects the nervous system and then starts your stomach trouble. All very clear if you believe it.

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT

Compiled by the CONNECTICUT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

(142) County Temporary Homes.

The eight county temporary homes in the state accommodate approximately 1,100 children during the year. Since the organization of the county temporary homes in 1884, a total of 12,791 children have been committed to these institutions.

Expenses for maintenance of the homes amount to approximately $320,000 a year. In addition some $20,000 to $30,000 is spent each year for construction and repairs. In last year boarding children in county homes cost the state $208,301. The average cost of support per week for the state was $6.12 during a recent year.

The land and buildings of the homes are valued at more than $1,000,000. The total area of the land belonging to all the homes is 275 acres. The Litchfield county home at Winsted has the largest grounds, having approximately 150 acres.

Statistics of population of the eight homes for 1926 show that there were 797 inmates at the beginning of the year; fifty-four children were boarded in families; 269 were boarded in asylums. There were 223 new cases received during the year and 131 former inmates were returned to the homes—a total of 1,474. At the end of the year, there were 789 in the county homes; 64 boarded in families, and 266 boarded in asylums—a total of 1,119. Of the remaining 355, 143 were placed in families (not relatives); 118 were placed with relatives; 26 discharged to relatives; 33 discharged to schools and asylums; 29 otherwise discharged; two were recalled by selectmen, and four died. The total on support at the beginning of last year was 1,105.

Wednesday—Private Institutions for Children.

New York, June 25.—Manhattan has a skyscraper speaky that perches 29 stories above the street in the Wall street belt.

The frosted glass door carries a dignified firm name. One enters what appears to be a typical office space of the big money lane. A stenographer sits at her desk, either reading the most recent issue of a confessions magazine or pretending to peek at her typewriter. A clerk is scanning the morning paper. The usual rail fences in a row of desks and typewriters. At the far end of the little entrance room is an imposing looking door branded with the words "President."

Here in those sads days when the market drops five to ten points the brokers, clerks and operators come to renew their waning courage. Here, when the market rides high, wide and handsome the same assortment of financial belt figures assemble to celebrate.

The stenographer is, of course, the spotter. If a stranger approaches, she halts him at the desk. If he argues "he knows Joe Bliv" and "wants to get in" she merely presses a buzzer and suggests that he wait "to see the president."

Out from the door marked "president" steps a stout gentleman who either recognizes or falls to recognize the caller. If any doubt that he must be mistaken and retires through the presidential door.

Just beyond this sanctum-like entrance a large bar runs full blast from morn till well into the evening.

I have just discovered what becomes of New York's wishbones! The magnitude of this discovery may not at first dawn upon the good folk who are accustomed to turning this cherished portion of a fowl over to the children.

But it seems that the proprietor of the one of the many little shoppes that line Manhattan's streets got the bright idea of tricking out wishbones to resemble funny little people. Faces would be painted on them; or on St. Patrick's Day they would be adorned with green and shamrock; or on Thanksgiving they would be decorated for table favors.

Not long ago a small ad was placed in a restaurant paper asking cafes and hotels to save their odd wishbones and sell them at so much per thousand. At present the concern is being swamped with something like 50,000 wishbones per week.

It's a Girl

Girl Runs Main Street Barrage Of Wise-Cracks

Manchester may be a model town in most ways, but in one respect she is not. For some time there has been a good deal of indignant talk among young girls of the town about the impossibility of a girl walking down the Main street of Manchester by herself any evening without being accosted two or three times at least. Even if she is not directly approached, remarks made by men and youths just after she has passed are loud enough for the girl to hear, and annoying when not insulting.

Saturday night a young lady walked from the terminus at the south end of Main street to the Center, closely followed by a reporter, with the following result. A Don Juan in his roadster tried to pick up the girl and take her for a ride in the country before she had gone two blocks. At a spot almost opposite the High school a couple of wise cracking boys in long trousers made remarks suggestively nasty and vulgar. The next point of wise cracking was a short distance below Oak street. The gang hanging out at the curb there was not as dirty as the cube opposite the High School, but "fresh" enough. The trip from there up to the theater was made without any side remarks but from the latter point to the Center there was almost a continual barrage of smart remarks, coupled with attempted pickups, by Romeo of the drug store or greaseball speedster.

INSANE MAN KILLED IN DUEL WITH COPS

Three Policemen Fire When They Are Attacked by Man With a Shotgun.

Branford, Conn., June 25.—Coroner Eli Mix today held an inquest here into the death of Pasquale Zuppe, 50, who was shot and killed last night in a gun duel with local police officers. Zuppe, presumably suddenly insane, drove his family to the street and when they secured police help attacked the police with a double-barreled shot gun.

Victor La Croix, local police chief, and Policemen Otto Metz and Leslie Reynolds replied to Zuppe's gun fire with a round of revolver shots, dropping him instantly. Dr. A. S. McQueen, medical examiner, found the man had been shot in the heart. A bullet also lodged in his left leg. There was no way of determining which policeman fired the fatal shot.

LARSON BIRD WINS SLOW 500 MILE RACE

Henry Larson was the winner of the 500 mile regular homing pigeon race from Chatham, Va., yesterday. The time made by the birds was unusually slow, due to bad weather.

The time was two hours slower than that in the special race from the same point last week. The birds were released at 5:30 in the morning and Larson's entry was in its coop at 7:03 in the evening, nearly fourteen hours later.

Last week the program calls for a 500 mile championship race from the same point. This is a special sport race with a three-bird limit to each owner. The local entries in the race yesterday fared as follows in yards per minute: Henry Larson, 1056:38; John Klein, 1048:77; Walter Tedford, 1040:92; Henry Larson, 1020:47; Walter Tedford, 1018:42; John Klein, 1017:27; and August Carlson, 1015:38.

CUTS FINGER SHARPENING PICNIC HOT-DOG STICKS

Henry Black, twelve-years-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Black of Cumberland street, was painfully injured at the annual North Methodist Church Sunday School picnic held on the church grounds Saturday afternoon. The boy was sharpening sticks of wood to be used in roasting hot dogs and cut his thumb severely when another boy bumped against him. The cut was such that it was necessary to take the boy to a doctor immediately.

TABLE ROCK LANDMARK TO GET MEMORIAL BEACON IF GOVERNMENT ACCEPTS

Dixville Notch, N. H.—A memorial beacon on the airpath from New York to Quebec, offered to the War Department recently by Captain Frank Doudera, will it be expected, to be accepted by the government authorities.

The proposed beacon would be situated on the top of historic Old Table Rock, one of the land marks of this section.

Table Rock is situated on the air route to Quebec that was taken by Colonel Lindbergh in his race against death to bring serum to the bedside of Floyd Bennett in a Canadian hospital.

CROSSING ACCIDENTS FIGURES DISCLOSED

Motor Vehicle accidents at railroad crossings in Connecticut have increased 28 per cent, during the past six years, State Motor Vehicle Department records show.

During the same period, also, motor vehicle accidents of all kinds have increased 133 per cent, accidents at highway intersections 494 per cent, and registrations 84 per cent.

There are now 1,289 highway-railroad crossings in Connecticut, 703 of these being at grade, including 134 on state highways, 114 on city streets and 455 on town roads.

Protection of some sort is provided at 36 per cent of the state's grade crossings. This compares with an average of 31 per cent for eight states along the Atlantic seaboard.

A study of accidents at grade crossings discloses that nearly all accidents occur at about 40 per cent of the crossings, 423 of the 703 grade crossings being free of serious accidents during the past twelve years.

"BEAU SABREUR" AT STATE TOMORROW

Colorful Drama of the Foreign Legion Here for Two-Day Showing With Added Feature—William Haines Tonight.

Intrigue, love and adventures on the vast Sahara desert offer something spectacularly and refreshingly attractive in the line of motion picture entertainment at the State Theater for tomorrow and Wednesday when "Beau Sabreur," the new Paramount production will be shown.

With a sterling cast of rare quality, unusual direction and more unusual photography, "Beau Sabreur," comes to this city as a companion of even greater magnitude to "Beau Geste."

Gary Cooper, remembered for his role in "The Legion of the Damned" has the principle male characterization in this thrilling drama—that of Major Henri de Beaujolais, the dashing and virile young Frenchman who vows he will never look at a woman—and then meets one.

The companion-feature for tomorrow and Wednesday is "Ladies of the Night Club," and has Ricardo Cortez as the star. Thrills, pathos, romance and comedy are woven deftly into this sparkling story of the New York cabarets and what goes on after midnight.

Great Britain now has over 1,500,000 telephones, and increase of 8.3 per cent over the figure for 1926.

THE TROLLEYMEN'S STRIKE

Wage and working agreements between the Connecticut Company and its motormen, conductors and certain other employees, expired June 1st. For some time, officers of the Company and a committee of employees, elected by the employees, have been endeavoring to negotiate a new agreement.

HERE ARE THE FACTS:

The employees' committee insist upon the following increase in wages.

Table showing wage demands for two men cars, one man cars, and busses.

(Maximum rate quoted—practically all employees are classified under this head)

THE AVERAGE WEEKLY WAGE FOR UNIFORM EMPLOYEES FOR THE PAST YEAR WAS 6 DAYS—$35.05. 7 DAYS—$41.35 (MANY EMPLOYEES EARN MORE THAN $45 WEEKLY) TIME AND A HALF IS PAID FOR OVERTIME

The Wage Scale Demanded, If Put Into Operation, Would Increase The Operating Expenses Of The Company More Than Two Million Dollars A Year

For the 15 months ending with March, 1928, the Company shows a loss of $680,000 in revenue over the preceding 15 months, a rate of decrease of $1,500 a day. This is largely due to increased use of automobiles. To add at this time, MORE THAN $5400 A DAY in wage increases is not justified because the riding public will be immediately faced with the possibility of increased fares.

IT DESIRES TO ADHERE TO THE PRESENT WAGE SCALE, BUT HAS INFORMED THE EMPLOYEES' COMMITTEE THAT IT IS WILLING TO SUBMIT THE WAGE QUESTION TO ARBITRATION.

OTHER QUESTIONS:

THE EMPLOYEES' COMMITTEE DEMANDS.

HIGHER WAGES BECAUSE OTHER NEW ENGLAND COMMUNITIES HAVE HIGHER RATES

THE CONNECTICUT COMPANY BELIEVES THAT A MAJORITY OF ITS EMPLOYEES, PARTICULARLY THE OLDER MEN IN SERVICE, MUST REALIZE THAT THE LOSS OF THEIR EMPLOYMENT, IN VIEW OF PRESENT EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS, IS A SERIOUS MATTER. THE COMPANY, HOWEVER, HAS MADE ITS DECISION BECAUSE OF ITS DESIRE NOT TO CURTAIL PRESENT SERVICE OR TO RAISE FARES.

Community Is Trounced At Torrington 15 To 2

Beegon and Edgar Hit 18 Times as Local Defense Fails to Function Properly.

The Community Club baseball team took its first drubbing of the state league season yesterday afternoon in Torrington where they took a 15 to 2 pasting.

Pond, former Yale pitching ace, and Schappe divided the mound duty against the local outfit and allowed eight hits. Meanwhile their mates were collecting 188 bingles off Lefty Beegon and Pop Edgar. The former is a new addition to the local club.

Holden and McDonnell led the Torrington stickers with three safe Manchester scored a run in the first but after the third Torrington's lead was such that Manchester could not overcome it.

"Punk" Lamprecht played his first game with the Community and got two hits. The box score follows:

King Tut--Lope Tenorio Box 12 Rounds Tonight

Hartford Fight Principals

KING TUT LOPE TENORIO

Interesting and Spectacular Lightweight Clash Billed for Hartford Velodrome; Both Men Confident; Kayo Possible; Strong Supporting Card; Ladies Admitted Free.

King Tut of the Pacific Coast and Lope Tenorio of the Philippines, who meet at the Hartford Velodrome tonight, in the star bout, would up their training yesterday. Tut had been in Hartford a week and Tenorio arrived Saturday for the final two days of the training period. Both boys are in fine shape and the indication is a "repeat" of their recent sensational battle in the Garden when Tenorio won the decision after a slashing scrap. They are down for twelve rounds tonight.

Kayo Predicted The prediction is being made by the managers of the battlers that a knockout will terminate the contest with their favorite being the winner in each instance. They point with pride to their knockout records, which are dotted with sleep producing remedies.

When the Filipino and Pacific Coast tiger went at it in the Garden a few weeks ago, both were dangerous by close to a knockout, Tenorio coming back with a sensational rally to win the decision in the last round after he was nearly rocked to the canvas in the preceding canto.

As a result of Rainault's foresight Hartford and vicinity is favored with a big time bout, the principals within stepping distance of the title to which they are bending every effort to win. Matchmaker Jess McMahon of Madison Square Garden credits them with being great club fighters and desirous of giving them more work.

Promoter Rainault expects Kaplan to be at the ringside to challenge the winner. The Meriden boy pleaded injury, and Sid Barbarian, a rugged veteran was substituted. Up to that time Barbarian has never been knocked out but his punches sent him into dreamland after four rounds of maiming. From that time on Tut was widely acclaimed.

Realizing that Tut and Tenorio would make an interesting as well as a thrilling battle, Jess McMahon decided to appear in the semi-final to the Mandell-McLarnin title fight in the Yankee Stadium, but later shifted it to the Garden to strengthen another of his numerous shows. It was a long time since New Yorkers had the good fortune to witness such a scientific struggle as Tenorio and Tut engaged in.

Fought Like Wildcats For 10 rounds the boys fought like a couple of wildcats with seldom a letup. Punches were thrown from all directions and usually hit their mark. Both boys were on the verge of a knockout numerous times from the incessant hammering they were receiving. It was a sensational duel between two clever artists of boxing. Tenorio was announced as the winner, but fans and press alike disagreed, believing that Tut deserved better fate. Attempts by Rickard as well as Humbert Fuszary were made to rematch the pair, but Promoter Homer Rainault beat them to it 24 hours after the dust had settled on the first encounter.

Miss Giblin Wins Title After Hot Engagements

Ruth Behrend made a fine showing against Kathryn Giblin in the finals of the tennis tournament for the girls' championship of the local high school played Saturday morning that Miss Giblin, who also holds the women's singles championship of the town, would win had been regarded as a foregone conclusion. Miss Giblin defeated her opponent in straight sets, but not without a stiff battle. The scores were both 6 to 4. Many of the games went to deuce, some several times. The second set was the

By THOMAS W. STOWA

TONIGHT'S BATTLE If advance information pertaining to King Tut and Lope Tenorio, lightweights who are to meet at the Hartford Velodrome tonight, is true in detail, the battle ought to be well worth watching. Most boxing fans tire of watching clever boxers who pack no punch, but according to reports both of these young men are not only clever, but carry plenty of T. N. T. in both mitts. True, neither is well known in this section, but their records tend to serve as a satisfactory indication.

Tenorio, for instance, battled Bruce Flowers to a ten round draw, during which the Negro kissed the canvas three times. He handed Sid Barbarian his only fut count and started Louza also heard the humming of the birds. Tenorio is credited with a decision over Eymette Jimmy McLarin, the boy who put Sid Terris and Phil McGraw to sleep with one punch. King Tut, on the other hand, has whipped Billy Petrolle twice, Stan Louza once after dropping him ten times. His knockout victims include Jack Duffy, Sid Barbarian and Sammy Offerman. Tut, whose real name is Henry A. Rolando, has whipped Billy Petrolle twice, Stan Louza once after dropping him ten times. His knockout victims include Jack Duffy, Sid Barbarian and Sammy Offerman. Tut, whose real name is Henry A. Rolando, has whipped Billy Petrolle twice, Stan Louza once after dropping him ten times. His knockout victims include Jack Duffy, Sid Barbarian and Sammy Offerman.

Taking all this into consideration, it would seem that Manchester fans who journey over to the spacious saucer tonight will not make the trip in vain. The promoter, Homer Rainault cannot afford to have another of his professional cards be a frizzle like the O'Brien-Mello affair was. Yes, there ought to be plenty of good boxing and hard hitting tonight. Judging from the records, Tenorio is the harder hitter and a slight favorite to win.

Only Saturday, we spoke of the difficult task of coaching a college athlete from the viewpoint of credit while winning and the opposite in case of defeat. Our stand was that a coach is not necessarily to blame for a defeat. He can tell the boys how to do a thing, but can't do it for them. Yet, if he loses, he's a hero; if he loses, a dub. Bill Cunningham in his column in the Boston Post yesterday says in part:

"What happened to Harvard at New London is still a matter of mystery. The crew had no fight and no ginger at all. There are whispers now of disension in camp and prediction of another defeat. Yet, if he loses, he's a hero; if he loses, a dub. Bill Cunningham in his column in the Boston Post yesterday says in part:

Just because the so-called experts had figured the heavy Harvard crew should win, they're talking about getting another coach up in Cambridge today. Strangely contrasting with this is the situation a year ago when every Bay State fan was praising Coach Ed Brown to the sky for Harvard's victory over Yale.

To a certain extent, in fact a big one, it is the "dope" upsets in sports today are due to preliminary or advance stories written by so-called sporting experts, many of whom don't know who's going to win. It is the "dope" upsets in sports today are due to preliminary or advance stories written by so-called sporting experts, many of whom don't know who's going to win. It is the "dope" upsets in sports today are due to preliminary or advance stories written by so-called sporting experts, many of whom don't know who's going to win.

I have come to the conclusion that when sports writers go on record as favoring a certain individual or team, they are doing it for one reason only. They are trying to make a bet. They are trying to make a bet. They are trying to make a bet.

As a reward for his sensational work for Manchester High school, Joseph McCluskey has been named captain-elect of the school's track and field team for 1926. McCluskey, who will graduate from the school next year, did not lose the mile event once during the past season. Although the smallest member of the squad, he was the most consistent point scorer.

Sinks Seven Foot Put To Win By One Stroke

Quaker Ridge Fights

Way to Lead Against Greatest Golfers of All Ages—Considered Out of Running in First Round But Gamely Sticks It Out; Nervous on Last Round.

One Stroke Down

BOBBY JONES

By DAVID J. WALSH

Chicago, June 25.—The perennial runner-up, the lad they said was always a contender, never a champion, was quite no more today. He'd become the outstanding runner down of all competitive golf, a champion who runs down puts from all distances and opposition from all climes and countries. One might even say with that phrase about the worm turning but, if one did, one would only prove that he didn't see Johnny Farrell of Quaker Ridge, win the national championship yesterday in a 36-hole play-off with the remarkable Bobby Jones.

There could be no worm in a young man who sinks a 7-foot putt on the home green when a miss would mean another tie and another play-off and maybe just another defeat for him with victory so close.

Farrell fought his way to ultimate success against the greatest of all ages, winning by exactly one stroke, with medal rounds of 70 and 73 for a total of 143 against Jones' cards of 73 and 74 for 144. Their 72 hole journey in the regular championship, concluding on Saturday, ended in a dead heat at 294 strokes, with the greatest field ever assembled trailing in their wake—Hagen, the British champion; Compton and Boomer, the greatest abroad, and the field of 200 other professionals, which tactically means the best there is.

Farrell virtually was considered out of the competition when he took a 7 on the first round. But games had its reward when, on the final day everyone else missed, Farrell and his rounds of 71 and 72 earned him his chance yesterday.

Johnny Shaky Johnny was shaky when he started the play-off, and he felt almost no better when Jones gained a stroke with a birdie at the first hole. But Johnny kept trying, and Jones was not quite the precise automaton of other rounds and other years.

Farrell went a stroke ahead of the third, gained another with a birdie at the sixth, lost both at the next two and got one of them back to tie ahead again at the tenth. He made it two strokes lead at the tenth, and shot four birdies in a row, almost a championship record, getting a 12 foot putt at the 15th, a 20-footer at the home hole. At the 15th Bobby got a birdie 4 but otherwise he had no reply to this kind of scoring. He was three strokes down at lunch.

He got two-of them back at the first hole in the afternoon and the other was wiped out at the second. All square again and if you think a third like that is encouraging to the man who loses these strokes, you just don't know your crab apple.

But, nothing daunted, our hero came back to gain two strokes at the next hole. He had lost both by the time he reached the eighth. Then he gained them back again at the ninth. I suspect that Jones is accusing himself of having lost the title on this hole. In fact, he took nothing better than a 5 here all week. In this time, he not only came weakly out of the trap but missed a 15 inch putt. He, too, might have been forgiven for taking laudanum here. Instead he merely took a brace.

That is to say, he shot three straight 4's and Farrell shot three straight 5's. Jones was one stroke up again. It looked like the emergency exit for John.

His rejoined was to almost get a hole in one at the short 13th, and the score was even again. They halved the next two and then Jones over-played the short 16th and the stroke that decided the championship was in Farrell's bag, but he still had to protect it.

Both missed their 18th green with their seconds. Farrell's next was 7 feet away. Jones replied by chipping absolutely dead. Johnny had to sink his put to escape another tie. He got down over the thing and the movie camera disturbed him. Usually fatal, that, then, in a breathless hush, he eased the ball into the cup and it was all over.

He announced later that he was starting in the mid-American championship in Kansas City today.

The Nut Cracker

Contracts for prize fights in the old days used to be signed in bars. They aren't signed there any more, partly because of the appalling falling off in barrooms since 1920, but mostly because the sipping racket has become so genteel.

RICKARD IS HUNTING FOR A PLY. TO SIGN THE ARTICLES FOR THE TUNNEY-HEENEY AFFAIR. D'HONNEUR (MAYBE THAT'S THE WAY YOU SPELL IT, MAYBE NOT). WE SUGGEST IT BE SIGNED IN SOME PASTOR'S STUDY.

Some kind of a contract has been signed, of course, but the protocol, exclusive, super-de luxe grand waits without.

C. C. Pyle should be granted the contract-concession. He not only would make it a beautifully ornamental affair, but people would pay their hard-earned tip to see the lads leave the pens about.

After running 2700 miles, Peter Gavuzzi had to quit Pyle's thundering herd, with a toothache. He couldn't carry on any farther without a pull.

Jim Corbett thinks Tunney will win. But then Jim always was a bit radical.

Umberto Torrino, Italian heavy-weight champ, offers to meet our Mr. Tunney either in the ring or on the lecture platform. We'd rather they'd meet in a cellar somewhere.

UMBERTA KNOWS THREE MORE LANGUAGES THAN TUNNEY. ANYWAY, GENE KNOWS ONLY ENGLISH AND YALE.

Torrino was discussed by a wrestler. We wish the wrestler had paid more attention to his business.

Torrino plays the guitar, mandolin, ukulele and cello. Maybe he's only stringing us.

The Italian invader sings baritone. Maybe he could be matched with Jack Sharkey, who always is singing about something to the referee.

Torrino knows Shakespeare, too. What a wide acquaintance Will seems to have!

ANCIENT HISTORY REPORTER: Well, I congratulate you. It is a great honor to be the oldest inhabitant.

"TWO'S" HAVE OUTING.
Hose Company No. 2 of the South Manchester fire department held its annual outing at Colt's club house on the banks of the Connecticut river below Hartford yesterday. The advance guard from Manchester left Saturday morning and had things ready when the others started to arrive in the afternoon and evening. Some did not go down until Sunday. At noon there was a chicken dinner. The foreman of the other companies in town had been invited and most of them were in attendance. The horseshoe throwing contest was won by William Cotter.

Last year the Pennsylvania railroad handled ten millions tons of bar and sheet iron and 2,800,000 tons of pig and bloom iron as freight.

LOCAL MAN "CLEANS UP" AT A & P'S OUTING

The employees of the Atlantic & Pacific Company in this vicinity held their annual outing at Goodwin Park, Hartford, yesterday. Most of the workers in the local stores attended. Alfred Petke, well known local bowler entered a number of the athletic contests that followed the box lunch furnished by the company, winning first place in the 100 yard dash, running broad jump, and the bag race. The prizes were a military set, two neckties and a cigarette case.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: (323) Sailors' Knots

Sketches by Bessey; Synopsis by Braucher

The sailor has names for different parts of his rope. The standing part means the part of the rope not right at the end but a little way up, and in making a knot we always bend the end around the standing part. The loop is known as the bight. Figure 1 is a simple knot; figure 2 a "figure eight"; figure 3, a common sheet bend, and figure 4 a common bowline.

International officers just elected are as follows:
President, R. Samuel Cummings, Kansas City, Kas.
James P. Neal, Walla Walla, Wash.; Charles F. Adams, Calgary, Canada, vice presidents.
Edmond Crossman, treasurer, Omaha.

Officers: Dr. William J. Carrington, New Jersey, Dist.; Horace McDavid, Illinois, Dist.; J. Randall Catton, Jr., Virginia, Dist.; Joshua L. Johns, Wisconsin, Dist.; Arthur W. Welsch, Florida, Dist.; Arthur R. Ford, (London, Canada, Western Dist.)

Milwaukee gets the convention of 1929. Convention closed at one o'clock and the New England delegation are on to Portland where we take in Columbia River Highway and auto trip about Portland. Many of our party took in the Mt. Rainier trip yesterday and much of the drive up the mountains had just been dug out. A fine trip.

Last evening I was entertained at the home of Clyde Dodds, Wesleyan '04. Herman Ontrup of Goldendale, Wash., Wesleyan '04 met me Wednesday morning and took me about city. Today I am riding to Portland with him in his car. He is in the lumber business at Goldendale, 125 miles north-east of Portland. Has been here 22 years and has seen Seattle grow from 250 members to city of about 500 members. Ontrup is related to the Stricklands, J. I. and C. J., and also Hugh Crosby.

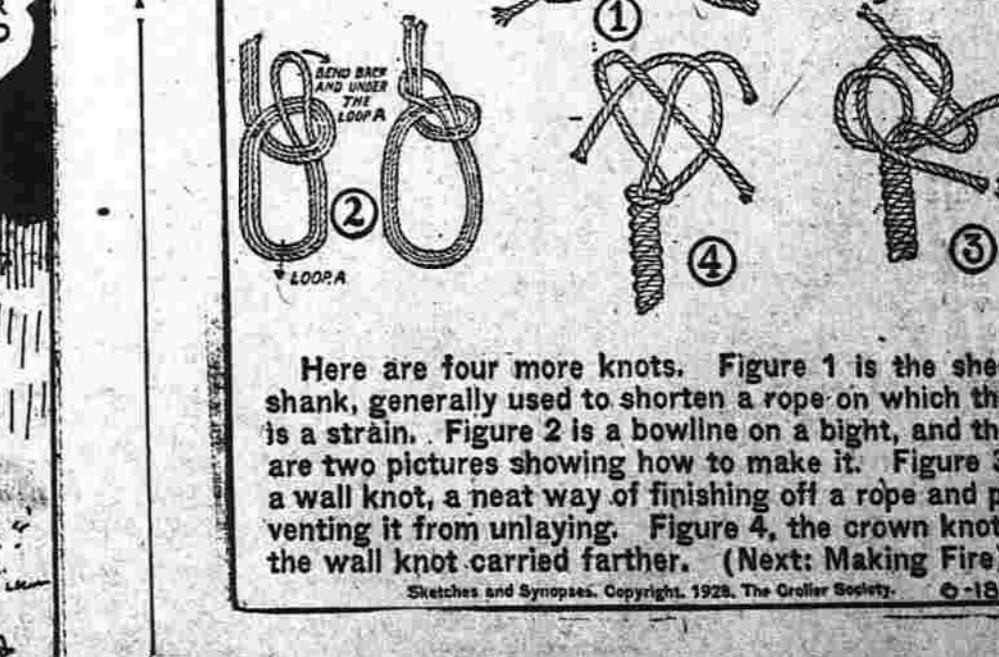

Contest winners are:
Efficiency, gold div., Scranton.

By Frank Beck

At the top is a reef knot. It is commonly used in joining two ropes or two ends of one rope. Below is pictured a Car-rick bend.

A Flemish loop is pictured at the top. Below is the chain knot and toggle. It is a series of common slip knots, the toggle being the bar at the end.

Here are four more knots. Figure 1 is the sheep-shank, generally used to shorten a rope on which there is a strain. Figure 2 is a bowline on a bight, and there are two pictures showing how to make it. Figure 3 is a wall knot, a neat way of finishing off a rope and preventing it from unlaying. Figure 4, the crown knot, is the wall knot carried farther. (Next: Making Fire)

POOR VIOLA. SHE WILL LOSE HER MIND IF SHE CONTINUES TO BLAME HERSELF FOR ALEC'S RASH DEED. IF WE COULD ONLY COMFORT HER...

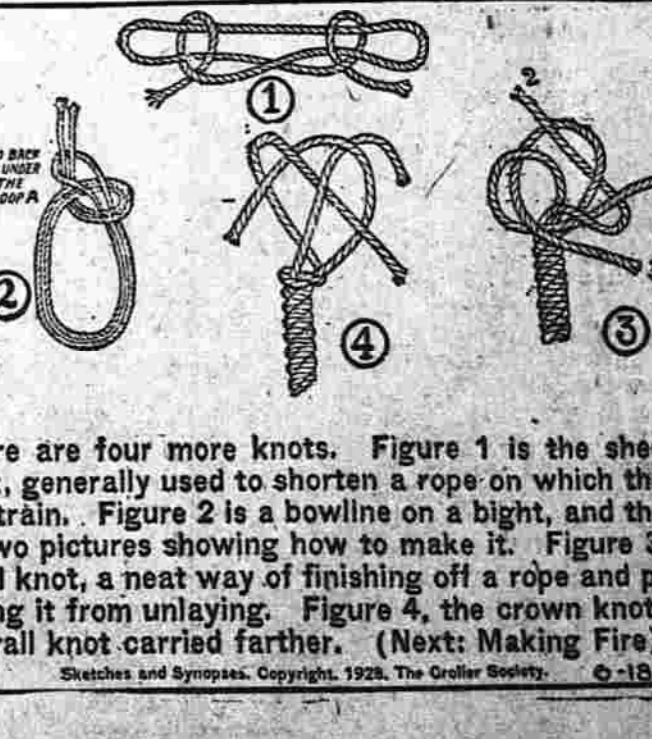

IT MUST BE TOUGH NURSING A COUSIN THAT HAS TRIFLED WITH ANOTHER PERSON'S LIFE.

ALEC WAS A BRUTE TO LEAP INTO THE RESERVATOR, LIKE THAT, AND LET ME SUFFER THE REST OF HER LIFE FOR IT.

IT WAS NO FUN FOR ALEC EITHER. EVERY TIME I TAKE A SIP OF WATER, I CAN'T HELP THINKING HOW HAPPY HE WAS BEFORE HE MET VIOLA.

NOW I'VE EITHER GOT TO JUMP INTO THE RESERVATOR OR GO BACK AND BE RAZZED FOR THE REST OF MY LIFE. WHAT DO I DO?

The handsome young minister usually prays to capacity houses.

SENSE and NONSENSE SKIPPY

You may think you are swift, but think of sound that travels by radio six times around the world in a second.

"Is Mr. Jones in?" inquired the caller at his residence. "I think so," replied the butler, who frequently listened in on the radio. "Will you please stand by?"

He Knew His Staff. Teacher: Willie, where is Toronto? Willie: Right between Davenport and Pittsburg. Teacher: Where did you get that answer? Willie: On our radio set.

The best people go to church; the church is trying to go to others.

A lady engaged a new gardener, and after breakfast one day she sauntered out among the flowers. Seeing the new man hard at work, she said:

"Well, and how is my Sweet William this morning?" "First rate, ma'am," replied the man of the spade. "But how did you know my name?"

The following prescription was handed us by a doctor friend: Prescription For Success.

Take two ounces of plain, old-fashioned work. Add one ounce of confidence. Flavor well all through with common sense.

Color with a tincture of dreams of greater and better things. Eliminate all waste and worry. Speak according to knowledge, act according to conscience.

Mix well and take, morning, noon and night, the year around. Slipped from the silver-lined spoon of optimism, held firmly in a steady hand, this concoction is guaranteed to cure.

LETTER GOLF TOGS

It's hard to play golf with a COAT and VEST on, but the two are necessary to today's letter golf. Far is four and one solution is on another page:

Letter golf grid with words COAT and VEST.

THE RULES

- 1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COAT to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

THE TINYMITES

"Giddap there, shark," one Tiny cried. "You're giving us a dandy ride. We don't know where we're heading for, but neither do we care. 'Tis fun to travel on like this, that is, if nothing goes amiss. We all are feeling very good out in this nice fresh air."

ABOUT TOWN
Rev. Robert A. Colpitts of the South Methodist church, left this morning for Chicago to attend a special meeting of the World's Service Commission of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which he is representative for the New England area.

Rev. M. S. Stocking, Mrs. Stocking and Miss Bernice Lydall are spending the week in Springfield, attending a training school at the exposition grounds for workers in vacation schools. Mr. Stocking, who will teach again this year at the north end church vacation school, is taking the courses in woodwork and Mrs. Stocking and Miss Lydall basketry and lampshade making.

The annual flower mission of the local W. C. T. U. will be observed Wednesday at Center church. The response last year from the general public furnished 37 bouquets for invalids and shut-ins in the hospital and homes. Flowers are hereby solicited and may be left in the morning at Mrs. A. B. Mann's, 32 Linden street, or at Carter's market, 1 South Main street. At 2 p. m. or after flowers may be left at Center church.

Mrs. Fannie Smith of Cambridge street has as her guests this week at her cottage at Point o' Woods, South Lyme, her sister, Miss Gertrude Lund, Miss Edna Stack and the Misses Nonna and Edith Pearson, all teachers in local schools.

Mrs. A. P. Lydall and her daughter, Miss Irene Lydall, have returned after a short stay at Pleasant View, R. I.

The family of Scott Simon of Henry street left Saturday for their cottage at Groton-Long Point.

The Women of Mooseheart Legion will have their regular business meeting tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. William Scott, Stockhouse road.

Erwin Morton, son of Mrs. W. T. Morton of Hudson street has left for a month's stay at the Boy Scout camp in Winsted, Camp Pioneer.

The Junior choir of the North Methodist church will meet the rehearsal which was scheduled for tomorrow evening.

Thirty-four of the Army & Navy club auxiliary enjoyed the outing Saturday afternoon at Harry McCormick's cottage at Coventry lake. On their arrival at the lake coffee and hot dogs were served. Different games were played and the members enjoyed a boat trip around the lake. At six o'clock a roast beef supper was served by the committee and the start for home was made at 8 o'clock. The last meeting of the summer will be held in the clubhouse Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Crawford of Academy street were surprised Saturday evening on the occasion of their tenth marriage anniversary by a party of relatives and friends from this town, Hartford, Springfield and other places. They brought with them a choice collection of gifts in recognition of the event, also a generous supply of delicacies. Funny stories and reminiscences, games and music helped to pass a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

SEGAR-TREADWELL

Miss Lillian M. Treadwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Treadwell of 44 North street, Danbury, and Stuart G. Segar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Segar of 110 Main street in this town, were married Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, which was artistically decorated with daisies, roses and ferns. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frederick W. Walsh of Bethel, Conn., the single ring service being used. The bride attendants were Miss Elaine Treadwell, sister of the bride, and Edward B. Segar, brother of the bridegroom. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of shell pink georgette, with green horse hair hat and green shoes. She carried a shower bouquet of pink tea roses, orange blossoms and lily. The maid of honor wore a blue georgette dress, with hat and shoes to match and carried an arm bouquet of yellow Pernet roses. Only members of the immediate families were present at the ceremony. A wedding dinner followed at the White Turkey Inn, Brookfield, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Segar left on a wedding trip to Lake George, N. Y., the bride wearing a white ensemble costume. On their return they will live in their newly furnished home at 17 Harrison street, New Britain, and will be at home to their friends after July 15.

The bride was graduated from the Danbury High school and the Danbury Normal school, and has been a teacher in the Nathan Hale school and a member of the Town Players. The bridegroom was graduated from the local High school with the class of 1924, attended Dartmouth College at Hanover, N. H., and Babson Institute at Wellesley Hills, Mass. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity and is employed by Thomson, Fenn and Company of Hartford as manager of their branch office at New Britain.

Mr. and Mrs. Segar left on a wedding trip to Lake George, N. Y., the bride wearing a white ensemble costume. On their return they will live in their newly furnished home at 17 Harrison street, New Britain, and will be at home to their friends after July 15.

3 SCHOOL DISTRICT MEETINGS TONIGHT

Second, Sixth and Seventh to Gather—Fifth on Wednesday Night.

Pourschool district meetings are scheduled for this week, three of them coming this evening at Manchester Green, the Second District, there is nothing to indicate that there will be a contest of any kind this year and the call indicates that the usual business will be taken up. This includes the reports of officers, the election of officers and the laying of a tax. This district has a heavy debt incurred by the necessity of building a new school a few years ago and the amount being called upon to buy additional land and erecting another unit to the school. The tax will be laid no doubt, without opposition.

In the Seventh District there is much the same order of business and there is nothing to indicate that there will be any struggle of any kind in the district. This district will elect three members to their school committee, hear reports of the officers and will also lay a tax.

In the Sixth District there are matters of importance to be considered, but it is doubtful if there will be a large gathering. It is scheduled to be the last meeting of this district, which has been annexed to the Ninth district. The Sixth district residents were called upon to pay $12,000 to the Ninth district as their share to become connected with the Ninth. This required an extra tax in the district for three years in addition to the regular tax in the Ninth district. This has been laid and there is every reason to feel that tonight's meeting will wind up the business of the district, and it will from now on be a part of the Ninth district, with but one school tax.

The only district that is likely to furnish any real fireworks this year is the Fifth. Even this meeting, which is to be held Wednesday evening, gives indication of being tame as compared with some of the other meetings of this district. The call shows that there is nothing to be done about the matters of the district that are now in court. It is also shown that there will be a tax question considered. This may bring out some opposition, but there is a different feeling in the district now than was the case a year ago. This feeling is likely to bring the two factions to a better understanding and do away with much of the trouble that has been caused.

The trouble is the recommendation that $1,000 be appropriated for current expenses, as there are some who may want to know just what "current expenses" are, feeling that it might be part of the bill for law-yars. If this is so, then there will be fireworks. A new floor is considered necessary in one of the rooms in this school, and that will be given consideration at the meeting.

ONE FRIEND TELLS ANOTHER

"Pinehurst pleases everyone with their 'Good things to Eat' and satisfactory prices."

We will have some very good cuts of Corned Beef—lean Ribs, Briskets and Sirloin Flanks. We also suggest milk fed Veal for stewing—you find it tender as chicken—Lamb stew is also at its best right now. Boneless Rib Roasts.

TROLLEY STRIKE

Pinehurst, like everybody else who is right in head and heart, hopes there will be no trolley strike. We make no pretense of judging the controversy—that's a thing apart. We hope there will be no strike because strikes are devastating things. It has been said that "Nobody wins any strike but the devil."

And who wants to see our local cars run by a lot of professional strike-breakers in place of the old familiar, well liked trolley-men—even temporarily, not to say for good? Nobody, Nobody at all but the strikebreakers.

Yet a trolley strike wouldn't make two straws difference to Pinehurst's business. Such of our customers as do ordinarily come by trolley would simply use the phone and Pinehurst system of delivery would do the rest—promptly, interestedly, painstakingly.

A strike would affect neither us nor our customers, so far as marketing goes. But we hope it's off for good just the same.
