SMITH'S FRIENDS DEMAND MORE STUMP TALKS

Appeals Come in From All Over Country for Candidate to Extend His Presidential Campaign Schedule.

New York, July 3.—Governor Smith and his advisers today were considering appeals from all parts of the country for an extension of his campaign schedule, which at present lists only twelve speeches, to be delivered in important cities representing all sections of the nation.

Many of his admirers feel that a more intensive campaign, with numerous public appearances, would be of great value in spreading knowledge of the Smith personality. Such a programme, they say, would greatly increase the chances for a Democratic victory.

They are expecting also that the governor's acceptance speech to be made in August when he is formally notified of his nomination for president, will win over many doubtful lies.

"I will make my position perfectly clear in my speech of acceptance," Gov. Smith said in his suite at the Biltmore, refusing further comment on the prohibition question.

To Rest Today

Today was to be another day of rest for him, save for conferences with his personal advisers and some of the Democratic leaders.

Tomorrow, however, the governor makes two public appearances. In old Tammany Hall, scene of so many important events in municipal history, he will make an address at the 139th annual Independence Day celebration of the organization. This is the last Fourth of July ceremony to be held there before the old quarters are abandoned.

The governor will speak on patriotism and liberty, avoiding campaign matters.

At City Hall, at 7 p. m., he will welcome the new veterans.

These two engagements were referred to by the governor when he declined an invitation to address the Jamaica Ku Klux Klan.

"That's as many as I can do in a day," was his sole comment on the Klan bid.

Discussion of his plans for the immediate future brought out that when he visits the Boy Scouts at Bear Mountain next Tuesday, he will remain overnight at the state National Guard camp and possibly take a swim in the camp pool.

As the governor is expected at the mention of the dip, a reporter considered it timely to ask when, where and how he first learned to swim.

Swimming Days

"It was at the foot of Beekman street in 1882," he answered, the grin widening. "Along the Beekman street docks there were three-foot tank cars where fish and turtles were kept when the fishing boats had come in. But when they happened to be no fish in them they made perfect swimming pools for beginners. That's where I learned."

Reports that some of the southern Democratic leaders have requested that Franklin D. Roosevelt be named national chairman will cause no change, it is understood, in Gov. Smith's belief that Senator Peter Goddard, of Rhode Island should be given the honor.

Another guest today at the Biltmore was Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury and one of the most powerful supporters of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover. Mellon and Smith have not met, however, Mellon came here to confer with influential Republicans.

A "strong bone-dry state ticket" was the object today upon which Republican leaders were working.

Attorney General Albert Mottlinger and U. S. Attorney Tuttle, are considered leading candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, although they are frowned upon by the Anti-Saloon League.

Alanson B. Houghton, ambassador to Great Britain, is being boomed as the party's candidate for U. S. Senator.

IT'S GOIN' TO BE HOT FOR FOURTH OF JULY

Weather Man Predicts the Mercury Will Hit 90 at Noon Tomorrow.

New York, July 3.—Summer, which was later than usual, this year—as usual—will playfully kick the mercury into a new altitude record for 1928, tomorrow.

That's the forecast by the local weather bureau. The weather man will do his part to make the day what is technically known as a real, old-fashioned Fourth of July.

In case you have this far failed to grasp the idea—it will be a hot day.

Pressed for a statement, Dr. James H. Scarr, government meteorologist, told interviewers today that his charts show the thermometer may "hit 90" tomorrow.

CAL 56 TOMORROW

July 4 has been a memorable date in the lives of presidents. President Coolidge will be 56 years old tomorrow, having been born on July 4, 1872. Three presidents have died on July 4—John Adams (upper right), Thomas Jefferson (center) and James Monroe (lower). Adams and Jefferson died on the same day—July 4, 1826—and within a few hours of each other. Monroe died on July 4, 1831.

Night Before The Fourth Not What It Used To Be

Wagons, Signs Burned at Cheney Store in Old Days.

Tonight is "The Night Before" but from the present outlook it will in no way resemble some of the many "Nights Before" that Manchester has lived through in years past. Police today have much to do with the keeping of order. The automobile and the motorcycle, the telephone and the street lights burning all night also have much to do with the difference in the observance of the coming of the Fourth from those of other years.

The ringing of a church bell or a bonfire, the gathering in groups and the shooting of fireworks, or the sound of caps as they explode as the trolley cars come along the rails are the chief noise makers today, but it was a different method that was followed twenty-five years ago.

The Old Cannon.

One incident that will stand out as an event not likely to be repeated is the firing of the Highland Park cannon. There was an old cannon at the Highlands that was at one time used to awaken that section. But it was overloaded, some ten or twelve pounds of powder, plenty of grass and wet paper being used and it resulted in an explosion that caused damage to windows in the section, made chimney tops fall and put an end for all time to the shooting of the cannon.

The Gathering in Old Days.

The gathering up of old wagons, gunnery, grocery carts and about everything on wheels that was not kept locked, and throwing them onto a fire was another favorite stunt. In connection with the moving of buildings and wagons there is recalled one case in which Wilbur Warner, who for many years drove the freight wagon for the W. H. Cheney & Sons store and who later was in the meat business for himself, figured.

"Web" Warner's Wagon.

To the older residents Warner will be recalled as an exceptional stout man. He would cause one side of the wagon on which he sat

When man understands the mechanism where-by this organism, the diinoflagellate, is enabled to store up the sun's energy, he will open new domains to his control of nature.

Dr. Charles A. Kofoid, chairman of the Zoology Department of the University of California, voiced these opinions today. Two theories for the light produced by the sea animals were advanced by Dr. Kofoid.

Source of Light

The actual light is due to the interaction of sections of gland cells in the luminous organs, which interact in the presence of water and oxygen to produce light. It may be caused, he said by the secretions of minute bacteria which grow and multiply in some organ of the host.

When released, this light is without appreciable heat.

The tiny organisms which bring about the phenomena of the sea are continually in need of new energy, Dr. Kofoid said.

Their locomotive powers tend to exhaust the reserves of food built up during solar irradiation. So with true protistan parsimony, they switch on their lights at sundown and run them till dawn. It has been suggested, Dr. Kofoid said, that the light was used to lure other organisms for food, as a warning to enemies, as a mating signal, or as a lantern to guide movements.

Not a Candidate.

A movement for government by a committee rather than a single executive head gained headway as the delegates prepared to ballot. The constitutional committee of the Zionists, under the leadership of David Rudavsky, of Fall River, Mass., was to confer with Prof. Mordecai Kaplan, of New York, before making a report on the committee plan to the convention.

Although Lipsky himself has announced he will not be a candidate for another term in the organization, it was expected that his name would be drafted before the convention, and that he would continue his fight for the police, which almost brought his faction to blows with the group under Rabbi Wise.

Nathan Strauss, New York philanthropist who has given $1,500,000 to the Palestine homeland movement, stepped into the convention breach with a statement dictated from New York in which he warned that there is no place in our movement for pettiness or rancor, and warned that such strife would be "treason."

FRANCE WINS BENNETT CUP BALLOON RACE

"Blanchard" Lands at Walnut Cove, N. C., 475 Miles From Detroit the Starting Point.

Detroit, July 3.—The French balloon "Blanchard" with Charles Dolifus, pilot, and Georges Cornier, aide, in the basket, has won this year's Gordon Bennett balloon race, it is believed.

The "Blanchard" landed at Walnut Cove, N. C., approximately 475 miles from Detroit. This is 15 miles farther than the distance traveled by the Army balloon piloted by Captain W. E. Kepner.

Race officials will await an official calibration, however, before announcing the winner.

All Are Down

All of the 12 racing balloons which left Ford airport Saturday were reported down. The German bag "Munster," last of the bags to report, made a landing in the vicinity of Lynchburg, Va., according to unofficial word received here.

Meanwhile race officials have asked Charles Schory, of the National Aeronautic Association in Washington, D. C., to rule on the legality of the landing made by the "Blanchard." Dolifus and Cornier landed in a mill pond and then rowed to shore in a collapsible rubber boat.

MYSTERY OF LIGHT PUZZLES SAVANTS

Scientist Unable to Solve Sea Organism That is Regular Power Plant.

Berkeley, Calif., July 3.—Tiny organisms of the sea which store up the sun's radiant energy by day and release it by night, causing brilliant displays of luminescence, comprise one of the mysteries of life which science has been unable to solve.

When man understands the mechanism where-by this organism, the diinoflagellate, is enabled to store up the sun's energy, he will open new domains to his control of nature.

Dr. Charles A. Kofoid, chairman of the Zoology Department of the University of California, voiced these opinions today. Two theories for the light produced by the sea animals were advanced by Dr. Kofoid.

NEW YORKER BUNCOED BY HICK FROM MAINE

Boston, July 3.—"O Tempora, O Mores," would say the ancient Romans. Citizens of the Bronx, Harlem and the other boroughs will probably say more expressive words.

A native New Yorker, sophisticated, was mulcted in the "provincial" town of Boston by a "hick" from a small town in Maine. He lost eighty dollars and many minutes that he waited outside a supposed hotel. To top it all off, Edward Wagner of Queens Village, Long Island, thought that a business block was a hotel. The stranger, broke, asked the New Yorker to let him take the $80 to show a hotel clerk.

SAFE MAJORITY FOR MR. HOOVER, DECLARES WORK

That is Prediction Made by Chairman of National G. O. P. Committee After Meeting With President.

Chicago, July 3.—"A safe majority for Herbert Hoover, which will make him the next President of the United States."

That was the prophecy ventured here today by Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, who came from the summer White House at Brule where he conferred with President Coolidge and handed in his resignation as secretary of the interior.

Work offered that prediction after conferring with a number of middlewestern leaders here.

Asked how much of a majority he would expect, Work said, "I am no soothsayer, but it will be enough. Work then rather facetiously told the story credited to Abraham Lincoln who was asked how long a man's legs should be. The reply Work quoted was that "they should be long enough to reach the ground."

Louis L. Emmerson, secretary of state and candidate for governor of Illinois, sent his regrets over his inability to attend the meeting here owing to the funeral of his friend, Bert Johnson, of Kewanee.

President Coolidge and his backing will aid in putting Hoover over, Work said. The methods to be used by the chief executive were not disclosed by the secretary of the interior. Work said he believed Coolidge's vacation was doing the President a "world of good."

NOT IN RAY STATE TO ELECT AL SMITH

Boston, Mass., July 3.—Declaring that the fight to elect Gov. Al Smith would be in Massachusetts and not in the south, Charles S. McGue, chairman of the state Democratic committee today returned with the rear guard of the Massachusetts delegation to the Democratic convention at Houston, Texas.

Chairman McGue remarked that everywhere throughout the south, particularly in Houston, he found nothing but enthusiastic sentiment for Smith.

"There is nothing to this talk of defection on the part of the south because of religious or prohibition sentiment," he said.

BROWN MAY SUCCEED HOOVER IN CABINET

Assistant Commerce Secretary May Take Post After His Chief Resigns.

Washington, July 3.—Herbert Hoover deserted politics momentarily today to draw up the commerce department's new budget.

He was assisted by Walter F. Brown of Toledo, assistant commerce secretary, who according to persistent reports will succeed Hoover in the Cabinet.

Hoover's acceptance speech has been completed in rough draft. He still wants to consult with a number of political advisors before he completes it.

The Republican national headquarters in the Barr building, from which the Hoover-Curtis campaign will be conducted, are the most elaborate ever set up for a presidential campaign. There are forty rooms and offices which occupy the entire fourth floor. Work of moving into the new offices is practically completed.

ICE BREAKER NEARING MAROONED EXPLORERS

Buy A $15,000 Casket For Murdered Gunman

New York, July 3.—Frankie Uale, the gangster, who was shot and killed Sunday afternoon, lay in a $15,000 casket at a Brooklyn funeral parlor today, while 300 men, women and children of the underworld and hordes of the curious came to pay their last respects. The body was dressed in a dinner suit. A string of rosary beads was entwined around the fingers of the right hand. A cross lighted with electric lights was at the feet.

The casket is lined with copper and white satin. Friends said it had long been Uale's desire to have a grand funeral, and that he wanted it to outshine that of the late Dion O'Bannon, his enemy, whose funeral still is remembered as one of the greatest events of its sort in Chicago.

The mourners at the undertaking parlor were met near the door of the undertaking chapel where a money box in which friends of the gangster deposited coins for the purchase of flowers.

Two women, Mrs. Marie Uale and Mrs. Lucinda Uale, claim to have been the gangster's legal wife. Each said they would claim the body.

MONARCHISM IS DEAD IN GERMANY AT PRESENT

Magazine Article Causes Sensation in Berlin Be- cause of Principles of That Party.

Berlin, July 3.—A political sensation was caused in Germany today by an article written for a Nationalist magazine by Nationalist Reichstag Deputy Walter Lambach, who declared that the election of Field Marshal von Hindenburg as president of the German Republic "dug the grave for German Monarchism."

The monarchistic section of the population who voted for Von Hindenburg "helped dig this grave," the writer said. He added:

"Kings and Kaisers are no longer hallowed and venerable persons and institutions to our growing youth and future voters. To our growing youth they have become figures fit only for the stage and the film."

The sensation was heightened by the fact that restoration of the monarchy is the first principle of the Nationalist party.

Lambach demands that the Nationalists abandon their monarchistic principles and accept Conservative Republicans into membership.

Regrets Incident

"Kreuzzeitung," the official organ of Count Westarp, leader of the Nationalist party, regrets that the fundamental principles of the party are being made an issue, "because the party has more pressing cares at this moment."

Herr Lambach gave the following explanation of the change on the part of the German people:

"The shadow of the Kaiser and King rising up behind the President would overshadow everything else, but it no longer overshadows a Hindenburg. On the contrary, William II disappeared behind the tall, pious old gentleman who now represents the Reich. A functionary and place-holder who was elected, but a carrier of his own greatness became President. Before his greatness, the nimbus of the Hohenzollerns collapsed. How many millions of true Monarchists have been turned into embittered Republicans by the second marriage of the Kaiser and the marriage scandals in his family was shown at the national referendum on the proposed constitution, the royal properties and in the last Reichstag election."

LAST STATEMENT

Only the statement of the patrolman made shortly before he was shot down, that he was looking for an automobile and a "bunch of fellows" offered the police any idea that might lead to the capture of the slayers, believed to be amateur cracksmen.

Mayor Edward H. Larkin has recommended to the Board of Aldermen that a pension of $1,000 a year be granted to Mrs. Gilleland and that a reward of $500 be offered for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of the slayers.

LOSS OF MILLIONS BY WESTERN STORMS

Minneapolis, July 3.—Five persons were killed and property damage that will run over $1,000,000 was caused by wind storms of cyclonic proportions that swept over four northwest states early Monday, a check-up revealed today.

Most of the damage was to farming communities where crops were laid low by wind and hail.

The storms struck in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota. The velocity of the wind was estimated in excess of 70 miles an hour. Rain, lightning and thunder accompanied the wind.

BYSTANDERS WOUNDED IN GUNMEN'S FIGHT

One Gangster Killed With Shotguns Fired From a Speeding Automobile.

Philadelphia, July 3.—Firing shotguns from a speeding auto, four gangsters shortly before noon today sprayed the neighborhood of Sixth and Christian streets with a hail slaying one man, wounding a boy probably fatally and wounding a man and woman. The men escaped after a chase by police.

The dead man was known to police as George Catana, 48, of Bywood, Pa. His body was riddled with bullets and he died instantly.

The wounded are: Michael Rosso, 12 shot through the abdomen; Walter Bosher, 64, and Marion Hughes, 23 a negro.

Police believe the shooting to be the outcome of a bootlegging feud as Catana is known to authorities as a "racketeer."

The wounded persons were all bystanders.

ICE BREAKER NEARING MAROONED EXPLORERS

Eight Nations Now Engaged In Search—Report of Finding Amundsen's Body, Is Still Unconfirmed; Russian Aviators Are Given Up as Lost.

London, July 3.—Eight nations today were engaged either directly or indirectly in searching for the missing members of the Noble expedition and the lost Amundsen party in the Arctic. They are Italy, Norway, Sweden, Russia, England, Finland, France and Germany. A dispatch from Cherboug said that the French Polar ship Pourquoi would sail from that port today to aid the search for Amundsen, Die-trichsen and Gullbaud who were lost when disaster overtook the French replane in which they were bound from Tromsø for Spitzbergen. Dr. Charcot, noted French explorer, was to sail on the Pourquoi Pas.

NEARING PARTY

Moscow, July 3.—The Russian ice breaker Krassin, which was reported to have rescued the remaining members of the Noble group from the ice near Foyne island, was still 100 miles from the refugees today, said a radiogram from the ship.

The Noble relief committee, which received the wireless message, said that the commander of the Krassin was confident he would be able to force his way through the ice floes and take on the marooned members of the Noble party and Lieut. Lundborg, the Swedish flyer, who is with them.

The Russian ice breaker Malign reported by radio that hope is virtually abandoned for Russian aviator Babushkin and his mechanic, who have been missing since they hopped off last Friday in an effort to locate the missing members of the Noble expedition.

EXPLORER NOT FOUND

Oslo, Norway, July 3.—With seven nations, fourteen ships and more than a score of planes now co-operating in the search for him, the disappearance of Captain Roald Amundsen, who with his five companions left Tromsø, Norway, in a French seaplane on June 18 to search for Gen. Noble, was still shrouded in mystery today.

Two British Moth planes are expected to arrive here soon to join the searching expeditions. Upon their arrival the number of planes engaged in the rescue-work will total 22.

In denying the report circulated yesterday that Amundsen's body had been found, relief officials here stated that none of the ships now scouring the Arctic seas had reported finding any trace of the noted explorer or his plane as yet.

ANOTHER REPORT

Berlin, July 3.—Members of the Swedish Noble rescue committee believe it was the Malmgren party and not the Noble group that was found by the Russian ice breaker Krassin, according to the newspaper Berliner Zeitung am Mittag today. The newspaper printed a dispatch from Malmø quoting a Moscow dispatch to the Svenska Dagbladet as saying the Krassin had located the "Lundborg group."

This is the party last seen on the ice when Gen. Noble was rescued. Lieut. Lundborg, a Swedish aviator, was subsequently marooned with the explorers when his plane was damaged.

Prof. Penn Malmgren and two companions left the Noble party to cross the ice in an effort to find land after the Italia crashed on May 25.

GIRL OFFERS TIP IN COP'S SLAYING

Tells Medford Officials Whereabouts of Suspect; Leads to Boston.

Medford, Mass., July 3.—Informed by a girl as to the whereabouts of the probable slayer of Patrolman Francis J. Gilleland, murdered at his post of duty by drug store burglars, police officials today turned the spotlight upon Boston.

The name of the girl and the nature of the information will not be divulged until its source, officials stated.

Several persons have been questioned in connection with the slaying but were able to establish alibis satisfactory to the officers upon the case.

COAL MINERS' HEAD CALLS FOR MEETING

Lewis Issues Call for Session to Be Held July 10 to Discuss Strike.

Indianapolis, July 3.—John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, today sent out a call for a meeting of the international executive board in Indianapolis on July 10, and a meeting of the policy committee on July 11.

"Both meetings are called for the purpose of reviewing the strike situation in the various bituminous coal fields and proposed federal legislation dealing with the bituminous coal industry will also be considered," read the Lewis' call.

The statement briefly explained that the policy committee is composed of representatives from each district organization of the United Mine Workers of America in the United States and Canada, members of the international executive board and the executive officers of the union.

VOICE HELPS IN MOVIES NOW

Madge Bellamy's Experience on Stage is Valuable.

By DAN THOMAS
Hollywood, Calif.—Just a regular "follow."

That's what they say about Madge Bellamy around make-believe village. And it's just about true. Little Madge has come ahead with leaps and bounds during the last 18 months. But she hasn't absorbed any of those "success airs" that seem to be quite contagious out in this neck of the woods.

Madge takes this business of film production with seriousness. She wants to be a big success almost more than she wants anything else. And she is the kind of a girl that everybody wants to help along. Of course, men always like to help beautiful girls—it's their nature. But the women too want to help Miss Bellamy.

Her Biggest Role
The actress is now playing the biggest and most difficult role of her career, the lead in "Mother Knows Best." She is a stage trouser, playing here, there and everywhere with a stock company. There is a portion of the film being made with motion picture accompaniment in which she imitates Harry Lauder, Anna Held, Al Jolson, Fanny Brice and Raquel Meller.

Those unfamiliar with Madge's real ability are due for the surprise of their lives when they see this particular sequence. Every impersonation is perfect and her voice is remarkable.

"I am getting a particularly big 'kick' out of this picture because it is the story of what I might have been," Madge confided. "When I started on the stage at pictures, The movietone boosted the age of 16, my mother and I used to go from town to town, playing one and two night stands. At that time I didn't have much hope of ever getting out of stock. But my break finally came and I found myself on Broadway. Then came pictures.

Madge Bellamy . . . as a trouper in "Mother Knows Best"

"I would hate to think that I would never go back to the stage and yet I have no desire to do so now. I am going to stay in pictures as long as I'm successful."

On the Fox lot, Madge is considered one of the best "bits" in pictures. The movietone boosted her stock because of her remarkable voice.

Changes Wrought

These talking pictures seem to be causing a lot of changes in moviana. Everything revolves around them these days—even local topics of conversation. However, they have made Hollywood a haven for elocution instructors. Three out of every four players here are taking daily lessons in how to talk correctly. Madge is the only girl in the entire Fox lineup who isn't bothered about such things.

Lily Damita—Looks At Love Lightly

By DAN THOMAS

Hollywood, Calif., June 27—About three years ago Samuel Goldwyn brought Vilma Banky over from Europe to play opposite Ronald Colman. So what would be more natural than for Sam to make another journey across the Atlantic when he wanted a new leading lady for Colman.

That's what he did. When Goldwyn and his wife returned from Europe a short time ago, the producer announced that he had signed a French actress to replace Miss Banky. A few weeks later along came Lily Damita, already famous. That's one of Goldwyn's tricks—making his actresses famous even before they touch these shores. He did the same with Vilma Banky.

Film Colony Likes Her
Miss Damita, who is just plain Miss Damita over here, hadn't been in Hollywood more than two days before she was hailed as one of the most popular members of the film colony. And no wonder! She is surprisingly human and possessed with an overabundance of personality and charm.

Miss Damita may be even more popular than Vilma as the recipient of Colman's devout screen attentions. If she can learn to consider these celluloid love scenes as a serious business.

"I don't know if I will be a success with Mr. Colman or not," the French actress declares. "I have never played heavy dramatic scenes before and I am so afraid that I will burst out laughing right in the midst of our most intense love sequences."

"However, Mr. Goldwyn thinks I am just right for the part. Some day, though, I want to make comedies and light comedy dramas."

Not Now, However
For the time being at least, Colman and Miss Damita will continue making the same type of pictures that made the Colman-Banky combination famous wherever films are shown.

Miss Damita has one distinction

Lily Damita . . . fears she may burst out laughing in the middle of an intense love scene.

she refuses to diet. A girl in Hollywood who refuses to diet is all right in the studio capital, she spent a good deal of her time trying to "snitch" pieces of candy most like a duck that refuses to swim. Dieting has been stamped as the approved thing to do.

At a party given for the pretty French girl a few days after her when Goldwyn wasn't looking.

"Mr. Goldwyn won't let me eat candy when he sees me," she confided. "But I'm going to do it just the same. I ate it in France and I'm going to do it here. And anyway I'm not too fat. Am I?" she added hastily.

You'll Hear 'Our Gang's' Voices in Movies Now

By DAN THOMAS

Hollywood, Calif., July 3.—It's a lot of fun to sit in a theater and watch somebody get socked in the face with a custard pie on the screen. But think how much more fun it will be when we can hear the "plop" of the pie as it finds its mark.

Hal Roach, comedy producer, has started out to make that possible by talking equipment for sound accompaniment with his films.

Think how much noise we will hear when the "Our Gang" comedies are shown. If you've never seen the gang in the flesh, you have quite a surprise coming.

King of Two-Reelers
Roach thinks two-reel comedies are just beginning to come into their own. In view of the fact that all other producers of short comedies are bemoaning the loss of their market, Roach's statement is at least interesting.

Roach is optimistic while his competitors are just about ready to give up their two-reelers as a thing of the past. Perhaps the reason is that Roach's product is about three times as good as that of the others. Any motion picture critic in Hollywood will tell you the same thing.

"Short comedies can never be eliminated from the film market because they are needed as a training school for no other reason," declares Roach. "Every feature his start in two-reelers. Charlie Chaplin, Harold Lloyd, Chester Conklin, Harry Langdon, Buster Keaton, Charlie Murray, Louise Fazenda and all of the others start in short comedies.

"In most cases the actors were funnier in two-reelers than they are in feature length films. The reason is that people laugh easily for twenty minutes. But it is hard to make them laugh for an hour or an hour and a half. A comedian can do a piece of business once or twice that is funny. But when he repeats it eight or ten times it becomes boring."

It really is the fault of the short subject producers that prologues have practically crowded them out of first run theaters," Roach continued. "A feature picture itself isn't sufficient to draw a crowd into a 50 or 75-cent theater. And if short subjects failed to add the necessary attraction, theater managers were forced to turn to prologues."

FARMERS ARE ADVISED TO VOTE DEMOCRATIC

Chicago, July 3.—George N. Peck, chairman of the committee of 22 which was formed at Des Moines two years ago, at the corn belt conference, reiterated today his preference, Republican or Democratic, should support the Democratic plank.

Peck said: "The treatment accorded agriculture at Houston has been in striking contrast with the treatment at Kansas City. At Kansas City farmers were definitely advised that the protective system is not intended for them. The party which farmers of the middle west have made and supported turned its back upon them, complacently giving them a renewal of broken pledges which were less definite than those of four years ago.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

Mrs. Luella Aitken
Word was received here last night of the death yesterday noon of Mrs. Luella (Barber) Aitken at 15 Beach street, Pawtucket, R. I. Mrs. Aitken was the wife of James C. Aitken, who was born in Manchester and lived here until he was married.

Mr. and Mrs. Aitken celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary a week ago last Saturday. Mrs. Aitken had been ill since last October with a complication of diseases. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at the home and several of Manchester relatives and friends will attend.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Mary McEvitt
The funeral of Mrs. Mary McEvitt will be held at her late home at Walnut and Cedar street tomorrow morning at 8:30 with a mass at St. Ignace church at 9 o'clock. The burial will be held Thursday at the cemetery, where her husband is buried.

ANOTHER GANGSTER IS SHOT TO DEATH

New York, July 3.—Predictions of further bloodshed in the wake of Frankie Yale's murder were borne out today, when another Brooklyn gangster, James "Hickey" Senter was shot to death.

This, the fourth killing since guerrilla warfare broke out in New York City Sunday came in the midst of a series of reprisals for the murder of Yale, king of Brooklyn racketeers.

At nearly the same moment, police revealed they had found the green sedan from which Yale's assassins fired the fatal charge of buckshot Sunday afternoon.

The car was found abandoned in a secluded spot behind Greenwood cemetery. After watching it for hours in hope the owners would appear to claim it, the police towed it to the station house and obtained fingerprints which they declare will definitely identify the driver.

A sawed-off shotgun and a .38-caliber revolver were found in the tonneau.

The car is a Nash and bears the Tennessee license plate 289-475, according to police.

The spot where Senter's riddled body was found is but a short distance from where Edward Lynch was "bumped off" two months ago. Lynch was a member of the notorious Wild Bill Lovett gang, water front guerrillas. Senter also operated along the docks.

Five shots penetrated the back of Senter's head, and four struck him from the front.

ABOUT TOWN

Inasmuch as most of the golf players in Manchester are playing in top form at present, a match play tournament against Pat has been arranged by Alec Simpson to be staged all day tomorrow over the Manchester Country club course.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sweet of Woodland street will spend the Fourth at the Ziba Warren home-stead at Storrs, Conn.

Mary C. Keeney tent, Daughters of Veterans will have their regular business meeting at the state armory Thursday evening. Plans will be made for the annual outing and other business transacted.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells Wehrrell and children of Omaha, Neb., have arrived for a visit with their relatives in town.

Manager Francis McCarthy of the Community club baseball team, stated this afternoon that the ladies will be admitted free at the game at Hickey's grove tomorrow morning between the Community club and Torrington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McGrath and children of Brooklyn, N. Y., are here for a visit with Mrs. McGrath's sisters, Mrs. Frank Rawson and Mrs. James Campbell of Main street.

There is a possibility that the Manchester Green baseball team will meet Sammy Massey's College All-Stars tomorrow morning at Woodbridge field at Dan Green. It is not certain that this game will be played but efforts were being made this afternoon to organize the collegians for the contest. Included in the lineup of the latter will be Sammy Massey, "Pat" Carison, Ben Cheney, Joe Wright and other well known local players.

SHIPEE AS SPEAKER

Hartford, Conn., July 3.—Lester E. Shippee, state banking commissioner, is to be a speaker at the annual convention of banking commissioners of the United States in New York July 25, 26, and 27. He has a new subject: The scope and Functions of Security or Finance Companies in Relation to Banking.

"In Houston farmers were given the greatest consideration in every way. Their reception was most cordial, their views on a platform were solicited, and a real plank was adopted which is the most favorable for agriculture ever written in the platform of a political party in our history."

Fanchon And Marco—Got Their Start In Life In A Family Orchestra

By DAN THOMAS

Los Angeles, Calif.—Not so many years ago they composed a three-piece juvenile family orchestra. Then the Wolff kids proceeded to grow up in regular Horatio Alger style. Rube as an orchestra leader and Fanchon and Marco as stage producers.

It is with the two elder members of the Wolff family that this story deals. Today they are known as plain Fanchon and Marco no last name. And their stage presentations are famous along the entire Pacific coast.

Few of the thousands who daily see the prologues staged in motion picture theaters by Fanchon and Marco give any thought to the two behind the scenes. They think only of the galaxies of beautiful girls, trained mostly by Fanchon.

Work Their Way
As children, Fanchon and Marco put themselves through high school. Marco played a violin in a local tea room while Fanchon filled a position as assistant dancing instructor in Hobart Bosworth's dramatic school. After graduating from high school they went on a vaudeville tour as a dance team. Then came cabaret engagements in San Francisco and New York another vaudeville tour, this time as headliners the war and the navy for Marco.

After the war they decided to produce revues and write songs—an idea that has resulted in their present success. Today their revues are staged as prologues in all of the leading west coast string of theaters from San Diego to Vancouver. And they head a huge organization which has its own costume company, scenic department and musical department.

Their Own School
"Much of the secret of our success lies in the types of girls we pick for our revues," declares Fanchon, who supervises this end of the business. "We take girls in all stages, from beginners to experienced stage dancers and train them in our own school here."

"We insist that the girls be pretty, have good figures and conform to our rather strict regulations. All of our girls must abstain from liquor. We do not object to smoking. They must get to bed early because they have to get up early for rehearsals. Sips and non drinking habits are necessary if the girls are to retain their beauty and figures. That is why we insist on those things. They get enough exercise from their dancing."

Here is an extract from a Fanchon in 40 west coast theaters. Inset on and Marco prologue, as staged at Fanchon (left) and Marco.

"To the public goes the real credit for our motion picture prologues. Theater audiences demanded a more diversified program. We have merely supplied it. Our first success naturally led to elaboration until now our presentations sometimes number nearly a hundred artists and girls, in the most ornate of scenic settings."

Not a bad start—that's what they call it—for a couple of "kids" who not long ago composed a family orchestra and entertained in cabarets.

AL SMITH PREPARED FOR HARD CAMPAIGN

New York, July 3.—"I'm ready for a hard campaign, if it started today it would be all right with me."

This was Gov. Alfred E. Smith's answer this afternoon to questions concerning his fitness for the presidential campaign.

When this campaign will start, where his headquarters will be and other details he characterized as unimportant at this time.

"Who wants to talk about campaigning on the day before the Fourth?" he said to newspapermen.

Details of the governor's speaking tour, and plans for the active work of placing his candidacy before the nation will be settled after the meeting of the Democratic national committee here on July 11, the candidate said.

With the exception of newspapermen, the governor saw no visitors today. He rested quietly in his apartment at the Biltmore and refused to be perturbed by insistent requests that he extend his speaking tour.

BIG TIGRESS ESCAPES FROM N. Y. MENAGERIE

Jersey City, N. J., July 3—"Grittle," a 500-pound tigress, met with her death here today after having caused a panic among other animals in the private menagerie where she dwelled and necessitated the calling out of police reserves.

The huge tigress escaped from her cage and roamed at large in one of the rooms of the menagerie, finally attacking a camel.

The police and William Bartels, owner of the menagerie, were notified. Bartels rushed to the place with George Bistamen, a big game hunter and collector for the New York Zoo. Bistamen shot the tigress.

Leads Home Run Hitters in the National League

Here's Jim Bottomley, first baseman of the St. Louis Cards, whose flock of home runs this season gives him the leadership for that department in the National League. Incidentally, he is playing a great game at first base and is getting quite a number of doubles and triples as well as singles when they are needed in the pinch.

THOUGHT HUSBY DEAD, SHE MARRIES ANOTHER

Los Angeles, Calif., July 3.—Mrs. Robert W. Guffy was conferring with officials today, in an effort to find a way out of her puzzling predicament.

Thinking her husband had died for five years, she married Guffy. Recently Karl Baumgartner, alias Ferdinand Alabor, was arrested on a burglary charge. Then it was discovered that he was the missing husband, who admitted that he staged a "fake" suicide.

Husband and wife met at the county jail yesterday. "Why did you do it?" were the first words of the wife. Alabor replied: "I don't know."

The woman then bid him an embarrassed good-bye and rejoined Guffy, whose marital status is still to be established.

HEARST PURCHASES THE OMAHA BEE

Omaha, July 3.—Sale of the Omaha Bee-News to William Randolph Hearst was officially announced today by Nelson B. Urdyke, retiring publisher.

The official announcement, over Mr. Urdyke's signature, will be carried in the Bee-News final editions this afternoon.

Former Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, publisher of the Wichita (Kansas) Beacon, will be Mr. Hearst's publisher here. Mr. Urdyke's statement declared.

He will assume his duties August 1, at which time "Mr. Hearst will take possession and begin operation of the Bee-News," today's announcement said.

BANK CLOSES

Arcadia, Indiana, July 3.—The First National Bank of Arcadia, a $200,000 institution doing business here since 1848, was closed today by Federal Bank Examiner J. L. Sanders.

It was the seventeenth bank failure in Indiana since January 1, 1923. The Clinton Trust Co., a state bank at Clinton, Ind., was closed yesterday by the State Banking Department.

Couples married fifty years or longer held a picnic at Mount Vernon, Ill., the other day. A good time was had by all and at a late hour the couples departed for home in a Ford roadster.

The Modern Mode... And The Cost Of Furniture

New standards of living have brought about this present day demand for style—new style—and always newer style—in almost everything that affects our daily lives.

That's part of the reason for the high cost of furniture. Imagine, for example, the rent charge for big display floors that Hartford stores must maintain.

Can you afford to pay for these excessive costs? Not if you can avoid it. If you buy furniture, you want good style, good selection, naturally, and you can get it at Keith's for a much lower price.

And the prices we charge you confirm it every time. Our "Low Cost Store" means savings to you in buying furniture of quality.

TUESDAY, JULY 3, 1923

DECENCY, PLEASE

One hundred and fifty-two years ago tomorrow the American colonies declared their independence of the sovereignty of Great Britain.

Tomorrow we celebrate this stupendous historic event. In the manner of our celebration we shall demonstrate, perhaps, how worthy we are of the heroism and the sacrifices which made the celebration possible.

If we merely yield to a certain excited exuberance, an urge to "blow our heads off" with noise and hullabaloo, we shall be, perhaps, quite human.

Well and good. But it's a mighty poor way to celebrate the country's finest and biggest anniversary by deliberately setting about making life miserable for half the people in one's town.

If the young men and boys and girls who plan a noisy celebration of the Fourth would remember that there isn't a street in this town without its invalid, its nervous people, its persons to whom loss of sleep and explosive bangings in the night time are a source of acute suffering, and would refrain from turning a happy celebration into a period of torture for others, they would show themselves much better Americans than if they failed to do so.

We have always observed that it is those young people who know least of what the Fourth of July is all about who make the greatest nuisances of themselves in the manner of their celebration.

Manchester is liberal to its young people in permitting them to celebrate the Fourth with freerack, pistol and cannon. If there is much of the really American about them they will not abuse their privilege at the cost of other people's health and peace of mind.

RUM AND THE FOURTH

We don't remember to have ever seen it mentioned in any school history, but it is nevertheless an historical fact of interest that on the day before the Glorious Fourth the first rumblings of the discontent which eventually resulted in the signing of the Declaration of Independence followed Great Britain's efforts to tax the New England rum business out of existence.

When it was decided, in 1767, to enforce the inoperative Molasses act and collect a heavy duty on all molasses imported into the colonies, New England uttered loud cries of protest that one of its principal industries was threatened with extinction for its famous rum was made from imported molasses.

Now probably New England and all America would have been better off if there had never been any rum distilled in New England or anywhere else on the soil of the colonies or of the subsequent states. But rum was distilled, and distilling it was a business, and a raid on that business, which was contributing to the financial prosperity if not to the spiritual well being of the colonists, was what started the big show that had its most dramatic feature on July 4th, 1776, one hundred and fifty-two years ago tomorrow.

It is to be doubted that the colonists would have revolted against a government of their own if that government had adopted a tax policy that threatened the rum trade. But they wouldn't stand the imposition of such a policy on the part of a government in which they had no representation.

Perhaps there is something of the same causation in the revolt of so many Americans against the prohibitory enactments. It is not the attack on the liquor that they resent, perhaps, so much as the feeling that their liberties have been intruded on.

Anyhow, bad old chap as the Demon Rum undoubtedly is, he had more than a little to do with the inauguration of the Fourth of July.

EDUCATING IDIOTS

One Philip Rosenblatt, a seventeen year old cripple, a chemistry student at a New York evening trade school, manufactured a lot of bombs wherewith to celebrate the Fourth of July.

Of late years it has become rather a fad for well-to-do sportsmen to prove their hard-bolled virility by going to Alaska or the Alaskan islands and "getting" a Kodiak—or several.

It does, indeed, call for rather more gumption than a golf game, to spend in the wilderness the time usually required to find your Kodiak and bring out his skin. But the actual killing of one of these mammoth bears requires just about as much rifle skill as to knock over a steer in a pasture.

And every hunter who brings home one of the enormous pelts has contributed quite materially to the extermination of one more of the vanishing quadrupled tribes.

And there's the yarn that's going around Broadway of the millions who kidnaped the bear that has a more wistful, romantic mood. It's about a rich lad from out Kansas way. His father is an official of a mid-western railroad line.

And, upon investigation, they found, he had brought his books to the night club, and was doing his best to read in exceedingly small print.

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT

Compiled by the CONNECTICUT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

(146) Connecticut Buys Life Insurance.

Although ranking 46th in size and 28th in population, Connecticut stood 15th among all states last year in the amount of ordinary life insurance (excluding group and industrial) bought from companies that had 90% of the legal reserve ordinary business in force in the United States.

The amount of ordinary life insurance bought in Connecticut from the above companies, however, was only about half the total amount of ordinary life insurance sold in the state that year and $198,335,000 less than the $244,643,635 sold in Connecticut during 1922 by the 43 life insurance companies doing business in the state.

At the beginning of 1922 there were in force in Connecticut 2,095,952 life policies amounting to $130,162,060. In 1923 there were only 604,849 life policies amounting to $224,766,082 in force in this state.

A total of $44,851,190 in life insurance premiums (exclusive of group) was collected in Connecticut during 1922, while $12,196,207 was paid in losses and claims. Premiums for 1923 amounted to $8,430,162, and losses and claims paid, $3,924,753.

HEALTH AND DIET ADVICE

By Dr Frank McCoy Author "The Fast Way to Health"

QUESTIONS IN REGARD TO HEALTH AND DIET WILL BE ANSWERED BY DR. MCCOY WHO CAN BE ADDRESSED IN CARE OF THIS PAPER

HOW THE HEART WORKS

The blood carries food, oxygen and water to the cells of the body, and removes their waste products, carrying them to the organs of elimination. It also regulates the body's temperature by conveying heat from the warm interior to the cooler parts, or acts like the water circulation of an automobile, by conveying the blood cooled by the skin evaporation to the parts that are too hot.

The circulation of the blood is maintained in an interesting manner. The heart is the most important organ for propelling the blood, but it alone is inadequate for all of this work, and it is assisted by a contractive force of the arteries which pushes the blood forward with a pulse-like movement.

The lungs also play some part in stimulating the flow of blood and there seems to be a fairly definite ratio between the number of breaths taken and the regularity of the heart beats.

If you double up your fist, you can see just about how big your heart is. There are two streams of blood passing through the heart: one from the muscles and tissues of the body, through the veins, into the right auricle of the heart, which empties into the right ventricle by a tube which contracts when the heart contracts, forcing the blood up the pulmonary artery into the lungs.

The arrangement of the valves is just the same as if two muscular pumps were placed side by side, each handling a different stream of liquid. One stream is forced through the lungs, and the other through the rest of the body.

You see, there are four cavities in the heart. Two are auricles on the upper part of the heart into which the veins flow, and these auricles empty into the lower cavities of the heart which, having the work of pumping the blood forward, are heavily muscled.

The large arteries coming from the heart divide again and again until they end in exceedingly small capillaries which run everywhere through the cells. These capillaries are so thinly walled that the nutrient can penetrate out to the cells, and they are so closely grouped that even the smallest needle point thrust into the tissues will rupture many of them.

If you place your hand on your chest you can feel the heart beat. This is a little to the left in most people, but in some rare cases the heart is on the other side.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Question: F. W. H. writes: "Several years ago in cranking my car I had a sudden 'crick' in the last joint of the back which caused a miserable pain at the time, and more or less ever since. It is in the back, extends down the front of the right leg, mainly in the hip joint. I am worse at night and early morning, but wears off through the day. Am past sixty."

Answer: You probably strained your back enough either to displace one of the vertebrae or moved the sacro-iliac out of position. As several years have elapsed since the injury, it will no doubt take a long time to bring about a cure. The best treatment is with osteopathy or chiropractic, and the use of hot applications to your back. Most practitioners using manipulative therapeutics have electrical appliances or therapeutic lights which will produce better effects in the treatment of your back than any form of heat that you can use in your own home.

Question: Mrs. A. J. asks: "What is lemon milk, and how is it prepared?" Answer: Lemon milk is a kind of sour milk or substitute for butter-milk and is made by mixing the juice of one or more lemons with a pint of sweet milk and shaking vigorously together. Lemon milk is very easily digested, and may be taken by anyone. It should, however, be used as a meal itself, taken in the same way as a milk diet, that is, a glassful every hour.

OPEN FORUM

Editor, The Herald. Following the drive for funds recently concluded by the Manchester Memorial Hospital, it behooves me at this particular time to forward for either approval or disapproval another question with direct bearing on the medical profession of our town—the question of fees which at present prevail in our community.

AUTHOR INJURED

London, July 3.—Leon Gordon, dramatist and author of "White Cargo," was seriously injured in an automobile accident and an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Sydney, N. S. W., this afternoon.

MEDICAL FEES

That the medical profession is donating, gratis, a good proportion of their services to those who see fit to take advantage and perhaps impose upon good nature through the opportunities afforded them in the various clinics and services at our hospital I would not deny.

YOU CAN DODGE THAT DOUBLE PLAY!

Billy Evans Sings
Eight of the outstanding radioes during the first two months of the American League campaign are Ralph Kress of the Browns, Chalmer Cissell of the White Sox, Ed Morris and Doug Taitt of the Red Sox, Al Shealey and Leo Durocher of the Yankees, and Carl Lind and Sam Langford of the Indians. Four are infielders, two are outfielders and two are pitchers.
Cissell and Kress, shortstops, not only have been playing a very acceptable game field, but each has been getting his share of hits. Kress, without exception, has been the sensation of the early race. The red-headed youngster not only started blasting but he kept up the fast gallop in a manner which already has stamped him as a future great.
Kress, in fact, has done the unusual. Last year he hit .329 in the Western League, an organization considerably removed from big time competition. A 290 figure in the American League would have appeared to about be his batting zone.
But during the Billy Evans initial two months of play, "Red" showed an average better than .375. What is more, he hasn't displayed any outward signs of letting up, though his percentage is almost certain to drop a bit when the pitchers have had more chances to look him over. First-year men aren't very often boasting a .375 record in the major leagues.
Cissell, of course, hasn't been the sensation Kress has, but the White Sox recruit, nevertheless, has fully lived up to advance notices. At times he's been a bit erratic in the field but many of his errors have been on chances other shortstops wouldn't attempt to stop. Cissell reminds one a great deal of Donnie Bush, except as to physique, when Bush first came to the Tigers. Both went after everything between second and third. Cissell does the same.
Taitt of the rejuvenated Red Sox has added more than a little punch to the Carrigan offense. He hits the hard and when he connects the ball usually is due for a long ride. Taitt also has done well afield and with Ken Williams and Flagstead helps form a pretty good pasture trio.
Morris stacks up as the pitching find of the early season, at least. The big right-hander has turned in one startling performance after another. Were he working for a stronger hitting club, his record obviously, would border on the sensational.
Boston obtained Morris from Mobile of the Southern Association. He seems sure to make a name for himself on big league diamonds.
Lind and Langford have been two of the real stars in the Indians camp and when he connects the ball usually is due for a long ride. Taitt also has done well afield and with Ken Williams and Flagstead helps form a pretty good pasture trio.

BON AMI STAR BREAKS LEG IN SLIDE TO BASE
Jack Godek, Pitching Ace, in Hospital as Result of Beating the 9th row.
The accident occurred in the final inning of the game between the Bon Ami and Manchester Green teams at Hickey's Grove. His team was trailing, 1 to 0 when Godek came to bat in the last inning. He opened up with a single. It was a ground ball to deep short and Godek beat Joe Dimlow's throw by inches when he slid into the base. His spikes must have cut into the ground for his leg twisted under him. He had to be assisted from the field and was later taken to the hospital where the X-ray revealed a break a few inches above the ankle.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Tuesday, June 3.
A musical Declaration of Independence will introduce the new summer time program of the Seocny Singers at 8:30. Through the week-end WEAF and associated stations. At the twilight's last gleaming on the eve of the Glorious Fourth, they will present a program of selections significant of the modern and specially American Revolution in music—the songs that young American composers have burst in the midst of the old rhythms and classics. The program will open with an ultra-modern arrangement of Liszt's second Hungarian rhapsody, "Hungaria," and will continue with two piano contributions, "Try and Play It" and "Rizy Fingers." There will also be a performance of the stringing "Violins of the Gloriosa" and "The Gloriosa." Other programs arranged by WEAF and the N. B. C. program include the Seocny and sketch at 7:30 and the Eveready hour at 8. A special allied broadcast will feature the Stromberg-Carlson male quartet, and half an hour later male quartet by Goldmann's hand will be their best. The unit of WIP has arranged for the presentation of a patriotic program at 8. The features of this will be music by the United States Navy band and speakers representing the Army and Navy. At 9 this same station will radiate a special recital by the Wanders male quartet.

Where War Hate Still Lingers
Fear that Belgian Nationalist students would riot in protest against the dedication of the restored library of Louvain University led to a request that the ceremony be postponed. Mgr. Ladueze, rector of the University, won his fight to eliminate from the building the inscription, "Destroyed by German Fury." Herbert Hoover publicly approved the rector's stand, but many students, demanding that the inscription be allowed to remain, threatened trouble. The main facade of the new structure is pictured here.

GERMAN LANDSLIDE IS DOOM OF JUNKERS AND KAISERISTS
BY MILTON BRONNER
London, July 3.—The sliding landslide in political history has just occurred in Germany, leaving in its wake what looks to be the final wreck of Kaiserism, Junkerism and Monarchism.
It is always dangerous to make categorical statements about any nation, but if things are as they seem, then the republic is safe in Germany and that great people has turned its face resolutely toward paths of peace and reconciliation with the family of nations.
The United States has had land-slides in its political battles. And so has England. But that was easy, because in most times the voters were only confronted by the choice between two political tickets of any consequence. But in Germany there are nine considerable political parties and a number of smaller ones. No party has ever had a clear majority in the Reichstag. Therefore a coalition of parties, formed by the Nationalists, thus securing the needed majority.
What They Stand For
Roughly speaking the leading parties in Germany represent the following interests:
Social Democrats—Protestant labor.
Nationalists—Agriculture, Junker landowners, monarchists.
Center—A large body of Catholic voters including Catholic labor.
People's—Big industry.
Democrats—Trade and the middle classes.
Bavarian People's Party—Adherents of former Crown Prince Rupprecht.
National Socialists—Fascists and anti-Semites.
Communists—Extreme radicals.
In all the elections since the republic was founded the Social Democrats have led, with the Nationalists a close second. This was always a disquieting feature, because it showed that the Kaiserists were almost as strong as the party which is the greatest upholder of the republic. In all the coalition governments up to about a year ago the Socialists were an important part. But last year they withdrew.

LEADERSHIP
Chancellor Marx political landslide in Germany means he'll have to go.
Chancellor Marx, leader of the Center party, then formed a new coalition substituting the Nationalists for the Social Democrats. He had to pay a heavy price.
The monarchists not only demanded the vice-chancellorship for their leader, Dr. Hergt, but the all-important ministry of the interior for their other leader, Herr von Kuelder.
The queer spectacle was presented of those who were sworn to destroy the republic helping to govern the republic. The queer spectacle was presented of the monarchists voting for a law designed to protect the republic. They voted one way—heartily for the Reichstag. They talked the other way—wholeheartedly—in the campaign just closed.

Fail to Attract Voters
But they did not fool the voters. German Michel marched to the polls and plumped for the republic. He smashed the Nationalist band. But he did more than that. He punished every party which joined them in the most recent coalition.
To begin with a comparison between the Social Democrats and the Nationalists. In 1924 the Socialists polled 9,736,261. This year they polled 9,11,434. In 1924 the Nationalist got 6,209,229. This year they got only 4,559,596. The Socialists now have 152 seats in the Reichstag against 131 in the last. The Nationalists have dropped from 103 to 73.
But even this does not tell the whole story of the Nationalist debacle. In Potsdam, the home of the Hohenzollerns, the Socialists got three votes to every two for the monarchists. In Pomerania, the home of the Junkers par excellence, the Socialists broke even in votes with the monarchists. Four years ago the Kaiserists had two to one.

LEADERSHIP
There is only one sinister feature of the election. The Communists have increased their poll from 2,709,036 to 3,139,645. They have 54 seats against 45 in the last Parliament, thus raising them the fourth strongest party.
The overwhelming character of the victory won by the Social Democrats makes one thing practically certain: they will be the dominant factor in the next cabinet and the next government. Chancellor Marx probably will have to go. A Socialist Chancellor is on the cards.

LIQUOR CLAUSE OUT OF NEW CHENEY DEED
Traditional Restriction of Liquor Sale Perhaps Now Deemed Needless.
There were but two deeds recorded in the town clerk's office this morning, one being from the William Foulds Company, which conveyed land at the corner of Mather and Parker streets and contained a restriction as to the right of way for mains of the water company from Salters' pond.
The other deed was from Cheney Brothers, conveying land on Spring street, adjoining land by Hickman and Loveland on that street. It is noted that the deed warrants the property clear from encumbrance. The old clause appearing in all deeds issued by Cheney Brothers giving the location as in the "village of South Manchester and the town of Manchester" is to be found as usual, but one clause is missing which is found in nearly, if not all, the old deeds given by Cheney Brothers, namely one perpetually restricting from the sale of liquor on the property.
There are but few pieces of property on the West Side of the town, one owned by Cheney Brothers, in the selling of which they did not include the restriction as to liquor. The deed recorded today is an exception, but is probably

LEASERS BIG FURTUNE TO BRITISH EMPIRE
London July 3.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the residue of the estate of the late Hon. Elsie Mackay amounting to $2,500,000 has been donated to the government by the girl's parents to be used in reducing the national debt. The parents, Lord and Lady Incheape, said they wished this donation to stand in memory of their daughter. The Hon. Elsie Mackay lost her life while trying to make a non-stop flight from England to America in an airplane piloted by Captain Hinchcliff. Her body was never found, nor any trace of the plane.
GETS 35 YEARS
Providence, R. I., July 3.—Sentenced to serve 35 years in jail, John Gilbert "Whitney" Miller began the term imposed on him today by Judge Jerome J. Hahn in Superior Court.
Miller was found guilty by a jury, after two days of deliberation, of having held up in spectacular manner and robbed the Phenix bank, in the village of Phenix, Pawtucket valley, of $20,000 on Good Friday, 1926.
Maybe one of the reasons why Scotchmen live to such a great age is because dying is such an expensive undertaking.

Birth of a Great New Nation May Be Under Way in China

New York.—"China appears to be entering the second stage in the program outlined by the late Sun Yat-sen, father of China's Nationalist movement, and we may be witnessing the birth of a nation that will take its place among the greatest and most powerful nations of the earth."

When A Girl Loves

CHAPTER XLVIII

Virginia was awake when the telephone rang. It might have rung at any hour of the night or early morning and she would still have been awake to answer the call.

"Won't you tell me all about it?" he urged tenderly. "I know that you're hiding something that's eating your heart out. If money can help you I've brought you your father's share of the sale, and you are welcome to mine, too. All together it would make a tidy sum if it were a poor man you'd rather be marrying."

Only Mr. Leigh looked as if he knew he was not dreaming. Dr. Meyerling glanced with alarm at Dean's face—it was dangerously red. "Steady, man," he cautioned.

"And I'll make it mine to see that you get the feel of a crack on the chin," Leigh informed the now thoroughly discomfited Dean, who was slinking toward the door.

OVER SCORE OF RUNNERS READY FOR 5 MILE RACE

Rec and Norwich in Cross-Country Run Starting at 10:30; Start, Finish at High School.

More than a score of runners will toe the mark at the start of the five-mile cross-country run here tomorrow morning between teams representing the Duwell A. A. of Norwich and the Recreation Centers of Manchester. Rockville may have some runners entered, but this is not at all certain, indications today being that the affair would be a dual meet between Manchester and Norwich.

The time of the start of the race has been changed from 11:00 to 10:30. Edward F. Taylor, a member of the Recreation Center Committee, and a man who always takes an interest in local sporting activities, has been selected as starter. The race will start and finish on Main street in front of the High school where it is expected that a large crowd will gather. Many are expected to follow the runners along the course wherever possible. Officials are requested to keep far enough ahead of runners so that the exhaust from their motors will not hamper the runners.

The course will be posted with red arrows for the runners to follow. Officials will be placed at various points to see that none of the runners attempt cutting crosscuts, although this is highly improbable. Through the courtesy of the Police Department, a motorcycle policeman will ride with the runners to keep the streets clear of traffic. Persons wishing to see the finish of the race should be on Main street not later than 11 o'clock for the first runners to finish are due at any minute about that time.

As mentioned yesterday, this is a team race and five runners must finish for one team. The runners are awarded the number of points corresponding to the place in which they finished and the team having the least number of points wins. Manchester will have at least seven runners in the race. They are Frank Harknara, Ted Chambers, John McCluskey, Eric Crawshaw, John Sullivan, Dennis Noonan and Bobby Dougan. Two of these may run under the local colors.

Scully Defeated By Jewish Boxer

Manchester fight fans who went to the Hartford Velodrome last night to witness the popular priced show did not waste their time. The program was well worth seeing. In addition to boxing there was a generous offering of knockouts. In the feature bout, Milton Cohen of New York walloped his way to a well-earned decision over Jimmy Scully of Boston in an eight round affair. It was effective in fighting that brought victory to Cohen rather than hard, clean hitting. Cohen took four rounds, two were even and two in favor of Scully.

The results of the other bouts follow: Gus White, Boston, 141½, knocked Rocco Turzio, Bridgeport, 141½, in the second round. Gerald Emard, Holyoke, 132½, knocked out George Welch, Hartford, 130½, in the second round. Buster Nageau, Holyoke, 115½, won the decision over "Pee Wee" Smith, Bridgeport, 112. Henry Bell, Hartford, 189½, knocked out Harry Blunker, North Adams, 181, in the first round. Harry Seeche, Hartford, 147½, won the decision over Willie Morgan, 150. Marino Pagoni, Springfield, 132½, won the decision over Fancho Villa, Hartford, 123½. Ray Sanborn, Hartford, 165, won on a knockout in the first round over Sonny Smith, Lynn, 162½. Joe Hanlon, New York, 160, won the decision over Ed Ely, Springfield, 160½.

Half Way Mark For B. B. Season

Old Rule Says Teams in First Division Now Will Remain There.

New York, July 3.—What a scramble the American League race would be if those Yankees weren't so high hat! Each of the other seven clubs has a chance for second place today. Even the tail end Tigers have a percentage of .400 and are only four games away from a first division berth.

All the teams in both leagues that are in the first division or near it will be on their best behavior today and managers put lot of faith in the old adage that a team in the first division on the Fourth of July — the season's half-way mark — will be there at the end of the year.

The Cubs jumped to third place in the National League and the Reds dropped back into the second division when Archie Nehf, Chicago's veteran southpaw, held the Reds safely, winning 3 to 2. Hack Wilson's double with the bases full featured.

Boston's Hornsby stretched their big winning streak to three games by taking the last of the fillets from the Phillies in the fourteen innings and 5 to 4 in ten innings. Hollingsworth, former Detroit pitcher rescued from the minors by Hornsby, twirled good stuff for three innings in the opener. The other National League teams did not play.

TUNNEY BETTER FIGHTER THAN EVER

Billy Gibson, His Trainer, Denies Report That Champion is Slipping.

New York, July 3.—Gene Tunney is a better fighter today than at any time before or during the Dempsey match in Chicago last September. This opinion was vouchsafed the writer over the long distance telephone this morning by the final authority of them all in this particular instance, Tunney himself, and by Billy Gibson, who talks the champion's fight for him when the latter is otherwise engaged. Their joint statement came in answer to reports in circulation here that Tunney, either mistaking Heeneey for an out and out safe or having become bored by the tedium of existence, was neglecting his training for the Heeneey fight.

Either way, it didn't sound right. Brother Tunney may be soundly pained with human nature in mind when time to time but the detail of physical conditioning, far from being a trial to him, is just about his only known vice. He was justifiably indignant when he heard about it. "Somebody is crazy," he loudly and very firmly. "I have been in constant training for three weeks and am facing the last three weeks up here with the heartening knowledge that I am fighting better than at any time in the last two years. I am a little bigger and a little stronger than I was last year and, with this development, I have lost nothing in speed. I think I am a better fighter right now than I was that night in Chicago."

Backed by Gibson Prof. Gibson, when called upon, sustained this statement in all detail and several others. He said, among other things, that he was particularly delighted to find Tunney's "Judge" of distance to be all that it should. It seems the first thing the professor looks for is a fighter's "Judge of distance."

The professor added that Tunney weighs 196 pounds and probably will go to the post weighing slightly more than 191. He has been working steadily and easily, the professor says, having failed to appear on Sunday only because he wanted to "duck the mob"—the professor again. Even then, it appeared, it wasn't a complete day of rest because our hero took a road for six miles; the professor knows, because he went along on a motorcycle.

That's one thing about the professor. He won't ask his athletes to do anything he wouldn't do himself on a motorcycle.

LOCAL LEGION BOYS PLAY HERE TOMORROW

The local boys team sponsored by Dilworth-Cornell Post, No. 102, American Legion, will play the team sponsored by the Hartford Legion, nares here tomorrow afternoon. The game will be played at two o'clock at the West Side playgrounds. The local team has some fine junior players and already has defeated the Thompsonville team in the Junior Legion league.

SIPPLES TO PITCH MORNING GAME AGAINST TORRINGTON

TRADE DEFEATED AS SEASON ENDS Torrington Wins 8 to 3 When Local Team Makes Plenty of Errors Again.

Manchester Trade closed its baseball season yesterday by losing to Torrington Trade up on McL. Nabo by the score of 8 to 3. The game marked the twelfth defeat for the local team which has won but three games.

Yesterday's game was close until the sixth when Torrington scored four runs and added three the next inning. Once again, it was errors, rather than hits, that provided the runs for the opposing team. No less than eight bobbles were credited to Manchester.

The Torrington Club at present looks like the strongest outfit in the league—that is, in this round. They have won all four games, beating Meriden twice, Manchester and Bristol once.

In Tucker and McDonnell, Torrington has two snappy college players who have more than been making good. The rest of the lineup includes players who need no introduction to local fans—Rubino, Holden, Miller, Conklin, McLeod and Ryan, for instance.

Tommy Sipples will pitch the morning game and Beegan, Buckland or Weber will work in the afternoon at Torrington. The usual lineup will be the same as usual. Linnell will lead off, playing second and the others will be Stratton, 3b; Sipples, p; Pelton, rf; St. John, cf; Edgar, ss; Kotson, c; Dayton, p; 3 0 0 0 5 1 Fedor, rf..... 1 0 0 0 0 0 0

FAILED TO BREAK RECORD

Dessau, Germany, July 3—The German aviators, Johann Ristec and Wilhelm Zimmerman, who attempted to break the world's aviation endurance record of 58 hours and 26 minutes, gave up their attempt and landed safely here 17 1/2 hours after their start.

The fliers stated that they could have continued in the air longer but they did not think they could have broken the record because a leak in the exhaust pipes was causing their motor to overheat and would have forced them down later.

They were flying a Junkers plane, similar in type to the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen. Ristec is one of the two German pilots who formerly held the record which is now held by an Italian.

BURKE-WERDELIN NUPTIALS TOMORROW

Local Girl to Wed Rockville Man at St. James's Rectory Tomorrow Morning.

Miss Anna Caroline Werdelin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Werdelin of 17 Division street, and Clarence Joseph Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Burke of Rockville, will be married tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the parochial residence of St. James's Rectory. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. W. P. Reidy.

The attendants will be Miss May Burke, sister of the bridegroom and Helmer Werdelin, brother of the bride. The bride's dress will be of aquamarine blue georgette. She will wear a tan picture hat and carry a shower bouquet of bridal roses, gardenias and lily of the valley. The bridesmaid will wear shell pink georgette with large hat to match, and her arm bouquet will be of pink Premier roses.

Following the ceremony a luncheon will be served for the immediate families at the home of the bride's parents. Later in the day the young couple will leave on a motor tour of the White Mountains and the Maine coast. On their return they will live for the present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Werdelin at Division street.

Miss Werdelin attended the local schools and Connecticut Business college. She has been employed in the office of the Aetna Life Insurance company, and has been the guest of honor at a number of gift showers.

Mr. Burke is a graduate of the Rockville High school and is associated with his father who is proprietor of the Wayside Gardens near Rockville.

SAYS HE CAME HERE ON HOUDINI'S CHALLENGE

Hamid Bey, Coptic Mystic Who Does Weird Stunts, Arrived Too Late.

Hamid Bey, billed as the "youngest and most daring of Egyptian miracle men," who will appear today and tomorrow at the State theater gives in an interview some facts concerning his life, cult and mission as a performer in the United States.

Hamid Bey comes from Chantah, Sudan Egypt, and is a member of the Coptic Catei, a religious denomination which according to Hamid Bey, is the oldest Christian sect, a claim which several other ancient Christian groups will dispute. All members of the cult, according to the "miracle man," possess more or less the same powers that Hamid Bey has over his mind, body and nerves. Some, he says, have naturally developed a greater control over themselves and so possess to a greater degree these mystic powers.

The secret of their power lies, says Hamid Bey, in the domination of mind over matter. They believe that whatever they may desire to do, if the heart says yes and is backed by will power, they can achieve. If the heart says no, no amount of will power can help them achieve the goal. Cult members stop the flow of blood in their veins, remain successfully buried alive for three days and three nights and perform numerous other feats that seem impossible to us of the occidental.

Hamid Bey says he came to this country a little over 17 months ago at the request of the Coptic Catei to answer a challenge issued by the late Houdini, magician, to anyone to beat his record of one hour and 27 minutes in remaining buried alive. Houdini in making this record, defeated one Rahmet Bey, a member of the cult, who, Hamid Bey has had fallen for some of the temptations of the Western cities and hence lost most of his control. Houdini's challenge was an affront to the cult, says Hamid, that could not be allowed to pass unanswered. So he, considered by members to be the leading exponent of this particular feat came to United States to call Houdini's bluff. Upon arrival, however, he found that death had called all bets off.

Since that time Hamid Bey has appeared on the leading vaudeville circuits of the country. His burial in San Diego for 7 hours and 20 minutes is claimed as the record for that feat in this country.

Hamid Bey does not pretend to be a fortune teller, magician or fakir, and presents in his act merely a series of startling examples of the mind control over material things. He places animals as well as himself in a cataleptic state, causes the blood to entirely flow out or into an arm at will, drives nails through his flesh and turns an arm completely around in its socket. The torture board and the feat of remaining buried alive on the stage for 25 minutes form the climax to an interesting program.

Hamid Bey is a brother of Saba Bey, said to be the only hospital anesthetic in Paris as far as is known in the world who substitutes hypnosis for anesthetics in operations.

GERMANY O. K.'s PACT

Berlin, July 3—America's proposals for a treaty outlawing war are accepted in principle by Germany, Chancellor Herman Mueller stated this afternoon in presenting his new Cabinet to the Reichstag.

This statement was contained in the new ministry's declaration of principles. The program urges general disarmament and evacuation of the Rhineland by allied troops at the earliest possible moment. "Without connection with any other question," This taken to mean that the government refuses to enter into an "Eastern Locarno" as proposed by the Polish foreign minister.

BOSTON STRAW VOTE

Boston, Mass., July 3.—Smith was leading Hoover by two to one today in a straw vote being taken by the Boston American and Evening Post.

Compared with 1924 the first day's balloting was heavy, the totals showing:

Hoover	1928
Smith	1,586
	1,924
Coollidge	637
Davis	359
Smith led in every precinct, although he was only 83 votes ahead at the North station.

POLICE WILL NOT BE GENTLE WITH ROWDIES

Destruction of Property "Out" According to Plans of Chief Gordon.

Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon will make an effort to restrain premature celebration of the Fourth as far as possible. The police have listed the locations of all firework stands, usually gathering places for the stay-out-all-night crowds, and will keep them under observation.

The regular men will be used and the police cars and motorcycle will be held in reserve to hurry additional men-as may be needed to any given spot. It is not expected that there will be any serious outbreak this year but any attempt to destroy public or private property will be watched closely and those responsible will be dealt with vigorously. The bending of awning frames and the tearing of awnings, a malicious feature two years ago, is not likely to be repeated.

"GREEN" PLAYGROUND SUPERVISOR ENGAGED

Chairman Walter Buckley of the Second School District at Manchester Green announced this morning that Miss Margaret Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boyle of Vernon street, has been engaged to supervise the school playground during the summer season.

Miss Boyle has had considerable experience in this work having had charge of the playgrounds for the past two summers.

The season will officially open next Monday morning. The playground will be under supervision from 9:30 to 11:30 in the morning, 1 o'clock to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and 6 o'clock until 8:30 at night, weeks days. It will be closed Saturday afternoon and evening and all day Sundays.

Mr. Buckley said that he hoped all the parents of children at Manchester Green would take advantage of the opportunity to give their children plenty of healthy and safe recreation.

Now is the time for all pretty girls to forget how to swim.

A SPOON SHOT

Golfers undoubtedly will regard today's letter golf puzzle from CLAM to SOUP—as a "spoon" shot pure and simple. Par is four and one solution is on another page.

CLAM and SOUP word puzzle grid

THE RULES

- 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes. COW, HOW, HEW, HEN. 2—You can change only one letter at a time. 3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count. 4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

Vision sees through things, girl sees things through. "Are you a clock watcher?" asked the employer of the candidate for a job. "No, I don't like inside work," replied the applicant, without heat. "I'm a whistle listener."

Don't seek experience; you'll get enough of it if you just let nature take its course.

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tinies chased the monkey round, but in a half an hour they found it was no use, 'cause he could run much faster than they could. And then the bunch heard Scouty cry, "I guess we'll simply have to try to trap the little fellow. When we do, we'll spank him good. "If you'll all help, I have a plan. We'll try it out now, if we can." Then Scouty found a little box. "We'll prop this up," he cried. "By using just a stick and string, 'tis bound to be the very thing. We'll chase him underneath, then jerk the string when he's inside." It didn't take them long to prop it up so they could make it drop. Just then the monkey jumped down upon a tree branch with a bound. "Oh, look, he's dropping Clowny's clothes. I'll bet the little dickens knows that we are getting mad." And then the clothes dropped to the ground. "Hurray!" cried Clowny, "I am blessed with heaps of luck." Then he got dressed. A bunch of monkeys gathered near and started on the run. "Let's follow them," one Tiny cried. "Perhaps they're going to try to hide. If we all stick together we can have a lot of fun." The monkeys didn't seem to mind the Tinies trailing close behind. They all ran deep into the woods. Then came a lot of squeals. Then Clowny jumped and waved his hat, and cried, "See what they're pointing at?" The whole bunch looked and saw a very pretty cage on wheels. "Ho, ho," cried Scouty, "what a sight! Say that's where we will sleep tonight. And then tomorrow we will take the monkeys for a ride. They're motioning for us to come. You can't tell me a monkey's dumb." So, as the monkeys chattered loud, the Tinies walked inside. (The Tinymites discover they are prisoners in the next story.)

SENSE and NONSENSE

THE ONE FLAG.

Your flag and my flag And how it flies today In your land and my land And half the world away! Rose red and blood red The stripes forever gleam Snow-white and soul-white— The good forefather's dream. Sky blue and true-blue, with Stars to gleam aright— The gloried guidon of the day! A shelter through the night. You flag and my flag! And oh, how much it holds— Your land and my land— Secure within its fold! Your heart and my heart Beat quicker at the sight; Sun-kissed and wind-tossed— Red and blue and white. The one flag—the great flag—the Flag for me and you— Glorified all else beside—the Red and white and blue.

Independence Day is a day on which American people celebrate something they do not seem to want.

The odd-time practice of kissing the bride received a jolt at a recent county wedding when an awkward-looking guest was asked if he had kissed the bride, and replied: "Not lately."

"Robert," said the teacher, to drive home the lesson which had been on character and kindness, "if I saw a man beating a donkey and I stopped him from doing so, what 'twould I possess?" "Brotherly love," said Bobby promptly.

"You had some fresh shrimps here last week," began the purchaser. "Now—"

"Yes, ma'am," interrupted the market man apologetically, "but I fired both of 'em."

Ruby: "I wonder if it is true that the length of a boy's arm is equal to the circumference of a girl's waist?"

Rube: "I dunno. Let's get a string and measure them!"

Seaport girl to cop—Stop that sailor! He tried to kiss me.

Father: "This is going to hurt me more than it does you." Son: "Then don't be too severe with yourself, Dad."

As long as she can fascinate the men no woman really worries about her age.

"Do you let your husband carry a latch-key?"

"Yes, I humor him that way. He likes to show it to his friends to let them see how independent he is—but it doesn't fit the door."

Too many people want all laws rigidly enforced on every person but themselves. . . . This is going to be a busy year for real artists who are in the business of taking pictures. They will have to work overtime erasing the lines and touching out the gray hairs of candidates who are posing before the camera.

From there he will go on to Chicago to attend a meeting of the Prohibition National committee at the Hotel La Salle. Later in the same city and at the same hotel will be held the Prohibition national convention where the question will come up as to whether the party will make its own nominations or endorse the other candidates. Mr. Hohenthal is secretary of the national committee.

The Fellowship Bible class of the Swedish Lutheran church will hold a dog roast at the Boy Scout camp in Glastonbury, Friday, July 6. All who are planning to attend should be at the church at 6:30 sharp and transportation will be provided. Each member is asked to bring a cup and a spoon.

The bulletin board which was erected last fall on the grounds at the South Methodist church, Main street, has served the purpose for which it was erected, announcing the church activities, and has also on many occasions of national observance such as Memorial Day reminded the passer-by of the day's significance by an appropriate sentence or two. Just at present the message on the bulletin board is in relation to the Fourth of July and reads as follows: "The freedom which was gained for us by our fathers was not for us alone but for all mankind." The handsome bulletin board was the gift of Mrs. A. L. Crowell of Highland Park.

BAMFORTH CONCERN'S TROUBLES LESSENING

Receivership Proceedings May Be Dropped; Buy-or-Sell Proposal Made.

There is no certainty that a receiver will be appointed for the Bamforth & Rood Hardware Company Inc., of this place, although an application for the appointment of one has been made by Frank H. Bullard of Middletown, secretary and a major stockholder in the company.

Since last May there has been a misunderstanding between the stockholders of the company, which was incorporated last December and the going business of Bamforth Brothers was taken over. An effort was made a few weeks ago to have Judge Arthur Ellis appoint a receiver, but this he declined to do, recommending that the stockholders get together and reach a settlement, feeling that the best interests of all concerned would in this way be met. A hearing, set for yesterday before Judge Isaac Wolfe at New Haven, in another similar application was not held.

The various stockholders have made a buy-or-sell proposition to Mr. Bullard, it is said. The trouble, it was stated at the store this morning, will be straightened out by Thursday.
