

HOOVER TRAIN NEARING THE END OF ROUTE

All Welcome Home Festivities Postponed Because of the Funeral of His Father-in-Law.

Aboard Hoover Train, Sacramento, Calif., July 20.—Herbert Hoover, the first Californian ever nominated for the presidency, returned to his home state today on a mission of sorrow and with all "welcome home" festivities postponed until after the funeral of his father-in-law, Charles D. Henry.

The Henry obsequies will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel of the Leland Stanford University, which both Mr. and Mrs. Hoover attended years ago.

The Hoover train swinging down out of the Sierra Nevadas early this morning past the famous California orchard country was running far ahead of its original schedule in order to get the Republican nominee and his wife to their Palo Alto home in time to attend the funeral.

Receptions Abandoned

All receptions were ordered abandoned including a great welcome home celebration in San Francisco. His train was routed from Oakland via the Humboldt bridge direct to Palo Alto where it was due at 9:45 this morning thus avoiding a ferry boat ride across San Francisco bay and all stops in that city.

Despite the cloud cast upon his homecoming by the death of his father-in-law, Hoover was elated at returning to his home state. He crossed the California border shortly before last midnight. He had sat up in his private car for the event. "Every Californian crosses the state line with gratitude that God made him this home state," said Hoover. "I return this time with a deep sense of responsibility that I may add to her distinction in that task for which she has presented me to the nation. "I look forward to being able soon to express my thanks for this confidence."

Wife in Seclusion

Mrs. Hoover remained in strict seclusion aboard the train. Her sorrow at the death of her father was increased by the fact that she was prevented from being with him in his last days. She will continue in mourning at the Hoover home probably until her distinguished husband is notified formally, on August 11, that he has been nominated.

SMITH SUGGESTS EFFICIENCY PLAN

It Expected He Will Do as He Did in Own State With Great Success.

Albany, N. Y., July 20.—A complete overhauling of the machinery of the federal government and the consolidation and elimination of overlapping and useless bureaus, boards and commissions in the interest of economy and efficiency is planned by Gov. Al Smith in the event of his election to presidency.

This was revealed by the governor to United States Senators Millard E. Tydings of Maryland and Harry B. Hawes of Missouri, recent guests at the executive mansion.

The governor impressed upon Tydings and Hawes that he proposed to conduct a "constructive" campaign and his administration, if elected, to be constructive.

The governor was quoted by Senator Tydings as saying: "I want things to be done to better the national government."

Can Do It Again

According to close friends of the governor he feels the same thing can be accomplished in the federal government, only on a larger scale.

Senator Tydings is authority for the statement that the governor will stress the need for an overhauling and reorganization of the federal government in his notification speech next month.

With the aid of several of his advisers, the governor, since his nomination, has been making a careful study of the operation of the federal government, particularly its countless boards and commissions. He is said to have become convinced, as a result of this study, that a material reduction in the cost of the national government can be effected through a process of re-

HAVE YOU EXPERIENCED YOUR 7TH LOVE AFFAIR?

New York, July 20.—Married men and women experience seven love affairs during a lifetime. The attachments usually precede the one which results in marriage, but the legal bonds do not preclude later romances in many instances. These were the conclusions drawn from a questionnaire answered by 200 men and women and published in Harpers Magazine.

The 200 questioned admitted 1,358 love affairs, 681 for the men and 677 for the women. Twenty-nine husbands and 49 wives let their affections stray after marriage.

Additional questions revealed that men begin their love affairs in order to get the Republican nominee and his wife to their Palo Alto home in time to attend the funeral.

CONVICT KILLS TWO KEEPERS; THEN HIMSELF

Guards, Unarmed, Are Shot Down in Cold Blood; Cornered in Cell, Prisoner Turns Gun on Himself.

New York, July 20.—A searching investigation was launched today in an effort to determine where John F. McCabe, a prisoner in the Bronx county jail, obtained the two revolvers with which he killed two keepers in a jail break attempt last night. McCabe, was faced with almost certain life imprisonment as a fourth offender under the Baumes laws, shot and killed himself when the other keepers blocked his escape.

Officials believe the weapons were smuggled to McCabe by a young Italian who visited him at the jail yesterday.

All available police were called and tear bombs and riot guns were rushed to the scene to prevent a further outbreak. Ten thousand persons crowded the streets around the jail.

Kills Both

Keeper Morris Broderson, 34, was shot when he entered McCabe's cell and led him out for an hour of exercise. Keeper Daniel Horgan, 53, who tried to stop McCabe on the next floor below, was the next victim. Both died instantly. They were unable to protect themselves because the keepers are not allowed to carry guns on the theory that convicts might snatch them.

A horde of other keepers rushed up the stairs and blocked McCabe's escape. Cornered, he took his own life.

Eighty-eight other prisoners in the jail were thrown into an uproar.

District Attorney John E. McGeehan declared today that McCabe had attempted to interview him yesterday.

"He probably would have shot me, had I consented to see him," said McGeehan.

GRANTED DIVORCE FROM DEAD MAN

At Least Stanilla, Ten Years Absent, Has Been So Ruled by a Court.

Agnes Stanilla was yesterday divorced from Anthony Stanilla, formerly of this place, but officially dead since October 23, 1926, according to the records of the probate court of the district of Manchester.

Stanilla and his wife were residents of Manchester on July 20, 1928, when he left Manchester and has not been heard from since. When he left there was a joint savings account to the credit of him and his wife at the Savings Bank of Manchester, amounting to $1,530.77. Stanilla did not draw on this when he left. After eight years had passed an application was made to have him declared legally dead.

Apply for Probate

The application, presented by Donald McCarthy, a Hartford lawyer, was received by the probate court of Manchester on October 15, 1926. The papers set up that he had left Manchester on July 20, 1918, that his whereabouts was unknown and that there was an estate that should be settled, his wife being the only heir.

"On October 23, 1926, William S. Hyde, probate judge, issued an order in which it was stated that seven years had elapsed since the whereabouts of the man was last known and that under the conditions he was "presumed to be dead." The Manchester Trust Company was named as the administrator of the estate.

On November 3, 1926, the Manchester Trust Company filed with the court a statement showing that the estate of the "dead" man was $788.57.

Wants Alimony

In presenting the petition for a divorce before Judge Newell Jennings in the Hartford County Superior Court, it was again set up that Stanilla had not been heard from since July 20, 1918, and alimony was asked.

The decree granting the divorce was issued and alimony was placed at $1,000. The only thing that the divorced wife can collect on is the money in the bank, which was reported as being $788.57. To collect this before a year is up it would be necessary for the plaintiff to file a bond for twice the amount, pending the passing of a year. She will not post the bond, but will wait the year.

It is just ten years ago today that Stanilla departed for parts unknown.

HEAT PROSTRATIONS

Washington, July 20.—With five prostrations recorded in a heat wave which sent street thermometers to 100, the Weather Bureau promised no relief to the capital today.

The official record showed 95 above as the hottest yesterday, but a downtown thermometer soared to 100.

PICKLED HERRING WAS REAL STUFF

$300,000 Worth of Pre-War Rye Found in Barrels on Ship.

New York, July 20.—Pre-war rye worth $300,000 at current bootleg prices, hidden in 501 barrels of "pickled herring" was seized today by United States custom guards from the Red Cross liner yesterday from Halifax, N. S.

The rye was contained in ten gallon kegs, each keg plunged into the middle of a large barrel and surrounded by herring and brine. Every one of the first hundred barrels opened out of the shipment of 501 barrels, contained its keg of rye.

The shipment would amount to 20,000 quarts, with $15 a quart if sold in its virgin state, or several times that after he had been put through the usual "cutting process."

HUGHES TO STUMP EAST FOR HOOVER

Dawes and Curtis Also to Tour Country—Nominee to Use the Radio.

Washington, July 20.—Charles Evans Hughes of New York will head the Republican speaking campaign in the east if he accepts an invitation to be tendered him by Rep. John Q. Tilson, head of the eastern speakers' bureau, it was learned today.

Tilson, who is with Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee, in California, messaged his intention to Republican leaders here.

"We intend to ask Mr. Hughes to head our speaking campaign in the east," Tilson wired. "I am sure that he will accept as he is a good speaker. I would like for him to speak at several places and to close the campaign in New York."

Tilson also disclosed that he will accept the offer of Vice President Charles E. Dawes to do all he can to help the ticket. Dawes conveyed his willingness to Hoover in a conference in Chicago recently.

NAMES HIS MURDERER WITH DYING BREATH

Radio Expert Blown Up by Bomb Attached to His Auto Starter.

Rockford, Ill., July 20.—Paul Reed, a young Rockford draftsman, was under arrest today on suspicion that it was he who placed the death-dealing bomb in the auto of Vernon Plager, 32-year-old radio expert. Plager accused Reed with his dying breath, but several hours of grilling failed to draw a confession from Reed who surrendered to authorities.

The bomb was attached to the starter of Plager's automobile. When the young radioman attempted to start his car yesterday morning to drive to work, he was blown twenty feet. He was still conscious when police arrived.

"Get Paul Reed," he gasped. A few minutes later he was dead.

Reed, it was said, was a rival for the affection of Plager's pretty 22-year-old wife. Several months ago she and young Reed ran away. They were arrested in southern Illinois and returned to Rockford.

LOWENSTEIN'S BODY IS FOUND BY FISHERMEN

Floating, Face Downward, in English Channel—Widow Identifies Remains of Noted Belgian Financier.

Calais, France, July 20.—Madame Alfred Loewenstein, widow of the famous Belgian financier who plunged to his death from an airplane over the English channel on July 4, arrived today and immediately identified a body picked up in the channel as that of her husband. She was accompanied by her brother M. Vanvert, a lawyer, and Lieut. Missonne.

Identification was made through a dental plate in the mouth and an identity tag attached to the wrist watch.

Medical examination revealed that the impact of the fall had broken both feet, the right ankle and the left thigh.

The remains will be taken to Brussels for funeral services and burial following an autopsy which probably will be held late today.

START INVESTIGATION

Paris, July 20.—French and Belgian authorities were faced today with the problem of ascertaining whether Captain Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian financier, fell out of his plane accidentally while crossing the English channel on July 4, or committed suicide.

The findings of the late financier's body by the crew of a Boulogne fishing boat yesterday put an end to all rumors that Loewenstein's disappearance was only a hoax to make people think he was dead.

His body was floating face downward about ten miles off Cape Gris Nez and was identified by a wrist watch on which his name was engraved. The body had begun to decompose and was scarcely recognizable.

The body was taken to the Boulogne morgue from which it was shipped to Calais after it had been examined. When picked up it was covered only by underwear, one shoe and silk socks.

AMERICANS VICTORS WITHOUT NET STAR

Hunter and Hennessey Win Tennis Matches on the Paris Courts.

Roland Garros Stadium, Paris, July 20.—Playing without the services of their ace and team captain, Bill Tilden, the American Davis Cup tennis forces virtually declared their way into the challenge round with France by taking the first two singles matches in the best of three sets.

Hunter, from Hollywood, California, and Johnny Hennessey, Indianapolis, scored the victories for America, each winning his singles match in straight sets.

Hunter won in hot fashion from Haslini, of Italy, who was substituted for Stefani, regular singles man, 6-1, 6-1 and 6-0. Hennessey had slightly more difficulty with Baron De Morpurgo, Italian ace, but finally prevailed, 6-4, 7-5, and 6-2.

The victories of Hennessey and Hunter were scored with impressive finality and left no doubt in the minds of those present as to the ultimate outcome. The Americans need only to score one victory in the three matches remaining to

Regimental Review in Honor of His Excellency Is Held This Afternoon

By Staff Correspondent.
Camp Trumbull, Niantic, July 20.—With the passing in review before His Excellency, Governor John H. Trumbull, late this afternoon, the 1928 fifteen day encampment of the 169th Infantry, C. N. G., neared completion which will close Sunday morning when the regiment breaks camp and entrains for home.

The regiment will parade before Governor Trumbull, his staff, relatives and hundreds of guests from all over Connecticut as well as some from Rhode Island and Massachusetts. The governor's party will be under a specially erected awning to keep off the rays of Old Sol which were more severe yesterday than previously during the encampment. The other visitors lined the drill field. Among them were many from Manchester, some of whom came in an official capacity.

Governor Arrives
The governor arrived a few minutes before 2 o'clock, coming here from the airport at Trumbull Camp where he had reviewed the 138th Observation in the morning. Major William H. Ladd, commander of the observation squadron, piloted the aircraft which brought the state's highest official here safely.

The plane had severely taxed down to Mother Earth when a loud boom rent the air. It was the first of a seventeen-gun salute to the governor fired by members of the Howitzer Company of Manchester on the 75 millimeter gun which is used daily at revellie and retreat.

Among the notables in the reviewing stand were Brigadier General George M. Cole, adjutant of the state, Brigadier General James A. Haggerty, commander of the 85th Infantry Brigade and the man who led G into the front line trenches in the World War, Major General Morris B. Payne, commander of the 43rd Division, Col. James W. Gibson, assistant adjutant general, Colonel Harry B. Esell of Manchester, chief of staff of the 43rd Division, and others of the governor's staff. They, together with Colonel D. After posing for cameramen, he was escorted to the reviewing stand from which he watched one of the finest programs this regiment has ever presented.

Bronson, Mich., July 20.—The baby of an 18-year-old unwed mother was killed here last night after the girl had thrown a stone at a cardboard box in the driveway of her parents' home in the hope that the family would take the child and keep it.

The baby was killed by Ward Wessel, 19, of Union City when he saw the girl move the infant in a cardboard box in the driveway of her parents' home in the hope that the family would take the child and keep it.

Trumbull A Candidate For The Governorship

Hartford, Conn., July 20.—Governor John H. Trumbull will be a candidate for reelection in the fall "if the party wants me."

The governor so announced today, declaring he is not particularly anxious for a third term in office but that he does want to see his policies in office carried out. The governor instituted a new scheme of things in having the state board of finance and control created and he wants to have that organization try its hand a while longer at least.

J. Henry Roraback, Republican national committee chairman, R. B. Stoeckel, state commissioner of motor vehicles, and Frederic C. Walcott, of Norfolk, came to town from a fishing trip in New Brunswick today, and Gov. Trumbull's reply to a question as to candidacy this fall developed.

At the same time Mr. Stoeckel announced he has not decided whether he cares to accept the Republican nomination for United States senator from Connecticut to succeed George B. McLean. Mr. Stoeckel declared that some weeks must elapse before he can decide that matter.

Meanwhile Mr. Roraback, Mr. Walcott, Congressman Schuyler Merritt, of Stamford, Congressman John Q. Tilson, of New Haven, and William H. Blodgett, state tax commissioner, are all mentioned as possibilities in the race for the Senate nomination. None of them has as yet made a statement on the subject.

SEEKING AUTHOR IN GIRL'S DEATH

Body of Girl Artist Found in North River—Was Pupil of Bodenheim.

New York, July 20.—The body of a girl taken from the North River was identified today as that of Miss Virginia Drew, 35, an artist, who had disappeared from her parents' home Sunday.

Death was believed to be due to drowning, although the body was bruised and there was blood on the face.

Endeavoring to find an explanation of the young woman's death police today were seeking Maxwell Bodenheim, novelist, who had been helping her in some literary work, according to her family. Bodenheim was not in his apartment, and it was said that he had not been seen there since last Tuesday.

It was suggested by friends of Miss Drew, who had been much interested in reincarnation, that she had taken her life, and police wished to question Bodenheim in the belief that he had discussed Miss Bodenheim's philosophy with her and might be able to throw some light on the tragedy.

Bodenheim is best known for

Police Say Half Dozen Were Involved in Mexico's Assassination Plot—Fear Trouble Between State and Church Over Calles' Statement That Clerics Were Implicated—Censorship Called Off as Excitement Dies Down.

Mexico City, July 20.—Approximately half a dozen persons may pay the death penalty for the assassination of President-Elect Alvaro Obregon by Oe. De Leon Toral, a young art student.

Announcement was made at police headquarters today that Toral and his accomplices will be placed on trial at an early date. A verdict of guilty will entail the death penalty, probably executed by a firing squad.

Officials made it plain that the trial will be conducted with due process of law so that there can be no outside criticism of the government's actions.

Belief is growing that the conflict existing between the church and state may enter a more violent phase as a result of the assassination. Deep feeling has been stirred in religious circles by the charges of President Calles and Chief of Police Zertuche that the crime involved "direct clerical action."

While the republic remains tranquil, with soldiers on guard, there is apprehension in some quarters that violence may be attempted. It was reported here that President Calles will form a coalition Cabinet which will include leaders of the Obregonist faction.

Pittsburgh.—Letters flashed to all parts of the world at a speed making airmail seem slow in comparison, superceding telegraph and revolutionizing communication. This was the prediction made here by R. H. Ranger, inventor of photo-radio.
Already midday receives the latest fashions from Paris by photo-radio which is used extensively by clothing merchants, and husband, when forced to embezzle money with which to meet the bills, finds that his fingerprints and photograph have been photo-radioed to the police ahead as he starts for Canada.

to a check in a million dollar transaction was recently sent by photo-radio at a large saving in interest involved in transmitting the check by any other method.
Eliminates Error
"The fact that the process eliminates all possibility of error has already brought it into general use for the transmission of bond circulars in international commerce, in which it is of the utmost importance that there will not be a single error," he continued. "We are trying to make it economically justifiable for a person to send a message by photo-radio in place of telegraphy."
Photo-radio is an entirely different process from television and in many respects presents harder problems, Ranger explained.

TWO FEATURES PLAY
THE STATE TOMORROW

"Riders of the Dark" and "Wife's Relations" to Be Shown—Barthelme Sunday—Two Features Tonight.

Two splendid film features will hold sway at the State Theater tomorrow. They are Tim McCoy in "Riders of the Dark" and Shirley Mason in "The Wife's Relations." As usual, the performance will be continuous from 2:15 until 10:30.

In "Riders of the Dark," Tim McCoy is called upon to demonstrate his ability as a horseman, which he does in a manner that cannot be duplicated. His stalwart riding form fairly sizzles through this rapidly-moving western drama, supplying, in addition to the horsemanship, a series of breath-taking stunts that will hold the audience spellbound in their seats.

The scenes of the picture are laid in a small cattle town in the early '80's. McCoy is cast in the role of an energetic young cowpuncher who takes it upon himself to protect the interests of a lone girl, who operates a weekly newspaper in the village. Both are carried through a cyclone of thrills and action that is veiled in deep mystery. Dorothy Dwan plays opposite McCoy as the girl.

The associate feature, "The Wife's Relations," takes you on the road with a group of characters that are true-to-life. Winsome little Shirley Mason is starred in this production, as a pretty elevator girl who wins romance and then almost loses it through her relations. Miss Mason is ably supported by Gaston Glass, Flora Finch and Ben Turpin.

Sunday and Monday Richard Barthelme in "The Wheel of Chance," will be shown at the State. In this picture the beloved "Dick" plays two separate and distinct characterizations—that of a tough gangster and then as a famous young lawyer.

For the last times this evening, at 7:00 and 9:00 the State is presenting "The Shepherd of the Hills," Harold Bell Wright's famous story, and Malcolm McGregor in "Lingerie."

You can't afford to miss this year's Kiddies' Revue, which takes place at the State on July 28 to the 28.

BIG BOSTON BAND AT SANDY BEACH TONIGHT

Sandy Beach Ballroom at Crystal Lake will be the scene this evening of the biggest attraction of the season when Perley Stevens and his famous symphony restaurant orchestra of Boston will play a special engagement. People from practically every city and town within a radius of twenty-five miles will come to Sandy Beach tonight to hear this wonderful band that is touring New England and was secured by the management of Sandy Beach at a big expense.

Weekly from now on a big feature will be introduced at Sandy Beach Ballroom including the Hotel Biltmore orchestra of Providence, R. I., and the Cardinals from Keith, Boston, next Wednesday evening, July 25th. The feature following this attraction will be Bennie Kahn and his orchestra on Wednesday evening, August 1st and on August 8th, Ernie Rock and his orchestra.

Saturday, July 28th, will be Manchester-Rockville night at Sandy Beach Ballroom and a splendid program is being arranged between the two towns, including dancing, music for which will be furnished by Al Behrend and his melody boys of ten pieces, vaudeville and a prize fox trot for the championship of Eastern Connecticut. Such a fine program is sure to attract a large crowd the 28th and will bring together the finest dancers of this state.

Next month will be just as replete with attractions and will include a bathing beauty contest, the best dance bands available with vaudeville as an added feature.

HARTFORD

New York, July 20.—RAMBLING THROUGH MANHATTAN: A friend pointed out to me an elderly lady with silver hair and wide blue eyes, walking through the sedate thoroughfare of Murray Hill. . . . She is Mrs. Elizabeth Bacon Custer, widow of the famous general killed by the Indians on the Little Big Horn river 52 years ago. . . . Well on in her eighties, but she lives in the present. . . . Mrs. Custer enjoys musical comedies, and keeps up on the latest movies. . . . Frank Hoey, shepherd of Central Park, for 28 years tender of sheep and milker of cows in the metropolis. . . . All the pastoral pleasure of the farm, with Broadway a couple of blocks away. . . . Ho, another hotel going up. . . . The hotel buildings this year represent an outlay of $28,000,000, I am told by the American Hotel Association, and increase Manhattan's capacity by 5,800 more rooms. . . . Joe Walcott with a broom over his shoulder, going into a West Forty-fifth street theater. The old "Black Cyclone," welterweight champion for eight years, is a janitor now. . . . Joe's adversaries now are lumbago and rheumatism, but at 57 he still can smile widely. . . . Met Ida Bailey Allen, who has written enough cook books to fill the Congressional library. . . . "Modern wives, despite our humorists, know how to cook," says she. "The flapper of today is a better home-maker than the lady of the eighties. She's quicker and has more endurance and is smarter, too. She knows more about food values." . . . So up the street to watch a crowd around a slot machine that didn't work despite considerable punishment by the man who had inserted a quarter. . . . The penny-catching gamins of the New York streets have changed their act. Since the habit and quick change belt is Broadway, they have taken to Broadway tricks. . . . During the winter months, idlers standing about the lobbies between acts of the plays would be entertained by Charlestoning lraits, whose ragged shoes soaked up the melting snow. Showers of dimes and quarters would greet each effort. . . . But the summer season sees these shrewd products of the Manhattan sidewalks appearing with make-up and costumes, even as the players of the theater. They slip on old derbies and fancy capes and trick cutaway coats and do their amusing numbers with the aid of this "scenery." Several theatrical men have been closely observing them, with an eye to their future.

The New York telephone book is, perhaps, the only publication that competes with the Bible for general circulation. Millions are distributed with each new edition. New York City has, I am told, more than 1,600,000 telephones. There are 1,000 operators and they attend to 150,000 calls daily. One of the most trying jobs is that of the information operator. She has 3,400,000 phone listings filed with her—this representing all the possible names and numbers in the general metropolitan area. The vogue for the new French type of phone has caused more repair difficulties than was ever before faced by the busy crews, I am told. They are more fragile than old style phones and are be-

FACTS ABOUT CONNECTICUT

Compiled by the CONNECTICUT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

(153) 1926-27 School Expenditures, $32,000,000.

Twenty-four million and a half dollars was spent during the school year ending in 1927 for public school education in Connecticut. This was at the rate of $94.90 in current expenditures per pupil in average daily attendance. In addition to the $24,503,532 grand total in current expenses, $7,866,480 was spent for new grounds, buildings and equipment and paid in interest on bonds. This made the grand total of expenditures for the state, $32,370,113. Twenty years earlier with the average daily attendance 132,177 instead of 258,188 as a year ago, the grand total of expenditure was $4,963,328, current expenses amounting to $4,103,732, or $29.42 per pupil in average daily attendance. . . . More than half of the total current expenses each year goes for salaries of teachers. A year ago this item amounted to $14,993,627, while twenty years ago it was $2,588,539. The total instruction cost during 1926-27 which, in addition to teachers' salaries, included $1,304,051 in salaries and expenses of principals, $508,520 in salaries and expenses of supervisors, free text books, $482,394 and miscellaneous, $1,185,862, was $18,476,235. Total instruction cost during 1906-7 was $3,428,025 including besides the teachers' salaries, $211,647 for salaries and expenses of supervisors and $625,739 miscellaneous. . . . Almost three-quarters of a million dollars was spent a year ago for the transportation of pupils to and from schools. This was many times the $23,393 spent in this manner during 1906-7. Operation maintenance and repairs of school plants cost $4,076,063 during 1926-27 and $654,314 during 1906-7. The capital outlay for 1926-27 amounted to $6,506,119 and during 1906-7 to $859,596. During the former school year $1,360,361 was paid out in interest on bonds.

ing continually reported "out of order." Without any intent of intruding upon political issues, or arousing partisanship, or indicating any candidatorial favoritism. Without any intent of adding the voice of Oliver street to paens in praise of Al Smith—yet, and all, a walk in Oliver street is one that will send you away in a philosophic mood. Particularly, when you bear in mind that, out of this maelstrom of all nations and tongues; out of the poverty and joy and despair and dirt and vivid, seething life can come one who lives to cast his shadow upon the White House—whether or not he achieves it.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

RENEW YOUR OIL INSURANCE TODAY

"Good morning, motor"

"GOOD MORNING, BOSS. Say, would you mind speaking to the Madam? She was fooled yesterday by the one cent price lure of that pump across the street from Red's. You know she loves a bargain and never has understood that all gas isn't alike. Only last Monday, I was telling Red that his regular customers appreciated his honesty and would stick by him, and there I was across the street taking on a load of the poorest apology for gas that ever choked my cylinder heads. I felt like a dog and Red looked as if he'd lost his best friend. I know the Madam thinks a lot of me and if she realized how hobo gas and oil hurt me, she wouldn't any more buy them than she would give you bad eggs for breakfast. Put it up to her straight, Boss—and fix it up with Red. He's a good friend of ours."

LUBRICATION is only 2% of the cost of running your car. Changing the oil at regular intervals is the cheapest car insurance you can buy.

Have you driven 500 miles since your oil was changed? Are you planning summer tours?

Stop at a Socony station and renew your oil insurance today.

Oil is thinned after 500 miles, by gasoline that seeps down into the crankcase. It is black from dust and dirt. A fresh filling with Socony Motor Oil costs you only a few minutes in time, and very little in cash. Give your car this protection.

The Socony Laboratories work in close contact with the automobile manufacturers, and are constantly adapting Socony Motor Oil to meet the changes in engine construction. Thirteen tests insure the quality; fifty-four years of refining experience stand back of every gallon.

Why gears go wrong

Gears go wrong when the rear-end is neglected. Have the old lubricant flushed out twice a year. Refill with Socony Transmission Lubricant or Gear Oil. You'll get an appreciable increase in power; and the cost of this sensible trouble-insurance is very little.

TOURING THIS SUMMER? Let Socony Touring Service help you plan your trip and advise you of road conditions. The service is free. Just fill in the coupon and send it to Socony Touring Service, Room 58, 26 Broadway, New York City.

LEVEL HEADED VOTER

The coming Presidential campaign is not going to be, for the level headed voter, a campaign of personalities, a campaign predicated on religious prejudice, a campaign to be decided on the superior charm of one candidate over another, not even a campaign essentially affected by the itching issue of prohibition.

Everybody with a grain of sense in his head has been able to observe, in the last couple of years, signs of a recession from that riotously excited and exciting era of what is so carelessly termed "prosperity" which was the following wave traveling on the trail of the World War.

In Europe they are experimenting with cartels, some of them likely to be internationalized—vast marketing syndicates which at any time may attack with terrific force the fields in which American products find their foreign outlet.

Neither is another great war. Neither is a foreign-born attack on our right to restrict immigration, backed by millions of selfish interests and individuals. Neither is a rival and extension of the frenzy for speculative gambling on the part of our people—a thing which has brought ruin to more than one powerful nation.

Neither is it impossible that the fabricated discontent of the farmers of the United States may be carried to an extent where the adequate food supply of the nation may be affected. Neither is it impossible that it may be a long time before such problems of unemployment as that under which our neighbor city of Hartford is laboring are solved.

The level headed voter who can see such potentialities about him—and who can't fall to see them if he opens his eyes—is not likely to cast his ballot next fall on a decision reached because a candidate does or does not favor beer, because he goes to this or that church, or because he does or does not wear a brown hat.

There is not in all this world one single individual whose breadth of vision, whose knowledge of the methods of industry and trade on the largest scale, whose understanding of economic facts and theories and whose capacity for bringing those gifts to bear on national and international questions are so great that there would be any surplus of his wisdom left over after he had applied to the affairs of the United States all the genius needed to steer it safely through the next few years.

What the United States needs for a President in 1929 is not a clever politician nor a one-town man but an economist and statesman but an extraordinary gifts. And it is going to be hard to keep the level headed voter's ballot away from Hoover.

SOUTHERN BOLT

Organization in Texas and North Carolina of the revolt of Southern Democrats against the candidacy of Governor Smith is a proceeding which was to have been expected. Naturally it brings no regret to Republicans and it ought not to too seriously grieve the Northern Democrats, though of course there is a possibility that it may cost them their small chance of winning the election; a loss which would probably be much smaller than they are making themselves believe.

The bolt of the dry Democrats—which naturally will include a bolt of the militantly anti-Catholic Democrats—will probably extend, so far as organization is concerned, to substantially all the Southern states. It should have one estimable value—it should demonstrate conclusively the full strength of the dry element in the South, the section of the country that made the eighteenth amendment possible.

Without the almost unanimous support of the Southern Democrats in Congress and the Southern Legislatures there would have been no federal prohibition. Now, for the first time, the element in the Southern states which influenced their Congressmen and Legislators to make the country dry are to stand up and be counted on election day—if they don't dodge that issue long before that day arrives.

A dry who isn't willing to bolt his party when that party nominates a professed wet for the Presidency isn't so dry that Congressmen, Legislators or anybody else need fear his whip any more. And if the Texas, North Carolina and other Southern dry leaders stick to their present resolution to work and vote for Hoover as a protest against Smith and wetness, the number of those who follow them on election day will provide a pretty exact measure of the political strength of Southern dryness. This is a thing that will be infinitely well worth the knowing, to everybody, Democrats and Republicans alike.

If these bolting Democrats down South don't turn tail before election day, and if they can carry North Carolina for Hoover and come within a quarter of a million votes of carrying Texas for him, they will have demonstrated that there is a genuine political dry power. But if they fail to appreciably affect the result, showing that a dry hasn't the courage of his convictions on election day, they will have destroyed the influence of their fellows not only in the South but all over the country.

It is greatly to be hoped that the fight will go on. Not only in the interest of Hoover, but because it will allow the political strength of an utterly unknown quantity to be weighed and measured.

THEORY'S K. O.

Theory is often like a prize-fighter who, on form, can't be beaten. The boxer who has the edge on his opponent in the matters of age, condition, agility, skill, brains, quickness of eye and heft of punch can hardly, on form, lose to one who is his inferior in every one of these qualifications. Yet it has not infrequently happened that the dub fighter has waded in, swung a wild haymaker and knocked the star boxer into oblivion.

On theory it was altogether unbelievable that Captain Alfred Loewenstein had opened the cabin door of a rapidly flying plane against the terrific air pressure and walked out to his death in the English channel. Any number of experts "proved" that it couldn't be done. The story of Loewenstein's disappearance, it was indicated, was not only a frame-up but a rather stupid frame-up, fabricating conditions that quite obviously couldn't be.

Yet Loewenstein did pass out of that plane cabin door. And he did fall into the sea. And he isn't hiding away somewhere as the consequence of financial involvements. His drowned body is sufficiently good evidence of this.

This is just another of the many instances where perfectly elegant theory gets the K. O. from rough-and-ready fact.

CONNICTION

The great Chicago Tribune, like many great men, is ridden by a phobia. Granting that to no nation in Europe does the Kellogg treaty amount to a hill of beans, the Tribune yet sees it as amounting to a very big hill of beans of a virulent poisonous variety, where the United States is concerned. It therefore indulges in a line of protest against the treaty which to an outsider is strongly suggestive of the kind of talk that, when it emanates from Big Bill Thompson, the Tribune vigorously and righteously condemns.

"What Wilsonian Democracy was unable to accomplish," weeps the Tribune, "Coolidge Republicanism is about to do. The cause so well fought for and defended by the Republican party has been sold out by its former friends. It is another indication that the American State Department cannot be depended on to protect American interests but it is no pleasure to observe that where Mr. Bryan failed Mr. Kellogg, persisting, succeeded."

"Possibly the Senate can stop it, although the spirit of the old minority may have departed from the Senate of the United States. If the watchdog has gone the country is in for the consequences of this disastrous treaty making."

And all this because Mr. Kellogg, in his old age, has succeeded in harvesting a little harmless glory by persuading almost all of Europe to sign a treaty which binds nobody to anything and amounts to no more than a polite figure in a polite dance where everybody kisses everybody politely on the cheek!

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

Dr. McCoy will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Herald. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

A SUCCESSFUL LIFE

One who wishes to obtain the keenest enjoyment of life must be well read and thoroughly conversant with all of the affairs of the day. The mind must be constantly alert, but if we wish to obtain the fullest and best expression of our mental faculties, we must possess strong, healthy bodies, for the mind, no matter how well developed, can only express itself through this physical organism.

Most people do not develop to their most splendid capabilities. They just "grow up" like Topsy did. They become short or tall, fat or thin, and develop biliousness, anemia, high blood pressure, goiter, and, in fact, everything from falling hair to fallen arches. One who is in perfect health develops keen faculties.

You would not think of driving your automobile with a dirty windshield, through which you could hardly see. Then do not be satisfied with traveling about through life with your senses dulled and clouded by toxins in your body.

When one is in health the palate senses the delicate flavors of delicious foods, while one who is sick will probably be nauseated. All who are healthy are therefore rich because they are able to bring the problems of life to a successful conclusion. They lead happier lives, and in this way they benefit the world because happiness is contagious as well as disease.

In order to explain to you in a very definite way just what I consider a good regime for a successful life, I am going to give you some instructions which, if carefully observed and followed, will undoubtedly be helpful.

Upon arising in the morning, it is a good plan to take about ten minutes' time to perform some vigorous calisthenics. Do these exercises before an open window, and then take a cold shower bath after you have become thoroughly warmed with the exercises.

Your breakfast should consist of one or two eggs prepared in any manner except by frying, two or three pieces of Malted toast, which is prepared by cutting white bread one-fourth of an inch thick and toasting it in the oven until it is a golden brown all the way through. This toast should not be buttered until it is to be eaten. In addition, you may choose one of the following stewed fruits: Prunes, pears, apricots, figs, raisins, peaches, or ripe figs. Use only the pure, sun-dried, unsulphured fruit.

After eating, it is better to spend a few minutes in relaxation or reading some light literature such as the morning paper. If possible, it is better to have regular hours of work, and one should not be afraid to overwork within definite limited hours.

For luncheon, one may use one or more of the succulent non-starchy vegetables that are so prevalent on the market at the present season. The best of these are celery, asparagus, spinach, small string beans, summer squash, cucumbers, egg plant, beet tops, small beets, small carrots, small turnips, pumpkin, lettuce, okra, chayotes, oyster plant, kale or zucchini. These vegetables should be cooked in plain water and seasoned only with butter and a little salt after being cooked and when ready to serve.

One may also have a choice of any of these vegetables as a raw salad. Ripe olives and alligator pears, or avocados, make good additions. I do not advise the use of sour salad dressings since they cause gas with most people. One way, however, to use a small amount of olive oil is desired.

It is better to do your exercises before eating and relax after eating. Work as hard as you wish during the afternoon, but make it a rule to stop at a definite hour if it is possible.

Questions and Answers

Question: Mary W. writes: "Some time ago I saw advertised in the paper a new electrical device to cure sleeplessness. As I have been suffering from insomnia for quite a while, I would like to know what you think of this and where I could find it."

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, July 20—This is one year when all the smart political writers and nearly all the dumb political writers are shaking their heads and saying that this election will be a horse race of which no man can forecast the outcome.

of a consumptive mother. She has many tubercular glands in her neck. Do you think there is any way of preventing consumption in this child? Should we have the glands lanced?"

Answer: Young children frequently have glandular enlargements which are not necessarily tubercular. These can be cured by diet, even if they are tubercular. Lancing will only make more trouble, as an added burden is thrown on the other lymphatics.

take to offset that. He will pay a choice assortment of manufacturers, bankers, corporation lawyers and other millionaires.

The prosperity holler is mentioned first only because it has figured in so many election campaigns before. The trouble with dopping this election is that not only will all the old deciding factors stifle this year, but also a great troop of new ones.

This, for instance, is the first time the middle west has threatened any such revolt against the G. O. P. and the first time the Solid South has threatened to make trouble for the Democrats.

Smith's biggest asset is his chance to carry New York and contiguous states; his biggest handicap is his religion. He is the first Democratic candidate with a chance to carry New York since Grover Cleveland and he is the first Catholic candidate ever.

Smith's stand for Volstead Act modification may be recorded in history as the thing which decided the election, but it's too early now to tell how the issue is going to work.

This year the Democratic party isn't starting under any financial handicap. Clegg Shaver left it with money in the bank and Smith can have all he wants for the campaign. Most other Democratic candidates for the last 30 or 40 years have been forced to wonder at times where they were going to get carfare. The new order of things will help considerably.

Campaign management may also tell in the preliminary practice, the Hoover managers have done a certain amount of fumbling. They'll probably get over that, but campaign managers generally have something the matter with them.

Smith's managers may even plan to sing and shout him into the White House, realizing that it might be done for Smith where it wouldn't work with Hoover. In the campaign of 1840, the Whites had no business to beat the Democrats, but they paraded and shouted and sang until they got all the voters parading and shouting and singing and soon they had "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too" in office. There's a dangerous swing to "East Side, West Side."

Possibly the Democrats will develop a few Bill Thompsons to yell about Hoover's connections with "King George." Smith won't use those tactics, but he has plenty of friends who wouldn't be squeamish about it. It seems to work in Chicago and it might do so well elsewhere.

It doesn't look as if voters would pay much attention to the corruption issue. The Harding administration scandals are rather historical. And there isn't such fierce hatred of Big Business any more, unless it lies with the farmers.

Some writers are picturing the election as a contest between the urban and rural elements. The city blames the country for prohibition and the country says the cities are hogging the prosperity. Smith is said to have a metropolitan mind while Hoover's heart is said to beat with the boys out in the tall grass.

The campaign finds its issues generally dwarfed by personalities and prejudices. Democrats in border states, for instance, believe racial prejudice will hold them for Smith. Pile that along with the religious issue and the likelihood that the so-called hyphenates will vote on nationalistic lines and you have a lot of prejudice to figure in.

Twilight Teams Unfair To Manchester Fandom

Fans Want Teams to Play All Scheduled Contests

Several Regular Rooters Disgusted Over Cancelling Games Without Warning.

According to several regular attendants at all the games in the part of the town in the Community Twilight League these fans stated last evening, in no uncertain tones, that they did not fancy attending places where games were called off without notifying the public.

"I was more than pleased to watch the Herald's efforts to bring back an added interest in baseball," said one of the fans to the writer, "but I regret to say that the school boy tactics of some of the teams is more than foolish. It is childish."

This statement followed the calling off of the majority of the Community Twilight League games last evening. For no apparent reason these games were cancelled when several of the outfits could not scrape enough players together to make a real showing.

Fans Want Consideration.

This fan is known personally to the writer to have attended most all of the games, amateur, semi-pro and professional contests held in the town for the past six or seven years and before that according to others. But last night was the first time he ever really got good and sore.

When asked if he saw the Herald's program of the games for evening he did admit that he always read the article the preceding night and did not have time to read it on the evening of the game. He claims that he has taken the Herald's account on its face value but got left Thursday.

This is but one known instance of this kind at present, but it is felt that the players should give the fans some consideration if they expect to have their individual organizations supported. Coming as it does on the heels of the Herald's efforts to revive the waning interest in the great national pastime it is not very good business.

Most of the teams put up an awful holler when the fans dropped away from the games and they squawked loud and loud over the fact. Then without any warning at all the teams cancel the games at the last moment leaving the fan's plans up in the air for an evening's entertainment. This, surely, is no way for the teams to regain their lost prestige.

The writer honestly believes that when the town title series comes up the teams will make some money. Interest will be on a higher plane then and besides every fan likes to watch a championship struggle of any sort. Another mistake which is believed to hurt the clicking of the turnstiles is allowing the Manchester Green team to take part in the second round of the schedule.

Had the Green been forced to stay on the sidelines until the last round interest in the games following to select a winner might have paid a nice profit. The Green team is a good one at any time and the officials of that club are not allowing anyone to put anything over them at any time.

It seems, right now, that the logical thing for the league officials to do is to make each and every team in the circuit have a team ready to play on the nights scheduled. Another thing necessary seems to be the selection of players and the final lineup in the official files before the time for the title series rolls around. These two items, it is believed, ought to produce some fast baseball with the rivalry manifest right now.

WEST SIDE TEAMS READY FOR GAMES

Horseshoe Pitchers of West Side All Ready for Tournament Play Monday.

WEST SIDE LEAGUE

Jim Fallon and Jim Schaub. Jim Thompson and Punk Lamprecht. Bill Brennan and Bert Mosely. Bill Leggett and Mose Taggart. Harry McCormick and Bill McLaughlin.

The schedule will be announced later.

Next Monday evening the West Side Senior Men's horseshoe pitching tournament will get underway with ten two-man teams taking part. Practically the best players in the town have entered this event and a real struggle is looked for every time the teams get together.

Every member of the ten teams has played under tournament rules before and each one knows the other's weakness. Dodger has planned to pair off the teams with the best possible care and to eliminate any feeling of letting any one group gain an advantage.

The court has been put in excellent shape for the coming tournament and everything will be in readiness for the first games which will start at 6:30 o'clock.

ANOTHER KIDDIE A JUMPING STAR

Jimmie King, 10, Sets Grammar School Record for Town.

Under the steady coaching of Dodger Dowd, Francis Mahoney of the West Side playgrounds has set a new mark for junior boys to shoot at. He started in this sport about two weeks ago and has shown real ability to master the rudiments of the game by a truly remarkable showing. Boosting his mark of two weeks from 13 feet ten inches to 14 feet 10 is some record.

Another youngster, Jimmy King, also of the West Side and only ten years of age jumped into the limelight with a mark of 12 feet 11 inches in his first trials. Dowd is much pleased with the showing made by these two boys and is giving them special attention when the lads are jumping.

The marks of the boys for the trials held Thursday morning:

HEENEY METHOD OF TRAINING, A STRANGE ONE

Eats What He Likes and Drinks Beer and Ale Instead of Milk.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Artie McGovern, famous physical culturist and trainer of Babe Ruth, Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen, describes in the following article the training methods of Tom Heenev, now preparing for his coming heavyweight championship fight with Gene Tunney for the world's title, and contrasts them with the methods of the champion, which he recently pictured through International News Service.

By ARTIE MCGOVERN

Fair Haven, N. J., July 20.—If Tom Heenev defeats Gene Tunney in the contest for the heavyweight championship next Thursday, dietetic experts will have to take a back seat! Heenev "sets up his rest and makes his feast, with a crust of brown bread and a pot of good ale."

I asked Heenev if he followed any set rules in regard to diet while in training. He told me that the only rules he follows are common sense ideas. Heenev says that he does not believe in eating foods that he does not like, regardless of the fact that they may be more beneficial to his system. Heenev's methods of training and dieting are his own. He claims that from his long experience in training for athletics during the past 15 years, he knows what best agrees with him.

Prior to his becoming a prize fighter, Heenev was an all-around athlete and engaged in varied sports, many of which required strenuous training than boxing. Although he may not be as well read as the champion, he certainly knows his encyclopedia of physical training.

Two Meals a Day

The challenger has only two meals a day and at the training table he is comparatively a light eater.

His training day begins at 6 o'clock each morning. This early rising is contrary to American methods of training.

Road work for Heenev is as much play as work. He seems to enjoy pranks at the expense of his trainers and the hour he spends on the road is given over to running, jumping, pushing his partners around and having a general good time.

He returns to the camp in a good perspiration and rests for a half hour until his body becomes cool, before taking his shower. After a thirty-minute massage he dresses and is ready for his breakfast at 7:30. At two o'clock he sleeps an hour before his afternoon session which begins at 3:30 and includes two rounds of shadow boxing, two rounds of bag punching and four rounds of boxing with his two sparring partners.

His Right Idea

To many experts, it appears that Heenev is not doing enough training. Personally, I think he has the right idea. He is in excellent physical condition. His mental attitude is perfect. He has been fighting regularly for the past year and because of this fact, his fighting blade is keen and sharp.

Dinner, Heenev's second meal of the day, is served at 5:30, after which he plays cards or checkers or amuses the reporters by singing some of the old English songs.

At 9 o'clock Heenev returns to the cottage for his "alf and alf," the English vernacular for beer and ale, which the challenger claims is both a medicine and tonic. It makes him sleep "like a top," keeps his weight up and has good food value.

In comparison to Tunney's training diet, it is most interesting to note that Heenev never drinks milk. He never eats cereals, his meals consist of meat and vegetables with ripe bananas for dessert. He says that this fruit is easy for him to digest and provides the necessary bulk material.

I told Heenev the story of Gene's experience the night before the Tom Gibbons fight, when three glasses of feed tea kept him awake all night. Heenev replied jokingly, "if he had taken three glasses of ale he'd have had no trouble sleeping and would have felt as any athlete should feel before going into the prize ring."

Tunney Worrying How To Get Out Of His Training Camp For Fight

By DAV' J. WALSH

New York, July 20.—It strikes me, as the fellow said while trying to smell the electric fan, that among the several mistakes of Brother Tunney in connection with this Heenev matter of Next Thursday night, the first he proved easily the foremost and worst. He shouldn't have selected Speculator, N. Y., as a training camp; he should have gone to Coney Island and lost himself in the mirror maze, thus making a real contest out of his attempt to reach New York in time for the fight.

Tunney frankly was in a jam this morning as he considered ways and means of getting here from an inaccessible spot like Speculator, 35 miles from the nearest railroad station, without losing the edge of his form, en route.

May Fly Out

He had intended to fly to New York the morning of the fight. Rickard says he won't let him, even if he, Rickard, has to go to court for an injunction against the undertaking. Brother Tunney probably doesn't realize it, but George is doing him a favor. An airplane flight of some 65 miles is not the way to establish a boxer's tranquility on the day of a contest and Tunney should know it.

He flew down from Stroudsburg to Philadelphia, a comparatively short distance, for the first Dempsey fight and arrived with an upset stomach, according to his own account of the incident. Rickard, of course, isn't worrying about the 'good mans stomach upon arrival.

What worries him is the arrival itself, meaning that he fears there might be almost none at all.

Two Courses

If he whistles for the law on this thing, Tunney will be faced with two courses of action and neither of them is exactly ideal. If he comes by train the day before the fight, he must motor 35 miles to the nearest railroad station at Fonda and then spend an uncomfortable night on the train. If he elects to come all the way by automobile, he faces a fatiguing ten-hour drive, unless he wishes to spend a night in a hotel along the route. He could stop over in Albany the night before the fight, after driving that far by motor, and then come on the rest of the way by train the next day.

This is the most feasible plan he could adopt, if he must stick with Speculator until the last possible moment. But it is far from ideal for a man who wants rest and quiet above all things. Such a man, about to go in and gamble with a million dollar asset, naturally is keyed up, mentally and morally, and perforce is easily affected by even slight discomforts.

The best plan to follow is one that Tunney probably will not consider for the moment. This would call for him to arrive here on Monday, in order to become acclimated, for New York is thousands of feet lower than Speculator in altitude and about 20 degrees higher in temperature.

Pinehurst "GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

CAN'T BE HELPED

After this torrid fortnight most appetites are getting pretty fussy.

It is salad time, of course. And Pinehurst holds the key to the salad situation—hot weather salads.

About the Sunday dinner: The rib roasts, standing or boned and rolled, are prime.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Newcomb of Buckland on Monday, July 2.

Those who follow the hot weather system of a Saturday dinner and cold cuts for Sunday won't be guessing wrong if they pick PINEHURST QUALITY Corned Beef.

Or pot roast—above all a shoulder pot roast. Rump, bottom round or shoulder clod if you prefer—all, of course, from the same prime, heavy beef.

Salad suggestions: Crab, tuna and salmon. And the tomatoes, celery, lettuce and cucumbers are as fresh as a newly cut bouquet.

Of course you want bacon in the house this weather—everybody does.

For the ice box: Better have the truck bring along with your order a case—or a single bottle, for that matter—of ginger ale, grape juice, pineapple, fruit punch.

Don't forget Pinehurst phone service till 9 o'clock tonight. Delivery whenever you say, from eight o'clock tomorrow morning till 6 in the evening.

Telephone two thousand.

We are featuring them Saturday at 33c a box (also their new Fruited Oat Cookies—11 ounces packed in a round tin box—crisp and healthful.

OAKS TOO TOUGH

The Oaks again for the eighth time showed that Oak wood was too tough for the other team to split. The Oaks have got to win only three more games to capture the junior pennant.

Roger Spencer and Philip Wells, two farm boys from Wapping, showed the city boys something about hitting. They each collected as many hits as they were times at the bat.

Hansen and Segar were the best for the losers, the Woodlands. Earl Beebe from Rockville, who pitched for the Oaks has not lost a game this year in this league.

There was some talk the other evening at the Herald office about an All-Manchester football team this coming fall. That idea, while not old, can never be carried out.

The fans want the annual game between the North and South ends of the town no matter what else happens during the season.

Most of the followers of this highly interesting sport look upon the annual tilt as an institution.

The game scheduled for tonight between the Gibson's Garage team and the Aces will not be played.

The Aces were unable to secure a diamond for the game.

Then again it is good business for the teams to have the fans make allowances the night before to attend the games the next evening.

It shows that some of the fans are, at least interested. But the teams must bend a little more effort to the wheel if they want it to continue to turn in their direction.

Babe Ruth has one more ambition to fulfill. He wants to be the first and only big league player to ever batter out 500 home runs.

Quite a task, but at the start of the present season the Battering Ba'e had 416 thereabouts. Now that he has run his season's string up to 36 or 37 it can be seen that his aim or goal is not so far away.

Dodger Dowd claims that the Rec Girl's baseball team will make the best in this town step right out to win. Rather a broad statement but Dodger is convinced and that is enough for anyone who knows this popular playground director.

Manchester has a lot of golfers in both sexes but it seems that they can get a better chance to play in Hartford than at home. One young lady stated that she takes a lesson two nights a week and totes the clubs two other evenings after work in order to master the hardest game of all.

Interest in sport is not dead locally according to Director Lloyd of the Recreation Center. Mr. Lloyd was more than pleased with the attendance at both the Rockville-Manchester night and the sports carnival at Globe Hollow Wednesday evening.

When fully 5000 people will walk that long distance to the pool it shows that there is something left.

HOOVER TRAIN NEARING THE END OF ROUTE

 inated for president by the Republican Party.
 Hoover came back to his home state for the first time since he was nominated and for the first time in a year, convinced that he will win the vast stretch of states across the northern tier of country from Wisconsin and Illinois to the Pacific coast. He was told he would carry two so-called "doubtful" states, Montana and Nevada, thus making a clean sweep of the northwestern country.

A Disturbing Note
 There was but one disturbing note sounded on the trip across the western plains and through the mountain ranges. It came at Elko, Nev., in the heart of the sage brush country. Hoover had stepped out on the rear platform to greet a crowd of 200 tanned and weather-beaten westerners.
 "Well, how are things coming along here," Hoover inquired. One plainsman garbed in overalls, immediately responded: "About the same as the rest of the country. We are starving." The nominee took the blow like a world's champion and retorted without hesitating. "Well, this town looks a lot more prosperous today than it did twenty years ago, when I passed through it." "Then," Hoover added: "The livestock raisers are prospering according to the reports coming to me. The livestock growers have been well taken care of by the Republican Party."

The ready response of Hoover won over the crowd, which apparently did not like the outspokenness of their neighbor. "You are right, Mr. Hoover, we are getting along pretty well here," said one man who wore a white shirt and seemed to be a rancher.
 Hoover smiled, waved his hand and the crowd cheered him as the train started.

U. S. ATHLETES ARRIVE.
 Amsterdam, July 20.—The American athletes who will compete in the Olympic games arrived today in the liner President Roosevelt in fit condition and confident of victory.

Land training will begin at once. National entries for Olympic swimming, rowing, yachting, wrestling, modern pentathlon and cycling have closed with a record number of countries signifying their intention of competing. The United States has teams in all contests.

Thirty-four nations will be represented in the Olympic swimming, 23 in yachting, 20 in rowing, 29 in wrestling and 14 in the modern pentathlon.

AMERICANS VICTORS WITHOUT NET STAR

meet the French in the challenge round for the famous grain of competition.
 Tilden Dropped
 The performance today was the answer of the American team to the downfall of its champion and leader, Tilden, who was dropped from the team on the eve of the matches on charges of having violated the player-writer rule at Wimbledon. Tilden sat on the sidelines today and encouraged his former mates at all times.

The Americans, particularly Hennessey, seemed to have the sympathy of the gallery, which was mostly French. They greeted Johnny to deafening echo for his sensational play in the second set where he refused to concede defeat after the baron had run the games to 5-3 and went on to outplay his opponent in the final four games in a fashion most impressive. The gallery openly resented a decision against Hennessey in the eighth game and, two games earlier, murmured its discontent when the umpire called a foot fault against the American on the same point.

This decision seemed to disconcert Hennessey but, with the prospect of extra sets before him, he rallied grandly and had the baron badly on the run during the latter part of the set. In fact, so weary was De Murgipuro from the pace that he had little with which to combat Hennessey's withering drives and agile foot work in the final set.

GOV. TRUMBULL ESCAPES HURT IN PLANE CRASH

Three Machines Collide in Groton—Two Injured in the Accident.

Groton, Conn., July 20.—Lieut. Col. James W. Gilson, of Hartford, assistant adjutant-general of Connecticut; and Private William Sabotka, of Torrington, were injured here today in a ground collision of airplanes on the state's new air port.
 Gov. John H. Trumbull was in the accident but escaped harm. Details of the accident were not announced, but it was ascertained that three planes collided and were wrecked more or less after they had landed.

Gov. Trumbull had taken the air route to the field from Plainville this morning and was intending to go to Niantic where the National Guard forces are in camp.

The extent of the injuries to Col. Gilson and Private Sabotka were not revealed.
 JAPAN ACCEPTS.
 Tokio, July 20.—Japan announced unconditional acceptance of the American anti-war treaty. The foreign office handed a note to the United States Charge D'Affaires Neville stating that Japan will sign the pact without reservations.

organization, and he is prepared to point the way in his notification address.

On Prohibition
 Gov. Smith has no intention, in the event of his election, to demand any changes in the prohibition law which would be objectionable to believers in temperance and good government. Senator Tydings declared: "I am convinced after my talk with Gov. Smith that in the event of his election he will not ask for any changes in the prohibition law which could be objectionable to believers in temperance and good government." Tydings said: "He doesn't want a flood of liquor in the country. What he does want is the use of common sense in the matter of its control."

Tydings said Gov. Smith declared several times during their conference: "It's not a question of the wetness or dryness but of good government."

The Maryland Senator said he was convinced that Gov. Smith "is a strict believer in temperance."

The governor was assured by Tydings and Hawes that he would carry Maryland and Missouri.

"I told the Governor that Maryland can't do anything else than go Democratic," Tydings said. "The voters of Maryland like Smith's frankness. He has the same sort of appeal to them as has Gov. Ritchie."

"Gov. Smith is certain to carry Missouri," said Senator Hawes. "I pointed out to him that Senator Reed carried the state even though he had opposition in his own party."

NEW BEDFORD'S MAYOR DENIES OWNERS' CLAIM

Manufacturers Charge That Police and City Officials Are Playing Politics.

New Bedford, Mass., July 20.—Charges by mill owners that city and police officials were "playing politics" were received today with a denial by Mayor Charles F. Ashley and Chief of Police Samuel D. McLeod.

Mayor Ashley's answer to a statement by John Sullivan, president of the New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers Association, was that he would continue to treat the striking mill operatives in accordance with the laws of the state of Massachusetts.

The mill owners made known a policy of aggressive action, following, as they stated in the Sullivan letter, their passivity of the past 14 weeks. They demanded that the picket lines be cut down so that alleged intimidation of those desiring to work may stop, insisting that many workers want to get back to their spindles and looms.

The ultimatum of the mill owners was taken by strike officials to mean that the owners would attempt to bring strike breakers.

John Arunda, 35, said to be a striker, was arrested early today after the hold up of a car in which several workers were riding to the mills. The car made its escape and the attack was reported to the police. The arrest of Arunda followed.

There is no specific rule as to what is to be considered a pet. It may be a cow or a trained flea, just as long as it is a pet.

What the Kiddie Stars Say
The first rehearsal of the Kiddie Revue with sets took place this morning. Everything progressed smoothly until Manager Sanson noticed that one girl was missing in one of the groups.

"Where's that little girl?" he asked.
No answer.
"Don't any of you girls know what's become of her?"
A timid piping voice replied, "I got mad at her and she ain't coming any more."

"Oh, all right. But please don't get mad at anyone else or you'll bust up the Revue."
July 26, 27 and 28 are the dates on which these wisecracking Kiddie Stars will strut their stuff for the approval of Manchester theater goers.

38 PERSONS KILLED IN STATE LAST MONTH

Hartford, Conn., July 20.—Thirty-eight persons were killed and 932 injured in 2,436 accidents in the state in June, according to the monthly report of the state motor vehicle department, filed here today. That prehistoric man in North Africa depended chiefly on snails for food is proved by huge mounds of snail shells excavated by members of a recent expedition.

BEER CASE WITNESS
FLEES THE COUNTRY
Local Man Involved in Five Bottle Affair, Believed to Be in Germany.

The charge of violation of the liquor law which brought Mrs. Rose Anello of Purnell place before the Manchester town court on June 15, with continuations to June 22 and July 6, and again until this morning, was nolleed by Prosecutor Hathaway at the session of town court this morning because of inability to produce the principal witness in the case, John Stannell. The prosecutor had been informed that Stannell left the state and probably the country. The nolle brings to an end, for the time being at least, a case that has been followed with much interest by many.

On the night of June 14, John Stannell, well known in town, appeared on Main street carrying a bag which attracted the attention of Policeman Arthur Seymour, doing duty on the lower Main street beat.

Stannell, on seeing the officer, dodged into a bowling alley and was followed by the officer, who found that the bag contained five bottles of what seemed like beer.

Stannell and the liquid were taken to the police station and it is said that Stannell made a statement that he had bought the beer from Mrs. Anello.

The Anello home was visited by the police and the woman ordered to appear in court. Stannell was allowed to go and was to appear the following morning as a witness.

He was not in court when the case was to come up and it was reported to the officials that he had left town. The case was continued, but when the next time it was called Stannell was still among the missing. It was said that he had gone to Springfield, Mass., to work, but this was not determined. The case dragged, waiting for his appearance but he has never returned.

Before locating in Manchester Stannell had followed the sea on a German liner and during the past few days a report has gained circulation that he has left the country and that he has returned to Germany. It is said that a postcard from him has been received by a person in town, postmarked at Hamburg.

SKINNY FLAPPER AND BOY FRIEND ARE FADING OUT
Sacramento, Cal.—The flat-chested flapper and her slim-shouldered boy friend are slated to fade from the picture.

In their stead, 20 years hence, will be standing super men and women physically robust and adept at athletics, meeting the Biblical requirement of "a strong man eager to run a race" against life's handicap.

They may wear less clothes than now, owing to rugged physical condition, but the Amazon and her Hercules of 1948 at least will possess even tempers, be amenable to discipline, take meticulous care of person and garments and in all other respects outstrip youth of today. Probably they will live longer, and they should make ideal husbands and wives.

Doctor's "Horoscope"
Such is the horoscope produced today by Dr. Walter M. Dickie, state's health scaler, from his alchemist's cauldron wherein are brewing physical standards designed to make perfect men and women.

This year's babe, if his parents conform to Dr. Dickie's standards, will show strides toward the superman at the end of his first year when he should be able to walk or stand with slight help, have at least six teeth, drink well from a cup (milk specified) weigh at least 21 pounds, be 29 inches in height.

The result should be, say the medical experts, a child aged six and ready for school, physically perfect and capable of showing consideration and expecting it in return.

And having made that start, Dr. Dickie believes parents may proceed with training happily in the conviction that son will develop into the greatest man in the world.

MODERN METHODS OF ROAD BUILDING PUT CURB ON ACCIDENTS
Chicago.—Highway engineers, even more than safety organizations, are decreasing the number of motor accidents in the United States according to Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club.

At one time Hayes believes, highway building was nothing more than digging out dirt and laying cement or gravel over the old roadway. Now, however, "the highway engineer brings to his aid a comprehensive knowledge of building with a view to reducing the dangers attendant on country motoring."

"It does not matter what kind of road the new construction is. If it is merely changing a cow path into a country lane, the building of the lane will eliminate some of the hazards that existed in the cow path."

"If the road to the motorist's home is bad in places, he tries to make up lost time by going faster than he should where the road is good. If the road were all good he probably would travel at an even gait."

Most of the changes in grade crossings, blind turns and other hazards of motoring are credited by the Chicago man to engineers constructing new roads, rather than to concentrated safety efforts of civic organizations.

OLD TEACHER'S FUNERAL
New Haven, Conn., July 20.—Dr. Susan S. Sheridan, for 55 years a public-school teacher here, was buried today after services in St. Mary's church which were attended by a congregation which filled the church to the doors. Mayor Thomas A. Tuttle and nearly the entire city staff attended the services.

By Frank Beck
After putting on the false bottom, a piece of board 1-2-inch thick, and 4 inches larger than the box each way, you can make a hanging box of it.

In this you can put flower-ars or cones for other uses, such as burning a candle over to make an ornamental little stool.

You have a waste paper box, stool or hanging flower box all in one, and by perforating the box as shown above, an ornamental lamp can be made. You can place a candle in the lamp or wire it for electricity. As a lamp it would be very pretty if painted an aluminum tone or another color that would suggest brass.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

A girl may go to the golf links for a loaf, and merely get a slice.

SENSE and NONSENSE

I love to hear Bill Huggins sing. His voice is but a squawk. But when he sings I do not have to listen to him talk. She—Gracious! Just look at that man's chest development. He—Chest development nothing. He got that bulge from patting himself on the back.

WATER GOLF

BANK NOTES COME EASY. It's easy to acquire a good-sized BANK NOTE—in letter golf. For is four. One solution, which you may be able to shorten a stroke, is on another page.

THE RULES 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in four, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

A soldier went to his colonel and asked for a leave to go home to help his wife with her spring cleaning. "I don't like to refuse," said the colonel, "but I've just received a letter from your wife saying that you are no use around the house."

Patrons of the State theater who sat in the rear of the auditorium last night were struck by the unusual aspect of the audience. Almost every man was without coat or vest and wore a white shirt, while every woman and girl was clad in the lightest of tints. In the dusky quarter-light of the darkened house the effect was that of a strange dim mist filled with slightest but persistent movement, the heads of the people being indistinguishable.

KIWANIANS TO HEAR

McGINLEY ON GOLF

Hartford Sports Writer to Be Speaker at Monday's Regular Luncheon.

A. B. McGinley, sports editor of the Hartford Times, will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Manchester Kiwanis club on Monday. His subject will be "Golf—a Joke—Disease—or an Asset." In view of the fact that the weekly get-togethers are now being held at the Country clubhouse and a number of the members take the opportunity of remaining for a game of golf, there is increased interest in the subject.

The Kiwanians are urged to attend and to invite their friends for a good dinner with golf as dessert. Emil Hohenhalt, Jr., will furnish the attendance prize.

J. P. CHENEY, SENIOR GOLF CHAMP 5TH YEAR

John P. Cheney of this place again won the senior tournament golf championship at the Country Club of Fairfield yesterday, making the fifth successive time that he has won this annual event. In winning he defeated Edward Tredennick of Meriden by three strokes, 84 to 87. The day before Tredennick had hung up an 84 while Cheney's card was 86.

NO NEW REPORTS ON

A & P CHECK WORKER

No report has been received by the Manchester police from any Atlantic & Pacific store manager that would indicate that "Mr. Conway" had passed any checks in town outside of the one for $24.50, which he got rid of at the Oak street branch Tuesday. Reports from the offices of the A. & P. Co. indicate that the man has been working the same game for some time and has not been satisfied with the results of his one store in town or city, but has passed or tried to pass bad checks in several.

The A. & P. stores do not as a rule have telephones and so the managers have little opportunity to communicate with each other, with banks or with the police. Police suspect that this is the reason why "Mr. Conway" confines his attention to this particular chain of stores.

In New Haven, where the game was worked on June 26, his activities were not confined to one store, but to two or three. In each case the name of the maker of the check was given as Williams.

Mrs. James Kilpatrick and three children and Mrs. Mary Kilpatrick, all of Clinton street, are spending the week at Crescent Beach.

POLICE COURT

Samuel H. Gellen of Walker street paid a fine of $10 and costs for speeding in police court today. He was arrested by Traffic Officer Wirtalla on July 18, who said Gellen was driving his car at a speed of 48 miles an hour on Center street.

Frank Ciztello who had an accident on May 31 was scheduled to appear before the court this morning for driving his automobile without a license. He failed to show up and a warrant was made for his arrest. He will be brought into court tomorrow.
